

SHAMROCK III THE FIRST HALF-HOLIDAY.

It Was a Grand Success in Every Way Merchants Pleased With Friday's Trade.

The weather smiled upon the first Saturday half holiday and the thousands of sojourners who were well pleased to enjoy the holiday.

The business streets during the afternoon of their bordering of close-drawn blinds looked like Sunday and not a few complaints were made by would-be purchasers not yet used to the change.

POPE LEO XIII IS DYING!

Sovereign Pontiff Was Born in the Papal States in March, 1810.

Has Filled the Papal Chair for the Longest Term Since the Death of Saint Peter--Was a Lover of Peace, but Demanded the Restoration of the Temporal Power of the Papacy.

ROME, July 5.—3.30 p. m.—At this hour the pope is sinking so fast that it has been considered best to gradually inform him of the gravity of his condition, in order that he may prepare for the last communion, which will be administered tonight with the participation of all the cardinals who are now in Rome and also the whole of the pontifical court.

The pontiff is still conscious. He finds his breathing has been somewhat relieved by inhaling oxygen.

There is still some hope that he may survive the night.

the bulletin allowed and remarked: "They are signed 'Lapponi.' That shows that the news is authentic, and it gives me profound sorrow."

LONDON, July 6.—The morning papers devote much space to the news from Rome concerning the condition of the Pope. The consensus of the correspondents is that the aged pontiff can live but a few hours, though there is some hope that his extraordinary vitality may prolong life even to some days.

ROME, July 7.—3.55 a. m.—Another morning has broken on the pathetic scene within the simple chamber of the Vatican where Pope Leo lies dying. As the soft light of dawn penetrated into the room the pontiff whispered to his devoted physicians that he desired the shutters of the windows to be opened, saying: "I wish to see one more, perhaps for the last time, the rays of the sun."

It is just a short while since the pope came back to consciousness from a sleep which Dr. Lapponi had induced by a strong dose of chloral. His sleep was so deathlike that artificial respiration was continued and Dr. Lapponi every few minutes leaned anxiously over the couch to observe the flutuous patient and listen to his hardly perceptible breathing. Pope Leo awoke wet with perspiration, feeble to the extreme and his voice hardly audible. The fits of coughing had brought pains in his chest and shoulders, and thinking it was now near he said to Dr. Lapponi: "Tell me when the time really comes. The doctor assured him that he believed the danger of his immediate passing was averted for the night and for today. Although his physical powers are at their lowest ebb and his mind is clear and in command to all around by his bright, expressive eyes and the few words he now and then utters in uttering. The scene is so touching that those present can hardly restrain their tears. Count Camillo Pecci, the pope's nephew, whom the dying man kept by his bedside yesterday, said that those present can hardly restrain their tears. Count Camillo Pecci, the pope's nephew, whom the dying man kept by his bedside yesterday, said that those present can hardly restrain their tears.

Shortly after 10 o'clock at night the pontiff received the extreme unction. At 9 o'clock his condition seemed to be so hopeless that only a short time apparently remained before he would have breathed his last. Dr. Lapponi's initiative a hasty consultation of the Pope's relatives, Cardinal Rampolla and other ecclesiastics was held, and the pontiff's condition seemed to be so hopeless that only a short time apparently remained before he would have breathed his last.

After the administration of the viaticum, telegrams hoping for his recovery were shown to the Pope, and he appeared to be much gratified. One of the strangest features in his condition is the interest the Pope takes in telegrams inquiring about his health. Yesterday, having heard that a French lady whom he had received in audience a few weeks ago had telegraphed a message of sympathy, he asked to see the despatch, and when Monsignor Piferi brought it he was not satisfied with looking at the message but wished to read it.

ROME, July 7, 1.45 a. m.—Repeated doses of chloral have enabled the pontiff to sleep, but, contrary to previous nights, artificial respiration is continued, and Dr. Lapponi goes every five minutes to the bedside to observe the patient and listen to his breathing.

ROME, July 7, 3.35 a. m.—The Pope awoke from his sleep, which was induced by doses of chloral, very feeble and in pain, but with his mind quite clear.

ROME, July 6, 10.30 p. m.—The change for the worse in Pope Leo's condition is augmenting rapidly. At 9 o'clock his holiness is unmistakably sinking so that Dr. Lapponi, alarmed, consulted with the Pope's relatives, Cardinal Rampolla and other ecclesiastics, who decided that extreme unction should be given, and it was administered by Monsignor Piferi, Pope Leo's confessor.

ROME, July 6.—Great activity reigns among the cardinals now that it is sure that a conclave cannot be far off. It is even said that there has been an exchange of telegrams in cipher between the members of the Sacred College in Rome and those in the provinces or abroad. Unreliable rumors are circulating and scarcely any cardinal is deprived of the battery of inquiries concerning a candidate. However, besides those mentioned in the Associated Press despatches, the only other candidates who are regarded as having a fair chance are Cardinal Svanucci, archbishop of Bologna, and Cardinal Richelmy, archbishop of Turin. Cardinal Rampolla is thought by many to have the best chance of being elected. According to the most accredited vatican gossip, however, Cardinal Rampolla has entered into an agreement with Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the Congregation of the Propaganda, to support the election of the latter on condition that he himself be appointed Gotti's successor as Prefect of the Propaganda, the post which he held before he was elected to the "Red Pope."

ROME, July 6.—Since the Pope's illness assumed its present serious character there has been a very marked change in the symptoms, and the alteration from hope to fear in the minds of the population has given place to a certain feeling of apathy. For centuries the Romans have been accustomed to the rise and fall of systems of government and to changes of rulers. This, doubtless, has affected the later generations, causing them to regard without anxiety or even keen interest events of this nature.

BALTIMORE, July 6.—In speaking of the Pope's critical condition today, Cardinal Gibbons said: "In the death of Pope Leo I shall lose a dear friend and a father. I have known him for twenty years, and with an ever increasing admiration of his character. He had not the unflinching sweetness and amiability of Pius IX, but he possessed a much stronger character and was distinguished by a singular nobility of mind which made his influence felt within the church and without."

BUTTED A LOCOMOTIVE. Elliott, Now Dead, Once Tried to Knock Train Off Track.

BALTIMORE, July 4.—"Pleggy" Elliott, the mayor of Swamptoodle, is dead. He had been on the platform on all occasions, but carbolic acid proved too much for his iron constitution. After being the poison Elliott walked to where a number of his comrades were standing and said "Good-bye, fellows." Ten feet further on he drank the acid.

Elliott was absolutely expressionless when he inhaled a dose of the poison. He had not uttered a word, but he was not a man who would be easily warded off the track. A small sum was warded off the track. A small sum was warded off the track. A small sum was warded off the track.

WHEATON LAGER BEER FOR CANADA

Music as Bait. Charmed a Twenty Foot Grampus.

Sch. Josie, 140 tons, Capt. Wyman, from Barbados with a full cargo of molasses for L. G. Crosby, reached St. John yesterday afternoon and anchored in the stream. The Josie was 24 days coming up. She had changeable weather all the way through. At the start N. and N. E. winds were the order from day to day. In lat 41.30 and long 67 the Josie ran in with an American fishing schooner which had on board a crew full of music.

The crew of the molasses laden schooner boarded the fisherman, and during their festivities a grampus came alongside, attracted, as nearly all the people thought, by the singing. The whale was about 20 feet long. The mate of the fisherman attempted to harpoon the big fish, but the harpoon had no effect. After spending about half an hour alongside the fishing schooner the grampus departed. The Josie brought up five passengers and one stowaway in addition to her crew. The passengers were colored men and seem to be all right.

BRUSSELS, July 6.—The Catholic organ L'Evangeliste Siele has received the following telegram from Rome: "The death agony of Pope Leo has commenced. His demise may be expected at any moment. The last sacraments have been administered."

ROME, July 5.—During the afternoon the strength of the pontiff began to fail him so rapidly and his condition became so critical that it appeared that only a few more hours of life remained for him. It was, therefore, deemed wise to advise him of his grave condition and this was done with tender precaution. Pope Leo was thus prepared for his last communion, which was administered tonight with the participation of all the cardinals now in Rome and the whole of the pontifical court.

The solemn yet gorgeous ceremony of administering the last sacrament took place at the bedside of Pope Leo. The central figure was the dying pontiff, whose long life's journey is nearly over. ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 8, 1903.

CIVILIZED COUNSEL.

What are we to expect of the ordinary newspaper in the United States in the way of international amenities if Harper's Weekly, the alleged "journal of civilization," is allowed by its readers and publishers to go on as it has under the present editorial management? One expects from a journal of such pretensions and such traditions some recognition of the rights of other nations, and some acknowledgment of the duties and courtesies which free countries owe to each other.

Recently Harper's stated that the adoption of an imperial preferential tariff by Great Britain would not be satisfactory, inasmuch as it would give Canadian products an advantage in the British market over those of the United States. For that reason the measure would be an unfriendly act and would be so received.

But this is not the full measure of the demand of Harper's Weekly. That paper credits Mr. Wyndham with the statement at the Pilgrims Club dinner that "one of the motives impelling him to introduce the Irish land purchase bill had been the hope of gaining the approval and good will of the American people."

satisfaction that a measure which he had prepared on the merits of the case had gained the approval and good will of the American people.

But while the Journal of Civilization commends Mr. Wyndham for framing his Irish land laws in conformity with the wishes of the "American" people, the British minister is informed that he must do more than that before he can hope for the best relations with this continent.

But still there would be an obstacle to a "lively sympathy between Great Britain and the United States." England could remove that "by urging the provinces of the Canadian Dominion to become states of the American union."

The Journal of Civilization recognizes the fact that Canada does not seek this absorption, and prepares to meet the objection that the Canadians may have "a preference for allegiance to the British crown."

If Harper's Weekly were not a journal supposed to address the best class of readers and to represent the highest intelligence of the nation one need not notice such presumptuous claims and offensive advice, which are common even in the journals of the more careless class.

The empire, what is left of it, may enjoy American friendship, when half a continent is paid for it, provided the laws of the empire are not unsatisfactory to the United States.

THE GRAND TRUNK PROGRAMME. The first paper in the maritime province to announce that the government proposed to build a railway from Winnipeg eastward as a public work was the St. John Sun.

ing the programme to be submitted: That the line between Quebec and Winnipeg will be built by the government or some contractor at public expense, and then leased to the Grand Trunk Pacific Corporation.

Except that Moncton has been substituted for Quebec the guess of the Westmorland senator corresponds with the announcement made six days later by the Telegraph and other government organs.

But it would be unsafe to suppose that the arrangement to which the ministers have given their consent will be final. There are a number of liberal members who are not so submissive to the Grand Trunk as the minister of railways and his colleagues.

Many conflicting reports come from the far east concerning the relations of Russia with the other powers, and the position of Russia in Manchuria. Over and over again Russia has denied a violation of the international agreement.

MR. COSTIGAN'S VINDICATION. The Ottawa Correspondent of the Monitor gives a glowing account of the banquet to Mr. Costigan. The former minister is reported as having said that "any Irish Catholic could entertain 'from the Catholic standpoint in transferring his allegiance from the men who proved themselves traitors to the minority in Manitoba to the men who formed the present administration."

POST OFFICE REVENUES. Sir William Mulock has gone about boasting that he has reduced postage rates and yet produced a better balance than his predecessors.

REV. MR. DEINSTEADT'S FAREWELL. Rev. T. J. Deinstadt closed his third term as pastor of Elmwood street Methodist church Sunday evening and in his sermon bade farewell to his congregation.

BABY WEATHER. Little Fellows Don't Like Hot Days. Mothers should know exactly what food to give babies in hot weather. With the broiling hot days in July and August the mother of a baby is always anxious for the health of her little one and is then particularly careful in feeding. Milk sours quickly and other food is uncertain. Even in spite of caution sickness sometimes creeps in and then the right food is more necessary than ever.

Our baby boy two years old began in August to have attacks of terrible stomach and bowel trouble. The physician said his digestion was very bad and that if it had been earlier in the summer and hotter weather we would surely have lost him.

Finally we gave baby Grape-Nuts food feeding it several times the first day and the next morning he seemed better and brighter than he had been for many days. There was a great change in the condition of the bowels and in three days they were entirely normal. He is now well and getting very strong and fleshy and we know that Grape-Nuts saved his life for he was a very, very ill baby. Grape-Nuts food must have wonderful properties to effect such a cure as this.

We grown-up, in our family all use Grape-Nuts and also Postum in place of coffee with the result that we never any of us have any coffee illness. The reason Grape-Nuts food relieves bowel trouble in babies or adults is because the starch of the grain is predigestion and does not tax the bowels, nor ferment like white bread, potatoes and other forms of starchy food.

The murder was the most blood thirsty in the island's criminal record.

ENGLAND IS THE LAND OF THE FREE. (From an American Magazine.) It is a fair question now-a-days if England be not after all the true land of liberty. I believe it is the present fashion in America to admit it. Some estimate in terms of the domestic problem, though England has one too. But our household mechanism is more complicated and more brittle than the English, and the American housewife is bowing into almost a servitude to cooks and butlers, and city families are fast being driven into hotels and boarding houses. Others estimate in terms of other slavery. One is the slavery to publicity. England has spared more refugees for privacy. The garden wall more frequently rebuffs the street, and the houses that count even the telephone a noxious intrusion of the outer world are more the rule than the exception. Again there is the slavery to the press. We call public opinion, but which is not really the opinion of the great public, so much as a congeries of various sets of opinions of opinion makers, each under the guarantee of some organization or institution. Public opinion has indeed of late years yielded so largely to the organization form that it becomes almost impossible to discover what the opinion really is. Every proposal for reform or for standing pat, every phase of view or plan of procedure, must be submitted to the press, and the press, even the telephone a noxious intrusion of the outer world are more the rule than the exception.
