

JOSEPH MARTIN TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Interesting Developments at Investigation into Admission of Chinese at Vancouver.

Customs Collector Accepted Present from Chinese Merchant—Officials Implicated.

Vancouver, Jan. 20.—Joseph Martin, M. P., for St. Pancras, has been subpoenaed to give evidence before the royal commission investigating Chinese immigration.

At this morning's session Frederick R. Greer, chief clerk in the customs house, was called and told the commission that Walter Aiken, now on sick leave, was persuaded from the first that all the passports presented by incoming passengers at this port were "faked," and had refused to pass them.

Justice Murphy here declared that Aiken must appear before the commission, Mr. Greer added that Collector Bowell had admitted to him that he had received a present from a Chinese merchant in Toronto before a Chinese boy, claimed by the merchant as his son, had been admitted.

Bowell had added that the present had not influenced his decision in the matter. Norman McLean, a business man, was next called and admitted that in the course of a conversation with a minister at Ottawa he had said one difficulty about bringing about reforms would be the activity of a "set of politicians," here headed by Robt. Kelly. His information was that Kelly was the whole thing.

Mr. Greer—You heard he was able to make Mr. Templeman do just as he liked? McLean—That is generally understood.

Justice Murphy—Where is that understood, here? McLean—Everywhere. T. P. E. MacInnes has arrived from Ottawa to give evidence.

Promotion a Surprise. Ottawa, Jan. 20.—After the reports from Vancouver of the evidence given in the Chinese immigration investigation it will come as a surprise at this moment that Constable Edward Foster of the Dominion Police, has been promoted to the rank of inspector.

The appointment has been in view some time, owing to Constable Foster's services in connection with the establishment of a Canadian criminal identification bureau, of which he has been in charge. He will continue to give his attention to this phase of criminology, and the bureau, which is in the east block, will be made the central bureau of identification of criminals in Canada. All city and provincial officers will be subsidiary to the one in charge of Inspector Foster.

Sudden Death of Mrs. John March. Former Resident of St. John Expires While Attending Sunday School Convention—Highly Respected. Hampton, N. B., Jan. 20.—This community was shocked this afternoon to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. John March by heart failure while attending a Sunday school convention in the Baptist church at Hampton Village. Mrs. March had just given a report of the school had sustained by death. A few minutes after talking her seat she was noticed to be breathing heavily. Dr. Warnerford was immediately summoned, but he pronounced her extinct.

Mrs. March was formerly Miss Mary B. Bucknam, of Pennfield, Charlotte County. All of her married life was spent in the city of St. John up to twenty years ago, when the family removed to Hampton where they have since resided. Mrs. March was one of the organizers of the W. C. T. U. in St. John and for many years held the office of secretary. She was the first secretary of the Woman's Baptist Missionary Union of the Maritime Provinces, an office she held for over twenty-five years, during which time she visited many parts of the provinces and was an able exponent of the

LEWIS AGAIN MINERS' HEAD

TOM L. LEWIS. The Elected President of the Mine Workers' Union.

Springhill, N. S., Jan. 20.—The men of Springhill are today very jubilant over a message received from C. A. Bonnyman, president of the local lodge of the U. M. W. in that town, who is now in Columbus, Ohio, attending the meeting of the International Grand Council.

Mr. Bonnyman wires that there is no truth in the statements that President T. L. Lewis is defeated. His election by a majority of over 12,000 is conceded, and E. S. McCullough is re-elected vice-president by 15,000. Mr. Bonnyman has received strong assurances from the U. M. W. leaders at Columbus that they will stand behind the men of Springhill until they receive a square deal.

The strike will now be fought to a finish, and all rumors to the effect that the men will go back, or that the international will cease support have no foundation in fact.

Charter Granted. Washington, Jan. 20.—After almost three days of argument on the subject of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today decided to grant a charter to the Western Federation of Miners on equal terms with one now held by the United Mine Workers of America.

The policy agreed upon by the council will now be submitted to the Western Federation of Miners for ratification. President Charles H. Moyer, who is here, expressed the hope that his organization would adopt it.

It is a provision of the issue of the charter, that members of mechanized locals now existing in mining camps are not to be required to join the Western Federation of Miners in order to follow their trade in the mining camp.

The United Mine Workers of America in convention at Columbus, Ohio, today, unanimously voted to withdraw from the American Federation of Labor if the Western Federation of Miners was not granted a charter on the same terms with the former organization.

$1,000 AWARDED FOR ALIENATION. St. Thomas Barber Recovers On Strength Of Letter Which He Detected Wife Posting To Railroad Man.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 20.—John W. Hammond, the St. Thomas barber who sued George Smille, a brakeman on the Wolverine, Michigan Central train, for ten thousand dollars, alleging alienation of his wife's affections by the railroad man, was this afternoon awarded $1,000 damages in Judge Donovan's court in Detroit.

A letter produced by the prosecution this afternoon apparently had much to do with the verdict. There was a fight over its submission, but the court held that it was admissible, since Mrs. Hammond admitted writing it. It transpired in cross-examination that her husband had seen her posting it in St. Thomas in 1907, where they lived, and had recovered it.

SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF PRODUCTS

WHY UNCLE SAM SEEMS SO ANXIOUS TO CONCLUDE RECIPROCITY NEGOTIATIONS.

Schedules Prepared by Commissioners to be Ratified by Legislation Without Recourse to Treaty—No Announcement as to Articles Affected—Big Fight in House Expected.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Within two weeks from the date that the Canadian reciprocity commissioners began their conference in Washington, an agreement has been reached so far as the executive branches of the governments of the United States and Canada, are concerned, that will result in the substantial reduction of customs duties on a number of products, natural and manufactured, of the two countries.

The commissioners met at the State Department today for the purpose of making a careful comparison of the various schedules involved in the arrangement, to make sure that no error had crept in and that nothing remained likely to be subject to conflicting constructions in the future.

In accordance with the announcement contained in the statement given to the press when the commissioners first met, even today, the individual commissioners felt bound to refrain from giving the least intimation as to the products affected by their negotiations, and that information would be withheld until the sessions of the commissioners have reached an end, when formal announcement of the result will be made. As soon as that is done, the President will take the necessary steps to bring the matter to the attention of Congress.

The usual course in such cases is to submit a draft treaty to the Senate for its approval and accompany this by a project for legislation to make the necessary changes in the tariff schedules. It is possible that there will be a departure from the established order in the case of the Canadian reciprocity project. This looks to the abandonment of the treaty entirely in favor of purely legislative action. No good reason is seen why all purposes will not be served by the passage of a simple resolution by both Senate and House, making the tariff schedules correspond to the rates proposed by the commissioners, so far as they relate to Canadian products only.

It is presumed that the Canadian legislature can deal with the subject in the same way, in which case there would be no occasion for the intervention of the Imperial authorities, or for a treaty of any kind. The commissioners expect that the conference to be held in Ottawa, Jan. 20.—There is every indication of a long and strenuous session on the question of reciprocity when Messrs. Fielding and Patterson return here from Washington, and make known the results of their negotiations. The length and character of the debate will depend of course, upon the extent of the reciprocal agreement if one is concluded, and as seems to be indicated in the despatches from Washington.

Much Discussion in House. Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 20.—There is every indication of a long and strenuous session on the question of reciprocity when Messrs. Fielding and Patterson return here from Washington, and make known the results of their negotiations. The length and character of the debate will depend of course, upon the extent of the reciprocal agreement if one is concluded, and as seems to be indicated in the despatches from Washington.

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—Hon. Robert Rogers in an interview expressed the opinion that the Laurier government is planning an appeal to the country in advance of the census. The principal interest the government has in the reciprocity arrangements, he says, is the hope that out of them may grow an opportunity for calling a general election before the census can be completed. He is confident that the reciprocity negotiations, Mr. Rogers says: "The whole thing is simply another twist of the screw with the hope of making political capital, their desire being obviously calculated to strike terror into the hearts of the protected interests of Canada and cause them to see that the party's worldly wants are speedily supplied. If the game works, reciprocity negotiations, so far as agricultural implements, at all events, are concerned, may be expected to terminate. It may be taken as a foregone conclusion that if there is to be any tariff reform it will follow the line that will in the same way, in which case there would be no occasion for the intervention of the Imperial authorities, or for a treaty of any kind. The commissioners expect that the conference to be held in Ottawa, Jan. 20.—There is every indication of a long and strenuous session on the question of reciprocity when Messrs. The length and character of the debate will depend of course, upon the extent of the reciprocal agreement if one is concluded, and as seems to be indicated in the despatches from Washington.

INJUSTICE TO ISLAND PROVINCE

COUNT APPONYI TO VISIT U. S.

COUNT APPONYI.

New York, Jan. 20.—Count Albert Apponyi, formerly Hungarian Minister of Public Instruction, ex-speaker of the House of Commons, and for more than forty years a member of the Hungarian parliament, is to arrive in New York on the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm on February 6. Count Apponyi has been invited jointly by the Civic Forum and the New York Peace society to address a meeting in Carnegie Hall, February 15. His address will be on "Some Practical Difficulties of the Peace Problem in Europe."

Count Apponyi is the leader of the independent party of Hungary. Although an hereditary member of the House of Peers, he has preferred to exercise his political prerogatives in the more democratic House of Commons.

Too Busy to Think About. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied very briefly that the government was busy with larger questions such as tariff matters, reciprocity, transportation, etc. The Supreme Court vacancy was of recent date.

Mr. Foeter took the first minister to task. He had not for a long time heard a more effective, sensible or cutting speech than that of Mr. Foeter's. If the reason for having a senate was to protect the smaller provinces surely the greatest care should be exercised in giving them their full representation. After the reference to the government's disposition to regard the Houses of Parliament as negligible, Mr. Foeter remarked that in certain House judgments were put up to action. How much better was today's system?

Practical Questions. Mr. Brodeur said the close season would stand, also that the American recognition of licenses was a victory.

Mr. Brodeur examined Mr. Brodeur closely as to whether the Canadian ministers at Washington had acted in concert with Sir Edward Morris in negotiating the fishery arrangement, under discussion. Mr. Brodeur said that they had.

U. S. PLACES DUTY ON FISH BOUGHT ABROAD. Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—The treasury department today made a customs ruling of immense importance to American fishermen. It provides in effect that the fish caught in foreign waters by foreign ships and brought to ports of the United States by American fishermen will no longer be entered free of duty.

Fish caught in foreign waters where fishing is permitted by international agreement still, will be free of duty if taken by an American vessel with an American master and crew. Any fish which such a vessel may buy from foreign fishermen will be subject to duty.

NO DEMAND. Ottawa, Jan. 20.—A return asked in parliament shows that no resolutions in favor of the Georgian Bay canal were sent to the government last year.

Vacancy in Senate Not Filled for Two Years--The Premier Taken to Task.

Appointments Delayed for Party Reasons--Questions Concerning Fishery Regulations

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—A. L. Fraser, ex-Kings, P. E. I., told Sir Wilfrid Laurier very plainly this afternoon that he was ignoring the claims of Prince Edward Island to representation by permitting the vacancy in the senate caused by the death of Senator Ferguson, two years ago to remain unfilled. So little did Sir Wilfrid Laurier like the keenness of Mr. Fraser's temperately worded but cogent remonstrance that he curtly replied that the government had more important things to think about.

This drew a sharp rejoinder from Mr. Laurier, who reminded the Premier that he seemed to think that the government did all the legislative work, the House of Parliament being mere appendages. Mr. Fraser spoke on a motion to go into supply. He noticed that the loss sustained by Prince Edward Island in the Senate by Hon. Mr. Ferguson's death was aggravated by the long illness of Senator Robertson. He backed this up by quoting editorials from P. E. I. newspapers, the trend of them being that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was of the opinion that anything was good enough for the little province. Mr. Fraser also noted the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench of the Island through the resignation of Judge Hudson, who for some months has been incapacitated by ill health.

"This," he said, "is a disgraceful condition of things. What do the other provinces think of this violation of constitutional government to suit party ends?"

One or two questions were asked about the Adams Fisheries arrangement. Mr. Foeter drew attention to the fact that in certain cases licenses are not required. Was not this a weakening of the license system? And so of administrative control over the fishermen? Mr. Brodeur hardly thought so.

Mr. Loggie, of Northumberland, N. B., asked some highly practical questions. Would the close season be affected? How long can the "leader" of a trap net be? As a "herring" trap net will take all kinds of fish and as no license is to be required of men working trap nets under certain circumstances, and as these nets will take salmon, etc., will not the close season be affected? Will the possession of a license give an American who occupies a berth one year a vested interest in next year?

Will not the herring trap nets also catch mackerel? Mr. Brodeur said the close season would stand, also that the American recognition of licenses was a victory. Mr. Muldoon examined Mr. Brodeur closely as to whether the Canadian ministers at Washington had acted in concert with Sir Edward Morris in negotiating the fishery arrangement, under discussion. Mr. Brodeur said that they had.

COSTLY FIRE BREAKS OUT AT MONCTON

G. Robertson's Warehouse in Which Was Stored Much Valuable Furniture, Owned by Private Parties Destroyed.

Moncton, Jan. 20.—Another serious fire occurred here this afternoon when the large wooden warehouse of George R. A. Robertson, hardware and general merchant, on Duke street, was totally destroyed with all its contents. A smaller warehouse alongside was slightly damaged. The warehouse was filled with baled hay, tarred paper and furniture, etc., stored by private parties.

The fire appeared to have originated in the section where the hay was stored and was probably due to spontaneous combustion. In zero weather the firemen fought the flames for four hours. Mr. Robertson's loss on the building is $1,500, insurance, $700. Loss on stock, $1,000, insurance, $750. The Holman had $1,000 worth of furniture stored and insurance of $450. Owen Campbell, of the Bank of Montreal, now in Cape Breton, had $1,000 worth of furniture stored, insurance unknown. Sheriff Willet, Lew Johnston, Mrs. Kiener and others had furniture, etc., stored but as most of the parties are out of town, it was impossible to get details.

Rev. A. Lawson, new pastor of the First Baptist church, was tenderly embraced tonight by members of the congregation.

NEW GLASGOW-MONCTON TIE

Each Team Score Six Goals In Time Allotted And Decide Not To Play Off—2,000 See Game. New Glasgow, N. S., Jan. 20.—The Moncton-New Glasgow professional hockey game tonight, resulted in a draw, the score being six to six. The game was a first class exhibition of hockey, and is proclaimed the fastest and most exciting game ever seen here. New Glasgow went on the ice determined to revenge Monday's decisive defeat at Moncton, and they certainly gave the Monctonians the game of their lives. Scott and Doran were the stars of the Moncton team. Gregory and Williams were the shining lights of the home team, and they both played a strong, fast game. Williams was especially conspicuous for his pretty stick handling, and he was ably supported by the rest of the team. New Glasgow sports received the greatest surprise of their lives, as they had no idea that their team could play such a splendid game against the Victorias. The first half was very interesting and at half time, after the players had worked like Trojans, the score stood Moncton 2, New Glasgow 2. The second half was exceedingly fast and exciting. New Glasgow scored first and up to thirty seconds before they had a lead of one goal, but Scott banged the puck in the New

SENSATION IN THIS INQUIRY

Lengthy Report Sent To French Printing Office By Speaker Marcell—Officials Dismissed On Mere Statements.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—It is evident that the parliamentary inquiry which is to be made into the government printing bureau scandal is going to provide a most sensational episode. It should be understood that the parliamentary inquiry will also be investigated into the inquiry held by Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, and his deputy, Thos. Mulvey. Upon the latter inquiry several of the employees were disciplined and some dismissed, yet the fact has become generally known that the evidence taken was not under oath. Therefore it is of no value. But a curious circumstance has developed. It is stated positively that the report of the Quebec bridge inquiry was sent to La Vigie printing office in Quebec by Speaker Marcell, over the heads of the officers of the bureau. La Vigie could not complete the job and sent the volumes back to the bureau to be bound. It is stated that these are only sam-

FEAR DROWNING.

Winton, Ont., Jan. 20.—Tony Wiggins, employed as a driver at McEwan's livery is believed to have been drowned while on his way to Cranberry Island to bring back a hunting party. Cranberry Island is three miles from Winton. Wiggins left here about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a team and rig and was later seen crossing the ice. At 7.30 o'clock this evening a search party was organized and sent out to try to locate him if possible. The general belief however, is that he has gone through the ice and been drowned.

SAINT JOHN, SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 21, 1911

THE FARMERS' BANK.

The result so far of investigations into the affairs of the Farmers' Bank, and the indications of still further unsavory developments, are not pleasant reading for Canadians. They have been priding themselves upon their peerless banking system, and sounding its praises everywhere. The events of the last four years cause us some qualms of conscience and give occasion for sharp questionings as to whether after all we are much better off relatively than many of our neighbors, and whether we should not seek further safeguards. The Ville Marie in Montreal, the Sovereign and Ontario in Toronto, and now the Farmers' are costly and humiliating reminders that neither personal honesty nor the provisions of the Bank Act avail to protect confiding depositors and investing shareholders from disaster and sudden poverty.

This last case really seems, in some respects, the most flagrant and unnecessary of the whole list. It is particularly deplorable as bearing so hardly on the class to which it appealed, and which, as now appears, it was intended to pluck. In the county of Halifax alone it is said that $175,000 worth of stock is held, the loss of which, with its double liability, will ruin scores of farmers, who, attracted by its name and persuaded by its glittering prospectus, invested their hard earned capital therein. As if to render exploitation more easy farmers were made directors, men who have no wide knowledge of financial methods, and whose residence out of town gave them few opportunities of knowing what was going on. Everything depended on the managers, and in this case men were entrusted with the management, who appear now, and were known then, to have had none of the requisite qualifications of honesty or capability. For months and months the peculiar devices made use of in order to raise the $250,000 necessary to make the deposit to the Government were known on the street in Toronto, and became the subject of communication with the Finance Department. That the charter should have issued excited surprise and much adverse comment.

Now three questions are raised. First and foremost the depositors and shareholders are urgent to save their earnings and their capital, and so the liquidators are at work and the assets are being examined. Truth to tell little encouragement has been got for the shareholders, who stand to pay the double liability. What with out and out stealings, loans to irresponsible and without security in many cases, and investments in the Kewley Mine, there is little to hope for by the shareholders. The note holders are secure, and the depositors will likely come out without loss.

Next comes the matter of inquest and punishment for the persons concerned in and contributing to the wreck. The manager confessed and was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary, and seems to be giving all possible information to the Attorney General's Department in Toronto as to the transactions and the other parties thereto, and at present writing it would appear that the prosecution will be thorough, and the punishment of those guilty of positive wrong-doing, or of wilful neglect, effective. Whilst this will not make restitution it will act as a deterrent for the future.

Last of all, but not least important, arises the question as to how the Finance Department came to issue the charter, and whether its duty was carried out as defined by the Bank Act. Before the Treasury Board issues its certificate, certain preliminaries have to be fulfilled by the applicants, and certain examinations made by the Board. How the former were complied with, and what efficiency was given to the examination, are questions which are to be determined, and Parliament will be remiss in its duty unless it diligently and forthwith seeks a full answer to both. The shareholders ask for a Royal Commission to ascertain the facts in regard to the whole matter. By that or some better method the answer must be obtained, and all the facts established.

We have intimated above that the Finance Department was warned over and over again as to both the methods used and the men interested in the formation of the bank, and was importuned to be careful in its action. If it failed to make the proper inquiries and take the proper action, then it is blameable for all that has happened since. We are loth to believe that the department failed in its duty and will await developments before condemning it. But the rumors are insistent and can only be set at rest by a full inquiry. Meanwhile the subject of bank inspection comes directly to the front and must be thoroughly canvassed before the Bank Act passes the House.

TAINTED MONEY.

The statement which comes from Ottawa that among the contributors to the $120,000 testimonial which Mr. Fielding received last winter was Walter R. Travers, general manager of the Farmers' Bank, who pleaded guilty to making false returns to the Government and to other charges, and is now a convict under sentence of six years' imprisonment, throws a lurid light on the impropriety of ministers of the Crown accepting gifts of money from persons who may become responsible to the Government or the courts of the country. Not the least objectionable feature in the case was the refusal of Sir Wilfrid Laurier last session to make public the names of the donors, coupled with the intimation that it was none of the people's business.

Speaking in defence of the gift, and of the manner in which it was donated, the Premier made the assertion that it was stipulated that not a man would be called upon to subscribe if he was a director, if he was a Government official, or if he had anything to do with the Government. "It was well understood," he said, "that only men in private life would be allowed to contribute, men who had no connection whatever, directly or indirectly, with the Government, who had no expectation of profiting ever so remotely from any transactions with the Government." In the face of this statement it would now appear that Travers, who was falsifying returns to the Government, pocketing $40,000 of the bank's money, and making false documents, could afford to contribute $2,500 to a testimonial to the Finance Minister.

While the acceptance of the gift casts no shadow on the personal integrity of Mr. Fielding, it is manifestly contrary to all the accepted principles of good government. To make the impropriety even more apparent it is only necessary to quote from a resolution regarding "the acceptance of gifts and testimonials of any kind on the part of ministers of the Crown" moved by Sir Richard Cartwright in 1891 and seconded by Sir Wilfrid himself, then leader of the Opposition, and adopted by the House of Commons, which laid down the principle that it "is entirely opposed to sound principles of administration and is calculated to bring parliamentary government into contempt."

The gentleman who stood for these high principles in 1891 is leader of the Government today, and not only defends the gift to Mr. Fielding, but regards a demand for the names of the donors as something bordering on impertinence. Such is Sir Wilfrid's consistency.

THE BRITISH REVENUE.

The public revenue of Great Britain, reflects the unprecedented prosperity of British trade and commerce. For the first nine months of the British Government's fiscal year, that is from April 1st last to December 31st, the receipts have been £136,044,832, or £43,160,085 greater than the receipts of the corresponding nine months in the previous fiscal year—during which, by the way, the total surplus of British capital available for investment, that is to say, the surplus of the year's earnings of invested British capital, was, as estimated by the editor of the London Economist, £200,000,000, or $1,000,000,000.

The increase in the British Government's revenue for the first nine months of the current fiscal year is abnormal, in that it is swollen by arrears from the previous year, when the rejection of the Lloyd George Budget by the House of Lords prevented the full collection of taxes. But even the normal revenue is exceeding the estimates, and on five items alone it has been greater during the past nine months than in the preceding twelve.

The current budget provides for a total expenditure of £199,791,000, so there is £37,246,263 to be made up before the fiscal year ends on March 31. The income and land taxes are collected chiefly in the last quarter of the fiscal year, and it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that the Chancellor of the Exchequer will have a surplus to announce when he makes his next budget speech.

SHEER GLUTTONY.

A correspondent of a New York paper asks editorial advice on a course of reading that shall educate him. And he remarks that he "has read Dr. Eliot's list of books." Do you happen to remember Dr. Eliot's five-foot bookshelf? Do you remember that it included such monumental works as the "Journal of John Woolman," the "Autobiography of St. Augustine," Sir Thomas Browne's "Religio Medici," and Walton's "Lives of Donne and Herbert." And on the five feet what we have mentioned scarcely goes six inches.

And here's a man who has gnawed his way through this appalling mass and writes to the papers to find out what to read next! He has read the "Arabian Nights" (one wonders if it was Burton's translation in seventeen volumes) and he has read Darwin's "Origin of Species," and he is at a loss how to proceed! Milton, Shakespeare and Browning were included, and Emerson and Goethe and Bacon—and this man asks how he shall educate himself.

What a commentary on the way we read books! Shakespeare and the Bible have been the entire course of reading for many a great man of the past, while thousands of moderns starve intellectually in a land of plenty. Do we read books nowadays, or do we swallow them whole? "Reading maketh a full man," says Bacon. And here's an intellectual ostrich who should have died of mental dyspepsia long ago, crying out pitifully that he's hungry!

Several Canadian cities have adopted the board of control system, but Ottawa is the only one which has submitted a proposition to abolish that method of government. Recently this question was submitted as a plebiscite with the result that 5,937 voted to retain the Board of Control, while 3,439 voted for abolition. The majority of 2,498 is much larger than that by which the Board of Control system was approved on its adoption about five years ago. This endorsement after trial does not quite tally with statements made by the advocates of the commission plan that the control system is not a success.

The removal of a lung as a cure for lung disease cannot be complained of on the ground of lacking thoroughness. Possibly brain disease might be cured in the same way. As the stomach and a kidney and a few yards of intestine and now a lung have been removed by the surgeons, it is an interesting inquiry how much of what used to be called our vitals are really essential to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

MACKINTOSH'S WEEKLY LETTER

St. John, N. B., Jan. 20.—Contrary to general expectations the Bank of England rate is unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent. In New York money during the past week has been easy, call money ranging between 2 1/2 and 3 per cent. Cash is coming in from the West and indifferent trade conditions in the East tends towards accumulation of funds in New York. The call loan rate in Montreal, on the other hand, is very firm and remains unchanged at 5 1/2 per cent. The banking interests there are apparently holding the rate up to prevent excessive speculation.

The New York Market.

The whole list on Wall street has been buoyant during the past week and the market has been a buy on all reactions. Reading, Union Pacific, and Steel have been the leaders. The outlook for the Steel trade has not improved except that the longer the railways continue to withhold their orders the greater will be the demand when the buying commences. The meeting of the Steel manufacturers resulted in prices remaining unchanged. As the immediate prospects of business improving was not bright they decided it was better to maintain prices than to reduce when the trade was offering. The following cable was received at the Steel Men's Dinner from Chas. M. Schwab, in London:—"Hope each will see the advisability of maintaining present situation as I believe active demands are at hand and change will delay." The copper stocks have been under pressure, the Boston interests being very bearish on the grounds that there is much more copper on hand than estimated generally. Pacific Telephone and Telegraph has shown great strength. It was selling in the vicinity of 45 at the beginning of the year and closed today at 53 1/4. It is rumored that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, who hold controlling interest in the company, will in the near future absorb the stock at a much higher figure than it is selling at present. At the same time Pacific Telephone and Telegraph has been making a very good showing in a short time. The general feeling of the market has been upward and might continue in that direction, although the fact that the hearing on the revision of railroad rates is still going on and if an adverse decision on the railroads was handed down it would be liable to start a good sized reaction, but on the other hand, trade conditions should improve shortly and that, together with the good effects of the large grain crop of last year should have a stimulating effect on the market and put prices to a higher level.

JULES VERNE'S ISLAND REFUGE IN REALITY

Albany, West Australia, Jan. 20.—Three of the crew of the British freight steamer Parisian were lost when the vessel was burned at sea. The survivors arrived here yesterday on the steamer British Transport, which picked them up on St. Paul's Island, to which they had escaped in their boats. Fire broke out in the hold on Dec. 13. For four days the crew fought the flames, but on Dec. 17 took to their small boats. The ship's papers were lost. The burned craft belonged to Furness, Withy and Co., Glasgow.

St. Paul Island where the castaways found a temporary refuge is "Mysterious Island," described by Jules Verne in his story of nearly half a century ago.

THE COTTON MARKET.

The cotton market has been very narrow this week, the fluctuations being not more than 15 to 20 points on any month, in fact the closing figures tonight are within a point of the high figures of Monday. It would seem that in a short time the general feeling of business is likely to react from the western buyers, little or no movement will take place. In fact the question whether cotton can go higher at present depends entirely upon the foreign demands.

THE MONTREAL MARKET.

The Montreal market for the past week has been much broader and active than for some time past, the trend for higher prices with the exception of Dominion Steel Corporation. The cause of the weakness in this stock is the possible decrease in steel earnings and the fear of cessation of bounties. Montreal Power sold up to over 150 per cent. The dividend being increased to 8 per cent, and after the declaration, fell off a couple of points on profit taking. Canadian Pacific made further advance and it can be ascertained what volume of business is likely to result from the western buyers, little or no movement will take place. In fact the question whether cotton can go higher at present depends entirely upon the foreign demands.

A WORD OF WARNING!

You've seen the imitation fires on the theatre stage, made of red paper and an electric light bulb? What good would they do to warn your house? Take a lesson for the hour of sickness. Imitations of Zam-Buk and substitutes may give the dealer a little more profit, but they won't cure your skin disease, or stop the pain of your burn, or ease the agony of piles, or cure the rash on your baby. Don't be misled by the plausible "This preparation is just as good as Zam-Buk and cheaper." It isn't "just as good." Get the real Zam-Buk. See the legally protected name on the packet.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF SERGT. LANGILLE

Amherst, Jan. 20.—The remains of the late Sergeant Robert Langille, whose tragic death in St. Stephen was reported Wednesday, arrived at his old home in Springfield on the C. P. R. last evening, and the funeral took place this afternoon. The deceased was for many years connected with the military school at Fredericton, and the members of the 33rd Battalion marched behind the remains. Rev. Colin McRae, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducted the services. The late Sergeant Langille was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lobin Langille, of Springhill, and much sympathy is expressed for the aged parents.

SHE CURED HER HEART DISEASE

When She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Henry J. Jacques found a speedy relief for all her troubles, and now enjoys the best of health.

St. Rose du Lac, Man., Jan. 20.—(Special)—That Heart Disease is one of the results of disordered Kidneys, and is consequently easily cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, is the experience of Mrs. Henry J. Jacques of this place.

"My heart troubled me all the time," said Mrs. Jacques in an interview. "And I knew what terrible results might follow. The fact that my limbs would swell and my back ache led me to believe that I also suffered from Kidney Disease, so I determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought four boxes, and before I had finished the third box the swelling was gone, my back was well and my heart no longer troubled me. I am now in the best of health, and I owe it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Heart Disease is one of the troubles that come from unhealthy Kidneys. They fail to strain the impurities out of the blood, and those impurities are bound to affect the heart, which is the engine that propels the blood through the body. To cure Heart Disease cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills; to prevent Heart Disease, keep the Kidneys toned up and healthy by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Astigmatism

Many people have a wrong idea of astigmatism. It is not a disease, but an irregularity in the curve of the eye and can be corrected by specially ground lenses. Its usual symptoms are headaches, often accompanied by a turning of the head a little to one side in viewing objects and by squinting of the eyes, which causes premature wrinkles on the brow and about the eyes. We are perfectly equipped for examining the eyes for glasses and for prescribing and grinding the right lenses. Our work is reliable and fully guaranteed.

MISS PANKHURST 20 BUT FIERCE

This red-cheeked martyr to the cause of suffrage is newly arrived in America, but "ready to die for votes for women," she says. She will lecture in various cities, telling how the militant suffragettes at home make official life miserable.

And she knows her subject at first hand, for Miss Sylvia Pankhurst is daughter of the veteran suffragette of international fame and younger sister of the very busy Christabel Pankhurst.

If votes for women are withheld much longer in England Miss Pankhurst stands ready to be one of a thousand women to "rush" beneath the hoofs of the mounted police and die as the Christian martyrs of old did in the arena for their faith.

That shows how strong she is for suffrage—and not yet old enough to vote, according to age regulations! However she thinks suffrage will come fairly peacefully within a year or two. And she doesn't want to hurt anybody else. She believes in throwing stones, and rushing the police and things like that, but the idea is simply to scare up some excitement.

"We are prepared to die if we must," she says, "but we, ourselves, cannot be made to deliberately hurt others. When we march in a raid we go unarmed; we simply go forward and the police push us back or use violence as they see fit."

Apparently this young woman is utterly without vanity. She is direct of manner and speech, with a directness that disregards opinion. In the less vital matter of dress she scores all modes of feminine appeal. Not that she is masculine. Despite the strength of her face, too great for loveliness, she is all woman. Her hands are so exquisitely formed, so slender, one would imagine them breaking beneath aught heavier than a bit of chiffon. Yet, Miss Pankhurst's unadorned figure is strong and wide-shouldered.

AFTER BETTER ROADS IN U.S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Bad roads in the United States cost directly $40,000,000 a year. Indirectly, though unnecessary cost of transportation, bad roadmaking cost approximately $250,000,000 a year.

It costs the American farmer two or three times as much to haul his truck to market as it does the farmer of Europe, where roads are good.

In France the highways carry one and a third times as much freight as do the roads.

In America it is just the other way. The railroads carry three times as much produce as do the public roads. In other words, if the people of this country would use ordinary gumption in building their roads they would be some three million dollars better off each year, and the railroads instead of having the producer at their mercy, would be at the mercy of the producer.

For short hauls the motor truck and the tractor would take the place of the railroad. Trains of wagons, drawn by gasoline tractors, such as are now being used in England and elsewhere in Europe, would become the standard for interurban freight traffic.

These facts and figures are set forth in an announcement just issued by L. W. Page, director of the United States office of public roads, and president of the new American Association for Highway Improvement, which has opened an office in Washington.

Also he announces the official personnel of the association. This announcement is rather startling, in a way, inasmuch as the list of officers includes the names of the heads of five of the biggest trunk railroads in America, with Louis Hill of the Great Northern as chairman of the board of directors! Since when, folks may say, have Louis Hill, President Brown

Senator's Daughter With Edmund Breese

MISS FLOA LAFOLLETTE AND EDMUND BREESE AS "THE DEVIL."

New York, Jan. 20.—Not even the devil can keep Lota LaFollette off the stage. He hasn't tried, but everybody else, except the theatrical managers, has taken a hand at persuading her to keep to domestic and social life. Even her father, the trust-shaking senator from Wisconsin, can't shake Miss Lota in her determination.

Miss LaFollette has just gone back on the stage and is appearing in "The Scarecrow," a fantastic piece. When informed that there would be a representation of the devil in the piece—horns, hoofs, tail, hair and all—and that his part was to create a scarecrow and make her seem to fall in love with it, she wasn't fazed. She was going on the stage and that was all there was to it. She is the leading woman, and Edmund Breese, who plays the devil is the leading man.

CHANCE AIDS GOD OF LOVE

Despised Gambler Brother-in-Law Rescuing Angel of Couple Plunged in Debt, Grief and Police Court

New York, Jan. 20.—Hand in hand, a young woman and a young man, both obviously embarrassed, faced Magistrate Krollet in the West Side Court, yesterday. Policeman E. Aloysius Kennedy, following his custom of trying to make every visitor to the court feel at home, went through the formalities of an introduction.

"Here we have another of those unfortunate combinations of true love and no bankroll," he said; "two souls with but a single thought and not a single nickel."

"Married?" asked the Magistrate.

"Sure," answered Kennedy.

He coughed apologetically behind his hand.

"They've been having a little trouble about the rent and the butcher and the grocer and the instalment people, but everything else is all right."

"It was my fault," began the young man.

"It was my fault," interrupted the young woman.

"Can't you see they're newly married?" asked Officer Kennedy triumphantly. "After they've been married a couple of years that much politeness will last a week."

"It was my fault," said the young man firmly. "I told Grace I had paid for all the furniture, and she, poor girl, believed me."

"It's a way some of them have," breathed Policeman Kennedy softly. "I do not say all of them, but some of them. It depends largely on how the thing is told."

"Collectors Had Convention."

"I did my best," said the young husband, "because I knew her father wouldn't let her marry me if he knew I was poor and honest. How was I to know that all the collectors would come and hold a convention in our front hall?"

"Papa and mama were there," said the young woman, "and my married she married. He gambled for a ly-brushed right by Fred and came in this brother-in-law said heartily, 'Gee, the house is pinched! Don't give me your names!'"

"Brothers-in-law," said Kennedy, "are not human beings. What did your papa and mama say when the young woman, 'and papa turned on Fred savagely and told him he'd all ways know his place was in a home for the feeble minded, and the catch-me-when-you-can collectors kept right on coming in from the hall!'"

"It looked like a Labor Day parade," said Fred; "Hector—that is my brother-in-law—just sat there and laughed. He and one of the collectors were members of the same lodge. They

of the New York Central, President McCrea of the Pennsylvania, Chairman B. F. Yoakum of the Frisco and President Finley of the Southern been been interested in good public roads? Certainly they are not interested in public railroads.

However, there are other folks on the board. Director Page is president; and then there are Walter Page, editor of the World's Work; Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States; President James of the University of Illinois; Senator Young, Al G. Spalding, John A. Stewart, president international league for highways improvement, and others, including several prominent automobile manufacturers.

The object of the organization is to "correlate and harmonize efforts of all existing organizations working for road improvement, to get uniform road legislation in every state, and to seek continuous and systematic maintenance of roads." Anyone interested in good roads may become a member.

made signs to each other and began to talk lodge business. I had to go to the bedroom and get more chairs, so that all the collectors could sit down."

"Don't blame the collectors," said said Kennedy compassionately, "they have few social pleasures. The only time they get a chance to sit down is when they're riding on a street car, and not always then. I had a brother once was a collector till he got his jaw broke in two places by an honest debtor who was slow pay but quick tempered over in Eleventh avenue."

He Blames the Family.

"We don't blame them," said Fred; "We blame the members of our family. I never knew there were so many stingy persons in the world."

"Some of the Kennedys are no spendthrifts," murmured the policeman. "I have a cousin who wouldn't give a dime to see the Statue of Liberty stand on her head. Between pay days I've frequently borrowed money from him by giving twice as much security as a pawnbroker would ask, but, I don't quarrel with him because he saves money. If somebody didn't save money who could the rest of us borrow from?"

The Magistrate looked bored.

"Kennedy," said he, "your conversation is interfering with the wheels of justice. I don't know yet whether these unfortunate young persons are complainants or defendants."

"I'll ask them," answered Kennedy, going swiftly to the heart of the matter. "Is the furniture still in the flat?"

"No," said the young unfortunate persons together.

"There is nothing left," said Fred, "except a few wedding presents that we would eat out of if we had anything to eat, and a picture of an Indian sitting an arrow through a Puritan's hat."

"What can we do for you?" asked the puzzled Magistrate. "You didn't pay and they had a right to take the things away."

"We thought you'd know what to do," said the young woman, as her lip trembled.

"I'll save some money week after next, says," said Fred, "I suppose I could pawn my rings and my bracelet, suggested his wife."

"Certainly," said Fred, indignantly. "How can you ask?"

"Because, if they aren't," Kennedy then you'd soon be drinking out of a tin cup and getting your mail from the washpan."

"Prison," asked Fred nervously.

"Such," said Kennedy, "are the beneficent provisions of that palladium of our liberties, the Penal Code."

"Drooping," said Fred, trying to seem calm, but giving an unconvincing performance. "I wouldn't let you pawn the jewelry I gave you. Think of the memories."

"It's a way some of them have," advised Kennedy.

A hush fell over the court room and then the good came out of the machine. He wore clothes that looked as if a scenic artist had designed them. He was festooned with diamonds and he had a husky voice. Also he had his hands filled with money like a ticket speculator.

"Lemme in," said he. "I'm Hector with a little piece of change. I've squared everybody and your junk is back in the flat."

"The gambling brother-in-law," breathed Kennedy. "I'll bet you despised yourself of many things and saved a long time to get that bank-roll!"

"You look like an explosion in a fireworks factory," said Kennedy. "but nobody cares how a life saver is dressed."

FORTY POLISH MINERS KILLED

Warsaw, Jan. 20.—Four hundred miners were entombed and forty killed by an explosion in the Casimier coal mine at Sosnowice on the Russo-Polish frontier. Fire broke out following the explosion, but 360 men cut their way through and came out alive. Negligence in providing proper safety facilities is believed to be responsible for the disaster.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET ACTIVE DAY ON THE STOCK MARKET

Table with columns: Name, Price, Change, High, Low, Close. Includes Amalg. Copper, Am. Beet Sugar, Am. Steel Foundries, etc.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The stock market today opened with an irregular and lower tendency, made some recovery, sold back again, relapsed into stagnation and in the final hour recovered the larger part of its losses and made not a few substantial gains.

A majority of the standard issues gave a fairly good account of themselves with some backwardness, however in United States Steel, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Norfolk and Western. United States Steel preferred was an active issue, with a smart advance on the day. The coal shares, Southern Pacific, St. Paul, the Hill issues and Southern Railway common and preferred, were the features of strength in the railway group.

London's participation in the market was nominal and a mixture of purchases and sales. Markets were heavy in London with some change in monetary conditions. Private advices from London indicate that some new financing in American railways is under consideration. Aside from a greater ease of the local money situation was featured less today and the bank statement is likely to show another large cash gain.

The bond market was steady. Total par value, $3,251,000. Closing Stock Letter. By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

Builders Are Surprised Over First Try Out of Craft That Looks Like a Big Monoplane.

Stattsburg, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Speed of more than 60 miles an hour was attained in the first tryout of the new aero ice craft on the river here...

The boat looks like a big monoplane. The crossbeam, on which are the two forward runners, is at right angles with the forward end of the body...

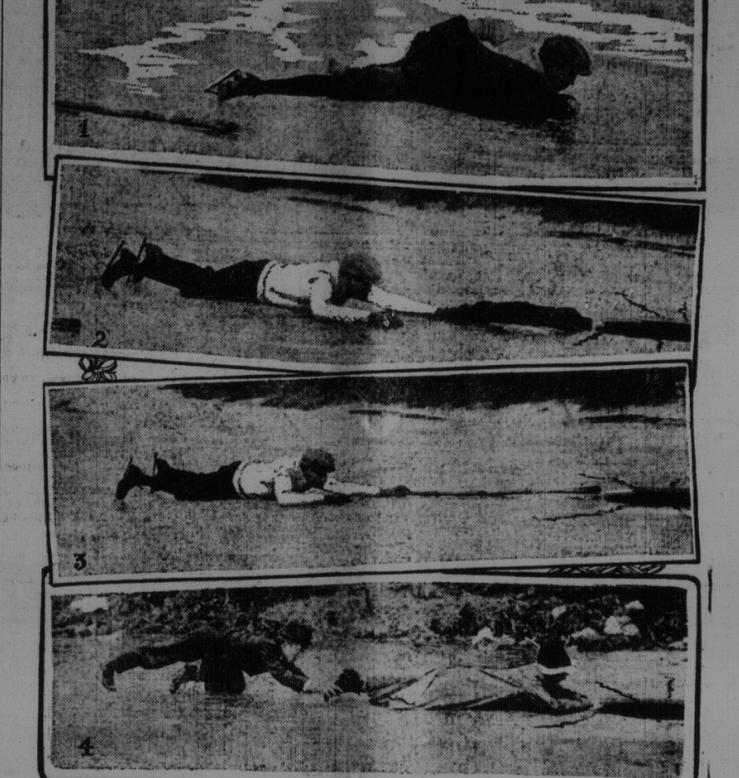

The builders are delighted with the craft. They declare that with a higher power engine greater speed than has yet been attained can be made.

COMETS ROLL HIGH TO TRIM CLEAN SWEEPS

In the Y. M. C. A. bowling league last evening in a close game the Comets took three points to the Clean Sweeps' one. Bentley was high man for the winners with an average of 82.3 and Pentleton for the losers with 88.23.

THISTLES VS. ST. ANDREWS. This afternoon and evening the second match of this season will take place between the Thistles and St. Andrews.

First of all, peel off your coat; then get in the water, get your coat soaked, and it may be needed in helping the other person get out of the water.

With the aid of a coat thrown towards the break in the ice the rescuer can stay farther from danger, and thus be of more assistance. The second picture shows how to use the coat. A long stick is better (see third picture). That enables the rescuer to remain still farther away from the break.

UNWRITTEN LAW MAY BE PLEA IN KETCHEL CASE

Marshfield, Mo., Jan. 19.—That the "unwritten law" will be invoked in the defence of Walter A. Dibley and Giddie Smith, charged with the murder of Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion pugilist, there is little doubt.

Neither Dibley nor the woman was brought into court today, but they will be formally arraigned tomorrow morning before Judge C. H. Skinker.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Third Degree." The forthcoming production of "The Third Degree" and Charles Klein's latest play, which will be given in this city at the Opera House, on Monday next, Jan. 23, by the Paul Gilmore Company will serve to remind the theatre-going public that the author of "The Lion and the Mouse" has again given to them an interesting play of a most virile character.

THE COURTS.

Mr. Justice Landry was in chambers yesterday afternoon, but only dealt with ex parte matters.

Hearing on the return of the summons for directions in the case of John Getty vs. Henry Magee and others was had before Mr. Justice McLeod in chambers yesterday morning.

W. A. Ewing, K. C., filed a bond securing the plaintiff's costs on appeal in the case of Williams vs. De Witt Bros., Ltd. This was an action tried before his honor for the recovery of the difference of the value of hay according to the English and Canadian standards of weight.

B. L. Gorow for the plaintiff in the case of McBeath vs. Poyas, applied for a new trial. This was an action tried before Magistrate Ritchie in the city court and a verdict given for the plaintiff. Judge Forbes considers a picture of the barbarous cruelty of the so-called third degree. Here follows situation after situation that for tenacity of interest has never been equalled on the American stage.

The struggle of a woman to save her husband from the clutches of a merciless gang of torturers clothed in judicial authority, adds such strength as to make of "The Third Degree" a play that will more than duplicate the success of Mr. Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse."

C. P. R. HOCKEY TEAM. A meeting to organize a local C. P. R. hockey team was held last evening in the C.P.R. offices and the team was organized among the local clerks with Walter Bardsley as manager.

It is desired that any other commercial teams which desire to enter a commercial league should communicate with Mr. Bardsley. The C.P.R. team will play any commercial team in the city upon advice being sent to the team manager.

Australian Swimmer Not Allowed to Accept Gift--Russia May Send Crews to Henley--Germany Makes Strides

According to reports from Australia, the government there has voted £250 to Frank E. Beaurepaire, the world's amateur swimming champion, who recently returned to Melbourne after making a competitive tour in England.

Germany is making rapid strides in athletics, the last year being the most successful ever experienced by the Empire. Two hundred and ten athletic meets were held, twenty-three being international affairs.

At the recent annual meeting of the English Amateur Rowing Association the secretary, C. S. MacLagan, of Oxford University, announced that the association had entered into an agreement with the Russian Rowing Association.

Erne Hjertberg, erstwhile athletic coach at the New York Athletic Club and the Irish-American Athletic Club, has a roving commission in Sweden. He is employed by the government to develop the athletic talent of the country, principally for the Olympic games to be held in Stockholm next year.

He travels from town to town, holding tryouts and picking the men with the best athletic ability.

ROCHESTER CHALLENGES CANADIANS

Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 20.—The Rochester Yacht Club yesterday challenged the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto to a series of races for the Fisher Cup. The challenge stipulates that the Canadians waive the time limit for challenging, and use as a defender one of three boats built for the Canada's Cup series in 1907.

It is the belief that one race will be sailed on Labor Day if the challenge is accepted.

Rochester's candidate will be the Seneca, late successful defender of the Canada's Cup, which with the Seawayhaka Cup ranks second to the America's Cup as an international yachting trophy.

JOHNSON TO MEET KAUFMAN IN ENGLAND

Chicago, Jan. 20.—At the residence of Jack Johnson, it was stated yesterday that the negro has been matched to meet Al Kaufman in London in April in a twenty round bout.

Johnson Contradicts Statement. Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 20.—"I do not intend to fight for six months and will not fight for six months until after then," said Champion Jack Johnson, when shown a telegram from Chicago announcing that he was to meet Al Kaufman in London next April.

Frank Murphy, barber, Antigonish, while playing hockey in the college rink on Tuesday evening, was struck in the eye with the puck. The blow was so violent that he fell backward. On examination it was found that the eye was seriously injured, being ruptured, and it is feared he will be permanently deprived of it. He is under treatment at the local hospital.

WILCOX'S Tenth Anniversary CLEARING SALE

Ends Saturday, January 21

Our $40,000 Stock of Men's, Women's and Children's Clothing, Millinery, Furs and Dry Goods received quite a shaking up, during our Sale last Saturday, and it was equal to, and in some respects better than, our Christmas trade, which certainly was a banner one. Notwithstanding the cold weather, we have been busy all this week, which admittedly speaks well for our Sale, but of course, we feel confident of the result, when we put on a sale, as everyone knows we mean business. There are only three days remaining in which to take advantage of the sterling values we are offering, so come along and take your choice before it is too late.

OUR WHITEWEAR SPECIALS

will keep you talking. If you fail to obtain what you require on the ground floor, kindly go upstairs to our Millinery Dept., where we have put in a full line during the Sale.

Happenings of the Week

Parks are the skips for St. Andrew's. Major D. I. V. Eaton will take command of A. Battery, R. C. H. A. to place of Major H. A. P. P. who goes to England to be attached to the Royal Horse Battery at Aldershot for a course.

The death occurred in England on January 21, of Mrs. Mary Ann, widow of Mr. John Anderson, J. P., formerly of St. John.

Mrs. Hugh Bruce, Princess street, was hostess at a delightful bridge of seven tables, on Friday afternoon, of last week. Mrs. Bruce received her guests in a charming room of green satin veiled in black chiffon and her yoke. The rooms looked very pretty being decorated with scarlet geraniums. The table, which was set in the drawing room was trimmed with geraniums and red shaded lights and was presided over by Mrs. H. C. Schofield and Mrs. Roy Campbell. Among the guests were Mrs. Mahon, Mrs. Wm. Vassie, Mrs. W. Henry Harrison, Mrs. Pollard Lewis, Mrs. Ernest Bowman, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Ekin, Miss Joan McDonald, Miss Katie Hazen, Miss Frances Hazen, Miss Bessie Knight, Miss Marion Black, St. Stephen, Miss Winnifred Raymond, Miss Mary MacLaren, Miss Lillian Raymond, Miss Vera MacLaughlin, Miss Bertha MacAvilly, Miss Marjorie Knight, Miss Fenety, Miss Emily Teed, Miss Gwen McDonald and Miss Eunice MacAvilly.

Miss Catherine McAvilly returned on Tuesday to Netherwood. Mrs. Louis Barker, Germain street, entertained at the tea hour on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Barker wore a very pretty white silk with black trimmings, and braided white serge skirt. Miss Lou McMillan ushered, Mrs. Fred Foster in brown satin dress and brown velvet and fur hat, and Mrs. Percy Thomson in pale blue cologne and royal blue hat, presided at the tea table. Miss Bert Hegon, Miss Nan Barnaby, Mrs. Royden Thomson and Miss Clara Schofield waited. Among the guests were Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mrs. Shirley Peters, Mrs. Maucha, Miss Lou Givran, Miss Alice Fairweather, Miss Katie Hazen, Miss Lillian Raymond, Miss Grace Fisher, Miss Gladys Hegon, Miss Mary MacLaren, Miss Portia McKenzie, Miss Jean Trueman, Miss Marjorie Knapp, Mrs. James Speer, Mrs. Xena Bridges, Miss Jean Leavitt, Miss Ethel Emerson, Miss Frances Hazen, Miss Winnifred Raymond, Miss Bertha MacAvilly, Miss Jean Macdonald, Miss Marion Black, St. Stephen, Mrs. Wm. Allison.

Edward Terry and his company closed a week's engagement at the Opera House on Saturday last. Miss Scammell and Mrs. Norman Gough have a number of their friends a great pleasure in asking them to meet Mr. Terry and the members of his company at tea on last Friday afternoon. Miss Scammell's rooms were comfortably filled with interested men and women. The lack of cold and snow apparently being a great disappointment to the company, several of whom are hoping to enjoy tobogganing, a hope that will probably be fulfilled in Ottawa or Montreal. Mr. Terry shared the honors of the afternoon with Mrs. Gough who was a "shipmate" to Canada. According to all accounts Montreal audiences are as appreciative of Mr. Terry's wonderful art as were those of St. John. The Third Degree will be the next attraction at the Opera House. It is a play based on the unwritten law and will be well worth seeing. St. Andrew's lady curlers will play the Thistle ladies on Monday morning on Thistle ice. Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. J. Pope Barnes and Dr. Margaret

Mr. C. J. Gude, C. E., who has held a responsible position at Johannesburg, South Africa, has been promoted to be engineer under the union government of Cape Town. Mrs. Dick formerly Miss Agnes Carr, is a daughter of Mrs. M. A. deSoyres of this city.

Miss Elise McLean, Horsfield street, entertained at a charming tea on Wednesday of this week for the many visitors in town. Mrs. McLean received with her daughter and wore a very becoming costume of grey crepe de chine made Empire and trimmed with bands of Persian embroidery, yoke and sleeves of embroidered net. Miss McLean wore a very pretty frock of green cologne with yoke of net; Mrs. Wm. Vassie, Jr., in a very pretty grey, cologne and large black hat, and Mrs. W. Henry Harrison in a pretty pale blue gown, hat to match with pale blue plumes presided at the tea table, which was very daintily arranged. Shadelle in silver shades and yellow shaded silver candlesticks gave a decidedly pretty effect. Miss Minnie Givran, in white lingerie dress, black velvet hat; Miss Julie Stone in a green pongee frock, boater hat; Miss Molly Robinson, in pale blue crepe de chine, large sash and velvet hat, with plumes; Miss Louise Givran in white silk waist and white serge skirt; black satin hat; Miss McAvilly in Alice blue silk dress and black hat; and Miss Ethel Robertson in white lingerie dress with black hair waited. Mr. C. E. McPherson, C. P. R. passenger traffic manager at Winnipeg, is in Montreal.

Mr. Fred W. Daniel left on Friday in the Empress of Britain on a visit to the English markets. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. McKay and Miss Hall and Miss Savage. Mrs. McKay wore a very handsome gown of black satin, trimmed with lace and jet. Miss Savage wore a pink satin dress with overdress of pink brocade satin and fur trimming, and carried roses. Miss Hall wore a pretty Dresden chiffon over satin, and also carried roses. The house presented a charming appearance. Red and green Christmas decorations were in evidence everywhere, and red bells, holly, mistletoe, gave a charming effect. The orchestra was stationed in the large hall and the rooms on both sides were used for dancing. The programmes provided twelve dances and two supper extras. Supper was served at midnight. One of the rooms downstairs was used as the supper room for the occasion. Among the many guests noticed were:

SEVENTY-NINE YEARS YOUNG

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" KEEPS HEALTH PERFECT

serve to induce some others to try "Fruit-a-tives" I hereby authorize his publication.

Obstinate Constipation, Paralysis of the Bowels and Stricture of the Bowels can never be cured by common purgatives, salts, senna, "liver pills" and oil have positively no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of bile, which nature provides to move the bowels. They merely irritate the membranes lining the intestines. One may as well try to cure a headache by pounding one's head against a stone wall, as to try to cure Constipation with common purgatives. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant. "Fruit-a-tives" is fruit juices and nerve tonics, and will always restore the liver to its proper condition and cure the most obstinate cases of Constipation.

Otterville, Ont., July 26, 1910.
"I am a seventy-nine year old man, and a great believer in, and user of, "Fruit-a-tives". It is the only medicine I take, and I can truly say that "Fruit-a-tives" and exercise keep me in my present good health.
Stricture of the Bowels, was the complaint I suffered from and I found "Fruit-a-tives" to do me more good than any other remedy. My doctor advised me to stick to "Fruit-a-tives" and I have done so with the best results.
I have been in business here for a good many years and have been a resident of Otterville for over 40 years, so that if you think this little reference from me will serve to induce some others to try "Fruit-a-tives" I hereby authorize his publication.

JANUARY FUR SALE

There has been wonderful enthusiasm displayed at this store during our Special January Sales and values have been such that it is now only necessary to announce a Dunlap-Cooke Special Sale in order to draw the crowds; and it's no wonder, because never before in the history of the fur trade have select and exclusive quality Furs been sacrificed as we are doing and will do during this sale. We have one idea in front of us—that of making a clearance, and we have reduced the prices sufficiently to make this certain. The following specials will give you an idea of the great reductions which we have made in every department. The sale starts on Saturday Morning, January 21st, and you will not find again in years such bargains as we have to offer. Doors open at 10 a. m.

LITTLE FUR WRAPS—

At the Latest FASHION FAD

Ermine and Skunk
An Aristocratic and Plebeian Mixture
The Touch of Fur Now Makes All Costumes Kin—
The Size of the Muff Makes Up for the Smallness of the Wrap—Gorgeous Russian Sets of Fur and Embroidery.

Have you a scrap of fur anywhere in the house, not in definite use as a wearable garment or hat trimming? If so, get it out, cut it up into strips, combine it with a yard or so of chiffon or other soft material and have one of the graceful shoulder wraps which are just now the ultra smart fashion notion in Paris. If there happens to be also enough fur for the trimming of a huge, soft crushable muff to match the scarf, so much the better.

These gay little fur-trimmed wraps and enormous, granny muffs have fairly swept Paris femininity off its feet. Just now the weather is warm enough to make these small wraps quite possible for street wear, but it remains to be seen what will happen when Jack Frost really begins his winter work of nipping noses and fingers. Women who are lucky enough to have at their disposal private broughams or luxurious limousines heated to a summery balminess by means of electricity will no doubt wear the fetching little fur wraps all winter long over light theater and bridge frocks, but average folk, trudging to the play through snow-clad streets or journeying to the afternoon bridge in humble and unheated taxis will very likely appreciate the comfort of full length wraps of fur or substantial wool material.

QUINT, OLD-FASHIONED FUR WEARABLES.

For afternoon wear over dark bridge frocks or the neat little dresses which one sees in the tearooms when wraps are removed there are adorable pelisses or periwigs made of fur, with the big, soft muffs to match. One of the illustrations shows a set of this kind made of beautifully blended mink skins, worn with a smart afternoon walking suit of prune-colored sicienne made by Paquin, Mohairs and siciennes are being much used now, by the way, by the French courtesiers for these little between-noon costumes which need not be as heavy as the more substantial gown or suit intended for cold weather use. A touch of moire silk, outlined with dark velvet and brightened by rows of small metal buttons, gives the somber sicienne suit just the jaunty cheerfulness that a costume for the trite afternoon days should have. The fur scarf find muff add enough warmth to make the rather thin suit possible on even the chilliest fall days. As will be noted, the ends of this mink scarf fall almost to the ankle and the broad scarf is draped on the shoulders like a wrap, rather than being tossed around the throat in the usual manner of a fur neckpiece. The muff is big and soft, and the edges of the fur are but slightly gathered into the lining. One might almost turn the new muffs inside out, so loose and big they are.

With this smart autumn costume of prune sicienne and mink is worn a very modish turban, the brim of black satin turning sharply up against the prune velvet crown and the sole trimming being a heron cabochon poised high on the left side.

SEALSKIN MUCH USED FOR AFTER-NOON FUR WRAPS.

Sealskin is once more the prince of pelts. This fur is rather dignified and impressive in character and is usually considered more suited to the matron or mature woman than the very young girl; but this year even the debutantes will wear sealskin, and the fresher and fairer the face the more does the dusky, velvety sealskin set off its beauty.

The sealskin pelterine and muff pictured might have walked straight out of an old painting, so quaint is the style of the garments. The pelterine is really a combination with seal, trims the fur cape and runs down the inner edge of each side end.

The turban worn with this fur set is of sealskin with a crumpled tasha crown of cloth of gold and a big malarajah ornament of antique gold at one side. If there is fur on the costume, a bit of it usually appears on the turban, and many are the changes rung by the milliners on the fur and feathers, fur and velvet, fur and chiffon and other fur combinations.

THE ERMINE WRAP MOST LUXURIOUS OF ALL.

The woman who possesses the least scrap of ermine should utilize it this winter, for the vogue of this beautiful white pelt bids fair to be extraordinary. Ermine, of course, is only for very ceremonious wear and the white ermine wrap is in good taste only over a frock of light color and rich texture. Often ermine may be combined with rabbit pelt, which is much like the ermine in texture excepting of course that the ermine has a finer, softer, more velvety surface than his humble cousin, the white tabbit.

Endless are the ermine trimmed scarves for evening wear. One sees ermine set in long strips with white ostrich feather strips between—a most lovely combination and a most expensive one, be it added—in strips alternating with martin, and in strips sewed on chiffon. A very smart black chiffon scarf and muff, seen the other evening at the Plaza, had a broad border of black satin and both scarf and muff were entirely lined with soft white ermine of the tallest variety which is so much liked by the French furriers.

Of course these fur and fabric scarves are as soft as rags and may be twisted around the neck, draped over the shoulders or over one's arm as readily as a chiffon veil. The liberty satin or chiffon forms the body of the scarf is often unlined, the fur border or striping giving sufficient body to make the scarf manageable and give it a warm, luxurious look. An ermine wrap and muff in conventional style, for wear over evening costumes of the theater or restaurant type is illustrated. The main portion of the wrap is made of the tallest ermine; collar, sleeve trimming and muff having the little black tulle which most people usually associate with ermine. Beneath these tails, over the arm, is a fall of white chiffon and the muff is lined with light and soft as thistledown in spite of its size. A scarf of pale gray satin falls at the front of the wrap and the grille, which holds the back and front panels at the waist, is of the gray satin with big buttons of cut steel.

A NOVEL USE OF ERMINE.

All the smart summer frocks have had fetching collars and turned back cuffs of white lace or linen, and now little tea frocks of dark velvet and satin are appearing with broad cuffs of white ermine and scarves or small collars to match. Another fur fad is the scarf matching the fur "hobble" band on the skirt, and so great is the present craze for these hobble bands at the ankles that yards and yards of fur are being bought for this purpose alone.

TWO PRETTY AFTERNOON WRAPS OF FUR.

Chinchilla is so perishable and so expensive that few women care to invest in it for everyday wear, but the chinchilla wrap for occasional use is most beautiful. Such a wrap is the one pictured today, the chinchilla in this instance being combined with gray chiffon shirred on cuffs and having the little black tulle which most people usually associate with ermine. A novel ornamentation is the trimming of fur balls, which hang from the wrap on silk cords, each cord passing through several little puff balls of the chiffon before it reaches the big tassel of fur. The muff matching this wrap is most beautiful, the big strip of chinchilla being simply joined together and lined with shirred gray chiffon, and this muff is so soft that it can be crushed up in the hands like a handkerchief made into a ball.

Another charming wrap is of black broadtail, the broad scarf being bordered with a double hem of black chiffon and this chiffon being used also for a shirred lining. A latterly horry bit of black broadtail, the broad scarf being bordered with a double hem of black chiffon and this chiffon being used also for a shirred lining. A latterly horry bit of black broadtail, the broad scarf being bordered with a double hem of black chiffon and this chiffon being used also for a shirred lining.

At the Newport Horse Show, some weeks ago, when the weather was quite summery, many women appeared in the chic little fur wraps and scarves; most no muffs were carried at that time. Most of the muffs were in shawl effect, though some were definitely shaped over the shoulders into sleeves. Mink, skunk, and the beautiful velvety fisher's pelts seemed to be the favorites, and there was one adorable marabout wrap with the plumage stitched together in long strips which made every woman who saw it breathless with admiration, so soft, light and lovely it was for evening use.

GRACEFUL POSSES POSSIBLE WITH THE FUR SCARF.

Satin scarves and combinations of fur and satin were there in numbers, and unlike the Paris scarves which have been entirely

A GORGEOUS RUSSIAN SET OF EMBROIDERY AND FUR.

A young Russian lady of rank entered a Casino at Trouville one night late in August and created a sensation with her huge muff of jewel encrusted gold lace trimmed with magnificent sables. The muff was so enormous that it entirely threw into the shade her simple, yet exquisite frock of stone gray satin, relieved only by a double string of coral beads, which encircled the throat and fell in two flaming lines of color over the bosom to return to the muff, which was the piece de resistance of the costume, it was as has been said, of jewel embroidered old lace, and this rich material was laid over old gold satin, the sable bands being placed, not at the ends of the muff, but six or eight inches in, so that they formed two dark lines across the rich embroidery. There was a small, straight stock of the gold lace, bordered along its upper edge with fur, and this stock fastened at the back with a double clasp of antique, beaten gold set with coral.

Muff and stock were matched by a reticule of gold lace with a jeweled gold frame which hung from the Russian lady's arm on a long gold cord. The effect of these sumptuous accessories against the somber, stone gray of the gown was most striking, and a week afterward every shop in Paris was showing brocade muffs with reticules to match. This is another notion borrowed from a century ago, when all the pretty ladies who buried their arms, elbow deep in comfortable, huge muffs, carried also convenient reticules which no doubt accommodated the same conglomeration of useful and useless objects which occupy space in modern chic leather handbags today.

A beautiful theatre scarf and reticule just brought over from the Rue de la Paix are of silvery gray crepe de chine with a raised pattern of flowers done in velvet. The reticule has a dull silver frame and hangs on a long chain of the same metal. A black velvet scarf with bands of white rabbit fur in striped effect is accompanied by a white head article, showing a design done in jet beads. This reticule and scarf combination is a dainty notion and one that commends itself for its real practical value as well as its artistic value. The reticule, of course, should be large enough to hold, besides one's opera glass, handkerchief, vanity outfit, memo pad and all the other trifles which may be needed with evening costume. A handsome reticule, evidently intended for opera use, has a ground of iridescent beads and a pattern in gold beads showing a harp set in a garland of pink roses; very appropriate, one agrees, for a belonging intended to accompany an opera costume.

A NEW NECKWEAR DEVICE.

The demand always creates the supply, and there has been a crying demand for some sort of adjustable neck covering to slip over the Dutch-necked bodice under the tailored coat on cool fall days. Pretty as Dutch neck is on a summer gown or even a little winter house frock, it has a bare and unbecoming look in the street in autumn when neck dressings are particularly trim and smart. Now the neckwear departments are ready with attractive little detachable yokes of lace, finished at the lower edge with attached bands of black satin and sometimes a narrow pleated lace frill. The yoke is finished at the top by a high, well-boned stock, and the whole affair may be easily adjusted over the low-necked bodice and under the coat. If the coat is removed in theatre or restaurant the little yoke is quite presentable with its neat finish and smart style.

AUTOMOBILE VEIL CAPS A PRACTICAL NOTION.

Something new and useful in the jewelry line is an ornamental buckle or pin which helps to hold the long veil close to the face. Two of these pins are used, one at either side of the face, the veil being thus shaped like a little bonnet with long streamers and fitting closely and comfortably over the small hat, or even over the hair like a cap. Some women knit the veil close to the ears on either side of the head and produce the same effect, but the pins are better, as the knots are apt to slip. Sides of cord are also sold with the long scarves so that they may be worn thus in bonnet fashion in motor cars in the evening.

Birthday Parties for LITTLE FOLK

Two essentials there are lacking which the child's party is indeed hamlet with the Dane left out. These are "Going to Jerusalem" and ice-cream. Given these two delectable delights, it matters very little which other forms of entertainment are provided, for the party will be an assured success.

At the birthday fete given by Mrs. Joseph Widener for her little daughter Pili, at Newport late in the summer, the small guests were diverted by a complete circus performance given by a troupe of professionals on the lawn. Such expensive joys, however, are only for the lucky offspring of millionaires and the average mother must culge her brains to make the birthday party at her house surpass in excitement and interest every other natal day entertainment given on the block.

A flower masquerade is a charming idea and one very easy to carry out. Each little guest is requested to come disguised as a certain flower, the costumes to be made of crepe paper at home. The rooms are decorated with crepe paper blossoms and the little folks may dance a cotillon in which simple flower and wand figures are introduced. Two pretty crepe paper costumes are illustrated; a rose and a daisy, and following out these suggestions, other flower costumes may be contrived along the same lines.

Endless are the ermine trimmed scarves for evening wear. One sees ermine set in long strips with white ostrich feather strips between—a most lovely combination and a most expensive one, be it

The Boy Scout is just now occupying the centre of the field in fad costume and all the department stores are making a point of advertising boy scout clothes along with the tried and true rough rider Indian chief and soldier costumes dear to the small boy's soul. Policeman and fireman costumes may be contrived at home with the aid of plenty of brass buttons, blue denim, red flannel and leather belts. The helmets are the most difficult part of the costume to manage, but these may be built of stiff buckram and covered with paper muslin by a mother skilful with her wits and her needle.

Little folks are so easy to entertain that very simple games will prove quite as satisfactory as an expensive vaudeville entertainment. Potato races, peanut hunts and all of the old familiar plays will always be welcomed with delight, provided things are kept moving in a lively manner and there are plenty of inexpensive prizes for the winners. Big sister, dressed up as a horrible looking witch, who tells fortunes and forecasts all kinds of dire catastrophes for the bad child and all sorts of delectable delights for the good one, invariably makes a hit big brother garmented in a polar bear skin—which may be hired for the occasion—and performing wondrous feats and tricks upon chairs and a washstand from the kitchen, will hold the small audience enthralled for half an hour.

One resourceful mother persuaded the hand-organ man who made frequent and profitable visits to a block full of little folk, to spend an hour in her hall on the afternoon of a small daughter's birthday party. The monkey came too, and not only was the good-natured Italian delighted with a dollar and a good supper, but that particular birthday party was the grand success of the season in the community and the talk of the little tongue for many months afterward.

Blowing the cone is a diversion which is sure to cause much merriment. A string is stretched across the room about the height of the mantel—or just above the heads of the children. Before being fastened up one end of this string is passed through a big cone, or cornucopia, made of ordinary wrapping paper or old newspaper. The large end of the cone should be a foot across, and the child reaching up and blowing into this large end, must send the cone along the stretched string from one end of the room to the other. The contestants who send the cone across the string with the fewest blows win the prize.

The snowball contest is always a success. Big soft "snowballs" are made of crepe paper tied over balls of cotton wool and the children are invited to help themselves from a clothes basket full of these white balls. In an instant the parlor will be a flurry of white, flying balls, and great will be the scrambling and the laughter. If each "snowball" holds, hidden within the soft cotton, a tiny souvenir, so much the better.

There is a new cat game which is just the thing for the child's party. Three solemn looking tabbies sit in a row, one pure white, one a tortoise shell yellow and the third a wicked looking black. Each cat has its mouth wide open and the trick is to throw little wooden balls from a distance of several feet into the great mouths. Head prize to the child who gets his ball into the yellow kitty's mouth, second prize for the black kitty, third for the white, and so on. The wooden balls fall down backs of the cats and come out through an opening beneath the stools on which the cats are represented as sitting.

The true and tried donkey party never wears out in interest, and many are the variations on this merry game. Just now it is Monsieur Chantecler who takes the place of rooster with one's eyes blinded by plasticine and the tall feathers being bona fide articles with real quills, the rooster being painted gaily on a board pierced with hundreds of holes just big enough to receive the quills.

FIRM IN DIFFICULTIES WITH MEMBERS MISSING

Dewitt Bros. Ltd. May be Wound Up in Court.—None of Officers in City—Owe Bank $20,000.

It is stated that proceedings will be taken in the courts for the winding up of the firm of Dewitt Brothers, Ltd., dealers in hay, feed and potatoes and which were largely identified with the West Indian potato business.

The notice of the presentation of a petition for a winding up order will be given next week by W. D. Parson, of Sussex at the instance of William G. Gibson, of Sussex, a creditor.

It is understood that the company met with heavy losses last year in the Havana potato business and that their position was precarious. They had been negotiating for some financial support and it was the intention to form a new company to take over the assets and liabilities of the old concern, but this step was not executed.

There have been numerous street rumors in reference to the affairs of the company and more particularly as to developments of the past week or two. It is said that E. B. Dewitt, the Havana manager of the concern, is not in Havana and that the gentleman who went there to consult with him could not find him.

The firm of Dewitt Bros. was first started in Fairville. At that time W. P. Barnhill was a member of the firm but he afterwards withdrew.

The annual meeting of the St. John County Royal Scarlet Chapter was held last night in the Orange Hall, Germain street. Three candidates were elected.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Sir Knight W. C. in C.—Wm. M. Campbell.

The reports of the various committees were adopted. The pastor, Rev. W. W. Brewer, will preach in Exmouth Street Church on Sunday evening.

W. D. Smith of Blissville, is in the city for a few days.

MUCH "FIXIN'" FOR PUGSLEY TO DO

Domination of Lantulum at Primaries foreshadows His Nomination and Defeat of Liberal Candidates

Can Pugsley fix it? This is the question members of the rank and file of the Liberal party are asking themselves in reference to the split in the party ranks and the domination of the nominating convention by Edward Lantulum.

It is whispered that the Minister of Public Works will find an excuse for a visit to this city in the near future and while here he will have a conference with representatives of the dominant wing of the party in an effort to get them to agree on a compromise whereby Mr. Lantulum will waive his very just claims for a nomination for the Dominion House in favor of another.

Despite the frenzied protestations of the dr-dgers morning and evening organs that all is harmony in the Liberal ranks, the fact remains that the party is in sorry straits in this constituency and one knows this better than the very men who control the aforesaid organs.

SETTLERS IN PROVINCE ARE WELL SATISFIED

No Complaints Received from Any of More Than 1500 Settlers Located in Province by Local Government

One thing that may be said in favor of the immigration policy of the local government is that, although the number of new settlers brought into the province may not be very large in comparison with the numbers that go into the West, they are distributed in such a way as to enable the province to assimilate them without any trouble.

In the Western provinces, as well as in Ontario, there are frequent complaints during the winter from immigrants that they are unable to get employment, and many of the new comers who think conditions in this country have been misrepresented to them, write to their home papers giving accounts of their experiences that tend to diminish the reputation of Western Canada as a place for new settlers.

The Superintendent of Immigration who keeps in close touch with all immigrants brought into New Brunswick says that he has not received any complaints from any of the men sent to various parts of the province, and believes that all of them have found it an easy matter to secure satisfactory employment during the winter.
