

Loyalist Party Win in South African Elections.

Three Passengers on Italian Steamer Die of Typhus--Fishing Race Cup Defender's Keel Laid--Irish Republican Army Taking Offensive--U. S. Marines in Custody on Disorder Charge.

SOUTH AFRICA LOYAL.
JOHANNESBURG, S. A., Feb. 10. The position of the parties in the South African general election now in progress in that country at nine o'clock to-night was: General Smuts, South African Party, 73; Nationalists, Labor, 9; Democrat, 1; Tied result, 2.

PLAGUE-STRIKEN STEAMER.
NEW YORK, Feb. 10. Twenty cases of typhus were found among steerage passengers arriving here today on the steamship San Spirito from Trieste and Naples. Three passengers died of the disease during the voyage. The vessel was ordered held up indefinitely at quarantine and the typhus victims were removed to Seeborn Island.

TORNADO'S DEADLY WORK.
OCONEE, Ga., Feb. 10. Two white persons and twenty-five negroes were killed when a tornado tore here soon after one o'clock yesterday afternoon, seriously damaging a plant of the Cleveland Oconee Lumber Co. and other property. Between thirty and forty negroes were injured by flying debris.

FISHMEN'S KEEL COMMENCED.
ESSEX, Mass., Feb. 10. A spike driven through the stout oak timbers that will form the keel of the schooner Mayflower, marked the beginning to-day of the construction of the craft, intended to represent Boston in the races of Halifax, N. S., for the International Fish-Schooner trophy, won last November by the Gloucester fisherman Ignatius Townfolk made holiday school children flocked about, and the keel of the Gloucester schooner fishing fleet came here to the water today. The Mayflower is to be built by the Mayflower Yacht Club, and will be the largest schooner ever built in the United States, and will be a foot and a half longer than the new schooner built at Lunenburg, N. S., as Canada's challenger, but will weigh approximately 900 square feet less canvas. Her finer lines are carried out also in beam, which is a foot less than that of the new Canadian.

MARCHING ON SKIBERREEN.
LONDON, Feb. 10. An Irish Republican Army, several hundred strong, is marching on Skibereen, County Cork, according to reports from many sources, says a special despatch from Skibereen to the London Standard. The march is being led by the Irish Republican Army, and is expected to reach the police station at Skibereen last night. The march adds, withdrawn when the policemen on duty paid no attention to them.

U. S. STEEL.
NEW YORK, Feb. 10. The monthly tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, made public today, showed seven million, five hundred and seventy thousand tons of unfinished orders in hand. On January 31st, as against the same date last year, the company had one hundred and forty-eight thousand, one hundred and twenty-two tons for December 31st.

RELIGIOUS AND HUNS CLASH.
LONDON, Feb. 10. Serious fighting between the German population and a Belgian patrol in the town of La Chapelle, who were marching to the police station yesterday, is reported in an Associated Press despatch from London today. The despatch says a number of the inhabitants of the town refused to obey police instructions regarding carnival celebrations, remaining in the streets and after the hour fixed for closing, a result the delegation patrol

NEW SOURCE OF GLUE.
The way to a new and easily exploited source of glue is opened by a recent experiment of the Bureau of Standards with a barrel of seal fishers, from the Fribbles Islands of Alaska. According to Popular Mechanic Magazine, this work demonstrated that 67 per cent. of the weight of the seal fisher could be secured as glue of good quality. The significance of this result is realized when it is known that, as the four fishers of the seal average eight pounds in weight, and as the Bureau of Fisheries reports the killing of about 30,000 animals annually, the yearly production of fishers approximates 240,000 pounds.

PERSONAL.
Rev. Fr. J. Rawlins, Parish Priest of Killbride, left by the Rosalind yesterday for New York and will be absent for six weeks.
Mr. L. C. Mews, buyer for Ayre & Son's, left by the Rosalind yesterday on business for his firm.
Engineer McRoberts of the Canadian Sapper, who was so seriously injured on board that ship last trip, is still at the General Hospital, but is fast improving, and will be able to rejoin the steamer on her return from Halifax.

The Fish Regulations.

NOT LEGALLY BINDING.
Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir.—The News, on Wednesday last, published a letter from E. Collishaw, and another signed "Super-Six," which he acknowledged to be his. He said he was a "Member of the Fish Export Board," and referred to Mr. Long as "Chairman of the Advisory Board," but as no such boards exist, I presume he referred to the "Codfish Exportation Board," the appointment of which was provided for by legislation in 1920. The distinction is important, as there is a body of licensed exporters known as the "Fish Exporters' Association," and confusion should be avoided if possible. I understand that he is not a member of the Codfish Exportation Board, nor, in his own right, of the "Fish Exporters' Association," but that he occupies a place in the latter as the representative of the Union Trading Co. Ltd., not by election, but by appointment. He represents Mr. Coaker, in fact.

The letter signed "Super-Six," is rather provocative in its assumption of superior sportsmanship on his part and in its insinuation of a mean spirit by opposition papers, but such bumpiness may better be disregarded at present, to procure a calmer consideration of the more important features of the letter.

Its account of what it alleges to have been done in Portugal, by Mr. Coaker, is preceded by a statement of alleged conditions in the markets there, when the exporters asked the "Codfish Exportation Board" to recommend the suspension of the Export Regulations. From these bad conditions, Mr. Coaker has rescued us, Mr. Collishaw says. But, Sir, if the regulations had not existed, fish would have got to market in regular ways, and been absorbed, instead of being massed in foreign ports, near Lent, unsaleable at regulation rates, so that if a rescue had been made, and by Mr. Coaker, he has only in part undone his own bad work.

I challenge the accuracy of Mr. Collishaw's assertion that outside of the concern in Portugal with which Mr. Coaker is dealing "few buyers could finance one cargo of fish." I fancy that is treading very dangerously near the law of libel. It is an unworthy insinuation of financial incapacity, and one which I am informed is quite untrue.

In the absence of precise information, it is impossible for me to give the denial direct to many other assertions made by Mr. Collishaw, but I venture to doubt their correctness, or even their probability, unexplained and unqualified. For instance, Mr. Collishaw says that "prices (have been) arranged for cargoes on the spot at 50 and 60 shillings." Does he mean all cargoes on the spot, or some of them, and how many, and why the variation in price. Whose cargoes were sold? Again, he says that "arrangements are made for all cargoes on the way over; they are expected to fetch 65 shillings." Does this mean that no "sale" has been made, and that the price has been fixed? And yet again, "all fish (in Newfoundland) is also provided for, consumption of 25,000 qts. per month guaranteed." Does "provided for" mean that the price is not fixed, and if so, how is it to be arranged, and is there, as I have been informed, that there is no "guarantee" whatever. Mr. Collishaw says that "the arrangement (is) that our Trade Commissioner shall sell all the possible cargo and whatever he falls short of 25,000 quintals (per month) the bankers take." This seems to mean that no "sale" has been made of the fish, but is to be attempted by the Trade Commissioner, as it arrives, and if unsold, is to be stored, up to 25,000 qts. per month, to be sold by the "bankers" for the best obtainable prices, less expenses.

Mr. Collishaw charges that the press has suppressed news of "this gigantic sale," whereas the truth is, I fancy, that the real suppression has been by the Board of which he is a member. It is high time that the public should know the whole truth, and I invite Mr. Collishaw to procure publication of all the facts. The public, which has to "pay the piper," is entitled to know all. The "sale" may prove to be a "fool's."

"The greatest objection raised by the Exporters to the Regulations is that the price of fish to the fishermen was fixed too high last fall," says Mr. Collishaw. Surely, it is not necessary to point out to him that a price "to the fishermen" was not fixed by the Regulations. The only time when anything like price fixing was attempted on the part of the Government, was on the occasion when Mr. Coaker arranged for the buying of about 40,000 quintals of Labrador in the harbor of St. John's late last fall at $3 per qt. That was not voluntary on Mr. Coaker's part, in the real sense of the word. It was forced on him at the point of the bayonet, as it were, by those fishermen who held a public meeting in the C.O.C. Hall, and demanded the fulfilment of promises they considered that Mr. Coaker had made. But Mr. Collishaw goes on to make the unprovable assertion that if the law of (unregulated?) supply and demand had been allowed to rule last fall, the price of fish would have fallen to $4 per qt. This much is perhaps the truth; that the regulations having brought about an unprecedented glut of unsold fish here at that time, the price would then have fallen if Government money had not been used to buy the surplus. But it is perhaps also true, that without the regulations, no glut, and no fall in price, would have occurred when it was threatened last fall. And it is quite true also, that while the few sellers to the Government were lucky, the taxpayers at large must bear the inevitable loss. Mr. Collishaw does not contend, I hope, that we can become prosperous as a people by buying our own fish with our own money, and selling to foreigners at a lower net price.

In one place Mr. Collishaw says, that Mr. Coaker withdrew from Portugal that unless his proposals were adopted here, the price would drop to 50 shillings. In a second place he says that "the bankers" feared that without control the price might fall to 40 shillings, and in a third place he says that "without regulations, exchange alone would depress the price to the lowest in our history." As to all these assertions, I wish to say (1) there is no proof that either is true, (2) the two former, as to prices, were made by prejudiced parties, (3) the two former refer to prices in a bad condition largely created by or under the regulations, and (4) that the remark about exchange is absurd. The rate of exchange depreciated the value of purchasing power of Portuguese money, and in Portugal, it is true, but the price in Portugal, and therefore the net result to us, was governed by the demand and the supply of fish there. If our regulations did not decrease the supply, they did not increase the price. Such a decrease they did not cause, but merely gave the market to our competitors, for a time, and under them our fish glutted the market with an over supply, as Mr. Collishaw himself set forth in the early portion of his letter.

Mr. Collishaw suggests a change as to the regulating power that is worth discussion. It is, that political control shall be abolished, and handed over to a committee of exporters. Anything is better than political control, except possibly monopoly by a clique of exporters. The present control is objectionable on both grounds. It is controlled in one who is both partisan politician and exporter. No confidence in such control can ever be felt. Nothing but contention about it can ever be expected to exist. It is an abomination. But control by a board of exporters would be almost as bad. Were such controllers as wise as Solomon, and as virtuous as Caesar's wife, neither their wisdom nor their honesty would be believed in by their competitors in trade, and those competitors would be right in fighting to the last ditch the control exercised over them by such a body.

If any form of control is to be exercised, it will go nearer to giving general satisfaction when it is by a legally constituted board of (say) three men of known probity, ability and experience, absolutely disinterested peculiarly in exports, directly or indirectly, and enjoying such salaries as will place them above the ordinary temptations which beset men who have to earn their daily bread by their work. The board must command such respect as is given to our Supreme Court, for instance, or the Railway Board of Canada, or similar boards elsewhere. Whether men with all the requisite qualities can be obtained here, I do not venture to say, but I regretfully feel that the results would not justify the expense, and outweigh other objections.

Better prices should be, of course, the only object of regulations. Prescribing sale prices and regulating shipments and market arrivals are the methods advocated. If we could control all the supply, or even a portion of it really vital to consumers, prescribing our prices by law would, of course, be effective. But if we could not control the whole supply, or a very vital portion of it, prescribing our prices by law would merely give an open market to competitors, until our prices were brought down to theirs. In that event the prescription would have injured the exporters. If you can control the supply, or a vital portion of it, you can control the price. If the supply, by others, controls you, the price is controlled by your competitors. That is really why the Coaker attempt at price fixing, taken at large, has not only failed, in my opinion, but materially aggravated bad conditions. This Colony does not control even a vital supply in our markets. The regulations have benefited our competitors only.

Mr. Collishaw says, "Control of shipments alone justifies the regulations." I do not quite understand his meaning. Does he mean that the control they have given of the order and destination of shipments is their only justification, or that this of itself is sufficient justification, in addition to any good which may have been done by price fixing. I am inclined to make this assertion (or admission), that if regulations could have been of any value whatever, it was in the control that might have been exercised by them over the order of shipments and arrivals. If the controlling power were so omniscient as to know when shipments should be made here so as to arrive at the best time; if an orderly procession of shipments could be arranged so as to arrive with regularity, avoiding gluts in our markets; and if the controlling power were exercised only in the general public interest, not for the benefit of any special company, firm or person, undoubtedly such regulations would be beneficial. But to be so, certainty as to wind and weather, and all the other Acts of God, and foreknowledge of all our foreign competitors were doing, would be necessary to success, and in addition, the controlling power would have to be as wise and honest as Mr. Collishaw pretends to be.

It is to be presumed that every exporter at all times studies market conditions anxiously, and with all his ability, knowledge and experience. He does not wilfully cause a glut in the markets. When it occurs, it is accidental or unavoidable. Under the regulations, a glut has occurred in Portugal, worse than would otherwise have happened. Is it probable that any Board composed of exporters would do better work than the Codfish Exporters Board has done, or than exporters uncontrolled except by their own ability and self-interest would do. Not the worst result of official regulating is the destruction of individual initiative in business men. We may bid farewell to personal enterprise if it is to be supplanted by official control. No ambitious beginner will have any chance of success whatever in a business dominated by partisan politicians and jealous rivals. Official regulation is opposed to those principles of free and unshackled trade which have made the British people the greatest trading nation the world has ever known. Official regulating is communistic or socialistic in its very essence, and, run wild, becomes bolshevistic.

Because I think price fixing is very injurious in the long run, and wise regulation of shipments impossible under the circumstances, and because I am of opinion that no controlling power could be created here which would command implicit confidence, without which it would be worse than useless, I am persuaded that official regulating should be abandoned.

In the meantime, the recent proposals as to Portugal can only be worked out if that be desirable, by the voluntary co-operation of all the exporters. Whether it is desirable or not, under all existing circumstances, I do not presume to say, not being aware of all the facts of the situation. It may quite well be, that no matter how unwise the policy of regulation has been, no matter how completely responsible that policy may be for the disaster that impends, it is not the part of wisdom to endeavor to carry through the latest proposals to their bitter end. None of the so-called regulations have been legally binding at any time. In my opinion, and these latest proclaimed, are, I think, not only legally unenforceable, but a clear violation of the Act under which they purport to be made, whereas only voluntary co-operation is to be relied on. If the worst scheme is to be tried out, if some other regulations, thinking them valid, and some disobeys, believing them invalid, destruction will surely come upon somebody.

Yours truly,
ALFRED B. MORINE.

Turns Sapphire Into Ruby.
A sapphire, it is reported, has been turned into a glorious ruby by long exposure to the effect of radium. Chemically considered, the two stones are both examples of corundum, and the mysterious accident or color is the principal difference between them. If a sapphire can be made to bluish hard enough for its mistake in not being a ruby, presumably it could bluish itself into a most accomplished example of the more valuable stone.

Hr. Main's Opportunity.

After the experience of over one year of Squires-Coaker administration, Harbor Main is to have the opportunity of placing the seal of its approval or disapproval—the latter if signs of the times are to be heeded—upon the policy adopted by the Liberal-Reform Party since its return to power, for on no one point of the manifesto of Hon. R. A. Squires, issued in the fall of 1919 has his Government been consistent. The promises made in that notable document have not been carried out, but on the contrary an orgy of extravagance has been indulged in, sessional pay has been increased, cabinet salaries have been doubled, jobs have been created for party camp followers, favorites have received the reward of fidelity, ruinous contracts have been entered into, the cost of living has been increased, and as a result of pernicious and untrammelled expenditures in every direction, the Colony has been brought more near the verge of financial disaster than is compatible with safety. And the riot of extravagance still continues. Of course, and Harbor Main electors should be prepared, the Government organs will produce all kinds of figures to prove that never before in its history was Newfoundland so prosperous. They will exhaust the English language in an endeavor to show that the Coaker-Squires Government is the only, real one, fitted and approved by nature to control the destinies of Terra Nova.

But Harbor Main will not be misled as were St. John's West and Bay-de-Verde. Neither of these districts, in the bye-elections of 1920 had had any actual experience as to the maladministration of the present party in power, as the latter had not been long enough established, and had not at the time started on its real career of misgovernment. Yet signs are not wanting to-day to prove that had St. John's West and Bay-de-Verde electors their time over again, the result of 1920 bye-elections would have been different. And therefore it is up to Harbor Main not to repeat the mistake made by these districts. Their "error in judgment"—to quote a familiar phrase—helped bring about many of the calamities which have befallen the country, because they approved the policy of the Government and gave them a mandate to carry on. And they have well done so: but not in the best interests of Newfoundland, nor yet of the two districts which endorsed their putative policy. Now that Harbor Main is in power, and the country generally have seen the fruits of the real policy of Messrs. Squires and Coaker, et al: there is not the shadow of a doubt that the former, in whose hands is the key of the situation, will place that key where its possession can be obtained by the man whom the Prime Minister and his following have selected to defend their outrageous acts of administration in the district of Harbor Main. Rather will the voters turn down with contempt the candidates of a party which is now so thoroughly discredited and condemned, and resent, by casting their votes for the Liberal-Labor Progressive nominees, the implication of Government supporters that they have swerved from their political allegiance, or that they can conscientiously defend the acts of the present administration.

The letter of Mr. A. B. Morine, K.C. in reply to that of Mr. Collishaw will be found on Page 3 of this issue. Mr. Morine puts up some arguments which Super Six will find difficult to answer.

Avondale Murder Case.

Enquiry Continued Yesterday. The adjourned enquiry into the case of the man Nolan charged with the murder of his nine year old daughter, was continued yesterday before Judge Morris. One witness only was examined. He was Gregory Nolan, the 10 year old son of the accused. His examination by the Minister of Justice, Hon. W. R. Warren, K.C., occupied the attention of the Court from 3.30 to 6 p.m. Adjournment was then taken until 3.30 p.m. to-day.

Train Notes.

LINE BEING RAPIDLY CLEARED. Along the railway yesterday the weather was fine, and plow specialists started work in an effort to get the service in running order.

The incoming express with 184 bags of mail and passengers is at Alexander Bay. A plow is ahead, clearing the road.

The special which left here at 2 p.m. Wednesday to clear the Carbonear line is still at Woodford's.

The Bonavista train was due at Trinity Junction this morning. The Heart's Content train left New Harbor this morning.

The Bay de Verde train is a few miles outside of Carbonear. The Trepassay train is making slow progress.

The snowdrifts between here and Brigus Junction have attained heights of from 8 to 15 feet, whilst from Brigus Junction to Carbonear they reach the height of 20 feet in parts. On all other parts of the line the heights of the drifts range from 8 to 15 feet, and the working parties are having great difficulty in cutting through by snow.

Until the line is again in working order, S. S. Kyle will ply direct between this port and Sydney.

JOHN GILPIN-COCK ROBIN.—The "Prince of Pilsen" by Gawn is a cross between John Gilpin and poor old Cock Robin. Everybody's talking about it. Get a copy (twenty cents) and talk about it yourself.

WEATHER ALONG LINE.—The weather along the line last night was calm and fine. The glass registered from 10 to 20 degrees.

The Foreign Situation.

A meeting of those interested in the sale of fish to Portugal was called by the Board of Trade to-day, when matters in connection with the recent cables from the Oporto merchants was discussed. The Premier, Hon. R. A. Squires, was present at the meeting. Nothing however resulted except that a message of acknowledgment was sent to Oporto. The situation there seems to be getting critical in spite of Mr. Coaker's supposed sales. Exporters here are none too sanguine and many are of opinion that it were better the recent negotiations had never been begun. Mr. Coaker, it appears, insists now on controlled prices of cargoes sold on consignment.

The Spanish market has also become demoralized and very little Newfoundland fish is being handled. The regulation price had the effect of permitting Norwegian and French fish to enter into competition with ours, with the consequence that, being sold cheaper, it is now mostly consumed. Recently a large exporter, who has fish in that market, received a message from his London brokers intimating that Messrs. H. W. Leno, Combes and other large merchants of Spain held a meeting by agreement at Madrid, when efforts were made to stabilize the price of our produce. All the firms excepting one were agreeable to the arrangements put forward. This firm being influenced by connections here, the matter was allowed to fall through for want of unanimity.

Supreme Court.

(Before Mr. Justice Kent.) Antoni Michael vs. Ellen Andrews. Mr. Hunt for plaintiff, moves for confirmation of report of Registrar Combes and other large merchants of Spain held a meeting by agreement at Madrid, when efforts were made to stabilize the price of our produce. All the firms excepting one were agreeable to the arrangements put forward. This firm being influenced by connections here, the matter was allowed to fall through for want of unanimity.

One More Chance.

TO SEE THE PRINCE OF PILSEN. Anyone who has been disappointed in getting tickets for the Prince of Pilsen (and over a hundred were turned away last night), can now book tickets for Saturday afternoon's matinee or Saturday night's regular performance, at the Royal Stationary Company's store. This will positively be the last chance to enjoy this famous Musical Comedy, which the whole city is talking about. Send the children to the matinee and go yourself on Saturday night to witness the best entertainment that has ever been run off in St. John's.

Doc. Campbell

ELECTION MANAGER. It is understood that Dr. Campbell was to leave to-day by train to open the campaign in Harbor Main. He did not go however, up to midday, being engaged in a consultation at the office. It is not known what transpired, the meeting being held with drawn blinds and closed doors. Hon. Mr. Pilsen was at the meeting and rumor says he was using his influence to persuade the Dr. to face the district, but the latter would not budge.

CLEAN DOCKET.—There was a clean docket again in the Magistrate's Court to-day. Things have been unusually dull in police circles of late, not a case having cropped up to occupy the Judge's attention during the past three or four days.

Hockey Notes.

The Terra Novas and Saints will try conclusions in to-night's game. Whilst the latter team are the favorites they will have to put up a very hard fight to-night if they want to win.

The line-up is: TERRA NOVAS Goal. L. Munn. Rawlins. Paterson. R. Stick. Robertson. Tobin. Field. Clouston. Coullas. Right. L. Stick. Left. E. Munn. Canning. Saints—Churchill, Hennebury Forsythe. Terras—Goss, J. Herder, Fraser.

St. Bon's and the Methodist College teams meet in the first game of the second round of the Intercollegiate series to-morrow morning. A win for St. Bon's means the championship for them once more.

If the Terras win to-night the Feildians hold the league championship for 1921.

A win for the Saints in to-night's game means that they will still have a slim chance to carry off the laurels this season.

A letter was recently received from Boston by Secretary Tobin of the Newfoundland Hockey League offering a sum towards the expenses of a team which might be sent from here to that place. The offer however was so small that about three weeks and the Company which might be sent from here to that place. The offer however was so small that about three weeks and the Company which might be sent from here to that place. Avalon Telephone Co.

Are Now Installing New 'Phones. The new telephones are now being installed where the cables are joined, so an official of the Avalon Telephone Co. informed a Telegram reporter. The connecting of cables with the main distributing frame in the Exchange Building will take about three weeks and the Company will be able to change over the 'phones as the cables are completed. Our reporter was shown over the building which is not completely fitted up just yet. The method of working the new switch-board performed by the operator completely are not nearly so cumbersome as the old ones and are all metal. Those who have already been fortunate enough to have the new system installed express the greatest satisfaction with it, and even the ticking of a watch can be heard with ease over the wires.

The Sea Shell and the Wave.

A sun-kissed wave stole up the beach one day. The white his Mother Ocean gently swept. Along the pebbled strand in rapture swept. And kissed a rose-lipped shell, and stole away. Long years have passed and many a storm has rung. The waves of brilliant ships that beach upon; But ever in the shell's deep heart The music which that laughing wave had sung.

And thus it is, sometimes from life's dull sea. A joy-lit wave shall swell our souls to claim. And teach our hearts the music of a name That lives thro' all the years to be. Feb. 11, 1921. —D.C.

Ask Hugh Anderson, or go yourself to-night to see the Prince of Pilsen. The large size men of St. John's can now purchase Shirts at BISHOP'S for lower prices than same quality shirts can be had for in cities of America. Our entire stock of sizes 15½, 16, 16½ and 17 are offering at reductions, ranging from 15% to 35% lower than 1919 prices. POLICE! ATTENTION!—The police officers doing night duty on New George Street would do well to pay attention to certain midnight wanderers who congregate near Buchanan Street, entertaining the residents of contiguous houses with peculiar songs and choruses; or at least these are the singers imagine them to be, and involuntary auditors do not seem to agree with them, and fail to appreciate their vocal efforts. WITH THE IMMORTALS.—George Ayre has achieved immortality at one bound. If he were a member of the Academy, and if Fletcher Dick would say, "It's all alike" of his Prince of Pilsen poem, a hundred copies sold last night at Casino. They went like cough drops in a flu epidemic. DIED. On the 9th inst., at Preston, after a long illness, Elizabeth, widow of the late J. T. Gillard, passed peacefully away, yesterday the 10th inst., John Joseph Woodford, of No. 7 Convent Square, aged 46 years, leaving a widow, three sons and three daughters to mourn his loss. Funeral on Sunday at 2 p.m. from 7 Convent Square.

Civic Commission.

WEEKLY MEETING.
The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Gosling and Councilors Mullaly, Morris, Ayre, Peet, Jagman and Vincombe were present. After the Minutes of the last meeting were confirmed, the following matters were given consideration.

Communications were read from the Colonial Secretary and the Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada regarding loan in connection with the extension of water and sewerage mains. Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines forwarded conditions under which lease of land, Signal Hill, would be given M. Tavernor for quarrying purposes. Same were approved.

Petition was read from residents of South Side Road asking that snow be removed from that locality. This will be given consideration.

W. J. Coveyduck's request to make alterations to dwelling, Hutchings' Street, was acceded to.

Regarding the conditions of the city streets and the immediate necessity of making same passable for the Fire Department, and in view of the fact that the city's finances are insufficient to cope with the situation, it was decided the Government be asked to contribute the sum of $5,000 to assist in relieving present conditions.

It was also decided that one thousand dollars be immediately expended in such localities as the City Engineer considers urgent.

As it is the wish of the Council that the expenditure in connection with the above be distributed as far as possible among the unemployed, it was decided the L.S.P.U., N.I.W.A. and T.P. Union be asked to send deputations to meet the Council and discuss the matter of wages.

In the matter of outstanding city taxes, lists of delinquents are to be prepared so that there may be no delay in the proceedings to be taken at the end of the present month.

The City Engineer submitted his weekly report. Matters in connection with the present snow blockade, water and sewerage mains, etc., were dealt with.

Tenders are to be called for the supplying of oats, earthenware pipes, etc.

Health Officer Brehm reported 3 new cases of diphtheria in the city for the past week.

With the disposal of several routine matters and the passing of the pay roll and bills, the meeting adjourned at 6 o'clock.

G.W.V.A. Card Tourney

The card tournament held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. last night was well attended and proved most enjoyable. This is the first of the series being held by the Association this winter. The good old game of five-and-forty was played. The first prize went to Mr. Nofwall with 15 games out of a possible 20, to his credit. He was closely followed by Mr. J. Downey with 14 games.

Additional Passengers.

The S.S. Rosalind sailed for Halifax and New York at 2 p.m. yesterday, taking the following additional passengers: L. C. Mews, E. V. Spry, S. Levitz, R. Mopris, Miss M. Learning, Miss Lillian Gault, J. Williams, Wm. White, Mrs. P. McNamara, Mrs. A. McNamara, A. C. Beaman, Miss C. Walsh, J. J. Barnes, Rev. F. J. Rawlins, T. H. Byles, E. B. Eby, C. Lake, R. J. Hickey, D. Baird, Miss M. Horne, Harold Mitchell H. D. Carter, J. A. Hiscock, A. Brown, J. Sheppard.

Enjoyable Re-Union.

The annual re-union and smoker of the Marine Engineer's Association was held last night in the Blue Pine Hall. There was a large attendance. President J. Forbes occupying the chair. Good fellowship prevailed and after refreshments had been partaken of the usual toast list was discussed. The speeches were of a very high order, and the affair was amongst the most successful held by the Association. During the evening an excellent programme of songs and recitations were rendered by Messrs. Hansford, Pike, McKinley, Perez, Cornick, Taylor, Lewis, Parsons, Jones and Dalton, which added to the evening's entertainment. At the close a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., was heartily accorded the Chairman, and at 1 a.m. the affair was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Snow Clearing.

The work of removing the snow from Water Street is progressing. In the eastern section, that is from Beck's Cove to Holloway Street, some 27 teams are engaged and they have removed during the past 5 days nearly 10,000 loads. On the western end of the city about the same amount has been removed, and it is estimated that including the sidewalks, about 40,000 loads of snow fell on Water Street in the last storm. In the cores where the snow is being dumped, much difficulty is being experienced in trimming it back. At Ayre's Cove the snow has been shoveled out some 35 feet from the breastwork and at Monroe's Cove bulk of snow deposited extends from 70 to 80 feet out in the Harbor. There is no scarcity of laborers and some 300 men are waiting their turn to get a job. The Council is dividing the work up and giving each gang a couple of days' labor. The tractor is being put in readiness for operation on the back streets. Mr. Silverlock and his assistants are making a plow which will be attached to the front of the whippet tank. The plow is wedge shaped made of half inch plate and each side of it is about two and a half feet square.

Help the Poor.

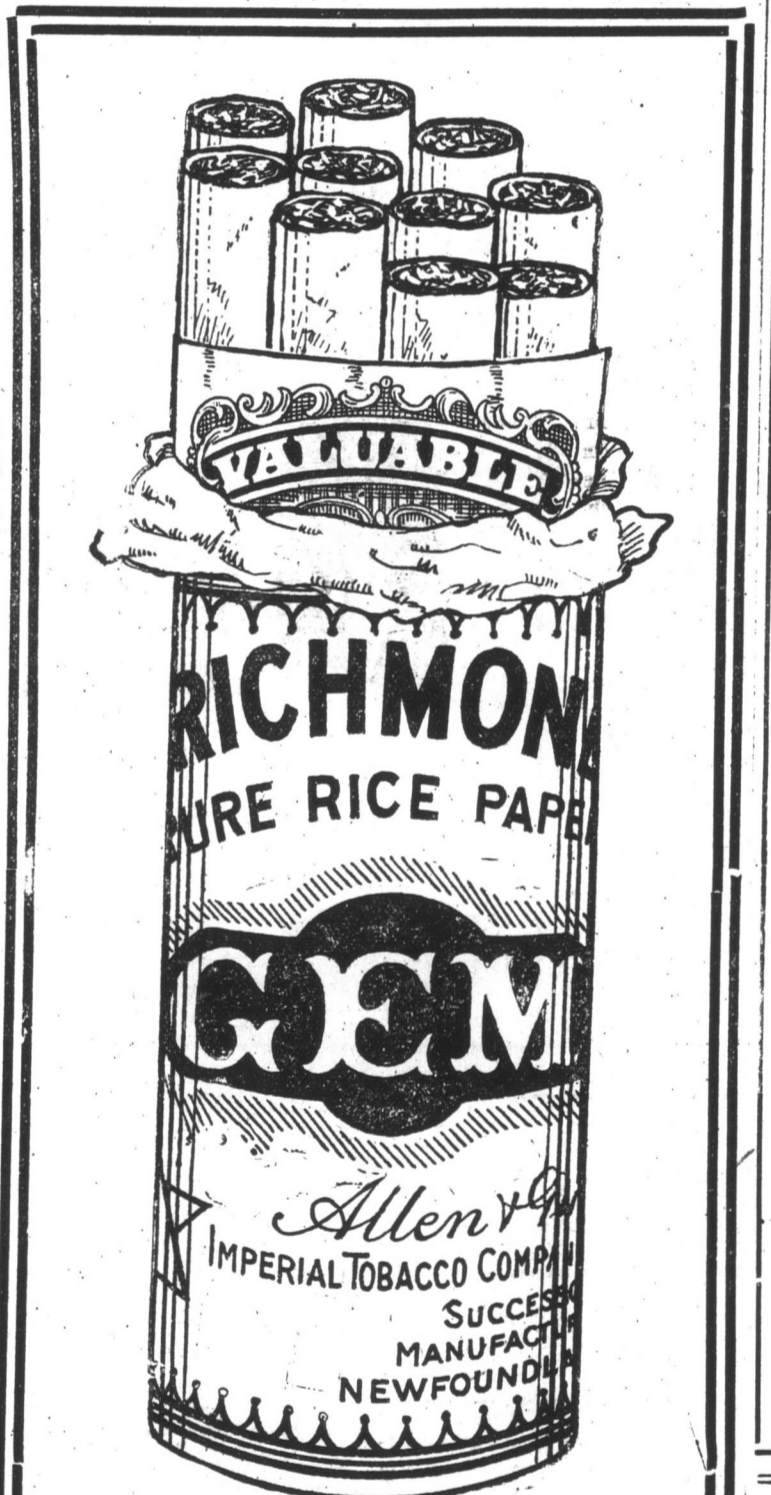

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Now that the regular League fixtures are drawing to a close I would suggest that the Hockey League arrange for a series of games on the knock-out system, the proceeds to be devoted to the city poor. Should this suggestion meet with the approval of the Hockey League, I feel sure the "fans" will turn out in thousands to help along the good cause.
Yours truly,
E. A. SMITH.

A Priest Player-Manager.

Rev. Father Spratt, a graduate of St. Michael's University, Toronto, is the star of the Chatham, N.B., hockey team. The Fredericton Gleaser says: "He is the pivotal point about which Chatham's hockey machine revolves; he is the central figure in every attack that is made and, possessed of the most speed, he had to do most of the checking-back, when Fredericton were making their rushes and piling up the scores that would win the game in the first period. Up and down the ice, employing the "poke" check" and everything else known to the most finished hockey player, Father Spratt was continually rushing, taking all kinds of chances to stop his opponents and playing the game for all he was worth—until he could stand it no longer."
Hockey in the N.E.H.L. is better for the influence of Father Spratt, and his visit here this week has been a pleasant feature of an eventful season.

Offered $500 a Week.
The St. Patrick's, of Toronto, are endeavouring to secure Carson, of the Toronto University, for centre. A Toledo despatch says:
"This boy, a product of Woodstock, is the outstanding player in the O.H.A. senior series. A wonderful stick handler and skater he has a style that is difficult for any defense to stop. He can turn like a flash, but the feature of his play is that he gives not the slightest inkling of which way he is going to go, and in back checking he can go back with the best of them. $2,000 has been offered him for the balance of the season of six weeks."

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CUTTING THE WIRES.
BELFAST, Feb. 10. Wire cutting on a large scale, both of telephone and telegraph services, took place again last night to the north and south of Belfast, and it was only through the use of an emergency line over a circuitous route that communication with Dublin and other places were maintained.

TORNADO'S DEADLY WORK.
OCONEE, Ga., Feb. 10. Latest reports of the tornado says that two white persons and nearly thirty negroes were killed, and five white persons and more than a score of negroes seriously injured. A stretch extending almost to Tombesboro, nearly five miles long and about a half mile wide, is as barren as a prairie to-night, not a building or tree being left standing. Among the dead is Benjamin Orr, 14 years old, who was decapitated. The other white person who met death was the three-year-old daughter of F. L. Miner, manager of Sheppard's Commissary, at the plant of the Cleveland Oconee Lumber Company.

TWAS EVER THUS.
BOSTON, Feb. 10. Tickets of the Canadian Lotteries Company five thousand of which were seized yesterday, when Federal agents raided a north end printing shop, and confiscated counterfeit Government liquor stamps and labels, to-night were declared by Government investigators to represent one of the most pretentiously swindling schemes of its kind in the east. All evidence, it was asserted, points to the conclusion that the capital prize, advertised as $30,000, never was awarded, and that probably all prizes above $100 were written down as won by persons in the Far West who never existed.

A BIG ORDER.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. Purchase by the United States of 400 German cables, and her South African and Pacific Colonies, was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator France, Republican, Maryland, it was referred without discussion to the Foreign Relations Committee.

A DECLARATION OF WAR.

DUBLIN, Feb. 10. A big meeting held to-day, under the auspices of the Dominion League, but including representatives of every section of Irish moderates, placed itself on record, with only three dissenting votes, as refusing to lend support to the Home Rule Act in Southern Ireland.

WAGE REDUCTION.
SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 10. A reduction of 20 per cent. in wages, at the Scotia Steel Plant at Sydney mines, effective Feb. 29th, has just been announced by the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co. In its circular, issued to-day, the Company states it has decided to take this step as the best method of keeping as many men employed as possible. About three hundred men are affected.

BAD TIMES REPORTED.
INVERNESS, N.S., Feb. 10. As a result of the closing down of mines here, and non payment of wage arrears, very little money is in circulation, and unless some pay comes, living conditions will be very bad.

BOLSHEVITS THREATEN.
LITHUANIA. LONDON, Feb. 10. The Russian Soviet Government has notified Lithuania that it will be considered a definite act of hostility on the part of Lithuania, if a League of Nations army is allowed to occupy Vilna District, pending a plebiscite, according to a report in official circles here. The report is considered as constituting a definite Bolshevik threat against the military authority of the League of Nations.

INDIAN TOUR FOR PRINCE.
LONDON, Feb. 10. The London Times says it understands that the Prince of Wales has planned a tour of India in October or November next.

OUTRAGE BY CROWN FORCES.
TRALEE, Ireland, Feb. 10. Constable Molloy was wounded in the Village of Abbridorney, County Kerry, Wednesday night, when Crown forces arrived at one o'clock in the morning and ordered villagers to leave their houses, and then, according to the report, indiscriminately burned eleven houses, the occupants of which, in their night attire, fled for refuge to the outskirts of the village. A sergeant and constable were wounded in Tralee.

wednesday night, by soldiers when they failed to halt on command.

GERMANY WRIGGLING.
LONDON, Feb. 10. A Berlin despatch to the London Times says a committee of experts has drafted a memorandum of Germany's exporting and importing capacity, as a basis for Germany's ability to pay reparations demanded by the Allies. The documents complain of the estimated adverse trade balance, in 1920, of three billion marks. They declare Germany would have to double her exports before she could eliminate this adverse trade balance. This reckoning, it is stated, does not take into account the twelve per cent. tax on exports, and other huge payments demanded, deliveries of coal and dyestuffs, and cost of the occupational army. The documents pointed out the dangers which would arise from the seizure of control of the German Customs, and compelling Germany to food markets with her goods.

HE KNOWS BEST.
LONDON, Feb. 11. The Constantinople correspondent of the Times says it has been decided that Tewfik Pasha and Mustapha Reshid Pasha only will represent the Porte at the London conference. The Sultan has expressed great dissatisfaction over the arrangements for defence of the Turkish case, which he considers in bad hands.

A GOLDEN BAIT.
LONDON, Feb. 11. A despatch says that Hugo Stinnes, German capitalist, is negotiating with the Moscow government for a concession to work the Briansk Iron and Steel Works, one of the greatest institutions in Russia. Herr Stinnes, according to report, has offered to invest three million gold rubles for construction of railway material, and to pay thirty-five per cent. gross profits to the Soviet Treasury.

Preparing for Band Concert.
Preparations are now well in hand for the grand band concert which the C. L. E. Cadets' Band will give on Easter Monday. Capt. Morris intends this concert to be the most successful in the history of the band, and under his capable direction there is no reason on at all why it should be so. The services of quite a number of talented artists will be solicited and the affair is bound to have the patronage of all lovers of good music.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR DIPHTHERIA.

Haggis Supper.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by the members of St. Andrew's Society in their Club Rooms last night. Over 200 attended, chiefly members and their wives but a few guests were also present. At 8.15 a card party was held after which came the Haggis supper, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. After the supper, Mr. T. Anderson, who was introduced by Mr. A. K. Lumsden in the absence of the President, delivered a very eloquent address on "Bobbie Burns and what he means to Scotsmen." Songs were then rendered by Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Garland, Miss Elsie Tait accompanying. Dancing was afterwards indulged in till an early hour this morning when the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

either, but because I couldn't think of anything more important to write about.

The older I grow, the more I am coming to see that the little recognized habit of pitying oneself causes more unhappiness, more inefficiency, more ill-health even, than many well recognized bad habits.

Can't Succeed Without Courage.

Self-pity is the negative of courage, and the life lived without courage is the life doomed in advance to failure and unhappiness.

To return to my specific. Said my friend: "When I find that I am inclined to pity myself, I just make up my mind to right about face and envy myself instead."

"Isn't it hard when you are in that mood to find anything to envy yourself for?" I asked.

"Not once I get myself right about face," she said. "That's rather a jolt—but once it's done, the rest is easy. Of course there are things other people might well envy me, just as there are things I envy other people, and I try to put myself in the place of the people who envy me and envy myself instead of pity myself.

What She Envyed Herself For.

"I envy myself for having a husband who was brave enough to want to go to war when he didn't have to, and for having him come back with only a little wound, and for having two perfectly healthy children, and for not having to do my own washing (instead of pitying myself for not having a maid, you see) and for having our dear little sliver, and oh a whole lot of things, like that. It's really perfectly easy."

I don't agree with her that it is perfectly easy. But it certainly is perfectly possible. "But," someone objects, "aren't there some people who really have such a hard time that they have nothing to be envied for?"

I doubt it.

Not Those Who Have the Hardest Time.

Or if they do exist, they are such an infinitely small class that they are not worth considering in this connection.

Besides, have you not noticed that it is not the people who have the hardest time who are the most apt to pity themselves? On the contrary, the worst self-pityer I know is a man who has more to be thankful for than 90 people out of a hundred.

Envy isn't supposed to be as desirous an emotion as pity, but when you add "self" to both of them you certainly change their relative positions.

Nearly Always your next door neighbor can give you an interesting fact-story about the efficacy of

Scott's Emulsion

It is tonic-nourishment unsurpassed in qualities that give tone to the run-down system.

The Premier Duke of Great Britain.

The late Duke of Norfolk, who died on Sunday, February 11, 1917, in his 70th year, was premier duke and earl of Great Britain, and Hereditary Earl-Marshal and Chief Butler of England. The earldom of Arundel, which supplies the courtesy title of the eldest son of the Dukes of Norfolk, dates back to 1139. The Howards are one of the great Roman Catholic families of England, and the duke was always ready to fulfil the many obligations that were laid on him as the leading English Catholic layman. One of his treasures was a crucifix, which was given to him in his childhood by Pope Pius IX, and he held the Papal Order of the Golden Spur. The keen interest that he took in the original Volunteer movement was extended to the Territorial Force, with which he was closely associated both in Sussex and in the West Riding. He served with the Yeomanry in the South African War. In the Unionist Government of 1895 he was Postmaster General. He had been Mayor of Sheffield, where he owned exceedingly valuable property and also of Westminster, and was Chancellor of the University of Sheffield from its foundation. The office of Earl-Marshal involved a great deal of hard work at the Coronation of King Edward and King George, the duke being responsible for every detail of the ceremonial. For many months he worked early and late, and was physically an imposing figure in the pageants. In ordinary life he was reputed to be the most shabbily dressed man of any standing in London, and in his own grounds he had once been mistaken for a servant. On occasions, however, notably on his visits to Rome, he could assume a very considerable state. The duke's heir by his first marriage was, unfortunately a permanent invalid, and died in 1902. His marriage's second time in 1904, his bride being the Hon. Gwendolen Constable Maxwell Barones Herries in her own right, and a member of a northern Catholic family. The son of this marriage, who has succeeded to the leadership of the English peerage, was eight years of age at the time of his father's death, which caused a vacancy in the Order of the Garter.

Earl Haig Tells a War Story.

The Freedom of Brighton was conferred upon Field-Marshal Earl Haig at a special meeting of the Town Council. Acknowledging the honor, his lordship again pleaded the cause of the ex-servicemen. He told a story of a battalion of the Royal Sussex Regiment, near St. Quentin in September, 1918, which having gained its objective was heavily counter-attacked by a superior body of Germans. Something had to be done, and done quickly. A single company moved out with their Lewis guns in front of the trenches they held, and then, under cover of these Lewis guns, they charged four hundred Germans with the bayonet and completely routed them. "If any of the supporters of the Government think I am a nuisance," he added, "let them think of these men. If they are employers and think I am pressing them too hard, let them think of these men. If there are members of trade unions who consider that I do not appreciate their special difficulties, let them think of these."

Rehearsed His Own Funeral.

Charles V. king of Spain and emperor of Germany in the sixteenth century, was a pious ruler. Toward the end of his life he conceived the curious idea of rehearsing his own funeral, not because he wished to have the event go off without a hitch when the time should come, but because he thought the performance of the ceremony would redound to the credit and well being of his soul in the after world. His friends sought to dissuade him, but desiring to do his duty, the ruler went ahead with his preparations. A catafalque was erected and the service performed. The high altar, the catafalque, and the entire church shone with wax lights; the friars were all in their proper places and the household of the emperor attended in deep mourning. "The pious monarch himself was there, attired in sable weeds," according to the monkish historian, "and bearing a taper, to see himself interred and to celebrate his own obsequies." While the mass for the dead was sung, he came forward and gave his taper to the officiating priest as a symbol of his desire to yield up his soul. Not only once, but for many years until he finally died in 1558, Charles V. performed this strange ceremony annually.

Lloyd George's Vocabulary.

According to a recent dictionary advertisement, "Lloyd George knows one hundred thousand words."

That, says a contemporary, seems amazing if we take the statement at its first apparent value, for it indicates a vocabulary which is far in excess of the average first-class vocabulary.

We do not know how many words are supposed to be at the command of an average well-educated man at the present time. The vocabulary of Shakespeare is considered as exceptionally large, and undoubtedly it is much larger than the average man's vocabulary to-day.

Still, the modern whose education enables him to use all or nearly all of the words in Shakespeare probably has a vocabulary more extensive than the great Elizabethan's, for there are a great many words in common use to-day that Shakespeare never heard of. Anyway, we feel safe in asserting that Shakespeare did not know one hundred thousand words, or even half that number.

Perhaps it may be assumed that Mr. Lloyd George does not have a vocabulary of one hundred thousand words because most of us know a great many words that we are not in the habit of using.

One's vocabulary comprises the words at one's command for employment. It does not include very many words which one may understand when heard or read, but which are never in any circumstances used in one's own speech or writing.

The Good in D'Annunzio

(From the London Chronicle.)

While reproaching D'Annunzio's many foolish and criminal acts, the later features of which leave one doubtful of his continued sanity, we would enter a protest against using the occasion, some do, to brand him and his countrymen with ridicule. It ought not to be forgotten that in his own line he is one of the two or three greatest men of letters now living in Europe; that in 1915 he did more perhaps than any other individual to bring Italy into the war on the side of the Allies; and that during the war he displayed signal courage and enterprise as an aviator at an age when very few other men have ventured flying at all. The discredit of his name, and the shame to be shared to no small extent with last year's Supreme Council, whose deplorable inability either to make up its own mind or to deal promptly with those who tried to jump claims was a standing invitation to follies of this kind.

Earl Haig Tells a War Story.

The Freedom of Brighton was conferred upon Field-Marshal Earl Haig at a special meeting of the Town Council. Acknowledging the honor, his lordship again pleaded the cause of the ex-servicemen. Napoleon's Dessert Service Sold.

A French dessert dish of gilt plate, double thread and shell pattern, consisting of two sugar sifters, four spoons, a pair of sugar tongs, 24 small spoons, 24 forks and knives with porcelain handles, formerly the property of the Emperor Napoleon, and bearing the imperial cipher of the bee, was sold in a London auction house not long ago. The service was the property of a nobleman whose name is not revealed.

THE CRIME WAVE.

I know not why this world has struck so wild and fierce a gait, but well I know men run amuck, and seem inspired by hate; and for a kopeck or a buck they'll kill you while you wait. When darkness shrouds the city streets men fear to leave their flats, lest sundry lawless sand-bag beasts should smash their strong arm feats, or shoot them up with gas. The daily papers peruse, to mark the wide world's game, and nearly half the current news relates to deeds of shame, and as I don my overshoes a shudder shakes my frame. No more I see "Household Hints" I used to think sublime; where once they stood my paper prints a narrative of crime, of how some dame, arrayed in chintz, was butchered for a dime. The "Gems of Thought" are crowded out, and in their place I find the story of some maddened scout with base and evil mind, who robbed a widow of her heart, and left no card behind. "The Poets' Corner" once appeared where he who ran might read, but now that space has stories told of gents who die and bleed, of how some ruffian with a beard performed a hold-up deed. And Kaiser Bill, who caused it all, is saving elm and oak; behind a humble Holland wall the burghers watch his smirk; some say his bank account is tall, and others say he's broke.

and know when to demand it. It falls upon the just and the unjust. Your rickshaw man expects it for delivering you safely at the door of a shop, and you give it to him or he will lift his voice in lamentation. The owner has several prices, and upon your ability to bargain and bluff depends the price which will be paid. When the details are settled at 8 p.m., and he wraps up the shirt, you mention "cumshaw." This stamps you as one who knows what he wants. Without further discussion a necktie will be thrown in as "cumshaw," or so much to boot.

Czar's Trousers.

In his recently published memoirs Count Witte, a member of the old Russian regime, relates that Alexander III's prudence in Government expenditure was matched by his personal thrift.—Alexander III. was extremely economical with his wearing apparel. I had a curious proof of this when I accompanied the Emperor on one of his railway trips. Since I found it impossible, on account of my responsibility, to sleep of nights, I would often catch glimpses of his Majesty's valet mending the Emperor's trousers. On one occasion I asked him why he didn't give his master a new pair instead of mending the old so often. "Well, I would rather have it that way," he answered, "but his Majesty won't let me. He insists on wearing his garments until they are threadbare. It is the same with his boots."

PAINT INSURANCE IS WHAT YOU NEED

EVERY wise property owner insures his buildings against possible damage by fire.

And yet we find many a man failing to insure his building against the certain deterioration of unprotected wood of iron, exposed to the constant wear and tear of the weather. Keeping your buildings regularly painted is insurance against deterioration. Good paint protects and beautifies the surface to which it is applied—it keeps wood from cracking and checking—it keeps iron and steel surfaces from rusting. We sell and recommend Canada Paint because it is made of pure materials thoroughly mixed and ground. Come and talk to us about your paint problems.

A Call to Arms.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir: The letter of Fisherman Bay de Verde, Monday's issue of your widely read paper struck the right note when he said, the hour has struck for the people to arise in their might and hurl the present hungry sharks from office. The terrible depression existing over this Dominion is attributable to a great extent to the Fishery Regulations, and want, hunger and distress is already felt in many homes not only in this city, but in the outports as well.
 The shutting out of the American buyers from purchasing fish when orders were placed with St. John's brokers, would have given many fishermen a price for their fish, and would have kept them in independence all over the country. Men like P. J. Shea and other brokers in this city were not permitted to purchase and fill orders for the New York brokers, because the uncrowned King of this unfortunate Dominion would not allow them to do so.

Is it any wonder then that small merchants in the outports are ruined? Is it any wonder that fishing property in the outports that has been in families for generations is offered for sale at one quarter value? Is it any wonder that business men in outports will no longer risk their savings in supplying for the fishery under the same conditions as existed last season? Are the people going to be led like lambs to the slaughter, while those whom they elected can revel in luxury and ease out of the money wrung from an overtaxed people? No wonder the cry goes up give us a man to lead us out of bondage. The darkness of despair is overshadowing our Island Home and gloom and misery seem to be the people's portion.

To whom shall the people look for assistance? The present government is detested by the great majority of the electors, who have been basely deceived into voting against their best interests when they elected to power the greatest conglomeration of usurpers that ever misgoverned this country since Cabot discovered it. Men of Harbor Main, you will shortly be called upon to vote for or against the present government, and we are certain that you in common with the rest of the country will show your detestation of your present rulers, and snub their candidates under with the largest majorities ever recorded in your district.

If St. John's West and Bay de Verde had the chance to vote now, there is no doubt but that the Government candidates would not even save their nomination fee, and it is doubtful if the Government candidates would be called upon to appear in those districts. Squires and Coaker are to-day despised by the people whom they deceived, and who are waiting with impatience for something to turn up which will again give them a chance of restoring men who have the interests of the country at heart to power. We are standing on the brink of financial and commercial disaster and the yawning abyss below is in sight, which means the loss of our autonomy.

Newfoundlanders awake! your country is sinking.
 "March on, march on, all hearts resolved
 On Liberty or death!"

To the front Crosbie and Cashin, your help is wanted in this Terra Nova's darkest hour. The cry is going up for men to step into the breach. You can do something to help the country out of the terrible position in which she is at present.
 Yours truly,
 NEWFOUNDLANDER.

In the Dead of Night.

Many writers sleep with pencil and notebook under their pillows and a lamp at hand, so that they may dash off the thoughts that come to them in the watches of the night. There is about these thoughts a clarity that does not come with daytime thinking—a sureness of vision that approaches the clairvoyant. Misfortunes never loom so full or realistic as after midnight; but joy and pleasure lose something of their glamour, their evidence; doubt creeps in with them.
 A problem which we have wrestled in the daylight, weighing it with all our intelligence, is settled in a certain way, calmly and judiciously and after mature reflection. Our decision seems the right one. And then, suddenly, in the dead of the night, that self-same issue boils up before our mental vision, wakes us from a sound sleep and settles itself in quite another way, in one great flash. A strong white light has been turned upon the brain and has revealed there a conclusion of which we had no inkling before. The processes of arriving at it are a closed chapter. The clairvoyant brain has registered a result only. And again and again it will be found to be the right, the expedient solution.
 Memory, too, is peculiarly keen in the stances between midnight and four in the morning. All cobwebs have been swept from the brain by the first hours of sleep; the body and nerve centres are singularly rested; there are no noises to disturb and some subconscious power is at work within us.

It is not absolutely necessary to use for washing clothes, neither is it absolutely necessary to use a sewing machine to make a dress.

Wise women use BLOSSOM for clothes and a good sewing machine for dressmaking.
