Awful Toll When the Lusitania Went to Her Doom—First Cabin Passengers Nearly all Lost—Only Fifty-One Americans Saved Out of 188—Berlin Paper Gloats Over the Wholesale Murder.

BITTER TONE OF THE AMERICAN PRESS

APPALLING DEATH LIST IN LUSITANIA DISASTER.

LONDON, May 8.—Fifteen hundred and two persons lost their lives according to Admiralty estimates when the Cunard Line steamship "Lusitania" was torpedoed yesterday afternoon off Old Head of Kinsale on the Irish coast. The known survivors number about 658 while there were 2,160 souls aboard the great liner when she was attacked.

Of those saved 595 were landed at Queenstown and 11 at Kinsale, while 52 others are reported to be aboard a steamer; all but one of the rescue fleet of torpedo boats, tugs, etc., which went out from Queenstown have reported. There is a slender hope that fishing boats may have rescued a few more.

The work of compiling a list of those saved is progressing slowly, because of the indescribable confusion at Queenstown, but apparently few first cabin passengers are among the survivors. The United States consul at that port can account for only 51 Americans saved out of 188 who were aboard. His roll does not include the names of Alfred Gwynne Vandervilt, Charles Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Justus Miles Formen, the author, or Charles Klein the playwright. Of the Americans aboard, 108 were in the first cabin, 65 in the second and 17 in the steerage. Many Canadians also appear to be lost, only sixteen names of such appearing in the lists of saved so far received, all are of Toronto and Montreal people.

BERLIN DELIGHTED AT THE DASTARDLY CRIME.

COPENHAGEN, May 8.—Berlin newspapers print the news of the sinking of the Lusitania in colossal type and hail the successful torpedoing of the ship as a new triumph for Germany's naval policy.

U. S. CLAIMS "ACT OF PIRACY."

NEW YORK, May 8.—General denunciation of the sinking of the Lusitania appears in the newspapers of the United States. The act is repeatedly characterized as piracy. The German newspapers however justify the deed and declare the passengers received fair warning in the widely circulated advertisements published just before the liner sailed.

Crew of Submarine Look While Lusitania Sinks

LONDON, May 10.—That three torpedoes were fired at the Lusitania is asserted by Rev. Mr. Guvier of the Church of England Canadian Railway Mission who says: the third found its mark while the last boat was being lowered. When the Lusitania sank, Mr. Guvier declares a submarine rose to the surface and came to within 300 yards of the scene. The crew stood stolidly on the deck, he said, and surveyed their handiwork. I could distinguish the German flag, but it was impossible to see the number of the submarine which disappeared after a few minutes.

The Lusitania, sunk by piratical German craft under orders from the Imperial German Government. The Lusitania carried 1,300 passengers and a crew of seven hundred.

SCARCELY A RIPPLE LEFT WHEN LUSITANIA VANISHED

Liner Plunged Bow Down and the Passengers Were Brushed From Almost Perpendicular Decks Like Flies.

"We witnessed the most horrible scene of human futility it is possible to imagine. When the Lusitania had turned almost over she suddenly plunged bow foremost into the water, leaving her stern high in the air. People on the aft deck were fighting with wild desperation to retain a footing on the almost perpendicular deck, while they fell over the slippery stern like crippled flies. Their cries and shrieks could be heard above the hiss of escaping steam and the crash of bursting boilers. Then the water mercifully closed over them, and the big liner disappeared, leaving scarcely a ripple behind her.

"Twelve lifeboats were all that were left of our floating home. In a time which could be measured by seconds, swimmers, dead bodies, and wreckage appeared in the space where she went down."

—Description of A. D. Lane, a second-cabin survivor.

NO DOUBT LINER WAS TORPEDOED BY SUBMARINE

LONDON, May 8.—On her ordinary course, and apparently making her highest possible speed, the Lusitania was struck in the bow by a German torpedo at 2 o'clock. Thirty-three minutes later she disappeared from the surface of the ocean. At this hour little is known of the details, but indications are that the loss of life is pretty heavy. An official message reports between 500 and 600 passengers landed at Queenstown, and an unknown number at Kinsale. Newspaper despatches from Dublin state that several hundred passengers have been landed at Clonakilly.

There is no question in any one's mind but that it was a submarine that sank the Lusitania, although reports thus far received from survivors state that none was seen. There is information from persons on shore however, that a submarine was seen near Galley Head at the time of the sinking. Further, the steamer Narragansett reports that she saw a submarine at 3.45, which was apparently the one that hit the Lusitania. She fired a torpedo at the Narragansett, which passed ten yards astern. The vessel got away and then went to the assistance of the Lusitania.

Mistake in Order Costly in Result.

LIVERPOOL, May 10.—A. J. Mitchell of Toronto was in the storeroom of the Lusitania when the torpedo struck the ship. He ran out and assisted two children and Mrs. Ellen Hogg of New York, who was in her stocking feet, into a boat and then got into the boat himself.

"I heard an order from the bridge not to lower the boats on the port side, where the ship was high out of the water. This was misunderstood to mean that no boats were to be lowered, and several valuable moments were lost."

An English passenger said he saw Alfred Gwynne Vandervilt take off his lifebelt and put it on a young woman, and a young Englishman named Scott, who is among the missing, do the same thing.

"In neither case," said this passenger, "was there anything in the way of heroics. The self-sacrifice was made as a simple matter of course."

MORTALITY LIST AMONG SALOON PASSENGERS EXCEEDS ANY OTHER TRAGEDY OF THE SEAS.

LONDON, May 8, 10.20 a.m.—A despatch from Queenstown says the latest available figures are 656 persons of the 1253 passengers and 665 crew on the Lusitania were saved. Many survivors are in hospitals and many die. The mortality list among the saloon passengers will exceed in proportion any other tragedy of the seas where any passengers were saved.

The bodies of victims are arriving on every incoming boat. The Cunard Line warehouse is being used as a temporary morgue and is already filled and sixty more bodies have been taken to the Town Hall.

Capt. Turner of the Lusitania is the only officer reported saved.

Col. Roosevelt Demands War

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 10.—Col. Roosevelt said last night:—

"On the night of the day that the disaster occurred I called attention to the fact that this was merely the application on the high seas, and at our expense, of the principle which, when applied on land, had produced the innumerable hideous tragedies that have occurred in Belgium and northern France.

"I said that not only our duty to humanity at large, but our duty to preserve our own national self-respect demanded instant action on our part forbade all delay.

"I can do little more than reiterate what I thus said. When the German decree establishing the war zone was issued, and of course plainly threatened exactly the type of tragedy which has occurred, our government notified Germany that in the event of any such wrongdoing at the expense of our citizens we would hold the German government to a strict accountability.

"The use of the phrase 'strict accountability,' of course, must mean, and can only mean, that action will be taken by us without any delay or unnecessary delay. It was eminently proper to use the exact phrase that was used, and having used it, our own self-respect demands that we forthwith abide by it."

Captain Did Not Carry Out Orders

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—Queenstown was almost as much dazed by the tragedy as those aboard the Lusitania. The question of every lip is: "Why did Captain Turner pursue the usual well-known Cunard Line course so close to the Irish coast, at medium speed, and why was not the big liner convoyed?"

Several naval officers here state that the Lusitania received wireless orders to take a course in the mid-channel, but the ship's wireless operator declines to say whether or not he received such orders.

TOTAL SURVIVORS 767

List Includes 465 Passengers and 302 Crew.

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—The latest revised figures of the Lusitania's dead and saved as made public by the Cunard officials are as follows: Total number of dead, 1149. Total American citizens dead, 11. Bodies recovered, 144. Bodies identified, 87. Passengers' bodies identified, 65. Crews' bodies identified, 22. Total number saved, 767. Total passengers saved, 465. Total crew saved, 302. The unidentified dead were buried today in three huge graves; houses along the route of the processions were crepe draped and all flags were at half mast as an outward show of sorrow. It is not expected that any more bodies will be recovered.

Toronto Citizens Saved.

TORONTO, May 10.—A. R. Clarke, one of the Toronto survivors of the Lusitania cables today that Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Copping are safe. Mr. and Mrs. Copping's names have not been mentioned in the official lists of survivors so far received.

Lord Mersey to Conduct Investigation at Once.

LONDON, May 10.—The Board of Trade inquiry into the loss of the Lusitania which will be conducted by Lord Mersey will begin at once.

17 MORE BODIES RECOVERED.

QUEENSTOWN, May 12.—The bodies of nine men and eight women who perished when the Lusitania sank, comprising those brought ashore at Baltimore and other Irish coast points arrived here this morning. The only body of a first-class passenger promptly identified was that of Percy Secombe of Peterboro, Ontario, (another despatch says, Pittsburg.)

BERLIN SAYS ENGLAND SHOULD APOLOGIZE TO U. S.

BERLIN, May 12.—A semi-official statement issued here today declares the need for making an apology for the loss of American lives on the Lusitania such as Germany already has made should be plain to England.

FORCING THE DARDANELLES.

They are reported to be debating in England at present whether the attempt to force the Dardanelles is a major or a minor operation of the war. London, like all great centres of population is rather disposed to hysteria. It may be less demonstrative, physically, than Paris. Mentally, it seems to be hardly less excitable. It has certainly shown much more inclination towards panic, on account of the Zeppelin bogey, than Paris, although Paris lies so much more open to attack.

When the assault upon the Dardanelles began, London went up in the air with expectation. When it was temporarily checked a fit of depression followed which has grown deeper and deeper until now some London papers are searching for a scapegoat on whom to lay the blame for the whole undertaking. They seem to have selected Mr. Winston Churchill for the goat's part. Probably Mr. Churchill will not object. If the onus falls on him now, his must be the credit of ultimate success. In any event, Mr. Churchill's desires will have been fulfilled, for he is one of those who would much rather be abused than not mentioned.

At this distance, it looks as though the Dardanelles operations were likely to be an early and triumphant success. If the land forces of the Allies, now co-operating with the Fleet, are at all adequate, the difficulties in the way would appear to be by no means discouraging. The forts at the western entrance of the Strait—two on each side—have already been destroyed. A small observation fort, near the Aegean was early knocked to pieces. The forts on both shores almost up to the Narrows, have been silenced. The forts at the Narrows are, with two exceptions, on the water level. The two exceptions are situated on hills to the northeast of Kilit Bahr.

From none of these forts can fire be directed landwards. They were constructed strictly for sea defence. If, therefore, the land forces of the Allies, which have got footing on shore to the west, north and east of the forts, can advance across the from five to ten miles of rugged, hilly country they will be able to overlook the forts and make them inoperable against a concerted sea assault. The whole peninsula of Gallipoli has been cut off by the seizure of the eastern isthmus, the reduction of the Bulair Lines and the occupation of the town of Gallipoli. The Narrows lie from thirteen to fifteen miles up the Strait. East of them the Dardanelles is wholly unfortified until the Sea of Marmora is reached.

The forcing of the Dardanelles, therefore, if the land forces available are at all adequate, should not be an impossible or even a very difficult operation. We confidently hope to see it accomplished at a comparatively early date. The Allied Fleet has already penetrated so far into the Strait that it commands completely the three or four miles of Narrows, between Kilit Bahr and Chanak up to Nagara, and can prevent the passage of reinforcements from the Asiatic to the European side, or up or down the Strait. Only a day or two ago the Queen Elizabeth sank, after three shots, a ten thousand ton Turkish transport, probably bearing troops. There are admittedly not more than sixty thousand German and Turkish soldiers in the Peninsula. If these can neither be added to nor supplied either by land or sea, their complete defeat should not be long deferred.

With the Dardanelles once opened and cleared of mines, and their shores occupied by Allied troops, the rest of the undertaking ought not to be difficult. The island fortifications in the Sea of Marmora, and the City of Constantinople itself would not necessarily have to be reduced immediately. It would be sufficient to mask them with naval detachments whilst the Bosphorus was being cleared to the Black Sea. The Bosphorus is only thirteen miles in length, as against the thirty-three miles of the Dardanelles. It is not nearly as strongly defended as the Dardanelles, and Russian naval and military forces would be available to assist in the clearing of it.

After that the wide ocean would be as free and open to Russia as to her Allies. Her vast accumulations of foodstuffs could at once be thrown upon the markets of the Allies and the neutral nations, greatly reducing the cost of living and relieving the financial situation. Much needed military supplies could immediately be sent to Russia from Europe and America. In this aspect of the question, therefore, there can be no doubt that the attack on the Dardanelles is emphatically a "major operation" of the war, even apart entirely from the influence which it may have on the Italian and Balkan situations. No more promising blow could be struck at Germany, west of the Rhine, than the forcing of the Dardanelles and the resulting free entrance to and exit from the Black Sea for the Allies would prove.

We have every confidence that the great scientific stroke now being delivered in the Near East will speedily prove effective. We must decline to believe for a moment that Mr. Winston Churchill is solely or even principally responsible for it. It has far too much the appearance of being the result of sound concerted military and naval strategy on the part of the Allies, for any such supposition to be at all tenable.

WATCHFUL WAITING.

No other event could have so aroused the public opinion of the world as that spectacular murder on Friday afternoon when the Lusitania went to her doom carrying down her precious burden of women and children and unarmed men. This satanic crime stands out from the others in its enormity and its diabolical recklessness of what other nations may think or do. The German Kaiser has succeeded Abdul Hamid as the grand assassin of the world.

On every side we hear the query—"What will the United States do now?" As the London Times has already pointed out, it is not for us to direct or dictate to the American nation what their foreign policy is to be, even when their own undefended subjects are being slaughtered quite as ruthlessly as were the babies in Belgium and the school children at Hartlepool and Scarborough.

American subjects have in many cases been assassinated within the past two years in battle-torn Mexico. But the once imperious, proud, and potential United States Government has allowed the cut-throat to pursue his deadly work unmolested, and has taken up its supinely timid position of "watchful waiting."

What a contrast this has been to the policy of Great Britain. The British will stand no small amount of ingratitude, of insults to their "honor," and of foreign bullying and aggression, and never say a word. But once let any alien nation lay its unholy hands upon a British subject and the air instantly becomes thick with trouble.

Great Britain's idea of what British citizenship means is best illustrated by what Great Britain actually did in the war with Abyssinia in 1867-8. King Theodore of Abyssinia seized Captain Cameron, a British citizen, and incarcerated him in a fortress dungeon on the top of Magdala, a mountain nine thousand feet high. Britain demanded his release, and King Theodore refused. England fitted out and sent on 5,000 English soldiers and 10,000 Sepoys. They were debarked at the coast and marched across four hundred miles of a mountainous and roadless country. The army had to make its way, now under burning sun, and now amid storms of rain and sleet, through broken and perplexing mountain gorges and over mountain heights, ten thousand feet above the sea-level. Magdala was perched upon cliffs so precipitous that it was said a cat could not climb them, except at two points—one north and one south—at each of which a narrow path led up to a strong gateway.

The British soldiers crept up the mountain height, they scaled the walls, they broke down the iron gates, they marched down into the dungeon, they took this one British citizen, like a brand from the burning, and carried him across mountain, morass and burning plain, put him on board the waiting British man-of-war, and bore him back to England in safety.

To rescue that one British subject cost the government of Great Britain millions of dollars and it made General Napier, Lord Napier of Magdala.

The late Senator Frye of Massachusetts in commenting upon this magnificent exhibition of governmental protection of its subjects exclaimed in a burst of eloquence—

"Now was not that a magnificent thing for a great country to do? Think of it! A country that has an eye sharp enough to see way across the ocean, way across the morass, way up into the mountain top, way down into the dungeon, one citizen, one of her millions of subjects, and then has an arm strong enough to reach way across the ocean, way across the morass, way up into the mountain height and down into the dungeon, and take that one and bear him away home in safety. In the name of the dear God, who would not live and die, too, for the country that can do that?"

Who would now say that Great Britain paid too high a price to release that one British subject? The millions of dollars were paid, but it meant that the British flag was something to be honored and respected by civilized nation and barbarian alike the world over.

If Great Britain were in the position that the United States occupies now, can we imagine the British government sitting down in impotent ease. We who are British subjects know that this wholesale, culminating assassination would have been answered almost instantly with British decks cleared for action.

The American government knows well the German contention. The American government knows that American ships have been sunk, and American subjects have been brutally murdered and sent to the depths of the sea with less consideration than if they were cattle. They know that such inhuman crimes were committed even before the Lusitania set out upon that last fatal voyage.

Is "watchful waiting" to be the only answer that the American government has to give to the German assassin's challenge?

Is the comparative passivity of the Canadian government now to be succeeded by a war policy that is adequate and commensurate with our resources of men and money? Our citizenship is aroused, but the government hesitates and dallies and lingers. Surely we have played the part of spectators long enough. Our forces at the front and in training are pitifully small compared with what we might and should have done.

Leading and influential Conservatives of Belleville have already rendered a patriotic service in helping to avert the disgrace and disaster of an unnecessary wartime election. They can render a further patriotic service by bringing pressure to bear upon the government to issue an instant call for another hundred thousand volunteers.

TOURING CARS WILL BE IN DEMAND.

More automobiles have been sold in Belleville the past few weeks than has been the case in any season since the benzine buggy first came on the market. It is not for us to say whether this is an evidence of prosperity or a competition in extravagance. It is probable that the great majority of the purchasers can well afford the outlay and that with many the "mobe" will be more a means of facilitating business than of pursuing pleasure.

The sales, in the midst of all this talk about depression, hard times and war stringency, are really an occasion for surprise, but it will occasion greater surprise if almost every dairyman in the district does not provide himself with a limousine or a high-grade touring-car in the near future.

On Saturday the punky, tasteless, April fodder cheese sold on Belleville board for eighteen and three-eighths cents a pound. This is almost double the regular price that has prevailed in former years for this poor imitation of real cheese, and high record price by big odds over any preceding year. Coupled with this is the additional fact that the remarkably warm weather and frequent showers have produced a luxuriance of pasture that was not equalled at any time in the growing season of 1914. There was a great scarcity of fodder for cattle last year, and therefore the coming of early pasture was never more needed or welcome or profitable.

Automobile salesmen will do well to interview the dairymen farmers without delay.

PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM.

While there are too many who are using this war as a convenient means for supplying their pockets with a long-green lining, we should not gather the impression that any large proportion of the people belong to the grafting species. The recent magnificent response to the appeal for the Patriotic Fund in Belleville shows that the heart of our citizenship beats true and that the great majority are willing to do their utmost, without hope of personal profit, unselfishly, and unostentatiously, to assist in the great work of fighting the national battle for existence.

Among those who are contributing in various ways, we feel like giving special acknowledgement to Mr. W. B. Northrup, M.P., who has donated his beautiful and capacious residence on Front Street North as a home and hospital where badly wounded soldiers will be accommodated in the period of convalescence. This is an evidence of practical patriotism, which, after all, is the only kind that counts.

This is not the only patriotic service that Mr. Northrup has rendered to his country at this particular time. He has been among that small group of Conservative members of the Commons who have strenuously opposed a wartime election. His attitude in regard to a premature appeal to the electors was clearly demonstrated in the published reports of committee proceedings during the last session of parliament. It often requires more courage to fight the would-be mischief-makers in one's own household than it does to fight the open and avowed enemy.

The Lusitania carried no guns and was in no sense an auxiliary cruiser. Some time ago the United States Government announced that liners carrying guns would be interned, and since then no trans-Atlantic liner flying the British flag has been armed.

Lord Rosebery, in a speech in Edinburgh the other day, said that there was at one time an idea that Lord Kitchener was opposed to "Bantam" battalions. He mentioned this to Lord Kitchener, and received a letter in reply which began as follows: "If anyone says I am opposed to Bantams he is a liar." Anything more concise or expressive as a renunciation of a heresy, Lord Rosebery added, I cannot conceive.

There is no doubt that the already greatly lessened prestige of the government has been further decidedly reduced by all this incendiary election talk in the midst of war. It has been many years since the Canadian people showed such unanimous impatience and extreme dissatisfaction with any governmental proposal as that to force an unnecessary election contest while we should be giving our united energies to fighting our powerful enemies abroad.

It now looks as if the proposed June Election had been cruelly electrocuted, not because the necessity for it was any less pressing than before, but because the government realised that they would encounter a smashing defeat if they attempted so transparent a scheme of playing Germany's game. It is morally certain that had they gone on with their Germanic proposals that they would not have been able to secure a majority in any province of the Dominion, not even in Ontario.

If, however, it is the intention of the government merely to postpone an election until September they might far better have gone to the polls now and have it over with. Ever since the war started the government has been dangleing this election possibility before the country and it is bad for the very serious business we have in hand. Let us either have an election or an end of election talk.

These are the dark days of the war, and we are suffering bitter disappointment because one reverse or disaster has been following another for nearly three weeks past, just at the time when we had been looking for the beginning of the end. The loss of the Lusitania yesterday afternoon, it is to be feared, will have an effect on public opinion out of all proportion to its importance. On the other hand if pessimism is succeeded by determination greater than ever, the loss may be a blessing in disguise. We have all along maintained that Canada as a potential part of the British Empire was not doing more than a fraction of its duty. Had we done our fair share, as England is now doing it, we would already have in the field, or well advanced in active training, fully half a million men, instead of only a hundred thousand. It is to be hoped that the deep necessity now lying upon us will be realized to the full by the leaders of our government and by the humblest citizen. It is not a time for pessimism but for noble action.

If Great Britain could only utilize the services of some of those stalwart patriots and astute strategists, who congregate every morning, afternoon and evening around the four corners of Bridge and Front Streets, the war would be brought to a speedy termination. They have forgotten more about the fine pints of strategy than French or Joffre ever knew. So much wisdom and energy going to waste at this time of patriotism, production and acute military necessity is a shameless piece of extravagance or lack of foresight, or both.

Kinsale, Ireland, May 10.—The Coroner's jury which has been investigating the deaths attendant upon the loss of the Lusitania, at Kinsale, Ireland, returned the following verdict yesterday:

"The jury find that this appalling crime was contrary to international law and the conventions of all civilized nations, and we therefore charge the officers of the submarine and the German Emperor and the Government of Germany, under whose orders they acted, with the crime of wilful and wholesale murder."

REQUIESCAT IN PACE.

Laid in their Lowland graces with flowers decked,
Brave sons of this Dominion nobly rest,
Fallen in freedom's cause—nor danger recked
Where duty called, and people were oppressed.

Oh! heave no sigh and make no moan nor weep,
Such annals of the strife, are writ in stone,
As those accomplished by the brave who sleep
In Flanders, and in peace—but not alone.

For ye do ill to weep for conquerors, dead,
Their lives meant gain for all; then shall ye moan?

Would ye that they had feared to face the lead
And like to cringing cowards stayed at home?

Garland their graves, and thank your living God
That ye could give your mother-love, your boy,
To fight, and then enrich the battle sod.
Oh, pray away your sorrow—cherish joy!

When rivers flow no more and blossoms cease
To garnish homely fields in glad spring day,
When love of youthful hearts shall fail to please,
Their face shall pass—but not till then—away.
—Matthew Wayman.

Other Editors' Opinions

THE LEAST EXCUSABLE BELLIGERENT.

To persons of neutral mind today presents a curious and no admiralable spectacle. Most Americans, perhaps, look on her pretensions to enter the war with tolerance. They feel that her participation will not really change current of events, but will make the end come quicker. But even those who believe Italy may thus be acting for the best interests of the world are inclined to give her little credit for her conduct.

The plain fact is that Italy is playing a role which history will probably call dishonorable. In no other development of this complex war has there been an exhibition of such cold-blooded opportunism, such indifference of a nation to considerations of morals and honor that a private citizen usually considers binding.

Every other nation entering the war has done so for some ideal which neutrals can understand and even sympathize with. The German people, rightly or wrongly, believed they had to wage an apparently aggressive war for the sake of their own safety. Austro-Hungary doubtless felt the "Slav peril" as a real thing, and considered her aggressions against Serbia as broadly defensive. Russia, though actuated partly by jealousy and fear of the growing power of Germany and Austria, seems to have been moved no less strongly by a racial sympathy for her fellow-Slavs of Serbia which is unselfish and admirable. France, of course, had to fight for her life when attacked. Of Belgium's justification there is no question in America. As for Great Britain, she was evidently influenced at least as much by a desire to save and avenge Belgium as by a desire to crush her greatest rival while there was a chance.

Italy has no such quarrel as any of these nations. And in the light of her recent history, her entrance into the Armageddon is hardest to justify. She is fighting for an "ideal," to be sure—for what her statesmen call "Italy's national aspirations." That means, she is fighting for an enlargement of her territory. It is to her credit that the territory she demands, the provinces of Trieste, Trentino and Dalmatia—are mostly Italian in population, and in a perfectly reorganized Europe those "unredeemed" provinces ought to be joined to Italy for good. But for all that, the fact that Italy undertakes to wrest them from Austria at a time when Austria is prostrate; she demands them not from a recognized enemy, but from an ally; and she alleges no offense—she simply wants the territory.

When Italy forsook her allies, Germany and Austria on the ground that their war was aggressive, and she was not pledged to help them in such a contest, the neutral world approved. If she had maintained neutrality, she would have set a noble example to the world. But to turn on her recent ally, in that ally's darkest hour, without cause of offense, without pretending to avenge a wrong—unless it be ancient, half-forgotten wrongs—that can win her no foreign praise.

The unanimity of Italy for the war is half calculating statesmanship that does not feel itself obliged to weigh moral consideration, and half the enthusiasm of an unthinking populace drunk with the false wine of militarism. Modern Italy has the reputation of never having made a diplomatic mistake. Its people are not yet sufficiently used to their new freedom and nationality to feel the responsibility of it. The nation is dreaming of its ancient glories when Rome ruled Europe. The world has despised Italy, in the long ages when she was under the heel of upstart nations; now Italy her youth revived, will show them whether she is to be scorned or whether she is a world-power! So she will seize what she wants of Austria, as she seized Tripoli but lately.

And to gain the husk of territory, she will sacrifice the kernel of domestic development and prosperity. The money the war will cost her would suffice to finance steamship and railroad lines, to dredge rivers and harbors, to build docks and warehouses, to open mines and erect factories. Her banking, industry, transportation and commerce today are largely in the hands of foreigners. Yet she turns away from these opportunities for peaceful, productive conquest to squander her borrowed money and her wealth of young manhood in a deceptive quest for mere territory.—Bisbee (Arizona) Review.

THE WAR AND ITS SIDELIGHTS

FOUR ZEPPELINS OVER THAMES ESTUARY TODAY

Hospital Bombed With 38 Bombs—Many Buildings Burned and Damaged—Loss of Life Reported.

LONDON, May 10.—Zeppelins or aeroplanes flew over Southend and its suburb West Cliff at the mouth of the Thames, forty miles from London early today. Many bombs were dropped and extensive property damage was done, many buildings either being badly damaged or set on fire. Mrs. Agnes Whitwell who jumped from a window was killed; there are unconfirmed rumors of further loss of life. 38 bombs fell around Queen Mary's hospital, but fortunately none hit the structure.

Several shops are reported to have been burned at Leigh a town near Southend. Four Zeppelins are said to have dropped forty or fifty bombs there. The raiders proceeded as far as Benfleet and then turned seaward heading back to Germany.

Forty British Prisoners Burned Alive in Hangar

LONDON, May 11.—The Press Bureau has given out a Foreign Office statement enclosing sworn statements from two Dutch newspaper men in which the charge is made that British prisoners of war were shot by German troops. The documents comprise statements alleged to have been made to the newspaper men by two German deserters to the effect that the Bavarian regiments were ordered by Prince Rupprecht to take no British prisoners under pain of severe punishment. All had to be shot, the deserters said.

One case is instanced in which it is alleged that 40 British prisoners were burned alive in a hangar, the Germans concerned receiving a medal. Another instance deals with 24 British prisoners alleged to have been shot against a wall at Warwick.

The German deserters who are said to have been responsible for these stories disappeared mysteriously following a visit to the German Consul.

Crucifixion of Canadian Confirmed

LONDON, May 11.—The Morning Post's Paris correspondent says, wounded Canadians there are all certain that the Germans are particularly vindictive towards them and that they all firmly believe the story of the Canadian soldier who was crucified. Officers of the Dublin Fusiliers they assert actually came across the body nailed to a door with the hands and feet pierced with bayonets and the body riddled with bullets.

WARLIKE ACTION OF U. S. NAVY LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Resolutions calling upon President Wilson to summons Congress in extra session to authorize a bond issue of $500,000,000 "to provide this country with adequate means of naval defence" were adopted by the navy league of the United States through its executive today.

FIERCE ANTI-GERMAN RIOTS IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 12.—Anti-German riots in the east end of London were renewed this morning with even greater violence than yesterday. A number of German establishments were raided and sacked, and their contents scattered over the streets. The Germans themselves were forced to go into hiding. The police in some cases were defied by the angry crowds and some officers were injured during the endeavors to protect the Teutons.

SPECIAL CABINET MEETING CALLED.

LONDON, May 12.—A special cabinet meeting has been called to discuss the "alien enemy" problem. There is a growing feeling that the time has arrived when all persons of German, Turkish, or Austrian birth, whether naturalized or not, should be interned until the end of the war.

FRENCH REPORT OF YESTERDAY'S ENGAGEMENTS.

PARIS, May 12.—The French War Office issued the following statement this afternoon. In the sector to the north of Arras, we have maintained our gains, excepting in front of Loos, where a night counter-attack resulted in taking from us a part of the territory we captured in the day-time. On the rest of the front yesterday saw artillery engagements.

THREE LARGE TURKISH SHIPS SUNK.

PETROGRAD, May 12.—The Russian Black Sea fleet has sunk three large Turkish ships near Soungul on the Turkish Black Sea coast, according to advices received here today from Sebastopol.

MORE ZEPPELINS SIGHTED OFF THE ENGLISH COAST.

LONDON, May 12.—A Zeppelin was seen passing over Sunderland last evening according to the Daily News, and another was observed from Yarmouth sailing toward the east coast. Nothing later has been heard from the machines.

ANTI-GERMAN FEELING HIGH IN SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, May 12.—A Johannesburg despatch says citizens are crowding to the Town Hall to sign a petition asking to call a mass meeting to voice protests against Germany's action as anti-German feeling is running high there as the result of the Lusitania tragedy.

A large German flag is spread on the ground where the pe-

UNKNOWN STEAMER TORPEDOED AND FIRED.

LONDON, May 12.—An Amsterdam despatch says an unidentified steamer was torpedoed and set afire off Schiermonnikoog, a Netherland's island in the North Sea. The wreckage is still burning and nothing is known regarding the fate of the crew.

GRADUAL RETREAT OF RUSSIANS IN GALICIA.

PETROGRAD, May 12.—Admitting a gradual retreat and very heavy losses to their own forces in Galicia, the Russian War Office declared today that the losses of the Germans already are overwhelming. The Russian lines in Galicia are now said to be holding new positions and checking the German advance.

In the Baltic provinces the Germans are now reported to be slowly retreating, the Russian forces there having been heavily reinforced.

MILL OWNER MURDERED IN ONTARIO.

PORT ROWAN, May 12.—Christopher Shoup, proprietor of a grist mill near Walsingham Centre, was found murdered early today on his property. He had been shot; the occurrence is shrouded in the deepest mystery.

BRITISH WEAR MASKS AND SLAUGHTER FOE.

LONDON, May 12.—The British War Office made public last night the following communication:

"Yesterday afternoon the Germans made another attack east of Ypres, in the neighborhood of the Menin road. Although they subjected our trenches to a very heavy bombardment and made their infantry advance under cover of poisonous gas, their attack failed.

"During this attack our shrapnel inflicted very heavy casualties on the enemy when they were in mass formation, literally mowing them down.

"Today there have been artillery actions on the greater part of the front."

The French official statement tonight says: "To the east of Ypres the British troops have been attacked again with the aid of asphyxiating gases. They allowed the fumes to pass over, under the protection of masks recently put into use, and by rifle and machine-gun fire they annihilated at the very point of their guns the German columns which has advanced in close formation."

WAR DEMONSTRATIONS IN ROME.

ROME, May 12.—Troops were called out last night to disperse a great crowd of war enthusiasts who attempted to storm the residence of former Premier Giolitti, who is regarded as the leader of the peace party.

Demonstrations are occurring in the larger towns throughout the country. The final Austrian counter proposals are expected shortly.

Japanese Success in Refloating Cruiser

TOKIO, May 11.—The Japanese armored cruiser Asama, which ran ashore on the coast of lower California on Feb. 4, has been refloated, according to official announcement made here. The Asama will probably be docked and repaired at San Francisco.

Russians Defeat Turks

PETROGRAD, May 11.—A big victory has been won over the Turkish army near Oti in Armenia by the Russian army of the Caucasus, the Turks being dislodged from their positions and driven back to the southwest.

This was the inspiring news given out by the Russian war office last night on receipt of word of the success of the operations from the headquarters of the Russian army of the Caucasus. The Turks the report adds were driven in such hurried flight as to force them to abandon a large number of their tents and a large quantity of ammunition.

A Russian army is also marching on Tabriz, the capital of Persia, has driven the Turks from the south pass of the Caucasus, and has occupied the neighboring villages.

Oti, near which the more important success was gained, is a town on the border of Russian and Turkish Armenia.

RUSSIAN ARMY EXTRICATED FROM DANGEROUS SITUATION.

PETROGRAD, May 12.—The following Russian official communication was issued tonight: "After a series of successful advance guard collisions, our troops yesterday approached Shavli, in the Baltic province of Kovno, which was occupied by the enemy, and a battle ensued. In the same region our cavalry on a wide front is pressing the enemy cavalry to the borders and has taken several prisoners.

"On the front between the Vistula and the Carpathians the enemy continues his attacks. On the evening of the 9th in the principal sector of the fighting, the situation created was unfavorable for us. Nevertheless, an impetuous attack by our reserves against the enemy's right wing, which was attempting to pierce our front, stopped the German onset and arrested at its outset the development of a success for the enemy and enabled our troops in the threatened sector to

ROOSEVELT FLAYS WILD BEASTS OF SEA.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Theodore Roosevelt in an article entitled "Murder on the High Seas," in the Metropolitan Magazine for June, declares that Germany has not established an effective blockade of the French and British coast lines. He calls the destruction of the Lusitania wholesale murder, and says that this country must act with vigor in order to preserve the self-respect of the Republic and to fulfill the duty demanded by humanity at large.

BODY OF MR. VANDERBILT HAS BEEN RECOVERED.

LONDON, May 12.—A despatch from Queenstown reports that the body of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt has been found. No details are given.

GOVERNMENT OF MANITOBA HAS RESIGNED

SPECIAL 4 P.M.

WINNIPEG, May 12.—The Roblin government as foreshadowed resigned office today. T. C. Norris, the opposition leader was at once called upon to form a new administration. Premier Roblin subsequently issued a statement in which he said the government had resigned office because the authority and jurisdiction of the Royal Commission appointed to enquire into the allegations of over-payments and other matters in connection with the construction of the new parliament buildings had been challenged and because it was convinced as a result of the departmental enquiry that adjustments between the province and the contractors were necessary and believed that such adjustments could be made with more satisfaction to the public by a government. The government also realized, Mr. Roblin continued, that constitutionally they were responsible for the acts of their officials in matters of this kind. Mr. Roblin added that he felt that he could justly claim that he had during his 35 years of public life devoted himself to the promotion of the best interests to the province and its people.

Prince Edward Agricultural Society has always an excellent entertainment of sports for Victoria Day, May 24th. This year they have arranged a better programme than ever before, including horse races, motor cycle races, baseball match, Collegiate Cadet drill, band concerts. This is the first celebration of the season and Picton will have an immense crowd.

Former Resident Dead.

From The Bay City Tribune we learn that Mrs. Margaret James, relict of the late Captain George James, passed away at her city on the morning of April 21st at the age of 85 years. Her husband will be recalled by many of the older residents of Belleville. Prior to his removal to Belleville he served in the Belleville police force and for about ten years filled the office of chief. He was a veteran of the Crimean war and a man of strong character.

Another Local Casualty

Mrs. Carl Green, Lingham St., received an intimation from the Militia department at Ottawa, that her husband had been wounded. No further particulars were given. Gunner Green enlisted at Ganoquoque with the artillery branch of the service and went with the First contingent. He is a native of Ganoquoque, his father being postmaster there.

Farmers are away ahead with their work. If there is one man more than another who is entitled to a holiday it is the hard-working farmer after the heavy spring's work. And what better way could he spend it than by taking in the C.N.R. excursion to Picton on Victoria Day, May 24th. Prince Edward Agricultural Society is putting on for that day? The C.N.R. will run an excursion, single fare, on that day, and fore and one-third from Saturday till Tuesday, inclusive, returning on special train leaving Picton at 7.30 p.m. Monday, or on regular train Tuesday.

AMONG OUR CORRESPONDENTS

FRONT OF THURLOW.

The re-organization of Front Road Sunday School took place Sunday afternoon at the close of the school. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Robeson presided over the meeting. The secretary-treasurer's report showed that the school was in a flourishing condition financially and the following teachers and officers were re-elected:—Supt., Mr. A. Cooper; Asst. Supt., Mr. Geo. Hall; Sec.-Treas., Mr. Arthur Clazier; Organist, Miss Edith Bradshaw; Bible Class Teacher, Mr. Geo. Greathart; Boys Intermediate Teacher, Mr. Geo. Hall; Primary Teacher, Mrs. Geo. Hall; Auditors, Mr. Donald Bradshaw, and Mr. John Donaldson.

A great many from these attended the funeral of the late Mr. S. Gilbert, Thursday morning, 2nd con., yesterday afternoon. Mr. Muir of Belleville is visiting at the home of Mr. James Bennett. One of Mr. S. Mitchell's horses while pasturing near the creek yesterday afternoon became mired in the mud when attempting to get a drink, but fortunately was discovered and rescued in time. It is believed to prevent any serious consequences.

Mr. Roy Bell and four friends, of Campbellford, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell on Sunday and also attended the service for the Odd-fellows in the afternoon. The Odd-fellows of Frankford attended service in the Methodist church at 8 p.m. on Sunday, a large number from other towns being present. Rev. James Balstone was the officiating clergyman.

Mrs. E. Turley is in a very critical condition at the time of writing and she is gradually growing weaker. Mr. Charles Gallagher, mother of Mrs. Turley, is also very ill and very little hopes of her recovery is held out. Mrs. P. McCambridge is also very ill, she having had a fall some time ago and a few days ago she had a stroke. Early on Monday morning a message was received from Ottawa bringing the sad news of the death of another of our Frankford boys who went to the front with the first contingent, namely Mr. A. Bingham. He was among the first to volunteer for active service and has been missed from here as he was the leader of the choir in the Methodist church for some time before he left for active service. He was also a member of the Oddfellows.

Mrs. John Windover is at Kingston undergoing an operation on the eyes and at last reports she was doing nicely. The mother of Mr. Albert Ketcheson, of town, passed away at the home of her son, Mr. Geo. A. Ketcheson, of the 5th con. Sidney, on Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Will Cave have moved from the home of Mr. Lauder's house to Fred Cunningham's house. A week ago Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Miss Stella Davis spent Friday the guest of her cousin, Miss Gladys Stewart.

Mr. Herbie Sills, of Zion and also his old friend attended the Methodist church here last Sunday evening. Mrs. C. Hetherington is staying at the home of Mrs. George McCoy's. The Epworth League officers for the ensuing year are as follows:—Hon. Pres., Rev. W. J. Jones; Pres., Mrs. D. Chisholm; 1st Vice Pres., Miss E. M. Adams; 2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. C. Caverly; 3rd, Miss A. Clark; 4th, Miss R. Deynes; Sec. Miss Irene Prentice. The year just closed has been one of the most successful in the annals of the League and that in the face of the extraordinary drawbacks and demands incidental to the times. Besides meeting a number of other obligations the League contributed $75 to the forward movement. The leagueers are justly proud of their record for 1914 and with grateful hearts they are taking courage for greater things in the year to come. Mr. McLeod, a student from Queens work in the Presbyterian congregation an excellent preacher, an earnest pastor and a zealous worker. We bid him welcome and wish the congregation the prosperity which we feel assured will be their's under Mr. McLeod's guidance. The 24th of June has been decided upon as the date for the Presbyterian garden party this year. Further particulars will appear in due time.

BIG ISLAND.

May 12.—Kathleen Caughy spent Sunday at Mr. H. N. Moran's. Misses Helena and Dortha Goddumphy spent Saturday night at Mrs. Geo. Barrager's. Mr. Geo. Barrager is re-painting his house. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Sidney Fox lost a fine cow last week.

SIDNEY CROSSING.

May 12.—The fruit trees are a mass of bloom and there is every prospect of a bumper crop. Mr. John W. Young left on Monday last with his daughter, Mrs. J. Hyde, to spend the summer with her at Lisbon, N.D. Mr. Fred Spafford's horse became frightened during last week on the road from Belleville, he was thrown in the ditch and his arm hurt. Fortunately his injuries were not serious and he is able to be out again. Mr. Martin of Belleville, who purchased the W. R. Vandervoort home, has opened up a new grocery. Mr. Webster Kelly who has been ill for some time is no better. Master Everett Hubbel entertained about 30 of his young friends at his home on Saturday afternoon and a very happy time spent. Mrs. Wm. Blue has sold his Ford car to R. Phillips of Eldorado. Slive Wellington has purchased the lot on the corner from Mrs. Hudgins, nad has started to build a garage.

TRENTON. May 12.—A Mrs. Willis Cronk laid a complaint to the police on Saturday last, that her mother had been robbed of $150. It appears that the house was entered and the money abstracted from Mrs. Cronk's suit case. Captain James has requested the Council to provide revolvers and binoculars for the two Trenton officers who have volunteered for overseas service. Every officer from Trenton is entitled to these and should receive them. The Board of Trade Executive met last night and discussed advertising and street oiling. It was decided that there was no further use wasting the advertising was proposition and a committee to get into shape. Geo. La. Braash of the Peterboro mounted rifles was in town yesterday. Much to the regret of the community, it seems evident that Mr. H. W. Stanley, until lately teller at the Bank of Montreal, here, was drowned when the Lusitania went down. A cable came to the Bank of Montreal today from his mother stating that he was missing. Mr. W. Watts, of Perth, has joined the Bank of Montreal staff, and Mr. R. Hoag has replaced the late Mr. Stanley on the cash. Mrs. W. Ince, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Mowat. Capt. Gillespie will inspect the High School cadets tomorrow at Firemen's Park. Mr. M. W. Murdoch, of Florida, is visiting relatives in town. According to the Montreal Star, the Red Cross Society is in financial straits, and an appeal is being made for assistance. The Str. Belleville arrived in port today. She is the first arrival of the season. Owing to over-crowding only a portion of the public school children are able to attend each day. Surely this will provide an afternoon sport in horse racing that will make the blood tingle through the veins of every lover of horses. And to the above attraction will be added Motor Cycle races, Baseball Match, Collegiate Cadet Drill, Band Concerts, and a Merry-go-round has been provided for the enjoyment of the little ones. Surely this will make one of the most enjoyable days you have ever spent. See bills regarding excursion. Warts are unsightly blemishes, and corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove them.

MELROSE. May 12.—The recent frosts have done very little damage in this locality. Farmers are busy preparing for planting. Mother's Day was observed on Sunday evening in the Methodist church. Great praise is due those who so beautifully decorated the church, also Rev. Mr. Hall who delivered a very appropriate sermon for the occasion. Homer Demill has purchased an auto. Rev. Mr. Hall's parents, who have been visiting at his home, have returned to their home near Hamilton.

THIRD LINE SIDNEY. May 12.—The wet weather is making the spring seeding rather late. Master Clifford DeShane of Belleville, spent Sunday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Denton. Sorry to report that Mrs. J. Waite is very sick. Mr. Harry Denton spent Sunday with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher spent Sunday with friends in Trenton. A number of farmers are having lightning rods put on their buildings. Mrs. F. Pierce of Trenton, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Waite. House cleaning is the order of the day.

CROFTON. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Alwida Gerow of Belleville, in her bereavement occasioned by the death of her son Leslie, who was for a number of years a resident of this town. Mr. W. H. Mabee of Belleville, was through here last week representing the Merril Chemical Co. of Toronto. Miss Coral Fox is spending a few days with friends in Wellington. THE SOLDIER'S RESPONSIBILITY

Addresses at Sunday Night Meeting in City Hall.

The 39th Battalion mustered in full force at the city hall on Sunday night and witnessed an exhibition of moving pictures and of the British Parliamentary Recruiting Posters in colors. The men were addressed by Mr. McQueen, by Colonel Ponton and Colonel Preston, on subjects of vital interest, more especially regarding the responsibility of the soldier, not merely to his King and his country, but also directly to his battalion and his comrades.

Individual responsibility is indeed the note of service. Colonel Preston emphasized that every enlisted man in uniform should be a prohibitory law unto himself. "Give me a regimental battalion and I can lead it to victory anywhere in the world" to use Lord Roberts' words, Colonel Preston accentuated the importance of independent comradeship and of the effective work which the strong can do in aiding the weak.

Messages Written After the Battle

Mrs. Jno. I. Newton, Rear Street has received a service card from her son, H. G. Newton, of the 24th Battery now with the First Contingent in France, under date of April 27th, and therefore after the battle of Langemarck, informing her that he was quite well and that a letter would follow at the first opportunity.

Mr. Wm. Craig, Bleeker Ave., received two cards this morning bearing similar messages. One card was from his brother Walter Craig, the other from Carl Clarke. The latter reported that he was wounded and was resting comfortably at the hospital. Both cards bore the date of April 25th.

Military Notes

The company camped on Zwick's Island marched to the barracks this morning where the 39th Battalion is being reorganized today. The new Port Hope men have been fitted out with uniforms and equipment today.

OBITUARY

JACOB McDONALD Jacob McDonald, aged 84 years, a former laborer, who had been leading a retired life, died yesterday in Thurlow of old age at the House of Refuge.

OBSERVATIONS AND EXPERIENCES IN GERMANY

The thrilling, fascinating and tragic story of Mr. Elmer Luck's experiences for 8 months as a prisoner of War in Germany was told in the Tabernacle church, Friday night.

The church was beautifully decorated with Canadian flags in great profusion, covering the altar, pulpit and organ. This was in itself an artistic and patriotic display well worth seeing. These decorations will be left in place for Mr. Luck's next lecture next Friday night. Everyone hearing Mr. Luck's experiences and observations of German life and ideals must be convinced, if conviction is still necessary, that England was in duty bound to have drawn the sword on the side of the Allies even if Belgium had not been invaded by Germany.

Mr. Luck is well worth hearing. He has a case to present that ought to be heard by every Canadian from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Many towns and cities have already made engagements with him to tell his intensely interesting story. The choir of the Tabernacle church are to be congratulated on the splendid success of the evening. The evening program was introduced by several pleasing selections on the organ by Mrs. Duff. Mrs. Grant at the close sang with great effect Kipling's Recessional "Lest We Forget."

Instantly Killed While Sleep Walking

John Wilson, of Pickering Township, a retired farmer, 80 years of age, who lived in Grand River and the adjoining district all his life, met with a tragic death. While sleep-walking he fell down stairs, breaking his neck and dying instantly. Deceased, who was well-known and highly respected, leaves a widow and a family of 13 children. In political life he was a Liberal, and a member of the Methodist denomination.

LAI'D TO REST

The funeral of the late Samuel Meyers Gilbert, which took place yesterday afternoon, was very largely attended by residents of the township and city. The Rev. W. G. Clarke of the Tabernacle conducted a solemn service at the residence, 2nd Con. of Thurlow, Rev. Amos Campbell assisting. Interment was in Belleville cemetery, the bearers being Messrs. W. H. Hall, R. Garbutt, W. Hamilton, H. Atkins, A. W. Calnan, and G. Smith. Following is a list of the floral tributes to the late Mr. Gilbert: Gates ajar, wife, Mrs. S. M. Gilbert; Pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Gilbert and Mr. Myers Gilbert; Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith and Miss Alida Sutton; Out flowers, Miss M. G. Sills; Anchor, Mr. and Mrs. R. Garbutt; Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. J. Collip; Out flowers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reid; reath, Tabernacle Ladies' Aid; Out flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Poucher; reath, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hamilton; reath, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Calnan and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. DRAWING THE PEOPLE FROM GOD AND BIBLE

Are "Doctrines of Demons" responsible?

Satan's Successful Method—Why God Permits Darkness For Light—Faith and Love Tested—Responsibility of Preachers—God Slendered—Everybody's Duty—Truth Soon Triumphant—"They Shall Be Ashamed."

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 9.—Pastor Russell gave two addresses here to-day. We report the one from 1 Timothy 4:1, 2. It is a severe arraignment of education, and especially of ministers, no twelfth-century language.

The Pastor said: "We are gradually awakening to the fact that the world does not love God, but merely fears Him; and that few of the churches recognize Him as the gracious Heavenly Father. Although the Bible has told us repeatedly that God is Love, and His mercy endureth to the limit, and that from Him comes every good and perfect gift, nevertheless the doctrines of demons instilled into our minds from childhood have hindered us from appreciating these statements."

Back in the Second Century, when Bibles were printed by pen and very expensive and when few had the education to read them, Satan laid the foundation for gross errors. The clergy began to claim Apostolic Succession for the bishops, who assumed the title of Apostolic Bishops. This meant that they were successors to the Apostles, and consequently that their teachings were of equal authority. Gradually the deception fastened itself; nobody was allowed to preach except those authorized, or ordained, by those claiming to be inspired successors of the Apostles. The result was the separation of the Church as the clergy—the public being called the Children of the Church, or sometimes referred to as the laity.

Little later the Apostolic Bishops, with Emperor Constantine, started creed-making. Thereafter creeds took the place of Bible study; for the Emperor decided that the Nicene Creed would be the basis of Orthodoxy, and that any one differing from its teachings would be a heretic and subject to persecution. Any Bible study thenceforth meant liability to be counted a heretic and suffer accordingly. Thus Bible study was crowded out, and any reference to the Bible was considered a slight to these Bishops and the creeds which they had made.

How long did this last you ask? We answer, twelve hundred years; then the authority of the Bishops as Apostles began to be questioned. The Bible began to be sought and studied, but all who did this were esteemed heretics, or in danger of becoming such by getting out of touch with the creeds. How much error could be brought into the Church in twelve hundred years! Is it any wonder that now we find that our creeds have the hall error, and that the doctrines of devils which were worked into them as leaven have corrupted them entirely and made them injurious to spiritual health?

I remind you that this was the very prophecy which Jesus made—that leaven, corruption, would be hidden in the family portion. (Matthew 13:33, Luke 13:21.) Again, Jesus makes the same point in Revelation 17:4, 2, where a woman is shown, having in her hand a Golden Cup filled with her own false doctrines, with which she makes drunk all the inhabitants of the earth. The whole world has been drunk for centuries and now is awakening—some dazed, some angry, some hysterical, etc. But, thank God! we are getting awake; and that with our waking we perceive that the glorious Morning of the Millennium is near at hand. There, as promised, Messiah will assume His great power and begin His Reign, and will roll away the ignorance and superstition from the world and let in the true light of the knowledge of God's glory.—Isaiah 60:2, 3; Habakkuk 2:14.

I am not blaming our forefathers—Catholics or Protestants. Doubtless, there were bad men amongst them, but I believe there were also good men and sincere. I am blaming the great Adversary, Satan, and his demons, the fallen angels, as the Apostle does. We have been debauched by these "doctrines of demons," as the Apostle in our text declares prophetically. It was about the year 1500 A. D. that the people began to desire the New Testament and to doubt the inspiration of the Apostolic Bishops. About that time Prof. Tyndale translated the New Testament into the English language, but could not get it printed in Great Britain, because of the power of the Bishops—Protestant Bishops, mark you, state that the Word of God in the hands of the people would discount their authority. Tyndale persevered, had his New Testament printed in Germany, and then imported it to London. Although few of the people could read, they began to buy the books eagerly, but the few learned ones might read to them. The Apostolic Bishops feared that this would mean the loss of their prestige; for the people would think for themselves. The Bishops bought up the entire edition and burned the books publicly in front of St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

Surely, Jesus forewarned us of these would-be Apostles! (Revelation 12:2.) He appointed only twelve, and recognized St. Paul as the successor to Judas. These Twelve were to be His special mouthpieces and were the crown of twelve stars of the Church and its twelve foundation stones. (Revelation 12:1, 2; 21:14.) Referring to the illegal Apostolic Bishops, Jesus said, "I will try them which say they are Apostles and are not, and have found them liars."—Revelation 2:2; 2 Corinthians 11:13.

Burning the New Testament made the matter worse. The people wanted to know why they should not be permitted to read the words of Jesus and the original Twelve. The pseudo-apostles got busy and produced what they styled the Bishops' Bible, and gave it to the people. But with the Bible they gave threats that if the people in any way, through reading that Bible, would get out of harmony with the creeds, they would go to eternal torture. Poor people, brow-beaten and hindered by their very ones who professed to be their leaders, by Divine appointment! Poor bishops, deceived by the "doctrines of demons" into taking this terrible position!

Roman Catholics also saw the opportunity for giving the Bible to the people and thus affecting, as the Protestants did, to be progressive friends of the Bible. They got out the Douay edition. Each party warned the people that the other's translation was especially wrong, although, as a matter of fact, there is little difference; and the attempt was to hinder the people from studying the Bible.

The same spirit is manifested everywhere yet. Whoever will agree with the creeds, Catholic and Protestant, is tolerated by his own class. Whoever presents the Bible without sectarian bias, and shows its simplicity and purity, a Divine Message of love and mercy, that person is branded a heretic and dangerous; and any vilification heaped upon him is reckoned as service to God, however false. It is not surprising that we have been centuries in getting out of the darkness of the past; but it is surprising to what extent we have been hoodwinked by the Adversary.

From first to last, the "doctrines of demons" and various falsehoods designed to misrepresent God's character and dealings, and thus to hinder the light of God's Message from taking effect in human hearts. But, you say, could not God have hindered Satan from practicing deception, slandering and slandering His character? Surely He could, as He declares He will soon do. But repeatedly the Lord indicates that it has been His purpose not to use force in the gathering of His Church. "God hath given unto us exceeding great and precious promises, that by these we might become partakers of the Divine nature." (2 Peter 1:4.) We are God's workmanship; but He is working merely through His promises and seeking a class who will respond to His Message and promises. By and by, through Messiah's Kingdom, He will be used for the instruction of others; but those now being selected from the world are to be taken out without hands—without human power, without any power except that of the Truth. "Sanctify them by Thy Word. Thy Word is Truth." (John 17:17.) To whatever extent God's Word is received into a good and honest heart, it does a work of transformation—"transformed by the renewing of your mind" through the Holy Spirit.—Romans 12:2.

Satan, personally and through his demon hosts of fallen angels, seeks to misrepresent God's Message, God's character. St. Paul tells us this, saying, "The god of this world hath blinded the minds of those who believe not, lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the Image of God, should shine unto them." (2 Cor. 4:4.) If the light of God's goodness shine into any heart, it will be by the Truth shining in, which will have the effect of scattering the error and sin and of drawing that person nearer to God. In hoping today that more light of Divine Truth will shine into all our hearts, that we may be drawn nearer to our God and separated more and more from sin and everything opposed to God.

What is to crush this slander against the Almighty, which Satan has manufactured? He got us to believe that before God created man He made a great place called Hell. Sheol, Hades, supplied with fireproof devils and with fuel to last for all eternity, and then made man, knowing that nearly everybody would go to that awful place, only one in ten thousand being saintly enough to escape it. Additionally, we were taught that we would be rendered indestructible, in order that our torments might last eternally. I refuse to believe that any human mind could ever make up my mind to believe that. I think too highly of my fellow creatures. I accept those doctrines, as the Apostle does in our text, to demons; and as he explains, their object was to separate us from God and from the Bible, God's Word.

where (Romans 8:23); and, "If you, that sinnest, it shall die" (Ezekiel 18:4, 20). If we had believed the Bible, we would have been spared the nonsense, the fear, the torture, the delusions, which have troubled us. But we neglected God's Word and took the word of Satan, the Serpent.

These doctrines of demons include Purgatory and masses to get out of Purgatory. They include the work of spirit mediums for the bishops and priests are deceived, so are mediums. They verily think that they are communicating with dead humans; whereas the Bible makes clear that they are being deceived by the fallen angels, the demons, who know all about our dead friends, and through these mediums try to impress upon us that our friends are alive, thus giving the only confirmation now there is to Satan's lie that the dead are alive. Poor creatures who come under the influence of evil spirits tell us distinctly that the spirits who claimed to be their dead friends declare plainly, after getting control of these unfortunate, that they are demons, and then proceed to terrify their victims by telling that they will soon have them in eternal torture.

At first thought it would appear as though Satan would not favor anything telling about future trouble; and thus many are deceived into thinking that whatever tells of the goodness and love of God must be a deception of the Devil. Let us notice again the line of the Adversary's attack. He skillfully uses preachers, evangelists and the profane—all to tell about Hell and devils, and the creeds to tell that all that is God's Plan. Thus effectively he puts a barrier between God and the people, and drives them from God and from the Bible.

Have not these "doctrines of devils" led thinking people away from God and religion into social business and nonsense? Have not some men been led to plunge into business, others into novel reading, theatre-going, drinking, carousing, gaming—anything to keep their minds off the most important things, the things of God, the things which the Bible teaches? Surely it is so! And yet there are thousands of ministers who are preaching Hell-fire torment, but who do not believe a word of what they say; and who think they are doing it to keep people from going into sin. Do they think that they are wiser than God? Do they expect to hear the Master's "Well done, good and faithful servant" for having slandered God's name, His character and message, for having deceived the people, when He plainly told them that the Truth alone will sanctify?

I sympathize with the preachers; they are in a terrible place, as the Apostle describes in our text. "Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron." Only a badly seared conscience could approve of the slandering of Almighty God and the representing of Him as being worse than the worst of all human beings—worse than the worst of devils we could possibly imagine. It would be a hard matter for these gentlemen, so long looked up to as standard-bearers for God and the Truth, to come forward and confess that their pedestals and tell the people plainly. We have been deceiving you all, or at least have been keeping you in ignorance of the Truth, for the sake of the salaries we received. BERLIN, May 11.--The following despatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy at Washington:

"Please communicate the following to the state department: The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government, which, through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany, has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures.

"In spite of the German effort to stop the submarine war, in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible.

"They cannot, therefore, be treated as ordinary merchant vessels. A recent declaration made to the British Parliament by the parliamentary secretary, in answer to a question by Lord Charles Bessford, said that at the present practically all British merchant vessels were armed and provided with hand grenades.

"Besides, it has been openly admitted by the English press that the Lusitania on previous voyages repeatedly carried large quantities of war material. On the present voyage the Lusitania carried 5400 cases of ammunition, while the rest of her cargo also consisted chiefly of contraband.

"If England, after repeated official and unofficial warnings, considered herself able to declare that that best ran no risk and thus light-heartedly assumed responsibility for the human life on board, a steamer which, owing to its armament cargo, was liable to destruction, the German government, in spite of its heartfelt sympathy for the loss of American lives, cannot but regret that Americans felt more inclination to trust to English promises rather than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side.

"(Signed) Foreign Office."

How do you travel? DIRECT or "ROUNDABOUT"? If you were going from London to Toronto, would you take a train straight through to save time and money? Or would you buy a ticket to Detroit, another from Detroit to Chatham, and then a third from Chatham to Toronto--paying extra on every stop?

When you buy PAGE FENCE DIRECT--FREIGHT PAID--your money travels DIRECT--goes farther--buys BETTER Fence at LOWEST cost. You cut out all the "local" stops--Sales manager, Organizer and Dealer. Instead of paying 25 p.c. to 50 p.c. for "selling-expense," you put ALL the money into FENCE.

Buying through the "Middlemen" is like taking the "roundabout" route. Every stop adds to the PRICE of your fence--but not one bit to the QUALITY. THESE PRICES GOOD TO JULY 1st, 1915.

"WH-N YOU GET TO HEAVEN"

Rev. "Billy" Sunday's Vision of Life Beyond the Grave.

Not only has God promised you salvation on the grounds of your acceptance of Jesus Christ as your Saviour, but HE HAS PROMISED TO GIVE YOU A HOME IN WHICH TO SPEND ETERNITY!

Listen to Christ's own words: "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

Some people say HEAVEN is a state or condition. I don't believe it. Heaven is as much a place as the home to which you are going is a place. "I go to prepare a PLACE for you."

Now don't let God be compelled to hang a "For Rent" sign in the window of the mansion He has prepared for you.

And, oh, what a time we'll have in heaven! Say, in heaven they never mar the hillside with spades, for they dig no graves.

In heaven they never telephone for the doctor; nobody gets sick.

In heaven nobody carries handkerchiefs, for nobody cries.

In heaven they never phone for the undertaker, for nobody dies.

In heaven you will never see a funeral procession going down the street, nor crepe hanging from the doorknob. In heaven none of the things that enter your home here will enter there. In heaven the flowers never fade, the winter winds and blasts never blow.

Heaven is a place where there are going to be some fine folks. Abraham will be there, and I'm going up to see him. Noah, Moses, Joseph, Jacob, Isaac, Daniel, Jeremiah, the weeping prophet; Paul, John, Peter, James, Samuel, Martin Luther, Spurgeon, Calvin, Moody. Oh, heaven is a place where there will be grand and noble people, and all who believe in Jesus will be there.

The booze-fighter won't be in heaven; he is here. The sceptic won't be there; he is here. There will be nobody to run booze joints or gambling halls in heaven.

Loved wife will meet her husband; mother, year will meet your babe again that you have been separated from for years or months.

Heaven will be free from everything that curses and damns this old world here.

There will be no sickness in heaven no pain, no sin, no poverty, no want, no death, no grinding toil. There remaineth rest for the people of God.

I don't know where I'll live when I get to heaven. I don't know whether I will live on the main street, or an avenue, or a boulevard. I don't know whether it will be a back alley, or where, but I'll just be glad to get there. I'll be thankful for the mansion wherever God provides it.

I never like to think about heaven as a great big tenement house, where they put hundreds of people under one roof, like we do in the big cities. "In my Father's house are many mansions."

"God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." You will not be standing watching with a heart filled with expectation, and doubt and hope. No watching the undertaker screw the coffin lid over your loved one, or watching the pall-bearers carrying out the coffin and hearing the preacher say, "Ashes to ashes, dust to dust." None of that in heaven.

People sometimes ask me, "Who do you think will die first Mr. Sunday, you or your wife, or your children, or your mother?" I don't know. I think I will. I never expect to be an old man.

I know this much: If my wife or my babies should go first, this old world would be a dark place for me, and I would be glad when God summoned me to leave it. If I left first I know they would be glad when God called them home.

If I go first, I know after I go up I will take Jesus by the hand and say: "Jesus, thank you; I'm glad you honored me with salvation; I'm glad you honored me with the privilege of preaching your gospel; I wish I could have done better, but I did my best; and now, Jesus, if you don't care, I'd like to hang around the gate and be the first to welcome my wife and babies when they come. Do you care, Jesus, if I sit there?"

And He will say, "No, you can sit right there, Bill, if you want to; it's all right."

I'll say, "Thank you, Lord."

And so it will be up in heaven, and I'll be glad, awfully glad, and I tell you, that I think if my wife and children go first, the children might be off some place playing, but my wife would be right here near the gate and I would meet her and say:

"Why, wife, where are the children?"

She would say: "Why, they are playing on the banks of the river." (We are told about the river that flows from the throne of God.)

I would walk down and I would say, "Hello, Helen! Hey, George; hey, Wilksy; bring the babies; come on." And they would come tearing like they do now when I go home from a trip like this. They will all be waiting and will fight for the first kiss.

And up in heaven when I met my folks I would say, "I'm glad to see you. Where do you live?"

Right around here; come on pop, there's our mansion."

I would say, "Have you seen Fred, or Roddy, or Peacock, or Ackley, or any of them?"

"Yes. They live right around near us."

"George, you run down and tell Fred I've come, will you?"

Hunt up Roddy and Peacock and Ackley and Fred, and see if you can find Francis around there, and tell them I've just come in."

And they would come in and I would say, "How are you? Glad to see you. Feeling first rate."

"When did you leave the earth?"

"Last night at 6 o'clock."

I would say, "Now, children, run away and play a little while; I haven't seen mother for a long time and we have lots of things to talk about."

And I think we would go away and sit down under a tree, and I would put my head on her lap, like I do now when my head is tired, and I would say, "Wife, a whole lot of folks down there in our neighborhood have died; have they come to heaven?"

"Well, I don't know. Who has died?"

"Mr. S. Is he here?"

"I haven't seen him."

No? His will probated five million. Bradstreet and Dun rated him A & G. Isn't he here.

"I haven't seen him."

Is Mr. J. here?

"I haven't seen him."

"Haven't seen him wife? That's funny. He left years before I did. Is Mrs. N. here?"

"No."

"You know they lived on River street. Her husband paid $8,000 for a lot and $40,000 for a house. He paid $2,000 for a bathroom, mosaic floor and finest of fixtures. You know wife, she always came to church late and would drive up in her carriage and she would sweep down the aisle and you would think all the perfume of Arabia had floated in, and she had diamonds in her ears as big as pebbles. Is she here?"

"I haven't seen her."

"Well, well, well! Is Auntie Griffith here?"

"Yes. Auntie lives next to us."

"I knew she would be here. God bless her heart. She had two big, lazy, drunken boys that didn't care for her, and the church supported her for sixteen years to my knowledge and they put her in the home for old people. Hello, yonder she comes."

"How are you, Auntie? I knew God would let you in. My, where's mother, wife?"

"She's here."

"I know she's here; I wish she would come. Helen, is that mother coming down the hill?"

"Yes."

And after I had seen all the folks I would walk around Heaven with Jesus, and I'd say: "Whose mansion is that Jesus?"

"Why, I had that for one of the rich men in Philadelphia but he passed it up."

"Who's that one for?"

"That was for a doctor, but he didn't take it."

"Who's that one for?"

"That was for one of the school teachers, but she didn't come."

"Who's that one for, Jesus?"

"That was for a booze fighter, but he wouldn't pass up the business, that one was for a libertine, but he thought more of propagating his infamy with women than of praying."

"So don't let God hang a 'For Rent' sign in the mansion that he has prepared for you, just send word and say 'Jesus, I've changed my mind; just put my name down for that, will you? I'm coming; I'm coming.'

A SERIOUS SITUATION

WHEN BIG VESSELS HAVE TO BE LIGHTERED AT KINGSTON.

Owing to Low Water in St. Lawrence Damming of the River at Lake St. Peter is Urged

Commenting on the fact that this week three steamers of the Montreal Transportation Company, the Westmount, Rosemount, and Northmount, were unable to continue their journey from Fort William to Montreal owing to the low river level, and had to be lightered at Kingston, the Montreal Star says:

Both the Shipping Federation and the Montreal Transportation Company admitted the seriousness of the situation this morning.

"I am glad to say that the Government has favorably considered the plan of Superintendent, Forester to deepen the river," said Thomas Robb of the Shipping Federation. "If conditions are so bad up the river, the river is bound to be seriously affected between Montreal and Quebec. The government cannot act too quickly in making the necessary expropriation for the construction of dams at the entrance to Lake St. Peter."

"How much the river levels at Kingston and Cornwall will be benefited by the damming of the river at Lake St. Peter, has not been estimated by engineers. It is thought that the increase in depth at that distance will be appreciable. It is conceded, however, by river and ocean steamship interests that the conserving of the St. Lawrence flow this year is one of serious moment.

The Montreal Transportation Company states today that the lightering of steamers is a costly business.

"Lightering our boats of 6,000 bushels," said one official, "means that every boat with a carrying capacity of 72,000 bushels of grain will have to be reduced to 66,000 bushels. Meantime, the overhead expenses are not lessened."

This official claimed that there is not fourteen feet of water at the lower sill on the lock of the Cornwall canal. This is largely due, he said, to the amount of water being used by manufacturing concerns along the canal bank, chiefly mills.

One shipping man stated that he could not see how a vessel like the Rosemount could be lightered of one-twelfth of her cargo and make expenses on the trip.

BIG MILITARY EVENT FOR THE THIRD JUNE

Such is Plan For King's Birthday in Belleville-- Citizens' Committee Held Organization Meeting Last Evening

If the 39th Battalion, C.E.F. is still in Belleville on June 3rd, King's Birthday, there will be a big military day in honor of the soldiery. Last Wednesday the first 1915 meeting of the Citizens' Celebration Committee was held, ex-Mayor Wills presiding. It was decided that the usual citizens' celebration be changed to an exclusively military day on June 3rd in which the 39th Battalion, the military organizations and city cadets will be invited to take part. This resolution moved by Ald. Jas. St. Charles, seconded by Mr. W. Carnew, was unanimously carried.

Officers were elected as follows: Hon. Pres.—Mayor Panter; Pres.—Col. L. W. Marsh; Vice Pres.—J. F. Wills in place of W. B. Deason, who retired; Sec.—Arthur Jones; Treas.—W. Carnew; Executive—Officers and chairmen of the various standing committees: Sports committee—Ald. McFee, chairman; Decoration committee—Ald. St. Charles, chairman; Procession committee—Capt. S. Carman and S. R. Burrows; Cadet Brigade Committee—Major D. Barragar; Grounds—L. R. Terwilliger; Publicity—J. F. Wills, K.C.; Lieut. Col. J. A. Preston, Lieut.-Col. Smart and Lieut.-Col. Ketcheson were elected honorary officers of the citizens' celebration committee.

As the 39th battalion will need some extra equipment before going to the front, Ald. McFee moved, seconded by Mr. L. R. Terwilliger "That all the proceeds be donated to the regimental fund of the 39th Battalion, Canadian Expeditional Force, to assist in procuring needs and comforts for the men at the front. This resolution was adopted.

Military men will be invited to attend the deliberations of the executive and to participate in the plans for the event.

As this is war time, nothing in the nature of a celebration will be put on. But arrangements will be made to have excursions from all towns and cities represented by the soldiers in Belleville camp. The committee is enthusiastic and optimistic that the public will donate prizes freely towards the event, for the soldiers will be sure to fill the entry lists of the games to overflowing. It was suggested that as high as eight or ten prizes be given for an event.

The committee adjourned to meet on Monday evening next.

It is also proposed that the boys' brigades of Belleville and all municipalities that the soldiers of the 39th Battalion have been mobilized from, could send their brigades or representatives for an open competition on the third of June.

The citizens would undoubtedly join loyally in the gathering of our men going to the front and the many visitors who will come to see them before they start on their voyage overseas and extend the hospitality that Belleville citizens can do so well.

Give the committees your hearty support and volunteers in the work are always acceptable to those in charge of the various committees.

What the "Y's" Have Been Doing

During the last few months the Y.W.C.T.U. have been carrying on an educational campaign and have adopted a different mode of procedure than that of previous years. The fall was given to patriotic work, knitting, etc. The winter when public meetings were held, one in John Street church when the Missionary departments were exploited. At the Baptist church a topic party was given on a number of the departments—anti-paroties, franchise, flower mission, patriotic, etc. A special meeting was given to the franchise when Mrs. Prenter capably addressed an audience at the armory. The "Y's" also united with the Royal Templars and the W.C.T.U. in holding a series of five meetings in the Y.M.C.A., these have been given when splendid addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Hubby, Dr. Paltt and Mr. MacLaurin on Temperance from a Biblical, medical and moral standpoints.

These were not all the girls wanted to do and realizing the vast importance of the youth in our schools, a special field worker was brought to the city. By kind permission of the Board of Education Miss B. McLeod was enabled to give eight helpful chart talks to the different grades of the public and high schools on scientific temperance. Miss McLeod has been specially trained and is peculiarly adapted for this department of the W.C.T.U. work. She also gave three admirable addresses at Bridge Street Church, the "Girls' All Round Club" at Alexandra school and at a parlor meeting in the home of Mrs. D. V. Sinclair. The importance of the children being well born and carefully trained was dwelt on. Her talk on "Hereditry" was worth listening to. All who were fortunate enough to hear Miss McLeod, were much pleased. She was thoroughly conversant with her subjects, and her bright, interesting presentation of all of them won the commendation of the audience, both children and adults. The "Y's" are also carrying on other departments of work. They wish to thank the Board of Education and the teachers for their kind consent, their cordial reception of Miss McLeod at the schools.

Four Nurses Join Queen's Military Hospital

Four Belleville nurses will go with Queen's University Hospital to the front. They are at present in Kingston awaiting orders. The Belleville contingent is composed of Miss Bertha McBride, Miss Roberta L. Thompson, Miss Stacey, all of whom were trained in Belleville hospital and Miss Mollie Hamby, who received her training in Philadelphia. Miss Thompson and Miss McBride went to Quebec to take a course of military nursing and latterly have been in charge of the detention hospital at the 34th Artillery armory, Church street. The four young ladies hold the rank of lieutenant and are privileged to sign themselves, N. S. A.M.C.

This city now has seven nurses on active service, the three in Europe being Miss Gean, Miss Denmark and Miss Ridley.

Report of the Red Cross and Women's Patriotic Ass'n

The monthly meeting of the Red Cross and Women's Patriotic Association was held on Tuesday evening in the Liberal Club rooms and was well attended. The association was pleased to have the president, Mrs. Lazier with them again after her long illness.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on deposit $191.10 and wished to acknowledge with thanks the following donations for April—Rainbow Circle, per Mrs. Mather

Mrs. O'Flynn, convener of camp supplies, reported two boxes sent since last meeting to Sir Geo. Perley, High Commissioner, London, 684 pairs of socks, 20 lbs of tobacco, note paper and envelopes, house-wives, handkerchiefs, scarfs, etc., and has on hand 130 pairs socks.

Miss Greene, convener of Hospital supplies, reported that a box had left on Tuesday for Shorelife containing the following articles—4 1-2 doz. hospital night-shirts, 10 flannelette night-shirts, 34 nightgowns, 56 pairs bed socks, 24 pairs socks, 2 doz. pneumonia jackets, 11-2 doz abdominal binders, 22 woolen abdominal binders, handkerchiefs, 15 hot water bottles & covers, wash cloths, one doz pair rubber gloves, 21 doz 2 1-2 inch bandages, 3 doz 2 inch cotton bandages, 24 doz 3 inch gauze bandages, 5 doz. flannel bandages, surgical dressings, several bundles of old linen, 50 stick pkgs of gum, 20 lbs of tobacco. Miss Greene wishes to thank all who gave donations towards supplying the box.

The Rainbow Circle, Mrs. Yeomans, convener, are doing excellent work and returning a great number of socks and are now doing hospital supplies in addition to the knitting.

Mrs. Wills, convener of Soldiers' Wives League, reported they have been sewing for the last two weeks in Christ Church Hall and are still very busy.

Mrs. Lazier read a letter from Miss Ridley of Col. Stillington's hospital, Le Touquet, France, saying the box containing the pillows and cases, convalescent shirts, etc., had been received and what pleasure Miss Gean, Miss Denmark and herself had in unpacking it. It was voted at the meeting that $200 be sent Miss Ridley in addition to the hospital.

In future the Red Cross rooms will close at a quarter to one on Saturdays.

Private Carl Clarke Has Been Wounded

Carl Clarke, a well known member of the Fifteenth Regiment for some years, has been wounded, his injuries having been received in the battle near Langemarck. Such a message reached his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke, yesterday afternoon. Private Clarke enlisted with the local detachment and was in the Second Battalion in the C.E.F.

Private Clarke is only 21 years of age. He is a powerful type of man, standing over six feet in height. His civilian occupation as tinsmithing, he having been an employee of Mr. Wm. McGie, Front street.

WEDDING BELLS

SHERRY-CARR

Quiet wedding took place Wednesday at eleven o'clock at the West Belleville parsonage when Miss Elsie May Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carr, Belleville, became the bride of Mr. William John Sherry, also of this city. The Rev. A. R. Sanderston performed the ceremony. The bride was prettily attired in a navy blue tailored suit with hat to match, and carried a beautiful sheaf of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Carr, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, supported the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Sherry left on the fast train for Toronto this afternoon. On their return they will live at the end of Moura street.

A FINE CLOSING EXHIBITION of the Gymnasium Classes at the Y.M.C.A.

The Gymnasium at our Y.M.C.A. Friday night was the scene of intense activity as the scores of small boys, his boys and several men put on a highly entertaining exhibition.

The hand balancing and tumbling by Percy Gifford who was assisted by Messrs. Karl VanAllen attracted no small amount of attention.

Mr. Charlie Brooke came in for special credit for the manner he handled himself on the parallel.

Mr. Gifford also delighted the audience with his amusing antics as a professional clown.

Mr. Faulkner presented to his audience the following program:

- 1. Junior Dumb Bell Drill. 2. Squad of Intermediates on the Apparatus. 3. Exhibition of fine Hand Balancing and Tumbling by Messrs. Gifford and Van Allen. 4. Pyramid work by the Leaders' Corps. 5. Volley Ball Match between the Business Men and the Seniors. 6. Dodge Ball between the Intermediates and the Big Juniors. 7. Basket Ball Match between the High School Girls and the Six O'clock Girl's Class.

The following is a list of participants in the performance:

Campbellford Cheese Board Officers

The annual meeting of the Campbellford Cheese Board was held on Tuesday forenoon, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

- Pres.—Geo. VanVolkenburg. 1st Vice Pres.—Thos. Fry. 2nd Vice Pres.—H. R. Wood. Sec.—Treas.—G. A. Kingston. Auditors—Managers of the local Banks. Mr. R. T. Gray was present and addressed the Board. A vote of thanks was tendered by the Board to Mr. Chas. Nelson, retiring president, for the long and faithful service to the Board, covering a membership of about 30 years.

Pills That Have Benefited Thousands.—Known far and near as a sure remedy in the treatment of indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys, Parmentier's Vegetable Pills have brought relief to thousands when other specifics have failed. Innumerable testimonials can be produced to establish the truth of this assertion. Once tried, they will be found superior to all other pills in the treatment of the ailments for which they are prescribed.

Military Notes

The 39th Battalion of Belleville has not been included in the units which will come to Barriehfield camp this month, as was originally intended, and the Battalion will no doubt be sent direct to England in a few days.

There are nearly 1,000 recruits now in the third division which will probably be used to form a new battalion, and this battalion may take the place of the 39th at Barriehfield camp.

Lieut.-Col. Perreau, commandant of the R.M.C. Kingston, has made arrangements to take the cadets out every Wednesday for practical work in the field on the line of the most approved methods now being used at the front in France and Belgium. Farmers in the surrounding country have given permission for the cadets to dig trenches on their farms, throw up earthworks, and carry out all manoeuvres necessary to good training for men who are destined to assume the responsibilities of leading soldiers in the present war.

Some time ago the Imperial War Office asked for qualified surgeons from Canada for service in the R.A.M.C., and in response to the request from England a number of Canadian doctors volunteered for service. Capt. Gardner, A.D.M.S., received a wire from Ottawa informing him that the following doctors had been accepted, and asking that they be sent to England at once:—Captain M. J. G. Peterson, Peterborough; Captain Tennet, Belleville; Captain Shie's, Port Hope; Lieut. Dawson, Ottawa; Lieut. Bonnyvace, Campbellford; Lieut. Frederick, Peterboro; Lieut. Maverty, Ottawa. The officers will leave at once, and will report in England for duty.

Private Oldgate, of No 4 Company, 21st Battalion, was allowed to go on pass to his home near Ottawa, and on returning lost his pass, and before he could get money from home for a ticket to Kingston, missed the battalion. He reported at Tete du Pont barracks last night, and will probably be sent to Belleville to the 39th Battalion. He is very anxious to go overseas.

Colonel Hemming, officer commanding the third district has received official information as to the units that will come to Barriehfield camp about the 15th of this month. The camp will be made up of the 38th Battalion, Ottawa; 8th C.M.R., Ottawa; 7th Brigade, C.F.A.; Ammunition Column of the 25th and 26th Batteries; Queen's O.T.C.; Queen's Engineers and the necessary details, which will make in all a force of 3,000 men. Workmen are making the camp grounds ready for occupation.

Since the organization of the 39th Battalion the 49th regiment has recruited 86 volunteers. Of these 15 have been turned over to the 39th Battalion. Col. Ketcheson states that since war began, the regiment has recruited close on to the 400 mark.

Sobriety for Soldiers

At the instigation of the Templars the regular Friday evening meeting in the Y. M.C.A. tent attached to the barracks of the 39th Battalion took the form Friday evening of an informal temperance service. The special secretary, Mr. McQueen was in charge and despite of the wet weather and the new scattered situation of the troops a good number gave interested attention.

Mrs. G. M. James rendered most proficiently the stirring song "Long Live the King," the accompanist at the piano being Miss Bradley, the talented deaconess of Bridge Street Church, Col. W. N. Ponton then addressed the gathering on the subject of sobriety. Needless to say he did so in such a manner to soldiers as few can. The exhibition of posters from British authorities was also very convincing and the admonitions given should prove of local benefit.

At the close Mrs. James sang the touching song "Have Courage My Boy to say No." Hearty appreciation of this programme was quite manifest in the applause given. Our civilian population would do well to also hear the same given.

SAILING OF THE 21ST BATTALION

THEY EMBARKED IN VERY QUICK TIME Major General Hughes Addressed the Officers and Men at Docks Before Liner Pulled Out

Captain Ringwood, gunnery instructor of the R.S.A., accompanied the 21st battalion and Queen's hospital corps to Montreal on Wednesday and witnessed the detrainment of the two corps, as well as their embarkation early on Thursday morning.

The first train left the outer station at 8.30 and a half hour later was followed by the second train. Lt.-Col. Hughes was in command of the first train, and Major Bennett in command of the second. About ten o'clock the first train reached Brockville, and soon afterwards the second train pulled into the station. The whole population of Brockville was on hand with bands and flags and gave the soldiers a mighty send-off.

The trains reached Montreal about six o'clock, and with remarkable quickness the troops detraind and marched to the dock where the steamer was waiting for them. Capt. Runwood says the sight was one he would never forget. Tens of thousands of people were on hand to see the soldiers as they marched through the streets on their way to the boat. After reaching the wharf it took the 21st Battalion and Queen's Corps one hour to get on board with everything they owned. It was a record in embarkation, and it was all done without fuss, worry or accident.

Maj.-Gen. Sam Hughes was there and addressed the officers and men, and wished them a safe voyage and God-speed. As the boat pulled out at 10.30 on Thursday morning, the men of the 21st and Hospital Corps crowded the decks, flags were flying, whistles steamed in the harbor blew whistles, and the great crowd on the wharf sang and shouted until they could be heard no more from the deck. The soldiers sent back their answers to the crowd with the band of the 21st played and wives left behind struggled to be brave and keep back their tears.

Capt. Ringwood says he saw "Major," the collier mascot of the right half of the 21st battalion march proudly on board, followed by the goat. The boys would not leave him behind. The captain says that Lieut.-Col. Hughes and Lieut.-Col. Etherington handled their units in fine style, and without confusion.

They Pay Up in Marmora Marmora tax roll for 1914 has been all collected except about $38.00, and this will likely be paid in soon. Collector Leal has accomplished this without any legal proceedings or other stringent measures. Considering the fact that money has been scarce this year and wages lower than usual this is a record to be proud of, and speaks highly for Mr. Leal's efficiency. The council made a wise move in reappointing him for 1915.—Herald.

Narrow Escape of Amateur Chauffeur

During the last few years it has become the ambition of nearly every young fellow to learn to drive an automobile. Many have succeeded, while others have not been quite so fortunate. In the latter class we may safely place young "Doc" Watson, who made an excellent display of his knowledge of car-driving yesterday morning. "Doc" was driving up Division street at what might be termed "fair speed" and while attempting to turn at Covert street had the misfortune to bang his mud-guard up against the telephone post, leaving an indelible mark, ran on to the sidewalk grazing the clapboards of Dr. Lapp's office and narrowly escaped from running over Mrs. Bulger, who with much presence of mind stepped quickly out into the road.—Cobourg World.

Opening Toronto Office

Mr. A. A. McDonald, barrister, is in Toronto this week arranging to open a Law office there in connection with his office at Marmora. We congratulate Mr. McDonald on this move, believing that from his good standing professionally and his undoubted integrity that he will have a good measure of success.—Marmora Herald.

Military Notes.

Lieut. Colville, of the 46th Regiment is in Kingston taking his examinations at the armouries for Infantry Lieutenant. On passing, Lieut. Colville will be attached to the 39th Battalion, Belleville, for instruction at purpose.

Simple and Sure—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub, and when used as a dressing to apply. The directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by the young or old.

Mean Trick By Little Boys

A mean trick perpetrated by some little boys on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock may result in severe punishment if the police are able to find their names. An automobile was coming along at the corner of North Front and Meira streets and some young boys were seen in the road. They ran out of the way and just as one of the wheels of the car touched the spot where they had been, a fire was kindled. Investigation showed that a sharp nail had penetrated the rubber casing and inner tube. The nail was in a stick of wood and it is believed the boys put the nail in the wood for the purpose of seeing the tire punctured.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 15c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Corp. Sandford Was Captain of Highlanders

Mr. and Mrs. Payne, Burnham St., received a telegram saying their son-in-law, Corporal A. G. Sandford is officially reported wounded. He was one of the Ford's salesmen in Winnipeg and enlisted with the 90th Winnipeg Rifles or "Black Devils" with the first contingent. He had a military training and was captain of the 1st Highlanders in Glasgow. His wife and friends are anxiously waiting further particulars.

Tramp Given Dose of the Rawhide

The tramp nuisance crops up from time to time and apparently those wayward wanderers and parasites that prey upon the people should in every instance when caught by the officers of the law be dealt with in the sternest possible manner. There is no reason why men should endeavor to immortalize themselves as hoboes or knights of the road, a name which they make by their itinerancy.

A sample of the work of one of those menaces on the country and a disgrace to the dignity of manhood was exemplified last week, when a big burly tramp entered a farm home in Ops, after the farmer had gone to the back end of the farm in pursuit of his daily occupation, leaving his wife and two little children in the house. It was a long hundred acres and the man of the house was engaged seeding at a distance of over half a mile from his residence. The tramp on coming to the door demanded in tones which showed determination to get what he required, that the lady of the house cook him up some dinner, as he claimed he had nothing to eat for several hours.

The fellow was particular in his tastes, and told the frightened woman that his teeth had gone wrong, and he had a form of stomach trouble which left him that only certain foods would agree with it.

The woman was scared half to death, and did not disobey, but with fear and trembling started to gather up kindling to replenish the fire, while she called the children from the barn, telling them to make known to their father that a tramp was in the house.

The father was not long in getting there, and with a good black snake whip which he carried, played it around the fellow's body in good shape from the house to the roadway.

If more of this was done there would be fewer beggars going through the country imposing upon the generosity of the good-natured farmer. This gentleman deserves high praise for the manhood and method of dealing with the tramp problem.

Combining the Offices.

Since the death of T. Amey, late turnkey at the county jail, Napanea, there has been much speculation as to who would get the appointment. Many applications were sent in, but it has been decided to abolish that position, and the jailer, W. Loyst, will move into the jail and perform the combined duties of jailer and turnkey.

Kicked on Four Cents.

Talk about your patriotism and loyalty. Here's a sample of it. A man who does not live within the corporation limits of Aymer, visited a local drug store the other day and ordered remedies to the amount of one dollar. When he was told that it would be necessary to charge 4 cents war tax on the goods he cancelled the order, and we presume deprived his family of necessary medicine. The druggist did not tell the customer's name and we are glad of it. Our soldiers are giving their life blood for Canada at the front, and here's a man who refuses to donate four cents to help in paying the expense. It is a sure thing that there were no volunteers from his home.—Aymer Express.

Died for His Country.

Word has been received in town to the effect that Robert Caldwell, who was at one time employed with the Lindsay Light, Heat and Power Co., as operator at the sub-station, was killed at the front. The dead soldier, whose home was at Gananosue, enlisted at Campbellford and was a member of the 2nd Battalion, Machine Gun Section. While in Lindsay Caldwell assisted in installing the magnetic lights.—Lindsay Post.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE.

Mrs. Jos. Desrosiers, St. Alphonse, Que., writes: "I cannot say too much in favor of Baby's Own Tablets, as they saved my little one's life. Before giving him the Tablets he was greatly troubled with worms and was like a skeleton and cried day and night. The Tablets soon expelled the worms and now baby is the picture of health. Baby's Own Tablets also break up colds and simple fevers, cure constipation and indigestion and make the teething period painless. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

LAI D TO REST

MRS. J. CREEPER.
The funeral of the late Mrs. J. Creeper took place on Friday afternoon from the family residence, North-Lorne Street, after an impressive service had been held at the home of the Rev. Amos Campbell and Rev. John Egan. The bearers were six nephews of the deceased. Many beautiful floral tributes rested upon the casket and a long cortege bore testimony to the public esteem for the deceased. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

JAMES LESLIE GEROW.

The funeral of the late James Leslie Gerow took place Friday afternoon from the home of his mother, Pope street. Services were conducted at the house by the Rev. C. G. Smith, pastor of Baptist church, assisted by Mr. Hess of the Y.M.C.A. Miss Brown sang a solo entitled "Abide With Me." Many relatives and friends and friends were present. The floral designs were many and beautiful. Interment took place at Simonds' burying grounds, P. E. county. The bearers were Messrs. S. Poote, C. Palmer, H. Salisbury, Cyril Weese, Cap. Hart and J. Belnot.

Sobriety and Service

At the Y.M.C.A. tent at the barracks, Pimalee street, a good number of soldiers were present to hear a very fine address by Lt.-Col. W. N. Boston, K.C.O., on "Sobriety and Service." He spoke on the added responsibility King's men and the King's uniform have. While absolute choice between good and evil is allowed civilians, those on active service have merged their own individual predilections in the honor and efficiency of the service. Col. Boston quoted the celebrated Japanese verse embodying the whole philosophy of temperance and service—

"On the punch bowl's brink
Let us pause and think,
What we say in Japan.
First the man takes a drink
Then the drink takes a drink
Then the drink takes the man."
During the meeting Mrs. James sang a solo and the orchestra rendered selections.

Havelock Suing for Back Taxes

At a special meeting of the Havelock town council held on Wednesday night of last week to consider the matter of arrears of taxes, it was moved by Wright seconded by Scott, and unanimously carried that the list of those in arrears for taxes be placed in court for collection. The list comprised some forty-eight names and Bailiff Waller had a busy session during the past week

RECEPTION AT LORETTO ABBEY

Impressive Ceremony at Historic Institution in Toronto—Local Lady Received Habit of Order.
Recently at Loretto Abbey, Toronto, Miss Agnes St. Charles of this city received the Habit at a solemn reception ceremony, at which there were present many invited guests, among them being—Mr. and Mrs. James St. Charles, Ald. J. O. St. Charles, Belleville, Miss Margaret St. Charles, New York, Dr. W. P. St. Charles, Mr. Campbell C. St. Charles, Misses Helena and May St. Charles, Toronto, Justice and Mrs. Latchford, Dr. O'Brien, Mr. J. W. McNab and family, Mr. George Griffin, of Toronto, and Mrs. S. O'Brien, of Ottawa.

A Large Market Today

From Saturday's Daily.
Every farmer wore a smile on the market this morning on account of the happy prospect for the crops of the coming season. The attendance at market was very large and a great deal of produce was turned over.
There was a decline in potatoes, some selling at 50c and 55c per bag. But in most of the other lines prices remained steady. Eggs for instance, sold at 20c regularly, some few going for 19c per dozen.
There was a fair supply of butter which sold off rather early at from 35c to 35c per pound.
Meats remain unchanged in quotations. Yearling mutton is marketed at 16c to 17c per lb wholesale; live hogs are quoted at $8.50 per cwt., and dressed at $12. Beef hindquarters sell at $12.50 to $13 wholesale. Cans are a little easier—wheat at $1.30, oats at 80c and buckwheat at 80c cents.
The hide market is a little firmer. Deakins bring 70c and hides 13 to 13 1/2c.
There was a considerable quantity of pickles offered for sale at 10c per quart.
Green vegetables are eagerly bought particularly onions, and lettuce, (three heads for five). Rhubarb was plentiful at 5c per bunch.
McAnnamy street had its usual array of shoats for sale at $7 per pair. Maple syrup has ceased to be a market commodity.
Wholesalers can buy fowls at 14c per pound. But the marketers sell rather above this price, namely at $1.50 to $1.75 per pair. The supply of poultry was not very extensive.

Mr. E. T. Bartlett on Lusitania?

Mr. E. T. Bartlett of London, England, is believed to have been a passenger on the Lusitania. He is a friend of Mr. S. D. Lazier of this city, and Mr. Lazier himself had almost arranged to go by the ill-fated liner in company with Mr. Bartlett. Mr. Bartlett was in Belleville about two weeks ago and a week ago Wednesday communicated with Mr. Lazier as to the Atlantic trip. Last Saturday Mr. Lazier received a message from Mr. Bartlett at New York with reference to his berth and it is now thought that the latter went aboard.
Mr. Bartlett was a representative of large pulp works and carried on extensive real estate deals.
It is not known whether he was among the rescued.

Quinte Chapter Tea.

From Saturday's Daily.
A very successful and enjoyable Tea was given yesterday by the Quinte Chapter, I.O.G.E. at the home of Mrs. H. C. Earle, Ann Street. Mrs. Earle received the guests, assisted by the Regent, Mrs. E. Gus. Porter. A number of young ladies served refreshments, while the tea-table was presided over by Mrs. Arthur McGinnis and Mrs. Curtis Bogart. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of roses and pear blossoms. Added pleasure was given by the music provided by Mrs. M. P. Duff, Mrs. James Grant, Miss Stork, Mr. K. Ross and Mr. M. Waters. The proceeds of the Tea will be used for surgical supplies for the Canadian Military Hospital at Le Touquet, Boulogne, France.

Letters Written on the Eve of Battle

Mrs. Craig, Bleeker Ave, received the following letter from her son Walter, which had been written just the evening before the commencement of the great battle at Ypres.—
Belgium, April 20th, 1915.
Dear Mother,—
Just a few lines to let you know I am well, hoping you are the same. We are doing a lot of marching but not much fighting. We expect to do some pretty soon. Things are about the same as usual. There is not much to talk about. I received the parcel O.K. The maple sugar was good, and the Easter eggs and Willie's pictures. They look like home all right. We are going close to the firing line today so I will have to close.
Your loving son,
Walter Craig

P.S.—I gave Tom Vance the four pairs of socks you sent. He was pleased to get them.

W. C.
Mr. William Craig has also received one of the service cards from Charlie Gibson, of date April 21, conveying the laconic message that he was well and going on well.
Lieut. Col. Ponton received a brief letter from his son Lieut. R. D. Ponton, written on the evening of April 21, intimating that the great battle was already under way and that he expected his company would shortly be engaged.
Warts are unsightly blemishes, and are painful growths. Hollway's Corn Cure will remove them.

RECEPTION AT LORETTO ABBEY

Impressive Ceremony at Historic Institution in Toronto—Local Lady Received Habit of Order.
Recently at Loretto Abbey, Toronto, Miss Agnes St. Charles of this city received the Habit at a solemn reception ceremony, at which there were present many invited guests, among them being—Mr. and Mrs. James St. Charles, Ald. J. O. St. Charles, Belleville, Miss Margaret St. Charles, New York, Dr. W. P. St. Charles, Mr. Campbell C. St. Charles, Misses Helena and May St. Charles, Toronto, Justice and Mrs. Latchford, Dr. O'Brien, Mr. J. W. McNab and family, Mr. George Griffin, of Toronto, and Mrs. S. O'Brien, of Ottawa.

The Catholic Register speaks of the event in the following terms—
"A very impressive ceremony of reception and profession took place at Loretto Abbey, Monday, April 19th. The young ladies who received the Habit of the Order as Novices are: Miss Marie Johnson, Joliet, Ill., in religion Sr. M. Alphonsus; Miss Kathleen C. O'Meara, London, Ont., Sr. M. St. Celestine; Miss Agnes St. Charles, Belleville, Ont., Sr. M. Ethna; Miss Francis Galvin, Chicago, Ill., Sr. M. Gonzaga. The following Novices made their first profession of vows: Sr. M. Gabriel English, Sr. M. St. Clement Brohmann, Sr. M. Euphroyne Ryan, Sr. M. Antoinette Foley, Sr. M. Victorine O'Meara, Sr. M. St. Hugh Canning, Sr. M. Teresa Kelly, Sr. M. Priscilla O'Donnell.

"In the absence of the Most Rev. Archbishop, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mgr. Walfen, Mass was celebrated by Rev. Jas. Walsh, pastor of St. Helen's, Toronto. The Abbey Chaplain, Rev. Melville Staley, surpassed himself in an eloquent tribute to the Religious state, taking for the text of his sermon, "These are they who follow the Lamb whithersoever He goeth." St. John. His words of encouragement to those who have "taken up their Cross to follow the Lamb" in His life of sacrifice for the salvation of the world thrilled the hearts of all who heard, and relatives and friends present must have felt anew the sacredness of the consecrated lives of their loved ones, and the honor of their being thus chosen to take part in the work of the world's regeneration."

The following interesting account of Loretto Abbey is taken from the "Sudbury Mining News"
LORETTO ABBEY.
"Toronto is the home of many interesting and ancient and modern seats of learning but none is more historic, more exclusive or more perfectly conducted than Loretto Abbey, one of the most prominent culture spots for girls in all the Dominion. The location, Wellington Place, is, or rather was, ideal, but during the nearly half century which has passed into history since the present site was selected, the transformation in that part of the city has been so pronounced that the business and industrial section has almost enveloped the Abbey grounds, consequently an early removal to a recently acquired property of one hundred and forty acres, away out on the confines of the city, remote from the whirl, the bustle and the din, and more in keeping with the quiet dignity which is so fitting an accompaniment to the spirit of this somewhat retiring institution. The young ladies who are fortunate enough to be in a position to attend for a few terms, are afforded many advantages which their less favorably situated sisters can scarcely expect to secure, as Loretto furnishes the very choicest instruction in every branch of education essential to the proper upbringing of its students. The Abbey is affiliated with Toronto University St. Michael's Federated College.

The College Course takes four years of close application and comprises Classics, Moderns, English, and History, and General Courses leading to degrees.
The Academic Course—Lower, Middle and Upper School—prepares students for pass and honor matriculation, entrance to Normal School, and faculty of education, special course after junior matriculation for academic graduation.
Dressmaking Course.
Preparatory Course—eight grades—the usual elementary subjects, French, sewing, drawing, choral training, physical culture and household science.
Music—Violin, piano, harp, guitar, mandolin, and vocal studies. Students are prepared for Conservatory and University examinations. Frequent recitals by distinguished artists.
Art—Studios for Applied and Fine Arts.
Commercial Department—A full course.
At present there are nearly three hundred students enrolled, of whom about one half are resident. The accommodation is most complete, and at every point demonstrates that the comfort and health of those entrusted to their care has first consideration.

Had to be Tied With a Rope

James Jackson was fined $20 or six weeks in default this morning in police court on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Jackson last evening went into the house of Mr. John Collins, Brown street, in a drunken state and then left. Mr. Collins and others followed him and secured him at Gralam's upper evaporator. There Jackson put up a fight with his teeth and had to be tied with a rope to keep him quiet after he had caused some blood to flow from wounds inflicted upon those arresting him. Sergt. Napkin reaching the scene took Jackson in charge.
Dr. Morley Day is in Toronto attending the Ontario Dental convention.

with the Sisters. The twenty large class rooms, the thirty music rooms, the dormitories are all particularly bright, airy, and cheery. The chapel, the assembly room, the library, the music rooms, and the multitude of other apartments are all on a scale which reflects the utmost credit on those who have had the planning of and carrying out the destiny of Loretto. The imposing reception room is one of the most interesting apartments of the Abbey, because within its spacious walls the late King Edward had been entertained when, as the Prince of Wales, he visited Canada in 1861. The residence and present grounds were purchased in 1867 and since then on account of the very great and ever increasing favor in which the institution is held, it has been enlarged by its present capacity. To those who are interested in educational matters and particularly along the lines laid down by this worthy college, a visit to Loretto will be a pleasure long to be remembered, as the Mother Superior and Sisters are courteous and hospitable in the highest degree."

OBITUARY

Mrs. F. A. Stephenson
From Saturday's Daily.
The death occurred this morning of Elizabeth Lyon (Gowland), wife of Mr. Fred A. Stephenson, at the age of 87 years. Deceased was born in London, England, and came to Canada forty years ago. She was a Baptist in religious faith. Mourning her loss are her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Cookley, Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs. Geo. M. Leavens, Belleville, at home.

A Public Spirited Offer

Mr. W. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P. and Mrs. Northrup have generously offered their splendid home and grounds to the government for the use of convalescent wounded soldiers, many of whom are to be brought to Canada from England to recuperate after hospital treatment in order to nurse them back to health and strength and refit them for the fighting line again and the service to which they all crave to return. No more beautiful spot and no more beautifully furnished house could be chosen and the Government immediately and gratefully accepted the offer and the key of the house, conditionally upon the citizens of Belleville voluntarily furnishing motor cars and motor boats so that the advantages of the Bay of Quinte, the Oak Hills and the beautiful surrounding country can be enjoyed to the utmost by those to whom good cheer and open air will be the main essentials. Colonel Ponton yesterday telegraphed a guarantee of at least twenty-five motor cars to be placed at the service of the men whenever requisitioned in morning or afternoon, and the first to volunteer were Colonel S. S. Lazier, J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., L. Hymna, H. F. Kerelsoon, J. F. Willis, S. Carman, C. M. Reed, J. Jones, J. V. Jenkins, F. Quirk, D. M. Waters, W. B. Riggs, E. Guss Porter, M.P., A. M. Chapman, W. N. Belair, Wm. McGie, Edgar Vermylsea, Robert Wiseman, George Simmons, two cars from Stirling and other names are coming in to Colonel Ponton, who will gladly publish and forward them to Ottawa as received. Five motor boats at least will be required and Mr. F. E. O'Flynn is the first to place his boat at the disposal of the wounded soldiers. Other boat owners who are willing to participate in this philanthropic and patriotic work will kindly communicate their names as soon as possible. This is a practical and life saving patriotism which will appeal to all, and Belleville through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Northrup will be made one of the centers for feeding the firing line with experienced men who have suffered and will be ready to suffer again if necessary for King and Country. Marquess are to be put up in the grounds and the carrying out of the project will be of course under the immediate direction of the Department of Militia. Other similar offers have also been made by citizens of Toronto and Montreal.
Mr. L. E. Allen also offered his motor car.

Had to be Tied With a Rope

James Jackson was fined $20 or six weeks in default this morning in police court on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Jackson last evening went into the house of Mr. John Collins, Brown street, in a drunken state and then left. Mr. Collins and others followed him and secured him at Gralam's upper evaporator. There Jackson put up a fight with his teeth and had to be tied with a rope to keep him quiet after he had caused some blood to flow from wounds inflicted upon those arresting him. Sergt. Napkin reaching the scene took Jackson in charge.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

The King's birthday this year will, by special request of His Majesty, be very quietly observed by merely raising and flying the national emblem. The usual celebrations and "monster demonstrations" will not therefore be held. For the past three or four years the Citizen's Celebration committee has carried out most successful programs of sports on June the third. Owing to the unusual circumstances surrounding us in this eventful year of 1915 our usual King's Birthday program will be held over until another year has winged its way.

The committee, however, thought that the day might very profitably be utilized for a patriotic purpose. They have under consideration the idea of a big military event in which all the military and semi-military organizations of the city and district will be invited to take part. Those on active service in the Thirty-ninth regiment will presumably be here, and it should also be possible to secure the co-operation of cadet corps from all over the district. It is proposed to run excursions from the surrounding towns so that friends and relatives of the soldiers in camp here will enjoy an opportunity of visiting and seeing those on active service. The proceeds of the day are to be devoted to the Regimental fund to provide needs and comforts for the men who are going to fight our battles at the front.

The proposition appeals to us an eminently proper and reasonable one, and we believe it will meet with the hearty endorsement and active co-operation of all classes of citizenship.

BACK TO THE OLD HOME.

Mr. Chas. A. Macfarlane, senior editor of The Intelligencer for the past four years, has, we understand, resigned his position and will shortly return to his former place of residence at Lawrence, Massachusetts. Mr. Macfarlane's removal is a distinct loss to the journalistic, social and religious life of the city. His activities, particularly in the work of the Sunday school at the Tabernacle church, have been numerous as well as fruitful of results.

As a literary man, Mr. Macfarlane has come to have more than a local reputation. He is the author of several highly meritorious works of fiction, but is best known to the local public for his dramatic production, "Tallasse, the Indian Princess." "Tallasse" has been presented several times in this city before large and appreciative audiences, and has also met with great favor when produced in the other towns of the district. The play is a dramatized version of his popular novel, "Letitia."

As editor of the opposition sheet, Mr. Macfarlane has shown the utmost fairness and gentlemanly courtesy. His own productions were always characterized by grace and literary finish. He was free from the petty displays of animosity that always mar the work of little men who try to fill editorial chairs. We trust that continued success will follow his labors whether in journalism or the literary life.

THEY WILL LIVE.

At the memorial service held on Parliament Hill, Ottawa, Rev. W. T. Herridge, D.D., the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, paid this chaste and beautiful tribute to our gallant dead:

"We are assembled here today to commemorate the gallant death of the Canadians who have fallen on the field of battle. We cannot but mourn the fact that they will return to us no more, and we cannot but pray that the comfort of God may rest upon the stricken hearts, and the desolate homes throughout Canada.

"Yet our sorrow is mingled with joy that they have been so faithful as soldiers of the King. They have proved that the days of chivalry are not yet gone, that in defence of justice and freedom our sons will not shrink from the last dread sacrifice. We are proud of them, proud of the honor which they bring to Canada, proud of the heroic stand which saved the fortunes of the day; and on their graves we will place the tribute of admiration for their dauntless courage, and of profound gratitude because of what they have done for Canada, for the Empire and for the world.

"We are persuaded that instead of deterring others from seeking to share their peril, this baptism of blood will arouse amongst us a still deeper consciousness of national duty, and will incite our youth to prepare themselves to emulate the zeal of their comrades across the sea, that they, too, may have a part in this great conflict, which is not simply a conflict between opposing ideals and purposes—a conflict, the issue of which will decide in the years to come the tone and quality of modern civilization.

"Let us not say that the brave men who fell are dead. They are not dead. Their deeds will live. Their memory will live. The patriotic enthusiasm which they have evoked will live. They have quickened the pulse of the whole of Canada. They have broadened the meaning of the British Empire. And upon that awful field amid the blare of cannon, so far from being annihilated, they have been lifted into the glorious light of sudden immortality."

NO HAMPERING.

Not a voice has been raised, on the Liberal side, against the measures taken by the Government for the prosecution of the war. Two votes, totalling 150 Million Dollars were passed by Parliament with the cordial and whole-hearted support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Party. Liberals were ready to vote as many millions more—nay, any amount within Canada's capacity to pay—to ensure the triumph of the British cause. All that they, in the name of the Canadian people, demanded was that the money spent should be honestly expended. Millions for war—not a dollar for grafts was the Liberal policy.

As to Canada's contribution in men to the Empire's forces, Liberals in Parliament and out of it have led the way in urging that Canada should throw the whole resources of her manhood into the fighting line, and Liberal leaders, and the platform and in the press, have done their part in encouraging and stimulating the recruiting movement. There has been no holding back anywhere on the Liberal side. Far from "hampering" the Government, Liberals have urged the Government to do more that it has yet done—in short, to leave nothing undone to make certain the triumph of the great and noble cause for which we are fighting.

No man in this country who respects himself or has regard for truth and honor will dare say that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues in Parliament have not joined patriotically with the Government in the adoption of all measures to strengthen the hands of the Empire in this war. There are few newspapers so base as to give circulation to that monstrous calumny. The Liberal Party has done nothing for which it need apologize or which demands defence. Its course throughout has been honorable, straight, patriotic.

If, however, the exposures of the ghastly scandals about the Boots, the Binoculars, the Bandages, the Medical Supplies, and the Horses "hampered" the Government, the blame does not lie with the Liberal Party. It is the Government which is responsible for all those sordid and disgraceful transactions, and if the Government thinks that it can silence denunciation of these disgusting scandals by the threat of a General Election it greatly mistakes the temper and the character of the Canadian people.

ULTIMATE RESOURCES.

Once the war situation on all fronts and in stages is regarded as one of gigantic siege, as the New York Evening Post argues, the question of ultimate resources again comes to the front. In the Fortnightly Review, W. H. Mallock has attempted such an estimate. His calculations are properly based on the potential fighting strength of the nations. He balances Anglo-French resources against German resources, on the silent assumption that Russia and Austria cancel each other, which is more than fair to the Teuton cause. He finds that at the beginning of the war England and France had a male population of nearly twenty-one millions between the ages of seventeen and fifty-five, to Germany's sixteen and a half millions. Deducting losses, he finds that at the beginning of 1915 the ratio was 137 for the Anglo-French to 100 for the Germans. The Anglo-French preponderance is emphatic.

In fact, Mr. Mallock has counted only the population of the United Kingdom. He has left out Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India, which are furnishing men, not in proportion to their population, but enough to affect the general ratio. He puts in concrete form what the general figures of population reveal—eighty-five Englishmen and Frenchmen plus seven million Canadians against seventy millions Germans.

But Mr. Mallock does not stop there. He points out that the greater the army a nation places in the field the greater is the strain upon the population that must feed and equip the army. Millions of men must be withdrawn from normal occupations to industries of first necessity—food and munitions. And his figures show that for Germany to bring 5,000,000 men into the field against England's 2,500,000 and France's 3,000,000, leaves Germany with only a million and a quarter men for non-military industries, to 1,360,000 for France and three and a quarter millions for England.

These figures would indicate, says the Post, that while England is much less removed from the normal than Germany, the French are better off by only a small margin. But Mr. Mallock leaves out of the reckoning one factor which would greatly strengthen his case, namely, the control of the sea which holds the markets of the world open for the Allies. For Germany the manufacture of military supplies means withdrawing men from normal industry. The Allies draw a large portion of their equipment from abroad. Though France and Great Britain have mobilized their industries for war, the dislocation of normal industry must be proportionately much smaller than in Germany.

"In the long run therefore," says the Post, "a war of defence for Germany apparently spells defeat. An aggressive policy, on the other hand cannot force a speedy end, in view of the deadlock of months. The one way out is to prove the enormous costliness of a protracted war, and thus to make the Allied nations wonder whether the possible fruits of ultimate victory are worth the fearful price."

THE POST OFFICE.

If the reader will scan the following official figures as to Post Office revenue and expenditure under Liberal and Conservative rule he will see that whereas before 1896 the Conservatives on a general letter rate of three cents to points in Canada and five cents to Great Britain had an annual deficit ranging above $700,000, Sir William Mulock made revenues and expenditure almost balance in his second year. Then he cut the rate for domestic letters and letters to Great Britain to two cents, and once more speedily wiped out the deficit by careful oversight of the service. The figures tell the story:

Conservative Rule.
	Revenue.	Expenditure.
1893-1894	$2,809,000	$3,517,000
1894-1895	2,792,000	3,593,000
1895-1896	2,964,000	3,665,000
Liberal Rule.
1896-1897	3,202,000	3,789,000
1897-1898	3,527,000	3,575,000
1898-1899	3,193,000	3,603,000
1899-1900	3,205,000	3,758,000
1900-1901	3,441,000	3,931,000
1901-1902	3,918,000	4,023,000

*Two-cent postage established.

Between 1902 and 1911 the Post Office under Sir William Mulock and Mr. Lemieux yielded a surplus of almost eight million dollars. Before the Laurier Government went out a good beginning had been made in rural mail delivery, which has been extended materially since 1911, but not to such a degree as to wipe out the Post Office surplus had the administration been in careful hands. The following table shows how in three years a Liberal surplus of over a million had been reduced to $132,000 under Conservative rule:

Liberal Rule.
	Revenue.	Expenditure.
1909-1910	$ 7,958,000	$ 7,215,000
1910-1911	9,146,000	7,954,000
Conservative Rule.
1911-1912	10,492,000	9,172,000
1912-1913	12,051,000	10,882,000
1913-1914	12,954,000	12,822,000

"GONE MAD."

"When I was a boy I was proud to be a German," said Mr. J. H. Worman, an American citizen born in Berlin, and for five years United States Consul-General at Munich, "but now, grown grey, I am sorry for my country. Germany is a madhouse. The nation has gone mad." In the meantime, if the Kaiser has any friends now left on earth, which might well be doubted, they should remind him that there is such a thing as laying up wrath against the day of wrath, and that he, personally, is overdoing the business. They should recall to his mind Napoleon and St. Helena. Napoleon deserved St. Helena, and it was worthy of his closing scene in its "splendid isolation." He at least never played the role of a squealing, vicious, cornered rat.

There are much worse places within the British Empire than St. Helena for obsolete monarchs. For instance, there is Hampton Court Palace, where so many other undesirable or unmentionable relatives of British Royalty have found seclusion and food, with the added privilege of looking at "personally conducted" tourist parties. That is a haven of genteel isolation which would adequately "fill the bill" for Emperor William the Second, if he persists further in his course.

By way of relaxation after his endeavors to drive the chariot of the sun, a kindly British government would no doubt feel disposed to provide him with a pony carriage for drives about the gardens during the fine weather, particularly on special tourist days, and they would almost certainly grant him a free pass to "the maze" for the proper daily exercise of his "all highest military and diplomatic mind."

Admiral Jellicoe's protest to the Admiralty about the slackness of some of the men on shore in meeting the needs of the Fleet is not a pleasant thing to read. It is to be hoped that the urgent appeal from the officer whose ships and men have Britain's safety in their keeping, will not be in vain.

Major-General Gorgas, of the United States army, has accepted a post at £10,000 a year under the auspices of the Rockefeller Commission, to stamp out typhus in Serbia. The Rockefeller Commission will engage a large and competent staff, and will pay all expenses. The campaign is under the patronage of the American Red Cross. General Gorgas made a record in Cuba, Panama, and South Africa in 1913, where he worked for the British Government in stamping out infectious disease, and operations in Serbia will be on similar lines.

Before the war, according to Theodore H. Price, writing in the New York Outlook, the national debts of the nations now at war totalled over 22 1/2 billion dollars. The annual interest charge on this debt was $838,000,000. Other governmental disbursements added $6,365,000,000 to this. This annual burden rested on 350,000,000 people. That meant an annual charge of $20 per capita. The present war has, according to this same authority, already cost the nations involved, directly and indirectly, double the sum the national debts stood at before the war. Mr. Price thinks it not unlikely that repudiation of some of the obligations incurred will be one of the effects of the war.

The brutal treatment of British prisoners in Germany, as officially disclosed by Lord Kitchener, is another addition to the black record of the "blond beasts." It is enough to make the blood boil, but even these outrages must not deflect the British people from a humane and just policy, other than, as Mr. Asquith declared, to exact reparation from those guilty of this calculated cruelty and crime.

It is pointed out that the Dominion Government, in four years has dismissed 10,000 employees and engaged 21,000 in their place. Putting the salaries of the people thus awarded "paronage" at $1,000 per annum, we find that the salary list has been augmented by $11,000,000. No wonder that we have to buy war stamps to provide the "spoils" for hungry heeled.

William Philip Simms, describing in the New York Sun the scenes along the Allies' line shortly before the great storm burst and the Canadian division "saved the situation," says: "Dandelions were thick in the valleys. Gently sloping hillsides were covered with anemones, forget-me-nots, lilies of the valley and wild violets. Early peach trees were blooming and jonquil hedges framing flower beds with rich gold.

"Then," the writer goes on, "you shuddered. Suddenly you remembered what this sunshine and beautiful picture meant. The awakening of the war god; the renewal of furious gory battles, of smashing, slashing offensive; the building of heaps and pyramids of broken bodies. A tender little violet, blooming under its leaf, means a pile of dead men; a fragrant narcissus blooming in a peasant's yard stands for the lives of the young men of the entire neighborhood; that anemone you see smiling at you from the pasture there represents a huge crater dug by a giant shell, and in it the torn pieces of human flesh mixed with the torn shreds of horse flesh."

THE SOLDIER'S DREAM.

Our bugles sang truce, for the night-cloud had lowered,
And the sentinel stars set their watch in the sky;
And thousands had sunk on the ground overpowered,
The weary to sleep, and the wounded to die.

When reposing that night on my pallet of straw,
By the wolf-scaring faggot that guarded the slain,
At the dead of the night a sweet vision I saw,
And thrice ere the morning I dreamt it again.

Methought from the battle-field's dreadful array
Far, far I had roamed, on a desolate track;
'Twas autumn—and sunshine arose on the way
To the home of my fathers, that welcomed me back.

I flew to the pleasant fields traversed so oft
In life's morning march, when my bosom was young;
I heard my own mountain-goats bleating aloft,
And knew the sweet strain that the corn-reapers sung.

Then pledged we the wine-cup, and fondly I swore
From my home and my weeping friends never to part;
My little ones kissed me a thousand times o'er,
And my wife sobbed aloud in her fullness of heart.

"Stay with us,—rest, thou art weary and worn,"
And faint was their war-broken soldier to stay;
But sorrow returned with the dawning of morn,
And the voice in my dreaming ear melted away.

TO THE SCRAP HEAP AT FORTY.

To the Star—I am forty years old and feel that I am just getting started in life. But all this stuff about "age" getting Johnson at thirty-three and the Antarctic explorers regarding men of thirty-five as decrepit, so I get me. Am I on the way to the scrap heap?

You are, you are! You would have the slightest show on earth to lick Jess Willard, or to make the record in the 100-yard dash or to win the tennis championship (though I never was champion after forty) or to do a spectacular pole vaulting or to do a job on the Packers or to do any one of a hundred things you had done when you were twenty. You are on the way to the age of the leaden and the perked pantaloons.

The only thing left you to do is to be the best of it. There are a few things opportunities still open. Men have been known even above the average age of forty to do a little something in medicine, the law, business, or such.

The framers of the Constitution thought enough of the aged and firm to bar persons below thirty from the presidential office. This has been due to the fact that many of the members of the convention were well on in years and were jealous of youth.

At the same time it has to be admitted that a modicum of fame is possible even at the age when you can no longer hope to become a champion pugilist of the world and win an American flag about one's waist. E. H. Harriman was hardly better before he was forty, and he became a great work, the re-organization of the Union Pacific, at fifty-two. Crocker never saw an army until he was forty-three. Grant was a clerk in a store at thirty-nine. Woodrow Wilson became president of Princeton at forty-one. Sir William Osler himself was never heard of if he had not died at forty, while Gladstone did not introduce the first Home Rule Bill until he had reached something like maturity at seventy-seven.

If you can reconcile yourself to letting the youngsters win the athletic championships, starve at the North Pole and get killed in the trenches, you may still find the opportunity to live a fairly useful and happy life for thirty or forty years longer.—Kansas City Star.

A JUNE ELECTION.

Sir Robert Borden has apparently yielded at last to the pressure of the election managers for a June election. By vacillating about an election since last fall, he has clearly lost ground. The reasons given for an election at this time will scarcely be accepted by any but partisans. It is not apparent at all events, that the best interests of the country will be served or that the activity of the Senate has been such as to warrant him in appealing for a mandate.

Nor is there justification of an election in the course followed by the position, which in all that pertains to the conduct of the war gave no ungrudging support. Why should Laurier not have divided the House on the tariff increases? They were wholly inadequate for the raising of revenue and from the point of view of the producers, at least, a serious and unjust addition to the burden which they bear. That they increased the privileges of the protected classes without a material addition to the revenue is not to be disputed. The Opposition's position was difficult because while an election has been held the wind since last summer, the Premier would not give an assurance that an election would not take place.

Party advantage alone is no doubt the reason of the election. It is better to sidetrack the economic issues and to have an election on war issues. Besides, great financial difficulties may confront the Government at any time and there is probability in the rumor that it hastens a public judgment before it is called inevitably to deal with the unfortunate case of Mackenzie and Mann. In view of the difficulties which loom ahead it is probable that the day of fifteen and eighteen year governments is past.—The Weekly Sun. (Ind.)

WHAT FITS MEN FOR HEAVEN.

It isn't the amount of religion a man has that makes him good and fits him for heaven; it is the amount he uses. Long prayers and loud professions do not count; but the man who loves his fellowmen and fellow-citizens, who ministers to the afflicted and wears a smile for all, including his wife and children, who never kicks the dog when he ought to kick himself, who speaks well of people when their backs are turned, and under all circumstances keeps an even mind—that man doesn't have to die to go to heaven. He gets to feeling happy all the time as a matter of habit, and he takes all the dispensation of life with philosophical satisfaction.—Tweed Advocate.

CANADA'S MAGNIFICENT FAIR EXHIBIT.

Resources of Vast Dominion Shown at San Francisco Upon a Stupendous Scale—Scenic Charms, Mineral and Agricultural Resources Advertised.

From a country that boasts a mineral production amounting to over $18,500 per head of its population Canada does—one naturally expects a very fine mineral exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International exposition. Nor will the visitor to the Canadian Pavilion be disappointed in this respect. The mineral exhibit varies from the stereotyped multiplication of the smaller specimens in small cases to the greater specimens that can be weighed not only in ounces and pounds but that can be gauged by hundredweights and tons.

The central court and south side of the interior of the beautiful Canadian building are given over to the mineral exhibit. On either side of the central court are showcases of all sizes containing specimens of Canadian minerals of all sorts, some very small and some weighing several hundred tons, all varied in their appearance and placed so as not to show the character of the rock only but also to give a pleasing and interesting effect to the general view.

In the center of this minor exhibit is a huge pyrolyte weighing more than half a ton and that has been shaped into a cube. Surrounding it are several tons of large-sized specimens showing the various characteristics of the Sudbury nickel ore. This larger specimen is out there perhaps to draw the attention of the visitor to the special minerals surrounding it, they being varied and numerous in character. Contemporaneous with this mineral exhibit is the view of the Cobalt silver mining district, the richest silver producing country in all the world.

The first view of the Cobalt district shows that country as it was a few years ago when nothing but long stretches of desert land, rocks, crags, hills and mountains were in view. Now the city of Cobalt is shown fitted up with all the fine things of a modern city which can be reached by regular trains instead of by stage-coach and other ancient conveyance.

Canada's production of silver last year was $1,750,000 ounces. With the exception of a comparatively small amount which comes from the smelting ores of British Columbia, the entire silver output production of Canada comes from this little city of Cobalt and the region surrounding it. Specimens of silver ore are here in plenty. Some of them have been polished on one face with the view of showing the native silver more plainly or as it looks after polishing and in the crude.

In the last ten years this camp of Cobalt has produced over 200,000,000 ounces of silver, more than one-half of which has gone straight into the pockets of the investors in the mines of this district.

Canada's great iron industry will not be overlooked in this exhibit. Canada's output of iron last year was $64,000 tons, but that was a dull year for her. She has brought specimens of her iron, crude and in other forms, to this exhibit, if only to show that even in iron ore she is not lacking.

Canada possesses a wealth in building ornamental stones taken from quarries which reach over her dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Besides a number of slabs of marble and serpentine distributed in various corners around the main court and surrounding the cases containing specimens of minerals, two large cases have been set aside, especially for these ornamental building stones and marbles. The backs of many of the cases are lined with many slabs of this ornamental marble, many of them rich in color and beautiful in grain, and on the shelves stand specimens in the form of cubes having one side polished and the others cut or chiseled as in building stones. Among these specimens are all sorts of stones found on Canadian ground, including granite, gneiss, diorite, serpentine, quartz, andesite, sandstone, limestone, marble, gypsum, roofing slate, sodalite and jasper conglorite from St. George, New Brunswick will especially attract the attention of experts on account of the evenness of its color and the simplicity of its grain. The unusual blue of the sodalitic specimens from Hull, Quebec, will also attract the attention of many.

Canadians in this exhibit will show the people of the world something about the wonderful coalfields of Canada. Five out of nine provinces, as well as the Yukon, are now producing coal and Canada has brought all sorts of specimens of coal ore to this exhibit just to show what she is doing in this line.

Asbestos, that wonderful production which defies the hottest fire, comes from a restricted portion of the eastern township of Quebec, Canada, and Canada produces 85 per cent of the world's supply of this material.

In this exhibit a large number of specimens of crude asbestos is shown in the way of manufacturing products, it being used as building lumber and for pipe covering, and for the lining of boilers and as corrugated sheathing and for cloth, packing, paper stock and other purposes. Some, as it is shown in this exhibit, is used for plastering purposes. Canada last year turned out 136,951 tons of asbestos and hopes to beat this record this year. In this exhibit she will show the world just where asbestos comes from, just how it is used, and will give the people of all nations a chance to compete with her in this industry if they see fit.

On one side of the Canadian exhibit there are mountains, fields, lakes and trout streams in miniature. On the mountains and fields are set up specimens of the fur-yielding animals of Canada, from the huge mountain lion, the caribou, the buffalo and the cinnamon bear down to the smaller fur-bearing animals like the fox, the otter, the mink and the beaver. There are some live specimens, but most of them have been set up in their lifelike form by the taxidermists, and the whole produces a picture that is at once startling, lifelike and wonderfully true to nature.

To this wonderful field of Canadian forestry runs a stream of water from the surrounding mountains in which the many colored brook trout and salmon of Canada disport themselves, challenging the admiration of the visitor and the wonder of the novice in exhibition display, who wonders how these beautiful specimens of the art of pisciculture ever got there.

Near them and enjoying themselves in the running water is a mother beaver and her little family of three. Sometimes from the water they dive into the nearby forest, but there to show Canada's resources in forestry and the wonderful trees from which she derives her pulp, that material from which come the big rolls of paper used in this and in all other countries by the newspapers, the owners of which recognize Canadian paper as the best made for their special use. A great roll of white paper from a Canadian factory is placed in this exhibit just to call the attention of the world to the fact that Canada, in manufacturing paper for the special use of the newspapers, is fast leading the world.

Canada, too, is now fast becoming a competitor of all the universe in the manufacture of brick and tile, and she has many specimens of this handicraft on exhibition here. A clay suitable for the manufacture of bricks and tile, and many kiln for the manufacture of those commodities are now distributed throughout Canada and in districts reaching from points in Nova Scotia to points in British Columbia. In this exhibit Canada points proudly to the fact that last year she turned out brick and tile which brought a return to their makers of $8,492,000.

In huge cases that sit along the main court (Canada has on display specimens of fish that grow in that country, some large and some small, and in the background of these displays are beautiful pictures all made out of the grains which grow in Canada.

But the brightest and most beautiful pictures in this magnificent display are to be seen in the court of royalty. In it, standing out in heroic action and await with deep anxiety the names of 2,000 of the country's sons who have been placed on the casualty list within the past week?

There is work to do. There are hospitals to equip. There is equipment to be rushed to completion. There are new armies to be raised. The Government is in office. Let it govern. There will never come in the life of Sir Robert Borden or any other man in his cabinet, a period for work and service comparable in importance with the weeks and months that stretch straight ahead of him and them. If they are able to the tasks that need doing, let them go to these tasks and leave their future in the hands of the people of Canada. But if they now go on strike, if they run away, if they go to the country when they ought to "go to war" they should stay in their country and the affairs of Government be turned over to others.—Toronto Star.

ama but in transparencies which show all the beauties of the Canadian country.

In this great moving panorama are shown the great lakes as well as the great mountains.

Upon the mountains are seen the forest trees of Canada, including the white and red pines, the elm, beech, ash, maple, walnut, cedar, birch, and tamarac.

Besides the many wonderful resources of Canada mentioned in this article as on exhibit in this great building there are other her resources on view.

Canada does a great business in Portland Cement, her products in this line running up into the several millions and many things are made out of her cement and are here in evidence.

Her petroleum, her copper, her pig iron, her balsam, and her other products are also shown in this exhibit.

Her great railways, including the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk and her Intercolonial railway will not only have representation in this building but several of them will be in evidence in other buildings in these grounds.

In this exhibit all the wonderful agriculture products of the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, British Columbia and the territories of Canada will have their fair and equal representation.

Even that remote territory in which Dawson City, Canada's wonderful city in the Alaskan gold region, will be on parade here. That wonderful spot surrounded by its mining camps is shown in miniature in all its glory.

2nd University Company FIRE TOURNAMENT TO BE SUCCESS

Canadian Expeditionary Force.

PRINCESS PATRICIA'S CANADIAN LIGHT INFANTRY.

The Canadian Militia Department has authorized the organization of a Second University Company for Overseas Service, to be a reinforcement to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The Company will be commanded by Captain Geo. C. McDonald, with the McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C., with Captain Percival Molson, also of the McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C., as Second in Command.

Owing to the success which has attended the recruiting for the First University Company, which is at present up to full strength, and attached as "D" Company to the 33rd Battalion Canadian Expeditionary Force, it was thought advisable to form another Company, and an application was made to the Department for the necessary authority, which has been granted.

Recruiting for the Company has already been started and many names have been received. The Company will be composed of Graduates or Undergraduates of Universities or their friends. Conditions of Service and Rate of Pay will be the same as in the other Units of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

The First University Company and the Toronto University and McGill University Contingents, C.O.T.C., are going to a Training Camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake on May 3rd to the 15th, and it is expected that during that period a large number of recruits for the new Company will be obtained.

Immediately after the Camp active recruiting will be commenced at Montreal. The Headquarters of the Company will be at 332 Sherbrooke Street West and any enquiries or applications should be addressed there to Lieut. Geo. S. Currie, Recruiting Officer, April 28th, 1915.

Mr. A. Jones acted as secretary pro tem. At this juncture an organization was formed as follows to arrange for the meet—

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Pantor.
Pres.—Ald. J. O. St. Charles
Sec.—Wm. L. Doyle
Treas.—A. Jones
Executive—Chief Brown, R. Symons Capt. No. 1; Geo. Campbell, Capt. No. 2; Bert Campbell, Capt. No. 3; R. Tuite, T. Harris, T. O'Hara, L. Barrett, and all the other members of the fire department, and ex-Mayor Wills. Ald. McFee, W. Carnew, L. R. Terwilliger, and Chief of G.T.R. hose team.

Mr. A. Jones estimated that the cost of the tournament would be $600. It was decided to notify Secretary W. H. James that Belleville is ready with a cordial welcome for the fire fighters of Eastern Ontario. The committee then adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

Enthusiastic Organisation Meeting Held Wednesday Evening For July Event.

The Firemen's Tournament in Belleville in July of this year, will be an unequalled success if local energy can make it an event long to be remembered. Wednesday the firemen had Citizens' Celebration Committee met and organized for the big tournament.

Ald. J. O. St. Charles, chairman of fire, occupied the chair and called the meeting to order.

Mr. Arthur Jones said that it was very beneficial to have the Firemen of Eastern Ontario come to Belleville this summer. The tournament will stimulate and interest our local companies, help to keep up the efficiency of the brigade and provide a fine exhibition of fire fighting appliances.

"It is up to us now to see that a cordial welcome is extended to the visitors," said ex-Mayor J. F. Willis. "Our own fire boys will see that every thing possible is done for the visiting firemen." Our brigade has a reputation for hospitality. We are proud of our volunteer brigade and its efficiency.

"We all know," declared Mr. Wm. Carnew "that the firemen are among the best citizens of Belleville; always ready to lend a hand in games, parades, etc. The citizens will assist in the organization of the tournament. The event will give us one bright spot during the year. There is no doubt of our ability to work out the scheme."

Ald. McFee said "We cannot for one minute fall down in our hospitality. It is due to our Belleville boys to give them the best meet in Eastern Ontario."

Mr. L. R. Terwilliger, Ald. St. Charles and Fire Chief W. J. Brown also spoke on the question of the tournament, the two latter volunteering the turn-out of the firemen is asked on June 3rd for a proposed military event.

At this juncture an organization was formed as follows to arrange for the meet—

'Things as They Are'

Interesting Missionary Drama at the Baptist Church.

The Young Ladies, of the Outlook Club of the Baptist church presented "Things as they are" (In India). A Missionary drama, written by Mrs. Leslie, to a crowded audience in the schoolroom Tuesday night. A special platform was erected and fitted out to represent an Indian bungalow. Mrs. Chas. Buck took the part of the lady Missionary and explained the various "castes" among the women of India, also the marriage customs and other social ceremonies as they effect the women of the Hindu and Mohammedan faiths.

Miss Elsie Gastrell assumed the role of an American visitor to the Orient, who is out for information and is horrified by the hideous domestic customs and the servitude of the women of India. She also feels the delightful thrill of being called a Foreign Devil. The following young ladies took part in the representation of the various social and sexual embroglios of India, as they effect the women and also engaged in instructive dialogues and songs:—Miss Mary Hess, Miss Lorena Chute, Miss Cecil Kiser, Miss Edna Barlow, Miss Elsie Forman, Miss Ethel Nurse, Miss Nova Dalton, Miss Edna Chase, Miss Bessie Handley presided at the piano and Miss Alma Lowinsberry acted as the Missionary treasurer and received the offerings which will be devoted to the support of a Native Missionary, whose salary is provided by the Outlook Club.

At the close of the Drama the audience were treated to refreshments in the form of curry and rice, India's staple dish. This hot and wholesome relish proved too much for western palates—judging by the fragments that remained over after the audience had dispersed. Nevertheless the innovation was much appreciated. A delegation of 30 young people were present from Sidney Baptist church, along with their pastor, Rev. Arthur Richmond, who spoke a few words of appreciation during the evening. Mrs. W. R. Deaton gave a piano solo that was heartily enjoyed. The Sidney delegation were served subsequently to a dainty luncheon in the ladies' parlors and afterwards visited the Church auditorium and listened to a short organ recital by Miss Wanda Riggs. The costumes for the drama were kindly loaned by Miss Lorena Chute and the brochure was given gratis by the talented author, Mrs. Leslie.

Dr. Edwards' Creed.
"I know that God is worth with me, For I was born in sin, My heart is so exceeding vile, Damnation dwells therein, Awake I sit, Asleep I sin, I sink with every breath, When Adam fell he went to hell, And damned us all to death." My dear Sir, the above hymn is taken from a book written by the celebrated Doctor Jonathan Edwards, John J. B. Flint.

Tallasse Produced

at Madoc May 5th

Mr. Charles A. Macfarlane and his Belleville company visited Madoc last May 5 and played in the Masonic hall before a packed house. Mr. Macfarlane's four act comedy drama, "Tallasse the Indian Princess." The presentation was a most successful effort and was appreciated by the large gathering.

The production which was under the direction by Mr. Wm. L. Doyle had the following cast:

Robert Grant C. A. Macfarlane
John Grant, his son T. M. Barrett
Alex Grant, his nephew F. Morrison
Ethel Grant, his niece Miss E. Smith
James Manning J. M. Phelan
James Watson Harold Barrett
Nora's Chalmers, a maid
..... Miss E. Waddell
Wm. Wheeler J. E. McKitterick
Mrs. William Wheeler Mrs. B. McGill
Annie Wheeler Miss Gladys Ivey
Bernice Wheeler Miss Ida Beeson
Carrie Pierce Miss Ida Beeson
Clifford Scott Mr. A. Ferguson
Tallasse, The Indian Princess
..... Miss Catherine Bowen
and spotted Cat

This was Mr. Macfarlane's last appearance in the play with the Belleville company as he shortly returns to Lawrence, Mass. His former home. Several in the company gave specialties, including Mr. Harold Barrett and Mr. A. Ferguson. Mr. Macfarlane, the author was called before the curtain and addressed the audience and recited a poem.

Royal Templars Organization
Mr. E. Skitch of Campbellford in the city working in the interests of the Royal Templars of Temperance. The society Mr. Skitch represents is a Christian Temperance and Prohibition society, and has pledged 150,000 persons to total abstinence. This is an opportune time for a large number of the citizens of Belleville to take the Total Abstinence Vow.

HOW CANADA SAVED THE DAY FOR ENGLAND

It is now well over a week since the fierce battle in which the Canadians were so heavily engaged, but a complete statement of the losses incurred has not yet been given out. Each issue of the daily press since then has contained long lists of killed and wounded, mainly officers, but clear and definite figures of the total casualties in all ranks have yet to appear. The casualties are estimated at over 6,000.

It is quite evident, however, that the losses sustained by the Canadian division make the proportion of killed and wounded to the numbers engaged not far short of the proportions in some of the bloodiest battles in history. Last week it was estimated that the division had lost a fourth of the officers engaged. It now seems as if the proportion was over a third. It is probable, when a full statement comes to hand, that the losses in rank and file will be found to be little less.

Up to Saturday fifty officers were reported killed, 130 wounded and forty-two missing. In some of the battalions and companies the losses in officers were exceptionally heavy. The third battalion, which started from Canada with 44 officers, lost 17. Company of this battalion lost all its officers—Capt. Straight and Lieut. Johnson being wounded, and Lieuts. Jarvis, Medland and Kirkpatrick killed.

While still awaiting a final statement of losses, it is possible to piece together, from various and disjointed reports, a fairly clear description of the engagement in which the Canadians were so badly cut up. The Canadians had British troops on their right, and French troops on their left. Up to five o'clock the day had been fairly quiet. Then, taking advantage of a favoring wind, the Germans discharged vast quantities of a poisonous gas toward the section of the line held by French troops on the Canadians' left. This vapour, heavier than air, held close to the ground, and was carried in a mass toward the French lines. Choking and stifled, the French broke as the Germans, who were protected by a cotton padding against their own poisonous fumes, rushed the deserted trenches. In a moment the Canadians, the French having fallen back, found their left in the air, with the German mass surging past. The Canadians' left was then thrown back to form a new line. This placed a portion of the Canadian force in the form of a V, the 13th and 14th battalions, Montreal troops, forming the narrow part of the V. These were eventually cut off by the German advance and, according to German accounts, a thousand were taken prisoners. The forcing backward of the Canadian left caused the exposure of a number of batteries, which were rather close up, and two Canadian 4.7 guns were captured. Other batteries, firing both ways at enemies crowding almost up to the guns, kept the Germans at bay. Notwithstanding the effects of the gas, from which Canadians as well as the French suffered, and despite the exposure of their left by the withdrawal of the French, the Canadians held stubbornly on, and by doing so prevented what might have proved a great disaster. Later on, aided by British reinforcements, they swept back over much of the ground ceded at the beginning, and recovered the lost guns, but only after these had been blown up by the Germans.

At one point at least the Germans appear to have held ground when the allied line gave way before the combination of gas fumes and a surprise attack by German infantry. This is at the extreme northern end of the German line, where France and Belgium intersect. At the end of last week German 17-inch guns were reported as throwing shells into Dunkirk, on the extreme north-east coast of France, from a distance of ten miles. Since these guns must have been protected by infantry in advance of them, this doubtless means that the German advance was within seven or eight miles of the French coast. This is a good deal nearer than they had been at any time since the previous October, and the advance must have been made during the late drive at the point where the Canadian and French lines joined.

The French Government has ordered a large number of special masks to protect the troops from asphyxiation by gases. Eugene Turpin, the inventor of melinite, says the French army can combat the new danger by pumping liquid ammonia into the gas clouds as soon as they approach the trenches.

8,000 Men a Month.
The heavy losses sustained by the Canadians, together with the evidence given that Germany is not yet near exhaustion, is going to result in still further calls upon Canadian men and Canadian resources. The Dominion Government has announced its intention of placing two full divisions on the fighting line, and keeping two more divisions under arms here to fill up the wastage of war. Reinforcements for the latter purpose to go forward at the rate of 8,000 a month. Assuming that the Government's estimate is correct, that $18,000,000 will be paid in pensions for every 50,000 men placed in the field, the pension bill alone is likely to reach over $50,000,000 a year, a sum equal to the entire annual expenditure of Canada for all purposes up to the beginning of this century.

Already, indeed, steps are being taken to fill the ranks depleted by war. The battalion in training at London, when the call came, volunteered practically to a man for this purpose. The 24th Battalion, stationed at Guelph, will send its quota of representatives to help fill in the gaps. An entire company, composed of officers, non-commissioned officers and men will be picked from the ranks of the 34th. This will make a total of about 200 men from Guelph. In Toronto the privilege of answering the call fell to the 35th Battalion, and the officers who will go to the front are Captain Eiden Smith, who will command; Lieut. H. B. Platt, No. 1, A Company; Lieut. Crawford, No. 2, B Company; Lieut. Mackenzie, No. 3, C Company; and Lieut. Davison, No. 4, D Company. The call was for one Captain, four Lieutenants, eight Sergeants, eight Corporals and 232 men. Lieut.-Col. F. C. McCordick, Commander of the Battalion, which is made up of detachments of various Toronto regiments, had a strenuous task in making the selection, as every man was insistently eager to go.

Prospects for Building.

Prospects for building operations in town are very encouraging this spring. Messrs. W. McCaw and Jas. Lawrence will erect brick residences at south Victoria St. Mr. A. Logan will build a brick residence on Isaac St. and the Houston Co. are making preparations to erect a new brick dry kiln at their saw factory. In addition to this Messrs. Paul and Jos. Keshotte, builders contractors, now have under course of construction a commodious workshop on Arthur St. The new additions will very materially increase Tweed's assessment for 1915.—Tweed Advocate.

Economical of Light.

Some three years ago, when Deseronto was first lighted by electricity, an arrangement was made with the Seymour Power Company by which the town was to have the use of seventy extra lights free of cost during a period of three years, the town simply paying for the lamps. The three-year period now having elapsed the company are prepared to take over the seventy extra lamps and give the town the use of them at the same price as is paid for the other lamps, namely $18 per lamp, or a total of $840. The Town Council feel this is more than the town can assume at the present time, and have accordingly taken out seventy lamps in different parts of the town, which will naturally make a difference in the appearance of some of the streets. We understand, however, that it is probable about fifteen lights may be replaced in sections of the town where it is considered they are most needed.—Deseronto Post.

Deserter Wanted on Charge of Fraud

On Saturday last Albert Arthur Taylor, who had enlisted with the 40th regiment in the Fourth Contingent, deserted. Before leaving he obtained several articles of clothing from W. H. Floyd promising to settle on pay day. A warrant has been issued for his arrest, and if he is caught he will have to face two charges—desertion and obtaining goods under false pretences. He is a young man about 22 years of age, 5 ft. 5 in. tall, weighs about 125 lbs., clean shaven, fair complexion, fair hair, has black stripe tattoo on left arm above the wrist.—Cobourg Star.

STEPHENSON — In Belleville, Saturday, May 8th, 1915, Elizabeth Lyon Gowland, beloved wife of Frederick A. Stephenson, aged 87 years.

Norwood Boy Attains Creditable Standing

William R. Howson, B.A., of Alberta University, Wins Gold Medal—Is Also Highly Honored by Fellow Students.

The Edmonton Journal of Thursday, the 29th ult., contains glowing reference to Mr. W. R. Howson, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Howson, Queen Street, Norwood. Mr. Howson has been attending the University of Alberta, and his many old friends will be delighted to know that he has most successfully completed his Bachelor of Arts' course, taking the gold medal for General Proficiency. Following a picture of Mr. Howson, the Journal says:—

"W. R. Howson, B.A., delivered the valedictory address at the convocation of the University of Alberta. He was also awarded the Alberta Women's Association gold medal for obtaining the highest standing during the third and fourth years in the general course. Concurrently with his Art studies, Mr. Howson has carried on his law course and is at the present time writing off his third year law examinations as well as the additional subjects for his LL. B. degree. He is with the firm of A. G. MacKay and company, barristers.

Mr. Howson matriculated from Norwood (Ontario) high school, and entered the banking business. Later he became manager of the Bank of Montreal at Stirling, Ontario. Giving up banking for educational pursuits he came west in the fall of 1911, and took first year Arts in the University of Manitoba. In the following fall he joined class '15 of the University of Alberta."—Register.

Lacrosse Team Has Been Organised

April 30th a well attended meeting of Lacrosse met at the Town Hall for the purpose of organization this evening and from the enthusiasm manifested Trenton is bound to be favored by a good many games of Lacrosse this summer. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—Robert Weddell. President—J. F. Ryan. 1st Vice-Pres.—R. K. Moffatt. 2nd Vice-Pres.—J. D. McIntyre. Sec.-Treas.—R. F. Haney. Manager's Committee—J. Cummings, W. Patrick, R. Haines, R. F. Haney, G. A. Ireland.

Teams have been entered in Intermediate and Juvenile O.L.A. with Stirling, Madoc, Marmora and Tweed.—Trenton Courier.

A Hen That Likes Travelling

Mr. A. W. Tweedle, farmer, and former tax-collector for the Township of Murray, has a hen that does not mind travelling. The hen has made a nest in Mr. Tweedle's demarcated under the seat. On one or two occasions when Mr. Tweedle has hitched up and come to town the hen has remained on the nest till the return to the farm. On Friday last we had the pleasure of seeing the nest of eggs, but on this occasion the hen had remained at home. The eggs are of a large size, one of them appearing as if it were a double yoked one.—Trenton Courier.

Unfounded Rumor.

The following news item has appeared in a number of our exchanges: "It is reported that Jack Bradley, Tweed, is a prisoner in German hands Jack was transferred to the artillery and at the battle of Ypres, he with a thousand others were captured by Germans."

The Advocate has made very close inquiry in reference to the news contained in this item and we have failed to elicit the least spark of information that would give rise to such a rumor. Jack's parents have received no such notice and the report is undoubtedly mere conjecture.—Tweed Advocate.

Moving to the City.

Mr. S. Cross, of Belleville, who has been in town for a couple of days preparing to remove his household to the city, left this Thursday morning with his family for their future place of residence. They will take with them the best wishes of their many Tweed friends for a prosperous sojourn in their adopted home.—Tweed Advocate.

Teachers' Convention.

The Annual Convention of the Centre Hastings Teachers Institute will be held in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church, Madoc, on May 29th and 31st. All teachers are urgently requested to do all in their power to make this convention a pleasing success.

Letter From Officer Differs From Others

SAYS GERMANS NOT BRUTAL TO PRISONERS—POSSIBLY A FORCED MESSAGE.

Kingston, May 7.—Dr. Starr, Dean of Ontario, today received a letter from a friend, an officer of the Coldstream Guards, who has been a prisoner at Heidelberg, Germany, for the past three months. This officer says that while the food provided the prisoners is coarse, it is welcomed. He also says that the Germans do not brutally treat their prisoners.

Dean Starr remarked that the letter may have been written under pressure as the officer's statements are very different from those of the majority of prisoners of war in Germany.

Early Training Appreciated by Late Lt. Doxsee

Editor Campbellford Herald: Dear Sir.—The following extract from a letter written by the late Lieut. Doxsee, may be interesting to your readers, as showing the natural bent of his mind:—

France, April 15th. I was indeed pleased to get a letter from you—one whom I have every reason to remember and thank for my early training—not forgetting my mother. It is to her and you that all credit and praise is due. May we never forget the lessons you taught us of our duty to God, home and country; and when this cruel war is over, may you have reason to feel proud of the boys you taught in the basement of the Baptist Church, in Campbellford.

I met Perry Goldsmith in the hospital at Boulogne—he called to see me when I was wounded. He is looking fine—so is Mr. Hodge, who is with me now.

Wishing you the best of health and many happy days to come, I am pleased to sign myself,

"One of your boys,"
W. J. Doxsee.
The bereaved family has the heartfelt sympathy of the recipient.—Campbellford Herald.

No Frost on the Pumpkin There

Chatham Couple Attired in Garden of Eden Styles.

Chatham, May 8th.—The residents of Wellington Street east are greatly agitated over the actions of a certain lady resident of that locality and her daughter. These persons have evidently been pursuing a course of religious training which taught them that they were still living in the garden of Eden. They were seen last evening sitting out on the boulevard under their home, enjoying the cool breezes of the evening with absolute nothing to prevent the soft zephyrs from having full sway on their anatomies.

Several of the residents, who objected strongly to the spectacle, called the police, and Officer Merritt was dispatched with the interesting duty of taking the ladies into the house. Very soon he telephoned back for assistance, evidently not wishing to monopolize the assignment. Officer Dezella was also sent post haste to the scene, and between them the officers succeeded in carrying the peculiar persons into the house from the range of curious eyes.

The husband and father of the two ladies expressed no surprise when he learned of the episode.

A. Powliss Wounded

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Earl Mulholland received a telegram from Ottawa informing her that her brother, Austin Powliss, had been wounded in the Battle of Ypres. The telegram reads: "Sincerely regret to inform you No. 7784, Private David A. Powliss, 2nd Battalion, officially wounded. Further particulars when received will be sent you. Adjutant General."

Austin Powliss is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Powliss of Picton. Before enlisting with the First Contingent he was engaged at George Johnston's garage as an expert.—Picton Times.

Bright Student.

We are pleased to offer our congratulations to Mr. C. A. Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Payne, on his having been successful in his final law examination at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Mr. Payne stood seventh in a long list of students, a fact which considering that he is one of the youngest members of the class, shows marked ability. We predict for him a bright and promising career.—Campbellford Herald.

BANISH PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS

In the Spring Most People Need a Tonic Medicine.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in disgusting eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago; the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life-giving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits, and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Athletic Student Has Graduated

We are pleased to see in the list of those graduating in Electrical Engineering with the degree of Bachelor of Science from Queen's University at Kingston the name of W. J. Johnston, of Stoco. Mr. Johnston graduated with honors from Madoc High School in 1909 and from Peterboro Normal School in 1910. He entered Queen's University in 1911 and soon became known as a reliable middle-distance runner and represented his university each year in races for the Inter-collegiate Championship. In 1912 he won the bronze medal for second place in the three mile race. The same year he won the five mile race which brought the silver cup and the championship of the city to Queen's. Mr. Johnston is now in the west for the summer and we wish him every success.—Tweed Advocate.

Resolution by Official Board

Thanking Rev. A. R. Sanderson for His Services on That Organization.

At the Official Board meeting of Holloway Street Church Thursday evening a resolution was passed, and carried unanimously, extending to Rev. A. R. Sanderson, their pastor, the thanks of the Board, for the manner in which he has conducted the Board during his ministry with them, the kindly Christian spirit shown by him and the untiring efforts that both he and Mrs. Sanderson have put forth to help along the interests of the church. The Board regretting very much that their pastor and his wife have to leave for other fields of labor Mr. Sanderson made a suitable reply stating that it has been a pleasure to labor with the Board and regretting that he could not remain longer with them.

"Billy" Sunday Will Not Pray for Peace

Fears He Might "Butt In" On Almighty's Plans.

Paterson, N. J., May 8.—Billy Sunday refuses to pray for the cessation of the war in Europe. He fears that by so doing he might antagonize some deep dall plan of the Almighty. He preaches on "The Second Coming of Christ." How do I know God is not using the Allies to punish the Germans for all the skepticism and blasphemy and infidelity that has come out of Heidelberg and Leipzig Universities. How do I know He may not use the Germans to punish France for driving out the Christian believers? Who am I that I should pit my puny intelligence against the wisdom of God Almighty? Why should I butt in with my feeble intellect? I don't know what may be God's plan.

Potts Committed to Stand Trial

John Potts, a well known resident of Belleville, was yesterday afternoon committed for trial by Magistrate Masson on a charge of having stolen some articles from a farmer named Hillman of Ameliasburg township.

THE PAME OF WAR.

Written for The Ontario.
A little lad is singing,
Upon his way to school,
The chorus of a war song,
Uncouth, with jostling droll.
Behind him, in the cottage,
His mother bakes a pie,
Before him, in the future,
The great battalions lie.

A youth is climbing now the heights
That lead to manhood's dreams,
To prove—if these be proving,
The truth of what which seems.
Behind him in the school-house
And many lessons learned,
Before him game and glory,
And the leadership he yearned.

A man, who yet a youth appears,
So young in years is he,
Is seen upon the battle-field,
Where flags are flying free.
Behind him by a thousand leagues,
Are gone the things that were,
Before him vast eternity
For life is now no more.

In many thousands forms he lies,
The youth of every land,
The prop of Age dependent
On the labors of his hand.
Behind his culture, breeding,
Product of by-gone years,
Before him, Grace of God—perhaps,
No fame can reach dead ears.

But when t' planes of upper worlds,
These proven souls appear,
Who fought, each for his country's sake
For high ideals clear,
Behind them, blood-stained battlefields,
And foes 'n combat grave,
Before them—what shall be the need,
For youthful heroes, brave,

Club License Refused

A meeting of the Leeds License Commissioners was held at Elgin on Monday, when the application of the Opinions Club for a license was refused. We understand this action was with the approval of the Department at Toronto.

At the same meeting the following was adopted:—"Resolved that this Board thinks it would be in the interest of the welfare of the public if all the licenses granted to tourist hotels in this district could be cut down in length of time so that after the tourist season is over and they are not serving meals their bars should be closed."—Gananogue Reporter.

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is agreeable to the taste, and is a certain relief for irritation of the throat that causes hacking coughs. If used according to direction it will break the most persistent cold, and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek a sure remedy and are in doubt what to use, the advice is—try Bickle's Syrup.

Accident to Steamer Lamonde

Messrs. Collier & Martin expected to have the steamer Lamonde in commission on the Napanee/Pictou route beginning on Monday last, May 3rd, but owing to an accident to her boiler, she will be delayed for some time before beginning the run.
It appears that when the steamer was laid up last fall, the boiler and steam pipes were not properly drained and the result was that serious damage was done to the boiler by frost. The repairs are likely to take some time.
The steamer was laid up in Deseronto last fall, but is now in Pictou harbor. She was towed up to Pictou on Monday last by Doug. Barter, who went down with his motor yacht for that purpose.—Gazette.

P. E. County Boys Were in Fight at Ypres

That the men from Prince Edward County had some part in the great battle at Ypres last week is made certain by a careful reading of the despatches. They were attached to the Second Battalion of the Second Brigade. This battalion was under the command of Lt.-Col. Watson of Quebec and Col. C. H. Rogers of Northumberland county. They were in reserve when the battle opened on Thursday, but they were at once brought to the front and assisted in the attack on the German lines which ended in the recapture of the Canadian guns. It was in this attack that Lt.-Col. Buell of Brockville was wounded and Lt. Dossie was killed, both of them officers of this battalion.
At the time of writing only one casualty in the men from Prince Edward has been reported. This was the wounding of Private Austin Powless of Pictou, the news of which came by telegram from Ottawa on Monday evening. It is not known as yet how seriously he is wounded.—Gazette

Robbery in Bloomfield

On Tuesday evening the store of Mr. W. H. Degroff of Bloomfield, was broken into and some of the contents stolen. The store was entered by forcing a window. The articles taken are reported to be 20 pounds butter, half a caddy of tobacco and numerous other things. There is said to be no clue to the robbery.—Gazette

Reported Safe

A wire has just been received that Wilfred Keeble and wife who sailed on the "Lusitania" are safe. Mr. Keeble is the Manager of the London Branch of A. McKim, Limited and had just been to Canada on a honeymoon trip. Mr. Keeble is well known in Canada having been manager of the Oxo Company for three years.

To the 3rd. Contingent

Written for The Ontario
Come Johnny, are you ready? we are going to the fight
Those Huns will soon be routed, for the British Lion's all right
Has been taken into action, and let cub are all in sight.
Are rushing to the conflict, and their work will not be light.

CHORUS—
When you hear those German bullets ping—
All keep close and make your rifles sting
And we'll rout those Huns till they have no breath to sing
We'll give them some trouble in Germany—"Look out!"

There are men from old Australia and from good New Zealand too,
And our gallant troops from India have proved what they can do.
For in heart they are all united with a spirit brave and true,
And they'll fight as British soldiers fight until the war is through.

CHORUS—
Our Canada is giving two hundred thousand strong,
Of her bravest sons and loyal who will always right the wrong,
And from all her rich dominions they are rushing to the fray,
And the Maple Leaf forever is their battle song today.

CHORUS—
When you hear those German bullets ping—
All keep close and make your rifles sting
And we'll rout those Huns, and drive them out to sea,
And give them a hot time in old Germany. M.E.S.

Gospel Temperance Meeting

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the Royal Templars of Temperance held a union service in the Salvation Army Citadel. Rev. A. M. Hubly delivered an address on "The Cure for Intemperance" and his spiritual diagnosis of the subject was very impressive. The Salvation Army band rendered stirring music appropriate to the occasion and Mr. E. A. Ridley sang very acceptably "Holy Bible, Book Divine" After a rousing appeal by Mr. E. Skitoh of Campbellford, Provincial organizer of the R.T. of T. the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem and prayer for the King.

FIRST BELLEVILLE SOLDIER TO FALL IN THE WAR

Sergeant Harry C. Ablard Killed in Action—Telegram Today Announced His Death

Col. Sergeant Harry C. Ablard of the "H" company Fifteenth Regiment, is the first Belleville man to fall in the first action and give his life for his country. "Deeply regret to inform you 7813 Sergeant Harry Charles Ablard, 2nd Battalion, officially reported killed in action."

"Adjutant General,"
Suck was the tragic message which Mrs. Ablard 196 Dundas street received this morning from Ottawa. During the last few days she had been feeling that something was wrong with her husband and the telegram today confirmed her premonition.

The death of Sergeant Ablard is a blow under which his wife is striving her best to bear up, but her grief may best be imagined. Harry Ablard was just thirty years and came to Belleville from his native England when he was 21 years of age. He was married in St. Thomas' church, Belleville. Mrs. Ablard herself being English by birth. To them were born three children, Harold aged six years, Gracie, three years and Jessie, seven months. The intensely pathetic part is that the little girl has never seen her father, as he was at Salisbury Plain when she was born.

Harry Ablard was secretary of the sergeants' mess of the 15th Regiment. He was at one time employed with the Belleville Hardware Company, and at other times conducted a fruit store on Bridge and a plating establishment on Front street. He was also transferrman for the Canadian Express at the G.T. R. depot. During his residence in Belleville he lived at 207 Dufferin Avenue. About a year ago he left Belleville and went to Westport near Brockville where he secured a good position.

When war broke out, he answered the Empire's call and enlisted with the Brockville detachment and went to Valcartier. He transferred to the Governor General's Body Guards' detachment and was able to keep his sergeant's stripes in the Second Battalion. Since his enlistment Mrs. Ablard had come to Belleville to reside.

He is the first Belleville soldier to make the extreme sacrifice in the war. In what action he fell is not known, whether at Langemarck or some subsequent battle near Ypres.
Sergeant McGleason when he received the sad news of the Fifteenth armoured, this morning was deeply affected. He had known Sergeant Ablard since his coming to Canada and always found him a true man.
Mrs. James of 577 St. Clair Avenue, Toronto is a sister of the late Sergeant Ablard.
The sympathy of the entire public will go out to the grief stricken widow and her three children, who have given all they treasured dearest, to the cause of country.

OBITUARY

S. M. Gilbert

Samuel Meyers Gilbert passed away on Saturday afternoon of pneumonia at his residence, second of Thurlow. He had been ill only a few days. Deceased was born in Percy township 62 years ago, but had lived in Thurlow for years. He was a Methodist in religion. He leaves a widow but no family. The late S. M. Gilbert was well known and his death is deeply regretted.

Left For Frisco

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Sinclair left by the International Limited this afternoon to visit the great Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. En route they will visit Denver, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, Los Angeles, the San Diego, Cal. exhibition, Yosemite National park, then San Francisco. On the return journey they will stop at Mount Shasta National park, Seattle, Victoria, B.C., Vancouver and various points in the northwestern provinces on the route home. Their itinerary will occupy two months.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation warranted to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

British Destroyer Sunk by a Mine

LONDON, May 10.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"While operating off the Belgian coast, the torpedo-boat destroyer Maori, commander B. W. Barrow, Royal Navy, struck a mine about two miles northwest of the Wellington lights.
"The crew took to the boats when the ship was sinking. The torpedo-boat destroyer Crusader, Lt.-Com. G. L. D. Mebbis in command, who was in company with the Maori, lowered her boats to assist in picking up the crew of the Maori, but the enemy then opened fire from shore batteries, and the Crusader, after being under fire for an hour and a half, had to leave her boats and retire.

"It is reported from German sources that the crew of the Maori and the boats' crews of the Crusader, seven officers and 88 men in all, were taken prisoners in to Zebrugge."

Berlin, May 10.—Official communication by the German War Office concerning the sinking of the British destroyer Maori says:

"The British destroyer Maori was sunk off Zebrugge. The destroyer Crusader, which had come to its support was forced to retreat and leave the life-boats which it had launched.
"The crews of the Maori and the boats' crew of the Crusader were saved by our own vessels and taken into Zebrugge. In all there were seven officers and eight-eight men.
"In the advance of our troops against Liban our Baltic Sea forces supported attacks by a bombardment from the sea."

Funeral of Late J. Leslie Gerow

The remains of the late J. Leslie Gerow were taken to their last resting place on Thursday last. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. C. J. Smith of the Baptist church. During the service Miss Brown sang "Abide With Me." Mr. Smith also conducted the service at the grave. There were many floral tributes.

An Old Landmark Is Being Removed

An old landmark in Belleville is being torn down at the corner of Front and Campbell streets. The building which is being demolished for a new bank, can look back over nearly 75 years of local history. When it was built in 1841 or 1842 as a portion of the Hamm Block, Campbell St. was unknown and the site of the present Bank of Commerce building at the north east corner was known as the old "hay market."
The old building was solidly built in stone and timber and much difficulty is being experienced in tearing down its walls. The workmen find it impossible to shove the solid stone walls over, even with a square timber and jack. Nearly all of the walls will have to be taken down stone by stone by the aid of crow-bars.

An immense amount of stone will be taken out of the old building. The structure looked old alongside the more modern and lofty buildings by its side.
For many years it was the location of the Levesonite drug store.
Very few people in Belleville remember the time when this structure was erected.
Like a Grip at the Throat. For a disease that is not classed as fatal there is probably none which causes more terrible suffering than asthma. Sleep is impossible, the sufferer becomes exhausted and finally, though the attack passes, is left in unceasing dread of its return. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is a wonderful curative agent. It immediately relieves the restricted air passages as thousands can testify. It is sold by dealers everywhere.

LOST HIS HAND IN A PLANER

Serious Injury to Henry L. Mullett of Crookston.

Special to The Ontario.

CROOKSTON, May 6th.—Mr. Henry L. Mullett of this place was the victim of an unfortunate accident this morning about 7 o'clock. He and his son, do a blacksmithing and wood-working business here. Mr. Mullett was operating the planer and in some way his left hand went in, mangleing it in a terrible way. Several of the fingers were picked up in the shavings, as the hand was eaten off by the machine, back to the center of the palm before it could be extricated. Dr. Harrison and Eagleson of Madoc were summoned to render medical aid and the unfortunate man is now resting quite nicely.

THOS. YATEMAN IS AMONG THE WOUNDED

(From Friday's Daily.)

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yateman, Mill street, have received word from Ottawa that their son, Thomas Yateman, who left here with the 34th Battery has been officially announced wounded. (The nature of his injuries are not known.)

"Tommy" Yateman is well known in this city. He is a brother of Richard Yateman, the young artilleryman who was invalided home as a result of being kicked by a horse at Havre and is now in Belleville.

FOUR MORE LOCAL MEN WOUNDED

(From Friday's Daily.)

Private William Styles of Halloway Ontario, a member of the 15th Battalion, detachment, in the second battalion is officially reported wounded. He is the soldier mentioned for valor in rescuing wounded men from a house under shell fire. He is 28 years of age.

Private Arthur George Sandford of this city, a member of the 8th Battalion is among the wounded.

The Great North Western today received two messages for next of kin whom they are not able to find. The men reported wounded are:

1045 Lance Sergeant John Edward Lamb, 8th battalion, wounded, and Mrs. John Lamb of Massawaga is the next of kin.

2195 Private Harold Hargrave Wright, 10th Battalion, formerly of the Eleventh, wounded, next of kin is William Randall Wright of Belleville, Ont.

Building Operations Brisk in the City

The outlook for building operations in this city this year is fairly bright. A good number of contracts have been let for the majority of which permits have already been issued.

Likely the main operations this season will be the construction of a fine new building for the Bank of Commerce which structure will be a work of artistic pretension, and the Griffin movie house on Front street. Both these buildings are at the corner of Campbell street.

Among the permits issued by the City Engineer, Mr. J. W. Evans, are the following:

G. Ricketta, Coleman street, frame barn $150

W. H. Luffman, coal house, iron covered, $30

Thomas Finnegan, two storey frame dwelling, West side Chatham Street, $1,000.

Thomas Finnegan, two storey frame dwelling, West side Chatham Street, $2,000.

Thomas Finnegan, two storey frame dwelling, West side Chatham Street, $2,000.

Thomas Finnegan, two storey frame dwelling, West side Chatham Street, $2,000.

W. B. Riggs, cement garage, Pine-nole street, $1,500.

Thos. Adams, Gordon street, frame dwelling, $750.

Albert Ayling, Harriet St., brick veneer dwelling, $1,000.

Myron E. Ellis, 1-1-2 story frame residence, Benjamin street, $900.

David Hewett, two storey brick veneer, Charles street, east side $2800

George Roblin, brick dwelling, on Moira street, $1,000

Royal Jones, two storey frame dwelling, Boswell street, $1,000

Wm. Boyd, veranda, Catherine St., $200.

Edward Gillespie, two storey frame dwelling, Harvey St., $600.

Her Collins, boat home, foot of James street, $30.

Arthur Gael, two storey brick dwelling, West Bridge St., $2100.

Arthur Gael, two storey brick dwelling, West Bridge St., $2100.

Charged With Theft

(From Friday's Daily.)

The charge against John Potts of obtaining a watch from Mr. J. A. McFee under false pretence was dismissed after a hearing this morning.

Another preliminary hearing is taking place this afternoon before Magistrate Masson. Potts is charged with stealing on April 15th from Fred Hillman of Ameliasburg township one whip, one grey robe, one black robe, and one lapspread. Accused made no election.

P. J. M. Anderson for crown; E. J. Butler for accused.

Soldiers' Concert.

(From Friday's Daily.)

The regular weekly concert for the soldiers of the 39th battalion was held last evening in the city hall. The volunteers thoroughly enjoyed the program, particularly the dancing and bagpipe numbers. The program was as follows:

- Overture, bagpipes, Pipe Major Albert Johnstone
- Vocal solo—Mr. Burbee
- Violin solos—Miss Panton
- Scottish dances—Mr. Bowie
- Vocal solo—Mr. Mackay
- Vocal solo—Miss Price
- Vocal solo—Miss Stork

Sidney Assault Case Dismissed

(From Friday's Daily.)

An interesting assault case from Sidney township near Trenton was tried in the police court, Belleville, yesterday before Magistrate Masson. Crown Attorney Anderson prosecuted and Mr. W. Carnew appeared for the accused, James B. Westfall.

The complainant, McMullen testified that he had been in Trenton drinking one evening about ten days ago and had returned along the railway track in company with a man part of the way. He did not recollect this man being with him when he came to his and Westfall's place. About two o'clock in the morning he was under a willow tree fooling and teasing a couple of dogs. Westfall came down and asked him what he was making such a noise for and grabbed and assaulted complainant, who made no effort to reach him. McMullen said Westfall after having knocked him down struck him in the face two or three times. Westfall then left him and went to the barn and McMullen went to his mother's.

He testified that after he had left his companion at the C.P.R. round house no one had touched him until Westfall did.

Westfall testified that he and McMullen occupied halves of a house. McMullen had a cow and some hens at the lower barn. McMullen had no right to be at Westfall's barn.

On April 26th hearing the dogs making a racket, looked out of the window and saw a man. Westfall came down and found a man jumping behind a willow tree and another man running around the corner of the shed. Westfall walked up to the man under the tree and found McMullen with his face covered with blood and his back with hay and hay seeds. He asked him his business and McMullen replied with an oath that he would tramp his (Westfall's) feet off, for Westfall was in his bare feet, having got out of bed. McMullen jumped on complainant's feet and the dogs jumped at McMullen's clothes. Complainant hit at one to drive him off and McMullen struck at witness on the back of the head. Westfall's feet were bleeding. McMullen tried to throw Westfall off his feet and the latter hit him a back-handed swat and McMullen fell at the root of the tree. The two dogs went after the other man got out of sight. McMullen lay on the ground for a time and then went to his mother's.

Several days after a blood stained bottle and blood-marked tobacco with matches were found in the barn, the door of which was found open at the time of the trouble.

A witness Keating testified to finding two bottles with blood marks, one under the barn floor, and another under the willow tree.

In his argument Mr. Carnew contended that likely the companion of McMullen had been the assailant. The bottles pointed to a carouse.

The magistrate found the accused not guilty.

McMullen had his nose broken during that eventful night.

Japanese Pistol at China's Head

It is painful to have to record at this crisis that our little brown brother, Japan, is behaving like a little brown bungler. Advantage has been taken of the great European war for Japan to make demands upon China with no self-respecting independent nation could accept, and which, therefore, have been refused. Japan may enforce her terms by war, and there is little doubt that she will be able to subdue China for the time being. In this case, the prediction may be made, though writer and readers will never live to witness its accuracy, that China will one day destroy Japan as a great power, just as China made Japan a world power. The Japanese imperialists are laboring under the delusion that China is another India to be ruled and administered by a handful of men of alien race. The truth is that China, potentially, is the greatest power in the world, inhabited by a homogeneous people, with traditions, religion and culture dating back so far that compared with them ours are things of yesterday, and capable of being fired to fanaticism in defence of what they consider their rights. If Japan has been badly to China to-day, and is able to impose her will upon her, as seems probable, the reckoning will come some day in the future. In the language of Walter Pater, Japan will get hers.

Japan's Game

Japan's policy at the present time is to rid China of the last vestige of European influence. Her alliance with Britain, of course, made it necessary that she should do her best to expel Germany from Kiau-Chau, and this colony she may return in her own good time to China. Nevertheless, Japan was playing her own game when she captured the German stronghold, and it is to be observed that this end having been attained she took no further part in the war. That she will in time endeavor to extinguish any claims that France and Britain may have upon territory formerly belonging to China is very probable. She will chase her own time for this. Having done so she hopes to be in the position of a sort of overlord of China. The demands she has made upon the Chinese Government indicate how far she desires to go in this direction, even at the present time.

What Japan Wants.

Profacing her demands with the sincere statement of a desire to maintain the peace of Eastern Asia, and under the intention of "strengthening the friendly relations existing between the two neighboring nations," she requires the right to dispose of Kiau-Chau; concessions for railways, mines and mining regions, the extension of territorial regions, the extension of territorial and railway leases, the lease of land, the right of residence and of business of all kinds together with the extension of extraterritoriality, the veto over railways and over security for loans, advisers to the Chinese, the disposition of islands or ports, a market for munitions of war, for war and arsenal materials and loans, and the right of police masters, and of advisers to the Central Government. Aside from industrial concessions, loans, leases and police matters, Japan demands the extension of sovereignty and extraterritoriality now exercised by her under special rights, in railway zones and by equality of right in treaty ports, so the country at large in Manchuria and Eastern Mongolia, she demands what would be joint administration of the whole Japanese sphere north of the Great Wall, while under the circumstances of her leadership she proposes to place in Pekin those advisers which can never admit to be wrought for China such achievements as Denison wrought for Japan. They would be Government agents imposed by diplomacy, and their business would be necessarily that of loosening the powers from China.

Helpless China.

While these demands have been rejected, it is by no means clear that China is in any position to offer a successful resistance to them. She has a population of 300,000,000 people, but her army is in bad shape. Her navy is not for a moment to be compared with the navy of Japan. She has no military system and half her population might never be aware that there had been a war until years after it was over. China is awakening, it is true, and in the past ten years has made more progress, according to our ideas, than in the preceding hundred, but she is not yet ready to get up and fight the energetic little bungler. Moreover, China's diplomacy has not been much help to her. Among the Great Powers she has no particular friends. She had an opportunity not long ago when the "six power loan" was proposed to fortify herself against Japanese aggression. This she missed because of weakness and perfidy, and now that the powers are at war she has lost the mery of Japan. It is true that even though the belligerent powers have interests in China now, and that none of them can view with anything but apprehension Japan's aggression, they are in no position to go to war with Japan for China's sake. The United States, as a champion to the "open door" policy in China has much at stake, but the United States would not risk a war with Japan.

Japan's Treaty Obligations.

If the situation is to be saved it must be because of Japan's alliance with Britain and her secret treaty with Russia. This treaty, which was arranged at the time of the Portsmouth negotiations that brought the Russo-Japanese War to a conclusion, gave Japan certain equal rights with Russia in China. Whether it also bound Japan to claim no more than equal rights is not known. However, for Japan to alienate both Britain and Russia, having already made an enemy of Germany and China, would in the long run prove the worst folly. It is only to be hoped that her statesmen realize this truth and show themselves willing to subordinate immediate ambitions to permanent prosperity.

OBITUARY

LATE FRANK HARDEN.

(From Friday's Daily.)

The sad news has reached the city of the death of Frank Harden, a native of Belleville, at his home, St. Johnsville, New York. The late Mr. Harden was about 33 years of age and left here about nine years ago. He followed the occupation of jeweller, and was at one time a member of the Fifteenth bugle band. He leaves a wife but no family. Surviving are his mother, one brother William of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Doran of New York.

Deceased was in Belleville last summer.

The funeral is on Sunday, Mr. Wm. Hardea has gone to attend the obsequies.

Liquor Case Again Enlarged

(From Friday's Daily.)

This morning the defendant in the prosecution of Inspector Arnett against Elizabeth Mahoney on a charge of selling liquor without a license on Saturday night last, appeared in court for judgment. Mr. W. Carnew for the defendant urged that the meeting there was not for the sale or purchase of liquor and that no large quantity was drunk. The defendant's only son is with the First Contingent in France.

Magistrate Masson expressed the opinion that this was one of the sources whereby soldiers evaded the law. A man had had his head cut in Maloney's house and soldiers had been going there before. He was impressed that there had been a sale and that this was not an isolated case.

Mr. Carnew suggested that this was only a single case of the kind and that it was a case where leniency might be shown.

Crown Attorney Anderson in answer to a question of the magistrate's said that he had no objection to an enlargement so that the department might be communicated with.

The case was accordingly enlarged for two weeks.

Presentation

(From Friday's Daily.)

At the regular meeting of the Belleville Royal Templars of Temperance last evening, Bro. Wm. Henley was presented with a handsome Gillette safety razor and shaving outfit as an expression of regard from his fellow members on the occasion of his enlistment in the 3rd contingent and in view of his connection with the new brass band of the 39th battalion here. Suitable speeches were made. This is the third member the Templars have said farewell for a time, there now being a representative in each contingent. The Provincial organizer, Mr. E. Skitch of Campbellford was present and gave an encouraging address.

MUSKOKA THE BEAUTIFUL

Do you know the place? If not, your pleasure has suffered.

Take a free trip, a mental little journey through Muskoka by asking for that handsome Muskoka folder issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System. It contains a large map, lots of views, and a fund of facts. Take the journey some evening after supper with your wife and children. Then slam the door on the doctor for 1915 by taking your family on a real journey through Muskoka District this summer. For all particulars apply to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. J. P. Wilson and little son, Newton, North Bay, are visiting Mrs. Wilson's parents, Chief and Mrs. Newton.

Turret Chief Sold to Hamilton Men

Wrecked Steamer Will Be Repaired and Go to Ocean Traffic.

An ideal has been closed whereby Adam Mackay of Hamilton, and associates, purchased from the Lake Hull Underwriters, the Canadian steamer Turret Chief, wrecked in the storm of November 9, 1913, on Lake Superior. The Turret Chief, which is now on the bottom at Port Arthur, where she was placed after being rescued, will be repaired, after which she will join the "back-to-the-coast" movement so prevalent among coal-size steamers of the lakes. The underwriters paid a total loss on the steamer about $100,000, and have had her on the market ever since. Repairs necessary will run thousands of dollars. Mr. Mackay has chartered her for the first trip for a cargo of grain from the head of the lakes to Great Britain. The vessel will then ply exclusively in trans-Atlantic trade. The Turret Chief was built in England in 1896. She is 253 feet long and 44 feet beam. Prior to coming to the lakes she was operated on the ocean.

The Turret Chief used to pass up the Bay of Quinte until a year ago last fall. Cement from the Point Anne works used to form a large proportion of her cargo.

"Bringing Up Father" at Griffin's Tonight

The very best rule for the occasional theatergoer to make is to go to the theater every time a Gus Hill show comes to town, then there will be no disappointment. The work of a successful producer will always be worthy of your patronage. You've found it so in all lines of business. Mr. Hill's latest, and we may say greatest, effort in cartoon musical comedy production, is founded on George McManus' cartoon series, "Bringing Up Father" which comes to Griffin's TONIGHT. It's a big vaudeville review, with real comedy enough to make two more plays. Don't miss it, and get your seats early.

Gifts to the 21st

Machine Guns From Penitentiaries Socks, From Veterans.

Kingston, May 5.—This afternoon Lieut-Col. W. S. Hughes, commanding the 21st Overseas Battalion, was presented by Warden R. R. Creighton, with two machine guns, as the gift of the penitentiaries of Canada. Col. Hughes in thanking the donors, said he was sure the 21st would make good use of them on the battlefield. The Kingston Veterans' Association presented the 21st Battalion with 3,000 pairs of socks.

PROUD OF CANADA'S EXHIBIT AND OF HER FAMOUS TRAIN.

"It was a pleasure to be able to say 'I am a Canadian' and to know that our Dominion's exhibit was the best within the grounds."

Mr. I. W. Brisbin, a well known insurance man, who makes his home at Lacolle, Que., thus expresses himself on his return from the Panama Pacific International Exposition. Mr. Brisbin admired not only the Canadian exhibit but the Canadian railway service. In a letter to the Grand Trunk System, he says, "After a trip to the Panama Exposition, during which we travelled over eight different railways. I wish to express to you our appreciation of the very excellent service given by your train. The International Limited. During our journey to and from Chicago we occupied a very clean and comfortable observation pullman car, found the service in the dining car all that could be desired, and all the men in charge were most courteous and obliging. The service of the G.T.R. is not excelled upon this continent."

CANADA'S GREAT MOUNTAINS DEPICTED IN NEW PUBLICATION.

The Grand Trunk System has just issued a booklet which takes high rank amongst railway literature in general. This publication is entitled "The North American Alps," and is descriptive of that magnificent territory in the Canadian Rockies which has Mount Robson as its centre, and which includes two great mountain parks with scores of glaciers, waterfalls and flower strewn valleys. The illustrations are especially fine in this brochure, presenting for the first time many of the beauties of the region recently opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontinental line. Travellers taking a trip to the Pacific Coast should see this great alpine playground so well depicted in this booklet.

A copy may be had free on application to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

Precarious Position On R. R. Tracks

A heavily laden oil tank wagon was yesterday afternoon about five o'clock in a precarious position. The men in charge of the team drove across the tracks on Front street south and found himself facing a bar across the road. A glance and the man saw the express from the west coming in. He pulled the team so that they could stand in an easterly and westerly direction and the train passed by with a little margin.

It is claimed that the northern guard is out of order as well as the bell and that the driver had no intimation of the arrival of the train.
