He was of opinion, however, that the average foreigner knew what was a reasonable amount and that they were only evading the law as best they could.

REBELS MAY CAUSE SOME TROUBLE

Chief Question of Situation at Washington Today.

Reported That Gen. Maas is Preparing An Attack.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—What effect the movement of land forces to Vera Cruz and to the Mexican border, coupled with the renewal of the embargo on the shipment of munitions of war into Mexico will have on the attitude of the Constitution- alists, was one of the chief questions which confronted the Washington administration to-day. The answer to this question was awaited with the keenest interest in official circles. It was realized that upon the attitude of the Constitutional leader, General Carranza, to great extent, hinged the American military operations in Mexico. In the meantime, officials were also apparently without any definite information regarding the plans of General Huerta, although there were rumors as to intentions of General Maas, the Federal commander, who evacuated Vera Cruz to attack that city. One of the encouraging features of the situation was the apparent friendliness manifested toward the United States by General Villa, military leader of the Constitutionalists, in an interview with American Consul Carothers at Juarez, and it was believed that his attitude might have considerable influence on General Carranza. He is quoted as having said that one of the chief reasons for his coming to Juarez was to show the American people that his attitude was friendly. He emphasized the improbability of the rebels being brought into armed conflict with the United States, but said, however, that he was ready to obey orders of his chief. Carranza himself has made a statement which has been variously interpreted. While apparently considered in some quarters as tantamount to an ultimatum for American withdrawal, Constitutionalists representatives, however, point to it as friendly in character. Precautions were taken, however, by the administration when it ordered the restoration of the prohibition against the shipment of arms into Mexico. The president reassured General Carranza that he had no designs against Mexico, but that he considers it necessary to demand full reparation from Huerta for indignities committed against the United States. He followed up the statements by ordering troops to Vera Cruz and to assist in enforcing the demands and moved other troops to

VATICAN DENIES INTERFERENCE

Pope Was Hopeful of Peace Up to the Very Last Minute.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

ROME, April 24.—The Vatican denies that it has interfered in the conflict between Mexico and the United States, or in the internal dissensions of the former country. In both countries there is complete separation of church and state; but as both grant to bishops and clergy complete liberty and the broadest protection, the pope whenever it is possible has advised moderation, and has urged American and Mexican bishops, when admitted to his presence, to do all in their power to mitigate animosity and work to avoid conflict. In fact, the Vatican has been optimistic, and until the last moment the pope hoped that war might be avoided, trusting particularly to the wisdom of President Wilson and to his repeated statements in favor of peace. Even on Tuesday night when the American warships were already firing upon Vera Cruz, the pope, speaking to a cardinal, said that his impression was that the reports from the United States and Mexico had been much exaggerated, as he could not believe that two noble nations were flying at each other's throats over a mere question of punctilio.

BRANTFORD WORKINGMEN ARE QUITE PLEASSED WITH COMPENSATION BILL

W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., Showed Benefits of Act.

Every Family Will be Protected by Its Provisions.

Before a splendid audience, consisting of the workmen of the city and also members of the Trades and Labor Council in Victoria Hall last night, Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., delivered his address on the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. George Wedlake occupied the chair, and in a few words explained the outline of the act. The workmen at the present time have no real good protection in case of accident, and this act will give the men a long needed want. This act will be welcomed, no doubt, by not only the men and employes, but also by their employers. It will give the men a splendid chance to live happier lives and safer. He congratulated the present government in putting through such a good piece of legislation as this act will undoubtedly prove. He also said that the Trades and Labor Council were deserving of much credit in thus affording the workmen of the city an opportunity to hear the bill discussed. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. W. S. Brewster, who was accorded a hearty reception.

In rising, Mr. Brewster commented on the co-operation of the Legislature had received from the manufacturers of the country, as well as from the workmen. Some of the reasons leading up to the passing of the Workmen's Compensation Act were the negligence on the part of the employes, the assumption of the risk taken by the workmen in a job. Twenty-eight per cent of the accidents are caused by the negligence of the employe and forty-five per cent of accidents is caused by no one's fault. In many cases people have been known to be killed through no fault of the employer, but the family depending on them could not collect any compensation for the accident. This act is to remedy this condition of affairs, and, he was glad to say, had that very day been passed by the Ontario Legislature.

The Act provides for anyone who receives an injury, whether done through his own fault or not, his dependents may receive a compensation. Only about 12 per cent of accidents now receive any compensation, but by the new law every one of the families in which an accident occurs will receive compensation. The rate of payments for accidents is, in case of death, $75 for funeral expenses, $20 per month to the widow for life, and $10 a month for each child, all of which is not to exceed $40, or 55 per cent of the average monthly wage of the head of the family. In case of permanent disability, the injured person will receive a pension of 55 per cent of his average monthly wage for life. If he is only partially disabled, say one arm or hand or leg lost, the injured person will receive 35 per cent of his decreased earning power for life. The question may be asked how are you going to be able to receive your pension if injured. The answer for this is, a board of three men who will be paid a large salary by the government, will be appointed, and they will look after every accident that occurs and dispense the pay-

Quebec Town Wiped Out By Big Fire

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

BRYSON, Que., April 24.—Eighty-five persons were rendered homeless in the fierce fire which, practically uncontrolled, swept the whole business and residential section of this village yesterday. Practically the only building which escaped the flames was the county jail, a stone structure. Not a store is left in the village excepting a butcher shop, where the supplies can be purchased. Citizens of Shawville, Campbell's Bay, and other surrounding villages, sent in a store of provisions last night to enable the homeless persons to exist the best they may until further outside assistance is rendered.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY BANQUET PROVED A VERY FINE AFFAIR LAST EVENING

Speeches Were of Very High Order of Patriotism.

What Canada Owes the Mother Country Was Referred to.

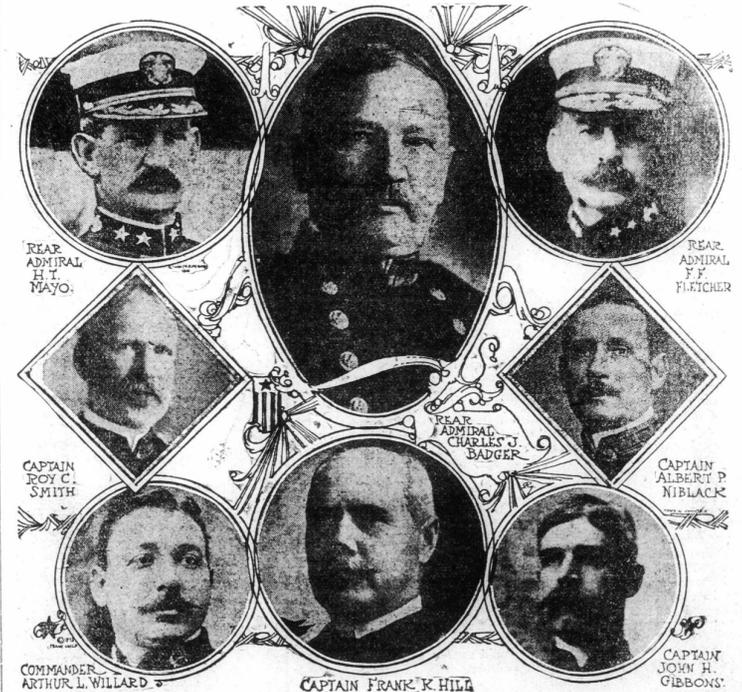

St. George's Day was celebrated in Brantford yesterday as it has not been for six years. A fine gathering of the old country's sons took place during the evening at the Conservatory of Music, and a banquet to commemorate the event was held under the auspices of the Salisbury Lodge of the Sons of England.

One of the principal features of the occasion was the tone of prominent Canadians, who deplored the fact that in the matter of the navy Canada had not yet come to the assistance of the Mother Country. All the speakers realized the great value the Britisher as an asset to the country, and they did not hesitate to voice their opinions. Brother Norman W. Andrews made a splendid chairman. At the head table there were Mayor Spence and Mrs. Spence, W. F. Cocksbutt, M. P., W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., Bro. Norman W. Andrews and Mrs. Andrews, Rev. C. E. Jeakins and Mrs. Jeakins and Mr. W. G. Raymond. The toast "The Imperial Forces" was proposed by P.P. Bro. A. J. Stevens. He was an old military man and was still proud to be able to wear the uniform. At one time the toast used to be "The Army." Then it was the Army and Navy, then the Army, Navy and Volunteers. Now it was the Imperial Forces. The British army was a magnificent brigade and dated back from the reign of Charles II. They had always done their duty, borne their defeats like men, tried again and succeeded. The navy was the pride of the Empire and the envy of the world. Without it, Britain would be nothing. He had great pleasure in proposing the Imperial forces.

MR. COCKSHUTT, M.P. Bro. W. F. Cocksbutt, M.P., responded. He had come down specially from Ottawa in order to be present. His worthy friend had intimated that he was not a fighting man, imputing that the responder was. As for being a fighting man he (Mr. Cocksbutt) had four sons interested and taking an active part in military matters. If he had done the talking his sons perhaps would do the action. He thought that as long as he lived, and as long as men lived there would be no complete and entire peace in the world. He held that he was doing his duty to God and man if he contributed $1000 to the upkeep of the British navy, as if he was giving $1000 to the enlightenment of the heathen. Why the best missionaries had been eaten by the heathens they were to convert, how had the chance which had been effected come about? It was the long, strong arm of the British army and navy which had brought this about. He had been in many dark corners of the earth and knew where of he spoke. He had even seen an old chief whose boast it was that in his youth he had lived on white men. There would be no millenium in his days, and even if it did come about in the far distant future strife would be rampant until then. Canadian Youth Discussed Nor is the Canadian youth any the worse for learning obedience. There

REFUGEES ON BOARD TRAIN AT VERACRUZ

General Exodus of Foreigners From the Capital City.

British and German Officials Arranged to Get People Out

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

VERA CRUZ, April 24.—A refugee train from Mexico City, carrying 150 Americans, 100 Germans, 300 Spaniards and Mexicans and 50 Englishmen, arrived here last evening under the personal conduction of Thomas B. Hohler, charge d'affaires of the British legation. The exodus from the capital was arranged through the joint action of the British and German diplomatic officials with the war office. The train proceeded slowly, and with many interruptions reached the Mexican outposts at Tejeria at noon, where it was detained for two hours while a search was made by the Mexicans for railroad officials, four of whom were arrested and held until General Maas, at Soledad, was communicated with and their release ordered.

Those arrested were General Superintendent Comfort, Superintendent of Locomotives Blake, National Superintendent of Locomotives Burke, and General Superintendent Rowe, all of whom had been formally discharged by the Mexican Government when the roads were taken over.

The passengers on the train suffered little inconvenience, all who desired being furnished with full accommodations. There were fourteen cars in the train, and a majority of the passengers were women and children. About three miles from Vera Cruz a mile long was found torn up. At this point the refugees walked, carrying their baggage to a train on the Vera Cruz end of the break, which the British, co-operating with the Americans, had sent out to meet the train from Mexico City. A detachment of British marines, unarmed, acted as escort to the refugees on this last stage of their journey to Vera Cruz.

From the refugees it was learned that on Wednesday there was a repetition of street demonstrations by mobs, such as had also occurred earlier in the week. In Cinco de Mayo avenue, one of the principal streets, an American flag was thrown to the ground in front of a procession and trampled over by the demonstrators. It was then dragged out and the performance repeated. Later it was torn to shreds amid the yells of the crowd and hand-clappings from spectators in windows and balconies.

A small gathering of Mexicans at the American embassy corner Tuesday night listened to speeches from street orators.

LORD COWDRAY EXPRESSES FEAR

For Safety of Foreign Employees on Mexican Railways.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

LONDON, April 24.—A cabled appeal from the American manager of the Tehuantepec Railway led Lord Cowdray to visit the British foreign offices and the United States embassy to-day to request protection for the foreign employees of the line. Eighty per cent of the employes are American citizens and according to the cable gram from the manager the Mexican authorities are threatening them with arrest and forbidding them to depart from Mexico. Lord Cowdray informed the embassy that the predicament of the employes was alarming. In response to the request of Lord Cowdray, the state department at Washington informed him through the embassy that the Annapolis and the Denver would be at Salina Cruz on the Pacific side to-day and that the Nashville will arrive at Puerto Mexico on the Atlantic side to-day.

The British post office issues the notice that correspondence for Mexico will be forwarded only at the sender's risk and that the payment of money orders in Mexico will not be guaranteed in consequence of the disturbed conditions in that country.

PRESENTATIONS AT PARIS BANQUET

Mr. J. H. Fisher, M. P., Dr. Lovett and Bro. Miller Honored.

PARIS, April 24.—The Paris Cricket Club have organized for the season. Among its ranks are several old country players who will give an excellent account of themselves during the season. The executive ment the other evening and drafted the schedule.

The officers are: W. England, Capt. A. Thurman; Vice Captain, L. E. Drake, Sec. H. Holmes, Treasurer.

Members of the Paris Football Club are practising for their game in Brantford on Saturday with the Cocksfoot United.

The many friends of Mr. M. C. McKay, General Secretary of the C. M. C. A., will regret to learn that he has handed in his resignation and purposes leaving Paris early in June.

Great changes are being wrought along the Lawe Eric and Northern Route in this section, especially on Huson's Hill. Three steam shovels are at work from early day light until late in the evening cutting down the hill and ballasting the tracks. There are also three mogul engines with flat cars of modern construction. The company are opening up a store this week in order that the men may buy clothing, food, etc. on the spot. In camp, there are fully 150 men, with possibly another 50 from around town employed on the line. It is said that next week two more steam shovels will be put to work between here and the Glen.

The many friends of Mrs. George Aitkens of Glenorris, will regret to hear that she is lying seriously ill at her home. Her condition is critical and causing her family deep anxiety.

At next Monday's council meeting a recommendation will be made from the officers of the Fire Brigade and the committee of the town council for the purchase of a hose wagon, the installing of two fire alarm boxes and the painting of the street hydrants, with an arrow showing which way to turn them on.

The local Conservatives are taking steps towards the organization of a Conservative club for Paris.

Last evening the members of Lodge Derbyshire, S. O. E., honored their patron saint, St. George by holding a smoker and concert. There was a large attendance of Englishmen and a rattling good evening spent. Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., occupied the chair in his own inimitable manner.

Among the guests were Mr. J. W. Westbrooke, M.P.P., Rev. C. C. Purton, H. Sanders, Dr. Lovett, and Rev. J. H. Heywood. A popular event during the evening's program was the presentation of gold mounted umbrellas to Mr. J. H. Fisher and Dr. Lovett in recognition of the untiring services of those gentlemen in the interests of the lodge and Englishmen in general. Both recipients replied in appropriate terms.

The musical programme was of a patriotic character. At the close light refreshments were served and the gathering closed with the National Anthem. Bro. C. Miller who has been Inside Guard for many years, and who is leaving town, was presented with a purse of gold.

Receipts From Dreamland

It is announced that the receipts of the Dreamland production, under the auspices of Brant Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, totalled $1600, which amount included revenue from program advertisements. The expenses left a net sum of over $1,000, and the Brant Sanitarium will receive something over $500. The effort is voted an all-round success by those who participated, although it was a success deserved by hard work.

The Dark Lady Whom Shakespeare Loved

Yesterday was the 360th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth and it is to be remarked that one of the few things we know about him, or think we know, is the day upon which he was born. Except for his writings, we know as little of the man himself as we know of St. Luke. The very paucity of data has had the effect of stimulating curiosity. More than one scholar has given up the study of his life in order to discover any personal secrets they may reveal. Others have ransacked the old records and have spent years in delving into ancient documents in the hope of adding to the scanty stock of knowledge that the world has about one of the greatest men who ever inhabited it. The latest example of this sort of do-it-yourself history is a book by Mr. Frank Harris, a brilliant English writer and editor, and an acknowledged authority upon Shakespeare. Mr. Harris has come forward with the romantic theory that some of the greatest of Shakespeare's work was the result of his wild passion for a young woman, who is said to have been Mary Fitton, and whom Mr. Harris seeks to identify as the "dark woman" of Shakespeare's sonnets.

Elizabeth's Maid of Honor.

Of Mary Fitton, fortunately we know more than we do of Shakespeare. She was an accredited figure at court, a girl of good family, and the records of her life were naturally more carefully preserved than were those of Shakespeare, who while he was admitted in his lifetime to be a man of remarkable gifts, was not much more esteemed socially than might be a barber who happened to be a talented whistler. At the age of 17, Mary Fitton was summoned to the court of Elizabeth to be a maid-of-honor, and it was shortly after this event that Shakespeare is supposed to have written her "Romeo and Juliet" was written about this time, and Mr. Harris has convinced himself that Rosalind, whom Romeo loved until Juliet took him by storm, we receive the poet's first impression of Mary Fitton.

Rosalind, the "Dark Lady."

As Mr. Harris remarks, it is seldom that Shakespeare gives a photographic description of a character, but he has given us such a picture of Rosalind, who never comes upon the scene. She "torments" Romeo; she is "hard-hearted"; a white witch with black eyes; in four lines she is mentioned twice, once as "pale" and again as "white." We are told of her "scarlet lip," and infer that there was a startling contrast between her pallor and the blackness of her hair and eyes. Mr. Harris says that obviously this is a portrait drawn from life, and that it is just as manifestly the picture of the "dark lady" of the sonnets. In "Love's Labor Lost" we have another Rosalind, and it is the same girl that the dramatist is describing:

"A white wanton with a velvet brow, With two pitch-balls stuck in her face for eyes; Aye, and by Heaven, one that will do to do death."

Though Argus were her cunuch and her guard; And I to sigh for her! To watch for her! To pray for her! Go to! It is a plague."

Cleopatra the Poet's Sweetheart.

But it is in "Anthony and Cleopatra" that he gives the fullest portrait of his mistress, if the conclusions of Mr. Harris are to be accepted. She is Cleopatra, one of the most wonderful characters in Shakespeare; and she is cunning past man's thought.

Eno. Alack, sir, no; her passions are made of nothing but the finest part of pure love.

Ant. Would I had never seen her! Eno. O, sir, you had then left unchosen a wonderful piece of work; which not to have blest withal would have discredited your travesty.

Then comes these memorable lines: "Age cannot wither her, nor custom stale Her infinite variety. Other women The appetites they feed; but she makes hungry Where most she satisfies."

Lost to a Friend.

Mr. Harris pursues his investigations through the other plays, and picks up the thread of Mary Fitton in "Hamlet," "Macbeth," "Othello," and "The Tempest." For a dozen years, it would appear, this dark lady held the poet in thrall. Rarely was she kind to him. Often she would boldly give herself to his rivals, and then call

KING OF JOKERS; JOKE ON HIM

Jack Rose Really Thought He Was Taken Into Custody.

A joke is a joke but some people do not realize when a joke is being played on them. Such was the case last night when a practical joker arrested Jack Rose, the King of Nuts, who is playing at the Colonial this week. Rose is a very eccentric character and late last night he entered the Brant and loudly called for Manager Moulle. A well known character in the city noted for his practical jokes, stepped up to Rose and told him he was under arrest for stealing a coat. Rose protested his innocence but the joker represented himself as a private detective insisted on hauling him off to jail. Rose pleaded to be taken to the Belmont where he said he could prove his innocence and the joker produced a pair of handcuffs and together they proceeded to the Belmont where Rose proceeded to prove his innocence. After considering some time during which he afforded a crowd of onlookers some amusement the joker decided to let him man go. Rose still believes he was arrested in earnest.

Ruins Gown to Stop Wife's Going

NEW YORK, April 23.—Detective Sheedy stopped Saturday night when he saw a man and a young woman wrangling at Eighteenth street and Sixth Avenue. The young woman who was very pretty, was accompanied by an older woman. They were about to board a car to go uptown and the man was protesting. The young woman wore a pink silk dress, white dancing shoes and white gloves, and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

"I am your husband, and say you won't go to this dance," the man cried, loud enough to be heard by several persons near by.

Just then a car came along and the women went toward it. The man followed. The car stopped, and the elder of the women got in. The young woman prepared to follow her and turned, smiling, to the man.

"I guess you won't go," Sheedy heard him say.

With these words he drew a bottle from his pocket and flung the contents at the woman. Great black splashes appeared on the pink dress, and the young woman now wore black gloves, while ink, thick, black ink, dripped to the pavement.

Sheedy caught the man as he turned with the bottle in his hand and led him before the weeping women to the West Seventeenth Street Station, where a tale of marital discord was unfolded. At the close the husband, who said he was David Cunningham, 27 years old, a railroad brakeman of Ridgely Park, N. J., was locked up charged with disorderly conduct.

Only the interference of several policemen saved Cunningham from getting a drubbing from Mrs. Cunningham and the other woman, who him back. One of her lovers was Lord William Herbert, who wooed her first, it would seem, to plead the cause of the poet. He ended by falling in love with her and she appears to have returned the passion, for a time at least. How faithful Shakespeare was to the girl who had infatuated him we have no means of knowing. It is certain that he had little love for his wife, who married him when he was 18 and she nearly 26. In his will he left her his second best bed, though he provided his daughters with handsome dowries. With his unloved wife in Stratford, it is not unnatural to suppose that a man of Shakespeare's temperament would fall in love with someone else, and Mr. Harris believes that had it not been for Mary Fitton his greatest works would never have been written.

met her. He heard she was going to the dance, and told her he would go with her. She said he could not, and he declared she could not go alone. She was just going with her mother, she explained, when—and just then she looked at the ink-spattered dress and began to cry.

NERVOUS DISEASES IN THE SPRING

Cured by Toning the Blood and Strengthening the Nerves

It is the opinion of the best medical authorities, after long observation that nervous diseases are more common and more serious in the spring than at any other time of the year. Vital changes in the system after long winter months, may cause much more trouble than the familiar spring weakness and weariness from which most people suffer as the result of indoor life, in poorly ventilated and often overheated buildings. Official records prove that in April and May neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy and other forms of nerve troubles are at their worst and that then, more than any other time, a blood making nerve restoring tonic is needed.

The antiquated custom of taking purgatives in the spring is useless, for the system really needs strengthening, while purgatives only gallop through the bowels, leaving you weaker. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for they actually make the new, rich red blood that feeds the starved nerves, and thus cures the many forms of nervous disorders. They cure also such other forms of spring troubles as headaches, poor appetite, weakness in the limbs, as well as remove unsightly pimples and eruptions. In fact they unfailingly bring new health and strength to weak, tired and depressed men, women and children.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REBELS MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

the international border as a precaution against possible disorders and for any other eventualities. In addition to the movement of land troops the naval strength of the United States in Mexican waters is to be increased by a special service squadron.

Considerable uneasiness continued to be felt here over rumors of anti-American demonstrations in Mexico City, where there are still many United States citizens and over more definite reports of similar troubles at Ensenada on the west coast of Mexico where it was reported last night that the American consulate had been attacked.

Steps were immediately taken to afford relief in the latter case by the despatch of a gunboat from San Diego. Word of its arrival at Ensenada was hurriedly expected.

The tenseness of the situation between the United States and Mexico was heightened by the outward vicinities seen in the severing of all formal connections between the two countries by the almost simultaneous departure from Washington of Mexican Charge Algara and from Mexico City of Charge O'Shaughnessy.

Mr. Algara left for Toronto, Canada, last night, while Mr. O'Shaughnessy went to Vera Cruz.

Considerable significance is seen in the selection of Brazil to look after American interests in Mexico, in the absence of United States representatives. Where Brazil is not represented American interests will be cared for by France.

Scenes of activity were in evidence early to-day at the various departments of the government, immediately concerned with the Mexican situation. Despite the fact that cabinet officers and their clerical forces were at the department at a late hour last night they were at their desks early to-day prepared to meet any further exigencies that might arise.

In the meantime members of congress are giving the closest attention to developments and it is considered not improbable that action bearing upon the situation may be taken by congress.

CHANCE IS TICKLED
Manager Frank Chance of the New Yorks, is very much delighted with the spirit of his players and believes he will have a real ball club before the end of the season.

"You should have heard them around the club house the day after they trimmed the Athletics so badly before the opening crowd," he said. "Talk of pepper! Why, those kids actually believed they had the pennant won."

"Hey, Frank, let me at 'em to-day," said Ray Keating. "I'll stand those world's champions on their ears."

"Keating's confidence was characteristic of the team. And, it wasn't conceit, either. They talked the same way before the game started. It is the kind of spirit that will get all out of a team it possibly possesses. It was the same spirit that made the old Cubs so grand a ball team."

"There never was a greater team than the Cubs," said Chance. "Jan for man the Athletics of to-day would outlast them. But Mack's world's champions lack their old fighting spirit."

"You never saw the Cubs snaking to-day. They have with any rival players. In 1908 on the last trip east, not one of us ever spoke to a rival save to bow him out or taunt him. We dropped a couple of games to Boston, but from there we visited New York, Philadelphia and Brooklyn without being stopped."

"I shall never forget the melancholy of Overall when Cincinnati finally broke our winning streak. Up to the ninth he had the Reds beaten. 1 for 1. They got to him then and crowded over three runs. Two were on bases with two out, when Bobbee Bescher got big Jeff in a hole. He looked to me for instructions and I told him to depend on the old reliable machine behind him. Well, Bescher singled and won the game."

"That night Evers came to me and told me to watch Overall. He had fretted so much over an assumed mistake, which was really mine if anybody's that he was threatening to commit suicide. Almer Brown, his room mate, secretly watched him all night long. That's the spirit of my old-time Cubs, and my new time New Yorks seem to have caught the spark."

Ancient Copper Mines.
Men are now at work at the ancient copper mines at Alderley, which have been taken on a long lease from Lord Sheffield by Mr. A. Gibbs, of London. Works have been erected, and a railway put down to the entrance to the workings for the carriage of copper ore.

Four Times Married.
The death has occurred at Northampton at the age of eighty-two of Jacob Abraham, believed to be the first professional cricketer Northampton produced. He was from 1856 to 1868 coach to Exeter College, Oxford. He was four times married and his widow has lost four husbands.

War Bulletins Over the Wire Are Numerous

(By Special Wire to the Courier)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Orders to hold up all shipments of arms across the Mexican border were sent to-day by the treasury department to all collectors of customs. The orders are in co-operation with the war departments efforts to enforce the embargo. Collectors were notified to hold all shipments of arms "until further notice."

A Guard Put On.
LONDON, April 24.—The Daily Mail's Mexico City despatch, dated Thursday, says: "A military guard was placed on the United States embassy this afternoon. The arms and ammunition, which had been there for some time, were removed, as they were considered unnecessary, in view of the protection afforded by the Mexican Government."

"The life of the city is almost normal, many shops have their shutters up, but nearly all are open. Some of the British residents are bearing rosettes of the British colors. Many Americans remain and may be seen in the streets."

"There have been some processions with flags, but no disorderliness worth mentioning."

Shipping Explosives.
STONY POINT, N. Y., April 24.—The largest shipment of explosives and ammunition since the Spanish-American war left the Jonia Island naval arsenal yesterday. The consignment of powder, shells and explosives, weighing about 200,000 pounds, was conveyed on tugs to warships stationed at the New York navy yard. Ammunition has been leaving the island for ten days, the total shipments to date, aggregate, including the shells, more than a million pounds.

Marines On March.
NEW YORK, April 24.—A detachment of 100 marines in heavy service impedimenta marching down Fifth avenue yesterday, furnished the first martial display in connection with the hostilities in Mexico seen on the streets of New York. The detachment, made up of marines from the barracks at Portsmouth, N. H., and Boston, Mass., marched on the Grand Central to the Pennsylvania Railroad station, where they entrained for Philadelphia to join other marines to sail on the Morro Castle.

The rhythm of the footsteps of the marchers brought a crowd to Fifth avenue and cheers were frequent along the few blocks of the line of march.

The squad was joined in Jersey City by a squad of seventy eight men from the New York navy yard.

No Intervention.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—Diplomatic officials here to-day denied reports that Thomas B. Hoeller, charge of the British embassy at Mexico City, had been sent to confer with Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz with a view to opening diplomatic negotiations for a solution of the Mexican difficulty.

Quebec Town Is Wiped Out

The prisoners in the county jail, seven in all, worked hard during the fire, armed with buckets.

Most of the homeless have gone to seek refuge with friends on Calumet Island, Portage du Fort, Shawville, Campbell's Bay and other nearby places. The loss is about $100,000.

Territorial Wounded.
Private Samuel Muir, twenty-two, of Town End, Chapel-en-le-Frith, a Territorial, is confined to bed disabled by a pistol shot in the leg. He was going to the Drill Hall when there was a loud report, and he fell. He had a loaded revolver in one of his trouser pockets which was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered his thigh.

A TIMELY QUERY.

On Monday of this week Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., put these two timely questions in the Dominion House:

1. In the event of war between the United States and Mexico, will the Government take any precautions to insure the safety of the lives and property of Canadians in the latter country?

2. If so, what action will be taken? In reply Premier Borden said in effect that Canadian interests would be safe in the hands of the British navy.

In the Senate yesterday Senator Poirier put a similar question, and asked if the Niobe and the Rainbow were to be sent to the scene. These boats constitute Laurier's magnificent toy navy. About the only thing they are fit for would be to seize pirate vessels on the Brantford canal.

Canada's dependence is, as usual in such matters, upon the fleet of John Bull, and the deep shame of it is that not one cent has ever been contributed by the Dominion for the upkeep of that fleet, which is, and has ever been, the watchdog of British shores the world over, and a guarantee of the safety of British trade routes.

The Borden Government attempted to discharge a long-overdue duty by the contribution of $35,000,000, but that fine Imperialist, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had his servile majority in the Upper Chamber guillotine the proposal, to the deep humiliation of every self-respecting Canadian.

A SHOCK FOR OLIVER.

The Liberal party, in the person of Hon. Frank Oliver, was much taken aback recently in the House of Commons during the continuation of the debate on the N.T.R. report, when a chance remark made by the member for Edmonton averted the alleged failings of the present administration gave an opportunity for Hon. Dr. Reid to cite one instance at least where the methods of the present Government were in striking contrast to those of the late administration.

This consisted in Dr. Reid's announcement that Mr. R. A. Pringle, K.C., of Ottawa, had been appointed a commissioner to investigate the charges recently made in regard to the subsidy granted to the Southampton Railway, a 13-mile line in New Brunswick. Mr. Oliver had been holding forth in his customary vein of explosive indignation and had charged that the present Government was no stranger to railway graft, since it had permitted this matter, involving $26,000, to pass without instituting an investigation.

Hon. Dr. Reid came to his feet at once when this insinuation was made, and promptly told Mr. Oliver that the Government had already appointed a commissioner to investigate these charges.

"Who is he?" asked Mr. Emmerson. "Mr. R. A. Pringle of Ottawa," said Dr. Reid.

Hon. Mr. Oliver was plainly taken aback, but admitted, without enthusiasm, that he must congratulate the Minister on his prompt action.

"The difference," replied Dr. Reid, "is that we start an investigation at once. When in opposition we asked for an investigation into the Transcontinental it was refused to us."

WAR WITH ALL MEXICO.

Late developments would seem to indicate that our neighbors are now committed to war with all Mexico. The original movement was putatively an act of reprisal because some U. S. marines were temporarily placed under arrest, but Senator Root in the House undoubtedly put the matter plainly when he said that the real reason was to avenge during a term of years the taking of American lives and the loss of American properties in that country.

Editor Macdonald of the Toronto Globe who is now in Washington had an interview with President Wilson yesterday and he reports him as saying in tones of sorrowful, almost bitter regret: "I cannot understand what Carranza means." This, of course refers to the statement of the latter that the rebels in common with Huerta's forces regard the armed intervention authorized from Washington as an unwarranted act against the entire nation. Just why President Wilson should feel surprised seems somewhat difficult to imagine. He must know that resentment against Uncle Sam has long been rife in the land of the sombrero, that they have resented the circumstance that much of their former territory is in the hands of the States and that they have always regarded the Monroe doctrine as an insult. Under such circumstances Carranza's message would apparently be just what might have been expected. It is a deplorable situation, and one with regard to which Canadians for the most part will be apt to extend sympathy. People who speak lightly of Mexico do not seem to realize that it possesses about twice the population of Canada, that the inhabitants are used to fighting and are good marksmen, and that there are mountainous regions in the country about equal to the Himalayas. Our neighbors in the event of general hostilities will win out without question but they will have something very like the Boer war on their hands.

LAURIER'S PROPOSALS. Sir Wilfrid Laurier "everything by turns and nothing long" has moved this amendment to the budget speech: "That this House is of the opinion that in view of the prevailing economic conditions of the country it is advisable to place wheat products and agricultural implements on the free list, and that without injustice to any class steps should be taken to alleviate the high cost of living by considerable removal of taxation."

It will be noticed that there is nothing in the above about free food, that new fad which the White Plumed Knight, when speaking not long ago in Hamilton, declared to be the sole and whole aim of his immediate ambition.

For over fifteen years this man held power and he could at any time have introduced his present program, but he didn't. He knew better, but now through his own foolishness, he finds himself in Opposition, he is grasping at any and every cry in the vain hope that by a fusillade of faddisms he may hit the popular imagination in some direction. As D'Israeli once said of Gladstone, he is an "extinct volcano." At the same time the lava of his past activities has the party hopes buried for very many years yet to come.

NOTES AND COMMENTS. Mr. Wilson may call it what he likes, but if Mexico had a navy, it would be war.

If a political opponent secures something for this community that is needed, throw stones at him. That's the Expositor motto.

Avant there, splice the main brace, and haul up the anchor, the Canadian navy may go to Mexico and settle the whole blooming situation.

If Huerta continues to defy the United States, Canada might make a friend of Uncle Sam for life by rushing down the Niobe and the Rainbow.

Of thirty men who applied for work at the Y. M. C. A. in St. Thomas, Ontario, not one would accept openings with farmers of the district. And probably any one of them would insist that starvation stares them in the face.

The warm tributes to the late Sir William Whyte which have appeared in the press throughout Canada show that he was held in general respect and esteem. His career should be an inspiration to the colleagues he has left working at the debate tasks he performed so successfully.

Birthdays of Note

FRIDAY, APRIL TWENTY-FOUR

REV. DR. R. P. MACKAY, Foreign Mission Secretary of the Presbyterian Church and an ex-moderator of its General Assembly, was born sixty-seven years ago to-day in famous East Zorra Township. He is one of the conspicuous figures in the Presbyterian denomination, a man of strong character, wide knowledge and winning personality. Perhaps the most interesting thing about him is the frequency with which he is taken by devout members of the Roman Catholic Church for a priest of their communion. This is owing largely to his appearance, which is decidedly ecclesiastical. Even Catholic priests themselves have mistaken him for one of themselves, as witness once when he was riding on a train and was seated immediately in front of a priest. The latter presently leaned over and said, "Good morning, father; where is your parish?"

OLD MAIDS. All girls should marry when they can. There's naught more useful than a man. A husband has some faults, no doubt, and yet he's good to have about, and she who doesn't get a mate will wish she had one, soon or late. That girl is off her base, I fear, who plans to have a high career, who siddesteps vows and wedding rings to follow after abstract things. I know so many ancient maids who in professions, arts or trades have tried to cut a manlike swath, and old age finds them in the brood. A loneliness, as of the tomb, enshrouds the spinners in its gloom; the jim crew honors they have won they'd sell at seven cents a ton. Their sun is shining in the West, and they, unloved and uncaressed, must envy, as they leakily roam, the girl with husband, hearth and home. Get married, then, Jennie dear; don't fiddle with a cheap career. Select a man who's true and good, whose head is not composed of wood, a man whose sound in wind and limb, then round him up and marry him. Oh, rush him to the altar rail, nor heed his protest or his wail. "This is," you'll say, when he's won, "the best day's work I've ever done." WALT MASON.

Press Comment. Quite Discouraging. (From the Vancouver Province). The most discouraging sight the Philadelphia Record has ever witnessed was that of a talkative barber shaving a deaf mute.

Stop Gun-Toting. (From the Ottawa Journal). The number of crimes of violence which are committed would be cut in two by vigorous restrictions in force against private ownership of firearms.

A Broad View. (From the Kingston Standard). A Chinaman in Vancouver is accused of murdering his mistress and now it is said there is a demand for the wholesale dismissal of all Chinese servants. There is even talk of boycotting hotels and restaurants that employ Chinese help. How easy it is to appeal to race prejudice. A dozen Canadian servants in different parts of the country might kill their mistresses without attracting any special attention outside of the localities specially interested. As a matter of fact the Chinese people who come to this country do not figure very prominently in the criminal class. Some of them gamble and some of them hit the opium pipe, but apart from that their record compares favorably with that of any other class in the country.

ments as the Act requires. Whenever an accident occurs this board will send their representative to the scene to make a report, and upon application they will hand out the compensation. Every accident has to be reported to them by the employer of the injured person or persons. Only one condition is connected with this phase of the act, seven days must elapse before the collections can be made.

This board has supreme power, no appeals can be made of their judgment. There will be no loss through an employer becoming insolvent or being unable to pay the claims.

The Act does away with any litigation. In this respect it goes farther than any other act in the whole world. This act takes the settlement of claims out of the hands of liability insurance companies. Under the old law only 25 per cent of the insurance paid by the employers reached the pockets of the injured working man. Under the new law, nearly all working man has to bear the loss of money paid by the manufacturer will go to pay the compensation. The scale of compensation is the best in the Dominion of Canada, and in fact any other act in the British Empire.

The act covers six diseases known as industrial diseases, namely, anthrax, lead poisoning, mercury poisoning, phosphorus poisoning, arsenic poisoning and any disease contracted in mines.

The collective system of liability under the act appears to have many advantages over the individual liability of the English act. Under it payment is sure and not dependent at all upon the financial standing of the employer of labor. It would also tend to displace the old and disabled workmen.

Mr. Brewster then went on to voice his views on different parts of the act. It is not perfect by all means, he continued, but it is a splendid effort on the part of the Government to aid the workingman. Society recognizes the fact that if industrial toilers if injured, or their dependents if killed are just as much entitled to be pensioned as are those who were wounded and killed in the battlefield in defense of our country. The bill is an assumption by society of part of the burden that falls upon the workmen in our industrial fields, and the division of the burden is fair.

The man. Under the new law, nearly all working man has to bear the loss of money paid by the manufacturer will ed, but on the other hand the employer has to bear the burden of 55 per cent of the wages, with this difference also, that he can shift his burden to the purchaser of his goods.

At the close of his address Mr. Brewster answered several questions relative to the disbursement of the compensation. He also explained that the only people barred from the act were farmers and domestic servants.

At the close of the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Brewster, was moved by Mr. George A. Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Council, and was seconded by Mr. Edwards. Another vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Wedlake for acting as chairman, by Mr. Edwards and seconded by Mr. Sleeth.

WOULDN'T SPOIL SPORT. Mr. G. H. Wells, whose new book is to appear shortly, tells a story of a deaf old fisherman who was out rowing in his boat one day when a motor boat near him sprang a leak and almost immediately sank. To the great indignation of the unfortunate occupants of the motor boat, the old man took the slightest notice of their plight, but rowed calmly along, puffing serenely at his clay pipe. They shouted but he was too deaf to hear. Finally they managed to swim to his boat and scramble on board.

He seemed surprised to see them and was still more taken back when one of them yelled indignantly at him "Confound you. Why didn't you lend us a hand? Didn't you see we were sinking?"

"Lor' bless you," he gasped in reply "I saw yer right enough, but I thought you was one of them new fangled submarines."

Sea Message to "Lloyd's". An interesting message from the sea was found on March 27 on the shore near Morte Point, on the North Devon coast, by Mr. Thomas Parker, of Morte-hoc. The bottle in which it was placed was covered with barnacles.

The message read: "All's well on board. This was cast adrift from New York, 23rd July, 1,000 miles from Plymouth.—(Signed) J. B. Randish, third steward. If found please note in 'Lloyd's'."

The Budget debate in the Commons was concluded, the speakers of the day being Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Dr. Michael Clark, H. H. Stevens and Mr. George H. Boivin.

"LET US GET BETTER ACQUAINTED, GENTLEMEN!"

Our "Direct From the Mills" Proposition Has Met with Splendid Reception From the Citizens of Brantford

Since opening day we have enjoyed a steady patronage, and men who came as skeptics—men who could hardly credit the statements made—have gone away convinced that the Suit or Overcoat we make to measure at $15 cannot be duplicated in any reliable tailoring firm under $25 or $30. There is no secret about it. The facts are plain. We simply abolish all profits of the middleman by dealing direct with the great Scotch mills and delivering the garments to you without the profit of the wholesaler tacked on. It's easy, to us, for we command the capital, and our entire chain of stores in the principal cities and large centres creates an immense demand.

Come To-Morrow and See!

We cordially invite you men who have not been here yet to visit our store to-morrow. Come in and see these splendid fabrics. See the wonderful range of Suits and Overcoats that come "direct from the mills." You have unrestricted choice, remember. You pick from any fabric in the store, and there is but the one price—$15—no more, no less.

All the weaves in Scotch Tweeds, Fine Worsteds, Blue and Black Serges, Cassimeres, Shetlands, Home-spuns, Vicuna Cloths.

WAR SITUATION IN A NUTSHELL FROM CAPITOL

Apparently it is Semi-War and a Semi-Game of Wait and See.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
 WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Wilson and his war staff to-day proceeded with their plans for operations in Mexico with business-like expedition. The day found every available American warship ploughing southward for the Mexican coasts on the Atlantic and Pacific and a full brigade of the first army division shipping in transports from Galveston for Vera Cruz. This army force would place more than 10,000 American troops in the Mexican seaport to hold the city or begin offensive operations towards Mexico City, with Vera Cruz as a base. No plans for further aggressive movements about Vera Cruz were made to-day. The President, in talking over the situation with callers, said that for the present no general campaign outside of Vera Cruz was planned, and that no further campaign would be begun unless General Huerta declared war, or sought reprisal for the seizure of the city. The President told Representative Fitzgerald that no further war funds were needed as yet, and that none would be asked for unless a general war was precipitated by Huerta. Meantime reports from Admiral Badger, in Vera Cruz, said that the city was comparatively quiet, and that the American forces were doing their utmost to restore order and aid in the restoration of business. Bands from the American fleet gave concerts in the streets where a few hours before the rattle of rifles had heralded death and injury. By to-morrow Admiral Badger will have 6,500 marines and bluejackets ashore at Vera Cruz, sufficient, he said, to repulse any effort that may be made by the Mexican forces under General Maas, now at Soledad, 36 miles away. The transports convoyed by the first torpedo boat division, were expected to get away late to-day or to-night. The whereabouts of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge, who last night informed the State Department that he was leaving Mexico City with his passports, is now a matter of some speculation. He had announced his intention of going to Vera Cruz by railroad, but private despatches to-day reported him on his way to Manzanillo, on the Pacific coast. The department was unable to secure any information later than O'Shaughnessy's announced intention of leaving by way of Vera Cruz. The situation on the northern border of Mexico was carefully studied by the war department. Secretary Daniels of the navy department said that no attack on American forces by the Constitutionalist in northern Mexico was feared, and it was decided that no offensive operations should be begun in the Constitutionalist territory. About three weeks ago questions were asked in the House of Commons about the reason for withholding the use of the mails to The Menace, published in the United States and Hon. L. P. Pelletier, postmaster-general explained that his deputy, Dr. Coulter, had done so because it had indulged in indecent comment against members of the Roman Catholic Church in general. Miners' New Official. Mr. George Robson, general treasurer of the Northumberland and Durham Miners' Permanent Relief Fund, was appointed general secretary of the fund at Newcastle on Saturday in succession to Mr. William Barnes. There were thirty candidates.

THEY SNIPED FROM THE ROOF OF THE GENERAL HOSPITAL

Discovery Made at Vera Cruz—Forty Dead Are Found in Mortuary.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
 VERA CRUZ, April 24.—The battleship Louisiana arrived to-day and immediately landed detachments of marines and blue jackets. The Mississippi also prepared to send ashore 700 marines and a battalion of blue jackets as well as two aeroplanes. The marines who had been holding the outposts were relieved to-day by a battalion of blue jackets.

All about the city detachments of blue jackets and marines are quartered, while squads patrol the streets. By to-morrow it is probable that the total force on shore will reach 6,500 men. The outposts have been equipped with twelve machine guns and several 3-inch field pieces which were taken to the front yesterday. Rear Admiral Fletcher's headquarters at the Terminal Hotel are guarded by machine guns, while in the vicinity are seven field pieces held in reserve.

Over 250 Mexican sick and wounded were found in the San Sebastian hospital, when it was inspected to-day by a navy surgeon. Among the wounded was only one woman, who had been shot through the arm. In the mortuary of the hospital 40 unburied Mexican dead were lying as well as a supply of ammunition. This had been protected from the fire of the warships and the rifle fire of the landing parties by the hospital flag, although it appears certain that there was much sniping from the roof of the hospital.

Conditions in the hospital were found to be so bad that three navy surgeons were detailed to-day to assist the hospital authorities, while food and medicine were supplied from the olace. All the American wounded have been taken on board the olace. The medical department to-day made an inspection of the sanitary conditions of the city and opened negotiations with the Mexican health officials in the hope of inducing them to return to their work. With Commander Stuckney of the Prairie appointed commander-of-the-port, the American authorities to-day undertook the administration of the customs. For a time there will be in reality two customs houses. Marano As Carraga, the Mexican collector, is not inclined to serve under American supervision, but declares he will take charge of the undischarged business which was in hand at the moment of the occupation. Commander tickney and his men are to look after the new business and believe they will have no difficulty in retaining a few of the old officials.

Rear Admiral Fletcher has begun the general supervision of the city and he and his staff are working very ardently in straightening out local affairs. Very few of the former heads of the city departments have returned to take up their positions, and most of them seem to have left the city.

The sanitation plant of the municipality was placed in operation again to-day under a new chief and the street car lines also have begun to resume. Numbers of stores and restaurants were opened yesterday and crowds walked the streets in the open places. Except for the passing of an occasional patrol the city seems almost to have resumed its normal condition.

AMERICANS IN A GRAVE PANIC AT TAMPICO, MEX.

Because U. S. Warships All Pulled Out to Sea For Vera Cruz.

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 21, via Vera Cruz, April 24.—Great apprehension was caused here to-day when, after all the Americans resident in Tampico and vicinity had been advised to leave the country immediately, the scout cruiser Chester cleared for action and steamed down the river. The gunboat Dolphin, also cleared for action, followed her, and both vessels saluted the British cruiser Herminone as they passed. Then came the Des Moines with her gun crews standing ready at the guns.

The three vessels disappeared round the bend of the river and passed out to sea, where it was understood the Des Moines would remain off the port, while the rest of the American vessels proceeded to Vera Cruz. The disappearance of the protecting ships caused astonishment and dismay among the American residents, who were unable to believe they had been deliberately abandoned on what appeared to be the eve of hostilities in the midst of a population known to cherish feelings of bitter hatred against Americans.

ANOTHER MCGRAW STORY
 Here is a story that is being told about John McGraw, the Giant manager, to show just what a strategist he is.

Two years ago, when the Giants, after a big lead earlier in the year, began to wobble in a horrible fashion, the club stacked up against the Pirates for a four game "crucial" series in the Stogie City. Claude Hendrix, in his first year as a big leaguer, was having great success as a Pirate pitcher. He worked in the first game against the Giants in that series, and took their measure in easy fashion.

McGraw figured that the Pirates would send Hendrix back at the Giants again in the last game. And he knew that Hendrix, confident through the first easy victory, might duplicate the trick. So after the first game McGraw halted Hendrix as he was hustling to the clubhouse.

"Nice game you pitched, my boy," said McGraw, in a sort of fatherly way. "Nice work. By the way, what are the Pirates paying you?" Hendrix told him. It wasn't any big salary, as salaries go these war-time days, but it was a pretty big salary for a youth just fresh from the bushes. And Hendrix was proud of that salary.

"How much?" asked McGraw again in seeming surprise. Hendrix repeated the figures. "Huh," grunted McGraw, sarcastically. And then he walked away. That "huh" sank home. It changed Hendrix right there from a satisfied, confident, somewhat conceited youth to one sans conceit, to one lacking in former confidence, and made him somewhat dissatisfied.

And in the next game Hendrix worked against the Giants he wasn't himself. That "huh" still hurt, and he couldn't get his mind off it. And the Giants grabbed the game that marked the turning point for them, lifted them out of the rut, and sent them breezing along to the pennant. The business section of Bryson, Que., was destroyed by fire; twenty-eight stores and dwellings being burned.

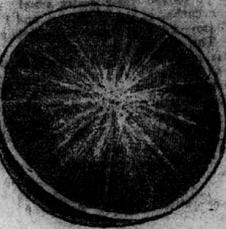

THE MENACE

Published in Canada Will be Allowed to Go Through the Mail.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
 OTTAWA, Ont., April 24.—While the post office department is inquiring into the status of the Canadian edition of The Menace, a Canadian weekly paper, said to be published in the interests of Protestantism, the head office of which is in the United States, interim mail, privileges have been granted to it. If the officials of the department find the Canadian edition of this paper, which is published in Aurora, Ontario, is no better than the American edition, it will be forbidden the use of the mails, as is the American edition.

About three weeks ago questions were asked in the House of Commons about the reason for withholding the use of the mails to The Menace, published in the United States and Hon. L. P. Pelletier, postmaster-general explained that his deputy, Dr. Coulter, had done so because it had indulged in indecent comment against members of the Roman Catholic Church in general.

The announcement is made that a new musical organization is to be inaugurated in Brantford. A few music lovers met the other evening and elected Miss Gwendolene Mills as secretary protem of the new society. Further announcements will no doubt be made in the next few days.

FIRST MOVE OF THE U. S. ARMY STARTED TODAY

Fifth Brigade of First Division Departs From Galveston.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
 WASHINGTON, April 24.—The war department bustled with activity to-day following the first actual movement of the army in the Mexican crisis, the departure of the Fifth brigade of the first division from Galveston by transport for Vera Cruz.

Major General Wood designated to take command of the troops in the field was in charge of the movement, and he received reports early stating that the brigade had been shipped and would leave later in the day. Meantime the department was busy with conditions on the Texas border. Despite the friendly attitude assumed by General Pancho Villa in his state along the border were apprehensive, and the department received several applications for additional border guards. General Wood and his aides carefully scanned all information as to the concentration of Constitutional forces in the neighborhood of Juarez where Villa is located. President Wilson and his advisers anxiously awaited word to-day of the safe arrival of Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy at Vera Cruz. He left Mexico City under special Mexican guard during the night and Admiral Badger has been ordered to give safe conduct to his train through the American lines.

Officials of the navy and war departments busied themselves with plans for further operations in the neighborhood of Vera Cruz. With the Fifth Brigade under General Funston at the Mexican seaport there will be concentrated a force sufficient to hold the city or to begin offensive operations. General Maas, the Huerta commander, who left Vera Cruz was reported as concentrating all his available forces at Soledad, 36 miles away on the railroad line to Mexico City. Reports from Admiral Badger, however, said that the forces now in Vera Cruz should be able to withstand any attack. Meantime no plans for any movement on the northern border were perfected. It generally was understood that no offensive operations would be undertaken into the territory controlled by the Constitutionalist at this time.

The possibility of requests of support from congress for carrying on further operations by the president, increased to-day. The war department considered the need for volunteers, and estimated on the funds that would be needed for mobilizing the militia. At the navy department Representative Padgett of Tennessee, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, was called into conference with Secretary Daniels. The naval appropriation bill carrying $142,000,000 and providing for the building of two new battleships is now under consideration in the house.

The workmen's compensation bill in the Legislature passed through committee and stands for third reading.

 is in Canada a great lack of respect both to man and God. Many Canadian youths were allowed to grow up without any idea of obedience or discipline. Take a walk down the aisles of the cathedrals of Great Britain and you will find monuments to a man whom the inscription says died fighting for his country, home and king. President Wilson had no idea of being entangled in a war when he left office. His intentions were all peace. Yet what was the result? Keep the Dust and Dirt Out of Your Home

A Diamond Electric Suction Cleaner not only lightens the work of the housekeeper, but insures sanitation. Every particle of dust is drawn from under the carpet, as well as on top, and deposited in the dust collector, not on the furniture and about the room, as is the case when the old-fashioned broom is used.

Get the dust and dirt out of your home, and the doctor will be a rare visitor. With the Diamond the work is done in a fraction of the time, and with very little effort, and you know you get all the dirt.

THE DIAMOND CLEANER IS NEAT APPEARING, light in weight, easy to operate, and yet small enough to go in any broom closet. Its motor is made by the largest company on the continent and is self-oiling. There is no excuse for anyone continuing to use the old-fashioned broom which spreads the dust from one point to another and tires out the housewife early in the day. Electricity is cheap and convenient. The price of Diamond Cleaners is $35.00 in the United States, and our price in Brantford is $40.00.

Without obligating you in any way we would be pleased to send one of these little machines to your home on trial.

Englishman's Spirit

Take a walk down the aisles of the cathedrals of Great Britain and you will find monuments to men whom the inscription says died fighting for their country, home and flag. That was the spirit of an Englishman. I believe it is possible for a man to be a soldier and a Christian, declared the speaker. That was a great reason why he thought that peace on earth was a remote thing.

Ashtamed of Canada's Policy "Yesterday," said Mr. Cockshutt, I put a question to Premier Borden

P. P. B. H. BENNING

Chairman of St. George's Day Banquet Committee

about the protection which was being offered Canadians in Mexico. What was the answer given by Mr. Borden. It makes me ashamed to think of it. He said: "We'll depend on Britain to send a fleet." To think that Canada was thus depending upon a distant power for its protection was a humiliating one to said fleet, made him feel ashamed.

President Wilson had no idea of being entangled in a war when he took office. His intentions were all peace. Yet what was the result? Here was the United States, the country which had said that arbitration should settle all things, in a great war with 5000 of their troops in the citadel of the Mexican Vera Cruz. "It depends, I tell you," said Mr. Cockshutt, "upon the other party."

Warlike Strength for Peace

The peace of the world does not depend upon the most peaceful, but upon the most warlike. It was strength and power that could dictate.

Only strong men could talk of arbitration to-day. What was the good of Canada talking arbitration. It was like the lamb, saying to the wolf, "There is nothing but grass to eat to-day; let us dine." Of the army he would say they had the makings of a fine one, but he would say nothing of the navy which consisted of two battleships which were as a unit not a particle of use. Individual navies were no good for the Empire. He believed there should be one huge navy for the whole Empire. This would afford much greater protection than the individual method could possibly afford its several units. Even New Zealand was setting an example to Canada. All the colonies were giving warships to the Mother Country and Canada, one of the richest colonies was afraid to undertake the expense.

Good Mother Country

"We are very fortunate in having a mother so good, inasmuch as she looks after us long after we are grown up. It is time we were doing something for ourselves." (Cheers.) There were other Imperial forces such as character which were very worthy, but he would not deal with these at the present time.

Hoping the ladies would not be afraid of the cannons he had fired he closed a most striking response, amid repeated cheers.

Miss Ruby Cann then obliged with a song excellently rendered.

Mr. J. H. Ham

Mr. J. H. Ham then proposed the toast to St. George. He must say that although he was born in the beautiful city of Brantford, his parents came from Cornwall, St. George had according to legend died in defence of his faith, and to-day he would ask the intercession of the Virgin Saint on the day of trouble in the Old Land. He referred to the Irish problem. He welcomed Britishers to the Canadian shore and he hoped that they would be good Canadians as well as Englishmen. He would propose the toast to St. George, under whom all should be united, strength and peace.

Rev. C. E. Jeankins

Responding, the Rev. C. E. Jeankins said it was an honor to be asked to respond to such a toast. It was good to see such patriotism. He was patriotic. It was a pleasant duty to laud the glory of Old England. Who would not on this auspicious occasion? But while being patriotic we must not look only at the advantages and good qualities of Old England. The Englishman was a man of colonization genius because of his hardy nature. England had a fine geographical position and because of it London was the only capital that had never been trod by a foreign army. Another advantage England possessed was that of a fine democratic parliament. More democratic than the democracy of the United States, without its weakness.

Note of decadence sounded

When he spoke of the weakness of England, he did not want to deprecate the pessimism which existed. England was certainly not going to the dogs. Last year was the banner year in English trade and commerce. The strength of England in the past had been in the simplicity of her home life. "When we tamper with home life we undermine the foundations of a nation," another weakness was the lack of seriousness, and seriousness meant religion. A great strength of a nation was its faith in religion. He emphasized the necessity of fearing God.

Mr. E. Roberts sang acceptably a patriotic song.

Mr. W. G. Raymond

Mr. W. G. Raymond then proposed the toast "The British Empire." It was a toast to which all would loyally respond. He would not deal greatly with the subject, as the second, Mr. Brewster, was well posted on this topic. He was pleased that the ladies were present for had they not through all ages exerted a tremendous influence upon the affairs of nations. He could see no sign of the evidence of decay which had been mentioned. Last year was the greatest in British history. Without going further he would ask all to fill their glasses in honour of the British Empire.

MR. W. S. BREWSTER

Responding, Mr. Brewster said he thought everyone had trespassed upon this, his toast. However, he did not object. He thought that the monarchial Government of Great Britain was the greatest of the world. Was there anyone who would exchange this form of government for the form that existed in the United States, where party strife was rampant every four or five years. Throughout the British Empire, which covered over one-fifth of the globe, there was, he was proud to say, religious liberty and peace. There was no better illustration of the colonization spirit of the Britisher than was evident in Canada to-day. "We are a glorious example of that spirit" said the speaker. The spirit of adventure was another great advantage possessed by the Englishman. Was there any doubt of the future and of the stability of the British race when she could produce men like Captain Scott and his valiant followers. He did not think that the glory of the nation lay in her navy, her army or her wealth, but in the high ideals of her citizenship. He thought the colonies should have a centre-point. The colonies should be brought close together, and the proudest boast of a colonist should be "I am a citizen of the British Empire."

A suitable recitation followed by Bro. Mears, "Sons of England."

BRO. T. F. VAN-LANE.

The toast "Sons of England" was proposed by P. D. D. Bro. J. F. Van-Lane. He was proud to belong to this order. As long as this society prospered their religion would not decay, for this society was religious in its principles. It had over half a million in the ranks, and its president worked for the love of his fellow men, not for the big salaries that were paid by some orders. He had pleasure in proposing the toast.

CAPTAIN VENNELL

Optimistic. Captain Vennell of the old York Regiment, responded and was proud of the fact that he had been born in that tight little island. He was also proud of the fact that he had belonged to this fine society since a year after its inception. He is probably the oldest member alive. In all his experience he never had seen a sign of decadence of the British Empire. "Talk of decadence, not while this society exists" said the speaker. Of politics, he said that many people were party people and not imperial voters. They voted for their respective parties and not for the good of the Empire. He believed he was serving the best inter-

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lewis rendered the duet "Excelsior," tunefully.

BRO. JOHN HILL

"Our Fair City" was the toast proposed by Bro. John Hill. This was in his mind the broadest of the evening. He proved to be full of valuable advice to the town council and is a most hearty supporter of all that will advance financially and help to beautify our city. He had pleasure in proposing the toast.

MAYOR SPENCE

The Mayor responded. He thought that Mr. Hill would have to visit the city council to air his views.

He assured Mr. Hill that the street railway was in a much more satisfactory state than he imagined. He then proceeded to give a brief history of the city since the first log hut appeared on the banks of the Grand in 1805.

"The Visitors" in a very suitable manner and the response came from Lt. Col. E. C. Ashton.

COL. E. C. ASHTON.

Some Cutting Facts. He was bound to compare the Canadians with the English and he was bound to say they were slow in qualifying for the defence of their country. He did not know where military matters in Canada would be if it were not for the old countrymen. Out of a company of 40 or 50 at one time drilled by him, he had asked all the Canadians to stand up and when tallied they numbered five. He was pleased to respond.

IT WAS KEATING'S FAULT

New York: The first innings cost the New Yorks the game or their chances of winning it. A two base hit by Howard Shanks, who is a timely but not a frequent hitter, did the damage. His hit was painfully untimely on this occasion. It came with two out, with three on the bases and cleaned up three runs. Three runs with Johnson pitching is a very situation for the Washington team, and Johnson though not up to his form as to control, paled the New York hits down to the usual minute quality, and mostly so with men on base. In the latter part of the game he used a slow hall often, crowding on speed only when somebody got on base.

Like Johnson, Keating opened shy of control, but the two passes he gave in the first innings were mortal defects in his work, whereas two issued by Johnson were mere flesh wounds. After the first innings Keating was as effective as Johnson. He pitched a creditable game and there was a puzzling break on his spitball. He received capital support and hadn't further than himself to seek for the source of defeat. Ainsmith didn't catch Johnson well even if the wizard was wild. The backstop wasn't quick or secure enough with his hands. His work was mussy.

AGAIN THE WORK OF SQUAD PROVED MOST ENCOURAGING

Practice Game at the Park Yesterday Revealed the Fact That Players of the First Team Are Very Superior Bunch—Hard to Pick Team.

The first game of baseball played here this year took place yesterday afternoon when Manager Rube Deneau divided his squad into two teams, the one mostly composed of veterans and the other of the recruits. The work out afforded Manager Deneau an opportunity to look over his material for the coming year. Two new faces appeared on the line-up yesterday in the persons of Cleary and Spor, two infielders from a town near Rochester. These two recruits landed in the city last night and asked Deneau for a trial. They are paying their own transportation and expenses during their stay. In the field all they showed were their gloves, but at bat both men hit the pill hard.

All the pitchers with the exception of Gero took their turn on the mound yesterday. Gero was given a rest as he worked for about an hour Wednesday pitching to the batters.

All the men showed up well. Honeck at short figured in a double play and generally made himself useful. He got one hit out of two times at bat, and also had a sacrifice hit.

Halbach and Rychart played third base on the Yammigans and regulars respectively. Halbach showed a lot of class in his fielding, picking up the ball cleanly and also infusing lots of talk into the game. Out of four times at bat he scored one hit but hit the ball hard on every trip to the plate.

Rychart also worked good for the regulars, although he did not have as many chances as Halbach. He had two hits, out of four trips to the plate.

Sandusky was the heavy stickler of the afternoon, getting the first home run of the season. It should really have been a single, or a two bagger, but left fielder Nichol stumbled when reaching for the ball, with the result that it bounced away and "Sandy" romped home. This man shapes up exceptionally nice. He hits the ball hard and his fielding is fast. Beltz was sent to second for the regulars and performed in a creditable manner.

Eddie Taylor played first base for the regulars and from his looks is almost sure of a place on the team. He hits the ball hard and is a fast fielder.

"Gabby" Ivers went to the outfield for the regulars and showed the crowd he has some speed in him yet. Out of three trips to the plate, he had two hits, one a two bagger and the other a single.

Barns, in left field, played a good fielding game and had a two-bagger out of twice at bat.

Little Carr led off for the recruits, and out of four appearances, got three walks. This man appears to be a splendid lead off man and a good waiter.

Matty Lamond and Chubby Coose did the catching for the Regulars. Both showed all their old time pep and hit well. Molyneux and Chase did the pitching for the Regulars and the latter in three innings only allowed one hit.

Carroll and Connell did the heaving for the Yammigans and showed lots of stuff. Carroll especially did well, and in all but one inning when he eased his arm, pitched stellar ball. Connell did not exert himself very much, depending on the team behind him for snopport.

Deneau moved Wagner up to first base and put Lattime at second for the Yammigans. Wag was replaced in the last innings by Cleary, who in his one turn at bat got a hit.

Wag played a good game at first considering the fact that he was out of his position. Lattime at second covered lots of ground and hit hard, and will no doubt give Wag a run for the position. Nichol and Johnson the two Toronto men, did not show up well at bat and Nichol's fielding was exceptionally poor.

Spor at short, was the other new man, and out of three times at bat, he got two hits.

Rice, catching for the first three innings, acquitted himself admirably. His pegging to bases was almost perfect. This youngster has a great whip and with a little more hitting ability will make Matty hustle for his job.

McFadden relieved Rice in the fourth and did good work. He got a hit on his only appearance to bat.

The team is fast rounding out into condition and Rube expects to have a fast aggregation to play the Stars on Saturday afternoon.

Yesterday, between three and four hundred fans saw the work-out and showed by their applause the appreciation they have for Manager Deneau's work. And work it was for the peppery manager of the game.

Cleveland has at last broken into the win column after losing eight straight. Mitchell bested Cicotte 4-1.

ENGLISH LEAGUE MATCHES.
LONDON, April 24—Woolwich Arsenal won a Second League match against Grimsby yesterday by 2 goals to 0. In the Southern League Queen's Park Rangers defeated Brighton and Hove 3 to 0.

Walter Johnson was beaten yesterday but it took another Johnson to do it. Rankin Johnson, a recruit with the Boston Red Sox held the Senators to six scattered hits. Big Walter allowed to all told netting five runs.

Rice, catching for the first three innings, acquitted himself admirably. His pegging to bases was almost perfect. This youngster has a great whip and with a little more hitting ability will make Matty hustle for his job.

FOOTBALL FIXTURES WILL BE ROUSERS HERE ON SATURDAY

How the Various Teams Are Lining Up—Cockshutt United Will Meet Paris—The Line-Ups as Given For the Games.

There will be some rousing games in the Brantford and Paris football league to-morrow. Strong teams are lined up and Cockshutt United are to make their debut of the season. The games as they stand for to-morrow's encounter are: Cockshutt's v Paris, Holmedale v Tutela, P. S. A. v Duffs; Wanderers v Scots United. Games to be played on the ground of the first named. Perhaps the game of the day will be between Cockshutt's and Paris. Cockshutt's are said to be one of the strongest combinations in the league, but as yet they have not had a chance to show their strength. Paris drew with the Holmedale Tigers at Paris last week and for a new team their work was considered commendable. They showed both speed and ability. There is likely to be a big crowd down at Mohawk to see the match. The chances are, if Cockshutt's are anything like form they should trim the Parisians. Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., who is a strong supporter of the visitors, has signified his intention of being present to witness the fortunes of his club. All players are asked to be on the ground at 5.15 p.m. sharp. The kick-off being fixed for 5.45.

Cockshutt's team will line up as follows: Goal, H. Carey; backs, J. Anderson, C. Stubbs; half backs, A. Maich, A. Clark, T. Robertson; forwards R. Plant, A. Another, H. Bray, F. Richardson and S. Hutchinson. Reserves—Charlton, Lapsley, Marshall, Stone. Referee, Mr. Mears.

Holmedale v Tutela.
Another fine game is promised at Holmedale where Tutela are the visitors. Tutela are showing the best combination work in the league, while the Tigers have quite a reputation for their hard, fast work. If Tutela keep up their showing of last week, when they defeated the S. O. E. by eight goals to two, they will account for the Holmedalers. The O. I. B. grounds are the scene of the conflict at 6.45. The line up is as follows of the Tutela club: Goal, F. Wright; backs, N. McLeod, W. Bowden; half backs, F. Andrews, R. Veing, P. McLeod; forwards, E. Mamilton, J. Hingley, C. Gore, C. Poister, E. Fisher.

The Tigers line up for the match is: Scanlon, Midgely, Hoyle, Hart, Owen, Ellison, Lard, Sevier, Solman, Coleman, Archer. Reserves, Baker, Thomas and Giles.

Scots United v Wanderers.
Scots United are by no means daunted by the defeat of last week and they come to the front smiling this week in an encounter with the Wanderers. The pluck of the Scots is proverbial and may pull them through on the right side of the score sheet. The Wanderers, are however, determined to get their share of the points and a grim struggle will be the outcome at Recreation grounds. Players are to be on hand at 5.30. The Scots line up will be as follows: Magill, goal; backs, Cook, Taylor; half backs, Harrington, Morrow (Capt.) Forgie; forwards, Vipond, Williams, Linn, Richardson, Morrison; reserves: Marshall, Johnson, Scott. Game to start at 5.45. Referee, Mr. Hollister.

The Sons of England have a bye, and will be seen practicing at the Tutela Park, with the trainer in charge.

P. S. A. Team.
The P. S. A. Football club picked the following team to play the Duffs in Agricultural Park on Saturday: Goal, Geo Giles; backs, E. J. Jaggard, W. Cartwright; half backs, P. Westcott, J. Wilmott, B. Richards; forwards, F. Lemau, W. Sweeney, W. Smith, F. Knowles, I. Barry; reserves—T. Blackburn, I. Howell, W. Holder. All players are requested to be on hand at 5.15.

Duffs v P.S.A.
The Duffs meet the P.S.A. in a League fixture at Agricultural Park on Saturday next. This game will undoubtedly be a great fight for supremacy in the league, both teams being equal in quality. Four followers of football wishing to witness a good game should not miss seeing this match. The following will represent the Duffs: Knowles, Martindale, Harbour, Williamson, Mercer, (capt.), Biggs, Tigwell, Humphries, Drake, Keightley, Evans; reserves—Palmer, Alexander; referee, Mr. Smith; kick off 5.45 p.m., sharp. Both teams will change at the armistices.

Sporting Comment

Too rookies blew in yesterday; we don't know their names, Deneau didn't himself last night, and they were gone after supper. They worked out with the Sox yesterday afternoon, but both bore traces of an all night ride on a freighter and they were amateurs at that. Probably both had the baseball bug and will land somewhere to be acclaimed as heroes of the village and cut-ups of the real whirl-gig society. Good-bye, boys, may the neighbors around Woodstock be good to you.

All of which reminds us, when is Deneau going to start to let out various rummies who are here now feeding at the expense primarily of President Nelson, but secondarily at the expense of the great baseball public hereabout? No question about it, rummies and rookies there are plenty all passing under the name of ballplayers, because they can mix at the meal table with the good ones. For several years past we have favored the principle of letting the tramps go as soon as possible. It was Kane's old policy to keep every man-jack of them to the very last minute, and generally we had them all season. With Deneau we confidently hope it is different. In fact we are assured it will be. When Rube was given the high sign last night, his answer was "pretty soon." Fans, therefore, may expect a general exodus this week. Fans who have been over to the park have been led to believe that there has been assembled a collection of stars. As a matter of fact Deneau or anyone else has said no such thing. There surely is the making of a good club behind the dyke but there are several over there who shame the others. Let 'em go, cut 'em loose. It's good for the transportation companies.

We do not wish our remarks about this ball club misconstrued. Far be it from such. Baseball contains more real bugs all active than any government asylum on earth, and that's why so many turn up around spring for try-outs. They get a hunch in the winter that their name is Larruping Larry Lajoie, but when spring training is completed they can tell you how many ties in the railway track it takes to make a mile.

Having given vent thus to an expression about the Presidential waste of meal tickets, we are forced into the position of saying something about the real good investments which have been made in the lunch-counter direction. Starting with the pitchers, it is our belief that Chase, Carroll, Connell and Gero are worth grub-staking any time. If Worfel is any better than those already here, the heaving end of the Red Sox brigade will be worth a full course dinner. Brantford fans know what Gero can do. Well, without discounting Henry any, this fellow Connell will show something in this league. That big fellow Chase has also got something. Carroll, who was in yesterday was hit hard, but was not exerting himself to any extent. Besides these, there is Deneau himself and Coose. The latter two are really second string pitchers beside the others.

In addition to all the pitching strength mentioned above we overlooked Eddie Taylor, said to have had the best spit ball in the Southern Michigan league last year. Now, Mr. Fan, can you beat that bunch of talent. Again, we say, with a growl, why keep the rummies around when they are only in the way.

Going farther afield there is Deneau, Ivers or Coose for first base. At second base there is Wagner. We have looked them all over, and we have not seen anything yet as good as Wag, at the keystone sack. In short field Honeck is the one best. This boy may have his faults, but undoubtedly he is the making of a good ballplayer. At third base, there is admittedly a doubtful situation, with Ryekar, Beltz and Hallbach fighting it out. It is up to Deneau.

Burns, Sandusky, Deneau, Ivers out, class all the other contenders in the outfield. They combine hitting strength with good fielding and seem to make up the ideal combination. It is difficult to see what else the Rube can do, in view of the salary limit on surplus ball players, and the necessity of cutting down to the last man.

Having had our little say, it will now be in order for some one to ask President Nelson why he goes to the expense of getting a manager when he can get everything doped out so decidedly as it has been framed here. Well, we don't know just why the Red Sox boss needs one. It will be seen many times this year that there are hundreds of fans at the park who will give directions as to how to run the team. May be, we are like the ordinary fan.

Coose worked out behind the bat yesterday, and Deneau may be figuring on Chubby playing there, with Taylor available for some other position. Lamond is sure of his job.

Canada's Wheat is Attaining a Very High Standard of Quality.

OTTAWA, April 24—A Bulletin issued to-day by the Census and Statistics Office reports on the progress of grain of last year's harvest. It states that the quality of the crop was of a high standard, and that the quantities in farmers' hands at the end of March, 1914, being based upon returns by reporting correspondents on March 31, 1914, amount to 213,717,000 bushels, 224,810,000 cwt. of 49.75 p.c. proved to be a valuable quality. This is a proportion that in any previous year since estimates were first obtained in 1910, and bears out the knowledge of last year's excellent ripening and harvesting season in the North provinces. The corresponding percentage in previous years were: 1913, 49.75 p.c.; 1912, 49.75 p.c.; 1911, 49.75 p.c.; 1910, 49.75 p.c. The total wheat crop in 1913 is reported as remaining in farmers' hands March 31, 1914, this proportion representing 38,353,000 bushels.

CROPS BULLETIN

Canada's Wheat is Attaining a Very High Standard of Quality.

OTTAWA, April 24—A bulletin issued today by the Census and Statistics Office reports on the proportion of grain of last year's harvest that proved of merchantable quality and upon the quantities in farmers' hands at the end of March, 1914, the report being based upon returns by crop-reporting correspondents on March 31. Of the total estimated production of wheat in Canada in 1913, amounting to 213,717,000 bushels, 224,810,000 bushels or 97.97 p.c. proved to be of merchantable quality. This is a larger proportion than in any previous year since estimates were first obtained in 1910, and bears out the known results of last year's excellent ripening and harvesting season in the Northwest provinces. The corresponding percentage in previous years were 92.87 and 94.04. By provinces the proportions are lower throughout eastern Canada, being about 87 p.c. for Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, 90.5 p.c. in New Brunswick, 90 p.c. in Quebec, and 91 p.c. in Ontario. In British Columbia the proportion was 85.6 p.c.

About 1.5 p.c. of the total Canadian wheat crop in 1913 is reported as remaining in farmers' hands at March 31, 1914, this proportion representing 38,353,000 bushels. This too is a lower figure than in any previous year and is consistent with the high records of inspection and shipment.

Of the total oat crop of 1913 amounting to 404,690,000 bushels, 94.58 p.c. is estimated to have been of merchantable quality, representing 382,754,000 bushels. Only in Prince Edward Island (87.8 p.c.) and Nova Scotia (86.8 p.c.) did the proportion fall below 90 p.c. The figures for 1913 are the highest on record. The amount in farmers' hands at March 31 is placed at about 40 p.c., or 161,537,000 bushels, the proportion of the 1912 crop on hand in 1913 being 44.22 p.c., or 173,178,000 bushels.

Barley, the total yield of which was 48,319,000 bushels proved of merchantable quality to the extent of 46,185,000 bushels or 95.58 p.c., the proportion in previous years being 87 p.c. (1912), 90 p.c. (1911) and 92 p.c. (1910). The quantity remaining in farmers' hands on March 31 was about 30 p.c. or 14,440,000 bushels, as compared with 17,280,000 or 35 p.c. of the 1912 crop on hand at March 31, 1913.

Of the other crops corn for husking proved of merchantable quality to the extent of 78.8 p.c.; rye 90.9 p.c.; buckwheat 82 p.c.; flaxseed 94.8 p.c.; potatoes 82 p.c.; turnips etc., 81 p.c., and hay and clover 38 p.c. The quantity of these crops on hand at March 31 were estimated to be: Corn 4,308,500 bushels; flaxseed 2,205,000 bushels; potatoes 27,426,000 bushels; turnips etc. 11,230,000 bushels, and hay and clover 2,675,000 tons.

Live stock have generally wintered well and are reported as being on the whole in excellent condition. The spring appears likely to be rather late in the eastern provinces of Canada, but in the West, the ground was reported as generally in good shape after a mild winter. It was anticipated that seeding would begin about the middle of April under favorable conditions as regards soil.

CALIFORNIA "RAISIN DAY"
This year California "Raisin Day" is to be celebrated in the "Golden State" on April 30th. The slogan on that particular day will be "eat raisins." Not only in California will the day be given prominence, but many of the Eastern railroads will feature it by placing on the menus of their dining cars special California raisin dishes. The Grand Trunk will add these dishes to their special menus on all their dining cars, April 30th.

The annual commencement exercises were held at Wychiffe College. The inward effects of humors are worse than the outward. They endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors, cures all their inward and outward effects, and is the greatest tonic and tonic, whose merit has been everywhere established.

BALL PLAYERS WHO HIT STAY IN BIG LEAGUE

Poor Stick Work Slates Player for the "Can" in Short Order.

A baseball player may handle the ball to almost perfection when it comes to making catches, scooping up grounders and firing them to an intended spot, but all this grace and accuracy are pretty likely to count for naught unless he can meet the sphere with a regularity that brings an average beyond the .250 mark.

It's their wonderful batting prowess more than their fielding skill that have kept Lajoie and Wagner in the big ten years after those who started out with them as kids were pushed into the sidelines and the discard. The marvelous batting skill of Cap Anson of the old Chicago Colts, kept him in the game at least six years after his fielding had slumped to the point where he was hardly good enough for the minors.

Ty Cobb is a wonderful all-round player, but it's his hitting ability that has annexed for him a contract that calls for one of the biggest salaries a mediocre ball player. Joe Jackson of the Naps, is an ordinary fielder, yet because he is a demon with the hickory he is regarded as one of the most valuable ball players in captivity.

Frank Baker, of the Athletics, is a fair infielder and rather slow on the paths, but he is one of the greatest batsmen the game ever has known. And so he draws a mighty husky salary—a Athletic salaries go—because of his hitting.

Charles Hickman, old "Piano Legs," always was something of a shine as a fielder, yet he could connect with the ball regularly and with terrific impact, and that kept him in the game for many years after his slight fielding usefulness had gone.

Charlie Rossman, first sacker of the Naps and "Fingers" some years ago, was a mediocre fielder and atrociously erratic as a thrower, but because he could hit he stuck around longer than he would have otherwise.

Baseball history shows hundreds of such instances. And, also, it shows that hundreds of players who had no other assets, but who could not hit, flashed into view along the major league horizon and soon after dimmed and faded entirely. They couldn't hit—and so they didn't belong.

Rhody Wallace, the Brownie veteran, has been shunted off to the sidelines. He showed up a bit on his fielding, and was sent into the discard. Where he is a good batter he still would belong. Bill Bradley, regarded as one of the greatest third basemen of all time, was hit good out of the major league by the Cleveland Naps when his batting fell off, although his fielding was almost as brilliant as it was in the early days of his stardom.

Pitcher Dode Criss, now in the majors, was kept on the payroll of the St. Louis Browns for a couple of years although as a pitcher he was one of the finest little bloomers that ever came along. Why did they keep him? Simply because he was a great pinch hitter.

Mike Donlin, many years past his prime as a ball player, has returned to the New York Giants' pay roll. Mike to-day perhaps couldn't run 100 yards in 14 seconds, and a class D player could outfield him. But Mike still can hit—and that's why he's contracted for at a nice salary.

And so it goes. It's the man who can swing—and swat 'em far—who draws the biggest salary and who lingers longest. And the man who can't connect with the hur hurling sphere is brightest. And the man who can't connect with the hur hurling sphere the man, who carves but a small niche, if any, in baseball's hall of fame.

Canadian League News Notes

A Quick Try-out
Ottawa Free Press: Jones, the young pitcher from Woodstock, was released after lunch. His was the quickest try-out on record. He had breakfast in Woodstock, came to Chatham, worked out and got back last night in time for supper. Kohl, a pitcher from Cleveland, turned his ankle going after a fly in the outfield and will not be able to work for a couple of days.

Shaughnessy is attempting to alter Kubat's delivery so that he can get more behind the ball. He also swung Tesch around from right to the left side of the plate, as the New Jersey youngster's speed is so great, hitting from the port side would enable him to beat out an awful lot of infield taps.

Kohl has little chance of sticking as he has not worked any this season. He made the same mistake of all youngsters, viz: waiting to get into condition at training camp. Sam Hall, who had from the Tennessee mountains, saw a piece of Canadian money for the first time yesterday. Shaughnessy gave him a cent, which he is keeping as a souvenir. He carries an accent that is typical southern.

Bill May be the One Sensation
Wagner, who was purchased from Fort Wayne, is a combination catcher and outfielder. He will not report until next week. He has been working out all spring at Fort Wayne and is in good shape. Shaughnessy expects to land Second Baseman George Hill this week. The Ottawa pilot declares him the greatest infielder in the minors, and if successful in securing him will give the Senators a front that class up with the very best in the league. Hill has had three years experience in the majors and is still a young man.

With the Saints
St. Thomas Canadian League team's training camp, Charlotte, Mich. April 23—The weather yesterday morning was better than Mondays, but it was still a little cold for out practice or for playing ball. The boys instead took long hikes into the country to keep themselves fit. About 10.30 the sun came out so strong and warmed the atmosphere so that "Midge" ordered the boys into uniform for afternoon practice, starting at half past one.

Eighteen Men in Camp
The eighteen players now in camp are: Catchers—Nevitt and Inker. Pitchers—Hughey, Howick, Wilkinson, Reily, Knobbe, Hammond, Clements and Bill Baker. Infielders—Lamb, Hadley, Hammond, Forgue and Doc' Thraikill. Outfielders—Kopp, Kustus and Craven. Collet, infielder, and McDonald, a southpaw, local boys, are also practicing with the team.

Boys Clouting the Pill
The afternoon's work consisted of hitting and infield and outfield practice. The pitchers all took turns lobbing them up to the players, one by one, and each took a good healthy swing on each ball, and the way some clouted the pill was a wonder. The boys are certainly showing some class when it comes to clouting the horseshoe to any distance.

Wilkinson and Reily in Shape
"Chief" Nevitt and Dave Inker worked the pitchers out, giving them to the practice that is refreshing—to the onlookers if not to the players themselves.

The weather to-day was cold and unsettled but Blount did not let up on any account and the usual two workouts were put in. There are over twenty regulars in the squad while ten local semi-pros have been trying for places on their own account giving the Peles a daily register of over thirty players. The morning was spent in batting and fielding practice.

A Nine Innings Game.
In the afternoon Blount selected two teams and chased the gang through an exciting nine-innings game in which the Blountmen got plenty of batting, fielding and base-running practice. The teams were as follows:

Schettler p. Cresswell p. Terrill p. Kelly c. O'Hearn 1b. G. Miller 2b. Schrage ss. Fox 3b. McClure lf. Blount cf. Chapdelaine cf.

Smith p. Ryberg c. Flanagan 1b. King 2b. Price ss. Byrne 3b. Naw, Dawson, Gaffney outfield.

Schettler, Cresswell and Terrill worked three innings each, and showed good form. Smith, who pitched against them, is a Youngstown boy, who is promising, but who has little chance to make the team.

A Fight for Every Place
The game showed that Manager Blount is going to have a nice little job on his hands in selecting his team. Outside of the pitching department there is the keenest kind of a scrap for positions, and by what the men have shown so far, it will not be an easy task to make selections. Behind the bat the Peles look particularly strong, Miller, the veteran backstop, is sure of a berth. His long experience and his knowledge of the game should make him a tower of strength, not only to the club in general, but to the younger pitchers. In addition Miller is a sturdy batter, and he has been hitting them a mile in practice. For the second stung position there are four other candidates, and only one of these, it is expected will be carried, so that the competition is red hot. Kelly, Ryberg, Chapdelaine and McClure will fight it out for the position, and on the workouts so far it will be some fight.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and No'ody Will Know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, strayed or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

"JOE" CHAMBERLAIN'S FAVORITE POEMS

Did Not Take His Quotations in Speeches From the Classics—Even Went to Gilbert-Sullivan Opera for Them

No politician ever had a greater belief in the oratorical virtues of poetry than Mr. Joseph Chamberlain had a passion for poetry and it was his favorite study even when, as a small boy he attended the little preparatory school in Camberwell Grove which was kept by the Misses Pace.

The famous statesman once confessed to a friend that at the beginning of his political career he made a practice of jotting down in a memorandum book any little verses he came across which he thought might be useful to quote in his speeches. Whether this little memorandum book is still in existence it is difficult to say, but a perusal of Mr. Chamberlain's speeches during his strenuous career reveals many interesting facts concerning his favorite poets.

Unlike the late Sir William Harcourt a past master in the art of classical quotation, and such men as Gladstone, Canning and Peel, who were fond of airing their knowledge of Homer, Virgil and Horace in public, Mr. Chamberlain found inspiration in more popular verse.

MIDDLEPORT

(From our own Correspondent)
The farmers have started, at their seeding but owing to so much wet weather, are not making much headway.

Mr. Frank Morrell has bought the lot and house owned by the Harris Bros., formerly occupied by Mrs. Lottridge, and intend moving before long.

Mrs. Ellen Hager, Cainsville, was visiting at her old home here for a few days, and returned home on Monday.

Messrs Charles Deagle and James Dinsmore made a business trip to Toronto last week and each made the purchase of a horse.

Mr. James Dinsmore has the contract for the mill route and will start as soon as the boxes are put up.

Mrs. Jas. Hager and Mrs. A. Hager and daughter Helen were calling on friends in the village last Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Deagle and family visited Mr. and Mrs. R. Dougherty on Sunday last.

Little Miss Mary Priess who has been ill, is able to be up again.

CATHCART

(From our own correspondent.)
The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Layton, on Thursday afternoon and had a very nice meeting.

After the regular business was over, Mrs. Kelley gave a very interesting reading on the value of eggs.

Mrs. G. A. Aulsebrook of Burford and Miss Swarts of Brockville gave a few vocal selections, which were very much appreciated. Mrs. Kessilla's talk was on housecleaning, after which the President, Miss Stephenson, made a few closing remarks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aulsebrook entertained some friends on Thursday night. The evening was spent in cards and dancing, and they had a very nice time.

Quite a number are laid up with the mumps.

Mr. John Aulsebrook and Mr. W. Stephenson have the la grippe, and both are under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Vanhorn has returned to her home in Sarnia, after spending a few days in and around the village. We are pleased to report Mr. Milpnie has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to ride to Burford. We hope to see him in Cathcart soon.

KELVIN

(From our own Correspondent)
The sugar making business has closed for this season.

Mr. Smith and family of Oakland have moved into the farm recently purchased from Mr. Henry Mather of Scotland.

We had special song service here in the Methodist church on Sunday. Mrs. George Wood who has been very ill, does not improve any in health.

Mrs. M. Wardell is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. R. Hare of Port Dover.

Mr. Mark Wheeler has rented Mr. Edward Muirhead's farm, east of this village.

Mr. Gordon Hill's auction sale on Tuesday was largely attended and good prices were realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Welby Almas of Norwich spent Sunday with the former's parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Colwell were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. William Almas.

Miss Z. A. Johnston was calling on her sister here one day last week.

"Jane feels that we are already too much in your debt, Mr. Canler," said Professor Porter.

Canler was about to reply when the sound of footsteps came from the hall without, and Jane Porter entered the room.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" she exclaimed, pausing on the threshold. "I thought you were alone, papa."

"It is only I, Jane," said Canler, who had risen. "Won't you come in and join the group? We were just speaking of you."

"Thank you," said Jane, entering and taking the chair Canler placed for her. "I only wanted to tell papa that Toby has come down from the college to pack his books."

"I must see him at once," cried the professor. "Excuse me just a moment." And the old man hastened from the room.

As soon as he was out of earshot Canler turned to Jane Porter.

"See here, Jane," he said bluntly, "how long is this thing to go on like this? You haven't refused to marry me, but you haven't promised either. I want to get the license tomorrow so that we can be married quietly before you leave for Wisconsin. I don't

Tarzan of The Apes

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company.

"Are these imprints similar to mine or Mr. Tarzan? Can you say that they are identical with either?"

The officer drew a powerful glass from his desk and examined all three specimens carefully, making notations meanwhile upon a pad of paper.

Tarzan realized now what was the meaning of their visit to the police office.

The answer to his life's riddle lay in these tiny marks.

With tense nerves he sat leaning forward in his chair.

"Presently the police officer spoke. 'Gentlemen,' he said. 'Both turned toward him.

"There is evidently a great deal at stake which must hinge to a greater or lesser extent upon the absolute correctness of this comparison. I therefore ask that you verify the entire matter in my hands until our expert returns."

"I had hoped to know at once," said D'Arnot. "Mr. Tarzan sails for America tomorrow."

"I will promise that you can cable him a report within two weeks," replied the officer. "What it will be I dare not say. There are resemblances, yet—well, we had better leave it for M. Leblanc to solve."

A taxicab drew up before an old house in his residence upon the outskirts of Eastford.

A man of about forty, well built and with strong, regular features, stepped out and paying the chauffeur dismissed him.

A moment later the passenger was entering the library of the old home.

"Ah, Mr. Canler!" exclaimed an old man rising to greet him.

"Good evening, my dear professor," cried the man, extending a cordial hand.

"I have come this evening to speak with you about Jane. You know my aspirations, and you have been generous enough to approve my suit."

Professor Archimedes Q. Porter frowned in his armchair. The subject always made him uncomfortable. He could not understand why. Canler was a splendid match.

"But Jane," continued Canler, "I cannot understand her. She puts me off first on one ground and then another. I always have the feeling that she breathes a sigh of relief every time I bid her goodby."

"Tut tut," said Professor Porter. "Tut tut, Mr. Canler. Jane is a most obedient daughter. She will do precisely as I tell her."

"When I can still count on your support?" asked Canler, a tone of relief marking his voice.

"Certainly, sir, certainly," exclaimed Professor Porter. "How could you doubt it?"

"There is young Clayton, you know," suggested Canler. "He has been hanging about for months. I don't know what Jane cares for him. But besides, Jane tells me she has inherited a very considerable estate from her father. It might not be strange if she finally won her unless!"

Canler paused.

"Tut, tut, Mr. Canler. Unless—what?" "Unless you see fit to request that Jane and I be married at once," said Canler slowly and distinctly.

"I have already suggested to Jane that it would be desirable," said Professor Porter sadly, "for we can no longer afford to keep up this house and live as her associations demand."

"What was her reply?" "She said she was not ready to marry any one yet," replied Professor Porter. "that we could go and live upon the farm in northern Wisconsin which her mother left her. It is a little more than self supporting. The tenants have always made a living from it since each year."

"She is planning our going up there the first of the week. Philander and Mr. Clayton have already gone to get things in readiness for us."

"Clayton has gone there!" exclaimed Canler, visibly chagrined. "Why was not I told? I would gladly have gone and seen that every comfort was provided."

"Jane feels that we are already too much in your debt, Mr. Canler," said Professor Porter.

Canler was about to reply when the sound of footsteps came from the hall without, and Jane Porter entered the room.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" she exclaimed, pausing on the threshold. "I thought you were alone, papa."

"It is only I, Jane," said Canler, who had risen. "Won't you come in and join the group? We were just speaking of you."

"Thank you," said Jane, entering and taking the chair Canler placed for her. "I only wanted to tell papa that Toby has come down from the college to pack his books."

"I must see him at once," cried the professor. "Excuse me just a moment." And the old man hastened from the room.

As soon as he was out of earshot Canler turned to Jane Porter.

"See here, Jane," he said bluntly, "how long is this thing to go on like this? You haven't refused to marry me, but you haven't promised either. I want to get the license tomorrow so that we can be married quietly before you leave for Wisconsin. I don't care for any fuss or feathers, and I'm sure you don't either. The girl turned cold, but she held her head bravely.

"Your father wishes it, you know," added Canler.

"Yes; I know." She spoke scarcely above a whisper.

"Do you realize that you are buying me, Mr. Canler," she asked finally and in a cold, level voice—"buying me for a few paltry dollars?"

And the hope of just such a contingency was in your mind when you loaned papa the money for that hare-brained escapade, which but for a most mysterious circumstance would have been successful.

"But you, Mr. Canler, would have been the most surprised. You had no idea that the venture would succeed. You knew that without security you had a greater hold on the honor of the Porters than with it. You knew the one best way to force me to marry you without seeming to force me."

"You have never mentioned the loan. In any other man I should have thought that the prompting of a magnanimous and noble character. But you are deep."

"I know you better than that. But I know you. I shall certainly marry you if there is no other way, but let us understand each other once and for all."

"You surprise me, Jane," said Canler. "I thought you had more self control, more pride. Of course you are right. I am buying you, and I know that you know it. But I thought you would prefer to pretend that it was otherwise. But have it your own way," he added lightly. "I am going to see you, and that is all that interests me."

Without a word the girl turned and left the room.

But Jane Porter was not married before she left with her father and Esmeralda for her little Wisconsin farm. As she coldly bade Robert Canler good-bye while the train pulled out he called to her that he would join them in a few days.

How Peeragehoods Are In E

The charge made in the Old Country that honors were being sold to persons of wealth who made donations to party exchequers, has forth much adverse comment in world's press.

Theoretically, King George V can confer them on all he pleases. In reality, his powers in this respect are very restricted. The grants of peerages, baronetcies, and even the various orders of knighthood have to be countersigned by one of the cabinet Ministers, who is responsible for them to Parliament.

The only dignities which the monarch can grant independently of Administration are ordinary knighthoods (Knights Bachelor) and Victorian Order. In fact, the Victorian Order was instituted by Queen Victoria to place at the disposal the sovereign some distinction which could be granted independently of Cabinet and as a personal token of favor on the part of the Anointed Lord.

It is pretty generally known that there have been many fights between Crown and Government on this matter, that the great Prime Minister William Pitt repeatedly, in connection the hand of George III., who savagely remarked on occasion when he had been cited by Pitt to accord a peerage, man utterly unworthy of the honor that while he could make the low a Lord he could never make a gentleman.

How Peerages and Knight-hoods Are Handed Out In England.

The charge made in the Old Country that honors were being sold to persons of wealth who made donations to party exchequers, has called forth much adverse comment in the world's press.

Theoretically, King George V. is the "Fountain of All Honors," and can confer them on all he pleases. In reality, his powers in this respect are very restricted. The grants of peerages, baronetcies, and even of the various orders of knighthood, have to be counter-signed by one of the cabinet Ministers, who is responsible for them to Parliament.

The only dignities which the monarch can grant independently of the Administration are ordinary knight-hoods (Knights Bachelor) and the Victorian Order. In fact, the Victorian Order was instituted by Queen Victoria to place at the disposal of the sovereign some distinction that could be granted independently of the Cabinet and as a personal token of favor on the part of the Anointed of the Lord.

It is pretty generally known that there have been many fights between Crown and Government on this very matter, that the great Prime Minister William Pitt repeatedly forced in this connection the hand of George III, who savagely remarked on one occasion when he had been compelled by Pitt to accord a peerage to a man utterly unworthy of the honor, that while he could make the fellow a Lord he could never make him a gentleman.

The late Lord Salisbury's retirement from the Premiership and from public life was, by some said to have been hastened by a dispute with Edward VII, owing to his stern refusal to give the consent of the Administration to the grant of a peerage which the King wished to bestow.

King Powerless to Check Abuse

Edward VII, when he succeeded to the throne made known his determination to put a stop to this practice whereby titles of honor, while nominally a gift of the Crown, are bestowed by the party in office, in return for cash contributions to its campaign fund; and it is known that King George, then heir apparent, felt quite as strongly as his father, on the subject.

But the fact that in the thirteen years which have elapsed since the beginning of the present century to the fund of their political party. Their consciences are clean, but only technically so. In order to avoid placing the head of the administration in an embarrassing position he is always kept in ignorance of the details of his party's treasury.

The amounts contributed by the various subscribers to the party funds are purposely kept from making any inquiries. He is content to accept the nominations for honors from the chief party whip. The whips are members of Parliament, selected by the leaders of their respective party for the special duty of securing the attendance of the other members of that party on all necessary occasions, the term being abbreviated from the "whipper-in" of a hunt. That their services in this connection are essential will be realized when it is taken into consideration that the fate of an important measure, may even that of a Cabinet itself, may depend upon the result of a division in the House.

The question of purchase of honors has been discussed in the House of Lords, and a member related that when acting as whip to his party he had been on several occasions "approached" in the most marked way by persons who were anxious to obtain peerages in return for cash, payable to the party campaign fund.

After a very lengthy debate, the Upper House, on the motion of Lord Selborne, adopted the following resolution:

"That a contribution to party funds should not be a consideration to a Minister when he recommends any name for an honor to the crown, that the House of Lords considers it desirable that effectual measures should be taken to assure the nation that Governments, from whatever political party they are drawn, will act according to this rule, and that this House requests the concurrence of the House of Commons in the foregoing resolution." But the House of Commons will never agree with this.

Would Abolish Titles

The abolishment of hereditary titles has been advocated many times, but as it is a weakness of man to work for the possession of a title which will raise him above his fellow, there is not much possibility of honors disappearing. There are few men now-a-days who will actually refuse a title as did Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Balfour, and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain.

Throughout Europe, the tendency on the part of Crown and of government is to restrict rather than to increase the number of nobility honors. For instance in Roumania, Greece, Serbia and Bulgaria they have been abolished altogether and their use is forbidden by the terms of the constitution.

For some time past the Czar of Russia has declined to grant the rank of Baron, Count or Prince to any one who has male heirs, thus insuring the lapse of the dignity on the death of the grantee.

The Kaiser in conferring the title of Count, Prince or Duke now invariably makes the honor "ad personam" that is to say, for life only, his object being that he may be free either to revive the dignity in the person of a younger son of the original grantee, in the event of the elder son proving himself unworthy, or else to permit the title to lapse altogether. Thus when he raised the late Count Munster, his Ambassador in Paris and chief German plenipotentiary at the first Peace Congress to The Hague, to the rank of Prince, he conferred the dignity only for life. He has since revived it in the old diplomat's younger son, Prince Alexander Munster, who is visiting this side of the Atlantic, the elder son having proved himself to be the black sheep of the family.

In other countries, too, there is a movement to, at least, refuse to increase hereditary titles, but strangely enough it is usually the monarch and nobility who take a lead in proposing the reductions.

Whips Dispense Patronage

The chief whip of the party in power invariably holds the $10,000-a-year office of Patronage Secretary to the Treasury, so called because he is the channel through which whatever patronage possessed by the Premier is dispensed. He is assisted by three assistant whips who rank as junior Lords of the Treasury, with $5,000 a year apiece. It is not only official patronage that is to say, Government offices, that are dispensed through the Patronage Secretary, by the Premier, but also titular honors, and as besides being whip of his party he is likewise the treasurer and the manager of its funds and is required to keep the party exchequer full, it will be readily understood that his recommendations for honors are likely to be influenced by financial necessities.

Thus on the eve of the general election in the autumn of 1905 several utterly unknown individuals were created peers in return for huge contributions to the Unionist electoral fund through the Government whip.

"The Fountain of All Honors"

Recommendations for honors are invariably made to the sovereign, who is the Fountain of All Honors, sole surviving ex-Premier, Lord Rosebery, was debarred from taking any part in the discussion by severe illness, neither he nor yet Mr. Asquith, the present Prime Minister would be willing to admit that he had ever recommended to the sovereign any person for a peerage, a baronetcy, a knighthood or any other honor in return for a contribution

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Wilson of the Baptist Settlement, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on the fifteenth inst, their family with children and grandchildren and great grandchildren being present. A very enjoyable day was spent. At 1 o'clock the guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner, at the close of which the bride of sixty years placed the knife in the wedding cake which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are to be congratulated upon their sprightly appearance at such a ripe old age. During the afternoon hot maple sugar was served. Their four children, namely, Mr. Charles Wilson, Cainsville; Mr. Isaac Wilson, Pine Grove; Mr. James Wilson, Jerseyville and Mrs. Amos Miller, Baptist Settlement, all being present. The happy couple were the recipients of many tokens to commemorate the occasion.

Large congregations attended divine services held in the Methodist church last Sabbath. Rev. Mr. Morrow occupies the pulpit in the morning. The subject chosen was "Proposed Compromises," an excellent discourse was delivered, the text being found in Ex. 8: 25. Rev. Mr. Fiddis of Burford, preached an excellent sermon on "The Rich Young Ruler," in the evening. Miss Myrtle Norrie sang a solo in very sweet voice at the conclusion of the evening discourse.

The League service on Monday evening was in charge of Miss Addie Norrie. The topic "Paul's Shipwreck," was given by Miss Ferguson. Mr. Lew Smith sang a solo, "Dreiting," very effectively.

School re-opened after the Easter vacation with an increase in attendance.

A THRILLING STORY OF REVOLUTION AND WAR

Mexico and the United States

Every Citizen Should Know the True Inwardness of the Mexican Situation

By FREDERICK STARR of the University of Chicago

THE BOOK OF THE HOUR

Tells not only what is known of the earliest inhabitants of the country, but it also gives a careful, most absorbing account of the course of government and the conditions and modes of life of the people since the invasion and conquest of the Spaniards. It traces the development of railroads, commerce and progress, and the vital part which foreign capitalists and adventurers have played. It portrays the cruel rule of the Spanish viceroys, the terrors of slavery and peonage, and the oppression of the working people. It describes the winning of freedom in Mexico, the Texan revolution, the war with the United States, the French invasion, the empire of Maximilian, the rise of Diaz and the development of the peculiar, complicated conditions that have resulted in the present situation.

A Country Exploited for Benefit of the Few

It is in the revelation of Mexico's intolerable political and economic conditions that the book possesses one of its chief values. The story of the evils which exist in Mexico has never been adequately told. All previous attempts have been suppressed by powerful influences. Now, however, in this volume is given a complete description of the conditions which exist—a description which will arouse a nation and compel reformation.

The Eyes of the Civilized World are upon Mexico.

All nations are to-day watching unhappy Mexico, where bullets are more potent than ballots, and where the force of arms has replaced the consent of the people in maintaining a form of government. The struggle which is being carried on for the establishment of justice and civil rights is of greater moment than merely its effect upon Mexicans.

To be fully informed on this very vital question one must read this book. Over 400 large octavo pages. Fine super paper. Over 100 great photographs, maps and portraits. Artistically bound in fine book cloth. $3.50

WORKS BOARD MADE A TOUR

Members Are Impressed
With Great Amount of Building in City.

The members of the Board of Works made their annual round of inspection through the city yesterday. The party consisted of Mayor Spence, Overseer Howie, Engineer Jones, and Ald. Sutch Calbeck and Ward.

Considerable time was spent in West Brantford. The city yards were first visited. It was practically decided that the old poultry sheds in Agricultural Park, now used by the Board of Works for storage purposes be torn down and re-erected in the city yards. The buildings were given the city by the Parks Board. The lands involved in the Hewitt dyke proposition were inspected, and the matter carefully looked into. It is stated that the board cannot see its way clear to recommend the acceptance of the proposal in its present form. Holmedale, Terrace Hill, Wards Three and Four and Five were visited in turn. Rawdon street will be treated with broken stone or gravel from end to end, if not all this year, a goodly portion of it. The complete job will cost about $3,000. The Glanville avenue sewer matter

ALD. WARD.
Who conducted the annual tour of the Board of Works yesterday.

This is a street running off Murray street, thickly settled without sewer accommodation, owing to there being no outlet. It is likely a way out of the difficulty will be reached. The work of the year in addition will include a number of new walks, storm and sanitary sewers and the putting down of a certain amount of pavement. The members of the board were struck with the amount of building in evidence in all parts of the city, and the air of prosperity that seemed everywhere prevalent.

IMMENSE EARNINGS OF CANADIAN PACIFIC

The earnings on our Canadian railways during 1913 amounted broadly to $200,000,000. These figures include all the subsidiary lines, and other affiliations of whatever nature; but the figures are remarkable. Thirty years ago the C. P. R. which now shows gross annual earnings of $140,000,000, could hardly buy axle grease. Its 25,000,000 acres of land were worthless. The land now sells at the rate of from $5 to $35 per acre. That worthless land in its totality represents a cash value of nearly $350,000,000. The lands still to be sold will realize $200,000,000. The commissioner, which the London paper of Lord Northcliffe's called Answers sent out to investigate conditions in the Dominion, regrets in one of his letters that the C. P. R. should have sold its land—any part of it—to speculators in the early days. The company regrets that policy today itself; but at the moment there did not seem any alternative. The people could not be coaxed at the time to settle in the wilderness; and the company needed money; and the big parcels were parted with—parcels which in their unoccupied state are the wonder of the incoming settler, who has to go further back while the splendid lands lie idle close to the railway. Of course, not an acre is sold now except to the genuine settler, but the point of value is that in the course of a comparatively few years, our Canadian railways, which began in feebleness and doubt, without great faith in the future and maddened at by critics, can show the enormous earnings, in a twelvemonth, of $200,000,000.

GUELPH PAPER WAXES SARCASTIC

Resignation of Chief Finch Has Brought About Unique Situation.

The Mercury of Guelph where Fire Chief Leslie Finch recently resigned, in disgust, has the following on the situation, which has been developed. The city council is advertising for a new fire chief to take charge of the Guelph Fire Department. The Council should be quite fair with any man who may apply for the position. They should tell him that they expect him to make bricks without straw. He should be informed that he will be coming to a city that has practically no fire alarm system, that has fire trucks that should have been replaced years ago, harness and equipment that is out of date, and a hall that is not large enough to accommodate the equipment the department already possesses.

The new chief should also be made aware of the fact that he is coming to a city which covers a large amount of ground, in which are many steep hills, hard to climb. He ought to know that if he had his men and apparatus at a fire in one quarter of the city, he could not answer a call in another part, because he has not the men, the horses or the equipment to do so. By all means be fair, so that the new man will not be able to turn around and accuse the Guelph authorities of not fully stating the case to him before he decided to take the position. In addition to these conditions, he should also be made aware of the fact that there are in Guelph lots of men who know more about fire fighting, the method of attacking a blaze, and the general management of the men in the department, than any fire chief who has ever existed. By all means acquaint the applicants with all the facts. Half the truth is a dangerous thing.

CIVIC RELIEF WORK BAD WATER IS WORST ENEMY OF THE ARMY

Will be Brought to a Close Gradually—Instructions Are Issued.

A movement is on foot whereby the relief given to foreigners and the needy will be reduced to the least possible minimum consistent with the necessity of the various cases. Mr. Stander has been lately sending as many of his people as possible upon farms and in this manner has got a number employed, but still there remains a large number of foreigners still out of work. This morning Mr. Stander received the following letter from Mr. Frank Cockshutt, chairman of the city relief committee:

Brantford, April 23, 1914
Mr. L. Stander, City.
Dear Sir—At a meeting of the City Relief Committee held this day, it was decided that you be instructed to reduce the assistance given to the foreigners as much as may be possible without causing suffering and to advise the men who are still out of work to seek employment either in the country or in other towns. Can you however still authorized to continue giving assistance in cases which specially call for it, no one should suffer from hunger, and in cases where there is sickness or families, visitation and such assistance as may be necessary in the meantime may be continued.

The intention is to gradually, and as soon as may be convenient, bring the work of relief to a close. I am, Yours Truly,
FRANK COCKSHUTT,
Chairman City Relief Committee.

Fears were generally expressed in officials in Washington that war with Mexico was inevitable. Troops were ordered to reinforce the United States fleet at Vera Cruz.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The complete restoration of Vera Cruz, the safe exodus of Charge O'Shaughnessy and his family from Mexico city, and a train carrying reinforcements of ploughing swiftly through seas, President Wilson and his advisers to-day were on the alert for counter move by Huerta, and a long development of any political attitude by Carranza, the constitutional chief. The sporadic outbreaks in Nuevo Laredo where even the Federalists fired across the Rio Grande and drew a pelting of bullets, the American border patrol and reported arrest of several American soldiers served to alter an absorbing situation.

Officials to-day awaited news of the reception by Carranza of a telegram sent by constitutionalists in Vera Cruz, and the possibility of his remaining neutral, and the United States intended to draw its forces from Vera Cruz soon as a reputation for Huerta's forces had been obtained. A ray of hope that the constitutionalists remain neutral was contained in reported utterances of Villa, the military chief under Carranza. Despite that, however, officials decline rest assured, and the strength of the border patrol continued day.

Representative Kent of California took to the White House to-day a telegram from a friend in El Paso whom he described as well informed stating that in his opinion the constitutionalists would remain quietly "properly treated."

The anti-American atmosphere of Mexico City that marked last night by desecrating a statue of George Washington, make a definite move to-day, it thought. Since he had given the SIMCOE, April 25.—H. B. T. of the Simcoe Reformer, last night received a cable from his brother A. W. Donly, now in Mexico as follows: "All well; don't worry. A. W. Donly was until recently Canadian Commissioner in Mexico and is the oldest foreign official having resided in the capital for 25 years."

In recent letters he intimates he intended coming home soon so far no word has been received to when he will leave.

Among other residents of the town now in Mexico are A. D. son and his wife, formerly Misses of Courtland. Mr. Dobs, manager of the largest publishing house in Mexico City, Mr. Battersby, formerly of Dover, is also in Mexico.
