PROPOSE MANY BIG CHANGES IN THE LORDS

Asquith's Reform Proposals To be Put Before Commons This Week

FILL MANY SEATS BY ELECTIONS

House of Commons to Have Right to Nominate Third Of the Members

London, July 8.—During the month of July the Prime Minister will lay before the House of Commons the proposals of the Government for a constitution of a new second chamber to take place in the House of Lords. It is not expected that any attempt will be made this year to translate these proposals into law, but they are being made in accordance with a promise in the King's Speech at the opening of Parliament that they would be submitted for consideration during the present session.

Drastic Changes

While the scheme is not yet complete it is known that the hereditary principle, which even many Unionists oppose will be largely or entirely eliminated, and that the other churches of the kingdom will be given similar representation to that now enjoyed by the Established Church of England.

Be Representative

What the Liberal party, except those opposed to any second chamber at all, aims at is to secure that the new second chamber shall, to a large extent, be in union with the House of Commons. In order to obtain this it is probable that every freshly elected House of Commons will have the right to nominate a certain proportion perhaps one-third of the second chamber. Thus if a House of Commons is Liberal, so will be the other branch of the legislature, and, if on the other hand, it should be Conservative, it will be able to constitute the second chamber in harmony with its own views.

WILL DEDICATE NEW CHURCH AT GRAND FALLS

His Lordship Bishop Jones Going to the Paper City For Sunday

His Lordship Bishop Jones left by last evening's express for Grand Falls, where, on Sunday next, he will consecrate the new C.E. Church.

The church which has been in course of erection some time is now completed and reflects great credit on the clergy and people.

The ceremony will take place on Sunday. While at Grand Falls the Bishop will be the guest of his nephew Mr. Vincent Jones. His Lordship returns to town on Monday.

CANADA ISSUES NEW $2 BILL

Which Will Bear the Portrait of the Duke of Connaught

Ottawa, July 9.—A new Dominion two-dollar bill will be issued to-morrow in commemoration of the stay of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught in Canada. It will bear the portraits in either corner with the figure "2" in the centre, and the word "two" on each side of it.

This is the fourth issue of two-dollar notes. The first bore the picture of Lord Dufferin, the second of Lord Lansdowne, and the third of King Edward VII, when Prince of Wales.

John Krafchenko Pays the Penalty

Winnipeg, July 9.—John Krafchenko, convicted of the murder of bank manager Arnold, was hanged this morning. He went to death without flinching.

MUCH DEPENDS ON THE HEALTH OF THE EMPEROR

Very Important to Empire That He Should Live Awhile

HEIR TO THRONE IS INEXPERIENCED MAN

And Should he Succeed on Near Future Trouble Is Likely

Vienna, July 8.—Since the occurrence of Sunday's tragedy at Sarajevo the opinion has gained ground in authoritative circles here that the future of Austria-Hungary now more than ever depends upon the health of the venerable Emperor Francis Joseph. It was pointed out in high political circles that if the Emperor be permitted to reign only a few years more, everything may continue as usual and Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death will have little lasting material effect upon the foreign domestic affairs of the dual monarchy.

Dangers Ahead

It was argued that should a youthful and inexperienced ruler like Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, son of the late Archduke Otto, suddenly be called on to take the reins of government a period of anxiety might supervene.

The young archduke, now heir apparent to the throne, and his wife, who was Princess Sita of Parma, are both extremely popular among all classes of society, and everybody from the Emperor down is said to be prepared to do his utmost to help them in every way to rise to the responsible position so suddenly thrust upon them.

MEETING OF PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT

Called for To-morrow at the Request of Sir Edward Carson

DON'T WANT NEW PARLIAMENT

Will Hold the Province in Trust for Parliament of Great Britain

Belfast, July 9.—The first meeting, since it was formed, of Ulster's Provisional Government, has been called for to-morrow at the request of Sir Edward Carson.

According to Capt. James Craig, the result of the meeting will have an important bearing on the Irish situation, but he declares there is no intention on the part of Ulsterites, whatever happens, to set up a Parliament for themselves in Ulster.

What They Claim

They claim the right merely to hold the province in trust for the constitution of the United Kingdom, in order that Ulster should continue to be an integral part of the British Empire.

Clauses of the Constitution of the Provisional Government, which up to now have not been disclosed, expressly provide that—

Would Cease to Exist

"Upon the restoration of direct Imperial Government the provisional government shall cease to exist"; and "The provisional government while it is in power shall maintain and enforce all statute laws now in force in Ireland, other than the statute establishing Home Rule government."

Arrangements have been made to receive Sir Edward Carson, on his arrival to-morrow. Four hundred Ulster Volunteers, armed with rifles and fixed bayonets, will escort him to the place of meeting.

VILLA'S DEATH IS REPORTED

Mexico City, July 9.—One report made public last night was to the effect that General Villa had been assassinated at Torreón by a woman.

BISHOP MAKES DECIDED MOVE TOWARD UNION

Authorises Rectors to Exchange Pulpits with other Church Clergy

TOLERANT MOVE OF EPISCOPAL DIVINE

States, however that Church Does not Abandon Stand On Ordination

Philadelphia, July 8.—In church circles great interest is taken in the action of Bishop Rhinelander of the Diocese of Pennsylvania in authorizing the rector of St. Stephen's Church in this city to invite a Presbyterian minister to conduct services in his church during Lent of next year. The attitude of Bishop Rhinelander is taken to mean that the pulpits of Episcopal churches will in future be open to ministers of other denominations. It is also looked upon as a distinct move towards a closer union of the churches.

Question Discussed

The question of the presence of ministers of other churches in Episcopal pulpits was discussed at several of the synods of the Episcopal Church, and while opposition was developed by one school of thought, the general feeling of the synod was that there ought to be an exchange of pulpits if the other churches were agreeable. As a consequence a canon was passed allowing each bishop in his diocese to consent to the admission of non-episcopal clergymen to the pulpits of churches, the rectors of which desire that courtesy of this nature be extended. Rev. Dr. Grammar, of St. Stephen's in this city, sought the right under this canon to invite ministers of other denominations to his church, and Bishop Rhinelander has given the necessary consent.

Issued Statement

In agreeing to the change Bishop Rhinelander issues a statement which makes his position clear on this matter. He states that the Episcopal Church does not recede in the slightest degree from its view that episcopal ordination is a necessity. But he says there is a difference between the administration of the sacraments of the Church, and the performance of the duties appertaining to the preacher or the prophet. God calls men to prophesy or to speak in public on religious and spiritual matters. The gift of prophecy means a marked or special ability to speak about God and religion in a persuasive and convincing way. Such a gift is a personal endowment, and is one of the greatest gifts that can be received by men.

His Position

That that gift can be exercised within one church without raising the question of ordination is maintained by the bishop. The views of the bishop are welcomed by Episcopalians throughout his diocese as calculated to bring divided Christianity into closer union.

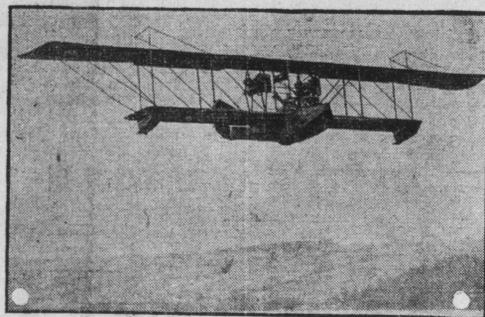

Rev. Robert Johnson, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Saviour, for example, says: "The bishop's action will be a source of satisfaction to the entire city, and will call forth expressions of gratitude from the clergy of his diocese." "Nothing on earth or under the earth," he adds, "can prevent the drawing together of people who worship God. And between Episcopalians and Presbyterians there are so many things in common that only blinded ignorance and wicked prejudices can hinder a closer approach in these coming years."

Allan Line Has Trouble on Atlantic Engines Break Down and She Cripples Back to Port at Queenstown

Queenstown, July 10.—The Allan liner Syrian's intermediate pressure engine broke down on Tuesday last within four hundred miles of the West Fastnet. The accident caused no commotion, and the liner was not so crippled but that she could have completed the voyage with safety.

The captain, however, decided to return to Queenstown out of consideration for the passengers.

SUGGESTS ACTION AGAINST SIR T. LIPTON

Liberal Member of Commons Wants Yachting Knight Prosecuted

ON ACCOUNT OF CANTEEN SCANDAL

In Which the Lipton Firm And Some Officers Were Involved

London, July 9.—The criminal prosecution of Sir Thomas Lipton, chairman, and his co-directors in Lipton's, Limited, was suggested by Sir Arthur Markham (Liberal) in a question addressed to the Attorney General in to-day's Parliamentary papers.

Said They Abetted It

The question, the putting of which was postponed by arrangement, asks whether in view of Justice Darling's statement that the defendants in the Army and Navy Canteen scandal case were acting upon a system which was encouraged by the directors of the Company, the Attorney General has laid the case before the Public Prosecutor, with a view to criminal proceedings for fraud and bribery against Lipton and his co-directors.

Cause of Suggestion

The question arose out of the recent conviction of nine army officers and eight civilians, employees of Lipton's, Limited, on charges of receiving and giving bribes to influence the allotment of supply contracts for the Army canteens.

Strike Troubles Again in Italy

Rome, July 9.—A general strike of the Italian State Railways is threatened for Saturday. The Government is taking extensive precautionary measures.

Nascopie Sails For Hudson Bay

Montreal, July 8.—The str. Nascopie left here on Monday with provisions for the traders of the Hudson Bay Co. on the bleak coasts of Labrador, Baffin Land and Hudson Bay.

This is the third year the Nascopie has gone on such a trip and Captain Melike and his crew expect to return to the St. Lawrence in the fall. There are six passengers, one of whom Miss Anderson, the only lady on board, is going to Cartwright, Labrador, to be married. She sailed as stewardess.

Besides provisions for the crew, calculated to last a year, if necessary, the vessel carries 2,600 tons of provisions and trading goods for the Hudson Bay Company.

Lintrose left Basques at 11.40 p.m. yesterday. She leaves North Sydney to-night.

WEATHER REPORT.

Toronto (noon).—Moderate Westerly winds, fair and warmer to-day and on Saturday.

FAMILY OF FOUR WAS WIPED OUT

But No Clue Was Left To The Identity Of The Murderer

Chicago, July 6.—A family of four was wiped out by blows from an axe in their home in the German settlement of Blue Island, a suburb, last night. The victims were Jacob Nesslesla, a German laborer, aged 52 years; his wife, their daughter, aged 25 years, and the latter's infant child. The stiffened bodies, the blood-stained axe alone remained to outline the story when the crime was discovered by the neighbors.

Whether the butchery was the work of a maniac or of a person seeking vengeance, was not disclosed in the first cursory investigation. It was learned that the young mother of the infant had been living away from her husband, a man named Hamilton, and efforts to find him were begun.

The murderer, according to the chief of police of Blue Island, proceeded with great deliberation. Each swing of the axe apparently carried death with it—death without even a groan to arouse others sleeping in the house. Each of the slain was struck in the head.

Gives up Fortune To Marry the Girl

Boston, July 6.—To wed the girl of his choice, Miss Katherine May Vinton of Stoneham, Frank Palmer Speare, according to the terms of the will of his first wife, loses a part of the fortune she bequeathed him if he did not marry again. That fact, however, will not deter Mr. Speare, who is the Educational Director of the Boston Y.M.C.A.

"The amount I stand to lose has been greatly exaggerated. The sum is about $150,000. There is a law in Massachusetts regarding wills. The amount may be accepted. In my own case I accepted from the courts the income on half of my bequest for life."

WILL SPEND $30,000 ON THE WATER SERVICE

City Commissioners Will Undertake Extension And Improvement

The city Commissioners had a busy session last night, much of the time being given over to a discussion of the street watering service and the water mains. An expenditure of $30,000 on the latter being approved.

Supt. Morris, of the Reid Newfoundland Co.'s electrical department, was present and discussed the problem of watering the streets, answering many questions put to him by the Commissioners.

After Mr. Morris retired the Commissioners decided to have the Engineer to make the rounds on the sprinkler and thoroughly investigate the question.

After some discussion as to the water mains, the Commissioners decided to lay 42,250 feet of six and eight inch pipe and to spend $9,000 on the extension of mains to thickly populated streets now without water service, the whole expenditure in this connection totalling $39,000.

On motion of Commissioners Harris and Ayre, the Commission decided to raise a loan for the required amount, providing they obtain a Government guarantee therefor.

Chairman Gosling and Commissioners Harris and Withers will interview the Premier regarding this matter.

GREAT BRITAIN AND THE U.S.A. ARE IN ACCORD

Ambassador Page Tells of The Good Relations Between the Two Nations

ARBITRATION TREATY HAS BEEN RENEWED

And Points in Dispute Will Be Submitted to a Commission

London, July 10.—The American Ambassador, Walter H. Page, speaking at a Peace Centenary meeting, made reference to the new treaty between the United States and Great Britain. After referring to the cordial relations now prevailing between the United States and Britain, the Ambassador said it was the policy of the American people to have an alliance with none where there was not perfect friendship, as alliances were not needed.

Treaty Renewed

The old Arbitration Treaty between the two countries, however, had been renewed for another period, and he was free to announce that a new treaty was now being concluded whereby a Commission was to be set up to which either Government could refer any question arising between them.

Both Governments, he added, promised not to begin hostilities until this Commission had investigated matters, and submitted a report. That Treaty, the Ambassador declared, was virtually completed.

The announcement evoked a great outburst of cheering.

Bill Put Through The Committee Stage

Further Additional and Important Amendment to The Measure

London, July 9.—The House of Lords concluded to-day the Committee stage of the Amending Bill.

The only additional important change was the insertion of a new clause giving control of the Irish Constabulary to the Lord Lieutenant, instead of, as provided in the Home Rule Bill, transferring it to the Irish Government after six years.

The amended Bill will come up for its third reading next Wednesday.

Death Has Claimed Hon. H. R. Emmerson

Dorchester, N.B., July 9.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson died this morning. He was Minister of Railways in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinets, and was 61 years of age.

Commissioner McKie Returns to London

Montreal, July 8.—Commissioner McKie, representative of General Booth in Canada since the Canadian head of the Salvation Army was lost in the Empress of Ireland, has returned to London.

Commissioner McKie will confer with General Booth about the appointment of a new permanent head for the Army in Canada. He inspected all the institutions and work of the Army in Montreal and Toronto, and was accompanied to London by Colonel Gaskin and Lieutenant Colonel Turner.

The Commissioner took a prominent part in organizing relief for the widows and children of the victims of the Empress disaster.

S.S. Digby leaves for Halifax to-morrow afternoon.

The Salvation Army
Its Work and History

THEN

Forty-nine years ago this month the world's first meeting of the Salvation Army was held. It took place in an ancient burling ground in the Whitechapel district of London. The first preacher was William Booth, a clergyman who was at that time without a church. He had been called upon to take the place of the regular minister, who was lying ill at his home. The first congregation was made up of a "mass of poor people, many of them evidently without God, or hope in the world." After the meeting Booth hurried to his home and exclaimed to his wife: "Kate, I have found my destiny! As I passed by the doors of the flaming gin-places to-night, I seemed to hear a voice sounding in my ears: 'Where can you find such heathens as these, and where is there so great need for your labors?' And there and then in my soul I offered myself and you and our children up to this great work." This was the beginning of a world-wide organization. From that day meetings were held regularly. On the third Sunday the tent blew down and was wrecked beyond repair. Having no money for another, and without funds to rent a building, Booth preached in the open air. Finally he secured the use of an old dance hall that was not in use on Sundays. Week-day meetings were held in a dilapidated shed, formerly a storehouse for old rags.

NOW

To-day the Salvation Army is the greatest evangelistic organization in the world. The pike-bonneted Army lassie is a familiar sight in every country on earth with the single exception of Russia. They are waging God's battle" even in Iceland. They have laid siege to Russia, and it is reported that even that empire is on the point of capitulation. Their battle cry is heard in every part of the United States and Canada; more than 900 "outposts," or missions are located in nearly every city and town. In these meeting-places more than 10,000,000 Americans gather during a year's time to listen to the exhortations of nearly 7,000 officers, of both sexes, that make up the Salvation Army on this continent. The street-corner meeting is a familiar sight in every part of the world. More than 150,000 of these are held every year on this continent, at which over 50,000 recruits have been gathered in a twelve-month to the Army's ranks from the congregations. "Our war is a war of mercy," they proclaim, and it is witnessed by the world-wide charity of the organization. It has established in the United States nearly 100 workmen's hotels, which accommodate annually more than 2,000,000 persons; over 100 Industrial Homes, where about 3,000,000 meals have been served in a year; about 39 Rescue and Maternity Homes, where 6,000 girls and children find shelter.

HEATED SCENE IN BRITISH HOUSE, INSULTS HURLED ACROSS FLOOR

Incident Shows the Extreme Tension Between the Parties at the Present Time--Chief Secretary for Ireland Says the Irish Nationalist Army Numbers 114,000 Men

London, July 4.—There was a heated scene in the House of Commons Wednesday night over a proposal made by the Opposition to reduce Prime Minister Asquith's salary by £100 a year as a protest against his refusal to issue an express order forbidding employees of the civil service from engaging in speculative transactions in stocks or shares. Mr. Asquith receives no salary as Premier, but gets £5,000 a year as First Lord of the Treasury. He is also acting as Secretary for War, but has refused to take the salary of £5,000 annually attached to that position.

Virulent Bitterness.
The debate in itself was unimportant, and the Government emerged with a large majority, but the insults which were hurled across the floor of the House as the Opposition dug up the Marconi share speculation, "scandal" and the shouts and jeers of members on either side of the chamber showed the virulent bitterness which now exists between the different parties. This blazed out into an uproar when Lord Hugh Cecil, replying to Premier Asquith's argument on the subject, said: "I do not see that it is an insult to order the employees under the civil service not to do what the Lord Chief Justice (Baron Rufus Isaacs), and the former Attorney-General and Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Lloyd George) had actually done."

Speaker Supreme.
The Speaker kept the House well in hand all through the debate. The matter was of no importance except as proof of the extreme tension between the parties at the present time.

WHEN THE SHIPS COLLIDED

Amid all the contradictory evidence given at the investigation into the collision which sank the Empress of Ireland, there was substantial agreement as to the behavior of the two ships at the time they came together. The Storstad struck the Empress starboard amidships, and then swung around, as the diagram shows, and fell away. Captain Kendall declared she swung around by reason of her speed ahead, and then backed away of her own power. On the other hand, the first officer of the Storstad said his vessel was swung around by the force of the onward impetus of the Empress which drove her loose, after which she drifted away. He further declared that he tried to keep the stem of his vessel in the opening she had made in the side of the liner but was prevented from doing this by the fact that the Empress was moving ahead with considerable speed.

SAILORS SPEAK MIXED LANGUAGE

Phrases and Terms They Use Borrowed From Many People

Practically every recognized language has been called upon at some time to help in building up the vocabulary of the sea. "Davy Jones," for instance, might be taken to refer to some dead-and-gone Welshman, but the name is derived from quite another source. One should speak of "Duffy Jonah's locker," for that was the original, "Duffy" being the West Indian name for a spirit or ghost and "Jonah" referring to the prophet.

The Dog Watch

Another expression gradually corrupted out of its original form is the "dog watch." It was originally the "dog watch," because it lasts only two hours, and was intended to ensure that the same men should not be on duty every day during the same hours. The "jury mast" had nothing in common with the "twelve good men and true," except its derivation from the same French word "jour," meaning "one day." The jury mast is erected temporarily, "for a day," just as the jury in its legal sense, mean a tribunal summoned for a short time.

The "sheet anchor," the largest anchor carried by a ship, should really be the "shote anchor," and is so called because of its great weight, which allows it to shoot out in case of emergency.

Port and Starboard

"Port" is a comparatively new expression. In the old days they used to refer to "larboard" and "starboard." "Starboard" has nothing in common with the twinkling stars of the heavens; it is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "steer-board" or "steer-side." In Viking times the galleys were steered by an oar, which the helmsman held with his right hand. "Larboard" was probably a corruption of "lower-board," the larboard side being inferior to the other.

The word "admiral" is Arabic, springing from "emil el bagh," or "lord of the sea." "Captain" comes from the Latin "caput," but "mate" is Icelandic, and means "companion" or "equal." "Coxswain" has a curious origin. The "coxswain" was a man who pulled the last oar in the captain's boat, which was described as the "cockboat." This, in turn, was a corruption of a small, round boat found on the rivers Usk and Wye, and known as a "coracle." Coxswain is therefore a Welsh name.

LARGE BELLS

A great bell for one of the Rouen churches, to be called the "Joan of Arc," and weighing 20 tons, is to be cast at Anney (Savoie) by the founders of the "Savoie." This last-named, which weighs 19 tons, and hangs in the Church of Sacred Heart at Paris, the handsome white basilica on the heights of Montmartre, is at present the largest bell in France.

The great bell of Notre Dame weighs 12 tons 16 cwt., and dates from the time of Louis XIV. An eighteenth-century bell at Rouen Cathedral was melted down to make copper coinage at the time of the Great Revolution.

Germany's largest bell is probably the Kaiser-glocke at Cologne Cathedral, cast in 1871 from captured French cannon, and weighing 26½ tons.

"Big Ben" at Westminster, cast in 1858 is about half that weight; "Great Paul," at St. Paul's Cathedral, weighs 17½ tons; "Great Peter," at York Minster (1845), 12½ tons; "Great Tom," at Oxford, 7½ tons; and one of a similar name at Lincoln 5½ tons. The great Moscow bell of 180 tons was probably never rung; but another in the same town, weighing 128 tons, is in use, and is supposed to be the largest in the world.

Readers of the Great Harry Thaw case should further satisfy their curiosity by at once getting Evelyn Thaw's "Story of My Life." The extraordinary advance orders has induced the publisher to offer at at only 30 cents. GARLAND'S BOOKSTORES.—jy4,8,11

Kitchen Wrinkles For Housekeepers

Hints and Ideas to Lighten Work Around the House

When peeling onions hold a cork between the teeth and the eyes will not become affected.

Corks may be made airtight and watertight by keeping them immersed in oil for five minutes.

Pickles may be kept from becoming mouldy by laying a little bag of mustard on the top of the pickle jar.

A little vinegar placed in the rinsing water on washing day will prevent the hands from becoming rough and chapped.

When ironing it is a very good plan to get a clean brick, a white one if possible, as a stand. The iron will retain heat much longer than if an open iron stand be used.

When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin round quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round once.

Permanganate of potash will cleanse dirty filters of all impurities. A solution should be passed through the filter until it comes out as pluck as when it was poured in.

Sal-ammoniac will clean a furred kettle. Fill the kettle with cold water add a little sal-ammoniac to it and boil. All the fur will dissolve. Well rinse the kettle afterwards.

Cayenne pepper is excellent to rid cupboards of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.

To make fly-papers boil linseed oil with a little resin till it forms a stringy paste when cold. Spread this on paper, using a large brush. This is inexpensive, and makes one of the best traps for flies.

When making a pie, the juice from the fruit very often soaks through the under-crust, and spoils the appearance of it. This can be prevented by brushing the under-crust over with the white of an egg.

To clean oil paintings peel a potato and halve it. Rub carefully over the painting with the flat side. Cut a new surface each time the moisture is exhausted. Sponge afterwards with clean tepid water.

Paint marks on glass may be removed by rubbing with a paste of whitening and ammonia, thinned with water to the consistency of cream. Leave the paste on, and when it is dry wash off with soap and warm water.

A few drops of castor oil will be found most beneficial to drooping ferns. Drop the castor oil on the roots, and soak the ferns in a pail of water all night. In a week a marked improvement will be noticeable.

Before using a new saucepan fill it with water with a lump of soda, and some potato peelings, and let it boil for some hours. Then wash out thoroughly, and all danger from poisoning from the tinned lining will be gone.

Place a week's tea leaves in a pail and pour over them a quart of boiling water. Leave for one hour, then strain and bottle. The liquor is excellent for cleaning varnished wood and linoleum, and when used for cleaning windows or mirrors makes them shine like crystal.

To clean hair brushes dip them first into hot water in which are a few drops of ammonia, taking care that only the bristles are wet. This is easily done if a shallow dish is used. Shake a few times, dipping and shaking until they look clean. Pour away the hot and go through the same performance with very cold water. Shake a little, and dry in the sun, or by the heat of a stove.

OUR POINT OF VIEW.

THE GNAT AND THE CAMEL

THE camel is through the needle's eye at last! And the camel still wants this community to believe that he is a big-souled outfit. It is doubtful if readers in this city have ever been treated at one sitting to such an overdose of sheer, hypocritical bleating as appeared in this morning's News about good works and the sad way in which they are wanting in certain quarters in this city.

That a widow and her children were evicted from their house because poverty prevented them from paying the rent bill is a very sad fact; that they should have been looked after, is equally true; that quarters in a jail constitute poor accommodation for a woman and her children, is undeniable.

But what then? Are we therefore to conclude that the people of this city are absolutely heartless?

Assuredly not on the very meagre evidence produced by the editor of The Daily News.

It is deplorable that such an event should have occurred but the occurrence of the event is no proof that people wilfully closed their hearts and purses to the appeal of a deserving case.

Maybe, there is, on this account, a dark blot on the name of this city—but, let the editor of The Daily News remember, there is such a thing as innocently committing an offence and there is not the slightest doubt that any offence in this connection was inadvertently committed by the hundreds of people in this city who are ever ready to give of their own to the noble cause of charity.

And, let us call the attention of the fulminating scribe of The Daily News to this fact.

The Government of this country maintains a department, presided over by a Commissioner of Charities, which is supposed to look after deserving cases.

Where was the Department of the Commissioner of Charities in this urgent case?

Are we maintaining this branch of our civil service, with its hundreds of Relieving Officers and other officials and its annual allocation of close on half a million dollars merely for the fun of seeing the vote therefor put in the estimates?

The Honorable J. A. Robinson, editor of The Daily News, is a member of the Government which maintains this department and which is supposed to see that it gives the public money's worth for the money spent on it. Has he troubled at all to find out if that department is an efficient one?

Maybe, the department knew nothing of the case. Well, then, who is responsible for taking this destitute widow and her helpless family to the common jail for shelter? Did these parties make an effort to get in touch with the Charities Department? If not, why not?

If they did get in touch with the department, how is it that this family was herded in the common jail with the offscouring of the city?

It is plain that this matter will bear a great deal of investigation.

But the present Government are not over fond of investigations and there is very little fear that any of the numerous, leisure-loving gentry they maintain under the courtesy-title of officials will suffer.

Investigation into hospital affairs was talked of for a long time in the House and out of it; it was strongly advocated in the public press—but what came of it all?

After many weeks of delay an ornamental commission was appointed and they sat and sat and as far as any of us know they are still sitting and that is just about as far as they will ever get.

The appointment was fairly forced on the Government and when they did make it they took care it should be as absolutely harmless as possible.

But there is yet another investigation to be taken up.

It is one of the most important ever demanded by the course of events in this country—an investigation into the circumstances leading up to and accompanying the loss of the lives of two hundred and fifty of our sealers at the icefields this spring.

There has been a great deal said about these terrible disasters; practical men declare that part, at least, of the loss of life could have been averted.

An investigation by a properly empowered commission should be appointed, so as to decide the measure of blame that is to be meted out to those concerned.

But, most important of all, such a commission is necessary to determine whether or not our sealers are subjected to needless or avoidable risks at the icefields; whether conditions are as comfortable as they might be and just how reforms can be instituted.

Measures, precautionary and reformatory, are evidently very necessary; otherwise, why the many complaints of the men or, most conclusive of all, why the big loss of life this past spring?

And the chain of events that led up to the terrible losses of last season may occur again and Newfoundland be once more faced with the loss of hundreds of her best and hardest sons.

And it is to recommend such measures as will prevent the recurrence of such tragedies that the appointment of the investigating committee is absolutely necessary.

The Daily News fulminates against hypothetical persons on account of the treatment accorded one widow and her children. The editor of that paper is evidently anxious to know whom to hold responsible therefor.

Laudable anxiety, indeed. But there are at present in Newfoundland scores of women who have been widowed and hundreds of children made fatherless by the loss of life last spring at the icefields.

What person or what chain of circumstances was responsible therefor?

As to this the editor of The News seems to worry not a whit.

At any rate, we are still waiting for an editorial to appear in The Daily News urging upon the Government the thorough investigation of the sealing disasters.

Why this difference about taking a stand for the many widows, when he is so ready to sob and groan and weep and lament and denounce and wax righteously indignant when dealing with a solitary case?

Does it not look very much as the editor of The News is prepared to wink right out of sight when it is expedient to do so?

Until the editor of The News is prepared to be consistent in such matters and to stand for right in every case we must, like the majority of our people, conclude that his diatribes are but maudlin sentiment; his apparent grief unreal and his copious tears merely a stream to eke out the fluid for inditing his masterpieces of inconsistency.

WORSE STILL

IN OUR editorial remarks last evening on the contents of a letter which we published, we inadvertently referred to Mr. Bartlett, the one complained of, as a warden.

The Mr. Bartlett who made such a bad display, stands higher than a warden, he is a member of the Game and Inland Fisheries Board. He is one of those chosen by the Government to take control of our game resources.

Mr. Bartlett undertakes to do mischief individually, not content with the amount of harm which the Board has done officially.

Messrs. Hershaw and Mildeberger have been coming to this country yearly for a long time, and they spend a good deal of money here. They are the kind we should encourage.

They employ a number of guides and other servants. Mr. Bartlett pays no license and hires no guide or other help, and the chances are he travels on a pass from the Reid Newfoundland Co. He spends nothing, but is very profligate of the good name which we have attained for our country among visiting gentlemen.

Instead of being a hindrance and a bother to Mr. Mildeberger, it was plainly Mr. Bartlett's duty to have done all he could to make that gentleman's visit a pleasant one.

He should have been more courteous, not alone for his own sake, but for the sake of the country he represents, as a member of that Game Board.

AN UNREASONING ZEALOT

"SPEAK gently to the erring one," is evidently a motto not much regarded in the editorial office of The Daily News, as evidenced this morning in a reference made by that paper to the unfortunate one who, whilst intoxicated, fell over Goodridge's wharf.

"Life saving," says The News, "is highly meritorious, under ordinary conditions, but it is questionable in this instance if the State reaped any benefit."

To our humble way of thinking

there is no question but that the State did reap a benefit.

The humane person who saved that poor fellow from drowning, reaped a benefit to himself, and he, being a member of our community, the State must be apartaker in the grace.

We do not believe the editor of The News is so anti-Christian as his words would imply. Nevertheless, we blame him for permitting his ungovernable zeal for temperance to get the better of his reason and christianity at once.

The editor of The News dethrones his reason by over-zeal for temperance, and whilst reason is stifled commits a sin against a fellow man. The man who gets drunk dethrones his reason by rum, and falls into sin, against his fellow man.

Who, now, is the greater offender? He who gets drunk with rum, or he who gets drunk through ungovernable hatred of the spirit? The offences differ in degree only and not in kind, but it may differ greatly in the amounts of evil they represent, and we are not quite sure that the sin of the temperance zealot of The News is not the greater.

"A worthless citizen," says The News, therefore drown him, or what is equal to that, "let him drown—do not pull him out."

Sounds like murder. Sounds like the ravings of an intoxicated fool.

The editor of The News has so focussed his zeal for good upon the one point, that of temperance, that he has failed to be sensitive to any other form of disorder than drunkenness. To him there is no crime, but getting drunk. There is no stain upon the community, but that caused by the sale of liquor.

Side by side, in the same paragraph with the story of the worthless citizen, is mentioned the instance of the poor woman and her three little ones, in a prison cell, because they have no home, no other roof to shelter them. Is it not a disgrace to us as proud (?) citizens that we permit those poor people to be kept in a common jail?

It gives no shock to the zealot of The News, to think of those innocent children and that poor mother, and of their dejected state. Whilst he would keep them there, he would caution all intoxicated men, to remember the presence of the woman and her children, and refrain from filthy talk.

We fear The News' editor carries not a discriminating mind when he looks on a patch work of crimes, such as every community must present to a really sensitive mind.

He can see but one crime, one color where there are many and varied as the human mind.

Notes of News From Pt. Rexton

Port Rexton, July 8.—Messrs. Vivian Randell, Isaac Butler, James Butler and Miss M. Randell, school teachers, are here to spend holidays with friends.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Fitzgerald of St. Jacques were here the past week on a visit to their son, Dr. C. G. Fitzgerald.

Miss M. Bailey, telegraph operator at Morton's Harbor, N.D.B., is here on a visit to friends.

The last of our Labrador fishing fleet sailed the past week. We wish them every success.

We are pleased to have our Rector, Rev. A. Pittman, back again, as he was attending the Synod.

The fishery here to date is very poor, salmon fair, caplin plentiful and lobsters scarce.

Miss Louie Bailey, daughter of friend Absalom Bailey, passed peacefully away at Moncton. The remains were sent here for interment.

Also there died at her father's residence here, Mr. Eli Ryan, the wife of Mr. H. G. King, of New Bonaventure. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and friends of each.

We are expecting a visit from our President very soon. Port Rexton will surely welcome him.—J.J.D.

Notes From Exploits

Weather is still very backward, in fact it seems more like September than July.

Codfish and lobsters are very scarce; traps are not doing anything. A little better sign yesterday with the hook; some boats got half a barrel. Caplin are plentiful around everywhere. Herring is still good; most people are leaving them for this season.

Schr. Yukon is at the wharf of Josiah Manuel & Sons discharging a load of coal. From there she will take a load of herring for Halifax.

There are quite a few motor engines here, but the "F.P.U." engine is among the first and best of them.

The public and especially business firms are greatly inconvenienced in regards to sending messages since the cable has been broken. I wonder the reason that the Government do not get it repaired and put it in a place where it won't be cut off by ice. We cannot expect anything else but broken cables when it is put across a point.

The F.P.U. store is still going ahead in Exploits. It is almost work enough for our clerk to order goods. —"TROUT"

LIN LEE, PATRIOT.

BY GEORGE MUNSEN.

NOBODY ever suspected that there were two Chinamen in Lin Lee's laundry until we met Lin Loo. For the matter of that, nobody cared, or would have cared, if there had been half a dozen. Chinamen come and go and nobody takes any stock of them except the immigration officials mainly because all Chinamen look alike, at first glance, to the untrained Caucasian eye. And the first glance is likely, in most cases, to be the last also.

In that part of Virginia where Lin Lee had his temporary residence Chinamen are not common. The slight prejudice against them in the North and the considerable antagonism of the West do not exist. If they were not pig-tailed heathen they might pass among us whites as equals—and I come of the Ramsay family. To say that it is quite enough in our part of the country.

Everybody liked Lin Lee. He had cut off his pig-tail and he attended the Episcopal Church. When he brought home the laundry he was generally asked to come into the parlor and have a glass of wine. Yes, it sounds odd, I know, but Lee was a very intelligent man, a member of the Chinese Reform Association, and had studied law in Canton, he told us, before the Manchus drove him from the country on account of his participation in a seditious movement. Like all Chinamen, he had a natural genius for the wash-tub.

So Lin Lee became a resident of our village and, as I said, everybody thought he occupied his shanty alone. We thought so until the evening when, having brought home the laundry in its usual highly starched condition, and having received the red paper with its mysterious hieroglyphics which he always left as security, he turned round and another Chinaman came out of the darkness.

"My cousin, Lin Loo," he volunteered. "He washes well—as well as me. He takes your laundry to-night." "Where are you going, Lin?" asked my father.

Lin grinned. "Me going to China," he said. "Me fight in grand army of the republic."

This sounded a little like blasphemy to my father, who was a Grand Army man, and fought under Grant, though it cost him his estates to do so, and he was boycotted by the neighbors until an indefinite time in the seventies. However, all that is forgotten now, thank God. We understood that Lin Lee had felt the breath of patriotism stirring in the dry sapless bones of his native land and wished to enroll himself under the Dragon flag to fight against the tyrant, and, as patriotic Americans, we could not but approve his choice.

Lin Lee disappeared just as mysteriously as Lin Loo had come, but that made no difference. Lin Loo was just as capable a laundryman as Lin LoLo. The ladies of our family, in fact, maintained that Lin Loo had a special genius for interpreting the laundry needs of their own garments and, as a result, Lin Loo was to be seen ironing until far into the night in his little store on Main Street. It is strange, by the way, isn't it, that one always sees Chinamen ironing, and never washing.

Lin Loo was also an Episcopalian we found, and when he made his first visit to our church everyone sat up and gasped. He was attired in quite the extreme of fashion, in a silk hat and frockcoat and patent leather shoes. He carried a silver head cane, too, and was very devotional in the responses. The rector took a great fancy to him and invited him to his home to discuss theology. Mrs. Stubbs, his wife, was equally attached to him.

Yes, it was odd what a general favorite Lin Loo became. Of course ladies are apt to take a fancy to Chinamen, especially when they are converted. People say that they only pretend to believe, for the sake of advantages. I don't know much about that, but anyhow, the ladies all liked him and, what is stranger, the men too. Lin Loo was astonishingly well posted in western ways. But he wouldn't drink and wouldn't swear. None of us thought the less of him on that account.

"Any news of your cousin, Loo?" we would ask, as we stepped in to watch him bending over his iron and pressing with his scrawny arms. And Loo always looked up and smiled and shook his head.

Whether or not any news of the missing cousin filtered through to him, he always denied knowledge of his relative. Yet somehow he never seemed to doubt that Lee would return. And when a year had rolled by and Lin had become only a memory, he still maintained the same assurance. Imperturbable, suave, courteous, jolly, Lin Loo was a social asset in our town.

And then the missing cousin turned up just as unexpectedly as he had gone. One evening Lin Lee stepped into our parlor, his basket on his arm, as though he had only left us the night before, and received the red paper from my mother. Then he announced:

"Me going to leave to-morrow. No more wash. My cousin, Sam Hong, has bought my shop."

"And your other cousin—Lin Loo?" we asked.

"He go away," replied our visitor. "No see any more."

That was all. Sam Hong was a very "ornary" kind of Chinaman, with a thick pig-tail, a surly expression, and an ugly cast in his eye. He was a rank heathen and was suspected of smoking opium in his little shack behind the store on Sunday afternoons. Our interest in the celestial race rapidly evanesced.

It must have been nearly a year after our friends' departure that

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN

Every successful business man can give reasons for his prosperity. Most essential to any success is a careful and ceaseless attention to details. Every well conducted office or store in the world finds that simple and effectual filing systems are an absolute necessity. No employer will waste his own time or allow waste with his staff by using old fashioned methods. The benefits derived from the time and money-saving system which "Globe-Wernicke" devices encourage are self-evident. Not a paper can go astray when the "Safeguard" method of this Company is used. And no matter how complicated your filing problem, no matter how peculiar, no matter how small or how large, the "Globe-Wernicke" can provide you with the equipment that will place every record at your finger tips. Why not investigate? Mr. Percie Johnson represents the "Globe" in Newfoundland.

business called me to Richmond. I was strolling down one of the side streets when I caught sight of Lin Lee behind the glass window of a laundry, ironing as hard as ever. I walked in.

He greeted me with the same cheerful smile as ever. We shook hands and discussed old times.

"Why did you leave us so suddenly, Lin Lee?" I asked. "We all miss you in our town. What was the matter? Didn't we treat you well?" "Sure—fine," answered Lin Lee with a broad grin. "I come to Richmond to open bigger place, more business. I get married."

Then I ventured upon a very bold experiment. I asked if he would present me to Mrs. Lin Lee. I knew it was not Chinese etiquette and I was not surprised when he told me that she was out.

But she wasn't out, because at that moment the door opened and a Chinese woman, with a little black-haired, squint-eyed baby in her arms, peered out. I knew her too. It was Mrs. Lin Lee—once Mr. Lin Loo. She nodded and smiled and shut the door in my face and I said good-bye quickly and went out.

Now I held no brief for or against Chinamen, but I will say I was offended at this horrible deception at the time. But afterward I began thinking could he have been assured of his wife's safety, living alone in our town, the only Celestial within twenty miles? I think he could; I know he could. But I can imagine what dangers he may have feared for her—the young husband, called back eight thousand miles to fight his country's battles with all he loved dwelling alone among white-faced barbarians.

PROBLEMS PORTE WILL HAVE TO FACE IN FLYING THE AIRSHIP "AMERICA"
ACROSS THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

Journey Will be Divided Into Two Stages—
First to the Azores, Then to Spain and Lastly to England,—Machine Specially Adapted to the Perilous and Venturesome Work

FIVE years ago, when Bleriot crossed the English Channel in an aeroplane, The Mail and Empire remarked that the next great epoch-marking event in the history of aeronautics would occur when the Atlantic was conquered. Whether that time has arrived we shall know before long. The attempt is about to be made, and unless Lieut. Porte were reasonably certain that he would succeed it is certain that he would not try. Should he succeed he will receive a prize of $50,000 offered by The London Daily Mail, and have made an imperishable name for himself. Nor is his confidence the result of failure to understand the formidable nature of the obstacles he has to conquer. He is an expert aviator, and will fly in a machine built especially for him by Glenn Curtiss. Moreover, finally, he must be a great believer in his own star. If he is unlucky there appears to be absolutely no chance of him ever reaching his first landing. If he is lucky he has a chance. If there were any betting upon the result of the attempt the reasonable odds would appear to be about 20 to 11 against Lieut. Porte.

To Rest on the Ocean

To succeed, Lieut. Porte has to make a longer continuous flight than has ever before been made by an aviator. On the other hand, the machine, America, has been built especially with this object in view. Of course, an accident might bring the most carefully-laid plans to naught, but Porte will be accompanied by a mechanic, and the mere necessity of alighting on the bosom of the ocean would not inevitably mean the end of the attempt. The America is so constructed that it could float for an indefinite period upon the water providing it were not too rough when the prize for the attempt was first offered it called for a straightaway flight from Newfoundland to Ireland, a distance of nearly 2,000 miles. The experts who studied the matter were unable to design a craft that could transport fuel sufficient for any greater distance than 1,500 miles, although one or two of them thought that if the distance had been only 1,500 miles this problem could have been solved.

A Flight of 1,200 Miles

Porte plans to make three flights, the longest one being to the Azores, a distance of 1,200 miles, the second to Vigo, Spain, another 900 miles; and the third flight to England, a mere spin of 600 miles. If Porte reaches the Azores the other two flights should not seriously trouble him, barring accidents, but no one has yet flown within a considerable distance of 1,200 miles. The fuel problem having been solved, the chief difficulty is navigation. The distances to be covered are direct, and the margin of fuel that Lieut. Porte will have is likely to be so small that he cannot afford to make many mistakes in his calculations, but must fly almost as straight as an arrow all the time. How, then, is he to know his bearings? If he were merely steering in the general direction of a continent his task would be easier. The Azores, as he will first see them, if he is lucky enough, will be mere pin-points. The islands extend about 400 miles from north-west to south-east. Corvo, the most westerly of them, has a maximum altitude of 3,000 feet, and on a clear day would be visible about 50 miles.

Problem of Navigation

That is to say, he will not see it longitude, and once these are secured it will be more difficult still to figure out his exact position. In an air-borne craft he will be unable to calculate within 10 or 15 miles an hour the velocity of the breeze unless he were resting on the surface of the water. Porte, however, is confident that he will be able to hold a straight course.

Measurements of America

From tip to tip the upper surface of his biplane is 72 feet, the lower plane measuring 46 feet and the total supporting area just less than 500 feet. The America, therefore, is not the largest biplane ever built, and is in no sense a freak craft. It will be operated by two 100 horsepower motors, working independently of each other. At the start the load to be carried by the aeroplane will be about two tons and a half, one ton being of gasoline and lubricating oil, another ton the machine and boat hull, and the other half ton being made up of crew, instruments, food supply, etc. Fuel and oil will be consumed at the rate of 80 pounds an hour, so the weight will rapidly decrease, thus lightening the task of the engines. Lieut. Porte points out that a Russian aviator has built a machine capable of lifting a weight of four tons, and therefore he is calculating within the limits of achievement as regards the lifting capacity of his own craft.

Refuse Clemency To John Krafchenko

Ottawa, July 4.—John Krafchenko, the Winnipeg bandit, is to be executed. The case was under review by the Cabinet Council yesterday afternoon, and it was decided not to exercise clemency.

Krafchenko is to be hanged at Winnipeg on Thursday next, for the murder of H. M. Arnold, bank manager at Plum Coulee, Manitoba.

THE "ANGER" TREE

In Idaho there exists a species of the acacia tree which is entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of plant life. This tree attains a height of about 8 ft. When full grown, it closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset, and curls its twigs to the shape of pigtails. When the tree has thus settled itself for its night's sleep, it is said that, if touched, it will flutter as if agitated or impatient at the disturbance. It is averred that the oftener the foliage is molested the more violent will become the shaking of the branches. Finally, it is further alleged, if the shaking is continued, the tree will at length emit a nauseating odour quite sufficient to induce a headache in the case of the person disturbing the tree.

In Idaho it is called the "anger tree," and it is said that it was discovered by men who, on making camp for the night, placed one end of a canvas covering over one of the sensitive bushes, using it for a support. Immediately the tree began to jerk its branches sharply. The motion continued, with increasing "nervousness" until at last came a sickening odour that drove the tired campers to a more friendly location.

Curiosity prompted an investigation. One of the "anger trees" was dug up and thrown to one side. It is said that immediately upon being removed from the ground the tree opened its leaves, its twigs lost their pigtails, and for something over a couple of hours the outraged branches showed their indignation by a series of quakings, which grew weaker and weaker, and ceased only when the foliage had withered.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as Judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

A New Toy.

ARE women hopeless creatures? Do they rebound in a panic of hysteria from one phase to another? I'm beginning to think so. Mary was not born with a bump of genius, nor was she trained to any comprehension of the system. Yet she has developed a passion for neatness and detail. Sometimes, however, acquired tastes are as inherent ones.

"I'm through sliding carefully along, Peter," she explained, "with my cheeks. I'm beginning to see at last that if you do a thing at all you ought to do it well, and with me, now, my house shall come first and my clothes and things after. That's right, isn't it?"

A Wife's Duty.

A woman marries with the express understanding that she will care for a man's home and bear his children, yet almost from the beginning she professes to hate her job. She hates housework, and speaks feelingly of the terrible care children are. When a man selects the law as his profession he doesn't begin to prate about his dry and dusty detail—he goes to work. That's what a woman ought to do—do the job of the man who grumbles. If she wasn't willing to wade through the drudgery incidental to the big job of housekeeping and house-keeping she shouldn't have selected the job of wife and mother and house-keeper for her life's work.

I was mighty glad Mary had begun to see that, after all, first that her should come home and her work, second the incidental business of having a good time, but I was a little worried at the extreme phases had dangerous possibilities. How long would Mary's new job of thorough housekeeping last?

First on the list, Mary began to buy housekeeping books. I found them piled up on her desk one night in business-like heaps.

Now I was never one to approve of learning housekeeping from books. I always fancied that it should be primarily born in a woman. If it wasn't ought to get it first hand from some other woman and not from a book, but I must confess I have never actually studied at the wealth of helpful domestic detail Mary has managed to cull from these books of housekeeping.

Beginning a Reform.

After all, I may be a little hide-bound by my notions, but the woman who has gone through the mill and learned to solve the problems of a home can write a genuinely helpful book for other women. I'm beginning to discover after years of practice that housekeeping may be learned and learned well from books.

"Mary," I said humorously one night, "you'll be so busy reading how to keep house that you won't have time to work."

"That's exactly what I've been thinking," said Mary with a frown. "But I'm about through now. Did you see the kitchen?"

I went and looked, and halted with delight on the threshold. The blue and white linoleum was spotted, everything shone, the curtains were trim and white and in order, unlike the flapping non-descript we'd once had.

"It's wonderful, Mary," I exclaimed in delight, "absolutely wonderful. Why, our other kitchen used to be a nightmare."

Mary's eyes were very bright and a little tearful.

"Let's forget all that, Peter," she said, "we're careless and foolish, and I'm older now, and truly I'm going to do better."

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I have received lots of comfort from reading your advice. Now I ask you to help me.

I am a widow for a number of years. Recently I met a widower. He says he loves me better than any woman he has ever met, and wants to marry at once. He has one girl of 12 years. I don't care for him particularly. What would you do about it?

TROUBLED.

WELL, Troubled, what are you troubled about? You've been a widow for a number of years, and you seem to have lived through it rather comfortably. Why do you want to alter your condition? What's the matter?

Has the landlord raised the rent, or is the grocery bill that is bothering you?

You seem to think you have to marry this man "at once"—but he doesn't want you to. Is he a hypnotist or what?

Why must you alter your whole condition in life just to please a man for whom you say you don't care?

What would I do about it?

Why, I'd just tell my friend the widower, "No, thank you," and send him and his family politely about their business. And I would go on quite calmly attending to mine. That's what I should do.

Annie Laurie

CHIC HAT MODELS FOR THE HOME MILLINER

Tailored Hat of Straw and Velvet.

The New Paris Turban.

Plaque for Summer Dresses.

By MADGE MARVEL

HERE is a hint for the girl who wonders what she can do with the bunches of faded flowers she has carefully ripped off her discarded hats, because they "seemed just too good to throw away," and yet look woefully shabby when she takes them out with the idea of making use of them on a new hat.

plume looks like solid gold, the effect of stickiness or heaviness is entirely lacking. Silver leaves used as a wreath about the crown of the hat is a much favored accompaniment to the laquered ribbon. Gold flowers are frequently seen. The plan of gliding old flowers is perfectly feasible. Try it with a bottle of gilt paint.

Another smart hat is the bronze straw, which accords so well with the bronze shoes we are wearing and which will become more popular as the season advances. Last year's hat may be reborned into a this year's shade and treated to a coat of bronze paint, the very same polish with which our shoes are kept in condition. Then if it is trimmed with laquered ribbon and a bunch of silver flowers, it will be the very latest millinery fancy.

to wear smaller and more delicate flowers, like button roses and lilies of the valley and violets. "I omitted daisies and forget-me-nots; for I feel that they belong to the very little tots, the children. On the average grown woman they are absurd. Big, stunning looking women of the Juno type have first call on the showy blooms. They can wear splashing blossoms like the hibiscus, the poinsettia, the calla lily, giant roses, orchids.

However, there are many conservative women who will never wear bronze hats. These women will be glad to know that undyed flowers are becoming more and more fashionable each day and that midsummer will see them flourish in this profession that we shall look like animated posy beds.

Then the bandeau is best when it is covered with flowers, and what else so perfectly fills in the space at the back of the tilted hat? "Flowers will grow larger as the summer progresses. One or two large roses will often be used. I do not look for a continuance of the very high trimming all summer. Already there is a tendency to replace the towering feather with a single big bloom.

"There is a psychology in choosing flowers for hat trimming that not all women appreciate. The wise woman studies her personality when she chooses posies for her bonnet. If she is a sweet, simple little girl, she should be content with a single big bloom. "Vellies are becoming thinner and less conspicuous each day. They are the shrewdest net. Hats will not be excessively large during the summer. They will not be very large for several months to come. The small hat has some months of life before it. "There is a splendid thing for women to try to make their own hats. They will be sure to copy some popular model, and as no two women—or men either—see the same object exactly the same, there is always the chance that some strikingly new style will be evolved from what started out to be a faithful copy."

The "Mystery" in Wanting to Be Useful

By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

MISS HELEN CUDAHY, the youngest daughter of Patrick Cudahy, the millionaire meat packer, is going to register in the Massachusetts General Hospital as a student in the school for trained nurses.

Patience, courage, resourcefulness, self-reliance, tact, a quick wit, a sense of humor, a gentle hand, a light heart, a generous soul—all these are the things that go to make up the character of the trained nurse.

What should the daughter of a rich man want with such a list of the beatitudes? Nurse a little mother back to health, back to the care of her little children; save the flower of the family to be a useful man and take his place in the world with a sound constitution and good, clean blood; put the head of the house on his feet and make him able to go on with the work he ought to be doing—why, what's such trifling as that to the things that Miss Helen Cudahy could do, if she only had sense enough to want to.

Dear me, how mysterious! There must be a man in an iron mask or a woman in a velvet domino somewhere in the story. It wouldn't be possible for an energetic, ambitious, big-brained, big-hearted, generous souled girl to want to go somewhere and be of some use in the world—would it?

There must be a man in an iron mask or a woman in a velvet domino somewhere in the story. It wouldn't be possible for an energetic, ambitious, big-brained, big-hearted, generous souled girl to want to go somewhere and be of some use in the world—would it?

When you meet that little child now, growing into graceful and graceful womanhood and she looks at you with two clear, beautiful eyes—how much you think that if it was not for you that girl would probably be groping in the bitter dark of total blindness today!

It is that what you are looking for, Miss Helen Cudahy, you with your money and your beautiful home—the chance to be a woman of glorious use in the world? If it is—here's my heart in my hand. Take it, it is yours—to keep.

A Noble Profession.

A SONG — By Margaret Sackville

I WILL bring you roses—roses red and golden— Plucked at dawn by sleepy streams in fairy lands afar. With here and there a jewel and here and there a star, Breeze-blown breath of clover when the moon is rising, Gilt of gold on shining sands by seas half kissed away, All the bloom and dream and magic of September, Singing noons of August, honeyed noons of May, Did you hear me coming—never a star to guide me? Through the woods all soft-asleep at hush of night I came, When I walked at midnight at the time of the wild roses. Every rose bush as I passed woke into flame. Not a rose upon my track but told your dwelling. Hidden though you were in the heart of night dew-peaked, Oh my dear—with the roses all about you— You the singing of the Summer and the laughter of the world.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Careful Isolation Limits Spread of Children's Ills

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

CHARLIE has the whooping cough," says your family doctor. "Keep him away from Jane and William, give him his medicine, and I will drop around again in a few days."

"Thank you, doctor," says the harassed mother as he hurries away. The physician has been brief and methodical, has no doubt written the correct prescription; but, unluckily, he has left the poor mother a warning without explicit directions for its heeding.

The distressed parent is aware of the mistaken notion that "all children will catch measles, mumps and whooping cough"; she is familiar with the exploded nonsense that has by tradition incorporated itself in the minds of women. Indeed, the superstition that her baby must willy-nilly and in spite of careful precautions, suffer all the ills that the infant flesh encounters, is undeniably absurd.

"Yes, doctor," said a good woman that their precious darlings need not have measles, chickenpox and the rest of the diseases of childhood, but physicians are always so ready to give general advice—and to assume that we know the particular things to do. The result is a lot of incorrect precautions.

"This lady told the truth boldly and badly. Country doctor and city specialist alike speak in such general terms, and with such ponderous authority that the overworked mother fears to seem ultra-benighted, and nods her thanks in a bewildered doubt. In a word, she and the doctor think it is such a simple matter to guard the well children from the ill ones that she falls to ask, and the other omits to give, the exact minutiae of the necessary duties.

Alas, many households are located so remotely that their occupants may depend, in the interim of the doctor's absence, more or less upon their own equipment and information. These are lacking, faulty or inadequate, the children exposed to contagion will thereby become infected. It becomes necessary to remember precisely what has been done to limit the spread of these serious ailments.

Sources of Contagion. As plain as the eyes in your head is the fact that the attendants upon the isolated child, whether he be walking around or confined to his room, must, like the ill individual, have a complete outfit of plain, clean and easily washed and ironed garments.

This is as true for the mother, relative or doctor as it is for a nurse. The face and hands should be frequently washed with absolute thoroughness, and the hair and head are to be covered, covered and frequently washed with a soap shampoo.

These procedures are not as troublesome as they at first thought would appear. Soon after they are begun—that is to say, when one of the children falls ill—they become as habitual as walking. Perhaps the greatest source of contagion, next to the mother or relative who falls to wear a washable covering as she approaches the child, is the child who has so mild an infection with the microbes of measles, chickenpox or whooping cough, that she is allowed to mingle with her brothers, sisters and other children. She eats at the same table, plays with the same toys, or even wanders about the streets.

A physician once entered a street car, sniffed his nose, once or twice and shouted aloud: "There is some one in this car with smallpox." Immediately the car was emptied of everybody but a veiled woman and himself. The fable is that he "smelled the smallpox." But the fact is notorious that doctors may shout as much as they will in a crowded street car, school or other public place that "there is a case of" whooping cough, measles or chickenpox, and not a soul would stir. Yet each of these maladies is much more serious, and often fatal, than smallpox.

Even the lightest cases of childhood's ailments should be kept away from other children for four weeks. When peeling of the skin, running of the eyes, ears, nose or sores are present the quarantine should be maintained until these manifestations have absolutely ceased. Another four weeks might well be allowed to pass before well children may safely play with the child who has been ill.

It is a simple matter to make the sick child contented to play with the attendant, or with his toys. After the first few days the child becomes accustomed to it, and considers it by no means a punishment. "There is some one in this car with smallpox." #### Brigade Night

Last night the Avalon Battalion, C.L.B. in command of Lieut. Col. Rendell, the C.C.C. under Lieut. Col. CoCaroy and the Newfoundland Highlanders headed by Col. Patterson paraded to the Prince of Wales's Rink to rehearse the different movements for His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught.

Lieut. Col. Rendell took command of the three Brigades and instructed the officers and lads to what part they have to perform.

The Brigades will parade to St. George's Field at 10.30 on Wednesday morning and on arrival of His Royal Highness Lieut. Col. Rendell will take command and put the Brigades through the different movements, and after inspection the officers will take charge of their companies for march past and the various exercises.

Church Parade

The C.L.B. will hold an open air church service at Quidi Vidi on July 19th in the afternoon.

DID NOT VISIT HOUSE TO SEE IF IT WAS O.K.

Mrs. Power, who visited Miss Mullaly the evening the latter's money was stolen, says she did not return to the house to see that it was alright, but when passing along Water Street she saw two boys standing near.

She has no idea who took the money and also says that Miss Mullaly did not put the money in a drawer in the kitchen while she was there.

TO-NIGHT'S MATCH B.I.S. VS. C.E.I.

Market is Clean Of British Fish

The following letter dated June 26th was received yesterday by the Board of Trade from Lind & Couto of Oporto:

"For some considerable time our market has been quite bare of British cure, and this has given a tremendous impulse to Norwegian, Icelandic and German cures, which are now in the general consumption all over the country.

"From a British point of view, this is much to be regretted, and we fear it will be difficult to recover lost ground in the face of the lower tariff accorded to competing cures which all pay at the rate of 34 reils per kilo against 29 reils per kilo on the British article."

"Curse of Golden Land" At The Nickel Theatre

There was a very large attendance at the Nickel Theatre last evening. Many of the Stephano's round-trippers were present and were highly pleased with the entertainment.

The pictures compared favorably with any they had seen in the States. This evening one of the greatest attractions in the history of the Nickel will be presented. It is a two reel story entitled "Father and Son, or the Curse of the Golden Land."

It is a gripping and most astounding story of the basest ingratitude, treachery and final retribution. The acting which is by the Vitagraph artists is perfect and Courtney Foote and Rodger L. Lyton, who are featured, display wonderful talent.

The other subjects are also good and will prove attractive.

Change of Tune In the Reports

Prospects Now Bright For Good Western Fishery—From the Straits

July 4th. From F. Curnew. (Bellearam to Rencontre East)—The total catch is 8750 quintals with 150 for last week. Two traps are in the water.

There is a decided improvement with traps and codnets; and plenty of caplin for bait. The lobster fishery shows no improvement.

The traps took from 2 to 15 quintals daily during last week, but there is not much doing with hook and line.

Best for Years

June 27th. From J. F. Devereaux. (Cape Race to St. Shott's)—One banker has arrived and 15 schooners from the grounds. Prospects are very good; the best for some years. There is plenty of caplin but lobsters are scarce and only one factory is working.

The men report very good prospects with cod and think the coming week with favorable weather good hauls will be taken. Two boats, 69 dories and skiffs and 30 traps are fishing. The total catch is 350 quintals.

July 4th. From R. Furneaux (Ross Blanche to Petites)—Prospects are fairly good and caplin plentiful. Six schooners have returned. The lobster fishery is very poor. Several boats, skiffs with 1 dory each, returned from Cape Breton ports and had about 35 quintals for each dory for 3 weeks.

The total catch is 1370 and for last week 340. Sixteen dories and skiffs are fishing.

Prospects Good

July 4th. From J. Butt (Blanc Sablon to Porteau)—Caplin is plentiful and prospects are very good. The total catch is 400 quintals.

Twenty-two traps are out and 30 dories and skiffs fishing. The fish struck here on Monday, June 29th. It is yet too early to give any definite opinion of the voyage. The ice is all gone.

July 4th. From T. O'Brien (Lance au Loup to Red Bay)—Prospects are very bright and there is plenty of caplin.

Two traps set on the 3rd got a boat load of cod each and the few trawls set are getting from 30 to 70 large fish every haul. Fine weather is favouring operations.

Joy Gun Exploded Fisherman Injured

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Edwin Grant, of Blanc Sablon, wired Messrs. Job Bros. and Co., as follows: "His Royal Highness landed at 9.30; ashore two hours and felt pleased with his reception. Sorry to say an accident in the firing of cannon, Hugh Palmer, of Trinity, blowing his right arm off. He is gone to St. Anthony on the Essex."

The following was received last night by the Deputy Minister of Customs, Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, from the Sub-Collector at Blanc Sablon: "H.M.S. Essex, with the Duke of Connaught, arrived this morning. The fishing folk gave him a royal welcome. He left again at noon for St. Anthony. A sad accident occurred. Hugh Palmer had his hand blown off when firing a cannon in honor of the event."

The Hon. Secretary of the Church of England Orphanage desires to gratefully acknowledge receipt of Cakes, Sugar, etc., from the Committee of St. Andrew's Sunday School treat.

BAND CONCERT HOPED FOR.

It is hoped that while H.M.S. Essex is in port arrangements will be made for her band to give a concert in one of the parks.

GOES TO BOSTON FOR OPERATION

Mrs. Lehr Forced to Seek Surgical Treatment For Her Kneep

Mrs. (Dr.) Lehr, who has interviewed Dr. Adams, leaves for Boston next month and will undergo an operation at the hands of Dr. Adams after he returns home.

Eight years ago Mrs. Lehr was operated on in Boston by the celebrated Dr. Donohue, and a strange coincidence is that Dr. Adams is the successor to Dr. Donohue.

For a number of years Mrs. Lehr's knee has been straight but when the operation is performed she hopes to be able to bend it.

She will enter a private hospital and may have to remain there at least six months.

Dutch Steamer Brings 146 Sheep

They are Consigned to Party At Robinson's Head—More to Come

The Dutch steamer Soestdijk, nine days from Hamburg, bound to Boston and Philadelphia with a general cargo, arrived in port this morning to land 146 sheep, which are intended for Robinson's Head, West Coast. They will be sent across country by rail.

Two hundred sheep for Prof. Dahl are expected shortly.

The Soestdijk is 6445 gross, 4231 net, built by the Furness Withy Co. in 1901. This is her first visit to St. John's.

She will land her sheep this evening and continue her journey as soon as possible.

Sarajevo, Capital Of Bosnia-Govina

Where the Murder of Archduke Francis Austrian Heir Took Place

The most populous town in Bosnia is the capital, Sarajevo, where the shocking murder of Austria's heir-apparent and his wife took place. It had in 1910 a population of 51,919.

The Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina were, by Treaty of Berlin, July 13, 1878, handed over to the Austro-Hungarian government for administration and military occupation. By autograph letters of October 5, 1908, addressed to the premier of both states, the sovereignty of His Majesty the Emperor-King was extended over the provinces.

The two provinces have an area of 19,768 square miles. The population in 1910 was 1,898,044. The Mohammedans numbered 612,000; Serbian Orthodox, 825,338; Roman Catholics, 434,190; Evangelical, 6,387; Greek Catholics, 8,136; Jews, 11,187; other religions, 96.

The nationality is Croato-Serbian, only in the greater towns there are Spanish Jews and here and there Gypsies and colonists of different nationalities.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

At the present time possibly no other subject is receiving quite as much attention in Canada as this one. It will be a surprise to most readers to know that during the fiscal year which ended March 31st, 1913, Canada paid $11,500,000 in duty on food, and of all this large sum is virtually a direct tax on the consumer.

In glancing over the list it is easy to understand that the buying public are themselves largely to blame in many instances, for there are articles of food produced in Canada that are equal in every respect to those made in any country in the world.

In the baking powder line alone there were 667,904 lbs. imported into Canada, and this means the consumer paid in duty the enormous sum of $67,000. There are no better goods in the world in this line than magic baking powder, and it is made in a model sanitary up-to-date factory, and can be procured in any first-class store at one-half the price the imported article sells for.

Such articles as raisins, currants, and many other things, which do not grow in Canada, or are not produced here, have of necessity to be imported, and the duty paid.

If the consumer would devote a little thought and attention to this subject, a large amount of money could and would be saved.—Canadian Home Journal.

SAINTS TAKE THE GAME FROM ST. BON'S TEAM

But Owe the Winning Goal To Faulty Head Work Of an Opponent

COLLEGE BOYS DID GOOD DEFENCE WORK

But Luck Was Against Them and They Went Down to Defeat

Only one goal was scored at the Saints-St. Bon's footer match last night and that by a member of the College team for his opponents, who won the game by this narrow margin.

Line Up.

ST. BON'S—Lundrigan, goal; Power, Cleary, backs; Crawford, Dunn, McGrath, halves; Gear, Ryan, Smith, Callahan, W. Callahan, forwards.

SAINTS—Ross, goal; Dick, Barnes, backs; Burns, D. Stevenson, Innis, halves; Robertson, Kerr, Irvine, Ewing, Evans, forwards.

Referee—C. Quick. Linesmen—Cleary, St. Bon's; McCrindle, Saints.

The Game.

The Saints, winning the toss, took the west end of the field and at 7.07 set the ball going at a lively pace along the line to the St. Bon's goal, but it was soon sent out to mid-field where some clever work was seen.

The evening was a perfect one for football as there was no wind and a good exhibition was witnessed.

For a while it looked as if the Saints would score on the College boys, as shot after shot was sent repeatedly to Lundrigan, who saved remarkably well. Power and Cleary played a splendid game of defence and kept the ball at "bay" all the time.

The St. Bon's lads now put on a spurt, worked west again, and several times tried to beat Ross, but he was too well prepared. Burns seeing a chance for a run made down field and passed to Irvine, who sent a splendid shot to the mouth of the goal, and Cleary on trying to head it out landed it behind the posts, scoring the goal against his own side for the Saints.

This woke up the St. Bon's and they put new life into the field, but luck was against them in trying to find the equalizer.

The half time sounded leaving the Scots one goal in the lead.

Second Half.

The last-lap opened with the college boys putting more vigor and vim into the game, every man doing his hardest to equalize.

The game became very interesting, the ball being taken from one end of the field to the other, by individual play but no scoring was seen. Irvine received a kick in the stomach and was knocked out of commission for a while.

Play being resumed the ball was sent to the Saints territory and every moment spectators thought the college boys would score, but Barnes and Dick played a cool game and refused to let the ball go past them.

Play was again interrupted, as Irvine received a blow a second time. The final whistle sounded before the College boys could equalize.

Notes on the Game

Burns and Irvine played a splendid game; also Barnes and Dick, the full back line.

The Callahan Brothers played a good game and Lundrigan in goal saved splendidly.

The table now stands:

Teams	P	W	L	D	F	A	Pt
Collegians	4	3	0	1	8	1	7
Star	4	3	0	1	7	1	7
C.E.I.	4	2	1	1	9	5	5

The S.S. Arranmore, of which Capt. D. McDonald, late of the City of Sydney, has been given command, leaves the dock at Quebec shortly. There were a large number of applicants for the position and Captain McDonald was fortunate in getting the appointment.

She is a splendid steamer and he is delighted with her. The Arranmore will make Halifax her headquarters.
