Faction Riots in Germany

The Restoration Plot Taking Shape -- Krassin Opening a Trade Office in London -- Workers Commandeered Lord Sligo's Pasturage -- Cavalry Patrols in Ireland doing Protection Duty -- Poles Score Another Success Over Bolsheviks.

GREAT TENSION IN GERMANY.

LONDON, June 1. Riotous disorders are taking place in Germany as a result of the Political Campaign in that country, according to a Berlin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. A meeting of the Democratic party in Berlin on Sunday ended in a serious fight, it is said, Communists attacking Nationalists with sticks, beer bottles and chairs, and storming the speaker's platform. At a meeting held in Mecklenburg, Deputy Von Graefe, Conservative, received a broken arm and rib during a melee, while the Secretary of another Conservative meeting was badly mauled and was found unconscious after the meeting had adjourned. Everywhere in Germany there is great tension, the despatch declares, and several landowners are said to have fled to Berlin to escape Communist violence.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT OPEN TRADING OFFICE IN LONDON.

LONDON, June 1. As a first result of yesterday's meeting of Gregory Krassin, Russian Bolshevik Minister of Trade and Commerce, with Premier Lloyd George and members of the British Cabinet, the Soviet Government, according to the Evening Standard has been granted permission to immediately open a central trading office in London. At this office the newspaper says, an endeavor will be made to organize an exchange of goods with British Traders.

FOREST FIRE SITUATION SERIOUS

HALIFAX, N.S., June 1. The forest fire situation continues to cause apprehension in various sections in the maritime provinces. Fires in the vicinity of Halifax are believed to be under control but the situation in Amherst section is still serious and several towns are threatened. Provincial forester of New Brunswick states that unless rain comes soon it will be absolutely fruitless to attempt to control the situation.

HAVE CONCLUDED ARMISTICE.

LONDON, June 1. Turkish Nationalist forces and the officer in command of French troops occupying Cilicia, Asia Minor, have concluded a twenty day armistice, which at its expiration may be renewed, according to a Constantinople despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

WORKERS SEIZE LAND.

DUBLIN, June 1. Over 200 workers of Westport forcibly seized 56 acres of Lord Sligo's land yesterday morning, drove off His Lordship's cattle and installed their own milk cows. Lord Sligo had refused to relinquish land for this purpose when appealed to by the town workers who have formed an Association. Other grazing lands in the neighborhood were cleared. A skirmish between police and raiders occurred at Mohill yesterday without casualties.

WILSON AGAIN TURNED DOWN BY SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 1. President Wilson's plea for an American mandate over Armenia was rejected in the United States' Senate to-day by a vote of more than two to one. Thirteen Democrats cast their votes with the Republican membership on the final roll call, and a resolution respectfully deciding to grant congressional authority for a mandate was adopted fifty two to twenty three in the form drafted by the Republican leaders.

MEXICO CITY HAS DRY NIGHTS.

MEXICO CITY, June 1. This city is virtually dry during night hours as a result of orders from the new Government which were given for the purpose of eliminating all chances of upward happenings during these days when large bodies of troops are concentrated here.

THE POPE AND THE WAR.

ROME, June 1. Pope Benedict's efforts to re-establish peace in Europe during the war were extolled by Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, at a banquet given at the Irish College last night at the close of the festivities incident to the Beatification of Oliver Plunkett, first Archbishop of Armagh. "There was not one of President Wilson's fourteen points that was not included in the Pontiff's peace conditions," he declared. "During the late war every effort was made to induce the Pope to side with one belligerent or another but he went straight as an arrow. He made justice and right triumph over oppression."

HARD ON THE WETS.

PROVINCE, R.I., June 1. More than 300 quarts of whiskey said to be worth thirty thousand dollars were seized by police and Federal Prohibition agents here yesterday as it arrived on a big truck from New York.

BIG PULP MERGER.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1. An expenditure of thirty millions is to be made in developing the pulp and paper industry in Gatineau Valley, as a result of a merger by which the properties of W. C. Edwards and C. O. Gilmore and Hughson, the Kipawa Co., Ltd., Piongers, Pulp and Paper Co., are linked up under the ownership of the Borden Pulp and Paper Co. An announcement to this effect was made last night by one of the officials in the merger.

COURT DIVIDES.

OTTAWA, June 1. The Supreme Court divided in its opinion to-day on the jurisdiction of the Board of Commerce of Canada as a profit fixing Tribunal. The order which the Board proposed to serve on the retail clothing in Ottawa limiting the profit which any retailer may take on men's suits and overcoats to not fifteen per cent. was the point at issue. It is understood the reference will be taken to the Privy Council of England.

PATROL SURPRISES RAIDERS.

LONDON, June 1. The first reported incident of the new Cavalry Patrols in Ireland preventing Sinn Fein raids on police barracks occurred on Monday night when a patrol surprised two hundred armed men about to cut telegraph wires preparatory to an attack on the barracks at Mullinavad. The raiders scattered in all directions and the troops pursued them in vain.

Legislative Council.

June 1. The House met at 4.30. The following bills passed the third reading: "An Act to provide for the lighting of Outport Streets." "Of Stipendiary Magistrates and Justices of the Peace." "Of Deed Duties." "An Act concerning the Registration of Mid-wives." "Confirmation with the Susu Shipping Co. Ltd." "Of the Fire Patrol."

The Bill entitled "An Act to amend Chapter 4 of the Consolidated Statutes of Newfoundland (third Series) entitled "Of Legislative Disabilities and the Vacation of Seats in the House of Assembly," passed the committee stage, with the section dealing with the Minister of Shipping deleted. The Second Reading of Bill entitled "An Act to amend the Income War Tax Act, 1918," brought forth some discussion.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath objected to the slip shod manner in which the bill was framed.

Hon. Mr. Grieve also voiced a protest and intimated that he would like to have matters come before the Council in the form that they should.

The Bill entitled "An Act to check profiteering" passed the second reading and will be fully dealt with in committee to-day. Hon. S. Milley, in commenting on the bill, read an extract from the Journal of Commerce, dated May 31st. This article dealt with the Profiteering Act of Great Britain. It quoted F. W. Cooke as saying a huge mistake had been made in the Profiteering Act, and it was not effective in bringing down prices.

Hon. McNamara, dealing with Sec. 3, which in part says: "Provided that a rate of profit which does not exceed the fair average rate earned upon the sale of similar articles under pre war conditions," he said that because of the heavy investment, the high cost of labor, cartage, etc., it would be unreasonable for a dealer to make the same profit as in pre-war times. With flour $3.00 a barrel, 50 cents was a reasonable profit, but at $18.00 a barrel, paying the increase of labor, cartage and other charges, $1 would not be unreasonable and would only figure out as a pre-war profit. He thought it unreasonable to have to sell at pre-war profit.

Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath thought the Bill was only a transcript from the English Act, passed two years ago. He did not think it would ever be heard of after it has become law. Many of the bills passed in response to an outcry are seldom heard of after they are passed here. In the bill before the House, he thought the machinery to make it effective too cumbersome, and he ventured the prediction that with the passing of the Act nothing will be done. He had some experience in dealing with the local Food Control Board and had given some time in attempting to adjust matters. During the general election, he had been blamed for putting off "hog feed," "dirty sugar," etc., by people who might have assisted the Board of that time. The McGrath trade, however, served its purpose to the advantage of those who denounced him. When the present Government was returned they had ample time under the War Measures Act to make any changes. The present Bill came forth six months later. He would not unduly criticize the Bill. In his opinion the machinery was inadequate and would accomplish nothing. It was one of those Bills like the Servant's Bill, which went on the statutes and was never heard of again. Profiteering was going on to a degree on all sides. It was a vicious circle in which the laborer, the mechanic and everyone else was going round.

Hon. W. B. Grieve said he wished that profiteering would be defined before making observations on the bill. This was of prime importance before any intelligent discussion of the bill took place. Some six or seven bills were sent up from the Lower Chamber and read for the first time. Hon. Mr. Mews, before the House adjourned, read a statement re the control of sugar. The House adjourned at 6 p.m.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

A WRONG WAY TO EXPRESS ONESELF.

RUTH CAMERON

A friend of mine hates to go on a train journey with her husband because he is always so irritable if any connection goes wrong. His justification is "I hate to wait." Suppose he does hate to wait. Is that any reason he should express his mood of impatience by ir-signs of derangement. Anyone who feels cross most of the time, probably needs a doctor.

But Don't Forget to be Your Own Doctor, Too.

But even when ill health does enter into our irritability it can still be controlled to a large degree. In a recent magazine a doctor writing on a kindred subject says, "Though the mind is never wholly free it can still to a certain extent dominate the effects of toxins. When I have caught cold or have been up late at night and my nervous system is in need of rest and replenishment, I am cross to those whom I love and irritating to people in my employ. I manage to cheer up wonderfully, however, if it becomes necessary to make a pleasant impression on someone. I can do this because my will is dominating temporarily."

If you feel a constant desire to be cross summon a doctor to your aid, but don't forget to summon your will power, too.

PLAYTIME.

The only real time for fun is when you know your work is done. Who leaves neglected tasks behind Takes with him an uneasy mind. But he can sing along his way Who earns the right to rest and play.

The sweetest hours of joys are those Which every weary toiler knows— The holidays which now and then Shine through the lives of busy men When, free from care and duty's grief, They leave the daily tasks behind.

There is no real joy in play For him who knows that he should stay And keep his post, however sweet The pleasure he has gone to meet, Because forever on his mind There lies the task he left behind.

He only knows the thrill of fun Who plays not till his work is done. Then he may wander fancy-free And claim the joy, whatever it be, Knowing the laughter and delight Which come to him as he is right.

God grant that when I come to rest, With life's sun sinking in the west, And the last bugle call is blown But duty's herald, I may own The right to turn from toil and rest, Knowing that I have done my best.

Lindsay Crawford's Ravings.

(From the Toronto Telegram.)

Out-Hearsting Hearst in the bitterness of his anti-British ravings, Mr. Lindsay Crawford is fitting about the United States and addressing meetings in a frenzied attempt to stir up hatred against the Motherland. He stigmatizes the "ruling classes" of Britain as "oppressors" of Egypt, India, and Ireland, declares Britain should have gone down to perdition along with Germany, and loudly calls upon the people of the United States to protest against the occupation of Ireland by British forces.

Until twelve years ago Mr. Crawford lived in Ireland, never having even seen Canada. Nevertheless he presumes to mount public platforms in the United States, pose as a representative Canadian whose opinion is widely shared in Canada, and to incite the people of the great republic against Britain.

Mr. Crawford's opinions no more represent thought in Canada than do the wild speeches of certain long-haired Russians who, lately admitted to citizenship in the United States, have been telling Washington how the U.S.A. must be run. Loyal Americans bitterly resent the impertinence of these newly-naturalized foreigners from Eastern Europe, as do loyal Canadians the even more flagrant action of Lindsay Crawford. The Bolshevik Russians don't know any better, whereas Lindsay Crawford, not a foreigner at all, but a native Irishman, knows well the conditions of Ireland—knows that it is a quarrel between Ireland of north and south, and that Britain has acted all through with justice and forbearance in the Irish question, for the happy solution of which the Motherland devoutly prays.

Let Americans rest assured that Lindsay Crawford is of no more account in Canada than the puniest soap-box orator who ever in the U.S.A. urged a crowd of malcontents to overthrow the United States Government.

Mr. Crawford's authority to speak for Canada is based on the fact that for a short time he adorned the staff of a publication that advertised itself as "Canada's National Newspaper." He has succeeded in projecting himself into the limelight occasionally by making speeches which are remarkable only for their disregard of truth, lack of information, and their studied animosity towards everything British.

Were it not that other people equally ignorant might be deceived by his diatribes, it would be of no importance what Lindsay Crawford said about Canadian sentiment on the Irish question or anything else.

DER TAG.

When a panic comes and swats us, bringing forty kinds of woe, and the sheriff comes and trots us to the court where bankrupts go, then we'll wonder, why, in booming, bulging times, when the trees were growing plunder, we refused to save some dimes. When the panic that's predicted by the wise men everywhere, comes along, and we're afflicted with a poor-house bill of fare, then we'll do some idle raving, and we'll kick ourselves a verst for we didn't do our saving when the boom was at its worst. Now that everything seems sunny, and our chances are the best, it's the time to put some money, with some mothballs, in a chest; put it down with cedar shavings, so the insects won't annoy; for the man who has his savings in the wisest kind of way. Soon this crazy boom may trundle to the tomb, in ghostly robe; then the man who has a bundle is the man who'll ride the globe.

Sponging with ammonia and water will restore the color to many fabrics.

The Sugar Situation

ACCORDING TO THE F. C. B. The following statement on the sugar situation was made by Hon. Mr. Mews, Chairman of the Food Control Board, in the Legislative Council yesterday:—

In the interest of the people the Food Control Board have thought it advisable to take over the control of the sugar importations and fix a retail price at which it is to be sold all over the Island. During this year, the price has fluctuated from twenty to twenty-five cents, being sold by some at as high a price as twenty-eight cents.

By an agreement between the Trade and the Food Board the retail price has been kept at about twenty-two cents for more than a month, a circumstance which has saved the people not less than forty thousand dollars, as without that arrangement sugar would probably have been sold generally at twenty-five cents and perhaps more.

Stocks of sugar sufficient to supply our needs for the next two months were secured at a reasonable price, but the market price was continually advancing, and sugar was bought at length by importers for full requirements, at prices that would mean sugar at forty cents a lb. Dealers in sugar intimated to the Board that they did not feel like buying sugar at this high price, unless they could protect themselves by an advance on sugar, which they were selling at present. Just at this time the Board had an offer of one thousand tons of sugar at a price which was considerably below that for sugar which would have been sold for forty cents.

This lot was acquired and the Board thought it a favourable opportunity to make a pool of the sugar arrive, which involved a quantity which will more than supply our needs for the balance of the year.

Arrangements have been made to take over all undelivered contracts, and all sugar to be imported, and an average price has been arrived at, a price, which, if no extraordinary circumstances arise, will remain in force for the balance of the year. This retail price is fixed at thirty cents per pound, and this price must be considered a satisfactory one, in view of the fact that it costs very near that figure to bring sugar in the country at the present time.

The Board felt it was in the interest of all, that this average price should take effect at once, because it would be a manifestly unfair position that would allow those with money to purchase large stocks of sugar at cheap prices, and leave those who can only buy from week to week to pay forty cents a pound for sugar in September and the months following.

While there may be temporary breaks in the sugar prices, it is felt by all the authorities on the sugar situation that the price will show no decrease for this year, and under these conditions the Food Board have felt that they have done the best for the country in taking over the sugar business.

They felt that with such an essential commodity as sugar, at such a high price, the public must be protected. Competition in sugar has been eliminated this year; supplies have been short, and opportunities to make large profits were such as never before presented themselves to those dealing in sugar. The Board can reasonably say that now the public know the worst as regards sugar prices, and as has been said, unless extraordinary circumstances intervene, we need not anticipate a future increase for many months.

The Roman Empire Sold by Public Auction.

After the murder of Pertinax, the Praetorian Guards, instituted by the Emperor Augustus, who were beginning to become powerful, proclaimed that the Roman Empire was to be disposed of by public auction to the highest bidder, a proposal which diffused universal grief and indignation throughout the city of Rome. It at length reached the ears of Didius Julianus, a wealthy senator, who, regardless of the public calamities, was indulging himself in luxury at the table. His friends easily convinced him that he deserved the throne, and conjured him to embrace so fortunate an opportunity, so on March 28, 193, he hastened to the Praetorian camp, where Sulpicianus, the late Emperor's father-in-law and governor of the city, was still in treaty with the guards, and began to bid against him. Sulpicianus had already promised a donation of an amount equivalent to £160 sterling to each soldier, when Julian, eager for the prize, offered £200, thereupon the gates of the camp were instantly thrown open. Julian was declared emperor, and received an oath of allegiance from the soldiers. The people were furious and called on the legions of the frontiers to assert the violated majesty of the Roman Empire. Septimus Severus, commanding the Pannonian army, on hearing of the murder of Pertinax, assembled his army and marched towards Rome. Julian attempted to prevent his own ruin, and fortified the city. To the faithless Praetorian guards, who trembled at the name of the Pannonian legions, Severus offered their lives if they would give up their worthless prince. These easy conditions were gladly complied with and they acknowledged Severus as lawful emperor. Julian was beheaded on June 2 as a common criminal, after having purchased with an immense treasure, an anxious and precarious reign of only 68 days.

SUGAR.

The Newfoundland Food Control Board have, in the interests of the general public, taken over the control of all Sugar Sales.

In accordance with the plan worked out, by which the price of sugar will be stabilized until the end of year at least, the maximum retail price of sugar is today fixed at THIRTY CENTS PER POUND.

Regulations governing sales will in due course be published.

This action has been taken in order to protect the public against the probable price of forty cents per pound in a few months, which would have been inevitable if this step had not been taken.

Votes for Women.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—A lot of people are trying hard to find good arguments to justify our refusing to grant to women the right to vote. I should like to help them by recounting a few of the reasons that I have heard from time to time. It has been said quite seriously that the ordinary woman is of no use in a boat! Of course what was meant was that physically, women cannot do what the ordinary man can do. The statement if of course true, generally speaking, but it might occur to men of even ordinary intelligence that bodily strength and ability are not insisted upon in the case of male voters, but that some of our greatest politicians have been poor specimens physically.

Others tell us that many women are silly and without serious thought for or interest in the welfare of the country. This, of course, is quite true too; but he would be a bold man who would attempt to show that men are less silly than women, or that there are fewer male fools than female. One would be tempted to guess that the proportion of fools in the two sexes is about equal. At any rate each of us usually finds the sort of mate that suits him, and if we don't it is because we haven't enough sense to do so. I take it that one of the chief functions of government is to make the homes of the people happy—to make the conditions of life such as to enable the ordinary family to live in peace and comfort. Nobody

Mending is One of Mother's Multiplicity of Duties

Unfortunately, it is usually necessary for the busy mother to leave the mending until some quiet hour when the children have been got off to bed. This necessitates working by artificial light, with unusual straining of the eyes.

It is this straining of the eyes which makes one feel so tired after mending, sewing, shopping, or doing fancy work.

When you think of how constantly the eyes are employed, and of the continual changing of the focus to suit the distance of the object viewed, you may not be surprised to know that the optic nerve consumes an enormous amount of nervous energy.

For this reason straining of the eyes brings on fatigue, and often leads to nervous breakdown.

There is no magical way by which exhausted nerves can be restored. It takes time and patience in order that the depleted nerve cells may be nourished back to health and vigor, but you may be sure of satisfactory results if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly.

We know that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the vital substances which go to the upbuilding of the nervous system. We have the utmost confidence in its curative properties, because we have seen it tested in so many thousands of cases. But how are we going to prove this to you unless you try it? You are the one to be benefited, so it remains for you to make the test.

Try it when you feel tired out and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headache and indigestion. It is not a mere relief, for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves. The fact that the results are both thorough and lasting will encourage you to continue the use of this food cure until you feel strong and well.

All Ready for the Cup Trials.

BRISTOL, R.I., May 27.—The sloop Resolute, America's Cup defense candidate, had her first trial run to-day with the steel mast of 1915 as a substitute for the hollow wooden mast which collapsed off New Haven last Saturday in the tuning-up trials with the Vanitie. Officials declared themselves satisfied with her behavior, but a number of other trial spins will be conducted before the sloop again meets the Vanitie of Newport next week.

GLEN COVE, N.Y., May 28.—The yacht Vanitie, fitted with a new sail, was given a trial spin late yesterday on Long Island Sound, where she showed her ability to move fast in moderate weather. No time was taken. The Vanitie will leave here to-day for Greenport, where she will be hauled out and shined up for the trial races against the Resolute to determine which yacht will defend the America's Cup.

Thursday a School Holiday.

While the teachers are at liberty to conduct the proceedings in the way they consider best, it is recommended by the Superintendents that at some time, preferably before the schools are dismissed on the previous Wednesday, the pupils be informed of the great importance and significance of the day, and particularly that the high character and splendid devotion to duty shown by the King at all times but especially during the war, be emphasized.

House of Assembly.

June 1, 1920.

The House met at 3 p.m. Petitions were presented by Messrs. Walsh and McDonnell, the latter from 900 residents of St. George's District asking for a modification of the Prohibition Act.

The Minister of Justice moved the House into committee of the whole to consider certain resolutions respecting the improvement bill of roads. This is the bill foreshadowed by the petition from the Motor Association last week. Mr. Warren said he introduced it not as a Government measure, but at the request of the above association or a number of gentlemen connected therewith.

At the suggestion of Mr. Higgins the further discussion was deferred and the committee rose to enable members to become acquainted with the provisions of the resolutions.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries introduced a bill to amend the Pilotage Act, 1917.

QUESTIONS:

Mr. Bennett—To ask the Hon. Minister of Posts and Telegraphs if Miss Edith Brown, Postmistress at Tilton, C.B., sister of ex-Private David Brown, M.M., has been notified of her dismissal from the public service and if so state cause for such dismissal.

Minister of Posts not present—Reply will be tabled to-morrow.

Mr. Walsh—To ask the Hon. the Prime Minister: (a) If it is the intention of the Government to create a Department of Labor; (b) When said department will be established; (c) Will legislation in connection with said establishment be introduced at the present session of the Legislature.

Reply—It is the intention of the Government to introduce a bill relating to the adjustments of disputes between employer and employee. A department of labor will not be created but the bill will call for the appointment of a board.

The Council's amendments to the Survey of Foreign Going Vessels' Bill was read a second time.

Third readings were given the "Preservation of Beavers" Bill and the Act respecting the "Postal and Telegraph Services" Bill.

The House then went into committee on the "Licenses to Cut Hardwood" Bill. Amendments were made to Section 3, protecting the three mile limit. No license will be granted to cut on the three mile limit unless three months notice be given in the Royal Gazette, and no license shall be granted if 40 p.c. of the electors in any area register a protest against such license being granted.

The "Alison" Bill was put through committee, and the House adjourned until to-day at the usual hour.

A Pat on the Back.

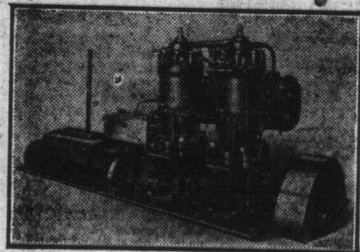

Dear Sir.—Being one of the vast army of citizens whose only propellers are our heels and toes, may I ask permission from you to congratulate Councillor Mullaly for his interest on our behalf, I am glad to hear that the Councillor is bubbling over with enthusiasm for the popular idea he has espoused—that is, to give to pedestrians only the right to use exclusively certain roadways in the East and West sections of the city. That's right Councillor, walk on it old man, in good shape, for everybody is applauding you. Keep up the voltage of your energy till you have your project copper-fastened. "Atta boy," as the sports say, and let the slogan be "Mullaly don't forget us." The shanks mare brigade must have their place in the sun, free of the spattering of mud on their clothes, and from the blinding dust storms raised by speed hogs.

Yours truly,

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. David Duff, son of R. M. Duff, arrived Thursday last from Sackville, on a visit to his parents.

The death occurred 2 o'clock Thursday morning of Mrs. George Adams, of Water Street East. Mrs. Adams had not been enjoying the best of health for some time, and on Tuesday evening was stricken with paralysis, and the end came quickly. She leaves to mourn their sad loss four sons, two daughters and a husband, to whom much sympathy is tendered. She was in her 59th year. Funeral took place Saturday afternoon, and was largely attended. Interment was at the Methodist cemetery, when the remains were laid to rest in mother earth.

Herring, salmon and codfish were on the market during the latter part of last week in goodly quantities, and were easily disposed of.

Say, want a spud—any amount of 'em while they last, and going at a bargain. Now is your chance; only 5 cents each! That's Saturday's market.

Perhaps the most regrettable thing that has occurred in the history of Hr. Grace, took place one night last week, when Mr. H. H. Archibald's cod trap was badly cut by some person that must have escaped from the Lunatic Asylum. The thing is so unbelievable that one almost has to force one's self to give it credence. What ever the intention of the destroyer was, it is impossible to say, other than to injure Mr. Archibald and his season's plans. This cannot be, for Mr. Archibald is not a man that has an enemy—rather is he one that is looked upon as a person of great value to Hr. Grace. But for what purpose, and by whom was the low-lived act committed? It is to be hoped that the person or persons will be rounded up and an example made of them. In the meantime every possible clue is being followed up, and it is not only possible, but probable that the scamp or scamps will be run to earth.

The young ladies who were around collecting for the Beaumont Hamel Fund were very successful in their efforts, and two hundred and thirty dollars were realised.

While "jiggling" one night last week, on the rocks at Bear's Cove, a young lad caught a fish that was different from the kind he was expecting. Pulling in his line he was very much surprised to find a huge lobster clinging to it for dear life, and the best of it is, it wouldn't let go for love or money.

Mr. R. K. Kennedy arrived by Saturday night's train from the city.

Mr. John St. George arrived by the same train from elsewhere.

The French steam trawler Emanuela was taken on dock Saturday.

The Rev. Gordon Dickie, of St. Andrew's Church, St. John's, will occupy the pulpit of the Kirk here on Sunday next, forenoon and evening.

Everything is hurry, flurry, worry and scurry in the fishery line on this part of the coast. Many vessels are now fully underway and will sail for Labrador in a short time; in fact some will go this week. Bon voyage to all.

The Rev. F. S. Coffin will leave for the city Tuesday morning.

Mr. Moses Martin passed away at his home, Martin's Brook, Tuesday. The old gentleman had not been in the best of health for some years past, but was able to get about town, up to within a week or so of his death. Funeral will take place Tuesday.

We are on the verge of another change, in the weather. This Spring we are getting many changes, and most of us doubt not the fact that should one sleep in the garden with the gate open one would catch cold!

Mrs. Harold Walls, who had been very ill more or less for a few weeks is now, her many friends are pleased to note, very much better, and will be herself again in a short time.

A house belonging to Mr. Delaney, was destroyed by fire on Sunday last, near Pipe Track.

A petition has been handed Mr. Archibald, to be presented at the House asking for a quantity of seed potatoes for those who have a piece of ground and no spuds to plant therein. It is to be hoped that the Government will not dilly-dally over this affair, as it may mean a serious aftermath to those who are trusting in part to their crops to tide them over the winter months. This promises to be a good growing season—hence the Government's speedy attention. The big man—the man who does not grow potatoes for his own eating purposes, the man who is getting a big salary—can get all he wants while those who are trusting to the soil have to go without them. Your correspondent's contention is not to prohibit the growing of any vegetables by the independent one, but when there is a shortage such as is experienced this summer, the poorer man should be given sufficient for his seeding purposes, and then should the supply allow, the big chap be supplied.

Mr. Harry Andrews will leave for Montreal Tuesday morning.

CHAPTER XI.
THE GRAND CENTRAL STATION.

Our last day at New York happened to be Labor Day, which is usually celebrated by parading, but the weather not being the best, we did not stay to see the parade. Our eyes had feasted upon so many novel sights, and the elevators had lifted us to so many altitudes, that we almost lost interest in parades. In fact some of us had begun to think that the day of parading is a thing of the past; but such is not the case—for the custom is still popular, and the occasion creates the procession. From enquiring we learned that the celebrations of the day were successfully carried out, and that thousands of the representatives of labour marched through some of the principal streets of the city. On leaving the hotel our steps led us to the New York Central Station. We had seen parades before, but never had any of our party (of 4) seen such a spectacle as that which this splendid station presented to our view. The whole place was more like some beautiful and spacious palace than like a railway station; and when we had looked around for a while we discovered that it was more like an up-to-date, well kept town, than even a palace. Its vast corridors, and spacious waiting rooms, its splendidly stocked shops and lunch rooms, with every convenience in general that money can provide, all combine to make the station an object of beauty, and a source of safety, both to the sight-seer, and to the travelling public.

Tens of thousands of people pass in and out of this station daily. The scene is one of animation and bustle; and withal there is most commendable order; and though the majority of the people are strangers, the system of management is so perfect, and the directions so clear, that everybody seems to get through without mishap, loss or accident. When it is borne in mind that there are forty-two tracks leading out of this station, and that the departure and arrival of trains are bulletined to the minute, it will readily appear what an immense encumbrance of people hourly pass to and fro. If one desired to learn some details of the situation, a glance at the top row of ticket-offices, and at the line-up of passengers which await their turn, would partly tell the story. Of the many agencies of help which the modern railway station affords the traveller, perhaps none are more directly and personally appreciated than the agency of the porters. Some of these officials are on the spot all the time, and they know every detail of the situation, and they are very attentive and pains-taking. They are mostly of the colored race. Their uniform is dark blue with red cap, and they are very neat and tidy in their person. It has sometimes said that politeness is being lost, but whoever may have lost it, the porters of the railway stations have not; they are a polite and respectful class of men. A stranger arriving at a large railway station hardly knows which way to turn. The stations are very spacious and present the appearance of a miniature town; hence it is not easy to locate one's self for a minute or two; at such a time the gentle porter appears on the scene, at once relieves the situation, and you breathe a sigh of relief. In a few minutes you are on your way to your friends, or to your hotel, and the suspense of the hour has passed away. The porter had done it all, and done it quickly. He has carried your grips and led the way to the waiting room, and picked out a seat for you. He has either called a cab, or engaged a taxi, and respectfully escorted you to it, and politely bowed you into it, and then he, with even greater politeness closes the door, and bows himself back to the sidewalk or the curbing. You in return slip him his tip, which is the only pay these faithful men get. The amount is usually a quarter, and the grace with which they take the tip, is of itself a lesson worth learning.

The same advantages apply to taking a train. The Porter is just as helpful then as before. He knows all the ticket-officers, and all the tracks, and he knows the cars and their names and numbers. To locate these is very bewildering to the average passenger; hence when the gateways to the tracks are opened, and the station agent calls out the train about to leave, or the bulletin board announces the same, it is very convenient to have the service of a porter, and to be piloted through the crowd to the right spot and at the right moment, and to have your grips laid in the seat which you are to occupy. Such are the benefits of the services as rendered by the porters as we found them; and to those who for the first time, take a tour abroad to the large cities, we respectfully commend their work.

Annual Collection

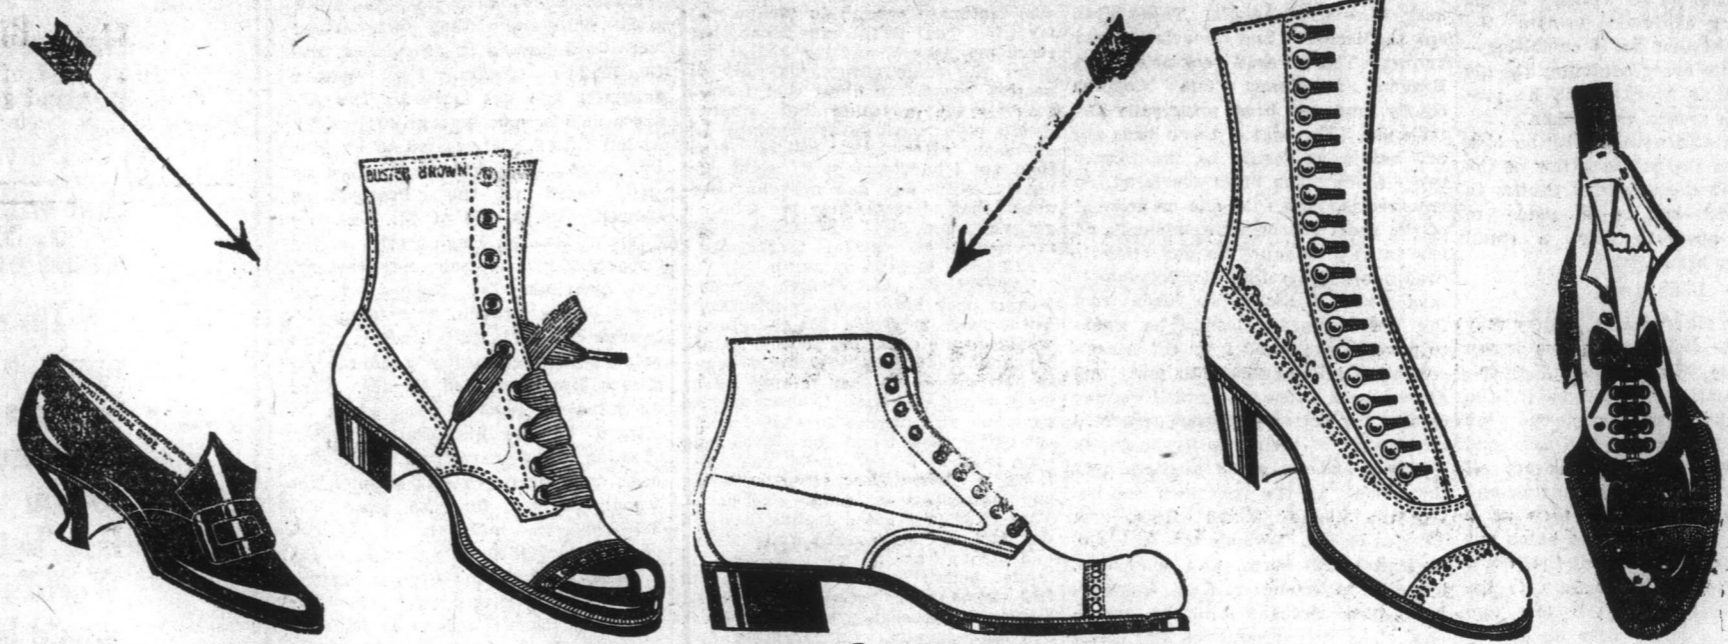

FOR BELVIDERE AND MOUNT CARMEL CEMETERIES.

Once more the time has arrived when our Roman Catholic citizens are called upon to subscribe, to the best of their ability, towards the upkeep and contemplated improvement of the cemeteries of Belvidere and Mount Carmel, wherein rest all that is mortal of the dear departed. Upon all occasions, from time immemorial, the characteristic generosity of our people has been in evidence, and we feel certain that it will not be lacking upon this occasion. Much has been done during the past decades by the energetic and painstaking committees, who have devoted their time and energy in looking after and beautifying the Cities of the Dead. But much is yet to be done, amongst which we may mention the new fence on that portion of Belvidere on the side of Allandale Road. All these improvements call for funds, which are most judiciously and carefully expended. The character of a people is judged by strangers visiting a country or city, to a very great extent, by the condition of the cemeteries, and we know from personal experience that our Newfoundland friends who have taken up their residences in the United States, Canada and elsewhere, on their visits to the "land they love so well," are favorably impressed in witnessing the care and attention which have been displayed by our people in beautifying and improving the sacred plots in which repose the remains of their dear ones, as well as the very many improvements which have been accomplished in the general surroundings. As new ground is opened up, the expenses necessarily become heavier, but the Committees of Belvidere and Mount Carmel have their hearts in the work, and their efforts are strengthened, as years roll on, by the appreciation and support always extended to them by the Catholic people of St. John's. There are indeed few Catholic families in this city, or, in fact, in the United States and Canada, but have some loved one whose remains rest in peace, either in Belvidere or Mount Carmel, and great indeed must be their joy to know that the sacred plots wherein their beloved relatives rest, are taken care of by those they left behind them; and in many instances the visits of the graves are actuated, to a great extent, by the Christian spirit to once more view the hallowed spot in which repose their dear departed.

On last Sunday it was announced from the Altars of all the Churches in the city that the collection would be taken up on Sunday next, the 6th inst., at all the Masses, and it is sufficient for us just to remind our Catholic friends of the date, as with that spirit of true benevolence, which has ever characterized them, they will perform all that is required of them and make the collection for Belvidere and Mount Carmel a record one. It may be interesting to our Catholic friends to know some of the dates in connection with the history of Belvidere and Mount Carmel. On the 4th July, 1848 Belvidere Cemetery was first opened, and on the same date 1851, the new ground was consecrated. Mount Carmel ground was purchased on July 23rd, 1849, and consecrated by Bishop Mullock on June 26th, 1855. Both these cemeteries were purchased during the Episcopate of Bishop Fleming, as he died on July 14th, 1850, and Bishop Mullock was consecrated coadjutor by Cardinal Franzoni at Rome on December 27th, 1847.

We understand it is the intention of the Belvidere Committee to give the historic little Mortuary Chapel a coat of paint, as soon as their resources permit. The little church is one of the most beautiful in the Colony, and is well worthy of a visit. Some years ago, it was, one might say, rebuilt. A new chancel had been added and a gallery constructed with stairs leading thence. The old tower was taken down and replaced by a new one. The church as originally built, but not supplied with a vestry, but this was supplied in the new alterations. It may now be said to be a gem of art. The splendid Gothic windows and doors, which were entirely made by hand—the work of an Irish artisan named Walsh and his assistants, were found to be in an excellent state of preservation, and His Grace, the late Archbishop Howley, in order to preserve this splendid memento of architectural skill of over half a century ago, gave strict orders, that it should be preserved at all costs. The church is now substantial in every particular, having a good retaining wall surrounding it, and the ground around it has been laid out with ample walks.

The side and ends of the building have Gothic panels placed at certain intervals. All the window carvings and panellings beneath the windows are of grained oak. There has been a handsome chancel railing added, also a railing to the gallery. On the north end, over the Altar, there is a handsome scroll, upheld at either end by the figures of two angels, the scroll bearing the inscription—"I am the Resurrection and the Life!" This work was performed by the lamented Archbishop Howley. The Altar is of the Gothic style, to correspond with the Church. The Altar is entirely the work of Mr. John Callahan (of the firm of "Callahan Glass & Co."), and the whole work reflects the highest credit on his skill as an artisan, as well as his painstaking attention to every detail of the work.

Our object in penning this somewhat extended article is to show our fellow countrymen in Canada and the United States that those they have left behind them have not forgotten those beautiful plots in the rear of the Cathedral grounds, as well as in Mount Carmel, where very few have not some dearly loved relative, or some fondly cherished friend, whose bones are now resting in beautiful and peaceful seclusion. We feel convinced that the Catholic people will not alone keep up their past record, but will make this year's collection for Belvidere and Mount Carmel the most successful in their history. We confidently leave it to our citizens to perform their part on Sunday next.

The Dog Habit Catching. young society lady paid $80 for a mongrel—but we couldn't vouch for this. Last evening, at the very theatre in which the new religion—pardon, we meant cult—a lady had a young setter in her arms and this foolish young thing—the dog, that is—began to bark in a most misery-inspired manner. Much sympathy was felt for her—the lady, that is, and one polite gentleman even went sufficiently out of his way to offer her some poisoned candy with which she might put the dog out of its misery. In justice to the lady, be it said, the offer was spurned. Meanwhile, let us all hope that the Dog Habit will flourish and considerably. It is stated that one

Breeds of Poultry.

(By A. Member of the Nfld. Poultry Association.)

When a person in the Dominion of Newfoundland wishes to purchase a few fowl to produce meat and eggs for his family use—or for market, he often is puzzled by the thought—as to which breed he shall keep? Visiting the Annual Nfld. Show he has quite a range to choose from. There are so many types of fowl—some at maturity weighing 2½ to 3 pounds and others tipping the scales at 8 pounds. Enquiring from the Silver Cup and other prize winners at the shows—every exhibitor praises the breed of fowl that he is exhibiting—and as a rule every exhibitor has his own particular breed which he prefers for one reason or another.

This article is written with an idea to convey to the public a few of the differences in the breeds of poultry in Newfoundland—and as a guide to any person about to start a small flock of pure bred fowl.

Definitions.

The great difference in poultry may be said to be the dividing line drawn between the Mediterranean, American, and Asiatic breeds of fowl. The Mediterranean class comprises the Leghorns, Minorcas, Anconas and Black Spanish. These birds are all specially bred for egg producing and are non-sitters—that is, they as a rule do not get broody, and hatch out their chickens as do birds of the other classes. The White Leghorn is the most popular breed of the class, and is known the world over as one of the greatest layers of large white shelled eggs. Nearly all the large egg farms of New York are populated with White Leghorns. They are very active birds, foraging a lot of their own feed from the weed seeds, worms and slugs, which abound on the range—are very healthy, and their eggs are always wonderfully fertile—the birds are full of vigour, are beautifully feathered and nicely set up—so that the owners can take lots of pride when visitors come to view their flocks. The weight of these hens at maturity average about three pounds and the cocks weigh four pounds. The young pullets usually lay in five and a half months from the time they are hatched, and will lay all the winter in cold houses, provided they are kept clean, well watered, and fed.

Classification.

Next to the Mediterranean class comes the American. This class contains such birds as the Plymouth Rocks—White and Barr'd, Wyandottes in all varieties, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons, and others. I have mentioned only the names of these familiar to us in Newfoundland. The hens of this class average at maturity about seven pounds and the cocks weigh about eight. These birds lay a brown shelled egg and the young pullets usually lay their first egg at seven to eight months of age. These breeds are setters—that is they will get broody and hatch out their chickens in the usual twenty-one days. The next class is the Asiatic. These birds are the largest and heaviest fowl known. The breeds comprise the Brahma, Langassans and Cochins chiefly, and are bred principally for table use. The eggs of these birds are not nearly as fertile as the former two classes. The birds are large, do not exercise as a rule, and on account of the short season in Newfoundland, are entirely unsuited to our climatic conditions. Therefore the Newfoundland should choose his birds from the Mediterranean class if he wants to produce eggs, and from the American class if he needs both meat and eggs. As a rule the small active classes lay better—consume less feed on account of their smaller bodies to nurture—and are great hustlers over the fields. In the American classes, like the Rhode Island Reds, the Barr'd Rocks, Wyandottes and Orpingtons, this breed was originated, however, in Orpington, Kent, England, but I have included it in the American class on account of its type; you have the ideal family fowl—meat and eggs.

Distinctions.

The above classes often have different variety of combs. Some have the single comb—upright on the head—whilst you can also buy the Rose combs in the same breed. Many prefer the latter as the comb does not freeze in winter in the same manner as the single comb does. When the comb freezes laying usually stops until the bird recovers. The purchaser can choose the colour of the feathers—as you can buy Plymouth Rocks with the barr'd white and black feathers, as well as the White Plymouth Rock—both the same breed and alike in every other particular. The Wyandottes are bred in White, Buff and Columbian. The "Rhode Island Red" breed are, as the name signifies—Red feathered—but the same breed can be bought with white feathers,

St. John's Woman Was a Victim of the Big Explosion

Mrs. Chapman Says Nothing Restored Her Shattered Health Until She Got Tanlac.

"I am so deeply grateful for the wonderful way in which Tanlac has restored my health, that I feel it my duty to tell everybody about my experience with the medicine," said Mrs. Nora Chapman, of 25 Pleasant Street, St. John's, Nfld., recently.

"We were living in Halifax at the time of the terrible explosion; my poor husband was killed, and I was severely wounded in the hand, but was fortunate enough to escape with my life. That awful experience shattered my nerves, and my health was never the same afterwards. My digestion became so upset that I could scarcely eat anything but what I would suffer most severe pains in my stomach afterwards. More often than not I hardly slept at all, and nearly every day had nervous headaches that almost drove me wild. I got very depressed and discouraged, for in spite of special treatment I didn't seem to get any better.

"After I was well enough to travel I came back here to St. John's where I was born, thinking that the change would do me good, but it wasn't until I started taking Tanlac that I began to pull round. It has simply done me a world of good. It first of all gave me an appetite so that I could eat better than I had done for a long time before. I can now eat anything I wish without ever suffering any indigestion or pain afterwards. That tired, depressed feeling has left me, and my nerves are quite steady and strong again now. I am no longer bothered with headaches, and feel stronger and better in every way. Tanlac is indeed a great blessing to suffering people, and I hope this statement may lead others who suffer as I did to try it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle.—adv.

these being known as Rhode Island Whites. The Orpingtons can be had in Black Buff and white feathers.

The Work of the N. F. A.

The Nfld. Poultry Association has been doing its work now in a quiet way for nearly five years. It has exhibited the fowls owned by the members to the general public annually. This year (1920), alone to date nearly 3,000 eggs have been sold for distribution through the members and Secretary, John Calver, St. John's, at twenty cents per egg. A large number of these have gone to the outports, and when the birds mature in the fall great surprises are in store for their owners, as the pullets will be laying all winter, providing their owners with a nice fresh egg for his family's breakfast, and the surplus cockerels will be in the place of honour on the table at his Christmas Day's dinner! The Nfld. Poultry Association are anxious to see more pure bred poultry in the country. Their advertisement is in our columns, and there is no reason why more people do not take advantage of their offer. In order to provide good stock for their breeding yards nothing but the highest class of birds and eggs are imported, for which big prices are paid—its nothing to pay American breeders a dollar an egg as they have done, or ten dollars a hen and twenty-five dollars for a cock. This is the type of birds that are used to produce hatching eggs by the members of the Association to distribute in Newfoundland. Dr. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture, takes an active part in the Association's work and the Government assists in a small grant to help pay the heavy expenses of the Annual fall show, when the different breeds are shown, and explained to the public. The public can therefore choose for themselves with ease the breed they fancy. It has been a pleasure to write the above information on the types of poultry for the benefit of those interested, and it is hoped that much good will result. The Association all agree that every person keeping poultry should only keep one breed. Results are better. Higher prices for eggs and breeding stock can be had. Birds are uniform in colour and they lend beauty to the home surroundings. The size of the fowl does not decrease, and more interest is taken in the birds by everybody than when the yard is filled with a lot of cross breeds, all sizes, shapes and colours, neither one thing or another, but mostly comprised of a lot of loafers, who don't pay for their keep.

Branch Meeting of W. M. S.

It is with pleasure that I report the Annual Branch Meeting of the W.M.S., held in the Sunday School of the Cochrane Street Centennial Church. The meeting opened at 3 p.m. yesterday with quite a large gathering, everyone showing in their faces the great enthusiasm they felt. There were 32 delegates in attendance, and 10 Branch officers. The Western delegates had not arrived. The Address of Welcome was given by Mrs. Arthur Mews, and replied to by Mrs. Dr. Saint. Greetings were given by Mrs. Baird of the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Lewis of St. Thomas's Church, Mrs. Dr. Hugh Pedley of the Congregational Church and greetings also from Mrs. Dr. Rogers of the Nova Scotia Branch, this being delivered by Mrs. E. Lindsay. Two solos were beautifully rendered by Misses Hutchings and Herder. Very encouraging reports were given by Miss G. Parsons and Miss L. Taylor, showing what excellent work has been done by our young people. The amount raised for the year was $3555.98, an increase of $219.48. Membership, 1920, 3436, increase 430. Mrs. E. Lindsay, the Branch Recording Secretary, gave a most acceptable report of the work done in the various Auxiliaries. Membership, 1937, increase 122. Amount raised $5620.28, increase $642.1. The Treasurer's report by Mrs. J. Peters showed a marked increase all along the line. The interval between afternoon and night service was fully enjoyed by all, when the City Auxiliaries entertained the delegates and visitors to a sumptuous repast. The organ recital rendered by Arthur Mews, Esq., C.M.G., was also thoroughly enjoyed. The meeting at night was of a semi-public nature, presided over by Rev. Dr. Bond, who made a model chairman. Dr. Bond is always at home when Missionary work is the theme. The chairman's address was interesting, instructive, encouraging and pleasant. Arthur Mews, Esq., C.M.G., presided at the organ, with Mrs. W. H. Butt at the piano. The first item on the programme was a solo, beautifully and artistically rendered by Miss Elinor Mews. Next in order was a reading by Miss Flora Curtis. It is needless to say that this was done in a faultless manner. The title of her reading was "The sign of the Cross." The chief interest of the evening was the powerful address of Rev. Dr. Jones of St. Thomas's Church, who took as his subject, "Christian Imperialism." Full justice cannot be done the Rev. Dr. for such an address in a short article like this. Suffice it to say, that it was of the very highest order, bristling with facts that would be patent to all. It was indeed a rare treat, and I do not think that I make any mistake when I say that the whole audience would be delighted with much more, along the same lines. The Dr. has won a warm place in the hearts of the ladies of this organization. The inevitable collection, with the Benediction by Rev. Dr. Saint, brought this very highly interesting service to a close. —L.L.B.

Fads and Fashions.

Left-over chicken gravy added to potato soup makes it delicious. Flowers grown indoors require moist air and frequent spraying. Warm weather calls for fresh fruits in place of made desserts. Cakes containing no shortening may be baked in ungreased pans. Cooked frosting should be spread on cake while the latter is warm. Use a porcelain funnel, as the action of acids on tin is poisonous. Thicken sponge cake batter with rolled oats and drop on baking tins.

Do You Want to Wear The World's Best Hat?

Do you want to wear the latest recognized style, not of one city but of the whole world?

Do you want to wear one of the world's two best Hats made by manufacturers whose products cover the heads of All the World and His Son?

Do you want to wear a Hat that will not fade its color; that will not lose its shape; that will wear as long as you would expect a Hat of Superior Quality to wear?

Three statements that would apply, any or all of them, to the World's Best Hat. Perhaps someone has told the same things to you when he sold you your last hat. If he sold you the World's Best Hat he naturally would be enthusiastic about it. But it's hard to tell who sells the World's Best Hat when everyone claims to have it.

We have the World's Best Hat and we have an original way to prove it.

"If the hat fades its colour, if it loses any of the finely-blocked lines of its shape that the makers know so well how to put into it; if it does not give you greater value than any other hat made at ANY price—KEARNEY FIRST is willing to 'make good' your loss"—just to prove that we have the World's Best Hat.

STETSON'S—America. BORSALINO'S—Italy. THE WORLD'S BEST HATS.

Responsible Government

Lecture by Rt. Hon. Sir W. F. Lloyd.

An interesting and instructive lecture was given to the students of the Civil Re-Establishment School on Tuesday afternoon by the Rt. Hon. Sir W. F. Lloyd, P.C., K.C.M.G. The subject of the lecture was "Responsible Government in the Dominion of Nfld." After briefly explaining the various steps by which we had obtained manhood suffrage, the lecturer impressed upon the men the responsibility that vested upon them of making the best use of the power for good that was in their hands. The men showed their appreciation of the lecture by the close attention with which it was followed, and by their hearty applause at the close of the learned lecturer's remarks.

Missionary Entertainment.

AT PRESBYTERIAN HALL.

A large audience attended the entertainment given at the Presbyterian Hall last night. A dramatization of the love story of Robert Moffat the first great pioneer missionary to South Africa, and Mary Smith, was faithfully presented by Mr. Donald Clouston as missionary, supported by Miss Winnifred Barker as Mary. The roles of Mrs. and Mr. Smith, parents of Mary, were capably taken by Mrs. D. Johnston and Mr. Chas. Oke. As Mynheer Vandervicker, Mr. Stansfeld who has been in Dutch Africa, was dressed to the life and filled the role of the Boer farmer admirably. Miss Wallace as his wife, Misses Amelia Crawford, Ruth Calvert and little Jean Johnston as the daughters were perfectly at home in their parts.

The entertainment will be repeated to-night and will no doubt draw a full house.

In Memoriam.

The Passing of Another Veteran.

(By Capt. Leo Murphy.)

With the passing of Lance-Corporal Gordon Armstrong at Ecasconi this morning, there went travelling into the Great Unknown the spirit of one whose chivalrous manner and calm demeanour had won for him the popularity of all his comrades in the Regiment.

From the moment of his enlistment he became recognized as a most willing and cheerful worker; in the days of training he adapted himself entirely to his surroundings and his conduct was that of the young man who throws in his all for the cause of Empire. Joining the First Battalion at Bernafay Wood after the thrilling hours of the struggle at Guedecourt, he served with the unit until the Battle of Monchy, when a period in hospital gave him a well earned respite. Rejoining the Battalion after a brief interval of convalescence he went back with his old Company and shortly afterwards became attached to the Officers' Mess. These are pleasant memories—the shattered cottage at Meaulte, the Chateau at Camps en Amenois—the Cafe at Hilden—they heard the merry ring of his laughter, and knew his cheerful voice—the voice which to-day is stilled at the great call to which there can be only one answer.

"Sleep on, thou weary one,
 We bivouac here to-day,
 Let war drums roll their noisy roll
 'Tis here the warriors lay."

And so he rests to-day in the prime of youth, with the knowledge of a young life well spent, full of kindly actions, and with the greater portion spent in the cause of King and Empire, for whom he was prepared to make the supreme sacrifice. His is no unmarked grave near the poplared roads of far off France—the sighing willows will wave near his resting place in the home-land for which he fought and suffered. A green mound in our own cemetery will be there to cherish by a grateful people.

Tinsmiths Strike for More Pay.

It was decided, at a meeting of the Tinsmiths' Union last night, to call a strike for more wages. The new rate would give them $5 a day, and no pay for holidays. The employers wished to effect a compromise, and pay them $4.50 a day, with pay for holidays.
