WESTERN UNIVERSITY CAN 'CARRY ON' WITH $200,000 GRANT, STATES DEAN FOX

Is Recognition by Ontario Government of Regional Colleges—Institution Will Be Developed To Meet Needs of Western Ontario.

In the course of a statement made to The Advertiser today regarding the grant of $200,000 to the Western University, by the Ontario Government, Dean Sherwood Fox said: "The grant is what we were asking for. It is not quite sufficient to meet the budget for the coming year, but in spite of this we arranged with the minister of education that if this sum were given we could carry on. "A very important feature, and one that must be emphasized, is that the granting of this large sum to the Western University is a recognition by the Government of regional colleges, a principle for which we have been contending, and now that this has been conceded we can proceed to develop the institution in order to meet the needs of the constituency with the assurance that we can get support in our work.

"This action of the Government ought to remove all doubts from the minds of the people of Western Ontario as to the wisdom of local support being given to the university, on the ground that the policy of the centralization of higher education is no longer tenable. "In regard to the building grant," continued the Dean, "we regret that no mention has been made of our building requirements, but we hope that later on, in conference with the Government, we shall get assurance that they are going to aid us in this project. "The arts department has a serious problem on its hands as to the housing of the students who will present themselves next fall, and it is altogether probable that a temporary building of some kind will have to be erected in order to accommodate them."

"LET HIM RAVE," SAYS HAMILTON LAWYER IN ANSWER TO RANEY'S ATTACK MADE IN LEGISLATURE

John L. Counsell Invites Attorney-General To Make Statements Outside of the Parliament Building—Declares Raney Is Doing More For the Liquor Interests Than Anyone He Knows.

Hamilton, April 15.—John L. Counsell, the Hamilton lawyer who defended Magistrate Hastings in the celebrated Dunnville trial, today fired a broadside at Attorney General Raney for the attack the latter made on him in the Legislature yesterday, when the latter charged that Counsell has been "employed by the bootlegging and gambling fraternities." "Typical of Raney, and cowardly as well," he said. "Raney was speaking in the House where he knew he is privileged. He can say anything he likes there and get away with it. He knows he is lying. Raney is doing more for the liquor interests than anybody I know. People will stand only so much. Give him enough rope and he will hang himself, and take the prohibition people with him." Mr. Counsell added that he would answer any statement Raney might make if he had the courage to make it outside the House. "In the meantime let him rave," Mr. Counsell concluded. Mr. Counsell added that if Raney did come in the open and make statements he would be laboring under the additional advantage "that he will not have a hand-picked commissioner to whitewash him." Mr. Counsell added: "It may strike the public as funny that the attorney-general should go over the heads of the county court judges in Ontario, who are bound by statute to act as commissioners free of charge to the Government, and select an old political friend and ally, John A. Patterson, to act as commissioner, involving an additional expense that would not have been involved had a county court judge been requested to act."

STRIKE RICH SILVER VEIN IN THE YUKON

Dawson, April 15.—(Canadian Press)—Arrivals from Kenchill, in the Mayo district confirm the report that a nine-foot silver vein has been struck in the Rico claim there. The strike was made in a tunnel which pierces the side of a thousand-foot bluff. The ore continues to the top of the 75 feet above the tunnel and runs 75 feet below the tunnel in a shaft. The lay extends much further down. Two feet in the middle of the vein is solid high-grade galena, assaying more than $200 to the ton, while on either side are carbonates quite as rich. The vein probably is the richest ever charged in either the Yukon or Alaska.

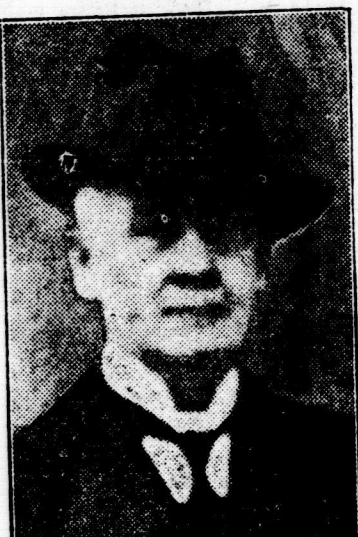

TUGS SENT TO AID GROUND STEAMER

Season's First Marine Disaster Off Whitefish Point.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 15.—No word had been received early today from the steamer Martin Muller, which went aground off Whitefish Point, 9 miles from here during a fog Wednesday night. Two tugs, dispatched to the vessel's aid expected to reach the scene of the season's first marine accident in this section early last night. First reports said the Muller was resting on the sandy shoals and was in no immediate danger. The steamer Frank Billings, which arrived here yesterday, encountered heavy swells in Lake Superior.

AUSTRIA WARNED TO AVOID FUSION WITH GERMANS

France Threatens To Suspend Any Intended Assistance.

RENEW ALLIED CONTROL

The Reparations Commission Might Again Assume Authority.

Paris, April 15.—Warning has been given the Austrian Government by the French minister to that country that if the Government is unable to render in-efficient plans looking to the fusion of Austria and Germany, France will suspend any contemplated assistance to Austria, it is said in a message received here from Vienna. In addition, the minister is said to have declared that in such case the Allies reparations commission would receive restored authority in the republic.

The British and Italian ministers are declared to have associated themselves in this declaration and to have added that the withdrawal of France from any movements for giving aid to Austria would mean a complete abandonment of efforts to assist that country on the part of the Allies.

Ford Liquidating Wall Street Loans Before Maturity

New York, April 15.—Recent reports that Henry Ford contemplated extensive financing in Wall street in connection with his automobile business were discredited today by bankers who announced that the Detroit manufacturer instead of being in the market for money had liquidated his loans here, aggregating $24,500,000. Several of the notes, it was said, had been taken up before maturity, one large banking institution reporting that a Ford note due April 15 had been paid two weeks ago.

CHARGE OF MURDER FORMALLY LAID AGAINST THE MURRELL BROTHERS AND W. H. VAUGHN

Preliminary Hearing Will Likely Be Held in Melbourne Next Week—Three Prisoners Profess To Be Tender-hearted—Did Not Have the Nerve To Shoot Agnes Campbell As She Escaped From Bank, They Declare.

POLICE AFTER SUSPECT. On information that a man suspected of being the fourth bandit in the Melbourne outrage had gone into the home of Sid Jermyn, R. R. station, Detective Harry Down and Inspector Thomas Lucas have gone to Granton in the police car. R. S. Hobbs, one of Jermyn's neighbors, told The Advertiser this afternoon that he met the man on the road and gave him a lift in his buggy, afterwards giving him dinner. The appearance of the man and his talk led him to believe that he might be connected with the killing of Russell Campbell. He knew much about the shooting. Hobbs describes the man as being about 30 years old, with moustache, red face, wearing goggles, overalls and rubbers. He was stout. The man who escaped from Melbourne is stout, being known to the three other bandits as "Fat."

The man was offered a ride to Granton, but refused to go into the village. After he left the buggy, he went into Jermyn's house, which is two miles south of Granton, on the road leading into the village. Efforts to detain the man, pending the arrival of the London police, will be made, residents said. C. W. McRoberts, the constable of that district, has been informed of the man's whereabouts. This morning the police received information that the man was in the vicinity, but trace of him was not found at that time.

Charges of murder have been laid against Ernest Sidney Murrell, William Murrell and Henry Jack Williams (also known as William Henry Vaughn), this being the result of the coroner's jury's finding at the inquest into the death of Russell Campbell at Melbourne, Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop informed The Advertiser today.

The preliminary hearing will be held during the latter part of next week. Crown Attorney McKillop has not decided definitely whether it will be held in London or in Melbourne, but the chances are that the village will be selected, as all the witnesses live there or in the vicinity, and it would be less difficult to take the three prisoners there than to bring the host of witnesses to London.

Chief of Police Harry Green of St. Catharines, and High Constable Boyle of Lincoln County, who were in London today, after having arrested two men in Chatham for theft of a St. Catharines auto, said that the local police are investigating the Grimsby affair. The visiting officials allege that it was the London car which the Murrell brothers, Thomas Wafer and James Murphy, admitted stealing and driving to Grimsby which ran down and killed Porter Adams at Queenston, Ont., on February 24. The car was stolen from London on the day previous to the fatality. However, they were not in a position to make public any details of the investigation into the matter at present.

Tender-Hearted. The three prisoners now charged with the Melbourne killing attribute their failure to rob the bank to the fact that they were tender-hearted. They said that had there been three men instead of two women and a man they would have been able to handle the situation better. Erma Wright, the girl em- Continued on Page Four.

WM. MURRELL GIVEN THIRTY DAYS FOR A COWARDLY ATTACK ON MOTHER AND SISTER

Sentenced in Court House Last July by Squire W. H. Chittick.

WAS WARNED BY COURT

Father Declared He Would Kill Son If He Didn't Keep Away From Home.

William George Murrell, the Mayor Park youth held with his brother, Syd Murrell, and William Henry Vaughn in connection with the attempted bank hold-up and murder at Melbourne on Monday, assumed the same defiant attitude in the local police court on Tuesday as that observed by the country officials when he appeared before Squire W. H. Chittick in the county court here on July 2 last, on a charge of having assaulted his mother.

On that occasion Murrell, when asked if he wished to give evidence, replied: "No; I want some tobacco." His request was granted, and he insisted on smoking in court and alternately laughed aloud and wept bitterly. It was thought by the court at that time that the prisoner was feigning insanity, and he was sentenced to 30 days hard labor in the county jail here, which sentence he served. During his hearing on charges of robbery here on Tuesday, Murrell nonchalantly chewed gum, but Continued on Page Four.

Woman Confronted With Two Husbands, Solves Problem By Running Away With Third Man

Grand Island, Neb., April 15.—The wife of Roy Yates, an overseas soldier, who married again when she was notified that her first husband had been killed, solved a dilemma when her soldier husband returned unexpectedly yesterday, by eloping with a third man.

Yates, who lost an arm in France, and recently was released from an eastern hospital, came to Grand Island in search of his wife, only to find she had remarried.

Her second husband, Guy McCracken, who with his wife had been living with a relative on a farm in this county, said Yates had first claim to the twice-married woman. The three, with Edward Smith, the farm owner, sat down to supper to discuss the complications. The young wife excused herself and left the house.

Later a note was found from her addressed jointly to Yates and McCracken, saying she had decided to cast her lot with another man, naming George McDonald, and that they were going east. Yates, McCracken and Smith left for Chicago to search for the wife.

RAILWAYMEN AND TRANSPORT WORKERS WITHDRAW SUPPORT; SPLIT IN "TRIPLE ALLIANCE"

LLOYD GEORGE OUTLINES DUTIES OF AUTHORITIES

London, April 15.—A letter was sent by Prime Minister Lloyd George today to the local authorities throughout the country for their guidance if the strike set for tonight should be brought about.

"The country," he wrote, "is face to face with a situation which threatens not only its security, but also the very existence of ordered government in our land. The maintenance of the essential services, without which the people cannot live, is the first duty of the government of the municipal authorities of the country.

"Such services can only be maintained by the voluntary and energetic efforts of the country as a whole. To make this effort cannot be regarded as taking sides in an industrial struggle. It is a primary duty which every citizen owes to his country," his family and to his country."

EVERY MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE IS TO RECEIVE A $600 BONUS

Item For $67,000 For This Purpose Expected To Cause Comment.

UNIVERSITIES BENEFIT

Western, Toronto and Queen's Will Receive Substantial Grants From Govt.

Toronto, April 15.—Members of the Ontario Legislature are each to receive a bonus of $600, the cost of this morning's session before the House adjourned after a long and tedious discussion on O. T. A. matters, the prime minister tabled the further supplementary estimates providing for expenditures of $1,177,717. Although by no means the largest item in these estimates, the one for $67,000 for the purpose of bonusing members, is the one which will cause the most comment from the constituencies. In the ment of these estimates, the latest estimates no less than $1,575,241 is set aside for education, including $1,516,314 for universities. This includes $200,000 for maintenance, and $129,000 for improving heating facilities at Queen's University; $13,029 grant to the Royal College of Dental Surgeons; special grant to the University of Toronto of $380,000 and another of $47,815 to the University of Toronto to provide in the Ontario College of Education for the training of high school assistants. It will also aid the graduate courses.

More than $50,000 is included to provide for colonization, roads and bridges. The minister of Labor has an additional item of $150,000 to pay allowances in accordance with the mothers' allowance act. $250,000 For Unemployment. The cabinet apparently believes that the day has not yet arrived when the province will not be called upon to help the unemployed, for an item of $250,000 is included, earmarked as a grant in aid of unemployment relief to be paid direct by the lieutenant-governor. In order that the recommendations of the special committee which considered the question of a permanent war memorial may be carried out, a sum of $100,000 is included in the estimates. Hon. Benja. Bowman has further estimates to the tune of $183,500 including $125,000 for foreign range, and $58,500 for clearing fire hazards from Government townships and crown areas adjacent.

The minister of mines will be called upon to explain an additional item of $25,000 for investigating the fuel question and defraying the cost of manufacturing peat fuel, also the expense of administering the fuel supply act and covering salary and expenses of the fuel controller, and his staff.

PASSES BILL TO INCORPORATE.

Winnipeg, April 15.—Though bitterly fought in all stages, the bill incorporating the Winnipeg Driving Club was passed by the Legislature last night 25 to 21. Opponents claimed that the bill legalized race track gambling, but this was indignantly denied by the supporters, who claimed that any clauses which might be construed as having that effect had been eliminated in committee.

J. H. Thomas, Secretary of Railwaymen's Union, Announces That Two Organizations Decline To Join in Walkout—Lloyd George States in Commons That the Miners Had Refused To Reopen Negotiations On Basis As Suggested—Government Considers National Pool, As Demanded by Miners, As Out of Question.

London, April 15.—The calling of a conference of representatives of the miners from all the coal fields, at a date to be fixed tomorrow, was decided upon by the executive of the Miners' Federation this evening. It took this action after hearing the decision of the railwaymen and transport workers to cancel their sympathetic strike.

Frank Hodges, the miners' secretary, when questioned regarding this decision, said that it meant that the miners' strike would continue. "If I had resigned (as he was reported to have done) I should not be giving you this report," he added.

London, April 15.—An unexpected and sensational split in the ranks of the powerful triple alliance of labor this afternoon completely changed the complexion of the blackest industrial crisis Great Britain had ever faced and averted the projected strike of the railwaymen and transport workers in sympathy with the striking miners, set for 10 o'clock tonight. Events developed with sudden and startling changes as to leave the public in amazement. Simultaneously with the announcement in the Commons by Premier Lloyd George that the miners had declined to accept his invitation to reopen negotiations with the mine owners on the terms advanced last evening by Frank Hodges, the miners' secretary, came the announcement that the railroadmen and the transport workers had "cancelled" the strike called for tonight.

The reason for this action by the railway and transport unions, which with the miners' union made up the triple alliance, was quickly developed. It appeared that the conferences throughout the day among the members of the alliance had developed a heated controversy revolving about the Hodges' proposals. The miners condemned these, with the assertion that Secretary Hodges had conceded too much in offering to discuss the question of wages without raising immediately the controversial issue of a national pool, while the railwaymen and the transport workers declared the proposition was reasonable, and that the miners should renew the negotiations.

The miners remained obdurate, and the open breach resulted. The miners late today were still conferring among themselves, and an announcement with regard to their future action was awaited with an anxiety that was not unmixd with curiosity.

SPLIT IN TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

London, April 15.—Announcement that the railwaymen's strike, set for 10 o'clock tonight, had been cancelled was made shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon by J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the Railwaymen's Union.

No explanation was immediately available of the railroadmen's action, but it was thought in some quarters that it might indicate a split in the triple alliance.

The transport workers' strike also has been called off, Mr. Thomas announced.

"As far as the railwaymen and transport workers are concerned, the strike is cancelled," he said.

SECRETARY HODGES OF MINERS' UNION SAID TO HAVE RESIGNED

London, April 15.—Persistent rumors that Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Union, had resigned were current shortly after noon. It was said he had relinquished his office because of opposition to his statement before members of the House of Commons last night, in which he favored a temporary cancellation of the strike.

APATHY TO GENUINE REFORM, GREATEST PERIL OF PRESENT

Henry Ledyard Says Winnipeg Strike Engineered From Detroit Village.

DIVINE RIGHT OF KINGS

Idea of Royal and Class Privileges Developed in Asia.

"You hear much of the rights of citizenship, but you hear little of its duties," said Henry Ledyard, the Detroit barrister, who addressed the members' council of London Chamber of Commerce at dinner in the Tecumseh House last night. Mr. Ledyard's subject was "The Obligations of Citizenship," and owing to the recent formation within the Local Council of Women of a "Citizenship Committee," a number of women were present by special invitation.

Col. W. J. Brown, chairman of the members' committee, occupied the chair and briefly introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Ledyard said that he felt in coming before Canadians that he was appearing before his own people. He quoted Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador at Washington, as saying that the age of man in Europe as he appears in his later development is no less than 250,000 years, and said that the same authority claimed a minimum descent for man of not less than 1,000,000 years. During all these years, said the speaker, man had been striving to establish the principles of good government, but the recent great war, and the mess that remained after it, had shown that this effort had resulted in failure.

Rise of Theocracy.
Mr. Ledyard then traced the rise of Theocracy in the Asiatic countries, and pointed out that from this idea arose the theory of the divine right of kings and the original of the so-called privileged classes. But in the early ages of civilization there sprung up in North-western Europe an idea that the people were the mouthpieces of the Almighty, and this was the beginning of democracy. Those races carried this idea with them over to England, and Magna Charta and other historic manifestations of the will of the people were the result. England sent forth men trained in these ideas to the colonies and the American constitution was one of its glorious consequences.

"And now the Anglo-Saxon race has become the sheet anchor of a storm-tossed world," declared Mr. Ledyard, "and not all the dreams of a League of Nations can take the place of Anglo-Saxon unity. And it has been brought out by this recent war that never again will Anglo-Saxon fight Anglo-Saxon. The English, the Americans, the Canadians, the Australians, and the South Africans constitute the reserve forces that are the mainstay of civilization. But that civilization is now in danger. We have now anarchy, unrest, Bolshevism and other similar elements all fighting on our Anglo-Saxon civilization."

Closed Shop Discussed.
The speaker said that he had heard a trades union leader, with a mentality about equal to that of a medieval robber baron, once declare that those who opposed the "closed shop" were the enemies of civilization, and he had heard a bishop, the church use the same name effect. The recent revolutionary movement in Winnipeg was engineered from a village within the municipality of Detroit. There were men today who were pledged to destroy all those rights of citizenship which the Anglo-Saxon race held dear. They declared in substance: "I hate your God; I hate your religion; I hate your Government."

"There is a call in our civilization to fight all this," he said, "and it is a call that is being very poorly met." Mr. Ledyard then went on to say that which patriotism has inspired in the late war, the call of the obligations of citizenship was one that was now being neglected. One heard much of the rights of citizenship, but very little of its duties. "Bolshevism, anarchy and unrest are not the greatest perils that confront us today," he said, "but that apathy in carrying through any propaganda for the good of the people. Any well-organized Bolshevist minority will overcome an apathetic majority."

More Interest Needed.
"A government is no greater than the people who sustain it," continued Mr. Ledyard, "and you are unworthy of your glorious Anglo-Saxon inheritance unless you carry the principles it includes into your daily life. We must take an active, devoted and unselfish interest in our government, in our city, and in all that constitutes good citizenship, or the men who are opposed to these things are bound to win, and the precious inheritance which has been handed down to us will be lost. The most divine form of government, that of democracy, every institution that has been established for the good of mankind, is in danger of being swamped in this flood of dissatisfaction and unrest. We must see to it that this golden heritage of government does not pass by our indifference and neglect to the hands of the unworthy."

On the motion of Major T. J. Murphy, seconded by J. J. Vining, the speaker was awarded an enthusiastic vote of thanks for his address.

At the outset of the proceedings the toast to the King was given from the chair, and the toast of "Uncle Sam" was also drunk and was responded to by G. R. McTaggart, American consul.

In the course of the evening a splendid musical program was submitted, vocal solos being artistically contributed by Mrs. Ed Wyatt and Harry Carson. Marjorie Talbot of the London Institute of Musical Art acted as accompanist.

BIBLE SOCIETY AN ESSENTIAL UNIT OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Dr. Cooper, Toronto Speaker, Urges Larger Support For Organization.

That the Bible Society is as necessary to the Christian church as the railroad bed is to the railway company, was the statement of Dr. Cooper of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, at a banquet held in his honor in the Congregational Church on Thursday evening. The meeting, composed of the board and delegates of the local society, was very enthusiastic, and the needs of the Bible Society, following the war, were placed before the ministers and others in a most compact way. The dire need for the Bible in Russia, Italy and other European countries, the speaker said, was most urgent. The Bible Society in England had called for help, and had been sent a generous amount of several thousand dollars, and more would be sent later, Dr. Cooper said.

London gave $300 for the year and has gradually increased that amount, until last year $3,600 was given by London city. Of this amount $1,000 was a legacy to the society. It was decided by the board at last night's meeting to arrange some systematic way for the city to contribute to this worthy fund, and the fourth Sunday in October was named as the campaign day. Dr. Cooper went into detail regarding the finances and work of the Bible Society, and after his address the London members voted that London must make a record this year in its contribution.

Certificate Received.
At the business meeting held prior to the banquet it was announced that John I. A. Hunt of this city was receiving a certificate from the British and Foreign Bible Society in England. Only two other Canadian societies have been honored in this way. Principal C. C. Waller, the president, occupied the chair, and tendered a vote of thanks to the ladies of the Congregational Church and to Rev. Matthew Kelly, for the banquet.

C. O. F. C. DIRECTORS MEET.
At a meeting of the directors of the London Chamber of Commerce, held on Thursday afternoon, reports were received regarding the proposed sports arena, the Theodore Roosevelt Highway Association, and the agricultural council. A report was also submitted regarding town-planning legislation, and it transpired that the procedure to be adopted is to ask the approval of the legislative committee to bring in a report next session.

MORE IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN LONDON FROM OLD COUNTRY

Officials Pleased With Splendid Types Seeking New Homes.

Another large party of immigrants arrived in London on Thursday night composed of units which came out by the steamers Corsican and Victorian, sailing from Liverpool and the Saturnia, which sailed from Glasgow.

A portion of the contingent, numbering eleven in all, were taken to the Chamber of Commerce and directed to where accommodation could be found for the night, pending their departure for the various points where they had been found situations on farms.

At the office of the local agricultural representative, R. A. Finn, the scene was quite an animated one. The immigrants were grouped around waiting for directions and for the trains which were to carry them to their respective destinations.

The various nationalities of the United Kingdom were well represented, and the Advertiser reporter had a chat with a few sturdy specimens of the farm worker from Aberdeenshire and other parts of the north of Scotland. They were unmistakably the right type of immigrant, just the kind the Western Ontario farmers are looking for, and they have all been placed with difficulty in different parts of the district, some in the county of Middlesex, some in Elgin County and others to points more distant.

The majority of those who arrived on Thursday night were single men, but there are a few married, and in one instance a mother sat nursing her little child, eagerly looking forward to starting a new life in what is to them a land of promise.

John Farrell of the Ontario Department of Immigration, and David Elliot, assistant agricultural representative, were actively engaged all the forenoon in attending to the wants of the newcomers.

JEWISH WAR RELIEF CAMPAIGN EXTENDED

Further Shipment Will Be Sent May 5.

Max Lerner, chairman of the Jewish war relief committee in London, is extending the campaign for this deserving object, in preparation for a further shipment of food and clothing on May 5.

Mr. Lerner says that he has found the people of London very generous, and the committee feels that it is unnecessary to urge upon the citizens the great necessity which calls for this appeal on behalf of the destitute Jewish people of Central Europe. Contributions may be sent to 1111 Hill street, or by telephone call to No. 2549 will bring a worker to your door.

COUNTY CHILDREN ARE ATTENDING CITY SCHOOLS

Investigation To Be Made by Board of Education.

An investigation of the number of children from Middlesex County who are attending city schools without permission will be started at a meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education this afternoon. It is believed that there are many children in the public schools who should be attending in the county. As city schools are crowded to the limit, it is likely that an effort will be made to eliminate some of these students.

The situation is said to have arisen from the fact that several residential sections in the county are generally regarded as part of the city, although technically they are not so. In some instances one side of a street is in the city while the other side is in the county. Teachers who accept pupils from the city side of the street are not always aware that the other side is not in the city and have no hesitation in enrolling pupils who reside there.

Several of the trustees think it is unfair that county children should receive the advantages of the city schools when their parents make no contribution to the upkeep of the system.

BUILDING FIGURES

Half-Million Mark Will Be Reached by May First.

Building figures jumped another ten thousand dollars today. If they maintain this rate for the remainder of the month, the half-million dollar mark will be reached by May 1. Permits issued since the first of the month totalled 113 today, representing an expenditure of $132,325.

With previous month's total this meant an expenditure so far this year of $410,040.

The chief permits today were: T. E. Walsh, 14-story brick veneer dwelling, Brice street, $4,800; John G. H. Smith, 12-story building, 73 Orchard street, $2,000; A. G. Tait, 14-story stucco dwelling, Lovett street, $3,500.

J. G. OLNEY BURIED HERE TODAY; KILLED IN ST. THOMAS YARDS

Impressive Services for War Veteran—Tributes From Fellow-Workers.

The funeral of John G. Olney, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olney, 119 High street, who was killed in the yards of the M. C. R. Railway in St. Thomas, Wednesday, was held this afternoon from his parents' residence. Impressive services were conducted at the house and grave by Rev. Canon C. R. Gunne of the Trinity Church. Beautiful floral tributes from his relatives and fellow-workers, covered the casket. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The pall bearers were: William McCausland, William Warner, L. S. Maloney, Edward Baggott, John Luney and R. Jones.

Mr. Olney had been an employee of the M. C. R. for about ten months, that being his first employment since coming out from the old country last June. He was born in London, England. He served in the Imperial army, enlisting at the age of 15 years. He was in the 1st East Yorkshire Regiment, and obtaining the rank of sergeant, was in the thick of the fray most of the time. He won the British Medal for his services. Upon completion of his service in the great war he was given a life pension by the British authorities. It is usually necessary to serve 21 years in order to obtain this, but in the case of his brilliant and exemplary conduct, fifteen years were considered sufficient. He had a King's certificate also.

Mr. Olney was the youngest son of a family of eight and was of a very lively disposition. He was musically inclined and had just recently purchased a set of traps with which he was quite an expert.

Besides his father, he leaves to mourn his death, five brothers, Edward, George and Harry at home, and Richard and William in England; two sisters, Susie in England and Emily at home. His sons served in the late war and received badges. Edward also took part in the Boer war. The family is patriotic through and through, and feel the loss of the one always considered the hero, very much.

VICTORIA HOSPITAL NURSES GRADUATE ON MAY ELEVENTH

Class of Twenty-Three Will Receive Diplomas in Wesley Hall.

Twenty-three nurses will graduate from Victoria Hospital on May 11, it was announced today. Following a custom of several years the graduating ceremonies will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in Wesley Hall. It will be the last of more than a score of classes which have graduated under the direction of Miss Margaret Stanley until recently lady superintendent of Victoria Hospital and the training school.

It is expected that on that date Lieutenant Governor Lionel Clark will lay the corner stone of the Children's Hospital which is under construction in this city, and so efforts are being made to have his officials at the ceremony. An invitation has been extended to him by the board of trustees, but up to the present time no reply has been received.

Because the 23 nurses have received their training almost entirely under Miss Stanley their diplomas will bear her signature. Both she and Miss Elizabeth Ross the present lady superintendent will be present at the ceremony.

ASSAULTS WIFE

Frank E. Wright pleaded guilty in police court this morning to assaulting his wife, Mary Wright. It was said that he hit her on the head with a bottle. He claims that he had been drinking.

Mrs. Wright was not in fit condition to appear in court today, being confined to bed. It was intimated that the information against him may be amended to read "assault with intent to do bodily injury."

Magistrate Graydon remanded Wright to jail for a week, remarking that this course would not be a hardship on a man who assaults his wife. The assault was committed Thursday. Police Constables Walter Harper and Roy Brammer arrested the man.

CHARGE OF MURDER

Employees who were leaving the bank when they entered, was allowed to go because they were convinced that she did not know their purpose. Agnes Campbell, the killer, who shot the safe and the man out of the side door, despite the fact that she was covered by a bandit's gun, was said to have escaped because the gunman was not accustomed to dealing with women, and was too timid to molest her. He did not mind dealing with a man, but a woman was a different proposition, it was said.

The fourth man, who escaped, was said to have been too violent to suit the other three men. He, it was claimed, hit R. E. McCandless between the eyes with the gun, and impaired his sight so that he could not have worked the combination of the safe even if he consented to attempt to hand over the money when they threatened his life.

William Perkins and Frank Henry, two youths staged a "September 9th" act in the murky waters of the Thames Thursday and paid small fines into police court this morning. The police did not object to the boys bathing at this early date, but complaint was made that it was the lack of clothes that shocked passersby. One hundred per cent efficiency is the objective.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

London reports to Bradstreet's say that there is little change in local business circles except that wholesale trade continues to improve slowly, while retail trade is good. The crop outlook is improving and the winter wheat crop is maintaining its progress. Seedling is proceeding in a number of districts. Eggs are somewhat firmer. Loose hay is weaker under heavier deliveries. The butter markets, while at the moment steady, are inclined to show a weaker undertone in view of the increase in cream production and the approach of the producing season. Industry is improving steadily. Unemployment is decreasing. There is a good demand for men from the army, although the wages are lower than they were a year ago.

2,000 EMPLOYEES OF BIG HAMILTON PLANT AGREE TO ACCEPT WAGE CUT

Hamilton, April 15.—Employees of the International Harvester Company. It was announced today, had agreed to accept a cut of 20 per cent a day on piece rates and 10 per cent on salaries. They agree with the company that a reduction is necessary if the plant is to be kept operating. About 2,000 men are affected.

Satisfactory settlement of the dispute in the wage question is attributed to the works council, which has been maintained by the company and its employees for the last year and a half. This consists of eight of the workers and equal representation by the company. The investigation which resulted in the agreement being reached covered five days.

The works council of the Oliver Chilled Food Works, a subsidiary company, is making a report on conditions at that plant.

KING STREET BRIDGE WILL BE IMPROVED

City Engineer Brazier announced today that work would be started immediately to improve traffic conditions at the King street bridge. The subway on Thames street at this point which passes below the approach to the bridge will be eliminated entirely. The grade on Thames street on both the north and south side of the approach to the bridge will be raised. Thames street traffic will then pass directly over King street, instead of making a sharp detour as at present.

The work will cost about $2,000. The grades will be steep, but will be built so as not to form a serious inconvenience to vehicles.

The west end of the bridge will be altered so that the sharp turn which now exists there will be reduced.

OPERATED WITH MURRELL BROTHERS

On the left is a picture of James Murphy, who is awaiting sentence in jail after pleading guilty to breaking and entering Barton & Rumble's garage and stealing a car, abandoning it at Grimby. Sidney and William Murrell, who are charged with the murder of Russell Campbell at Melbourne, were with him when the car was stolen. Thomas Wafer, the man shown on the right, pleaded guilty to being the fourth man in the gang which stole the car.

PERMANENT SUPPORT ASSURED WESTERN 'U' STATES STEVENSON

Tells Kiwanian Government Will See Things Through.

WANTS DENTAL COURSE

Idea On This Subject Greatly Changed, He Asserts.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. L. A., who was a guest at the weekly luncheon of the London Kiwanian Club, made a few interesting remarks regarding the grant to the Western University. He said that the Government had put in an appropriation of $200,000 for the maintenance of the university for the coming year. He and his fellow members from Western Ontario had talked the matter over with the minister of education, and he was glad that their efforts had helped to bring about this result.

The Government cannot put in this sum for the present year and neglect the university next year," declared the doctor, "and we hope that now a start on Saturday afternoon to make further plans for the outing which will be held from July 1 to 15. It is estimated that between 300 and 400 boys will attend. The committee is composed of: L. M. Houlding, London; W. H. Pierce, Woodstock; Fred McKellar, Kitchener; Frank Watson, Hamilton; E. Cameron, Galt; and F. G. Poole of Windsor."

Y.M.C.A. MAY CHANGE AUDITORIUM INTO NEW GYMNASIUM

General Secretary E. J. Jenkins of the Y. M. C. A. has received a telegram from A. M. Allen of New York, employed by the building bureau of the Y. M. C. A., stating that he would be in the city next Wednesday evening to meet the board of directors and discuss plans for the alteration of the auditorium into a gymnasium.

About a month ago Mr. Allen was in the city and inspected the building. He was asked to advise the board as to whether a new "Y" should be built or the auditorium turned into a gymnasium.

The idea of building a new "Y" was later discarded as it was thought the general building was up to the standard. The attendance at the gymnasium classes has become so large that the instructor has been obliged to divide some of them into two classes.

The membership of the boys department has almost doubled in the past year. Nearly every boy in this department participates in the calisthenic classes.

FINAL MEETING OF TEMPERANCE FORCES TO BE HELD TONIGHT

J. D. Flavell and Rev. Gilbert Agar To Speak in "Y" Auditorium.

The Salvation Army Band will play outside the Y. M. C. A. auditorium in front of the building from 7 until 8 o'clock announcing the last mass meeting of the temperance forces of the city prior to Monday, the referendum voting day.

The band will also play in the auditorium later in the evening. J. D. Flavell who is the special speaker at the meeting has been chairman of the license commission since its organization and the temperance forces regard him as being the best man to speak on this issue from the standpoint of the evils of bootlegging.

Rev. Gilbert Agar, secretary of the Social Service Council of Ontario will be the second speaker on the program.

SEVEN COACHES LEAVE TRACKS; ONLY ONE IS INJURED IN WRECK

Three Rivers, Que., April 15.—Seven coaches, five passenger and two cargo, left the P. E. R. train No. 251 leaving Three Rivers at 11:50 a.m. for Montreal left the rails yesterday between Louisa and Yamachiche.

The engine alone remained on the track. The rails and ties were torn and reduced to splinters over a distance of 500 feet. None of the cars turned over. One passenger, a woman, was hurt, suffering a broken arm. The damage to the coaches and the tender was very great.

The passenger service between Three Rivers and Montreal was not interrupted, the travelers being transferred from one train to another waiting on the other side. The road was cleared during the night.

Changes in prices were limited to fractions, with C. P. R. recovering to 125 1/2, and Canadian 1/2 to 30 1/2. Dominion Steel Corporation was 41 to 41 1/2.

Extra Half Million Gallons Per Day Now Ready.

Connection of the new well at Wellington and Nelson streets will be completed this week. General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities announced today. Half a million gallons of water will be added to the city's daily supply as a result. A pump has been installed to raise the water to pipe level. Gravity will carry it from there to the Horton street reservoir from where it will be distributed.

The well was struck some time ago, but was not connected immediately, as it was desired to make tests of the water's purity. These have been carried out by the Institute of Public Health and the new supply is declared to be quite up to the standard of the rest of the city's supply.

Mr. Buchanan confidently asserts that this additional half million gallons, together with the accumulation in the huge new reservoir at Springbank, will remove all possibility of a water shortage this summer and will insure an adequate supply for all purposes for several years to come.

Drilling operations are in progress in the north section of the city, however, to determine where additional

LIVING COSTS NOT TOO HIGH IN FRANCE; PEOPLE HOSPITABLE

Former W. U. Professor, Now in Paris, Denies Reports of Excessive Prices.

Apparently the cost of living in France is not so high as one would be led to imagine from reports of that country, according to a letter received in this city from Professor Meras, a former member of the arts staff of Western University, who is studying in Paris and Toulouse. Professor Meras will continue his studies in France for another year before returning to the faculty of Western University.

Writing from Paris, he declares, "Paris seems to me to be livelier than New York, although they tell me that the city is not as gay as before the war. I know Paris quite well now. The museums, boulevards, parks, monuments, churches, theatres, and bookshops—the latter perhaps the best. I have bought all of Alfred de Musset's works, ten volumes, for 22 francs (francs are worth 7 cents). Here in Paris I am paying 600 francs per month for room and board."

From Toulouse, Professor Meras writes that expenses are about one-half those of Paris. "The people of Toulouse are particularly kind and hospitable," he says. "They have extended every courtesy, and I can sincerely say no society in America has shown us more cordiality. Representatives of all classes of the city, from the wealthiest down to the richer peasant have invited me to their homes. I have received invitations from the best clubs to attend dances, have been welcomed by the mayor, the rector of the university, and the dean. I am sending these details because I saw in the Paris edition of the New York Herald that reports were floating about in the United States and Canada about the tremendous high cost of living here in France, the lack of hospitality shown by the French and their lack of interest or sympathy in foreigners among them. Nothing of all that is true here. If the facts I give will help anyone who is interested in France, let him know about them, as we should certainly have a closer relationship between the new world and France."

MAY CLEAR THE AIR.

The coal strike in England and the complications resulting from it are regarded by many of those who are in closest touch with things as the peak of the industrial unrest that has been disturbing conditions throughout the world for many months. Regardless of which side wins, it is generally believed that the settlement of the British strike will clear the air. It would not appear that Labor has chosen a particularly opportune time to make its demands. A readjustment not only of wages, but of commodity prices, is in progress. Economists and businessmen everywhere are unanimous in the view that the sooner prices are established the sooner normal conditions will prevail. They are equally unanimous in the view that the inflated values of both labor and commodities prevalent during the war are unsound, and that deflation must take place. Labor has in many instances been inclined to resist. The idea apparently is that commodity prices can come down, but wages must stay up. The answer is that it cannot possibly be done. The mine owners gave notice a long time ago that wage reductions were to be expected, and that the agreement which recently expired could not be renewed. This is a policy which has been followed generally by all large employers of labor. It is a policy of economic necessity. Just as prices went up when stimulated by an abnormal demand, so they are coming down when the stimulus is removed. Railway employees, meat packers and other workers in this country and in the States are meeting the same condition. Apparently there can only be one result, and that is wage reductions. If this is not done, the only alternative is to cease to operate the mines. This means closing down of factories, loss of export business, and more unemployment than ever.

Dispatches from England indicate that the British people generally are not inclined to be sympathetic with either the miners or the railway workers. There are close to two million unemployed in the British Isles. The strike will immediately increase this number. Throughout the negotiations Premier Lloyd George and the Government officials, while doing their best to arrange a settlement, have shown not the slightest signs of fear. It is not at all unlikely that they will welcome a showdown in the hope that it will end not only the miners' trouble, but a great many impending troubles. While the temporary loss in trade and in general disorganization will run into huge sums, the strike may eventually prove a blessing, and be the means of restoring the equilibrium not only of England, but of other countries.

PEONAGE IN THE SOUTH.

A Georgia court has sentenced to life imprisonment the inhuman white planter who killed eleven negro laborers whom he had been holding in peonage. This is the maximum penalty in Georgia for murder. The details of the atrocity have shocked the whole country, and awakened a suspicion that this case, brought so prominently to the front, may be but one of many cases where illiterate negroes are being held in slavery almost as vile as that from which they were supposed to have been freed by Lincoln's proclamation, and the amendment of the United States constitution. A peon is defined in the Century Dictionary as "a species of serf compelled to work for his creditor until his debts are paid." Much of the trouble between blacks and whites in the south arises from the white man's practice of keeping the negro in debt continuously for seed, supplies, and advances of one kind and another. The practice is not unknown, too, in western mining and lumber camps, and in the steel and iron and coal industries of the east, as well as among prostitutes, Greek shoeblacks in the big American cities, and other submerged industrial groups. In Texas peonage takes a legal form, because there a law provides for prisoners working out their release. The prisoner is sometimes kept much longer than he should be kept simply by holding him in debt.

In the case of the Georgia planter, Williams, it would appear that it was to cover up his crimes of peonage that he deliberately murdered eleven black men, in one case having the victim dig his own grave, and tumbling him into it; in other cases throwing the helpless negroes, weighted with stones, into a river, where they were drowned. Shocking as are the details of the crime, they indicate chiefly a very low type of society among the planters of the south. The sins of the fathers are still being visited upon the children. The plantation life before the war has left its taint on the southern people of today. Wholesale concubinage with black women on the part of the planters produced a vicious taint in both races, and the south today is paying the penalty, and will continue to pay it for long. This is one of the main factors entering into the lynching problem of the south.

The north is more or less indifferent to the problems of the south, rising in indignation over the more offensive lynchings, but playing politics whenever a really constructive idea is set forth. There are American journals that concern themselves mightily with Ireland. Ireland has seen no crimes that can compare with the horrors of the lynching record of 1920 in the United States.

A BIG UNDERTAKING.

One of the most interesting developments in connection with the discovery of oil in the far north is the effort being made to solve the transportation problem. Upon this depends to a large extent the feasibility of the oil fields as a commercial possibility. It is costing one firm $90,000 in transportation charges alone to send three oil rigs into the new territory. How much it will cost to get the oil out and manufactured is not known at the present time.

The Mackenzie River is practically the only means of transportation, and the few boats operated upon the stream, owned by the Hudson Bay Company, will only suffice for the company's requirements and such outside freight and passenger traffic as they have previously been in the habit of carrying. Some adventurers are talking of trying to reach the Fort Norman country by aeroplane, but there are certain risks attendant upon this method of transportation, owing to the vast stretch of unsettled country that has to be traversed.

Plans are proposed by the Alberta Government for the construction of a road from the end of the railway at Peace River town to some of the rivers which flow into the Great Slave Lake, while other arrangements are under way for the deepening of the channels in the Athabasca River, and the cutting of canals around the "portages," which would provide unrestricted steam navigation from the end of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway at McMurray to the Arctic Ocean. Despite these plans, which at the best would be only temporary, it is felt that the logical means of transport is by railway, the construction of which to the oil fields offers no great obstacle, as the country is entirely a plain between Edmonton and the Arctic, the only hindrance being the large swamps and muskegs through which a grade would of necessity have to be constructed. In this connection it is interesting to note that a London, England, firm has offered to "move" oil or ore across prairies, without laying railway trons, at 10 cents per ton, starting transportation three months from date of contract. Presumably caterpillar tractors would be used in this undertaking; a machine widely used in the west, and one adapted to the needs of the country.

Fort Norman is within easy reach of the Arctic Ocean, and the Mackenzie River is both wide and deep and suitable for navigation from the port. These facts, taken in conjunction, have given rise to a theory that it will be feasible to ship the oil out via the Arctic Ocean and the Bering Straits, which is, however, nullified owing to the short open season and the shallowness of the straits. Another scheme broached is that the oil should be piped from Fort Norman to the Pacific coast, but the pumping necessary to force the oil over the elevation of the Rocky Mountains is felt to be an insuperable obstacle, while there is but little prospect of a railway reaching the field from the direction of the Hudson Bay, the country through which it would pass being entirely white that is known as the Barren Lands, so that the railway would of necessity have to depend on oil haulage for revenue.

LETTERS

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: May I, as a citizen of London, have a few words to say to the fathers and mothers of London and Ontario in general, in regard to the coming referendum on the liquor question. The liquor traffic is, to my mind, one of the worst businesses that a man can be engaged in who has any scruples at all. It blights all influence for good, both morally and spiritually. I am the father of two little children, whom I love with all my heart, and being a total abstainer for over eighteen years, and a strong prohibitionist, I would not want to see anyone place the temptation to drink, or offer either of my children liquor in any shape or form, as I have harmed from my own experience the harmful effects of it. Therefore, I should do to others as I would like them to do to me, so I urge you only and all to vote against the importation of liquor into Ontario, to shield the children, as well as the weaker grown-up people. I have seen its blighting effects in England, Ireland, Canada and all the classes of people, rich and poor alike. It breaks up homes, as well as leading to all other kinds of lawlessness. The conditions all over Canada today, as far as the liquor is concerned, are a disgrace. They are wrongfully and operated wrongly and they never will be efficient and they never will be profitable again until they have been changed from the bottom. You can run railroads from a speculator's office.

THE WAR GRAVES.

The work of registering and, wherever possible, collecting into one organized resting-place the graves of the British soldiers who fell in the war is going steadily forward. As many as 617,000 graves, Sir Fabian Ware announced at the last meeting of the Imperial Commission which has this solemn duty in hand, have now been definitely identified. It is a tremendous figure; in France and Belgium alone there are more than 400,000 graves. The work is a huge one, and the Imperial Commission has carried out its work. There are British dead lying in every corner of Europe from North Russia and the shores of Norway and Sweden to Cyprus and Gallipoli. There are graves in China and the East and a record of over five thousand burials at sea.

FALLACY OF WEALTH POOLING.

[The Empire Mail.] There is a popular idea among a certain section of our population that incomes above a certain level ought to be pooled and divided equally among the poor citizens. Of course, everyone who has given any study to economic science knows that, attractive as this proposal may be at first sight, it only requires to be examined a little more carefully to reveal the fallacy which underlies it. Sir Josiah Stamp, the well-known statistician, pointed out the other day in a lecture at University College that in 1919-20 all incomes above $250 a year had been pooled and this surplus had been distributed among the poorer classes of the community, there would have been available for providing for the upkeep of the public services, through the taxation at present paid by the richer class, and also for capital extensions which hitherto that class had provided out of its own resources, a net sum which would increase the income of each family by about five shillings per week. That would be a maximum sum, and in succeeding years the divisible amount would diminish owing to larger consumption and less saving. Sir Josiah emphasized the all-important fact, which is often being urged, but which apparently makes no impression on the mind of the average worker, namely, that the attainment of a generally higher standard of living is not to be found in a fresh distribution of existing wealth, but rather in an increase in the total volume of wealth by greater production.

THE REFERENDUM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: One could not help but laugh at a bill posted around the city by the C. L. L. or later known as the Personal Liberty League, if the issue at stake was not so serious. It is this: "Save your boy from the bootlegger and vote No." The liquor traffic is built upon falsehoods and this is one.

For if there should be a No majority, then things would remain as they are at present, and the bootlegger would be here. He would save the mark boy from the bootlegger they must mark the X beside Yes. Would you please print the following verses used in Scotland? I am, yours respectfully, HAZEL TAYLOR.

P. S.—Vote Yes, and keep the liquor from the home and the boy. 16 Surrey Avenue, April 13, 1921.

Is it Nothing to You? The following appealing verses were used in the no-license campaign in Scotland:

Is it nothing to you, O Voter: Is it nothing to you—the pain, The sighing, the sobbing, the heart-ache, The sin and the sorrow and shame?

Is it nothing to you, O Voter: The Drink, and the days of despair That robs a man of his manhood, With a promise as false as it's fair?

Is it nothing to you, O Voter, That your brother should go to the wall, And, in spite of your tears and entreaties, At the bidding of Bacchus should fall?

And your boy, with the future before him, With prospects so fair to make good, May be led far astray at the dawn of his day, If you fall now to vote as you should.

For, after all, what does it matter To him who is running the bar? "No business of mine," will Boniface whine, "Whose children my customers are."

There is death in the cup, O Voter, And 'tis only strong to destroy; Vote as you pray—let come what may—For the sake of your home and your boy. Glasgow. —James Laing.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S MESSAGE.

[Toronto Star.] While President Harding in his first message to Congress advises the immediate passage of a resolution declaring a state of peace with Germany, he so shapes his advice and so defines its purpose that he robs the proposed separate peace of all those sinister and mischievous meanings which a month ago seemed to surround any such proposal. The president's view is that the United States must emerge from its anomalous position as the one nation which remains in a declared state of war with Germany.

But he declines to make peace by accepting the Versailles treaty, loaded as it is with the covenant of the League of Nations, to the super-governing world powers of which the United States will not be a party.

THE FAITHLESS BOLSHIEVSKI

[New York Times.] It may or may not be true that Bolshievt agents have helped foment the miners' strike in England, but evidence of their continued activity in India, in Persia and Mesopotamia, as well as in many other countries, has been piling up. Was not the trade agreement between Great Britain and Soviet Russia to make an end of this revolutionary propaganda? The defence of Lloyd George was that he was saving the empire from seditious movements at the cost merely of entering into commercial relations with the Soviet Government. But what exactly was the promise that he got? It was that the Soviets would abstain from "official propaganda." Those are the precise words of the trade agreement. But Lenin must have grinned as he signed it. He can say that he is unable to control the individuals propagandists who have gone abroad from Russia.

For men must work and women must weep, And there's little to earn and many to keep, Though the harbor bar be moaning, Three women sat up in the lighthouse tower, And they trimmed the lamps as the sun went down; And they looked at the squall and they vibrated at the shower, And the night-rack came rolling up ragged and brown. But men must work and women must weep, Though storms be sudden and waters deep, And the harbor bar be moaning, Three corpses lay out on the shining sands In the morning gleam as the tide went down, And the women were weeping and wringing their hands, For those who will never come home to the town. For men must work and women must weep, And the sooner it's over the sooner to sleep, And good-bye to the bar and its moaning.

SPRING CLEANING.

[London Express.] These are times when the minds of housewives turn inevitably to thoughts of spring cleaning. The domestic truce is broken, and woman—supreme and uncompromising—will invade and disturb every nook and corner sacred to the masculine heart. The husband will be brooded and brooded equally, wretchedly, his sense of comfort shattered by the ruthless weapons of spring cleaning warfare. For men must work and women must weep, And there's little to earn and many to keep, Though the harbor bar be moaning, Three women sat up in the lighthouse tower, And they trimmed the lamps as the sun went down; And they looked at the squall and they vibrated at the shower, And the night-rack came rolling up ragged and brown. But men must work and women must weep, Though storms be sudden and waters deep, And the harbor bar be moaning, Three corpses lay out on the shining sands In the morning gleam as the tide went down, And the women were weeping and wringing their hands, For those who will never come home to the town. For men must work and women must weep, And the sooner it's over the sooner to sleep, And good-bye to the bar and its moaning.

SPRING CLEANING.

SCOTLAND WOOLLEN MILLS CO. FOR "BETTER" CLOTHES

Value vs. Price

ANY TAILOR or Clothing Concern can talk price—of those who do, but few have anything else to talk about. All we have to say on the subject is that

SWM Clothes are "Better Clothes" at a "Possible Price"

Made-to-Order $30.00 Made to Fit YOU

NO MORE NO LESS

Unrestricted Choice of Material

When compared on a Dollar-for-Dollar and Fabric-for-Fabric basis with any other made-to-measure or "hand-me-down" clothes, SWM superiority is apparent—in style—in fit—in tailoring.

How it's done— I received a letter from a customer the other day. He said: "The suit I got from your West Toronto Store is the best I've had in 20 years. I wonder how you do it at the price."

It's easy—I deal direct with the Mills, thereby cutting out the profits of Mr. Middleman, and I sell a thousand suits while the other fellow sells a hundred—a large turnover at a small profit.

SWM one price is rock bottom—but not at the sacrifice of a single meritorious tailoring feature. All wool fabrics—and trimmings of equal grade—good workmanship with prompt service I maintain as necessary rungs in the ladder of success.

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

[BY MAY CHRISTIE.]

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

LXII.—APRIL'S LETTER.

April gnawed the end of her pen for a moment, then began to write. She was not writing to Betty, as she was not writing to any one. She was writing to herself, and she was writing to the words that were coming out of her mouth. She was writing to the words that were coming out of her mouth. She was writing to the words that were coming out of her mouth.

The letter, when it was completed, was in April's estimation—a model of good-fellowship and kindness, tempered with due humility. "I know I've lost you, dear Jack," wrote April, "and all my own fault, too! That makes it doubly hard to write. But I must make my pen do the best it can. I realize how hard it is to write to you, but I'll try to do it."

"But it doesn't matter in the least about myself. It's only of you I'm thinking. I want to be a real friend to you, Jack. And it's in that capacity that I write to you—just for old times' sake—not to send love letters to a certain mutual friend of ours—a girl named Betty. I realize how hard it is to write to you, but I'll try to do it."

"He can't refuse to believe me, in the face of all this evidence." Her lips set tight. "Perhaps you'll hate me for my warning," wrote April, "but I couldn't stand by and see you so deceived. I had your letter at a local picnic, and she was laughing over it with Charlie Davis."

April paused a moment. "Jack will think I'm jealous," she reflected shrewdly. "But what's the odds? I'm so mad with Betty Gordon that—just at first—he won't have any thoughts to devote to me. But I'll see to it that later on I'm reinstated."

The snapshot at the picnic? Should she send it to Trevor? No, no, no! That would be much too crude and obvious! Diplomacy was needed here again. Betty Gordon had developed an extraordinary liking for Charlie, wrote April. "She shadowed him everywhere at the picnic, and he seemed to like it. You men are so easily flattered, aren't you? But I confess I'm disappointed in Charlie. He isn't at all the man I thought him to be. I've broken off my engagement with him because I realized it was you, dear Jack, that I cared for all the time."

"I only wanted to tell you that I am your true friend and well-wisher." April signed her name at the end of this surprising document with a pleased flourish.

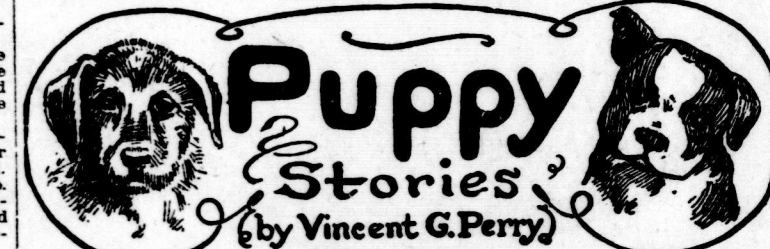

"Jack will fall for it, right enough!" She gave a little sigh of relief as she closed and stamped the envelope. "Men are like children, easily flattered and easily taken in." A reflective look came into her blue eyes. And yet the best of them can be so moody and so difficult.

As she crossed the hall of the Manor House she came face to face with Trevor. "Let me post your letter for you, April," he suggested in placating tones. But April walked by him and pretended not to hear. To intrust any of her letters to Charlie Davis's mercies was very far from her intentions!

She set off for the postoffice, strolling leisurely along. The beauty of the sunlit countryside did not appeal to her. She loved the noise and racket of the town, preferred the heat of crowded restaurants to the cool freshness of the woods.

Trevor, however, possessed an aggravating affection for this particular part of the world, April remembered. The girl had talked of buying a house down here. The girl had talked of buying a house down here. The girl had talked of buying a house down here.

"Life isn't all take—it's give as well," Jack had declared. "Every one has to learn that lesson in the school of life." A sneer came to April's rosybud

THE LITTLE LAME DOG.

Part Fifteen.

Limpy, the lame dog, and Ting, the tramp dog, went on their way next day, quite happy in the thought that they would be together. Ting, like the wise old tramp he was, knew where all the juicy bones were hidden and where nice juicy bits were to be picked up, so of course he was a welcome companion.

"Now, if only we had a friend to point out the way to us," said Limpy late that afternoon. "I haven't the least idea where to find Dr. Will o' the Wisp."

"I know what we should have," said Ting. "We should have a pointer dog with us. He could point out the way."

"And here I am!" cried a voice at their side.

The two dogs started in wonder. There, standing before them, was a pointer dog.

"I was sent by the wise old owl," said the pointer. "I can point out the way."

"How nice of the wise old owl, and how nice of you to come," said Limpy. "What a lot of friends I have, indeed!"

"Do you know where Dr. Will o' the Wisp lives?" asked Ting, the tramp dog, or Ting was as interested in the search as Limpy.

"He doesn't live anywhere in particular, but he does live everywhere," the pointer dog told them quite mysteriously. "And that means—" Ting began.

"Exactly that he is here, there and everywhere, never stopping long enough in one place for long."

"What a task we will have to find him!" little Limpy sighed.

"I will scent him out—for my nostrils are quite wonderful ones, and then I will point with the end of my tail the direction you must follow. But as Will o' the Wisp only rests at night I will just be able to scent him then—we will have to wait until nightfall, now," declared the pointer.

"We'll camp right here then," said Ting. "There is a real meal large enough for three dogs buried somewhere hereabouts, and with that he started digging with his nose."

BARONS-KIRK. A quiet wedding was solemnized on April 13 at 804 Queen's avenue, when Miss M. Ferguson became the bride of Mr. Edgar Lorne Kirk. The bride was wearing a pretty gown of Alice blue silk. Mr. and Mrs. Rowell will reside on the groom's farm, concession 16, London Township.

WOMEN URGED TO WAR ON BOSSISM. Mrs. Cat's Committee Urges Clean-Up Campaigns in United States.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 14.—War on political bossism was the feature of a recent session of the second annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, and the weapon is the Cat's standing committee on election laws and methods, which reported a plan for a "clean-up" conference for the study of efficient government and how to secure it. The report recommended the study by each conference of state election laws and how they may be improved; election officers, election booths, ballots and voting machines, the primary law and how it may be improved; the elimination of corrupt and tricky campaign funds, corrupt practices such as to make national, state and city governments more efficient and more representative.

The committee recommended that efficiency in government be made the chief department of the National League of Women Voters. No immediate legislation is recommended. The committee, however, urged that the utmost influence of the league be exerted in opposition to any attempted repeal of state primary laws, and that support be given to proposed amendments which tend to make nominations more representative of the masses of voters.

NEW MEDICAL SCHOLARSHIP. Miss Maud Margaret Gibson has placed in the hands of the Royal Society of Medicine a sum of money sufficient to provide a scholarship of the yearly value of about $250, in memory of her father, the late Mr. William Gibson, of Melbourne, Australia. The scholarship will be awarded from time to time by the society to qualified medical women who are subjects of the British Empire; and is tenable for a period of two years, but may in special circumstances be extended to a third year. In choosing a scholar, the society will be guided in its choice by her, or by research work already done by her, or by research work which she contemplates. The scholar shall be free to travel at her own will for the purpose of the research she has undertaken.

There is no competitive examination, nor need a thesis or other work be submitted. The scholar should be accompanied by a statement of professional training, degrees or diploma, and of appointments, together with a schedule of the proposed research. Applications must be accompanied by testimonials, one as to academic or professional status and one as to general character. Envelopes containing applications, etc., should be marked on top left-hand corner "William Gibson Research Scholarship," and should be addressed to Sir John Y. W. MacAlister, secretary Royal Society of Medicine, 1 Wimpole street, London, W. 1, England, and be received not later than Saturday, May 7, 1921.

FIGURES ANOTHER CUT

Buzz Secreted in Room Goes Over Squad With Microscope and Cut Is Coming.

[By G. H. Townsley.]

DELAWARE, Ohio, April 14.—Weather today interfered with the program of the Londoners, and they had to stay under the shelter, while "J. Plu" held forth.

Buzz was not content with allowing his segregation to go without a day's work, so he sent them to the cages in the university gym for a grilling. Early today the outfield got out on the field in togs and had just started, passing the horsehide, when suddenly the sun skipped out of the sky, and it rained torrents.

It was a case of swim both outside and inside (then). Following the drenching of the crowd on the lot, they took a plunge in the swimming pool. During the afternoon the men were given a lecture and a practice in the cages.

Nobody has requested except Malmquest, who got in last night. He was radiant with enthusiasm for the old togs. He figures the national pastime is off on the greatest season it has yet seen.

The boys are enjoying the hospitality of this quiet little college town. There are plenty of ball fans here who followed the game from its infancy, and the most of them are well posted on the shifts in major league play.

Most of the gang here are strong for the Indians because of the Ohio pride, but when it comes to the National League, they are divided in their sympathy between the Cincinnati Reds and Branch Rickey's Cards. Branch is a product of Ohio Wesleyan University here and learned the game while in college.

After his graduation he spent a time coaching athletes here, and developed some of the greatest grinders Ohio has ever had. Fana have followed him through his major league experiences, and are strong for him every year regarding his prospects. So it's this soap box philosophy and chatter that the Canadians are hearing these rainy days and evenings.

The vets on Wetzel's team can jabber that with the veteran fans, and so the dope goes.

Buzz Pleading Cut. This afternoon Buzz was found secreted in his hotel room, trying to dope out his rookie crowd and make some cuts. He was not sure who will win, north, with the leaguers, but it is evident there will be another slaughter about Monday.

It is understood he is to give some of the lads in the city a chance in the Sunday meeting with the Moose here. He not even hinted who will be dropped off during the next two weeks of training.

Detrick, the lad recommended by Billy Doyle, is still sticking, although Buzz declared the first day the kid donned the togs, his time would be cut mighty short.

Liberals Champion "Posties" Cause in House of Commons

A. B. McCoig, Kent, Declares Bonus Should Be Replaced by Living Wage—Spread of Salaries Amongst Government Servants Too Great—F. F. Pardee, West Lambton, Opposed To Any Cut At Present Time.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, April 14.—A strong and sincere appeal for the cause of the letter-carriers in the cities, who have been forced to meet increasing costs of living without any commensurate increase in wages, was made today by Western Ontario Liberal members in the House of Commons. It is safe to state, moreover, that in due time the cause of the rural mail delivery carriers will find similar championship.

McCoig Leads Fight. A. B. McCoig (Kent) brought up the matter first yesterday, when he asked the prime minister about the bonus. At that time the prime minister said there would be opportunity later to discuss this question. Mr. McCoig lost no time, and today brought the matter up, protesting in particular about any bonus at all. Instead of a bonus, he declared, they should get sufficient salary to keep them from having to go to the streets to get so that they could figure their expenses and know where they were arriving at. Under the bonus their incomes were liable to change.

He also pointed out that the civil servant drawing the biggest salary got the biggest bonus, whereas the smaller salaried man who most needed income to make both ends meet got the smallest bonus. He urged particularly a better system for the mail-carriers, a great many of whom were returned soldiers. He pointed out that in the annual reports of departments it was shown that high-salaried men were getting increases and low-paid men none. He said he thought the Government should try to deal fairly with those in humble circumstances.

Cut Should Not Be Made. W. D. Euler (North Waterloo) said the bonus would have to disappear when the reason for it disappeared—the high cost of living. He backed Mr. McCoig's argument, however, that the spread in salaries was too great between men of high position and those of lower.

W. C. Kennedy (Essex) argued that the cut in bonus should not be made. He pointed out on behalf of the postmen that in the city of Windsor, which is similar to a great number of other cities, that a man would pay $70 a month for a house and fuel before he began to touch the other ordinary expenses. He was in favor of these men getting a salary which they knew was permanent. Instead of the bonus, if they got living wages they would not be so much unsettled, and the public service would gain.

F. F. Pardee (West Lambton) disagreed with the bonus principle, but he was decidedly against cutting it at the present time. He argued that the salary of letter-carriers was too small and that many of them had to seek employment after hours to make both ends meet.

G. N. Gordon (West Peterboro) also took up the fight, declaring that these men, many of whom were returned soldiers, who had not got much during the war, were obliged to work now on meagre salaries. The cost of living in the cities, in his opinion, had not decreased much. He thought that this year the full bonus should be paid. Forgive Vital Point.

The argument was so strong from the Liberal benches that the prime minister himself admitted it. He pointed out that it seemed to be the duty of a government to keep the total of expenditure down and increase every item. He admitted the bonus cut was unpopular. However, with the increases in salary the bonus only amounted to 5 per cent. The bonus was started to offset the increase in living expenses. He pointed out that the cost of the public service had increased from $200,000,000 in 1914 to $650,000,000 in 1920. It was wholly unfair for the Government to pay more to persons of the same occupation and the same ability than those in private business.

He argued that there were families, hundreds of them in Canada, getting on with less in private life than those in the public service. It would not be fair to tax the people to pay for the salaries of public servants. Uniformity in the public service would always leave the fact that some were underpaid, while others were overpaid. The public servant had the advantage of certainty of employment.

Roch Lanctot could not see how the unemployed could help pay bonus for those with good jobs.

The premier, however, did not mention the fact that a great deal of the increased cost of the civil service since 1914 and more particularly since 1911 was due, not to increased salaries, but to overmanning of the service.

SUPPLY THIRD READING. OTTAWA, April 14.—(By Canadian Press.)—The House today wrote the final chapter of the interim supply blockade by giving the bill third reading. From there the House went on to deal with amendments to the judges' act and the postoffice act, and finally late in the evening settling down to a discussion of the new trade treaty between France and Canada.

The session was remarkable for a lack of the fighting spirit that characterized the House during the last three days, and the members were plainly forging ahead towards a quiet week-end.

Ernest Lapointe (Quebec East), after questioning the increase in the appropriation for the administration of the income tax from $1,200,000 in 1920 to $2,000,000 in 1921, was told by Sir Henry Drayton that the income tax was becoming a reality, and that up to March 31 of this year, $38,000,000 had been collected, as against $17,000,000 for the same period last year.

The trade treaty between France and Canada arose out of the need of readjustment to after-the-war conditions. The former trade treaty between the two countries, and the latter France nor Canada wished to lose mutually advantageous trading beneficial tariff conditions were arranged.

PRINT DAILY REPORTS. OTTAWA, April 14.—At the opening of the House this afternoon Hon. S. C. Meighen presented the first report of the special committee on national railways and shipping, and also moved that the committee be given leave to sit while the House is in session and to print daily evidence taken by the committee. This motion carried unanimously.

Hon. C. J. Doherty introduced his bill to amend the winding up act. The minister of justice also introduced a bill to ratify the statute for the permanent court of international justice. Hon. Mr. Doherty stated that Canada had signed the protocol through the League of Nations. While the Government had power to ratify the statute of its own accord, the signatures of delegates had been subject to ratification, and it was thought better to have ratification by Parliament.

F. S. Cahill (Pontiac) asked what additional cost this would entail. The minister replied there would be no expenditure through it. S. W. Jacobs (George Etienne Cartier) asked what would happen if Canada failed to ratify. The minister replied that she would not then be entitled to appear before the international court. It would not entail the resignation of the Government," asked Mr. Jacobs. The minister replied he did not anticipate that such would be necessary. Hon. H. S. Beland asked if the U. S. would be represented on that court. The minister replied that the U. S. was not represented at the assembly. He could not say that later representation might not be given to the U. S. First reading was given to the bill.

Principle of Probation. H. W. Mowat (Parkdale) introduced a bill to amend the criminal code in regard to probation of offenders. He explained that the criminal code now contains provision for suspended sentence. It was proposed to add to this the principle of probation. An offender sentenced for his first offence would, instead of being placed with hardened criminals, be under the charge of a probation officer. In that way many people might be saved for society.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King asked the premier whether any communications had been received from newspapers, publishers on the Pacific Coast in regard to difficulty in obtaining paper because of being placed with the newspaper manufacturers. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen replied that the Government had received two telegrams from Mr. Cronie of the Vancouver Sun, complaining about the high prices of newspaper. His communications made no charge in regard to a combine, and no cause for action was made out by them. Hon. the Minister of Justice asked the premier whether he had received any communication from the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada, requesting that the day fixed for Thanksgiving be Monday. Mr. Meighen replied that the Commercial Travelers' Association had suggested that the second Monday in November be fixed as Thanksgiving Day, and that, as the armistice was signed on Monday, a celebration of the two occasions should be held on the same day.

Eleven New Highways. Hon. D. Reid told J. R. Provost (Terrebonne) that he had approved survey plans for eleven highways in Quebec in connection with federal grants under the highways act. The cost of $574,440.10 was paid to date, and accounts now under audit provided for further payments amounting to approximately $250,000. The sum of $250,000 had been paid to Ontario under the highways act. Mr. Reid mentioned, and $10,254 to Prince Edward Island. The following provinces had not yet received grants for specified reasons: New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta.

In answer to a question by A. E. Frapp (Ottawa) it was stated that the Government had not seen its way clear to entertain the proposals submitted by superannuated officials for an increase in their pensions on account of the cost of living.

The House went into committee on the interim supply bill.

High-Handed Action. Ernest Lapointe (Quebec East) said that the high-handed action of the Government in forcing closure had prevented him from asking the questions which he proposed to ask now. Mr. Lapointe wanted to know why the cost of the administration of the income tax act had increased from $1,200,000 in 1920 to $2,000,000 in 1921.

Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, replied that the cost of collecting the tax had increased by reason of the fact that collection was being more thoroughly carried out. Income tax was now collected at a cost of two per cent of the tax. The staff administering the act was not engaged by the civil service commission, but doubtless it would be in the course of time. Dr. J. W. Edwards (Frontenac) wanted to know if the finance department was going to continue the present method of collecting the tax or if any changes were contemplated. The finance minister said that the income tax was being made more real, and that the aim of the department was to keep down the cost of collecting and to return a maximum amount of money to the taxpayer.

$38,000,000 Collected. The minister of finance also stated that up to March 31, this year, there had been collected in income tax a total of $38,000,000 as against $17,000,000, at the same date last year. The cost of collecting the larger amount in the year was necessarily higher, but it was hoped to reduce these costs as far as possible.

Replying to F. S. Cahill (Pontiac) and Ernest Lapointe (Quebec East), who questioned the Government as to whether it took the stand that the interim supply bill passing it had been right on Thursday or Friday to introduce the estimates of any department as having been under consideration.

The prime minister said that it was a question for the chair to decide. As far as he was concerned he did not doubt that the Government had the right to bring in any estimates on Thursday or Friday.

Ernest Lapointe said in the past it had never been held that when an interim bill was discussed all the departments had been introduced for purposes of supply.

The prime minister held it as his opinion that the Government held such right, if it desired to assert it.

Mr. Cahill, reverting to his question as to supply, the prime minister said there could be no more objection to going into supply on Thursday or Friday than on any other day. Undoubtedly the Government could pass interim supply on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, and then go into supply on any department on Thursday or Friday. That was his opinion.

Men Underpaid. Referring to the civil service bonus, Sir Henry Drayton stated that the idea was to give the lower salaried men the largest bonus, to which A. B. McCoig (Kent) replied that such a course reflected hardships on the same class of employees. Large salaried men, such as letter-carriers, had the lower paid men, including many post-office employees, were underpaid. He wanted a stipulated sum without bonus, so that the men could tell what they were to get.

The minister of finance said the object of the bonus was to assist employees over the period of high prices. The policy of the Government was to reduce it as the necessity for it disappeared.

W. D. Euler (North Waterloo) thought it hardly time to reduce the bonus as far as certain employees in the outside service were concerned. Employees, such as letter-carriers, had received the bonus some time after the cost of living had gone up, and they were now only beginning to make up for what they had lost when the bonus was applied to them.

W. C. Kennedy (North Essex) thought the time inopportune for reducing the bonus. Rents and fuel were still very high.

F. F. Pardee (Lambton West) was decidedly averse to reducing the bonus at the present time. The cost of living had not decreased very much, and many of the letter-carriers in his home town had to do extra work in order to make both ends meet. He understood they earned a maximum of $1,200.

The prime minister said the Government did not do for a moment expect a reduction in bonus would prove at all popular. Official figures, however, had shown a decrease of about 15 per cent in the cost of living. The actual salaries of civil servants were not being reduced. It was merely a question of 25 per cent of their bonus, which was not so considerable, as against the 15 per cent which they were able to save in living costs.

It was unfair, he said, adding: "If another war came we would probably have to increase it again." The bill was reported, and read a third time.

At 6 o'clock the House was considering the act to amend the judges act respecting the $5,000 which is allowed chief justices as administrators.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL INVITED TO REPEAT WORDS "OUTSIDE"

Heated Discussion in Legislature Over the Ontario Temperance Act.

PROPAGANDA OF LIES

Raney's Description of Campaign Against Enforcement of the Law.

TORONTO, April 14.—Defending himself against criticism and personal attacks, which he declared to be a part of a provincial-wide effort to discredit the Ontario temperance act, Attorney-General Raney, speaking to the question of O. T. A. appeals in the Legislature, charged J. L. Counsell, counsel for Magistrate Hastings at the Cayuga investigation, to have been "employed by the bootlegging and gambling fraternities."

Before the incident ended hot words were passed between Dr. Forbes Godfrey, West York. Hon. Mr. Raney was invited to repeat the words outside the House, and was informed he was "beneath contempt."

In the same connection Hon. Mr. Raney declared that "there is deliberate propaganda of lies, tormented and promulgated chiefly by Toronto mouthpieces of the bootlegging and gambling fraternities and deliberately designed to discredit the law and its enforcement. That campaign has been gathering head for a year and is now at the peak."

Wants British Justice. The Liberal leader, H. H. Dewar, in addressing himself to the issue of appeals under the O. T. A. to county judges with rehearing of evidence, pleaded not, he said, on behalf of the bootlegging fraternity, but on behalf of such unfortunate persons as might be gathered in under the O. T. A. for minor infractions of the act. Surely, he argued, the crown would not retain to itself a wider right of appeal than it would give to the accused. Simple British justice, he declared, was in the very interests of the enforcement of the O. T. A. Mr. Dewar quoted at length cases under the O. T. A., which, he said, were hardships and injustices. In some cases, he charged, the attorney-general had been influenced to clemency by "back-door methods."

OLD LADIES' HOME TO GET ESTATE IF SPOUSE REMARRIES

Mrs. Mary C. Leitch Leaves Husband Use of $74,364 Conditionally.

ST. THOMAS, April 14.—The estate of Mrs. Mary C. Leitch, wife of Dr. Leitch, who died some days ago, has been appraised at $74,364. The real estate being valued at $6,000, the rest is made of personal property.

The testator gave a life interest to her husband in the house on Wellington street, and the revenue derived from the money investments of the estate should be paid to him. After his death or remarriage, the testator bequeathed the income derived from the balance of the estate towards the care and maintenance of an old ladies' home to be established at the late residence of Mrs. Leitch for those wishing to enter who will contribute a sum of $1,500, who are 55 years of age and over, and $1,000 will be expected of those who are 60 years and over.

The mayor and local judge, at the time being, are named trustees to carry out the directions of the testator, and falling in this regard the entire estate is devised to the Hospital of the Sick Children, Toronto, conditionally on a branch of that institution being established in St. Thomas. And in the event of this condition being denied or neglected to be put in effect by the trustees of the hospital the trustees of the Y. W. C. A. will receive the revenue from the residue of the estate as a fund for the maintenance of that institution. Trinity Church receives $200 and $250 annually for the maintenance of the school. There are several minor bequests to old friends of the deceased.

MEMORIAL MONUMENT.

SARNIA, April 14.—Actual work on the construction of the foundation for the memorial monument to be erected in Victoria Park at an early date has commenced. As previously announced a site at the west end of the park adjoining Christiana street has been selected. The monument will bear tablets on which will be enscrolled the names of Sarnia soldiers who paid the supreme sacrifice, as well as the names of all Sarnians who served with the allied forces during the war.

CONSERVATIVE PRYING MAY PROVE BOOMERANG

West Elgin U. F. O. Member Tables Some Pertinent Questions.

TORONTO, April 14.—The Conservatives in the Legislature having made some political capital out of the furnishings purchased by U. F. O. cabinet ministers for their Parliament Buildings, P. G. Cameron, U. F. O. member for West Elgin, has placed a question on the order paper relative to expenditures of ministers in the Conservative regime. Besides desiring to know the various amounts expended by ministers of the late Hearst Government, Mr. Cameron has included the pointed question: "Did any of the cabinet ministers of the late Government take any furniture or other articles from their rooms when retiring from office? If so, who were they, and what were the articles taken?"

IN CONTACT WITH TURKS. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 14.—Ski-ming is going on between the Turks and Greeks in the Bardsia region. Asia Minor. Greek headquarters has again been transferred to Ushak. Landing parties from the Greek fleet in the Gulf of Ismid have come into contact with the Turks.

G. T. R. COMPANY MUST SURRENDER CONTROL

Declares Sir Geo. Loughheed in Senate Before Negotiations Are Resumed.

OTTAWA, April 14.—(By Canadian Press.)—In the Senate today, Sir James Loughheed, Government leader, speaking for the Government, said that there would be no resumption of arbitration proceedings unless and until the Grand Trunk complied with the Government's demand and surrendered control of the road. In the event of compliance, a new agreement would be negotiated and this, he believed, would call for special legislation by Parliament.

leader, replying to the speech delivered by Senator Robertson on Wednesday, said that the minister evidently regarded himself as a special advocate for labor in the Government. He had dealt with the problem not from the standpoint of the whole country, but from the standpoint of a class.

STRATFORD

Stratford, April 14.—J. L. Bradshaw has returned from his 55th annual buying trip to England. Mr. Bradshaw reports a great building activity.

At a meeting of the employees of the G. T. R. roundhouse it was decided to accept the 40-hour-week schedule. They have been working from 45 to 60 hours. Committee working on the canvass for the presentation to the champion Midgets report a very sympathetic response.

At a meeting of the boys' work committee at the Y. M. C. A. it was decided to hold a father and son banquet on April 28.

SURVEY OF DAIRIES IS BEING MADE BY OFFICER OF HEALTH

Most of Herds and Plants in Very Satisfactory Condition.

INTEREST IN BABY CLINIC

Held Under Auspices of Red Cross Society—Fifty Children Present.

ST. THOMAS, April 14.—A survey of the dairies and examination of the cows from which the local householders receive their supply of milk is being made by M. O. H. Dr. McKillop, Health Inspector Shaw and Veterinary Bail.

Twenty plants have been investigated and an average of twelve cows to the dairy were passed upon by the veterinary. With a couple of exceptions, which were not serious, the dairies were found to be in a clean and healthy condition. The cattle were free from any taint of tuberculosis or other dangerous ailments, and so far as the investigation has reached the medical health officer finds that St. Thomas people should have no fault to find with the supply of milk coming from the local dealers.

Howard Scott, a former fireman on the M. C. R., died this morning at the residence of his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. Frost, 9 West avenue, after an illness of some months, with indigestion and rheumatism. He was in his 29th year, and was a native of St. Thomas. His mother, Mrs. Lucille Scott, 78 Railway street, and two brothers, Edward of Brighton, and Cecil of St. Thomas, survive. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Logan are grandparents. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Children Taking Chances. The practice of children jumping on moving trains at the M. C. R. depot to sell newspapers will be stopped at once by the railway authorities. The lads, and girls, too, are taking big chances, declares Detective Kast, and will now be driven out of the station premises.

East Elgin Hospital Site. The governors of the East Elgin Memorial Hospital have purchased ten acres on Talbot street west, just outside the limits of Aylmer, as a site for the proposed building. Tenders will now be asked for the erection of the hospital.

The Baby Clinic. The baby clinic, which is being held under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, had fourteen new cases up for examination today, and about 60 little ones in attendance.

Considerable interest was taken in the work by a number of visitors, and the good results coming from the clinics are already in evidence among many families.

The provincial nurse, Miss Riddle of Toronto, was assisted by the local Red Cross nurse. The Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Church served a much enjoyed course of refreshments.

Dr. Turner and Buckle were in charge of the exercises.

Regimental Club Rooms. To provide more central conveniences for the officers and men of the Elgin Regiment and establish a social club among the members, the headquarters of the regiment are being moved to the rooms of Cavell Lodge, Talbot street.

General Superintendent T. J. Jones of the Wabash, formerly of St. Thomas, arrived in the city this morning and returned to St. Louis, Mo., this afternoon.

WINDSOR, April 14.—Addressing a luncheon of members of the chamber of commerce here today, Dr. W. H. Hill, senior dean and professor of public health in Western University, London, stated that if the university got the money it could continue.

"The royal commission asked for $224,000 for maintenance and $800,000 for buildings," he said. "If we do not get the maintenance money we are done. The demands of the royal commission were absolutely the minimum required."

He urged the chamber of commerce to use its influence to have the Government grant the university the needed financial assistance.

STEAMER GOES AGROUND OFF WHITEFISH POINT

First Casualty of Season—No Lives Lost Says Wireless.

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 14.—No word has been received from the steamer Martin Mullen, which went aground 500 feet off Whitefish Point lighthouse this morning since Captain Goodwin first wirelessed this port asking for tugs to try and pull him off.

The Mullen was said to be out two feet on the rocky ledge, but was not leaking when the wireless was received.

The tug Iowa and Alabama went to the scene, leaving the Soo at 11 o'clock, but no information from them has come, and marine men are of the opinion that the tug men feel that they have a chance to pull the vessel off.

The grounding of the Mullen marks the first casualty of the marine season in Lake Superior. The vessel is loaded with grain from Fort William. Heavy swells in Lake Superior were reported here by Captain Cody of the steamer Frank Billings yesterday, and these are thought to account for the grounding, as the weather was not foggy.

WINDSOR DRAYMEN'S CHARGES TO BE FIXED

Bylaw To Be Prepared To Prevent Exorbitant Charges.

WINDSOR, April 14.—Windsor Board of Police Commissioners today instructed the chief constable to have the city solicitor draw up a bylaw limiting the charges of truck drivers to a schedule approved by the commission. Mayor Wilson stated that complaints had been made by citizens of the exorbitant charges of truck drivers. Magistrate W. E. Gundy expressed the opinion that taxi drivers should receive some attention when draymen's charges were being fixed.

Chief Thompson informed the commission that he had secured copies of taxi and draymen's bylaw from Hamilton, Toronto, London, Brantford, Stratford and other cities.

PACKERS MAY END STRIKE

TORONTO, April 14.—A break in the packinghouse workers' strike in this city appeared imminent tonight, when it was stated that the members of the packinghouse workers' union who are on strike at the William Davies Company's plant would hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon to discuss the question of returning to work on the terms offered by the company before the strike occurred.

NATURAL GAS PRICE REDUCED AT GUELPH

Fifteen Cents Per 1,000 Cubic Feet—Present Price $1.65.

GUELPH, April 14.—Guelph gas consumers received with much satisfaction the announcement of the light and heat commission today that the price of gas would be reduced 15 cents per 1,000 feet, under the present rate, effective on May 1. The commission has been working with a view of making a reduction for some time, but it was only at the regular meeting today that a decision was arrived at to make the cut 15 cents. At the present time gas is sold in Guelph at minimum consumers at the rate of $1.75 per 1,000 feet, with a 10-cent discount per 1,000 feet, making the net rate $1.65. Another 15-cent reduction on top of this will bring the net rate after May 1 to $1.50 per 1,000 feet.

Get Government Posts. D. D. Arsenault of the fourth year class at the O. A. C. has accepted a position with the Federal Government as inspector of dairy factories in the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia. Mr. Arsenault is from Mount Carmel, P. E. I., and before coming to Guelph took two years at the Truro Agricultural College, Nova Scotia. A. Ross Mitchell of Collingwood, also in the fourth year at the college, accepted a position with the soldiers' settlement board. Both men are veterans of the late war.

STOLE HORSE AND BUGGY

Guelph, April 14.—Floyd Walker, a young man who was brought to this city Tuesday from Clifford, appeared on trial before Judge Hayes this afternoon, charged with the theft of a horse and buggy owned by Fred J. Hambly of Clifford. Walker pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to the Ontario Reformatory for six months. The theft was committed on Saturday night.

Following the seizure made by Inspector O'Brien, a letter was received from the company in Montreal which shipped the liquor, stating that a mistake had been made, and that the whiskey should have gone to 65 Campbell avenue, Windsor, Ont. Inspector O'Brien had the liquor shipped to Windsor today, but later learned that Hogan, the man to whom the shipment was consigned, had been arrested at London, Ont., yesterday afternoon for running. The inspector, on orders from the license department, at once wired the license officials at Windsor to seize the shipment on arrival.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal function of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation, and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk)—is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pylorhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pylorhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

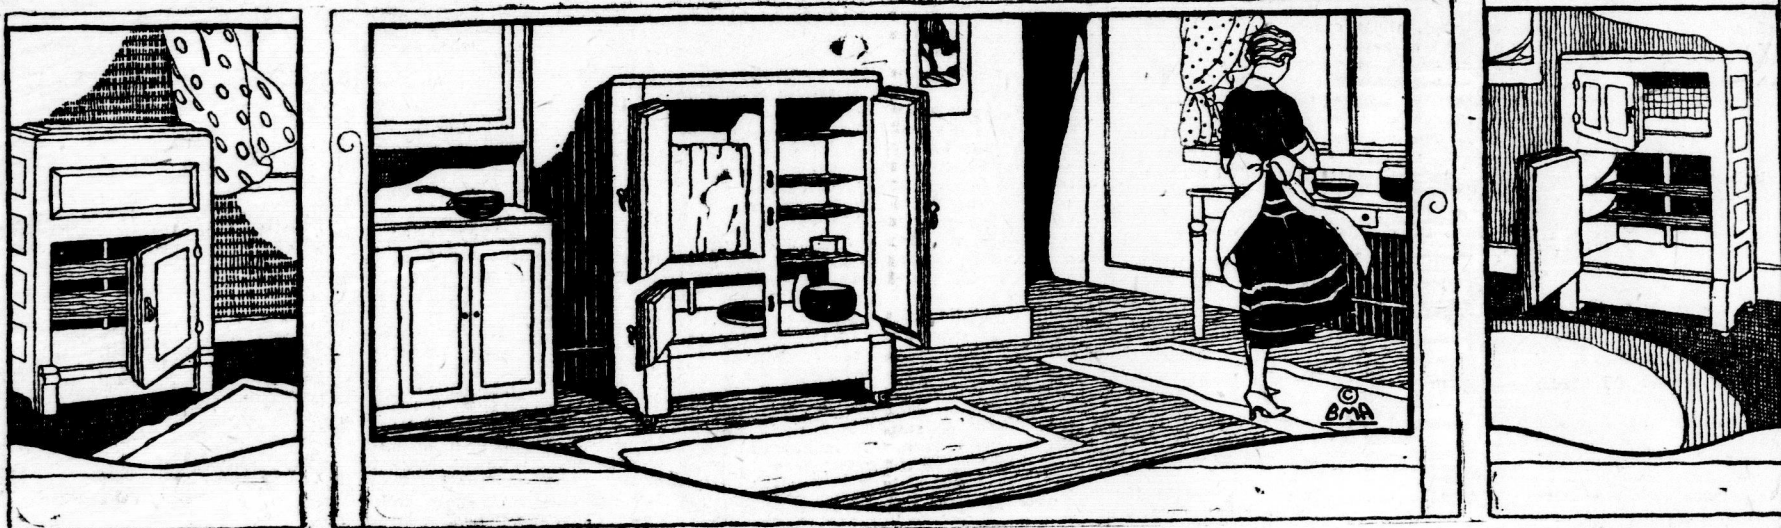

Pylorhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pylorhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pylorhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

STRONG APPEAL FOR INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH MADE BY LONDONER

Hume Cronyn, M.P., Tells the House of Great Value To Be Gained.

CANADA DOING LITTLE

Other Countries Are Spending Time and Money in Research.

OTTAWA, April 14.—The value of industrial research as an aid to the country and humanity in its march of progress was emphasized by Hume Cronyn, M.P., chairman of the select parliamentary committee and scientific and industrial research, in the course of an able and illuminating address delivered at the luncheon of the Ottawa branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the Chateau Laurier today.

Although Mr. Cronyn gave no intimation as to the action the Government may take on the question of the establishment of a national research institute, he stressed its value to the country and called attention to the unanimity with which members of parliament of different political parties had expressed their approval of the project.

A large body of public opinion believed, he said, that universities were proper institutions to develop industrial science. In England, where the matter had been carefully looked into, in the United States and Canada, where the industrial research council was composed in majority of university or presidents, the decision has been made that the universities are not the proper place for the development of industrial science. However, the universities have a tremendous part to play. Without them the progress of research would die. It is their duty to train researchers.

Probably no quotations applied more fittingly to the problem of industrial science than that "whoever can make two ears of corn or two blades of grass grow where one grew before will deserve better of mankind than the whole race of politicians put together." The speaker said he would commend the quotation to his fellow-members in the House of Commons.

Canada Doing Little. Mr. Cronyn reviewed the accomplishments of different countries in the field of industrial research. In Canada, he said, outside of the various departments of the Government mines and agriculture and some other departments, the country as a whole was doing very little in the way of aiding research work. Of course, this was not to be wondered at, as the industries of Canada were not large or powerful enough to devote large sums of money for such work. The council of industrial research was founded in 1916 to survey the field, report to the Government what should be done, and spread the information and gospel of research. The research of the council's work was to be recommended to the Government under federal supervision. The recommendation was referred to the select committee of the House, with the result that the committee confirmed the finding of the council, and strongly recommended to the Government that an institute be founded. The work was debated in the House and members on both sides of the House expressed their appreciation.

Some of the main functions of the institute would be to enable Canadian industries to solve some of their problems, increase production and utilize waste products. Mr. Cronyn gave it as his personal opinion that there existed perhaps some misapprehensions about the object of the proposed institute. The object of the institute was to aid native industries by establishing a rallying point where they could be advised by experts in the field of the solution of their problems.

GOING TO CAPTURE TOWN AND CITIES UPSET GOVERNMENT

Plans of Men On Trial At Hamilton Revealed in Court.

HAMILTON, April 14.—The action brought against Stanley Marriner, Edgar Haslam, Oliver Fry and Avin Semino, charged with being members of an unlawful association for the purpose of bringing about government by force, violence or physical injury to person and property was continued today. H. Whitehouse was again called to the stand. He swore that at a meeting in January when Haslam was in the chair it was suggested that a red flag and red membership cards be adopted as fitting color for an organization that intended to carry on the same sort of work as the Soviet government of Russia. One in the audience suggested the only way to solve the unemployment problem was to let the rich starve if they would not work.

Whitehouse underwent a stiff cross-examination at the hands of J. L. Counsell, who is defending the prisoners.

"You are a rank Socialist, aren't you, Mr. Counsell?" queried the witness, in the course of the examination.

Being Paid For It. "I am being paid for this, say what you please," was the lawyer's reply.

The One Big Union, declared the witness, was in close touch with the organization. The big union furnished funds for rent of the premises where meetings were held and complimented the local organization on the progress it was making. O. B. U. literature was distributed and O. B. U. members attended the meetings.

Asked who distributed the literature, Whitehouse pointed to a man in the audience, whose name Mr. Counsell said was Jacques.

Whitehouse said that at one time he did secret service work in England. Asked why he quit the local organization, he declared because he would not give information the association wanted. He admitted that he had been working here with the city and county police since April 4.

"What was the way the officers were going to carry the organization on?" "By direct action."

"Did they intend to form an illegal organization?" "It was already formed. They had no charter."

"In addition, you suspected that they were going to do something by force?" "Capture Towns and Cities."

"Yes. They were going to capture towns and cities, turn out the Government employees and carry on themselves."

Whitehouse said Marriner was the man who first made this statement. Semino and Price translated the remarks.

One, Flatman, he said, also spoke at the meeting, and declared there must be some form of Soviet rule throughout the Dominion. "The rich shall starve the same as we are being starved," was another statement credited to him.

When the crown prosecutor wanted to submit some literature as evidence the judge pointed out the men were not being tried on a charge of having sedition literature in their possession, but as members of an unlawful organization.

"You might just as well," said His Lordship, "say that the whole church is heretical because some of its leaders obtain to heretical ideas, as to say that the organization in question is illegal because some of the leaders have wrongful purposes in mind."

His ruling was that because the literature was found in the homes of a number of officers of the organization it did not make it relevant to the case against the organization.

Police Sergeant Steward, Detectives Goodman and Crocker, Constable Duffy and Constable Sharp told of having attended meetings addressed by Marriner and Haslam, in which they had tried to incite the crowd they were addressing to direct action, and had stated that what was needed was a Lenin of Trotsky to take charge of things here.

Mayor Copley stated that a party headed by Marriner and Haslam went to his office in January and made demands for work. They said that what the country needed was Russian conditions, and threatened to take direct action unless something was done for them.

When his worship informed them that they were killing people in Russia, Marriner said that they would have to do the same here.

Controller Davis corroborated the mayor, and stated that on several occasions Haslam and Marriner had threatened they would take direct action unless they got what they wanted. They demanded that their own committee deal with cases of unemployment, and that the city act as the committee advised.

The only evidence regarding Semino was that he interpreted remarks made by others to foreigners, and on one occasion warned concerned ministers.

At the close of the crown's case J. L. Counsell, representing the prisoners, asked for a dismissal of the action against his clients. His lordship declined to dismiss the action, and Mr. Counsell said if that was all the evidence the crown had to offer he would not call any witnesses. He then briefly addressed the jury, followed by Daniel O'Connell, K.C., crown prosecutor. Mr. Justice Rose then charged the jury. He impressed upon the jury that these men were not being tried for sedition, but for being members of an unlawful assembly. The jury had to find that the society and not they as members of it, tried to overthrow the Government by force.

STOUFFVILLE MAN INJURED IN WRECK

G. T. R. Freight Train Is Wrecked Near Thamesville Wednesday.

Thamesville, April 14.—A westbound Grand Trunk freight train was wrecked 300 yards east of the local depot yesterday by the breaking of a journal on a stone car. The broken part scraped along the roadbed for a distance of 200 yards before it fell, with the result that four cars were demolished. One box car, in which a drover from Stuffville was riding along with a load of cattle, was thrown across the track and down the small embankment. The drover was slightly injured on the hip, but the cattle were not hurt. The car, when turning, knocked two other cars off the opposite track, blocking all lines. Wrecking crews from St. Thomas and Windsor are here clearing the tracks, but it will be several hours before through traffic is renewed.

DATE OF MEETING SET.

OTTAWA, April 14.—The annual meeting of the Union of Canadian Municipalities will be held in Ottawa next week in July. This was decided today at an executive meeting of the association in the board of control room in the city hall.

ONTARIO'S COAL PROBLEM REAL DECLARES ROSS

Appeals To Government To Take Action—Wants Canadian Fuel.

OTTAWA, April 14.—Ontario's coal problems were brought vividly before the special fuel committee of the House today by Duncan C. Ross, the Liberal member for W. Middlesex. Ac Mr. Ross points out, Ontario, lying in the centre of Canada and furthest away from either the Eastern or the West, when coal is difficult to get. Ontario coal comes from the United States. Like many other foresighted men in Ontario he sees that electrical development or white coal must displace the real coal in time to come. But for the present and the immediate future Ontario still has its coal problem.

Mr. Ross pointed out that Nova Scotia coal producers demanded a bigger price than did the coal producers of United States right at the coal pit mouth. On top of this they insisted on ships of the general combine in which they were interested carrying the coal to Quebec and Montreal. He could see little relief until the Government stopped such procedure. Only then might Ontario people expect some competition against the United States coal. He deplored the fact that with such tremendous quantities of coal in Canada that Ontario could not be the consumer of some of it. Better regulations, he thought, would bring about a change and he urged the Government to take some action.

BELGIAN FINED $200 FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Claims His Family and Friends Responsible For Heavy Consumption.

Blenheim, April 14.—Paul Wagner, a Belgian, who bears the reputation of being well off, was fined $200 and costs, $24.80, by Magistrate J. C. Whittington on Tuesday for keeping liquor for sale. The case was heard a week ago, and at that time judgment was reserved. The charge was laid as a result of the findings made by Special Constables Hill and Clark, working under the license inspector for Kent. Clark and Hill claimed they found that Wagner had been receiving shipments of liquor since last November, which were more than a reasonable amount, and the liquor was being disposed of more quickly than was reasonable. The magistrate summed up the evidence, showing it was costing the defendant more than $3 per day for liquor. Defendant claimed that he, his wife and friends who came in were disposing of the liquor. The magistrate held that he did not believe the defendant's story that all the liquor was being consumed in a lawful manner, but that he was disposing of some of it in barter. As a result of the decision of the court Wagner will not be allowed to keep any liquor at his residence for one year. The fine was paid forthwith. Two other cases of liquor belonging to Wagner that were seized in transit by the officers, were ordered to be returned to the shipper and the money refunded.

Keep Out the Flood of Foreign "Booze"

Customs Statement

Liquor imported into Canada from abroad for consumption in Ontario.

1919	-	124,672	-	$ 550,794
1920	-	338,539	-	2,120,546
Increase	-	213,867	Gals.	$1,569,752

"BOOTLEGGERS", "Rum Runners", "Whiskey Smugglers" and "Blind Pigs" are demoralizing the community, selling imported liquors contrary to law.

Drunkenness is increasing, and also the crimes and offences which go hand in hand with drunkenness.

Drinking in the home threatens to take the place of drinking at the bar.

Importation Must Cease

The Ontario Temperance Act is becoming increasingly difficult to enforce because of the flood of imported liquor coming in from other provinces and from abroad.

In 1920 the traffic in liquor imported from outside Canada increased 285% over 1919, while liquor poured in from other provinces literally by the car load.

This situation is directly due to the repeal of the war-time Order-in-Council which, when in force, prohibited importation.

This Referendum is to prohibit importation permanently.

Premier Drury himself says: "I shudder to think of the condition in which we would find ourselves if we lost. If this Referendum fails we would be confronted for a time with this unenforceable law."

This Referendum must not fail.

JAPAN IS AGAIN VISITED BY BIG CONFLAGRATION

Four Thousand Homes Are Destroyed—Damage Two Million Yen.

HAOKODATE, Japan, April 14.—Fire which broke out here last night destroyed some four thousand homes before it was brought under control. The buildings destroyed included three Christian missions, the British consulate, several banks, hospitals, schoolhouses, theatres and Government buildings.

The fire in Hakodate was the third great conflagration to occur in Japan within the last three weeks. On March 27 the whole city of Tokyo was imperilled by the greatest fire in a decade, which destroyed 1,000 houses in the northwestern part of the city and involved a loss estimated at 25,000,000 yen. On April 6 a big fire in the Asakusa section of Tokyo destroyed 1,700 houses, among them eight temples, a schoolhouse and a police station.

NO DAMAGE DONE BY TWO RECENT FROSTS, RUTHVEN DISTRICT

Fruit Prospects for 1921 Are Considered To Be Excellent.

Ruthven, April 14.—Although this district has been visited by two medium frosts during the past week, and the ground has been covered with about one inch of snow, which melted an hour after it came, a thorough examination of the trees and bushes shows that the frosts were not severe enough to do any damage, as the buds were not far enough advanced. All indications are now for an extra heavy yield of all kinds of fruit.

The owners of hothouses in this district were obliged to turn on more gas during the cold snap, and the millions of early plants, which are growing by leaps and bounds, are in the healthiest condition seen in many years. The fields are being put in shape to receive seed corn, which will be planted all over this section this season.

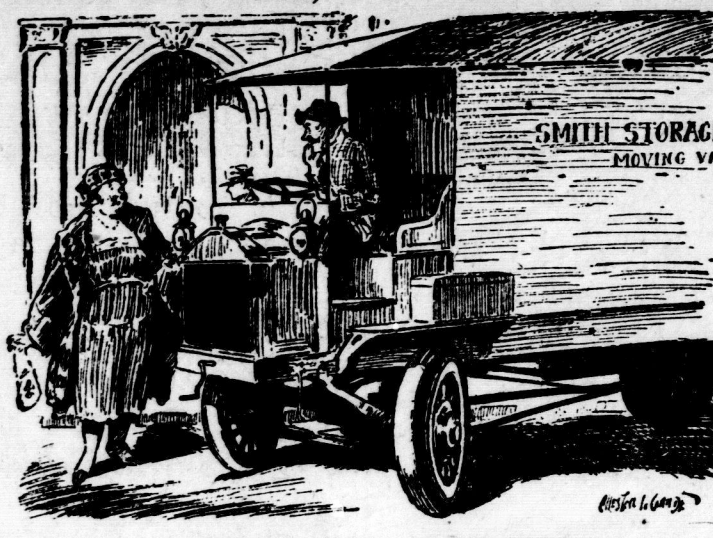

The large pasture fields are covered with the extra good growth of grass, and live stock of all kinds are thriving on the fresh, new feed, which is doing wonders for the many dairy herds. Michael Wigle and his son Forey, who have been out with their big traction engine for the past three weeks steaming the ground in hundreds of beds where the early plants are being grown, will finish up the process this week.

Dr. Mary of Ceylon, India, is giving a series of lectures at the University of London on the subject of "The Lessons are on practical home nursing, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, and large crowds are attending.

Norman Bristow and family left on Monday for Okeby, where he will be employed on one of the William Mills and Son's fruit and tobacco farms. Captain William Malott, who has been on the lakes every season for the past fifteen years, and who bought an 80-acre farm from Clifford Fox at Union, has quit the joys of the rolling deep, and is now engaged in plowing and seeding his farm, which is one of the best in this district.

It is estimated that the tobacco acreage this season will only be about one-third of what it has been in other years. The low prices which are being offered, and the large quantities in the barns, is the cause of the farmers going extensively into better paying crops.

POSSESSION OF 75 CASES OF LIQUOR IS GRANTED IN WINDSOR POLICE COURT

Returned Men to Have Preference as Census Enumerators in Essex.

WINDSOR, April 14.—Owing to delay on the part of the hydro-electric commission in commencing extensions and improvements to the local street railway system, Mayor Wilson has wired the secretary of the commission, seeking for a deputation from Windsor to meet the commission.

Telling Police Magistrate W. E. Gundy that he anticipated a long, dry spell, John Mareau satisfied the court as to why he should have 75 cases of liquor on hand. An order giving Mareau possession of the liquor was granted by Magistrate Gundy.

Major C. E. F. Ambury, census supervisor for North Essex, announced today that between 70 and 80 enumerators will be required to take the census. Returned men will be given the preference, Major Ambury stated.

C. N. R. CLAIMS COAL OPERATORS BOOST PRICES OF FUEL

President To Be Summoned Before the Parliamentary Fuel Committee.

OTTAWA, April 14.—(By Canadian Press).—Roy M. Wolvin, president of the Dominion Coal Company and titular head of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal merger, will be summoned before the parliamentary fuel committee to answer charges aired in the committee this morning that the coal companies which entered the merger are "holding up" the Canadian National Railways.

The Canadian National Railways have offered to buy some 900,000 additional tons of coal from Nova Scotia this year. R. G. Vaughan, vice-president of the C. N. R., told the committee, providing the Nova Scotia operators will sell at a price which will compare favorably with the quotations of American operators.

As a result of the Beaverbrook merger of the coal and steel industries in Nova Scotia, the Canadian National Railways are appealing vainly to the Nova Scotia coal operators to supply the C. N. R. fuel requirements at a price which compares favorably with the quotations received from United States operators, according to testimony given to the parliament fuel committee this morning by R. G. Vaughan, vice-president of the C. N. R.

Following this testimony, in which was included the statement that Western Canadian operators are dealing fairly with the C. N. R., the committee decided that Roy M. Wolvin, the titular head of the merger and president of the Dominion Coal Company, must appear before them to explain why the Nova Scotians are insisting upon their present price schedule.

According to a comparison made by Mr. Vaughan, United States coal is transported some thousand miles and sold at Port Arthur at $2.75 per ton, while the Nova Scotia producers demand $7 per ton at the mine wharves. In addition to this, the Nova Scotians discriminate against the Canadian Government merchant marine, to the extent of 50 cents per ton, by adding this amount to their quotations, when the C. N. R. carries its coal on Government ships.

SARNIA'S FIRE CHIEF RESIGNS HIS POST

Department in State of Chaos Is Allegation—Resignation Accepted.

Sarnia, April 14.—Members of the local fire and protection committee announce that as the result of difference they had accepted the resignation of Fire Chief Batt of the local department and that the position will likely be filled by another man in the near future.

According to Chief Batt's side of the issue, the committee were not giving him leave enough in running the department, and in answer to this the committee members state that the employment of Chief Batt's brother and other items had much to do with their accepting his resignation.

For some time the fire department has been in a state of chaos, and recently the resignation of a number of the members of the fire department were accepted by Chief Batt at this time, and one or two other members of the department were retained.

COUNCIL TO START WORK AT ONCE TO HELP UNEMPLOYED

Street Improvement Contract To Be Divided Between Two Tenderers.

FIGURES ARE MUCH ALIKE

Partly-Burned Auto, No. 63-486, Is Found Near Talbotville.

ST. THOMAS, April 14.—That work might be provided at once for a number of idle men in the city, the council, at a special meeting this afternoon, went over the tenders for the improving of several streets in the city. Three contractors, Irwin & Son, E. Cash and N. Matthews made offers for the improvements, which consisted of considerable roadwork and concrete gutters and curbing. The figures of Messrs. Irwin and Cash, when analyzed by the city engineer were found so to vary in prices of work and material, and when checked up to be so nearly alike, that the council resolved to divide the work between them.

As there will be plenty to do for some months to come, the city engineer was instructed to go over the figures and allot similar proportions of the contract as near as possible to each of the contractors. The council will meet tomorrow (Friday) evening to hear and determine the report of the engineer. The proposed improvements cover Nolan, Chestnut, Curtis, Scott street from Hiauwatha to Mondamin, Fourth avenue, Pearl and East streets, Port Stanley Harbor.

Mayor Brinkman, Chairman Curtis of the board of works, and City Solicitor Doherty will go to London on Saturday afternoon to confer with representatives from London, Port Stanley, Middlesex and Elgin Counties with regard to the steps to be taken to secure an appropriation in the federal supplementary estimates for some part of the program of improvement to the Port Stanley harbor, as recommended by the engineer of the department of public works.

J. D. Onley Inquest.

Fairbrother (foreman), Robert A. McCully, Richard Cusack, Daniel Newcombe, Egerton Thilkin, William Barrett, P. L. M. Egan and P. Stinchcombe.

A Scorched Auto.
An auto was found on the gravel road north of Talbotville yesterday afternoon with the upper portion burned off, and no person in the neighborhood willing to claim the car.

The party discovering the deserted car removed the plate number and brought it back to St. Norman. The figures on the plate were 63-486.

TEACHERS' ALLIANCE RECOGNIZED BY BOARD AFTER FIVE DAYS' STRIKE

MOOSE JAW Teachers Return to Their Posts—Schools Are Reopened.

MOOSE JAW, April 14.—The collegiate institute and public schools were reopened this morning by the teaching staff after a five-day strike. An agreement between the teachers' alliance and the school board was signed by both parties last evening.

The school board grants the teachers recognition of their alliance and agrees to treat with the teachers through that organization. No increases have been granted to the principals and collegiate teachers, it is understood, and the board has taken them all back without prejudice.

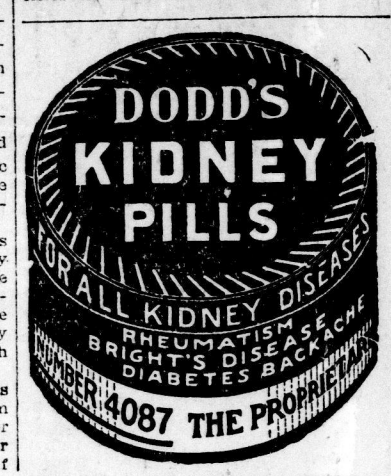

TITLES OF NOBILITY BANNED IN AUSTRIA

VIENNA, April 14.—A measure making the presence in Austria of a former king a felony punishable by from one to five years' rigorous imprisonment has been forced through the constitutional committee by the combined pan-German and Social Democratic vote. Passage of the measure by the national assembly is considered assured.

The original language of the bill, as framed by the Socialists, specifically named the Hapsburgs, but the measure was modified so as to stipulate all persons banned by the statutory law. The bill also provides imprisonment for any one adding, abetting or harboring such persons.

A clause added to the measure makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by from six months to one year in prison, for any person to use publicly a former title of nobility, or to permit himself to be so addressed in the presence of a third person. The clause is aimed at the growing renewal of the use of titles in social intercourse.

WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS SAY: Dominion Seeds---"They Come Up"

A few recent letters from people who have tried other sources of seed supply. Read them and ask yourself if you can afford to use cheap seeds with no reputation. Ask your wife if a saving of 5 cents on a packet of seeds amounts to much when the difference may be a full crop or next to nothing, as far as crops go.

Read What They Say:

Inclosed please find order. The seeds I had from DOMINION SEEDS a few weeks ago have grown splendidly. I shall give you all my order in future. Ship these seeds by express. Yours truly,

ALFRED EADE,

198 Carlton street, St. Catharines, Ont.

I have purchased my seed from you for the last two years, and was well pleased with results. My garden stuff took first prize at the fair, and also first prize $10 for the best garden in London. I did all the work myself and use only DOMINION SEEDS. I say your seeds can't be beaten, and I will always plant DOMINION SEEDS.

MRS. A. McDONALD,

13 Argyle street, London West.

Please send me two ounces of Celery, Paris Golden Yellow, at once for some later sowing. I find your seeds of a better germinating power than any other seed, and I have tried them all. Yours truly,

S. A. BAKODY,

Freeman, Ont.

I was new at the growing of vegetables last year and was persuaded to give part of my order to another seed house, but they don't fool me now. I have tested DOMINION SEEDS with other seeds and find your seeds come up fully 50 per cent better than the seed I was persuaded to buy. I know your Mr. C. Wesley Baker is a man the growers can trust to supply the best seeds to be had, and as he has had the very necessary practical knowledge of growing for market he knows what a gardener needs. I intend to sow DOMINION SEEDS exclusively in the future and will recommend DOMINION SEEDS to all my friends.

S. WATMSLEY,

Was Suffering From INDIGESTION No Fear of Pains Now.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble, and many people suffer terribly after every meal they eat. The rising and souring of the food, pains in the stomach, heartburn, water brash, belching of wind, vomiting shortly after eating, etc., are some of the symptoms. There is no need for any person to be troubled with indigestion, dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble if they would only take Burdock Blood Bitters, which contains a combination of nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries; a combination that cannot help but put the stomach right.

Mr. H. H. Collins, Norton, N. B., writes: "I was with the overseas forces for four years and two months, and in October, 1916, I was unfortunate enough to be wounded and taken prisoner. I was a prisoner for 2½ years, and the food they gave us was not good, at times, and after a few months I found I was suffering from indigestion. When I came home in July, 1919, I was nearly a wreck. I was told to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and found great relief, and can now eat without fear of pains and sickness. I would recommend B. B. B. to all who suffer from indigestion."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has made a reputation second to none for relieving all stomach troubles. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

JURY DECLARES SIDNEY MURRELL FIRED FATAL SHOT

But Holds All Four Bandits
Responsible For Victim's Death.

PRISONERS IDENTIFIED

Audience Applauds Damaging
Evidence of Witnesses
Against Men Held.

[By Staff Reporter.]

MELBOURNE, April 14.—That Russell Campbell came to his death in the village of Melbourne on Monday, April 11, by reason of injuries inflicted by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hand of Sidney Ernest Murrell. At the time the said Sidney Ernest Murrell was engaged with William George Murrell, Henry Jack Williams and a person to the jury unknown, in a common purpose, namely, robbing the Home Bank at Melbourne, and in the opinion of the jury all four persons are responsible for the death of the said Russell Campbell.

The three prisoners were brought to the inquest by Inspector of Detectives Thomas H. Nickle and Detective Harry Down, in the large police car. The inquest opened at 2 o'clock and the spectators, which was strongly against the prisoners. The attendants at the inquest did not restrain their feelings in the least, and at times cheered loudly, and applauded when evidence of a damaging nature was given against the prisoners.

Identify Sidney Murrell.
Two witnesses identified Sidney Murrell as the man who shot Russell Campbell. Of the two witnesses, Stuart Campbell, brother of the deceased, gave the strongest evidence, swearing that he saw Russell Campbell after the shot was fired from the bandit's gun.

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop of London secured the evidence, while Dr. W. H. Woods of Mount Brydges presided. J. M. Donohue of London was counsel for the prisoners, and with the permission of the crown questioned a number of the witnesses.

Dr. Woods, in addressing the jury, remarked that Melbourne could pride itself on the capture of the three prisoners. He mentioned Agnes Campbell.

bell, teller of the bank; E. S. Theaker, manager of the Union Bank; Stuart Campbell and Robert Campbell, brothers of the deceased, and Wilfred Denford, the young Indian, who caught Williams, as showing great courage in the face of great danger. There was not a place in Canada, and even on the continent, he ventured to say, where the residents had acted with such pluck and daring when hold-up men operated.

Miss Wright Called.
Erna Wright of Kerwood, lodger-keeper in the Home Bank, was the first witness called. She noticed the four men come into the bank. After she had looked at the three prisoners, she stated that the fourth bandit, who is still at large, was the first one to enter the building. She did not know that there was anything wrong when they entered. Not until Miss Campbell, the teller, called to her did she know that there was trouble at her place of employment. She went to the Union Bank and then returned to her own bank, having spread the alarm.

Miss Agnes Campbell, teller at the bank for five years, agreed that four men came in through the front door. "They were on us before we had hardly noticed them," she testified. "I closed a combination of the safe. One of the men held a revolver to my face. I went out the side door. Some of the men were holding Mr. McCandless. Later I saw residents with one of the prisoners in the middle of the road."

Was Talking to Teller.
Roy E. McCandless, manager of the bank, had been talking to Miss Campbell in the teller's cage and was just going back to his office at the rear of the building when the four men entered. "They got to the office ahead of me. The four crowded me. The first man wore spectacles. He was pulling a gun. The second man aimed his gun over the first man's shoulder. One jumped between me and covered Miss Campbell. She was about three feet away."

One of the men, McCandless swore, hit him with a gun, and threatened to kill him. "One said that the girl had gone, so I knew that relief was coming. They had me down. I pretended to be trying to open the safe."

Stunned by Blows.
The first man, he said, got away, but the second man he identified as Sidney Ernest Murrell. He identified the other two prisoners as ones who were in the bank. He heard someone say, "Hit them, hit them." Then two shots were fired. "I was partially stunned by blows. I met one of the Campbells with a rifle. He came in the front door. I saw a man lying in the alleyway. I came back after the three bandits were captured and found the man to be Russell Campbell."

During the attempted robbery he heard one of the men ask: "Has the bank been cleared?" Money was taken but it was returned by John Little, he thought.

The missing man, McCandless said, was not the one who pointed the gun at Miss Campbell.
Annabel Parr, whose store is near the bank, saw two of the bandits captured. She also saw a man lying in the lane between the bank and store, and afterwards that it was Russell Campbell. She said that she could not identify the men positively.

Dr. R. E. Dewar of Melbourne, who with Dr. L. W. McFrees of Glenora made the post-mortem examination, said that death was instantaneous, and was due to blood vessels being severed by the bullet, which entered Campbell's left side below the heart and pierced the body almost through. There was also a scar on the deceased's hip, where another bullet struck.

Dr. McFrees said that he showed the bullet, which was taken from the body to Sid Murrell and asked him if it was from his gun, and he answered "Yes." He had handed the bullet to Detective Down, and along with it Williams' revolver and another revolver. When the doctor arrived in Melbourne shortly after 11:30 a.m. Monday the two prisoners above mentioned were tied to a post. He said that they were in a state of nervous collapse, but not of physical collapse.

Counsel Q. you when the bullet was removed?" asked J. M. Donohue, prisoners' counsel.

"In Sponenburgh's undertaking parlour," was the reply.
"Who was present?"
"Dr. Dewar and Dr. Woods."
"Who removed it?"
"I have to answer that," asked the witness of the crown.

He was told that he could answer it. "Dr. Dewar," he answered.
"Who was responsible for its removal?"
"Well, we were all there, and none of us objected."

"What business had you to remove it? Don't you know you should not have done that?"
Here Crown Attorney McKillop questioned the witness.
"Was there any reason why you should not remove the bullet?" inquired the crown.

"No."
"Certainly not! You were justified." Cheering and whistling.

Cheering and whistling and applauding greeted this remark. Two men ran out the bank, saw the three Campbell brothers running to aid the persons who were being held up. Stuart Campbell stopped near a post. A minute later she heard three shots. The robbers came out of the lane, being pursued. She could not recognize them before they were captured. She saw a body in the lane. Someone said that it was Russell Campbell's.

Mrs. Barbara C. Staples saw Edwin Burdun, Burley Robinson and the three Campbells rush to the rescue of the bank employees. One of the Campbell boys, she alleged, "Two men ran out of the lane. They were Henry Jack Williams and Sid Murrell. They were caught and later William Murrell was arrested."

Annie Acton saw Robert Campbell urging his brothers on in the race to the bank. She saw Sidney Murrell and Williams brought back after they were stopped.

Said "Good Day" To Bandit.
Duncan McCrae said he saw two "gentlemen" with revolvers in their hands. (The crowd roared when the robbers were referred to as "gentlemen.")
"You have a right to call them gentlemen if you want to," said the crown.

"I said 'Good day, sir,' to one of them," added McCrae.
John Mair, an aged man, looked down the alleyway and saw two men facing each other. One's hands were forward as though he was reaching. Two or three shots were fired. He identified Sidney Murrell as the man who had been captured after leaving the other man lying in the lane.

E. S. Theaker, when the alarm was received, locked the Union Bank, having secured his revolver. In the lane at the side of the bank he saw Russell Campbell and Sidney Murrell fighting. Campbell was bending. Two or three shots were fired from Murrell's gun and then Murrell aimed at him (Theaker). Witness sidestopped. Then Williams came out of the lane. Witness had a revolver drawn with him. Williams dropped his gun and was overpowered.

Matthew Walker saw Theaker having the duel with Williams.
George Sponenburgh noticed someone trip Sidney Murrell.
Murray Laing gave a rifle to Stuart Campbell.
Ruthven C. McIntyre saw Robert Campbell grab Sidney Murrell. Witness grabbed at the prisoner, but missed him. Then someone tripped Murrell and he was secured and tied to a post.

Sold Them Cigarettes.
John Little met the four men at 6:15 o'clock in the morning. They were in front of the bank, and asked where they could buy some cigarettes. He sold them some in the hotel. Sidney Murrell and the missing bandit bought them. The four men wore a grey overcoat.

Joseph E. Uptigrove of Lambeth said that his car had been stolen from a garage at Byron, and was recovered by him in the town hall at Melbourne. George Sponenburgh and John Lee had put the car in the hall after they had driven it there from in front of a store near the bank.

Witness Tripped Murrell.
"Sidney Murrell pointed a gun at me and I went west," Burley Robinson, a witness, said, who, although he had but one eye, took part in the battle with the gunmen. "Later I tripped him."

Edward Burdun was told by one of the men to "get back or I'll get you." Witness then secured a shotgun.
Arthur H. Palmer, provincial officer, found a flashlight in the stolen car. Robert Campbell had taken his mother to Middlemas, and had just returned to Melbourne when an attempt was made to rob the bank. He saw Stuart, also a brother of the deceased, coming with a rifle. Witness jumped on Sidney Murrell's back, but the prisoner escaped. Then Stuart grabbed his coat-tail. Williams, he said, pulled a gun on Theaker. He did not see the struggle between Sid Murrell and Russell Campbell in the lane.

Had No Ammunition.
Stuart Campbell secured a rifle before going to the bank, but could not get any ammunition for it. In the bank he saw William Murrell near the teller's cage. Sidney Murrell was near the stove. He had a revolver.
"I pointed the rifle at him. He fired at me. Williams seemed to get out of the bank first."

"I saw Russell in the alley. I saw Sidney Murrell and Russell grapple. Murrell had a revolver."
The revolver, he said, was pressed close to his brother's left ear. Sidney Murrell refused to his brother's assistance, but before he reached him Sidney Murrell had fired a shot, and Russell had collapsed. He saw him drop.

Mr. Donohue asked if the witness stood while Williams fired at him. "You don't think I'd stand with the man shooting?" retorted Stuart. (The audience cheered wildly at this juncture of the proceedings.)

R. E. McCandless said that there had been about $1,500 in the till. It was stolen, but John Little had picked up a bag containing the money when Sidney Murrell dropped it. McCandless produced two bullets taken from the wall of the bank.

Detective Harry Down said that Dr. McFrees had given him two revolvers, a .45 calibre and a .38 calibre. Sidney Murrell had picked out the .45 as being his gun. William Murrell claimed a .38 revolver as his, and Williams also claimed a .38 which had bloodstains on it. The blood came from a cut on Williams' hand.

Stole Car at Byron.
William Murrell had told Detective Down that he had ducked behind the counter in the bank until the rush was over, and then had got to the barn and hid his revolver. He also told him that he and his friends left the Murrell home in Manor Park at 3:30 o'clock Monday morning, walked to Byron, stole a car, and drove to Melbourne.

Inspector of Detectives Thomas H. Nickle was present when the prisoners were picked out of their guns.

Long Distance Service Is Now Classified

THE Classifications on long distance telephone calls in effect from midnight, April 20th, are of interest to all users of that service.

Station-to-Station Service

Station-to-Station service should be used when you are willing to talk to ANYONE at a distant telephone — that is, when you do not need to get a particular person on the line.

Person-to-Person Service

When you make a call specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person at a given number, Person-to-Person service is used. As this service requires greater operating labor and circuit time than a Station-to-Station call, the rate is about 25% greater.

Appointment and Messenger Service

Appointment calls and Messenger calls are special kinds of person-to-person calls.

An APPOINTMENT CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is quoted for service when an appointment is made by the calling party to talk at a particular time.

When a person who does not have a telephone is called over long distance and a messenger must be sent to summon the party to the telephone, the MESSENGER CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is charged, and to this is added the necessary messenger charges.

The Report Charge

When you place a call for a particular person or persons and for any reason they cannot be reached the same day at the address given, or will not talk, or if you make a call and you are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within an hour, a REPORT CHARGE is made. The report charge is about one-fourth the station-to-station rate. It is intended to cover part of our expense of handling the uncompleted call.

Special Evening and Night Rates

The EVENING rate, between 8.30 p.m. and 12 midnight, on station-to-station calls, is about one-half the day rate. The NIGHT rate, between midnight and 4.30 a.m., is about one-fourth the day station-to-station rate.

However, no evening or night rates are quoted on station-to-station calls where the day rate is less than 25 cents. On such short-haul calls the day rate applies. For longer distances special evening and night rates are quoted.

Because it is difficult to reach particular persons at night, when many are away from their homes and places of business, there are no special evening or night rates quoted for person-to-person calls. They apply only on station-to-station calls.

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station.

CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS.

3-26

Plants must have light, air and moisture. They will not grow and bloom without these three things, and it is well to remember that a house in which plants will not thrive is probably a house in which neither children nor grown-ups will thrive. Growing plants in a house, are a pretty fair index of its air, light and moisture conditions, and may be regarded as a sort of meter for them, as the thermometer is for temperature and the clocks for time. Plants that have come from the greenhouse have usually been well potted and grown, and their future depends on our care of them. They should be placed in a sunny window, though ferns and begonias will do fairly well without much sunlight. They must not be allowed to freeze, but must be near enough to the window to get the sun and air. They should be kept moist, not doused one day and neglected for four, but watched and watered daily, if they need it. They should not stand in water, however. A little soapy greasy water from the dish pan is very good for them. Dead leaves and flowers should be regularly cut off and the pot turned often in the light, so that its growth will be even. Insects or disease growths should be watched for and promptly treated. From one or two plants they can be picked off and burned, but with many some antiseptic spray should be used: tobacco juice, very dilute, is very good for most troubles of the kind, and soapy water may be used to wipe off the leaves, especially on the under side.

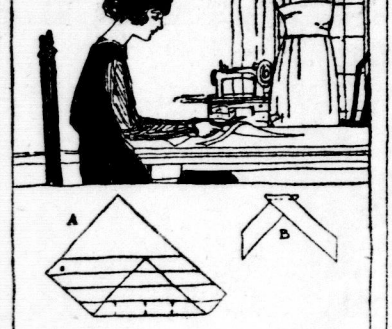

CUTTING BIAS STRIPS.

For a good many self-trimmed materials must be cut into bias strips and cut on a true bias. It is necessary to understand how to cut a true bias and it saves a good deal of trouble and irritation to be very exact and careful in cutting and handling bias strips. Fold the cloth so that the warp threads are parallel to the wood threads; with diagonal or twill material, fold the corner of the material toward which the twill runs so that the twill will run across the bias instead of along it, as the latter spoils the effect both in weave and color. Measure the depth of the bias strip desired, at right angles to the fold, at several points along the strip and mark with pins or French chalk.

Cut through the fold and through these marks on both thicknesses. Repeat, measuring from cut edge of material, until enough strips have been cut. Join bias strips by hand or machine as better suits the cloth, letting the ends extend. Clip a selvage edge, it is so heavy that it is necessary. On twilled cloth, cut the twill at right angles to the bias.

The following figures from a table of measures showing length along the selvage for a given width of bias strip, the length of a true bias strip

A. TRUE BIAS STRIP. B. WIDTH OF CLOTH.

when the width of cloth is given, may be helpful in estimating how much bias striping to cut. For a bias strip half an inch wide, the length of the selvage is three quarters of an inch; for a strip an inch and a half, two and an eighth inches; for two inches, two and three quarters; when the cloth is eighteen inches wide, a true bias strip is 25 1/2 inches long; when it is 27 inches wide, a true bias strip is 33 1/2; when it is a yard, the strip is 50 1/2 inches. Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

The easiest thing in the world to make is a promise, but the next easiest thing is an excuse for not keeping it.

Joyce's Request.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxes.—Here I come once again to your comfortable corner.

I am pleased that the beautiful spring weather is here once again. It seems so nice to hear the birds and fowl. It is really surprising that we should have such beautiful weather after having such a mild winter.

I saw in Saturday's paper where you had "St. Peter at the Golden Gate" in your Mail-Box, and if you have it, will you please forward it to me, as I have long tried to get it?

Well, as my letter is getting long, I had better stop or will be kicked out. Wishing the page every success, will sign as before. JOYCE.

Ans.—Am mailing you recitations as requested.

Wants Quilt Pattern.

Dear Cynthia Grey.—Inclosed find stamps for forwarding my address to Lady Evelyn. I am very sorry I forgot it before.

I saw where someone wrote saying she had several quilt patterns. Now I wonder if she would send me a copy of them? I forgot what her name was, but hope she will see my request for them.

I ended the discussion of books. I like M. J. Holmes, Ralph Connor's, Mrs. Meade's and H. Alger's books the best.

I guess I had better stop for this time. As ever, LADY DEWEE.

Ans.—Am mailing your address to Lady Evelyn. Thanks for the stamps.

Our Mail-Box Quilt.

Dear Miss Grey.—I was so pleased to see a letter from Aunt Nannie once again. When you please send me a few of her cosmos seeds and one of the patterns. Did Mrs. Home Bird send in her easy crochet pattern? I have never seen her name since she promised to send them. I would like to exchange with her. I quite enjoyed Ex-Pte. Fatty's letter. It reminded me of my experience, for it is fifteen years ago on April 14 since we left England and came out to a village a few miles from Guelph. I just know the house and feeling that one gets. But I am glad to say that I have never regretted that journey. Did "London in the Smoke" get anyone to correspond with, if not Miss Grey can give her my address. I do not see any more suggestions about the "Cynthia Grey's Quilt" for the Children's Hospital. Cannot one of our Good Boxes think of a good pattern. I am enclosing a pattern of a pretty hood and cap and I have some very nice patterns of yokes for corset-covers and night-gowns which I will copy for anyone that cares to get them. Thanking you Miss Grey for your Mail-Box, inclose ten cents for S. C. H. I remain yours truly, A LONDON WOMAN.

Ans.—There are no cosmos left, but I am sending some crochet patterns. Many thanks for inclosures.

No Cosmos Left.

Dear Miss Grey.—As this is my first letter to the Mail-Box you will have to excuse mistakes. I enjoy the Box very much and get lots of good hints from it.

I am inclosing hospital mite and please send me a package of red cosmos seed that Aunt Nannie sent in also a few sweet pea seed, if you have any left.

Well I must close with best wishes to all. AMELIA.

Ans.—There are no cosmos left, Amelia, but I am sending you sweet peas. Many thanks for hospital mite.

A Cynthia Grey Garden.

Dear Miss Grey.—Just a few lines from a 13-year-old; but oh, I hope I don't upset Susan. In Susan's letter a sample of what we juveniles should write. Where would you classify it, interesting, elevating, instructive or disgusting?

What I want is Fuzz Wuzz's address. I might help a little possibly gain a nice correspondent. I love flowers and pets (quadrupeds Sussex). I must be off now, so I will close. I will be off now, so I will close. I will be off now, so I will close.

Ans.—Thank you very much for seeds. I am sending you some from the Mail-Box, in return. Thanks also for address.

Cotton Scraps.

Dear Miss Grey.—Am returning song I received of you and an extra copy of it in case anyone else would want the song. I saw in the paper where one of the Boxes wanted some recitations. Am mailing a few. Please put my name down on the list for a satchet bag in case Thistle sends any more in. I am mailing a few scraps of cotton for Thistle. Would you mind sending them to her. I would like to get Mona's sleeper pattern. Could you tell me what day December 10, 1906, fell on? The time is for the S. C. H. You can take enough postage out of it to mail me the sleeper pattern, and a few. He brought quite a few heads home with him. He also embroidered with silk. His one fancy piece sold for five dollars. Just did the work to pass the time, and visitors took the articles for souvenirs. Anyone who would like one of the rings send me measure and pay for beads and wire, and I will make them one. PRINCE ROSE.

Ans.—Anyone wishing Prince Rose's address may have it from the Mail-Box.

A Generous Gift.

Dear Miss Grey.—I am inclosing $2 for the hospital fund. If you have any flower seeds on hand I would like to have a few. I am also sending a dozen sachets, as I see they are still in demand. Sincerely, AGNES.

Ans.—Many thanks, Agnes, for such a generous gift, also for the sachets, which were sent out almost as soon as they reached me. Am mailing you seeds.

Rhubarb Marmalade.

Dear Miss Grey.—I have been an interested reader of your Page for a number of years. I have written to your Page once before, but it is so long ago that I expect you have all forgotten me. I am also very much interested in your S. C. H. fund. I have a few packages of seeds, and, as I see so many asking for seeds, I thought maybe I could help a little. Am also inclosing a mite for the fund. I am also inclosing a recipe for rhubarb marmalade. I enjoyed your letter very much. Betty Bide at Home also wrote a very interesting letter a short time ago. I also am a great reader. My favorite authors are: Marion Keith, Ralph Connor, Cody, Florence Barclay and Myrtle Reed. I also enjoyed "Rose Mather" and "Irish Shamrock." I remain, yours sincerely, GLEN WESTON.

Rhubarb Marmalade.—Three quarts of rhubarb, 3 oranges, 1 pound raisins (Sul-tana), 3 quarts sugar, 10 cents worth walnut meats, 2 pieces lemon peel. Cut oranges in fine pieces and cover with cold water and let stand overnight. Add a few ingredients (and boil until thick) the next morning.

Ans.—Many thanks for seeds, hospital mite and recipe. The marmalade sounds quite tempting.

King Edward Cake.

Dear Miss Grey.—I wrote to your Mail-Box some time ago, and seeing my letter in print, I thought I would write again. I enjoy your Page very much, and often find some hints in it. Seeing where someone sent in the songs, "Hilawatha's Melody of Love," "Let the Rest of the World Go By" and "I Want To Go Back To That Tumble-Down Shack," I would be very much pleased to get them. I am inclosing a recipe for a King Edward cake, and hope it will help somebody out. What do you think of my writing—I am 13 years old?

One Side Only.

Dear Miss Grey.—It must be a great pleasure, as well as a bother, reading all these letters. Anyway the "Mites" are going to be a good use.

Please send me some asters and any other nice flowers you have in, as I do not know what kinds you have.

Do you know any good cure for freckles. They are very disagreeable, and certainly not beauty marks, are they?

Am I writing on the right side of the paper?

I see where Sussex is going to plant bean seeds. That put an idea into my head, but have no beans. Oh, well, perhaps I could get some from her next year. If she don't use them all.

Please find inclosed 15 cents. Take postage out for seeds, and put the rest into S. C. H. Must go, yours truly, JUNE.

Ans.—Am mailing seeds. No, I don't know any kind of removing freckles. Personally I don't think they mar one's beauty. Thank you for hospital mite. You only wrote on one side of the paper.

When Washing Woollens.

Dear Miss Grey.—Thought I would drop in for a few minutes to have a chat with the readers of the Mail-Box. I do enjoy reading the letters, especially the discussions about training of children.

This is the way I wash knit and crocheted garments. With woollen garments, separately, and do not put them in the same tub with linen or other goods. Wash in tepid water, in which soap has been added.

To remove grease deposited by perspiration, mix three to five tablespoonfuls of liquid ammonia with six gallons of water. This is sufficient to wash six large garments and several smaller articles. Knead and squeeze the garments; do not rub them. Rinse twice in warm water and lay the clothes on a board to dry in a room the temperature of which is uniform.

I am sending two recitations. Maybe someone would like them. Also sending directions for a yoke in flannel, buttoned, and crocheted design, and a bow-knot edging.

Miss Grey, I would like some of those California beans that grow several feet high that Maple Leaf sent in, also some of the petunia seeds, and morning glories, cosmoses or any you have, but please send me the California beans and petunias. Inclosed is my mite for the S. C. H. fund.

Here is a date cookie recipe if you care to print it: Two cups oatmeal, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Roll out very thin. Place two together with the following filling between: 1/2 cups stone dates, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cups hot water. Cook well and spread between cookies. Then bake.

BLACK-EYED EDNA.

Ans.—There are no beans nor petunia seeds left. Thank you very much for inclosures and hints re washing.

Prairie Rose.

Dear Miss Grey.—I wonder if you would like my job today (driving horses, cultivating)?

Who of the Mail-Box knows how to do work with beads? My cousin was gassed when in the war, and when he was in the hospital they taught him to weave bead rings. They are real cute. He taught me how. I have made quite a few. He brought quite a few heads home with him. He also embroidered with silk. His one fancy piece sold for five dollars. Just did the work to pass the time, and visitors took the articles for souvenirs. Anyone who would like one of the rings send me measure and pay for beads and wire, and I will make them one. PRINCE ROSE.

I am sending two recitations. Maybe someone would like them. Also sending directions for a yoke in flannel, buttoned, and crocheted design, and a bow-knot edging.

Miss Grey, I would like some of those California beans that grow several feet high that Maple Leaf sent in, also some of the petunia seeds, and morning glories, cosmoses or any you have, but please send me the California beans and petunias. Inclosed is my mite for the S. C. H. fund.

Here is a date cookie recipe if you care to print it: Two cups oatmeal, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Roll out very thin. Place two together with the following filling between: 1/2 cups stone dates, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cups hot water. Cook well and spread between cookies. Then bake.

Ans.—There are no beans nor petunia seeds left. Thank you very much for inclosures and hints re washing.

May I call again? I will close, hoping I am not asking too much for this time. Recipe for cake: Half cup of butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 eggs (well beaten), 2 cups flour, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 cup raisins (boiled in hot water). Will close.

DUST BEE.

Ans.—Kindly send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, repeating request, and I will forward songs. Thanks for recipe. You write a very good hand.

Mrs. Home at Times.

Dear Miss Grey.—Please could I have some of the dark velvet red cosmos seed Aunt Nannie sent in? I am a great lover of flowers. I do enjoy the Mail-Box letters. I wrote Mrs. Home at Times last winter for the asthma cure she said she had, and I have never heard from her. I inclosed postage for answer. Has she moved? I will send 25c in stamps; what is over the amount it takes for the seeds, you may put in the hospital fund. E. V.

Ans.—There are no cosmos left. Kindly let me know if you would like some other variety. Many thanks for hospital mite.

Congenital Defects.
"Could you tell me what causes a baby to be born with spina bifida?" is a sample of many questions asked about congenital developmental defects. When a child is born with club feet or cleft palate or lip or congenital dislocation of the hips or spina bifida, the parents have ugly superstition and ignorance to thank for the stigma which attaches.

Anyone with even an elementary knowledge of embryology or ante-natal development must recognize the utter absurdity of the superstition of "markings," without in the least doubting the positive influence of heredity, health, environment and heredity. Young mothers and expectant mothers have enough to occupy their thoughts without any of these hideous and frightful ideas spread by illiterates.

Every human being is club-footed before birth. Every human being has a cleft palate and hare lip before birth. Every human being has double congenital dislocation of the hips before birth. And every human being has spina bifida before birth. The great wonder, to my mind, is that the vast majority of us are born with each and all of these early defects wiped out by complete development.

The upper lip and upper jaw are formed by the fusion of two processes or projections which grow out like the petals of a flower and bend forward and meet as the face develops. If the fusion is incomplete, that constitutes cleft palate; or if there is only a slight cleft, hare lip.

The hip bones are practically without sockets, and the thigh bones practically without ball-head

BIFF, BING, BANG SCORES GREATER HIT THAN EVER

Dumbells Drew Rounds of Applause For Clever Work At Grand.

The Dumbells, in their second edition of "Biff, Bing Bang," at the Grand Theatre last night scored a great, if not a greater, hit than the original production. For three solid hours an audience which filled the theatre was entertained at one of the most thoroughly enjoyable pieces seen in London in a long time. Song, comedy, music, fun, pathos, dancing in endless variety, and all most skilfully presented, kept the house applauding continuously and calling for more.

In a thoroughly capable company it is difficult to single out individuals. All were good, and all merited the rounds of applause. It was a thoroughly delightful show.

Albert Plunkett, in his song, "I Know Where the File Goes in the Winter Time," kept the house in a roar and received repeated encores.

A short skit behind the lines went across with a bang and won hearty applause.

The female impersonations were one of the remarkable features of the show. Charles McLean as Madame, Fred Fenwick as Marie, Leonard Young as the Duchess, Allan Murray as Mile, Fuclose and Ross Hamilton as Marjorie were without exception artistic, clever and funny.

The little skit, "The Duchess Entertains," was a take-off on the way the wounded men feel about the way they were entertained by a certain type of society women whose one idea seems to be to ask foolish questions. The antics of the men and the work of Mile, Fuclose kept the house rocking every minute, and many people declared they had not laughed so much and so heartily in years.

Red Newman was as genuinely funny in this as in other parts. His song, "Oh, Oh, It's a Lovely War," was one of the hits of the evening, and he was brought back repeatedly.

Ted Charter as the policeman put on a sketch that was greatly enjoyed, and in his lecture on "Khakiology" also scored.

The numbers by the quartet composed of Messrs. Brayford, Tennent, Plunkett and Young were well received, and there was an insistent demand for more.

Arthur Holland had a lot of work to do, and he did it well, his various interpretations being one of the hits of the evening.

The settings of the various numbers were most attractive and added greatly to the effectiveness of their rendition. This was especially so in "Behind the Lines" and "Over Here and Over There."

The opening scene was a real Biff, Bing Bang of an unexpected and somewhat startling nature, and there wasn't a dull moment in the whole program from then to the end.

A very pleasant surprise for many of the dumbells, when the curtain went up, was to find many of the men who had fought side by side with them overseas, occupying the front seats.

This was a little surprise planned by the members of the R. C. R. Band from Wolseley Barracks, and from the evening they rendered a number of selections that were much enjoyed.

"Biff, Bing Bang" will be the attraction at the Grand tonight, and on Saturday afternoon and evening.

PIERROT PLAYERS DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Present Charming Artistic Program in Christ Church Schoolroom.

The Pierrot Players of Christ Church choir again pleased with their delightful annual spring entertainment in the church Sunday school room on Thursday evening. The choir was assisted by S. W. Finney, a recent arrival in the parish. Mr. Finney is an entertainer of high calibre.

The program opened with a chorus, entitled, "Come, Sing and Be Merry." Miss Kathleen Donaldson sang a solo, "Once a Little Blue Belle." This drew much applause. "Bachelor Gay," sung by Jack Wilson, was very entertaining, a quartet, composed of Miss May Cornelius, Edna Partridge and Alfred Tibbs and Frank Tucker, sang "Come Where the Lilies Bloom." A solo by Bert McNamara, called "The Owl and Pussycat," was well rendered. The next number, "Two Little Love Birds," was sung by the choir. "Jingaboo Man" was sung by Miss Blanche Roberts.

Mrs. George Noble delighted the audience with a solo, entitled "Grandmother Brown." "Beautiful Lady" was sung by the choir. The last number of the first part of the evening program was the popular song, "Margie." This was sung by James Percy.

Between the first and second acts two male members delighted with witty minstrel sayings.

Mr. Finney acted the second part of the program himself. His comic sayings drew forth much laughter.

A Japanese fantasia, under the direction of Miss May Partridge, composed the third part of the program.

A comedy skit by Miss Cornelius and Mr. Tucker concluded the evening's entertainment.

NOT TAKING CENSUS OF CITY AS WHOLE

Ealing and Chelsea Green To Be Covered in the County.

It appears that the enumerator in connection with the decennial census of the city is not given the right, as a whole, the annexed area, comprising about a third of the whole area of the city, being counted as being situated in East Middlesex, and enumerated as such, the division being by electoral districts rather than by municipal boundaries.

London Chamber of Commerce has resolved to bring this matter before the city council, with a view of having representations made to the Government at Ottawa.

Major Coates, the chief enumerator, claims that he must deal with the matter according to the act.

The area in question comprises the manufacturing district at the east end of Dundas street and the suburbs of Ealing and Chelsea Green.

Brantford Refrigerators To Be Put To Severe Test At the Thomas Furniture Company.

Today at 2:30 p.m. two representatives from the London papers will seal a Brantford Refrigerator, provisioned with milk and butter, along with such highly odorous articles as onions, limburger cheese, etc. It will be unsealed MONDAY at 2:30 p.m.—after 72 hours. After the newspapermen seal the refrigerator it will be left standing in Thomas' window till Monday at 2:30 p.m. It will then be unsealed and the contents inspected. The milk and butter will be found to be as sweet and free from taint as when first placed in the refrigerator.

The refrigerator to be tested is not a special one, but one taken from the stock of the Thomas Furniture Co. It will certainly be an interesting experiment for everyone interested in how to keep food unspoiled during the hot days.

By the sealing and the unsealing will take place in one of the THOMAS FURNITURE CO. windows.

THEATRES

AT LOEW'S THEATRE.

Enjoyment in all its various forms is packed into the program which opened at Loew's Thursday, and will continue for the remainder of the week. The vaudeville itself represents a wide range of entertainment, while Viola Dana, in "Blackmail," grips the spectators with her powerful portrayal of an interesting phase of modern life.

Decidedly out of the ordinary are "Way's Mannikins." The puppets, under clever control, present a complete entertainment, including a realistic "dance of death" by two lively skeletons; ballet and hula-hula dances, and a realistic battle between British and German warships, in which an aeroplane plays a spectacular part.

Swartz and Clifford present some very clever patter and songs. As laugh-getters they are in the front line, and can combine a number of talents in a way which keeps an audience in a continual roar of laughter.

"Nearly a Prince" is a clever little musical comedy in miniature. The music is better than generally found in such productions, while there is just sufficient plot to form a basis for scores of sparkling lines and clever humor. All the members of the cast can sing and dance remarkably well. Viola Dana is starred in one of the most appealing stories in which she has yet appeared. Wyndham Standing, as her leading man, makes the picture doubly sure of being a winner. Miss Dana plays the part of a pretty young girl, the daughter of a famous crackman. She is brought up in a life of crime, and in the belief that "nobody in the world is honest." While operating a clever blackmailing scheme to secure money from a foolish young millionaire, who has become infatuated with her, she comes in contact with a handsome young attorney. How his love alters her twisted view of life and redeems her happiness is interestingly depicted as the gripping plot races to a climax.

"Smiling" Bill Parsons appears in another exceptionally funny comedy, and news reels complete the bill.
