The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Seminary of Quebec
Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Séminaire de Québec
Bibliothèque

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

TO THE SECOND LONDON EDITION.

THE rapid sale which the first edition of this book experienced, the whole impression having been sold in ten months, and the high encomiums which have been passed upon it by the most eminent of the Clergy, induce the Editor to offer a second to the patronage of the Catholic Public, which he has enlarged, and, he trusts, in some measure, improved. The Spelling Lessons will, on examination, be found better arranged, and some hundred words have been added to those which are similar in sound and different in spelling and sense.

In the second part two chapters are introduced, on the Devotion due to the Blessed Virgin, and to our Guardian Angel and Patron Saint.

Objections have been made to this work, because it does not contain some Grammatical Exercises; and also that the Spelling Lessons are not sufficiently prolix. To the first the Editor begs to observe, that he never found such exercises to be of any service to children at the age when they use this book; and when they arrive at the proper period to study grammar, it is better for them to have a separate work on the subject, many of which are to be had. To the second it may be observed, that most of the Reading Lessons in the first part being divided into syllables by hyphens, they must be considered as adapted to the purpose of spelling as well as of reading. The Editor's chief aim, in compiling this work, was to implant the seeds of Virtue and True Religion in the minds of the rising generation, at the time of imparting to them the knowledge of letters; convinced, as he is, that nothing is so necessary to ensure the happiness of mankind, as to train up a child in the way he should go, for when he is old he will not depart from it. If the divine precepts of a Christian life, and the necessary means of fulfilling them, are but firmly rooted in the minds of youth of both sexes, they will not fail to become virtuous ornaments of the Catholic Church, worthy members of society here, and happy citizens of heaven hereafter. That the following pages may be found useful in attaining these desirable blessings is the sincere and fervent prayer of

TABLE V.

Lessons of One Syllable.

Who made you and gave you life? God, who made the world, and all things in it.

And was there a time when there was not a God? No: there was no time when God was not.

Who is God? He my child, who made the world; made you, and gave you life, and your soul.

He, the same who made the sun, the moon, the stars, the birds that fly in the air, the fish that swim in the sea, the beasts that walk and feed in the fields; in a word, all the things which you see, and which give you joy.

Did God make the world all at once? No: he made it in the space of six days. Could he not have made it at once? Yes, if such had been His will.

What ought you to do at the sight and use of things which God hath made? I ought to raise up my mind and heart to Him, and to praise Him.

Why do we name Him by that word or name of God? What doth that name mean? This is He, my child, the Great One, the Good One, and the Wise One,—God; of whom all things, as it were, cry out unto us with one voice, Know that the Lord he is God, it is He that hath made us.

Raise up, then, your mind, your heart, and your voice to Him, and say, O Lord, Thou art great, and good, Thou art the one God, and Lord of all things.

All men and all things that have been made, and that now are, were made by God; but God was not made.

For there was a time when there was no man, nor bird, nor fish; but there was not a time when there was no God, or when God was not.

He is the Lord and God of all men, and things that have been, and that are, and that will be. All are made by Him, and all live and move by Him. God is, and was, and will be.

The eye of God is on all men. I will mind the way of the Lord, my God, that I may not sin. If sin be in us, we are in a bad way. Let us go out of it, as it is not good for us to be in it.

In God do I put my joy, and to Him will I cry all the day. Keep me, O Lord, from such as love not Thy Law, and walk not in Thy ways. I see Thy way, O God, and I joy in it.

TABLE VIII.

Easy Lessons of Two and Three Syllables.

LESSON I.

HEAR now, my child, what great works God did when He made the world. Though He could have made the world all at once, if such had been His will, yet He did not make it all at once. He made all things, and man, in the space of six days. Thus He shew-ed that He made it not by force, but by His own free will and choice.

On the first day God made the Hea-ven and the earth, or that which was to be the world. The earth had not then the form it now hath. There was not the sun, nor the moon, nor the stars. It was a mass or heap, with no form or shape. And it was void, for there were no beasts, nor trees, nor birds, nor a-ny thing in it.

Nor was there a-ny thing out of which God made the world. He is of such might, He is so great and wise, that

He did not need a-ny help. There was no light : it was quite dark. God then said, Be light made, and light was made.

Not, my child, that God spoke such words as we may speak them, for God is not as we are. He hath not a body as we have, so as He can be seen by us. No man hath seen God at a-ny time, nor can see him. He is a pure spi-rit, the same as your own soul, a spirit which can-not be seen with mor-tal eyes.

Yet God knows an-d sees all things, and can do all things. And He doth what He pleases by His will : His will was and is as His word : hence, as soon as he would have a thing be made or done, so soon was it made or done.

Thus it was His will there should be light, and there was light : and a-like of all o-ther things that were made. And God saw the light that it was good, and He call-ed the light Day, and the darkness, Night.

Now then, my child, and at all times when you look at, or think on, the works of God, raise up your mind and heart to that great and good God : pray to Him, and say, O God ! Thou art great and good and wise in all Thy works. Bless the Lord, all the works of the Lord. Thou art my God, by Thee I have been made, and by Thee I now live.

I pray Thee, O God, dart forth a ray of the light of Thy grace on my mind and heart, that I may know Thee : then will I adore Thee, I will praise Thee, I will love Thee, and I will serve Thee by day and by night.

LESSON II.

God makes the World and Man.

On the se-cond day, God made that part of the Hea-ven which we call the Sky and the Air. On the third day, He settled the water in one place, and it was call-ed the Sea, and the dry land He call-ed the Earth : then He made the Herbs, Trees, and Plants, of all sorts, spring out of the earth.

On the fourth day, God said, Be there lights to shine, and to give light by day and by night. And God made two great lights : the Sun, to rule or give light by Day ; and the Moon and Stars, to rule or give light by night.

On the fifth day God made the Fi-h-es of the sea, and the Birds of the air. On the sixth day, He brought forth from the earth the Beasts, all that creep on the earth in its kind.

When God had made all these things, He then made Man, and He gave him rule over the Fish-es of the sea, the Fowls of the Air, the Beasts, and over the whole earth. Though Man was the last of the works which God made, yet he is the first in rank, and the most per-fect of all the things in this world. Now, God form-ed the bo-dy of Man out of the slime of the earth; then He breath-ed in-to it the breath of life.

By this breath of life is meant not only that by which man breathes, and lives, and moves, as the beasts and birds do, but by it also is meant that which beasts have not, that is, a spirit, the Soul.

This is quite dis-tinct from the body, and by this Man knows God, who made him: he can think on Him, and love Him; he can also think on, judge, and talk of things; and by it he hath a will to do, or not to do, this or that thing, as he may choose or like best.

God did not take nor form this part of man, or his soul, from the earth, as He did the bo-dy, but it came from God him-self, and God himself in-fused it in-to him. It is in this that man is the most per-fect of all the works of God, be-cause by that man is like to God.

Thus God made man like to him-self, that man might in this life know Him (his God and his Lord, his be-gin-ning and end) and love Him, and serve Him; and by so do-ing see Him, and live with Him, and enjoy Him, after this life, in Hea-ven.

MORAL.

Thus you see, my child, God hath made us much a-bove the beasts. He hath taught us more than the Beasts of the earth, and made us wis-er than the Birds of the air. Now, my child, He who hath been the cause of these and such great things for the use of Man, must have a great love for him.

Hence, we can-not too much love Him for all the love He shews us. Use then the things of the World as the kind gifts of the good God. When you use them, or they give you joy, raise up your mind and heart to praise and thank Him.

LESSON III.

God makes Eve. The Sin of A-dam and Eve.

Genesis ii. 3.

God gave the first Man whom he made, the name of A-dam, for that he had been made of the slime of the earth. God placed him in the Gar-den of Pa-ra-dise, to work, and to keep it. God then brought to A-dam the Beasts of the earth, and the Fowls of the air, or caus-ed them to come to him, that he might see them; and by what name he called them, the same is the name of each of them.

God cast A-dam into a deep sleep, and whilst he was asleep, God took a rib from his side, and he made it into a wo-man. He then brought her to A-dam, and when Adam saw her, he said, This is now bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh, she shall be call-ed Wo-man, for that she is taken out of Man. And she was al-so call-ed Eve, that is, the mother of all men and women that were thence to be born and to live.

There was in the midst of the garden a tree. God bade A-dam and Eve not to eat, nor to touch, the fruit of it. He told them that if they did they should die. But Eve being tempted by the Devil, in the form of a serpent, took of the fruit, and did eat; she then gave it to A-dam, and he ate of it. As soon as they had eat-en it, God called to A-dam, and said, Where art thou?

But when A-dam heard the voice of God, he fear-ed and hid him-self, and so did his wife, from the face of the Lord God. And they hid themselves also through shame, be-cause they were na-ked. And God said to Adam, Who hath told thee that thou wast na-ked, but that thou didst eat of the tree of which I bade thee not to eat?

Then God said to him, For that thou hast heard the voice of thy wife, and didst eat of the fruit of the tree, cursed is the earth in thy work : with much toil shalt thou eat there-of all the days of thy life, till thou re-tur-n to the earth out of which I took thee ; for dust thou art, and un-to dust thou shalt return.

Adam and Eve, by thus not o-bey-ing God, sin-ned, and by their sin they lost the grace and favour of God. God then drove them out of the Gar-den of Pa-ra-dise, in which he had pla-ced them ; and he doom-ed them to die.

We are all born in-to this life with the guilt of their sin : that is call-ed o-ri-gi-nal sin, be-cause as we de-scend and de-rive our life from them, so we al-so de-rive the guilt of their sin. We feel the sad effects of their sin, by the strong bent we find in us to sin, or to do wrong ; and in the heat and cold, hunger and thirst, pains and toil, we suf-fer, and in death, through which we must all pass to the next life.

MORAL.

Oh ! sad the fall of our first pa-rents by sin ! Thence learn, my child, how sad a thing it will be to you not to o-bey God, though in things that may seem light ; take care that you do not sin by your own free will and choice, and dread the least sin. Flee those who would tempt or lead you to do e-vil.

LESSON IV.

Cain, A-bel, Seth. The World drown-ed. No-e.
Gen. iv. 7.

A-dam and Eve had two sons ; their names were Cain and A-bel. Cain till-ed the earth, A-bel took care of sheep in the fields. A-bel was good, and from his heart he serv-ed God : he offered the best he had of his flock to God, and God was well pleased with him. Cain was bad, and he did not of-fer the best of what he had to God, and God was not pleas-ed with him.

Cain ha-ted A-bel, be-cause God look-ed down kind-ly on him, and on what he of-fer-ed. One day, when they both were in the fields, Cain rose up a-gainst A-bel, and through en-vy he killed him. They who were born of Cain were bad like him-self.

Af-ter the death of A-bel, A-dam and Eve had a third son ; his name was Seth. He was good : like A-bel, he knew, loved, and served God. His race, or they who were born of him, were al-so at first good; but af-ter a while they mixed with such as were bad of the race of Cain, and then they were bad like un-to them.

Thence in a short time, al-most the whole race of men and wo-men were bad. God was an-gry at them, and he meant to put an end to them. Yet there was one good man, whose name was No-e; God was well pleased with him.

God then made it known to No-e, that he would drown the whole earth, and all that was on it; but that he would save him and his wife and chil-dren, with a few of each kind of beasts and birds, in an ark which God bade him build. The ark was a kind of a trunk or ship made of wood. It was daub-ed in-side and out-side with pitch.

When the time was come that God would drown the earth, he made No-e go in-to the ark, and with him his wife, their three sons, and their wives; and two or three of each sort of beasts and birds; as soon as they were in the ark, the door of it was shut.

It then rained for for-ty days, and for-ty nights, and all men, and women, and children, and beasts, and birds were drown-ed, ex-cept No-e and those with him in the ark. Only these eight per-sons of all mankind were sav-ed. This is called the Deluge.

MORAL.

By this you may judge, my child, how much God must hate sin, and them that com-mit it; at the same time how much he loves, and how great care He takes of them that are good. Be then, my child, good: love, fear, and serve God, and God will love and bless you, and take care that no harm comes to you, while they that are bad feel the weight of his wrath.

Keep yourself far off from bad boys and girls, and join such as are good; for with the good you will be good, but with the bad you will be bad, as it was with those of the race of good Seth: they were at first good as he was good; but as soon as they mix-ed with them that were bad, they were bad like un-to them.

LESSON V.

No-e goes out of the ark. His three sons.

While No-e, and his wife, their three sons, and their wives were in the ark, the wa-ters rose so high that all the hills were co-ver-ed, and all flesh di-ed that moved on the earth, both of fowl, and of beast, and of that which creep-ed on the ground. And when they had been in the ark for the space of a year, the wa-ters be-gan to decrease, till the earth was dry.

Then God spoke to No-e, and said, Go forth out of the ark, thou and thy wife, and thy children. And No-e went forth out of the ark, and all that were with him. God bless-ed No-e and his sons, and promised that he would no more drown the earth : and he set the rainbow as a sign thereof.

He gave in-to their hands, that is, he set them o-ver, all the beasts of the earth, and the fowls of the air, and all the fishes of the sea ; and he said, They shall be meat for you ; e-ven as the green herbs have I giv-en you all things ; and while the earth remains, seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and win-ter, and day and night, shall not cease.

The three sons of No-e were Seth, Cham, and Ja-pheth. Seth, and Ja-pheth were good, and had a great re-spect for their fa-ther ; God therefore bless-ed them. Cham was bad and by a bad deed drew up-on himself the curse prop-he-si-ed of God.

After the flood, when the land was dry, No-e till-ed it, and he plant-ed the vine-tree. Of the fruit of that tree he made wine. When he had drunk of it, for he then did not know the strength of it, he fell a-sleep. Whilst he was a-sleep, he lay ex-po-sed in a man-ner un-fit to be seen.

When Cham saw his fa-ther na-ked, he looked on him, and made a jest of him. He then told his brothers what he had seen. They blam-ed him for this deed, and dis-re-spect to their fa-ther. They then took a cloak, and, with their faces turned from their fa-ther, they cast it on him, and co-ver-ed him.

When No-e awoke from sleep and knew what had pass-ed, he blam-ed and chid Cham, and laid a curse on Cha-na-an, the son of Cham. But he blessed Seth and Ja-pheth.

and of-fend God. Dread the curse of God. Love and revere them, of whom, next to God, you hold your life, and all that you have.

Do not, like many children, rail at them, nor make a jest of them in their old age. The curse of God falls on such chil-dren for their bad deeds. But he will bless those that love, o-bey, and re-spect their parents.

LESSON VI.

The vain Scheme of the Chil-dren of No-e. Gen. xi.

No-e liv-ed af-ter the flood three hun-dred years; he saw the off-spring of his three sons who were with him in the ark grow to a great num-ber. The earth was then of one tongue, that is, they all spoke one and the same lan-guage. These, when they went from the east, found a plain, and dwelt in it.

They then said each to his neigh-bour, Come, let us make brick, and bake them with fire; and let us build a town, and a tow-er, the top of which may reach as high as Hea-ven; and let us make our name great be-fore we dis-purse into all lands.

But God, who laughs at the at-tempts of men, when they think to op-pose His will, soon shew-ed them how vain, and void of force, they were in their scheme. He knew they would not cease to work while they all spoke one and the same tongue. He then so con-fused their speech, that they no long-er knew the one what a-no-ther said or call-ed for.

They were then for-ced to de-sist from their work. And that tow-er was call-ed, and is known by the name of Babel, that is, of con-fu-sion; be-cause there the tongue or speech of the whole earth was con-fused, and of one it was chang-ed in-to ma-ny. Thence the Lord dis-pers-ed them up-on the face of all the coun-tries.

MORAL.

By this act and deed, you may see, my child, how vain it is for man to strive a-against God: He is great, and of such might, that no man can oppose what He will, or will not, have done.

By the flood, and the change of speech, and by dis-persing man-kind through-out the whole earth, He shew-ed that He is Lord of all, and that He can do what He plea-seth, al-so that He is wise and good, and does all for the good of man.

What love and praise then do we not owe Him ! Be-ware not to oppose His will, but seek and pray to know it, and when you know it, beg Him to grant you His grace to com-ply with it.

And in all things that be-fall you, say, from your heart, O Lord, great and good, and wise and just ! Thy will be done. This done by the will and the hand of God, so be it, and may He be prais-ed.

LESSON VII.

A-bra-ham. Gen. xxv.

In a short time af-ter the de-luge, men lost all thought and fear of God. They e-ven did not own Him, who had by such great works made Him-self known to them to be God : but they set up for gods the very works of God. Such were the sun, fire, moon, and stars : to these they prayed ; and they fell down before stocks and stones, which were the works of their own hands.

These they call-ed and held for gods. Their whole mind, and thought, and care, was for this life and the body : like unto brutes, they were led and rul-ed by their sen-ses. Hence they did not mind their souls, nor the things of God, nor of the next life.

Such, my child, was the state of mankind at that time : they liv-ed more like brutes, that know not God, than like men, whom God had made to know and to love Him in this life, and af-ter this life to be hap-py with Him in Hea-ven. In this sad state would most men have been at this day, had not the good God by his grace pre-vent-ed it.

God then, to call men from their e-vil ways, and to keep them firm in the love and fear of Him, call-ed forth a man who was good and just. His name was A-bra-ham. God pro-mis-ed him, if he would obey Him, that He would be a God to him, that is, he would bless him, and raise up a peo-ple from him, who should be His own peo-ple.

He would take care of them, and preserve in them, and by them, the know-ledge, love, and fear of Him, who was the only one and true God. A-bra-ham be-liev-ed, and he did what-e-ver God bid him do. God al-so promis-ed A-bra-ham, that of his seed or race, He should be born who should save the world.

MORAL.

Be-ware, my child, not so to mind the things of this world and life, as to bend to them your whole or chief care. If you do, you will lose the grace of God, and soon give in-to the way of vice: and when you have lost the love and fear of God, then will your life be more the life of a brute than a man. See in A-bra-ham what love and care God hath of those who love and serve Him.

Hence, though you may chance to live with them that live as if they knew not God, nor love, nor fear Him, do you a-bide firm in your faith of Him, and in good life. De-part not by sin from God, and then He will be to you a God: he will bless you in this life, and in the next life He will make you happy with Him for-ever.

LESSON VIII.

The Faith and O-be-di-ence of A-bra-ham, I-sa-ac, E-sau, and Ja-cob.

God made choice of A-bra-ham, before all men of his time, that by him, He, the true God, might still be known and ser-ved, though most men had lost all sense of Him, A-bra-ham had a son whom he much lov-ed. His name was I-sa-ac. When I-sa-ac was grown up in years, God, to try the faith of A-bra-ham, or his be-lief of what he had promis-ed him, viz., that He who was to save the world should be born of his seed, God call-ed to him, A-bra-ham! A-bra-ham! to whom A-bra-ham said, Here I am.

God then bid him to put to death his son I-sa-ac, whom he loved; for God, my child, is the Lord of man and of his life. A-bra-ham would have done it as soon as God bade him; but just as he was up-on the point of slay-ing his son I-sa-ac, an an-gel, or good spi-rit, sent on the part of God, stop-ped his hand, and thus the life of his son was spar-ed.

I-sa-ac, like his father, was a good man. He had two sons: their names were E-sau and Ja-cob, and they were twins, that is, both born at one and the same birth; E-sau was first born, but at the time Ja-cob came forth of the womb, he held in his hand the plaint, or the sole of E-sau's foot.

By this was meant, what afterwards came to pass, when E-sau sold his birth-right for a mess of broth. It was thus Ja-cob sup-plant-ed, or, as it were, tripped up the heel of his bro-ther E-sau, and got from him his birth-right. Ja-cob was a good man, and when his fa-ther was on his death-bed he bless-ed him. But E-sau turn-ed out bad.

Ja-cob had twelve sons. They are known by the names of the twelve Pa-tri-archs, or chiefs of twelve tribes. And God gave to Ja-cob the name of Is-ra-el, whence his race, or they that sprang from him, were call-ed Is-ra-el-ites.

MORAL.

Great and firm, you see, my child, was the faith and trust of A-bra-ham in God; and prompt was his o-bedi-ence when he would have slain his son I-sa-ac. God wants not our goods, nor any thing we can give, for all is His, and all comes from Him.

What He most seeks is our prompt will and heart to do His will, as soon as He makes it known to us: and He looks up-on that as done, which we would have done if such had been His will.

Hence A-bra-ham is styl-ed the Fa-ther of the Faith-ful, or of those who be-lieve in God. That you may be a true child of God, by faith be-lieve in Him, by hope trust in Him, and through love o-be-y Him, then will He bless you.

From E-sau learn, my child, how sad a thing it is to be too fond of, and to set our heart too much on, the things of this world. Such fond-ness blinds us, so that we no long-er know not what we love, nor what we lose.

That which we long for, and seek to have, is of-ten of no more value than a mess of broth, if com-par-ed to the good things of the next life, that will have no end, which yet we lose with so much ease.

Observe.—When, my child, you read that God, or the Lord, call-ed to A-dam, or spoke to A-bra-ham, or to Mo-ses, or that they heard His voice, or saw Him, you are not to think that God did call, or speak, or was heard, or seen, in the same way as we speak, call, &c.

No, not so : but as God can do what He pleas-eth, and use such means as He may choose, to make known His will, or thing-, to us ; He, by some voice or sound, brought to their ears and minds what He would have them to know, hear, or do.

And if they saw a-ny thing which they thought to be God, it was not God whom they saw, for no man hath seen, or can see Him, but it was some-thing in the shape of man which they saw ; and by these means God re-veal-ed to their minds, and re-pre-sent-ed to them, things as ful-ly and clear-ly, as if they really saw Him, or heard His voice.

LESSON IX.

Jo-seph and his Bro-thers. Gen. xxxvii.

Of the twelve sons of Ja-cob, Jo-seph was dear-er to him than a-ny of the rest. His bro-thers were griev-ed at it, and they hat-ed him. One day their fa-ther sent him to them, when they were in the fields with their flocks, to see if all things were well with them.

When he came to them, they said, Let us kill him. But one of them, by name Reu-ben, said, do not take his life from him, or shed his blood, but cast him into this pit. They then strip-ped him of his coat, and cast him in-to the pit or well, which was dry.

And when some mer-chants pass-ed by that way, his bro-thers drew him out of the well, and they sold him to them. They brought him in-to Egypt, and there they sold him to a prince, to be his slave.

Jo-seph was a man that in all things did so well, that his mas-ter made him dwell in the house, and he was in great fa-vour with him ; so far, that he was charg-ed with the care of all things, and he rul-ed in the house.

When he had been there a-while, his mas-ter's wife wish-ed and press-ed him to do a great crime ; but Joseph was good, and fear-ed God, and he would by no means consent to do it. How can I com-mit a wick-ed thing, said he, and sin a-gainst my God? No. He then rush-ed from her.

She then charg-ed him false-ly with the crime, and he was cast into pri-son. When he had been there two years, the King sent for him to ex-plain him his dreams. Jo-seph ex-plain-ed them.

Then the King took his ring from his own hand, and gave it in-to the hand of Jo-seph ; he cloth-ed him with a silk robe, and put a chain of gold a-bout his neck ; he made all bow their knee to him, and told them he was to rule the whole land of E-gypt.

Not long after, there was a dearth, or great want of corn, and Jo-seph had the care of all the corn. Ja-cob, the father of Jo-seph, then sent his bro-thers to buy corn of him.

At first they did not know Jo-seph ; and though he knew them, yet he feign-ed as if he did not know them, and he dealt with them as if they were spies. This he did to bring them by de-grees to a sense of their fault, when through en-vy they sold him ; yet did Jo-seph love them.

He soon made him-self known to them. He wept through joy, kiss-ed them, and for-gave them. He then sent for his old fa-ther, who came to him. Jo-seph took care of him and his bro-thers. They liv-ed in those parts ; and when Ja-cob was dead, Jo-seph bu-ri-ed him in the place where he had de-sir-ed to be bu-ri-ed.

MORAL.

Thus you see, my child, that God doth not for-get nor for-sake them that fear and love Him. Though he some-times seems not to be mind-ful of them in their dis-tress, yet in due time he comes to their aid and com-fort, and He makes all that be-falls them to turn to their good.

Be chaste, my child, like Jo-seph ; do not stain your soul and life by an un-clean act, or thought, or look. Keep a guard up-on your eyes and heart, and flee those persons who would lead you to sin : ra-ther die than of-fend God. Like Jo-seph, for-get and for-give the wrongs done to you by a-no-ther. Re-vere your pa-rents, be in their care of them, and help them all that you can in the old age, and in time of want, and at all times.

LESSON X.

Mo-ses. Ex-odus ii.

Mo-ses was an-o-ther great and good man. Soon af-ter he was born, his mo-ther hid him for the space of three months. This she did to save him from be-ing put to death with o-ther chil-dren whom the King had or-der-ed to be killed. When she could no longer keep him hid, she made a basket of bul-rush-es, and daubed it with pitch. She then laid him in it, and set the bas-ket near the wa-ter's side.

When the King's daugh-ter came down to wash herself, she es-pi-ed the bas-ket, and the child in it. She took him out of it, and gave him to his own mo-ther, though she was not known to be such, and she said to her, Take this child and nurse him for me. When he was grown up, the King's daugh-ter a-dop-ted him for her son, and she gave him the name of Mo-ses, saying, Be-cause from wa-ter did I take him. And she brought him up.

MORAL.

All this, my child, did not come to pass by chance : no, such was the will of God, and His hand or power brought all that about. Thus God, by ways and means that seem strange to men, rules all things, and brings them to pass as He pleaseth, to the glory of his name and to our good. Thus you must think, and judge of all the e-vents in life.

LESSON XI.

The plagues of Egypt. Ex. iii. vii. viii. ix.

God made use of Mo-ses to free his peo-ple from the sla-ve-ry under which Pha-ra-oh the King of E-gypt held A-bra-ham, I-sa-ac, and Ja-cob, who were call-ed Is-ra-el-ites. God shew-ed him-self to Mo-ses, or the glory of God ap-pear-ed to him in a flame of fire, out of the midst of a bush. The bush burn-ed, yet did not waste.

And God, from the midst of the bush, called to him, Mo-ses! Mo-ses! Mo-ses then said, Here I am. And he went to see the bush ; but God said unto him, Do not come near ; loose off thy shoes from thy feet, for the place where-on thou dost stand is ho-ly ground.

Then God said, I am the God of thy fa-ther, the God of A-bra-ham, the God of I-sa-ac, and the God of Ja-cob. Mo-ses then hid his face, for he durst not look at God.

Then God said to him, The cry of the chil-dren of Is-ra-el is come up to me. Come and I will send thee un-to Pha-ra-oh, that thou may-est bring forth my peo-ple. I will be with thee, and I will stretch out my hand, and I will smite E-gypt with my won-ders.

These won-ders God did by Mo-ses to make the king sub-mit to his will, and let his peo-ple go thence. They are call-ed the Plagues of E-gypt. Mo-ses struck, with a rod that he held in his hand, the wa-ter in the river, and in-stant-ly it was chang-ed in-to blood.

He made frogs come and leap a-bout in all parts, e-ven in their houses. He brought a-mong them flies and guats that bit them sore-ly. He brought a plague on the cat-t'e, sores on men, a storm of hail, thick dark-ness that las-ted three days.

Last of all, God sent an an-gel who kill-ed all the first-born of the E-gyp-ti-ans, from the son of the King to the son of the mean-est slave. This last plague so frigh-ten-ed the King, that in the same hour he press-ed the Is-ra-el-ites to go forth and leave the coun-try : and they drove them out of the land of E-gypt, and they load-ed them with rich-es.

MORAL.

Thus you see, my child, God can do, and doth, what He pleas-eth, and no one can with-stand Him. See a-gain, how dread-ful it is to har-den our hearts, and to shut our ears to the call and grace of God.

For, though God be good, yet He is just, and strong to strike, to pun-ish us when we pro-voke Him by our ob-sti-nacy in sin-ning again-st Him. Love God, fear God, and do His will, that He may bless you.

LESSON XII.

The Is-ra-el-ites pass dry-shod through the Red Sea.

Ex. xiv.

No sooner were the Is-ra-el-ites gone, than Pha-ra-oh was vexed that he had let them de-part. He then with his ar-my set out af-ter them to stop them. He came up to them on the banks of the Red Sea ; and they then gave themselves up for lost.

But Mo-ses stretch-ed out his hand o-ver the sea, and instantly God made the sea o-pen, and the wa-ter re-ti-red to each side, and stood like a wall on the right and the left. leav-ing a large and dry space in the midst through which the Is-ra-el-ites pass-ed dry-shod.

The E-gyp-ti-ans would fain have followed them ; but Mo-ses a-gain stretched out his hand, and God made the Then Mo-ses and the Is-ra-el-ites sang to the Lord, and said, Let us sing to the Lord. My strength and my praise is the Lord. This is my God. He hath drown-ed Pha-ra-oh and his ar-my in the Red Sea. Who is like to Thee O God!

MORAL.

Thus, my child, God took care of his peo-ple and sav-ed them. He shew-ed that He was Lord of all. So will He have care of you if you love and serve Him.

Put, then, your whole strength in Him, call upon him, pray to Him, and He will save you from harm. And when He thus shews Him-self kind and care-ful of you, do you praise and thank Him from your heart.

LESSON XIII.

The Jour-ney through the De-sert. The Ten Com-mand-ments. Ex. xvi. xix. xx.

When the Is-ra-el-ites had pass-ed the Red-Sea, God led them through a vast de-sert, or a wild and waste part of land, in which no one dwelt. This He did, to try if they would be faith-ful to him, and to let them see that they could not live with-out His care and kind-ness.

A cloud led them the way by day, and it screen-ed them from the heat of the sun. At night it was chang-ed in-to a pil-lar of fire, that serv-ed to light them. For their food, God gave them Man-na. It was a kind of dew that fell from the hea-vens, and it was so thick that they made bread of it.

When they were in want of drink, Mo-ses struck with his rod a rock, out of which in-stant-ly there gush-ed forth water. Their clothes were not worn out, though their jour-ney last-ed for-ty years.

Such care did God take of them; yet they were un-grate-ful to Him: they long-ed to be a-gain in E-gypt, and they were for kill-ing Mo-ses.

In the third month af-ter they left E-gypt, they came to Mount Si-na-i. There God made them halt a while, that he might give them His law. When the day was come on which they were to re-ceive it, they be-held the top of the moun-tain all on fire.

Then a thick cloud covered it, and out of it broke forth dread-ful thun-der and light-ning. They heard a sound of trump-pets, and a great noise, but they saw no one. Then a loud and dread-ful voice broke forth out of the cloud, and spoke these words :

I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of E-gypt, and out of the house of bond-age. Thou shalt not have strange Gods be-fore me. Thou shalt not make to thy-self a gra-ven thing, nor the like-ness of a-ny thing that is in hea-ven a-bove, or in the earth be-neath, or in the wa-ters un-der the earth. Thou shalt not a-dore nor serve them.

I am the Lord thy God, strong and jea-lous, vi-sit-ing the sins of the fa-thers up-on their chil-dren, to the third and fourth ge-ne-ra-tion of them that hate me ; and shew-ing mer-cy to thou-sands of those that love me, and keep my com-mand-ments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain ; for the Lord will not hold him guilt-less that shall take the name of the Lord his God in vain.

Re-mem-ber that thou keep ho-ly the Sab-bath day. Six days shalt thou work, and shalt do all thy works. But on the se-venth day is the Sab-bath of the Lord thy God : thou shalt do no work on it, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daugh-ter, nor thy man-ser-vant, nor thy woman-ser-vant, nor thy beast, nor the stran-ger that is with-in thy gates.

For in six days the Lord made hea-ven and earth, and the sea, and all things that are in them, and rest-ed on the seventh : there-fore the Lord bless-ed the Sab-bath day and sanc-ti-fi-ed it.

Ho-nour thy fa-ther and thy mother that thou may-est live long up-on the earth which the Lord thy God will give thee. Thou shalt not mur-der. Thou shalt not com-mit a-dul-te-ry. Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not speak a-gainst thy neigh-bour false tes-ti-mo-ny. Thou shalt not co-vet thy neigh-bour's house, nei-ther shalt thou de-sire his wife, nor ser-vant, nor hand-maid, nor ox, nor ass, nor a-ny thing that is his.

Though by the thunder and light-ning God could move them and us to care-ful keep-ing of them, yet His will is rather that we grave them in our hearts, and keep them not so much through fear, as through our love of Him.

Keep them, my child, all the days of your life, and you will please God, and He will bless you here, and af-ter this life you will see Him in all His glory, and en-joy Him for e-ver.

LESSON XIV.

Da-vid and Go-li-ah. 1 Kings, xvii.

The peo-ple of God had for a long time been rul-ed by Judg-es. At lengh, they de-sir-ed to have Kings. Their first king was Saul. In his reign he fought ma-ny bat-tles. And in his time there came forth from the camp of the Phi-lis-tines, who were e-ne-mies to the Is-ra-el-ites, a man whose name was Go-li-ah.

He was six cub-its, that is, three yards, or nine feet, and a span high, He had on his head a hel-met of brass, and he was arm-ed with a coat of mail of very great weight; he had greaves of brass on his legs; and a staff in his hand which was like a large beam.

This huge man stood day after day, and cried to the Is-ra-el-ites, Choose out a man from you, and let him come down to me. If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your ser-vants; but if I kill him, then shall ye be our ser-vants, and serve us.

Now there was a man whose name was Jes-se, and he had eight sons. The young-est of them was call-ed Da-vid. He u-sed to tend his father's sheep. One morn-ing he rose up ear-ly and went to the camp. At the same time came Go-li-ah.

When the men of Is-ra-el saw the man they were afraid, and fled from him. And they said to Da-vid, Have you seen this man who is come to de-fy us? David said to the men who stood by him, What shall be done to the man who shall kill Go-li-ah?

And they said to him, To the man who kill-eth Go-li-ah, the king will give great rich-es and his daugh-ter, and he will make his father's house free.

Da-vid then went to Saul, and said to him, Let no man's heart fail be-cause of Go-li-ah : thy ser-vant will go and fight with him. Saul said to Da-vid, Thou art not a-ble to fight with him, for thou art but a strip-ling, but he is a man train-ed to war from his youth.

Da-vid said to Saul, I kept my fa-ther's sheep, and there came a li-on and a bear, that took a lamb out of the flock ; and I went out and I smote them. I slew both the li-on and the bear ; and this man shall be as one of them.

Da-vid al-so said, The Lord, who saved me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, He will save me out of the hand of this man. And Saul said to Da-vid, Go, and the Lord be with thee.

Then Saul cloth-ed David with a coat of mail, and put a hel-met of brass up-on his head. When David was thus cloth-ed, and gird-ed with a sword, he tri-ed if he could go thus arm-ed ; but he said to Saul, I can-not go so ; and he put them off.

He then took his staff, and he chose five most bright stones out of the brook, and he cast them into his scrip.

Then he took a sling in his hand, and went forth against Go-li-ah.

When Go-li-ah saw Da-vid, he said to him, Am I a dog, that thou com-est to me with a staff ? Come to me, and I will give thy flesh to the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the earth.

Then Da-vid said to him, Thou com-est to me with a spear, and a sword, and a shield ; but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of Hosts. The Lord of the bands of Is-ra-el, whom thou hast this day de-fi-ed, He, the Lord, shall give thee in-to my hands, and I shall strike thee, and take a-way thy head from thee.

And I shall give the car-cas-es of the camp of the Phi-lis-tines to the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the earth, that all the earth may know there is a God in Is-ra-el. And all nere shall know that not in the sword, nor in the spear, doth the Lord save, for it is His bat-tle, and He will give it in-to our hands.

Then Go-li-ah rose up, and came a-gainst Da-vid. Da-vid then put his hand in-to his scrip, and took one stone, and cast it with a sling, and struck Go-li-ah on the forehead, who fell on his face up-on the ground. And where-as Da-vid had no sword, he ran and stood upon Go-li-ah, and he took his sword, and with it he slew him and cut off his head.

Da-vid then took Go-li-ah's head, and he brought it in-to Je-ru-sa-lem. Then Ab-ner, the prince of the army, took Da-vid, and he brought him to Saul, hav-ing in his hand the head of Go-li-ah. Saul took Da-vid that day, and would let him go no more home to his fa-ther's house. And Da-vid went out whi-ther-so e-ver Saul sent him : and he be-hav-ed wise-ly ; and Saul plac-ed him over the men of war, and he was ac-cept-ed in the eyes of the people.

MORAL.

Thus a-gain you see, my child, that God doth what He pleas-eth. The weak he makes strong, and the strong he ren-ders weak. Da-vid fights, and acts in the name, and by the strength of God, and not in his own.

If we trust in God, and not in our own strength, Ho will be for us, and help us ; and if He be for us, and with us, who or what can hurt us ? what have we to fear ?

But as with-out Him we are no-thing, so with-out Him we can do no-thing. He hates the proud and ar-ro-gant ; but He looks down on the tum-ble, and to them He gives His grace, by which they might do great things.

LESSON XV.

Da-vid made King. 2 Kings, ii.

Af-ter the death of Saul, Da-vid was cho-sen King. He was a great man, as you have seen ; and was al-so a good man. He in-deed sin-ned against God by two great crimes, mur-der and a-dul-tery ; but he re-pent-ed of them, su-ed to God to par-don him, and God did pardon him. He then lov-ed, fear-ed, and serv-ed God all the days of his life, with his whole heart. Da-vid was al-so a man of bright parts, and well skill-ed in music and po-e-sy. He com-pos-ed a great num-ber of can-ti-cles, or songs, in praise of God. These are the Psalms which are sung to this day in the Church.

God made known to him, that He who was to save the world should be born of his race, and that He should be a king, and reign, not on-ly over the house of Is-ra-el, but o-ver all the nations of the Earth ; and that of his king-dom there should be no end ; that He (the Sa-vi-our of the World) should be the Son of God, and God him-self. All this was re-veal-ed by God to Da-vid.

The Is-ra-el-ites named the Re-deem-er, whom they ex-pect-ed, as the Jews do to this day, the Mes-si-ah, or the Christ. By this name is meant a-noint-ed, be-cause it was u-su-al to a-noint with oil those who were made Kings, Priests, and Pro-phets ; and Christ was a King, a Priest, and a Pro-phet. They like-wise call-ed him the Son of David.

MORAL.

Thus, my child, those who seem, in the eyes of men, to be mean, poor, and low, and of no ac-count, are made use of by God to bring a-bout the great ends of His love, goodness, and mer-cy, to sin-ful men.

The fool-ish things of the world hath God chosen to con-found the wise ; and the weak things of the world, that he may con-found the strong ; and the base things of the world hath God chosen, and things that are not, that he might bring to nought things that are, that no
flesh should glo-ry in His sight.

If a-ny time, my child, you of-fend God by sin, de-lay not to return to Him : be sor-ry, crave his mer-cy, and beg his par-don, and re-solve not to sin a-gain.

LESSON XVI.

The In-car-na-tion and Birth of Jesus.

You have read, my child, that our first pa-rents, A-dam and Eve, lost, by their sin, the grace and fa-vour of God, and were dri-ven out of Pa-ra-dise. They more-o-ver were not, after this life, to have been happy with God in hea-ven ; and, as we all sin-ned in them, we were to have been in the like sad state, had not God shew-ed mer-cy to them and to us.

He there-fore took pi-ty on man-kind, and sent His Son to re-deem us from sin, and to save us from hell. This Son was he whom God had pro-mis-ed to A-dam, A-braham, Ja-cob, and David : but he did not come till four thou-sand years af-ter the fall of A-dam and Eve.

Now his birth was after this man-ner : When the time
ap-point-ed by God was come, God sent from heaven an an-gel, whose name was Ga-bri-el, to a young vir-gin, whose name was Ma-ry. She was of the race of Da-vid. The an-gel in-form-ed her from God that she should bring forth, and be the mo-ther of, the Mes-si-ah, Christ, or Re-deem-er.

Thou shalt have a Son, said the an-gel to Mary, and thou shalt call his name Je-sus. He shall be great, and shall be call-ed the Son of the Most High. She gave her con-sent, and in-stant-ly she con-ceive-d in her womb, Christ. He that was God, took flesh, and our na-ture, and be-came like to us, though not with sin and ig-no-rance. And he was born of her in Beth-le-hem, a small town, where Da-vid had his birth.

His mother, the bless-ed Vir-gin Mary, and his fos-ter or re-put-ed fa-ther, Saint Jo-seph, at that time were on their jour-ney, and as there was no room for them in the inns, they were con-strain-ed to lodge in a stable. In that poor place, she brought forth in-to the world her son, Christ, who was to save the world. She wrap-ped Him in swad-dling clothes, and laid him in a man-ger.

And there were in the same coun-try, shep-herds watch-ing, and keep-ing the night watch-es o-ver their flocks. And, be-hold, an an-gel of the Lord stood by them, and the bright-ness of God shone round a-bout them, and they fear-ed with a great fear.

And the an-gel said to them, Fear not, for be-hold I bring you good tid-ings, of great joy that shall be to all the peo-ple; for this day is born to you a Sa-vi-our, who is Christ, the Lord, in the ci-ty of Da-vid; and this shall be a sign to you, you shall find the infant wrap-ped in swad-dling clothes, and laid in a manger.

And sud-den-ly there was with the an-gel a mul-ti-tude of the hea-ven-ly host prais-ing God, and say-ing, Glo-ry be to God in the high-est, and on earth peace to men of good will. And it came to pass, after the an-gel de-part-ed from them in-to heav-en, the shep-herds said one to a-no-ther, Let us go o-ver to Beth-le-hem, and let us see this Word that is come to pass, which the Lord hath shew-ed us.

And they came with haste, and they found Ma-ry and Jo-seph and the in-fant ly-ing in the man-ger; and see-ing, they un-der-stood of the Word that had been spo-ken to them con-cern-ing this child. And the shep-herds re-turn-ed glo-ri-fy-ing and prais-ing God for all the things they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

MORAL.

This, my child, is the great work of God, out of His pure love to us. The Word was made flesh, the Son of God be-came man, and He dwelt a-mong us. A-dore and praise Him, and give Him thanks. In His birth He is poor and as the out-cast of men. If then you be poor, re-pine not at your state, since Christ was poor for your sake.

LESSON XVII.

Of Christ af-ter His birth.

On the eighth day af-ter Christ was born, he was call-ed JE-SUS, or Sa-vi-our. At this name we bow our heads, to give him a mark of our respect, as our Lord, and of our love and thanks as our Re-deem-cr. At the name of JE-SUS let e-ve-ry knee bow: Short-ly af-ter, three kings, or wise men, came out of the east to a-dore Him.

They were guid-ed on their way by a bright star, un-til it came and stood o-ver where the child Je-sus was. And en-ter-ing in-to the house, they found the child with Ma-ry his mo-ther; and fall-ing down, they a-dor-ed him; and o-pen-ing their trea-sures, they of-fer-ed him gifis,—gold, frank-in-cense, and myrrh.

Up-on this, King He-rod, through jea-lou-sy, would have put him to death; and to that end he gave or-ders that all the male chil-dren in and a-bout Beth-le-hem of the age of two years, should be slain; and they were killed. These are call-ed the Holy In-no-cents.

But Christ was sav-ed; for an an-gel of the Lord ap-pear-ed to Jo-seph, while a-sleep, and said, A-rise, and take the child and his mo-ther, and flee in-to E-gypt, and there be un-til I shall tell thee; for it will come to pass that He-rod will seek the child to de-stroy him. And they did not re-turn to the land of Is-ra-el till af-ter the death of He-rod.

At the age of twelve years, Je-sus went with his pa-rents to Je-ru-sa-lem, to the feast of the Pass-o-ver. There they lost him; and on the third day they found him in the Tem-ple, seat-ed amidst the doc-tors, hear-ing them, and ask-ing them ques-tions. He then re-turn-ed with them to Na-za-reth, and liv-ed sub-ject to them; and he ad-van-ced in wis-dom, and in age, and in grace, be-fore God and man.

Af-ter the ex-am-ple of Je-sus, you must en-dea-vour, as you ad-vance in age, al-so to ad-vance in vir-tue and pi-e-ty. To that end, be di-ligent at school; there hear your teach-ers, be sub-ject to them, and to your pa-rents, and let no day pass with-out pray-ing to God; beg of Him to give you His grace to know Him more and more; to love Him more and more, and to serve Him more and more faith-ful-ly.

LESSON XVIII.

The Mi-ra-cles of Je-sus Christ.

Af-ter Je-sus re-torn-ed to Na-za-reth with his pa-rents, we read little more of him: but he liv-ed un-known to the age of thir-ty years. At that age he was bap-tiz-ed by Saint John, who is there-fore call-ed the Bap-tist. He then went in-to a de-sert, and there he fast-ed for-ty days.

Af-ter that, he came forth, and He chose twelve poor men; these are call-ed the A-pos-tles, that is to say, en-voys, or per-sons sent, be-cause he sent them to preach and teach the Gos-pel. Je-sus, in the course of three years, wrought a great ma-n-y mi-ra-cles; that is, he did those things which no man can do.

But as he was God as well as man, he could do all what-e-ver he pleas-ed. He cur-ed all sorts of diseases—the fever, the flux of blood, the drop-sy, the pal-sy, the le-pro-sy—of-ten by a word, and when he was not near the sick person.

He gave sight to the blind. He made the dumb speak; the deaf, hear; the lame, walk. He brought to life those who were dead: a-mong these, we read in par-ti-cu-lar of a young girl, who was just dead; a young man, whom his mo-ther was con-vey-ing to the grave; and La-za-rus, who had been bu-ri-ed four days.

He was seen to walk on the sea; and he made Saint Pe-ter do the like. One day, he fed five thou-sand per-sons with five loaves of bread and two fishes; an-o-ther time, he fed four thou-sand with se-ven loaves. He knew the thoughts of men.

All these won-ders prov-ed that he was, as he said of him-self, the Christ, and the Son of God. And three of his disciples heard a voice from Heaven that said of him, This is my be-lov-ed Son, in whom I am well pleas-ed; Hear ye Him.

MORAL.

You must, my child, hear Him when he speaks to you, and makes His will known to you, by the voice of your parents and teach-ers; for if you hear and o-bey them, you hear and o-bey Him.

It is by them God will shew you what you must do to please Him, and to save your soul. If you do these things, He will be pleas-ed with you, and bless you, and, after your death, He will make you hap-py with Him in Hea-ven.

LESSON XIX.

The Vir-tues of Je-sus Christ.

At the same time that Je-sus did all these mi-ra-cles, he gave an ex-ample of all sorts of vir-tues. He was hum-ble, meek, kind, and good to all. He went a-broad doing good to all. He was not vain or proud. He said, I seek not my own glo-ry; I do the things that are pleas-ing to my Fa-ther; I do the will of Him who sent me.

Though he was the Son of God, yet he call-ed him-self the Son of Man. He de-part-ed from those who would fain have made him their King. One day, some chil-dren were pre-sent-ed to him; he em-brac-ed them and bless-ed them. He pass-ed his life in po-ver-ty and want, not hav-ing land or house, nor so much as a place where to rest his head.

He suf-fer-ed heat, cold, hunger, thirst, and fa-tigue. He of-ten pass-ed the whole night in prayer. My meat, he said, is to do the will of Him who sent me. When re-vil-ed, call-ed an im-pos-tor, se-du-cer, glut-ton, he did not re-vile a-gain, but bore all in si-lence.

MORAL.

En-dea-vour, my child, to co-py in you the life and vir-tues of Jesus. Shun pride and vain glory. In all your thoughts, words, and ac-ti-ons, seek on-ly the glo-ry of God, not the es-teem of men.

Be meek, and rea-dy to serve and do good to e-ve-ry one, e-ven to the poor-est wretch on earth. Love God, and serve God, be-cause such is the will of God, and He hath made you for that end.

LESSON XX.

The Doctrine of Je-sus Christ.

Learn now, my child, the truths which Je-sus taught, and which you must be-lieve if you would please God, and save your soul. God has made you, and placed you in this world, to know, love, and serve Him. It is then by faith you must know Him, and be-lieve all that He teach-es; by hope you must re-ly on Him, for his grace and help, to live well, and by cha-ri-ty, you are to love him a-bove all things.

These are the three chief vir-tues. Je-sus teach-eth that life e-ver-last-ing, or the way to gain it, is to know God, the on-ly true God, and him-self Je-sus Christ, whom God hath sent to re-deem us, and teach us.

He teach-eth, that He and the Fa-ther are but one; hence that he is God, as his fa-ther is God: and he tells his A-pos-tles that he will send them the Spi-rit, who pro-ceeds from the Fa-ther; and he adds, he shall re-ceive of mine, to teach it you, be-cause all that is the Fa-ther's is mine. This shews, that the Ho-ly Ghost, or Spi-rit, pro-ceeds from the Fa-ther and from the Son, and yet that all three, the Fa-ther, the Son, and the Ho-ly Ghost, are but one and the same God.

And as Je-sus is God, it fol-lows that he is both God and Man, since he took to him-self the na-ture of man. And he shows it clear-ly, when he saith, No one hath as-cend-ed in-to heav-en, but he who is come down from heav-en, the Son of Man who is in hea-ven.

These truths, my child, are the ground-work of your faith or be-lief. They are call-ed the Mys-te-ries of the U-ni-ty, or of one God; and of the Tri-ni-ty, or of Three per-sons in One God; and of God the Son tak-ing flesh, and be-ing made man.

They are call-ed Mys-te-ries, that is, se-cret truths, hid-den from us, or what are above our know-ledge, or com-pre-hen-sion; yet we must be-lieve them, be-cause God, who is truth it-self, hath re-veal-ed them, and Je-sus Christ hath taught them. And as God is all-wise and good, He there-fore can-not be de-cev-ed, nor de-ceive us.

That your faith of these truths may in-crease and be firm, of-ten make this, or the like, act of faith: O God, I be-lieve Thou art the on-ly true God! O Je-sus Christ, I be-lieve thou art the Son of the Living God, who camest down from hea-ven, and wast made Man for us and our sal-va-tion! O Ho-ly Ghost, I be-lieve thou art the Di-vine Spi-rit pro-ceed-ing from the Fa-ther and the Son; and with them, One and the same God! O bless-ed Tri-ni-ty, One God!

LESSON XXI.

The Max-ims of Je-sus Christ.

Je-sus Christ teach-eth us, that of our-selves, and with-out him, we can do no-thing. As it is in God, and by God, that we live, move, and are, so it is on-ly by his grace and help that we can do good unto our e-ter-nal sal-va-tion, As the branch can-not bear fruit if it do not a-bide on the tree, so nei-ther can we bring forth the fruit of good works, if we do not a-bide in God by faith, hope, and love, and he give us not his grace.

Christ saith, speak-ing of him-self, I am the way, the truth and the life. He is the way, in what he teach-es by his word and by his life, which we must co-py. He is the truth, by which he pro-mises; and he is the life, by the grace which we re-ceive through him; and we have need of this grace, for he saith, No man can come to me, un-less the Fa-ther who hath sent me, draw him.

This grace is his free gift; hence we must beg it of God. Ask, saith he, and it shall be gi-ven to you; seek, and you shall find. And it is he who must teach us how to pray and what to ask. Thus he teach-eth us. When you pray say, Our Fa-ther who art in Hea-ven, &c. This prayer is call-ed the Lord's Prayer.

He more-over teach-es us not to con-fine our hope to the earth, and to this life; for we are here but for a short time, for a few years or days, as it may please God, who is the Lord of the life of man. We are not then to heap up rich-es here, but to lay up a trea-sure in hea-ven by a life of good works.

He tells us there are two ways, and two gates; but that we must strive to en-ter at the nar-row gate, and walk in the straight way; for this leads to life, but is found by few be-cause there are few who choose it: the great-er part of them pre-fer the broad way, that leads to death and ruin,

To fol-low Je-sus in the straight and nar-row way to hea-ven, we must, my child, re-nounce the devil and his works of sin; the world and its pomps, the flesh and its baits. We must car-ry the cross by the prac-tice of vir-tue. We must love God, and keep his com-mand-ments. If we do this, we shall af-ter our death en-ter in-to life e-ver-last-ing, and be hap-py for e-ver with God.

For, my child, there will come a day and an hour when you must die, and leave this world, and all that is in it; for since A-dam sin-ned we are all doom-ed to die; and when we are dead, our bo-dies will be laid un-der ground, and they will moul-der in-to dirt and dust.

But our souls will be judg-ed by God, and ac-cord-ing as we have liv-ed well or ill in this life, we shall live for e-ver ei-ther in hap-pi-ness or mi-sery, be-yond what can be en-joy-ed or en-dur-ed in this life, or what we are a-ble to con-ceive. The souls of some, who had not been ve-ry good dur-ing part of their life-time, and yet have had par-don of their sins, will go in-to a pri-son call-ed Pur-ga-to-ry, for a while.

And, at the last, all that are in the graves will hear the voice of the Son of God, and they will come from their graves to be judg-ed by him pub-lic-ly, of all their thoughts, words, and deeds, done in this life, good and bad. And they who have done good, will then go bo-dy and soul to a life of hap-pi-ness that will ne-ver end, of such joy and of such good things as no man e-ver saw, or can con-ceive; and they who have done e-vil will be cast, bo-dy and soul, in-to hell fire.

To one of these ends, you, my child, must one day come. Live well, then, that you may die well; for as you live, so you will die, and be hap-py or mi-ser-able for e-ver af-ter death. This is the sum of what Je-sus taught, and of what you must be-lieve and prac-tice till death. Be wise, then, now in time; for when the hour of your death is come, it will be too late to set a-bout it: you may then wish to do, and to have done well; but wish-es then will be vain.

LESSON XXII.

The suf-fer-ings and Death of Je-sus Christ.

Though Je-sus was much fol-low-er and ad-mir-er, for peo-ple came from all parts to see and hear him, yet there were some who hat-ed him so far as to seek his death. And, though in the whole course of his life he did no harm, but was good and kind to all, yet he was ill-treat-ed.

More than once the Jews took up stones to stone him. They re-proach-ed him, say-ing, He hath a devil, and is mad. If then Je-sus was so ill-treat-ed, learn from him to bear pa-tient-ly what ill-treat-ment may be-fall you, and for-give them that hate you, or do you any wrong.

At length, the Jews were re-solv-ed to take a-way his life. It was at the time of the Pass-o-ver, a great feast ob-serv-ed by them, they contriv-ed to do it. But be-fore they did it, Je-sus, when he was at his last sup-per with his dis-ci-ples, the night be-fore he died, gave them his bo-dy and blood in this manner :

He took bread in-to his hands, he bless-ed it, and broke it. He then gave his bo-dy to them, and said, Take and eat: this is my bo-dy. He then gave them his blood thus: He took the cup, with some wine and wa-ter in it, and said to them, Take and drink: this is my blood. When he did this, he in-sti-tu-ted the Sa-cra-ment of the Ho-ly Eu-cha-rist, and the Sa-cri-fice of the Mass.

Af-ter he had done this, he went forth into a gar-den, and there he pray-ed to his Fa-ther: Fa-ther! if it be pos-si-ble, let pass from me this cha-lice [by which he meant his pas-sion and death]: yet not as I as will, but as Thou wilt: Thy will be done.

Whilst he was thus pray-ing, Ju-das, one of his dis-ci-ples, brought with him arm-ed men to seize Je-sus. They seiz-ed him, and thus led him to Cai-phas, the High Priest. From Cai-phas they led Him to Pi-late: from Pi-late to He-rod; and a-gain to Pi-late.

They blind-fold-ed him, scof-fed at him, spat in his face, strip-ped off his clothes, and tied him to a pil-lar. There they scourg-ed him. They then cloth-ed him with an old pur-ple garment, put a reed in-to his hand, and a crown of thorns on his head, set him on a stool, and ador-ed him as a mock-ing. Af-ter all this cruel treat-ment, they nail-ed him by his hands and feet to a cross. This was done at noon day.

He hung on the cross in great pain and a-gony un-til three o'clock in the af-ter-noon when He ex-pi-red. Thus di-ed Jesus to save the world. At his death the sun was dark-en-ed, rocks were split, and the dead rose from their graves.

Oh! my child, how great must have been the evil of the sin of our first pa-rents, since, to re-deem us from it, to re-con-ci'e man-kind to God, and to set hea-ven o-pen to us, Christ the son of God, made man, suf-fer-ed so much and at last di-ed on the cross!

Great was his love for us. Love him then, and through love of him see you do not commit sin. Hate and detest it as the worst thing that can be-fall you in this life. Of-ten think on what Je-sus hath done and suf-fer-ed for you; praise and thank Him; and beg you may reap the fruit of it by his grace here, and by e-ter-nal hap-pi-ness here-after.

LESSON XXIII.

The Bu-ri-al, Re-sur-rec-tion, and As-cen-sion, of Je-sus Christ, and the Ge-ne-ral Judg-ment of Man-kind.

When Je-sus was dead, they laid his bo-dy in a se-pulchre or grave: and, on the third day af-ter his death, He rais-ed him-self from death to life. He ap-pear-ed of-ten to his dis-ci-ples for the space of forty days. The last time he ap-pear-ed to them was on Mount O-li-vet; there after he had spoken to them, He lifted up his hands and blessed them.

Then he as-cen-ded up to heaven in their pre-sence, till a cloud took him out of their sight. Then two an-gels in the form of men, cloth-ed in white robes, told them, that he should one day come a-gain in like man-ner as they had seen him go up to hea-ven.

Then it was that Je-sus Christ took pos-ses-sion of his king-dom, of which there will be no end. And there he sit-teth at the right hand of God the Father; not that God hath hands, for he is a pure spi-rit without matter, form, or figure; by this is meant, Christ is raised, as man, above all that is in hea-ven; and to the high-est glo-ry and dig-ni-ty, for, as God, he is one and the same God with the Father.

There he will con-ti-nue in that state till he come at the last day, when an end will be put to this world, to judge the living and the dead : those who are now dead ; we who are now living, but shall die ; and those who will be living at the last day, but also will first die ; for it is appointed unto all men once to die, and then the judgment.

For the hour will come, when all that are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and they shall come forth ; they that have done good unto the resurrection of the life, and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of the judgment.

For God hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in justice by that man, the Son of God, Jesus Christ, whom He hath ordained, whereof He hath given assurance to all men, in that he raised him from the dead ; and after that, the judgment, all things will be perfectly subjected to Him, and the designs of God from all eternity will be entirely accomplished.

LESSON. XXIV.

The Establishment of the Church.

BUT after Jesus was ascended into Heaven, He thence sent down, according to his promise, before He was put to death, the Paraclete or Comforter, the divine Spirit or the Holy Ghost, to enlighten the minds of his Apostles and Disciples, that they might understand all that which He, when living with them on earth, had taught them, and would then bring to their minds.

Also to confirm them in the faith or belief of such truths and to enable them to teach them, and to preach the Gospel throughout the whole world : and moreover, to confirm the same by the miracles which they should work in his name, and by his power.

This came to pass thus : When the days of Pentecost were accomplished, the Apostles and Disciples of Christ were altogether in one place ; and suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a mighty wind coming and it filled the whole house where they were sitting ; and there appeared unto them parted tongues like as of fire, and it sat over every one of them ; and they were filled with the Holy Ghost. Acts ii.

It was thus Je-sus Christ es-ta-blish-ed his Church. And all they that be-liev-ed were to-ge-ther. They con-ti-nu-ed dai-ly, with one ac-cord, in the Tem-ple; and the Lord ad-ded dai-ly to them such as should be sav-ed.— Acts ii. And then was ful-fill-ed what Je-sus had said, That they who be-liev-ed in Him should do still great-er works than he him-self had done.

With this his Church, he pro-mis-ed the same Di-vine Spi-rit should al-ways a-bide; and teach and guide her (the Church) in all truths un-to the end of the world; in such sort that the gates of Hell, or Sa-tan, should ne-ver pre-vail a-gainst her, in-duce her to be-lieve or to teach the least er-ror.

The truth and fact of this were de-mon-strat-ed be-yond all doubt, by the many mi-ra-cles, and signs and won-ders, which the fol-low-ers of Christ did e-ve-ry where through his po-w-er, and in his name; be-cause to Him was giv-en all pow-er in Hea-ven and on Earth, un-to the e-ter-nal sal-va-tion of all them that should be-lieve in Him, and be-lieve in the Holy Ca-tho-lic Church, which he had es-tab-lish-ed.

In this man-ner, and by the tes-ti-mo-ny which the A-pos-tles and Dis-ci-ples of Je-sus Christ, and the in-nu-mer-able Mar-tyrs, gave of the truths of the Gospel and of the Church of Je-sus Christ, by the blood which they shed, and by their lives which they vo-lun-ta-ri-ly laid down under the most cru-el tor-ments, God set, as it were, his seal to the tes-ti-mo-ny, that all which Je-sus had taught was true and di-vine.

And this held, and still holds, and will hold un-to the end of the world, the fol-low-ers of Je-sus Christ, Chris-ti-ans and Ca-tho-lics, the mem-bers of His Church, firm and stea-dy in the faith and com-mu-nion of One, Holy, Ca-tho-lic, and A-pos-to-lic Church; in which Church a-lone are to be ob-tain-ed for-give-ness of sins here, and here-after a glo-ri-ous re-sur-rec-tion, and life e-ver-last-ing, by means of the Ho-ly Sa-cri-fice, Sa-cra-ment, &c. &c., in-sti-tu-ted and or-dain-ed by Christ him-self

OF POINTS AND STOPS.

A Comma (which is marked thus ,) is the shortest of all stops, and serves to divide short sentences, till you come to the full sense. As thus: I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.—Rom. viii., 38, 39.

A Semicolon (;) serves also to part sentences, and is often used when the sentences are contrary. Thus: A soft answer turneth away wrath; but grievous words stir up anger.—Prov. xv., 1. Or thus: I desired you to get your lesson by heart; but instead of that you have been at play.

A Colon (:) parts several sentences, every one of which has a full meaning of its own, though, at the same time, it leaves us in expectation of something that is to follow. For example: He is a wise and prudent boy who minds his book: learning and good education are better than riches.

A Period (.) is a full stop, and shews the perfect end and conclusion of a sentence. As thus: Obey your parents. Fear God. Honour the King.

Observe.—You are to stop at a comma till you can tell one; at a semicolon, till you can tell two; at a colon, till you can tell three; at a period, till you can tell four.

A note of Interrogation (?) is always set at the end of a question that is asked. For example: Who made you? How old are you? What is the matter?

A note of Admiration (!) is placed after such words or expressions as signify any thing strange or wonderful. Thus: Oh! Alas! Surprising! Or thus: O the depth, loth of the wisdom and knowlege of God!—Rom. xi., 33.

A Parenthesis () is used to include words in a sentence, which may be left out without injury to the sense. As, We all (including my brother) went to London.

The Hyphen (-) is used to separate syllables, and the parts of compound words. As, Watch-ing, Well-taught.

The Apostrophe (') denotes that a letter or more is omitted. As, Lov'd, tho', for loved, though, &c. It is also

CHAPTER I.

Of the end for which man was created.

Of all things necessary for man to know, the end for which he came into the world deserves his first attention, because, being a rational creature, he ought to act for a final end, in the enjoyment whereof he may find his eternal happiness. Now he cannot act for this end without a knowledge of it, which, exciting a desire, makes him search for, and employ the means of obtaining it. A man who knows not his last end, is like a beast, because he regards only things present; things material, and sensible, after the manner of brutes, and in this he is much more miserable than they, since they find in these exterior objects the felicity they are capable of: but he, instead of finding repose, meets with nothing but disgust, and the source of endless misfortunes.

From a want of considering their last end, originates all the disorders discernible in the lives of men, because, forgetting that noble and divine end for which their Creator designed them, they are wholly taken up with pleasures of this mortal life, living upon Earth, as if made for the Earth. It would move one to compassion to see a child born of royal blood, and destined by his birth, one day, to wear a crown, yet bred up amongst peasants, and ignorant of his extraction, applying himself only to till the earth, bounding all his pretensions within the scanty limits of earning a miserable livelihood with the sweat of his brow, without having the least thought of the high rank for which he was born, but it is much more to be deplored, to see men, who are the children of Heaven, designed by the Almighty to reign there eternally, live in an entire forgetfulness of that end for which they were created, and, setting all their affections upon earthly things, wretchedly deprive themselves of that immense happiness which the bounty of their Creator prepared for them in Heaven.

For this reason, Theotime, resolving to exhort you to embrace virtue in your youth, I propose to you first, what you are, and for what end you were created, that, knowing this your end, you may ardently aspire to it, and by early endeavours render yourself worthy of it. Recollect yourself then, and reflect upon three things : what you are, who made you, and for what end.

1. You are a man, that is, a creature endowed with understanding and reason, composed of a body, the structure whereof is admirable, and of a reasonable soul, made in the image of God : in a word you are the most perfect of all visible creatures.

2. You were not made by yourself, for that is impossible; you received from another the being you now enjoy. And from whom have you received it, but from Him who created Heaven and Earth, and who is the Author of all things? It is He who formed your body in your mother's womb, and brought your soul out of nothing by his power. You are the work of a God, and, besides the father you have upon Earth, you have another in Heaven, to whom you owe all that you possess.

3. But why did God make you? Be attentive, Theotime; for what end think you did God place you in this world? Was it to enjoy the sensual pleasures and satisfactions of this life? To heap up riches? to acquire glory and reputation amongst men? Nothing less! You have a soul too noble to be destined for such wretched and perishable things: pleasures are changed into pain, riches perish, and glory vanishes. Is it to continue a long time upon earth, to find there your happiness, and to look for nothing after this life? If so there is no difference betwixt you and irrational beings.

Does not this so noble a soul which God has bestowed on you, endowed with understanding, will, and memory, capable of knowing all things, clearly manifest that you were created for a higher and more honourable end? Does not this figure of the body you bear, the stature erect, the head on high, and eyes raised towards Heaven, teach you that you are not made for the Earth? Beasts are made for the Earth; there they find their happiness, and for that reason they look upon the earth: but you, dear Theotime, you are created for Heaven. This is the place of your abode, as it is that of your origin: your soul came down from Heaven, and it ought to return thither.

But what will you find in Heaven, that can render you happy? Will it be the sight of the firmament, with all those beautiful stars? Of the Sun, that admirable instrument, the work of the Most High, and of all that is wonderful and great in Heaven? No. All these are not able to effect your felicity: God has esteemed them too mean for you; he made them for your service, not to be the object and cause of your happiness. In a word, consider all that is in the universe, those vast and wonderful things which God has created; all which are not able to complete your happiness.

God hath not made you for any of these things. For what then? For nothing less than the possession and enjoyment of Himself in Heaven. He has not judged the fairest of his creatures worthy of you: He has given Himself to be the object of your happiness. For this reason he gave you a soul, formed to his image, capable of possessing him, and which, by reason of this capacity, is never content nor satisfied with the possession and delight of this life, as every one finds by experience.

You were, then, not made for creatures, dear Theotime, but for the Creator. Your last end is not the enjoyment of creatures, but of God himself. You were created to be happy by the possession of a God in Heaven, and to reign with him in a felicity incomprehensible to human understanding. The eye hath not seen, nor the ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man, what things God hath prepared for them that love him.

And this for how long? For all eternity; that is, for a time which shall never end, but continue as long as God himself. This is the most noble end for which you were designed, this is the inheritance which your celestial Father has prepared for you ; this is that end for which He has created you. All this visible world was but destined for your present use, to help you in promoting the glory of God.

CHAPTER II.

What it is to be a Christian.

By the grace of God, Theotime, you are a Christian : but do you understand what this is, and what you are by this quality ? Take notice of it then, and learn to know the great favour God bestowed upon you in the day of your baptism. By the baptism which you have received, you are washed from original sin, by the application of the merits of the blood of Jesus Christ, delivered from the universal curse of mankind, incurred by sin, and freed from the power of the Devil. You have been made the child of God, the disciple of Jesus Christ your Saviour. You have acquired God for your father ; Jesus Christ, for your master, your instructor, your example, and for the rule of your life ; the Holy Church, for your mother and guardian ; the angels, for your protectors ; the saints, for your intercessors.

You have been made the temple of God, who dwells in you by grace ; the heir to this eternal kingdom, from the title and hope of which you were fallen for ever ; and you are brought back into the secure way that leads to it, being made a member of Jesus Christ and his Church, out of which all those who obstinately remain cannot be saved, and wherein you are now illuminated with the light of the faith of Jesus Christ, instructed by his doctrine, nourished by his precious body and blood, assisted by his grace, and furnished with all the necessary means for your salvation.

O God ! how noble and how honourable is the state of a Christian ! What acknowledgments, dear Theotime, ought you to render to Almighty God, who has heaped upon you such immense favours ! God was no ways bound to do thus much for you. Without this favour which God has shewn you, you could never have been saved ; for there is no salvation without faith. Where then should you have been, if God had not shewn you this mercy ? He has not done this favour to thousands of men who live in other countries, in the darkness of ignorance and sin, nor to many other persons, who although they may be baptised as you, yet live in error, separated from the true faith of the Catholic Church, which is the pillar and ground of truth.

Why were you not of that unhappy number? Why has God made you to be born in a Christian country rather than others, and in the bosom of the Catholic Church, where you are instructed in the divine mysteries, and things necessary for salvation? How have you merited his favour? What happiness is it for you, dear Theotime, to have experienced so great a bounty of our God?

We are happy, O Israel, because the things that are pleasing to God are made known to us. O how fortunate are we by the grace of God, which has called us to the knowledge of his divine mysteries and adorable will! He has not shown his goodness to all the world; and why has he done it to us rather than others? O dear Theotime, how is it possible that we should not fix our affection upon a God who has loved us so much?

Learn here from a Christian king, the esteem you ought to have for your vocation. St. Lewis, king of France, had such a value for the favour of God showed to him in making him a Christian, that he not only preferred it before his kingdom, as in effect it is infinitely greater, but having been baptised in the castle of Poissy, he would bear that name, and be called Lewis of Poissy, and thus signed his letters and despatches, esteeming his title more glorious than that of King of France. And St. Augustin, speaking of the Emperor Theodosius, says, That he accounted himself more happy in being a member of the Church, than Emperor of the world. These great men, Theotime, knew how to value the grace of Christianity according to its real worth.

CHAPTER III.

That God requires and particularly accepts the services of Young People.

The time of youth being the beginning of life, you must know, dear Theotime, the strict obligations you are under of consecrating yourself to God when young. The first is, that God earnestly desires to be served by you in that age, since it is certain that in all things, God claims particularly the first and the beginnings. For this reason, in the old law, he commanded the first fruits of all things to be offered to him. Of fruits he required the first gathered to be presented; of beasts, the first brought forth, to be sacrificed; and of men, the eldest sons to be dedicated to his service in the temple, though he permitted them to be afterwards redeemed, shewing by this institution, that notwithstanding all things being equally his, yet he had a special claim for the first, as those which, above all things, were due to him, and which he required as an acknowledgment. Hence the time of youth being the beginning and first part of our life, God demands it particularly, and will have it offered to him, in order to be faithfully employed in his service.

Secondly, the time of youth is most pleasing to God: because, generally speaking, according to the natural order of things, it is the most innocent part of life, least corrupted by sin; for then the knowledge of evil is not so extensive, neither is there so much ability or opportunity to commit it: the judgment is not perverted by the false maxims of the world, nor the inclinations corrupted by the infection of the wicked, as in a more advanced age. Moreover, our baptismal grace, which we have then only lately received, renders that age more agreeable to God, at least in those who do not forfeit it by a sinful life.

But take notice, Theotime, I said that youth is less corrupted, generally speaking, and according to the natural order of things, yet it is but too true, that oftentimes much wickedness is found in it; though contrary to the order of nature, which has endowed that age with a simplicity of mind, and innocence of manners: hence they are so much the more guilty, who, by their malice, and depravity, corrupt the good dispositions which nature has bestowed upon it, learning wickedness and running after it, in an age when nature herself teaches nothing but simplicity and innocence.

Thirdly, because youth is the time of affording the most opportunities of shewing that you love God sincerely; for it is the time of the first temptations, wherein you begin to be solicited to renounce his love and service.

You then the solicit their d tion, v service

So t bat an consta assault

You are hurried on by your own passions, which are then the strongest ; invited by those of your age, who often solicit you to wickedness, either by their example, or by their discourse, and prompted by the enemy of your salvation, who uses all his endeavours to withdraw you from the service of God, and make sure of you betim-s.

So that this age may properly be called the age of combat and trial ; wherein you show your love to God with a constant and real affection, if you courageously resist these assaults.

These reasons, Theotime, convince us that God has a special affliction for the homage of youth, which being employed in flying from sin, and serving God, is a sacrifice the most agreeable that can be offered to Him. And, as a learned author says, excellently well, those who in the time of youth overcome themselves by courageously resisting all temptations to sin, and who consecrate themselves entirely to the service of God, make one continual sacrifice of their youth to God, which offering cannot but be most agreeable to him, as long as it remains undefiled by sin. O Theotime, retain well this truth in your mind, and never forget it.

CHAPTER IV.

Remarkable Instances of the Aversion God bears to Wicked Young People.

God has an aversion to all sinners, as he himself has said "I abhor the wicked," especially those who have ungratefully abused his love and benevolence. Not only reason but experience evinces it, by the effects which God frequently shews of that aversion He has to vicious young people. I shall produce two very remarkable instances out of the sacred Scriptures, that no one may doubt of them, and that from these one may judge of others.

The first example is of the two children of the high priest Heli, called Ophni, and Phinees. These two young men were employed by their father in the ministry of the temple and sacrifices, wherein they behaved themselves very ill, committing great irreverences in the temple, and crying injustices towards the faithful, who came to offer their sacrifices to God, requiring from them, by an insatiable avarice, more than was their just due ; insomuch, that the sacred Scripture says, they were the children of Belial, (so it calls those whom it would signify to be wicked and abandoned; for Belial signifies, without restraint or fear,) having lost the fear of God and the remembrance of their duty; moreover it adds that their sin was very enormous in the sight of God.

Their iniquity provoked God so much that He sent Samuel to tell their father, who had been too negligent in correcting his children, that he would punish him with such rigour, as should serve for an example to all posterity; that he would exclude his family from the high-priesthood, which he would give to another; that his offspring would die in the flower of their youth, and few should arrive at perfect age; and that his two sons, Ophni and Phinees, should both die in one day; and all their race should bear forever the marks of their iniquity, which should never be expiated by victims and sacrifices.

All this happened as was foretold. A little while after, Ophni and Phinees were killed, being defeated by the Philistines. On the same day, the father, hearing the news of their death, fell down backward, broke his skull, and died upon the spot. Many other misfortunes happened that day; among the rest, the ark of God was taken by the enemy, and the rest of the prophecy was fulfilled to a tittle. How many misfortunes in one family, through the wickedness of two sons!

The second is Absalom, the third son of David. He was proud, dissembling, revengeful, and highly ambitious, conceited of himself, and his own beauty, which according to the Scriptures, was extraordinary. The first wicked action which the Scripture relates of him, but which must have needs been preceded by many others, is the murder of his brother Amnon. By this action he lost his father's favour, and was banished from him for the space of five years, after which he was recalled and admitted to his favour again.

He was scarce returned to his father's court, when he contrived a grand rebellion against him; and having by his address gained the affection of the people, he retired to a small town, and was proclaimed King. After this, he takes up arms against his father, forces him to fly from Jerusalem, and pursues him with a strong army, which he had raised to deprive him of his crown. What will the Divine Justice do here? Will it connive at such a degenerate child?

Hear, Theotime, what the sacred Scripture relates: David, seeing himself brought to such straits by his son, was obliged to make head and oppose him. He sets in order the few forces he had with him, sends them to fight and gives him battle. Absalom's men, though far more numerous, are defeated. In this discomfiture, (O the divine judgments!) it happens that Absalom, endeavouring to save himself by flight, was carried under a great oak, and as he wore his locks very long, his hair, by a strange accident, and particular permission of God, was so strongly entangled in the branches of the tree that the mule he rode on could not carry him away, but continuing its course left him hanging by his hair, without being able to disengage himself.

David's soldiers seeing him in this condition, ran him through with a lance, and killed him on the spot; although David, by an astonishing tenderness, when sending them to the battle, had expressly forbidden any violence to be offered his person. O Divine justice! thou plainly shewest that thou dost not connive at the iniquities of wicked children; although Thou deferrest for a time the chastisement they deserve, to give them leisure to repent. Thou afterwards punishest most severely their obstinacy in sin, and the affront they offer to thy goodness, with which Thou expectest their repentance.

CHAPTER V.

That Salvation generally depends on the time of Youth.

I wish, Theotime, that you, and all those of your age, would thoroughly understand and never forget this truth, that salvation almost entirely depends on the life you lead during your youth. This is unknown to the greatest part of men, but the ignorance of which is the ruin and damnation of many. I wish all youth rightly understood, that the immense eternity of happiness or misery, which waits them after this life, depends upon this first part of our time, which all the world slight, and which the most part employ in wickedness. To convince you of this truth, I shall produce nothing less than the sentiment of the sacred Scriptures, that is of the Holy Ghost, whose words are so express, that it is impossible to doubt of it. For why doth it in so many places exhort young people to think of their salvation betimes, and to apply themselves to virtue in their youth, except it were to shew of how great importance that time is for their salvation?

Why does it say in Ecclesiasticus, "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth, before the time of affliction comes?" From whence comes it that it assures us in the Book of Proverbs, "Instruct a young man according to his way, and when he is old he will not depart from it?" that is, the manner of life which he has began. Wherefore does it say by the prophet Jeremy, that "It is good for a man when he has borne the yoke from his youth?" that is, has applied himself to virtue, and to bear the pleasing yoke of God's commandments.

Why in Ecclesiasticus are youth so earnestly exhorted to virtue, by those excellent words able to soften the most insensible hearts: "My son, from thy youth up receive instruction, and, even to thy grey hairs, thou shalt find wisdom. Come to her as one that plougheth and soweth, that is with care and labour, and wait for her good fruits. For in working about her thou shalt labour a little, and shalt quickly eat of her fruits. How very unpleasant is wisdom to the unlearned, and the unwise will not continue with her. But with them to whom she is known, she continueth even to the sight of God."—vi., 18. All the rest of the chapter is but a continued exhortation to young people to be virtuous. Wherefore in the twenty-fifth chapter does it say, "The things that thou hast not gathered in thy youth, how shalt thou find them in thy old age?"

Lastly among the books of sacred Scriptures, why was there one expressly made for the instruction of youth, which is that of Proverbs? Does not all this manifestly discover, that the Holy Ghost would give men to understand, that the time of youth is of greater consequence than the greatest part imagine; and that all happiness or misery of man, whether in this life or in the next, depends generally on that time being well or ill employed; this observation being generally true, that those secure their salvation, who in their youth are bred up in the fear of God, and of observance of his commandments; and that those who have not been educated in the fear of God, or cast it from them, to follow sin with greater liberty, are unhappily lost. All this truth is grounded on these two principles: the first is, that those who have followed virtue in their youth, easily persevere through the remainder of their life; the second, that, on the contrary, those who give themselves over to sin at that time, with difficulty amend, and frequently never.

CHAPTER VI.

Remarkable Examples of those who, having been Virtuous in their youth, continued so all their life.

The first example which I shall produce is that of Joseph, a model of virtue in his youth, and which I have slightly mentioned in the first part. At sixteen years of age he abhorred vice in such a manner, that the wicked example of his brethren could never corrupt his innocence; on the contrary, not being able to endure their wickedness, he gave notice thereof to his father Jacob. The greatness of his virtue, for which he was singularly favored by God, and tenderly loved by his father, drew upon him the enmity of his brethren, who meeting him one day in the fields, conspired to murder him; but, having a horror of dipping their hands in his blood, they resolved to let him down into a pit, with a design of leaving him there to perish.

This poor child, not able to soften their cruelty by prayers and tears, was obliged to yield, putting all his confidence in God, who never abandons those who love him. In this he was not deceived; for his inhuman brethren, struck with horror at so barbarous a crime, changed their first resolution. They drew him up out of the pit, and sold him to merchants then passing by, who carried him into Egypt, where he was sold to a lord of that country. Joseph being with his master, persevered in virtue and innocence of life, which drew down the blessing of God upon the house of his master, who soon discovered his merit, and conceived a great affection for him.

Behold how Joseph spent the first part of his youth, that is, until about the age of twenty. See the consequence of it, and how he passed the rest of his life; wherein I observe three remarkable occasions in which his virtue underwent the severest trial. The first was about that age when he sustained the most violent attack his chastity could undergo. The second was his being cast into prison, having to suffer the punishment, and be deemed guilty of a crime he abominated.

But Joseph continued immovable in his first virtue; and as he had learned patience in his youth, by the persecution of his brethren, he bore this with wonderful constancy, comforting himself in the conviction of his innocence, of which God was both witness and protector. God, who had always been with him, left him not on this occasion; but, as the sacred Scripture says, descended with him into the pit, that he might assist him with his grace and wonderfully deliver him, as he did presently after.

To these two trials succeeded the third, yet greater. This was the elevated station to which he was raised; for having interpreted Pharaoh's dream, by the knowledge God gave him of things to come; this king not only delivered him out of prison, but made him the first man in his kingdom, over which he gave him a general charge with absolute power to dispose of all things according to his will, commanding his subjects to obey him as himself. In this high station, which generally dazzles men's eyes, and soon destroys an ordinary share of virtue, Joseph remained firm in his primitive innocence, always like himself.

Forgetfulness of God, pride, covetousness, and revenge, the usual attendants on unlimited power, could never find admittance into his breast. Having an opportunity of revenging himself on his brethren, who came into Egypt to buy provision during a severe famine, he not only omitted it, but received them with such tenderness, and marks of affection, as to draw tears from those who read the Scripture account of it. He carried himself in this station with so much justice, that no complaint was ever made of his conduct: on the contrary, the Egyptians proclaimed him their deliverer, being freed from want during a seven year's amine, by his great prudence, for which he was called in those countries, The Saviour of the World.

He persevered thus in virtue and the fear of God, in the midst of grandeur from the age of thirty, when he was raised to that fortune, even to the age of a hundred and ten, wherein he died. O Theotime, reflect well upon this example, and learn from it what virtue acquired in youth is able to effect.

The next example I shall adduce is that of Toby, the father of young Toby, whose conduct, as well in youth as in a more advanced age, the Scripture declares to be worthy of our admiration. He was a young man of the tribe and city of Naphtali; and although he was the youngest of all his tribe, yet nothing childish or youthful appeared in his actions. And when all others went to sacrifice to the golden calf of Jeroboam, king of Israel, shunning their company, he went alone to Jerusalem, to the temple of the Lord, and there adored the God of Israel, offering to him faithfully his first fruits and tithes. These and such like things did he observe, adds the Scripture, when but a boy, according to the law of God.

O the admirable life, Theotime, of a young man who acted nothing childish, that is, nothing contrary to virtue; who permitted not himself to be carried away by the torrent of ill-example, continuing steadfast in the service of God, when the rest, to a man, abandoned their Creator! A youth spent so virtuously could not but be followed by a holy life, as you shall see.

Toby being come to man's estate, was led captive by the Assyrians, with all his countrymen, to the city of Nineve. Being there, he departed not from the path of virtue which he had so happily entered in his youth. For first as he had learned in his youth to resist the wicked examples of others, he permitted not himself to be corrupted in his captivity by the examples of his countrymen, who ate licentiously the meats of Gentiles, though prohibited by the law of God. Secondly, having deserved a particular regard from the Assyrian king, by his virtuous conduct, he had leave to go to any part of the kingdom. He visited his fellow captives, admonished them concerning their salvation, and their perseverance in the service of God Thirdly, the affliction of the captives increasing, he daily visited and comforted them, distributing what he was able to give them, fed the hungry, clothed the naked, and, with an unparalleled charity, buried all the dead he found, notwithstanding the displeasure of the king, which he had incurred by that action, even to the danger of his life.

But what is yet more admirable is the patience with which he bore the melancholy affliction of blindness, which befel him by an unexpected accident in the fifty-sixth year of his age. One day, as he returned home, wearied with the burial of many dead, he chanced to fall asleep under a wall, from the top whereof the dung out of a swallow's nest fell upon his eyes, and took away his sight. This was doubtless a very great affliction, and a most severe trial; but he supported it with such an admirable patience, that the sacred Scripture compares it to that of Job, and, what is very remarkable, attributes it to the piety and fear of God in which he had lived during his youth. Behold what it says: "Now this trial the Lord therefore permitted to happen to him, that an example might be given to posterity of his patience, as also of holy Job. For whereas he had always feared God from his infancy, and kept his commandments, he repined not against God because the evil of blindness had befallen him, but continued immovable in the fear of God, giving thanks to God all the days of his life."

O how admirable is the effect of virtue, which has always increased with age! He was delivered from his affliction four years after, and living to the age of one hundred and ten, he died in peace, after he had made, as the Scripture observes, a continual progress in the fear and service of God. Thus, Theotime, do they live, thus do they die, who have followed virtue in their youth.

CHAPTER VII.

That those who had been addicted to vice in their youth, amend with great difficulty, and often not at all.

O Theotime, that I had pen capable of imprinting this important truth more lastingly in your heart than in brass or marble, and making you perfectly comprehend the great and dreadful difficulty of amendment after a youth spent in vice. A difficulty so great that it is almost impossible sufficiently to express it; and, on the other side, so general, that we cannot consider it attentively, without being touched with a lively sorrow, seeing such numbers of Christians, and principally of young people, who groan under the tyranny of a vicious habit, which being contracted in their youth, and increased with age, leads them to perdition; from which, if they chance to recover, it is with incredible pains and combats, and by a manifest miracle of Divine grace. Learn, dear Theotime, to avoid this danger, and endeavour to conceive its greatness, either that you may entirely prevent it, or quickly withdraw yourself, if you are already engaged therein.

This great difficulty springs from three causes. The first is, the incredible power and force of a wicked habit, which being once rooted in the soul, cannot be plucked up without great pains. All habits have commonly this quality, that they continue a long time, and are with much difficulty removed. But amongst others, wicked habits are such as adhere more strongly, and are not so easily changed; because corrupt nature is more prone to evil than good. Hence the Scripture says, that the perverse are hard to be corrected, which makes the number of fools, that is, of sinners, infinite. But among the wicked habits, those contracted in youth are the strongest, and with most difficulty overcome; for the passions, which are the instruments of vice, unrestrained at that time by virtue, increase with age, and, as they increase, give vice daily new strength, and render it at last unconquerable.

For this reason, the same Scripture, in order to express the force of a vicious habit contracted in youth, delivers a sentence which young people ought to have frequently in their mind: "His bones shall be filled with the vices of his youth, and they shall sleep with him in the dust": that is, the vices, and wicked habits of youth become so deeply rooted in the soul, that all the remainder of life is tainted with them, and death alone, as we daily see, can put a final period to them.

The cause is very evident: for vice, when once in possession of a soul, increases and strengthens the passions; the passions corrupt the judgment, so that it mistakes good for evil, and evil for good ; the judgment being once corrupted perverts the will, which runs blindly into sin, and from thence proceeds all the evil ; because, as St. Augustin says, " The will, not governed, turns to an eager desire of sin, and by our gratifying this desire, it is formed into a habit, and a habit not resisted becomes a necessity ;" that is an extreme difficulty in avoiding sin. Hence, when a person is arrived at this pitch, there are no hopes of his amendment ; because as another author (St. Isidore) adds, " Necessity terminates in death, by exposing him who lies under it to final impenitence."

The second cause of this great difficulty is, the decrease of Divine grace : for as God multiplies his favours to those who receive him with humility, and employ them for their salvation, so He diminishes them to those who abuse and condemn them. Now if he deals thus with mankind in general, much more with youth, on whom he bestows many favours, as long as they remain deserving of them, so he withdraws his kindness when they abuse them, as we may learn by the experience of those who, having been favoured with particular obligations from God in their youth, presently become sensible of a great diminution of those favours, occasioned by the ill use they have made of the same.

God himself threatens this by his prophet, when he speaks thus: In that day the fair virgins and the young men shall faint for thirst : they that swear by the sin of Samaria, that is, who make profession of adoring the idols which the city of Samaria adores. The thirst is not only a corporeal, but a spiritual thirst, and the want of Divine grace, of which it is spoken immediately before: I will send forth a famine into the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst of water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

The third cause of the great difficulty of correcting the habits contracted in youth, is the power of the devil, who gains ground in proportion as our sins increase, and the grace of God is diminished. This is the proper effect of sin, viz, after depriving a soul of the grace and protection of her Creator, to subject her to the dominion of the Devil, and engage her more and more in that unhappy slavery, in proportion as she continues in vice. Theotime, who can sufficiently express the deplorable state of a soul reduced to that servitude, under the tyranny of her mortal enemy, who employs all his engines and devices to destroy her without recovery, by suggesting all temptations that are likely to draw her into sin ; by furnishing her daily with new occasions for destruction ; by diverting her from those that might withdraw her from her unhappy state ; by hurrying her from sin to sin, from one vice to another, till the measure of her iniquities being filled up, she is at last abandoned to the Devil, by a visible effect of Divine wrath !

Thus does this cruel enemy treat those whom he has under his power, by a just permission of God, who thus rejects those who withdraw themselves from His service and friendship, and who, refusing to submit themselves to the sweetness of His law, and the abundance of his favours and blessings, most justly deserve to be abandoned to that cruel master, who breathes nothing but their destruction, and will never cease to persecute them till he has plunged them unto eternal damnation. How unhappy are all those who have fallen into this deplorable slavery ; yet they are still more miserable, who, whilst therein, think not of seeking their deliverance.

CHAPTER VIII.

Examples of those who have never corrected the vices of their youth.

As in a shipwreck, where a ship is lost in a storm, there are many who perish, and very few who save themselves by swimming or otherwise, so, in the shipwreck of virtue, which many suffer in their youth, the number of those who are eternally lost is very great, but of those who escape, very small. You will conceive the smallness of this number, when you shall know, Theotime, that in the history of the Old Testament there is found but one example, a thing almost incredible, in the person of Manasses, king of Judah. For this one, it produces a vast number of others who perished in the storm, and died in the vices of their youth : some, after a long life ; others, being snatched away by death in the prime of their age. I shall here set you down some examples :

First: Of all the kings of Israel who, to the number of nineteen, reigned over the ten tribes of Israel, when the division was made of that kingdom from that of the tribe of Judah, after the death of Solomon, there was scarce one but was extremely wicked from his youth, and continued so to his death. And although the Scripture does not make express mention of their youth, nevertheless it gives us sufficiently to understand that they were all wicked in that age, except Jehu, who was afterwards perverted like the rest.

Amongst the kings of Judah, who likewise reigned to the number of nineteen after Solomon, there were six who were good, that is Asa, Josaphat, Ozias, Jonathan, Ezechias, and Josias; all the others were wicked. Those who were good began from their youth, and continued such all their life; the greatest part of those who were vicious began their wickedness in their younger years, and never altered their conduct.

Thus it is said of king Ochozic that he began to reign about twenty-two years of age; that he was wicked and attached to the idolatry of the impious Achab, king of Israel, which was taught him by his mother, Athelia, sister of that wicked king. He reigned but a year, at the end whereof he died in his wickedness.

It is said of Achaz that he was twenty years of age when he began to reign; that he did not apply himself to good, and to the service of God, but followed the example of the idolatrous kings of Israel, and that he far surpassed them in impiety, wherein he died after he had continued in vice for the space of sixteen years.

Amon reigned at the age of twenty-two, and became a follower of the vices of his father Manasses, but not of his repentance, and died in his sins at the end of two years, murdered by his own servants.

Joachim began at the age of twenty-five, and reigned eleven years; during which time he was wicked like his ancestors, and died in his iniquities, without being lamented by any one, and also deprived of the honour of burial, according to the threat of the prophet Jeremy.

His son Joachim, having succeeded at the age of eighteen, reigned but three months, at the end whereof he deserved, for his sins, to fall into the hand of Nebuchodonosor, and was sent into Babylon, where he died a long time after.

Sedecias, the last of the kings of Judah, being come to the crown at the age of twenty-one, was also wicked like his predecessors; and having continued in his iniquities for the space of eleven years, he drew upon himself and his people the most rigorous effect of that vengeance, with which God had long threatened the Jewish nation; for in the ninth year of his reign the city of Jerusalem was besieged by Nebuchodonosor, king of Babylon, and after two years' siege, it was taken, pillaged, and put to fire and sword, the temple of God ransacked and burnt, and whoever had escaped the fury of the sword or famine, were sent into captivity. Sedecias himself, flying with his children, was taken, and brought before the proud king, who, after venting his fury and indignation, caused his children to be butchered before his face, and afterwards pulled out his eyes and sent him captive into Babylon, where he died in misery, in just punishment of his iniquities.

To these examples, which are very common in Sacred Scripture, of such as have never corrected their vices in their youth, and who have died in their sins, we find but one in the Old Testament who was sincerely converted after he had lived wickedly in his youth, viz. Manasses, and he in so extraordinary a manner, that this example shows clearer than noonday the dreadful difficulty of reforming the vicious inclinations of youthful years.

The prince having lost his father Ezechias, one of the most pious kings of Judah, at the age of twelve years, inherited his crown, but not his virtues; for, soon forgetting the holy example and wise documents he had received from him, he addicted himself to every kind of vice and impiety. His iniquities daily increased until the fifteenth, or, according to others, until the two-and-twentieth year of his reign, wherein God punished his crimes in an exemplary manner. He was taken by the Assyrians in the city of Jerusalem, sent captive into Babylon, loaded with irons and chains, and cast into a frightful prison, where he suffered every degree of misery and persecution. Being reduced to this extremity, he began to open his eyes, and call upon God in his afflictions, whom he had forgotten in his prosperity. He acknowledged his iniquities, and sued for pardon with a truly contrite heart, and by the force of tears and prayers, obtained from God his deliverance; after which he did penance for his sins, and lived in holiness all the remainder of his life, even to the age of sixty-seven, when he died. See here, Theotime, a conversion after a wicked youth, but a conversion purchased at a dear rate.

CHAPTER IX.

That the Devil uses all his endeavours to lead Young People into vice.

To be convinced of the importance of dedicating yourself to God in your youth, you must remember that the Devil, that sworn enemy to man's salvation, fearing nothing more than to see you virtuous in your youth, employs all his endeavours to overcome you, and all those of your age, that he may ruin you, without hope of recovery.

This truth is manifest from all we have said before. That cursed fiend, who studies nothing but to rob God, as much as he can, of the honour due to him, and men of the happiness prepared for them, knows very well that to lead youth into vice is the means of taking from God the first and greatest acknowledgment which men owe to him. In the second place, he knows how injurious to God a wicked life in youth is; and thirdly, the dreadful consequences of it, viz, a deep engagement in sin, hardness of heart, and impatience of mind. Moreover, he understands very well, that there is no other more certain way to fill the earth with iniquities and to damn mankind. This is the reason why he employs all his industry to corrupt the innocence of youth, the first sources of salvation, and all other blessings. He knows well that to poison the waters of a fountain, it is sufficient to cast venom into the spring, which communicates it easily to all the brooks; and that to conquer a realm, the best method is to secure the frontier places, which give entrance into the heart of the country.

This cursed fiend understands well how to put in practice the mischief he taught Pharaoh, to whom he suggested the destruction of all the male infants of the Israelites, that he might exterminate the people of God.

He exercises daily both the malice and the cruelty of Nebuchodonosor, who, having taken king Sedecias, with his children, at the sacking of Jerusalem, caused the children's throats to be cut before the father's face, and satisfied himself by putting out the father's eyes, without taking away his life. Thus this cruel enemy employs all his malice to murder the children by sin, and strives to blind interiorly the parents, that, neither seeing nor caring for the loss of their children, they may not deliver them from such imminent danger.

The same king returning into his country, proud and elevated with his victories, carried as the fairest part of his triumph, the young people of the city of Jerusalem prisoners before him, as is related by the prophet Jeremy. He left nothing in that desolate city more to be lamented, than the deplorable loss of the young people, which the same prophet bewails above all other calamities.

Thus, dear Theotime, this detestable fiend, who, as the Scripture says, is established king over all the proud, has no greater reason insolently to triumph over the holy church, than by the multitude of young people which he keeps in slavery by sin. And this pious mother counts no loss more deplorable than that of her dear children, which the enemy snatches from her in their youth, some by one vice, others by another, but most by the sins of impurity, which is the strongest chain by which he holds them in captivity; thus exercising the rage he has conceived against her from her first establishment, and continuing the war he has sworn to wage against all her children, according to the revelation made by St. John in the apocalypse.

This war of the enemy of mankind against young people is a thing so manifest, that the same St. John, writing to the faithful, and congratulating every age for the blessings most peculiar to them, expresses a particular congratulation to young people, for the victory they have gained over the enemy, as being those who were most persecuted.

"I write to you young men," says he, "because you have overcome the wicked one. I write to you, young men, because you are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and you have overcome the wicked one."

Happy are all those young people to whom with truth

we may say, that they have conquered the enemy of salvation. I represent unto you here the war he wages against those of your age, that we may congratulate you in that manner; and that by the persecution he raised against you, you may know first how necessary it is that you should be virtuous in your youth, since the Devil endeavours so powerfully to corrupt you. Secondly, with how much courage you ought to resist the attempts of that cruel enemy, who seeks your destruction with so much fury? How is it possible you should not stand in horror of that enemy, and dread, more than death, to let yourself be overcome by him, who seeks all ways to destroy you forever!

CHAPTER X.

On the Knowledge of True Virtue.

The first means of acquiring virtue is the knowledge of it, and the discerning of solid piety from that which is false and imaginary.

Many seem to love virtue, who are far from it, because they love not virtue as it is in itself, but as they represent it to themselves, every one according to his own inclination. Some think themselves virtuous, when they are not of the number of the wicked. Others place virtue in abstaining from certain vices, from which they have a kind of aversion, though subject to others no less criminal in the sight of God. Others esteem themselves virtuous if they follow some religious practices, although on the other side they wholly neglect the interior regulation of their conscience, too often defiled with mortal sin. All these are so much the more to be lamented, as they imagine themselves to be in a good way, when they are absolutely out of it; and thinking to arrive by that course at the port of salvation, they find themselves at length in the direct road to perdition: verifying in that respect the saying of Solomon, "There is a way which seemeth just to man but the end thereof leadeth to death."

Virtue, Theotime, does not depend on the opinion of men: it is the work of God. From Him, then, must we learn its rule, since He alone can direct in what manner He will be served.

Hearken, then, to what God says of it in the Sacred Scripture, and consists in and that "Then," "God sa wisdom;

ture, and He will teach you how wisdom, that is, virtue, consists in fearing God, and flying absolutely from sin, and that He has thus instructed man in his creation, "Then," says Job, that is, in the beginning of the world, "God said to man, Behold the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil, that is understanding."

He teacheth the same thing by the royal prophet, by whom He gives you this general rule of virtue, "Decline from evil and do good."

Wise Solomon informs you of the same truth. "Fear God," says he, "and keep his commandments: in that consists the perfection of man, for that he was born, that is his last end and real happiness."

In short, the Sacred Scripture acknowledges no other wisdom of piety than the fear of God, which it calls the beginning, the fullness, and the crown of wisdom.

Now this fear is not that which is purely servile, that is, apprehends more the punishment than detests the sin; but is a loving fear of the children of God, which makes them hate sin, because it displeases God, and love good, because it is agreeable to Him: like the fear and respect a good child bears his father, which makes them fearful to offend, and diligently seek all means of pleasing him.

So that, Theotime, according to the maxims of the divine school, true virtue consists in the fear of God, which produces a voluntary observance of his commandments, and causes a fear and detestation of offending God above all things, and seeks means to please Him, and retain His favour. This alone ought to be accounted virtue; and that which is not directed by this certain and infallible rule, is to be deemed false piety.

CHAPTER XI.

Of Prayer and Instruction.

Of all the means of attaining virtue, prayer is the most important. It is not sufficient to desire it: we must search for it with all diligence; and that we may successfully seek it, we must go to the fountain-head, and beg it of Him, who is the author of it, and bestows on those who beg it as they ought. If any of you want wisdom, let him ask of God, who giveth to all abundantly.

This is the means which wise Solomon employed, to gether with that ardent desire of wisdom, whereof we have just now spoken. For in the same place he says that after he had considered all the perfection of wisdom, he conceived such ardent love for it, that he searched on all sides to find it; and that, in consideration of the innocence of his tender age, which he had hitherto preserved untainted, God gave him to understand that wisdom to the effect of his grace, which he could not obtain without God's assistance; whereupon addressing himself to the author of all wisdom, he requested it of him with all the strength of his heart, in the prayer we shall set down in this chapter.

Besides this excellent example, the Scripture also furnishes you with that of the wise author of Ecclesiasticus, who describes thus the means he made use of in his youth to acquire virtue: "When I was yet young, before I wandered about, I sought for wisdom openly in my prayer. I prayed for her before the temple, and unto the very end I will seek after her. My foot walked in the right way. From my youth up I sought after her. I stretched forth my hands on high, and I bewailed my ignorance of her. I directed my soul to her, and in knowledge I found her."

This is the way these great men took to acquire wisdom in their early years. The Scripture proposes it to all young people as the method they ought to imitate for attaining it.

It behooves you, Theotime, who by the grace of God aspire to that wisdom, to imitate them, and follow the way they have shewn. Beg daily of God, with all the ardour of your affection, this wisdom, which removes ignorance, banishes sin, and leads by the path of virtue to real felicity; offering Him from the bottom of your heart that excellent prayer of Solomon:

"God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word, give me wisdom that sitteth by thy throne, and cast me not off from among thy children; for I am thy servant, and the son of thine handmaid, a weak man, and of short time, and falling short of the understanding of judgment and laws. Send her out of Thy Holy Heaven, and from the throne of Thy majesty, that she may be with me, and labour with me, that I may know what is acceptable with Thee: for she knoweth and understandeth all things, and shall lead me soberly in thy works, and shall preserve me by her power. So shall my works be acceptable."

With this prayer, or some such like it, if you say it as you ought, you will obtain all that you ask for. But remember that it must have these three conditions to be efficacious: it must be humble, fervent, and persevering. Humble, acknowledging that you cannot obtain wisdom or virtue, but from God alone. Fervent, to beg it with a most earnest desire. Persevering, to beg it daily, as there is no way wherein the Divine grace is not necessary to preserve or increase it.

Besides the means of prayer, instruction is also necessary for obtaining virtue. Though none but God can give wisdom, yet ordinarily He does not bestow it but by the ministry of men, by whom He is pleased we should be instructed in the paths of virtue, inspiring by his grace our hearts with his holy truths, at the same time that men teach us by their words. For this reason He has established in his Church pastors and doctors, as the apostle says, to teach men divine truths, and conduct them in the way of salvation.

Now if instruction be necessary for all men, it is particularly so for young persons, who, by reason of their age, have little knowledge of the maxims of wisdom, and are incapable of discovering them without assistance.

It is not sufficient, dear Theotime, to beg daily wisdom and virtue from Almighty God: you must desire and seek after instruction and direction in the way to it from them who know it.

This desire of instruction is so necessary for obtaining virtue, that it is the beginning thereof, according to that of the wise man. "The beginning," says he, "of her [wisdom] is the most true desire of discipline."

And lastly, that you may be fully convinced, read attentively this excellent exhortation of Ecclesiasticus: "Son," says the wise man, "if thou wilt attend to me, thou shalt learn; and if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be wise. If thou wilt incline thine ear, thou shalt receive instruction; and if thou love to hear, thou shalt be wise. Stand in the multitude of ancients that are wise, and join thyself from thy heart to their wisdom, that thou mayest hear every discourse of God, and the sayings of praise may not escape thee.

Now there are many ways by which we may receive instruction in virtue, as preaching, and books of piety. But that which is most necessary for you at your age, is the particular direction of a wise and virtuous person, who may teach you the true way of salvation. For this reason, the wise man adds to the former words, "If thou see a man of understanding, go to him early in the morning, and let thy foot wear the steps of his doors."

CHAPTER XII.

Of Devotion to the Blessed Virgin.

One of the last means which I assign, but also one of the most effectual, for acquiring virtue in youth, is devotion to the Blessed Virgin. It is infallible to such who assiduously employ it, because it affords at the same time the most powerful intercession in the sight of God for obtaining his favour, and the most perfect model for our imitation.

Next to God, and the most adorable humanity of his son Jesus Christ, it is she whom we must chiefly honour and love, by reason of that most sublime and excellent dignity of Mother of God, which raises her above all creatures which God has ever created.

By her we may receive all the assistance which is necessary for us. She is most powerful with God, to obtain from him all that she shall ask of him. She is all goodness in regard of us, by applying to God for us. Being Mother of God, she cannot deny us her intercession when we have recourse to her. Our miseries move her, our necessities urge her; the prayers we offer her for our salvation, bring to us all that we desire; and Saint Bernard is not afraid to say, "That never any person invoked that mother of mercy in his necessities, who has not been sensible of the effects of her assistance."

Although the Blessed Virgin extends her goodness to all men, yet we may say she has a particular regard for young people, whose frailty she knows to be greatest, and necessities the most urgent, especially for the preservation of chastity, which is most assaulted in that age, and of which she is a singular protectress. History is full of examples of saints, who have preserved this great virtue in their youth, by the assistance of this Queen of Virgins; and experience affords daily examples of those who have gained great victories, by the recourse they have had to her intercession, and who have happily advanced themselves in virtue, under the protection and by the grace she obtains of God for them.

Be therefore devout to the Blessed Virgin, dear Theotime; but let it not be the devotion of many, who think themselves so, in offering some prayer to her more by custom than devotion; and, on the other side, exceedingly displease her by a life of mortal sin, which they commit without remorse. What devotion is this, to desire to please the mother, and daily crucify the son, trampling his blood under their feet, and contemning his grace and favour? Is not this to be an enemy both to son and mother?

O dear Theotime, your devotion to the Blessed Virgin must not be like that: it must be more generous and holy. And, to speak plainly, if you will be a true child, and a sincere servant of the Blessed Virgin, you must be careful to perform four things:

1. Have a great apprehension of displeasing her by mortal sin, and of afflicting her motherly heart by dishonouring her Son, and destroying your soul; and if you chance to fall into that misfortune, have recourse readily to her, that she may be your intercessor in reconciling you to her Son, whom you have extremely provoked. "She is the refuge of sinners as well as of the just, on condition they have recourse to her with a true desire of converting themselves," as St. Bernard says.

2. Love and imitate her virtues, principally her humility and chastity. These two virtues, among others, rendered her most pleasing to God. She loves them particularly in children, and is pleased to assist with her prayers those whom she finds particularly inclined to those virtues, according to the same Saint.

3. Have recourse to her in all your spiritual necessities. And, for that end, offer to her daily some particular prayers: say your beads, or the little office, some times in the week; perform something in her honour on every Saturday, whether prayer, abstinence or alms; honour particularly her feasts by confession and communion.

4. Be mindful to invoke her in temptations, and in the dangers you find yourself in of offending God. You cannot shew your respect better than by applying yourself to her in these urgent necessities, and you can find no succour more ready and favourable than hers. It is the counsel of St. Bernard, "If the winds of temptations be raised against you, if you run upon the rocks of adversity, lift up your eyes towards that star, invoke the Blessed Virgin. In dangers, in necessities, in doubtful affairs, think upon the Blessed Virgin, let her not depart from your mouth, nor from your heart; and that you may obtain the assistance of her intercession, be sure to follow her example."

If you perform this, you will have a true devotion to the Blessed Virgin, you will be of the number of her real children, and she will be your mother, under whose protection you shall never perish. Remember well that excellent sentence of St. Anselm, who feared not to say, "That as he must unavoidably perish who has no affection to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and who forsakes her, so it is impossible he should perish who has recourse to her, and whom she regards with an eye of mercy."

I shall conclude with an excellent example which I shall produce for a proof of this truth. St. Bridget had a son who followed the profession of a soldier, and died in the wars. Hearing the news of his death, she was much concerned for the salvation of her son, dead in so dangerous a condition; and as she was often favoured by God with revelations, of which she has composed a book, she was assured of the salvation of her son by two subsequent revelations. In the first place, the Blessed Virgin revealed to her that she had assisted her son with a particular protection at the hour of death, having strengthened him against temptation, and obtained all necessary grace for him to make a holy and a happy end. In the following, she declared the cause of that singular assistance she gave her son, and said, it was the recompense of the great and sincere devotion he had testified to her during his life, wherein he had loved her with a very ardent affection, and had endeavoured to please her in all things.

This, Theotime, is what real devotion to the Blessed Virgin did merit for this young man, and for many others. She will be as powerful in your behalf, if you have a devotion to her, if you love and honour the Blessed Virgin in the manner we have mentioned.

CHAPTER XIII.

Of devotion to our Angel Guardian, and to the Saint of one's name.

God loves us with such tenderness, that he gives to every one of us an angel for our guardian, employing by His incomparable goodness His most perfect creatures in our service, even those celestial spirits which are created incessantly to contemplate Him and continually to serve him in Heaven. O Theotime, how great is the bounty of God, to depute no less than a prince of his court, for the conduct of a poor servant! and as St. Bernard says, excellently well, "Not to be content to send his Son to us, to give us his Holy spirit, to promise the enjoyment of Himself in Heaven; but to the end there should be nothing in Heaven unemployed for our salvation. He sends His angels to contribute thereto their service; He appoints them our guardians, He commands them to be our masters, and guides."

Entertain particular love and honour for him to whom God has intrusted you. He is always near to conduct and guard you: he inspires you with good thoughts; he assists you in important affairs; he fortifies you in temptations; he diverts many misfortunes which otherwise would befall you, whether temporal or spiritual. He continues these good offices in proportion as you have recourse to him. What is it that you owe not to such a director and guardian?

St. Bernard says, "That the being guarded by our good angel ought to inspire us with three things: respect, love, and confidence. Respect for his presence, love, or devotion for the goodwill he has for us, and confidence for the care he has of our reservation.

1. Shew, then, Theotime, a great respect to your angel, and when you are tempted to any wicked action call to mind his presence, and be ashamed to do that before him, which you would not dare to commit before a vir-virtuous person. 2. Love him tenderly, and recommend yourself to him daily. Beseech him that he would direct your actions, and protect you from the misfortunes of this life, and, above all, from sin, which is the greatest of all evils. 3. Remember to have recourse to him in all your necessities, and principally on two occasions.

The first is, when you meditate or undertake any important affair, wherein you have need of counsel and assistance. Entreat your good angel to conduct you in that affair, so that you undertake it not except it be according to the will of God, for his service and your salvation, and to assist in bringing it to a happy issue. This means is very efficacious to make your affairs succeed. It is impossible they should not prosper under so good a guide, who is most faithful, wise, and powerful.

The second is, when you are assaulted with any temptation, and in danger of offending God, "as often as any tribulation or violent temptation assails you, [says St. Bernard,] implore your guardian, your teacher, your assistant in tribulation." This remedy, Theotime, is very powerful in all temptations, especially in those against chastity, of which the angels are lovers and particular protectors, as being a virtue which makes men like to themselves, and which makes them imitate upon earth their most pure and celestial life. "From whence [says St. Ambrose] it is no wonder if angels defend chaste souls, who lead upon earth a life of angels."

Next to your good angel, honour particularly your patron.

The names of Saints are given us at baptism, that they may be our protectors and intercessors with God, and that by their prayers, and the examples of their virtues, we may acquit ourselves worthily of the obligations of a Christian life, whereof we make profession in baptism. "Honour and love him whose name you bear. Recommend yourself daily to him. But to obtain his assistance, remember to imitate his virtues."

tue, that respiration and nourishment are not more needful for the support of the corporal life, than these things are necessary for the preservation of piety, which is the life of the soul.

I begin with morning prayer, which the wise man, amongst the means he assigns for obtaining wisdom, recommends earnestly to you. "He will give his heart to resort early to the Lord that made him, and he will pray in the sight of the Most High. He will open his mouth in prayer, and will make supplication for his sins."

I wish this excellent precept were deeply engraven in the minds of men, and principally of young persons, as one of the most important for living virtuously. If you sincerely aspire to virtue, dear Theotime, you will punctually follow this instruction, which is one of the most necessary you can receive.

We owe to God all our actions, but chiefly the first in the morning: it is that which is most agreeable to him; it is by that we consecrate the rest to him; by it we draw down the Divine blessing upon all our works, and collect the Divine grace for the whole day; as the Israelites in the desert gathered in the morning the manna, which supported them all day.

What is very remarkable in that manna, is, that those who failed to gather it in the morning, found it not presently after, because it was melted at the rising of the Sun; whereof the Scripture gives this excellent reason, viz. that God, who showered it down every morning, caused it to be dissolved with the first beams of the Sun, "that it might be known to all that we must prevent the Sun to bless thee and to adore thee at the dawning of the light."

But remember, Theotime, to perform this action in the manner the wise man prescribes; for he would not have it a constrained, negligent, undevout prayer, but a prayer with the quite contrary qualities: he says, The wise man will give his heart (that is, will apply his will and affection) to resort early to the Lord that made him; that is to say, will give his first thoughts to God, to adore Him as his Creator, and thank him for all his benefits, and he will pray in the sight of the Most High; that is, will consider the greatness of God, who is present, and to whom he speaks, and considering the infinite grandeur of the Divine Majesty, will attentively offer his prayers to him with humility and great modesty, and with a profound respect, begging of God pardon for his sins, and ardently sighing after his holy grace.

To put in execution these instructions, practise what follows. Every morning as soon as you are up, cast yourself upon your knees in some retired place, and there,

1. Adore God from your heart, acknowledging Him for your sovereign Master, and Creator, and looking upon him as one from whom you receive all that you have or are.

2. Give him thanks for all the benefits you have received from him : for the favour of your creation, for your redemption by the merits of His Son Jesus Christ, for making you a Christian, a child of the Catholic church, for instructing you in the necessary truths of salvation and for other particular blessings.

3. Humbly implore his pardon for all the sins of your past life, by which you have so much offended his bounty, and abused his favours.

4. Beg of him the grace to employ that day in his service without offending him : make a firm resolution not to consent to a mortal sin ; purpose to avoid the occasions, and endeavour to foresee those which may happen that day to the end that you may be armed against them.

5. Offer all the actions of the day to him, beseeching him that he would bless them, inspire you, and direct you in all your works, that you do nothing against his commandments ; nothing but through him, that is by His grace ; and nothing but for him, that is, for His glory.

6. Recommend yourself to the Blessed Virgin, to your good angel, and to your patron. Perform all this in a small time, but with much fervour ; and be assured, Theotime, that if you be diligent in this exercise, you will find the truth of that saying of wisdom itself, "They that in the morning early watch for me, shall find me."

old law, God had not only commanded a sacrifice for every morning, but also for every evening: to teach us that we ought to adore Him in the beginning of the day, so we owe Him our acknowledgment at the end of it.

The principal part of this action is the examen of conscience, which is a thing wherein you ought not to fail, if you seriously desire to advance in virtue. 1. It is a powerful means to cure ill habits, to avoid relapsing into sin, or readily to clear one's self of them. 2. It helps to discover the faults one has committed, in order to amend and avoid them, to continue a hatred of mortal sin, and a will not to commit it any more. 3. Without this exercise, we fall into many offences, which, being neglected, lead us into mortal sin, (we are lulled asleep when in sin,) without a desire or thought of freeing ourselves. 4. By this exercise, ordinary confessions are made more easy and frequent; we amend our lives; we prevent an unprovided death; we prepare ourselves for judgment by judging ourselves. And it is in this action that we excellently practice that admirable advice of the wise man: "Before judgment, examine thyself, and thou shalt find mercy in the sight of God."

Be careful then, Theotime, to perform daily this important exercise in the following manner. At night, being upon your knees before you go to bed,—1. Adore God and give Him thanks for all his favours, particularly for preserving you that day from misfortunes, which might have befallen you.

2. Beg of Him grace to discover the sins you have committed that day, in order to ask pardon for them and amend your life.

3. Examine your conscience concerning the sins to which you are most subject. For this effect, call to mind your chief actions from morning to night, and take notice of the faults you have committed. Recollect whether you have had any temptations that day; examine how you behaved, whether you have readily resisted them, or with negligence. Take notice what company you have been in, and whether you have done anything indecently, either by giving ill example in word or deed, either in yourself or others; for example, either through persuasion, fear of displeasing or being despised, or, in a word, by not preventing the sin of another when in your power. Consider whether you have well employed your time all that day, or unprofitably lost it; and so of the rest.

4. After discovering the sins you have committed, stir up in yourself a sorrow for them, humbly beg pardon of God, make a resolution to amend the day following, and remember to confess them the first opportunity.

If unhappily amongst these sins there should be any that are mortal, rise not up from your prayers till you have amply deplored your misery, and conceived an extreme regret for having so grievously offended so holy and adorable a God. Beg of Him pardon with all the contrition of your heart, and protest that you will confess it as soon as possible. Beg of Him that you may not die in that wretched state. Alas! dear Theotime, is it possible a soul can sleep without fear and dread, whilst under the weight of mortal sin? If you have no such dread, you ought to look upon such an insensibility with horror, as a snare by which the Devil endeavours to ruin you for ever.

5. Recommend to God your soul and body; beg of Him that he will preserve you from all misfortune that night, and principally from sin. Offer your prayers to the Blessed Virgin, your angel-guardian, your patron, and all the saints together. And, as in the beginning of the day, you begged of God the grace to live well, so at the end remember to beg of Him the grace to die well. The end we make of every day, is emblematical of the end we shall one day make of our lives. Finish, therefore, every day, as you would, one day, finish your life.

CHAPTER XVI.

Of the Fear of God.

The first virtue that is necessary for you, Theotime, is the fear of God; it is that which, next to faith, is the basis and groundwork of all others. The Scripture calls it "the beginning of wisdom;" and it teacheth us that it is the first thing that ought to be inspired into young souls. For this reason, Solomon, instructing youth in his Proverbs, begins his instruction with this excellent precept, so often repeated in Scripture, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." And the same Scripture, in the history of the Holy Tobias, observes expressly, that having a child, from his infancy he taught him to fear God, and to abstain from all sin.

By this fear, we must not understand a gross and servile fear, that stands in awe of nothing but the punishment, which it apprehends more than the offence; but a respectful fear, by which, considering the greatness and Majesty of God, his sanctity, his power, his justice, we conceive a profound respect, and apprehend above all things to fall by mortal sin, into the displeasure of a God so great, so holy, so powerful, so just.

This, Theotime, is the fear of God, which is the beginning of wisdom, and the foundation of true piety. It is this to which I exhort you here, and which you chiefly should aim to acquire. 1. Beg it daily of God, who is the author of it; say to him frequently from the bottom of your heart, "Pierce thou my flesh with thy fear, for I am afraid of Thy judgments." 2. Conceive an awful respect for the majesty of God. He is the Sovereign Lord of all things, infinite in His perfections, in majesty, in wisdom, in goodness, in power, in justice. All creatures adore him; the angels themselves tremble at the sight of His immensity. All that is great in the world, is but an atom in his sight; and as he has created all things by one word, so He could destroy them all in a moment. There is none like to thee O Lord: Thou art great, and great is thy name in might, who shall not fear Thee, O King of Nations! Fear above all things to displease God; and let that be the first and principal thing you regard in all your actions, whether God be not therein offended. 3. When you speak of God, never speak of him but with profound respect; and endeavour to cause by your example, that He never be spoken of otherwise in your presence.

CHAPTER XVII.

Of the love of God.

If the greatness of God obliges us to fear and honour him with profound respect, His goodness engages us as much to love Him. We must fear God by reason of his greatness, which renders him infinitely adorable; and we must love Him because of his goodness, which makes him infinitely amiable. We must not separate these two virtues, fear and love. The fear of God is the beginning of his love, and love is the perfection of fear. He that is without fear, cannot be justified. He that loveth not, abideth in death.

We must then love God, dear Theotime, for how can it be that you should not love goodness itself, and Him who hath loved you first? But you must love him sometimes, and from your tender years: you must begin that early, which you must do all your life, and during all eternity. The love of our God is our last end. God has placed you in this world for no other end than to love Him; and that coming to know Him for your Creator, you should render that which a work owes to its workman, a creature to its Creator, a child to its father, that is love. And to induce you the better, thereunto, He has added all imaginable favours, having designed you for the enjoyment of his kingdom in Heaven, redeemed you when you were lost, and redeemed you by the death of his only Son, called you to the grace of Christianity, enlightened you with faith, sanctified you by his grace, received you often into his mercy, and replaced you among his children, after you had grievously offended him; and a thousand other blessings has He bestowed upon you. Theotime, how is it possible not to love God, who has loved you so much?

There are two things in God for which he ought to be beloved. The one is his goodness, which He manifests unto us by all the favours and blessings which he bestows upon us. The other is the goodness he possesses in himself, which makes him transcendantly amiable. For, if we might suppose a thing impossible, viz., that God had never showed us any favour, yet He deserves to be infinitely beloved, by reason of the sovereign goodness and infinite perfections He enjoys in himself, which render Him infinitely amiable. When I say we must love God, I include a twofold love: the first is, for the benefits He has bestowed upon us; the second, in consideration of his infinite goodness, which renders Him so lovely, that in the love of his goodness consists the eternal happiness of both men and angels.

But take notice, Theotime, that the love of God, to be real, ought to have one very particular condition, which occurs not in any other love; for it does not suffice to love God as we love creatures, but we must love Him above all things, that is, more than all creatures. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart ; that is, more than all other things : so that you love nothing above Him, as there is nothing greater or more amiable than he ; nor any thing equal to Him, as there is nothing which can equal Him.

In a word, the love of God consists in preferring God above all things, before the goods of the world, pleasures, honours, and life itself: so that you must be prepared never to love these things to the prejudice of the love you owe to God ; and be resolved rather to lose them a thousand times than be wanting in the obedience you are obliged to render unto Him. It is in this preference of God above all things the essential point of the love of God consists ; a preference, without which it is impossible to love God, or to be in the state of salvation.

You must then labour early to acquire this so amiable a love, and this so necessary a preference, to engrave it deep in your heart: and to the end you be not deceived therein, by taking as very many do, apparent love for the real, see the principal acts you must practice therein, by which you may know whether you love God truly or no.

1. Above all things, fear and have a horror of sin, because it is displeasing to God, and infinitely opposite to his goodness, and be resolved never to commit a sin upon any account whatsoever. 2. Fly venial sins as much as possible because they displease God ; and although they destroy not His love, yet they diminish and weaken it, and dispose you to fall into mortal sin. 3. Labour to acquire the virtues so necessary for you, and which He requires of you. It is the property of love, to desire to please him whom one loves. If you love God, dear Theotime, you will be careful not only to preserve yourself in his holy grace, by avoiding sin, but you will endeavour to acquire those virtues you know will make you most acceptable to Him. 4. Often in your heart and with your lips, form acts of the love of God ; wish often that God be served and loved as he deserves. Be troubled when you see him offended ; hinder it as much as you can ; and endeavour by your words and example to move others to love him. 5. Begin from youth to love Him whom you must never cease to love. At what time soever you begin to love Him, it will always be too late, and you will always have reason to express that grief which St. Augustin did: "I have loved Thee too late, O ancient Beauty! I have loved Thee too late, O eternal Goodness!" Beg of Him frequently the grace to love him as you ought, and daily say to Him from your heart, those excellent words of David: O God, what have I in Heaven? And, besides Thee, what do I desire upon earth? Thou art the God of my heart, and the God that is my portion for ever.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Of the love of Parents.

He that feareth the Lord, says the wise man, honoreth his parents, and will serve them as his masters that brought him into the world. Yes, Theotime, if you have the fear of God in your heart, you will honour your parents, and all those to whom He has given authority over you, because it is his will and command. Honour thy father and thy mother; and if you honour them not, you have neither the fear nor the love of God.

For to contemn a duty, which nature herself dictates, and which God has so strictly commanded, is not to have the fear of God. There is no menace which He has not denounced against those children who are wanting in this duty. He says, he that afflicteth his father, and chaseth away his mother, is infamous and unhappy. He that curseth his father and mother, his lamp shall be put out in the midst of darkness. The eye that mocketh at his father, and that despiseth the labour of his mother in bearing him, let the ravens of the brooks pick it out, and the young eagles eat it. Of what evil fame is he that forsaketh his father! and he is cursed of God that angereth his mother. I wish these menaces were deeply engraven on the minds of all children, who forget ever so little their duty towards their parents.

Render, then, to your parents, Theotime, the honour you owe them: considering, 1. That it is just and reasonable. 2. That God will have it so; God, I say, whose will ought to be the rule of our actions, and whose command is the most powerful motive to a generous soul. The honour you ought to give to your parents, includes four principal things, which we owe to them, viz. respect, love, obedience, and assistance.

1. Bear them great respect, considering them as those from whom, next to God, you have received your being. Never despise them upon any consideration whatever: either interiorly, by any thought of contempt, or exteriorly, by any words or disrespectful behaviour. Receive with good will their instructions, admonitions, and reprimands. My son, says the wise man, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother. A fool laugheth at the instruction of his father; but he that regardeth reproofs, shall become prudent.

2. Entertain an affectionate love for them. Remember, says the wise man, that thou hadst not been born but through them; and make a return to them. Now this can only be done by loving them. Yet, take notice, that this love must not only be a natural and sensible love: it must also be a rational love, and according to God. To love them according to God, you must love them because God commands it; and as he commands it, that is in such a manner that you love principally their spiritual good and salvation; and endeavour to procure it by your prayers, and all other means which lie in your power.

3. Shew a ready obedience to them, as holding the place of God: yet only, as St. Paul advises, in the Lord, because such is his will; for it is God who commands you to obey them; and when you obey them, you obey God: as, on the contrary, not obeying them, you disobey God, except they command any thing against the honour of God, or your good; for in these two cases, you owe them no obedience. Nevertheless, you must be very discreet on such an occasion, and procure the best advice, that you may not be deceived.

4. You must assist them in their necessities, in sickness, proverty, old age, and generally in all their temporal and spiritual necessities. To forsake them on such occasions, is a very great crime, which cries to God for vengeance.

CHAPTER XIX.

Of other Persons whom Youth ought to Honour.

Next to your parents, there are other persons you ought particularly to honour.

1. You must honour those who represent them, your tutors, and those who have a charge of your person; your elder brothers and sisters, for to them there is a respect due.

2. Your masters, whether private or public, from whom you receive instruction in virtue and learning. You ought to honour them by so much more, as they represent your parents, and as the benefits you receive from them, such as virtue and knowledge, (the ornaments of the mind,) far surpass all worldly riches. And as you owe to your parents respect, love, obedience, and assistance; you also owe to your masters, respect, love, obedience, and gratitude.

3. You owe a special honour to your spiritual masters, such as your pastors, and all those who instruct you in the way of salvation, and chiefly your ghostly father. Respect him much, regarding him as an officer of God; love him as the minister of your salvation; obey him, and follow his advice, in which young people are often very defective.

4. Honour all the persons that are venerable: either for dignity as priests, whom the Scripture commands you to honour; or for their age, as old men, to whom young people should shew much respect; or for their virtue (for if you honour God, you will also honour them that serve him); and lastly, men in public authority, whom God commands you to honour, as representing his place, and whom He has established for his ministers in the temporal government of mankind.

CHAPTER XX.

Of Swearing and Lying.

To be addicted to swearing is a very vicious quality, especially in young people. I speak not of oaths appointed by religion, to ascertain a truth, when sufficient necessity requires it, a necessity which seldom happens to young people; but of those oaths so common among Christians, where the adorable name of God is called upon and taken in vain, in the least anger or impatience, and sometimes of swearing deliberately, from a detestable custom, by the name of God on all occasions.

This sin is one of the most fatal habits a man can contract: For, 1st, It is a contempt of God, to respect so little his holy name, which all creatures adore, and whose sanctity makes all the angels to tremble; and this notwithstanding God's express prohibition, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." 2. It is a heinous outrage offered to his Son Jesus Christ, to treat with so much irreverence, the precious death he suffered for our redemption, and the adorable blood he shed for our salvation; an outrage which is no less than that he received by the cruelty of his executioners. "He was scourged [says St. Augustin] with the rods of the Jews, and he is now scourged by the blasphemous tongues of wicked Christians. And they sin no less, who blaspheme Jesus Christ reigning in Heaven, than those who blasphemed him when he walked upon Earth." 3. This vice causes many other sins to be committed, for besides that there is no sin multiplied like swearing, when grown habitual, it draws the curse of God upon those who are accustomed to it, by which they are abandoned to their passions, and to the occasions of sin; for this reason the wise man said, "A man that sweareth much shall be filled with iniquity, and a scourge shall not depart from his house." 4. This vice is very hard to be corrected: though ever so little rooted, it increases still with age, and becomes at length past remedy, as those who are subject to it, do daily experience. Lastly, it suffices to say, that this sin is the sin of the devils, who are pleased in nothing but in abusing the holy name of God. And it is a horrible thing that Christians, who ought to praise God upon Earth, as the angels praise him in Heaven, should offer him here the same injuries as the devils throw out against him in hell.

O Theotime, fly this detestable sin, abominable before God and man, odious in persons of every age, but principally in youth. Remember that the ancient law condemned blasphemers to death, and St. Paul delivered over to the Devil two Christians guilty of this crime; that they may learn, says he, not to blaspheme. And St. Gregory relates, how a child accustomed to swear, in his impatience, by the name of God, was seized with a mortal distemper and assaulted by evil spirits, which caused him to depart this life in his father's arms, who being too indulgent in correcting him, had bred up, in this child, a great sinner for Hell, as the same Saint observes.

The remedy of this sin, when one has ever so little a habit or inclination to it, is to fly the causes, as anger, gaming, wicked company, and all other things which every one knows to be, of themselves, an occasion of swearing. But above all it is a powerful, and even necessary remedy, to impose upon one's self some rigorous punishment every time he shall fall into this sin ; as, some alm, some prayers to be performed the same day, some fasting to be observed soon after, or other mortifications.

Avoid every degree of oaths or imprecations, and other phrases, which though not oaths, tend to swearing upon occasions. Christian modesty requires that we should not swear at all : according to that holy precept of our Saviour "I say to you not to swear at all, but let your speech be Yea, yea ; Nay, nay : for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil."

Beware also of lying, Theotime, which is not the least considerable among the sins of the tongue ; and it is so much more important that you should be solidly instructed on this subject, as it is frequent with young persons, and infinitely pernicious when once become habitual. A lie is always a sin, because it is always against truth, known to be such by him who speaks ; and although it be not a mortal sin, when it is not in a matter of consequence, nevertheless, the habit of lying, although lightly, is not a light thing, nor of small importance.

A habit or custom of lying opens a gate to an infinite number of other vices. A lying person will become a cheat and deceiver in his behaviour, double in his words, unfaithful in his promises, a hypocrite in his manners, a dissembler in his actions, a flatterer and faint-hearted when he should speak truth ; bold and shameless to affirm lies, impudent to maintain them as certain truths, a swearer, detractor, mistrustful of every one ; for as he is accustomed to lie, he believes that others always speak false. A mind addicted to lying, will easily be so in things of moment, and consequently involved in heinous sins.

So that, Theotime, there are few vices more pernicious and principally to youth, than this custom of lying. For this reason, be not willing to make any manner of lie : for the custom thereof is not good ; that is, according to the expression of the Scripture, it is very bad.

In a word, it is so wicked a quality of the mind to be a liar, that the Scripture speaks of it in unusual terms. It says that God abhors it: that lying lips are an abomination to the Lord ; as, on the contrary, those who love sincerity in their words, gain his friendship. Thou, O Lord, wilt destroy all that speak a lie. Lying is infamous among men. A lie is a foul blot in a man, and yet it will be continually in the mouth of men without discipline. A thief is better than a man that is always lying ; but both of them shall inherit destruction.

Lastly, this vice makes men resemble the Devil, who is pleased with nothing more than lies. It was he who invented it, and who is the father thereof, as the Son of God has named him with his own mouth.

St. Augustin says, " That as the truth comes from God, lying takes its origin from the Devil." And St. Ambrose adds, " That those who love lying, are the children of that detestable fiend, for the children of God love truth."

Fly entirely, Theotime, this pernicious vice in all occurrences, but chiefly in two.

1. When you speak of a thing of importance, that is when it prejudices your neighbour in his goods, honour, or eternal welfare, wherein you must be very cautious, and even more than in regard of yourself.

2. When you speak to a person who has authority over you: for then a lie is a very culpable imposture, as well by reason of the respect you then break through, as because it frequently happens that those falsehoods notably prejudice your own good ; or that of your neighbour, which you are obliged to promote when it is in your power.

Lastly, in whatsoever matter it be, and to whatsoever person you speak, accustom yourself never to tell a lie on purpose or with reflection. Love truth and sincerity in all your words. What an excellent quality it is in a young man, when he cannot tell an untruth without blushing ! The just, says the wise man, shall hate a lying word. Beg of God that he give you a hatred of this sin, and frequently offer him that prayer of Solomon, Remove far from me vanity and lying words.

CHAPTER XXI.

Of Sports and Recreations.

Recreation is necessary to relax the spirits, particularly of young people; and that which is taken in innocent diversion is most proper for them, it being more proportioned to their nature, and the capacity of their mind.

Pastime, then, and recreation are not contrary to virtue, but rather commanded; and it is an act of virtue when it is done as it ought.

To be such, it is necessary above all things that the motive be good; that is, that it be taken to recreate the mind, and to make it more capable of labour, which it could not be able to undergo, if it were always employed. So that labour is the end and motive of sport and recreation. We recreate ourselves on account of the fatigue we have undergone, and in order to undergo more. From hence three conditions follow, which must be observed in pastime, that it may be good and virtuous.

The first, to observe moderation; for excess herein renders it no longer a recreation, but rather an employment; for it would not then be taken to prepare us for new labour, which is the sole end pastime ought to have, but merely for our pleasure, which is a vicious end; yea, it is to make one unfit for labour, because excess in amusement dissipates the spirits, enfeebles the powers of the body, and oftentimes considerably prejudices the health, by the distempers it causes.

The second condition is, not to have an irregular affection for amusements, as it happens frequently to young persons. This affection makes them fall into the excess just mentioned, lose much time, and think continually on the means of dissipation. It generally prevents their applying themselves seriously to labour, and when their body is at study, their mind is bent upon their sport and divertisement.

The third condition is, to fly as much as possible from games of hazard, which enslave the minds principally of youths, and instead of refreshing the spirits, load them with anxiety; one is there so deeply concerned in losing or winning that it is hard to observe moderation. They play there only out of covetousness and for gain, which is a criminal motive; consider also the ordinary losses one suffers, which leave after them displeasure, vexation, and despair; add to these cheats, unjust gain, choler, swearing, quarrels, with which these sorts of games are ordinarily attended; the great loss of time, the dissipation of mind and goods, the sinful habits of anger, of impatience, of swearing, of lying, of covetousness, a neglect of duty to God and their family, and adherence to ill company, an aversion to what is serious, and a love to be idle, and to make their life but a change or succession of idleness. Such an unhappy inclination to play frequently continues all their life, to the ruin of their wealth and honour, and reduces them to the utmost misery, as we daily see by too many examples, and in short makes a man incapable of all good.

Avoid all prohibited games, Theotime, as absolutely inconsistent with your salvation; amuse yourself in some laudable diversion, which may serve to unbend the mind, or exercise the body, observing therein the conditions we have spoken of, especially avoiding all excess, which St. Augustin, in his confessions, acknowledged to be one of the causes of the wickedness of his youth. Now this excess is understood, not only of the time employed therein, which ought to be well regulated, but also of the money you play for, which ought always to be very little; otherwise you will play for gain, and not for recreation, and the sport will be a rack and disquiet, rather than a diversion. Besides, the money you lose at play would be better employed amongst the poor, whose necessity will cry one day to God against your excesses, and those of all gamblers.

CHAPTER XXII.

The conclusion of all that has been said in the foregoing Chapters.

It is certainly, Theotime, of great consequence that you should be virtuous in your younger years, and that the good or evil life of youth is not trifling, nor a thing that deserves little care or regard, as the greatest part of the world thinks; but that it is a business of high importance, the truth of which is founded upon all that is great and sacred, in what concerns the service of God, and salvation of men.

1. You are obliged to serve God in your youth, because you ought to acknowledge Him as your Creator and sovereign Master, for the being you have received from Him, and on account of the most sublime and excellent end for which He has created you; having made you for nothing less than to possess Him eternally in heaven, after you have faithfully served Him upon earth.

2. On account of the great favour he has shewn you in calling you to Christianity and the Catholic religion, out of which all those who obstinately remain cannot be saved.

3. Because the service of young people is singularly pleasing to God, since He loves them with a particular affection, and is pleased to confer many benefits upon them.

4. Because you cannot refuse Him your service, without offering Him a heinous injury.

5. Because He hath an incredible aversion to wicked young people.

6. Because your eternal salvation has a great dependence upon the life you lead in your youth; so that if you set your affection upon virtue in your younger years, you will easily preserve it the remainder of your life: and if you follow vice, you cannot withdraw yourself but with great difficulty, and perhaps not at all.

7. To avoid the heavy misfortunes which spring from the wicked life of youth, untimely death, obdurateness in sin, the loss of many fair hopes, and the overflowing of vice amongst men.

8. And, lastly, because of the persecution which the devil raises against young people, whom he continually endeavours to withdraw from the service of God, and ensnares betimes in disorders, that he may destroy them without recovery.

After all these reasons, I ask you, whether you now hesitate what you have to do? Are not these considerations powerful enough to convince you of the obligation you have to consecrate yourself to virtue in your youth? And if you be convinced thereof, what do you mean? What is your design and resolution for the future? Perhaps hitherto you have not comprehended the greatness of this obligation: but now, understanding it clearly, what judgment ought you not to expect from God, if you be rebellious to the light, and act like those wretches who say to God, Depart from us, we desire not the knowledge of thy ways.

The Jews being returned from the captivity of Babylon, the prophet Esdras caused the law of God to be publicly read unto them, from whence they had received no instruction during the seventy years of their captivity.

That people had scarce begun to hear the law, when they wept bitterly, and made the air resound with their cries and lamentations: so that the priests and Levites who read the law, were more employed to stop their tears, and comfort, than instruct them. This poor people sadly deplored their unhappy ignorance of their duty; an ignorance which their own negligence had occasioned.

O, dear Theotime, I beseech the Divine Goodness by His grace to work the same effect in your heart. After reading the truths I have represented to you, is it possible that you should not be touched with the force of truth and the care of your salvation? And that after reading all these reasons which shew the strict obligation you have to the service of your Creator, you should shut the book without making any reflections upon yourself, or taking proper resolutions for the future? I conjure you by the honour and respect you owe to God, by the love you owe to His Son Jesus Christ, your gracious Saviour; by the concern you ought to have for your eternal salvation; I conjure you, I say, that you do not read these truths unprofitably; bly; and that when you have read them, you do not cast the book out of your hands, until you have made a full resolution to think seriously on your salvation; to that effect, firmly resolve to lead a virtuous life during your youth, preserving the grace you have received; or correcting your past life by a holy and virtuous one, if it has been disorderly.

It is here, where you must open your eyes to see yourself, and deplore your past offences, and the blindness which has produced them, saying with St. Augustin, "Wo, wo, be to the darkness wherein I have lived! wo to the blindness, which hath hindered me from seeing the light of heaven! wo to my past ignorance, wherein I knew not thee! I give thee thanks, O God, whom I acknowledge to be my illuminator and redeemer, because thou hast enlightened me with thy grace, so that now I know thee. I have known thee too late. O ancient Truth! I have known thee too late. O eternal Verity!"

PART III.

THE PRINCIPAL FESTIVALS EXPOUNDED.

SUNDAY was dedicated by the Apostles to the more particular service and honour of Almighty God, and transferred from Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, which they then abolished, to the day following, in memory that Christ our Lord rose from the dead, and sent down the Holy Ghost on that day, whence it is called the Lord's day; and, Sunday, from the heathens dedicating it to the Sun.

The four Sundays of Advent, preceding Christmas, were instituted by the Church with particular offices, commemorative of the benefits of our Saviour's coming to redeem the world by his happy birth.

The four Ember weeks, in Latin Quatuor tempora, are times of public prayer, fasting, and procession, partly instituted for the successful ordination of priests and ministers of the church, and partly to beg and give thanks to God for the fruits of the earth. Ember is derived from the Greek word emera, a day; others call them Ember-days, from the ancient religious custom of eating nothing on those days till night, and then only a cake baked under the embers, called ember-bread.

Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima Sundays, are days set apart by the church for acts of penance and mortification, and a certain graduation or preparation to the devotion of Lent; being more proper and immediate to the passion and resurrection of Christ; taking their numeral denominations from their being about seventy, sixty, and fifty days before Easter.

Shrovetid: signifies the time of confession; for our Saxon ancestors used to say, 'We will go to shrift;' and, in the more primitive times, it was the custom of all good Christians then to confess their sins to a priest, the better to prepare themselves for a holy observance of Lent, and worthily receiving the blessed sacrament at Easter.

Ash Wednesday is a day of public penance and humiliation in the whole Church of God, so called from the ceremony of blessing ashes, wherewith the priest signs the people with a cross on their forehead, giving them this wholesome admonition, 'Remember, man, thou art but dust, and unto dust thou shalt return,' Gen. iii. 9, to remind them of their mortality, and prepare them for the holy fast of Lent. The ashes are made of the palms blessed on the Palm Sundays of the preceding year.

Lent, an old Saxon word signifying Spring; this fast being observed in the beginning of the year, in Latin is called Quadragesima, because it is a fast of forty days, except Sundays, which are only abstinence, instituted by the church. Many are the motives for which Lent is established. 1. This fast is the figure of the spirit of Penance, which every one of the faithful ought to conserve throughout the whole of his life. 2. It is, as it were a tithe or tenth, which the faithful offer to God, sanctifying by fasting these forty days, which make about a tenth part of the year. 3. This fast is a weak imitation of what Jesus-Christ our Lord performed in the desert, in fasting forty days and forty nights, without eating or drinking. 4. It was appointed in consequence of the obligation which Christ our Lord imposed on his disciples, to fast after his ascension. 5. By this fast we participate in the sufferings of our Lord, in order to have a share in his glory. And, lastly, it prepares us to celebrate worthily, the approaching Easter.

Passion Sunday, so called from the passion of Christ then drawing nigh, was ordained by the Church more closely to prepare us for a worthy celebration of that solemnity. On this day the crucifixes, &c., in churches, are covered with a mourning colour; both to commemorate our Saviour's going out of the temple and hiding himself; and to dispose us to compassionate his sufferings.

Palm-Sunday, in memory and honour of our Lord's triumphant entry into Jerusalem, is so called from the palm branches strewed under his feet by the Hebrew children, crying, Hosanna to the son of David. Matt. xxi. And therefore the church this day blesses palms, and makes a solemn procession, in memory of that humble triumph of our Saviour, the people bearing palm branches in their hands.

Maunday Thursday, in memory of our Lord's Last Supper, when he instituted the blessed sacrament of his precious body and blood, is so called from the first of the anthem Mandatum

&c. John xviii. 34—I give you a new command, that you love one another as I have loved you; which is sung on that day in the choir, when the prelate begins the ceremony of washing the people's feet, in imitation of Christ's washing those of his disciples, before He instituted the blessed sacrament.

Good Friday is the anniversary of that most sacred and memorable day, on which the great work of our redemption was consummated, by our Saviour Jesus Christ, on his bloody cross, between two thieves, on Mount Calvary, near Jerusalem.

On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, in Holy Week, the offices called Tenebræ, were formerly mournfully sung in lamentation of our Lord's passion. But because the offices are now anticipated on the evening of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, they have obtained the name of 'Tenebræ days,' for that Tenebræ, or darkness, which overspread the face of the earth, at the time of his passion; for which end all the lights are extinguished; and, after some silence at the end of the offices, a noise is made to represent the rending of the veil of the temple, and the disorder in which all nature was involved at the death of our divine Redeemer.

Easter-Day, in Latin Pascha, a great festival in memory and honour of our Saviour's resurrection from the dead, on the third day after his crucifixion, Matt. xxviii. 6. It is called Easter from Oriens, the east or rising, one of Christ's titles. And his name, says the prophet Zacharias, chap. vi. 12, is Oriens. 'This is the day which our Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it.' The church repeating frequently these words on this day, desires that her children, after having shared in the sufferings of Christ, by compunction and penance, should participate in the glory and joy of his resurrection by a lively faith, hoping to rise again themselves, by an ardent love, with their Redeemer, who having died in satisfaction for our sins, is risen again for our justification; and, finally, by a new life, pure, and wholly celestial. The Monday following is also kept holy, in memory of our Lord's first appearance after his resurrection, which is commemorated on this day, for the greater solemnity of the festival.

Low-Sunday, in Latin Dominica in albis, the Octave of Easter-day, is so called from the catechumens' white garments, emblems of innocence and joy, which they put on at their baptism, and solemnly put off this day.

Rogation-Week, the next but one before Whitsunday, is so called from rogo, to ask or pray; because on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Litanies are sung; and abstinence from flesh is enjoined by the church, not only as a devout preparative to the feast of Christ's glorious Ascension and Pentecost, but also to supplicate the blessing of God on the fruits of the earth.

The Belgians call it Cruis, or Cross-Week, and so it is called in some parts of England : because, when the priest goes on those days in procession, the cross is carried before him. In the north of England it is called Gang-Week, from the 'ganging,' or processions then used.

Ascension Day, a feast solemnized in memory of Christ's glorious ascension into heaven, on the fortieth day after his resurrection, in the sight of his apostles and disciples—Acts i. 9.

Whit-Sunday or Pentecost, a solemn feast in memory and honour of the descent of the Holy Ghost on the apostles, in the form of tongues of fire, Acts ii. 3. Pentecost, in Greek, signifies the fiftieth day after his resurrection. It is called Whit-Sunday, from the catechumens being anciently clothed in white, and admitted; on the eve of this feast, to the sacrament of baptism. The old Saxons called it Wied, or Holy-Sunday. In the law of Moses, this day was most solemn. It is believed, that on it God gave the law to Moses upon Mount Sinai. On that day, people offered to God the first fruits of the earth. The faithful ought to beg of God to be filled with the Holy Ghost, and to participate of the grace, the light, the charity, and strength, which the same Holy Ghost communicated to the first Christians. The following Monday is also a holiday of obligation, and the faithful ought to apply themselves in this week more than usual to the work of mercy.

Trinity-Sunday, the Octave of Whit-Sunday, is dedicated to the honour of the blessed Trinity; to signify that the works of our redemption and sanctification, then completed, are common to the Three Divine Persons.

Corpus Christi, the Thursday after Trinity Sunday, is a feast instituted by the church in honour of the blessed Sacrament of the altar; it receives its denomination from the body of Christ, substantially present therein. On this day, in all Catholic Countries, that adorable sacrament is solemnly carried in procession, the priest and people expressing their highest devotion in hymns and prayers, accompanied by several other exterior testimonies of pious affection, such as music, flowers strewed along the streets, and their walls covered with the richest tapestries.

JANUARY.

1st.—The Circumcision of our Lord is called New Year's Day, from the Romans beginning their year on it. This feast is instituted by the church in memory of our Lord's Circumcision on the eighth day after his nativity, according to the precept of the old law, Gen. xxii. 12, when he was called JESUS, as the angel had foretold, Luke i. 32, and began to shed his infant blood by the stony knife of circumcision.

6th.—The Epiphany of our Lord is a feast solemnised in memory and honour of Christ's manifestation to the Gentiles, by an extraordinary star, which conducted the three kings from the east to adore Him in the manger, where they presented Him with gold, myrrh, and frankincense, in token of his divinity, regality, and humanity, or his being God, King and Man. The word Epiphany is derived from the Greek, which signifies manifestation. It is also called Twelfth-Day, on account of its being celebrated the twelfth day after Christ's birth, exclusively. On the same day are commemorated our Saviour's baptism, and his first miracle of turning water into wine, at the wedding of Cana, in Galilee.

FEBRUARY.

2d.—The Purification of the Blessed Virgin, or Candlemas-Day, is a feast in commemoration and honour both of the Presentation of our blessed Lord, and the Purification of our Lady in the Temple of Jerusalem, the fortieth day after her happy delivery, performed according to the Law of Moses, Lev. xii. It is called Purification from the Latin purifico, which signifies to purify; not that the Blessed Virgin had contracted any thing by her child-birth which needed purifying, being the Mother of Purity itself, but because common mothers were, by this ceremonial rite, freed from the legal impurity of child-birth, to which, out of her great humility, she submitted. It is also called Candlemas-Day, because, before Mass on that Day, the church blesses her candles for the whole year, and makes a procession with blessed candles in the hands of the faithful, in memory of the light wherewith Christ illuminated the whole church, at his presentation, when old Simeon styled him, a "light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of his people Israel." Luke ii. 32.

24th.—St. Matthias, chosen by the College of Apostles, to supply the place of Judas the traitor; he suffered Martyrdom, anno, 74.

MARCH.

17th.—St. Patrick, apostle of Ireland. He was a Briton by birth, and nephew to St. Martin, Bishop of Tours. Being sent, in 443, by Pope Celestinus, to convert the Irish to Christianity, he entered upon his ministry with such piety and courage, that he subdued the inhabitants to the laws of the gospel of Christ; and after having governed the church of Ireland sixty years, during which he is said to have consecrated 305 Bishops, and ordained 3,000 Priests, he died in the odour of sanctity, at the age of 123 years.

19th.—St. Joseph, the reputed father of our blessed Saviour, and spouse of our blessed Lady.

25th.—Annunciation of Our Lady, a feast in memory of the Angel Gabriel's most happy embassy, when, by her consent and the co-operation of the Holy Ghost, the Son of God was incarnate in her sacred womb.

APRIL.

25th.—St. Mark, evangelist, the disciple and interpreter of St. Peter. Writing his gospel at the request of the Christians at Rome, he took it with him into Egypt; first preaching at Alexandria, he founded that Church; and afterwards, being apprehended for the faith of Christ, was bound with cords, dragged upon stones, and shut up in a close prison, where he was comforted by an angelic vision, and an apparition of our Lord. Finally, he was called to heaven in the eighth year of Nero. On this day the long litanies are said or sung, and abstinence from flesh is observed, to obtain the blessing of God, on the fruits of the earth.

MAY.

1st.—SS. Philip and James, Apostles. After the first had converted almost all Scythia to the faith of Christ, being fastened to a cross, he was stoned to death, making a glorious end at Hieropolis, in Asia, in the year fifty-four. The second, called also our Lord's brother, was the first bishop of Jerusalem, where, being thrown from a pinnacle of the temple, his thighs broken, and struck on the head with a fuller's club, he gave up the ghost, and was buried near the temple, in the year sixty-three.

3d.—Finding the Holy Cross, otherwise called Holy Rood Day. A feast in memory of the miraculous discovery of the holy cross whereon our Saviour suffered, by St. Helen, mother of Constantine the Great, in the year three hundred and twenty-six, after it had been concealed by the infidels one hundred and eighty years, who erected a statue of Venus in place of it.

JUNE.

11th.—St. Barnaby; born at Cyprus, and ordained apostle of the Gentiles by St. Paul. He travelled with him into many provinces, exercising the function of preaching the gospel committed to him; and lastly, going into Cyprus, there adorned his apostleship with a glorious crown of martyrdom, in the year fifty-six. His body, by a revelation of himself, was found in the time of Zeno the Emperor, with St. Matthew's gospel in his own handwriting.

24th.—Nativity of St. John Baptist, our Lord's precursor, the son of Zachary and Elizabeth, who being yet in his mother's womb, was replenished with the Holy Ghost.

29th.—St. Peter and St. Paul are joined in one solemnity, because they were the principal co-operators under Christ in the conversion of the world; the first having converted the Jews, the other the Gentiles. They were both martyred at the same place, Rome, and on the same day.

JULY.

2.—Visitation of our B. Lady, a feast instituted to commemorate the visit she paid her cousin St. Elizabeth, immediately after she had received the angel's message of the incarnation of the Son of God. It is celebrated at this time, when it is probable she returned to Nazareth, rather than at the exact time she undertook it, about Easter; because its observance at that holy season can scarcely be complied with, on account of the many great solemnities then occurring. This feast was instituted by Pope Urban VI. in the year thirteen hundred and eighty-five.

25th.—St. James, called the Great, brother to St. John the Evangelist, was, about the feast of Easter, beheaded at Jerusalem by Herod Agrippa, in the year forty-two. His relics were on this day translated to Compostelia, in Spain, where they are held in great veneration, people resorting thither from all parts of Christendom, to pay their pious devotions and fulfil their vows.

26th.—St. Ann, mother of the B. Virgin Mary.

AUGUST.

6th.—Our Lord's Transfiguration, when he appeared in glory on Mount Tabor, between Moses and Elias, in presence of his three apostles, Peter, James, and John. Matt. xvii.

10th.—St. Lawrence, deacon to Pope Xystus II. was broiled on a gridiron for the faith of Christ; which cruel martyrdom he suffered with incomparable fortitude and patience, in the year two hundred and fifty-three.

15th.—Assumption of the B. V. Mary, a feast in memory of her being taken into heaven, both body and soul, after her dissolution; which, by a constant tradition in the church, has ever been piously believed to have happened in the year thirty-six.

24th.—St. Bartholomew, the apostle, having preached the gospel in India, and passing thence into the greater Armenia, after he had converted innumerable people to the faith, was barbarously flayed alive by command of king Astages, and then beheaded, in the year forty-four.

SEPTEMBER.

8th.—The Feast of her Nativity, of whom the Author of all life and salvation was born to the world.

14th.—The Exaltation of the Holy Cross; when Heraclitus the emperor, having overcome Osroe, king of Persia, brought it back in triumph to Jerusalem, in the year six hundred and twenty-eight.

21st.—St. Matthew, apostle and evangelist, after preaching the gospel in Ethiopia, was slain at the altar as he celebrated the divine mysteries, in the year forty-four.

29th.—Michaelmas, a festival instituted in honour of St. Michael the archangel, and of the nine orders of holy angels; to commend the whole Church of God to their patronage, by whose charitable ministry we daily receive from God, as the original source, such innumerable benefits. It is called the Dedication of St. Michael, from the dedicating of a church to him in Rome by Pope Boniface III., in the year six hundred and eight.

OCTOBER.

18th.—St. Luke, the evangelist, who, filled with the Holy Ghost, after he had endured many afflictions for the name of Christ, died in Bythnia, in the year seventy-four. His sacred bones were brought to Constantinople, and thence translated to Padua.

28th.—SS. Simon, the Canaanite, and Jude, otherwise called Thaddeus. The first preached the gospel in Egypt, the latter in Mesopotamia; and afterwards going together into Persia, after having converted an infinite number of that nation to the faith, they accomplished their martyrdom in the year sixty-eight.

NOVEMBER.

1st.—All Saints, a solemnity in memory of all the saints; since the whole year is too short to afford a separate feast for each of them.

2nd.—All Souls, a day appointed by the Church for the living to offer up their prayers and suffrages for the repose of the souls of the faithful departed.

30th.—St. Andrew, apostle, having preached the gospel in Thrace and Scythia, he was apprehended by Egeas the Proconsul; he was first imprisoned, then most cruelly beaten, and lastly fastened to a cross, where he lived two days, preaching to the people; and having besought our Lord not to permit him to be taken down, encompassed with a great light from Heaven, he gave up his blessed soul, at Patras, in Achaia, in the year sixty-nine.

DECEMBER.

8th.—Conception of the glorious and ever B. V. Mary, Mother of God; a feast instituted by St. Anselm, Archbishop of Canterbury, in the year one thousand and seventy, and commanded afterwards by Sextus IV. to be generally observed, in the year fourteen hundred and forty-six.

21st.—St. Thomas, apostle; having preached the gospel to the Parthians, Medes, Persians, and Hyrcans, he went into India, where he instructed the people in the Christian faith; for which, by the king's command, he was pierced through the 25th.—Christ's Nativity, a solemn festival celebrated annually by the Catholic Church from the time of the Apostles, in commemoration of our Saviour's birth at Bethlehem, called Christmas, from the mass then celebrated in honour of his holy birth. The nativity of our Lord is a great subject of joy to Christians: all ought to participate in the joy which the angels declared to the shepherds, Christ being born for the salvation of all. This joy consists in giving glory to God; and in relishing the peace given to men of good will. The faithful ought to give great attention to this adorable mystery. They ought not to fail to receive the most holy sacrament; they ought to go to church, as the shepherds went to Bethlehem, full of faith, admiration, and gladness; beholding the Son of God made man, they ought to adore him, to give him thanks, to learn from the child Jesus, humility, simplicity, a contempt of riches, flying from honours, a retirement from the world, self-denial, the love of sufferings, mortification, penance; they ought to reflect on the excess of charity, wherewith the eternal Father hath loved us, having given to us his only Son, to deliver us from sin; and, by such a reflection, to excite themselves to love God with their whole heart, and most earnestly to hate sin.

26th.—St. Stephen, the first martyr after Christ's ascension, was stoned to death by the Jews, in the year thirty-four.

17th.—St. John, apostle and evangelist; after writing his gospel, his banishment, and receiving his Revelations, lived to the time of Trajan the emperor, and both founded and governed the churches of Asia. Finally, worn out with old age, he died at Ephesus, aged ninety-three, in the year sixty-eight, and was buried near the same city.

28th.—Holy Innocents, a feast in commemoration of the Infants barbarously slaughtered by Herod, when he sought to take away the life of our blessed Saviour. It is also called Childer-Mass Day, from the particular commemoration of those martyred children in the Mass of that day.

29th.—St. Thomas, archbishop of Canterbury, and patron of the English clergy, for maintaining the privileges of the church of God, was martyred at Vespers in his own cathedral, in the year one thousand one hundred and seventy.

The several festivals of the saints are instituted by the Church to honour God in his saints, to teach us to imitate their virtues, and honour their martyrdom and sufferings for the faith of Christ.

NECESSARY RULES FOR A CHRISTIAN.

Often examine your thoughts, words, and actions, especially after much business, conversation, etc., that you may discern and amend your faults.

Hold your peace in such things as relate not to you, and where your speech is not for the honour of God, and good of your neighbour.

Often call to mind your past life, and what our Saviour suffered for you in every moment of his.

Live as if you had nothing, and yet possessed all things; and remember that meat, drink, and clothes, are not the riches of a Christian.

Offer yourself entirely to God; and though you have nothing to return for his favours but yourself, you will be comforted when you consider, that He gives all that gives himself. The apostles quitted their poor boats and nets, and received for them a most ample reward. The poor widow gave only two mites, and her offering was preferred before those of the richest.

He easily parts with all things, who considers that he must die and be separated from them.

Use no extravagant, or unusual gestures in open assemblies, but on all occasions observe a becoming modesty and discretion.

In all occurrences of life, prefer that which conduceth most to the service and glory of God; as to comfort the afflicted, reconcile such as are at variance, visit the sick and imprisoned, and relieve the poor.

Never go to rest at night with any disquiet or trouble on your mind, but endeavour to pacify your conscience by an act of contrition, or by confession, if necessary.

Often confess your sins, and make frequent acts of contrition, aspiration, or ejaculatory prayers, so that you may prevent the deceits of the Devil, conquer temptation, avoid sin, and live under the continual protection of God.

PRAYERS TO BE USED ON DIFFERENT OCCASIONS.

A PRAYER WHEN WE ENTER INTO THE CHURCH.

How awful is this place! this is the house of God, and the gate of Heaven; vouchsafe to purify me, O Lord, and grant that I may here think of nothing but of Thee.

A PRAYER AT GOING OUT OF THE CHURCH.

Happy are they, O Lord, who always dwell in thy house, and who are employed in nothing but in praising thee. I am going where I believe thy providence carries me: in every place I shall always find thee present.

A PRAYER BEFORE SPIRITUAL READING.

Happy is the man who is well instructed in thy holy law, O my God. Give me the spirit of understanding, the docility that is necessary, and an ardent charity for putting in execution what thou shalt make me know to be acceptable to Thee.

A PRAYER AFTER SPIRITUAL READING.

Make me love the truth which thou hast made known to me, O my God; and grant me the grace to practice what I know to be according to thy holy will.

A PRAYER BEFORE VISITS AND CONVERSATIONS.

Seeing that my tongue is to celebrate Thy praises for all eternity, O my God, permit me not to offend Thee in this visit and conversation.

A PRAYER AFTER VISITINGS AND CONVERSATIONS.

Vouchsafe to pardon, O Lord, all the faults committed in this entertainment, and permit not my words ever to be a scandal or offence to any one.

A PRAYER BEFORE GOING OUT OF THE HOUSE.

Vouchsafe, O Lord, to direct me in the way of justice and truth, and remove far from me all occasions of sin.

A PRAYER AFTER RETURNING HOME.

I give Thee infinite thanks, O my God, for having preserved me from so many dangers; and I beg of thy infinite mercy to bring me at last to Thy heavenly country.

A PRAYER WHEN WE BEGIN ANY WORK.

I offer unto Thee, O Lord, this my work, and beg of Thee to be the director of it, as I hope Thou wilt be the reward thereof.

A PRAYER AT THE END OF WORK.

I give Thee thanks, O Lord, for the blessing given to my work, and I beg of Thee to accept of it in satisfaction for my sins.

GRACE BEFORE EATING.

Bless to us, O Lord, all these thy gifts, which we are about to receive of thy bounty; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

GRACE AFTER EATING.

We give thanks, Almighty God, for all thy benefits; who livest and reignest world without end. Amen.

ANOTHER PRAYER.

Vouchsafe, O Lord, to nourish my soul, as Thou hast fed my body; and grant that after temporal nourishment I may have eternal life. Amen.

THE CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven; give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us ; and lead us not into temptation ; but deliver us from evil. Amen.

THE ANGELIC SALUTATION.

Hail Mary, full of grace, our Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou amongst women! and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, JESUS. Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us, sinners, now, and at the hour of our death. Amen.

THE APOSTLES' CREED.

I believe in God, the Father Almighty, Creator of Heaven and Earth ; and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary ; suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried ; he descended into Hell ; the third day he rose again from the dead ; he ascended into Heaven ; sitteth at the right hand of God, the Father Almighty ; from thence he shall come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Ghost, the holy Catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

I am the Lord thy Lord, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, and out of the house of bondage.

I. Thou shalt not have strange gods before me. Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven thing, nor any similitude that is in Heaven above, or in the Earth below, or of things that are in the water under the Earth : thou shalt not adore nor worship them. I am the Lord thy God, strong and jealous, visiting the sins of the fathers upon their children to the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, and shewing mercy to thousands of those that love me and keep my commandments.

II. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain ; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that takes the name of the Lord his God in vain.

III. Remember thou keep holy the Sabbath-day. Six days shalt thou labour and do all thy work ; but the seventh is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God. On it thou shalt do no work, neither thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor the stranger which is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made Heaven and Earth, and the sea, and all that are in them, and rested on the seventh day ; therefore hath the Lord blessed the Sabbath-day, and sanctified it.

IV. Honour thy father and mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God shall give thee.

V. Thou shalt not kill.

APPROBATION.

We have seen and approved the book called THE CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOOK, and we recommend its use in the Schools of our Diocese.

† IG. Bishop of Montreal.

Montreal, the 1st of July, 1843.

BALTIMORE, 8th July, 1824.

The CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOOK is, in my judgment, an elementary work of singular merit. I will rejoice to see it introduced into all the Catholic Schools in this country.

AMB. Archbp. Balt.

NEW YORK, 1st Sept., 1824.

I have read the CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOOK, and believe it to be well adapted to the understanding of youth, and calculated to give them early ideas of morality and virtue. I therefore recommend its adoption to our Schools, to the Clergy and Laity of this Diocese.

*JOHN CONNOLLY,
R. C. Bishop of New York.*

SIR,—Having looked over your CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOOK, I think it right to tell you, that in my opinion, it is far the most complete work of its kind in our language, and eminently entitled to the patronage of the Catholic public. What I particularly admire in it is, that, instead of those trifling, and in some instances irreligious, stories to be found in other books of the same nature, it contains a series of Moral Lessons and Scripture History, proper for the instruction, and adapted to the understanding and abilities of children, who are learning to read. As such, I shall not fail to recommend it in those places of education over which I have any authority or influence.

I am, Sir,

Your faithful servant,
