

INQUEST IS COMMENCED INTO PISTON EXPLOSION AT LEONARD'S WORKS

Mrs. Baker, Widow of the Victim of the Accident, Is Prostrated With Grief—Pathetic Scenes at the Baker Home—Brooks Will Recover—
Explosion Heard Two Blocks Away.

The inquest into the cause of the death of Harry Baker commenced last night when the jury, under Coroner McLaren, viewed the remains in Stewart's undertaking rooms and adjourned until Tuesday night.

Dr. H. A. Kingsmill conducted a post mortem examination on the body last night and will make his report at the inquest.

All a Mystery.

How the accident occurred is as yet unexplained. A few days ago it was noticed that the piston rod in one of the engines in Carling's Brewery had become worn and it was decided to send it down to E. Leonard & Sons to have a new rod put in.

As far as is known the piston itself was in perfect order.

Baker and Brooks put it in the forge and it had been there some time when suddenly it exploded with a terrific report.

A Terrible Sight.

The blacksmith shop was filled with dust and ashes from the forge and for some seconds nothing could be seen. When the dust and smoke had cleared a little it was seen that Baker and Brooks were lying on the floor.

Their fellow workmen went to their assistance and Dr. Kingsmill was summoned at once.

Blood was pouring from the wound in Baker's stomach, the arteries having been severed, and he died in about five minutes.

Brooks was taken at once to Victoria Hospital, where he suffered greatly.

His face was scratched by the embers and his eyes are also badly injured.

They were so painful last night that he had to have them bandaged, but it is not expected that the sight will be injured.

Brooks' other injuries are not of a severe nature, and it is likely that he will be able to leave for his home in a few days.

The Brewery Stated.

Mr. Carling stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the piston which blew up was used in connection with the refrigerating plant at the brewery.

The shaft and piston were from the cylinder of a 20-ton ice machine, one of the largest made. The follower would be about eighteen inches in diameter, and in the hollow space in it there must have been water.

When heated in the forge steam generated and the explosion occurred.

Awful Grief.

The scene at the late Mr. Baker's home yesterday afternoon was sad in the extreme.

Mrs. Baker has never recovered from the shock of her little boy, Harry, being drowned.

The fact that the body was never recovered has weighed upon her mind heavily, and to the neighbors at different times she has expressed the wish that she might die.

A Premonition.

Last week she told a neighbor that she had a premonition that something was going to happen.

She spoke so persistently about dying that the lady feared she would commit suicide.

The neighbors say that Mr. Baker was a neat, industrious man, and spent his evenings at home working in the garden.

The garden is in most beautiful order and bears every appearance of having been cared for by a neat and skillful hand.

Broke the News.

The news that she had lost her husband was broken to the poor woman by Mr. F. E. Leonard, and her grief was terrible.

Mr. Leonard did everything possible to comfort her, and shortly afterwards he was joined by Rev. G. B. Sage.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker had been members of St. George's Church when they lived in West London, and on a former occasion Mr. Sage had done everything possible to assuage the mother's grief for her drowned boy.

He spent some time with the grief-stricken woman yesterday afternoon, but she was too hysterical to understand what was said to her.

Kind-hearted neighbors came and stayed by her all through the day, and night, and looked after the little children.

Innocent Childhood.

The baby girl could not understand the blow that had befallen her father. Outside she played with her dog in all the innocence of childhood, and when it became dark reluctantly allowed herself to be put to bed by those who were going to spend the night watching by the widow's side.

Mrs. Baker spent a restless night, but was quieter this morning, being apparently exhausted by her grief.

The arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been completed.

No License.

Sam Levi was charged with peddling without a license, and with buying junk.

Mr. Levi maintained that as he was not doing so in the city he was perfectly within his rights, but Magistrate Love told him he would have to take out a license within two weeks or pay a fine, and warned him that if he were found peddling in the city he would be arrested.

Two first-time drunks were allowed to go.

ASSISTANCE WAS TOO LATE

St. Bonaventure College at Allegany, N. Y., Burned—Loss, $100,000.

Olean, N. Y., June 30.—St. Bonaventure College, at Allegany, N. Y., was burned early this morning. The fire was discovered in a student's room on the second floor in the rear of the building early today.

Assistance was asked from Olean, but arrived too late to be of use.

The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance, $50,000.

The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin, as the school was closed, and there was no one in the building.

MAY COMPETE WITH BELL

New Telephone Connection for Chatham—Death of Mrs. Gray.

Chatham, June 30.—The Blenheim and South Harwick Telephone Company may ask a five-year franchise from Chatham to enter the local field in competition with the Bell Company, who have enjoyed the exclusive franchise hitherto.

The Bell Company pay the city $400 a year, but instead of this the independent company will cut the price of phones, and lay the wires underground.

Mrs. Gray, wife of Mr. Thos. Gray, con. 4, Chatham Township, died in the General Hospital Sunday night from pneumonia. She was a prominent worker in the Presbyterian Church and well known throughout the county.

BEHEADED IN AN ACCIDENT

Frightful Accident on a Brighton Beach Car, New York.

New York, June 30.—Within view of several hundred men, women and children, near the entrance to Prospect Park, Brother Cassin, of the Order of St. Francis, and Principal of St. Ann's School, Brooklyn, was beheaded, as he bent from the seat of a Brighton Beach car to get his hat, brushed off by a woman.

The hat had fallen into the slip of the partly raised running board of the car, and as the Franciscan brother bent down to get it, he slipped and his head fell under the car.

POPE TALKS WITH LONDONERS INTERESTING STORY OF ROME

Dr. H. A. McCallum, of Queen's Avenue, Gives The Advertiser an Account of His Meeting With His Holiness—Travels in Other Cities—Germany Looking for War.

It is seldom that any Londoners have a private interview with the Pope, and when it was learned that Dr. W. J. Tillmann and Dr. H. A. McCallum, of this city, were accorded that privilege during their recent visit to Rome, The Advertiser interviewed Dr. McCallum on his unique experience.

"I must be brief," said Dr. McCallum, "as I have exhausted the public's patience on the question of water. I suppose the people will be most interested in our visit to Rome. We arrived there on Sunday morning from Genoa, having ridden all night in an Italian sleeping car. I spent four hours that in passing through mountain tunnels. We were almost choked, and vilely dirty when we arrived."

Pope in Public.

"On reaching the hotel, our hotelman informed us that the Pope was to be seen in public that day for the first time in five years. He had tickets of admission which he offered to sell to us at five francs apiece, although we found out afterwards that he had obtained them without cost, as had nearly everyone else who entered St. Peter's that morning."

"That shows the ardent love the Italian has for commercialism."

A Personal Interview.

STORK WAS BUSY IN LONDON 100 BIRTHS REGISTERED IN JUNE

Despite Leap Year Marriages Show a Falling Off—Violent Deaths Were Numerous—Many Babies Died—Old People Succumbed To Heat.

The stork had a real busy June—one of the busiest in some time—no less than 100 births being registered with City Clerk Baker during the month of roses and matrimonial epidemics.

This is a much better record than last year, only 38 births being registered in June of 1907.

Such a story would delight President Roosevelt, and would almost cause him to move to London.

Marriages.

The June bride was also present, though there were not so many of her as in other years.

This year there were only 54 marriages, leap year and June, notwithstanding while in 1907 there were 70 matrimonial ships launched on the sea of life.

That's going some.

One is at a loss to understand the fearful slump, but the facts are there.

The Deaths.

The number of deaths are fewer this month than last year by 4. The number of deaths in June, 1907, was 54 deaths.

The number of violent and accidental deaths is a matter of record.

One man died of sunstroke, another from lockjaw—the latter a very rare occurrence. One girl, Miss Baker, committed suicide. Five met violent deaths from accident.

This is an unusually long list for London.

There were 11 people over seventy years who succumbed to the hot weather of the month.

The oldest was 82 years of age.

A large number of babies passed away during June, no less than 18 of the fifty deaths being of children under one year.

Pneumonia was responsible for three deaths during June.

Tuberculosis is still evident, being the cause of three deaths. Two of the three were children.

There was one death from cancer.

Big Plans for the Hebrew Picnic

Everything is in readiness for a Jewish picnic to be held at Lambeth tomorrow, and if the weather is fine every Hebrew family in the city will be represented.

It is intended to spend the day at Alexandra Park, near Lambeth, and the 24 hours ended at 8 p.m. yesterday.

Several wagon loads of provisions have been prepared and will be sent down early in the morning.

In the afternoon a programme of sports including races and games has been arranged.

In the evening after supper a big dance will be held which will last until the picnic closes.

A BANK CLERK TAKES HIS LIFE

Alleged Suicide of Victor T. Denison at North Bay.

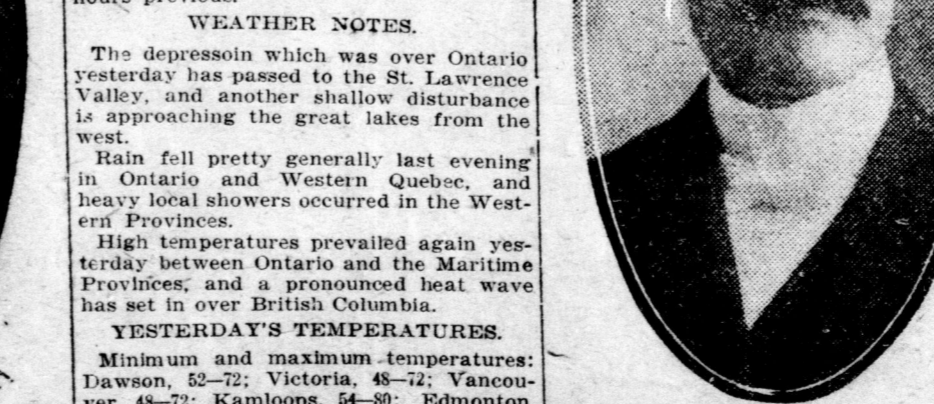

Toronto, June 30.—News reached the city early yesterday evening that Victor T. Denison, teller in the Imperial Bank branch at North Bay, was found dying in his room over the bank with a bullet wound in his head. It appears that at about 2:30 p.m. yesterday Mrs. Ogden, wife of the local manager of the bank, heard a shot in the direction of the young man's room, and rushed to see what was the matter. She was horrified to see the young man lying unconscious on the floor, with a 22-calibre revolver beside him. Medical aid was promptly secured, but was of no avail, death being apparently almost instantaneous. He was a son of the late Col. Fred C. Denison, formerly M. P. for West Toronto, and his mother, Mrs. F. C. Denison, resides at Rushmore, this city. Adj. Septimus Denison, who was formerly stationed at Wolsey Barracks, London, is an uncle.

Boston, June 30.—Mrs. Philip N. Moore, of St. Louis, is to be president of the general federation of women's clubs for the next two years, having defeated Miss May Allen Ward, of Boston, the presidential candidate named yesterday by the nominating committee. Of the 906 votes cast, Mrs. Moore received 516, and Miss Ward, 390.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Ireland is 2.7 per 1,000, as compared with 1.6 in England and 2.1 in Scotland.

ELECTRIC LAMP FELL ON MAYOR WHILE RIDING IN STREET CAR

His Worship's Clothes Set on Fire—Suffers a Severe Shock—A Most Unpleasant Experience of London's Chief Magistrate Last Night.

While going home in a Dundas street car last evening about 7 o'clock, Mayor Stevely had an experience he will not forget in some days.

He was seated in the rear seat, when suddenly the electric light above fell on his head.

Sparks flew in all directions, burning his head, and ruining a new suit of clothes.

His suit was burned full of holes, and his hat was scorched all over.

His worship was shocked, considerably, but was not seriously burned.

He put out his burning clothes with-out difficulty.

"My clothes were spoiled and my hat burned, but I was not hurt," said his worship.

"I cannot understand what caused the accident. The sparks flew in great shape for a minute."

London Schools Will Receive $1,825 From the Grant for Urban Schools

Exact Amount Has Been Figured Out By Local Educationists.

The exact amount of money the board of education will receive from the Ontario Government's grant of $60,000 for urban schools will be $1,825 according to the information compiled by Inspector Edwards for the board.

According to his figures, there are 14 teachers with first-class certificates of over five years' experience. To each of these the Government grants $20, making in all $280.

There are two teachers with first-class certificates with less than five years' experience which, at $15 each, would add $30 to the amount.

There are 87 teachers with second-class certificates with more than five years' experience which, at $15 each, would make $1,305.

There are 21 teachers with less than five years' experience which, at $10, would make $210.

This totals up to $1,825.

In this list the kindergarten teachers are not included. There are 23 in the employ of London's board of education, and these the department does not recognize.

As a result some criticism of the Government grant has been made by educationists. It is pointed out that the regulations governing the grant discriminate against the city schools, especially when they are up-to-date, as London's are, and make no grants for kindergarten work.

However, the grant is received with thanks, and it is hoped that next year the Government will see fit to recognize the kindergartens and thus increase London's grant to $2,500 at least.

The Railway Traffic Is Very Heavy

The railways have been doing a record-breaking business all day, and ticket agents report that if the rush continues until this evening, as there is every indication that it is going to do, all records for holiday traffic will be broken.

The Grand Trunk station presented a busy scene this morning, every train that came in being loaded down with holiday passengers.

All the trainmen leaving this morning carried special coaches, and these were soon filled, as the train proceeded on its way. Added to the heavy passenger traffic were large parties of emigrants from the west en route to New York.

The C. P. R. officials report that their trains today are all crowded, and that extra coaches have had to be put on to accommodate those traveling. A great many people will spend the holiday out of the city, but notwithstanding, the railwaymen think that fully as many carried special coaches, and these were soon filled, as the train proceeded on its way. Added to the heavy passenger traffic were large parties of emigrants from the west en route to New York.

A Big Turnout at Seventh Drill

There was a large turnout at the drill of the Seventh Regiment held in the armories last night.

Col. Reid was in command and put the men through a number of maneuvers and battalion movements.

Capt. McCrimmon gave the men a valuable rifle drill.

From now until the Quebec trip regular drills will be held on every Monday and Friday evening, and the order is imperative that all members must turn out to drill regularly or they cannot go to Quebec.

Col. Reid is firm in his stand not to take any half-drilled regiment to the centenary.

Year in Mercer for Stealing a Dress Olive Mandell Gets a Stiff Sentence

Parkhill Girl Has Been Living Rather Fast Since Coming To London.

Olive Mandell, a young girl 19 years old, who came originally from Parkhill, was sentenced this morning by Magistrate Love to a year in the Mercer for stealing a dress from a lady for whom she was working.

Miss Mandell is rather an attractive-looking girl, but has been living somewhat of a gypsy life.

Last winter she left an infant at a home here, where it has been cared for, and ever since has been traveling about the country, making her home wherever she could.

On Tuesday last she found employment with a lady in the city, and worked a day and a half.

Then she asked for 50 cents, saying that she wished to go and get her trunk. She was given the money and disappeared.

Investigation showed that a valuable suit had gone, too.

Deadly Explosion at San Francisco

San Francisco, June 29.—Four persons are dead and three others are severely injured as a result of an explosion followed by a fire today in the grocery store of John Sweeney, in Diamond street.

The dead: John Sweeney, Mrs. John Sweeney, Ella Sweeney, aged 16, Anton Dissmeyer, Jr., aged 2. The injured: Fred Sweeney, Anton Dissmeyer, sr., Mrs. Mary Dissmeyer.

Schools of London Officially Closed

The public and separate schools of the city officially closed today, although there has been scarcely a youngster at school since Friday last.

The examinations being over on that day, the child mind could see no necessity of remaining at school one minute longer. So they hustled away to play the summer through.

It is rumored that the boys and girls enjoyed the last two days' holidays more than any days of the year.

They felt that they were getting ahead of the teachers and the board of education, not a small feat.

Chairman Graham called off several of the schools owing to the fact that few scholars were in attendance.

Big Bush Fire Devastates Cobalt
Mining Plants and Houses DestroyedFour Miles of Country Burned
Over—Men Barely Escape —Losses Heavy.

Cobalt, June 29.—A big fire swept through the country four miles south-east of here yesterday and wiped out the plants of a dozen or more mines. The Temiskaming lost their powder houses, and the fire was up to their main buildings at last report, but they will likely save these.

The Columbus Cobalt mine lost everything.

The Coleman Development Company lost all their buildings, and the men barely escaped with their lives.

At the Shamrock mine the diamond drill and a boiler was all that was saved.

The Lumsden, Duchess, Patterson, Progress, Cochran and Fisher Electric lost all their buildings and machinery.

H. P. Davis, of the Davis Cobalt Silver Mines, told your correspondent this morning that he lost all his mine buildings and machinery, and the fire was still raging in the vicinity of Cress Lake.

At the Beaver the fire turned up to the office, but the men worked heroically, and managed to save their buildings.

At the Badger mine the hoist house and one shaft house were burned, but the rest was saved.

Robert Bryce, of the Silver Queen mine, sent a large gang of men out to the Badger property to help in the work.

The Rochester, next to the Badger, was saved.

The men at all the mines deserve great praise for the manner in which they worked to save the properties.

Another Account.

Ten houses in Hailybury were destroyed by fire Saturday. On Sunday the fire spread to the outhouses and half a dozen mining properties. The fire is the result of the forest fires raging the past few days. Sunday everybody was working to check the spread of the flames. No church services were held beyond offering prayers for rain.

W. McLaughlin, J. W. Thompson, J. Watson, W. Campbell, C. Smith, J. Moore lost everything.

E. Baker lost his stable and out-houses, but saved his home.

J. Cole, S. Renaux and W. Hickey were burned out.

Waugh Bros' sawmill was burned at New Liskeard. Loss $7,000.

LOCAL OPTION BYLAW
IN ORILLIA QUASHED

(Irregularities in Polling—Technical Flaw in Bylaw.)

Toronto, June 30.—Orillia's local option bylaw is quashed.

That town carried local option last January by five votes over the three-fifths, and when Hotelkeeper Hickey applied to Chief Justice Meredith to quash the bylaw, his lordship refused. The divisional court at Osgoode Hall handed out a unanimous judgment today, reversing the decision of the chief justice, and voiding the bylaw.

The grounds for the quashing of the bylaw include the fact that the bylaw prohibited the sale of liquor in shops and taverns, and in 1907 a bylaw had been passed closing the shops.

Another argument was that there were irregularities in the polling. More men were allowed in polling booths than the act provides for.

The vote was 558 to 363, and 25 ballots were spoiled.

ELOPED WITH BOY PUPIL

The Couple Were Refused a Marriage License at Windsor.

Windsor, June 30.—The story of a schoolmistress, 30 years old, eloping with one of her pupils, 16 years old, was told the Windsor police, by E. D. Shove, of Flat Rock, Mich., who came to that city to look for his missing son, the pupil in question, and to prevent the possibility of a Windsor marriage of the pair.

Shove's story was that his son, Rollin Shove, became infatuated with his teacher, Miss Lillie Burden, and that all efforts of the parents to break off the infatuation were unsuccessful. They were on the point of sending the boy to live with a distant uncle when he disappeared from home, and has not been heard from since.

The teacher, Shove says, was also

C. P. R. EXTENSION
IN THIS PROVINCEThree Branch Lines of Company
To Be Opened on First of July.

Montreal, June 30.—It was stated yesterday at the head office of the C. P. R. in this city that three branch lines of the company in Western Ontario will be opened on July 1.

The opening of these branches will give different connection with the C. P. R. main line, and be of great value to them in shipping and travelling.

The first will be from Fernwood to Listowel, a distance of 15 miles.

Then from Saugeen, on the Owen Sound division, to Hanover, a distance of 27 miles, which will be extended about Aug. 1 to Walkerton.

The third section to be opened is from Embro, near Woodstock, to St. Marys, a distance of 18 miles.

BURNING BRIDGE
WRECKS TRAINFour Railwaymen Were Killed and Fifteen Passengers Injured.

Winslow, Ariz., June 29.—The west-bound California Limited, on the Santa Fe, was wrecked last night by running into a drawbridge. All the injured have been taken to the Santa Fe Hospital here.

Williams, Ariz., June 29.—Just after rounding a curve east of Gallup, N. M., train No. 3, (the Overland Limited), on the Santa Fe, dived onto a burning bridge. The engine and four of the four trainmen were instantly killed. Fifteen passengers were injured.

WAR BALLOONS
EXCITE FRENCHGermans Landing Near Border
Give Rise To Speculation
and Suspicion.

Paris, June 29.—The frequency in the descents of German balloons, invariably with officers on board, near the eastern frontier, is causing a good deal of comment in the French papers, which ask whether these descents are really accidental and whether the ascents are not purposely made when the wind is in a certain direction and likely to take the balloons over the eastern garrison towns.

This week two balloons landed near Nancy, and in each case there were officers in the nacelle or car. They were taken before the military authorities, where having proved that they had no photographs or compromising documents, they were treated with every courtesy and conducted back to the frontier.

The facts prompt the press to declare that it has become necessary to draw up aerial frontier regulations.

PARLIAMENT'S WORK
MAKING PROGRESSThe Dominion Lands Bill Well Under Way—Civil Service Bill Resumed.

Ottawa, June 29.—In the House of Commons today Hon. Frank Oliver's bill, containing 103 clauses, was passed in committee, with the exception of clauses 27 and 28, which deal with pre-emption, and clause 77. Notice was given by Mr. Jackson (Selkirk), and Theodore Burr (Dauphin), of amendments which will bring the greater portion of Northern Manitoba under the pre-emption clauses of the bill, enlarging the area in which the settler may secure a second 160 acres. The bill will eventually apply to practically all those sections of the west, where, owing to the dryness or the poor nature of the soil, it takes 320 acres to make a good farm. The clause which prohibits employees of the department of the interior from purchasing Dominion lands was amended at the suggestion of Mr. Borden, so as to prevent its evasion by the organization of a company. The House then took up the civil service bill.

Mr. Fielding gave particulars as to the commissions paid for the renewal of the 1874 loan. Under the terms of an agreement with the Bank of Montreal, sanctioned by order-in-council in 1892, the bank was paid for renewal of portions of the loan, $1,875 in 1904 and $2,239 44 in 1907.

In committee on the civil service bill, F. D. Monk, of Jacques Cartier, expressed regret that the outside service was not included.

Mr. Foster suggested an amendment to require that the two commissioners should be one of each party. That was the American practice.

Hon. Mr. Fisher replied that the American practice was not always a good example. It made partisan lines much more prominent than no politics in these appointments.

Mr. George Alcorn (Prince Edward) gave notice of a large number of amendments to Hon. A. B. Aylesworth's elections bill.

Claude Macdonell (South Toronto) has given notice of an amendment to make election day a public holiday.

Wellington, Kansas, June 30.—Four persons are known to have been drowned and a number are missing as a result of the overflowing of Hargis Creek, east of this place, which was caused by a cloudburst north of here, about 10 o'clock last night.

The flood came without warning and carried houses and other buildings before the people could reach places of safety.

EMPEROR WILLIAM
IN DREAD OF WARProphecies Still Superstition, in Which the Kaiser Is a Sharer.

Paris, June 30.—The Echo de Paris quotes a member of the Emperor Francis Joseph's immediate entourage to the effect that it is well known in Austrian court circles that the German Emperor, despite his bellicose talk, has a superstitious dread of war on account of two old prophecies according to which he is destined to be the last Hohenzollern ruler.

The first prophecy is not completely known, but it was made by an old monk of Tebnin.

The other prophecy which is well known in several European courts, originated in an ancient monastery in the neighborhood of Mayence. This prophecy, the end of the Hohenzollerns with William II., and it is added that his death would be caused by a great war.

The Kaiser shares the superstition and is eager for peace, so alarmed is he for his husband and children.

The Echo says that at the Austrian court certain contradictions and the acts of indecision which the Kaiser often evidences, are explained by this superstitious fear of which the Emperor keeps up assiduously.

WAR BALLOONS
EXCITE FRENCHGermans Landing Near Border
Give Rise To Speculation
and Suspicion.

Paris, June 29.—The frequency in the descents of German balloons, invariably with officers on board, near the eastern frontier, is causing a good deal of comment in the French papers, which ask whether these descents are really accidental and whether the ascents are not purposely made when the wind is in a certain direction and likely to take the balloons over the eastern garrison towns.

This week two balloons landed near Nancy, and in each case there were officers in the nacelle or car. They were taken before the military authorities, where having proved that they had no photographs or compromising documents, they were treated with every courtesy and conducted back to the frontier.

The facts prompt the press to declare that it has become necessary to draw up aerial frontier regulations.

PARLIAMENT'S WORK
MAKING PROGRESSThe Dominion Lands Bill Well Under Way—Civil Service Bill Resumed.

Ottawa, June 29.—In the House of Commons today Hon. Frank Oliver's bill, containing 103 clauses, was passed in committee, with the exception of clauses 27 and 28, which deal with pre-emption, and clause 77. Notice was given by Mr. Jackson (Selkirk), and Theodore Burr (Dauphin), of amendments which will bring the greater portion of Northern Manitoba under the pre-emption clauses of the bill, enlarging the area in which the settler may secure a second 160 acres. The bill will eventually apply to practically all those sections of the west, where, owing to the dryness or the poor nature of the soil, it takes 320 acres to make a good farm. The clause which prohibits employees of the department of the interior from purchasing Dominion lands was amended at the suggestion of Mr. Borden, so as to prevent its evasion by the organization of a company. The House then took up the civil service bill.

Mr. Fielding gave particulars as to the commissions paid for the renewal of the 1874 loan. Under the terms of an agreement with the Bank of Montreal, sanctioned by order-in-council in 1892, the bank was paid for renewal of portions of the loan, $1,875 in 1904 and $2,239 44 in 1907.

On Friday evening a similar pleasant affair occurred, only it was the Delmer people this time, when they presented Mr. Kerr with a handsome chair.

Mrs. Kerr was also given a beautiful pearl crescent by the W. M. S. of Brownsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr have been very popular during their four years' term here, and will be very much missed in church work and socially.

NIAGARA POWERToronto Electric Company Will Have Steam Auxiliary Plant.

Toronto, June 30.—The Toronto Electric Light Company will not trust to the Niagara Falls altogether for current for light and power in the future. In one week there have been three breaks in the current somewhere between Niagara Falls and Toronto, and as a consequence the lights went out and wheels stopped all over Toronto. The company will rig up the old steam plant as a reserve force in the future.

"We have learned our lesson," said Mr. J. J. Wright, manager of the Toronto Electric Light Company, to The Star. "Even Niagara Falls and its power supply are not infallible. There must be some reserve force to take up the work in case of accidents such as have occurred recently. We had intended to discard our steam engine plant, and had commenced to look upon it as so much scrap iron.

"RELIGION WITHOUT A HIERARCHY"Criticism of the Pan-Anglican Congress By the Organ of the Vatican.

Rome, June 29.—The Observatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, in an editorial concerning the recent Pan-Anglican congress in London says:

"Religion, without a legitimate hierarchy, although calling itself Christian, is a religion only for this world, as the questions discussed by the Pan-Anglican Congress show. Throughout the centuries all religions that have arisen without the seal of the real divine personality were similar to that discussed at the Pan-Anglican Congress. All of them aimed at securing the largest amount of joy in this life without caring for the other world."

At the end of a strong attack, the Observatore Romano says that Catholic Rome tomorrow will celebrate with veneration the anniversary of the death of Saint Peter at his tomb in a church which is a miracle of art and that this veneration will answer better than anything else the superlative poverty of the Pan-Anglican Congress.

From the attitude of the Observatore Romano it is supposed that Pope Plus will deal with the recent congress held in London in his forthcoming encyclical.

By so doing he had diminished the value of his property by nearly $200.

The Arneliffe Puzzle

By GORDON HOLMES, Author "A Mysterious Disappearance."

Such credentials do not render a man bumptious or intolerant. Only he who climbs the tree of knowledge can tell how wary must be each upward step, and George Lester, the brilliant investigator, honored by his own Government, a recognized authority in the medical schools of the continent, was no exception. He had entered the village. He already regretted the momentary resentment of Dr. Smalley's pompous air which induced him to utter the drastic opinion. The little doctor might have been profoundly amazed were he able to read Lester's thoughts at that moment. Conviction was rapidly yielding to doubt. There was some chance that, ere night fell, the author of "Toxic Analyses" would seek the fiery-eyed Emalley and apologize to him.

But the circumstances which conspire against human happiness weigh their unseen flight from the most unlikely quarters. "Jolly Jim" Jones, noted only for his laugh and his taste in beer, was the unconscious agent who quickened a lulled suspicion into fresh activity.

Although genuinely sorry to hear that the earl was dead, Jones soon recovered his wonted buoyancy and proceeded to entertain his guest with reminiscences of the deceased peer. "By gum!" said he, "I throw his lordship and live till he was a hundred. He was hard as nails, but a bit of seasoned yak." (Anglican, oak). "An' he was a clever owd bird, too. He knew sommat about everything. One day he chaffed me w' more w'oss 'n' hocusing spirits than I'd ever heard tell of afore. Gosh! he med me roar."

And Jones showed how he roared. "Another time," he went on, after regaining his breath, "his lordship walked around my bit o' garden, an' he nearly skeered me into a fit. By gum! he said as how honey could be poisoned by bees feedin' on rhododendrons, and hunkane, or water dropwort mistakes for parsnips. As for mushrooms, he called 'em sike neams 'e niver had one f' t' house shance."

Lester suddenly found the garrulous landlord's talk exceedingly interesting. "Did Lord Arneliffe really show much knowledge of poisons?" he asked.

"Poisons?" repeated Jones, grinning widely. "I'll take my solemn davy 'e regaining his breath, 'his lordship walked around my bit o' garden, an' he nearly skeered me into a fit. By gum! he said as how honey could be poisoned by bees feedin' on rhododendrons, and hunkane, or water dropwort mistakes for parsnips. As for mushrooms, he called 'em sike neams 'e niver had one f' t' house shance."

"Ay, that's it. By gum! Give a man a taste o' that in a pint an' you'll see things. You doctors num be rum fellers to quarrel w' it, to my thinkin'."

DR. A. W. CHASE'S 25c CATARRH CURE—Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Sphorator. It cleans the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Such obvious philosophy required a pull at the beer-handle to soften its rigor. Lester escaped to his room sat down at a writing table, and set forth on paper, briefly but clearly, his reasons for thinking Lord Arneliffe had died from arsenical poisoning. After the landlord's curiously appropriate story he had no other course left open. This might be an inquest, with far-reaching consequences. No matter what the inconvenience to himself, he would not shrink the outcome of his own definite pronouncement in the presence of four persons. So George Lester wrote a short record of the facts, sealed the paper in an envelope, and gave it to the landlord, with a request that the latter should place it in his safe.

"No, it is merely a statement. You see I was called in accidentally to visit Lord Arneliffe. In such cases it is always best to be accurate. I have jotted down my observations. That is all. The paper may not be wanted again, but you will oblige me by keeping it and producing it if called on by me."

"Certainly, sir. I'm a careful man myself. I niver buy owt that I don't enter f' day an' t' price in a notebook. Once I bought a pig."

A maid reported that a fine trout and other delicacies awaited Lester in the coffee-room, so the pig-buying episode was interrupted. Lester dined alone. There happened to be no other anglers staying at the inn that day. Propping a London daily paper against the cruetstand, he endeavored to read an article dealing with Anglo-American influences on affairs in the Far East. In a word, he determined to rid his thoughts of all further speculation about the dead master of Arneliffe, and succeeded as well that, with coffee and a cigar, he wheeled his chair to secure a better light while the Arneliffe arms, a stag couchant proper on a field d'or. But his surprise kindled into actual amazement when he read:

"Dear Sir—Simpson, the man who was present today when you and Dr. Smalley in Lord Arneliffe's bedroom, has told me what you said. I was so shocked and grieved by the death of one to whom I owe everything that I failed at first to give your words their true significance. Now, however, I feel it a sacred duty that I should acquaint you with certain matters within my knowledge. I do not think I can ask you to come to the Hall, and in a small place like Arneliffe, it would cause needless comment were I to call and see you at the inn. Can you meet me at the East Lodge gate at 9 o'clock? The terrible occurrence of this afternoon must be my excuse for such an unconventional request. Yours faithfully, EDITH HOLT."

For such an unconventional request, Yours faithfully, EDITH HOLT. "P. S.—I have been Lord Arneliffe's secretary and amanuensis during the past three years. I should add that it was to my assistance you came today in the Fen Ghyll. E. H."

Although not a man of hesitating mood, Lester drew a deep breath of dubity when he reached the end of this short but decisive note. There are, in a man's life, certain rare moments of divination. They are mysterious, occult, feeling as the gleam of lightning in the depths of a somber cloud. They carry an impalpable message of hidden fate, so distinct as to be undeniable, yet so vague that no sane intelligence can interpret them for good or evil. One of these glimpses behind the veil of futurity was vouchsafed to him now, and he wondered with unaccustomed awe what the portent signified. He was sure that the trust fixed for the ensuing hour would have an uncontrollable influence on his career. Events were slowly but inexorably conspiring to enmesh him within a web of exceeding strength. Should he escape while yet the way was open?

A polite refusal to meet this lovely "marquise," on the plea that he was leaving Arneliffe, at once showed the path of expediency. His eyes, fixed in thought, fell again on the letter: "The death of one to whom I owe everything," she wrote. Once before that day he had gone to her in a moment of distress. Should he refuse her now in a greater need? George Lester might be a clever and clear-sighted young man, nevertheless, he was a young man.

"Tell the messenger I will keep the appointment," he said to the waiting servant. "Or, perhaps, I had better write a note."

"Please, sir, the boy said there was no answer. He has gone."

Then Lester laughed. He was spared all hesitancy. It was intolerable that Miss Edith Holt, the girl with the Gruze face and figure, should be allowed to wait in vain outside the East Lodge for one who came not.

"No answer is the most conclusive of all answers," he said, and smiled. "The girl smiled, too, though she understood him not at all."

"He is such a nice gentleman!" she confided to the kitchen maid, who was dressed for going out. "But he looks at you sometimes as if he didn't see you."

"An' that won't suit you," commented the other tartly, the housemaid being the better looking of the pair. "I'm not used to it like you are, Lizzie. She was the flippant retort. Lizzie glared, but curiosity conquered pique when her fellow-servant went on: "I've just given him a note from the Hall. It was in a lady's handwriting. I wonder who he knows there?" "Who brought it?" "Jackson's little boy." Jackson was a gardener employed on the Arneliffe estate.

"If I meet him I'll ask who sent it."

"It was to make an appointment of some sort."

"You don't say? I'll just hurry out. Mebbe I'll overtake him."

So Lizzie hurried, and caught the Jackson urchin swapping marbles with another boy on the outskirts of the village. But she failed to extract any information from him, a largesse of dispassionate having insured discretion.

Lizzie was baffled. She went to visit a friend, and it was one of the queer coincidences of fate that she should happen to catch sight of George Lester's tall figure as he stroiled toward the park a few minutes before 9 o'clock.

"Well, I must be off now," she cried a sudden impulse moving her to follow him.

"Why, this is no time to go!" protested her gossip. "You needn't be home yet for another hour or more."

"I've got to meet me sweetheart," grinned Lizzie.

"You told me he was given a job in Newcastle as a porter."

"This is a friend of his who takes care of me on his account," was the jaunty reply, and Lizzie darted forth into the soft shadows of a fine June night.

Within the nearest gate of the park Lester saw Edith Holt. Though, of course, she was attired in different garments from the summer-like costume of their earlier meeting, he recognized her at the first glance. She walked with a free elegance, and carried herself with a distinction that would serve to single her out from a crowd anywhere. Here, with never a rival, Edith Holt had the semblance of a rank far higher than that accorded her by the landlord's chatter.

Being neither a prude nor a gallant, Lester wondered what their strange meeting really meant. He realized that the girl must have yielded to some powerful motive ere she wrote to him, and he felt, too, that it lay with him to redeem her from the natural embarrassment of their first exchange of words. Hence, the surprises of that day of bewilderment were only increased when he found that Miss Holt, who passed through the gate before he could reach it, took the lead in their conversation.

"It is very good of you to be so punctual," she said. "Shall we walk this way?"

She indicated the high road, leading away from the village.

"I am entirely at your service," said Lester.

"I need hardly apologize for my letter," she began again instantly. "Most fortunately, you are a doctor, and, in grave trouble, one turns to a doctor for help as instinctively as to a lawyer or a clergyman."

"You have my sympathy already, and believe me you shall have my best counsel," said he.

Now, the truth was that Lester was taken aback by the girl's demeanor. He was in no way conceited, nor could his detractors, if such existed, describe him as a "ladies' man." But that this beautiful young woman should so calmly relegate him to the category of fatherly gray-heads gave him a twinge of annoyance that none of her sex had succeeded in inflicting before.

Utterly unconscious of her own attitude, Edith Holt passed a hand over her eyes as though to clear away a baffling mist.

"The earl was my only friend," she continued in a strained, nervous manner which told how feverishly she was controlling her emotions. "I did not exaggerate when I said that I owed everything in the world to him. When my dear father died, nearly ten years ago, I was left alone, a little girl of nine, but heaven inspired my father on his deathbed to write to his old school-fellow, Sir William Bradshaw, as he was then, and ask him to care for me."

"Sir William Bradshaw, the great cotton manufacturer? Did he become Earl of Arneliffe?"

"Yes, only three years since. His gifts to the nation, his endowment of two universities, brought him a peerage, which he accepted only as a joke. 'It will inter me decently,' he used to say. 'People will forget that such an old fossil as Bradshaw is still living! My dear old friend and benefactor! Who could have wished him harm?' She stopped to choke back a sob.

Lester, wishing to soothe her, said quietly: "Do not be too ready to adopt my hasty conclusion, Miss Holt. Lord Arneliffe, whose career is, of course, well known to me, was an old man. It is amazing to me now to realize that I, too, owe him a certain measure of success in my profession. It was Sir William Bradshaw, who provided funds for the Tropical Fever Commission which came to West Africa."

"And are you the Dr. George Lester who discovered the Micrococcus Africanus?" she interrupted.

LOTS ON RIVERSIDE PARK

New Survey at Foot of Egerton Street. Now on the Market.

That London is growing steadily is evidenced by the large number of properties that have been placed on sale. Several large pieces of land have been sold, in lots, in different sections of the city, or in the county close to the city line. One of the latest properties to be placed on the market is Riverside Park, which is located at the foot of Egerton street, reaching from Rectory to Egerton street. This land is most suitable for building purposes and already a large number of lots have been sold. The property was opened for sale on Saturday last. Lots are sold on the popular payment plan of one dollar down and fifty cents a week and upwards. For the workingman, no easier way could be devised to buy a home, and as East London will be the manufacturing district of the city in time, the advantage of buying a home on Riverside Park should be greater than any other section in London.

HERMITAGE WILL HAVE SPLENDID FLOAT

In the Mardi Gras Procession During Old Boys' Week.

On Saturday, President MacRobert, Mr. C. W. McGuire, chairman of the Mardi Gras committee, and W. H. Abbott met the representatives of the Hermitage Club and arranged to put on a magnificent float.

Mr. Gammage informed the committee that he would decorate one of the floral designs on a sumptuous manner. The committee were very enthusiastic about Mr. Gammage's offer, as the float will be a very beautiful one and entirely different from any in the Mardi Gras procession. Mr. McGuire says it is the intention of his committee to offer a valuable silver cup for competition among those having charge of the floats.

This will create a great deal of friendly rivalry among the different societies and associations.

On Saturday the Western Ontario Travelers met and arranged and informed Mr. McGuire that they would put on a float second to none in the association. The travelers are determined that their float shall equal any of the others in the procession.

Washington, June 29.—Albert Brown, a negro, 23 years old, who was convicted several months ago of killing his younger brother, Harvey, in a quarrel over a girl, was hanged in the jail-yard here today. President Roosevelt had refused to stay the execution. The negro's sentence was the first one of death ever imposed by Justice Stafford, in the district criminal court.

Before Record-Breaking CrowdSaints Lose 2-0 in Fast Contest at Tecumseh—A Double-Header Tomorrow.

The Caboose Chasers were treated to a little surprise party yesterday afternoon when they clashed with the Londoners, and in a hard-fought, interesting battle were beaten 2-0.

Dumond, London's handsome south-paw, was at his best, and he uncorked all manner of benders on the unsuspecting visitors.

Barrie was good, too, but the locals touched him up just when bingles were most needed, and scored in the third and fifth.

The crowd for a Monday afternoon was the best of the season, and the players were much encouraged by the support shown.

Bird Was Right.
Charlie Bird performed like a thoroughbred, getting three hits out of four times up, besides purloining three sacks.

Gracion, for the Saints, was also right, and made a single and a double. Today the Londoners tackle the Saints again, and tomorrow three games will be played by the same teams, one at St. Thomas, and two here. The London games will be played at 2:30 and 4 o'clock.

New Sensation Promised Tomorrow
At London Rowing Club Regatta

Londoners will be treated to a new sensation at the big regatta tomorrow. It will be a two-mile motor boat race, in which about 25 speedy gasoline launches will participate. This will be by long odds one of the most interesting and exciting races ever held on the Thames. As this is a handicap race the slower boats will be allowed a certain number of seconds' start. In this way it is anticipated that all the boats will cross the line in a bunch, making a finish that will be one of the sights of the day.

All those who have swearing-parrots should bring them with them, as the birds will have an opportunity to learn some new and select expressions from the boys when they start their benzine machinery. A gasoline engine is something like a kicking mule, and often requires some picturesque advice before it will get going right. However, most of all of the boys understand their engines, and as the regatta committee promises to provide muzzles for those who become unduly excited, the public need have no fear of being too severely shocked.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

NOW WE KNOW why Bill Amos hit the trail for the west. Bill had aspirations to again get his shape for the London. Bill finished third in the Winnipeg Telegram 20-mile road race, being beaten out of second place by a few seconds.

PRIZES FOR TOMORROW'S big rowing regatta on the river will be a handsome cup and medals, and any one of them is well worth winning.

THE RACES BEGIN at 2:30 tomorrow, the start being at the County Club, and the finish nearly opposite Ward's hotel. Those desiring to see the events should take a Springfield car to the pump-house, and cross the foot-bridge to the other side of the river.

WINNERS OF THE BARS and ribbons at the twilight meet on the 11th and 12th of this month can have their prizes by calling at the Y. M. C. A. offices. The committee in charge regrets the delay, which was unavoidable on account of an error in ordering.

WITH ALL FOUR TEAMS in the hands of stock companies the International League bids fair to be with us for some time to come. The transfer of the St. Thomas franchise was practically completed yesterday.

THE LONDON PLAYERS are confident that tomorrow's games will draw the banner crowds of the season, and they should, too.

The old idea of going across the line to spend one's superfluous change has been practically abandoned. And it is about time that it was. Money spent in Detroit or other American cities can certainly be of no benefit to London, while money left here helps businessmen and workmen alike.

WHEN YOU THINK IT OVER, isn't Boss Sullivan, of the A. A. U., the modest old thing, though? Sullivan's latest ally is that the Americans are assured of seven events, England is sure of six, leaving the remaining contests open to the world.

What of Canada, with her Longboat, her Kerr, and all the rest of the sterling athletes who will defend her honor on the athletic field and on track and cinder path?

THE LONDON DAILY MAIL asks: "Does golf affect the church?" To which golfing replies: "The average man who plays golf on Sunday is not, as a rule, the sort of person who would go to church if there were one within hail."

"SAY," said Mertes to Umpire Toft, as the latter refused to allow him to bat till he had produced a marked check new $25. "It wouldn't take me ten minutes to find a bigger rap than you." "Well," replied the ex-ball player, "I was looking for a fresher rap than you. I wouldn't beat it to Richmond and buy a mileage ticket." Toronto Telegram.

THERE WILL BE NO matinee races tomorrow at Queen's Park. Many local horsemen will take their charges to Niagara Falls and other places. Unlike many of the pleasure-seekers who will journey across the line, the horsemen go with the expectation of bringing back some coin.

ATTELL MEETS BALDWIN MAKES POOR SHOWING
New York, June 29.—Featherweight Champion Abe Attell made his reappearance in a local ring tonight at the Grand Union Athletic Club, where he met Matty Baldwin for six rounds. A swarming crowd watched the fight, which lasted the limit. Attell was far from being at his best. He failed to display that dash and fire manifest in his previous encounters. Baldwin was ever ready to go to his man, but Attell was the cleverer. The Hebrew hit up whenever opportunity presented itself, and there were many during the scrap.

In the last round particularly Attell danced around his opponent, making efforts to be clever, but at the same time failing to land.

TIGERS EAGER FOR MORE SOX BLOOD

They Spend Off Day Visiting
Around Chicago and Taking Life Easy.

Chicago, June 29.—Hughie Jennings and his band of jungle warriors took life easy today. The Tigers were sorry that this was an open date. They are feeling their oats and would have liked to take another whirl at the Sox, for they feel that they have the Comiskeyites on the hip and have them going just the way they wanted them to go.

"We have a fine chance for both days this year," said the Detroit manager. "The boys have hit their gait, despite the run of tough luck we have had. We had a bad start and at least two slumps since the season opened, but we are always within striking distance of the top, and will be there with the goods from now on."

Pitchers Right.
"Our pitchers are all in grand form. Donovan, Mullin, Summers, Willett and Killian are better now than they ever were before, and our sluggers are regaining their batting eyes, and the Tigers will give a good account of themselves from now on."

"We will not get Marquardt. He is a sensational pitcher, but the price asked by Indianapolis is ridiculous. They want $12,000. The absolute limit was reached when Heinie Berger was sold to Cleveland by Columbus for $6,000. Marquardt would find different bidding if he came up in the American league. He is left-handed and a left-handed pitcher has a snap in the association."

READY TO CHALLENGE
Sir Thomas Lipton Names the Conditions for Another Race for the America's Cup.

London, June 29.—The Field, a weekly publication, announces that Sir Thomas Lipton is prepared to challenge again for the America's cup, under the following conditions:

First, the new yacht shall be cutter-rigged, and built under the present universal rule of the New York Yacht Club; second, the New York Yacht Club shall designate the size of the yacht it considers most suitable for the race.

Sir Thomas, when seen by the Associated Press at Dunelm, Scotland, today, said the Field's statement was perfectly correct. He added:

"I hope my American friends will see their way clear to meet my wishes, in the interests of sport. The size of the boat is no object and I am willing to build under the universal rule. If I can get assurance that a challenge will be accepted I will issue it forthwith."

It is understood that the intention of Sir Thomas, when seen by the Associated Press at Dunelm, Scotland, today, was to build two yachts of a class designed by that club after designs by Fife, and select the better to compete for the cup.

SPENT $7,500
TO FIGHT TURF BILL

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—The Coney Island Jockey Club filed a statement with the secretary of state today that it expended $7,500 to counsel to legislate the anti-race track gambling legislation.

STABLES OVERCROWDED

Pontiac, Mich., June 29.—The stables at the Pontiac track are overcrowded and the arrival of a fresh batch of horses for the Michigan short ship meet at this town has necessitated the erection of some new stalls. Monday's rain interfered greatly with the plans of the drivers, preventing any workouts. Half a dozen horses reached Pontiac from Detroit last night.

The meeting has been so arranged that the Pontiac association will hold a meeting on Independence Day. Racing will start Wednesday and continue for four days. A number of improvements have been made upon the track.

GANS AND NELSON ARE AT WEIGHT

San Francisco, June 29.—Joe Gans and Battling Nelson have almost finished training for their match at Colma next Saturday. Both have cut out the boxing stunt with their sparring partners, and the Dane now restricts himself to road work. It is said that both are within a hair's breadth of the weight and will take that off the day before the fight. There seems to be all kinds of Gans money on the coast, and very little if any that favors Nelson. The negro is the favorite at odds of 10 to 6, and there are some who are particularly anxious to get their money down, and are offering more liberal figures. Nelson's poor showing with Attell and the ease with which Gans beat Rudolph Holz, a tough, rushing fighter like the Battler, are the reasons for the sports preferring to wager on the champion.

HORSES BROUGHT $13,245.

London, June 29.—Those horses which A. G. Watts brought over to England a few months ago for the equipment of his Brighton coach venture, and which he has decided not to send back to America, were sold at Tattersall's today and brought $13,245.

The highest prices were given for Admiration and Thunderbolt, which sold for $415 each. The average price for the horses was $211.

Seventeen Countries Represented
In the Coming British Marathon

Canada Has Twelve Entries—The United States Seven—United Kingdom Twelve and Africa Seven—Other Entries.

The British Olympic Council has made known the entries for the Marathon race, and to judge by the list the contest will be the greatest of its kind held so far. The pick of the world's best distance runners will battle for the glory, there being in all a list of seventy-two, and they represent seventeen different nationalities. Of this long string only five took part in the place just two years ago, notably Joseph Forsshaw of America, John Svaneberg and G. Tornros of Sweden, George Blake of Australia and A. Countonakis of Greece.

On that occasion Svaneberg distinguished himself by making a good second, his time being 2 hours 58 minutes 20 4-5 seconds, and as he finished strong there he may be relied upon to get the course this time for a certainty.

Finished Fourth.
Tornros, the other Swede, came in fourth, so he too may be expected to do something. Blake made sixth place, and it will be remembered that it was the antipodean who made the pace such a cracker as the men dashed from the village of Marathon, and he was in the lead at fifteen miles and looking like a winner when he suddenly blew up. Countonakis, the Greek, finished in eleventh place, just in front of Forsshaw, who is expected to do much better this trip, as he is stronger and has the advantage of two years extra training.

The Entries.
United Kingdom—F. Appleby, T. Jack, A. Duncan, G. G. Beale, F. Lord, J. Price, H. F. Barrett, F. B. Thompson, E. Barnes, A. Wyatt, S. Stevenson, W. T. Clarke.
Canada—F. Simpson, H. Lawson, W. Goldshore, G. Goulding, W. Wood, E. Cotter, F. Noseworthy, J. Catterly, T. Longboat, G. Lister, A. Burn, J. Tait.
United States—J. Forsshaw, S. H. Hatch, J. J. Hayes, T. P. Morrissey, M. J. Ryan, Lewis Jewanina, Roy Welton.
Australia—J. M. Lynch, W. V. Alken, G. B. Blake.

The Programme for the Big Regatta

The Dominion Day regatta of the London Rowing Club will take place in the afternoon at 2 o'clock at the pump-house course.

The affair is creating a great deal of interest, and there is no doubt it will be one of the most successful regattas ever given by this popular club.

The entry list is very large, and as some of the crews are going fast and strong, a keen competition will no doubt result.

An extra board has been put on at Springbank dam, and there will be plenty of water.

There are 25 entries in the lunch race, and there will be something doing all the while.

The committee in charge have made a special swimming race for boys, and it should prove an attractive feature.

Tony Vita's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Programme.

Junior Pairs—E. Compin, R. D. Hague, J. Orr, Fred Marshall (stroke), H. Little (cockswain); O. G. Bernhardt, M. Eastwood, J. Ferguson, J. Hayward (stroke), F. G. Parsons (cockswain).

A Recital By Local Music Graduates

Monday evening the Masonic Temple was the scene of the first recital of graduates of the London Conservatory of Music. Very praiseworthy were the programmes prepared by the students for the senior examinations, which were conducted by the eminent teacher and composer, Mr. Auguste Hoffman, of New York, who expressed himself as highly pleased with the playing of the young ladies, all of whom were successful in passing their examinations.

Owing to the number of those taking part, it is impossible to individualize, but, taken as a whole, the playing of the different numbers, marked, as it was by beautiful tone, warmth of expression, and splendidly developed technique, would be a credit to any institution.

BILL TO AMEND THE RAILWAY ACT

Grand Trunk's Deal With the Belleville and N. H. & R. Discussed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 30.—The Commons this morning took up the railway bill in committee of the whole.

Discussion on the third reading of Hon. Mr. Graham's bill to amend the railway act with respect to telegraphs and telephones, and the jurisdiction of the board of railway commissioners, was resumed by Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, who replied to some observations of Mr. Northrup regarding taking over the Belleville and North Hastings Railway by the Grand Trunk Company, who, it was alleged, had not complied with the conditions upon which a subsidy had been granted to that road.

Mr. Aylesworth said that it was alleged that the Grand Trunk had fraudulently obtained the subsidy granted to the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, a remedy was not to be sought at the hands of the railway commissioners, but in ordinary courts of law. He did not see that there had been and deceit or fraud upon the part of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Lancaster supported the amendment previously moved by Mr. Northrup to give the railway commissioners power to deal with such cases as the Belleville and North Hastings Railway subsidy, and to compel specific performance of such contracts.

Mr. Northrup said his amendment was simply intended to give the railway power to deal with the railway companies which failed to operate roads for which subsidies had been granted.

Mr. Northrup's amendment was lost by a vote of 7 to 36.

TRANSFER RULES CAUSE TROUBLE

Almost a Fight on the Rear End of a Car on Dundas street.

The new transfer rule caused some excitement on a car on Dundas street last evening.

A gentleman got on at Wellington street and tendered a transfer. It was all right as far as the time was concerned, and it was properly punched.

However, the conductor, after giving instructions, refused to accept the transfer, because it was not tendered at Richmond street. The man explained that it was raining and he walked to Wellington street while waiting for a car.

Soon there was a very heated argument on, in which many of the passengers roared the transfer regulations.

The man refused to pay another fare and got off the car at the next corner.

He then poured out his soul in a torrent of abuse to the conductor, and walked back to Richmond street to get a car.

The bride was attired in net over messaline, trimmed with baby Irish lace, and satin ribbon, and the bridesmaid wore a becoming voile dress. The former carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, and the latter a bouquet of yellow roses.

Among the guests present were friends and relatives of the couple from Chicago, Montreal, Vancouver, North Bay, Clinton, Kincardine, Port Hope, Guelph and Owen Sound.

Mendelsohn's Wedding March was rendered by Miss Adeline Kennedy.

The bride was given away by Mr. James Wilson, her brother. The house was tastefully decorated with palms, marguerites and sweet peas.

The groom's gift to the bride was a magnificent pearl sunburst, the bridesmaid received a handsome monogram locket, and the flower girl a bar of pearls each.

The wedding presents consisted of jewelry, cutglass, china, and many other useful and beautiful articles.

After a tour of the Thousand Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will take up their residence at 149 Ridout street.

The bride's going-away dress was a handsome gown of pongee silk.

THE OPIUM EVIL IN VANCOUVER

Necessity for Prohibiting Importation of Raw Opium—Mr. King's Report.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 30.—In his report to Parliament, giving the result of his mission to Vancouver as a royal commissioner to adjudicate upon claims of Chinese residents for damages in connection with anti-Asiatic riots of last summer, Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King makes a strong recommendation for the passing of legislation prohibiting the importation of raw opium into Canada. He points out that during the course of the inquiry in Vancouver he found that the opium evil has taken root and been developed in an insidious manner, and that the knowledge of the people of this country is not probable that the Government will take action along the lines recommended in the report.

Mr. King states that his attention was drawn to the matter by a claim for $600 each made by two opium manufacturers on account of loss of business for six days during the riots. In the case of one of these establishments it was stated by the proprietor that he had been engaged in business for ten years and his gross receipts for the year 1907 were $20,000.

In the other instance the manufacture of opium had been carried on for twenty years, and the gross receipts totaled between $170,000 and $180,000 for the year 1907, with an estimated net profit of $15,000. "There does not appear," said Mr. King, "to be any existing legislation prohibiting the manufacture of crude opium in Canada, and the only restriction on the manufacture of that article in the city of Vancouver is the municipal regulation requiring the taking out of a license, costing $500.

DAIRY MARKET.

LIVERPOOL DAIRY REPORT, WEEK ENDING JUNE 18.

[Hodgson Bros.' Letter.]

Cheese—The demand continues to improve, and in sympathy with the firmer cables from Canada, a slight advance has been obtained. There is a large home make of cheese, which is selling well at prices which are lower than those current for States and Canadians; but with the good consumptive demand there is no accumulation, and some advance in price is anticipated, which may bring them up to a level with States and Canadian produce. Old cheese, owing to scarcity, are firmer. Medium grades of cheese, unless full cream, are practically unsaleable. We report today's values as follows: Finest new States and Canadian, white and colored, 5s 6d to 5s 8d per cwt; finest old, 5s 6d to 5s 8d; lower grades, States half-moon and skims, white and colored, nominally 3s to 3s 6d; English cheese, according to quality, 4s to 5s per 120 lbs.

Butter—The market is firm in choice grades, and 2s to 3s advance has been obtained on the week. The Copenhagen quotation is again called 2 kroner higher for next week, bringing the price equal to 10s 6d, f.o.b. Secondary grades of butter are in moderate supply, but in limited demand. Lower grades, for confectionery purposes, are but a moderate sale.

A COSTLY WASHRAG
Stars and Stripes Used To Clean Windows—Result: A Row.

Washington, June 28.—The Americans in Colon have made heated protests recently on account of an incident which called into action a portion of the Panama Army. A foreign commercial house in Colon insulted the United States flag, using it to wash the windows of the establishment.

Wayne O. Dane, of the canal zone, witnessed the desecration of the Stars and Stripes, and engaged in a hard-fought battle for the possession of one of the flags which were being used to clean windows. He was pursued, according to reports, by a section of the army of Panama, consisting of two policemen and a lieutenant-general in full regalia. As a result of the disrespect shown, the flag by the commercial house the canal zone from one end to the other is hung with boycott signs, and the offenders have found less expensive washrags.

Dr. Pingel, after spending some time in the American Electro-Therapeutic Institutes, has again resumed his practice.

Farewell To Rev. Mr. Livingstone
Welcome To the Rev. H. Graham

Wellington Street Methodists
Give Their Old Pastor a Send-Off.

Wellington Street Methodist Church was crowded last night, when the congregation gathered to say farewell to Rev. James Livingstone, and to welcome their new minister, Rev. Humphrey Graham, who comes to London from St. Mary's.

While the members present showed plainly by their demeanor that they regretted the departure of Mr. Livingstone from among them, and that their very best wishes will follow him wherever he goes, they also extended a cordial welcome to Mr. Graham, and gave him every promise of receiving the support which they have given to Mr. Livingstone throughout his term in this city.

Address and Presentation.
Mr. John Watson presided, and opened the meeting by calling upon Mr. George Jackson, who read an address to Mr. Livingstone, assuring him of the regret the congregation felt at his departure, and wishing him every success in his new pastorate in Mitchell.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. James Lumsden, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Livingstone with a purse containing $100 in gold.

In reply, Mr. Livingstone said the time he had spent as pastor of the Wellington Street Church was among the happiest of his life, and was filled with pleasant recollections.

He had formed many friendships while in the city, and while he regretted exceedingly the necessity of leaving, he hoped on many future occasions to be with the members of the Wellington Street Church.

The New Pastor.
Rev. Humphrey Graham was then introduced to the congregation by Mr. Watson.

The London Street Railway Company will have a nice little bill to pay for repairs to the track allowance.

The Barber Company has been busy of late filling in the holes in the asphalt pavements on Dundas and Richmond streets, and the street railway company will have to pay for 1,234 1/2 yards.

The usual price for repairs is $1.50 per square yard, so the company will have to pay $1,842.75.

It is not known how much the city will have to pay for, but it is thought that the allowance of $3,000 for this work is practically gone.

June Weddings

Ellridge-Copner.
A very quiet June wedding took place yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Cathedral, when the Rev. Canon Dann united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Copner, of 373 Central avenue, London, to Mr. M. C. Ellridge, of Montreal.

The bride looked charming in a dress of silk crepe de chine, and Battenburg lace, and was given away by her brother Oswald, and was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Norma Hamilton, of London West, who looked very pretty in a white silk mull with pink roses.

The best man was Capt. Edwin Skeddin, of Hamilton, cousin of the bride.

The presents were many and useful, and from a host of friends.

The young couple leave on a honeymoon trip on the St. Lawrence River, and will take up their residence in Montreal.

The groom's present to the bride was a half-hoop pearl ring, to the bride a pearl brooch, to the best man a pearl pin and to the bride's brother a gold nugget pin.

Daly-Porterfield.
The wedding took place in Ridgeway recently of Miss Leah M. Porterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porterfield, of that place, and Mr. John M. Daly, of London.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cook.

Miss Beulah Mitton assisted the bride, while the groom was supported by Mr. James Tytler, of London.

Mr. and Mrs. Daly left on a honeymoon trip to Chicago, and arrived home at 11 o'clock this morning.

A Ridgeway paper says: Hosts of Ridgeway friends will join in wishing a happy future to one of our most popular ladies, Miss Leah M. Porterfield, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porterfield, of this town, who was married to Mr. John Daly, of London. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Cook, in the presence of about 60 guests, in the drawing-rooms, which presented a fairy-like scene, decorated in green and white.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked unusually charming in an exquisite empire gown of imported lace, with daisy and baby Irish trimmings, and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Beulah Mitton, was attired in a dainty princess gown of palest pink messaline, and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. Mr. James Tytler, of London, performed the duties of best man. Miss Mills, Hamilton, played the wedding march.

The bride's mother was gowned in mauve silk with cream trimmings of lace and carried lavender orchids.

After the ceremony the guests extended congratulations and admired the many handsome presents, among which was a whole pearl and diamond pendant and a dull gold bracelet studded with diamonds from her husband.

The bridesmaid was the recipient of a dull gold bracelet, set with pearls, and the groomsmen of a handsome signet ring from the groom.

The room was lovely with masses of marguerites and feathery ferns, and here a dainty dejeuner was partaken of before Mr. and Mrs. Daly departed on a honeymoon to Mackinac and Chicago.

The bride traveled in a handsome
