Standard Oil Found Guilty; Breaks Anti-Trust Laws

Jury Brings in a Verdict After Deliberating for Thirty-Two Hours.

Findlay, Ohio, Oct. 18. — After deliberating 32 hours the jury in the case of the State of Ohio against the Standard Oil Company of Ohio returned a verdict of guilty on the charge of conspiracy against trade, in violation of the Valentine anti-trust law.

The verdict was rendered at 4:35 o'clock this morning, the jury having announced its readiness to report exactly at 4 o'clock. The court and attorneys arrived in half an hour, when the following verdict was rendered:

"We, the jury in this case, find the defendants guilty in the manner and form as the defendants stand charged on the information."

Attorney Trupee, for the defendants, said he wished to make a motion for a new trial of the case. Judge Barker overruled the motion, and said that the verdict would be entertained as a matter of course. The court at once adjourned.

UTE INDIANS RUSTLE CATTLE

A Desperate Battle With Cow- boys in the Wilds of Wyoming.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Omaha says: An outbreak of the Ute Indians, who have been causing much trouble and worry in Wyoming all this summer, occurred near Gillette, Wyoming, Wednesday night. In a battle between cowboys and Indians, two of the former were killed, and a number of Indians are supposed to have been injured.

The battle occurred when the Indians attempted to raid a cattle camp, and run off a lot of stock. The cowboys were in charge of the camp and resisted, but the Indians secured the cattle and killing a number of steers, took the meat to their camps.

HAVANA CUT OFF

Another Great Hurricane Sweeping
Through the West Indies.

New York, Oct. 19.—Up to 9 o'clock this morning Havana was still cut off from the rest of the world, so far as cable communication was concerned. No word had been received from the Cuban capital since midnight Wednesday, when a severe storm was raging. Reports which are being received from Florida indicate that the hurricane was furious along the southeast coast of Florida, and reports of severe damage are apprehended when communication is restored.

BIG 'FRISCO FIRE

$200,000 Damage Done to Southern Pacific Freight Sheds.

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—Fire last night in the freight sheds of the Southern Pacific Company in this city caused $200,000 damage. Surrounding property was saved by the fire department. Four trucks full of freight cars were consumed. It is thought most of the cars were empty.

DEPUTIES ARE BEING CHOSEN FOR THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION

City Clerk Baker Has Work in Hand This Week—Aldermen to Nominate.

City Clerk Baker is engaged this week in the task of securing deputy returning officers for the municipal election. Under the new law, this work is left entirely in the hands of the clerk of the municipality, so that one bone of contention is removed from the council arena.

In the past, the Conservative council have as a usual thing appointed nearly all of their political stripe, and as a consequence the Liberals had no voice in the election so far as the deputies were concerned.

Last December, a Conservative council appointed all Tory deputies with the exception of two or three. At least, the Conservatives stated that they had appointed some Liberals, but the latter had difficulty in locating more than one.

This was done by the Conservatives taking advantage of the absence of Ald. Saunders, as Ald. Forristal had promised to vote to have the deputies equally divided.

This year the city clerk appears to be imbued with a desire to be fair to both sides. He has asked for nominations of four deputies from each of the twelve aldermen, and as there are 48 subdivisions in the city, it is seen that this will bring about the required number of deputies save one.

SHOOTING MISHAP MAY PROVE FATAL

Emerson Brooks, 14 Years Old, of East London, Injured by a Companion.

Emerson Brooks, the 14-year-old son of Mr. Charles Brooks, of Elm street, East London, was accidentally shot in the thigh by his companion, Archie Armstrong, yesterday, and is now in Victoria Hospital in a precarious condition. It is thought he will recover.

The shooting was the result of a Thanksgiving Day hunting expedition. Brooks and Armstrong, with a couple of other lads, rented a gun the night before, and laid in enough ammunition for a day's shooting in Westminster Township.

As the boys live in the east end, they soon reached the woods of Westminster. As is usual with amateur hunters, young Armstrong was very anxious, and in order to be prepared for any emergency, he undertook to cock the hammer of his gun. Brooks was walking about six feet ahead. Unluckily, Armstrong's fingers slipped off the hammer, and the gun was discharged. The charge of shot struck Brooks in the thigh, inflicting a serious wound. He fell to the ground, and the other boys, with the exception of Armstrong, fled from the scene, fully convinced that one of their companions had been killed.

Armstrong did all he could to help the lad, as did also the neighbors who were called. But Brooks was placed in a wagon and brought to his home in the city. Dr. Seaborn was summoned, and he ordered the patient removed to Victoria Hospital.

It was found that the lad's leg had been fearfully lacerated. The flesh was torn away, and the bone was shattered. He is now having a fight for his life, but the physicians think the chances are in his favor. It is not yet known whether amputation will be necessary.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Half-Million Damage Done in Altoona, Pa., Conflagration.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 19.—Fire started today in the five-story furniture building of Oliver Rothert, and before it was brought under control property to the amount of nearly a half million dollars was destroyed. The Rothert building, and the new theater of I. C. Miesler were entirely destroyed, and the building of the Order of Elks, which had not yet been completed, was badly damaged. The Altoona Trust Company structure and the office building of the Pennsylvania Company, which are on the opposite side of the street, were damaged slightly by fire and water.

LAKE BOAT IN PERIL

Passenger Steamer Adrift Off the Port of South Haven, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Journal from South Haven, Mich., says the passenger steamer City of Kalamazoo, has just been sighted off that port in distress. She is drifting rapidly and may go on the beach. The steamer South Haven is being made ready to go to the assistance of the disabled boat.

HOUSE COLLAPSED

Rain Causes Toronto Junction Structure To Fall Into Ruins.

Toronto Junction, Oct. 19.—A two-story brick house being rushed to completion, collapsed this morning as the result of unusually heavy rains last night. It was roofed and ready for inside woodworkers to finish. Rain percolated through the foundation, and the entire structure went down like a house of cards. Loss over $1,000.

MCGILL REMANDED

Bail Renewed and Will Appear Again on Oct. 26.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Oct. 19.—Charles McGill, general manager of the defunct Ontario Bank, appeared in court this morning on a charge of making false returns to the receiver-general. Through E. F. E. Johnston, K.C., he reserved his right to neither plead nor elect. His bail was renewed. He was remanded till the 26th.

G. R. R. Cockburn also appeared on a summons that he did sign the false statement. This time he pleaded guilty to the banking act. Frank Arnold, his lawyer, pleaded not guilty, but did not elect. This case was remanded till Oct. 26.

MAYOR FAVORS BOTH COMMISSION AND ALDERMEN TO RUN THE CITY

Would Have Form of Municipal Government Similar to Toron- to's—The Power Matter.

Mayor Judd qualifies the statement made by ex-Mayor Wilson the other day, that Mr. Judd intends to ask for a revolution in the form of city government, by stating that his idea is to have a commission similar to the Toronto board of control run the city under a board of aldermen, the commissioners to be paid a salary which would insure the bringing out of good and capable men.

The mayor stated to The Advertiser today that he does not care to be put in the position of pushing any project for the purchase of the London street railway and the London Electric Company, but he was reminded that he had brought the matter to the attention of the council at its last meeting. Naturally his worship feels a little delicate on the subject of the purchase of the London Electric, in which he is personally interested.

The city's contract with the London Electric Company for street lighting expires in 1908, and, of course, if the contract is not renewed it will mean a big loss to the concern.

N. Y. C. FOUND GUILTY

Court Finds Big Road Gave Rebates to the Sugar Trust.

New York, Oct. 19.—For granting criminal rebates to the Sugar Trust, the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, and Fred L. Pomeroy, its general traffic manager, were found guilty on six separate counts yesterday by a jury in the circuit court of the United States, sitting before Judge Holt in this city.

Although the amount refunded to the Sugar Trust by the New York Central on the particular rebating charges on which the latter was found guilty yesterday is only $9,000, the New York Central is liable to a fine of $20,000 on each count, of $120,000.

MURPHY MAKES CHARGES

Says Managers of Hearst Party Attempted To Hold Up Nominations.

New York, Oct. 19.—An investigation of the charges made by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, that attempts had been made by the managers of the Independence League to secure money from Democratic nominees for congress, senate and assembly, was begun before the grand jury today. Mr. Murphy and Francis Shober, Independence League and Democratic candidate for Congress in the seventeenth district, went to the criminal courts building today, and were admitted to the grand jury room. Mr. Murphy was accompanied by City Magistrate Moss.

This is the result of an interview in which Mr. Murphy said yesterday that the Democratic candidates had been made up for money had been made up. Democratic candidates in return for the removal from the Independence League ticket of the names of rival candidates for offices. Mr. Murphy also said that he supposed the league had got some of the money from Judge Otto Rosalsky, whom the league endorsed for Judge of the court of general sessions.

A $50,000 GIFT FOR QUEEN'S

Mr. John Charlton Donates Sum to Found Chair of Moral Philosophy.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Sir Sanford Fleming, chancellor of Queen's University, stated today that Mr. John Charlton, ex-M.P. for Norfolk, made a Thanksgiving Day gift of $50,000 to endow a chair of moral philosophy.

ONE HUNDRED KILLED

Great Loss of Life Reported in a Russian Railway Accident.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 19.—It is reported that 100 persons have been killed or injured as the result of a railroad accident today at Oka, on the Moscow-Kursk line.

FRENCH MINISTRY OUT

Entire Cabinet Resigns Along With Premier Sarrien.

Paris, Oct. 19.—At the cabinet meeting this morning, Premier Sarrien officially informed his colleagues that he had resigned his resignation to President Keres, whereupon the ministers resigned in a body.

The resignation of Premier Sarrien and the reorganization of the French cabinet have caused a feeling of apprehension at the Vatican, where it is feared that the French will become more bitter if M. Clemenceau assumes the premiership.

Today that he is of opinion that if the London street railway can pay a 10 per cent annual dividend on its stock, and also 6 per cent on its bond issue, there is room for the deduction that cheaper fares can be guaranteed the people. He would have the commission, of which he speaks composed of men who would be capable of running the street railway with Niagara power, and also of operating the city lighting plant. This would mean, the mayor says, a reduction in the cost of street lighting, but not of house lighting, as the latter is the property of the London Electric Company.

Manager King hints that if Niagara power could be secured for London at the rates laid down in the estimate of the commission, the London street railway might find it convenient and profitable to cease operating its own generating plant and use Niagara power.

"I have brought the matter up," the mayor said today, "and I now intend to leave it in the hands of the council." This is because he feels he may be accused of trying to unload a company in which he is personally interested on the citizens.

The city's contract with the London Electric Company for street lighting expires in 1908, and, of course, if the contract is not renewed it will mean a big loss to the concern.

MANY LIVES LOST

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 19.—A boarding-house located at Twelfth and Third avenue was destroyed by fire between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning. From 11 to 14 lives were lost.

Up to 9 o'clock ten charred bodies had been recovered from the ruins of Mrs. Moody's boarding-house. Four others were said to be missing at that hour, and the search was still in progress.

Fatal Fall from a Train; a London Man the Victim

Wm. Connel, of Piccadilly St., Dies from Injuries Received Near Komoka.

William Connel, of 489 Piccadilly street, a coremaker by trade, fell from the Grand Trunk westbound express, No. 23, which left London at 11:25 yesterday morning, and sustained injuries from which he died in Victoria Hospital last night.

Twelve years ago Connel was employed on the railroad and he lost a leg in an accident. Since that time he has been compelled to use an artificial limb, and it has been necessary for him to go to Detroit annually to have the leg replaced or repaired.

Last week he made arrangements to go to Detroit, and on Thanksgiving morning he started on the journey.

When the train was the other side of Komoka, passengers noticed Connel walk out the car door and onto the platform. That was the last seen of him, until shortly before noon he was found lying beside the rails in an unconscious condition. He was carried to the village on a stretcher, and later removed to Victoria Hospital.

Dr. Mason found that Connel had sustained a fracture of the skull and also received internal injuries. It was evident that he could not live, and he died at 10 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

Coroner MacLaren, after thoroughly investigating the case, has decided that an inquest is unnecessary. It was conclusively shown that Connel attempted to walk across the platform, and that he stumbled and fell off the train.

The late Mr. Connel is survived by a wife and one child. He had been in the employ of the Labatt Manufacturing Company for some years.

WANTED HIS WIFE TO GET HIM A JOB

On That Condition Edward Stauffer Promised to Sup- port Her.

Edward H. Stauffer, who was arrested at Niagara Falls a few days ago on a charge of non-support, pleaded guilty in the police court this morning, and was remanded a week for sentence.

Mrs. Stauffer was in court and told how her husband had left her about one year ago, to go with a theatrical company, and had not given her any support since. She said that on one occasion he had paid his way back to this city, but even then he would not stay. Her child had been ill, and she had been driven to such a pass that she had to complain to the court of Stauffer's treatment.

Stauffer's sole excuse was that he was getting only $7 per week while on the road with the theatrical troupe, and that this amount was not sufficient to support himself, let alone his wife. He said that he was willing to stay at home and support his wife if she would get him a job. His wife said that he could easily get work as a butcher, but Stauffer seemed to have an antipathy for such employment.

Moses Left appeared to answer a charge of keeping a junk shop without a license. He was discharged after paying $10 costs.

Albert Kipp paid $1 or 3 days for "loitering" on the city streets with a bicycle.

Charles Allison was bailed to appear next Tuesday on a charge of using offensive language.

Harry Smith paid $5, and Richard Scott $3 for being drunk.

Three first-timers were allowed to go. Daniel Mason and Thomas Tozer were fined $1 each for fighting on the public street.

SPAIN AND THE ORDERS

New Law Regulating Latter Too Radical
To Be Utilized.

Madrid, Oct. 19.—The cabinet is discussing the draft of the associations law, prepared by the minister of the interior. It is understood that it is so radical that the Government will modify some of its clauses lest its submission to the Cortes provokes a political tempest among the Clericals and Conservatives. The text of the proposed law has just been issued, and the ministers are very reticent regarding it. There is reason to believe, however, that the bill, among other things, annuls the existing arrangement with the Vatican regulating the position of the religious orders; empowers the civil and judicial authorities to enter convents and monasteries at any time without obtaining ecclesiastical permission; dissolves all associations composed of foreign members or ruled by a foreigner, and forbids the establishment of such organizations. The latter provision is aimed at the great number of French religious orders which have settled in Spain since their expulsion from France. The proposed law also forbids religious associations, with specified exceptions, to undertake teaching, which is declared to be the function of the state.

DEAD AT AGE OF 114

A Former Slave Who Was the Father of Twenty-Five Children.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Robert Hawkins Sprague, a negro, said to be 114 years old, died Tuesday at Northampton, Prince George County, Maryland.

"Uncle Robert," as he was known throughout the county, was born of slave parents in 1791, according to authentic records, and spent the greater portion of his life in the part of Maryland in which he died. He had a retentive memory and told many experiences of the burning of Washington by the British. He was known to many public men of years ago. During the civil war he assisted many slaves in escaping from the south. He was married three times, and was the father of 25 children. His living descendants number 11 sons, 8 daughters, 40 grandchildren and 28 grandchildren.

FAIR BUILDINGS PREY TO FLAMES

Great Devastation Done at Toronto Exhibition.

IMMENSE GRAND STAND GONE

Main Building Also Ruined Loss Will Approach One Hundred and Thirty Thousand Dollars.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Apparently insignificant at the outset, a fire which broke out on the Canadian Exposition grounds last night, under the influence of a brisk breeze, assumed gigantic proportions, and in a few hours had swept from the eastern to the western boundaries. Commencing at the large grand stand the flames rapidly reduced it to a heap of smouldering ruins, spread to the first tier of stables, of which it demolished seven, leaped to the transportation building, and destroyed it in a miraculously short space of time. The blaze broke out in the east end of the grand stand at about 10 o'clock, but apparently remained unobserved for some time, for it was 10:24 before the alarm was given at Queen's Park streets, by someone who had noticed the bright reflection which colored the sky. The force which responded proved inadequate and at 11 o'clock the whole city brigade was summoned. Added by a detachment of soldiers of the permanent force, the firemen worked like Trojans driving back the advancing flames as far as possible and preventing their spread to the newer buildings of the fair.

At the outset the wind blew strongly from the southeast, and the huge grand stand, composed largely of wood, burned with great rapidity, presenting to the large crowd assembled in spite of the heavy rain a spectacle more magnificent than was ever displayed before it. Before it sank into a heap of embers and twisted girders, however, tongues of fire leaped across the road at the rear of the building, and ignited the first of the tiers of stables to the north. These, also constructed of wood, burned fiercely, and for a time it seemed probable that the whole block, with the large wooden women's building, poultry house, dog building, etc., would be destroyed. Providence intervened, however. The wind shifted so that it blew directly from the east, which was stored in the stables had been totally consumed and several others stood in ruins. In some of the stables were stabled a number of horses belonging to Graham Bros., Claremont, a number of the charges of the members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. These were all released, and ran aimlessly about the grounds. A detachment of soldiers from Stanley Barracks saved some of the accoutrements of the corps, which were stored in the stables, including several gun carriages, and that accomplished transformed themselves into firefighters, in which role they performed most effectively.

Fire Spreads West

With the change in the wind it seemed that the conflagration was under control, as a large open space saved from the advance of the flames. The firemen were gathered to the west of the still fiercely-glowing cauldron of fire, and were endeavoring to extinguish it, when a cry arose from the crowds, who were observing the scenes from every point of vantage, that the transportation building was a light. A spark had found a lodgment directly under the eaves in the east front. It had gradually eaten into the dry wood of the structure, which is nearly 30 years old. The old Crystal Palace was fairly alight and was soon blazing merrily. It was 11:20 o'clock when the building was ignited. In three-quarters of an hour the old main building, once the pride of the exhibition directors, was practically destroyed. All efforts to save it were fruitless, for the numerous panes of glass in the walls broke with resounding cracks and served as draughts to fan the flames.

The old building, which has witnessed many a scene of splendor, furnished to the drenched onlooker a much more striking picture in its destruction than ever before in its history. Every window, and they are legion, was outlined in black against a gorgeous background of fire. As the flames seized upon the roof they leaped high in the air, scattering embers in every direction.

BANK OF ENGLAND BOOSTS RATE; SIX PER CENT; DUE TO GOLD DRAIN

First Time Since 1899 Figure Has Gone So High.

London, Oct. 19.—The Bank of England raised its rate of discount to 6 per cent this morning. Changes in the discount rate of the bank on any day except Thursday have been few and far between, and not since Friday, Nov. 7, 1899, just before the Baring failure, has the rate been put to 6 per cent. The release in American exchange, indicating a renewal of the demand for gold, and the probability of large withdrawals of the metal for Egypt were the main contributive causes of the action taken by the Bank of England. The sum of $5,000,000 in gold leaving the bank today is believed to be des-tinued for Egypt, while official circles anticipate very large purchases in behalf of the United States, irrespective of whether the rate of exchange does or does not render the transaction profitable.

Reports are also current that the Imperial Bank of Germany is conducting a large bullion movement for Russian account, while Argentina is in the market as a purchaser of gold. The multiplicity of the demands for the metal, it is pointed out, emphasized the necessity of protecting the already depleted reserves of the Bank of England.

Consols for money declined 7-16 to 85½ after the announcement of the increase in the bank rate.

American securities were depressed. Union Pacific lost 7-8, and the rest of the list 1-4 to 3-5, compared with yesterday's New York closing.

TOOK TO THE HILLS

San Dominican Insurgents Flee Before the Government Troops.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Oct. 19.—As a result of the refusal of the insurgents to lay down their arms, the Government sent out a detachment of troops from Monte Christ to attack them.

The insurgents were defeated and took refuge in the mountains. Gen. Navarro, insurgent, has crossed the frontier on the way to Cape Haytien, whence he will embark for a point outside the country.

Gen. Guellito, also an insurgent, at the head of a small body of men, is still holding out, but he has lost much of his popularity.

Several bands of insurgents have surrendered.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The action of the Canadian Bankers' Association in demanding an immediate investigation of the affairs of the Ontario Bank entitles it to the gratitude of the public, and exhibits a high sense of professional honor. The charges laid against the president and manager of the bank, framed by the council for the association, prove that the inquiry is undertaken in good faith and will be prosecuted without fear or favor.

The general manager of the Ontario Bank may or may not have been exclusively to blame for its misfortunes, but he must not be made the scapegoat of directors because they chance to be men of high social or financial standing. The president, Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, is one of the most conspicuous men in Canada, and his name and reputation have been assets of more than one commercial and financial institution. His arraignment is, therefore, an assurance that every attempt will be made to place the responsibility where it belongs.

The Ontario Bank shareholders, whose trust has been abused, and the bankers of Canada, who have assumed heavy obligations to protect depositors, are not the only interested parties. It is a matter which deeply concerns the Canadian public. A cursory examination of the books of the Ontario Bank shows that in August last the monthly report of the bank to the Dominion Government was falsified to the extent of $1,496,277 and that this species of deception has been practiced since 1901. The disclosure suggests the need of more effective Government inspection. The Canadian banking system has many admirable features, but no system will absolutely protect the public if the men who work it are dishonest or incompetent. Probably one result of the present case will be amendments to the banking law, which will place a greater degree of responsibility upon directors. It appears that irregularities on a gigantic scale went on under the noses of the Ontario Bank directors for years before they scented anything wrong. Nor are banks the only fiduciary institutions, judging by recent exposures, in which there is need for reform.

The action of the Ontario Bankers' Association indicates a desire on the part of the heads of Canadian chartered banks to assist in perfecting the banking regulations. The fact that a panic was averted, and the depositors and customers of the Ontario Bank fully protected, is a great tribute to the Canadian banking system, and supports the claim that it has no superior in any country. If it is capable of improvement, all the better.

THE STEEL TRUST AND CANADA.

The steel trust has tightened its monopolistic grasp of the iron and steel business in the United States by its lease of the Great Northern Railway's iron-ore lands in Minnesota. These deposits are estimated at 500,000,000 tons. The trust was already in possession of over 200,000 acres of mineral lands in Wisconsin and Michigan, comprising most of the large iron mines south of Lake Superior, and containing between 300,000,000 and 400,000,000 tons. The lease of the Great Northern's deposits gives the trust the two largest ore fields known in the United States, and a virtual monopoly of the ore supply. Under its contract with the Great Northern, the trust must take 750,000 tons out of the new ore fields next year, and increase its draft by 750,000 tons a year until it reaches 8,250,000 tons in ten years. The royalties to the railway company, beginning at $1,237,500, are to be $16,417,000 by 1917. The price is $1.65 a ton for ore delivered at the docks, 85 cents for royalty, and 80 cents for freight to the railway, a higher charge by 5 cents for a short haul than is made for carrying ore by barge from Lake Superior to Buffalo. With a virtual control of the ore supply and sheltered from foreign competition by the Dingley duties, the steel trust will have the people of the United States more than ever at its mercy. Already it is charging more for its products in the home market than in foreign countries, but by some freak of logic this condition of things is defended as one of the beneficent features of a protective system.

The trust's latest deal is not without importance to this country. Canada has, so far as known, the richest deposits of iron ore on the continent, excepting those now controlled by the trust across the line, and within a measurable time the Canadian fields may become the chief source of supply. Iron and steel are being adapted to many new uses and the consumption is growing so enormously that it is predicted that the iron ore beds of the United States will be exhausted in a hundred years. The price will rise in inverse ratio to the supply, and the effect must be to impart a steadily increasing value to the Canadian ore fields. It would not be good national policy to allow a foreign corporation to get hold of this great asset, and ship the ore out of the country. The raw material should be conserved for the Canadian and steel industry, which is now attaining large proportions.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA'S SECESSION.

Western Australia threatens to secede from the Commonwealth under circumstances which have some analogy in the history of the Canadian Confederation. The grievance of the West Australians, as of British Columbia 20 years ago, is the lack of railway connection with the rest of the continent. The Commonwealth Parliament has vetoed the project of a transcontinental line connecting the centers of West Australia with the other states. It is a voyage of four days from the chief port of the western state to Adelaide, the nearest available terminal on the continental railway system. A transcontinental line from east to west would traverse a thousand miles of desert, which would yield no local traffic, and the eastern states are not willing to shoulder the great cost. Neither can any railroad be built and operated by private enterprise, under the government ownership law.

The secession resolution adopted by the West Australian Parliament may create a threatening situation. The preamble of the constitution of the Commonwealth states that the people of the several colonies "have agreed to unite in one indissoluble federal commonwealth." The legal right of West Australia or any state to secede from the union is therefore questionable. With the experience of the American Republic in mind, the developments in Australia will be watched with world-wide interest.

The law should make the dummy director sit up and take notice.

Russia has finally disbanded her Manchurian army, Japan having assisted to some extent during the war. There is probably more of yellow journalism than yellow peril in the story that the Japanese are fomenting a native uprising in India. The Anglo-Japanese alliance is a reality.

Sister municipalities will sympathize with the city of Toronto in the loss of several of its splendid exhibition structures. The enterprise of the city and of the management of the Industrial Exhibition may be depended upon to repair the calamity without loss of time.

The London Advertiser shocks the pharisaical Free Press by digging up the story of how a London deputy returning officer tried to jockey Hyman by rejecting 69 ballots marked for him, alleging that his initials were forged. That time 296 ballots were rejected. How much did those deputies get for the job?—Hamilton Times.

The one who rejected 69 good Hyman votes was given money by the Conservative organization to leave the country till after the trial, and when he returned he was rewarded by the party with a job at the city hall.

WHERE COAL COMES FROM.

The world's output of coal in 1905 was 939,623,000 tons, as compared with 887,021,000 tons in 1904, an increase of 74 per cent. The principal contributors to the supply in each year were:

1904. 1905.
United States..... 318,275,000 352,564,000
Great Britain..... 236,147,000 238,839,000
Germany..... 129,448,000 173,824,000
Austria-Hungary... 40,355,000 40,725,000
France..... 34,392,000 36,043,000
Belgium..... 23,890,000 21,844,000
Russia..... 19,318,000 17,120,000
Japan..... 11,990,000 11,385,000
India..... 7,682,000 7,237,000
Canada..... 6,814,000 7,553,000

As to production, but England continues the chief coal exporter.

WHO TOLD?

She—The wedding was indefinitely postponed.
He—Who gave the bride away?

SENTIMENTS OF SCHOOLMASTER.

A little philanthropy covers a multitude of frauds.
Let us have more of the religion of a square meal.

Men must help one another, or you can rest certain they will hurt one another.
To give from your stock of plenty is every man's duty, but to divide your scanty store—that's Christianity.

COMPLETE DEPRIVITY.

"We've often heard about the meanest man, but I happen to know the meanest woman."
"Who's she?"

"The one who goes to weddings and slyly removes the cards from the presents, so that the bride can never know which of her friends it was who gave her the plated butter knife."

IMPOSSIBLE!

"Frederickton Herald." Will Mr. Foster continue to raise his eyes to heaven in holy horror at the alleged corruption of the Grits?

THE PERJURY CHARGE.

Tom Lewis, the London hotelman who is a witness in the bribery case at Toronto, was yesterday placed under arrest by order of Magistrate Denison, at the request of DuVernet, on a charge of perjury, and bail was refused. As Mr. Robinson challenged the crown lawyer to say, with his knowledge of the law, whether he believed a conviction possible, and as Lewis had voluntarily appeared, it looks to many very much as if the latest proceedings were intended as terrorism. They will not tend to remove the strong impression throughout the country that the case is not being conducted with an eye single to the ends of justice. Jerry Collins is still at large.

DARWIN WAS TO BLAME.

[Rochester Herald.] An elderly man in Shrewsbury, England, was showing a couple of friends about the town. They tarried before the place where the statue of Shrewsbury's great son, Darwin, sits and broods. "That," said the Shrewsbury man, pointing with a bulging umbrella, "is Darwin." "Yes," answered one of the visitors, after a rather unfriendly scrutiny, "that was him as said we all come from monkeys." "He did," went on the Shrewsbury man, "and I'll tell you another thing. Not long ago the steeple of one of our churches fell down. There are many as says it is a judgment upon the town for putting up a statue to 'im."

ROYAL SPELLING.

[Pall Mall Gazette.] Mary Queen of Scots must have believed in phonetic spelling, for she wrote to her son in 1570: "Dear Son,—I sen th berares to see zow and bring me vord may ze do, and to remember zow to learne in tyme to love, knaw and feir God; and nixt yat, conforme to Goddis command and good nature, to remember ye dewtie anent hir yat hea borne zow in hir sydes. I send zow a buk to learn ye samyn, and I pray God zow may learn yat begenning, and that he will give zow his blessing, as I do hartlie give zow myne, in help zow sal deserve it quhan zow come to discretion. Your loving and good mother, Marie R."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

[New York Press.] Getting caught kissing a girl is almost as exciting as doing it.
One of the very nicest things about visiting is thinking about when it will be over.
It's pretty dangerous for a man to have money if he doesn't want to get married.
A married man is mighty selfish to want to spend any of his own money on himself.
A very annoying thing about getting married is the way the thing sticks to you afterward.

DOUBLE PUNISHMENT FOR SAW-OFFERS.

[Montreal Witness.] Because corruption is common, shall we therefore condone it where exposed? That is only the way to make it universal. Rather let's see to it to close up the habitual door of escape. A saw-off head gain should be treated by law as double-edged corruption, as it condones the corruption on both sides, so that those guilty of a saw-off should be punished twice as long as those guilty of buying votes.

REMARKABLE WORK.

[Philadelphia Press.] "May's husband is quite a bright fellow, isn't he?"
"He's nothing less than a genius. Why, he made her people like him from the very start!"

ONLY ONE.

[Judge.] De Swigg—That waiter of yours is very attentive. He seems to know your every want.
De Swigg—Yes; and, incidentally, I know his, too.

FOSTER'S CONSCIENCE.

[Toronto Star.] Mr. George Dumas Foster's statement serves to show that when the doctors have succeeded in curing a man that human flesh is held to, they will have to begin again on our consciences.

ELECTION CROOKEDNESS.

[Montreal Herald.] The evidence now being adduced before the police magistrate in Toronto as to what happened in London and other elections is undoubtedly humiliating. It is only right to note, however, that the Conservative lawyers who have brought on the investigation are to a certain extent misleading the public by dragging in incidents not connected with the London election at all. Assuming that credence can be given to the statements that money was paid for votes in London, there is still no good reason why London should be made to bear the odium of far more reprehensible methods practiced in other constituencies and in other circumstances, the details of which, long ago familiar, are again being dragged into light.

THINKS IT'S BAD.

[Toronto Globe.] In increasing the Provincial subsidies the people of Canada put themselves under heavier tribute to a bad system.
The positive and serious evil of the system is found in the tax responsibility it occasions in Provincial politics. The men with a free hand in Provincial expenditures are relieved of the restraining influence of questioning and critical taxpayers. Those who do the spending are not restrained, as they should be, by the necessity of collecting. This evil has been aggravated by frequent surrenders to demands for better terms, and it will grow worse unless there is a general awakening to the necessity of positively declaring the present surrender to be the last.

ABOVE AND BELOW.

[Philadelphia Ledger.] There's badness in the upper ten as in the lower five;
Some people in the ten are bad as others in the five.

WHERE COLLINS' MONEY CAME FROM.

[Hamilton Times.] Jerry Collins is letting out where some of the money in the London bribery case came from. Collins told a witness that he had drawn $200 of his own money and spent it on the election. He said he had been a "sucker," and was eager to get something from the Government, but "they gave him the worst of it." One witness tells how on Saturday night in Toth's office in London, Collins and he had a conversation, and his version of it illustrates how attempts are made to influence witnesses. A number of witnesses swore to getting money from Collins, a peculiarity being that all were Grits, never voted any other way, and had intended to vote that way, but the money was thrust upon them by Collins. What was his game?

SHEARER AFTER THE GRAND TRUNK

More Brazen-Faced Than Others, His Sins, in Its Defiance of Public Opinion.

"Corporations are hard to understand," said Rev. J. G. Shearer, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, to a Toronto Globe reporter with reference to construction work which the Grand Trunk Company is doing between London and Hyde Park, where, he claims, the operations are continued on Sunday.

"The Grand Trunk is not the only railroad that is doing that kind of thing," said Mr. Shearer, "but it seems to be just a little more brazen-faced than any other in its defiance of public opinion. The management threw down the gauntlet to us and said they would stand by the law of the land, and when we went to Ottawa over it they got badly beaten, but they do not regard the laws and institutions; they seem to have absolutely no respect for Christian sentiment or the rights of their employees, nor for anything except money-making and the law of the land; and they will get around it if they can."

On the section of the Grand Trunk in question, Mr. Shearer states, the company is raising the track several feet for a distance of perhaps two miles, at a cost of $2,000,000 on it. There are four hundred men at work, mostly Italians, and they are kept at work on Sundays as well as through the other days of the week.

"If it were a piece of work that was just being finished up before frost, there might be some semblance of excuse," he said, "but this is a work that will evidently, from its magnitude, not be finished before the end of next year, so there is no hurry about it that requires them to work on Sunday."

Mr. Albert Greenlaw, Railway Company, was likewise brought under condemnation by Mr. Shearer for needless Sunday work. "In the Movie mine," said he, "in the Kootenay, one of the richest silver-lead properties in the country, formerly owned by the P. R., there are 320 men employed, and they work them seven days a week, though not more than a dozen are doing any kind of work that needs to be done on Sunday."

A SPLENDID CONCERT

Excellent Musical Event at the Dundas Street Methodist Church.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather the Thanksgiving concert held last night in the Dundas Street Methodist Church was well attended. A delightful programme was rendered.

Among the most pleasing numbers was a solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving" by Mr. Albert Greenlaw, the celebrated basso, who formerly was a member of the Phil Jubilee Singers. His magnificent voice was never shown to better advantage than when he appeared in several numbers.

Miss Jessie Irving, of Hamilton, gave several readings, which were well received. Miss Irving is an exponent of rare skill, and won her way to the hearts of Londoners by her clever work.

Several very pleasing numbers were given by the choir soloists, Miss Annie Reid and Miss Halls, who demonstrated their right to the high standing they hold in musical circles in this city.

The work of the other members of the choir was also good. The choral work reflected much credit on this admirable musical organization and its leader, Mr. J. Parnell Morris.

The following programme was rendered: Organ Solo—Toccata in E Major.—Bartlett. Mr. J. Parnell Morris.

Chorus—"All Hail Thee, O Lord"—Berridge. The Choir.

Reading—"A Yellow Rose"—Miss Jessie Irving.

Solo—"A Song of Thanksgiving"—Miss Annie Reid.

Quartet—"Off in the Silly Night"—Misses Annie Reid and B. Hunt, Mrs. Robert Chown and Miss Alice Halls.

Reading—"Alamania"—Mary Stewart.

Solo—"The Children's Home"—Cowan.

Solo—"Flight of Ages"—Boyan.

Chorus—"Festival of the Holy Spirit"—D. Buck.

Reading—"A Sea, Indeed"—Jan MacLaren.

Solo—"What the Chimney Sang"—Misses Reid and Halls, Messrs. H. S. Walker and W. H. Skinner.

Reading—"The Lord's Prayer"—Miss Irving.

Vesper—"God that Madest Earth and Heaven"—Parnell Morris (sung for the first time). The Choir.

MURDER BY SMOTHERING

Chicagoan Said to Have Severed Gas Pipe to Do Away With Wife.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—What is believed by the police to have been an attempt to commit murder by asphyxiating the members of the household of Curtis Robinson, 264 Michigan avenue, was revealed yesterday in the arrest of Gabriel Hurani, a Hungarian, 28 years old. Though the affair took place last Saturday night, it did not become public until the arrest.

The attempt was discovered when Miss Estelle Bright, a cousin of Mr. Robinson, was awakened about 5 o'clock Sunday morning by the odor of gas. She traced the fumes to the basement, where she found that a gas pipe had been cut close to the meter.

Two servants, Stephanus Arexi, 34 years old, and Melvinia Schmidt, 36 years old, were overcome before the severed pipe was discovered, and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were also affected.

Following the discovery of the severed pipe, and the fact that Stephanus Arexi, the servant, was recently married to Hurani, who came to Chicago from Hungary a year ago, detectives of the Cottage Grove avenue station conducted a search for the latter, and arrested him in the neighborhood of the Robinson home.

Hurani was taken to the Cottage Grove avenue station, where he was questioned. He declared he knew nothing about the severed gas pipe in the basement of the Robinson home, and that he had not been at the house to visit Stephanus Arexi for several weeks. He is being held pending an inquiry.

The police are working on the theory that Hurani cut the gas pipe in the hope of smothering his wife.

When Miss Bright discovered the severed pipe she aroused Mr. Robinson, who, fearing that thieves had cut the pipe, and were planning to rob his home, notified the Cottage Grove avenue police, and Lieut. Walsh and two detectives went to the place in a patrol wagon. They took the two partly overcome servants to the office of a nearby physician, where they were attended.

A MISSION FULFILLED

Mrs. Ronaldson's habitual serenity had been a good deal disturbed by late events. She was not a woman absolutely without feelings, although the feeling was hard to arouse; and the disgrace and banishment of her only son, together with her husband's illness, and still more the threats against the former uttered by the latter—to which she had been forced to listen, and which were varied only by repetitions of a colder and calmer sort from her eldest daughter—had not been without their effect even upon her phlegmatic nature. Margherita thought her much changed, and unlike herself, half irritable, half perturbed, and far more human and approachable.

She gave her daughter-in-law a kiss; but Lady Meredith only just touched her fingers, viewing her with undisguised looks of disapproval.

"I came by Keith's wish, Mrs. Ronaldson," said Margherita, with a flushed face, finding herself obliged to be the first to speak. "I hope it does not vex you?"

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Ronaldson, "it doesn't vex me at all. Of course I am very glad to see you, Margherita; but I do not know what my husband will say. He may be very angry." And she glanced furtively toward her daughter.

"Of course he will," remarked Lady Meredith, coldly, as she drew off her gloves; "it will very likely bring on another attack."

"Is he so changed?" asked Margherita. "He used not to dislike my being in the house."

"It was a very ill-advised action to come over," repeated Lady Meredith, more icily than before.

A SMART STREET SUIT—6468-6469.

There is something exceedingly graceful about the peplum which Dame Fashion did not appreciate when she cast it aside for the more severe belt, and we are grateful to some kind fate for bringing it again into artistic favor. The newest models show the peplum as a smart waist finishing, of which an example is sketched here. Nothing could be more jaunty than this little street suit which, with its small invisible plaid offset by the plain color of the collar, cuffs and belt could not be surpassed in the center of fashion. Scallop, like puffings and frillings, are one of the recent revivals of olden time adornment, and they appear to good advantage here. The front buttons trimly up to where they reveal a small tucker. The pleats on each side provide a modish fullness as well as lengthening lines, while the peplum is shaped so as to fit smoothly over the hips. The skirt is circular, with three circular flounces, completing the length. Any of the novelty goods, serges or panamas will develop charmingly after this design. In the medium size, 31-2 yards of 44-inch material are needed.

Two patterns: 6468—Sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure; 6469—Sizes, 20 to 30 inches waist.

The price of these patterns is 20c, but either will be sent on receipt of 10c.

Margherita looked her calmly in the face.

"And why was it ill-advised, Lady Meredith? Why should I not try to reconcile him to his son before he dies? Is there any wrong in that?"

"I wonder," remarked the other, "that you should like to be so candid in avowing the reasons for which you came over. Of course one could hardly expect that your motives should be other than a self-interested one."

Margherita's eyes flashed, but her voice was under full control. "And why," she asked, "should I be willing for my husband and son to lose their rightful inheritance? Does that degrade me? Is that to be self-interested?"

"Are you, his sister, the one to judge him so harshly, to wish to ruin him? Perhaps you have not done the wrong he has. Let it be so. But have you ever done the good he has?—how many hearts have you made glad by your kindness, how many have you helped with your money, your sympathy, as he has? Will it make you, his sister, happy to possess the income, the home that is his by rights, and know that your brother and his child are turned out for you?"

Her indignation had carried her away and as she paused, she found that Lady Meredith was turning away in a cold and bitter scorn.

"She is saving!" she remarked as she passed her mother with her usual slow, calm step. "She will kill my father if you let her enact a scene of this sort before him."

As the door closed behind her, Margherita burst into tears.

"She is cruel," she said, turning toward her mother-in-law; "is she not cruel? You will let me see him, will you not, Mrs. Ronaldson?"

The latter came toward her, looking at her not unkindly.

"I don't think he will see you," she said. "But you must be calm, Margherita."

Self-restrained as she herself was, tears or emotion of any sort in another person always annoyed her.

"But you will try? You wish me to succeed?" asked Margherita, humbly, as she dried her eyes.

"Keith is my son—of course, I wish him to be reconciled," said Mrs. Ronaldson, shortly.

"I will go in now," she continued, after a moment's pause, "and see what can be done. Of course, if he declines to see you, I can say no more—the doctors would not allow him to be agitated."

"He used to be fond of me," said her companion, sadly.

"I think he is fond of you still. But he is hard—very hard, upon poor Keith."

The word of pity was so moving to Margherita that she rose impulsively and flung her arms round the neck of the elder woman.

"Ah," she said, "you love him—you are not harsh like the others!"

Mrs. Ronaldson disengaged herself with some dismay from the clinging arms.

"I am his mother," she said, curtly, as she left the room.

She was away, as it seemed to Margherita's anxious heart, a long time. At last the girl could stand it no longer, and, rising, she opened the door and stood in the passage with a beating heart. The sick man's bedroom was empty, and for off, and the murmur of voices came faintly through the closed door.

But as it suddenly opened, and Mrs. Ronaldson came out, a querulous voice struck pity to the chords of Margherita's tender nature.

"Not now," it said, "why should I see her now?"

The sentence broke off feebly, and Mrs. Ronaldson, seeing her daughter-in-law, came toward her hurriedly without closing the door.

But Margherita, who had not noticed the omission, broke out into eager exclamation.

For the moment her own and even Keith's business was forgotten in a tender compassion aroused by the sound of the weakly, suffering voice.

"Ah, the poor padre!" she exclaimed, in her soft, quick tones; "he is very ill? Is he in pain?"

Mrs. Ronaldson was laying her finger upon her lips when the sick man called to her again from within.

"Is that Margherita—there?" he asked, raising himself. Mrs. Ronaldson bowed her head in the affirmative.

"Well—tell her to come in!"

"To come in?" repeated his wife, puzzled by this sudden change of sentiment.

"Didn't I say it?" he asked, irritably. "Tell her to come—I suppose I know what I mean!"

The next moment a flood of sun-

MRS. HUNTER'S STORY

Says She and Her Husband Agree Perfectly. Both Quite Well Again.

Mrs. I. Hunter, of 111 Raglan road, Kingston, Ont., has written for publication a statement of her case as follows: "I have suffered with kidney and liver trouble and chronic constipation for some time. I was subject to dizziness, bilious headache, nervousness, drowsiness, pains in the back and side, and a tired, weary feeling nearly all the time. I tried almost every remedy, was treated by doctors and druggists with little or no benefit. Finally, a friend advised me to try Dr. Leonard's Anti-Pill, and the results have been truly wonderful. My husband has used Anti-Pill for rheumatism and was benefited greatly. We agree that Anti-Pill is a most wonderful medicine and heartily recommend it."

This is very strong recommendation. Anti-Pill is undoubtedly the greatest of family remedies. All druggists, or the Wilson-Fyle Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

For a few moments after Lady Meredith had departed, they remained in silence, Margherita holding the old man's hand, and he scrutinizing her face. Evidently what he saw there aroused his anxiety, for he presently asked, in a querulous tone:

"You will stay here, Margherita, till I recover—or till I die?"

She was glad he had himself broached the subject.

"Padre mio," she said, almost solemnly, "I would nurse you, God knows, through all your illness, if it were not for my husband and my child. You have been always good to me, padre—would that I could please you now; but I must go home—my child is ill."

"Your child?" he repeated, tremulously.

"Yes, padre, my little Keith, my beautiful boy. Ah, you have never asked about him. And yet he is your own grandchild; he is a babe to be proud of—lovely and sweet-faced as an angel."

"He is like you, Margherita?"

shine seemed to penetrate the sick-room; and Margherita was on her knees by the bedside, pressing her lips to the thin, withered hand that lay outside the coverlet. Mr. Ronaldson's pale face was flushed, and his voice shook.

"Get up, child," he said, tremulously; "let me look at you."

"You are very ill, povero padre mio." The beautiful face was looking into his with a sweet and womanly compassion that was as unfeigned as it was impulsive. A half-humorous smile broke out upon his features; but there was a mist before his eyes.

"You are an impudent hussy!" he said. "Kiss me, Margherita. Yes, you may sit down. Wife, you needn't stay. Margherita will look after me. Now," he added, suddenly, "don't talk to me of Keith—yet. I don't want to hear anything. Just sit there quietly."

She obeyed in silence, smoothing his pillow with a gentle hand, and then seated herself beside him—her heart filled with pity for the suffering face, the attenuated features—her old affection for the English padre who had been so good to her in former days returning with a sudden rush at sight of his feebleness, his sad dependence.

All that evening, and the next day, save for short intervals of change, Keith's wife sat beside the sick man without being able to say a word on the subject which engrossed her mind. Mr. Ronaldson clearly enjoyed her presence, he would scarcely let her out of his sight; but he carefully avoided any mention of her husband, and turned away his head when she spoke of him twice his name fell from her lips. Margherita was perplexed and dismayed; her soul was yearning to return to her home and babe; and yet she could scarcely irritate the sick man by forcing him into the discussion of an unwelcome subject.

Time, however, must pass for her in time, she thought, meanwhile she must be patient and pitiful to the feeble old man who treated her with so much affection and yet maintained so strange a harshness toward his only son. But she could not repress the visions which nightly visited her of a soft baby face and clinging arms, and day by day she grew more silent, though not less gentle and helpful; while a wistfulness filled the dark eyes, not wholly unobserved, although uncommented upon, by her patient.

She had already been four or five days at the Grange when a letter arrived which determined her at once to break through her observance of his wish, and to bring forward the tabooed subject. Her little boy was not quite well—nothing to distress herself about, or to make her anxious, Keith said—but he had caught a slight cold, and was a little feverish—just the sort of thing that babies often had, he supposed.

Keith wrote cheerfully enough, but Margherita fancied that beneath his off-hand manner she could detect some slight uneasiness. "I shan't be sorry to have you back again," was closing sentence of his letter. Was that for the child's sake or his own? He evidently meant it to express the latter; but her mother's heart rushed to the conclusion that he was secretly anxious about the child. She longed to start home, but she could not leave the Grange till an early hour the next morning, when she might reach town in time for the morning express to the continent. Suppose her baby should be dying—and all for want of her? Would to God she had never left him! What matter poverty or riches, position or social status, compared to the life of her beautiful, brown-eyed, round-limbed boy?

With an effort she checked her agitation, and first acquainting Mrs. Ronaldson of her news, and of the decision she had formed to leave the next day, she proceeded with a pale, but quiet face to take her usual place beside her father-in-law's bedside.

Lady Meredith was there when she entered. Lady Meredith was not fond of sickrooms, and, before her sister-in-law's arrival, had not devoted too much of her time to her invalid father; but her assiduity in this line had increased in a marked degree the last few days, and would perhaps have been still more marked but for the want of appreciation with which it was received by the patient. She was, however, not gifted by nature with the soothing and tactful qualities which combine to make a good nurse; and Mr. Ronaldson had no hesitation in displaying his preference for Margherita's company and ministrations.

For a few moments after Lady Meredith had departed, they remained in silence, Margherita holding the old man's hand, and he scrutinizing her face. Evidently what he saw there aroused his anxiety, for he presently asked, in a querulous tone:

"You will stay here, Margherita, till I recover—or till I die?"

A NEGRO WINS THE $500 PRIZE

At Annual Art Show in Chicago

—Henry O. Tanner the Fortunate One.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Henry O. Tanner, a negro, who found his way to the top of the ladder of fame in the world of art through the philanthropy of Philadelphia, was awarded the N. W. Harris prize of $500 yesterday for the best painting on display at the annual exhibition of American artists, which opens officially at the Art Institute this afternoon. His latest work, "The Disciples at the Tomb," carried away this high honor for a colored man for the first time.

A Chicagoan, Alton S. Clark, won the Martin B. Cahn prize of $100 with his picture, "The Coffee House." The awards were made after a private view of the 300 rare specimens of the artist's handwork which are hanging on the walls in the south gallery of the building. The jury which made the selections is the standing committee of the Art Institute, consisting of Chas. L. Hutchinson, Martin A. Ryerson, Frederic C. Bartlett, R. Hall McCormick, Howard D. Shaw and Bryan Lathrop.

The painting by Mr. Tanner, which, by the jury's verdict, is the surpassing work of the entire exhibit, is another of his great Biblical productions. It hangs at the end of a corridor framed by the doorways of the south wing, and immediately challenges the attention of every visitor as he enters the rooms. By the critics, the painting is declared to be the most impressive and most distinguished work of art which has been offered during the present season. It contains two unattractive, haggard men, their countenances lighted up by a blinding radiance from the empty sepulchre, whence a circular stone, like a millstone, has been rolled away.

The artist who receives first honors is the son of Bishop Tanner, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. He became famous in Paris under the instruction of Benjamin Constant, and he has been represented in the Paris Salon yearly without exception. His "Raising of Lazarus" was purchased by the French Government and placed in the Luxembourg gallery. His specialty is Biblical pictures, an extended trip to the Holy Land having given him material aid in his artistic accomplishments. "The Annunciation" and "Nicodemus Coming to Christ" are among his most celebrated works.

Shown River Bridge

Mr. Clark's painting includes a striking reproduction of the State street bridge and the vista of buildings which line its north approach. It is hung in close proximity to the Tanner painting. "The Coffee House" stands sharply out across the bridge, and the scene is familiar to all in detail to every Chicagoan who has crossed the river at this point. The coloring is drawn from the many shaded lights which emphasize the heart of Chicago's commercial anatomy, and the picture is thoroughly Chicago in spirit and result.

The exhibit contains many more good pictures. There is E. A. Abbey's great Shakespearean scene of "The Trial of Queen Katherine," a gorgeous costume painting, the red robes of the cardinals and the different red of the royal dais contrasting with the pale queen, who has slipped to her knees from her own lower seat on the steps of her husband's throne. Further along the line is a nocturne called "Gathering Mists" by Charles Warren Eaton, with the moon shining faintly through encircling clouds like a cuplike hollow. "The Milky Way" by Groll is another fragment of the mystery of night, with the lonely sand dunes melting into it and a streak of spangling stars overhead.

In the first large gallery hangs Child Hassam's "June," much lauded by artists, but not popular with the public. It represents three nude girls among blossoming bushes of pink azaleas; farther back is a bit of blue water and a summer landscape. Lucius Hitchcock's "A Name in the Casualty List" shows an old man fainting in his chair, with an anxious daughter leaning over him, and the fatal newspaper fallen from his hand.

Gains Fame in Paris

Henry O. Tanner, 70 bis Rue Notre Dame des Champs, Paris, was born in Pittsburgh, Pa. He studied with Benjamin Constant and Jean Paul Laurens in Paris. He is a member of the American Art Association and the Paris Society of American Painters. His paintings have been seen at the Luxembourg, Paris, Carnegie Institute, and the Academy of Fine Arts and the Wilstach collection in Memorial Hall, both at Philadelphia. SHOT IN THE WOODS

Youth Accidentally Killed While Hunting Near Metcalfe.

Metcalfe, Oct. 19.—Harry Cummings, Fred Bradshaw and James Johnston, three young men from here, were out hunting yesterday afternoon.

Game being scarce, they began shooting at a mark. Cummings was shooting, but the rifle he was using did not suit him, so he asked Bradshaw to hand him his own rifle. Bradshaw handed him the rifle, muzzle first. Bradshaw turned the other way and immediately heard the report of the rifle going off. He ran to Cummings and asked him if he were shot. Cummings said yes, and immediately expired.

The bullet entered near the top of the left shoulder and took a downward course, entering the heart.

Cummings is a Barnardo boy. He has been in this country about fourteen years. His only relatives are a sister in England and a brother now on his way to Canada.

GLUTEN AND CELLULOSE

both enter largely into the composition of a grain of wheat. The object of the scientific miller is to retain as much of the gluten as possible, whilst extracting all the cellulose from the flour.

Gluten is the real strength giver and is contained in the inner "skin" of each grain of wheat. Cellulose is a hard and almost pure white fibre surrounding the gluten and starch cells. It is absolutely indigestible, but its presence in flour cannot be detected except by special chemical tests.

In the milling of "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR, the flour passes through special purifying processes which, although they remove all the cellulose and waste matter, retain all the gluten and nutriment unharmed. Consequently this brand is more nutritive and more economical than ordinary flours.

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

The Forest City bunch proved that they are game, at all events, and with proper coaching, can be turned into a winner. Dundas handled the ball cleaner than the local boys, and their trick plays were very clever.

The Y. M. C. A. runners proved to be good mud horses yesterday, when they outpointed the Seventh Regiment speedsters in the Canadian Club 5-mile cup race. However, a Seventh man finished first in the event, so the "sojer" boys have a little crow coming.

The turkey lost out yesterday, and, according to all accounts, he lost his head completely.

Even if Young Corbett is a "has-been," he proved that his former victories over McGovern were not of the fluke order, by getting a shade the better of him on Wednesday night. The first time the pair fought Corbett administered a sleeping potion in two rounds, and the second time in eleven rounds, at Trisco. McGovern's style of boxing is just to Corbett's liking. Terry bores in Corbett has whipped every boxer that "came to him" in a fight. How it came about that McGovern was a 10-to-8 favorite in the last meeting is beyond comprehension. Young Corbett never would train for 6-round affairs in the past, and the wisecracks might have figured that he would not be in condition for Wednesday's bout. When a man has once been knocked out by another, he is generally an easy mark in the next meeting. Bob Fitzsimmons nearly tore Peter Maher's head from his shoulders with a vicious uppercut in their first meeting, and in the next go, at Langtry, Texas, Bob had the big Irishman beaten before they stepped into the ring, and knocked him out in one round. Those who were at the ringside say that Maher looked like a scared dog when he and Fitz shook hands at the start of the last bout. Maher claimed that he got sand in his eyes and could not see very well at the time, but witnesses of the go say that if he had had a little of the aforesaid sand in his backbone he might have won.

Notwithstanding the fact that London was pretty badly battered up yesterday in the football game, the team is determined to give Hamilton a run for their money tomorrow.

Peterboro Seniors "got theirs" yesterday from the Tigers, 41 to 1. That's almost as bad as the Tigers gave London's seniors a year or two since. Those seniors in Hamilton always did know how to play football.

The Rough Riders, of Ottawa, landed on the St. Patricks to the tune of 10 to 1. Varsity annexed 11 points, and a game from Queen's yesterday, and they were mean enough to whitewash the latter.

Miss Jennie Fletcher, of the Leicester Ladies' Swimming Club, England, a 16-year-old girl, has just beaten the world's 100-yard record for women in the annual gala of the Ravensbourne Club at the Westminster Baths, London. Her time was 1 minute 20.5 seconds. She showed great speed throughout, and the English sporting papers describe her as the finest female swimmer England has ever produced. She swims on her side, using the overhand racing stroke, and has a powerful leg kick, an exact copy, it is said, of Jarvis, whose sister, Clara Jarvis, had a good deal to do with her development. Miss Fletcher won the English ladies' championship about three weeks ago in 1 minute 24 seconds, which was a world's record. The same evening, in the Leeds ladies' championship, she reduced the record to 1 minute 21 seconds, and her latest effort knocks four-fifths of a second off this mark. It is a unique position for a woman to hold in the swimming world—three world's records and a championship inside of a couple of weeks.

James Rice, coach of the Columbia College crew, expects to put in force a plan entirely new at Columbia when the men go to work on the rowing machines, as they will as soon as the weather drives them from the Harlem River. He intends to use the ordinary rowing machine, but in the end of the handle he will have fixed a short oar blade so that the man at the machine can at all times see the exact position of the oar. Besides this Rice expects to have mirrors put up alongside the machines in which the oarsman can watch his own work. Rice believes that the oar blade taken in connection with the mirror will be a great help in teaching the proper way to feather the oar. He finds a disposition on the part of the men to put the oar into the water just before it is fully turned, so that for the first foot the full force of the stroke is lost. He is teaching the men to do away with the quick turn of the wrist to which they have been accustomed, and to use in its place a gradual turn, beginning as the body swings forward.

Although Canadian Rugby is a more open game than the American gridiron game, it is far from being of the lawn tennis variety. What is the matter with having the players wear armor plate, like knights of old?

Eight pairs entered for the Tecumseh trophy, which was won by Harrison and Wilcox. The plus scores were: Harrison and Wilcox, plus 7; McBurney and Cole, plus 6; Connolly and Beharrell, plus 1; Hodgins and Smith won final Compass game by a score of plus 4, the highest score of the day.

INDIAN WON ROAD
RACE AT HAMILTON

Tom Longboat, of Caledonia, Beat Off Big Field of Speedy Ones for Herald Cup.

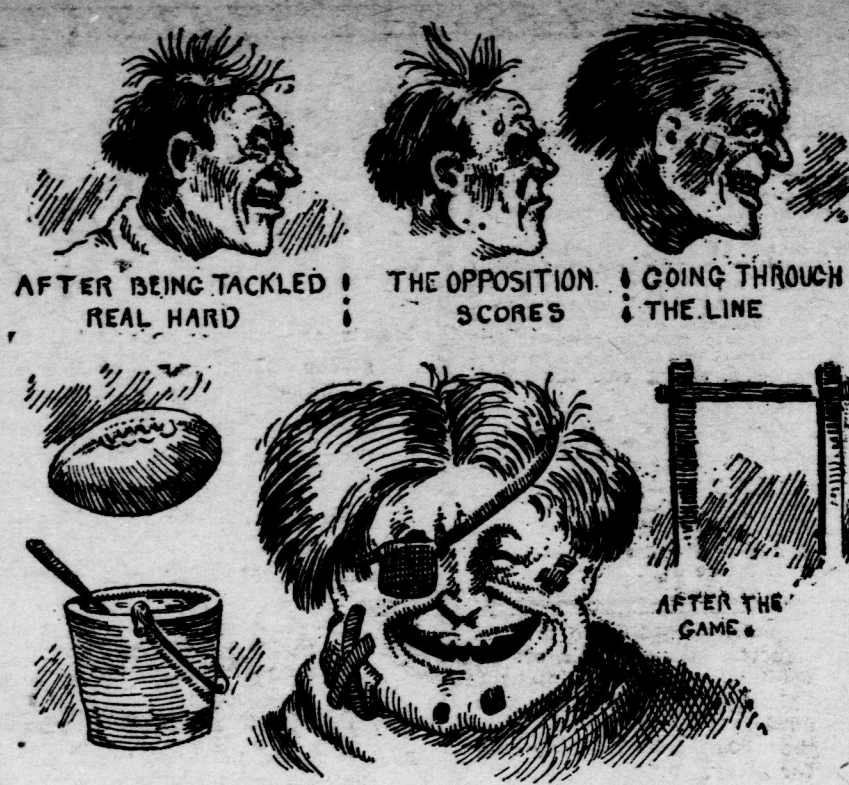

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 18.—The thirteenth Herald road race around the bay, which was run this morning, was won by Thos. Longboat, an Indian from Caledonia, John D. Marsh, of Winnipeg, was second, and William Lebarre, who won the race in 1901, finished third. The result was considerable of a surprise, as few figured that the Indian had a chance. The time was fast, being within a few seconds of the record for the course, which was made by Sammy Mueller, of Yonkers, in 1904. Longboat was fresh at the finish, and had been pressed mightily easily had beaten Mueller's time. Of the 22 who entered for the big event, sixteen faced the starter at 9 o'clock this morning, but only half that number finished. The race was practically between Longboat and Marsh. The Winnipegger set a fast pace from the start, and had not gone very far until he had all of the other contestants, with the exception of Longboat, beaten off. The Indian hung on determinedly, but was contented to allow Marsh to make the pace until he eventually raced him into submission. It was not until Aldershot was reached that Longboat went to the front. He gradually pulled away from Marsh, despite the determined effort made by the latter. After he had beaten Marsh off it was easy for the Indian, and he came home all alone, finishing nearly three minutes ahead of the second man. Marsh had no trouble in getting second place although Lebarre closed strong at the finish, and was only a minute behind him.

In the betting Longboat was quoted as high as 10 to 1, and there were several tickets issued on him. Marsh was backed down from 10 to 1 to 3 to 1, and Lebarre was heavily placed to show.

The order at the finish and time made was: Thomas Longboat, Caledonia, 1:45:25; John D. Marsh, Winnipeg, 1:52:05; William Lebarre, Hamilton, 1:53:39; Alfred Sellers, Toronto, 1:55:29; Wm. Wallace Matheson, Hamilton, 1:59:38; Norman Paxton, St. Catharines, 1:59:18; Irving Elliott, Hamilton, 1:59:35.

The contestants who did not finish were: James Murphy, Stratford; Joseph Connors, St. Catharines; Louis Marks, Chicago; W. R. Lewis, Hamilton; Edward Cotter, Burlington; Harry Hill and George Adams Hamilton, and A. Little, Winnipeg.

The record for the course which is 19 miles and 158 yards long, is 1:43:42.

"WELL, WE PUT UP A GAME FIGHT, ANYWAY." Expressions Caught by the Advertiser Cartoonist at Yesterday's London-Dundas Rugby Game at Tecumseh Park.

Dundas Boys Too Heavy
for London--Won by 15-2

Home Brews, However, Put Up Scrappy Game Against Big Fellows from Valley.

Greatly handicapped in the matter of weight, and also with some of its best players disabled, the London Intermediates put up a real scrappy article of Rugby when they lined up at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon against that speedy aggregation from Dundas.

But the London boys' lost, nevertheless. With Bobby Hague off for nearly one-half the game, and whether off almost from the first sound of the whistle, the home-brews could not do a great deal with the big boys from Valley Town, and they went down to defeat by a score of 15 to 2. A good-sized holiday crowd was on hand, and it did what it could to help the home team along.

Dundas Kicked With Wind. Dundas had the wind behind them in the first quarter, and accordingly started to play a kicking game. With a few well-placed kicks, and by dint of steady gains at every plunge through the London line, the visitors soon scored a point on the dead ball line. Whetter, London's great ground gainer, was hurt at this stage, and his place was taken by Complin. Whetter injured his ankle in last Saturday's game with Woodstock, but he nevertheless tried to play yesterday. Dundas showed up badly in passing the pigskin in this quarter, but they outclassed the local boys in tackling. London got the ball on a fumble, and Billy Rowlands went through the line for fifteen yards. Two offside plays put London back twenty yards, and the advantage was lost. Thomson had several good kicks and Bobby Hague made some splendid tackles. Dundas kept the ball in London territory the greater part of the time. A fine catch by Spary, a 25-yard run by Thomson, and a gain of five yards by Hague, carried the battle to the center of the gridiron. Hague was laid out at this stage of the struggle, and subsequently a man was stretched out in nearly every scrimmage, and after every tackle.

Saved by Kicking. In the second quarter London reversed the situation and kept the ball hovering around the Dundas goal, and several times it looked as though the former would score, but Dundas' great kicking saved them. Wilson and Nelson (captain of Dundas) are certainly wonders at ground gaining. Time after time one of the two would get the ball and dodge the whole London team long enough to advance the ball fifteen and twenty yards. Walker for Dundas made some great runs. Cameron finally got the ball, and it looked like a touchdown for Dundas, but Hague managed to tackle him within a few yards of the coveted line, and he went down with a thud. On the next line-up Martin went around the end and scored a touchdown on a fake tandem buck. Nelson converted.

Score at the end of the second quarter: Dundas 7, London 0.

In the third quarter, London fumbled the ball and Nelson ran around the end and booted it toward the London goal, and then, with the whole team chasing him, he kept dribbling the ball along with his foot until it had crossed the line, when he fell on it for another touchdown.

Thomson's Great Run. Shortly after the ball was put in play again, Thomson, of the London team, made a wonderful run through the opposing line for 35 yards, and the crowd went wild. Dundas soon secured the ball on a fumble, and after failing to make any gains on two downs, they kicked. Another kick, and the ball passed over the London line. Dundas scored another point on a rouse.

In a scrimmage Bobby Hague was knocked out. He was pretty badly shaken up, but refused to get out of the game until he became so weak that he staggered around the field. He was then persuaded to retire. Mason dropped out for Dundas to even up sides.

Dundas then scored on a rouse, making the total at the end of the third quarter, Dundas 15, London 0.

The grueling work began to show on the players in the last quarter, and somebody went down for the count at every move. The water boy at one stage of the game was just about all in himself. Sage showed in this quarter that he is there with the goods on the tackling part of the game. Canfield made several desperate tries for long runs. London managed to score two points—one on a rouse, the other by kicking the dead line.

Final score: Dundas 15, London 2.

Cy Eddy in Game Again

Taken all around, the London boys are deserving of great credit for the game fight they put up against heavy odds. Both sides played well, and the struggle was interesting at all times. Big Cy Eddy was in the game once more for London, and did well at center. The London boys played a much better game yesterday than they did on Saturday against Woodstock. The superior weight of the Dundas team proved too much of a handicap for them, however, and they went down to defeat.

The line-ups: London—Back, Spary; halves, Whetter, Thomson, Canfield; quarter, Bobby Hague (captain); center, Eddy; wings, McCall, Sage, Carmichael, Smith, Rowlands, Gilmour.

Dundas—Back, Grafton; halves, C. Walker, Nelson and R. Walker; quarter, Quackenbush; snap, Smith; wings, Wilson, Mason, Cameron, Lee, Stitt, Martin; spares, Nelson and Lorimer.

Umpire—Dr. J. G. Kilt.

Referee—Wm. Morrison, Toronto.

TIGERS HAD ANOTHER PICNIC
WITH THE PETERBORO SENIORS

Piled Up Bigger Score in the Second Game Than in First—Varsity Defeats Queen's.

Hamilton, Oct. 18.—The senior O. R. F. U. match between Hamilton and Peterboro teams was played here yesterday afternoon before the largest crowd in the Tigers' history. The weather was very windy and cloudy. The Rooters' Club, with their songs, made it very interesting. The Tigers had some of the junior players on to take the place of seniors, but the game more interesting to the spectators.

The Tigers were first to score. The first try was made after some scrambling in touch. Moore failed to convert on account of the strong wind. The first quarter stood 5 to 0. The second quarter the Tigers only scored two points, but the bulk of the play was most of the time in Peterboro's territory. Half-time score, 7 to 0. The Herald road race cups were presented to the winners at this juncture.

The third quarter started with the Tigers playing a strong game. A try was scored in a few minutes. Moore again failing to convert; score 12 to 0.

LONDON QUOTTERS
MADE A CLEAN-UP

Even Trimmed Chief of Police on Their Holiday Visit to Exeter.

Half a dozen members of the Forest City Quoit Club went to Exeter yesterday and showed the quoters of both Exeter and Seaforth how to throw the irons.

The Londoners covered themselves with glory, as they captured every game. Not one of them was in serious danger of defeat. Jim Bell, the champion, went along with the London contingent, just to show the natives of the north how to play quoits. In the game with Exeter he was pitted against Ed Treble, the best quoter of the town, whom he took under his wing to the tune of 21 to 15. In the game with Seaforth Jim walked away from McMurray 21 to 7. John Talbot, "the Baddy of them all," also had his eye on the paper, winning by a margin of 7 over Anderson, of Exeter, and 13 over Stuart, of Seaforth. Alex. Wanless rolled up the biggest lead of the day when he defeated Robinson, of Seaforth, by 16 shots.

The London quoters enjoyed the outing very much. When they arrived at Exeter in the morning, they were met by the home club, headed by the chief of police, Wes. Beatty, who assured them there was nothing in the town too good for them. Just to show appreciation of the chief's kindness, Scott trimmed him 21 to 8. The scores:

TENPIN GAMES
ON THANKSGIVING

Ramblers and Stars Lose Two Out of Three to Merri-macs and Lotos.

The Ramblers rambled down the City Tenpin percentage column yesterday, when the leading Lotos team relieved them of two games out of three.

The Stars also dropped into space on Turkey Day, by reason of the two trimmings received at the hands of the Merri-macs. Six games in all were played.

McIntosh, with 213, and Aylward, with 186-13, were high score and high average respectively, in the first series, and Sage, with 185, and Nichols, with 164-13, were on top of the heap in the second bunch of games. The scores:

FAST SOCCER GAME.

Whitby, Ont., Oct. 18.—All Saints' soccer team of Toronto played Whitby Collegiate Institute a fast game here this afternoon, the visitors winning by 4 goals to 0.

The Peterboros were next to score, making their only point, a rouse. Score, 12 to 1. The Tigers again got busy and scored as they pleased. Peterboros seemed to lose their wind, although they played a plucky game all the way through, Moore making two tries, also Burkholder and Simpson each one after long runs, which were the feature of the game, only three of the tries being converted. Two rouses were made at closing of the game. Final score, 42 to 1.

"VARSITY TRIMS QUEEN'S."

Kingston, Oct. 18.—Varsity won the senior intercollegiate Rugby match here this afternoon, defeating Queen's by 11 to 0. At half-time the score was 10 to 0. Varsity getting two touches, one on a dribble, Power falling on the ball behind Queen's goal line, and the other by a tandem play, Lee making the score. Neither try was converted. A safety touch was scored by the visitors in the second half, Williams, of Queen's, being carried over his goal line. Turner, one of Queen's wings, was severely injured near the close of the game.

146 Dundas Street, London.

Union today, the Rough Riders defeated the St. Patrick's by 10 to 1. It was a battle of the lines, the ball not crossing once. The battle was won and lost by the line divisions. The feature was the appearance of J. G. Kilt, a junior on the Rough Riders' half-back. He proved a wonder and put on a phenomenal game. His stock certainly soared to a sensational height as a result of today's struggle. Frank Woodworth, of Toronto, was refereed, and a better one was never seen on the gridiron in Ottawa.

REYNOLDS FOR DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 18.—Football and other forms of athletics are booming at the Detroit College. Plans have already been laid for a hockey court for the winter and basket ball players are turning up in a way that gives promise of a fast team this season. Coach Ryan feels sure of a good team. "Babe" Reynolds, members of the last year's championship Toronto University team, and acknowledged to be one of the best wings in Canada, will coach the boys on punting and passing the ball, two departments the Canadians stand away up in.

CAMP, JUN., INJURED.

Simsbury, Conn., Oct. 18.—Walter Camp, jun., son of the "Only Walter," of football fame, is following in the footsteps of his illustrious dad. While playing half-back on the Westminster school eleven yesterday afternoon in a game here against Holyoke school he sustained a broken collarbone, but bore the injury pluckily.

Assn. Team Beat the Seventh Regiment by Six Points—Big Field in School Race.

Despite the fact that the weather man was sending down the aqua pura in streams at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the Canadian Club foot races were pulled off as per schedule at Queen's Park. There were two events on the card—one a mile race for public and separate school teams, the other a five-mile road race for teams from the various clubs of the city. Two cups were offered as prizes, and they must be won twice before they become the property of any team.

Five Mile to Y. M. C. A.

Five-mile race was won by Y. M. C. A. team, which scored 23 points, as against 17 for the losers. Two teams were entered—the Y. M. C. A. and the Seventh Regiment.

The runners finished as follows: Amos, Seventh Regiment, 1. Kingsmill, Y. M. C. A., 2. Ruddy, Y. M. C. A., 3. McDonald, Seventh Regiment, 4. Dale, Y. M. C. A., 5. Rudd, Y. M. C. A., 6. Ross, Seventh Regiment, 7. Smith, Y. M. C. A., 8.

Brook, Y. M. C. A., turned his ankle during the race and did not finish. Marshall was entered in the Seventh Regiment team, but did not start. The entries for the school race were as follows:

Princess Avenue—G. Granger, P. Love, E. Butler.
St. George's—Edwar Wormwald, A. Aiken, G. Mottasche.
Victoria School—R. Campbell, J. Lockyer, W. Dutton.

DARK HORSE WON THE RUMBALL CUP AT SEVENTH REGIMENT SHOOT

Pte. Allen Beat Out Two Who Had Already Taken It Twice—Some Possibles.

The annual matches of the Seventh Regiment Rifle Association were held at the cover ranges yesterday. The disagreeable weather interfered with the shooting to some extent, but all the matches were pulled off, except the 200-yard extra series event, which will take place on Saturday afternoon.

The feature of the day was the contest for the Rumball cup. The prize goes to the member winning it three times. Capt. Murphy and Capt. McCrimmon have each won it twice, and each was making an effort for it this year, but a dark horse in the person of Pte. F. N. Allen loomed up, and by handsome shooting won out with four points to spare.

Other features of the day were Capt. Murphy's possible at 200 yards, and Major Hayes' possible at 600 yards. The tyro match for the Beck cup and medal was won by Pte. King. For the City of London medal, Sgt. McDonald and Pte. F. N. Allen were tied, and in the shoot-off Pte. Allen won. The range officers were: Chief executive officers, Major Hayes, Capt. Taylor, Lieut. Bentley and Sgt. Major Borland. The treasurer was Lieut. Bentley, and secretary, Lieut. Gregory.

Tyro Match.
Pte. King, with a score of 57, won the Beck cup and $8 cash.

LONDONER IN WEST BADEN.
The West Baden (Ind.) Journal of Oct. 16 has the following notice of a young Londoner, "Old Boys," who has made his mark on the other side of the line: "Mr. Alex. Harper, Chicago, was among the contingent from that city registering at the West Baden Springs Hotel on Thursday, on his regular semi-annual vacation at this resort—a custom which he has followed for many years. Mr. Harper is an expert accountant and auditor, well known and popular in the 'Windy City,' and is a genial and sociable gentleman to meet. This is his twentieth visit to West Baden."

IMPORTANT RULING IN LIQUOR CASE

Magistrate Fines Joseph Marinett $20 for Furnishing Beer to Lodgers.

Joseph Marinett, the Italian, who was recently charged with breach of the liquor license act, appeared at the police court this morning and was fined $20 and $15 costs.

In announcing his decision, the magistrate said there were two charges against the prisoner, but the one with which the court wished to deal was that of having liquor for sale without a license.

"There is no doubt as to the facts in this case and that the decision thereof rests upon what construction is placed on the laws governing such cases," said his worship. "The facts disclosed are that the defendant was a lodging house keeper, and that he let lodgers or rooms in his house to seven or eight of his fellow countrymen. It appears from the evidence of the defense, which is accepted as correct, that for some months past the defendant has been accustomed to purchase two or more kegs of lager every Saturday for consumption by himself and his lodgers and that they all contributed an equal amount according to the number of kegs of the fact whether each one consumed an equal quantity or not. The beer was kept on tap in a room in the house, to which all the lodgers had access. They also at their own provided food, each one his own share, which they would consume with their liquor. In my view the defendant and his lodgers constitutes in so far as relates to the purchase and keeping of the liquor at all events, a club, but the fact that they have not bestowed a name on the club does not render them less a club, according to the true intent and meaning of the law."

"Another question arises: Is the defendant, who is a lodging house keeper, in a position to do what other boarding house keepers in my view cannot lawfully do—that is keep liquor for consumption by his boarders, whether paid for by himself or in common with others in a room belonging to him, to which all his lodgers may resort? If he were permitted to do this, would he not by reason of this position, possess an unfair advantage over other lodging or boarding house keepers, who do not possess or use such a privilege? The liquor license law is designed, as I understand it, to prevent amongst other privileges, a practice of this character. I therefore hold that the defendant is guilty of an infraction of the license law, both as a member of the club, and as an association formed to keep liquor for consumption in his house, and also in his capacity as a lodging house keeper and that in either capacity he keeps liquor for sale on his premises, and I fine him $20 and $15 costs."

THANKSGIVING WEDDING

Marriage at Goderich of Mr. W. A. Sillick and Miss M. Harris.

A pretty wedding took place in North Street Methodist Church, Goderich, at high noon on Thanksgiving Day, when Miss Sara Matilda Harris, daughter of Mr. Thomas Harris, became the bride of Mr. W. A. Sillick, of Denver, Col. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and carnations, and popular interest in the occasion was shown by a large attendance of interested spectators. The officiating clergyman, Rev. G. N. Hazen, B.A., pastor of the church, was assisted by Rev. W. E. Hassard, B.A., B.D., of Toronto, cousin of the bride. The bride looked very pretty in an ivory lace costume over tulle, with veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Nellie Freeman Harris, who wore white Paris net, trimmed with valencienne lace and insertion, and an all-black picture hat, trimmed with tulle and plumes. The bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of bride's and pink roses. Dr. Mitford Gillies, B.A., of Teeswater, was groomsmen, and the ushers were Mr. W. D. Harris, of Philadelphia, and Mr. W. H. Robertson, of Goderich.

An incident of the ceremony was the presentation to the bride, on behalf of the trustee board of North Street Church, of a handsome Bible, this being the first wedding in the new edifice. After the ceremony, a reception was held at "Glenora," the home of the bride's father, and luncheon was served in a large marquee on the lawn. The health of the bride and other appropriate toasts were fittingly honored. Among the wedding party, which numbered about 60, were guests from Toronto, Philadelphia, New York, Hamilton, Stratford, Mitchell and other places. After a few days at the groom's old home at Teeswater, Mr. and Mrs. Sillick will reside at Denver. The bride traveled in a smart suit of hunter-green chifon, broadcloth, with blouse and hat to match. Mrs. Sillick will be greatly missed among a wide circle of friends in Goderich, with whom she is a special favorite.

NO MOVE MADE YET
Grand Trunk Negotiations with City Still in Abeyance.

Grand Trunk negotiations with the city for the elevation of the tracks through the city as far as Adelaide street are at a standstill. There's nothing doing.

It is understood that the company wants the people to see the improvements which will be made to the Wharncliffe and Witley roads before any attempt is made to put through the big agreement.

That the Grand Trunk does not expect to use the old freight sheds much longer is evidenced by the fact that the recent improvements to the building are only of a minor character.

It is still stated at the city hall that an agreement will be framed up and a proposition submitted to the people to be voted on in January next.

EVERY SICKROOM WANT PROVIDED

The character of a drug stock can be pretty accurately judged by the completeness of the line of sick-room supplies carried. The store largely favored by the patronage of physicians will be found to afford adequate facilities of this kind.

have been made, according to musical comedy etiquette, to the refrain of:

"I'm the ghost of a show that was stranded in Peoria;
"I'm the ghost of a bunch that was only out for glory, oh."

The players told their story, but his worship could do nothing. There were three of them—a woman, a girl of about 18, and a little girl who should be in school.

After hearing the verdict, they sidled out through the left wing entrance of the mayor's office, and once again they found themselves in the cold of the city streets, with the rain falling in drizzling drops, like a Lincoln J. Carter mechanical effect.

The company, it is said, was recruited from the factories of Toronto, only one or two members having had experience in theatricals.

Today a furniture store in London endeavoring to locate someone to pay him $30 for costumes which he had made for the company.

It is understood that several members of the stranded company have secured positions in local factories.

—The Wolsley Barracks and McClary soccer teams will play on the Barracks commons tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. A good game is expected. No admission fee whatever is charged.

—W. G. Walters, of Thornedale, was summoned to appear before Squire Taylor today at 2:30 p.m. to answer to a charge of using obscene and abusive language to J. W. Evans, also of Thornedale. Owing to the fact that several witnesses in the case cannot be present, the case will be enlarged for a week, and possibly may be settled out of court.

The closing meetings of the China Inland Mission convention were held in this city on Thanksgiving Day. The morning meeting was held at 10:30 a.m. in the Christian Workers' Church. In spite of the wet weather the attendance was good. Rev. F. A. Stevens, a returned missionary from China, and now representative in this city of the mission, occupied the chair. In the afternoon a meeting was held in the mission home on Dundas street.

—The members of St. Matthew's Church choir and a number of their friends gathered at the home of Mr. Helgeway, London Junction, last evening, and very pleasantly surprised Mr. Weston Frost, a member of the choir for the past twelve years, who is leaving for the Soo, owing to ill health. During the evening Mr. Frost was presented, on behalf of the choir, with a gold watch and an address, the presentation being made by Miss Helgeway and Miss Lily Henderson, reading the address. Mr. Frost made a suitable acknowledgment of the choir's kindness.

The beautiful Euallia plumes which have been the admiration of all who saw them in Victoria Park the past two weeks, were carried away on Wednesday night. The matter has been reported to the police, and if the vandals are apprehended they will be brought before the magistrate.

ADVERTISER CORRESPONDENCE

SOME CORRECTIONS.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
In your report of our missionary convention on page eight of yesterday's issue, I am sorry to notice several errors, some of them trifling, but others of such a character as to lead your readers to entirely misapprehend the work of the mission. May I request you kindly to insert the following corrections. In the second paragraph the name is wrong given as Canada Inland Mission. Further on you say that last there were only 100, instead of 700 as at first. This should be, the number was reduced by 100 and so fell to about 700. In the next statement a cipher has been transferred from the number of converts to the number of missionaries. It should read 870 missionaries, and 5,600 converts baptised in 1904 and 1905. Mr. Hoste's initials are D. E. and my own are F. A., instead of P. E. and S. A. as printed. Thanking you for your courtesy, I am yours faithfully,
F. A. STEVEN.

R. J. YOUNG & CO.

WILL LOSE $1,000
Contractors Will Be Out on the King Street Pavement.

Blight & Fielder stand to lose the sum of $1,000 on the Kentucky rock asphalt macadam pavement, on King street, from Wellington to Maitland.

At least, this was the statement made by one who is supposed to know, at the city hall today.

Asked if he had heard anything of the matter, City Engineer Graydon declared that he has known for some time that the contractors were behind and would lose heavily on the work.

It seems that the job was absolutely new work in Canada and that the contractors figured the price down below cost.

Mr. Graydon claims that even though the roadway may not be all that some people expect, the residents of King street have at least a pavement which is worth all they paid for it.

"The roadway is at least a first-class macadam," the engineer said. "Moreover, it was the class of roadway asked for by the people themselves."

ELLIS—KING

Pretty Thanksgiving Day Wedding in Dufferin Avenue Home.

Miss Ethel King, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Neeve King, of 200 Dufferin avenue, this city, and Mr. Arthur W. Ellis, also of London, were wedded at the home of the bride's parents yesterday at 2:30 p.m.

Miss Mabel Pavey, of this city, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. E. P. Cook, of Manville, Jamaica, British West Indies, was best man.

Ven. Archdeacon Richardson performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. William Brookman, of Toronto, who was the officiating clergyman at the wedding of the bride's mother.

The bride was attired in a beautiful hand-woven silk gown, and carried a bouquet of roses. The bride's mother wore a dress of gray silk, trimmed with white Irish silk, and the bride's sister was attired in a rose silk costume. The bridesmaid wore a dress of cream silk, and carried pink roses.

The groom presented the bride with a beautiful pearl pendant; the bride's mother, an amethyst brooch; the bridesmaid, a pearl pin; and to the groomsmen a pearl scarfpin.

The house was prettily decorated with ferns and palms. Only a few friends and relatives were invited to the ceremony.

The bride's travelling gown was a brown broadcloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have left for an extended tour of eastern cities, including New York and Albany. The bride will receive at 200 Dufferin avenue on Nov. 9.

MR. FIELDING'S CAMPAIGN

Shelburne and Queen's Election Will Delay Opening of House.

Ottawa, Oct. 19. — Hon. W. S. Fielding left this morning for his constituency, Queen's and Shelburne, to open his campaign. Nomination takes place on the 24th inst. Mr. Fielding's absence will delay the work of the tariff commission and the House will not meet as early as expected. Hon. Frank Oliver has returned from the west.

DOZEN MILES LAID.

City Engineer Graydon states that between twelve and thirteen miles of cement sidewalks were laid this year. If the wishes of the people were complied with fully another couple of miles of walks would have been put down.

ELLIOTT-DEMARS.
A quiet wedding was celebrated in the Blenheim Church, where Miss Sophia De Mars, of Chatham, and Mr. Ernest E. Elliott, of London, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. McQuillan. Miss Edith Pear-Elliott, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, while Mr. Fred Mills, of St. Thomas, acted as best man. The bride was attired in a beautiful going-away pearl-gray gown, with hat to match. Mrs. and Mr. Elliott left on the 7:10 p.m. train for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other eastern points. After their return they will reside in London, where the groom has a position with the P. M. Railway. Owing to the recent death of the groom's grandfather, many of the invited guests were unable to attend.

FOSTER-WISNER.
Miss Ada E. Wisner and Mr. Charles H. Foster were united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wisner, Wharfedale road, West London. Rev. Mr. Bowen, of the Egerton Street Baptist Church, officiated. Miss Jessie Wisner, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. R. J. Foster, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Howard Wisner, and Mr. H. H. Evans rendered the wedding march. The bride wore a beautiful gown of cream duchesse silk, and looked very sweet. The ceremony was attended by the immediate friends and relatives of the family. The happy pair left yesterday for Detroit and other points.

MARRIED IN SARNIA.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKay, Rose street, Sarnia, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday, when Mrs. McKay's sister, Miss Hattie Shepherd, was married to Mr. Elvin Wile, of this city. Rev. Mr. Baird officiated. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, was gownied in white Swiss muslin, trimmed with fine lace insertion, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Maggie Shepherd, sister of the bride, wore a gown of white lawn with lace insertion. Mr. Alvin Wile, of Windsor, was groomsmen for his brother. After a choice wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Wile started for a wedding trip to Detroit and other cities, and will make a week's stay in Sarnia before settling down in this city. The bride received a number of beautiful wedding gifts.

NEARLY A CENTENARIAN

Death of Mrs. Elliott, of Dorchester.
Aged 98.

The death occurred on Wednesday of Mrs. Elliott, relict of the late Ninian Elliott, at her residence, Dorchester. Mrs. Elliott had reached the remarkable age of 98 years and 6 months.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Janet Grieve, was the eldest daughter of the late Elliott Grieve, of Westminster. She was born in Roxboroughshire, Scotland, and came to Canada with her parents in 1819.

Four sons and five daughters survive—Elliott, Thomas and Mrs. Gardner, of Brooke; Mrs. Wm. Wilson, John William, Janet, Elizabeth and Catherine, of Dorchester; also one sister, Mrs. Dunn, of Nissour, and one brother, Elliott Grieve, of this city. She possessed many estimable qualities, and her kindly nature won for her the love of all. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

GAME CALLED OFF.

WHY THE CITIZENS OF LONDON HAVE CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING

Revs. W. J. Clark and E. R. Black
Deal With "Church Union" and "Labor Conditions."

At a thanksgiving service held last evening in the King Street Presbyterian Church two very interesting addresses were delivered, one on "Church Union," by Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, and the other on "Labor Conditions in Our Country," by Rev. E. R. Black, Christian Church. Rev. Dr. Daniel, of the Colborne Street Methodist Church, was also to have spoken, but was not there.

Rev. J. Rollins, pastor of King Street Church, opened the meeting with a short Bible reading, and introduced Rev. W. J. Clark.

Church Union.
Mr. Clark, before giving his ideas regarding church union, explained that he considered the subject a very large one and difficult to handle, because nearly every individual had his or her independent opinion on the matter, and a great many would not agree with what he was about to say, but he was going to treat the subject according to his own views. He first alluded briefly to the history of church union movements, to show that gradually there has been a drawing closer of the great denominations. Twenty-five years ago Presbyterians looked upon all other denominations as being slightly inferior, or assumed what might be called a superior attitude. The Methodist looked upon his Presbyterian brother as being a decent sort of a fellow without much real religion about him. So the Congregationalists, the Baptists and other denominations, each had their peculiar beliefs, which they considered as unquestionably correct. But gradually an evolution has been taking place. The Presbyterians gradually began to allow the use of hymns in their churches, and to be less particular about the kind of entertainment allowed. The Methodists by degrees dropped their amens and shirrs, and became more reconciled to what they once considered the short-comings of other denominations. And so with all sects there has been a constant drawing into closer friendship, until at last they have gone so far as to appoint committees to consider church union, and have system of equality planned and mapped out.

Is It Desirable?
The question, "Is Church Union Desirable," was then discussed by the speaker, who pointed out the following ways in which he considered it desirable:

One common objection raised is that each church stands for its own peculiar type of man; but with careful consideration it will be found that quite often the people who agree most closely on certain points are of different denominations, while those of the same denomination are often far different in opinion. This shows that we have every type of man represented in each denomination, therefore there should be no difficulty on this point. It is true that there are many things upon which men at the present time disagree, but there are many of the more important points upon which all Christians agree, and there are many great works and reforms after which all churches are striving, so if a union could be accomplished, it would result in a concentrated effort which should be far more effectual and accomplish greater things.

ADRIFF WITHOUT OARS

Unpleasant Adventure of Two Port Huron Duck-Hunters.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 18.—Two Port Huron residents, John Schwicker, sen., and Harry Schubert, went duck hunting at St. Clair Flats one day the past week, and had an experience that will last them a long time.

It was only by the greatest of good fortune that another casualty similar to the Stuart-Cadwell tragedy at Detroit did not result.

Schwicker and Schubert started out at 4 o'clock in the morning from a hotel at the flats. They were given a craft on which the oarlocks did not fit, but, being inexperienced in such matters, they didn't notice it at the time. They rowed out into the middle channel, where the birds were thought to be in numbers.

While they were trying to get a duck that they had brought down the oars things than the individual efforts of denominations. In other words the great problem of the day would be much more easily faced by the Christian church as one body than by the feeble efforts of each individual sect.

The speaker then went on to show how that in many small villages and towns there are branches of several different churches, when there is not a sufficient population to support more than one church. He also pointed out that generally the people of different churches are very friendly, and that the few minor points on which they disagree should not prevent them from worshipping together. The missionary effort, both home and foreign, was another case in which Mr. Clark showed that concentrated effort would be much more powerful and less costly.

Would It Be Practical?
"After all," said Mr. Clark, "the great question is, would church union be practical?" He then went on to say that history shows us that God has never allowed anything to be accomplished which was not toward his end, and that, if he so desires, church union will come. So we should all be willing to throw aside all personal feeling and do what we can for the good of all. We should remember that there is a higher word than Presbyterianism, Methodist or Congregationalism. It is "Christianity." This name Presbyterian may have a historic meaning, but the word Christianity has a greater historic significance.

In closing Mr. Clark referred to an article which he saw recently in one of the church publications, and which he termed "mischievous," being calculated to provoke people to believe that the Roman Catholics were constantly watching for a chance to deceive us and get the upper hand. This, he said, he did not believe to be true.

Labor Conditions.
Rev. Mr. Black was the next speaker. He said he had not come prepared to quote a lot of statistics concerning the labor question in our country, but to speak on "Labor Conditions as a Cause for Thanksgiving." He went on to say: "We are living in a period of unprecedented prosperity—in golden days—in spite of the evils which exist, and the only persons who will disagree with me on this point are the professional 'walking delegates' of the labor unions, who make it their business to go about the country, making men think that they are being subjected to unfair treatment, poor wages, etc., and those abusing strife and trouble." London," said the speaker, "has every reason for thanksgiving. Her workmen are rich in pay, and rich in homes. Two dollars a day is a common wage here—as common as one dollar was 25 years ago, and today there are many men earning $2.50 to $4 per day. In some of the families in this city which are said to be in a state of poverty, there are as many as three and four wage-earners, and in some cases as much as $75 a week is brought in."

Workingmen's Homes.
Mr. Black then went on to speak of the good homes of the workingmen, most of whom, he said, owned their own homes. He spoke of the educational advantages offered, and of all the forms of clean entertainment which could be enjoyed at so little expense, and said he considered that no workman in this city today had reason to be other than thankful.

"The conditions of society may not be ideal," said Mr. Black; "there may be great wrongs stalking defiantly through our land, but we should remember that temptations are not increased with luxury, and that in the overcoming of temptations men are made."

Mr. Black went on to show that the Christian religion was one which should make the laboring man wear the "smile that won't come off."

They were lost, and the two hunters were left in their frail craft with no means of propelling it. They were blown along by the stiff northeast wind until they reached a marsh overgrown with tall weeds, where the boat was anchored by the men taking turns holding fast to the weeds.

Here they waited patiently until the oars drifted close by.

To reach the oars, however, it was necessary to pull the boat a distance of nearly twenty yards by hauling gently on the weeds alongside.

By the time the oars were recovered both men were nearly numb from the cold and exposure. They were about six miles from the mainland, and being unaccustomed to the work, could make no progress against the head wind.

When almost exhausted from their efforts a naphtha launch came upon the scene, and the distressed party was given a tow to Pearl Beach.

It is truly sad when a man is lonesome because other people are particularly happy.

NEW WAY TO PUNISH CONTRACT VIOLATORS

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.—The National Baseball Commission decided yesterday that in the future the names of players who have violated their contract with major league clubs shall not be included in the reservation lists submitted to the committee. It ordered that the names of the following players be stricken from the reservation list of National League clubs by the commission:
From Brooklyn—Broderick, Owens, Reisinger and Weigand.

SUTTON IS NOW BILLIARD CHAMPION

New York, Oct. 18.—The billiard championship changed hands tonight in Madison Square Garden concert hall, when Geo. Sutton, of Chicago, defeated George Slosson, of New York, for the 182 ball line title, and the emblem and coin that go with it. The score was 500 to 375, and for a greater part of the contest Sutton was in the lead. There was one time, however, when Slosson was ahead, he having scored 100 and passed Sutton. Slosson's advantage was brief, for in the tenth inning Sutton cut loose for one of his favorite big runs. By a great deal of counting at close range, admirable driving for position and occasional use of the balk line, he prodded the balls for an abuse cluster of 202, and that was the turning point in the game. He was not headed again, and finished strong with runs of 37, 56 and 43.

There were many double-figure runs in the game. Sutton having nine in his sixteen innings, and Slosson ten in his fifteen innings. Slosson, when asked after the game whether he would challenge Hoppe for the 181 championship, replied: "No; I am through with champion contests as a participant. Tonight was my farewell. I shall play in no more championships, either matches or tournaments."

THE RING.
LEWIS CHALLENGES GANS.
New York, Oct. 18.—Harry Lewis, who defeated Willie Fitzgerald last Saturday, has issued a challenge to fight Joe Gans. He says he is confident that he can win the lightweight championship if given an opening.

TO FIGHT OCT. 31.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 18.—As a result of differences between Coffroth and the other members of the alleged fight trust, Coffroth has taken a lease on a new pavilion and skating rink, and the Kaufman-Berger fight will take place there the last day of the month. This pavilion will seat 6,000, while Dreamland can accommodate only about 2,500. Berger is getting into good shape with light work, but Kaufman has not yet arrived.

THOMPSON-HYLAND FIGHT OFF.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 18.—Cyclone Thompson is sick in bed, and his fight with Dick Hyland, scheduled for last night, had to be called off. The men may get together at a later date. Thompson took a severe cold while training last week.

HART READY TO SIGN NOW.
Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 18.—The only hitch in the arrangements for the ten-round boxing match between Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck in this city in November was overcome this afternoon. Hart demanded that a purse of $1,500 be guaranteed. This was quickly done by the Kalamazoo A. C. The agreement will be signed by Hart today and forfeits put up this week.

FAVORITE MADE GOOD.
New York, Oct. 18.—Running Water, the heavily favored favorite at 7 to 5, won the Ramo handicap for 3-year-olds, one mile and a furlong, at Belmont Park, today.

YESTERDAY'S WINNERS.
Brighton Beach—Wellbourne 3 to 1, T. S. Martin 7 to 5, Higginbotham 10 to 1, Running Water 7 to 5, Consistent 12 to 1, Glenham 7 to 5.
At Louisville—Sally M. 7 to 1, Harding 7 to 10, Hannibal Bay 8 to 5, Miss Riddle 9 to 5, Miss Officious 10 to 1, Anna Day 4 to 1.

YACHTING.
LIPTON WILL TRY AGAIN.
Menominee, Mich., Oct. 18.—Former Congressman Isaac Stephenson, who returned today from Milwaukee, where he attended the banquet to Sir Thomas Lipton, states that Sir Thomas told him that he had made all plans to make a fourth attempt in 1907 to lift the America's cup.

THE GUN.
SHOOT AT INGERSOLL.
Ingersoll, Oct. 18.—A splendid day's shooting was held today, in which many shooters participated. London sent down a good contingent, with Glover, Day, Breckon and the Brown brothers.

The first series, seven shots, for the Elliott trophy, commenced this afternoon. H. W. Knight, scratch man, was high gun, with a score of 18 out of 20.

GOLF.
TEA POSTPONED.
The usual monthly golf tea at the Hunt Club will be postponed till Tuesday afternoon, on which day the Toronto Ladies' Golf Club will play a match here. The hostesses for the tea will be Mrs. W. J. Reid and Mrs. C. B. Hunt. A putting prize will be offered by Mrs. Reid.

YALE A WINNER.
Garden City, N. Y., Oct. 18.—At the close of today's play in the intercollegiate golf tournament, Yale seemed to have a royal chance of duplicating her double victory of last year, when Yale won both the team and individual honors. Yesterday the New Haven collegians again won the team championship, and when the first round of eight-hole match play for the individual championship was concluded today, five of the eight survivors were Yale men, two being Princetonians and the other a Harvard man. Cornell was the only one denied to furnish players in this year's contest, but none of them got through the qualifying round. T. M. Claflin, of Harvard, made the lowest medal score, 37, in the preliminary round, high scores being the rule, owing to the high easterly wind which prevailed.

Claflin was beaten in the first match play round this afternoon by Dwight Partridge, of Yale. Two of the closest matches during the afternoon round were those in which Clow, of Yale, beat Gee, of Princeton, one up on 21 holes, and Briggs, of Harvard, beat R. Peters, jun., of Princeton, one up on 19 holes.
