

THE PHOENIX AND ELGIN COUNTY CONSERVATIVE.

WELL AND Drugs and

VOL. 1. VIENNA, (C. W.) JULY 14, 1853. NO. 3.

THE PHOENIX, AND ELGIN COUNTY CONSERVATIVE.

Published every Thursday Morning, by RICHARD ABBOTT, at his Office, Exchange Buildings, Front Street, VIENNA.

TERMS.—7s. 6d., Cy. when paid in advance; That, in... at the end of three months; or 12s. 6d. at information... at the end of the year. No paper discontinued... arrears are paid up, unless at the option of the proprietor.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Six lines and under, 2s. 6d. for the first insertion, and 7d. for each subsequent insertion. From six to ten lines, 3s. 9d. for the first insertion, and 10d. for each subsequent one. Above ten lines, 4d. per line for the first insertion, and 1d. per line for each subsequent one.

JOB PRINTING.

Every description of PLAIN and ORNAMENTAL PRINTING, (in colours and otherwise,) neatly and expeditiously executed, on very low terms.

W. B. KENT, OCUKIST, &c.

Wishes to intimate to the inhabitants of Vienna and the surrounding country, that he has taken a permanent residence in this Town, on Oak Street, where he will always be found prepared to attend to all diseases of the EYE.

Parties calling upon Mr. Kent will find that his mode of treatment is safe, as will be seen by the annexed Certificates.

To Mr. William B. Kent. DEAR SIR.—My child was afflicted with ophthalmic inflammation for a length of time, and after various attempts to cure, without effect, found permanent relief in your treatment.

ANDREW RAYMOND. Dayton, June 13, 1853. Windham, April 9, 1852. Sir.—The undersigned hereby certifies, that they have been afflicted with inflammation of the eyes for upwards of twenty years, and all efforts hitherto to effect a cure have proved ineffectual, until your new mode of treating diseases of that kind has infirmly restored them to a healthy state, after the short period of three weeks' application.

AARON HORNING. MARY MABEE. BENJ. HILLIKER. JOHN H. PURKISS. Simcoe, September 1, 1852.

Sir.—We, the undersigned, residents of the County of Norfolk and vicinity, having been afflicted with diseases of the eye in various forms—some of us for several years—deem it but justice to yourself and the public to state that, under your simple mode of practice, we have been effectually cured, in a very short time, and without the remotest symptom of pain in the operation.

AMELIA CABLE. MARY MABEE. BENJ. HILLIKER. JOHN H. PURKISS. Simcoe, April 9, 1852.

Sir.—I deem it but justice to both you and the public, to state that I have been afflicted with bad eyes for more than five years—during twelve months of which time I was totally blind—and having tried every remedy prescribed by various Doctors of celebrated reputation, without effect, I was induced to allow of your treatment; I have now become once more able to see almost as well as in my earliest days.

I have much pleasure, therefore, in recommending your practice to all who may be afflicted with inflammation or other diseases of the Eye. GEORGE TURNER.

THE LAND OF MY BIRTH.

Old England forever! No power shall sever My heart from the land of my birth;

Tis the land of the free—So it ever shall be—Her children no fetters shall bind

Tis the land of the brave, And the patriot's grave; And sages and heroes of old; We hallow their dust, And esteem it a trust,

Tis the land of the fair, And beauty is there, And the gladness that woman bestows;

Tis the land of the brave, And the patriot's grave; And sages and heroes of old; We hallow their dust, And esteem it a trust,

Tis the land of the free—So it ever shall be—Her children no fetters shall bind

Tis the land of the brave, And the patriot's grave; And sages and heroes of old; We hallow their dust, And esteem it a trust,

Tis the land of the fair, And beauty is there, And the gladness that woman bestows;

subjugated Mediterranean; it is not consecrated like Venice, to the very genius of poetry, and graced with beautiful gondolas, that glide along its liquid thoroughfares through the mists of evening, in harmony with the harp and the serenade, the tabor and the guitar; nor yet is clothed with the romantic grandeur of the mountain diadem of Edinburgh.

MELANCHOLY MARY.

At twenty years of age Mary became my wife. Since childhood we had known each other. We had played in nutting-time under the milk-white clusters of the hazel.

When we were older, nature to our senses, was audible with still sweeter whispers. In song and breeze, and musical fountain fall there seemed a harmony uniting heaven to earth.

Yet there was not an entire unison in our characters. Mary was of a gentle nature—kind, good, with soft beauty and a timid grace which made her move as quietly as a shadow, though her bosom was full of genuine emotions.

This was Mary's natural disposition. It made her watchful of herself, and cleared so her sight the misty visions of the world.—Under the freshening influence of a happier youth it might only have cast a sober tinge over the brightness of her mid-day reveries.

Her new home was a school of melancholy, an intellectual cypress shade, a Penseroso's cell, where youth was laughterless, and infancy demure.

LONDON.—The British capital has been called a province covered with houses; the chief causeway of the world; the great estuary of the tide of human existence; the empress of all cities with whose fame the nations "ring from side to side," the Babylon of the West, which in wealth and population may claim precedence of contemporary realms!

ful circle round the spring of perpetual joy. The embers of youthful hope spontaneously returned. Her heart flowed with another love, her face beamed with superior delight; feeling new, yet not strange, stirred her breast, and she forgot the lessons of her reclusive cell.

Still she sank into no repining mood. It was a tender despondence, a mere dejection; she was not desolate, but resigned. If she forgot to be grateful, it was not with any complaint against the ministers of Providence.

When her sombre monitors perceived the fruits of their teaching, they ascribed much pity to Mary. They were thankful for the grace they had been enabled to plant in her heart. They had toned and tempered down every impulsive, every passion, every thought and wish.

So when I took Mary to my home, she led me not with an exulting love, but with a doubtful, temperate, cautious affection, already prepared to lose its object; and instead of praying that it might be preserved to her, she prayed that her heart might be prepared to yield it—so though life could lose one hope, one spark of faith, one high aspiration, one pulse of love, one thrill of gen- erous joy!

I was in vain I took her to the fields, the green in the summer time. She sighed over the beauty which winter was to blight so soon. In vain I led her into festal scenes—they were hollow delights mocking the ears of the mourner.

Her new home was a school of melancholy, an intellectual cypress shade, a Penseroso's cell, where youth was laughterless, and infancy demure.

At last there was a child born to us—a second lamp on my hearth, a branch on the beautiful stem. For a while, all Mary's meditations were lost in an excess of natural joy. The embers of youthful hope spontaneously returned. Her heart flowed with another love, her face beamed with superior delight; feeling new, yet not strange, stirred her breast, and she forgot the lessons of her reclusive cell.

Through caverns measureless by man Down took she endless way.

One winter night we watched in the sick room together. Mary was by the side of the couch where the child lay—thin, pale, its breath faint, its eyes encircled by dark rings, the forehead cold, but a dangerous flush upon its limbs.

I set by the hearth, gazing in wretched melancholy at the mutable visions in the fire—ambushes of the agonies of life—changing, I thought, from flame to a duller glow, and darkling into gloom, and shadows came over the whole, and nothing but ashes is left.

The fire was out, and the room was dark. I set by the hearth, gazing in wretched melancholy at the mutable visions in the fire—ambushes of the agonies of life—changing, I thought, from flame to a duller glow, and darkling into gloom, and shadows came over the whole, and nothing but ashes is left.

I set by the hearth, gazing in wretched melancholy at the mutable visions in the fire—ambushes of the agonies of life—changing, I thought, from flame to a duller glow, and darkling into gloom, and shadows came over the whole, and nothing but ashes is left.

I set by the hearth, gazing in wretched melancholy at the mutable visions in the fire—ambushes of the agonies of life—changing, I thought, from flame to a duller glow, and darkling into gloom, and shadows came over the whole, and nothing but ashes is left.

I comforted her, and took her to the bed-side. The little child slept, but now lightly, undisturbed by the husked tones in which its mother had been saying all this, so earnestly, to me. We remained through the night, joyfully, hopefully, watching the tranquil slumberer.

The smile on its lips was a new lamp of life, a more beautiful aura to Mary's eyes. In a passion of joy she kissed the infant, kissed it again and again, but tenderly, as one would touch a primrose or a delicate lily, or across a comfortable young dove.

"Mary," I said, "we shall be happy, if the child is spared."

I never thought of her more as melancholy Mary. When the child was again carolling among the flowers in the garden, my whilom sad-faced wife stood like a breathing rose, volatile of her love, and as graceful, and as far more gay than when she entered the cloister-like seclusion where her thoughts had become pale, her hopes dim, her faith doubtful, and her happiness insecure.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT. BURNING OF THE STEAMER QUEEN OF THE WEST.

We deeply regret to have to add to the alarming list of steamboat losses which have taken place on our waters this year, the total destruction, by fire, of the new and beautiful steamer Queen of the West.

A few minutes after the vessel had discharged her passengers and freight, on Saturday evening, a dense volume of smoke was seen to issue from the air shafts leading to the fire hold, and almost instantaneously the flames burst out.—Captain Harrison, having discharged his duty for the day, had left the steamer, and at the time there were very few people on board.

It had been burned fiercely, so that the...
The fire broke out in the stoker's room...
The vessel from the fire the Queen was insured...
We understand the cost actual was upwards of...
The loss of the Queen will be looked upon...
The Phoenix writes as his conscientious convictions...
The Vienna Gazette has breathed its last...
We have received the first number of the...
The Phoenix is a well conducted newspaper...
The Phoenix is a paper of the right sort...
We have received the first number of the...
A new paper has just been started at Vienna...
A portion of our title fully and freely...
The Phoenix is a well conducted newspaper...
The Phoenix is a paper of the right sort...
We have received the first number of the...
A new paper has just been started at Vienna...
A portion of our title fully and freely...
The Phoenix is a well conducted newspaper...
The Phoenix is a paper of the right sort...

THE PHOENIX,
AND ELGIN
CONSERVATIVE.
VIENNA, THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1853.
Opinions of the Press.
THE PHOENIX, AND ELGIN COUNTY CONSERVATIVE.—We have received the first number of a neat little paper, hailing from Vienna, C. W., and rejoicing in the above expressive title, whose motto is—"The Protestant religion and the liberties of England." Mr. Richard Abbott, Editor and Proprietor. From our personal knowledge of Mr. Abbott's principles and the school in which he received his first typographical and printing lessons, we may confidently expect to find in the Phoenix an able and energetic ally in the cause of Truth and Loyalty. The Phoenix is a paper of the right sort. Success to it.—Connell's Constitutional.
We have received the first number of the Phoenix a new paper just commenced at Vienna, County of Elgin. It is Conservative in politics, neatly printed, and published at 6d per annum in advance. We wish it every success.—Midleton's Prototype.
A new paper has just been started at Vienna, U. C., called The Phoenix and Elgin County Conservative. It is a neatly got up sheet, and the following extract from its first leader will indicate the principles adopted by our new contemporary:—"A portion of our title fully and freely expresses our political principles—CONSERVATIVE; and although as far as possible eschewing polemics, we shall ever be found with truly PROTESTANT! We believe that Monarchy is the best and safest system of Government, to the preservation of which Conservatism is essential. Canada is no unimportant portion of the mighty Empire of Britain; and it is our proudest boast that we are an integral part of that Nation in whose keeping lie the destinies of the world. It shall, therefore, ever be our humble endeavor to strengthen the ties that bind us in fraternal union with that glorious trio, whose emblems are the Rose, Thistle, and Shamrock. We are Protestant, because when England ceases to be Protestant, her greatness ceases also, (May the hand of an overruling Providence forever forestall the calamity!) and because notwithstanding the assertions of many to the contrary, we find Popery ever the same, as strikingly exemplified in the recollections at Quebec and Montreal. We believe that a closer union of sentiment and feeling—a more intimate relation between the various Protestant churches—is essential to our common cause, and we find in the Orange Association—happily now extended over every portion of our country—a powerful auxiliary to this end, hence shall that Society in us find a consistent friend."—United Empire.
THE PHOENIX.—We have received the first number of this paper, published at Vienna. It presents rather a respectable appearance; but we are sorry to say advocates principles of intolerant Protestantism, for which we have not even respect.—Norfolk's Messenger.
THE PHOENIX.—We have received the 1st number of this newly launched Conservative organ. The "Phoenix" hails from Vienna, in the County of Elgin, is a neatly got up sheet, advocating sound Conservative principles, and has our best wishes for its success.—Guelph Herald.
NEW PAPER.—We have received the first number of a newspaper, published in Vienna, by Mr. Richard Abbott. It is a spirited sheet, well conducted, and Conservative in politics.—Long Point Advocate.
THE PHOENIX.—We have received the first number of a new paper bearing the above title, and hailing from the village of Vienna. It is published by Mr. Abbott, (of St. Thomas authority) is Conservative in politics, well printed sheet, and bids fair to be a useful auxiliary in the cause which it advocates. We wish the Phoenix every success.—Weekly Dispatch.
THE PHOENIX is the title of a new paper just started at Vienna, C. W., by Mr. Abbott. Its principles may be called Orange Conservative.—Cayuga Sachem.
THE PHOENIX.—Under this title we find that a sound Conservative Journal has been established in the flourishing village of VIENNA, C. W. The Phoenix is published weekly, and bids fair to command a wide circulation in Elgin, and the surrounding counties. We would welcome the appearance of our Conservative contemporary, and offer kindly wishes for a long and prosperous career.—Barrie Herald.

known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge

The 12th July.
LAST Tuesday, the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, was celebrated by the Orangemen of the County of Elgin, joined by many of the friends of Protestantism, in a manner which did honour to their loyalty and respect to the religion of their fathers. The day was ushered in by firing, and other demonstrations of joy. At an early hour the Brethren of the Vienna Lodge were seen moving about our streets, decked in the gay emblems of loyalty and love. Flags were floating proudly from the windows of our hotels, and adorned private residences; the Union Jack was unfurled to the breeze from the dome of the "Francisco House" and from the Vienna Brass Band—to which too much praise cannot be given—"Music arose with its voluptuous swell, And all went merry as a marriage bell." About nine o'clock, the Brethren of L. O. L. No. 170, assembled at the Lodge room, where the usual business on such occasions was transacted. At ten a mounted deputation of the Knights of the Shield, headed by the Band, was dispatched to Staffordville in order to escort the Brethren from Aylmer, Dorchester, Richmond, Malahide, &c., into town. After returning to Vienna, the procession was formed, and marched through Main Street, thence to Port Burwell, where an appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. T. B. REAN, from St. Paul's second Epistle to the Corinthians, 10th chapter and 4th and 5th verses:—"For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds: Casting down imaginations, and every high thing, that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." The sermon was most ably delivered; and was listened to with almost breathless attention by the numerous assemblage present on the occasion. Immediately after Divine service the Brethren again formed in Procession, and returned to Vienna, whence, after the usual exchange of congratulations, loyal cheers, speeches, &c., the Brethren of Vienna and Port Burwell again escorted the visiting Brethren from a distance, out of the Town. The procession again returned to the "Francisco House," where a number of the Brethren sat down to an excellent dinner—just such an one as GEORGE SPURR usually gets up—to which they did more than justice. All was enjoyment and harmony, without the slightest interruption in the remotest degree. After the cloth was removed, the Chairman, Brother W. F. SPARLING, gave "the QUEEN"—Tune, God save the Queen, by the Band. "Prince Albert and the Royal Family," from the Chair. Tune—Rule Britannia. "The Governor General, Her Majesty's representative in Canada," From the Vice Chair. The Chairman then rose and said, the principal toast of the evening is the one I am about to propose, and in doing so I feel called upon to offer a few remarks, which I trust will not be out of place on this occasion: KNIGHTS, COMPANIONS, AND BRETHREN—The circumstances which have called us together on this occasion are of no trifling nature. We are called upon to commemorate an event, the happy results of which have proved a blessing to the world—an event worthy of the great actor whose name we venerate and whose principles we profess—an event but for which Protestantism would long since have ceased to be known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge

known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge

known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge

known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and spoke nearly as follows:—Memory calls to mind the happy days I have spent on like occasions, in celebrating, with my Countrymen, the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, which, under the great head of the Church, was the means of delivering our forefathers, ourselves and our children from popish intolerance and slavery. Popery has ever been the enemy of truth; it has been the enemy of mankind; and if we look back to ages past, we will see what an unmerciful thing popery has been. Let us look at the Hugonots, the Albigenses, the scenes of 1641 in Ireland, with the infernal Inquisition, those merciless tortures; tortures which have made thousands and thousands to groan. We even in our own recollection, can remember the cruel butcheries of 1798. Yes, when we recollect Scullabogue Barn, filled with old men, women, and children, until its numbers forbid the admission of more; there was one old lady still remaining to be sacrificed, in order to complete the atrocity, but they made a virtue of necessity and said they would give her a more easy death as she was a good woman. They then set fire to the barn, and mothers' and their children's cries mingled with the flame, and claimed their vengeance from on high. Yes, and Emascorothy's blood stained hill, where the bones of many a loyal hero lie; then Ross' streets, and Folk's Mills—all these scenes claim God's vengeance from the skies. On Wexford Bridge known, and popery, tyranny, and bloodshed (the offspring of popery) continue to curse the land of our fathers, and blight with its withering influence every blessing worth living to enjoy. While the blackening clouds of approaching persecution and thralldom were hovering over the heads of our ancestors, and the calm comforts of peace and quietness were lashed into wild commotion by the strong tide of popish atrocity and intolerance, there was yet a helping hand to save—a ready sympathizer and protecting friend to care for the welfare of Protestantism; and this personage was no other than him whose name I am about to propose. He it was who struck the final blow to popish ascendancy, and secured to us the liberty, civil and religious, which we now enjoy. To commemorate this victory over freedom and intolerance, we are met together to-day. To show to the world that we revere the happy effects of Protestant ascendancy, established by that victory. Most of you, no doubt, are aware that an attempt has lately been made to deprive Protestants of some of the privileges to which, by the constitution of England, every individual within her realms is entitled. This attempt has been made at our very doors; and though weak minded men may tell you it is of trifling importance, remember that small beginnings have sometimes large and widely extended conclusions. The end of such a beginning is a matter of imaginary prophecy; to predict, if allowed to proceed with impunity; and the end of this aggression on our rights may prove fatal, if apathy and forbearance be allowed to take the place of ready remembrance. Let every one who has the smallest spark of respect for his rights, or those of his children, look with a jealous eye on the inroads popery is daily making on the liberties of the friends of the Protestant religion. And zealously guard against the threatening danger that surrounds him. The late attempts at Quebec and Montreal to still free discussion, call for a close union of Protestants of every denomination. When an exposition of truth becomes a crime, it is time for the adversaries of error to be on the alert; and when the religion of our fathers is at stake, it is high time for their sons to know each other. This then is an important crisis in the history of Canada—one which calls upon every Protestant to lay aside political feuds, and like their illustrious forefathers, who signed and sealed the great covenant of freedom, to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of freedom upon such a comprehensive basis as will enable every limb and fibre to receive vitality from the parent stem, and which also renders it imperative that loyal Britons should at all times be found. "With hearts resolved and hands prepared. The blessings they enjoy to guard." How can this be obtained but by close union? By union we are powerful; by division we are weak. Let us then, by every means in our power, cement still closer, if possible, the happy union which binds Protestants together in a band of brothers; let Protestants of every denomination join in one phalanx against the foe of our common wealth, civil and religious, and success must follow as a natural consequence of uniting energy. Truth is our craft, and we fear not the hurricane of fierce innovation, if the union of brotherly love which has hitherto been our pilot be maintained in its wonted purity. Our association has stood the test of age; others have since sprung up, and sunk again to insignificance, because their foundation was not laid upon the firm basis of eternal truth! The Loyal Orange Institution was formed in the midst of unnatural persecution; when the pious and devoted christian was compelled to suffer for truth and righteousness sake. Let thanks to the great Ruler of events, who in time of our greatest need sent our glorious saviour, whose name we bear, to free us from that thralldom, which popery irrevocably fasts on the necks of its unfortunate victims. "Banner and badge and name alone At our monarch's call we tender; The loyal truth that guards the throne We'll keep, and No Surrender!" And now allow me to propose: The Glorious, Pious, and Immortal Memory of the Great and Good King WILLIAM THE III. "The Grand Master of British North America, Brother GEORGE BENJAMIN," from the Chair. Song, by Brother GRIFITHS—The Battle and the Breeze. Brother FRANCIS, W. M. of No. 270, in giving "The Orangemen of Ireland," rose and worthy the notice of any man of common sense.

In respect to the hoisting of flags, I had no part nor hand in the matter, and am prepared at any time to furnish proof unquestionable to that effect. Sir, I was born on British Soil, and have lived the most of my life on that soil, during which time there is not that person who can say I have ever been guilty of anything toward my country that is reported to be of a treasonable or seditious character. Your correspondent could not of been an eye-witness to the proceedings of that day—if so and a man of truth he never would of furnished you with so gross a misstatement.

Very Respectfully,
Your obedt servt,
JOHN W. HALL,
P. M., Houghton.

FOREIGN.

ENGLAND.

The Ministry were defeated on Monday evening the 20th, ult., by 153 to 150, on the 21st clause of the Bill for taxing successions.

The Indian question appears to engage a large share of attention in Parliament; and has been the subject of frequent debates, the most instructive and interesting of which took place in the House of Commons, on the 23rd ult., on the following amendment proposed by Lord Stanley, son of Lord Derby, in an able speech of great length:

That, in the opinion of this House, further information is necessary to enable Parliament to legislate with advantage for the permanent government of India; and that, at this late period of the Session, it is inexpedient to proceed with a measure which, while it disturbs existing arrangements, cannot be considered as a final settlement.

The amendment was supported by Messrs. Plims and Bailey, but the debate was adjourned until the following day.

FRANCE.

The difference between France and the Republic of Ecuador had been settled. Admiral Despoint entered the river Guayaquil, and obtained the satisfaction that France demanded.

Mention is made of the armament of two vessels at Toulon.

The levy of sailors which has been decreed by the Minister of Marine, will furnish a contingent of 4000 men.

The Minister of War left Paris on the 16th for Metz. He is about to visit the principal fortresses and camps of instruction in the North.

RUSSIA.

A telegraph dispatch from Constantinople of the 5th instant, stated that a Russian squadron, consisting of the frigates Juno and Arhim and the Brig Ophis has been sent from Sebastopol to Pitsound, on the Circassian coast. This expedition was thought to be in connection with a movement of the tribes which oppose the Russian domination.

The "Weekly News" Paris correspondent says—Private reliable advices report that there has been a bloody battle between the Circassians and Russians, in which the latter had been defeated with severe loss, a general with 12,000 men, and 30 pieces of cannon being captured by the mountaineers.

On the 12th the Emperor visited the harbour of Constand, where the Baltic fleet is concentrated.

At Odessa the prices of grain have risen, owing to extensive purchases which have been made by the Russian fleet and army.

Advices from St. Petersburg announce the nomination of Prince Menschikoff to the Governorship of Crimea.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

New York, July 13.

The Cunard Steamer Arabia, which left Liverpool at 5:30 on the 2d inst., reached her dock at 11 1/2 this morning. She brings about 65 passengers.

LATEST FROM TURKEY.

London, July 2, 1853.

Despatches from Paris state that the rejection of the Ultimatum reached St Petersburg on 1st June. The Emperor had made a personal declaration to the English and French Ambassadors, expressing himself in the strongest language. He stated that the destruction of his fleet would not prevent his invading Turkey. The 4th Division of the Turkish army was ordered to enter Moldavia and Morocco.

The Russian force on the Black Sea amounts to 750,000 men. The Emperor complains of the conduct of the Turkish Premier, and it is said had forwarded a preliminary order to M. Dezhnev to confine himself to official intercourse with the English Secretary of State. At the Bourse to-day securities suffer in consequence of intelligence from the East. 3 per cents declined more than one per cent.

The substance of the Turkish intelligence is that everything is doubtful. Nothing has resulted as yet from the Porte's rejection of the ultimatum. Nothing in fact could be done till July 1st, at which date it was thought the Russians had not passed the Danube. It was reported that Turkey had formally demanded the armed intervention of the four powers; the statement was not confirmed, and the state of things does not look so peaceful. The French and Turkish fleets were at Tenedos.

Nothing interesting from other parts of Europe.

Debates on Jamaica affairs were in progress in the British Parliament.

The city of Shiraz was destroyed by an earthquake on May 1st.

New York, July 23.

The Africa sailed at noon with 867,000 in specie and 78 passengers.

Arrival of the "Atlantic."

New York, July 11.

The steamship "Atlantic" from Liverpool on the 29th, ult., arrived yesterday with 140 passengers.

GREAT BRITAIN.

News unimportant. The Income Tax has become law. A long debate on the Government of India. Very little said on Turkish affairs. A general belief that peace will continue.

Insurance to the Danube has increased.—Henry Berkeley is spoken of as Governor of Jamaica. The Australian Steamship Company, via Panama, has received a charter.—The strike among the operatives at Stockport and Blackburn continues. Mrs. Stowe is visiting Wales.

The crops in Ireland are luxuriant. The weather in Britain is generally favorable. In Scotland rain is wanted.

SPAIN.

Two shocks of an earthquake were felt on the 27th and 28th May, at Canary. Crops in Spain indifferent. It is reported that the Spanish ports will be opened to the free import of wheat.

TURKEY.

No hostilities yet; and the general belief gains ground there will be none. Russia continues to collect troops along the frontier, and the Turks do not cease warlike operations.

CALIFORNIA.

The steamer "Illinois" from Aspenwall arrived this morning with dates to June 16th. She brings 500 passengers and $1,836,000 freight.

A duel was fought on Saturday morning June 11th, near the Mission de Dolores, between Edward Bates and Dr. Crane; at a second fire Crane was shot through the body and died on Sunday. Several duels are reported between persons unknown.

The weather in California was very warm the thermometer varying in the shade from 88 to 107. The mining intelligence from all quarters was of the most cheering character, and business at San Francisco was reviving.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The Panama Star says, there was an attempt at revolution in Bogota, on the 8th of June. Several individuals were shot. General Herrera attempted to call out the troops, but General Melo refused. The English mail steamer Keyto arrived on the 18th with dates to Valparaiso to the 4th, Leonia to the 12th. The prospects of war between Bolivia and Peru are increasing.

EXTENSIVE FIRE IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, July 11, 9 A.M.

About two o'clock, yesterday, an alarm of fire was given, which proved to be in the out-house of Mr. Grant's hotel, St. Henry Street. In about a quarter of an hour the whole of the stables and out-houses, fronting on McGill Street, and a portion of St. James Street, was in a blaze, and great fear was felt for the safety of the stores facing on McGill Street.

The fire engines arrived shortly after the fire broke out, and for want of a supply of water, were obliged to stand comparatively idle. In a short time however a good supply of water was obtained from the different plugs in the vicinity of the fire, and the spreading flames were soon got under.

Mr. C. Austin's and Mr. R. Anderson's premises, situated at the corner of St. Maurice Street, were on fire several times, but were extinguished by the exertions of the firemen. Messrs. Cowan & Cross' lark store was considerably injured and the out houses belonging to Mr. Seymour, in McGill Street, were totally destroyed.

The rear of the Royal Mail Line Office was also on fire but was prevented from spreading to the main building.

The wind was blowing strongly at the time, and the Temperance Hall (late the Rev. Mr. Wilkes' church) caught, and notwithstanding every effort to save the building, the roof and interior fell a prey to the fire.

The firemen on this occasion, and we may add on like occasions behaved in a most energetic manner, and we may safely say, but for their exertions on this occasion a most disastrous fire would have taken place, as the majority of the buildings south of St. Henry Street are constructed of wood.

From the "Simcoe Standard."

Port Burwell, June 23, 1853.

To the Inhabitants of the Township of Houghton and Walsingham.

The time is arrived in which you are fully enabled, under the general law, for forming associations for improvements in Municipalities, to form a Joint Stock Road Company to make a good Plank Road from Port Burwell, along the Lake shore line of road through those Townships; the means are in your power, and besides the inculcable enhancement of your respective properties along that line of Road, the investment itself would prove a source of profit. The increasing business of the country and your now advancing condition, fully justify the undertaking, and every year growing families and increasing wants of improved intercourse, call for such improvements. The thoroughfare of Port Burwell for the whole surrounding country—the roads now leading and others in progress to this point, gives an increased impetus to the increased majority of this Road being immediately put in progress, and if at once undertaken, the next season will witness its completion. I should be most happy to meet the people at any point on this line of Road, at any time, when a meeting for that purpose may be called, and confer fully on the subject; and I am satisfied that a very well organized commencement may be fairly regarded as one half the undertaking. The people on this line of Road have the means, and its employment will increase the facilities of mutual comfort, and both individual and general wealth in a ratio of geometrical progression. I hope some of the wealthy farmers about Long Point Bay, and the rapidly advancing settlement of Houghton, will in a spirited manner take up this subject, for it is only to resolve it, and with a little energy the work will shortly be completed. It is only to think you are able, and the means are within your own power, and increased wealth and comfort the immediate result. There is no man on this route that owns a freehold but can take Stock in such an undertaking.

I am, Gentlemen,
Yours &c. &c.
JOHN BURWELL.

THE TWELFTH OF JULY.—Although some disturbance was apprehended, we are happy to say the celebration passed over without anything to mar the proceedings of the day.—Those of the Orangemen in town, with several lodges from the adjoining townships, met together, and attended divine service, at St. Paul's church. A procession was afterwards formed by the loyal body, and proceeded through the principal streets of the town. This year the turn-out of Orangemen, far exceeded that of last, in point of numbers. The brethren dined together in the evening.—Pratt.

LONDON IN 1850.—If the streets of the Metropolis were put together, they would exceed 3000 miles in length. The main thoroughfares are traversed by 3000 omnibuses and 3500 cabs, employing 40,000 horses. In 1849 the metropolis alone consumed 1,500,000 quarters of wheat, 240,000 bullocks, 1,500,000 sheep, 28,000 calves, and 35,000 pigs. One market alone supplied 4,924,000 head of game. London in the same year, ate 3,000,000 salmon, which were washed down by 43,200,000 gallons of porter and ale, 2,000,000 gallons of spirits, and 65,000 pipes of wine. 13,000 crows are yearly required for London Milk, and reckoning two gallons a day from every cow, we have here 72,000 gallons of London "peculiar" consumed, if not enjoyed, by the London inhabitants.—Three hundred thousand gas lights fringe the streets. London's water system supplies an enormous quantity of 44,353,328 gallons per annum; a thousand sail are employed in bringing annually to London 3,000,000 tons of coal; we have no fewer than 23,517 tailors, 21,570 boot-makers, 40,000 milliners and dress-makers, and 18,701 domestic servants.—Edinburgh Witness.

RATHER FAT.—A western editor lets his admiration of fatness gush out in the following unctuous strain:—"We like fat people—good, jolly, laughing, broad-chested, honest, fat people. We love fat women—fat boys—fat babies—fat puns—fat list of subscribers—fat job—fat advertisements—fat everything. Fatness is a big sign of big health. Fat men are never treacherous—fat women are not sharp tongued—fat boys are not mischievous—fat babies are always good—in fine, fat people are the kindest, and therefore the most popular. Commend us to fat people."

A Gentleman from Galt, largely interested in the Wheat trade, who has recently taken a tour through the Western portion of the State of New York, reports that on Monday the Wheat harvest in that quarter began generally, and is very heavy, without the slightest appearance of smut or rust. So excellent is it, that one gentleman was selecting a sample to have it threshed and dressed, in order to forward it to the Great Exhibition in New York. Oats and Barley are far better than our informant expected, and in the majority of cases will be a fair crop. Apples and Pears are almost utterly destroyed—one farmer, with an orchard of six acres, declaring he will not have enough of apples for the use of his own family. Peaches also are a decided failure; and in fact, the fruit crops generally may be reckoned upon as gone.—Galt Reporter.

THE PHOENIX.—We have received the second number of a bearing this name, published at Vienna, C. W., by Mr. Richard Abbott, formerly of Simcoe. It is a well got up sheet, and is ably edited. It advocates Conservative principles.—Haldimand Independent.

We are in receipt of No 2 of the Phoenix a new paper published in Vienna, C. W., by Mr. R. Abbott; it is neatly printed, and is Conservative in politics.—Old Fellow.

The Hon. Colonel William Allan died this morning (Monday) about 2 A. M., at the advanced age of 87. He had been in a weak state for some time, and died at first from sheer exhaustion. Mr. Allan first came to Canada about the year 1796 or '97, shortly after the establishment of the Government at the town of York. He commenced business as a general dealer, and was a most indefatigable business man. He gradually, and from time to time, filed many important public trusts, as Postmaster, Issuer of marriage licenses, Collector of Customs, Legislative and Executive Councillor, Commissioner of the Canada Company, &c.

During the war of 1812 he commanded the garrison of York as Major of the drafted corps of Militia. On the establishment of the Bank of Upper Canada in the year 1821 Mr. Allan was elected President, and he continued to be connected with that institution for many years. During Sir Peregrine Maitland's Administration, he was called to the Legislative Council. He was never elected to the Lower House. Mr. Allan was a successful man in his worldly affairs, and no doubt was possessed at his demise, of a large amount of valuable property.—Toronto Patriot.

To Correspondents.

"J. H. Mc." Charlottesville—received—too late for this week.

"J. B." Orange Hill—received—much obliged—will be attended to next week.

AGENTS FOR THE "PHOENIX."

VICTORIA.—Simpson McColl, Esq.
PORT BURWELL.—John Burwell, W. M. Hutchinson.
HOUGHTON CENTRE.—A. C. McKinnon.
FREDERICKSBURG.—Thomas Bayne.
PORT DOVER.—James Riddell.
PORT ROWAN.—Simon Maboe.
FINCOE.—Wm. Roberts, W. P. Osborne.
MALDEN.—John Scanlan.
RICHMOND.—Sylvester Cooke.
STAFFORDVILLE.—Moses Price.
BALL'S CORNERS.—G. Clarke.
ST. THOMAS.—H. Hamilton, Esq.

MARRIAGE.

In Madrid, on Tuesday, the 5th inst., by Elder McConell, Mr. WILLIAM F. BALDWIN, of Niagara, to MARTHA JANE, daughter of the late Oliver Perry of New York.

Dr. BELL

Will be at SPURR'S HOTEL, in Vienna on the 5th day of August, and remain until the 13th.

He will also be at the STAGE HOUSE, in St. Thomas, on the 1st day of August, and remain until the 4th.

Those afflicted with LINGERING DISRASES will be treated without the use of calomel, opium, or any of the mineral poisons.

N. B.—ADVICE FREE.

"Rainbow Hotel!"

PORT ROYAL,
BY JAMES COYLE.

HAVING taken the above Hotel, the subscriber begs to assure the public that nothing shall be wanting on his part to render every comfort and accommodation to Travellers.

The House is extensive and well furnished, and the sheds and stables commodious, with good attendants.

THE BAR AND TABLE will be found of the best, so as to ensure the comfort of every customer.

Port Royal, July, 1853.

R. AISSIER,
The Barber!

THE SUBSCRIBER takes this opportunity to return his sincere thanks to his patronizing friends in Vienna and Bayham, for their kindly bestowed support, and to assure them he will at all times be ready to render his continued services, in the above line. Call and see him in Collins's row, on Main Street, opposite Francis's House, where SHAVING, SHAMPOOING, and HAIR-CUTTING shall be executed in such a style as to insure satisfaction.

Vienna, July 13, 1853.

HOUGHTON CENTRE HOTEL,
And General Stage Office.

THE SUBSCRIBER having purchased the ABOVE HOTEL and having expended a large sum, in fitting out the same for the accommodation of the public, takes this method of informing the Travelling community, that he is prepared to receive all who may favour him with their patronage, in a style not to be surpassed by any House West of Hamilton. HIS TABLE will ever be supplied with the choicest productions of the Market, while THE BAR, and its contents, will be of that description which cannot fail to give satisfaction. Careful hostlers always in attendance to take charge of horses, &c.

CARRIAGES & HORSES!
Always on hand, to convey passengers to any part of the country!
HOUGHTON, July, 1853.

ALEX. SHAW,
2-f

FOUND.

On the 1st Concession of the Township of Malabie, in December last, a parcel, containing lady's dress, and other small articles. They can be had by applying to the subscriber and paying the cost of this advertisement.

GEO. PHILLIPS,
Malabie, July 7, 1853.

W. H. ELLIOT,
House and Sign
PAINTER!

Grain, Glazier, Paper Hanger, &c. &c.
VIENNA, C. W.

EVERY Description of Plain and Ornamental Painting neatly executed on the most reasonable terms.
Vienna, June 30, 1853.

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION!
THE MEMBERS OF L. O. L. 170, Vienna, are hereby notified and requested to attend a special meeting on Monday Evening, the 25th inst. at 8 o'clock, to transact business of the utmost importance.

By order of the W. M.,
CHARLES RYAN,
Secretary.

Muse Establishment!

South side of Dundas Street, opposite to Messrs. Jaymond and Rowland, Furriers.

WHYER may be had SHEET MUSIC of every description. Instruction Books, of all kinds of Instrumental Music, &c., as cheap as can be had in Toronto, Boston or New York.

All kinds of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, from a PIANO FORTE down to a FIFE, STRINGS of all kinds and of superior quality; in short, everything that can or may be found in a well and carefully selected Music Store.

THE PIANOS are made by the following celebrated gentlemen, viz:
CHICKERING, STODART & DUNHAM. Acknowledged to be the best on this part of the Globe; and are the MELODIANS manufactured by Pratt & Co.

Pianos & Melodians!
sold as cheap and on as favorable Terms as they can be procured in Toronto, or from the Makers themselves.

A choice assortment of
BRASS INSTRUMENTS!
for Bands, consisting of Saxhorns, Ophelidies, Trombones, &c. &c.

Pianos tuned and repaired. All orders for tuning strictly and punctually attended to.

HEIRMAN KORDES,
London, June 18, 1853. 2-f

PORT BURWELL AND VIENNA!

STAGE LINE!

W. J. HAYWARD & Co.,
BEG to intimate to the Travelling Public that they are now prepared to carry Passengers between the above named places, in one of the most commodious Carriages in Canada, being built expressly for this route.

This Stage runs from Port Burwell to Vienna and vice versa THREE TIMES A DAY.

TERMS LIBERAL.
HORSES AND CARRIAGES always in attendance at their Livery Stable in Port Burwell.
June 23, 1853. 1-f

A. C. MCKINNON & Co.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS!

GROCERIES,
HARDWARE & CROCKERY,
&c. &c. &c.
HOUGHTON CENTRE,
NORFOLK,
July, 1853.

To Wm. B. Kent, Oculist, &c.
Dear Sir—I have to inform you that I cannot come up to see you at present, but I deem it a duty I owe you to say that you are the only professional man who has done me any good; and I verily believe that if I had persevered a little longer I would have regained my sight as well as ever. I tried Toronto and Hamilton Doctors, but they did me no good, and all the benefit I got it was from yourself.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
OWEN KEVITT,
Port Dover, June 23, 1853.

Royal Hotel,
TILSONBURG.
BY C. G. BALDWIN

THE Subscriber returns his thanks to the public for their liberal support, and begs to inform them that he is making enlarged additions for the convenience and comfort of all who may favour him with their patronage.

His table will be well supplied, and his Liquors of the best quality.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES always in readiness for any part of the country.

June 23, 1853. 1-f

Messrs. Brown & Ely
of Vienna, Canada West,
ARE appointed Agents for the sale of "Kimbels Patent Machine Stretched Banding or Belting," which will be furnished with an assortment of the different sizes, and they will receive orders for all such as may be wanted.

Wm. RUMBELL,
Patentee,
33 Ferry street, New York.
New York, April 20, 1853. 1-f

THE UNDERSIGNED have just received a supply of "Kimbels Patent Machine stretched Leather Belting," which they will sell for CASH or LUMBER at the

MANUFACTURERS' PRICES!
(adding duty and transportation.) All mill owners and engine-builders will do well to call and examine the above at the

YANKEE STORE!
BROWN & ELY, 2-f
Vienna, July 4, 1853.

Cleveland & Pt. Stanley

THE FINE LOW PRESSURE STEAMER "TELEGRAPH!"
CAPTAIN R. BARROW,
WILL make two trips a week between Cleveland and Port Burwell, touching at Port Stanley, as follows:
LEAVES CLEVELAND for Port Burwell every Monday and Thursday, at 6 o'clock, P. M.
LEAVES PORT BURWELL every Wednesday and Saturday, at 12 o'clock, M.

The Telegraph connects at Cleveland with the Cleveland, Columbus & Cincinnati, Cleveland & Pittsburg, Toledo, Norwalk & Cleveland, and Lake Shore Railroads; and at Port Stanley with the Line of Stages to London.

FOR FREIGHT OR PASSAGE APPLY ON BOARD, OR TO FORSYTH & CAMP, Cleveland.

S. F. HOLCOMB,
Port Stanley.
A. McBRIDE, Port Burwell. 2-f

Wm. H. & J. EAKINS
ARE now receiving from New York, Montreal and other markets, large additions to their

EXTENSIVE STOCK!
and would say that for variety and richness it cannot be surpassed by any west of Hamilton, embracing everything required in this market in

DRY GOODS!
Groceries, Hardware!
CROCKERY,
PAINTS, OILS!
PAPER HANGINGS, WINDOW SHADES, &c. &c. all of which will be sold at the Smallest advance over Cost.

30,000 lbs. of WOOL!
wanted, for which the highest price in CASH will be paid, or Cloths and Satinets, exchanged, to suit customers.

Wm. H. & J. EAKINS,
Vienna, June 16, 1853. 1-f

Drugs and Medicines!

P. F. SMITH,
KEEPS constantly on hand a full assortment of genuine
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Hair-Oils, Perfumery, &c.
and all the popular
PATENT MEDICINES of the day, at his Store, nearly opposite the Post Office,
FRONT STREET, VIENNA.
June 23, 1853. 1-f

CASH FOR LUMBER.

THE SUBSCRIBER will pay the highest Market Price in CASH, for any quantity of Good Pine Lumber, delivered at Vienna, or at his Lumber-yard in Buffalo. Apply to
I. B. MARIATT,
Vienna.
or to WARNER JOHNSON,
Buffalo.
June 23, 1853.

ISRAEL P. MAIR, M. D.

OFFICE at the late residence of C. G. Baldwin, Esq., corner of Front and Oak streets, VIENNA.
1

"THE PHOENIX,"
And Elgin County Conservative.

A weekly Commercial, Political, Agricultural and Literary Journal, to be published in the Town of Vienna, County of Elgin—the first number of which will appear on or about the first of May next.

The Sunbeams, at the earnest request of several influential gentlemen of the County of Elgin, and impressed with the importance of such an undertaking to the inhabitants of the flourishing Town of Vienna—and its neighboring sister, Port Burwell—intends shortly to commence the publication of a Journal, in this place, bearing the above appellation. The well-known principles which have guided him in his former connexion with the Canadian Press shall be by him firmly and uncompromisingly maintained in the conducting of The Phoenix; and while the enemy or opponent of those principles shall ever receive at his hands that justice which an enlightened age demands, the great and leading Political questions of the day shall be dealt with in a fearless, decided, and consistent manner, consonant with the spirit of TRUE CONSERVATISM. In a word, The Phoenix will be—In Politics, CONSERVATIVE; in Religious matters, PROTESTANT; in Opposition, Honest; and in all things Consistent.

Believing that on our connexion with the glorious Empire of Britain depends our future prosperity, as a Colony, The Phoenix will be found the ready opponent of every attempt to weaken British influence, or tarnish the glowing lustre of the Imperial Crown.

Great care will be taken in the selection of choice literary matter, and no pains spared to make The Phoenix a welcome visitor in the family circle.

Due attention will be paid to Commercial matters, and proper means employed to obtain at all times the latest and most correct Market Prices, Arrivals, &c. &c.

The Agriculturist and the Mechanic will find in The Phoenix a faithful guardian of their interests—too long neglected by the press generally. The proper encouragement of Manufacturers, and the advocacy of those healthy measures of Protection, calculated to ensure the prosperity of Canadian enterprise, shall ever be the study of the publisher.

The columns of The Phoenix will always be open to the discussion of every question—either local or general—calculated to benefit the community, when such discussion is carried on in a decorous manner, compatible with strict morality and decency.

As a medium for Advertising, The Phoenix will be found a valuable auxiliary, as a very wide circulation is anticipated.

The mechanical department will be tastefully conducted, and personally superintended by the Publisher—being a practical Printer himself; and nothing shall be wanting, on his part, to render it a respectable sheet, in size and appearance.

Scrupulously discarding everything having a tendency to pragmatism or acrimonious contentions, the Editor of The Phoenix relies on the intelligent portion of the inhabitants of this and neighboring Counties, for that support and patronage, requisite for the carrying out of his present undertaking.

The Phoenix will be printed on a double-Demy sheet, at 7s. 6d. Currency per annum.

GEORGE BAXTER.

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chambers, Commissioner for taking affidavits, Conveyancer, &c.
VIENNA, C. W.
June 30th, 1853. 2-f

Vienna Exchange.

I. B. MARIATT,
RETURNS his thanks to his friends and the public for past favours, and informs them that he is still to be found at his old stand, and will be happy at all times to greet his friends and the public generally. All those who may favor him with a call may be sure of meeting with every attention.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES in readiness at all times. A careful hostler always in attendance.
Vienna, June 33, 1853. 1-f

TO LET.

Either separately, or together,
THE well-known STORE AND DWELLING HOUSE on Robinson Street, near the Royal Exchange Hotel, in the flourishing village of Port Burwell, (at present occupied by Mrs. Scott.)
Parties wishing an opening for a country business will find this a most desirable locality. Port Burwell being the terminus of the Ingersoll & Port Burwell plank road, and one of the most important shipping places on Lake Erie.
For terms, apply on the premises, or to
J. G. MCKINNON,
Agent for the proprietor.
Vienna, C. W.
Port Burwell, June 23, 1853. 1-f

TIME'S CHANGES.

Time's changes—oh! Times changes,
We can bear to see them come,
And crumble down the cottage roof,
Or rend the palace dome.
We bear to see the flower we nursed,
And cherish in the spring,
Turn withering from autumn's wind,
A dead and sapless thing.
The playground of our childish days
May wear so strange a face,
That not one olden haecment
Is left for us to trace.
The beams that light life's morning up
May set in misty shade,
The stars of pleasure's fairy sky
May glitter but to fade.
Time's changes—oh! Times changes—
They may work what'er they will,
Turn all our sunshine into storm,
And all our good to ill.
The cheek we like to look upon,
May lose its downy red,
And only carry wrinkled lines,
Where once fair dimples spread.
The form that's dearest to our arms
May wane from easy grace,
The raven tresses shine no more,
And grey hairs take their place.
But we can lightly smile at all
Time's changes till we find
Some well known voice grows harshly cold,
That once was warmly kind.
Till hands and eyes that used to be
The first our own to greet,
Can calmly take a long farewell,
And just as calmly meet.
Till gentle words are passed away,
And promised faith forgot,
Teaching us sadly that we love
The one who loveth not.
Oh! better, then, to die, and give
The grave its kindred dust,
Than live to see Time's bitter change
In hearts we love and trust.

HOUGHTON CENTRE HOTEL,
And General Stage Office.

THE SUBSCRIBER having purchased the ABOVE HOTEL and having expended a large sum in fitting out the same for the accommodation of the public, takes this method of informing the Travelling community, that he is prepared to receive all who may favour him with their patronage, in a style not to be surpassed by any House West of Hamilton. HIS TABLE will ever be supplied with the choicest productions of the Market, while the BAR, and its contents, will be of that description which cannot fail to give satisfaction. Careful hostlers always in attendance to take charge of horses, &c.
HORSES & CARRIAGES!
Always in hand, to convey passengers to any part of the country.
ALEX. SHAW. 2-4f
Houghton, July, 1853.

FOUND.

ON the 1st Concession of the Township of Malahide, in December last, a parcel, containing a lady's dress, & other small articles. They can be had by applying to the subscriber and paying the cost of this advertisement.
GEO. PHILLIPS.
Malahide, July 7, 1853.

W. H. ELLIOT,
House and Sign PAINTER!
Grainer, Glazier, Paper Hanger, &c. &c.
VIENNA, C. W.

EVERY Description of Plain and Ornamental Painting neatly executed on the most reasonable terms.
Vienna, June 30, 1853. 2-6m

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION!
THE MEMBERS of L. O. L. 170, Vienna, are hereby notified and requested to attend a special meeting on Monday Evening next, the 18th inst., at 8 o'clock, to transact business of the utmost importance.
By order of the W. M., CHARLES RYAN, Secretary.

Music Establishment!

South side of Dundas Street, opposite to Messrs. Raymond and Rowland, Furriers.

WHERE may be had SHEET MUSIC of every description. Instruction Books for all kinds of Instrumental Music, &c., as cheap as can be had in Toronto, Boston or New York.
All kinds of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, from a PIANO FORTE down to a FIFE.
STRINGS of all kinds and of superior quality; in short, everything that can or may be found in a well and carefully selected Music Store.
THE PIANOS are made by the following celebrated gentlemen, viz:
CHICKERING, STODART & DUNHAM. Acknowledged to be the best on this part of the Globe, as are the MELODIANS manufactured by Price & Co.

Pianos & Melodians!
sold as Cheap and on as favorable Terms as they can be procured in Toronto, or from the Makers themselves.
A choice assortment of
BRASS INSTRUMENTS!
for Bands, consisting of Saxhorns, Ophicleides, Trombones, Bugles, &c.
Pianos tuned and repaired. All orders for tuning strictly and punctually attended to.
HERMAN KORDES.
London, June, 1853. 2-4f

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION! COUNTY OF ELGIN.

THE MEMBERS of Vienna L. O. L. 170 are hereby notified and requested to meet at the Lodge Room, on Tuesday next, the 12th inst., at 9 o'clock, A. M.
The members of the Royal Scarlet will please meet at 8 o'clock, A. M.
CHARLES RYAN, Secretary.

THE MEMBERS of L. O. L. 231, Richmond, will please meet at their Lodge Room in Richmond, on Tuesday next, at 7 o'clock, A. M.
J. MILLARD, Secretary.

A. C. MCKINNON & Co.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS!
GROCERIES,
HARDWARE & CROCKERY,
&c. &c. &c.,
HOUGHTON CENTRE, NORFOLK,
July, 1853. 2-4f

To Wm. E. Kent, Occulist, &c.
DEAR SIR—I have to inform you that I cannot come up to see you at present; but I deem it a duty I owe you to say that you are the only professional man who has done me any good; and I firmly believe that if I had perceived a little longer I would have regained my sight as well as ever. I tried Toronto and Hamilton Doctors, but they did me no good, and all the benefit I got it was from yourself. I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
OWEN KNIGHT.
Port Dover, June 23, 1853.

Royal Hotel,
TILSONBURG.
BY C. G. BALDWIN.

THE SUBSCRIBER returns his thanks to the public for their liberal support, and begs to inform them that he is making enlarged additions for the convenience and comfort of all who may favour him with their patronage. His table will be well supplied, and his Liqueurs of the best quality.
HORSES AND CARRIAGES
always in readiness for any part of the country.
C. G. BALDWIN.
June 23, 1853. 1-4f

Messrs. Brown & Ely
of Vienna, Canada West,

ARE appointed Agents for the sale of my Patent Machine Stretched Banding or Belting, which will be furnished with an assortment of the different sizes, and they will receive orders for all such as may be wanted.
Wm. RUMBELL, Patentee.
33 Ferry street, New York.
New York, April 30, 1853. 1-6w

THE UNDERSIGNED have just received a supply of "Kimble's Patent Machine stretched Leather Belting," which they will sell for CASH or LUMBER at the MANUFACTURER'S PRICES! (adding duty and transportation.) All mill owners and engine-builders will do well to call and examine the above at the YANKEE STORE!
BROWN & ELY. 2-4f
Vienna, July 4, 1853.

Cleveland & Pt. Stanley

THE FINE LOW PRESSURE STEAMER "TELEGRAPH!"
CAPTAIN R. BARROW,
WILL make two trips a week between Cleveland and Port Burwell, touching at Port Stanley, as follows:
LEAVES CLEVELAND for Port Burwell every Monday and Thursday, at 6 o'clock, P. M.
LEAVES PORT BURWELL every Wednesday and Saturday, at 12 o'clock, M.

The Telegraph connects at Cleveland with the Cleveland, Columbus & Cincinnati, Cleveland & Pittsburg, Toledo, Norfolk & Cleveland, and Lake Shore Railroads; and at Port Stanley with the Line of Stages to London.
FOR FREIGHT OR PASSAGE APPLY ON BOARD, OR TO FORTSYTH & CAMP, Cleveland.

S. F. HOLCOMB,
Port Stanley.
A. McBRIDE, Port Burwell. 2-4f

Wm. H. & J. EAKINS
ARE now receiving from New York, Montreal and other markets, large additions to their

EXTENSIVE STOCK!
and would say that for variety and richness it cannot be surpassed by any west of Hamilton, embracing everything required in this market in

DRY GOODS!
Groceries, Hardware!
CROCKERY,
PAINTS, OILS!
PAPER HANGINGS, WINDOW SHADES, &c. &c. all of which will be sold at the Smallest advance over Cost.
30,000 lbs. of WOOL!
wanted, for which the highest price in CASH will be paid, or Cloths and Sateens exchanged, to suit customers.
Wm. H. & J. EAKINS.
Vienna June 16, 1853. 1-4f

GEORGE BAXTER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner for taking affidavits, Conveyancer, &c.
VIENNA, C. W.
June 30th, 1853. 2-4f

Vienna Exchange.
I. B. MARLATT.

RETURNS his thanks to his friends and the public for past favours, and informs them that he is still to be found at his old stand, and will be happy at all times to greet his friends and the public generally. All those who may favor him with a call may be sure of meeting with every attention.
HORSES AND CARRIAGES a readiness at all times. A careful hostler always in attendance.
Vienna, June 33, 1853. 1-4f

TO LET.
Either separately, or together,
THE well-known STORE AND DWELLING HOUSE on Robinson Street near the Royal Exchange Hotel, in the flourishing village of Port Burwell, (at present occupied by Mrs. Scott.)

Parties wishing an opening for a country business will find this a most desirable locality. Port Burwell being the terminus of the Lakes and Port Burwell plank road, and one of the most important shipping places on Lake Erie. For terms, apply on the premises, or to J. G. MCKINNON, Agent for the proprietor, Vienna, C. W.
Port Burwell, June 23, 1853. 1-4f

Drugs and Medicines!

P. F. SMITH,
KEEPS constantly on hand a full assortment of genuine
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Hair-Oil, Perfumery, &c.
and all the popular
PATENT MEDICINES
of the day, at his Store, nearly opposite the Post Office,
FRONT STREET, VIENNA.
June 23, 1853. 1-4f

CASH FOR LUMBER

THE SUBSCRIBER will pay the highest Market Price in CASH, for any quantity of Good Pine Lumber, delivered at Vienna, or at his Lumber-yard in Buffalo. Apply to
I. B. MARLATT, Vienna. or to WARNER JOHNSON, Buffalo.
June 23, 1853.

ISRAEL P. MARR, M. D.
OFFICE at the late residence of C. G. Baldwin, Esq., corner of Front and Oak streets, VIENNA.

PROSPECTUS OF "THE PHOENIX,"
And Elgin County Conservative.

A weekly Commercial, Political, Agricultural and Literary Journal, to be published in the Town of Vienna, County of Elgin—the first number of which will appear on or about the first of May next.
THE SUBSCRIBER, at the earnest request of several influential gentlemen of the County of Elgin, and impressed with the importance of such an undertaking to the inhabitants of the flourishing Town of Vienna, and neighboring sister, Port Burwell, intends shortly to commence the publication of a Journal, in this place, bearing the above appellation. The well-known principles which have guided him in his former connection with the Canadian Press, shall be by him firmly and unflinchingly maintained in the conduct of The Phoenix; and while the enemy or opponent of those principles shall ever receive at his hands that justice which an enlightened age demands, the great and leading Political questions of the day shall be dealt with in a fearless, decided, and consistent manner, consistent with the spirit of TRUE CONSERVATISM. In a word, The Phoenix will be—in Politics, CONSERVATIVE; in Religious matters PROTESTANT; in Opposition, Honest; and in all things Consistent.

Believing that on our connection with the glorious Empire of Britain depends our future prosperity, as a Colony, The Phoenix will be found the ready opponent of every attempt to weaken British influence, or tarnish the glowing lustre of the Imperial Crown.
Great care will be taken in the selection of choice Literary matter, and no pains spared to make The Phoenix a welcome visitor in the family circle.
Due attention will be paid to commercial matters, and proper means employed to obtain at all times the latest and most correct Market Prices, Arrivals, &c. &c.
The Agriculturist and the Mechanic will find in The Phoenix a faithful guardian to their interests—too long neglected by the press generally. The proper encouragement of manufactures, and the advocacy of those healthy measures of Protection, calculated to ensure the prosperity of Canadian enterprise, shall ever be the study of the publisher.

The columns of The Phoenix will always be open to the discussion of every question—either local or general—calculated to benefit the community, when such discussion is carried on in a decorous manner, compatible with strict morality and decency.
As a medium for Advertising The Phoenix will be found a valuable agency, as every wide circulation is anticipated.
The mechanical department will be tastefully conducted, and personally supervised by the Publisher—being a practical Printer himself; and nothing shall be wanting on his part, to render it a respectable sheet, in size and appearance.
Scrupulously everything having a tendency to pragmatical or anonymous contentions, the Editor of The Phoenix relies on the intelligent portion of the inhabitants of this and neighbouring Counties; for the support and patronage, requisite for the carrying out of his present undertaking.
The Phoenix will be printed on a double-Demy sheet, at 7s. 6d. Current per annum.

TIME, WOOD, AND LABOUR SAVED! BY DEAN'S PATENT DOUBLE REFLECTING BAKER!!!

THIS OVEN is warranted to bake 7 or 8 loaves of Bread, in 56 minutes, with a consumption of about 4 lbs of wood, and articles of a smaller size, in a decreased ratio both of time and fuel.
The Reflector can be seen at any time at Mr Smith's Tin manufactory, Vienna, and those once seeing the cleanliness and facility with which families can use it, will be perfectly satisfied of its superiority over any article of the kind ever brought before the public. The prices will vary from 10 to $20; the former will be large enough for any common family; the latter for the largest class of Hotels and Steamboats, for which it is peculiarly adapted. The subscriber will sell the for certain localities on reasonable terms.

PATENT RIGHT!
Those wishing to purchase, can apply to the Patentee by letter, post paid, at his place in VIENNA.
Vienna, June 20, 1853. JOHN DEAN. 1-4f

LEONARD SCOTT & Co's LIST OF British Periodical Publications!
Delivered in all the principal cities and towns FREE OF POSTAGE, and forwarded to Mail Subscribers in Canada Free of United States Postage.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig)
The North British Review (Free Church)
The Westminster Review (Liberal)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

ALTHOUGH these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their Literary character which gives them their chief value; and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the fatherly care of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that Magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer), "The Green Hand," "Katie Stewart," and others of the kind, which numerous rival editions are issued, by the leading publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs Scott & Co., so that the subscriber to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

Terms, per annum.
For any one of the four Reviews, £3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, 5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, 7 00
For all four of the Reviews, 8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, 3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews, 9 00
For Blackwood and the four Reviews, 10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

Remittances and communications should be always addressed, post-paid, to the Publishers.
LEONARD SCOTT & Co.,
79 Fulton Street,
[Entrance 54 Gold street] New York.
Agent in Toronto, Henry Rowse, Bookseller and Stationer, 8 Wellington Buildings.

N. B.—L. S. & Co. have recently published and have now for sale, THE FARMER'S GUIDE, by Henry Stephens, of Edinburgh, and Professor Norton, of Yale College, New Haven, complete in two volumes, royal octavo, containing 1600 pages, 14 steel plates and 600 wood engravings. Price in cloth binding, $6, in paper covers for the mails, $5.
This work is not the old "Book of the Farm," lately reissued and thrown on the market.
November 28th, 1852.

IT'S SO!

THE SUBSCRIBERS having associated themselves with one of the largest importing Houses in the Province, are now prepared to sell to all, the choicest

LIQUORS,
such as Brandy, Gin, Rum, Wines, and Whiskey, at Prices to defy competition. Please call and examine.
BROWN & ELY, Yankee Store. 1-4f
Vienna, June 16, 1853.

J. G. MCKINNON

WOULD Return his sincere thanks to his numerous friends, and the public generally, for their support; and would beg to state that he has now on hand a superior stock of SPRING AND SUMMER STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, SHELF AND HEAVY HARDWARE, Small-Wares, Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., comprising, in all these departments, every article, either of necessity or luxury, required in the Country Trade, which he is prepared to sell on the most reasonable terms, either for Cash, Lumber, or any description of Produce in common use—for which he will pay the highest Market Price, at his Old Store, nearly opposite the Western Hotel.
Vienna, June, 1853.

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION.
THE MEMBERS of the Loyal Orange Lodge No. 231, are hereby notified that a Special Meeting will be held in Richmond on Tuesday evening, the 5th July, at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as there is business of the utmost importance to be transacted.
By order
R. G. RICHARDS Sec., pro tem.
Richmond, June 22, 1853. 1-2w

1853. SPRING. 1853.

J. B. MACALISTER, OF THE MONTREAL STORE,

IN RETURNING thanks to the inhabitants of Vienna, and the surrounding country, for the large amount of patronage he has received for the last three years, would respectfully beg to state that he is determined to continue at his old stand, directly opposite the Store of Mr. B. T. Smith, where his customers will always find the LARGEST, BEST, and CHEAPEST assortment of every article usually kept in Country Stores—namely: Dry Goods, Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, &c.
In the DRY GOODS department will be found Dress Goods, and Trimmings, of all the newest styles, Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Tweeds, Doeskins, Paramatta, Princetta and Russell Cord, Kentucky Jeans, and Cotton Drill Cloths, Dress Silks, Black, Coloured, and Checked. Black and Coloured Coubourg and Orleans, Cloth, Printed Cassimeres, Berages, DeLaines, Calicos and Muslin, Checked and plain Gingham, Muslins, Straw Bonnets, Bonnet, Cap, Neck, and Waist Ribands in great variety; Shawls, Handkerchiefs, Grey and Steamloom Cottons, and Long Cloths, Edgings and Laces, Sewed Muslin Edgings and Insertions, Waists, Children's Robes, Caps, Crowns, Sewed Muslin Collars and Lace Do., Artificial Flowers, and a great variety of other articles too numerous to mention in an advertisement.

Muscovado, London Crushed, and Lump Sugar, cheaper than ever. Tea—a first-rate article, for half-a-dollar per lb. Coffee, Green, Roasted, and Ground, Arabica, Tobacoo, good, at prices ranging from fifty cents upwards, and the best cut honey-dew, very cheap, Small, Mrs. G. B. Miller's best Mascoboy, Starch, Indigo, Fig Blue, Madder, Alum, Coppars, Logwood extract, &c. Cinnamon, Cloves, Nutmegs, Raisins, Currants, Pepper, Spice, Ginger, Candles, Soap, Blacking, &c., &c.
GROCERIES.

Cut and wrought Nails, Door-fastenings, and Building materials, Hinges, Scotch T. and Barn-door; Carpenter's Tools, including Saws, Planes, Bitts, Augers, Framing and Fimmers, Chisels, Cross-cut Saws, Trying, Bevel, Steel and Iron Squares, Knives and Forks, Spoons, Soup-ladles, Mustard and Salt Spoons, Jack-knives, Dirk-knives, Pen-knives, and a first-rate quality of Pocket knives. Candlesticks, chamber and parlour, Shoemakers' Tools, assorted. Powder, Gun-ropes, Gun-caps, Looking glasses, assort'd sizes, Coffee and Pepper Mills, Mill-saw files, all sizes, Bastard, Half-round, round, and Hand-saw files. A large assortment of Glass, 7 X 9, 7 1/2 X 9 1/2, 8 X 10, 10 X 12, 10 X 14, 12 X 16, Putty, Oil, and White Lead, of the best quality.

READY MADE CLOTHING.
Black Cloth Coats at all prices, from $2.75 upwards. Velveteens, Russel cord, Tweed, Chesterfield, Clouded Cassimeres, Shooting, Clouded Tweed, Grass Linen, and a great variety of other Coats. Pantalons, in Cassimere, Tweed, Doeskin, Drill, Russia Duck, Harvesting Trowsers, Ready-made Shirts, Vests, Satin, Valencia, London Quilting, Prunella, Black Cloth, &c., &c. Overalls and Overshirts.

BOOTS and SHOES.—Men's Boots, Calfskin, Cowhide, Patent Leather, Gaiter and Half Boots; also a good assortment of Men's Shoes.
In the Ladies' department will be found the best and cheapest assortment ever offered in this Market. As the subscriber and his customers are aware that all Yankee BOOTS and SHOES do not wear well, he has, by taking considerable trouble, procured an article that for fit, durability and cheapness, cannot be beat, the whole of his Stock having been manufactured expressly for himself, by the first manufacturers in Canada. Misses and Children's Shoes, in great variety of the same make, and of the newest styles.
The subscriber in presenting the above list of articles before the public, only asks a call, to ensure all that for price and quality of goods he fears no competition. Come all and see
J. B. MACALISTER.
Vienna, June, 1853.

SALE OF GOODS AT COST!
THE SUBSCRIBER, being about to close her business, wishes to dispose of her entire stock in trade, consisting of a general assortment of Groceries, such as are required for the country trade. A reasonable term of Credit will be given, by purchasers furnishing approved endorsed paper.
ANN SCOTT.
Port Burwell, June 23, 1853. 1-4f

CANADA WEST! BUFFALO AND PORT STANLEY!

THE FAST LOW PRESSURE IRON STEAMER, "MOHAWK,"
CAPTAIN S. S. HOLLYWOOD,
Will run during the Season, between the above Ports, as follows:
BOUND UP.
Leaves Buffalo Tuesdays and Fridays, at 7 o'clock, P. M.
Leaves Port Dover - - - at 6 A. M.
Leaves Port Rowan - - - at 10 A. M.
Leaves Port Burwell - - - at 12 A. M.
Arriving at Port Stanley - at 2 P. M.
BOUND DOWN.
Leaves Port Stanley Mondays and Thursdays, at 10 o'clock, A. M.
Leaves Port Burwell - - - at 12 P. M.
Leaves Port Rowan - - - at 2 P. M.
Leaves Port Dover - - - at 7 P. M.
Arriving in Buffalo at 5 A. M.
Being in Buffalo in time for the Great Express Trains for New York, Boston, &c.
Communications by a good Line of Stages with Hamilton from Port Dover, and London from Port Stanley.
The proprietors, in putting this fast, commodious and elegant Steamer on the Port Stanley route, solicit for her the patronage of the travelling public, assuring them that every effort will be made to meet their wants, by having the Boat leave the different Ports on her advertised time, making her trips with regularity and despatch.
For Freight or Passage apply on Board; or to
H. S. Beecher, and Willis & Co., Buffalo; J. F. Haycock & Co., and A. Buckwell, Port Dover; Farmer & DeLaurie, and G. J. Reade, Port Rowan; A. McBride, and G. W. Wright, Port Burwell; Routh & Davidson, G. R. Williams, McPherson & Crane, and Hodge & Co., Port Stanley; Seger & Kiely, London.

FRESH TEAS!!!
JUST RECEIVED, at the German Hall, Fresh Teas, 4s, 4s. 6d., 5s, and 5s. 6d. 7 lb. SUGARS, from 10 to 12, 13, and 14 lbs for $1.
A. HUME. 1-4f
Vienna, June 22, 1853.

MUSIC.  MUSIC.

MRS. C. RYAN, in gratefully returning thanks to the inhabitants of Vienna, and vicinity, for the patronage so liberally bestowed on her heretofore, respectfully begs leave to inform her friends, and the public, that she continues giving instructions on the same terms as before, and solicits a continuance of their patronage.
Vienna, June 23, 1853.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY!!!

AT THE Montreal and New York Store, a CLERK, who has had considerable experience as a Salesman. None need make application who cannot produce satisfactory testimonials as to character and ability to fill the situation.
SUFFEL & PATTON.
Vienna, June 23, 1853.

PORT BURWELL AND VIENNA! STAGE LINE!

W. J. HAYWARD & Co.,
BEG to intimate to the Travelling Public that they are now prepared to carry Passengers between the above named places in one of the most commodious Carriages in Canada, being built expressly for this route.
This Stage runs from Port Burwell to Vienna and vice versa THREE TIMES A DAY.
TERMS LIBERAL.
HORSES AND CARRIAGES always in attendance at their Livery Stable in Port Burwell.
June 23, 1853. 1-4f

J. J. JAMIESON, TAILOR,
(One door South of the Western Hotel.)
FRONT-STREET, VIENNA, C. W.
Garments made to order, on reasonable terms, for Cash.

MONTGOMERY'S HOTEL, MARKET SQUARE, WOODSTOCK

THE SUBSCRIBER would intimate to the Travelling Public that he has lately fitted up the above Hotel in a comfortable and elegant style, and is at all times prepared to receive and accommodate his friends, and all those who may favour him with a call in the best manner, and no efforts on his part will be wanting to render his patrons perfectly "at home" while in his house.
His Table will ever be found furnished with the luxuries of the season, and his cellar supplied with Liquors of the choicest brands.
Good Stabling will be found, and a careful and attentive hostler always in attendance.
GEORGE MONTGOMERY.
Woodstock, July 7, 1853. 2-4f