THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

—OF—

The Western University

The Nineteenth Session of this Medical School will open on Tuesday the 11th of September, 1900.

Matriculation and Supplementary Examinations will take place from the 11th to the 15th.

The regular lectures will commence on Tuesday, the 18th of September, in accordance with the published programme.

The College building is commodious and well arranged, centrally located on the corner of Waterloo and York Streets, convenient to the Hospital and Dispensary, is heated, lighted and ventilated in the most approved manner, and supplied with all the latest improvements. The main building contains two spacious Lecture Halls, Chemical and Histological Laboratories, together with Museum, Waiting Room for Students, etc.

The Dissecting Room, being in a separate building, is a sanitary arrangement that will be much appreciated by students.

Intending students are requested to be present at the opening, so as to lose no portion of the course, for they may rest assured that even the most talented will find four years of close application none too much to prepare for this noble and responsible calling.

The Medical Department of the Western University is recognized by the Royal College of Physicians, London, the Royal College of Surgeons of England, Royal College of Surgeons and Physicians of Edinburgh, and Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow, and by the Royal College of Physicians and Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland.

PLAN OF INSTRUCTION.

LECTURES WILL BE BOTH DIDACTIC AND CLINICAL.

Lectures and Demonstrations will be given in the College Building by the several Professors and Lecturers in their various departments. Every effort will be made to make each course as thorough and comprehensive as possible.

Lectures for final students will be so arranged that their course will be completed in the forenoon of each day, thus leaving the afternoon free for Dispensary, Hospital and Clinical work.

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF MEDICINE.

PROFESSOR MOORHOUSE.

This course will consist of General Pathology, as governing disease in general, with sufficient Special Pathology to make the matter clearly intelligible to the student; the Nature and Causes of Diseases, the Symptoms and Morbid Changes which arise in the course of Disease; the principles governing the general treatment of Disease, and the means to be used for its prevention; the Classification of Diseases, and the description of the affections of the different Organs and Structures throughout the body.

The Lectures will be illustrated with the most recent plates and models.

Special attention will be paid to diseases prevailing in our own climate.

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF SURGERY.

PROFESSOR WAUGH.

This course includes Surgical Pathology, illustrated by specimens and preparations. The different injuries and diseases are fully described, and the various surgical appliances shown.

OBSTETRICS.

PROFESSOR MEEK AND DR. BALFOUR.

Teaching in this subject will be made as practical as possible.

By use of Mannikin, the student can make himself familiar with Mechanism of Labor, the use of Forceps, Version, etc.

In the Lying-in Ward in the Hospital, the student will have opportunities for studying the management of cases during the different stages of Labor.

The importance of election in Obstetric Surgery will receive particular attention.

During the Session, a course of lectures on Diseases of Children will be given by Dr. Balfour, lecturer on Midwifery and Diseases of Children.

GYNÆCOLOGY.

PROFESSOR ECCLES.

The aim and object of this course will be to make it as thorough and practical as possible. The student's attention will first be directed to all the anatomical and physiological facts bearing on Gynæcological practice. He will then be taught the proper methods of investigating cases, and the use of the various instruments required in their diagnosis and treatment.

All the diseases embraced under this head will be brought before the student.

At the Victoria Hospital, Clinical Instruction will be given to the 3rd and 4th year students, and to the graduating class special training in the practical part of the subject.

Pelvic and Abdominal Surgery, and the Clinical Aspect of Abdominal Tumours, will be an important feature of the course.

ANATOMY—DESCRIPTIVE AND SURGICAL.

LECTURER—DR. H. T. WILLIAMS.

This course comprises lectures on the dissected subject; specimens prepared by the modern Glycerol Method; sections in the study of Bone; a complete dissection of the Brain and Spinal Cord in their relations to Physiology, the Cranium and Spinal Column; special attention to the Thoracic and Abdominal Viscera as a prelude to their importance in Clinical Medicine and Surgery. The relation of the Fœtus to the adult with the dissection at different periods is carefully studied.

During the course of Osteology, students who apply early will be supplied with specimens from the Museum by the Professor of Anatomy.

Special attention will be given to Practical Anatomy by the Demonstrator and an efficient staff of assistants. The dissecting room is large and well ventilated, and supplied with every requisite for comfort and convenience.

During the dissecting of each part, the student will be examined at least three times by the Demonstrator, who, when he is satisfied, will certify to the work done.

PHYSIOLOGY.

PROFESSOR MCCALLUM AND LECTURER DR. C. F. NEU.

The course in this subject will consist of Demonstrations and Didactic lectures. The relation of Physiological facts to Practical Medicine and Pathology will receive the attention it merits. Lectures will be illustrated by diagrams, charts, instruments and experiments on animals.

GENERAL CHEMISTRY AND CHEMICAL PHYSICS.

PROFESSOR MERCHANT.

In these subjects the lectures will be accompanied by experimental demonstrations. To this end the chair has been fully equipped with all the necessary apparatus. All will be taught with special reference to their application to medicine.

PRACTICAL CHEMISTRY.

PROFESSOR F. T. HARRISON.

LECTURER DR. W. J. STEVENSON.

The laboratory of Practical Chemistry is probably second to none in the Dominion in the matter of fittings, no expense having been spared to make the room convenient and useful to the students, each of whom performs for himself every operation of the course, which embraces Inorganic and Organic Chemistry, Toxicology and Urinary Analysis, and is kept within the limits of that which will be of ultimate practical value, rather than that which would be merely crammed and then forgotten.

MATERIA MEDICA AND PHARMACY.

LECTURER—DR. C. A. CLINE.

In this course special attention will be given to the most important drugs and their preparations.

A complete collection of the different medicinal agents in their various forms is at the disposal of this department, and will be utilized to make the student familiar with the drugs.

THERAPEUTICS.

LECTURER—DR. FERGUSON.

Instruction in this department will embrace a practical study of the Physiological and Therapeutical action of the more important officinal drugs, together with instruction in the properties and uses of newer remedies of reputed therapeutic value. Incompatibility of drugs, and the theory and art of prescribing will receive due attention.

MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE.

LECTURER—DR. WEEKES.

This course includes lectures upon medical expert testimony and the proper modes of procedure at coroners' inquests; insanity in its legal relations and the legal rights and obligations of physicians.

TOXICOLOGY.

LECTURER—DR. ENGLISH.

Classifications of poisons, their modes of action, treatment, post-mortem appearances and chemical tests; diseases resembling poisoning.

HISTOLOGY AND PATHOLOGY.

PROFESSOR D. B. FRASER.

LECTURER ON PATHOLOGY AND BACTERIOLOGY—DR. C. F. NEU.

Normal and Pathological Histology receive most careful attention. Students are furnished with microscopes and the accessories necessary for the preparation and preservation of microscopic specimens of their own for future reference. The classes will have opportunity of seeing post-mortems in the autopsy room, under the direction of the Pathologist.

SANITARY SCIENCE and PUBLIC HEALTH.

LECTURER—DR. ENGLISH.

Lectures on the following subjects will be given: Air—its impurities and their effects; ventilation, heating and lighting; water supplies, and diseases due to impure water; sewerage and the disposal of refuse; climatology; soils and building sites; public and private dwellings, including hospitals; food, beverages and condiments; exercise and clothing; baths; the contagia; communicable diseases and their prevention; quarantine; duties of medical health officers and boards of health; vital statistics; sanitary legislation.

BOTANY AND ZOOLOGY.

PROFESSOR JOHN DEARNESS.

The course is selected with special consideration of the needs of the medical student. Enough of Morphology and classification is taught to qualify for the intelligent use of the common synoptical keys. Particular attention is given to questions of Physiology and Biology. The student is made acquainted from specimens with the native poisonous and medicinal plants. Free use is made of the Microscopes and of specimens—living, exsiccated or preserved in alcohol—to illustrate the lectures practically throughout.

LABORATORIES.

Chemical Laboratory.—This Laboratory is furnished so that all analytical operations can be carried on by the student with the greatest convenience.

Histological and Pathological Laboratory.—Students will have special facilities in studying and making themselves thoroughly acquainted with the specimens that are the subject of demonstration.

Botanical and Biological Laboratory.—The student is furnished with all the necessary apparatus and material for practical work.

Bacteriological Laboratory.—A Bacteriological department has been added, and thoroughly equipped with all necessary apparatus.

The course on Bacteriology will include the following :

- (1) Study of Biology, Morphology and Physiology of Micro-organisms.
- (2) Preparation of culture media and stains.
- (3) Study of cultural and staining peculiarities.
- (4) Experimental study of vitality, thermal death points and pathogenesis on animals of some of the most important organisms.
- (5) Different methods of sterilizing and disinfecting.
- (6) Experimental study of relative value of antiseptics.

CLINICAL INSTRUCTION.

The London General Hospital has been completely rebuilt and is now known as Victoria Hospital.

It contains 170 beds, and as it is the official hospital of the City of London and the County of Middlesex, it has a population of 100,000 to draw its supply of Clinical material from. In addition to this, patients come in from all the counties of the Western Peninsula.

The wards are large, well lighted and ventilated, and the operating rooms meet all the requirements of the operating room of the present day. The public operating room is so arranged that all students are enabled to see the details of the operations.

A special feature of the Clinical teaching is that it is given to limited classes of students, so that each student is enabled to come into contact with all cases presented, and thus to profit immeasurably more than if he merely sees the case from a distance.

According to a regulation of the Medical Council, students are required to attend the practice of a General Hospital for a period of twenty-four months.

The several medical charities of the city also afford material for practical instruction, and the advanced students will have the opportunity of visiting, with the Surgeon in attendance, and assisting at operations, etc. The principal charities are: Mount Hope Orphan Asylum, the Protestant Orphan Home, the Convalescent Home, the Aged People's Home, St. Joseph's Hospital, etc.

Students have access to the London Asylum for the Insane, which at the present time contains over 1,000 patients, hence affording ample opportunity for instruction in mental diseases.

CLINICAL MEDICINE.

PROFESSOR GEORGE HODGE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR—H. A. MCCALLUM.

In this course, instruction is given at the bedside, and abundant opportunity is afforded each member of the class for a personal examination of all cases. Special attention will be given to the diagnosis of diseases of the Thoracic and Abdominal Viscera by physical signs. Clinical Chemistry and Bacteriology will form a part of this course, so far as is necessary in the investigation of cases.

CLINICAL SURGERY.

PROFESSOR J. WISHART.

LECTURER—DR. H. WILLIAMS.

Owing to increased Hospital accommodation, the course in Practical and Operative Surgery will in the future be vastly improved. In addition to the ordinary Clinics, a complete course of Clinical Lectures will be given on the Surgical Diseases of the Urinary Organs. Special instruction will also be given on Minor Surgery, Bandaging, Rules of Surgical Cleanliness and the different types of dressings and their methods of preparation.

DISEASES OF THE MIND.

PROFESSOR BUCKE.

This course will consist almost entirely of Clinical lectures given in the wards of the Asylum, in the course of which every form of insanity (as far as practicable) will be brought before the notice of the student. This course is now compulsory.

In passing these examinations, candidates must obtain fifty per cent. of the total number of marks in each and every year, and also a minimum of forty per cent. in each subject, provided that in case of failure to reach the said requirements, a candidate shall be allowed any subject or subjects upon which he has obtained sixty-seven per cent.

MEDAL, SCHOLARSHIPS, PRIZES.

Upon the discretion of the Faculty, a gold medal will be awarded to the student of the Graduating Class who obtains the highest number of marks on the examinations for the 2nd, 3rd and 4th years.

In order to compete for this medal, a student must have attended lectures during one whole winter session at the University and have taken out tickets on the final branches; he must have attained an aggregate of not less than seventy-five per cent. on all the subjects of examination for the 2nd, 3rd and 4th years, and not have fallen under fifty per cent. on any subject.

A scholarship of the value of $25 will be awarded to the student who obtains the highest aggregate number of marks on the subjects included in the first year's examination.

A Scholarship of the value of $25 will be awarded to the student who obtains the highest aggregate number of marks in the second year's examination.

A Scholarship of the value of $25 will be awarded to the student who obtains the highest aggregate number of marks in the third year's examination.

CERTIFICATES OF HONOR.

Certificates of Honor will be awarded to those students who have made seventy-five per cent. of the total marks at the primary and final examinations on all subjects included in the curriculum (page 24).

HOSPITAL ASSISTANTS.

The Trustees of Victoria Hospital will appoint on the nomination of the faculty two House Surgeons from the graduating class. The basis of the nomination will be the aggregate of marks at the 3rd and 4th years' examinations; the candidates taking first and second place respectively on such list of marks will be nominated.

DEMONSTRATOR'S ASSISTANTS.

Two assistants on Practical Anatomy will hereafter be appointed annually by the Faculty, on the recommendation of the Demonstrator.

These appointments are of much practical value, and will be given to advanced students who have passed the primary examination on this subject.

CONFERRING OF DEGREES.

The Annual Convocation for the conferring of Degrees will be held at the close of each Winter Session, when successful candidates will have the Degree of Doctor of Medicine conferred upon them. At the same time the Gold Medal and the several Prizes and Scholarships will be presented by the Chancellor to students who succeeded in winning these honors, and honorable mention will be made of those who have made sufficient marks in the different subjects of examination to entitle them to this distinction.
