The Old School in the Early Days

THE Bishop Strachan School was opened at Pinehurst, Toronto, in September, 1867, and the Act of Incorporation was assented to on 4th March, 1868. Shortly afterwards the residence of Bishop Strachan on Front Street was rented with the adjoining cottage, for the use of the School. It was not long before the continued growth of the School made more extensive accommodation necessary, and in 1869 Wykeham Hall, once the residence of the late Honourable J. B. Macaulay, was purchased, and the original building, after being greatly enlarged, was occupied by the School in 1870.

The New School on College Heights

AFTER a long and honourable career in the buildings once so familiar to present and former pupils, it was decided several years ago to remove to another site farther north, where modern buildings large enough to accommodate the ever-increasing number of pupils might be erected. Accordingly, with the help of the School's generous benefactor, the late Mr. James Henderson, the Council acquired a most suitable and beautiful block of land on College Heights.

The new site comprises more than seven acres of land, being the whole block bounded by Lonsdale Road and Russell Hill Road on the south and west, and by Frybrook Avenue and Warren Road on the north and east.

This change of location answers to the steady movement northwards of the residential population, which once surrounded the former buildings, and it brings the School where it will have a prosperous residential district to the south of it and large open spaces to the north. From the double point of view of health and convenience such a location is ideal.

Description of the Building

ON this new site has been erected a handsome School Building, carefully designed to meet modern educational needs, and to furnish the most complete equipment in every department. The structure is built of grey Credit Valley stone, and the architecture is in the Collegiate Gothic style. The School and the Residence form two sides of a quadrangle, connected at one end by the Assembly Hall, and at the other by a double row of Music Rooms. The general plan of the Building has the great advantage of securing a double South aspect. The main South facade, on Lonsdale Road, has a length of 285 feet, and the West front on Russell Hill Road, a length of 240 feet.

The Buildings are heated by the most modern hot-water system, in which the water is forced through the pipes by mechanical pressure, thus ensuring perfect circulation. For hygienic reasons this system is preferred to steam heating, as the heat given off from hot water radiators is of lower temperature and does not deplete the air of its natural humidity. The heating plant is in a separate building, the water being brought to the School by an underground tunnel, a plan which makes for both safety and comfort.

In the construction of the Building every care has been taken to guard against danger of fire; and the insurance companies have expressed their complete approval of the work. The most careful attention has been paid also to the lighting of the rooms, both by day and by night. The windows are large, numerous, and well placed, so that the rooms enjoy a flood of light by day. The artificial lighting at night has been designed by an expert electrical engineer who has carefully worked out every detail. The ventilation also has been thoroughly studied, and an excellent system ensures adequate circulation of fresh air at all times. A refrigerating plant is installed, so that the School may always have cold rooms for the proper care of food, and make its own supply of ice, thus eliminating the danger of infection arising from the use of ice from impure sources. In all these important matters the health and comfort of the pupils have been the first consideration, and no expense has been spared to ensure the best results.

Among other important features of the building are the twenty-three Music Rooms already referred to, in the construction of which every known device for the deadening of sound has been employed; twelve large Class-rooms, with division rooms for smaller classes; Studio with good north light; complete equipment for Household Science, including cookery, laundering and dressmaking; large Gymnasium; Swimming Pool provided with showers and dressing rooms; Laboratory for Chemistry and Physics; School Library and an Assembly Hall to seat 400 persons.

A Graded System of Teaching

THE Curriculum of the School provides complete and carefully graded courses of instruction, leading up from the Kindergarten to the Sixth Form, where the pupils are prepared for the University entrance examinations. The parts of the system are so related to one another, and the grading is so carefully arranged, that girls who enter the Junior Department, and move up the School, should be able eventually to take Honour standing in the University Matriculation Examination, without being subjected to undue strain at any point. For the best results, therefore, the complete course is recommended. For those who enter the School at an intermediate stage every provision is made to bring them as soon as is practicable into harmony with the School system, so that when they move up to the higher classes they may be as nearly as possible on an equality with their classmates.

The Special Departments

WHEN any Student has attained a satisfactory standard of general proficiency, specialization in a suitable direction is allowed and encouraged. The Upper School accordingly falls into two main divisions, and the students are offered a choice of courses.

The Matriculation Classes, covering a period of four years, prepare for the University Entrance Examinations, both Pass and Honor. The record of the School in these tests, in which pupils from all the advanced Schools in the Province compete, is most creditable.

The other main division of the Upper School is known as "The Special Side." It affords Students opportunity to cultivate a strongly marked individual bent, by specializing in Music, Art, Domestic Science, Languages, or other chosen subjects.

The Special Side provides a series of three progressive forms in which girls who are delicate, backward, or from any cause unequal to the full course, are offered a choice of subjects specially designed to broaden their mental outlook, awaken their interest, and develop their individual abilities.

Art

DRAWING is taught as a regular Class Subject throughout the Junior School. This training in accuracy of observation and facility in expression of imagination is of great value to the child, opportunity for further development is afforded those who exhibit special aptitude in this direction. A large double Studio with good North light is provided, where Afternoon Classes in Drawing and Painting are conducted. In the Summer Term a Sketching Class for out-of-doors work is held.

Music

THE Music Department has been re-organized in consultation with the Musical Director of the Toronto Conservatory, and the School is now recognized by the Conservatory as a Local Centre of the regular Conservatory Examinations for such girls as have sufficient time and inclination to develop the greater amount of work required therein. The Conservatory has also arranged a series of School Examinations for girls who have at the same time to carry on their general education and who cannot specialize to the extent required by the regular Conservatory tests. The standard required for these School Examinations represents the same degree of efficiency as the Local Centre Examinations, while the tests are modified as to the amount of work to be assigned to candidates. A special form of certificate is issued by the Conservatory, and these examinations are of the same character as the Local Centre Examinations, and are conducted by examiners of the same professional standing as those employed in the Local Centre Examinations.

This Department will enable students to take a complete course in Music within the School, where they may at the same time participate, to a greater or less degree according to arrangement, in the general studies of the School. Ordinarily, they will attend Lectures in Divinity, English Literature, and French. They are eligible for admission to the Games Club. The Council feels sure that many parents will appreciate this opportunity of having their daughters pursue advanced courses of Music in such an environment as the School life affords.

Domestic Science

THIS Department, which is under the care of a graduate of the Macdonald Institute of Guelph, receives the thorough consideration that its practical importance demands. The course covers one year, and includes the following subjects:

PRACTICAL WORK

Cooking	4 hours a week
Sewing	2 hours a week
Housewifery	2 hours a week
Laundry	1½ hours a week

LECTURE COURSES

Physiology.
Home Nursing.
Foods and Dietetics.
Chemistry of Foods.
Bookkeeping.

Students taking this course will also attend Lectures in Divinity, English Literature, and French. They are eligible for admission to the Games Club.

Physical Education

THIS Department is under the direction of a trained and experienced Mistress of Physical Training. Drill-classes form part of the regular time-table and are compulsory for all members of the School unless medically exempted. The School Grounds are carefully laid out so as to make adequate provision for organized games, which include: Basket Ball, Cricket, Tennis and Ground Hockey. The Basket Ball Court is boarded to admit of use late in the season. In the Winter, it is flooded for a Skating Rink, and a Toboggan Slide is built on the slope of the North Terrace. During the Winter Terms, special classes are formed for Dancing and Apparatus work.

Girls are physically examined twice a year, and records kept of their development. Remedial exercises are given when the need is indicated.

Every member of the School must wear the regulation drill uniform.

All resident pupils are required to play games.

The subscription to the Games Club is $1.00 a term.

The System of Teaching

THE Junior School is under the charge of a Head Mistress holding the National Froebel Union Higher Certificate, assisted by a staff experienced in Lower School Methods. There provision is made for the child's development through successive stages. In the Kindergarten the means used are play, stories, verse and music. Educational handwork is introduced to train expression and to employ the motor activities of the child in gaining clear ideas. In the Transition Class, the children have the beginning of formal training in Reading and Writing. Hand-work is used as a means of developing ideas of number and size. With the First Form, the child passes into the School proper.

The hours of lessons in the Lower School are from 9.20—12.30. There is no teaching in the afternoon, but an hour of supervised study is provided for those girls for whom it seems to be desirable or whose parents wish them to have it.

The Middle School teaching hours are from 9.20—1.00, with a period of supervised study or of teaching on Wednesday afternoon.

The Upper School teaching hours are from 9.20—1.00, and from 2.15—3.30 on Wednesday afternoon with a period of teaching on Monday afternoon for Matriculation Classes.

Subjects of the School Curriculum

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Forms IV. b and IV. a.—A graded two years' course in Religious Knowledge; Writing, Dictation, Reading and Recitation; English Literature, Grammar and Composition; English History; Geography; Arithmetic; Practical Geometry; Botany; Latin; French; Sewing; Drill; Class Singing.

THE STUDIO

UPPER SCHOOL

Forms V. b, V middle and V. a.—A graded three years' course in Religious Knowledge; English Literature, Grammar and Composition; English and Canadian History; Geography; Arithmetic, Algebra and Geometry; Latin; French; German, Spanish or Science (Physics and Chemistry); Sewing; Drill; Class Singing.

Forms VI. b and VI. a.—Preparation for Junior and Honour Matriculation, University of Toronto.

It is expected that the whole course mapped out for the Lower and Middle School shall be followed, but where circumstances make it advisable, a selection is allowed, subject to the approval of the Principal.

In the Upper School, the curriculum is, on the contrary, directed into courses, particulars of which will be found in the earlier part of the calendar.

Instruction in General Religious Knowledge and in the Holy Scriptures is given by the Principal and by the Chaplain of the School, and all pupils attend the classes.

Afternoon Session

FOR the convenience of girls remaining for afternoon school a Tuck-Shop is open on Mondays and Wednesdays. A limited number of places in the Dining Hall is available for daily dinners. The allotment of these is influenced by consideration of the distance to be covered between School and home.

Miscellanea

IT is important that every girl should return to School punctually at the end of the holidays unless prevented by illness. When for any cause a girl has been absent from School, on her return a note accounting for her absence must be handed to the Principal.

A Health Certificate is sent home with each Pupil's report at the end of each term, and no girl may return to School without having her Certificate satisfactorily filled in.

When infectious illness occurs in the home of any pupil attending the School, the pupil must be at once withdrawn from the School and the Principal notified of the cause of her absence. A pupil who has been exposed to infection may not return without a certificate from the attendant physician that all danger of infection is past.

No exeat is granted during School hours except in case of illness.

Day pupils are not admitted to the Residence, nor may they carry any letter, parcel, or message for a resident pupil without permission from the Principal.

The telephone has been installed for the use of the management only, and may not be used by the girls. Any message that comes for a pupil will be transmitted to her.

House Arrangements

AS it is important that the social and domestic side of a girl's life at School shall be, as far as possible, lived apart from the environment of the Class-room, those portions of the building which are designed for Residential use are distinct and separate from the School sections. For convenience, however, covered communication is provided between these two main parts of the Building. There are at present two Houses, and additional Houses are contemplated for a later date. Each House is in charge of a House Mistress, who is responsible to the Principal for the order and comfort of the girls, and each House has its separate Sitting room where the girls spend their free time.

Divisions of the Day

THE morning is given over to Class-room work, except for a quarter of an hour for recreation. Games are played in the afternoon, and are followed by a period of supervised study. After tea, there is another period of study for those who need it, but all pupils have a period of recreation before retiring for the night.

GROUP OF LOWER SCHOOL PUPILS

Application for Admission

PARENTS desiring to enter their daughters should fill in the Application for Admission, which may be had from the School, and return it to the Principal. It is desirable that application for a place in Residence should be sent in early.

When it is not possible at once to accommodate all accepted candidates, a Waiting List is formed and the names on the list are given prior consideration when vacancies occur in the Residence. An Outfit List is sent to each candidate when a place is reserved for her, and she is expected to be guided by this list in respect of the clothing she brings with her to the School.

Pocket money for the girls should be sent in advance, and separately from the School Account. It is desirable that all such money be handed over to the House Bursar for safe keeping. A Pocket-Money Bank is open every Saturday.

Divine Service

THE girls attend Divine Service in Church every Sunday, and sit together in seats specially reserved for their use. No fixed charge is made by the Church authorities, but envelope contributions are customary. With a view to training the girls in proportionate giving, and also in order that they may bear a reasonable and proper share in the financial support of the church they attend, each girl is requested to contribute to the Church offertory a fixed sum weekly by the envelope system. The amount (which should in no case be less than five dollars a year) should be determined by the ability of each contributor and that of her parents.

Health

THE health of pupils of the School comes under the care of a trained and experienced Matron. The School Building includes an Infirmary well planned and suitably furnished, with separate kitchen, bath-rooms and every convenience for the care and comfort of girls who are indisposed. Ordinary ailments not of too serious a nature receive all proper care and attention in this Infirmary. For infectious illnesses other isolated rooms are provided, with everything necessary to the safe and proper treatment of such cases, and a special Nurse is employed.

The best medical advice and attendance are always provided.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE LABORATORY

The Bishop Strachan School Association

THE Bishop Strachan School Association, consisting of past pupils of the School, was founded in 1908 "to promote the interest of the Bishop Strachan School, to strengthen the ties between the past and the present, and to encourage intercourse and good fellowship among its members."

A two days' gathering in the Spring and an Afternoon Meeting in the Autumn, bring the members every year into touch with the School, and form a valuable link between past and present pupils.

In 1911 it was decided to undertake some active branch of social work, and since that time this work has been rapidly developed. Valuable assistance is given in three parishes through the Downtown Church Workers' Association, and one of the Members is helping in the Y.W.C.A. Bible Classes.

The Social Service work now forms a prominent feature of the Association.

The Association has an enrolment of four hundred and ninety-eight.
