COMBINED ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR

Reported to Have Taken Place On Wednesday.

OKU AND KUROKI JOIN FORCES

A Decisive Battle Imminent—Marshal Oyama to Command Jap Armies —Pt. Arthur Still Blocked.

Che Foo, June 3, 2:30 p.m. — It is reported here that the Japanese made a determined attack upon Fort Arthur from land and sea yesterday, June 22, and also during the night. Two steamers just arrived passed Port Arthur at 1 o'clock this morning, some distance off shore. The captains, both reliable men, say they did not hear any firing at that hour.

JAP ARMIES UNITE.

St. Petersburg, une 23, 1:10 p.m. — The expectation of a great battle has been intensified by General Kuropatkin's speech to General Stakelberg's corps, on Monday at Kai Chou, when the commander-in-chief said he would see the troops again soon, that they must settle the Japanese promptly, and that they were not going home until this had been done. The general is understood to have meant that he would return from Liao Yang with a large force and give battle. It is pointed out, that he can afford to leave a comparatively small garrison at Liao Yang, in view of the absence of any direct advance from Feng Wang Cheng and the concentration of the Japanese forces south. In the opinion of many conservative military men, Kuropatkin's massing of troops at Kai Chou does not necesarily indicate his intention to give battle, but merely to check the Japanese advance and defer the occupation of New Chwang, the possession of which would be of great advantage to the Japanese during the rainy season, affording the enemy housing accommodation and enabling them to land supplies.

The occupation of Siung Yo Shan, 15 miles southeast of Kai Chou, by a Japanese detachment indicates that the connection between the enemy's armies is practically assured. Siung Yo Shan is half-way been General Oku's and General Kuroki's positions, at Senuchen and Siu Yen respectively. In the opinion of the general staff the Siung Yo Shan detachment is an outpost of the Siu Yen army or of another force, recently landed at Ching Tai Tsze, 15 miles southwest of Taku Shan.

The roads from Siu Yen and Ching Tai Tsze pass Siung Yo Shan whence they proceed respectively to Senuchen and Kai Chou. The information of the war office accounts for the position of twelve Japanese divisions. The whereabouts of two others is unknown. These are the sixth and the seventh, which probably were the last to arrive, as they come from Hakodate. One or both may have just landed, furnishing a link between the armies of Kuroki and Oku.

According to the latest reports Oku's main army is still several miles south of Senuchen.

ENTRANCE NOT CLEARED.

New York, June 23. — Accounts received from Chinese sources indicate that success has hitherto not attended the Russians' strenuous attempt to free the entrance of Port Arthur, says a Tokio cable to the Times. The Novik's recent passage out was accomplished with the help of tugs. The destroyers alone are able to leave the harbor, and are occupied in removing mines.

Thirty new forts, armed with guns, from the ships, have been erected in order to strengthen the land defenses. There is nothing to indicate an intention on the part of the Russians to make a sortie with the squadron. Apparently Gen. Stoessel is taking everything on his capacity to resist a Japanese assault, and if he fails he will blow up the remains of the squadron.

Meanwhile, owing to the system pursued in Tokio of withholding intelligence of all preliminary movements until the attainment of the immediate objective, there is no news of the Japanese operations.

WILL AWAIT OYAMA.

New York, June 23. — Field Marshal Oyama left Shimonosoki yesterday and will land at Taushan in a few days, cables the Tokio correspondent of the World.

Until his arrival at the scene of fighting, Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu wil make no serious forward movement.

In view of General Kuropatkin's concentration at Liao Yang, General Kuroki has been ordered to modify his original plan and instead of marching northward to reinforce the armies of Nodzu and Oku.

OYAMA TO COMMAND.

Tokio, June 23, 11 a.m. — The Marquis Oyama, formerly marshal and chief of the general staff, has been appointed to the supreme command of the imperial armies in the field. His chief of staff will be Lieut.-Gen. Kodama, late chief of general staff. Their positions, vacated on the general staff in this city, will be filled by Field Marshal Yamagata and Major-General Nagaoka.

NOT MUCH OF A PRIZE.

New York, June 23. — The naval authorities have issued an explanation of the failure to avert the disaster to the Hitachi-Maru, says a Tokio cable to the Times. The press comments are studiously moderate. The Ansei-Maru and Yawata-Maru, sunk by the Russians, were little schooners laden with fish manure. This Russian method of warfare provokes universal ridicule in Japan.

THE MOROCCO MUZZLE.

Washington, June 23.—United States Consul-General Gummere cables the state department under last night's date from Tangier that Shiek Vabal has consented to have Perdicaris and Varley and the ransom exchanged within his territory provided the Moorish Government will enter into a written obligation that he and his people shall not hereafter suffer the consequences. The necessary pledge has been authorized by the foreign minister, and Mr. Gummere expects that the prisoners will be released today.

MIKADO WOULD ACCEPT MEDIATION

Japan Not Intoxicated by Her Great Victories.

RUSSIA SCORNS THE SUGGESTION

No Possible Chance for Peace Until She Is Revenged for Many Humiliations.

Cologne, June 23.—The Gazette prints a semi-official communique from Berlin, which may be construed as the latest view of the German foreign office as to the eventual mediation between Russian and Japan. It says that the Rusian side has hitherto scornfully scouted the idea of mediation, and there is no indication of a change of attitude. But evidence has accumulated lately, which, though unofficial, comes from sufficiently reliable quarters to warrant the view that Japan is nowise averse to accepting mediation, and would not consider the offer an insult. It is pointed out that Japan is not intoxicated with its great successes, and abides by the original claims for which it went to war, namely, the exclusion of Russian influences from Korea, the integrity of the Chinese Empire violated by the occupation of Manchuria. Japan would not refuse to recognize Russia's property rights in the Manchurian Railway, and would agree to an equitable settlement of them. Despite this apparent willingness, it is difficult to see how any offer of mediation would be successful, so long as Russia persists in the negative. It is the severity of Russian defeat on sea and land that makes it impossible for the Czar's Government to entertain the thought of an end to the campaign, though it is undeniable that a strong undercurrent in Russia detests the war and would conclude it as soon as possible.

CONFESSED TO MURDERS

Aged Woman Tells Peculiar Story When About to Die.

Lebanon, Ohio, June 23. — Fearing to die with murder on her soul, Miss Catherine Miller, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Fredericksburg, a village near here, confessed her niece declares to having killed her mother, Mrs. Miller, sen.; her sister, Mrs. George Albert; her brother, Jacob Albert, and the infant son of another niece.

The story of the confession was given by Mrs. Frank Ziegler, of Fredericksburg, the latter being a niece of Miss Miller, who made her home with the Zieglers. Their son Philip also claims to have heard her stories of the murders thrice repeated.

The Zieglers say Miss Miller declared to them that she could not die with crimes unconfessed. The mother, sister and brother, according to her statements were given white powders, the name of which she could not remember, because she could not longer bear to witness their sufferings. She declared she killed the baby by piercing its brain with a pin.

Miss Miller died Friday night and immediately after her funeral on Sunday the Zieglers told the story of her confessions. Many other residents attribute the story of the dying woman to a disordered brain in view of her advanced age, she having been 83. She had always been regarded as a woman of high character. She was wealthy, and gave much money to charity. Hence the reluctance of the townspeople to credit the story of her crimes.

ATTACKED AND STONED

Representatives of Germany and France at Hayti Assaulted.

Paris, June 23. — The foreign office has received a dispatch from M. Deprez, the French minister at Port-au-Prince, Hayti, saying that while he and the German minister were driving past the palace yesterday, they were attacked and stoned by soldiers forming the palace guard. M. Deprez was struck on the leg by a stone and was slightly injured. The ministers' wives, who were in another carriage following, were also pelted. The wife of the French minister is an American. As Foreign Minister Delcasse has only just received the dispatch he has not yet determined what steps shall be taken, but the officials consider it certain that France will make an energetic demand for redress. One French warship is near the scene, and another is at the French naval headquarters in the West Indies. It is expected that Germany will make a similar demand for redress.

FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP

Indications That a Clyde Club Will Endeavor to Lift It.

New York, June 23. — Gossip among yachtsmen here is to the effect that two challenges may be expected in the near future from England, and that there will be a race for the America's Cup next year if the New York Club will accept. Two British yachtsmen are ready to build boats and they are now at work on plans.

One challenge is expected through the Royal Clyde Yacht Club, and another through the Royal Ulster Club.

Sir Thomas Lipton, representing the latter, already has had so many chances at lifting the famous trophy, that it is likely the Clyde challenge will be accepted.

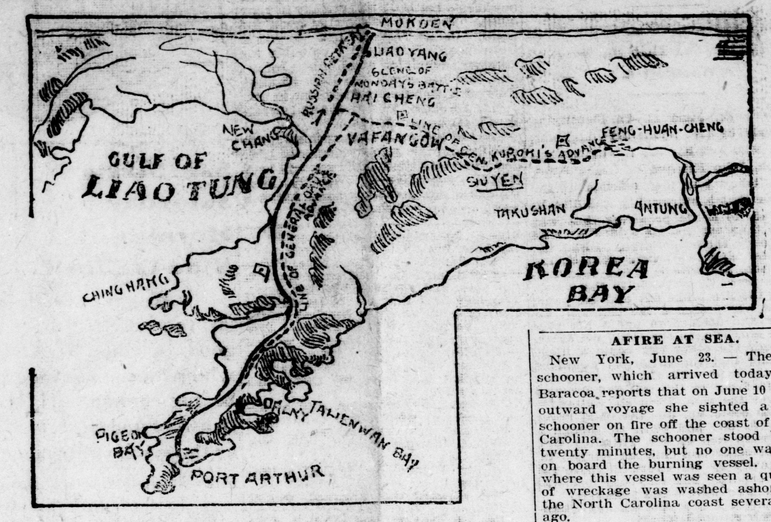

Under the new rules governing the cup contests, Reliance and Constitution, on account of their excessive draught, will be barred from taking part in the trial races; but, it is possible that provision may be made to allow Reliance to compete and that the clause limiting draught shall not apply in her case. In any event a new defender would have to be built.

Ten months' notice must be given by the challenging club, and if the races are to be sailed in August the challenge must be accepted not later than next October.

THE LAST COURT.

London, June 23. — King Edward and Queen Alexandra held the last court of the season at Buckingham Palace last night. Royalty and the diplomatic corps were well represented.

DOUBLE LINE OF JAPS ADVANCING UPON HAI CHENG.

NURSING BURGLAR THEY HAD SHOT

A Peculiar Predicament Into Which a Thief Got Himself.

Windsor, June 22.—Nursed by the family of the man whose house he attempted to rob, and provided with medical attendance, is the peculiar position in which Owen McCann finds himself at Harrow, a small town near this city. McCann was shot and badly wounded by George Richmond, son of Justice of the Peace Richmond, of Harrow, at an early hour this morning, while he was robbing the house. Richmond heard a noise in his house, and after arming himself with a shotgun, started through the house to ascertain the origin of the noise. McCann was caught in the act of burglarizing the place, and Richmond opened fire without hesitation. The shot took effect in the burglar's legs, and he dropper in his tracks. After being secured he was carried into the house and placed in bed, where he was attended by Dr. Campeau, a physician called at the instance of Richmond, whose family are doing everything in their power to make McCann comfortable. The latter has been in similar trouble before, and has already served time for burglary and other offenses. Detectives Campeau and Mahoney went to Harrow today, and will bring McCann to the city as soon as he is able to be moved, which will be in two or three days, provided blood-poisoning does not develop.

CECIL RHODES' DREAM

First Through Train on Cape-Cairo Route Leaves Cape Town.

Capt Town, June 23. — The first through train for Victoria Falls over the Cape-to-Cairo Railway, left Cape Town yesterday amidst enthusiastic demonstrations.

[Victoria Falls is on Zambesi River, and is about 1,000 miles north of Cape Town. The Cape-to-Cairo Railway was planned by the late Cecil Rhodes.]

BALTIC FLEET FAR FROM READY

Only One of Seven Battleships Could Sail by the 1st of August.

London, June 23. — The correspondent of the Times at Cronstadt says: An irresistible reinforcing fleet continues to be dangled before Russian readers as a tonic to their drooping spirits. The latest announcement of an official character is that all is to be ready for a start in August, but this information need deceive no one with even slight knowledge of ship and engine building technique. The only battleship of seven at present in process of completion which might be dispatched from the Baltic in an efficient condition in August is the Imperial Alexander.

Two others of the new battleships under construction have only recently been laid down, and may be ready by 1906, but cannot possibly be ready next year. The Slava's chances of accompanying any fleet to the Pacific before the middle of next year may be dismissed. The Borodino is completing, but, like the Kniaz Suvaroff, is still far from being ready for her preliminary trials. The Orel is in a worse case. Apart from the fact that her back was recently strained by the accident on the Neva, a number of fittings on her had to be removed, and I learn that trouble has occurred with some of her boilers. I have referred only to the battleships under construction and approaching completion. It is useless to treat of the chances of cruisers being dispatched at an early date when the facts in regard to the battleship section are as above.

RELEASE IN SIGHT

Perdicaris and Varley Likely To Be Freed at Once.

Tangier, June 23.—It is said on good authority that Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley will be released today, when the ransom ($78,000) partly in checks and partly in silver will be sent to Raisuli. The amount of the ransom has been advanced to the Sultan by a French firm here. Mualli Hamet, sheriff of Wazztu, says he will leave Tangier this morning with the ransom, and that he expects to return by night. He refuses to allow newspaper correspondents to accompany him because of the danger that the arrangements might thereby be upset.

Washington has wired the United States commander here that he must demand from the Moorish Government either Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead.

FLASHED SIGNALS WITH MIRRORS

Novel Message Transmitter Used by Chinese During Last Battle.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—Dantchenko, the Russian war correspondent, telegraphing from Liao Yang under date of last Friday, and describing the battle of Telissu, says that the last attack proved once more that the Japanese are adepts at turning a position and concentrating their strength where the enemy least expects to encounter it. He says: "Our artillery was in the center of our position. One battery did terrible execution, mowing down whole files of Japanese. The enemy for a while concentrated their whole fire on that one battery. The battery became invisible through the enveloping rain of bursting shrapnel. Every officer in it was wounded and 20 men and 28 horses were killed. Throughout the battle the Chinese signaled information to the Japanese by means of mirrors fixed on long poles. We believed to the end of the day that we had won the battle."

Dantchenko concludes by vehemently accusing the Japanese of massacring the wounded that had not been removed by the Russian ambulances.

THE WAR NEWS.

It is reported in today's dispatches that Generals Kuroki and Oku have joined forces just south of Liao Yang, which means that the greatest and possibly most decisive battle of the war is about to take place, if it be not in progress already. For several days back fighting has been reported at various points on the Liao Tung Peninsula. In a speech to his men Kuropatkin intimates that he will make a supreme efforts to hurl back the victorious Japanese. The fate of Stakelberg's column, routed by Japs, is still in doubt.

Chee Foo reports a combined land and sea attack on Port Arthur yesterday. Admiral Skrydloff wires the Czar of a successful raid by his torpedo flotilla along the northern coasts of Japan. Marshal Ayama has been appointed to the supreme command of the Mikado's army in Manchuria.

London, June 23. — Lords Strathcona, Spencer, Rothschild, Iveagh and Mr. Hayes Fisher have been appointed a consultative committee by the Royal Patriotic Fund Corporation to decide upon the best means of raising £250,000 on behalf of a fund for the permanent maintenance of the widows and orphans of the men who gave their lives for the empire in the Boer war.

AFIRE AT SEA.

New York, June 23. — The fruit schooner, which arrived today from Baracoa, reports that on June 10 on the outward voyage she sighted a small schooner on fire off the coast of North Carolina. The schooner stood by for twenty minutes, but no one was seen on board the burning vessel. Near where this vessel was seen a quantity of wreckage was washed ashore, on the North Carolina coast several days ago.

WON MEDAL AND SWORD OF HONOR

F. H. Peters, Son of Lieut.-Col. Peters, Heads Graduating Class at Military College.

A dispatch from Kingston this afternoon announced that in the recent examinations at the Royal Military College, F. H. Peters, son of Lieut.-Col. Peters, D. O. C., of this city, had headed the graduating class. In doing so, Mr. Peters wins the Governor-General's medal and the sword of honor, besides the prizes offered by the Dominion Artillery Association.

Mr. Peters has been a cadet at the Royal Military College for three years, and in all of his examinations he has taken a high standing—so high, in fact, that it was anticipated that if he did not head the class in the finals, he would not be far from the top of the ladder. To do so well is a matter of congratulation, especially when it is remembered that the cadets at the college come from all parts of the Dominion. This is the first time—for very many years, at least, that the graduating class at the college has been headed by a resident of this city.

By leading the graduates, Mr. Peters is entitled to a commission in the Royal Engineers, but this he will not accept, as he has decided to remain in Canada. The prizes offered by the Dominion Artillery Association are for musketry and artillery shooting.

Dawson, of Charlottetown, is silver medalist, and Putnam, of Halifax, is bronze medalist.

The commander of the Royal Military College has recommended the following named graduates for imperial commissions: R. E., E. F. Dawson, Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Army Service Corps, H. F. G. Hamersly, Vancouver: for Indian army, H. M. H. Hackett, Waterford, Ireland.

BABY FALLS IN AN AUGER HOLE

Unusual Predicament of a Child at Magrath, Alta.— Was Rescued.

Raymond, Alta, June 23.—An accident of a peculiar kind occurred at Magrath, twelve miles from here a few days ago. The 2-year-old son of Laurie Hilton went out to play with other small companions, and shortly after the latter ran back crying to Mrs. Hilton that her baby was drowned. Investigation by the mother revealed the horrifying fact that the child had fallen into an auger hole, 8 inches in diameter and 14 feet in depth.

Sergeant Balderson, of the mounted police, who was nearby, immediately set to work to dig out the baby with the assistance of John Turner and others. While the earth was made to fly, the frantic cries of the poor mother were agonizing. To the despair of the rescuers the child kept sliding down the hole as the excavation proceeded. At last Sergt. Balderson was able to reach the child, which had become wedged in so tightly that he could not be moved at first. Turner had to get down to help, and when both had a good hold of the child's head, they were raised up by other man and the exhausted child was literally "yanked" out with them, as Sergt. Balderson says.

Mr. Pat Burns, of Calgary, bought 4,000 head of beef cattle from the Knight Sugar Company here.

Sheep shearing is now in full blast, some 65,000 head of sheep being gathered in this neighborhood. This is a little less than last year as the ground is being taken up by farmers.

HAWLEY RETIRES.

New York, June 23. — Edwin Hawley, of this city, has retired from the executive committee and directorate of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. He has long been a prominent factor in the property and his retirement, says the Herald, will cause great surprise in railroad circles. Persons in a position to know refuse to make public Mr. Hawley's reasons. Difference of opinion with the Harriman interests over the management of the Alton Railroad, is, however, thought to have been the cause.

BIG COMPANY DISSOLVES.

New York, N. Y., June 23. — At a special meeting of the Universal Tobacco Company held in Jersey City today it was decided to dissolve the company, those voting in favor of dissolution representing 67,393 shares, and those against 100 shares. The company is incorporated with a capital of $10,000,000. It was decided to sell the company's brands of tobacco at auction.

PRES. ROOSEVELT GETS NOMINATED

Is Unanimous Choice of the Republican Convention.

GREAT DEMONSTRATION ENSUES

Alabama, First State in Roll Call, Gives Place of Honor to New York Delegation.

Chicago, June 23. — The nomination of candidates in a national convention is the feature that appeals most strongly to the public, and the number of visitors this morning gave ample evidence of that fact. Half an hour before the time set for the opening of the convention there was as many visitors in the galleries as witnessed the entire opening session of Tuesday. Not only since the opening of the convention have all the visitors' seats been filled, but the manner in which the crowd poured through the entrances today gave evidence that by the time the gavel fell every seat would be occupied, and the standing room jammed to the limit.

The delegates and alternates were not as prompt as the spectators in their arrival, and the orchestra rendered about one-half of its day's programme while waiting for the convention to open. A few moments before the assembling there was a hurried conference by the managers which resulted in an agreement that Alabama, the first state on the roll, would yield to New York to nominate Roosevelt. It was also agreed that Alabama, which was the first state to instruct for Fairbanks, would yield to Iowa to place the senator's name in nomination for the vice-presidency.

At 10:30 a.m. Chairman Cannon called the convention to order, the galleries being completely filled for the first time, and tiers of people standing in rear aisles.

ROOSEVELT NOMINATED.

At the conclusion of the opening prayer, Chairman Cannon presented an announcement that on the 6th day of July, at Jackson, Mich., there will be celebrated the 50th anniversary of the birth of the Republican party. Then followed an announcement that the recently-elected national Republican committee would meet in the Coliseum annex immediately on the adjournment of the convention. Chairman Cannon at once announced that the next order of business would be a roll call of the states for the nomination of President of the United States.

The clerk called "Alabama," and immediately Oscar B. Hundley, of that state, mounted a chair and announced that Alabama requested the honor and privilege of yielding its place on the roll to the State of New York. Instantly the convention was in an uproar. The New York delegation was on its feet like one man waving their flags and shouting wildly. Ex-Governor Black, of New York, immediately started for the platform and nominated President Roosevelt, and at the conclusion of his nominating speech, the greatest demonstration yet seen in the convention broke out, continuing for fully 20 minutes. When the noise ceased Chairman Cannon called the convention to order to allow Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, to second the nomination.

FULL-FLEDGED FIGHTERS

Closing Exercises of Royal Military College, Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., June 23. — There was a fine company at the sports and military exercises at the closing of the Royal Military College this forenoon. The prizes were presented in the gymnasium by Lieut.-Col. Reade, commandant, in the absence of the Minister of Militia. Col. Reade said that he hoped for a list next year of over a hundred cadets, which would be the first time in the college history that this number had been reached. He is anxious for greater accommodations for the cadets, with a new riding school, skating rink, etc. The winners of the prizes were lustily cheered as they advanced to the front to secure the trophies. The cadets left for their homes this afternoon.

CANNOT SHIP COAL

Not Enough Boats to Carry Fuel From Nova Scotia Mines.

Halifax, June 23.—There was no work last night at any of the collieries of the Dominion Coal Company, owing to lack of shipping tonnage to carry away the coal raised. The raising of more coal than can be shipped is unprecedented in the history of Nova Scotia coal trade. Between seventeen and nineteen thousand tons daily have frequently been raised this summer. The action of the directors in passing the dividend on the common stock is announced to be taken in view of the operations at mines not coming up to expectations and on account of the large floating debt. The statement for the first four months of the year is a disappointing one, owing to severe weather and increased cost of mining.

TRACING THE MISSING

Great Efforts Being Made to Learn Number of Slocum Victims.

New York, June 23. — The canvass to determine as nearly as possible the exact number of persons who lost their lives in the General Slocum disaster will be even more thorough than at first intended. Not only will every home in the greater city, which is thought to have been directly affected by the disaster, be visited by the special detail of patrolmen appointed by the police commissioner, but the investigation will be extended to other cities and towns as well. From various points along Long Island, and from cities and towns in this state and Pennsylvania have come reports that persons believed to have gone on the ill-fated excursion are missing. Such instances will be investigated. It is estimated that a week or more will be required to complete the canvass and compile the final list of dead, missing and saved.

Last night's searching for bodies of victims was more barren of results and less eventful than has been the case during any night since the burning of the steamer. The alertness and vigil of the searchers was unrelaxed, but only one body was taken from the river during the night.

LORD DUNDONALD WAS DISOBEDIENT

In Conflict With Militia Minister Since First.

DISREGARDED BORDEN'S ORDERS

Late G. O. C. Made an Indiscreet Speech Over the Defenses at Esquimalt.

Ottawa, June 22.—It is evident from facts which have just come to light that almost from the moment of his arrival, in July of 1902, Lord Dundonald began to revolt against the authority of the Minister of Militia. He had scarcely been six months in the country when he devoted his attention to extending the leave of absence for officers. The prevailing custom was for the deputy officer commanding to grant furloughs to officers of the permanent corps, unless the perid exceeded 30 days, when the authority had to come from the minister. Lord Dundonald in August of 1902, a few weeks after his arrival in Canada, prepared an order granting him authority to give officers of the headquarters staff and the permanent corps six months' leave of absence with pay. The Minister of Militia was out of town when this was proposed, hence his lordship was induced to withdraw the recommendation and to consign it to the flames. Strange to say, later on, however, the general recommended that a certain officer be granted six months with pay. He was asked the authority for this recommendation and a staff officer in his behalf quoted the very order which Lord Dundonald had proposed and afterwards withdrawn. Thereupon his lordship was told that the order in question had not been approved of by the minister or the Governor-in-Council, and was, therefore, null and void.

FLAGRANT DISOBEDIENCE.

An act of disobedience of a flagrant character has to be recorded against Lord Dundonald. It was about the time that the Alaska boundary decision had been given and the strategic value of the four islands in Portland Channel was being discussed. His lordship had arranged to make a trip to the coast and proposed to visit the islands referred to. He was expressly forbidden to do so by the Minister of Militia but completely ignored the order. Following upon the visit he made at the coast a decidedly impolitic speech. There, too, in his position as military expert, Lord Dundonald has placed himself in antagonism to military experts from England. A number of experienced officers, termed the military defense commission, were sent out by the war office to tour Canada and report upon the military measures necessary to put the country in a complete state of defense. One of the recommendations of this commission was that a fort should be erected in a certain spot. When Lord Dundonald came he did not approve of the site, and insisted that it should be put somewhere else. His lordship was confident that he was right, and the experts of the war office were wrong.

No other conclusion can be come to than that his lordship considered himself the head of the militia department, and as such not amenable to the orders of the Minister of Militia. He does not seem to have appreciated the fact that when he made recommendations it rested with the minister to say what should become of them. On the contrary, his belief was that every recommendation by him, no matter how quixotic, should be adopted and carried out without delay. It is to be feared that from the very first his lordship has given certain member of the Opposition his confidence. Hence he became the easy victim of men to whom the cry, "No politics in the militia," mean, "No Liberals in the militia."

HIS EXTRAVAGANT PLAN.

It is reported that Lord Dundonald proposed an immediate expenditure on capital account for militia purposes of $13,000,000, and an annual addition to the ordinary expenditure of over $2,000,000. This would make at the end of 20 years $53,000,000. It is also said that he proposed to abolish the permanent corps. What his lordship proposed to substitute in its place is not known, but he had some idea that was not fully developed.

Lord Dundonald, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, arrived from Toronto this morning. He refused to be interviewed.

MONTREAL LINES CUT.

Montreal, June 23.—The three Canadian steamship companies announce a cut in steerage rates to meet the cut made by the Cunard Company. The rates under the reduced scale will be to British ports $15, to continental ports $17, and to Scandinavian ports $20.

GAS FOR LEAMINGTON.

Detroit, Mich., June 23. — J. C. Hickey, of the Leamington Oil Company, who has just returned to Detroit, says: "We have just brought in the biggest gas well struck in Canada in ten years. We struck the flow of gas yesterday in well No. 7 at a depth of 1,015 feet. Representatives of the Standard Oil Company, who were on the ground, estimated the capacity of the well at three to five million feet per day. We have just closed a franchise to supply the village of Leamington with gas.

FORTUNE IN JEWELS

London, Thursday, June 23. — According to the Morning Leader, bailiffs have discovered at Anglesey Castle, the seat of the Marquis of Anglesey, jewels and other treasures of the estimated value of $1,000,000, many of them packed in cases which had not been opened since their delivery. The action of the creditors of the marquis in precipitating his assignment seems to have been unnecessary.

REARRESTED.

Kingston, Ont., June 23. — William Thompson, released from the penitentiary yesterday after serving a term for horse-stealing, was rearrested by a Colborne, Ont., constable for theft, committed when he stole the horse. He will be tried at Colborne.

THE FOURTH OLYMPIAN.

London, June 23. — The international committee of the Olympic games has decided that the fourth Olympian shall be held in Rome in 1908. The committee also decided to convene an international athletic congress in Brussels in June, 1905.

TRUTH ON IMMIGRATION

London Paper Says Canada Has Proved a Disappointment.

London, June 22.—Truth has received a leeter from Montreal, drawing attention to the case narrated in a Montreal paper of the man who had come from England with his wife and child, only to find it impossible to get employment. Truth's correspondent asserts the case is typical of the disappointment that has befallen hundreds of emigrants.

The new Minister of Defense of the Australian Commonwealth favors the abolition of the position of general officer commanding, the post held by Gen. Hutton, and the appointment of an Australian officer with the title of inspector-general.

Lord Roberts, writing to the press, says that when his promised visit to the States takes place, he will also look forward to visiting Canada. No date has been decided upon for his visit to the United States, and it will not take place at present.

Experience of Two Nurses

WHO HAVE HAD SPLENDID OPPORTUNITIES IN THEIR PRACTICE OF TESTING THE MERITS OF

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Miss C. Stanley-Jones, professional masseuse and nurse, 283 Simcoe street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "In my occupation as a nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case I recall was that of a child of sixteen months who was in a bad way with scaly head. It was a really nasty case, causing the child to suffer very much and to be very troublesome. I persuaded the mother to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in ten days the child was entirely cured.

"Another case was that of a lady who was greatly troubled with eczema on the face. The doctor was dosing her with medicine, which was doing no good. In this case cure was effected in seven days, with only one box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Both of these cures were lasting."

Mrs. H. A. Loynes, nurse, Philipsburg, Que., writes: "I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment a perfect medicine. I have used it myself and as a nurse have recommended it in a good many cases for itching piles. It always gave perfect satisfaction in every case, and once people used it they would not think of being without it in the house."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

WILL CARRY THE FLAG.

Kingston, Ont., June 22.—Refusal of the Irish soldiers to walk in the parade at Syracuse, N. Y., on July 4, if the British flag is to be allowed to be carried by the Fourteenth P. W. O. Rifles, of Kingston, will not deter the regiment from carrying its colors. The New York soldiers here, on May 24, carried the Stars and Stripes without molestation. In Rochester, N. Y., five years ago, the Irish societies demurred to follow the British flag carried by the Kingston regiment, and were told to quit or fall in line. They fell into line.

THE INSURANCE ACT

Opposition in the Senate to Senator Kerr's Amendments.

Ottawa, June 23.—Opposition to Senator Kerr's measure to amend the insurance act was made before the banking and commerce committee yesterday by Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Senator Cox. They wanted the measure withdrawn and one prepared by the insurance branch of the finance department. The matter was finally referred to a sub-committee to consult with the insurance department in connection with representatives of the insurance association and the mutual reserve.

The Minister of Railways announced at the railway committee that an excursion of members of Parliament would be taken to Peterboro on July 9 to see the new lock of the Trent Valley Canal.

CUNARD HITS TRUST

Makes a Big Cut in Eastbound Trans-Atlantic Rates.

New York, June 23. — The American this morning says:

With an eastbound cut rate of $15 to Liverpool, Queenstown, London, Glasgow, Londonderry and Belfast, the Cunard Line has begun retaliation on the ship trust and the German lines, which hits at their weakest point, the eastbound steerage.

The former rate was $28 and $29 50. The Cunard also reduces its eastbound rates to Gothenburg and Scandinavian ports to $20, to the former, from $33 and $34 50, and to Hamburg, Bremen, Rotterdam and Antwerp, from $30 and $32.

These rates are bound to bring to the line the immigrants who, induced to come to America at the $10 rate, are able to go back. The round trip European steerage rate now is $24 60.

McDOUGALL'S CASE.

Toronto, June 23.—The case of Alfred McDougall, ex-solicitor to the Ontario treasury, charged with embezzlement, was called in the county criminal court yesterday morning, and at the request of S. C. Biggs, crown prosecutor, was adjourned until Nov. 1. It is probable that a new charge will be laid at the September sessions.

BRANTFORD'S CELEBRATION.

Brantford, Ont., June 23.—Yesterday was veteran firemen's demonstration day. Early morning was dark, gloomy and cool, but as the day advanced it began to clear. By 10 o'clock the sun was out and a nicer day could not be desired. The city donned its holiday attire. Flags, bunting and mottoes were displayed in profusion all through the city. All the trains were crowded with firemen and visitors. The first attraction of the day was a ball game at Agricultural Park, between Brantford and Hamilton teams, resulting in favor of Hamilton by 3 to 4. At noon the firemen and bands, which were very numerous, assembled on the market square, and marched through the city on a route laid out, and proceeded to Agricultural Park, West Brantford, where the programme of the day was carried out. It took the procession 25 minutes to pass a given point. At night there was a display of fireworks in the park.

AUTOS DEFEATS BALLOON.

Paris, June 23. — The Aeho Club of Paris had a race between balloons and automobiles this week that aroused great interest and afforded fine sport.

A pilot balloon was first released as a guide for the other balloons. The condition was that the balloons must descend at a certain pace and within a certain area.

Immediately after the balloons were loosed automobiles of the best racing types started in pursuit. They had to overtake the aeronauts and stop their machines at the spot where the balloons were to descend before the aeronauts could alight, detach their cars from the gas bags and carry them 33 feet.

Five balloons and a score of automobiles competed, while hundreds followed in the wake in other traps. Three automobiles succeeded in capturing the honors from the aeronauts.

LIFE PRESERVERS FULL OF HOLES

Sensational Evidence at Slocum Horror Inquest.

THOSE USING ANY SANK AT ONCE

Ship's Crew Admit Fire Drills Were Unknown and That the Hose Was Rotten.

New York, June 22.—In identifying the body of his 7-year-old daughter, Elsie, who lost her life in the General Slocum, John Kircher, of Green Point, L. I., today told the officials at the morgue that her drowning was due, he believed, to a life preserver that was worse than useless. He said: "My wife and our three children, Elsie, the youngest, and two others went on the excursion. My wife is a fine swimmer, and is perfectly at home in the water. When the fire broke out and the panic started she gathered the children together and decided to put a life preserver on Elsie, as she could not swim, although the other two could a little. Thinking that the little girl would be perfectly safe with the preserver on, she lifted her to the rail and dropped her over the side. Then she waited for Elsie to come up, but the child never appeared. She had sunk as though a stone were tied to her. Then my wife and the other two children jumped in, and mostly by her effort all three got safely ashore. The only one lost was the one who wore a life preserver."

The inquest into the Slocum disaster was continued today.

Rev. George Schultz, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, of Erie, Pa., who was on the Slocum, said he first knew of the fire when he saw the flames shooting up and saw children climbing from the upper deck over the guard rail. He tried to calm the children, and when the tugs came up he helped to get the little ones aboard. He took a life-preserver before jumping from the steamer, but the weight of the life-preserver broke the strap, and he threw it away. During all the trouble he saw only one member of the crew, and he was in the act of jumping overboard.

Benj. F. Conklin, chief engineer of the Slocum, described, as the other witnesses had done, the stand pipe and donkey engine connections on board for fire fighting, but said he had never heard of any legal requirements that there should be provision for forcing steam throughout the lower decks. He first heard of the fire from the mate, Flanagan, and instructing his assistant to look after the donkey engine to work the water pressure. He stayed at the pump until driven away by the smoke. He got no word from the deck that the hose was not working, and in his opinion the stand pipe performed well for ten or fifteen minutes. He denied that he started the pump and then jumped on a passing tug. He was picked up and carried to a tug by a rush of the passengers some time after the boat was beached, he said, Conklin said there were no fire drills on the Slocum this year. He had never tested the fire hose, and so far as he knew no test was made by the United States inspectors. He would know if such a test had been made by the inspectors, as he would have to give them steam pressure. "I gave no steam," he said, "and I do not believe any test was made." Conklin said the steamer was as well equipped as any boat he ever served on. He said the Slocum compared very favorably with the other craft in the harbor.

The Knickerbocker Steamboat Company conceded formally that since 1895 no new life-preservers were purchased for the General Slocum. Counsel for the company explained that they made the confession because they were unable to prove to the contrary.

That no water was turned on the flames, that the fire hose did not burst, that the assistant engineer was not in the engine room during the fire on the Slocum, and that he saw holes in several of twenty life-preservers, which he threw to passengers struggling in the water, was the substance of the testimony given by William Wallace Trembley, a deck hand. Trembley said he ran to the scene of the fire as soon as the first alarm was sounded. The men spent several minutes in trying to adjust the nozzle on the hose, but finally were driven away by the flames. Up to that time, Trembley said, no water had come through the hose, and the hose had not burst. Trembley said that before leaving the steamer after she was beached at the island he pulled twenty or more life-preservers and threw them to women and children who were struggling in the water. Many of the life-preservers he handled had holes in them, the witness said.

Thomas Ryan, a waiter, said he assisted several women and children to escape, and then swam ashore.

"With a life-preserver?" asked Mr. Garvin.

No, sir; I gave the steward a life-preserver?"

"The steward was drowned, wasn't he?"

"Yes, sir, but he had a big bag of money in his hand, and I guess that weighted him down."

The inquest was then adjourned for the day.

LATER.

New York, June 22. — Although a week has elapsed since the steamer, Gen. Slocum, went to destruction on North Brother Island, the bodies of its victims continue to be found in the waters adjacent to the scene of the disaster. Today 37 came to the surface, making the total number recovered 883. Of these 778 have been identified.

Despite the fact that the police are bending every energy towards getting a complete list of those who went on the ill-fated excursion, definite figures as to the number missing cannot be given. From present indications, however, it is apparent that the deaths will reach nearly a thousand.

The police are making special efforts to ascertain the names of all who went on the excursion.

PROOF IS STILL PILING UP

DAME LOUIS PROVOSTS' WONDERFUL CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Had Rheumatism, Bright's Disease and Heart Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her Kidneys and They All Disappeared.

St. Magloire, Que., June 22. — The case of Dame Louis Provosts, of this place, shows once more that many different diseases spring directly from diseased Kidneys and that the way to cure them is to cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dame Provosts says:

"I suffered for years with Heart Disease, Bright's Disease and Rheumatism. I was so feeble I was unable to do anything. There were three months I abandoned all medicines and resolved to let myself die.

"Then I was led to try Dodd's Kidneys Pills and the first box helped me. I have taken 20 boxes and I am today a well woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it."

Good Kidneys mean good blood and good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills make good Kidneys.

PREDICT A REBELLION

If Colorado's Way of Handling Unions Is Adopted.

Cripple Creek, Col., June 23.—In reply to a telegram from an eastern newspaper, Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who is now a prisoner in the county jail here has sent an extended statement on the present conditions in the state from his standpoint. Mr. Moyer says in part:

"The deportation of the union men and others, being, in my opinion, unlawful, the Western Federation of Miners will use all lawful means to reestablish their members in their homes. No violence will be resorted to General Bell claims that his policy has been successful and that other states are expected to follow suit. If this be true, then rebellion is not improbable, as the great majority of the American people are today condemning such a system, and, regardless of unionism, would resist any attempt to put the same into practice."

A HERO PRIEST.

Caseville, Ill, June 23. — Crawling on hands and knees through blazing wreckage, a young priest yesterday braved death to carry the last offices of the church to L. B. List, a fireman, who was being slowly roasted to death beneath the firebox of his engine.

List was pinioned under the engine when Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 5 crashed into train No. 6. The priest was a passenger on the train.

Although the woodwork of the locomotive was ablaze, the priest did not hesitate. Covering his mouth and nose with a handkerchief he crept to List's side. Perceiving that List must die before rescue came, he administered the last rites of the church. He modestly declined to give his name.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

IN OUR NOTION DEPARTMENT—commencing Thursday—we will have demonstrated for our customers the advantages of "The Out of Sight" Ribbon and Stock Fastener, a wonderfully clever device that replaces the use of hooks and eyes and featherbone in the adjustment of ribbons, stocks and collars. It is also designed for the neat and rapid adjustment of such ribbons as are usually tied in front, dispensing entirely with the necessity of undoing the bows in removal, thus avoiding the crushing and soiling necessarily attendant upon all former methods. If you see it demonstrated you'll understand it better.

SUSPENSION OF ENGLISH MASTER IS BEING VERY MUCH DISCUSSED

Educational Circles Are All Agog Over the Difficulty at the Collegiate.

The suspension of Mr. John McCool, the specialist in English at the Collegiate Institute, by Chairman MacRobert of the board of education, was the subject of much discussion in educational circles today. The matter is now in the hands of No. 1 committee, and when that body's report is secured, which will be at once, a special meeting of the board of education will be immediately called to deal with Mr. McCool's case.

The trustees say there can be but one end to the trouble, and that will be the dismissal of Mr. McCool. From all that can be learned the present difficulty is but the climax of a lengthy series of differences between Principal Radcliffe and Mr. McCool. Mr. McCool's suspension is declared to be the result of his intemperate language toward the principal, rather than his tussle with the youth in the hallway. But it was the encounter with the boy which precipitated matters. Wednesday, according to the story, this boy ran foul of the teacher, and was ordered from the class to his seat. He obeyed the order, but so slowly that it caused some laughter among his fellow-pupils. Then Mr. McCool ordered the boy to leave the room, but the pupil was still in no hurry. He took so much time in reaching the door that the teacher threw it open for him, and, it is said, attempted to assist him. This brought on a tussle, in which the teacher succeeded in throwing the boy to the floor. Then the latter was allowed to get up by the teacher, and he left the room. The rumpus created no little amount of talk in the Collegiate, and Principal Radcliffe was very much put out. Thursday morning he sent for Mr. McCool, and reprimanded him. The principal advised him, it is said, to resign, as soon as he could secure another situation.

This advice irritated Mr. McCool, and it is understood that in the words which followed, Mr. Radcliffe claims he was insulted by the English master. At all events, the principal telephoned to Mr. MacRobert, chairman of the board, acquainting him with the facts and stating that the discipline of the school required Mr. McCool's demission. Mr. MacRobert advised the principal to put his charges in writing, and the board would take the matter up.

Then Mr. MacRobert and Mr. Yates (chairman of No. 1 committee) visited the Collegiate Institute, and Mr. McCool was brought into Mr. Radcliffe's office. After reading the charges preferred by Principal Radcliffe against Mr. McCool, the chairman of the board asked the teacher to apologize to the principal. This, it is said, Mr. McCool refused absolutely to do, and refused again when asked by Mr. Yates.

"It has come to this, that we must choose between the principal or yourself," said Mr. MacRobert, "and we cannot part with the principal. Mr. McCool, you had better send in your resignation and end the matter as quietly as possible."

Then it is said Mr. McCool rushed across the roo mand shook his fist in Mr. MacRobert's face.

"You're not giving me a square deal," he said. "You're prepared to hear anything the principal has to say, but you will not listen to me. I've been illtreated here, and I found it necessary to report the principal to the high school inspector, Mr. Seath."

"And what did he tell you?" inquired Mr. MacRobert.

"Well, he said I must obey the principal," answered Mr. McCool.

"Why don't you, then?" again asked the chairman.

At last the chairman said that if he (Mr. McCool) should act outside as he did inside, he (the chairman) would "mop the floor with him."

Mr. McCool promptly went outside and reiterated his statements, but the trouble did not go any further.

Mr. MacRobert then demanded that the teacher hand in his resignation by 6 o'clock this evening, but as Mr. McCool refused point-blank to do this, Mr. MacRobert suspended him, pending the action of the board.

Chairman MacRobert said today the whole affair was regrettable, and that he was sorry Mr. McCool had seen fit to so far forget himself, as he had in Principal Radcliffe's office. He admitted saying that he would "mop the floor" with Mr. McCool, but he declared the assertion was made under great provocation.

Principal Radcliffe refused to be interviewed today, saying that he would make a full report of the whole trouble, which covers a period of some years, to the board of education. It is understood that Mr. Radcliffe charges Mr. McCool with insubordination, incompetency in that he cannot control his class, and also with personal abuse and with threatening him.

Mr. McCool has been nearly eight years on the staff, and receives $1,180, which would shortly have been advanced to the maximum of $1,200 per annum.

Mr. McCool is credited with the assertion that he may conclude to sue the chairman of the board of education and the principal of the institute for damages.

ARRESTED ON THE BORDER

Albert Anstie Brought Back From Windsor on Serious Charge.

A young man named Albert Anstie, living on Dufferin avenue, was brought back from Windsor by Detective Egelton today to stand his trial on a charge of stealing a check from the C. P. R. offices in the east end.

The offense occurred a day or two since. Anstie was employed as a checker in the yards of the company, and it is supposed that while he was on duty he entered the office at Adelaide street and took the check. The latter was made out in the name of Alexander McDonald, and was for $64 72.

The check was not missed for some time, and when its loss was discovered suspicion did not rest on Anstie. But it turned out that the check was converted into cash by Anstie in a downtown retail establishment, and this led to the arrest.

When the officers came to look for Anstie they learned that he had left the city for the west, and a telegram was sent to Windsor asking the detectives there to be on the lookout for him. He was arrested at the border as he was about to cross the river to Detroit.

PROMINENT ELK DEAD

Meade D. Detweiler Passes Away Suddenly at Harrisburg, Pa.

The Elks of this city will regret to hear of the death of Meade D. Detweiler, of Harrisburg, Penn., who was considered to be the greatest Elk in America. It was Mr. Detweiler, who was in correspondence with the new lodge of this city in regard to the affiliation of the Canadian Elks with those of the United States. He had sent a letter to The Elk, the American organ, upon the question that had been raised by the visit of Mr. Burbee, of this city, to St. Louis, and local Elks were looking forward to his support of the movement at the Grand Lodge in July at Cincinnati.

Mr. Detweiler held the rank of past grand exalted ruler of the Elks and was a member of the Grand Lodge, and chairman of the board of managers of the National Elk Home at Bedford, Va. The deceased was taken ill assisting in instituting a new lodge in his home city.

The deceased left an interesting family. He wielded great influence in Pennsylvania and was a close political friend of Senator Penrose. The illness which resulted in his death was diagnosed as acute peritonitis.

SAWS COME IN PIE.

Washington, Pa., June 23. — James Callihan, a negro, condemned to die for murder, made a desperate effort to escape from the county jail last night. He sawed through two of his cell bars, but the arrival of a guard prevented his escape.

Callihan secured the saws and file in a pie sent to him last Friday. He sawed through the bars and concealed the marks with soap blackened. He then tore two strips from his blanket and tied the end about the bars where he had sawed through. This was noticed by Deputy-Sheriff Samuel Howe, who in cutting it off pulled out the bars. Callihan was put in another cell and searched. Three saws and a file were found in the air shaft. Callihan with a spoon had unscrewed the plate to the shaft and fastening the tools to a string had hung them over the water pipe in the shaft.

The Republican Platform.

The platform adopted by the Republican convention yesterday is a victory for the "standpatters." "We insist," the platform reads, "upon the maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be committed to other hands than those of the Republican party." What the public interest is, and when it demands an alteration of the tariff, are to be determined, of course, by the Republican party. It refuses to touch the tariff schedules, although it has been demonstrated that under cover of excessive duties, which are not needed for protective purposes, the trusts are extorting artificial prices from the American people. In seasons of prosperity the "standpatters" argue that it would be unwise, even for the sake of rectifying a particular grievance, to risk the general disturbance of industry, which, they claim, would ensue if the tariff question were opened up. In a period of depression they contend that the tariff should be increased if it is touched at all. This policy of "stand pat" simply means do nothing.

The mutiny in the Republican party against the Bourbonism of the bosses on the tariff question broke out in committee, when the reciprocity clause was under consideration. A compromise was reached, which implies anything or nothing. It reads:

"We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agriculture, American labor, or any American industry."

Contrast this with the open confession of McKinley, that the present tariff had done its work and must be modified to meet new conditions. His speech at Buffalo the day before his death was a trumpet call to the tariff reformers. The memorable passage was as follows:

"Our capacity to produce has developed so enormously, and our products have so multiplied that the problem of more markets requires our urgent and immediate attention. Only a broad and enlightened policy will keep what we have. No other policy will get more. In these times of marvelous business energy and gain we ought to be looking to the future, strengthening the weak places in our industrial and commercial systems, that we may be ready for any storm or strain.

"By sensible trade arrangements which will not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus. A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to the continued and healthful growth of our export trade. We must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing. . . . The period of exclusiveness is past. The expansion of our trade and commerce is the pressing problem. Commercial wars are unprofitable. A policy of goodwill and friendly trade relations will prevent reprisals. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation are not. If perchance some of our tariffs are no longer needed for revenue, or to encourage and protect our industries at home, why should they not be employed to extend and promote our markets abroad?"

President Roosevelt, in his first annual message to congress after the death of McKinley, said:

"The phenomenal growth of our export trade emphasizes the urgency of the need for wider markets, and for a liberal policy in dealing with foreign nations."

The Republican party has turned its back upon McKinley, and Roosevelt has effaced himself. Everything in the shape of a reciprocity treaty negotiated since McKinley's death has been rejected by the Senate, excepting the treaty with Cuba, which was reluctantly passed in fulfillment of a long-standing pledge. McKinley was not so blinded by his protectionism that he could not look beyond his own day, and see the time approaching when the United States must have a more elastic commercial system, to give free play to its vast productive forces. Much has been said about the conquest of foreign markets by American industries, but the fact remains that the exports of American manufactures are confined to a comparatively few articles. The United States is not a trading country in the sense that Great Britain is, and never will be so long as it legislates on the principle that it can "forever sell everything, and buy little or nothing," in McKinley's pregnant words. The Republican party today is in the grasp of the trusts, which, if they can regulate production and prices in the United States, are not greatly concerned about foreign trade. The United States, with its vast home market, is better picking for them than all the other markets of the world, where they have to face competition. It will be a miracle, therefore, if the Republican party lays a serious hand on the present customs schedule. The shackles will not be broken till a profound industrial reaction sets in and demonstrates to the people that there is no magic in the tariff to ward off hard times. A serious depression now appears to be settling down on the country. The New York World estimates that the shrinkage in trade and manufacturing has thrown 655,000 men out of employment, with the prospect that this figure will be doubled. The most deplorable sign of distress quoted by the World is that of the decrease in the food-packing business. This is an infallible indication of want, for, when workmen are idle, the first pinch is felt in the article of meat. In the matter of bank clearings the decline is not less significant. For the week ending June 11, these were 30.2 per cent less than a year ago. During the month of May the gross earnings of the railways, compared with those of the same month last year, decreased $1,866,181; this, too, in spite of the unusual traffic accruing from the strike of lake masters and pilots. All this is ominous for the Republican party, whose chief argument is the full dinner-pail.

The convention on Wednesday declared unequivocally for the gold standard. A debased currency is a greater evil than any tariff can be, and until the Democratic party sheds the silver heresy the Republican party can be the only choice of sensible Americans. The indications are that the Democrats will thoroughly purge themselves of Bryanism at the St. Louis convention.

The first train for Victoria Falls left Cape Town on Wednesday. Livingstone discovered the great cataract on Nov. 13, 1855, after years of exploration, and named it in honor of the late Queen. And if the Government had accepted Lord Dundonald's $50,000,000 scheme, these same papers would have raised the old cry of "Scotch domination." A DAILY THOUGHT.

[John Vance Cheney.]

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast,
That found the common daylight sweet
And left to heaven the rest.

And he finished with a stomach
Quite reluctant to digest;
And his temper needs excuses

THE REAL ISSUE.

[Toronto Star.]

Stripped of all disguises, the issue in the Dundonald case is as to whether the judgment of the British officer occupying the post of G. O. C., or that of the Canadian member of Parliament who holds the cabinet portfolio of Minister of Militia, is paramount where they do not agree, but are in conflict. Where such a dispute arises, the whole population should declare for the supremacy of their own representative, the minister.

NEIGHBORLY WORDS.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]

Lord Dundonald is a soldier of experience and distinguished service in Egypt and South Africa and naturally resented political interference with his efforts to bring the Canadian militia to a greater efficiency. As a soldier by profession he is excusable for regarding a neighbor people as potential enemies to be guarded against, rather than as friends with whom continued amity is most important. His choice of language in speaking of the relations between the United States and Canada is not happy. It is not so much to the "forbearance" of the American people that Canada owes its continued national existence as to the absence of any idea of menacing the integrity of its territory.

There is no thought of seizing any part of Canada on the part of the American Government or people. Our northern neighbor is big enough and intelligent enough to work out its own destiny.

VALUABLE WASTE.

[The Lancet.]

As everybody knows, the ash left on burning tobacco is considerable, and, as a matter of fact, the mineral matter of the tobacco leaf frequently amounts to as much as a fifth part of its weight. Thus, a ton of tobacco leaf would yield four hundredweight of ash, which represents valuable mineral constituents withdrawn from the soil, which have to be replaced by abundant manuring. It has been calculated that a ton of tobacco withdraws a hundredweight of mineral constituents per acre of land. In 1901 the home consumption of tobacco in the United Kingdom was at the rate of two pounds per head, or a total of about 40,000 tons, which represents, at what is now a probably low computation, approximately 8,000 tons of ash annually committed to the winds or dissipated in some way or other. On the face of it there would seem to be a fortune in store for that individual who could devise a successful means for the collection of tobacco ash, and it is a great pity that so much valuable material should forever be lost to the soil without any attempt at direct restoration being made.

LORD DUNDONALD'S STATEMENT.

[Toronto Star.]

The statement issued by Lord Dundonald reveals more fully than before the misconception which possessed his mind in regard to the position he was called upon to fill. He makes it plain that he considered himself the repository of authority in militia matters; that it was for him to think out schemes of militia defense, and elaborate them in reports, which it was the duty of the Minister of Militia to accept, initial and publish. He complains that he had not the freedom accorded the general manager of a commercial company. He fails to understand that the general manager of the militia is the minister. It is the minister who is responsible to Parliament and the country.

I CANNOT SING THE OLD SONGS.

[By Claribel.]

I cannot sing the old songs
I sung long years ago,
For heart and voice would fail me
And foolish tears would flow;
For bygone hours come o'er my heart
With each familiar strain—
I cannot sing the old songs
Or dream those dreams again,
I cannot sing the old songs,
Or dream those dreams again.

I cannot sing the old songs,
Their charm is sad and deep,
Their melodies would waken
Old sorrows from their sleep,
And though all unforgotten still
And sadly sweet they be,
I cannot sing the old songs,
They are too dear to me,
I cannot sing the old songs,
They are too dear to me,

I cannot sing the old songs,
For visions come again
Of golden dreams departed
And years of weary pain;
Perhaps when earthly fetters
Have set my spirit free,
My voice may know the old songs
For all eternity.
My voice may know the old songs
For all eternity.

MR. JUSTICE FINNEMORE

Judge of the Natal Supreme Court, Sends the Following Remarkable Tesfimonial

TO CUTICURA

The World Is Cuticura's Field, Used Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatments, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under their notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to."

THE MAYOR'S TURNOVER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I do not think I ever felt better in all my "born days" or slept more soundly than I did last night after reading Mayor Beck's interview with you for publication about his change of view on the interesting street paving question. You know that for three or four years I have been advocating the simple macadam roadway and have been opposed by most of the members of the council and most vigorously by the mayor, and then to have him turn round and come to my view in so strong a manner nearly took me off my feet. What in the world has changed his idea on roadways? Only a little while ago nothing else would suit the mayor but tar macadam, and now he makes a flop clean over for the good old macadam road. Did he take the hint from the ten petitions presented to the council Monday night against the fourteen initiated tar macadam roadways? But then the mayor should go farther. He takes as his sample of the proper roadway that laid down on Dufferin avenue. I can well understand his selecting that road as a sample. It is just a matter of modesty with the mayor, for he did not, of course, like to refer to the Albert street roadway which fronts his extensive works. However, I will try to help him out on this point and say that Albert street is a much better road than the Dufferin avenue road, and was put down on the principle that I have been contending for for the last three or four years, namely, that all roadways should be put down and charged to the general expense. This should suit the mayor, and as actions speak louder than words we have his indorsation of the plan in the Albert street roadway, for the people there merely petitioned for a curb and gutter, half of the cost to be paid out of the general fund and only one-half of the curb and gutter to be paid by the property owners on the street. We cannot get a better sample of roadway to go by than this Albert street pavement. It was built right. I am told that there were over 20 carloads of imported broken stone well rolled in. I have never been able to get the cost of this roadway, but the mayor can easily let us have that if he will only go in for advocating this style of road and payment so that we can enlighten the ratepayers as to the cost. If any of the citizens are bound to have a tar macadam roadway, and will not have anything else, all that need to done is to lay down a road like the Albert street road. Get some good tar from the gas works and a few large-sized galvanized iron water pots. Heat the tar in the water pots and sprinkle it over a road like the Albert street one before putting on the ground stone for the top. Then spread on the powdered stone, roll it down and christen it a Lick-you-bithic road, and you will have something that cannot be excelled. This plant is cheaper than Ald. Wyatt's $7 97 tar macadam plant. This name is not patented. A great many people will like a roadway a great deal better if it has a high-sounding title. I will guarantee that there will be no infringement in adopting the name Lick-you-bithic. Now I was glad again when I read your article that the mayor had pulled away from the company he apparently was in. They say you can tell a man by the company he keeps. It did not seem right to me for the mayor and the council and the engineering department to be evidently so willing to help along and do work for the Warren Company when many of us knew that they were buying their jobs from people they thought could help them. I will merely give you one instance and that was on our own notorious King street, where they went to one man and offered him $200 if he would get one block sufficiently signed for a bitulithic road. I am glad to say he told them they had struck the wrong man.

I wonder if I am in danger of another $5,000 suit for an assertion of this sort. If I am, and it turns out like the last $5,000 suit I was mixed up in with this same company in which they did the whole business themselves, including paying the costs and lawyers' fees, I will be glad to receive an other writ. Yours truly,

J. H. McMECHAN.

ALL THE TERRORS OF NEURALGIA

BECOME A THING OF THE PAST WHEN NERVILINE IS USED — IT CURES FOREVER.

No one will suffer many moments from Neuralgia after using Nerviline. It just kills the pain instantly. In hundreds of cases it makes perfect cures after everything else fails.

Nothing could possibly be more prompt or certain. Writing from home in Belfast, Mrs. E. G. Bunting says: "Nerviline is a blessing to anyone subject to neuralgia. I had attacks that made me get the doctor to administer morphia. It seemed as if I couldn't stand the pain. Then I used Nerviline and found that it had more pain-relieving power than any liniment I ever used. The pain left a few minutes after Nerviline was applied. I take Nerviline internally now and again and have been cured of Neuralgia for more than a year."

Could anything possibly be better than Nerviline? No, because Nerviline is the best liniment made. Your druggist has it in large 25c bottles. Try it yourself.

MADE PRISONER BY BEAR

Telegrapher Cornered in Railroad Tower.

Altoona, Pa., June 23.—The Pennsylvania telegraph operator at Mill Creek, Huntingdon County, was held a prisoner in his tower for two hours by a bear this morning. When he went off duty he found the animal at the tower door and sprang back into the office and summoned assistance by telegraph.

Several men arrived with guns, but before they opened fire a message was received saying that the bear was missing from a carnival company train. It had been tied under a wagon on a flat car and jolted from the train while passing Mill Creek at midnight. The bear was tame and was sent to Harrisburg in a baggage car.

WOMAN TAKING PART

The First of Her Sex to Vote at National Convention.

Chicago, June 23. — For the first time in American politics a woman took part in the business of President-making. There are four women, all elected as alternates, but one, Mrs. Chas. A. Eldrege, of Colorado Springs, Col., exercised the power of a delegate, for her principal was absent.

She voted on all roll calls in the national convention and in the caucuses of the delegation. The other women alternates are: Mrs. Owen Lefevre, Colorado; Mrs. Susan West, Idaho, and Mrs. Jennie E. Nelson, Utah.

The regular delegates from these states, where women have equal rights, have decided to gallantly disappear at intervals during the sessions of the convention and allow the women to vote. Mrs. Eldrege, who proudly cast her ballot at yesterday's roll call, is of middle-age and attractive appearance.

BELMONT BATTLE WAS A HOT ONE

Dan Smith Cleaned Out a Hotel and Got Into Trouble—Is Now in Bed.

The battle of Belmont was fought on the evening of Tuesday, June 21. The casualties may not have been many, but today one great big warrior, Daniel Smith, lies at his home in Belmont, well pummeled. The man who beat him was Walter Goodman, of the same village. The battle was witnessed by the entire community.

For some time there have been a number of scraps at the tavern kept by John Charles. Tuesday night Smith, who is a laborer, and, it is claimed, a bully, started to "clean out" the hotel. He succeeded very well until another of his class came on the scene. This was Walter Goodman, also a laborer. Both men weigh over 200 pounds, and they put up a great fight. For an hour it continued and the whole village came out to watch it, no one daring to interfere. Women screamed and men were frightened. One of the spectators was Mrs. Massey, wife of the manager of the Sovereign Bank, which is across the road from the hotel. She had just come from Montreal and had never seen such a sight, and she fainted. She recovered, however. At last, Goodman beat Smith so badly that the latter fell on the tavern stoop, and for half an hour or more did not recover. He was taken home unconscious, and it was thought for some time that he was dead. A doctor, however, succeeded in bringing him to, and the fighter is now in bed.

Both men are known as husky fighters, which may account for the fact that no arrest has been made.

Verily, all the hard fighting is not in Colorado or the east.

RUSHED FISHES AND FROGS.

Kansas City, Mo., June 23. — The report comes from Fort Scott that last night, in one of the heaviest storms which ever visited that section of Kansas, thousands of small fishes and frogs fell from the sky. The market place was covered and thousands of the fishes were taken from pools of water left by the rain.

Each newspaper correspondent there who sent out the story was asked to furnish affidavits, and all had them.

It's Catchable, Curable, Preventible.

So the authorities claim about consumption. But when it so often springs from Catarrh which nearly everybody has, prevention should be kept in view. Catarrhozone prevents because it stops and cures every type of Catarrh ever heard of. No one can possibly ever develop consumption that inhales Catarrhozone. Medical statistics prove this. Don't court danger any longer, use Catarrhozone at once and get cured of Catarrh in a prompt, thorough way; every complete dollar outfit is guaranteed.

LITTLE LIGHT ON THE CAMPAIGN

Many Far East Dispatches, But Little Information.

JAPS ARE CLOSE TO LIAO YANG

Mikado's Fleet Believed To Be Operating in Conjunction With Oku's Army.

London, Thursday, June 23. — In the absence of definite news concerning the fighting on the Liao Tung Peninsula reported from various sources, none of which is official, there is a large crop of dispatches in this morning's newspapers. None of these dispatches, however, throws any light on the situation. The military writers comment on the significance of the official announcement of the Japanese occupation of Haiung Yao Chen (Hsi Uung Yao Chonz, or Si Yong Cheng), as showing that there has been little change in the Japanese position, as indicating a surprisingly small advance within the last six weeks. Correspondents at Feng Wang Cheng report the continued activity of the Russians north of that point. The correspondent of the Standard at Feng Wang Cheng, under date of June 21, says that a large force of Russians attacked a small number of Japanese on June 20 at Hsuelitien, fifteen miles northwest of Feng Wang Cheng, and that the Japanese retired after a stubborn fight.

THE JAP ADVANCE.

A dispatch dated Kai Chou, Liao Tung Peninsula, June 22, says: "Japanese scouts have appeared two miles from Su Chen (Siung Yo Shan). The main columns of the enemy are three miles in their rear. Gen. Samasanoff, of the rear guard, is falling back as the Japanese advance. A number of men missing after the battle of Vafangow have joined their regiments. The Russian losses are expected to total 3,500. The troops are in excellent condition, in spite of the fearful weather. The roads are ankle-deep in mire, but the rains are now ceasing.

"Gen. Kuropatkin arrived here on Monday, inspected Gen. Stakelberg's corps and addressed the troops, saying: 'I shall see you soon again. We must settle with the Japanese promptly. Till then we are not going home.' The general also addressed the regiments which specially distinguished themselves in the recent fighting and presented the St. George's Cross to 250 officers and men, who were drawn up on the platform of the railway station and gave the commander-in-chief a hearty send-off. Kuropatkin stood on the steps of his train as it moved out and waved a farewell to the troops.

"The reports of the Japanese treatment of prisoners and wounded are marked by extraordinary contradictions. In some cases the greatest kindness has been shown to the Russians, but from elsewhere come reports of brutality and worse. One case is cited in which the Japanese, during the fighting, seeing the Russian wounded on the field, sent Chinese bearers and had them removed to a hospital."

[Siung Yo Shan, mentioned in the above dispatches, is 25 miles southeast of Kai Chou.]

THE ALLANTON SEIZURE.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg, dated June 22, 6:20 p.m., says: "It is not betraying Vice-Admiral Skrydloff's plans to say that important naval developments are imminent in the far east. The admiralty has no news of the reported loss of two Russian torpedo boat destrovers off Port Arthur. The latest dispatch from Rear-Admiral Wittsoeft (in command of the naval forces at Port Arthur), dated June 17, reported all were well there. The British ambassador, Sir Charles Hardinge, is presenting a protest against the seizure of the British collier Allanton by the Russian Vladivostock squadron interview of the Russian declaration that coal is contraband is war, and owing to the irregularity of the ship's papers."

FLEET HELPS OKU.

St. Petersburg, June 23. — General Kuropatkin seems omnipresent. It is reported that he has visited the entire front since the battle. The Japanese fleet is probably co-operating with Gen. Oku's advance along the coast. The two Japanese armies threaten momentarily to attempt a juncture assisted by a force on the north shore of the Gulf of Liao Tung. Heavy rains have been falling since June 16, and have hampered operations. They indicate the commencement of the rainy season in the south, though possibly for a month or more it will be dry in the north.

WILL AWAIT OYAMA.

New York, June 23. — A Tokio dispatch says: Marshal Oyama, who has been appointed viceroy and commander-in-chief in Manchuria, has left Shimonoseki en route to the front and will reach Taku Shan on the Liao Tung Peninsula, in a few days, as the latter point is only a short distance from Hai Cheng, the present base of Japanese operations. The generals will be in touch immediately. Until Oyama's arrival Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu had been directed to make no serious forward movement. Kuroki has also been ordered to modify his original plan, and instead of marching northward, reinforce the armies of Oku and Nodzu.

JAPANESE BASE.

Liao Yang, June 21.—(Delayed in transmission).—The Japanese army base at Siu Yen is evidently strongly established along a line from Kai Chau to Yen Tai. Rumors of a battle northeast of Kai Chau are evidently correct. The Japanese this week advanced to a point 16 miles east of Kai Chau, but retired. It is presumed that General Oku is now advancing to the north by the way of Fu Chau and the coast road, thus enabling him to obtain provisions from the sea.

AN ATTACHE KILLED.

Liao Yang, June 23. — Spectators at the battle of Va Fang Tien claim to have seen on one occasion three horsemen appear on a hill, one of whom, according to a Russian officer, resembling either a British or American attache, fell from his horse when the Russians fired and was evidently killed. The battle of Va Fang Tien almost exactly resembled the battle of Stone River, near Murfreesboro, Tenn., in 1862, during the American civil war. The Russians abandoned their guns and the Japanese pursued them for twelve hours, bivouacing at nightfall in the position held by the Russians on the preceding day. After placing outposts, the main body of the Japanese then retired towards the sea, it is supposed, for the purpose of obtaining a fresh supply of munitions, which had been exhausted during the battle.

A BIG COMBINE BY CANADIANS

Ask for a Charter for Company in Brazil With $50,000,000 Capital.

Montreal, June 23. — Toronto and Montreal capitalists have combined in the largest project ever undertaken by Canadians outside of Canada. In order to carry out their project they have promoted the Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light and Power Company, Limited, with a capital of $50,000,000, and expect to easily outdo both the Sao Paulo and Mexican projects.

Among the largest interests in the new company, which has just applied to the Dominion Government for a charter on the same lines as the Mexican Light and Power Company, are Hon. Geo. A. Cox, William Mackenzie, Sir William Van Horne, E. F. Wood, Frederic Nicholls, F. S. Pearson, and by the options that have already been obtained on the different franchises the company will have a monopoly of all electric business in the city of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

The company has secured the only big waterfall situated within the radius from which power could be brought to the city, and it is situated 75 miles in a straight line from the city. It has bought out all the existing power and lighting companies in Rio de Janeiro. The four tramway companies purchased are the Sao Cristarao, the Villa Isabel, the Carris Urbano, and the Carioca.

At the outset the company will issue $25,000,000 bonds, which will provide for the purchase of equipments and the properties and provide a working capital of $2,000,000.

The report submitted to the syndicate managers of the company shows, that estimated net earnings after electrical equipment will be $4,102,509. The interest on the bonds at 5 per cent would equal $1,250,000, which would leave $2,852,500 surplus for stocks.

COL. GREGORY HAS STATEMENT, TOO

Takes His Cue From Dundonald and Will Tell Why He Resigned.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., June 23.—Lieut.-Col. Roland W. Gregory, of the Second Dragoons, was relieved of his command.

This was in response to his request of last Thursday.

Major S. H. Glasgow took charge of the regiment.

Lieut.-Col. Gregory is preparing a written statement of his case.

Lieut.-Col. Gregory's letter of resignation was as follows:

"As a protest against the system of political intrigue that compels my superior officers to interfere with the efficiency and discipline of the regiment under my command, by promoting without my approval an inefficient officer in my regiment, while knowing and at the same time being aware of the fact that I was trying to compel the officer referred to (Major S. H. Glasgow), to improve his qualification before I recommended him for promotion to the position of second in command, I hereby tender by resignation as commanding officer of the Second Dragoons and further request that I be relieved of my command at once."

MORE ABOUT THE FLAG INCIDENT

Again Brought to Attention of the House—The Dundonald Correspondence.

Ottawa, Ont., June 22. —The flag incident was once more before the House at today's sitting. Mr. Bourassa introduced the subject Tuesday and Col. Kaulback (Lunenbury, N. S.), referred to it today. In a patriotic speech he outlined the agreement under which Canada obtained the right to fly the British ensign with the Canadian coat of arms on ships registered in this country. He declared that it was Canada's privilege and duty to take a patriotic pride in the flag that has been authorized for use on Canadian vessels.

The Premier stated that all the facts in connection with the case had not yet been ascertained. As soon as the Government obtained this information it would communicate with the imperial authorities.

DUNDONALD LETTERS.

Mr. Fisher declined to make public the originals of certain confidential letters from Col. Whitely in regard to the Dundonald matter. He showed that unless special reasons were given, the Government was not bound to lay them upon the table.

Mr. Monk, who made the request for this correspondence, maintained the House had a right to inspect them. As to corespondense marked "private," he said that no letter relating to the organization of the Scottish Light Dragoons could, in view of developments, could be regarded as confidential. Every letter that could throw light on the situation should be presented.

Mr. Fisher pointed out that no order of the House had been made for the papers and letters in question.

IN THE SENATE.

In the senate the Grand Trunk Pacific measure passed its second reading 34 to 20. Senator Bowell's amendment declaring it inexpedient to commit the country to the proposed enormous obligations involved in the bill being previously defeated by 34 to 19.

The committee on supply in the House took up the estimates of the department of marine and fisheries.

After a long debate the item of $238,000 for salary of lightkeepers, etc., passed, and the House rose at 1 a.m.

It is said that Mr. Geo. Burn, general manager of the Bank of Ottawa, will be offered the position of auditor-general, in succession to J. L. MacDougall, C. M. S., who has asked to be superannuated.

WEDDING AT KOMOKA

Interesting Event Was Attended by a Large Company.

A very interesting event took place on Tuesday, June 21, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lofthouse, Komoka. The occasion was the marriage of their daughter, Mabel Louise, to Mr. John McConnell, of Windsor, and formerly of London. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Fisher, assisted by Rev. Mr. Harris, of Windsor, in the presence of over 75 guests, including friends and relatives from Windsor, London, Guelph, Sarnia and Strathroy. The bride entered the room, on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. She wore a dress of white mouselin de soie, trimmed with all-over lace and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. She also wore a pin of mother-of-pearl and gold, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Lofthouse, in white mouselin de soie, with bouquet of pink roses, and Miss Nellie Lofthouse, in white organdie, over pink. The bridegroom's gifts to the bridesmaids were an opal and a diamond ring. The happy couple left for London, en route for Windsor, about 9 o'clock, amid the hearty congratulations of their friends. The bride's traveling dress was of black voile over black silk, with white silk waist and large picture hat of white chiffon and ostrich plume. The presents were very numerous and valuable, testifying to the high esteem in which both bride and bridegroom are held. They will reside at 100 Crawford avenue, Windsor.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, June 23—Noon.—There has been a good strong undertone to the market during the forenoon, with a fair volume of trade. The announcement that a western firm had had their 'phones removed as a disciplinary measure by the committee on arrangements, had no effect on the market. Steel, preferred, Consolidated Gas, St. Paul, and Baltimore and Ohio were among the fairly active and strong stocks. The Soo stocks were strong again today, and Canadian Pacific was decidedly firm. It would seem as if some kind of a pool is operating in that quarter of the market. The buying of Steel, preferred, was good. The market is now dull. Sales to noon were 125,000 shares.

LOCAL MARKETS.

London, Thursday, June 23.

This morning's market was small and listless. The attendance of farmers was slim and sales slow.

Strawberries came in in considerable quantities, but the price remained firm at 8c and 8½c per quart. It was said that a number of large wholesale lots went for 7½c, and one or two for 7c. All of the offerings in this line were snatched up quickly.

There was no marked change in the price of potatoes, of which there were few offered. The standard was from $1 to $1 10 a bag.

Quantities of green stuff were put up for sale. Conspicuous were the tomato plants. On almost every market gardener's wagon they were to be seen, and could be had almost for the asking.

Oats took a slight jump. On the last market day they ranged from 97c to $1, and today a number of loads went at $1 03. Very few loads were offered.

Two loads of new hay have come in during the last two days. One of them sold for $7 and the other for $6 50, while old hay ranged, according to quality, from $6 to $8. Only about a dozen loads in all came in.

Wool was quoted at from 18c to 19c for washed, and 9c to 11c for unwashed.

Pork remained firm.

GRAIN MARKETS.

The Price Current says: "Favorable progress in all crops. Wheat heading favorable. Where harvesting has begun the outcome equals or exceeds previous expectations. Corn is mostly clean and of good color. Backward growth. Oats are maintaining about average conditions."

Our Liverpool house cables: "Our wheat is advancing, because of bad weather reports from the Argentine. The market is firm but there is little business doing. Corn is inactive and prices are steady. The tone is dull, but there is no pressure to sell."

Liverpool closed: Wheat, ⅜c to ½c higher; corn, ¼c higher.

The Argentine estimate is about 1,600,000 bushels; corn, 2,400,000 bushels, weekly shipments.

GOT NOTHING FOR TROUBLE.

A number of the residents of Hyman street were aroused at 2 o'clock yesterday morning by the actions of a trio of men, supposed to be inexperienced buglars. The first of the householders to be disturbed found the gang attempting to raise a window on the lower floor, and when he called to them they simply moved on to another house. Three places were visited before the men decamped. A Queen's avenue family were also awakened by the same trio, who got nothing for their trouble.

MEETING AT HURON COLLEGE.

Those in residence at Huron College who are attending the synod held a meeting Wednesday at which Rev. T. Bart Howard was chairman. "Early Experiences in Parish Work" was discussed by Revs. A. A. Bice, Thomas Hicks and others, and Rev. F. G. Newton gave an address on "The Spiritual Life of a Clergyman," which was followed by a discussion. A committee consisting of Revs. T. B. Howard, F. G. Newton and A. L. Beverly was appointed to promote a similar gathering next year.

SYNOD DISCUSSES IMPORTANT QUESTION OF RAISING STIPENDS

Strong Plea for the Proposal—Executive to Report at Next Synod.

The question of salaries, always an interesting problem in civic, commercial or ecclesiastical affairs, came up at the Synod of Huron at this morning's sessions. It was, of course, technical to a large extent. However, in general terms, the proposal, which was made by Very Rev. Dean Davis, was to amend a canon on the mission fund by making the stipends for deacons at mission stations $500, for priests of less than 10 years standing $750, and for priests of 10 years and up to 15 years' standing $800.

In introducing his motion the dean pointed out the increased cost of living and spoke strongly against continuing deacons at no fixed stipends and priests up to 10 years' standing at $700 as formerly. The last class have been receiving $800 for the past year.

Ven. Archdeacon Williams supported the proposal. The good times of the country, he said, had not been good to the clergy. The proposal of the dean was opportune and necessary. It would involve a sum of $2,000 more than they had at present. The money, however, would have to come from the parishes themselves, and not from the synod. It would have to be raised by a personal canvass, and he supposed it would fall to the archdeacons to make this canvass. He recommended the synod to face the expense without hesitation.

Rev. C. R. Gunne thought such a motion would be a reversal of the principle of previous synods.

The proposal was opposed by Ven. Archdeacon Young, who admitting there was a shocking inadequacy in the stipends, held that they had not considered ways and means. There was too much possibility about it, for while the archdeacons were testing it to see if the plan were practicable, a large debt would be piling up.

Rural Dean Hodgins regarded the question as most important, as it affected that of church extension. If they did not treat their clergy right they could scarcely expect to get men to go into the ministry. The raising of money was only a matter of detail—the Church of England was not a pauper one, and the money could be raised. If a clergyman spoke of money he was looked upon as mercenary; if he didn't speak of it he couldn't pay his debts, and was said to be dishonest. What sometimes was attributed to lack of piety was really lack of food, too much economy being expected from the clergyman. They wanted some system of a guarantee of stipend—the clergyman should not have to worry about his living.

Rev. R. McCosh, of Chatham, often wondered how mission ministers made two ends meet.

They didn't said several. Laborers on the streets were getting more today than clergymen.

Mr. Henderson offered a suggestion by which the laity could be appealed to, moving in amendment to the first reading of the motion that the matter be referred to the executive committee to report at next synod.

This suggestion met with approval and then Mr. Noble, of Petrolea, presented to his lordship a memorial signed by a large number of the lay representatives, each offering two or three full days' service, as set opposite their names towards work in raising financial assistance.

To the majority of the clergy this generous offer came as a surprise, and it was given great applause.

The bishop accepted the offer, as one full of hope, asd thanked the lay association.

It was also stated that the secretary, Mr. J. Y. Ormsby, of Woodstock, was going to communicate with the lay representatives and organize a plan for bettering the financial conditions.

Prior to the above discussion, Rev. Canon Farthing presented the report of the committee on reciprocity and beneficiary funds. An agreement would have been reached by the Dioceses of Huron, Niagara and Toronto, only they had been delayed by the illness of the chancellor of Huron and the death of the chancellor of Niagara. The committee recommended its reappointment and the addition of Mr. R. Bayly, K.C., acting chancellor.

Early in the morning session the bishop appointed scrutineers of ballots, which were deposited by the clergy and laity as their names were called. The counting of the ballots went on and the results were to be announced at this afternoon's session, which begins at 3 o'clock.

When the synod resumed this afternoon the following were named as having been appointed clerical representatives to the meeting of the General Synod: Revs. Dean Davis, Archdeacon Williams, Canon Farthing, Rural Dean Mackenzie, Canon Brown, R. McCosh, Archdeacon Hill and G. B. Sage. The following were named as clerical substitutes. Revs. Archdeacon Richardson, Dyson Hague, Canon Craig and Archdeacon Young. The lay delegates to the General Synod are as follows: Messrs. M. Wilson, R. Bayly, K. C., Judge Ermatinger, John Ransford, E. G. Henderson, W. F. Cockshutt, J. D. Noble, with the following substitutes: J. B. Lucas, Judge Barron, J. Y. Ormsby, H. McLean, W. F. Graham, T. Metcalfe. The only clerical members of the executive committee are Revs. Rural Dean Hinds, Dyson Hague and F. G. Newton.

WEDDING AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

Miss Constance Gillard Becomes the Bride of Quartermaster Sergt. Skirving.

St. Paul's Cathedral was the scene of a quiet wedding this morning, when Miss Constance Elliot Gillard, only daughter of Mrs. Annie Gillard, of Talbot street, became the wife of Quartermaster-Sergeant Herbert Skirving, of the South African Constabulary. Mr. Skirving, who is an old London boy, enlisted for three years, and liked South Africa so well that he decided to remain there. Miss Gillard was attended by Miss Parent, of Maple street, while Mr. Lionel Moore, also of the S. A. C., was best man. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Jack Gillard. Rev. Canon Dann performed the ceremony, after which a wedding lunch was served at the residence of the bride's brother. Mr. and Mrs. Skirving left for the east on the 4 p.m. train. Before leaving for South Africa they will return and visit here for a short time. The good wishes of their many London friends will follow them.

THE DRUGGISTS IN CONFERENCE

Annual Meeting of Middlesex and Elgin Association—Officers Chosen.

The annual meeting of the retail druggists of Middlesex and Elgin was held yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. building. There were about 25 members in attendance, and the papers pertaining in pharmaceutical subjects read were interesting and practical.

One of them, an essay on tincture of opium, was given by A. F. McLachlan, of St. Thomas. E. W. Boyle read another on the advisability of introducing a course of lectures in the colleges on the commercial side of pharmacy.

Mr. I. L. Walton's paper on the best method of regulating the sale of narcotics was an interesting one, and with the others was thoroughly discussed by those present.

Addresses were given by A. McCallum, London, J. F. Roberts, Parkhill, and W. B. Graham, Ridgetown, president of the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

During the afternoon the association voted $25 to Mr. N. I. McDermid, who has acted as secretary of the association for the last two years.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, J. F. Roberts, Parkhill; president, C. McCallum, London; vice-president, E. C. Harvey, St. Thomas; secretary-treasurer, N. I. McDermid, London. Executive committee—J. A. Cairncross, London; W. T. Strong, London; J. G. Shuff, London; J. Callard, London; A. F. McLachlan, St. Thomas; W. H. Stepler, Strathroy; J. L. DISMISSED THE APPEAL

Judge Elliot Contends Henry Bush Has No Case Against Brother.

Judge Elliott this morning heard the appeal entered by Henry Bush against a decision given by Squire Lacey. Bush and his father accused another son, Charles, with assault, and Squire Lacey contended that there were no grounds, ordering the plaintiff to pay the costs. He now wished to have the case heard again. The judge decided that there was no case and dismissed the appeal with costs. Once, when the judge referred to the strained relations existing in the family, the elder brother burst into tears.

MEDAL COMES HERE FOR FIRST TIME

Miss Lillian Abbott Carries Home Coveted Honor From Toronto College.

Miss Lillian Abbott, daughter of Mr. S. W. Abbott, 421 Dundas street, who has just graduated at Havergal Ladies' College, Toronto, succeeded in carrying off the coveted Blake medal. This medal is given for the highest number of marks obtained in the greatest number of subjects. This is the first time the medal has been won by a London girl, and the prize becomes all the more honorable to Miss Abbott when it is remembered that she has been but two years in the college, and carried off the medal against students who have been four and five years in the institution. Miss Abbott is being warmly congratulated upon her success and she is certainly well entitled to the congratulations.

NO SPARE SPACE AT THE CITY HALL

All Available Room Occupied With the Exhibits for the Flower Show.

Large crowds Wednesday afternoon and evening visited the show of the London Horticultural Society, and greatly admired the many beautiful exhibits of flowers. The verdict of the visitors was that the display is the finest of any show as yet held under the auspices of the society.

The exhibits were all in place this morning, and the large auditorium is a huge bower of beauty, with subtle perfume of dainty flavorings pervading the atmosphere. Two particularly fine exhibits are those of Gammage & Sons, and of Darch & Hunter. At the north end of the auditorium, immediately to the left upon entering, the Gammage display strikes the eye as particularly beautiful. It is composed of a huge bank of the greenest of ferns and palms, intermingled with the choicest of foliage plants, and relieved by the most beautiful of roses displayed in abundance, as well as by showers of carnations and small fields of single and double peonies. Nothing more beautiful than the wealth of roses among the green of the ferns and palms could be conceived. On the west side of the hall is the large exhibit of Darch & Hunter, which includes hundreds of varieties dear to the student of floriculture. On the long table are to be seen the sweetest of carnations, the most beautiful of all the varieties of roses, single and double peonies, larkspurs, pansies, and even the old-fashioned, but ever pretty, "bleeding heart." It is beyond doubt a dainty and attractive exhibit.

One feature of the show which is pointed out by those in attendance to the visitors is that the exhibits go to prove that floriculturists are devoting their attention to the cultivation of perennials rather than to annuals. Nevertheless, the exhibits in all varieties are very good, and the number of exhibitors, as well as the number of visitors, go to show that the efforts of the directors of the Horticultural Society are greatly appreciated.

Other exhibitors whose names were not mentioned Wednesday, include Miss Englehart, E. Ludwig, G. Ludwig, R. J. Ross, C. P. Butler, Mrs. Clark, James Lutnam, W. Calver, E. Scatcherd and others.

All this afternoon and evening the show will be open to visitors.

SAYS SERVICE IS MUCH IMPROVED

Engineer Graydon Thinks Cars On Hamilton Road Should Be Operated One Way.

Two weeks or more ago City Engineer Graydon gave Manager Carr, of the London Street Railway, permission to operate cars on the Hamilton road but one way during the term of the camp on Carling's Heights. The camp was brought to a close Saturday, but the company is still running the cars the one way, and some complaint is being heard from the people of the south end. Mr. Graydon said today that, of course, if the people demanded that the cars be run both ways, the company must conform to the people's wishes, but it was his own opinion that the people were enjoying a better service with the acrs running one way. He points out that the cars now run at intervals of eight minutes, whereas there was a 12-minute service under the old system. On Richmond street the service has also been greatly improved, and the service on Dundas street and the South London belt is the same as usual. Consequently, the engineer thinks the cars should continue to run as they are.

Today Chairman Yeates called a special meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education for tonight, to deal with the suspension of Mr. John McCool, the English specialist at the Collegiate. Chairman MacRobert said today that all talk of Mr. McCool entering an action against the board of education was moonshine, as in every particular he and Chairman Yeates had acted within their proper rights.

In civic circles great regret is expressed that the trouble should have ended as it has, for Mr. McCool is recognized to be a painstaking teacher. On the other hand the utmost confidence is reposed in Principal Radcliffe, who is known to be fair to all teachers in his position as principal of the Collegiate Institute.

It is said that the boy, the row with whom precipitated the present trouble, feels very sorry that he was the indirect cause of Mr. McCool's suspension. It is understood he went to the principal and informed him that he was willing to take the entire blame, and that he had nothing but the best of good wishes for his teacher. This manly spirit is much commended.

Regarding the statements made by several of the city fathers that the paving agents are responsible for the knocking out of the city's attempt to initiate tar macadam pavements on many streets in this city, Mr. W. G. Mackendrick, of the Warren Company, says as far as his company is concerned, the statements are absolutely untrue. He says:

"It would be poor business on our part to try to knock out recommendations of the city engineer for a cheap pavement in front of low-class property, where for many years to come there would be no hope of a better class of pavement being laid."

The regular meeting of the board of works will be held this evening. So far as known, the business is of a minor character.

Today, a well-known physician, who is a property-owner on Queen's avenue, waited on Mayor Beck and informed his worship that if a bitulithic pavement is laid on Queen's avenue, he will refuse to pay a frontage assessment for it. This gentleman is not particularly opposed to bitulithic, but is against any new pavement being laid on the street. In fifteen years the bitulithic would cost this property-owner, at 32 cents a foot, $480, as he has 100 feet of frontage, and he declares that the pavement cannot be put down for 32 cents a foot, and he feels assured he will have to pay fully $900 for the pavement before he is through with it if it is laid.

Some persons are under the impression that the letter box of Dr. Hutchinson's office, which has an opening into the arcade, is a public letter box, for they frequently post letters there. Today Janitor Merritt posted a bundle of letters found in the office.

Today Inspector McCallum posted notices forbidding all persons making a dump of the foot of Richmond street. The inspector has received many complaints from residents of that locality of late, and the police have now been called upon to prosecute all offenders.

NEW UNIFORMS AT LAST.

Today the officers and members of the London fire brigade were served with new uniforms, new white straw hats, with black bands, and new black sateen shirts. The improvement in the appearance of the men is very great, and they are now as natty-looking and as fine a body of firemen as are to be met with in any city.

ARE HOLDING MEETINGS.

The Conservatives are holding meetings in private houses throughout the townships of East Middlesex. Wednesday night there was a regular meeting at the house of Mr. Richard Smith, between St. Johns and Hyde Park, to which all the distinguished members of the party were personally invited. It is said a large number of the faithful failed to attend.

DEATH OF BRIGHT YOUTH.

Alva Jay Carpenter, the 15-year-old son of J. W. and Carrie Carpenter, of 884 Elias street, died this morning in Victoria Hospital. He had been ill for twelve weeks with inflammatory rheumatism, which affected his heart. Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. C. W. Hopkins, of this city. He was a bright boy and was well-liked by his companions. The funeral will be held tomorrow to Chatham, where the family formerly resided.

THE MINTO CUP.

Ottawa, Ont., June 23. — The trustees of the Minto Cup have decided that the Shamrocks are not called upon to defend their title to the cup against the Brantfords. A statement to this effect will be sent forward this afternoon.

The reason Mr. P. D. Ross, representing the trustees, gives the Brantfords is that if the Minto cup fell into the hands of the Brantfords it might pass over to a team on which there were professionals.

FIGHTING FOR A NAME.

When he first returned to his native soil the year previous to his meeting with his uncle, it was but natural that he should seek his old home in New York to ascertain if his parents were still living.

He hoped they were not; he hoped also to find that his uncle was dead, and thus he should obtain possession of two snug fortunes, and so be able to continue his rovings and his luxurious living.

But greatly to his disgust he learned that his parents were alive and well, but that his father was on the verge of bankruptcy, while Mr. Lawson had long since left New York and no one could tell him whither he had gone.

Consequently he had no desire to reveal his identity to anyone, and putting Vera in a convent in Montreal for the winter, he wandered from place to place until spring opened, when he drifted to Boston, where he summoned Vera to join him; for, strange as it may seem, she was the one idol of his life, and he could not be long separated from her.

Upon leaving Mr. Lawson's house, after his interview with Miriam, Richard Heatherton proceeded to Park street, thence across the Common toward Boyiston street; but it was evident, from his lowering brow and dejected air, that he was in no enviable frame of mind.

"What shall I do?" he muttered, despondingly, as he stopped on a corner to wait for a car. "One thing I know I must do, before long, and that is—get Vera out of the country; it would break her heart, poor child, if she should learn the truth about herself! Curse my luck! I would have given my right arm to have prevented this thing. And—Mathews! If I had dreamed that he intended to play me such a trick, I would have throttled him. Oh, my darling—to think that this shame which I believed belonged to another, should have fallen upon you!"

A groan of mingled pain and anger broke from him in view of what he had learned that day; then, stepping upon a car, he rode, with gloomy eyes and sternly compressed lips, out toward the Hotel Vendome.

CHAPTER XXXII.

The day following Richard Heatherton's interview with is hwife, Mr. Lawson and his household went to their summer residence at Nantasket.

Ned accompanied them to the boat to see them off, and, as he bade them good-bye, promised to join them at the beach as early as possible on the coming Saturday.

That same morning he received the following note;

"Boston, June 15, 18—.

"Dear Ned,—You will, perhaps, be surprised to learn that I am at home. I arrived yesterday, but only for a short visit. That will astonish you also, but mamma has not been well of late, and the doctor commands a sea voyage. Accordingly she and papa start for Europe next Saturday, and I am gong back to Halifax to remain with mamma's friend, Mrs. Page, during the summer. Papa and mamma are in New York for a couple of days, making arrangements for their trip; meanwhile I am alone and want to be amused.

"If you have no engagement for this afternoon, come to Arlington street, as soon as the bank closes, and John will drive us out to the Woodland Park Hotel, where a schoolmate of mine is spending the summer, and upon whom I have promised to call.

"Hastily, but ever yours,

"GERTRUDE"

Ned was both surprised and delighted as he read this note, which came to hand just as he was going to dinner.

He slipped it hastily into his pocket and hurried away to the restaurant, and, while waiting to have his lunch served, drew forth the morning paper, as was his custom, to pass away the time.

As he did so Gertrude's letter came forth with the paper, and slipped unnoticed to the floor.

At least, Ned did not see it drop, but another pair of eyes, which had been watching Ned ever since he entered the room, marked the dainty missive, as it fluttered under the table, with an eager, jealous glance.

Immediately after finishing his dinner, Ned hurriedly arose from the table, and left the room; while his old enemy, Bill Bunting, who had been sitting a little back of him, immediately changed his seat, taking the one which Ned had just vacated.

He gave his order to the waiter, after which he stooped and stealthily secured the note which the unfortunate lover had dropped.

His eyes gleamed viciously as he boldly read it, and a smile of triumph curled his coarse lips, as he slipped it into a pocket of his vest, muttering:

"So the pretty little heiress is at home again. The proud minx gave me the cut direct the last time I met her, but I'm not going to stand any such kind of treatment as that. I've made up my mind to handle some of the old money-bag's cash and I am not going to be balked for the want of a little cheek. The old folks are away for a couple of days—wonder how it would do to call around at Arlington street some time tomorow! Guess I'll try it —'faint heart never won fair lady,' and I confess I'm awfully smitten."

Ned sped to Arlington street immediately after his duties at the bank were over.

He found Gertrude awaiting him, and the fair girl flushed rosily as she greeted him with even more than her accustomed cordiality.

"Did you think me very bold to invite you to drive with me?" she questioned, shyly.

"No, indeed," Ned answered, earnestly, "such a thought did not once occur to me. I was only too glad to be asked."

"Well, I did not want to drive to Auburndale alone, and, besides, I had papa's sanction to the arrangement."

Ned flushed now with pleasure, for this concession on Mr. Langmaid's part assured him that that gentleman still regarded his suit with favor.

The following afternoon was delightful, the country beautiful, and the lovers enjoyed their drive and call most thoroughly, returning to Boston by moonlight in the evening.

The next morning, about eleven o'clock, Mr. William Hunting — alias Bunting—swaggered up the steps of No. — Arlington street, with serene assurance, rang the bell, and inquired if Miss Langmaid was at home.

"Yes," the servant responded, then asked, as the young man stepped boldly within the hall, "Who shall I tell her has called?"

"Just say, please, that a gentleman wishes to see her upon a little matter of business," he replied, after pretending for a moment to search for a card.

The girl hesitated, glanced suspiciously at him, then, seeing that he was determined to carry his point, led the way into the reception-room, after which she went upstairs to give her young mistress the message.

Gertrude looked somewhat annoyed, upon being informed that her caller had not given his name.

"How stupid!" she exclaimed. "Likely as not it is some agent or peddler, and I canont endure to talk with them."

Nevertheless, fearing that it might be someone whom she know, and would not like to treat with rudeness, she decided to go down.

She descended to the reception-room, where she experienced a sudden shock of mingled anger and repulsion at finding herself face to face with Bill Bunting, the old-time enemy of her lover.

She drew herself up with some hauteur as she coldly inquired:

"To what am I indebted for this visit, sir?"

The fellow arose and bowed with great politeness, and Gertrude found herself wondering how he could have acquired so polished a manner while she observed, too, that he was dressed with great care and even elegance.

"Pray be seated, Miss Langmaid," he smilingly remarked, as he rolled a chair forward for her, "for I have a little matter which I wish to discuss with you."

"Thank you," the lovely girl calmly replied, as she laid her hand upon the back of the chair, but evidently with no intention of occupying it. "You spoke of a matter of business—will you be kind enough to state the nature of it?"

Her quiet self-possession and her icy manner somewhat disconcerted her visitor, in spite of his bold assurance, and he flushed a dull red. But he had staked too much on this venture to be balked in his designs, and, with a sullen doggedness leaping into his eyes, he plunged at once to the heart of his purpose.

"Certainly," he said, still suave and affable, "although not doubt it will be something of a surprise to you—I am here this morning for the purpose of craving the hand of Miss Gertrude Langmaid in marriage."

Had a thunderbolt exploded at her feet, Gertrude could not have been more stunned for the moment, and the look of amazement which overspread her face plainly indicated that she had not had a suspicion regarding the real object of his call.

This was quickly followed by a feeling of hot indignation, and a flame of anger shot into her eyes.

"Sir!" she began, but with a deprecatory wave of his hand, he interrupted her:

"I have shocked you, Miss Langmaid," he said, "and I ask your pardon; but, really, your icy command forced the truth from me more abruptly than I could have desired. Do not condemn me unheard for my apparent presumption," he went on hastily, as she made an effort to silence him. "I must justify myself to this extent — must confess that I love you with a passion of which you have no conception. I have loved you ever since I first saw you—when I stood, a barefoot boy, one Sunday, by the drinking fountain at the entrance to Beacon street and Commonwealth avenue, more than ten years ago. Doubtless you will feel anything but complimented by such an avowal, but it will at least prove the endurance of my affection, while, in this free land, where a pauper may become a statesman, or a beggar a millionaire, in a decade of years, the change in my own circumstances has emboldened me to make the confession. By my own efforts I have risen to an honorable position in life, and today I feel justified in offering you my hand and meeting with a return. Oh, Miss Langmaid, tell me that you will listen to my suit—that you will give me hope, courage and inspiration for the future, by becoming my wife."

He had spoken rapidly and with increasing earnestness and with every appearance of the utmost sincerity.

JOHNNIE K. HAD LOTS OF SPEED

Took the Class "A" Event at the Matinee From Sheik Indrum.

The track and wagon records of Queen's Park for a half mile was broken yesterday at the matinee races by Johnnie K., the property of Mr. George McCormick. The quality of the sport warranted a much larger attendance, there being not more than 300 persons on the grounds.

The first event was class D, in which there were three starters. Dan, owned by Mr. Sadlier, won the two heats, although Mr. Frank Sage's Russian and Mr. Woodhull's Big Indian chased him hard. Mr. Sage's horse has shown marked improvement of late.

Johnnie K., recently purchased by Mr. McCormick, behaved like a good horse in class A, and won two heats out of three against Sheik Indrum, who was not as orderly as he might have been. In the last heat, Johnnie K. went away in a burst of speed and led all the way, reducing the wagon and also the track record to 1:10½. The first quarter was done in 35 seconds.

Mr. McCormick drove Mr. Wood's Grocery Boy in class C, the former having injured his arm. Chrissie M. won the event in the last two heats.

Lady Mac, owned by Mr. McLeod, won in class B, having too much speed for her competitors. The summaries:

CLARKSON WILL BE WITH NEW YORK

Accepted Offer to Play With Americans at Salary of $8,000 a Year.

After many statements to the contrary, the fact has finally received confirmation that Walter Clarkson, the greatest of college twirlers, has signed to play professional ball with the New York Americans. From that club he will receive the lucrative salary of $8,000 a year.

For four consecutive seasons Clarkson has pitched the Crimson colors to victory in the annual diamond meet between the two leading universities of America—Yale and Harvard. This is indeed a record that never has been, and probably never will be equaled by any member of the big four teams. In him Harvard has a pitcher it may well be proud of. He stands out today as the college baseball marvel of the year.

Clarkson prepared for Harvard at the Cambridge Latin School, where he early gave promise of that exceptional ability which later on was to distinguish him on the Crimson nine. It was no unusual matter for him to strike out 15 or 18 men in the games which were played between the 1901 youngsters and the prep school teams in the neighborhood of Boston, and in one game he made the unusual record of striking out 24 out of the entire 27 men.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION WON.

The ball teams of the Sherlock-Manning Organ Company and the Hamilton Road A. A. played a game last evening on the latter's ground. The game resulted in favor of the A. A. by a score of 16 to 5. The batteries were as follows: S. M. Company, Roberts and Roberts; H. R. A. A., Sumner and Meenall. Umpire, W. D. Yeo.

PLAYER MUST BE WELL EQUIPPED

Gloves Have Much to Do With Success of the Individual Game.

Fred Odwell, of the Cincinnati Reds, is a player who believes that unless a fielder is well equipped for defensive work in the possession of the best gloves or mitts to be had that his standard of play cannot be at the highest notch. "The carpenter with the best tools does the best work," was the philosophical observation of the fleet-footed utility man as he ordered another mitt from the Philadelphia inventor of a new and popular model. "I realized most painfully the importance of wearing a mitt that was suitable when I was with Montreal," said he. "We Royalists were playing Syracuse one afternoon and were hopelessly behind to all appearances, but in the ninth a rally took place, and we batted our way past the Stars to victory. In the general excitement that followed somebody stole my mitt that I had carelessly tossed to the bench. Next afternoon I played with a new one that didn't quite suit, and blessed if I didn't muff a fly that lost us the game. Ever since then I have prepared myself for emergencies, and I own a lot of mitts. They are a safeguard against possible poor work that might cost a fellow his job."

George Schlei hos worn three mitts this season, and the last is the only one that suited him. "Some of these mitts in the market have the stuffing all hammered into the edges after a little work behind the bat," said the Silent Marksman, "and the first thing a catcher knows the ball is getting away from him. Many a passed ball is caused by a badly made mitt."

Schlei's latest accession acquired in the Quaker City looks like a small ham. It was made by John Green, a veteran first baseman, now a leather cutter. He played in the Eastern, Southern and California Leagues, but never reached fast company. When playing ball he invented the mitt he then wore. He has never patented it, but he is busy this year on the old pattern. The excellence of his idea impressed more than one of the Red players who are addicted to the big mitt habit.

RACES TO BE HELD OUTSIDE CHICAGO

The Western Jockey Club of Chicago has apportioned among other tracks the dates relinquished by the Washington Park Club as a result of the ban placed on book-making by the municipal authorities there. The dates are divided between the three tracks lying outside of the city limits —Hawthorne, Harlem and Warth. Racing will begin at Hawthorne on Friday, June 24. In the division of the twenty days relinquished by Washington Park, Worth and Harlem are accorded seven days and Hawthorne six. The allotment of racing dates for the local tracks follows: Hawthorne, June 24 to July 5, inclusive; Harlem, July 6 to July 16, inclusive; Hawthorne, July 18 to July 30, inclusive; Harlem, Aug. 1 to Aug. 13; Hawthorne, Aug. 15 to Aug. 27; Harlem, Aug. 19 to Sept. 10; Hawthorne, Sept. 12 to Sept 19; Harlem, Sept. 20 to Sept. 24; Worth, Sept. 26 to Oct. 31.

MANY FORMER REDS WITH OTHER TEAMS

Cincinnati Has at One Time or Another Had Some of Best Players in Big Leagues.

If Pop Time ever casts his weather eye on the ball field he must be impressed by the remarkable changes made in the "playing casts" of the various teams. When the Cincinnati Reds were in Brooklyn last week three players who wore the gray garb of the Buckeye tourists once fought for Brooklyn. They are Tom Corcoran, Joe Kelley and Harry Dolan. Only a few years ago they were petted heroes at Washington Park, and yet their welcome from their former constituents had nothing in it to recall the boisterous receptions of other days. On the bench with Ned Hanlon sat four players who had worn the red—Jack Cronin, John Dobbs, Ed Poole and Billy Bergin. Brooklyn is not the only National League team that possesses ex-Reds. Pittsburg claims Claude Ritchey, St. Louis, Jake Beckley; Boston, Phil Geier, and Chicago, Jack McCarthy. The American League roster is quite as impressive with Sam Crawford, Jimmy Barrett and Bob Wood at Detroit; Mique Kahoe, at St. Louis; Norwood Gibson and Jess Tannehill, at Boston, and Norman Elberfeld at New York; Harry Bay at Cleveland; Topsy Hartzell and Ralph Seybold, at Philadelphia, and Al Selbach and Case Patten at Washington. A fairly respectable team could be organized from that array of Red-exes. Tannehill, Patton, Poole and Gibson [illegible] pitchers; Berger, Wood and Kahoe behind the bat; Beckley, first base; Ritchey, second base; and Elberfeld, shortstop, with the pick of no less than nine outfielders, most of them .300 per centers, would leave a manager just one task—the search for a third baseman. That's a pretty likely bunch of talent. Some of it was rejected. The rest jumped during the grasshopper time, when the cruel war was on.

PLAY AT THE HEIGHTS.

A team from Scandretts and a picked team will play at Carling's Heights tonight.

LABELS SCALPED THE CRAIG STARS

Defeated Team With Crack Reputation by Monster Margin—Early's Good Work.

The Blue Labels of the Senior City League, played the Ailsa Craig Stars at Ailsa Craig yesterday, and administered a severe defeat. The score at the finish stood 20 to 2. Early, of the McClary nine, was in the box for the cigarmen, and he struck out eleven men in the course of the game. On the other hand, the Stars put three different men on the slab, and their combined efforts only sent three men to the bench. Early's work was of a very high order all through. MacJames and Fleming made three runs, while E. Stein made four. It was in the seventh inning that the Blue Labels made thirteen runs, the greatest number ever scored in Ailsa Craig in one inning. The score:

Stars .....0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0—2
Blue Labels.....0 0 1 0 3 2 13 1 0—20

WHOLESALERS PLAY.

In a fast, 5-innings game of ball played at Springbank Tuesday night, Elliott, Marr & Co. defeated Ed. Adams & Co. by a score of 4 to 1. The feature of the game was the pitching of Brown for the winners. Mr. W. H. Millman proved a very satisfactory umpire.

LONDON SHOE COMPANY WON.

A friendly game of ball was played at Springbank last night between the wholesale firms of D. H. Howden and London Shoe Company, resulting in a victory for the latter by a score of 14 to 5. Batteries—L. S. Co., Canfield and Forristal; D. H. H. & Co., Dewar and Rae.

LONG GAME WITH A SMALL SCORE

The Phillies and Brooklyn Play Thirteen Innings—Only One Run Tallied.

Two extra-innings games were played in the big leagues yesterday. One of them lasted thirteen innings, and the score was 1 to 0. This was between Philadelphia and Brooklyn, the Phillies winning. The former made five hits and the latter six, while each team made three errors.

The other long game was between Chicago and Cleveland, and it lasted ten innings, to break a tie of 5 all. Chicago clinched the game in the tenth.

Toronto administered a terrible walloping to Baltimore. The Canadians hit Gardner and Carrie for 21, and with 6 errors by Baltimore, 25 runs were made, as against less than a third of that number for Baltimore. In the second game the Torontos also won. Gibson, of this city, played with Montreal, who defeated Newark by 12 to 6. The scores:

CAUSED SHAKE-UP IN THE BETTING

Shipping of Hermis for $50,000 Handicap—Top Weight for Thomas Colt.

The announcement that Hermis will be shipped west to run in the $50,000 World's Fair Handicap, which will be decided at St. Louis on Saturday, will sort of shake things up in the betting line on this event. Up to the present time Bernays has ruled the favorite, with Colonial Girl next in demand, while the local followers of the turf have still confidence that Tom Hayes will be able to get Gold Heels to the post. Irish Lad is another that may come on, and it will be a meeting of the giants of the turf world if he gets here. John A. Drake has Runnels, Gen. Welles and Savable in at comfortable weights, but nothing has been heard from him as to his intentions. Seventeen horses are looked upon as probable starters. The jockeys have not yet been announced and probably will not be definitely decided upon before Thursday night. The probable starters, owners and weights follow:

Hermis (E. R. Thomas)	130 lbs.
Gold Heels (T. P. Hayes)	120 lbs.
Irish Lad (Herman Duryea)	126 lbs.
McChesney (E. E. Smathers)	128 lbs.
McGee (Ed Corrigan)	101 lbs.
Colonial Girl (C. Rowe & Co.)	97 lbs.
Savable (J. W. Drake)	114 lbs.
Runnels (J. W. Drake)	115 lbs.
Bernays (R. B. Respess)	106 lbs.
Judge Himes (Chas. Ellison)	105 lbs.
Sambo (Pat Civill)	97 lbs.
Bearcatcher (G. Ferguson)	94 lbs.
Moharib (J. W. Schorr)	94 lbs.
Old Stone (M. P. Mattingly)	92 lbs.
Wilful (S. C. Hildreth)	108 lbs.
Emporium (W. V. Conran)	98 lbs.
Flying Torpedo (Ezell & Lazarus)	101 lbs.

KILLINGS ON THE AMERICAN DERBY

New York Plungers Clean Up Half a Million—Story About Woodson.

When Highball romped home with the American Derby at Chicago a coterie of New York plungers headed by Newton Bennington, John and George Considine, Jimmie Wakely and J. J. Ryan set up a wild whoop that startled the betting ring at Sheepshead Bay. These men without doubt won something between $500,000 and $1,000,000 on Highball's victory.

This money come out of James O'Leary, who makes a big winter book in Chicago. Ryan, Bennington and the rest began backing Highball last January when the colt was 50 to 1 in the future books, and not a day has passed since that time when wagers of some substantial amount have not been made with O'Leary and other big future bookmakers. Within the last month $25,000 has been sent to Chicago on Highball's chance. "I am not sure just what we have won, but it is something above $500,000," said Ryan.

There is an interesting story connected with the running of Woodson, the colt whose sensational finish in second place in the American Derby created so much excitement. L. B. Dickerson, who owns Woodson, is a shrewd horseman, and when the winter books began doing business he backed his colt across the board, the straight odds being 100 to 1, and those for place and show correspondingly juicy. Woodson's races previously to the Derby had not been of a character to impress people with his ability as a race nag, and as late as Saturday morning as good as 30 to 1 was offered against him in the Derby.

"I think," said Mr. Dickerson to Jockey Henry, "that they'll run the first mile in about 1:41, and then they'll likely come home fast enough to make the mile and a half in about 2:33. You lay along in a good place and let the leaders do the racing for the first mile, and then you cut loose and you'll be right there at the finish."

GOOD CRICKETERS ARE VERY SCARCE

It is the general impression that there is a dearth of material for an eleven to represent the Canadian Cricket Association in the international match against the United States at Philadelphia, July 11 and 12.

Five players sure of places on the team are: H. C. Hill, W. C. Baker, and F. T. Lucas, of McGill; H. F. Lownsborough, of Toronto, and A. Ackland, of Ottawa. These are really first-class men. Others who have claims for consideration are: Dr. J. J. Cameron, of Trinity; A. C. Heighington, of Toronto; J. L. Haynes and R. Meade, of Rosedale; F. W. Baldwin and C. Southam, of Varsity; C. McElroy, of St. Simon's, and F. Perrira, of Ottawa. The last-named is said to be an excellent left-hand batsman, a good fielder, and a fast change bowler.

WATERBOY TO BE TAKEN OFF TURF

Owner Will Not Consent to Race Great Horse When He Is Not Fit.

The news that Waterboy may never race again, which unfortunately seems to have good foundation, causes sincere regret among all classes of racegoers with which the big Watercress colt has alway beens a prime favorite.

He has been a cripple since he was a youngster, and it was the marvel of racing men that he should have made the grand showing he did last year. His owner, J. B. Haggin, has an affection for the great thoroughbred he feels for no other of his horses and will retire him to the stud rather than have his glory dimmed by racing him when he is not fit.

Both Mr. Haggin and Trainer A. J. Joyner are, of course, very anxious that Waterboy should race again, provided he can do so with credit to himself; but as the champion is showing signs of lameness after the very careful and skillful handling he has had, they are likely to be destined to disappointment. If Waterboy can be made to stand up, considering his present condition, it will mark another wonderful stage in the career of a very wonderful thoroughbred. The present trouble is the outcome of the injury he received in a workout last fall. While galloping easily around the Sheepshead Bay track he bruised one of his forefeet just below the ankle. He was immediately thrown out of training, and the injury was treated all winter, with a view to getting him in shape for this season. While he remained in the barn during the winter the swelling, which developed after the bruise, disappeared. As soon as he was worked again this spring, however, the swelling again began to appear after every gallop. At first quite noticeable it gradually reduced in size until two weeks ago Trainer Joyner thought it had about eradicated. But just as it began to look as if Waterboy might be ready for the Brighton Handicap he is showing evidence of a recurrence of the trouble, and those who know the inside facts in the case will be very much surprised if Waterboy attempts to start in even one more race. In the meantime Trainer Joyner will continue galloping him along easily.

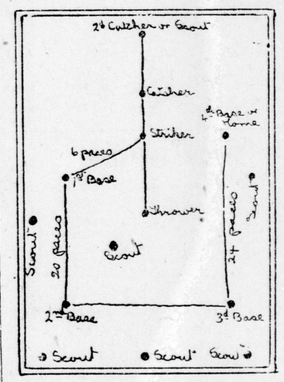

IN THE EARLY DAYS OF BALL

Scouts Fielded the Sphere and Wooden Stakes Were the Bags.

In Porter's Spirit of Dec. 27, 1856, is the following article:

"Boston, Dec. 20, 1856.

"Editor Porter's Spirit—I have read with some degree of interest several articles which have from time to time appeared in the Spirit upon the 'American Game of Baseball.' It is truly a national game. As played by the schoolboys in every country village in New England, as well as in the parks of many of our New England cities, I find, on reading an extract from the rules of the game, taken from the by-laws, rules, etc., of the Putnam Club, and published in the Spirit of Dec. 6, some matters so entirely different as to the manner in which the game is played in New England, as I myself learned and played the game from youth to manhood, that I have thought, perhaps, a statement of my experience at the Yankee method of playing 'Base' or 'Round' ball, as we used to call it, may not prove uninteresting."

The accompanying diagram and explanations of the game then played in New England, which the writer of the above article sent to and was printed in Porter's Spirit of Dec. 27, 1857, is given below.

Herewith are given some of the rules adopted at a meeting held at Dedham, Mass., May 13, 1858:

Rule 3. Four bases or bounds shall constitute a round; the distance from each base to be 60 feet.

Rule 4. The bases shall be wooden stakes projecting four feet from the ground.

Rule 8. If a player, while running the bases, be hit with the ball thrown by one of the oprosite side, before he has touched the home goal while off, he shall be considered out.

YACHTING.

WILL TRY FOR CUP.

Commodore Morton F. Plant, of the Larchmont Yacht Club is the representative of American yachting interests in the British and German regattas this year, having just participated in the Dover-Heligoland handicap over a course of 320 miles, sailed under the auspices of the German Emperor. Commodore Plant will endeavor to win back the Cape May cup, which was lost by the New York Yacht Club to British competitors in 1885. If he meets with success in the forthcoming British races he will restore the trophy to the New York Yacht Club and thus will have earned for himself and for his craft, Ingomar, the highest honors which it is in the power of American yachting fraternities to bestow.

HARDING—CHAPMAN

Afternoon Wedding at Home of Mr. Wm. Chapman, Glebe Street

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at the residence of Mr. Wm. Chapman, 347 Glebe street, this city, when his niece, Miss Ida Frances Chapman, was united in marriage to Mr. John Bentinck Harding, of Thorndale, Ont. Rev. Dyson Hague, M. A., rector of the Bishop Cronyn Memorial Church, performed the ceremony. The bride, attired in a neat traveling costume entered the drawing-room accompanied by her uncle and followed by her bridesmaid, Miss A. L. Chapman, a cousin, from Lockport, N. Y. Mr. William Lee supported the groom. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple received the hearty congratulations of the assembled guests, after which a dainty dejeuner was served in a large marquee on the lawn. Numerous and costly gifts from friends far and near attested the esteem in which the young people are held. Mr. and Mrs. Harding left for points east last night. Their home will be at Thorndale.

DR. TUCKER SAYS THE CANADIAN CHURCH IS ON ITS TRIAL TODAY

Makes a Strong Appeal to the Synod of Huron for Better Work for Missions.

The work of the first year of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada was shown by the general secretary, Rev. Dr. N. Tucker, last evening, to have been eminently successful. It is a long time since such an urgent appeal for missionary work has been made, or in fact a more religiously patriotic speech made as that by Dr. Tucker last night at the missionary conference called for Huron Synod week. Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., of Chatham, who against all kinds of difficulties piloted the bill of organization through to completion, also delivered an address that thrilled all with the sense of responsibility in this great movement.

Cronyn Hall was thrown open to all at this missionary meeting, and the large crowd of both ladies and gentlemen from various churches, in addition to the delegates, who were present, was an encouraging evidence of the increased interest being taken in missions. Bishop Baldwin, in opening, pointed out that the Diocese of Huron had done more than was asked in raising money for missions. He spoke encouragingly of the work and rejoiced that there was a deep missionary spirit spreading. He first called upon Rev. J. W. Andrew, of Berlin, for a report of the mission board of the diocese. This showed that last year over $11,000 had been raised by the diocese for the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada. Of this amount $3,035 had been contributed by Middlesex, as compared with $5,846 the year before the organization of the missionary society. The committee indorsed the idea of missionary education in the Sunday school. The report was adopted.

Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., was warmly received. The Diocese of Huron had set out ten years ago, he said, with a determination to form a church organization, including a missionary society, that would embrace all Canada. Even a few years ago, when the union was brought about, there were misgivings, and even the church on the other side of the Atlantic sounded notes of warning, feeling it presumption on the part of the colonial church to form such an organization. Now it was recognized by the church in England that the Canadian General Synod was the most completely developed synodical system in the world. Of these facts, any member of the English Church in Canada might justly be proud, but especially would they be justified in the Diocese of Huron, which had begun this movement not more than ten years ago.

In eloquent words Mr. Wilson referred to the changes in empires and all things of the world in the past centuries, while Christ and the church and the Bible (which Voltaire had predicted would not be known a hundred years from his time), remained the same yesterday, today and forever. He feared that men in congregations were too willing to sit in their seats and listen to their clergymen fight the battle, and then to praise him, if victorious, and if he were defeated, blame him, instead of themselves, for their lack of assistance. What were they going to do to show that missions were not a failure? If missions were ever said to be a failure, it was at this end, not at that. The day, however, was past to argue the failure or success of missions. The question was, What were they going to do? They could not all be preachers, but they could pray, and pay for those who could go to the front. He concluded with an eloquent and touching appeal for an increase in spirit, pointing out that though the clergy were limited, the layman's parish was the whole world.

Rev. Dr. Tucker, who was loudly applauded on being called to the platform, introduced his address by drawing attention to the several large up-to-date missionary maps, which he enlarged upon. He also referred to the New Era, the missionary publication of the society, which was a home product, and covered the Canadian field. In regard to the work they had before them, it was spiritual, it was the preparation for the great consummation when the Lord would return. This movement not only began in this diocese, but there were the names of two churchmen in this diocese, who had more to do with the carrying through of the project—the names of Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., of Chatham, and Mr. Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea. Dr. Tucker described the unification of the various church organizations into the M. S. C. C. The old system, by which the various bishops of the north and northwest were allowed to come into the churches here and take away money had passed away. The system now was one appeal by the Missionary Society, and the pouring out of the money into channels which would bring the best missionary results. They had gained a consciousness of their own powers—they could speak as one man. When the synod met in Montreal, eighteen months ago, and the needs of the various mission fields totaled $75,000, it was said they couldn't raise the amount. The bishops of Nova Scotia New Brunswick, Toronto, Ottawa—all were pessimistic. And the greatest pessimist of them all, the Bishop of Rupert's Land, wrote to him repeatedly to say it could not be done. Those men had, however, set to work, and every one lived to see the apportionments raised by each diocese. The Diocese of Huron had been asked for $11,500, and had raised $230 more than that—he thanked them and said he was there with them to thank God and take courage.

Other interesting figures were as follows: Niagara's apportionment $5,209, paid $5,370; Quebec's apportionment $6,000, paid $6,905; Nova Scotia's apportionment $4,500, paid $5,526; Ottawa's apportionment $5,100, paid $7,700; showing the biggest surplus, $2,600. Reports of parishes showed the following big subscriptions: St. Paul's, London, $1,033; St. James', Montreal, $1,079; St. Paul's, Halifax, $1,245; St. George's, Montreal, $3,334; St. Matthew's, Quebec, $2,900; St. James', Toronto, $2,800; St. Paul's, Toronto, $3,840. How had they been able to do it? "You know how the Japs are doing things," said the speaker, amid applause. "Every man Jack does his man's work, and that's the way we did it." He believed they were at present in a better position to raise $100,000 in 1904 than they were the $75,000 in 1903. It would be raised by going to first principles by getting the support of every member of the church. What was being done with the money? It was late when it had come in, but he gave them the assurance that the money was sent in to the best men at this end of the missions, who would make the best possible use of this money. At the same time, they wished to satisfy every inquirer as to the expenditures, and all details would be collected and published. In a general way, the smallest sum given last year was $1,400, to the Diocese of Algoma, other sums to other dioceses up to $8,000, which was granted towards evangelization. It was a matter of satisfaction to them all that the Bishop of Rupert's Land, who had worked so hard for years, had been able to see before he died the dawn of this new era. In concluding his address, the secretary pointed out the opportunities before the church, and the awful responsibilities upon it. In the first place he regarded Canada as the fairest nation on the face of the earth. The people were pouring into the Northwest, and in five years there would be five million people there from immigration alone. The people of the west would one day dictate the policy of the country, and he thought it was important that the people of the east should see that there was a proper citizenship there. The most important national asset was its men, women and children. If they would give the money they could add every year in the Northwest enough population to make another diocese. Did they ever hear of better opportunities as a nation or a church? The Canadian Church was on its trial today. It was only a short time ago the cry went up that the country was being lost to the English church, and so it would be with the Northwest if they allowed the country to be swallowed up by the other denominations. It was their duty to see that the loved church of their fathers was planted there. It would make the nation great, and then they should see that Canada was the bulwarks of the empire.

Continued applause greeted the speaker, and it was some minutes before a resolution of thanks could be passed to Dr. Tucker, who had spoken at considerable length with interest and much humor. The meeting was considered one of the best missionary gatherings held in London in many years.

DEATH RATE IS ON THE INCREASE

In Ontario—Slight Decrease in the Number of Contagious Diseases Also Reported.

Vital statistics of the Province of Ontario for May show a slight increase in the death rate and a slight decrease in the number of contagious diseases. The rate of mortality is 13.7 per 1,000. For the corresponding month last year 2,193 deaths were recorded, the death rate being 13.3. While the rate per 1,000 from all causes shows a slight increase, there is a considerable decrease in infectious diseases, both in cases and deaths. The case were 70 per cent and the deaths 84 per cent less than those for the same period a year ago, as may be seen in the table below.

Scarlet fever and smallpox show a marked decline. The cases are 319 and deaths 38 fewer in number.

Consumption has caused 219 deaths, this being 13 less than last year, but it is 75 per cent of the mortality from diseases of an infectious character.

Following is a comparative statement:

SYNOD DISCUSSES TEMPERANCE AND ALSO SABBATH OBSERVANCE

Notes With Satisfaction the Stand Taken for Better Enforcement of Law.

At the meeting of the Synod of Huron yesterday afternoon some time was devoted to a discussion of the temperance question. Sabbath observance also came up for discussion. Some members of the synod were decidedly against any work being done on the Lord's Day, the bishop taking the stand that there should be no compromise. Others, however—men like W. F. Cockshutt, the Brantford manufacturer; E. G. Henderson, the Windsor salt man; and ministers from manufacturing towns, like Rev. Dr. G. C. Mackenzie, of Brantford—favored taking a broad stand on the question.

On the opening of the afternoon session, the committee on young peoples' societies reported that the Anglican Young People's Association had made satisfactory progress, associations having been formed in all parts of the Dominion. The membership was 1,527. A convention would be held.

The committee on the bishop's charge brought in a report, saying that in its judgment the organization of the diocese into archdeaconeries was highly conducive to the efficient working of the diocese, and it approved of the action of the executive committee in providing the payment necessary for expenses. The committee expressed pleasure with the promise of the laity that there would be more systematic giving and emphasized his lordship's utterance on the maintenance of peace between the nations.

The report of the committee on temperance was presented by Rev. N. Taylor, of St. Marys. It was as follows:

"A communication was sent to the Ontario Government, stating that the Synods of Huron and Toronto had expressed themselves in favor of some scheme of Government control of the liquor traffic (including all alcoholic beverages), taking as the basis of such legislation the Gothenburg system, with the elimination of the element of personal gain from the traffic, and the abolition of the bar. To this communication a courteous reply was received.

"Your committee have kept in touch again through the year with the committee on temperance of the Toronto Synod, and are in perfect agreement with them concerning the Gothenburg system, and the strictest enforcement of the present license law, until we get more advanced legislation upon the exceedingly difficult, perplexing and knotty question of temperance.

"Until this, or some other solvent of present evils be given the country, your committee ask with all the power which a unanimous declaration of this synod can give, for the strictest enforcement of the present license laws. They gather that these laws are everywhere flagrantly broken. The specified hours are not observed and Sunday selling of intoxicants is universal."

The last of the above clauses aroused discussion. Mayor Backus asked that it be struck out, as there was no universal violation of the law. The same stand was taken by Mr. John Ransford, Secretary Hicks, however, stood to the report, claiming that in every town or village the law was broken. Perhaps all hotelkeepers did not break the law, but he asked where was there a town or village where it was not being broken at all. Mr. Ransford held that there was not a living man who could answer for every hotel—and "universal" meant everything.

Mr. Hicks then said that the law had been violated on every hand. Until they could have the present law carried out there was no use in seeking more temperance legislation. If they could keep up to the temperance laws there was no necessity for prohibition. He knew that the Government had sent out demands recently to license inspectors to enforce the law. The conditions where the inspectors could be lax were passing away. The Church of England had not gone to any extremes, but had taken broad views, dealing with the question on sensible grounds, and they would stand by the laws, the laity as well as the clergy.

Mr. E. G. Henderson, of Windsor, said he was glad to see the attempt that had been made lately by the Ontario Government to enforce the law. He had a knowledge of the facts and he said he knew that the Government had done more during the past three months than in the previous ten years. It was not often that he would say anything good of the Government, but he thought it ought to be encouraged. So strictly had the law been enforced in Windsor, that young men and women went across the river, where there was no enforcement, and many were the painful experiences. So, instead of saying what it had in the report, the committee ought to commend the Government for what was being done.

Mr. Hicks said he thought they should accept the suggestion, and the synod showed its approval by applause.

Rev. Dyson Hague then prepared a clause to take the place in the report of the above-mentioned one.

The amendment moved by Rev. Dyson Hague and seconded by Mr. E. G. Henderson, was as follows: "That as there has been an almost universal violation of the license law, this synod observes with satisfaction that of late a more determined stand has been taken by the authorities for the enforcement of the law." This was adopted unanimously.

Another clause of the temperance report was: "They should suggest that a third conviction should mean imprisonment, and a fourth the loss of the license for all time." Rev. Canon Farthing asked if such were wise, and the bishop said it was not the place of a religious body to suggest what penalties should be. The clause was eliminated.

"Your committee would strongly emphasize the thought of individual responsibility before God and man; the joy of total abstinence for Christ's sake, and for those for whom he died, holding as we all must that drunkenness is sin."

Canon Dann objected to the word "total." Christ, he pointed out, asked for total abstinence from nothing except sin. The clause was too sweeping. The synod accepted the amendment, the word "total" being eliminated.

Another clause passed, providing for a presentation of the report to the Government. Rev. Mr. Collins wanted the synod to add to the report a recommendation that the Government raise the liquor license to $1,000, but he could get no seconder. The report as amended was adopted.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Rev. W. J. Taylor also presented the report of the committee on Lord's Day observance. The first clause, which started the discussion, was originally as follows:

"Correspondence was opened with the various railways of the Dominion, asking that no work but that of necessity be undertaken upon the Lord's Day, also asking for every employe one day's rest in seven, the day of rest to be the first day of the week, whenever it is possible. Courteous replies were received from nearly all the railways (though one great body, the G. T. R., which your committee believes to be the greatest culprit in the matter of Sunday labor, has not replied).

While your committee realize that there are cases of necessity where railways are compelled to employ certain men upon the Lord's Day, yet they know from facts supplied them that work is sometimes undertaken upon the Sunday which is not imperative."

It was the clause referring to the G. T. R. that brought about the division of opinion. First objection was taken to the word "culprit," and the committee willingly changed the word to "transgressor." But then it was not satisfactory. Some wanted to know why it was that the Grand Trunk was singled out, as it was not the only violator of the law, and the reason was given that the G. T. R. has showed a determination not to be guided by the state or church or anyone regarding the matter. It was a tremendous question, as it affected the workingmen all over the country.

Canon Williams said he was in a Grand Trunk town, Stratford, and there he had seen the law broken all the time, the Grand Trunk having a Sunday gang whenever it suited their convenience.

DON'T CONDEMN RAILWAYS.

The other side of the question was then heard, Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, of Brantford, advising them to go slow. There were tremendous difficulties, he said, and they should be careful what language they used. They must be consistent. Did their people, he asked, travel on Sunday? Would the ordinary church supporter hesitate to take a Sunday train? There were great industries as well as the railways, where Sunday labor was done. They could not stop the business of the country. The only thing to do was to have a conference with others to see what should be done. Anyway the Sabbath was made for man and they should approach the subject with care and moderation. "Don't let us condemn the railways," said the Brantford divine," while the whole people travel on Sundays."

Mr. Ormsby, of Woodstock, did not favor either indiscriminate Sunday traveling, nor working of steam shovels on the Sabbath.

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, of Brantford, prefaced his remarks to the synod by saying that there would in the future be more and more Sunday labor. If this was to be a great manufacturing country, there would have to be more. He wanted to see a peaceful Sabbath, but they should be broad.

ONE AS BAD AS THE OTHER.

It was no more wrong to run a steam railway on Sunday than an ocean liner, he said. The very commandment that forbade work on Sunday called for six days' work in the week, and if it were necessary that five or six men should work on Sunday in a place to keep up fires, so that 500 men could work on Monday, then they should be permitted to do so. They should not take up a stand they could not defend. Brantford, he said, rejoiced last winter more that a train came in on a Sunday than it ever did in its history. It was in the coal famine, and one Sunday there arrived 20 cars of coal, which were hailed with delight by all. In conclusion, Mr. Cockshutt said, he could not recall where the Lord had ever reproved any one on the Sabbath for necessary work.

Mr. Ransford took the stand that they were not posted enough in railway matters to say how far the work should be done, and he and Mayor Backus, of Aylmer, asked to have the Grand Trunk's name, at least, left out.

Archdeacon Young said he would make the report even stronger, and others spoke along both sides of the question. It was finally decided to leave out the reference to the Grand Trunk.

The committee also stated that they had been told that many men never get a Sunday off during the whole year, and that many were compelled to work seven days a week, getting no rest whatever.

The frightful number of accidents upon the railways was not a fact at which to marvel, when the men were so worn out.

The committee deprecated the desire of certain electric roads to make a business of running cars to pleasure resorts upon the Lord's Day.

ALLIANCE WORK COMMENCED.

The committee found that there was a general decrease in the attendance at church twice on the Lord's Day, which they viewed with alarm. They drew attention to the large number of people, who had to work late Saturday nights, interfering with their attendance at church on Sundays. They commended the work of the Lord's Day Alliance, and in conclusion, asked the bishop to issue a collection to be used in the services for a true observance of the Lord's Day. All the above clauses were passed without any discussion.

Before his lordship put the report before the synod for adoption, he said there were two principles at work. One was the Word of God; the other was compromise, compromise, compromise. The latter meant that eventually every truth would be lost. The people, however, would learn the fallcay of the world's "Must." No "Must" could stand against the Word of God, for two wrongs never made a right. The "Must" meant that, for in the railways there was a large number of shareholders and they had to have dividends. "Its all a lie from beginning to end—just a specter to put before the people." He hoped the report would carry and it did unanimously, as amended. By this time it was 6 o'clock and time for adjournment.

In the report of Monday evening's meeting at Huron College, the words "once a month" were inadvertently left out after the statement by Rev. Rural Dean Hodgins that "in 140 congregations Holy Communion was not administered."

POISONED.

Rank Poison is Created when Food does not digest, and that is when Sickness Commences.

If the man or woman who does not feel right, will at once look to putting the stomach right they will strike the right key—Every ache and every pain is a cry of poison, too much of which has been made in the process of converting food into nutriment. It may be the backache or sideache of the kidneys telling they are overtaxed and cannot filter the poison—It may be weight, pain or distress in the stomach that tells of fermentation and decomposition instead of digestion—It may be headache, dull, depressed, which tells poison has reached the fluid which surrounds the brain cells. The first cause is the same—lack of gastric juice to properly digest. ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, is a new discovery which so acts on the mucous membrane of the stomach, a natural supply of gastric juice is assured. MR. A. MOORHEAD'S FUNERAL.

The remains of the late Alexander Moorhead, whose sudden death in Toronto occurred on Monday, were buried yesterday in Woodland Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Johnson, late pastor of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church, conducted the funeral services, at which a number of the relatives and friends of deceased were present; those from a distance being Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson and Mrs. J. W. Stockwell, of Toronto; and Mr. Wm. J. Morhead, of Minneapolis. The pallbearers were Messrs. John Hislop, Caleb Stockwell, Alex Mason, Lewis Clark, Charles Bartlett and B. Penhall. It appears that Mr. Moorhead's death was more sudden than at first reported. He attended Jarvis Street Baptist Church (Toronto) Sunday morning, and dined with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stockwell. He returned in the afternoon to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Henderson, retiring about 9:30 p.m. Soon afterward he was attacked with internal hemorrhage, and in spite of prompt medical attendance, passed away a few hours later.

MANSFIELD IN "OLD HEIDELBERG."

The announcement by Manager Small of the change in the play from "Ivan the Terrible" to "Old Heidelberg," has been favorably commented upon by patrons of the theater. For many seasons Richard Mansfield, who appears at the New Grand on Saturday, has been producing the latter play, and it is not entirely unknown, as many citizens have followed the career of this famous actor in this production. For Mansfield to produce this play in the smaller cities entails a much larger increase in detail work. To give an idea of the immense amount of stage scenery, etc., required, it is only necessary to mention that twelve teams have been engaged to transport the stuff from the cars to the theater. No stage production of such magnitude has ever come to London before. The cast numbers 106 people, and with the stage hands a total of 130 people are engaged behind the curtain during the play. Not alone in London has the change of play been made, but in all cities in Canada "Old Heidelberg" will be substituted for "Ivan the Terrible." The sale commenced yesterday, and was satisfactory. Mansfield is one of the celebrated actors of the day, and the house will likely be crowded on Saturday evening next.
