MONTREAL LONGSHOREMEN

WON'T COME TO ST. JOHN.

Their Union Will Assist the Local Men--- Strike Began Here Last Night---Both Sides Hold Firm.

(Special to the Star.) MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—A strong fight will be put up by the Montreal officials of the Longshoremen's Union against the steamship lines receiving assistance from workers of Montreal in their fight with St. John. As the local union is strongly organized, George Pelouin, business agent of the local association claims no Montrealers will go to St. John. The few men capable who are not members, are so small a number and of such unsteady habits that they would prove of small use in the fight, even if they were persuaded to go.

The Allan liner Parisian arrived last evening and docked at the old Allan line berth. She met rough weather on her run out from Liverpool. To St. John she brought two saloon, seventeen second and eleven steerage passengers. Most of the latter were Poles and Jews enroute to the Northwest. Among the passengers was T. H. Toynbee, a noted football player of the Surrey Rugby Club. At Halifax the Parisian landed 150 tons of general cargo and had on board about 1,000 tons for this port. When the big liner docked there were five crews of men in readiness to handle her cargo. The men were represented by business agent John Killen, of the Longshoremen's Association, who enquired of the steamship representatives if they would pay the new rate thirty-five cents per hour. The answer was that they would not

CHURCH URGED TO FIGHT DIVORCE EVIL

Canadian Episcopalians' Stand Warmly Commended.

American Bishop Takes Strong Stand Against the Growing laxity of Marriage Ties.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Bishop William Crowell Doane, in his annual address today before the convention of the Diocese of Albany, of which he is the head, dealt with subjects of immediate interest to the diocese and the ethical preaching called for by the times. The bishop's remarks on divorce had special reference to the adoption by the general synod of the church the following canon: "No clergyman within the jurisdiction of the Church of England in Canada shall solemnize a marriage between persons either of whom shall have been divorced from one who is living at the time."

"I could have wished," said the bishop, "that we upon whom the pressure of the danger and the pressure of the duty are so much more strongly than upon the Canadian church, could have led in this movement. But I shall follow at our next convention. The 'Proximus Ucalogus' ardent weighed a great deal with me, because the constant immigration into Canada from our western states, caused the danger of contagion, and I feel that it is in the face of our duty to apply this one standard of reform, to influence public opinion, and the legislation of other religious bodies. It is high time for us to make impossible the divorce law, by using it under circumstances that falsify and contradict its essential language."

Bishop Doane, remarked especially upon the recent dictum of the supreme court justice, W. J. Graynor, that he was severed by the state, the church certainly cannot tie that bond again, where it has not been dissolved."

"It is a strong, clear and timely statement from which it seems to me that it is only right for the church to take ground; first, that only the state which dissolves the marriage can rightly and safely deal with the question of re-marriage, and secondly, that if the religious bond is dissolved, the church cannot tie that bond again, where it has not been dissolved."

EIGHT HOUR DAY FOR PRINTERS ENDORSED.

American Federation of Labor Will Aid Them in Their Demand For Shorter Hours.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—At the morning session of the American Federation of Labor, Frank E. Foster, of Boston, secretary on the committee on Pres. Goemper's report, read a supplementary report. The eight hour day for union printers was endorsed, and the executive committee, in giving the printers moral aid and financial support, was commended. The council was instructed to continue their aid to the printers if it is necessary after January 1, 1906. The committee reported that the eight hour day for printers is in force in 268 cities and towns in the United States and Canada. An assessment of four cents a member was ordered by the convention to aid the printers in their contest. This assessment is expected to yield about $80,000.

SPANISH STEAMER'S HARD EXPERIENCE.

VIGO, Spain, Nov. 21.—The Spanish steamer Octubre, from Marseilles to Rotterdam, had a thrilling experience during the recent storm. Sea washed over the vessel, her machinery broke down, she drifted helplessly for four days and when hope had been abandoned the Octubre was sighted by the British steamer Almagro, which finally, with difficulty, rescued the crew, numbering thirty-five men. The coast in this vicinity is strewn with wreckage.

BRUSSELS STREET WOMAN, DESPONDENT, HANGS HERSELF.

Her Daughter Found the Body Swinging by the Neck From a Nail in the Kitchen Wall This Morning.

Despondent on account of ill-health, Mrs. Sarah B. Henderson, aged 57 years, committed suicide this morning by hanging herself to a picture nail in the kitchen at her home, 325-1-2 Brussels street. The woman who this morning brought her life to such a sudden termination has been a widow for about ten years. She has three daughters, two of whom are unmarried, and reside in this city, one living at home with her brother. The third is Mrs. Geo. E. Logue, of Shannon Settlement, Queens Co. The dead woman has been despondent and down hearted for the last month. Her daughter and friends have vainly tried to cheer her up. Dr. Morris, of Fairville, who has been attending her, attributed her melancholy to the fact that her system was run down. The daughter left the house about ten o'clock on some business, which occupied about an hour's time. She arrived back at the house about ten minutes to eleven, and had walked into the kitchen, which is a very small room, before she saw her mother's dead body hanging by the wall. Mrs. Calder, who together with her took down the dead woman. The house where the tragedy took Provincial Board of Health Investigating—House Burned at Taxes River—Boom Company Lost Money.

(Special to the Star.) MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—The Provincial Board of Health is investigating cases of disease similar to the smallpox prevalent at Fredericton, Junction and Tracey Station. The local doctors say that they are not sure whether the cases are northern or southern or a mild type of smallpox. Andrew McAllister's house at Taxes River was burned to the ground Sunday morning at an early hour. There was no insurance. The boom company lost at least $5,000 this season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE LEADERS QUARREL.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A serious breach between President Ben Johnson, of the American League, and Charles Comiskey, president of the Chicago club in that organization, is threatened at the annual meeting of the American League, which will be held on Wednesday. Last night President Comiskey came out with a statement that the American League cannot any longer keep pace with the National League, while President Johnson is retained at the head of the league. While Comiskey does not promise to bring any direct charges against Johnson, he declares openly that the American League is on the verge of dissolution if President Johnson shall remain at its head. Comiskey's direct accusation is that Johnson is conniving with President Herrmann, of the Cincinnati National League club, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, to consolidate the American and National Leagues. "That would mean the swallowing up of our organization by the National League."

SCHOONER WRECKED OFF HALIFAX HARBOR.

(Special to the Star.) HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 21.—The schooner Maud M. Story, owned at Gloucester, ran ashore off Sambro near the entrance of the harbor last night and is a total wreck. The crew were saved. She was in ballast, bound for P. E. Island to load.

NO MORE SUNDAY SALOONS IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The Inter-ocean today says: Arrangements have been made with justices and detectives to issue and serve 500 warrants on saloon keepers who keep their places open next Sunday. While no one could be found who would stand sponsor in this crusade it is reported that clergy-men who have been leaders in the reform movement were to take the initiative in the new law. Ministers have repeatedly urged Mayor Dunn to enforce the Sunday closing law and are said to have formed an alliance and seek to bring about their desired reforms without his aid.

CATTLE KILLING CASES BEFORE SUPREME COURT.

(THIS SUP OF JUDGES) FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 21.—This morning Mr. Justice Landry took his seat on the supreme court bench. The county court justice paper was taken up. The first case called was that of Dudge (plaintiff appellant) and Temiscouata Railway Company (defendant) respondent.

Mr. Laforest supported appeal from the order of Judge Carleton granting a non-suit after a verdict in an action against the defendant company for killing a cow and injuring another. J. M. Stevens, K. C. contra, argued that there was no evidence of negligence and that all that the plaintiff had proved was that the cattle were killed. Mr. Laforest contended that the company was bound to fence its road against adjoining owners. The court considered.

Lizotte vs. Temiscouata Railway Co. the same question was involved and Mr. Laforest supported the appeal on similar ground. Mr. Stevens contra. In this case the court also takes time to consider.

This concluded the morning business of the court.

INNOVATIONS AT SWELL WEDDINGS.

Wedded Brides and Fashionable Bridesmaids Have Set Some Striking Fashions in Wedding Dresses.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The fact that at the wedding of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha the six bridesmaids were dressed in pairs, two in white, two in red and two in blue, will probably bring into popularity a fashion which so far this year has only been adopted two or three times by society brides.

Of these Miss Youngblood, who married Colonel Glanville, of the Royal Field Artillery, dressed her six bridesmaids in pairs, two wearing pale green, two pale pink, and two pale blue, with tulle hats to match their respective colors, and when Miss Clarke was married to Vincent Vickers, the son of Albert Vickers, two of her bridesmaids wore white, two pale pink and two pale blue, and wreaths of pink roses.

One striking innovation this year at several weddings has been the substitution of wreaths of flowers and sometimes vells for the bridesmaids, while at the wedding of Kenneth Campbell and Miss Linda Oppenheim the eight bridesmaids wore Alsatian bows of mauve ribbon.

At Lady Aldra Acheson's wedding the bridesmaids wore single roses on their heads and their dresses were of intricate in graduated shades of color.

The prevalent color at recent weddings has been pale blue. At the marriage of Miss Daley Jennings her bridesmaids were dressed in blue satin picture gowns and mob caps; and at the marriage of Bute's marriage the bridesmaids wore Connemara cloaks of St. Patrick's blue and blue shoes and stockings.

The Nevill family is celebrated for its golden hair, and when Mrs. Marjorie Nevill married her cousin, Ralph Nevill, all of her golden haired bridesmaids were dressed in white, with Louis XV. lace coats and high gold gaiter shoes with gold stockings and shoes, and their lace coats were also strapped with gold.

White fur will also be used at winter weddings, most of the gowns consisting of stole, muff and toque being sometimes selected as the bridegroom's present to the bride.

SMALLPOX IN YORK CO.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 20.—Dr. Lunan, of Campbell, arrived here by noon train today and in company with Dr. Fisher, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, drove to Burt's Corner to investigate the alleged smallpox outbreak at that place. He saw four of the six patients and expressed the opinion that the disease was smaller of an exceedingly mild type.

On the strength of his report a meeting of the county board will be held tomorrow when quarantine will be established and the usual precautions taken to prevent the disease from spreading.

The disease, it is said, was first contracted by a shepherd who lately returned from a visit to friends in St. John.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache. A woman's back was made to ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to help her bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Hours of misery as it is at work. If women only knew the cause. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause in the world.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it's no wonder that they get out of order. Backache is simply their cry for help.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

will help you. They're helping sick, overworked kidneys—all over the world—making them strong, healthy and vigorous. Mrs. F. Ryan, Douglas, Ont., writes: "For over five months I was troubled with lame back and was unable to move without help. I tried all kinds of pills and treatments but they were no use. At last I heard tell of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three-quarters of the box my back was as strong and well as ever."

Price 25 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto.

FREDERICTON NEWS.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 20.—At Nash-Ford's, Saturday afternoon, the residence of Charles Mullin was totally destroyed by fire. The surrounding buildings escaped. In the cellar of the house were stored 70 barrels of potatoes and 30 barrels of turpentine, all of which were lost. Mr. Mullin estimates his loss at $2,500, with no insurance. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark from the chimney. The death occurred at Marguerite on Sunday night of Thomas Bailey, a generally respected resident of that place. Deceased, who was in his 73rd year, died from general debility. He was never married, and lived with his sister, Miss Bailey, by whom he is survived. The funeral will take place

A COMMON FLIGHT.
(Newport Times)
The late "Dave" Pillsbury of Plymouth, N. H., was always fond of a joke, and never happier than when listening to a good story, but when it came to repeating one he was a failure.
One day as he was walking down the street he met a friend, who asked: "How do you like my new coat?"
Dave looked it over and said: "It is a fine coat, but I don't think it is long enough."
"Well," said the other, "it will be long enough before I get another one."
"Dave" laughed heartily, and when he got home he said to his wife: "Bill Smith said something pretty funny. He had a new coat on, and I told him I didn't think it was long enough, and he said it would be a good while before he got another one."
"Why," said his wife, "I don't see anything funny about that."
"Well," said "Dave," thoughtfully, "I don't either, but there was something darned funny about it."

ONE BAD JOB.
(Portland Argus)
During the early years of his ministry at Calais, Me., the late Rev. George W. Durell was one day called upon to perform the marriage service for a couple who came into town from some outlying section, and after the ceremony the woman said:
"Say, parson, Jim ain't got no money, but I will be around to-morrow to pay for this job."
Some two weeks afterward she met Mr. Durell on the street, and recalled herself to his memory, saying:
"You know, parson, I was going to pay for that job you done for Jim and me, but I didn't, for Jim run away the next day, and I didn't think it was worth while."

A JOKE ON A SCOTCHMAN.
(Boston Herald.)
When Dr. Bull, the now famous specialist, began the practice of medicine as a young man, he numbered among his first patients a certain Mr. Duffie of Woonsocket, R. I. For a time the young physician treated his patient successfully for a very painful tumor on the neck.
One day the doctor called to enquire after his patient's progress. Although assured that the latter was enjoying health he had never known before, he at once assumed an air of the greatest concern and advised a speedy operation.
"But," said the astonished convalescent in broadest Scotch, "dinna ye tell me yourself an operation wassa necessary? I'm feelin' better, than I hae'twa year gone, an' wha'd'ye want to cut me noo fur?"
The physician hesitated a moment, then resumed, embarrassedly: "Wha' ye see, my good man, I need the money."
"Oh," said the patient, much relieved, "if it's the stiller ye're after, a'right, I was afeared ye was over-anxious for the experience."

AS TO HANDWRITING.
(Hartford Courant.)
When Charles Dudley Warner was editor of the Hartford Press, in the early sixties, he was accustomed to write his editorials upon the war with such fervid haste that all consideration of handwriting was banished from his mind.
One day a typesetter left the composing room and appeared at the editor's desk.
"Mr. Warner," he said, "I've decided to enlist in the army."
With mingled emotions of pride and responsibility, Mr. Warner replied that it pleased him that the man felt the call to duty.
"Oh, it isn't that," said the truthful compositor, "but I'd rather be shot than set your copy."

THE 'LONGSHORE TROUBLE.'

When the disagreement between two such strong forces as the 'Longshoremen's Association and steamship agents reaches the point where it endangers a business vital to the prosperity of the city, it is time for the civic authorities or the board of trade, or both, to interfere.
Laborers have the right to refuse to work under unsatisfactory conditions; employers have an equally valid right to refuse to hire workmen whose terms do not suit them. It is the right of both sides to make the best bargain possible to protect their own interests. But it is the duty of the common council and the board of trade to see that the city's interests are not prejudiced.
Already the port has been injured by the stubbornness and indifference to the city's welfare by the two parties to this labor dispute. The first boat of what promised to be the most profitable winter port season we ever had has come here only to find men to assist her unladen. This is bound to prejudice the line to which she belongs against this port. If another boat meets the same experience the result will be worse. The situation must be relieved immediately if the trade we have built up with so much care and expense is not to receive a great setback.
The 'longshoremen demand thirty-five cents an hour for their work, five cents more than last year; the shipping men declare they cannot afford to pay it. Both assert they will not give in so that the only alternatives to a compromise are the taking of the traffic elsewhere or the importation of other workmen. Either of these is contrary to the city's interests. The first would be ruinous to the port's prospects and the other would not only bring hardship to a large body of citizens and taxpayers but would almost inevitably result in disorder.
Surely there must be some common ground upon which the disputants can meet. It is the duty of the city authorities to assist them to find this ground, either by bringing them together in public conference or by proferring arbitration. And action should be taken at once.

BACK TO COMEDY AGAIN.
The more complete the insurance revelations the more certain it is made to appear that the blame for all this unaverted rests upon a very few men who were the actual executives of the companies. Many of the others whose good names were dragged in the dirt stand convicted of nothing more than negligence, of no greater crime than carelessly endorsing the wrongful actions of their associates without taking the trouble to find out if they were right or wrong.
A case in point is that of Chauncey M. Depew. A large part of the world was shocked when his name, synonymous all over the continent with humor and kind-heartedness was connected with the scandal. The evidence of his profitable participation in many shady deals was strong and the very probity of his reputation made the public condemnation of his new role the more forcible. Senator Depew was away in Europe at the time, but since his return has not only cleared himself of the charges but has refunded much money which the revelations have convinced him is not properly his. As a result the Brooklyn Eagle, a political opponent, apologizes for him thus: "Had the senator been an expert in finance, had he been familiar with the tricks of the Wall Street trade, had he been of a suspicious and scrutinizing turn of mind, some of the results confronting him might and probably would have been reversed, but he is genial and gracious, and not too inquisitive. As a matter of fact, he emerges, not as one of the beneficiaries of more than doubtful transactions, but with a balance on the wrong side of his ledger and—with clean hands. Those who make allowances for temperament, for aptitude, will not be too severe. The senator was in, but not of the company he kept. The head and front of his offending is that he was "easy." Guilty knowledge and corresponding guilt of participation, was reserved for others."
The vindication and Chauncey M. Depew's assumption of light comedy will be welcomed by a large audience. He was not satisfactory in the Mephistophelian role.

SCHOOL REFORM.
Apparently the agitation in favor of a reform in the school system of St. John is about to have its effect. Judging from the reception accorded the Board of Trade committee by the School Board last evening, the trustees are in favor not only of the early addition of manual training to the public school curriculum but also of the establishment of a good business course. If the trustees are in earnest and attack the financial obstacles energetically the opening of the next scholastic year should see the St. John educational institutions fitted to provide instruction and training useful in other lines of life than the so-called learned professions.

The general protest in the Canadian press against the action of some English magistrates in sending criminals to this country has inspired the Canadian high commissioner, Lord Strathcona, to lay a formal protest before the authorities. The Canadian Gazette of London, England, says that the high commissioner is understood to have intimated that if the facts of the two cases under notice are as reported in the public press, the Dominion government will deport the emigrants back again to this country.

IN THESE NOVEMBER DAYS.

Ah, but life is good in these November days,
When while the hoar frost gleams along unnumbered ways
And yonder hills are veiled in shifting, purple haze.
The spring has gone, the summer too,
The rose has fled with summer dew,
But still you vaulted skies are blue.
Ah, but life is good in these November days,
When fields and woods are clothed in sober browns and grays,
And bold the north wind pipes his changeful roundelay.
The thrush has gone, the robin, too;
Far south they sing their songs awed,
But still you vaulted skies are blue.
Ah, but life is good in these November days;
The sun enfolds us in the glory of his rays
And every voice takes up exulting songs of praise.
The leaves are gone, the flowers, too;
The birds have bidden us adieu,
But still you vaulted skies are blue.

PRESIDENT LOUBET'S GIFTS TO QUEEN'S CHILDREN

MADRID, Nov. 18.—President Loubet delighted the Queen mother and the little niece and nephews of King Alfonso with the presents which he brought to them from Paris.
He gave the Queen mother a reproduction in silver china of Leonard's forty-eight beautiful dancing girls, designed as a center piece for a dining table. King Alfonso much admired the original, which is used at the Elysee, during his visit to Paris.
To the little infant Don Alphonso the President brought a trunk containing a wonderful set of toy soldiers, every one of which is three inches tall and made of lead with accoutrements which can be taken off and put on. Every regiment in the French army is represented in detail, and the equipment is complete from the caisson outfit to the infantry company.
The little infant Isabel who is only a year old has been presented with a wonderful set of three feet tall which talks and walks and owns an elaborate trousseau.
The President has also delighted the members of the court with the rich and varied presents he has brought.

RELIEF FOR JEWISH SUFFERERS.
The national committee for the relief of sufferers by Russian massacres has issued the following appeal:
Dear Sir—It is impossible to describe the outrages upon the Jews in Russia. From all sources comes the urgent cry for instant help and the immediate duty is to give prompt, ample and efficient response. Our advice from unquestionable sources are that whole communities are homeless and without food. Apparently no calamity of such magnitude has befallen Israel since the fall of Jerusalem. All the horrors of the inquisition, all the persecutions of the middle ages, seem incomparable with this stupendous and unexampled crime both in its malignity and the number of people ruined. (According to most reliable reports between 20,000 and 25,000 have been killed and over 100,000 have been wounded and maimed in the most brutal manner.)
In order to relieve the immediate distress, not less than $1,000,000 shall be raised by the Jews of America, and shall be raised at once.

MAN OF 95 HAS HIS TOMB READY.

Isaac Perry, of Clark County, Ind., Makes Frequent Visits to Burial Place—A Peculiar Vault.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Nov. 20.—Within three miles of the spot where he was born October 25, 1810, Uncle Isaac P. Perry, who lives at Clark county, recently celebrated the ninety-fifth anniversary of his birth. There was no particular observance of the day, but he probably visited the tomb that is to be the resting place of his body when he dies. The tomb has just been completed. A horror which "Uncle Ike" has of being put beneath the ground caused him to have the sepulchre built. It is of stone and cement and cost considerable money.
In his preparation for the hereafter "Uncle Ike" has not forgotten the fact that his body must be incased in a casket, and the lumber for this has been seasoned for fifty years at his home. In speaking recently of his burial, he said:
"The coffin is to be air tight, and more than fifty years ago I whipsawed some fine ash timber and put the boards in the garret of my home. They have been seasoning ever since, to be made into a coffin when I die."
"There will be a window and a lid showing me down to about here," he said, as he touched the bottom button on his vest. "The funeral service will be over there"—he pointed to a little brick structure for the hearse—and "I'll be there, too."
The vault is of a peculiar construction, part of it being of Bedford stone, one large block covering the lower rough surfaced stones, which are bound together with cement. The tomb is almost square. There is no door to it, but an opening has been left large enough to push the coffin into. After this is done a stone will be placed in the opening and cemented tight.
"Uncle Ike" likes to talk about his tomb and coffin, and frequently visits the former to see if it is still safe. On the big slab all the bottom buttons have been cut, excepting the date of his death. He says his father lived to be ninety-nine, and there is no reason why he should not reach the same age or even more.
Mr. Perry says he was never drunk in his life. He never smoked or chewed or got married. Once he was invited to wed and went with the girls until he was about forty-three.

SMALLEST BABIES IN NEW ORLEANS HOSPITAL.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 20.—In the Milliken Hospital are a pair of twins which are probably the smallest living twins in this section of the country, if not in the whole United States.
Together they weigh less than three pounds, and though they are so small that they can hardly be seen in their little beds, they are thriving under the careful nursing of the sisters and nurses of the hospital.
"They are the cutest little things you ever saw," said one of the nurses, and the rest of the attaches agreed with her. They are boys, and although only twenty-nine days old, they have already been named. In the hospital register their names are given as Charles and Kolmer Morgan, and their address as No. 1207 Annette street. If one should try to distinguish Charles from Kolmer, he would have a hard time doing it, and it is doubtful if their mother could do so without a careful examination.
Lying side by side they look as if they were dolls. They are not nearly as large as dolls babies play with, and each weighs about one pound five ounces.
The mother of the children took the little fellows to the hospital because she was not physically able to nurse and care for them as they should be. She was told to take them to the Milliken Hospital, which is for children only. When she entered the hospital with the little fellows the sisters and nurses could hardly believe that anything so small could have lived. The mother was questioned, and she said that as far as she had been able to tell the babies were doing well, and did not appear ill.

ADEQUATE TAXES FOR INSURANCE COMPANIES.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 20, 1905.
To the Editor of the Star:
Sir—I was pleased to notice a letter recently in one of the daily papers, from a taxpayer who protests against the absurdly small tax that is imposed upon the life insurance companies doing business in this city.
For example, the writer of the letter carries $200 a year and pays in taxes $10.75.
The New York Life Insurance Company, The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, The Equitable Life Insurance Company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, each collect thousands of dollars annually in premiums from the citizens of St. John and all they pay for this privilege is the insignificant sum of $10 a year.
During the past five years upwards of fifteen million dollars has been sent from Canada to the United States in payment of life insurance premiums. Recent disclosures show that large sums of this money have been used to enrich the McCurdy, the McCallis, the Hyde family, and for various other purposes not named in the original contract.
This fifteen million dollars would have been used in the development of the resources of our own country, but by means of false statements issued by the above named other thousands of dollars annually are paid out of large profits, the money was collected and only a fraction of it will ever return.
The same thing is still going on in St. John and notwithstanding the fact that the city has more of every dollar of revenue it can obtain, all these companies are asked to pay, these companies which can afford to pay the presidents salaries of from $50,000 to $100,000 a year, is the paltry sum of $10 and this payment entitles them to collect upwards of a hundred thousand dollars a year of good St. John money, to send to the United States.
What justification can be given for such conduct as this? A St. John business man, or clerk or laborer is taxed to pay ten and in as many millionaires are allowed to do business here subject to a purely nominal tax.
For example take the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. This company collects from the poor people of the city in five and ten cent payments, the large sum of about $100 a week, making $50,000 a year in their industrial business alone and it is estimated that less than five per cent of this money ever finds its way back.
The president of the Metropolitan admitted before the investigation committee of the New York last week, that more than fifty-one per cent of these industrial policies lapse the first year. He also admitted that he was making a large sum of money out of this, in comparison the most expensive insurance that can be carried. Poor people struggle to pay ten and in as many cases twenty cents a week for these industrial policies, and they find themselves unable to keep it up for more than a year or so and drop out and get nothing whatever in return and it simply means that they have made a large sum of money out of the pocket of the men who manipulate these companies.
Now, I would ask the Star and its readers, is it right that this state of affairs should continue. If the American insurance companies are still to be permitted to solicit money in this city, should they not pay handsomely for the privilege?
I hope the Star will follow this matter up and will see that these American life insurance companies are compelled to pay taxes in proportion to the benefits which they receive.
Yours respectfully,
SAINT JOHN.
HARRY ELLIS.

Announcement of a dance at Lorneville, Nov. 22 The Prentice Boys of Queen Alexandra Lodge, No. 34, will hold a social dance. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.
Alex. Adams, the sixteen year old boy who was so seriously injured in St. John, Cutler & Co's mill yesterday afternoon, died last evening at the hospital shortly after eight o'clock. The unfortunate lad fell out of the deal run, and struck on his head on a deal board, falling fully fifteen feet. Dr. McIntyre was at once summoned, and realizing that the boy's injuries were exceedingly serious, ordered him taken to the hospital. The skull was trepanned, but the poor boy never regained consciousness from the time of the injury. The fracture was very general, death being due to concussion of the brain. The deceased was a son of James Adams of 1st Water street, who is also an employe in the mill where his son was killed.
Robert Cuthbertson was not so badly injured as at first it was feared, and last evening was reported to be resting easily. Cuthbertson is from a well known family. Beside her husband, she leaves four small boys to mourn, also five sisters. E. W. Chase of Celebration street is a brother. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.
Chipman is to have a new hotel. Mrs. William Darrach, the proprietress of the present Chipman house, has found that it is not large enough for the increasing business in the village. She has given a contract to the King Lumber Co. for a modern hotel of forty-two rooms and work on the foundations is now well under way. The building when completed will cost between eight and nine thousand dollars. It will be heated throughout with hot air, and will be well fitted up with modern conveniences. F. Neil Brodie of St. John is the architect.
Tomorrow (Wednesday) evening a meeting of the Y. M. C. of St. Peter's takes place, the purpose being to organize a series of basket ball games, which will be played during the winter. It will be less than a month between teams made up of the members of the society. It is contemplated to enter in the hands of the basket ball committee. The society also contemplates holding a chess tournament for the benefit of its members who play the game.
At a meeting of the managing committee of the free kindergarten held yesterday afternoon, officers were elected as follows: President, Miss DeWolfe; vice-president, Dr. Parker; secretary, Mrs. H. H. Pickett; treasurer, Miss Hattie Allen. It was decided to hold a rummage sale in the near future. A permanent collector will also be engaged.
George Barker and a man named DeWolfe, both farmers living at Black River, were thrown out of their carriage yesterday afternoon near Silver Falls, and both received severe and painful injuries.
A meeting of the general committee held in charge of the St. Andrew's day celebration was held last evening in John White's store, Charlotte street. The reports of various sub-committees were received. The catering will be done by Frank White, the work of decorating is now going on, and among those who will take part in the program are Mrs. P. G. Spence, Mrs. Fred MacNeill, E. J. MacGowan, D. B. Pidgeon, Mr. Ballantine, Thomas White and others.
Commencing Monday, Nov. 27th, the Shaw Comedy Company begin a season at the Opera House presenting the laughable rural comedy Heublin Glue. There will be new and catchy specialties introduced and selections by their own band and orchestra.

DRUM-BEAT TELEGRAPHY.
At the time of the South African war, Leroboldt, the Basuto ruler, hundreds of miles from the scene of operations, was kept advised of all the victories and defeats of both sides. In some instances he was able to inform white men of facts which did not until some time afterwards reach them by telegraph.
Superstitious people were inclined to suggest thought-reading, or some mysterious power unknown to the white races.
The explanation, however, is simple, but not the less interesting. The Basuto tribes send messages to one another by means of drums constructed from gourds. These drums, the sound of which carries for miles, are beaten according to a code like that used in telegraphy. Posted on hills, Basuto drummers pass their messages from one village to another with astonishing rapidity.
White men have many times sought to learn the code, but this the natives guard with jealous care. Indeed, the secret is only known to a few trusted natives selected for their loyalty to their chiefs.

"I'm glad you don't want to go to the stable," she said, turning gratefully to Mortimer when he refused Alan's invitation, saying that he preferred to look at the horses.

"What's his name?" asked Mortimer. "Game Boy. He's by the Jugger. Remember him, don't you?"

"That's strange," commented Mike, turning the big bay about with evident pride. "He was 'Belmont' at Jerome park, did the old Jugger. You must have heard of that."

"Well, I haven't," declared Mike reproachfully. "If Game Boy's name is 'Belmont' you'll hear from him."

"Mother, is it?" began Gaynor. "It's just this, Miss Allis; if you father thinks I'm going to stand by an old cap and a rapscallion by his got the evil in his eye, I'll stand by him, that's my motto, that's all."

"Who is it Mike—Shandy?" "That's him, Miss. He's the devil on wheels, bangin' thin horses about as though he was King Jubah."

"I'll speak to father, about him, Mike," she answered; "I won't have the horse abused."

"Mark my words, Miss Allis, Diabolo take it out of his hide some day. The boy'll monkey him one time too often, there'll be no by left."

"May we see the horse, Mike—any thing?" "You don't see the horse, or any thing," he answered; "I'll show you the horse."

"Not yet, Miss; they're gettin' the rub-down now; do ye hear Diabolo bangin' the boards as his stall wid that handy old hind-foot as his?"

"There's a filly for yer life," exclaimed the trainer, rapturously, as he opened the door of the horse's box stall. "There's the straightest filly in the county, lookin' through a halter."

"You don't see the horse, or any thing?" "You don't see the horse, or any thing," he answered; "I'll show you the horse."

"He's not cross at all just," explained Mike; "he's a bit of a mule, that's all, but he's a good horse, and he's a good horse."

"Mike, I like animals, I don't deny, but I know very little about them—nothing about race horses."

"When he returned Allis gave one to Lucretia, then they passed to the next horse. "That's a useful horse," explained the trainer; "he's won some races in his time."

GENERAL TREPOFF.

Interesting Pen Sketch of the Best Hated Man in Russia—His Love of Power.

(London Mail)

Gen. Trepoft need not have signed the proclamation from which these words are taken. "And the military have been directed to fire ball cartridge if the crowds offer resistance. No blank cartridges will be used." They are characteristic of the man as is the nervous twitch of one eyelid that has earned for him the nickname, "Winks."

Russia knows him too well. Once he was laughed at. "He owes his advancement to the fact that he is the illegitimate son of some high personage," scoffed his enemies.

"An insult to me," said Gen. Trepoft. "Arrest the man!" Instantly hands were laid upon the presumptuous citizen who had not scuttled out of his way with due respect. The scene closed at the police station, where the old man, who had been vigorously abused by the general, proved himself a prince, an ex-governor general of an important province, a state councillor, aide-camp to the emperor, etc., etc.

Gen. Trepoft apologized. More stories were told. He had insulted an Englishman of high rank. Once more his pride had been humbled by a republican from the emperor.

And again the people he scorned rubbed their hands and gloated over his discomfort. Then the laughter ceased. Strong turned to hate. They tried to kill him. Three attempts were made in a single week. A woman placed the muzzle of a pistol against his breast and pulled the trigger.

The pistol missed fire. A man armed with a dagger forced his way toward him, swearing that he would stab the man who had now earned the name of "Iron Heart."

Two days later a young man sprang upon the step of his carriage and lunged at him with a dagger. The knife wounded a policeman. Trepoft was unharmed.

Three attempts upon his life in one week would be enough to shake the nerves of most men, but Gen. Trepoft had been accustomed to would-be assassins.

Perhaps like some of his enemies, he was beginning to believe that he was impervious alike to steel, powder and dynamite.

Certainly it seemed that bullets could not touch him. One man fired three revolver shots at short range. One passed through the formal's overcoat—but they all missed. Bullets always missed this man.

Yet, in spite of his assumed contempt he must often have thought of his danger, for when it was announced that he was to take command of a brigade in Manchuria he is reported to have said: "Since I must be shot at, I prefer to be a target for professional Japanese soldiers than for dirty amateurs."

Tall, muscular, deep chested, a face in which the most prominent features were his eyes, he is reported to be a man who gives one the impression of enormous force both physical and mental. Dominated by a love of power, enjoying the signs of fear he arouses, he seems one in whom all the warmer traits have been frozen.

When only a lieutenant he subdued his orderly for some trifling breach of etiquette. He had boasted, it is said, of having shot five men with a revolver.

In Moscow he warned the crowds, as he had just warned them at St. Petersburg. Then they did not believe him. True to his threat, his soldiers fired. How many citizens were slain will never be known, but streets and squares were piled battelions until order reigned again.

Gen. Trepoft was not loved the more but he was respected. He had proved himself to the societies already in existence in Moscow. Accordingly a workman's union was formed for him the auspices of police spies. One sequel to that move has been told often. Another has escaped notice.

Indisposed to trust even his own most astute agents, Gen. Trepoft, skilfully disguised, must needs venture among the conduct of the proceedings, contrived to get to repeat his dramatic utterances in the presence of a number of one of the biggest Moscow factories.

The manager and his foreman pre-ferred to fall with the disgraced Trepoft's proposals, lured him away from the others and then gave him the soundest thrashing a grown man ever had.

QUEER STORY OF ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECK.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 20.—A weird story was told here last night of an attempted train wreck. A man who says his name is Roy Goodrich, says he found a man piling ties on the Camden and Atlantic R. R. tracks near Abscon, a few miles from here.

He attacked the man, he says, and was badly beaten. He says he was beaten into unconsciousness and when he recovered he was lying between the rails tied with rope and with three railroad ties upon him. He got out of his pen-knife, he says, and liberated himself. He came to his boarding house at Atlantic City where he found by the police that he had been informed of an attempted wreck. A man named Chas. Adams had found five railroad ties on the railway track and his information to the police had led to the investigation.

Goodrich said he is an author and that he is here for the benefit of his health. Whether or not there had been an attempt to wreck a train was not positively ascertained up to a late hour tonight.

FOR DOCUMENT 192034

ST JOHN STAR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1905.

NEWS OF SPORT.

Pres. Roosevelt Says All Brutality in Foot- ball Must be Stopped. Tonight's Wrestling Match.

FOOTBALL.

HOW THE GAME COULD BE IMPROVED.

An interesting letter is contributed to the current Harper's Weekly by a correspondent who, having read Walter Camp's much-discussed football articles in the Weekly, writes to say that, from a spectator's point of view, the English game is infinitely ahead of ours. He thinks the following points in the English form of play could be adopted with advantage to the game as played in this country:

First (the same)—Do away with all interference, which in the English game is of no value.

Second—Introduce more of the spreading out of halfbacks and fullbacks, and pass the ball.

Third—"Dribble" the ball down the field.

Fourth—Throw in the ball from side to a line-up.

"It would really," says the correspondent, "be more than worth while for the different colleges to send a committee to England to witness the game, study it closely, and adopt many of its features which have stood the test of time."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S VIEWS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Dr. J. William White, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and a member of the university committee on athletics, returned tonight from Washington, where he had been summoned by President Roosevelt to discuss matters relating to football. WRESTLING.

TONIGHT'S BIG CONTEST AT YORK THEATRE.

When Maupas and Hedgu appeared in St. John last month wrestling was practically speaking an unknown quantity. But since that event which was witnessed by a fairly large audience for an introductory of a new athletic sport to this city and which after taking place at the York Theatre and those who had the pleasure of witnessing the contest as being the best sporting event seen in St. John in years it can be set down that the best taking place at the York Theatre tonight will without doubt be even a better one than the one seen. LUMBER MILL HAS BEEN REBUILT.

A. L. Wright Lumber Company's Plant at Salisbury Again in Operation.

MONCTON, Nov. 19.—The A. L. Wright Lumber Company's mill at Salisbury, which was burned on the 9th of July last, has been rebuilt and commenced sawing. The new mill is 156 feet long, 40 feet wide, with separate fire-proof boiler house 40 feet square. The mill is equipped to cut from 50,000 to 60,000 feet daily. The mill is also equipped to cut furniture stock, box shooks and laths. The firm has some millions of feet of hardwood on their lands, and this is admirably adapted for cutting into furniture wood, for which a ready market is found in England. The new company, which bought the mill, is now carried on by A. L. Wright & Sons, who have a large general store, under the management of Mr. Price, one of the directors, and Mr. Slipp, another director, who was formerly connected with the packing establishment at Sussex, has started a similar industry at Salisbury, and will start a butter factory, which will be under the management of Mr. Wright, A. L. Wright, the founder of the business, has retired from active affairs, and will devote his attention to his fine game in Salisbury.

In connection with the above it should be stated that the new mill is lighted by electricity and that a telephone is being built from the mill to Salisbury village. This line will connect the mill with the telephone system and be a great convenience in a business way.

Why Tea Quality Varies

YOU know how the quality of strawberries from the same patch will sometimes vary from one day to another.

One day sweet, compact, well ripened, well colored, richly flavored—next day it rains, is cloudy, following picking is soggy, sour, green, coarsely-flavored, poor.

Tea, also, on account of its volatility of flavor, after picking and during the curing process is very susceptible to weather changes. A few hours of sunshine or bad weather after picking may make the difference between good and poor tea.

So that while one picking may be first class, the next from the same garden may be very poor.

I select only the pickings which come up to the Red Rose standards of richness and strength in Indian, and delicacy and fragrance in Ceylon teas, and thus that "rich, fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea is produced and maintained.

STEAMER FOUNDERS NEAR YARMOUTH, N. S.

In Raging Sea S. S. Turbin Struck on Black Ledge and Went Down With All Her Crew.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 20.—The Norwegian steamer Turbin, which left Sydney, C. B., on Wednesday, coal laden, for Yarmouth, struck on Black Ledge, near Mud Island, near Yarmouth, Friday afternoon, and sank in ten minutes. Her crew of fourteen or sixteen men are believed to have all perished.

The Turbin should have been able to make the run from Sydney to Yarmouth in 36 hours. "All the news of this disaster came tonight, she had not been heard from since leaving Sydney, there had been much anxiety regarding her since Saturday morning, for a tremendous sea and heavy gale had raged along the Nova Scotia coast on Thursday and Friday.

The news of the Turbin's loss was brought to Clark's Harbor by the coastal steamer Edna R., which conveyed the brief intelligence that the Turbin struck in a heavy sea and foundered in ten minutes with, it was thought, the loss of everybody on board. The Turbin was commanded by Capt. Knudsen, and the crew was composed exclusively of Norwegians. She was built three years ago and has been under charter to the Dominion Coal Company for the trade between Sydney, Charlottetown, Halifax, Yarmouth. She was owned in Sande, Norway, and was 230 tons registered, with a cargo capacity of 800 tons. It was near Mud Island that Allan liners Moravian and Castellan were lost.

ST. MARY'S BAND GAVE AWAY GLOVES.

A Pleasant Evening Marked the Band's Second Birthday.

A most enjoyable entertainment was given by the members of St. Mary's Band last evening for a large number of their friends. The band celebrated the second anniversary of its organization. An excellent programme was carried out, including selections by the band, addresses by Rev. Dr. Raymond, Alderman Sprunt and Captain Beverley Armstrong; violin solos by J. McKenzie, and selections by Walter Nixon. In the two years since their organization the band have expended $800 in the purchase of instruments and other essentials, half of which was contributed by the members.

The anniversary of the band as it happens, is also the anniversary of the birth of their instructor, Prof. Williams, and that gentleman was presented by the boys with a pair of water-gloves as a token of their good-will. The presentation was made by Dr. Raymond, as president of the band, and Mr. Williams made a suitable reply. Gloves were also presented to Sergeant P. Dooe, the organizer of the band, and to Geo. H. Chamberlain, the sexton of the church, in recognition of his services. A very hearty vote of thanks was also passed to H. J. Barton, the energetic secretary-treasurer. Refreshments were passed around at the close of the evening.

ROOSEVELT WILL HELP CURE INSURANCE EVILS.

Promises State Insurance Commissioner
That He Will Co-operate in Any Way to Improve Conditions.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 20.—According to State Insurance Commissioner O'Brien's report to Governor Johnson, made today, on Mr. O'Brien's return from a trip to New York and Washington in connection with the trouble of the big life insurance companies, President Roosevelt will be the chief architect in a co-operative effort of all the states of the union to compel the large life insurance companies whose troubles are now being aired in New York, to put their business on a safer and more economical basis.

Mr. O'Brien went east last week under orders of Governor Johnson to look into the insurance situation. Governor Johnson had been deluged with requests from policy holders in the Northwest to act in the matter. He gave Mr. O'Brien a letter of introduction to President Roosevelt. On Saturday Mr. O'Brien had a conference with President Roosevelt. The result of this conference was reported to Governor Johnson today. He reported that during the short time allotted to him by the president he outlined his plan of action, which was to call a meeting either in New York or Washington, following the completion of the investigation now in progress in New York, of all the state commissioners of the country, together with Governors and other officials.

This meeting was to evolve, if necessary, a demand for reorganization of all the important life insurance companies, but more particularly the placing of the affairs of those companies on a safer basis. Any action to be taken by this meeting to be cooperative and each delegate to go back to his state prepared to carry out his part of the programme.

When Mr. O'Brien stated his plan he said: "Now, Mr. President, there will be a committee to carry out our plans and we need a head. Will you help?"

"I most emphatically will," was the answer of the president, according to Mr. O'Brien's report to the governor. "I will be glad to help you in any way I can."

Mr. O'Brien carried this news from Washington to St. Paul without saying a word to anybody, and would not have allowed it to become public had not Governor Johnson seen the importance of the matter and directed Mr. O'Brien to make a detailed statement to the press.

The contemplated meeting of the state officials as proposed by Mr. O'Brien will be held in St. Paul, and will investigate the three big companies have completed their work. The call for the meeting will probably emanate from this state, Governor Johnson and Mr. O'Brien taking the lead.

BLACKWOOD WAS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Surveyor-General's Questions Puzzled
Youthful Witness—Other Questions Were Unanswered.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 20.—The trial in the shooting case came to an end this afternoon. Charles Hanks, a lad of eleven, who was with Howarth and his son, corroborated Howarth's evidence in all essential particulars as to the shooting of young Howarth and Blackwood was committed for trial.

During the cross-examination Surveyor General Swenney, who appeared for the accused, attempted to discredit young Hanks as to his knowledge of the shooting, and among other things asked the lad if he knew why he had kissed the Bible when being sworn. The call for the young witness, by the counsel for the crown saved the situation by offering to donate five dollars to the Moncton hospital if the Surveyor General himself could tell why the old English law it was the practice for witnesses to kiss the Bible. No answer was forthcoming, and the incident dropped.

ESTABLISHED SORT OF ENDLESS CHAIN.

Montreal Man Before the Court on Charge of Vagrancy.

MONTEAL, Nov. 20.—W. E. Newcliffe, doing business as the Dominion Woolens Association, has been told to close up shop on pain of trial on the charge of vagrancy. He was arrested on this charge as the result of complaints that Newcliffe was conducting a business which has been declared illegal. His scheme was to get agents to sell a book for five coupons, each worth a dollar. For this the agent got a coupon, with which goods to the value of one dollar could be got from any one of various houses named. The purchase of coupons became the agent, and so to a certain extent an endless chain was commenced.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge of vagrancy when brought before Judge Lafontaine, and Chief Carpenter told the judge that Newcliffe had agreed to stop the scheme, and he had no wish to be hard on him. It is likely the case will now be dropped.

A circular issued this morning from the office of Robert Kerr, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, announced the appointment of W. G. Annabell as general baggage agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway to succeed R. H. Morris, deceased.

GALLERY TRIAL IS CLOSED FOR A TIME.

MONTEAL, Nov. 20.—The Gallery trial closed today and will reopen at some future day with the same jury. The date for this has not yet been fixed, but an agreement will be reached, and the date fixed for arguments will be announced tomorrow, when the court will meet pro forma.

F. J. Beaulieu, K. C., at the opening of the court, submitted a statement which was received by the court without reserve, and the incident was closed with mutual respect between parties.

At the Gallery again entered the box, as he refused the offer of his counsel to submit the statement admitting the agency of Michael Mead and had to admit that he had sworn in his examination on the discovery that Michael Mead worked for him in his election. In addition, other statements made by him on discovery were brought out.

ENGLAND'S THE PLACE TO GET MARRIED.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The women of the United Kingdom have nearly twice as many chances of being married as the women of any other nation in Europe.

This is one of the many remarkable facts shown in the annual statistical abstract for the principal nations of the world. The period covered by the figures is from 1893 to 1903. In each of these ten years there have been fourteen or sixteen marriages per 1,000 of the population in Great Britain, while in other countries the rate has steadily remained at between seven and eight per 1,000.

The blue book it is true gives a rate of 15.1 for 1903, but this is obviously an error, for during the nine other years of the period the rate has been invariably a fraction below eight per 1,000, and the actual number of marriages in 1903 show that the rate must have been about the same as in previous years.

A steadily falling birthrate in nearly every county is another feature of the report, Spain alone showing an increase in the percentage of births in 1903 over that of 1902. On the other hand in every case the death rate shows a steady decrease. In 1903 it ranged in most countries between twenty and thirty per 1,000 of the population, but in 1902 it had fallen nearly everywhere to below twenty per 1,000.

DEATH OF FORMER WESTMORLAND LADY.

SACKVILLE, Nov. 20.—The death of Mrs. Helen Berry occurred at Neponset, Mass., on the 17th inst., after a lingering illness of tuberculosis, with complications. The funeral took place yesterday from the Baptist church, Woodpoint, a large number assembling to pay their last tribute of respect. Rev. B. N. Nobles conducted the service, which was very impressive. Six nephews of deceased acted as pall-bearers, Melbourne, Howard, Foster, Charles and Harold Snowdon, and Clarence Wry. Mrs. Berry is survived by a husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Obadiah Brown, Woodpoint; six sisters, Mrs. Willard Wry, Sackville; Mrs. Gran Johnson, West Sackville; Mrs. B. F. Cuthers and Mrs. A. E. N. S. MAIL CLERK ARRESTED
CONFESSES TO THEFT.

HALIFAX, Nov. 20.—W. J. McLean, aged about 25, a clerk on the Oxford & Pictou railway post office, was arrested last week charged with robbing the mails. He was under suspicion for a short time and very recently the suspicions were confirmed so strongly that post office inspector McLeellan and Superintendent Bent, of the railway mail service, who had been investigating, took steps to place the question beyond doubt.

Test letters were mailed to two of his clerks on Wednesday and they disappeared. That night he was found in his postal car at an unusual hour and worked, admitting his thefts and making restitution of a large sum of money. He was placed under arrest and is now remanded until Wednesday for preliminary examination.

More Terrible Than War!

More terrible than war, famine or pestilence is that awful destroyer, that hydra-headed monster, Consumption, that annually sweeps away more of earth's inhabitants than any other single disease known to the human race.

"It is only a cold, a trifling cough," say the careless, as the irritation upon the delicate mucous membrane causes them to hack away with an irritable choking of the throat. When the open sore on the mucous surface of the throat, a cough is the result. To prevent Bronchitis or Consumption of the Lung, do not neglect a cough however slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages soon leads to fatal results. If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of

ALDERMEN ALLOT BERTHS THIS AFTERNOON.

Several Boats are Already Here—General Wonder Why the Matter Was Put off So Long.

The board of works will have a lively meeting this afternoon or a very tame one. They meet to decide what companies shall have certain wharves. Considering the fact that the city fathers had a fair idea that the steamers were to come here this winter it is rather surprising that they did not think of this matter when they decided to spend $300,000 on a new wharf.

One of the regular lines of steamers, the Pacific, has docked and has been discharging cargo for over twelve hours at the berth she occupied last year. The steamer Veritas, a fruit steamer under charter to Marsh & Marsh, came in this morning and took a berth at the C. P. R. pier and at once commenced discharging her cargo. There is a Donaldson liner and several other boats expected this week so that it is high time the city decided about the berths. They own the property out and out this year, having returned the fifty thousand dollars to the C. P. R., but shipping men think it is poor business to wait till the steamers get here and dock before they allot the berths.

ST. JOHN BASEBALLISTS FOR BIG LEAGUES.

Allan McGulgan, the clever second baseman of last year's St. Johns has signed a contract that will land him in one of the big leagues next year. Joe Page, the well known Montreal promoter and Edw. Barrow, of the Toronto Base Ball Club are the men that landed the local crack who is one of the fastest second basemen ever seen on a maritime province diamond. McGulgan's contract does not confine him to any team but to go where he is placed by the men to whom he is under contract.

It is also understood that Messrs. Page and Barrow are after another local player, Donald McEachern, who is without doubt the best pitcher St. John ever turned out and a youngster that has a brilliant future ahead of him.

In the case of the St. John Lumber Co., in the action brought by the attorney general of the province, it was decided that it should come up also at an early date. W. A. Mott, of McAllister & Mott, is acting for the plaintiff, and H. P. McLatchey and Hon. A. S. White for the defendant. The case deals with the extension to the town waterworks. In 1899 the town took over the works before managed by a company, and in 1904 started to build a new dam and in other ways to increase the water power of the town, and the plaintiff claims they are infringing on his territory. The plaintiff brought an action of trespass, which was heard before Mr. Justice Landry at the March sitting and was awarded $120 damages. A number of other cases of trespass are now pending, number of affidavits were read this morning, including that of Joseph R. Taylor, clerk of the town council, who claimed that the plaintiff and his lawyer had consented to the work being done, $5,000 had been spent on it, and it is now fully completed, and the water in use. Mr. Mott said that the work did not reflect much credit on the town, as they were attempting to bluff the plaintiff out of his ownership.

Tooth Hints! "When ought we to go to the dentist?"

Many think it unnecessary to devote particular attention to the teeth until the appearance of the tooth is affected by damaged, decayed or broken teeth. Others give their teeth no attention till pain compels them.

The stupidity of a short-sightedness of either policy is evident in the world. Every one who thinks a moment on the subject knows that we cannot masticate our food satisfactorily if one or more of the teeth are tender, inflamed, decayed or otherwise out of working order; and that if this be the case the mouth requires immediate attention.
