the Transvaal has been dispatched. The tone of the reply is friendly and conciliatory, but does not advance the negotiations. Mr. Kruger repeats that the President cannot ask the Volksraad to allow him to go to London until the basis of the discussion is settled. He hopes for a satisfactory settlement of the question at issue, but says that the Transvaal cannot admit Provisions Reach the Beleaguered any right on the part of a foreign power to interfere with her internal affairs. LAND RATES.

London, April 21 .- Mr. Henry Chaplin, president of the Local Government Board, in the House of Commons, introduced the Agricultural Rating Bill by which, after March 31, 1897, agricultural land will be assessed only one-half of its present ratable value. This means an annual loss in revenue of $7,500,000. Mr. Chaplin dwelt upon the agricultural distress, and said that the proportion of rates to profits had increased from 7.33 to 42.9 per cent dur-

Mr. Henry Fowler, who was Secretary of State for India in the last Liberal Government, opposed the bill on behalf of the Liberals as being inexpedient and unjust. He said that it handed over a million and a half to one section of the community and was not a real remedy for the distress. He further contended that the rates were decreasing with the rents. Sir Charles Dilke denounced the measure, which, he declared, tended to ncrease the existing unequal rating, and instead of relieving the poor added to the wealth of the landlords.

It was by far the greatest financial question that had been opened within his experience in Parliament. He was want of consideration with which a measure of this kind was flung on the floor of the House. are slowly but deftly weaving a close mer. They promise complete evidence in two cases of baby murder, and in-timate that they may possibly connect her with the wholesale drowning of babies near London, as well as at Reading. The woman has escaped punishment on four previous accusations One mother positively identifies one of the babies raked up from the river's bottom, and the court was informed that another mother was ready to identify her drowned baby. It is supposed that she gained a handsome income during the last ten years for herself and son-in-law, exacting from $50 to $500 for each baby. Then she made more money by pawning the clothes of the babies. She would advertise a desire to adopt a young child, and get into correspondence of immense tracts of territory in this vants and workingwomen, who were unable to take proper care of their youd that stage. It will now require babies. To these she would write that she would be glad to have a dear little baby to bring up and care for, not for money's sake, but for company. She was dearly fond of children; she belonged to the Church of England, had a good home, and would give the child a mother's love. Mrs. Dyer would promise to take the child entirely, which were the truest words her pens indited. Mothers who read of her piety, of the lovely orchard and playground before the house of the childless, lonely man and wife, were never able to again see their offspring. They were always put off from coming to the Dyer's house by one excuse or change her name until the parents, all too poor to give much time in their search, would abandon their tedious and futile efforts. Palmer, the son-inlaw of Mrs. Dyer, had much to explain. It is known that he assisted Mrs. Dyer to carry a carpet bag, believed to have contained the last two bodies sunk in the river. Mrs. Dyer had gathered in two infants on the journey from her home to his. It is believed she took one dead in the bag. The other, which was alive, stayed one night at Palmer's house. Mrs. Dyer

It now appears that while it is true that several thousand Matabeles have struck camp for parts unknown, there are enough of them remaining in the vicinity of Buluwayo to cause the utmost uneasiness. It is true that the eighteen wagons loaded with provisions have succeeded in entering the town, but there are many mouths to be fed there, and the relief corps is still a long way off and moving slowly on account of the scarcity of water and the ravages of the rinderpost among the cattle. The work of sending troops to the front, supplying the men with food and ammunition, building the strategic railroad and fortifying Asakheh, is being carried on with admirable promptness and machinelike smoothness. When the order to send reinforcements south reached Cairo on March 14 nobody was taken by surprise. A Special Meeting Will be Held for That Purpose.

Milkmen Make Serious Charges Against the M. H. O.

Water Commissioners Are Granted a $20,000 Issue of Debentures,

To Provide Increased Water Supply-Opposition to the School Requisition-After the Street Railway Company.

There were twenty items on the order paper at the meeting of the City Council last night, and at 11:30 p.m., eight of the matters on the paper had been disposed of. Consequently, when the council adjourned at 12:30, it was to meet again in a week to conclude the docket. There was a very large attendance early in the evening. All the milkmen were present in a body, as well as a great many contractors, who were interested in the reception of the report of the Board of Works. The meeting was a peculiar one in many ways, and while it could not be called stormy, the mayor was kept busy keeping the aldermen within the rules of order and insisting on quiet, while a colleague was speaking. Finally, a policeman was stationed at the entrance to the chamber, with orders to keep outsiders from talking to the aldermen. All the members were present except Ald. Marshall.

MILKMEN HAVE A GRIEVANCE. "We, the undersigned milkmen and dairymen of the city of London, beg leave to complain against the present method of collecting milk, sampling and advertising the test, and inspection of dairies. 1. In the first place, it is no guard to the public, on account of its insumciency. At present the milk is only sampled and tested twice a year, and the milkmen are able, if they so desire the rest of the year, to adulterate their milk. "2. If the milkman so desires, he can carry with him an extra sample in a separate can. He can give this sample to the present inspector.

3. Or, if he has a full can, he can give him a sample from the top of the can. We know where the present inspector has shown partiality. We know where he has reported cattle and never seen the cows. We know where he has given a report and not a sampie as far as the vendor knew.

Swept Into a Vortex.

Nine Men Drowned from a Fishing Schooner.

Seven of the Crew Almost Miraculously Saved-A Strange Story.

Bedford, Mass., April 21.—Seven of the crew of the fishing schooner J. W. Campbell arrived here Sunday night bringing news of the wreck of their vessel Friday night off Long Island. They had been picked up by the schooner Norman. The names of the drowned are: Robert Smith, captain; John McGuire, Frank Sylvia, Thos. Rogers, Geo. Ela, Wm. McAllister, Abel McCormey, Geo. Graham and Chas. Doherty, all of Gloucester, Mass. The squall lasted only a minute. When the squall struck her the vessel careened under the terrible blow, and all realized that their lives were in danger. Seven of the sixteen sailors quickly clambered up the masts. No sooner had they done so than a second and far more powerful gust o wind seized the craft and seemed to lift it bodily out of the sea. Then, as if in a mighty grasp, the vessel was wrenched and given a sudden twist with such violence that the mast snapped off even with the deck, like toothpicks, and were hurled far from the reach of the vortex made by the ship as she fell back into the water and sank like a piece of lead.

This is the story as told by the sur vivors. They left New York at 8 clock Friday night, and the squall struct them soon afterward. There was not the slightest warning. The wind was blowing only about two knots, and everything seemed favorable for a smooth trip. After the squall subsided the moon came out, and by its light the seven survivors, who still clung to the masts in spite of the awful shock of being thrown through the air and striking the water, were able to find a dory in which they climbed after bailing it

All night long and all the next day they drifted hopelessly about the sound without food or water. they were picked up by the schooner Norman, and later were transferred to the tug Gladiator, which brought them to this port. They lost everything except the clothes they had on their backs.

Pure Blood and Strong Nerves.

GIVES THESE BLESSINGS TO EVERY SUFFERER.

The Only Medicine That Thoroughly Banishes Disease,

An Ontario Lady's Experience.

The first great requisite for a condition of perfect health for every man, woman and child at this season, is pure blood and strong, healthy nerves. They give us the health, strength, vim and activity that we are so eager to possess, so that we may be fortified to meet the enervating weather of our hot summers.

Three-fourths of our people rush into the portals of summer with systems charged with deadly impurities and poisons. The blood is foul and stagnant: the liver and kidneys work imperfectly, and are very often diseased. With many, rheumatism, dyspepsia and indigestion are daily tormentors. Constipation, headache, dull head and heavy brains, weak and tired feelings and sleeplessness, make life a misery for thousands.

Life is not safe when such symptoms and diseases are permitted to run unchecked. If you, reader, happen to be one of the many suffering from any of the forms of disease just referred to, do not fail to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial at once. It is your only safety-your only true and certain de liverer from perils that end in death. Paine's Celery Compound is an absolute and certain specific for the troubles that threaten your life; it has cured thousands, and will do the same good work for you. One bottle will cost you less than a visit to the physician, and will convince you of its pow-

Mrs. C. Ferguson, of Redickville, Ont., "For eight years I was sorely trouwith neuralgia, nervous debility, and indigestion, for which I tried various advertised medicines, and was treated by five doctors. I did not receive any good results from any source intil I was recommended to use Paine's Celery Compound. Before I had used one bottle of the Compound I found myself much better. After usng four bottles, I am now almost as well as ever before in my life. I sleep well, appetite is good and I feel renewed and strengthened."

The British House of Commons will have a somewhat novel matter to inquire into if they comply with a petition from the council of the Church Association. It appears, according to the statements in the petition, that out of a total of 34 bishops 20 are high churchmen or ritualists, and not more then 5 are evangelical churchmen. Of these Lord Salisbury has nominated 13 of the former and 3 of the latter. The outcome of this policy, the petition states, is to revolutionize the church through the dissemination of false doctrines now taught by a large section of the clergy, who repudiate the Protestant Reformation, and by means of sacerdotal teaching encourage the development of the doctrines and practices of "the Roman Apostacy." On these grounds the memorialists ask for an inquiry by the House of Commons as to the exercise by the Prime Minister and bishops of their ecclesiastical patronage

It is contended that this cannot be accomplished by a Sunday afternoon service, with any degree of comfort to either the preacher, the choir, or even members of societies themselves. That being the case, why should the ministers not willingly consent to a compromise, whereby they agree to preach for any national or benevolent society at a regular morning or evening service, or to hold a special service on a convenient night during the week? Several of the preachers have already expressed their readiness to adopt this course, while others have indicated a disposition to do so if the societies will agree not to bring a band with them. We beg the ministers holding views antagonistic to soclety processions to churches, headed by bands, to yield this point. It is not an important one. When the Salvation Army first began its operations, some good people were scandalized to find in many a city, town and village a disposition to use all sorts of regular and irregular brass bands to attract the attention of the listless, with the object of getting them to join in religious services. But long ago the Church has come to regard the Salva-of money and some fancy silk hand-kerchiefs and other articles taken. Church has come to regard the Salvain music and in other methods, as doing a good work for humanity. Lat us suppose that there are so men, as some of the clergymen have more than insinuated, who only go to presented to display their fine regalia or because they like to parade in stately procession, is it not something gained, from a preacher's point of view, that men of this stamp are brought under the influence of sound religious teaching, if but for once in twelve months? There are many more questionable ways of spending a halfhour on Sunday than in following one of our finely-trained bands while its members play a grand old sacred melody, but assuredly that is not the only religious influence that is thrown around a non-churchgoer even if he is moved to attend a society service by the inspiring strains of a brass band. Nor need a band on such an ocasion confine its efforts to playing marching music. It should be given a share in the church service. The day has gone by, never to return, we believe, when it was deemed wicked to use instrumental music as an aid to the human voice in public or private

There need be no antagonism beween members of societies and the churches. Really there is not. Neither nembers of societies nor the great mass of the people at large entertain feelings of indifference or animosity towards the churches of this city. As for the societies, probably ninety-nine out of every hundred of their members churches. They very wisely do not put their society, no matter how meritorlous its principles, or how elevating its moral teachings, in the place of chine, and he might have drowned their church. And the very fact that but for timely aid. they seek once a year, with brass band attachment, if you will, to publicly knowledge the bounty of the Creator and hear the truths of Christianity expounded for their benefit, is one of the best proofs that the society members generally have no desire to antagonize the Church, but rather to seek in it friends and counsellors.

With a full knowledge of these facts we now lay before the preachers and members of societies the compromise outlined, and suggest that it could fairly be adopted by every preacher and by every society in the city without loss of prestige or of dignity to anyone. It may be said that the holding of a special society service would ncommode ordinary pew-holders. Pernaps so; but only, in all probability. for one Sunday a year, as it is seldom that any one preacher is asked to desociety in a year. In that case, it would be easy to arrange, as is the habit when the Seventh Battalion parfor reserving pews for the society men, and then finding seats for the congregation as best could be provided. We know of no church member who would not gladly give up his pew on an occasion of this kind, the Charles Risley, was arrested at the Belmont Hotel, Brantford, Saturday, tion between the societies and the clergy could thereby be avoided.

The following is the ANNUAL REPORT:

"It is again the privilege of the directors of the Western Ontario Bible Society to present the annual report to the public. There is, perhaps, no organization in connection with the church of God, wielding greater power for the extension of the kingdom of Christ than the British and Foreign Bible Society, of which the Western Ontario Bible Society is a humble auxiliary. "For nine months of the year this auxiliary had out in the work of distributing the Word of God in Western Ontario, a most devoted and faithful colporteur, Mr. R. Roberston, of Chatham. His zeal in prosecuting his work and his earnest and successful evan-gelestic services in the home and in the pulpit, by the wayside and in the market places, bespeak for him words of commendation and praise. He has been in labors abundant. Visiting from door to door disseminating the words of Life, and the Father's blessing has attended his work of faith and labor of love. Had we space, instances could be cited in which God graciously used his servant and his Word in rescuing "him who was ready to perish, and proving that the "Gospel is the power of God unto salvation to him that believeth." Here is one that should gladden the heart of anyone: 'During my visits in R—, at a home where they gave me hospitality for the night, my visit made a flavorable impression their son, who was not a professed Christian. Afterwards he took typhoid fever, and when the symptoms looked grave I was sent for, and we have every reason to believe that the young man entered into peace and rest. He lingered on six days, and died calmly trusting in his Saviour.' Once again: 'In the 14th concession of R- I found many of the people in a neglected state, spiritually, attending no church. At the lumber mill there, drinking and card-playing is excessive. I arranged "bush meetings," and was ably assisted by Mr. Martin and others. Considerable interest having been evinced, I carried on the meetings for a week, when a considerable number manifested a desire for salvation. The resident ministers came to our assistance, and took charge of the work. Men were saved in their homes. In one case, one who was sick and dying was reached and saved just the day before he died. To God be all the praise.'

"The city subscriptions and collections, while not at all up to the amount we could desire, and not what we be-Heve they ought to reach, are, we are pleased to note, in advance of the previous year. And your committee would suggest, in order to secure a still further advance in the coming year, that the executive be requested, if practicable, to devise some plan of collecting through the several denominations in the city. Where Harry Allen Will Spend Two and a Half Years.

For Stealing a Horse, Valise and Some Clothing.

Pleads Guilty—An Amusing Assault Case -Where Boys "Went Out of Their Boundary Line"-One Got a Pounding.

Harry Allen, the horse thief, did not show such a bold front at the Police Court this morning as he did when put on trial and convicted a week ago of stealing a horse and saddle from Messrs. McAdam & Ferguson, liverymen, of Dundas street.

He appeared for sentence today on the above charge, and also for trial on two additional charges-stealing a satchel valued at $3 from Edward C. Brown, of Clarence street, and also a gold ring, shirt, collars and cuffs, valued at $4, from a fellow-boarder,

John A. Patrick. On the two new charges, Allen elected trial by the magistrate and pleaded guilty.

Mr. J. B. McKillop appeared for the crown and moved the sentence of the court. "Inquiries have been made about Allen," said Mr. McKillop, "and we find that his conduct in Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton does not agree with the certificate from an old country minister, which Allen has in his possession. I do not know whether it is correct, or not, but we are informed that Allen served a term for stealing before he came here." Allen only asked to be leniently dealt with, and appeared very penitent, as an occasional tear would trickle down "If this were the first offense," said the magistrate, "it would be different, but the crown asserts that you have previously been convicted and served a term. There are three charges now, of which you are guilty, and the sentence is that you be confined in the Provincial penitentiary at Kingston for two years and six months on each, to run concurrently." Allen is looked upon by the police that he made very free use of the name of Mr. C. R. Sayer, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., when canvassing the city, and also produced letters of introduction alleged to have been written by Mr. Sayer.

An amusing case was that of Harry Bassett, a big Hill street boy, who was charged by Chief of Police Williams with acting in a disorderly way. Edward Efner, a Simcoe street boy, was the complainant. On Thursday night of last week, Efner, accompanied by a companion, went to see his mother at a house in Hill street. On the way home they met two school-girl acquaintances near the corner of Grey and Maitland streets, and stopped to have a chat. In a few minutes Bassett and about a dozen other boys came along, and gave Efner and his friend "call-down." Efner stepped to one side, and Bassett asked him what he (Efner) was doing out of his boundary He thereupon caught Efner, struck him in the face and kicked him. One of the blows caused a large lump to rise on Efner's forehead, and also made the boy rather hazy. He lay down on the grass to rest a few minutes, when he was ordered by Bassett get up and move on. He did so, and with the assistance of his companion and one of Bassett's gang, he

Questioning by the police magistrate showed that Bassett and his crowd objected to Efner and Moule accompanying south end girls home because 'it was out of their boundary." "You had no right whatever to stop sett. "Well," replied Bassett, "when we have been going home with girls down Efner's way we have been stopped." "And you do not consider that Efner had any right to go within your boundary," continued the court.

Bassett is one of a family of ten children. His mother is a widow, and only one of the family is working at present. The magistrate was perplexed in the matter, as any fine imposed would have to be paid by the mother. He didn't want to send the boy to jail and he couldn't see his way clear to let him go, as he was only in court recently on a charge of disorderly conduct. A fine of $2 or a week was

FOR TIRED FEELING.

Exhaustion Is Waste-Overwork Means Shorter Life—Dodd's Kidney Pills Mean Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense asks you to quit. Overwork of any kind does more than tire, it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you ought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up. The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual when you overwork.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than usual, and then work, to say nothing of overwork, is harm-the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promptly and permanently.

Wonderful Things.

Cash is doing wonderful things at our store these days. Customers are buying much larger parcels of goods for less money than formerly, and no wonder they are pleased. They tell their neighbors about it, and their neighbors come down and fill our stores. They also go away delighted. And so our connection widens and widens, those who patronize us receiving high-class goods at closer prices than ever before. We wouldn't be able to offer these close figures were it not for our cash system.

We will send any of the following goods by express to outside customers, mailing their orders early. We will pay rates when orders amount to $5 or over.

Windup of the Business of the Past

Among the Various Anglican Churches -A Prosperous Showing.

St. James', South London. At the adjourned meeting of the St. James' (South London) vestry, there was an interesting discussion over the question of pews and also the enlargement of the church.

Some of the members of the congregation of St. James' are in favor of free pews, while others favor the retention of pews by members and the removal of the cards and plates bearing the names of the lessees.

Mr. M. J. Kent supported the latter idea, while Mr. E. A. White said it was a question of free the excellent financial showing. pews, a new church, or an addition to the present strucnil. Only 36 cars were inspected last ture. "It does not matter to me which winter. week. Wheat returns for last week from Fort William are: Receipts, 41,a regular place to sit in in church, but if the question is between free pews and a new church building, I would by all means go for the former."

Mr. Charles B. Hunt, seconded by Mr. B. S. Murray, offered a motion which met with general favor, and ended the discussion. It was "That the present envelope system, inaugurated last year, be continued, and that the tickets and plates be removed, except where parties object." "There are some old members who say they will leave the church if the plates are taken from their pews," said Mr. J. M. Dillon. Archdeacon Davis expressed the opinion that the adoption of the motion would result in a great difficuty being overcome. Mr. Dillon introduced the subject of church extension, by moving that the ladies of the congregation be empowered to ascertain what amount they could raise for the purpose, and report to the vestry. He knew of one lady who would give $1,000, while only $3,500 would be required.

Mr. Kent considered that before any steps were taken the vestry should be firmly convinced that more accommodation was absolutely necessary. He also thought it absurd to talk about extensions when the church was not free of debt. While appreciating the zeal of the ladies, he was of the opinion that they could put their efforts to better use by endeavoring to clear off the present encumbrance. "I do not think anything in the way of extension could be undertaken this year," said Archdeacon Davis, and the matter ended. The annual report of the rector stated that some members had been lost by death and many by removal from the parish, but many new ones were received. The various branches of the church work were well conducted, and the Sunday school was prospering, under the supervision of a capable superintendent and a good staff of teachers. During the year the rector conducted 54 baptisms, 11 marriages, officiated at 18 funerals, and paid 1,357 visits; 30 persons were confirmed, and the total number of communicants was 1,623. On motion of Mr. Hunt, the wardens ere empowered to engage a choirmaster and organist, at a salary not to exceed $300 a year. The salary of the sexton, Mr. Tuke, was increased from $225 to $200 a year. Mr. Tuke has been in the church service for twelve years, and has proven a very faithful officer.

The wardens will consider the advisability of taking two special collections for the choir boys. "The congregation has taken a very slight interest in the choir," said Dr. Bayly, who spoke for the boys, "and a better re-muneration for their services would make the choir boys behave better, attend practice more regularly, and sing more readily." Numerous repairs and alterations were decided upon, including the diswill enter upon her duties within the placement of the gas by electric lighting fixtures. Mr. John Pope, the superintendent Charles Rivers-Wilson, president of were tendered a hearty vote of thanks week, and in readiness for him when cupied the position of superintendent for 23 years.

The attendance was large. Certain improvements for the coming year were spoken of. The financial statement for the year ending Easter, 1896, was presented to the vestry in a detailed form. The gross receipts are $2,454 53, including Sunday school, Y. P. S. C. E., missionary and King's Daughters organizations. Of this amount $153 19 was contributed for diocesan purposes, and $162 39 for domestic and foreign missions. The remainder was used for the payment of salaries, interest on mortgage, reduction of debt on the church building, and for running expenses.

Memorial Church, The rector, Rev. Canon Richardson, presided, and there was a good attendance. Mr. J. H. Higginbotham gave a very full account of the financial status of the congregation and pointed out how the present good revenue might be increased. The ordinary and envelope collections for 1895-96 are $2,925 96, as against $2,930 63 for the previous year. Mr. Armitage gave an account of the prosperous condition of the Sunday school. The receipts amounted to $470 63 and the expenditure was just

$2 79 less. These figures include: Balance from last year, $148 62; total contributions for the year, $204 80; increase as compared with the preceding one, $17 17; average amount per week, about $3 94; average amount per class per week,

The following is an abstract of the year's attendance: Total attendance for the year, 18,081; increase as compared with the preceding one, 1,611; highest attendance one week, 401; lowest attendance one week, 177; average attendance per month, about 1,507; average attendance per week, about attendance per week, 25; number of officers enrolled, 7; average attendance of officers, 6. The financial statements of the various church societies were all of a most satisfactory nature. The rector reported 1,200 visits, and the assistant 924. For the 74 week day services, 41 celebrations of Holy Communion, public and private, and 33 confirmed. In connection with All Saints' Chapel there have been 119 Sunday and week day services, 14 celebrations of Holy Communion, and 10 confirmed. The Memorial Sunday school membership numbers 562, and All Saints 190.

Christ Church.

At Christ Church the congregation talked of increasing the salary of the rector, Rev. J. Hopkins Moorhouse, but at Mr. Moorhouse's request the matter was permitted to lay over for a year.

It was decided to paint and grain the pews, the interior, and a portion of the exterior of the church, and subscriptions will be asked for that Votes of thanks were tendered to the choir, the various Sunday school workers, the Woman's Guild, and the other organizations in connection with the church for assistance rendered during the year. The auditors submitted their report and complimented the wardens on the way they had kept their books and A resolution of sympathy was passed to Mr. George Brown, Horton street. Mr. Brown has been ill all

St. John's the Evangelist. At the adjourned meeting of the vestry of St. John the Evangelist Church there were present the rector, Rev. W. T. Hill, Messrs. A. B. The building com-mittee reported that the ladies had collected $1,187 during the year in aid of the Sunday school extension. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the ladies, and the vestry adjourned.

Ottawa, April 21.-It is reported here today that the squeezing out of Sir Mackenzie Bowell as Premier has at length been accomplished, and that he goes out almost immediately. Among other reports, it is said that Chief Justice Meredith is being pressed to leave the bench and go to the rescue of the men in power; that Hugh John Macdonald may be impressed into the service, and that Mr. Chapleau may supercede Sir Adolphe Caron in Quebec. It may be, however, that this arrangement will not be carried out. The opposition to Mr. Moncrieff in East Lambton, and Col. Tisdale in South Norfolk, is so strong that the report has been set on foot that these M. P.s may be taken into the Cabinet, but there is really no good foundation for

In about an hour after Mrs. Cliff began her watch, a tall man walked rapidly out of the salon and went down the stairs, and then a woman came running across the hall and into Mrs. Cliff's room, closing the door behind her. Mrs. Cliff scarcely recognized this woman. She had Edna's hair and face, but there was a glow and a glory on her countenance such as Mrs. Cliff had never seen, or expected to see, until in the hereafter she should see it on the face of an angel.

"He has loved me," said Edna, with her arms around her old friend's neck, ever since we had been a week on the Castor.'

Mrs. Cliff shivered and quivered with joy. She could not say anything, but over and over again she kissed the burning cheeks of her friend. At last they stood apart, and when Mrs. Cliff was calm enough to speak, she said: Ever since we were on the Castor! Well, Edna, you must admit that Capt. ed only nine pounds. Notice that most of Christ's wounds were in front. Some courging on the shoulders, but most of Christ's wounds in front. He was not in retreat when he expired. Face to face with the world's ferocity. Face to face with the world's sin. Face to face with the world's woe. His eye on the raging countenances of his foaming antagonists when he expired. When the spear was thrust at his side, and hammer was lifted for his feet, and when the reed was raised to strike deeper down the spikes of thorn, Christ watched the whole procedure. When his hands were fastened to the cross they were wide open still with benediction. No ether, no chloroform, no merciful anesthetic to dull or stupefy, but, wideawake, he saw the obscuration of the heavens, the unbalancing of the roofs, the countenances quivering with rage and the cachinnation diabolic. Oh! it was the hostile as well as the barren island of a world.

I go further, and tell you that this exile was far from home. Christ was 33 years away from home. Some of you feel homesickness when you are a hundred or a thousand miles away from the domestic circle. Christ was more million miles away from home what it is to be homesick even amid pleasant surroundings, but Christ slept in huts, and he was athirst, and he was a-hungered, and he was on the

Caused by a Man With a Gun-Sudden Exit of the Preacher.

Oakland, Cal., April 21.-A crank with gun stampeded the congregation of the First Unitarian Church yesterday. He stepped out in front of the pulpit early in the service and loudly de-nounced religion, derided immortality, and espoused Darwinism, talking coherently, but excitedly. When members of the congregation tried to reason with him and dissuade him from turning the altar into a forum, he fiercely faced his remonstrators, and, flourishing a revolver, dared them to lay hands on him. It was just at this point that the parson slipped away by a rear door, and was only coaxed back half an hour later upon positive assurance that the man with the gun was in safe keeping. The prisoner gave his name as Lewis Borges, of Portland, Me. He is undoubtedly insane.

Should remember to use only two-thirds as much Cottolene as they formerly used of lard or butter. With two-thirds the quantity they will get better results at less cost than it is possible to get with lard or butter. When Cottolene is used for frying articles that are to be immersed, a bit of bread should be dropped into it to ascertain if it is at the right heat. When the bread browns in half a minute the Cottolene is ready. Never let Cottolene get hot enough to smoke. THERE IMPORTANT POINTS: The frying pan should be cold when the Cettolene is put in. Cottolene heats to the cooking point sooner than lard. It never sputters when hot.

The Cottolene trade-marks are "Cottolene" and a steer's head in cotton-plant wreath.
