Sail Boat Arrival of Some of the Party at the Soo.

The following dispatch from Sault tte. Marie gives fuller particulars regarding the wreck of the Acadia, referred to in another column:

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 13 .- Capt Chamberlain and four of the crew of sailboat, and reported having experienced many hardships. The Acadia was run ashore at Michipicoten River at 10 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 5. Since that time he and his crew have been trying to get to civilization, and were exposed to the privations of the bleak service and making convenient conand uninhabited north shore of Lake Superior in winter. Tonight Capt. Chamberlain gave the following story of the wreck and subsequent struggle: We left Fort William at 11 a.m., a week ago Wednesday, and had a good run down Lake Superior until in the on account of heavy weather, I determined to seek shelter in the bay at Michipicoten River. A heavy snow storm was on, and we went aground on a rock bottom at 10 o'clock Thursday night, staving a hole in the bottom. The wind shifted and the steamer commenced pounding and driving farther up the rocks. At 2 o'clock the next morning the pumps were stopped and the vessel allowed to settle. The crew of seventeen took a supply of bedding and provisions ashore and constructed a rude shelter. We remained there for two days waiting for the weather to moderate, and leaving two of the crew on the shore to watch the steamer, started in the two yawl boats. We rowed fifteen to Gargantua, arriving Saturday night. Sunday morning I, with four of the crew, borrowed the with four of the crew, borrowed the lighthouse tender, and leaving the remainder of the crew, started for the Soo. The shore was rocky and bold, and exceedingly inhospitable. There was no food of any kind to be obtained in the we suffered extremely Express (dep)...

Capt. Chamberlain expects to leave comorrow for the scene of the wreck on a tug. He will pick up the men at Gargantua, who, he says, have enough provisions to last them two days more, and unless he can get there within that time they will suffer from hunger. It is not known what condition the Acadia is now in, as it all depends on the winds which have prevailed since she stranded.

Collins, first mate; Stephen Saxby, second mate; John Grant, wheelsman; Toutin, wheelsman; Geo, Heard, fireman; Williams, fireman; Geo. Frend, purser; Annie Perkins, cook; Thomas Saxby, deck hand.

Despite the poor roads, the attendance was quite good. There was a great display of tatoes, apples and small vegetables. The sales of the last mentioned were about as usual, and that of apples considerably better. Snow apples sold at 10c to 15c by the basket, and 250 by the bag. Winter varieties sold at 50c to 60c by the barrel. Potatoes brought 35c to 40c per bag, according to quantity.

All other kinds of vegetables and fruits sold at about the same prices. Wheat and oats were the only lines of grain that came any way near the usual receipts. There was no barley, buckwheat or rye at all. Wheat was in good demand at $1 35 to $1 40 per 100 pounds. Oats firmed up a little and sold at 60c to 68c for ordinary to good, and

One load of corn sold at 50c, and a few beans brought 60c per bushel. Eggs were scarce, and sold up 1c or dozen. The usual price paid by per dozen. The usual price paid by the basket for strictly fresh was 18c and in some odd cases 19c; retail lots sold at 18c to 20c.

Butter, quiet: no alteration in price. Poultry was in good supply. Chickens ranged from 35c to 50c per pair.
Ducks, 60c to 70c a pair, and turkeys at 8c per pound. The supply of beef and lamb was good, and sales steady. Veal was scarce; some few remarkably good pieces brought 7c. The ruling price

Dressed hogs were lower, falling off 25c to 50c per 100 pounds; choice brought $5 25, and poor lots, $4 50. Hides sold from 3c to 5c, and tallow at 3c rendered, and 1 1-2c rough. Hay was slow at $7 50 to $8 50. Straw quiet at $2 50 to $3. General values as follows:

American Produce Markets.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The wheat market today kept the crowd guessing all the time. The shifts from strong to weak and vice versa and the bulges and breaks were sudden. Through it all the elevator people succeeded in putting out a vast quantity of the May option. The pressure to sell December was never as great as in the distant future, and the difference between the two narrowed by half a cent. The last hour's trading was the most active of the day, the tone becoming very weak on account of a slump in the northwest. Realizing sales were numerous, and under the weight of offering prices dropped a full cent from the then ruling quotation, but in the final moment recovered half of the loss. The opening Liverpool cables were 1d higher, and closing ones added another id, firmness being occasioned upon their posting. Closing Paris and Berlin cables were higher, whilst Antwerp was unchanged. December wheat opened from 814c to 814c; sold between 814c and 794c, closing at 804c—4c under yesterday. Cash wheat was irregular, closing ic lower. Corn declined ic to ic, and oats ic to ic. Provisions were lower. The leading futures closed as follows: American Produce Markets.

Nov. 13 .- Offerings today. 61 cars, including 2,000 hogs, 800 sheep and lambs, 20 calves and about 14 milch cows. Four loads of butchers' cattle were taken for Montreal. Cables were steady. Buying here was slow, owing to ocean high freights. Export cattle—Trade was slow and prices weak. Dealers do not care to buy with freight as at present. Prices ruled from 3 1-4c to 3 3-4c per lb. Butchers' cattle quiet. The Montreal market was reported a little steadier, and the quality of cattle was a little better, but a lot of inferior was offered, a good deal of which was left unsold at the close. Dealers cannot get really choice butchers' cattle, which would bring, if offered, about 3 1-4c. Prices were 2 3-4c to 3c for best, and 2c to of pulling through to one chance of those fed otherwise. Ego Gold Mining Company Establish Headquarters Here.

The Ego Gold Mining Company. which owns many of the richest mineral claims in Rossland, B. C., and which has become famous the world over for its great production of gold, have established their head office here, with Mr. John A. Moody, Masonic Temple, as their agent. The London public will now have a direct fund of information from a reliable source, and be assured of the most advantageous locations in which to invest their money.

The Ego mineral claim is situated on the northeast spur of Red Mountain, adjoining the Cracker Jack on the north, and about 400 feet north of the Green Mountain mineral claim. It has two known ledges or lodes. The West Lead, which is known as the Green Mountain Lead, is from 40 to 60 feet wide. This vein is the longest and strongest vein in the Trail District. It can be traced through the Jumbo, Nevada, Good Friday, Good Hope, Ontario, Green Mountain, Ego, and on north toward the Gold Star. Among the most valuable claims is that of Green Mountain, which possesses a vein of solid ore, from 20 to 25 feet wide. Running from the east of this is a valuable vein, known as the Cracker Jack, which is several feet in width. Throughout these districts there is an abundance of good wood and water, the latter being so situated that it can, with the greatest ease, be utilized for driving machinery. The Ontario claim has been sold by the Ego Company to an English syndicate for $65,000 cash. Mr. Moody has 350,000 shares for sale in the Ego mine, which are being rapidly taken up citizens. One citizen has purchased 20,000 shares and another 50,000. Mr. W. H. Lancaster, who has just returned from Rossland, says everything is in full blast, and promises great things before the snow is off the ground. Miners are flocking there from all parts of the country, but there is still a great scarcity of them.

London Reading Club

The London Reading Club met yesterday afternoon in their rooms on Dundas street, with the president, Mrs. George C. Gibbons, in the chair. A highly interesting and instructive address was given by Hon. David Mills, on "The Study of Literature."

Mr. Mills said he would not endeavor to discuss books, as those of a high order were so numerous in every department of literature and so easily accessible that the merest outline would be impossible. He proposed to discuss "What to read; how to read, and for what purposes we read." A large part of reading was for the pur-pose of accumulating information, and this was a commendable object. To accumulate information required a certain amount of intellectual discipline, by which the mind was invigor-

Mr. Mills spoke of reading for mere pleasure works of an emotional character, which might be in some in-stances useful and in others utterly worthless. Judgment should be used in the selection of books. Care should be taken not to select works of the character which Lord Macaulay attributed to Dr. Nair's "Life of Lord Burleigh," to read which would occupy an undue proportion of the 70 years alloted to man.

Mr. Mills also spoke of a large amount of reading for literary culture as well as for mental discipline to cultifor finished writing. This was the artistic side of literary study, and was as painting and sculpture. He said writers of culture were of two classes -ornate, and those whose works were distinguished for simple elegance. The one style resembled the painter, and the other that of the sculptor. The great danger in one who attempts or-nate writing is of developing a tawdry style, which is extremely repulsive to one of cultivated taste.

Mr. Mills referred to the study o

history, geography, biography and being studies closely allied. travel, as He spoke of the very close relation-ship between physical geography and The importance of was altogether under-estimated. If it was nothing more than the conflicts of rival dynasties, the struggles of rival statesmen, and stories of wars, separated by intervals of peace, it would not have so much value. He spoke of biography and the extent to which the events of the world were associated with the lives of men whose spirit and genius represented their epoch. He mentioned three classes of blography. First, men of intellect and judgment such as Alexander the Great, Caesar, William the Conqueror, Cromwell and nelieu. Genius and daring, such as Charles XII. and Napoleon. Politic men. such as the first Earl of Shartes-bury. Lord Halifax, Tallyrand and

Mr. Mills discussed the influence of an epoch, and pointed out that no one, no matter what his genius, ever succeeded in emancipating himself from it, and so each epoch of national life presented a literature, of a distinct type. He referred to the Elizabethan age, and mentioned Spencer, Bacon and Shakespeare as the grant time, and whose works Shakespeare as the greatest at had ended and the last glimmer of thought expired.

REMARKABLE MIND.

Helen Keller's Wonderful 'Accomplishments While Deaf, Dumb and Blind. It is suggested by the Medical

Times that the wonderful intellectual development of Helen Keller, the famous blind and deaf girl, who is now just 16 years old, may be actually a result, in one sense, of her infirmities, lack of two of the most acute of the senses spurring her on, and, indeed, giving her the opportunity for intense oncentration of her mental faculties. It says, describing the appearance of Miss Keller when she delivered an address before the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf:

"Clad in a girlish costume, with dark ringlets falling to her shoulders, and a bright smile illuminating her face, she took the platform to talk on the value of speech to the deaf. The ame of her accomplishments-for she is declared by her teachers to be the brightest girl of her age, not excepting those in possession of all their senses-had attracted a large and deeply interested audience. Without a sign of embarrassment, though to many her articulation was somewhat indistinct, she spoke as follows:"

After quoting the address, the Times makes the following remarks: "What, now, is the secret of this wonderful success in overcoming obstacles almost inconceivable by the average human being-in emerging from what, a few years ago, would have been utter and hopeless darkness, into the fullest intellectual daylight? Was it inherent force of mind which gave this afflicted creature the victory? On the contrary, it is much more probable that, had she retained sight and hearing, she might have turned out quite a commonplace young person. It is intense and unswerving concentration of her every faculty upon the one great object of self-improvement, that has led to this mar-velous and unexample development. Such concentration, under all the circumstances, was a simple necessity of her being. The soul, once wakened, could do nothing else but struggle upward and onward toward the opening There was no influence to bind it down or divert its energies. Not a moment, not a thought, was wasted. How Ladies Dress.

Men often are at a loss to know how ladies dress so neatly and so comfortably on very limited incomes. If they read our bargain lists as diligently as the ladies do they wouldn't be at all puzzled. It costs less to dress comfortably and stylishly today than ever before. There is a greater demand for good qualities, and manufacturers are supplying the demand. This week we placed on sale 2,562 yards excellent Tweed Dress Goods. They are going fast. Some are buying enough for two costumes, they're so good and the prices so low-50c and 600. Undoubtedly the greatest sale of the season, because it's genuine,

How Ladies Walk.

The easier and more comfortable a shoe is, the easier it is to move about. Some shoes are made to please the eye only. Boer Courtship.

Odd Love-Making Among the South African Dutch.

He Has to Sit Up All Night With His

When the Boer youth arrives at the age of 17 or 18, certain mysterious phenomena, says Olive Schreiner (Fortnightly), begin to take place. He be forgotten until the rambles of life barters sheepskins for brass studs, a white handkerchief, a silk tie, a white shirt, and a pair of top-made boots He procures a stallion if he has none already, and, confiding in his sister or brother alone, he starts out some evening to seek a wife among the girls in the homesteads scattered around within a radius of fifteen or twenty miles. He may have seen some of these girls face to face, but has probably looked upon them at a distance in church, or when searching for stray cattle, or may have even shaken hands with some of them at some wedding party. But his mother and grandmother have taken pains, indirectly to let him know their opinion of all the girls on the country-side. Thus equipped, he starts out in the after-noon, confiding his destination to no one but his sister or brother, and no direct questions are asked. He times his departure so as to arrive just as the sun is setting. When he is seem approaching the girls retire precipitately to their room, the father advances slowly to meet him, and, if he s welcome, asks him to off-saddle. If not invited, he is bound to leave the same evening and to find lodging else-where. If he is particularly welcome, where. If he is particularly his steed is offered a feed of mealies or oats, and, so encouraged, the young man enters the house.

"When he has seated himself in the front room, the house-mother, in her elbow-chair, proceeds to inquire after the health of his relations, and if she now meets him for the first time in quires the number of his brothers and sisters, and questions him gravely on other points of personal and family history of the same nature, which is considered a polite attention. There are from time to time slight creakings of the door of the bedroom in which the daughters are attiring themselves, as one or other attempts to peep through the crack in the boards, or to their best clean gowns and tie clean if they be so fortunate as to remember to bring the cocoanut oil into the room, they heavily dress their hair with it. Just as the Kaffir maid is bringing the lights into the front room they appear, and shake hands with the stranger, who silently rises and extends his fingers and they both proceed about their evening duty, preparing the coffee and supper; but in doing so both find it necessary to return frequently riding-whip round and round, answering the house-mother's questions, or sitting silent, but keenly noting the ruins of New Mexico. Beyond they eat, and the young man looks into his plate and eats silently, or an swers questions from the house-father, but notes all that takes place. When supper is ended the family return to the front room; and the young children troop off to bed one by one. Then comes the hour of trial if the young man be bashful and unused to courtship: for, having made up his mind which daughter he desires to pay his attention to, it is now necessary he should request the parents' permission sent the mother frequently gets out, or allows the daughter to get out, be burnt during the night. when the rest of the family have retired, the maiden of his choice comes n and seats herself beside him on the From time to time there are creakings at the different bedroom doors that open into the front room, as the children or other members of the family get out of bed to peep through at them, and the young maiden may even suggest their retiring to the back room, if there be one; be after a while the whole household fall asleep, the tallow candle burns dimly on the table, and the youth and maiden pass the long night seated side by side and conversing, the girl generally making coffee near morning. that they may keep themselves awake. About 4, or a little earlier, she gives him a final cup, and he saddles his horse and rides away, and when the rest of the family rise he is already gone. To be found there when the sun rose would be a breach of etiquette. If the youth and maiden have approved of one another they have made a promise to exchange rings, or have actually exchanged them, and have made an appointment for his next coming in a week or ten days'

After the third or fourth visit the youth is bound to declare himself: the elders are asked for their consent; and about three weeks later the wedding occurs at the house of the bride's parents. The festivities last until daylight, but the bride and groom retire at about 2 o'clock in the morning. The twain stay at the bride's home for a short while, and then go to the groom's home to live, often sharing a room with other members of the family, until later on, after the birth of a child or two, two small disconnected rooms are built for them at the end of the farmhouse or a little way of

STRANGE DISCOVERY

Extraordinary Find of Prehistoric R. mains in Alaska

A stupendous discovery is that made by Prof. Alfred Eldridge in the wilds of Alaska at a point beyond where any white man had gone before him. Starting from the mouth of the Ku-Walik River, which empties into Kotzebue Sound, Prof. Eldridge explored that stream up through 400 miles of its frozen course. At this point he hold it slightly ajar. If there be two rose precipitously from it. Something of marriageable age, they both put on in that mountain side made it look as if it had been once disturbed by handkerchiefs round their throats; and human hands. He went to the spot and there, 400 miles from any human habitation, he found the remains of a mighty city, as great as any of the prehistoric ones yet discovered on this continent. There were spears and arrowheads, and pottery, and massive walls, showing that the city had been inhabited by people advanced in civilization. The masonry was perfect. Some of the vases he found were three feet high. They to look for something in the little wall were of a shape and artistic pattern cupboard in the front room, or to fetch some article from the sleeping apart- our time. The most remarkable disments which open out of it. The young covery made by Prof. Eldridge, how-man sits on the sofa and turns his ever, was this—the pottery and implements were identical in make and pattern with those of the prehistoric differing figures or other points of re- doubt, at some time so long back that semblance or difference between the it makes the brain spin to think of it, sisters. By and by, when the family the climate all over North America. gathers round the supper table, the possibly even to the pole, was warm elder girls, more especially the eldest, and inhabited throughout its whole wait on them; the children keep their length by one race of people. Who eyes fixed on the stranger even as or what that race was future scientific research must determine.

EXTINCTION OF GREAT NAMES. It is a curious fact, one which does not appear to have received the amount of attention it deserves, that a very large proportion, perhaps the majority, of our greatest men have died childless, and of those who had children a large number predeceased their parents. But few of the greatest names in literature or science are today borne by direct descendants. The families of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spenser, Milton, Cowper, Butler, Dryendon, Addison, Swift, Walpole, Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Burke, Canning, Disraeli, Bacon, Locke, Newton, Day, Gibbon, Macaulay, Hogarth, Joshua Reynolds. All these are reminiscences, no one of them being borne by a descendant. And in those cases where the name is yet extant is borne by a collateral relative, or has been adopted by a distant connection.-Golden Penny.

The City Snowplows Out - Steam and Street Railways Not Interfered With.

The sun today soon converted the snow to slush. Two or three days more of such weather, and there will be neither snow nor slush to remind one of January. The fall was exceedingly heavy for so early in the season. The city bylaw provides that the snowplows shall be called out when the depth is four inches. As the snow promised to go this several inches better, Acting Street Commissioner Ironside ordered out the whole 17 of them in the afternoon, and by o'clock pedestrians found the walking good. Fortunately, the snow ceased falling, and the plows were not required this morning. The cost to the city was $51, which makes quite a hole n the scanty remainder of the Board of Works' appropriation.

It is five miles in diameter, nearly circular, and occupies the crater of proved that its greatest depth is 2,000 an extinct volcano. No fish have ever been known to exist in Crater Lake. Not long ago a request that it be stocked with trout was sent to Washington by the Mazamas, who are a club of mountain climbers, having headquarters at Portand. Mazama is the Indian name for mountain goat. The climbers are anxious to angle in the extinct crater, and the Government experts are going to find out whether or not such a thing is practicable. It is easy enough to put trout into the water, but that would be of no use unless there is food for them there. Trials will be made by an expedition, for the purpose of ascertaining how much food there is and whether or not it is of a kind suitable for speckled beauties to browse

The quantity of the latter secured in a given number of minutes or hours will be an accurate measure of the amount of fish food present. They will be bottled and preserved in formaline for subsequent examination by a specialist, who will determine the species represented. Chiefly they will be little shrimps and other small crustaceans, and there will be some insects also. It will be necessary to make the towings at different hours of the day. because some crustaceans swim near the surface only in the morning, others at mid-day, and others yet in the evening. Shady areas as well as sunny spots must be sought for various species.

ments will be made for the purpose of ascertaining the temperature of the water at various depths. No temperature observations have ever been taken in fresh water nearly so far down With this end in view an equipment of self-registering thermometers and supplementary apparatus will be taken where the depth is less than 1,600 feet though it shoals off somewhat in the southwest part. One line of soundfrom Petrolea, were discovered to be on fire. In the building were about 2,300 bushels of grain, seven head of cattle, five pigs, together with farm implements, hay straw, buggies, harness, etc. Everything was destroyed. No wonder then, that Crater Lake was supposed to be bottomless. However, the truth is that all lakes over 150 feet deep possess a similar reputa-tion. Any body of water that is deeper than the length of the longest fishing line is sure to lack a bottom in the popular belief. A first-rate example of this sort of delusion is afforded by Payette Lake, in Idaho. It was formerly imagined to be bottomless, and later its denth was officially stated to ed to the hardware trade. FATAL COLLEGE SCRAP

A McGill University Student the Victim.

Montreal, Nov. 14. - A painful feeling has been aroused among the thousand students of McGill University by the death of one of their number, apparently from the effects of a college "scrap," which took place a week ago. The name of the deceased was J. T. Stewart. He came from Athelstan, Que., and was entered to study for the ministry at the Presbyterian College. This included a full arts course at McGill, and it was while in the arts building last Friday that Mr. Stewart engaged in "push," which resulted in his death at the Royal Victoria Hospital yesterday. The immediate cause of death was an internal hemorrhage, principally in the fungs. Mr. Stewart had been previously troubled with this bleeding, and it is therefore to be supposed that his exertions in the while they brought on an increase of his trouble, were not altogether responsible for his death. Stewart was sturdy and strong in appearance, and evidently exerted himself considerably during the progress of the meles. On Saturday horning his hemorrhage increased so much that he was obliged to go to the Royal Victoria Hospital. There it was found that he was suffering from hemorrhage in many places. He died about three o'clock yesterday morn-

New Voting Methods.

The London Advertiser tells of a new voting plan invented by a Lonvoter is supplied with ballots-one for each candidate, marked with a star in the color chosen by the candidate. Thus the Conservative ballot might be marked in blue, the Grit in red, the independent in yellow, and so on. In the secret chamber the voter selects his ballot by the color of its mark, no matter whether or not he can read. He folds the ballots up separately, and has the chosen one deposited in the ballot box and other put in another box supplied for the purpose. No pencil is used, and there is no chance for the voter to spoil his ballot by misplacing the mark. The scheme is a good one. But we think that the cash register ma chine used in some places in the State of New York on the Presidential election the other day is the most satisfactory scheme yet devised .-Hamilton Spectator.

The cash register system has many merits. It worked with fair success in the cities where it was tried in the recent elections in the United States One objection to it is that the machine is apt to go out of order, necessitating a cessation of voting until an expert sets it right. In at least one place, in the recent Presidential election, a break-down of this kind took place. The expert had to go behind the machine. He saw at a glance how the vote stood up to that time, and the local press say that after he had repaired the machine he went around taking bets on the probable vote at the close of the polls.

The merit of the scheme which the Advertiser has described lies in the fact that it never goes wrong; it is simple, and voting has not to be stopped to put it right. No one can discover how the poll stands until the last ballot is counted, and it only needs white paper and the printing of the ballots, whereas the machines are

The Advertiser Insanity Increasing in Canada.

How Is It To Be Accounted For ?-Weaklings From Europe - The Average of Recoveries - Weighty Observations by Dr. Daniel Clark.

Few subjects are of more interest than that indicated in the above heading. A London Advertiser representative has had the good fortune to secure a brief but important interview with Dr. Daniel Clark, Medical Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane, Toronto. Dr. Clark is not only one of the finest speakers in Canada, and a man of letters, but ranks high as an acute and experienced alienist.

In reply to various inquiries by The Advertiser representative, Dr. Clark replied as follows:

"Insanity is on the increase in Canada, and will continue to be so as long as our civilization compels in its various phases the mind to put forth more than healthy effort to keep the wolf from the door. High pressure is necessary in commercial and business circles because of keen competition. The agricultural classes have had many years of struggle to make both ends meet. A pauper element is augmenting daily among those who are congenitally lazy, or vicious, or among those who have lost heart because of reverses and have not the mental robustness to rise

"Persons thus degenerate, or, hapless and helpless, of necessity produce a generation of weaklings, as the stream will not rise above the fountain; hence our asylums are filled with at least 60 per cent of patients who have had bequeathed to them a heritage of insane tendency, whose malign potency may display itself should occasion arise because of disease or mind stress. Intemperance, vicious habits, morphine consumption, and such like, make up no small factors as exciting causes; while heredity is only a predisposing cause.

"To our native population thus afflicted we allow an influx of weaklings from Europe. There is no check of this untoward class at our seaport cities, and as a result our hospitals for the insane contain a large number of this class, who have no substantial claim on our bounty, and should not be allowed to land on our shores. Many are sent by parochial boards to get rid of these defectives who have a lifetime claim on their native parishes.

"The average of recoveries in this Province ranges from 30 to 47 per cent on admissions. The chronic class must of necessity remain during life. It must not be forgotten that a large number of those admitted are chronic and incurable on admission, and are beyond cure or recovery. Were only recent and acute cases admitted, the percentage of recoveries would rise to 80 or 85 per cent. Hence the necessity of early treatment; but prejudice stands in the way."

These great innovations in international law, the paper adds, consecrate the absolute supremacy of the United States in the western hemisphere, and must cost British pride dear. Europe, however, will be unable to accept such a grave departure from the rights of

CAN'T TRUST THE TURK. London, Nov. 14.-In the London diplomatic circle all this talk of the Sultan's acceptance of reforms is considered to be extremely fishy, and the whole tenor of facts derived from official sources in Constantinople points to a certainty that the Sultan is pursuing his old course of deceit. Before the extraordinary tribunal, trying the prisoners arrested for participation in the Galata riots, was closed under the pressure exerted by M. Cambon, the French ambassador. The Sultan's judges sentenced to death or to long terms of imprisonment a whole cloud of Armenians brought before them, and liberated all the Moslems, and M. Cambon now asks for the appointment of an European commission to report upon sentences imposed by the tribunal. "You do not know!" interrupted the young Southerner. "Why, surely you ought to be able to trace his genealogy, since he is your nephew?"
"But he is not my nephew."

"I never saw the boy until about eight years ago."
Everet Mapleson turned a look of blank astonishment upon his compan-

Mr. Huntress then related to him that hazing experience, simply be-cause his mind had been so engrossed circumstances which brought Geoffrey to his notice, telling of his unaccountable interest in him, of the experiment which had resulted in the restoration of the boy's reason, and of his subsequent adoption of the lad. in from the south balcony. I imagine, however, that the woman Margery must have been a sort of nurse who had the care of him."

Everet Mapleson started and colored as he heard these names. He instantly recalled the incident that had occurred a few days previous on Broadway, when the poor old flower vendor had detained him, believing that she had at last found the boy whom she had nursed so many years ago. -"Character" was the subject of an able lecture delivered by Rev. J. H. Moorhouse in the school room of Christ Church last night. Mr. Moornouse defined character and the qualities which formed a good charactertruth, courage, patience, love and perseverance. He also dwelt upon the influence and growth of character. In conclusion, he demonstrated that all true character was founded upon true religion. The lecture was very instructive and entertaining, and was interspersed with quotations illus-trating the different points, some humorous and others pathetic. The proceeds were in aid of the church improvement fund. Instrumental and vocal music was furnished by Mrs. West and Mr. A. E. Welch. Dr. Wool-

The best known of the trio today is, of course, Jack Hobbs, the sturdy quarter-back for 'Varsity, but it is predicted in London, where the boys are all well known, that a younger brother, Frank, will surpass Jack in the same position. Frank Hobbs is coming to 'Varsity next year, and the management of that organization will then have a chance to size him up. Then there is Will Hobbs, the elder of the three, who, for a time, played on 'Varsity's half-back line a couple of years ago. > Postmasters have been reminded that they cannot exercise too much caution in redirecting (i. e, in changing the addresses of) letters that have come to their offices for delivery; inasmuch as if any loss occurs through an erroneous or unnecessary redirection, it will fall on the postmaster who took upon himself the responsibility of doing that for which he had no authority. If a letter has come to a certain office, being plainly directed thereto, the proper province being also specified in the address, then nothing short of an order from the addressee, or possession of positive and certain infor mation that the letter was intended for another office, can justify a post-master in redirecting it. OBJECTS TO NEWSPAPER "LIKE-NESSES." "Jones" caused a sensation during the court proceedings today by suddenly addressing the magistrate and saying: "A reporter is taking a sketch of me; I fear for my safety." The magistrate, Mr. Vaughn, then ordered the reporter to desist, but a prison attendant soon afterwards said to the magistrate: "A reporter is writing a description of 'Jones.'" The magiswill not allow even a written description of the witness to be made." Chief Inspector Melville, of Scotland Yard, took an active part in suppressing the taking of descriptions of "Jones." After the close of the proceedings a jailer remarked to a representative of the press: "'Jones' is a dead man. I am glad I am not in his shoes."

NOT HIS NAME. The name "Jones" given as that of the Government spy is not his right name, that having been withheld by the prosecution. When the witness was called to the stand, Prosecutor said that the Government, for obvious reasons, declined to disclose the man's name, whereupon the magistrate, Sir John Bridge, said "Call him Jones." The witness was sharply cross-examined by counsel for the defense, but his direct testimony was not materially altered.

Many persons in the court room believed that Ivory would take advantage of this opportunity to make a sensation speech, but instead of doing so, he merely replied, "No, your worship." Sir John Bridge then committed him for trial.

New York, Nov. 14.—The story of the Irish spy, as told in yesterday's dispatches, created a sensation in Hibernian circles here. At the headquarters of many of the societies Irishmen gathered in the evening to discuss the new informer, which they did in no calm language. He was roundly denounced, some of the more excitable intimating that the career of the latest English tool would be a short one. From a cabled description of the spy, he was easily recognized here by former associates. He was known as T. Merrick Jones. That "Jones'" mention of the Chicago may or may not be his real name, had any reason to suspect that the Conservatives Refuse to Argue Municip al Affairs on Municipal Issues. Brockville, Ont., Nov. 14.-The sec and attempt to eliminate politics from the management of municipal affairs in Brockville seems to have fallen through, the Conservatives declining to enter on such an arrangement, owing, no doubt, to the Tupper-Whitney, programme, a part of which is to get control of the municipal councils in Ontario, on account of the approaching Provincial elections. Last year trate thereupon sternly remarked: "I considerable progress was made towards putting a People's ticket in the field, but, owing to the Conservative party having a ticket already in the field, the scheme was abandoned, with a promise to revive it in time this year

In accordance with this promise,

Chairman Hutcheson called the meeting for last night. It was fairly attended, the great majority being Liberals. It looked for a time as if poliics would have to go, and addresses along this line were made by Mr. M. Gill, D. W. Downey, O. K. Fraser, W. B. Thompson, and other leading Liberals, and by Robert Bowie and H. A. Stewart, Conservatives, the later secretary of the County Associaion. He thought it impossible to eep politics out of municipal affairs, and declined to act on any committee. Mr. Bowie, though in favor of the scheme, also declined to act on a ommittee, and said that it was evilent to him that the Conservative party was not in favor of eliminating olitics from the town's government, which he thought the Liberals were. Mr. Hutcheson, who is also a Conservative, expressed deep regret that his party should take such a position, and said he would call no more meetngs unless there was some prospect of the suggested compromise being efected. The meeting broke up without inything being done, and the Conservatives will either have the council by acclamation for 1897 or the old party fight will be renewed.

Decided Improvement All Along the Line.

Nearly 200 Mills and Factories Started Up This Week.

The Betterment Noticeable on Both Sides of the Border.

New York, Nov. 14.-Bradstreet's weekly review says: The volume of business improves slowly in nearly all lines. The most active demand is among jobbers in arygoods, clothing, millinery, shoes, leather and hardware and in leading industrial lines, nearly 200 mils, fac tories and foundries having started up this week, one-half of them in iron, steel, machinery, tools, carriages, lumper, glass, woolen and cotton goods About 130 other industrial establishments have increased working forces or working hours or both among them nineteen iron and steel establishments, ten glass-works, and four factories, each making lamps, clocks, woolen goods and cotton. A partial record of the number of men given employment in industrial lines since Nov. 6, shows an aggregate of nearly 30,000. Mercantile collections throughout central western and southern States are easier, but complaints are still heard from the west. Bank clearings leaped up 20 per cent this week compared with a week ago, the total being $1,190,000,000. Contrasted with the average weekly total in four preceding weeks, the gain is the corresponding week last year the increase is only 1.5 per cent, but contrasted with the second week of No-vember, 1894, and the like week in the increase is 17 per cent in leach instance.

October railway earnings, flecting anti-elections conditions, make the poorest showing of any month for several years. This October total of 121 roads is $48,149,580a decrease of 4.3 per cent from a year ago. For ten months the earnings of 116 roads aggregate $389,295,100-a gain over ten months in 1895 of 3.3 per cent, when the gain was 4.7 per cent over 1894. There have been 258 business failures reported this week-35 more than last week, but 21 fewer than in the corresponding week one year ago. Exports of wheat, flour included wheat, from both coasts of the United States, and from Montreal, amount to 4,664,515 bushels this week-the heaviest week's total since the second week of September, 1893. This is an increase of 1,200,000 bushels over last week, or more than 1,300,000 bushels over the corresponding week one year ago, more than 1,700,000 bushels as compared with the like week in 1894—a gain of about 2,000,000 bushels as compared with the corresponding week of 1893, and of ed with the like week in 1892. R. G. DUN & CO.'S REVIEW. No one doubts that the brighter day is dawning, and it is the common remark that never from the wound, forming a fore has business shown so great a change for the better within a single week. Dispatches telling of about 500 establishments which have opened or have materially enlarged their force, though they fill many columns, give only part of the fact; for for the prisoner. The price of wheat had advanced to 88 cents, gaining six cents for on week, 10 cents for two weeks, and 24 eents since September. The price is the highest since June, 1892. Atlantic exports, in spite of scanty freight room, were for two weeks 2,717,231 bushels, flour included, against 3,-260,384 last year, and Pacific ments are also heavy to India, South Africa and Australia. After purchases of 46,000,000 pounds f wool in five weeks the transactions fell to 6,243,700 pounds last week, but prices were strong, and in some grades cent higher. Canada's New Senators.

Strong Testimony to the Wisdom of the Selections Made.

The Need for the Reform of the Chamber Ably Stated.

From the Montreal Herald. The elevation of Messrs. David Mills and George A. Cox to the Senate will carry weight to the councils of that

Mr. Mills, who is deeply learned in all constitutional law, is especially well versed in the laws upon which the Confederation of the Canadian Provinces is based. By temperament and attainments he is eminently fitted to assume a commanding position in that re-organization of the Upper Chamber to which the Liberal party is pledged. In respect of his sterling character and his splendid abilities, he is one of the most warmly esteemed of Canadian public men. From the Montreal Witness.

The Ottawa Government has filled the vacancies in the Dominion Sen-ate caused by the deaths of Sir David Macpherson and Mr. Ferguson, Welland, by the appointments of the Hon. David Mills and Mr. George A. Cox. Mr. Cox is a well-known business man of Ontario, an able, shrewd financier, who has been steadily rising during the last twenty-five or thirty years. During the last Dominion election campaign Mr. Cox was one of the trusted advisers and leaders of the Liberal party, and contributed valuable counsel during the period in which Mr. Laurier was constructing his Cabinet. His abilities should prove of value to the country and to the party of which he is a member in the Senate. Whether he is in favor of the reform of the Senate is not publicly known. To be an earnest supporter of a reorganization of the Senate should be required by the Laurier Government of every man appointed to it. Sir Oliver Mowat publicly declared that in accepting office in the Laurier Government and entering the Senate, he hoped to be able to bring about the reforms so urgently needed.

The appointment of Mr. David Mills to the Senate will assure to Sir Oliver at least one able earnest advocate of radical reform. Mr. Mills has always been antagonistic to the Senate as it is now constituted. He is thoroughly, even pro foundly, acquainted with the constitution of the Dominion, and he understands as few do the extraordinarily dominant position this body has been inadvertently given. Mrs. Chipman had scarcely left the court room before her husband, John S. Chipman, of No. 514 Front avenue, was called. He is an elderly man of medium height, with long white hair - and whiskers. His testimony was but a repetition of that given by the de fendant. While he was telling of the affection shown by the defendant toward his son, Ezra Chipman, husband during his last illness, Mrs. Sternaman for the second time lost control of herself.

Mrs. Sternaman's son-in-law, George B. Drake was called. He corroborated Mrs. Sternaman's description of the peculiar paroxysms Sternaman often had before their marriage. Mr. Thayer asked the court to ad-

The Oneonta, N. Y., Trades and Labor Assembly has adopted the novel plan of holding a series of revival meetings in the interest of trades unionism. The meetings are modeled strictly on the lines of religious revivals, closing Sunday afternoons with a grand mass meeting, at which nonunionists are invited to enroll in their respective trades.

One of the most important changes, or reform, as it is called, effected by the recent national convention of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners was the establishment of a uniform system of dues for the unions throughout the country, which have a membership of about 60,000. The dues paid by members of the New York unions were taken as the standard, which will be 75 cents a month per capita. It was resolved that there should be a minimum scale for initiation fees, and that no union should charge less than $5, although they will have the privilege of charging more if the affiliated unions of a district council vote to do so. The changes in the constitution of the United Brotherhood decided upon at the convention will be submitted to the various local unions for indorsement, and it is necessary that this vote be recorded by the general office before the amendments become a law.

Important Subject.

(Special correspondence of The Advertiser.) As new-laid eggs during the winter season are in demand, and readily bring the highest prices, it is necessary for the poultryman to provide a comfortable and roomy house that the layers may have sufficient exercise. If practicable, the house should have a southern exposure, and the floor should be covered with a light layer of straw. There should be a dark department fitted with boxes for nests. The eggs should be removed before night. The food-milk (skimmed, sour, and buttermilk), brewers' grains, sunflower seeds, flaxseed, red clover, bran, meal, grain,

The first essential to success is proper feeding, so that on the one hand the hen may have suitable and sufficient food for egg production, and on the other, one that is not too fattening, for a fat hen will not prove to be a laying one. In the morning soft food should be fed, and only enough should be given to satisfy. This may consist of a mash made of clover hay, cut into half-inch pieces and steamed during the night by placing it in a pail and pouring hot water upon it, and covering the pail and leaving until morning. In the morning mix this with meal, or bran, and the kitchen waste, and feed warm. Or, a mash made with small potatoes, turnips, carrots, or other vegetables, and cornmeal; or bran, oatmeal and vegetables treated in the

Hens during the warmer weather will fill their crops nearly half full with grass and green stuffs every day, therefore when housed during the winter they require sods, sand and vegetable matter. The best layers and most productive hens are not more than two years old, so many of our poultrymen contend, yet the Danish poultrymen believe that the most productive hen is the one that is arriving at

The poultryman having taken advantage of the high prices of the winter home market, can on the return of spring allow the hens free range outside. After a short rest they will begin to lay again, and if non-setters, will continue to do so until the moulting period (September) begins, and which will continue for about two months. By October the early hatched pullets ought to begin to lay, but the eggs will not be as large as those from hens. If the hens are non-setters, the poultryman will have to keep a few of the setting breeds to hatch out his chickens; and he will require to keep a few of his older hens for breeding purposes. The male should be young, and should never be kept amongst the laying hens, because he gets too much food, eats the eggs, and teaches the hens to do the same Besides, he becomes too fat, which renders him useless as a breeder. Hens, when kept from cocks, lay as many eggs, and the eggs are thought to be better, though they will not produce chickens. They keep better and do not rot. Hens for breeders should run with the cocks. LIGHT BRAHMAS. The eggs are large and dark; in numbers, 100 and over per year. The eggs weigh about one and three-quarter pounds per dozen, but are not quite so large as when the hens are running at large. The layers require to be kept busy in winter quarters, and must not be overfed, as they will get too fat. They are quiet and easily kept in bounds. For market— They have large bodies, are hardy, grow rapidly, fatten quickly, but require generous feeding.

PLYMOUTH ROCKS. There are three varieties, viz., barred, white, and buff. The pullets and young hens are good layers and will begin to lay before they are six months old. The layers must be kept busy, and should not be overfed, as they fatten very easily. The hens make excellent mothers. The eggs are not quite as large as those of the Brahmas. For market-Both the barred and white are excellent for the market, as they are large, grow rapidly, and fatten easily. The white is the larger fowl, and preferred by many. The buff is a new-comer.

are not as good winter layers as thoroughbreds. The eggs usually run small Those who have market gardens and and the hens begin laying when eggs are cheap. The birds are not as large as many of the thoroughbreds, usually do not take on fat so rapidly, and bring less in the market.

To obtain the best results for eggs: 1. Pullets should be hatched as early as possible. Laying stock should be young. and hens of the same age should be in the one pen

3. A comfortable house is more economical than a cold one. 4. What will go into eggs in pullets will make hens of the heavy breeds too fat to lay. . Laying stock requires ample room. 6. Layers must not be over-fed. 7. Only young, prolific layers should

8. No male birds should be kept with the layers.

To talk with an Indian officer, hearing his reminiscences and adventures, is what those who have enjoyed it always appreciate. Consequently (writes a special reporter of the Hampshire Independent) I was delighted to receive instructions to interview Lieutenant-General Shaw, who has won his spurs in India, and is now living, with his family, in honorable retirement, at St. Paul's Vicarage, Shanklin, Isle of Wight. I had grasped the bell-pull and given it one tug when the door opened and the general stood before me. You knew he was a soldier at once. His manly, upright bearing, his smile, his pleasant

"I am afraid," he said, "that you

At that he brightened visibly. "You must know," he said, "I'm just a bit of an enthusiast on this point; but the tale is very short. Mr. daughter came home from India, and when I joined her in London I found her ill in bed. She had rheumatic and neuralgic pains; she was perfectly bloodless, listless, and in a generally weak and prostrate condition. A doctor was seen, but she remained absolutely colorless, was in great lutely colorless, was in great wretchedness and suffering from anaemia or bloodlessness. She had a kind of fever, nervous headache, and other pains. Well, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My daughter took some, and the first box had a marvelous effect. She regained her color, lost her pains, and become altogether different. She had quite a glow upon her. She went on taking the pills, and I am glad to tell you that she recovered completely. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all with whom I came in contact, and all who take them derive great benefit therefrom. "I have a sister at Jersey, and she has taken them for a very long time, and has always recommended them to other people, and found them to do a great deal of good to all to whom she has recommended them; and I myself, when I have heard of people being ill, have taken them or sent them some of these pills." A JOKE ON THE WIZARD. A few years ago the late Bill Nye and Herrman, the magician, met for the first time in a small Ohio town. Each knew the other pretty well by reputation and from personal characteristics, but they never had been introduced. By chance they stopped at the same hotel on the occasion referred to, and were given seats at the same table in the dining room. They bowed politely ond began talking about the weather, each believing that the other did not recognize his tonishment. "Excuse me, sir," remarked the wizard, "but I thought I saw something queer there in your lettuce." The humorist carefully looked over the salad, leaf by leaf, but found nothing, and again raised his knife to cut it. Again he was stopped by a sharp cry from Hermann, who added, apologetically: "I beg a thousand pardons, but I surely could not have been mistaken that time. There is something there. Excuse me"-and he pointed to a large lettuce leaf, raised it and disclosed underneath a magnificent diamond cluster ring worth several hundred dollars.

Nye slowly picked up the ring, and, without the slightest manifestation of surprise, drawled out: "This sort of thing has gone just far enough. I'm continually shedding diamonds whereever I go. Day before yesterday lost a solitaire in a sugar bowl in g, and in ing, the chambermaid, in sweeping my room, found three or four more. It is positively giving me brain fag to keep track of these things, and I'm going to give it up as a bad job.' Beckoning to a waitress he slipped There is nothing more interesting than the talk of our brave defenders, said: "Here's a trifle for you. Keep it to remember me by; it's yours." Archbishop's Palace, Mr. S. S. Ryckman, M.P., Hamilton,

My Dear Sir,-In order to comply with your request, I visited no less than 26 persons of different ages and conditions, residing in our city, who had used the medicine called "Kootenay Cure." Upon my inquiry, some informed me that after suffering atrociously for many years from Rheumatism, under one form or another, they had obtained considerable relief from the above named remedy, and were using it yet with the firm hope and almost certainty that in the near future all the painful effects would disappear. Others told me that they had been cured completely, felt no more pain, could digest perfectly, sleep soundly, had regained their los weight, so much so that they could be said to have been resuscitated and to have been transformed into nev men. I met with five cases of Skin Diseases, where the medicine had produced wonderful results, especially in one case of at least nine years' stand ing. In several cases of Rheumatism cases incurable. As Rheumatism is such a common ailment, and as doctors have always such difficulty in said overcoming it, I think it is quite proable medicine to poor, suffering hu-manity. I am pleased to have the occasion of recommending it to the public of the capital. Wishing you further success in your undertakings, believe me, sir, yours respectfully

At a time when most business men are resting on their oars, pending the a close. result of the election, it is interesting to report the details of a new organization that promises to enlarge Buffalo's reputation as a business center, and bring many thousands of dollars here for local distribution. has reference to the Dodd's Medicine Company, with a suite of offices in Elliott Square Building, substantial business men in control, and ample capital at its back. Nothing of the kind in recent years begins to equal the importance of such a business in relation to the community. The new company has been organized for the manufacture of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has won fame and fortune over in Canada, and that comes to the United States in response to a well defined demand. There is nothing fictitious about the preparation and nothing doubtful about its results. It is claimed to be a supreme and complete triumph, backed by thousands of legitimate testimonials, and indorsed by men and women of more than average intelligence. Because it comes from Canada, it is none the less a triumph. It has won its spurs over

There is no more progressive business in Buffalo than the big World's Dispensary, and there is every reason to anticipate similar activity in connection with the manufacture of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Every condition fully warrants it. The new company represents men of darge experience and business ability, with the Hon. F., G. Babcock, of Hornellsville, as preline or other drastic purgatives. All as secretary and treasurer. Mr. Babellsville, owner of the famous Bab-cock stock farm, once the home of the mighty Smuggler, and the present home of the beautiful stallion Voodoo. for which Mr. Babcock paid $24,000, when it was about 21 months old, and about 60 more of the finest blooded stock in the country. Mr. Babcock is a man of vast business interests, and one who has been wonderfully successful in everything he has undertaken. The Elmira Telegram calls him "a wealthy and public-spirited citizen, and just the kind of a man to make growth and prosperity of Buffalo, and will turn to our advantage in more ways than one. Mr. McKee is president of the Dodd's Medicine Company cough or cold or useful as a of Canada, whose energy and enterprise have made Dodd's Kidney Pills famous throughout the Tength and breadth of the Dominion. A good cricket story is told of the late Bishop of Rochester. He was batting in a local cricket match when the bowler sent a ball very wide of the wicket.

An old minister in Ohio was rigorously opposed to an educated ministry. "Why, my brethering," said he, every young man who is going to preach thinks he must be off to some college and study a lot of Greek and Latin. All nonsense! All wrong! What did Peter and Paul know about Greek? Why, not a word, my brethering. No! Peter and Paul preached in the plain old English, and so will I."

A good story is told of a self-respecting carpenter who was sent to make some repairs in a private house. As he entered the room in which the work was to be done, accompanied by his apprentice, the lady of the house called out, "Mary, see that my jewel case is locked." The carpenter understood, and as he was an honest man, he was indignant. He had his opportunity, however, and he used it. He removes his watch and chain from his waistcoat with a significant air. and gave them to his apprentice. "John," he said, "take these the shop. It seems that this house isn't safe."

Elder Baker, who flourished in a rural district of New England a good many years ago, was a strictly honest but painfully frank old man. One day he was approached by old Zeke Bill, a man of doubtful reputation, who said:

"Lookee, here, elder, I want to make a request of you, an' it is this: I want you to promise me preach my funeral sermon, if you "Why, certainly, Zeke, certainly."

"An' il want you to preach it from the text, 'An honest man is the no-blest work of God.'" "I'll do it, Zeke, and I'll add that I'm sorry there's such a poor specimen in the coffin."

"About the same time reaches us news of the inter-ocean race between the Cunard Liner Lucania from Liverpool, and the American Liner St. Louis, from Southampton. Can anyone doubt for a single moment that if either of these flying monsters of the deep, plowing the ocean at from 18 to 20 miles an hour, ran upon this derelict in the night, it would, 'in the twinkling of an eye,' be shattered to pieces and sink to the bottom, carrytired and weak digestions.

Mr. Hamilton is Completely Cured by PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Mr. Hamilton, 10 Ursule St., Quebec, P.Q., writes as follows:

"Having been a sufferer for over ten years from nervous debility, as well as a wreck physically, I have now the pleasure to say that I have been restored to health by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

"For years I had tried almost all other medicines for my troubles, but they all failed to meet my desperate ailments. Life to me was a burden and not worth living. My pastor recommended me to try Paine's Celery Compound, and I am now a well and healthy man.

"Before using the Compound I had no appetite; now I cannot get enough to eat. "I find that Paine's Celery Compound calms and soothes the nerves, induces refreshing sleep, and strengthens the digestive organs. In my estimation it is nature's food for the brain. I might also add that the Compound is a perfect purifier of the blood, as I have found after testing and proving it.

"I would heartily recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all who are suffering from complaints that
