THE SITUATION IN FRANCE

London, Aug. 20—The situation on the main fighting front in France is summed up by the reuter correspondent with the French army as follows: 'We have arrived at the stage in this battle corresponding to that at which Germany reached at the end of March and early in June after long bloody advances on the heels of inferior opposing numbers. We counted firmly on the arrival of the moment, when the Reserves would be able to check the German advance and prepare the flank attacks, which have by their success restored the initiative to us. The enemy in return is using that weapon against us. His Reserves are not yet exhausted and however he may grudge the necessity of having to waste them in a defensive battle, in the end it can only be a prelude to a retreat. He may still possess thirty fresh Divisions as well as 400,000 youths of the class of 1920. Our successes must be carefully planned and thoroly won.'

Germany demanded 20 divisions of Austrians troops to help win out in his retreat from the Marne; but only two could be spared.

The first four months of the fiscal year of Canada show a decrease in trade of $200,000,000

British Commander in the Picardy fight and his gallant troops for their remarkable achievements in the battle secret.

A BROTHER OF MRS. H. U. QUINN AMONG THE WOUNDED. HE COMES OF FIGHTING STOCK.

Mrs. H.U. Quinn, Dominion Street, received word yesterday that her brother, Pte. Harry Nash Ellegood, was wounded in the ankle on August 15th and had been admitted to No. 5, General Hospital, Rouen, France. His brother Pte. Donald, a boy of 17 years, was in one of the hospitals in France recently killed by the Germans but he escaped injury. Both boys enlisted in the 236th McLean Kilties of America and went Overseas last October. These boys come of an old fighting family, being direct descendants of Lieut. Col. Jacob Ellegood, a U. E. L. of Virginia who fought in the War of Independence of whose property, 1260 acres of land, was confiscated in 1775. In 1784 the British Claims Commissioner in London granted him 800 acres of land on the St. John River not far from Fredericton. His grandson (the grandfather of these boys) was a Lieutenant in the Militia and was married to the daughter of Wm. D. Nash, a retired Naval Officer.

OPPOSE GERMAN INTERVENTION IN RUSSIA.

Stockholm, Aug. 17.—German intervention in Russia, to assist the Bolshevik government, is strongly opposed by the Germania of Berlin, which is in close touch with Chancellor Von Hertling. The newspaper declares that Germany's sole interest in Russia lies in the restoration of orderly conditions. Germany, therefore, has been friendly to the Soviet Government. Berlin newspapers express themselves as opposing the movement in favor of the Bolshevik.

MURDER AND INCENDIARISM

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Th charred bodies of Philip Roth, his wife and five children were found in the ruins of their home 12 miles east of Willseyville Saturday. The home, which was located in a remote section of the country, had been burned during the night. An investigation led to the discovery of a shot gun, on the floor of the room in which the bodies were found, and a bullet hole in the skull of one of the victims gave evidence that all may have been murdered and the house fired to conceal the crime.

AMERICANS IN LORRAINE.

With the American Army in Lorraine, Aug. 17. The Americans early this morning captured the village of Frapelle and eradicated a considerable German salient in the Allied lines. Prisoners were taken by the Americans and the Germans evidently suffered heavy losses.

Live Wires From All Quarters.

HUNS HARD UP FOR MAN POWER.

Paris, Aug. 21—The German command faced by an more or less serious difficulty as a result of the presence on the western front of Divisions, containing tens of thousands of soldiers from Alsace and Lorraine, who up to this time have never been employed in active fighting against the French. A captured German orderly, states that the Germans were unable any longer to keep the Alsatian and Lorraine army away from western front, as they need more men.

WORKING FOR A BIG HUN RETREAT.

Paris, Aug. 20—General Mangin's advance toward the Oise is an important stroke in the view of Military critics and constitutes a threat at the outflanking of Noyon from the east as well as a decided help to general Humbert, operating between the Metz and the Oise. The plan of Marshal Foch, the critics believe is aimed with the front of armies of Mangin and Humbert to force the enemy to withdraw on a large scale; the Germans are striving to prevent this at all costs.

In addition to the more than 8000 prisoners captured Tuesday General Mangin took numerous guns and a large amount of material. In answer to the assertion in the German official statement the newspapers declare unanimously that the operation was not an attempt to break thru the German line, but only a part of the strategic plan which had its inception on July 18, The Echo de Paris adds that the plan is not yet completed.

THE FRENCH ROLLING ON IN A RAPID CHARGE.

Paris, Aug. 21—The maneuvers of the French forces east of the Oise today was conducted with precision and speed; the attack was launched at 10 o'clock this morning, after a violent artillery preparation. At 8.45 batteries of 7's on the heels of the infantry advanced over two miles over the Vassen's Ridge; at nine o'clock the French right had advanced to Tartiers Heights and at 9.40 the left was at Lombray. The enemy losses in the fighting are said to have been exceptionally heavy. One French Division alone captured 1500 prisoners. The advance continues over a rolling country, where rapid progress is difficult.

BRITISH AND FRENCH ADVANCE

Paris, Aug. 18.—Spirited artillery activity on the Avre front, and between the Oise and Aisne rivers is reported. Two surprise attacks by the Germans in Champagne were repulsed. British line, north of Preyart, was advanced slightly last night north of Lihons.

MILITARY DEFAULTER SHOT.

Sudbury, Ont. Aug. 19—Cyrpan Geneau aged 26, supposed to be a military service defaulter, was shot thru the stomach and killed late last Friday night during a round up of military defaulters by the civil officers of military police at a house situated in the bush country near this town. The shot, which struck Geneau was a chance one fired by Constable Tougher as the military police were retiring from the house and being subjected to a fusillade of nine or ten shots, aimed at them by a group of men hidden in the darkness of the house.

GREAT GAINS FOR THE FRENCH.

Paris, Aug. 17.—The French made further progress today north and south of the Avre having taken 1000 prisoners and numerous machine guns since yesterday, they captured the village of Canny-Sur-Matz and in addition took enemy positions on a front of nearly two miles and to a depth of one mile on the Soissons sector.

MORE GERMAN DEVILISHNESS

Boston, Aug. 19—A concerted attempt by German agents to supply soldiers in the various army cantonments with health and character wrecking drugs has been discovered. Two men named Nathan Simalovitch and Jacob Schanasky were taken into custody at Boston today and more arrests are to follow, the authorities announced.

BIG FIGHT ON TODAY.

London, Aug. 21—An attack on a wide front, north of the Ancre river, was launched by the British forces, this morning says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today.

MILITARY LEADERS PLEAD FOR MORE COAL.

London, Aug. 21—Marshal Foch Field Mr Marshall Haig, and Admiral Reatty, commander in chief of the Grand Fleet sent messages to the meeting of the coal miners federation at Southampton yesterday urging a greater output of coal. Coal is the key of victory. The miners of great Britain must help was the message from Marshal Foch. Barron Calthrop, the coal controller told the miners that the supply was 36,000,000 short this year. The shortage should be kept down to eight or nine million tons by national plan and he hoped there would be a great increased output.

MANY OF THE OLD 193RD. IN THE FIGHT.

From the many Colchester Casualties, that are now coming in from the battlefield on the Western Front, it would look as if the soldiers of the 193rd who enlisted under Colonel John Stanfield had been very generally engaged in this last great fight from August 8 to Aug. 15 in which fighting Dominion soldiers covered themselves with glory.

HUN GIVING AWAY BEFORE ALLIED PRESSURE.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 20. Successive blows delivered against the Germans since August 10, all along the line from the Somme to Soissons, appear now to have brought the operations to a crucial point. After yielding in the early operations the enemy has been making a desperate stand at critical points in the past few days, but his resistance has failed to overcome the steady pressure by the Allies around Lassigny and Roye.

BOTH GOVT. CANDIDATES ELECTED.

Toronto, Aug. 19—Both of the new members of the Ontario Govt. were elected to the legislature by large majorities in the by-elections held in North East Toronto and East York today. In North East Toronto Hon H. J. Cody, Minister of education, defeated William Varley, soldier, labor candidate by a majority of 4,863 the poll standing Cody 9,098 Varley, 4,235. In East York the majority of Hon. G. S. Henry, minister of Agriculture over John Galbraith was 2,631 with nine polls still to be heard from.

GERMANS CANNOT GET TIME TO ARRANGE COUNTER ATTACKS.

Paris, Aug. 20—Apart from the tactical results obtained, the object of which will be seen more clearly in the near future, the Allied attacks, between the Somme and the Aisne, in the last two days, modestly called "Local or Line Straightening" operations in the war office statements, have the important effect of keeping the enemy on the alert and preventing him from preparing a counter-offensive. The attacks have made it impossible for General Ludendorff to re group his troops; they have obliged him to maintain more than 40 Divisions in this field, which have to be relieved constantly.

ENEMY REPULSED LAST NIGHT BY BRITISH.

London, Aug. 20—Four German attacks against British position at Chilly, about six miles north of Roye, were repulsed during the night. The British lines were advanced in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin and Ottersteen in the Lys salient, and 182 of the enemy were made prisoners.

LASSIGNY ABOUT TO FALL.

Paris, Aug. 20—Military men in their comment today lay stress on the importance of the operations carried out Monday, east and west of the Oise. They believe that Lassigny is about to fall and the Echo de Paris considers that the town is virtually in the power of the French.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FROM THE OGILVIE HOME. LORNEDALE AVENUE.

No sadder occasion has ever brought friends together in Truro to pay their last tribute of respect to departed ones than on the afternoon of Tuesday, August 20, when hundreds of our citizens assembled at the residence of Mr. Warren C. Ogilvie, Lornedale Avenue to attend the funeral of his wife and of her sister, Mrs. F. S. Bonnell, two victims of the deplorably sad automobile accident at Chance Harbor, Pictou County, on Saturday the 17th inst.

The large roomy home residence, elaborately decorated with flowers and palms, and the ample grounds were crowded with near and dear friends and other acquaintances, who were present to honor the memory of the two greatly esteemed women, so beloved in life; and whose sudden and untimely passing out from us came with such a shock to the whole town. Sharp at the appointed hour the Rev. W. P. Grant, M. A., Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Truro, who came from his seaside holiday on purpose to officiate at this funeral, commenced the short, solemn and appropriate services.

Two hymns, "Nearer My God To Thee," and "Abide With Me" were rendered by a quartet; a deeply touching and sympathetic invocation, that touched the hearts of all; a few verses of Scripture and the Benediction constituted this deeply impressive service.

Then the flower covered casket, containing all that was mortal of Mrs. Ogilvie, was carried to the hearse by the pall bearers:—

- George M. Lewis
- B. D. McDougall
- R. S. Boyd
- Arthur Mahon
- D. M. Griffin
- Will D. McKay

Undertake Olive in his own quiet dignified and inimitable way soon lined up the long funeral cortege of carriages and automobiles for the General Cemetery, Robie Street.

The many and most beautiful floral tributes were conveyed in a carriage preceding the hearse.

At the grave a few words of the committal service;—the significant "Earth to earth" "Ashes to ashes" "Dust to dust,"— the Apostolic Benediction—and all was over; and the body of the dearly beloved in life Mrs. Warren Ogilvie, was left At Rest— till the General Resurrection Morning.

Mrs. Bonnell's Body Taken To St. John.

But the sad offices of those connected with these obsequies were not over when the remains of Mrs. Ogilvie were reverentially committed to their last resting place.

A return was at once made from the Cemetery to the doubly afflicted Home on Lornedale Avenue; and the flower decked casket containing the body of Mrs. F. S. Bonnell, the other victim of this disaster, was followed to the C. G. R. Station, where shipment was made on the Maritime Express;—the immediate mourners entraining for St. John—where interment will be made.

It was a sad afternoon in Truro; and our townsfolk have not yet recovered from the shock of the tragic death in the prime of life, of two sisters;—and from the sadness of this double funeral from one home in our midst.

Word has been received here that Pte. Bramford Gratto, of Truro, who enlisted and went overseas with the Forestry Battalion, has been seriously injured by a tree falling on him while at work in the forests in England.

Pte. Gratto was an employee of J. H. Kent, & Co before he enlisted. He is a brother of Mr. Fred Gratto, King Street Truro, Charles Gratto the 15 year old lad who lost his life in this Spring in the logging camp in connecting with the burning of A. A. Sutherlands saw mill at Campbells.

The Proven Asthma Remedy

Since asthma existed there has been no lack of much heralded remedies, but they have proved short lived and worthless. The ever-growing reputation of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has given it a place in the field of medicine which no other can approach. It has never been pushed by sensational methods, but has simply gone on effecting relief and making new converts.

The British Tommies in the Fight

A French officer, describing the action of the British soldiers in the late successful charge in Picardy says:

"There is a sentence, in the secret of the Allied victory—the Germans were caught on the jump and have been jumping (backward) ever since. A mile further on I talked with a captain in a famous Chasseur regiment—himself still in the front line, after the amputation of his left arm a year ago, and wearing the cross of the Legion of Honour and the War Cross with four palms—who wears the Military Medal and shoulder strap, and who had just won the fifth citation in army orders.

"The British are magnificent," he cried. "They push, my God, how they push; nothing can stop them. Their units are fresh and fit and at full strength, and they tell us they long to pay the score with the Boche for what happened in March. I fought beside them on the Somme in 1916, but I never have seen them with such dash as now."

The Hun Soldiers out of the Fight.

The same officer, in referring to the Huns in the fight said—

"One batch of prisoners, 500 strong, was being despatched to the rear under an escort of only two or three French soldiers, all that could be spared at the moment. Before they started they were warned by an officer that any who tried to escape would be shot. They were so tickled at the idea of anyone being so idiotically blind to his own interest as to think of trying to get back to the German lines that the whole crowd burst into a long, loud roar of delighted laughter.

A Remedy For Earache.

To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will work wonders in relieving pain.

For failure to stop the Allied offensive 19 German officers have been retired. Those who suffered this disgrace were a General, two Major Generals, four Colonels and 12 Lieutenant-Colonels. The whole Bosche Headquarters staff may yet be retired if like punishment for similar failure is to be meted out.

From the sale of enemy owned property in the United States there have been bought war bonds to the value of $42,000,000.

When ordering goods by mail send a Dominion Express Money Order.

The American Army in France has had up to Aug. 9, 18,330 casualties; of these some 6,000 have been killed.

Worms however generated, are found in the digestive tracts, where they get up disturbances detrimental to the health of the child. There can be no comfort for the little ones until the hurtful intruders have been expelled. No better preparation for this purpose can be had than Miller's Worm Powders. They will immediately destroy the worms and correct the conditions that were favorable to their existence.

A TRURO SOLDIER.

Sgt. G. Marven Bentley Falls In Battle.

Mrs. Capt. George Bentley, Elm Street, is in mourning for the loss of her gallant son, Sgt. Marven Bentley, who fell in "Flanders Field" in the great charge that the Canadians made on August 8. Here is the official information:—

Ottawa, Aug. 19, 1918. Mrs. Ida Bentley, Elm Street, Truro. Deeply regret inform you 414406 Sgt. George Marven Bentley, Infantry, officially reported killed in action August 8. DIRECTOR OF RECORDS.

This patriotic Truroian enlisted in the 40th Battalion in 1915. He soon went overseas and was transferred to the 13th Bn. He was a fine soldier and wrote cheerful letters home, telling of the progress of his Battalion in this World War. He was in the great charge, on Thursday August 8, made by the Canadians, who covered themselves with glory, when 10,000 Huns and 22 Villages were captured; but many fell by the way and among them the brave and gallant Sgt. Marven Bentley.

All friends sympathize with Mrs. Bentley and family in this bereavement; and hope that the two other soldiers of the family, Gunner Wilkinson Bentley, who enlisted in the 10th Siege Battery in 1917, and Pte. Seaman Bentley, who enlisted in the Forestry Battalion in 1917, will both in time return safely to their homes.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS AT THE PRINCESS.

There was a good audience in the Princess Sunday night to listen to Champions of the Knights of Columbus explain the Drive for the War Huts, that is going on this week. A. W. James, Esq. barrister, in Halifax and Pte. MacDonald of the 10th Siege Battery, were the Chief speakers and were admirably introduced by Mayor Dunbar, who presided. Both these speakers eloquently outlined the object of the present campaign and asked for a generous support from Truro citizens. Mr. C. E. Bentley supported the request of the visiting speakers and in plain practical forcible remarks urged all to give this War Hut Campaign of the Knights of Columbus a most generous support. The War had taught us big and liberal ideas, so let us show this by a liberal helping hand to the Knights of Columbus.

A TYPE OF A MAN.

Annapolis Spectator. There passed away recently in Truro one of the men in the humbler walks of life who nevertheless left many pleasant memories and doubtless did more to inspire others to do well than he himself ever would have acknowledged. George A. Brison never told anyone that he aspired to be anything more than a printer, but he was a good printer, and all who knew him in the course of a career that exceeded threescore years remember him with genial and kindly thoughts. Always patient and painstaking, and never a time-server, it was as comparatively easy to forgive his quondam shortcomings as he found it easy to forgive those who perhaps treated his harshly until they discovered his honest sincerity of character and his many virtues. His excellence as a printer was illustrated in the other walks of life. He used to say that you must understand a machine before you could get the best work out of it, so he would potter away with an old press until he knew every cog of it by heart, adjusting a little here, boosting off a little there until at a moderate and steady speed it would be as good work as the best of them. Sometimes he would spend hours of his overtime experimenting on such a proposition just to satisfy himself that he could do it, and consider himself repaid when the old Scots man who ground out the edition, in default of any other power, was so pleased that he would sing a Gaelic song while he worked. Not every one has the patience to study men as he studied his machines, and get the best out of them, instead of swearing and kicking them.

Geo. A. Brison was the son of the late Capt. Andrew Brison, and once made a trip to New York in his father's schooner which was ever fresh in his memory, but he had no fondness for the sea except in boating, and was an expert oarsman and ice boat sailor. He learned his trade in the office of the old Windsor Mail, started by M. A. Buckley, afterwards of Halifax, when Windsor, Yarmouth, New Glasgow and Sydney were the only towns outside Halifax to enjoy local newspapers. He subsequently went to Halifax, and from thence, about 1880, to Baddeck, C. B., when the late Albert McPherson started the Island Reporter of that place. After the death of McPherson and on the winding up of the McCurdy estate, the Island Reporter was sold to a company in Sydney in 1888, where Brison went with it, remaining in Cape Bert on until four years ago when he became manager of the Daily News in Lunenburg, going thence last year to Truro, which was the former home of his second wife and where he worked on the Truro Daily News and sang in the Truro Methodist choir, as he had sung in every Methodist choir where he had lived, and doubtless keeps on singing.

ARMY HUTS FOR OUR SOLDIERS.

"A Home away from Home," that is precisely what the army huts in France are to be as soon as the Nova Scotia Knights of Columbus raise that $100,000 which they will be after from the people of the province, all the people without respect to creed, from August 19th when the big "drive" starts, to August 24th when it closes. "A Home away from Home," for our soldier lads in France who are fighting for our happiness and security and who are going through awful experiences to do this for us. What parent, father or mother, is there in Nova Scotia that will not be glad to know that if her boy has been in an engagement with the enemy, and has come out of the line alive, but worn, famished and exhausted, he will be succored and cared for by the Knights of Columbus in one of their army huts, just because he is a soldier, and needs all the kind words and invigorating creature comforts he would get at home if he were at home. But he is not, and he is pretty broken up, and no doubt he is saying in his heart, "Oh, if I only were at home; mother would have me all right and braced up in no time."

If the people of Nova Scotia respond generously, as they ought, to the big offensive of the Knights of Columbus to raise $100,000 for building army huts in France then parents who have boys at the Western front can feel assure that at those huts their lads will receive every attention and kindness, along with gifts of hot coffee and sandwiches, tobacco, cigarettes, candy, and what not, no matter what he is tired, race or origin, so long as he is a soldier and wants the kindness and comforts of home and home life, or the nearest approach to them possible on the Western Front. There will be no propaganda signs on these huts, but only this—"Every soldier welcome and everything free." And so whenever a Nova Scotia worn war rior struggling along and perhaps almost fainting as he moves away from the line sees one of these Knights of Columbus army huts, he will know that succor and love and kindness are at hand, and that he, simply because he is a soldier, will be welcomed when he enters and be served with the most solicitous care.

That is the splendid, generous and patriotic ideal which the Nova Scotia Knights of Columbus have in mind when they ask the people of the province to co-operate with them in financing the erection of these huts by contribution during the drive for the necessary $100,000 for the laudable end. Everybody decide now that they will give. That will be the Christian as well as patriotic spirit right spirit, real cheerful giving to a noble cause.

Dominion Express Money Orders are on sale in five thousand offices throughout Canada.

TESTIMONIALS

Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co. N. S.
Dear Sir:—I had a mare which had a very bad cough and heaves for almost six months, and became so thin there was nothing left apparently but skin and bones and I was tempted to shoot her. A friend of mine who had used Dr. J. Woodbury's Horse Liniment, with good success, induced me to try one bottle of it which I did with the best results. I used just one and one-half bottles of the Liniment which effected a complete cure of both the cough and the heaves, and I have worked and driven her ever since.
I strongly recommend Dr. J. Woodbury's Horse Liniment as the best Horse Liniment on the market, and advise all horse owners to try it.
Very truly,
RODERICK MCKENZIE.

On Sunday last the bodies of Harry H. Morse, of Lynn, Mass., formerly of Paradise, N. S., and his wife were found floating in the water at Bar Harbor, Me. The news of this tragic death will be received with deep regret.—Wolfville Acadian.

HERE FROM LOS ANGELES.

Scott Nelson, of Los Angeles, who has enlisted in the American Army, was in Truro recently. Mr. Nelson's forebears were well known here. His father was the late Scott Nelson and his paternal grandfather was the late Samuel Nelson, who conducted a mercantile business at the Common fifty years ago. His mother was the only daughter of the late Mr. Caffrey, who, with Gardner Clish, came from Stellarton and started the Truro foundry. The late George P. Caffrey of the customs, was an uncle of this young soldier as is also J. W. Johnson, J. P., of this town.—The Citize

FIREMAN CLIMBED TELEGRAPH POLE TO ESCAPE SCALDING BY STEAM.

There was a very bad accident on the eastern division of the C. G. R., one day last week, fortunately unattended by loss of life or injury of any kind.

The train was No. 6, the day express from Sydney, near Avondale, the emergency brake went on and the train suddenly came to a standstill. The train men quickly looked out to learn what was wrong, and were startled when they saw the locomotive lygat on its side in the ditch, and grn-volumes of steam escaping.

They quickly went forward, expecting to find Engineer Dave Duncaee and Fireman Crittenden, badly injured, or perhaps dead, but to their great joy they were unhurt, hadn't received a scratch.

The engine went over on the fireman's side, and though thrown out was in danger of being scalded by the escaping steam, but escaped it by climbing a telegraph pole, his only way of escape, clear of it.

The accident, we understand, was caused by a loose tire on the locomotive.

Comfort for the Dyspeptic.

There is no ailment so harassing and exhausting as dyspepsia, which arises from defective action of the stomach and liver, and the victim of it is to be pitied. Yet he can find ready relief in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, a preparation that has established itself by years of effective use. There are pills that are widely advertised as the greatest ever compounded, but not one of them can rank in value with Parmelee's.

A BIG ARMY.

The Americans have already a powerful army, and a tried army, and a victorious army in France, equal to the best troops in the field, and growing every day, and there will be no break in the increase in that army until America will have an army not far short, if at all, of the German Army itself—Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons.

Over 825,000 Americans were sent overseas during May, June, and July. Men are moving to the training camps in this country at a corresponding rate. By Aug. 11,300,000 had gone overseas. During August, 300,000 will go into training as fast as there is room for them. And if Congress only does its part promptly by extending the draft-age limits, according to the war Departments' plans, "there will be no break in the increase in the army," a broad or home, until victory is assured.

SUNDAY AUTOMOBILING.

Nearly 200 Cars Pass Zion Church
in 12 hours.

There is not a shadow of doubt that the good old-fashioned Shorter Catechism, oatmeal Scotch Sabbath of our forefathers is fast passing away.
In this 20th century we are living too fast—at too great a speed for a "day of rest" in the seven.

In these last few years the slick running automobile, (no horse to catch, groom, harness and weary with a seventh day work) is largely responsible for these continuous Sunday excursions.
We turn a bit of a crank or ignite
our spark and our inanimate horse our driving power for the day is ready for work.

How easy and inviting it is to slip into our cars for an auto drive; dodging Bible Class and Sunday School and other Sabbath services

That we here in Truro are doing a lot of Sunday autoing may be seen from the following statement:

Yesterday, Sunday, August 18, a careful record was kept and from 8 o'clock in the morning till 8 o'clock in the evening, 12 hours, just

195 AUTOMOBILES.

past Zion Church on Prince Street
West; about one car every four minutes

The autos kept running almost incessantly till 10 o'clock at night, but a record was only kept for 12 hours.

There are four other main outlets from Truro; if they were as well patronized
as this Prince Street West route—then there was, indeed "something doing" in the Nova Scotia hub in Sunday automobilizing on Sunday,
August 18, 1918

EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Maritime Education Convention will meet in the Aberdeen School Building, Moncton, on August 27-29.

Among the many addresses will be:
"Maritime Reciprocity in Teachers and Text Books."

Inspector W. R. Campbell, M. A., Truro.

"The claim of the Maritime Provinces for Federal Subsidies in lieu of Western lands."

Dr. David Solan, Principal Nova Scotia Normal College, Truro.

P. V. MINGO REMEMBERS OLD HOME FRIENDS.

We have had business letters lately from that sturdy former Colchester man, Kempton, born, P. V. Mingo, Malden, Mass, who has "made good"
in real estate and as a broker at 362
Broadway, Mass.

He says he kept in touch with good old Nova Scotia thru the home paper, the Truro News, and he wishes all possible good things to his former fellow Nova Scotians. He is loyal to his native country and a strong admirer of the country of his adoption. He says by January 1, 1919, "Uncle Sam" will have over 2,000,000 soldiers at the front.

We wish our friends every possible good wish and continued prosperity.

A LITTLE VISIT TO COLCHESTER

Hon. F. B. McCurdy, M. P., Parliamentary Secretary, Department of Soldier's Civil Re-Establishment, wife and son are in Colchester for a week or so. Mr. McCurdy has had unusually severe work lately, so this bit of a holiday among his Constituents will do him good; and all will give the party a hearty welcome.

MUST PAY MORE.

We can assure the Trustees of the School Sections, now without teachers, that they may find their schools vacant for the whole year, unless they come forward with bigger stipends.

Every day bright clever girls are leaving for the West because salaries offer there are away in excess of what we are giving here in the East. Teachers can no more "live on air" than the rest of us; and, unless we meet their perfectly fair demands, we will certainly be without their services.

Let those sections, without teachers,
take this hint and act accordingly.

CORPORAL H. B. JENNER WOUNDED.

service since the beginning of the war,

Also suffering sunstroke in France.

his health, to be reverted to the rank,

with the Canadian Machine Gun Brigade and, has since won Corporals stripes.

HARRY LEBEN CALD FOR MILITARY DUTY.

Harry Leben a son of Mr. J. A. Leben Masstown, Col. Co., has been cald to Halifax to report for Military duty.
Mr. Leben has been assisting his father at the homestead farm. He has two brothers in the war, Sgt. Leo Leben, enlisted in the 25th regiment, and has been thru several battles. He was wounded and is in Hospital in England.

Sgt. Samuel Leben, who enlisted in the 106th regiment, is with the fighting forces, at the front.

The father of these soldier sons, will be left in a serious predicament on his farm for help, now that his third son has been cald.

ANOTHER TRURO HERO FALLS IN ACTION.

Pte. Guy MacNutt, Killed on August 10th.

Another Truro home has the shadow of a death on the battle field over as Mr. Elisha MacNutt has received word of the "Kid in action" of his son Guy.

This Telegram was received on the 21st and stated that his son Pte. Guy
MacNutt had been kild in action on Saturday August 10.

This soldier enlisted in Truro under Col. Stanfield in the 193rd. He was soon overseas and before long was at the front. He has been a good soldier and has fought well for King and Country.

He is survived by his wife, now visiting in P. E. Island, by his parents
Mr. and Mrs. Elisha MacNutt, Douglas Street, Truro; four sisters, Mrs. George Flynn, Truro; Mrs. George La Pierre,
Shubenacadie; Mrs. Lewis Archibald,
Alberta and Miss Mabel MacNutt Truro.
He was an only son.

The sympathy of all friends go out to this afflicted family in their bereavement.

GOOD PROGRESS.

The Knights of Columbus report good progress in their "drive" in the great Hut Campaign.

Everywhere the citizens are giving a welcome to the K. of C. canvassers, and are responding liberally.

The big "Drive" in the business part of the town will be on Thursday, the 22nd.; so be redy and give the Hut
Campaign a good lift.

In Halifax in two days among 70-
000 people, $14,000 have been collected.
Truro proportionately by the end of the week will do as well.

Now for a good lift, boys, for the Knights.

NOT RIGHT.

Some time ago a man went to visit a friend, a Scotchman, who was an inmate of a lunatic asylum. After a prolonged chat in a humorous if not very edifying vein, the visitor thought it about time to go.

"Is that clock right, Jock?" he asked of the inmate. Jock gazed at him for a minute or so in speechless amazement then, laying his hand compassionately on his shoulder, said:

"Man, man, dae ye think it wid be here if it was right?"

Volunteer enlisting in the American Army was suspended on the 8th to prevent the disruption of industries, pending the passing of the Bill to extend draft ages to include all between 18 and 46 years.

VISITING IN TRURO.

Mrs. Robertson, wife of Rev. W. P.
Robertson, B. D., Rector of St. Thomas,
Hamilton, with her little daughter,
Muriel, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. J.
Rogers, at their bungalow, North River. She comes into town occasionally and receives hearty greetings from all of her hosts of friends in Truro.

Mr. Robertson his recess from pastoral work at some of the fishing resorts on the lakes in northern Ontario but he is sick and tired of "grub" angling and next summer will see him at the Atlantic waters for the game sea trout and the lordly salmon.

A JOLLY PARTY OFF TO BASS RIVER.

The Truro Firemen were not "it" entirely at Bass River on the half holiday of Wednesday, the 14th.
Our fire fighters were there on a bit of an outing, but a big auto from Ed.
McKenzie's Livery conveyed to beautiful Bass River a party of jolly girls, who certainly had a merry outing.
These excursionists were:—Miss
Peral Lockhart, Miss Wolfe, Miss
Mingo, Miss Power, Miss Lemerton,
Miss Laura Fulton, Miss Publicover,
Miss Hilda Fulton.

There were no boys to look after,
so these maidens had an extra fine time. They had an informal picnic
"five o'clock" on the lawns of "Saints Rest."

Then a run was made to the ship yard of Mr. S. H. Fulton, at Little Bass River, and the fine new ship building there was duly inspected.

The run home was made in quick time; and all pronounced the outing as most enjoyable. There are but few prettier drives in Colchester than this run down the Bay."

THE FIREMEN'S AUTO DRIVE TO BASS RIVER A PLEASANT EVENT.

There were twenty five firemen who enjoyed the auto drive to Bass River, Col. Co., on the 14th.

The outing was a very pleasant affair to all. A very finely prepared Clam Bake on the shore was heartily enjoyed and several of the fire laddies were in for a swim and all had a good time in the exhilarating sea water.

The party arrived home about 9 o'clock, p. m. escaping the storm which followed them on the return drive.

Mr. Will Lawrence was chairman of the committee who had this annual drive in hand. Five of the six autos used by the Firemen were owned and driven by the members of the Truro Fire Brigade.

"ANNIE LAURIE"

Annie Laurie of the well-known song was not a creature of imagination; she was an actual verity, of whose ancestry honourable mention is made in Scotch history. Stephen Laurie was a flourishing merchant of Dumfries before James VI became King. Prior to 1611 he married Marion, daughter of Provost Coran, getting with her a handsome marriage portion. Being a man of many acres, he took the designation of Maxwellton, leaving at his death his lands and titles to his eldest son, John. The next head of the home was Robert, a baronet. He was twice married, and had, by his second wife, three sons and four daughters.
The birth of one of the latter is thus entered in the family register by the father:

"At the pleasure of the Almighty God, my daughter, Annie Laurie, was born upon the 16th day of December, 1682, about six o'clock in the morning, and was baptized by Mr. George Hunter, the minister of Glencairn."

This minute is worth quoting, as the little stranger whose entry into life it announces grew to be the most beautiful Dumfriessian lady of the day, and the heroine of a song which has rendered her charms immortal:

"Her brow is like the snowdrift,
Her throat is like the swan,
Her face it is the fairest
That e'er the sun shone on—
That e'er the sun shone on—
And dark blue is her eye,
And for bonnie Annie Laurie,
I'd lay me down and die."

The well-known lyric of which these lines form a part, was composed by Mr. Douglas Finlan, an ardent admirer of "bonnie Annie," who did not however, return his affections, but married his rival, Alexander Ferguson.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS DISCOURAGED.

Paris, Aug. 19. The German press is attempting to reassure its public that a general retreat is necessary on the Western front to allow General Ludenoff room to manoeuvre and to assume the initiative on a vast scale.
But the newspapers assert that, even if the Germans receive reinforcements from Austria they had lost the power to command events as Marshal Foch has the initiative and will keep it.

"THY KINGDOM COME."

He who prays for the coming of Christ's kingdom will do well to remember that "it cometh not with observation." And Christ's reason why it does not come with show and pomp is that it is already here, ready to be manifested whenever and wherever it can find a heart prepared to receive it. Its coming is a coming to knowledge, an appearance in practice. It is like the invisible form and colour of the landscape in the night, which appears to all observers upon whose eyes the sun is risen. For ourselves, perhaps, in answer to our prayer, it grows in the experience of overcoming, while for others we may help to make it visible through the obedience of faith and love. Prayer for the coming of the kingdom may be that it should come either without, or by means of, our help. If without our help, it is a prayer for our own loss and sorrow. If with our help, it is a prayer that we may see it in our own experience first and then, through the transparent medium of blameless lives, make it appear to others. Every right and earnest prayer for the coming of the kingdom carries with it, therefore, a pledge and expectation that we will strive to live as citizens of the heavenly kingdom ought to live.

THE GRACE OF MODESTY.

The Brooklyn N.Y., "Daily Eagle," of the 3rd inst., under the above heading, has the following editorial: "When our soldiers first appeared in England and France there was fear in both countries that the international good will might be checked by the careless boasting of our men. The nerves of the English and French soldiers had been worn thin by almost four years of fighting, their pride in having held the line so long without our help was great and sensitive, and the exhibition on the part of our men of what the English slang calls "swank" and American slang calls "side", would have created ill-feeling.

Fortunately, that danger was avoided by the good sense and the modest bearing of our men. They went as raw recruits to the war and they took their place with the deference due to soldiers who had driven the Hun back from the Marne, held him at Verdun and driven him back on the Somme. To-day, when they are playing a larger part in forcing the second retreat from the Marne, our soldiers are admired and acclaimed in both France and England. And it is not only their fighting but their bearing which has won them welcome and liking.

There is no danger that they will impair the effect of their good work by boasting about it. They have shown too much good sense, and they see so many soldiers who have fought four years to their four months, that they understand where the greater burden of the war has been borne. But there is danger that here at home, in the pride of first victories, we may fall into the error which our soldiers have avoided. It is right that we should glory in their valor and their skill. Heaven knows that they have earned all the praise that we can pour out upon them. But some of the people who pay that tribute talk as if we were winning the war alone. The fact is, of course that our men are the reinforcements which enable the Allies to equal the Germans in men and thus to do things that they did not dare attempt so long as they were heavily encumbered. Our reinforcements are winning the day and will win it more decisively as their numbers increase. But in our pride in that fact we should not forget heroic France, who has borne war and devastation for four years without flinching, or faithful England, whose navy kept us safe from attack for three years while we were making up our minds to fight, nor the Italians, who have fought so valiantly. Our soldiers are glorious and we are doing well in their support, but that is no reason for acting as if we are the only people in this war. It is no reflection upon our valor to remember, with the Greeks, that there were brave men before Agamemnon."

EARLTOWN, COL. CO.

Aug. 19th, Neal McKay North Earltown who had his farm advertised in the Truro News for a short time sold it of course; to the Enterprising firm of McLeod and MacLean, Denmark, were the buyers. This is a very desirable property situated in the centre of the north Earltown Valley and was known for a long time as the "Kirk Manse"; and such eminent divines as the late Rev. Wm. MacMillan, the Rev. James MacColl, the Rev. Angus MacKenzie and the Rev. Angus McKay, spent part of their lives there; but some years ago, when the two Presbyterian congregations were united Mr. McKay bought the property for a home for his parents. Some weeks ago the Rev. Angus McKay passed away very suddenly, hence the sale; and Mrs. McKay in company with her son, Neal, who has been home since his father's death left last Thursday for Everett, Mass, after being a resident of North Earltown for over thirty years. We are sorry to lose those good citizens; besides there is one more added to our long list of vacant farms.

NEWSY NOTES FROM UPPER ECONOMY.

Aug. 16—Mr. Pryor Fulton, of Waltham, Mass., has just returned after a delightful visit at "The Cottage" with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Archibald.

Mr. Selden Fletcher, has returned from a four weeks trip thru the north west and reports a great shortage in crops due to the prolonged drought.

The Red Cross ladies quite recently entertained the ladies of Bass River Red Cross at a garden party on the grounds of Mrs. Selden Fletcher. A very pleasing, strictly Patriotic program, was rendered and at five a delicious tea was served on tables daintily decorated for the occasion, after which Mr. Fulton of Waltham added much to the occasion by giving a ringing patriotic speech then all joined heartily in the National Anthem. The ladies of both these societies are doing excellent work and have well earned a share in the very necessary normal forms of pleasure.

A visit to the ship building plant in Little Bass River, carries one back to the days, when there were three ships building at one time in that busy little place, and now it looks as though every thing possible is being done to rush the work along on this fine substantial looking schooner. The people along this coast are certainly doing their "bit" in the shipbuilding line, as there are twenty ships in course of construction between Little Bass River and Advocate Harbor, all deep sea craft. These are all old plants, recently put in working condition, thus showing that this part of the Province did its part, when building ships was one of the leading industries of Nova Scotia.

The loyal True Blues of Nova Scotia have for a number of years been planning on building a wing on the Orphanage Truro and since the war the need for the extension of this building is becoming more urgent. In order to complete this task the amount of $12,000, will have to be raised. It was resolved at Grand Lodge, which met in Truro in June, that it would be necessary to make a grand drive or canvass of the different Counties. They have set apart as their tag days for this purpose the dates from Sept. 10th, to 13th. John Cooper of Mispah Lodge of this place will be the collector for the Shore sections and this, Mr. Cooper is very much interested in the welfare of this Institution and in fact in any other charitable enterprises. He does not claim to be wealthy yet he has contributed most generously to Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other charities.

We are informed that 18 young men from the L. T. B. Orphanage are now serving their King and Country on the battlefields, and it holds its doors open to the children of those who may be stricken down in battle. It is hoped that Mr. Cooper will meet with a generous reception.

Mrs. W. W. Giddens is reported ill. The Catholic Congregation of Londonderry will hold a Bazaar in St. Bridget's Hall on the evening of the 22nd.

We have received one of those endless chain prayer letters; this time the plea is for our soldiers and sailors.

We can hardly find time for our Truro News correspondence these busy days, so will have to take the promised punishment which it states will come to us on the 7th day if we do not copy it for 7 days.

Miss Pearl Leslie Apple River, passed thru here today en route to Oxford to visit her brother, Andrew. Miss Leslie will teach in her home section at Apple River.

Miss Florine Smith, Londonderry, motored here on the 16th.

There has been quite severe frost, these few nights past but not much damage has been done yet.

Pte. Joe Smith Writes To His Mother, Mrs. Silas Smith.

France, July 7, 1918.

Dear Mother;
They say the pines are healthy if so I don't think there is any danger of us getting sick for it is all pine here. I received the box that Bertie sent me allright. I wrote to her some time ago. You asked if Mr. Whidden used tobacco; he does and finds much comfort and enjoyment in a pipe to wile away lonely hours.
Expect to go on leave before long, will get some pictures for you then, I am sure you would like to have them would you not?

I had a letter from Effie not long ago. My heart has not bothered me for some time.

Your loving son
JOE.

UPPER STEWACKE NOTES.

Aug. 17th—Miss Annie M. Fulton Miss Freeman, Miss Smith and Miss M. Dunlap, accompanied by Dr. Graham and son and W. A. Parker motored from Halifax on Saturday afternoon and spent a delightful week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennigar are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Robert McGill, we believe, is to be the name of this young gentleman.

Miss Katherine Goodwin, Stewiacke is visiting Miss A. J. Cox.

Miss Gladys Fulton is out from Truro to pay a flying visit to her parents at the "Strathlorne".

Just one year ago today August 17th, 1917, that one of our Stewiacke boys was called to lay down his young life in France and now sleeps—"Where poppies grow between the crosses row on row. In Flanders fields." We refer to the death in Action of Lieutenant Parker A. Fulton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fulton.

Mrs. Fulton had the following beautiful lines sent her from a daughter, Mrs. Roy Frask, in Boston, and which will be read with deep interest, by all readers of the "News" and we hope copies of them will be received by all of the other Upper Stewiacke boys either in France or England.

Just one year ago he left us
For that dear bright heavenly home,
Where we hope some day to meet him
Waiting by the great white throne.

The midnight stars are gleaming
Upon a lonely grave
Where sleeping but not dreaming
Lies the one we could not save.

In dreams we see his dear, sweet face
And kiss his cold, cold brow,
And whisper as we loved him then
We love his memories now.

EAST VILLAGE.

Aug. 12.—The farmers are busy now with the housing of their first important crop viz: hay, which for the most part is an average one, if weather continues favorable to work with it.
At the regular Red Cross meeting held in the Mines, several volunteered to collect funds to carry on this branch of war work. Miss Alice Slack is canvassing in this place, and is meeting with good success. Miss Black has two brothers overseas.
We had a returned soldier in our midst at the beginning of last week, Pte Robert E. Patten, who with his bride was visiting at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Parker Weatherbee. Pte. Patten enlisted with the 85th Batt. in the machine gun section and after being in active service in the trenches, returned somewhat broken in health from being gassed, and is receiving hospital treatment, since his return.
He, on the 29th July was married in Springhill, Cumb. Co., to Miss Gertrude L. Archibald, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harbvey Archibald, formerly of Wallace Road. The presents received were useful and ornamental.
After he is discharged they will reside at Port Caledonia, C. B.
The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Swetman, of the Baptist communion, of which the bride is a valued member.
Murdoch Currie is very ill at his home here.
Miss McKenzie, of Trenton, has been visiting her friend, Margaret Smith, who was teaching for some time in that place.

LETTER FROM E. T. COLTON

Archangel, Russia. June 9, 1918.

This chapter may be called "A Sunday in Archangel." You will readily locate the place as the chief northern port of Russia where the Dwina River flows into the White Sea. It is just about as near the Arctic Circle as Torneo, Finland, which, when I was there in February enjoyed alittle daylight. Now the condition is reversed and this latitude is treated to a prodigal quantity of light. In fact, there is no darkness in this season. Archangel is fifty miles too far south to get the midnight sun even for a day on June 21 but now nearly two weeks before the longest day, I could write this letter any hour in the twenty-four without artificial light. At eleven p. m. I have lain in my berth and read. At first, sleep was difficult to negotiate but the novelty wears off till one can go to bed by the clock in nearly full daylight.
Spring comes here with halting steps. Most of the trees are yet without much as buds. The second day here—June sixth—brought a real snowstorm. The inch or two of slush stayed for a day. The weather is always uncertain because in the summer the ice pack is never away and does battle constantly with the warmer land breezes. The port is closed by ice from November till May unless opened by ice breakers. The past winter has seen the traffic practically closed, as the Allies were sending no goods in without assurance concerning their ultimate destination.

The facilities here for handling freight are very great. How it is to be hoped the Russians will come back and utilize these and other means for resisting the steady German advances in the face of all the treaty promises at Brest-Litovsk! That treaty and what has followed since will blacken the German name for centuries in its revelation of the capacity of German leadership for oppression, exploitation and false honor. Take the single example of the exchange of prisoners. Invalidated Russians were to be returned for invalidated Germans—man for man. At the present time trainloads of healthy German officers and soldiers are moving into their own country boasting that seventy per cent will be effective in a month and in return Russia is getting back worse than corpses, the sorriest wrecks of beings you can picture, starved, ragged, tubercular and dying enroute. There isn't a clause in the treaty being observed with any more fidelity whenever violation will profit Germany. "Profit" is the wrong word, for the gain is only for the day. There is being stored up in the Russian people a sense of wrong that one day will visit on these oppressors a sure and terrible retribution. And some of us are not without expectation that the blows will begin falling in time to help win the war!

Food in this city of 50,000 is a scarce and poor article. Nothing is available locally save insufficient fish, very black and dirty bread, and dried vegetables. Sunday dinner was something to make brave men weaken. Carrot chunks floating in water and a cabbage mash flavored with caraway seeds describes the two courses. The latter tried to rally round a piece of sheep bone from which the meat had previously been removed, but it was a feeble attempt. Those of our men who stay here must be provisioned from outside, and I have at once to set up a courier service that can gather food from the better supplied parts and deliver here and at a couple of other reduced points. The average prices for some of the "staple" foods in Russia are as follows, translated into American money and weights:—black bread, a ten-pound loaf, $6.00; butter, $1.40 a pound; eggs, $1.05 a dozen; cheese, $1.50 a pound; honey, $1.30. In many sections the prices are even considerably higher than these, while in the Volga Valley they are a very little lower. Some canned stuff we brought up to Archangel with us is keeping us from actual want. We live in the car placed at our disposal permanently by the railway control, making our own meals morning and evening. Once a day at the public stand is all we can take till our appetites get harder pressed. I can return to Moscow as soon as the organization of the snaphous arriving is under way.

The music at church this morning compensated for the shortcomings of the dining room. The Lord surely dealt richly with these people in His gift of harmony to them. Nothing I ever heard so moves my spirit. Again and again the choir responses, always without instruments, are so exquisite as to almost oppress the heart. The stately ritual, the incense, the wonderfully intoned service, combine to produce an effect that is indescribable. Formalism as such makes no appeal to me whatever, but this service puts me into fellowship with the most worshipful congregations I have ever experienced. I can stand as they do for three hours and at the end be willing for more to follow. If this devotion can be conserved in new Russia and directed as power into more channels of human welfare, all the world will be debtor. And there are stirrings within the leadership looking that way. Recently sixty city and country churches asked us to secure for them typical literature from the American churches covering Sunday Schools, religious education, social service, denominational periodicals, and the other accessories. Men never had greater privileges in the service of the Kingdom than we seventy-five Association secretaries who are now here. Nor will there be the same number of men returning more vital values to their country than this same company. We are grateful for a Government and a Home Committee that recognizes this, and not less so for the friends who, by their gifts and by taking our places

FRENCH CRUISER TORPEDOED.

Paris, Aug. 17.—One of the old cruisers the Dupetit Thouars, which was participating with the American navy in the protection of navigation to the Atlantic Ocean, has been sunk by a German submarine. American destroyers received the crew, of which thirteen are missing.

The Dupetit Thouars was an armored cruiser, built at Toulon in 1899. The vessel was 452 feet long with a beam of 63 feet and a depth of 24 feet and had a displacement of 4367 tons. She had an indicated speed of 22 knots per hour and carried an armament of two seven inch; two eight inch and four 3 inch guns. The ship was equiped with two torpedo tubes. The normal complement of the Dupetit Thouars was 540 men.

CAPTURED GERMAN OFFICERS SAY PEACE CANNOT BE WON IN BATTLE BUT CAN BY NEGOTIATIONS.

With the British Army in France Aug. 18.—German officers and men taken prisoners seemed unanimous in the opinion that a decision cannot be won on the battle field, but that peace must be arrived at by negotiations. They expressed belief that it would be impossible for the Allies to break through, with Germany's resources and organized state. The officers for the most part have dropt their blustering attitude.

FORTY GALLONS DUMPED INTO THE SEWER AT STELLARTON THIS WEEK.

The staid old town of Stellarton presented its sober, orderly appearance Monday night, notwithstanding the fact, that on that day Chief of Police Watters, dumped forty gallons or twelve hundred yards of rum into the sewer, and information from the interior indicated that the sewer rats had not become disorderly, out of the ordinary, as a result. Nor the fish that hang about the mouth of the sewer down by the side of the river either. Instead of being dumped into the sewer, the stuff should have been used to kill potato bugs.

The booze was that seized by Officer Waters one night last week, the person it was taken from paying a stiff fine.

AERTEX CELLULAR UNDERWEAR

The chief function of underclothing is to assist in maintaining the normal temperature of the body. The normal temperature is about 98° Fahr.—and a deviation from this is a recognized sign of disease.

It is evident that clothing to be healthy must not interfere with the action of the skin—it must be porous—it must be a good non-conductor of heat to prevent the undue access of out heat or cold as well as to prevent the escape of the heat generated by the body. Aertex Cellular is easily washed and does not shrink. It is light and comfortable to wear and does not irritate the most sensitive skin. It is very durable.

CAPTAIN JAMES FITZMORRIS INSTANTLY KILLED AS RESULT OF ENGINE STOPPING AND MACHINE TAKING NOSE DIVE.

The captain had just left the ground at Western Hills Gold Club for Cincinnati when his engine died and the plane took a nose dive, crushing Fitzmorris beneath it. Captain Fitzmorris had a total of twenty-nine German aeroplanes to his credit.

BLACKFISH CAUSED EPIDEMIC.

About Thirty People Died at Hantsport Some Years Ago.

The stranding of a school of blackfish at River John is by no means unknown in the Maritime Provinces. A well-known Monctonian, originally from Nova Scotia, speaking to a Moncton Transcript representative on Tuesday night, narrated the following incident: "About thirty years ago, at Hantsport, N. S., seven miles from Windsor a school of blackfish came ashore, through being stranded. They were dead when the tide went out, and their carcasses were gathered by the people. Someone conceived the idea of cutting the carcasses up, and placing them in casks to be used as fertilizer, when the pieces reached a sufficient stage of decomposition to be spread over the ground. The stench proved to be considerable and shortly afterwards an attack of a disease, which in all its appearance resembled Asiatic cholera broke out. About thirty people in the little town of Hantsport died and among those dying were the father, mother, sister and nephew of a present resident of Moncton City."

The transcript's informant believes it to be a duty to recall this fact so that safeguards may be placed around the disposals of the bodies at River John.

TRAGIC AUTO DISASTER.

DISTRESSING AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT NEAR NEW GLASGOW ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 17.

Mrs. Warren C. Ogilvie, Truro, and her sister, Mrs. F. C. Bonnell. St. John—Two of the Automobile Party from Truro—Lose Their Lives.

Daily News, Aug 19

About five o'clock Saturday afternoon, the 17th, Truro acquaintances were startled and saddened by the telephonic news from New Glasgow, that Mrs. Warren Ogilvie, Truro, wife of Mr. Warren C. Ogilvie, General Manager of the Eastern Hat and Cap Company, Ltd., and her sister Mrs. Bonnell, St. John, wife of Dr. F. S. Bonnell, who has been a visitor in our town for some time, had been killed by the overturning of an automobile on the highway at Chance Harbor, some six miles from New Glasgow, that the other ladies in the car had been more or less seriously injured, and that the chauffeur had also been seriously hurt. Tho there were the usual exaggerated street stories, yet it was, alas too true, that a merry automobile party from Truro, had met with a serious accident and two of the party were still in death.

About one o'clock on Friday, the 16th, in Mr. Ogilvie's fine seven-passenger car, with Lance Corporal Lewis Lance, a returned Princess Pathero, as chauffeur, the following ladies started from Truro, for a two days touring trip.

MRS. WARREN OGILVIE, TRURO
MRS. F. S. BONNELL, ST. JOHN
MRS. R. S. BOYD, TRURO
MRS. B. ROSS CAMERON, MONCTON
MRS. E. J. MOXON, TRURO
MRS. J. E. SPONAGLE, TRURO.

Mrs. Ogilvie and Mrs. Bonnell were sisters, as were Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Cameron; and all were intimate friends, making a most congenial party.

The line of travel on the outward trip was Truro to Pugwash and Wallace and thence along shore to Pictou and New Glasgow.

They stayed at the Norfolk Hotel, New Glasgow on Friday night, and Saturday morning visited friends about town, going down to Merimery Beach, Little Harbor, in the early afternoon, where they were for a short time the guests of Mrs. C. S. Trotter, at her summer home. They left there about 4.30 o'clock, intending to run thru to Truro and detoured on the Chance Harbor Road to pass thru Pictou Landing.

Mrs. Bonnell occupied the front seat beside the chauffeur, Lance, Mrs. Moxon and Mrs. Sponagle were on the small centre seats, and Mrs. Ogilvie was in the rear seat between Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Cameron. Between the Chance Harbor schoolhouse and the Post Office there is a very sharp turn in the road which is extremely narrow at that point, only 12 or 13 feet wide and flanked by a high bank on the inside and a deep gulch. On the outside of the turn, here the Truro car came suddenly upon another automobile owned by Mr. Felix Noteheart, Superintendent of the Acadia Coal Company, Stellarton. Mr. Noteheart and his little son were in the car which was driven by his chauffeur, Thomas McNaughton. The car was the same make and size as the Truro car. Mr. Lance swerved to the left and outside of the turn. There was not room enough for the two on the roadway, and his car shot over the edge and down the slope turning turtle. Both Mrs. Ogilvie and Mrs. Bonnell were pinned underneath and died before they could be extricated.

The injured persons were taken to Aberdeen Hospital, New Glasgow, and undertaker Ross removed the bodies of the dead women to New Glasgow, and later forwarded them to Truro by special train.

Dr. E. Kennedy, Coroner, empaneled a Jury, of which Spurgeon Gammon was foreman. In the Court House, New Glasgow, an investigation was held Sunday afternoon and all the witnesses to the sad affair examined. In addition measurements of the road were made. It was established that the roadbed was about 12 feet in width with a maximum clearance of a little over 13 feet. The width of the car over all, was 6 feet, 9 inches. There was practically nothing of a conflicting nature in the evidence.

Verdict of Jury.

Both chauffeurs had long experience, Mr. Lance having served as chauffeur for eleven years previous to the war. Chauffeur McNaughton also was accounted a proficient driver. He was familiar with the road as he drove it several times daily. This was Lance's first trip over the road. It was established that only by slow and careful manoeuvring could two cars pass each other at that point. After considerable deliberation the Jury returned the following verdict:

"We find that Mrs. Warren Ogilvie came to her death by being crushed by an automobile on the Chance Harbor road on Saturday, August 17th, 1918, which overturned because of lack of room to pass another car driven by Thomas McNaughton, and killed. The Jury are of the opinion that the drivers of said cars were running at too great a speed for safety on such a road, and would strongly recommend that the bushes be cleared from the dangerous curves along the highways, and that drivers of autos exercise greater caution.

In regard to this verdict we are informed by parties on the Truro car that Chauffeur Lance was not driving his car at any great speed at the time of the accident and it was particularly noted by all how careful and skilful Lance had driven his car all through this trip.

Mrs. Cameron received a fracture of the left wrist, but is resting well at present at her sister's, Mrs. R. S. Boyd's.

Mrs. Moxon and Mrs. Sponagle suffered from slight cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Boyd was not injured. These ladies, who were detained in New Glasgow for the inquest on Sunday arrived in Truro by automobiles in the early hours of this Monday morning.

Mr. Ogilvie was en route from a business trip to New York, so the sad news was sent him by wire, while travelling homewards on the C. P. R., which arrived here about nine o'clock on Saturday night.

A wire at once brought to Truro, arriving here early Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Scott, St. John, parents of the deceased sisters; Harold, a brother, St. John, and Frank another brother, now employed in Amherst, a third brother Gordon, is overseas, doing his bit for King and Country. To the absent one, sad indeed, will be the cable telling him of his double affliction.

Dr. Bonnell also arrived from St. John, by same train.

In Death not Divided.

In the prime of life these two sisters have been taken away and the Grim Monster death has cruelly wrenched the hearts of near and dear relatives and large circles of mourning friends.

Mrs. Ogilvie leaves in the immediate aftermath a bereaved husband and a little daughter, Margaret, four years of age. She has ever been ready to assist, since she came to Truro, in all enterprises that were brought before her for the public good.

In Red Cross activities and anything that assisted in helping our soldier boys, she has ever been with hands and voice, and generous purse one of Truro's foremost workers. She has been a valuable acquisition to the First Presbyterian Church communion, and has assisted greatly and contributed well to the many worthy schemes and enterprises of her church. She has formed a large circle of friends in our town, who admired her bright, vivacious, kindly disposition and who to day are in deep grief over her untimely and tragic death.

Her sister, Mrs. Bonnell, the other victim of this tragedy, we are informed, is universally and equally beloved in social and church circles in St. John; and a host of friends, mourn too, her untimely demise.

All acquaintances are astounded at the tragic passing of these two greatly beloved sisters; and stand, and realize, indeed, that "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

To the deeply bereaved ones in the Truro home; in the St. John home with this double shadow on it and especially to the absent soldier boy the Truro News extends deep and heartfelt sympathy.

The funeral will take place from the Ogilvie residence, Lornedale Avenue, to-morrow, Tuesday, at 3 o'clock.

The body of Mrs. Bonnell will go forward by night express to St. John, for interment.

Notes of the Disaster

J. C. B. Olive went to New Glasgow Saturday evening and returned with the bodies by special train at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, and on Sunday afternoon they were removed to the Ogilvie homestead, Lornedale Avenue.

About noon on Saturday Mrs. Ogilvie telephoned her housekeeper from New Glasgow, that the party was about starting for home and would arrive in Truro early in the evening.

As soon as word of this sad accident was received in Truro, Messrs. Boyd, Moxon and Sponagle went to New Glasgow. They also visited the scene of the disaster, at Chance Harbor.

Chauffeur Lance, tho' suffering from severe bruises and with an artery severed in his leg, showed heroic pluck and coolness in rescuing the party from the overturned automobile.

The embankment over which the car plunged was some 15 feet.

DIARRHOEA WAS SO BAD Could Scarcely Do Work.

Mrs. O. Pritchard, Elora, Ont., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled very much for a whole week with diarrhoea. It was so bad some days I could scarcely do my housework. I took two or three different kinds of medicine, but got no relief, and was just at the point of going to see the doctor when I explained my case to a friend.

She put a half bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my hand and said: 'You take this and you won't need any doctor.' Before I had emptied the bottle I was cured, and have never had any return of the trouble. I can truly say that 'Dr. Fowler's' is the best medicine I have ever used for diarrhoea."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not a new or untried remedy, as it has a record of 72 years of cures to its credit, and is recognized on all hands as the only reliable remedy ever offered to the public as a safe and certain cure for diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, summer complaint and all looseness of the bowels, whether of children or adults.

It is particularly good for teething babies. The price of Dr. "Fowler's" is 35c. a bottle, and we would warn you against accepting any substitute. Many of these are positively dangerous, and you are risking your life when to take them. The genuine is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the whole system, and snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ARMY HUT CAMPAIGN AUGUST 19-24 INCLUSIVE.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR GRANT'S LETTER.

To the People of Nova Scotia.

August 15th, 1918.
The Knights of Columbus have launched a campaign in Nova Scotia with an objective of $100,000 for the purpose of erecting Army Huts.

The date of the Campaign is August 19th to 24th inclusive, and most enthusiastic preparations are being made by the Knights, together with their fellow citizens, irrespective of race or creed, to ensure a most successful return.

The Knights of Columbus in the United States have proven themselves most helpful to our great Ally, calling forth strong words of approval from President Wilson and members of his Cabinet.

We in Nova Scotia feel that our boys who are so nobly fighting for our cause will be materially assisted and comforted by the activity of this organization, and surely it is our duty to assist by every means in our power.

I would, therefore, ask your hearty co-operation with the gentlemen in your community who will assume the responsibility of making this drive the great success which I feel it richly deserves.

McA. GRANT,
Lieutenant-Governor.

MAYOR DUNBAR'S LETTER.

Aug. 15th, 1918.
To the Citizens of Truro:
Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are about to have another opportunity to contribute towards the comfort of our brave boys in France.

This time our appeal comes through the medium of the Knights of Columbus. Their aim is to provide a Home from Home for Our Boys Over There, and is along similar lines to the work of the Y. M. C. A. I do not think here is any fear of over-doing this philanthropic work and our boys in France are entitled to every comfort that we who are living in comparative luxury can give them. I would therefore bespeak for the Knights of Columbus a whole hearted response from the citizens of Truro when they make their appeal Aug. 19 to 24th inclusive.

Yours truly,
W. R. DUNBAR,
Mayor Town of Truro

GEORGE STEVENSON, NATIV OF DENMARK, DIES IN CHICAGO
Brother of Alexander Stevenson, C. G. R., Truro.

Mr. Alexander Stevenson, C. G. R., Truro, has just received a letter from his niece, Miss Lottie J. Stevenson, informing him of the death of her father, Mr. George Stevenson—a brother of Mr. Alexander Stevenson—on Friday August 2. He had been a great sufferer for over two years and death was, indeed a happy release for this Christian sufferer.

He is survived by a widow and three daughters. There also survive two brothers, Robert in Chicago and Alexander in Truro and one sister, Mrs. Ellen Pacey in the American West.

Mr. Stevenson was born in Denmark, Col. Co. He has been a resident of Chicago for 40 years.

For many years he was a master-mariner sailing on the "great lakes." Later he has been foreman in a department of a big industrial plant. He has ever been prominent in church circles in Chicago, carrying out the good principles that he had imbibed in his good old Presbyterian home in Colchester County.

Some nine years ago Mr. Stevenson, with his wife, visited Nova Scotia friends, and the News had a pleasant call from him in company with his brother, Alexander.

THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENCE.

Pure blood is the body's first line of defense against disease. Strong, healthy blood neutralizes the poisons of invading germs, or destroy the germs themselves. That is why many people exposed to disease do not contract it.

Those whose blood is weak and watery and therefore lacking in defensive power are most liable to infection. Everybody may observe that healthy, red-blooded people are less liable to colds and the grippe, than pale, bloodless, people. It is the bloodless people who tire easily, who are short of breath at slight exertion, who have poor appetites, and who wake up in the morning as tired as when they went to bed.

While women and girls chiefly suffer from bloodlessness and the trouble also affects both boys and men. It simply affects girls and women to a greater extent because there is a greater demand upon their blood supply.

To renew and build up the blood there is no remedy can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, feed and strengthen starving nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks, give refreshing sleep and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight and wholesome food will do the rest.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CENSORSHIP NOTICE IN REGARD TO CERTAIN PUBLICATIONS.

Ottawa, 16th July, 1918.

THOMAS MULVEY,
Under Secretary of State

We reprint the above very drastic Order-in-Council from the Canada Gazette of July 20. We do this for the benefit of all, who may have any of these publications in their possession. Whatever those affected may think of this Censorship Order has nothing to do with the matter, it is now Law; and under the War-Measures Act the very severe penalties may at any time be exacted. So we ask our friends, as good loyal British citizens to get these forbidden publications off their bookshelves.

Manufacturers of passenger automobiles in the United States has been given till Jan'y. 1, 1919, to convert their plants to 100 per cents war work. Steel and other materials needed for war work will not be allowed for the building of pleasure vehicles.

SUNDAY AND CONDENSED MILK FACTORIES.

Dr. W. M. Rochester, General Secretary Lord's Day Alliance.

For nearly two years the delivery of milk on Sunday to condensing plants and its manufacturers have been under consideration by the Lord's Day Alliance incidental to the Sunday operations of a large manufactory in Ontario contending for this privilege. Supporting this plea of necessity for Sunday delivery, the company emphasized deterioration of milk held over Sunday, war contracts, needs of the Allied countries, and inadequate plant.

Incapacity, the Alliance asserted, was an avoidable not an absolute necessity. The company had no right to undertake business it could not handle. Nevertheless the Alliance conceded Sunday delivery for that season up to the 1st of October. This concession was refused. As to necessity the Alliance contended that the Ontario Government ruling of 1907 which required a discontinuance of Sunday delivery and manufacture in cheese factories applied and supported this but citing the Manager's statement that, with proper care, Sunday's milk could be delivered on Monday in good condition, the practice of the company in accepting for some time Sunday's milk on Monday, and for a considerable period the Sunday apply of patrons, representing about 30,000 pounds daily, who would not deliver on Sunday, and the policy of the Borden Milk Co., which for over seven years had neither received nor manufactured milk on Sunday. To this was added the consideration that it was not necessary to hand over the whole milk supply to the condenseries one day's supply might very well be retained for other uses. For the army, and the Allied Countries butter, cheese and bacon were also necessary and with the production of these this industry interfered.

Proof of war contract might reasonably be required and also a guarantee that the Allied Countries should have full benefit of shipments now known to go elsewhere.

The case thus presented by the Alliance was unanswerable. The Attorney General, however, submitted it to the Canada Food Board. The Board in turn referred it back to the Attorney General. Later it came under the review of the Minister of Agriculture and the Premier and was again submitted to the Food Board.

Meanwhile the situation had changed. According to the Food Board, Sir Guy Garnett, head of the Allied Purchasing Commission in the United States, declared the need of this product for children and the sick in the Allied Countries. The Board therefore fixed the price and assumed control of export. Under these altered conditions the Alliance could offer no objection to the Board's ruling in July in favor of Sunday delivery and manufacture. The concession made was not absolute but limited in the following particulars:

First: For this year only, subject conditions required.

Second: From the 15th of May to the 15th of September in this year.

Third: To condensed and evaporated milk plants only. Cheese and milk powder factories are not included.

Accompanying the Board's order is the guarantee of quiet on Sunday to the communities affected and liberty of employees to one day's rest in seven.

NOTES FROM TRAIL, B. C.

Trail, B. C.
July 26, 1918.
Editor News:

Some time has elapsed since I have had the pleasure of a place in the columns of the "News," which is an ever welcome link binding us to the homeland, and I cannot help but feel proud of my native Province when I read in the columns of the news of how thro and complete a stand, and sacrifice the people are making to do their part in the titanic struggle for World-Freedom now taking place. Hardly a home in the land is untouched by some measure of sadness and loss, yet in the future no country will be more able to point with pride to the Honor Roll of her brave sons, which is some compensation to those whose hearts are gripped by the loss of some cherished one that answered duty's call.

Last Saturday quite an ovation took place here in the way of a reception to two returned Trail soldiers, Sergeant Weir, after over two years continuous service at the front and Pte. Murray who had been a war prisoner in Germany for over two years and tells a very graphic account of his escape from the Huns. A very interesting parade of Military Bands and detachments of soldiers and decorated autos filled with the Red Cross ladies of Trail and Rossland were the principal features of the evening. Each band of Red Cross workers had its own auto given for their use by the people of Trail for this occasion and each designated by banners, the "Flying Squad" of which my wife is President being one of the number. Altogether it was a very pleasant and fitting tribute to the war-worn heroes, who will soon return to take their place again at the front.

Just a month ago an event of a sadder nature was the full Military funeral of Lieut. Roy Wier (a brother of the above mentioned Sgt. Wier) who was killed in an aeroplane crash at Camp Borden training camp, Toronto.

A guard of 50 soldiers are on duty now at the Smelter, and visitors are carefully watched now. The Zinc and Lead departments at the Smelter are working full capacity now, but the gold, silver and copper departments are only half working half capacity.

The "Sullivan" and "Lucky Jim" mines in East Kootenay are being worked now to full capacity; large quantities of this ore is almost pure zinc. Sufficient labor to work the mines has been hard to get as there has been quite an exodus of workmen to Vancouver also to the Prairies, however a large number of these will return later.

Guy C. Graham, formerly of Brookfield, is now on the smelter force here. The apple crop thruout the Columbia Valley is very light this year, due to a cold dry Spring. Peaches and cherries, on the other hand, are a good crop; hay is rather light; a lumberman told me the other day that he was paying $48 per ton for hay.

Provisions are inclined to soar a little, and make a man with a family of big appetites sore too; eggs 75cts a doz.; butter 60cts to 65cts and yesterday our milkman cheerfully informed us that his 15 ets a quart milk would next month be 20cts a quart, and he was a Scotchman, too, a Scotchman is usually equipped with a conscience.

Our neighbors to the south are losing no time now in getting into the big struggle. The other day I met a former Trail man, now resident in Tacoma, he said Tacoma is not a sociable place any more—the people are so busy with war preparations, they have no time to talk;—more power to them is all we can say.

Well, Mr. Editor, I must close with all good wishes to you and the large family of readers of the Home Paper.

Sincerely,
JAMES A. HILL.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

By Jas. A. Hill, Trail, B. C.

Come here, Nurse, with the eyes of blue
"Don't talk" well, I haven't much to say,
But listen to just a word or two
For I'm going out ere the break of day.

Well, Nurse, it's a little tough you bet
To be like this so cruelly huffed
Why, Nurse, your eyes are as wide and wet
As they were last night when that bandage slipped?

But, Nurse, it's strange just the way you feel
In the rod and whirl when you're down and out;
There's never a thought of the Kaiser's steel.

It's the loved ones at home that you think about.

Last night, as I lay in the wreck and gazed
Up through the shrapnel-blistered air,
Clear and peaceful a vision raised
Of Canada's fields and hamlets fair;

And a village girl with cheeks as red
As the badge of mercy on your arm.
It was at Christmas I was to wed
Nelly, the pride of Ridgewood farm.

NO ALUM

I'd like my parents and her to know
When the land is freed from the cruel Hun
—That I fell with my face toward the foe
Tell them I never disgraced my gun

Nurse, will you write her—not with pride—
Tell them I never disgraced my gun
But simply say that I stood the test
And just a word as to how I died—
Tell her I love her—she'll know the rest."

—Over his features a greyness crept
And back on that brave re-circled arm
He dropped his head like a child that slept
Alas for the girl at Ridgewood farm.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER.

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in homes where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if these troubles come suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AN IMPOSSIBLE JOB.

The British mercantile tonnage at the outbreak of the war amounted to $18,500,000 tons gross and at present the figures are $15,000,000 tons gross—a net loss of 3,500,000 tons was caused by the enemy, which it was not; and supposing Britain did not add hereafter a ton to her mercantile marine it would take the enemy, at the same rate of destruction, on 17 years to clear the high seas of the British flag.

AREATED WATER BOTTLERS PUT OUT OF BUSINESS BY SUGAR SHORTAGE.

A meeting of the Maritime Bottlers Association was held on the 14th in the parlor of the King George Hotel, Truro. The chief subject discussed was the Sugar Question.

The curtailing of the use of sugar, as ordered by the Dominion Food Controller, means the closing down of Areated Water manufacturers in the Maritime Provinces.

"The Sussex Mineral Water Bottling Co" shut down their works last week. Messrs Bigelow and Hood expect to stop work Saturday night this week.

Mr. J. E. Bigelow is President of the Maritime Bottlers Association. He was appointed a delegate to go to Ottawa and interview the Food Controller regarding the sugar ruling so seriously effecting the bottling industry in these provinces.

WEAK AND NERVOUS AFTER SERIOUS OPERATION.

After any serious operation or sickness, the nervous system is generally left in an extremely weakened condition, and a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will do more towards building it up than anything else.

Mr. W. E. Grafton, 44 Davenport Road, Toronto, Ont., writes: "My wife underwent a very serious operation three years ago. After leaving the Toronto General Hospital she was in a weak, nervous condition. Having tried numerous medicines, from which she received practically no satisfaction, I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I am very pleased to say that they proved very satisfactory. She slept and ate well, and her whole physical condition improved wonderfully. I have always kept a box in the house, and find them very useful in cases of nervousness, sleeplessness and fatigue."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GOOD GRAIN PROSPECTS.

Regina, Aug. 16
Crop prospects in Eastern Saskatchewan have improved twenty five percent in the last two weeks, while ripening has been retarded to some extent.

AUSTRIA AND GERMANY IN A DEAL.

London, Aug. 16.
According to a despatch to the Daily Mail from the Hague, Germany has demanded that Austria send ten of their Divisions to the western front. Austria assented to this, on condition that Germany would accept Austria's solution of the Polish question and make a strong peace move, including the evacuation and restoration of Belgium. Germany promised to concede to Austria's solution of the Polish question including the naming of an Austrian Arch duke as King.

GOOD GRAIN CROP IN FRANCE.

Paris, Aug. 6.
The total production of wheat in France this year is estimated at 183,500,000 bushels, being an increase of 25 percent over last year's crop.

WORK OF AVIATORS.

London, Aug. 16.
British aviators, working with the navy, from Aug. 8 to Aug. 15 dropt sixty tons of bombs on German docks and airdomes in Belgium, says a statement issued by the admiralty tonight. Their activities also include the bringing down of a German airship, previously reported, and a direct hit on a German destroyer. Sixteen German airplanes were brought down during the period covered by their report.

HUN MINES ON AUSTRALIAN COASTS.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 15. "The finding of additional enemy mines along the Australian coast is announced.

SPAIN IN THE CRY-BABY ACT.

Madrid, Aug. 16.—In the note addressed by Spain to Germany, regarding the torpedoing of Spanish vessels, announcement of the despatch of which was made by foreign minister Dato on Aug. 8, the Spanish Government points to Germany's poor return for services Spain had performed in pursuance of her neutral policy by which Germany had benefited.

NO MORE ALIENS TO LEAVE THE UNITED STATES.

Washington, Aug. 16
Freedom of departure from this country of Aliens, by means of which a number of dangerous enemy agents have been able to escape from the authorities since the United States entered the war, will not be permitted after September 15, under a proclamation signed by President Wilson and an executive order, both of which were made public tonight by the state department. The proclamation and executive order puts into effect the Alien control law passed by Congress last May.

A CRISIS AT ROYE.

Paris, Aug. 17.
The Germans are preparing to evacuate the Roze-Lassigny Noyon salient says the Echo De Paris. It is indicated the paper adds that German pioneers and laborers are at work behind the German front lines on an new Hindenburg line.
The German position in Roze is serious. Not only are the Allies a mile and one quarter west of the town but the roads leading out of it toward Peronne Nesle and Noyon are under the fire of allied guns.

MAY HAVE SEIZED KRONSTADT

Paris, Aug. 12.
Reports are in circulation in Finland that the German have seized the Russian naval port at Kronstadt.

HUNS CANNOT RESUME OFFENSIVE.

London, Aug. 16.
The withdrawal on the western front by the Germans in the past few days it is believed here indicated that the enemy intends to abandon the offensive. It is said to be doubtful whether he will be able to resume the offensive since 35 divisions now are necessary between the Oise and the Ancre of which fifteen are from the Reserve. There are now only 16 fresh enemy divisions in Reserve on the entire Western front, and only eleven of these belong to the army group of Crown Prince Rupheicht of Bavaria.

Military observers say that there is every indication the Germans intend to stand on their present line. There is a possibility, however, that they may fall back to the Divette, a small tributary of the Oise which joins it south of Noyon.

The French now hold all the high ground in that region.
It is said that the British are so close to Chaumes that the enemy cannot use the town. Almost all their communications in the peronne have been rendered useless by the Allies.

GERMANS ALARMED OVER WEAKENED FORCES.

With the British Army in France Aug. 16.
Germany has acknowledged that her man power, once so freely wasted, now is dwindling great enough, apparently to cause considerable anxiety to the high command. The toll taken, particularly in the recent fighting by the Allied armies, and the prospect of being confronted by over-growing American forces has caused Genera Ludendorff to issue imperative orders for immediate combine in the German armies to recover from auxiliary units all man-power possible.

ALLIES STILL ADVANCING.

London, Aug. 16.
On the eastern bank of the Avre local fighting took place last night on the outskirts of Thipval wood, west of Thipval. Further to the north further progress has been made by the British, who have pushed their patrol eastward on a three mile front between Beaucourt-Sur Ancre, and Puisseux Au-Mont.

A GREAT FEAT BY BRITISH TROOPS.

London, Aug. 15.
The British advance thru Persia from Bagdad to Baku was accomplished under the greatest difficulties. In the mountainous sections they were resisted by a few groups of tribesmen but they quickly overcame this opposition. The British force crossed the Persian frontier and reached Enzelli on the Caspian sea by the way of Hamadan.

ANOTHER U BOAT VICTIM.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 15.
The British steamer Penstone, victim of a submarine attack one hundred miles east of Nantucket on Sunday, was sunk without warning. Benjamin Davies, executive officer of the ship, reported on arrival here today, with other survivor, that a torpedo fired at close range, hit the vessel amidships, killing the fourth engineer and wounding four firemen. The Captain of the Penstone, who returned to his ship just before she went down hoping to obtain his papers, but was captured by the U boat and kept aboard a prisoner of war.

A GOOD DOSE FOR THE BABY KILLERS.

Geneva, Aug. 15.
An official despatch received from Frankfurt, Germany, says that on Monday morning at nine o'clock that city was attacked by twelve enemy aviators, who dropped twenty six bombs killing twelve persons and injuring five others. Reports from Basel, however, assert that the casualties were far more numerous. These say that a bomb fell in the crowded Kaiserstrasse killing many persons and stopping the street cars; that another fell in the middle of a large station and several in its vicinity, while two more fell in the barracks and still another near Goetjes House.

HOMES SCARCE IN HALIFAX.

The housing problem in hustling bustling Halifax is indeed a serious one.
A Halifax Evening Paper carried for two months an ad for a flat for a man, wife with child, an offer of $40 a month rent. There was not one reply—because there were no vacant flats in the whole of Halifax. In fact instances are many of people leaving the city because they could not get lodgings.
Any one contemplating a removal to our Provincial capital should be sure of board and lodgings and a home before making the change; here it is indeed, "look before you leap."

TRURO HERO WOUNDED IN THE FIGHT.

Pte. Stewart J. Fraser the Victim.

The following telegram has just been received in Truro:
Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 15.—Pte. Stewart J. Fraser, Park St., Truro,—Sincerely regret to inform you 478989 Pte. Stewart J. Fraser, infantry, officially reported admitted to Fifth General Hospital, Rouan, Aug. 9, 1918. Gun shot wound lower extremities.—Director of Records.

Pte Stewart Fraser enlisted in the R. C. R., Halifax, August 1916. He went overseas in September, and our last scrap, in which the Canadians have done so well, he has been hit by the huns.

We hope his wounds are not serious. We have a special interest in this soldier, because for nearly two years he was a New's carrier.

He was a good and faithful news boy, so he, of course made a good soldier of the King.

PRESBYTERIANS AID K.C.

In referring to the big drive of the Knights of Columbus, which starts next Monday to raise $100,000 in Nova Scotia for war purposes, the Presbyterian Witness says: "The Knights of Columbus are entering the field not as a rival of the Y. M. C. A. but to assist and supplement the work of that excellent institution. His Honor Lieutenant Governor Grant, a staunch Presbyterian has endorsed the movement and sent out an appeal to the people of Nova Scotia to assist by every means in their power. The Knights of Columbus in the United States have already raised $7,000,000 and the Nova Scotia Knights are trying to emulate their American brothers in providing army huts and comforts for Canadian—especially Nova Scotian—lads at the front. We would therefore ask our Roman Catholic friends a sympathetic response to the canvass which they are about to make for this good work."

The Truro News also supports this noble effort to benefit our gallant soldiers at the front. We cannot do enough for these noble boys. The Churches, The Y.M.C.A., the Red Cross and the Knights of Columbus, all combined, cannot begin to properly look after the long line of men from Canada at the front.

There can be no over-lapping of work and the field is too extensive, so let us all give the Knights of Columbus a generous helping hand.

BIG QUAKE SOMEWHERE.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 15
One of the most severe earthquakes that has ever been recorded on instruments, was registered on the Seismograph at the Gonsales heights observatory today. The registration started at 5.30 a. m. and lasted for three hours. The quake center probably was 8000 miles distant.

WAR VETERAN IN A GOOD POSITION.

Mr. Charles MacDowell, who for the past few months has been the energetic Secretary of the G. W. V. Association, has severed his connection with the Truro Branch and has position in the Auditors office of the C. G. Railway, Moncton.

Mr. MacDowell will be greatly missed in Truro, especially by the War Veterans as he helped to put the Truro Branch on its present high standing.

We wish Mr. McDowell every success in his new position and we are glad to note that the Government is carrying out its pronounced policy of giving our war-heroes first consideration in the Civil Service of the country.

PORTER—PUTNAM.

On the afternoon of Aug. 7, a pretty wedding was solemnized in the Mass-town Presbyterian Church, when Miss Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Putnam, became the bride of Mr. George Porter, Somersleyton, Suffolk, England.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. M. Milligan. Mrs. Milligan presided at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a tailored suit of blue chiffon taffeta with a hat of white georgette and carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received congratulations, standing under the arch of vines and roses with bell of white mountain daisies, which had been tastefully arranged by girl friends of the bride.

The happy couple left the church amid showers of confetti, and after a short trip will reside in Truro. The presents which were numerous and beautiful, consisted of cheques, cut glass, silver, china and linen. The many good wishes of a large circle of friends follow Mr. and Mrs. Porter.

SUFFERED WITH KIDNEYS FOR THREE YEARS.

70 YEARS OLD AND CURED.

Late in life the body is likely to show signs of wear. Often the kidneys are the first organs to weaken. That's why many elderly folks suffer from backache, lame back, poor eyesight, rheumatic pains, gravel, dropsy and inability to control the urine.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made life more comfortable for thousands of old folks, as they stimulate the kidneys and tend to alleviate rheumatic joints, backache and too frequent urination. When past middle age it is a good plan to use Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally, just to keep the kidneys healthy.

Mr. John Cameron, Baldwin, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for three years and tried several doctors. I got better for a little while, but the same trouble came back. A friend told me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and before I had taken them I felt better and kept on until I had taken five boxes. I am seventy years old, and had given up that there was any help for me, but thanks to "Doan's" I have been cured."

A SAD COINCIDENCE.

Halifax, N. S.,—Aug. 15—Colonel J. L. Ralston, officer commanding Nova Scotia Battalion in France, was wounded in the Picardy offensive according to a cablegram received here today. His brother Major I. N. Ralston, who was second in command, then took the Colonels place and was killed.

Col. Ralston, who was wounded in the foot and leg, is now resting comfortably in hospital. He is member for Cumberland in the Nova Scotia House of Assembly and member of a legal firm here of which Hon A. K. McLean of the Federal Cabinet is senior member.

AMERICANS HARRASSED BY GERMANS.

The Americans who have dug in along the Vesle continually are being harassed by the German artillery and gas projectiles. The Germans made a vicious gas attack Saturday afternoon, aimed at those Americans, who are situated on the north side of the Vesle. They used artillery first and then followed the fire of their guns with gusts of mustard and "Sneeze" gas. These attacks have not met with any apparent success and the Germans evidently are aware of the failure. This is indicated by the enemy having sent over four airplanes, which by wireless or other means endeavored to direct the firing of their noxious fumes so that they would be more effective.

We had a great clearance on Saturday, both from town and outside, more odd lines will be daily added, we intend to make this a banner clean up in all departments.—C. E. Bentley & Co.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

WAR WORK OF THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

It will be well for the people of Cape Breton to understand thoroughly what is meant by the legend that will be the conspicuous sign on the army huts which will be erected and equipped with recreational needs and comforts for our soldiers at the front by the Cape Breton, Knights of Columbus. The legend will read: "Everybody welcome and everything free." It is because the huts themselves will virtually belong to our soldiers at the front, though held in trust by the Nova Scotia Knights of Columbus, and because every comfort, such as coffee, sandwiches, cigarettes, etc., will be distributed absolutely free to all soldiers of the King that the Knights are about to inaugurate a big "drive" to raise a fund of $100,000 for building army huts in France and for free distribution of all sorts of soldiers' creature comforts.

The Knights' war workers in these huts will give to all soldiers anything in stock, of large or small value, absolutely without charge. That is why they are appealing to all the people of Nova Scotia to lend a hand in this great drive. The campaign opens August 19 and closes August 24. Save or provide now and when the campaign opens give in cash or subscribe for the welfare of our lads at the front.

OFF FOR SIBERIA.

Lieut. Col. Stan. Bauld, M. C., Halifax, will command the Nova Scotia Company in the Canadian troops that will go to Siberia.

These soldiers will be recruited in Canada and will likely go over the Dominion and across the Pacific to Vladivostok.

There will be 250 in the Company that will go from Nova Scotia; and returned soldier, fit for service, will be given the first chance.

Aldershot will be the headquarters for this recruiting in Nova Scotia.

HALIFAX FIRM FINED.

The Canada Food Board has suspended for a period of thirty days the license of Messrs Gibson Brothers, flour and feed dealers, Halifax. This concern issued a circular to the trades offering immediate shipment of feed, providing that the car contain not less than seventy-five barrels of flour. This condition was in direct violation of the regulations of the food board.

CIGARETTE BURN

Men who smoke know how painful a burn of this kind can be. Just smear on a little Zam-Buk and it will give you no more trouble. Even a little burn, if neglected, may develop into a very sore place, as Mr. J. A. Savard, of Doucet, Que., found. He says: "I burned one of my fingers with a cigarette. I applied some ointment and thought it would be all right, but instead of getting better it got worse, until the sore covered the entire top of my hand. I suffered such pain that I could not sleep, and tried everything I could think of but could not cure it. Finally a friend recommended Zam-Buk, which gave me wonderful relief, and the continued use of it completely healed the sore." For cuts, blisters, rash, eczema, ulcers, blood-poisoning and piles Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers 50c box.

OFF FOR TORONTO.

Daily News Aug. 15th. Mr. Albert Black and his two sons, Seymour and Russell, leave in the morning for their long auto ride to Toronto. They will take their time on the trip arriving in the "Queen City of the West" by September 1.

We wish them a pleasant return run. Seymour has just received word that he has passed in every subject in his matriculation examinations for Toronto University. That is a fine record for this former young Truro-ian.

THE DESPERATE FIGHT IN PICARDY.

Paris, Aug. 14. General Humberts army, operating on the southern end of the Picardy battle line is reported to-day to be progressing steadily toward Noyon. The desperate German defense of the Chalones-Roye road has caused delay in the storming of the Noyon position, which is now said to be impending. The army of General Rawlinson, which is holding the line just to the north of the French positions, is meeting most desperate resistance along its whole front.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS CONSIDER THE SITUATION GRAVE.

Amsterdam, Aug. 14. While Tuesday's Berlin newspapers regard the Anglo-French main thrust narrowed and at all events stopped by the execution of the attacking troops, the journals in the Rhine country discuss the situation in a much graver tone. Foch and Haig probably will continue attacking on the Somme, but they will never achieve more than Pyrrhic victories, which will assist in the attrition of their own forces," says Baron Von Der Osen, the military critic of the Rhenish Zeitung of Essen. Elsewhere the newspapers deem it necessary to editorially brace up the nerves of the people of the Rhenish provinces, which seem to be badly shaken.

NOBLE WORDS.

Britain's great Premier said a few days ago at a public meeting in Wales: "In that victory which will come for the alliance there will be no tearing up or greed, yes, and no vengeance, on this path which we pursue with a holy purpose of re-establishing right and peace on earth."

A Baby's Skin.

What is so beautiful as baby's soft, smooth, velvety skin? And how is it to be kept free from chafing, irritation and distressing eczema? This is every mother's question.

Many have found the answer in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Applied after the bath, this soothing, healing ointment overcomes irritation of the skin and prevents the development of eczema and other annoying skin diseases.

BIG OIL TANKER TORPEDOED

New York, Aug. 14. The associated press this morning carries the following: German submarines, approaching the very gates of New York harbor, sank the oil tanker, Frederick B. Kellogg, off the Ambrose Channel line. Thirty five members of the crew brought here today reported that seven others are missing. The survivors were picked up by the merchantmen. The Frederick B. Kellogg was a new tank ship of 7,127 tons, owned by the pan-American petroleum transport Company, of Los Angeles; she was bound from Tampico, Mexico for Boston; was valued at more than $1,500,000, under command of Capt. C. H. White, with a cargo of approximately 70,000 barrels of crude oil.

MAY SEIZE MEAT TRUST.

The Federal Trade Commission of the United States has arraigned the "big five" meat-packers, — Armour, Swift, Cudahy, Morris and Wilson — and has recommended to the President that the Government take over the stock-yards, rolling stock, refrigerator cars, ware-houses, and storage plants of these concerns. The only thing left to these firms are the actual packing plants.

Bluntly, the members charge that their investigation has disclosed "monopolies, controls, trusts, combinations, conspiracies and restraints of trade out of harmony with the law and the public interest."

The President's action is enacted with great interest.

ANOTHER DIRTY HUN TRICK.

With the British army in France, Aug. 14.

In the battle area between Fouquescourt and Roye the enemy appears to be in very strong position in the old trenches behind the rusty wire erected prior to July 1916. This area is strong garrisoned. However there are no immediate signs of a counter offensive here or elsewhere. The enemy seems to have accepted defeat preferring not to attempt any operations which might cost him heavy losses. It is believed that the Germans themselves are somewhat nervous, according to the talk of prisoners which may or may not be correct; at least five and probably more enemy divisions were withdrawn from the fight in exhausted condition.

The Germans have not desisted from the practice of leaving man-traps in the territory from which they have been chased. The body of a British officer found in Avuley wood, had a German grenade attached to the wrist in such a manner that it would have exploded had the body been moved incautiously.

HUN RAID REPULSED.

Paris, Aug. 15. The violent artillery duel between Avre and Oise continued during last night according to the statement from the war office today. A German raid in Champagne failed.

The statement follows: "The night was marked by rather intense activity of the artillery between the Avre and the Oise."

"An enemy raid in Champagne against the marquis sector was repulsed."

THE SOVIETS UNPOPULAR IN RUSSIA.

London, Aug. 15. The Soviet government has issued a proclamation declaring that the Russian Republic is in danger according to telegram from Helmsfors, received in Stockholm and quoted by the correspondent of the Times there.

The Petrograd Soviet has removed to Kronstad owing to the insecurity of the city. Bands of armed peasants are reported marching on Petrograd from surrounding districts. They declare they are starving and that the Red Guards have stolen all their food.

Dissatisfaction with the Soviet is said to prevail everywhere in Russia.

FINE WORK OF AIR FORCES

With the British Army in France, Aug. 14.

In addition to a continuous harassing fire from the artillery the Germans are suffering at the hands of the British air forces; tons of bombs are being dropped on them and transports. Many villages behind the lines have been hit; bridges across Somme at Peronne and elsewhere have been bombed heavily. Prisoners captured and unanimous concerning the effectiveness of the low flying British airplanes. They say the airmen have caused tremendous material losses and frequently have blocked roads completely by direct hits. They have also done heavy execution by pouring streams of machine gun bullets into enemy masses at close range.

MANY CANADIANS IN AIR SERVICE.

Ottawa, Aug. 14, Aug. 14.

Unofficially, but from a thoroughly reliable source the Canadian press has learned that the total number of Canadians in on the strength of the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal navy air service, now amalgamated into the Royal air force, stands at 13,405. This total comprises 1,008 officers from the Canadian expeditionary force; 1,640 other ranks discharged from the Canadian expeditionary force; 10,603 enlisted in Canada for Royal Flying Corps and Royal Naval air service; 94 loaned to Royal air force for airplane construction and 150 civilians, who come to England at their own expense and enlisted in the air service. It is understood that no less than thirty five per cent of the actual flying officers in France are Canadians.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

London, Aug. 14.—

British casualties reported in the week ending today, totalled 8,620 compared with an aggregate of 9,866 reported in the previous week. These are divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds—Officers 215; Men 1,441, wounded or missing officers 647; men 6,317.

SOUR STOMACH

Specks Before the Eyes.

Sour stomach and biliousness are caused by a sluggish liver, for when the liver is not working properly, it holds back the bile, which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing through the usual channel, thus causing many stomach and bowel troubles.

Floating specks before the eyes is also another indication that the liver is sluggish and requires stirring into action. This you can best do by taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They stir up the sluggish liver, clean the coated tongue, sweeten the breath, and do away with all stomach ills.

Mr. John R. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N. S., writes: "Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach and bile gets into the blood, and the eyes, I took five vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which cured, and cleared my blood before any length of time. I told my friends about it, and they got some, and they, too, find themselves different since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly." Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TWO BRITISH PRISONERS GET CLEAR OF A HUN PEN.

With the American Army on the Vesle, Aug. 14—

Worn out from fatigue and suffering from hunger two escaped British prisoners staggered into the American lines north of the Vesle today. They had escaped from a German pen after being captured in the Marne fighting, and it took them seven days and nights to work their way to Fismette. On the last lap of their journey the Britishers ran through a German Barrage.

Geneva, Aug. 13

Details received here, concerning the recent British aerial bombardment at Karlsruhe, say that the northern position of the station was seriously damaged as also was the arsenal, where there was a heavy explosion. One bomb exploded on the wing of the palace of the Grand Duchess Sophie, killing or injuring several visitors and servants.

A second bomb fell near a cannon factory which, however escaped uninjured; a third smashed the windows of the principal church of the city; at time the church was filled with worshippers who fled in panic.

Many persons were injured. The Germans admit that eleven persons were killed 26 injured. Up to the present no train from Karlsruhe has arrived at Baillet, since the air raid.

ENEMY ACTIVE AGAINST BRITISH LINES.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 14—

There was no change in the situation on the new Somme battle front early this morning, except for the fact that a considerable increase in artillery fire indicates that the enemy has finally decided to bring up more of his guns. Various small artillery concentrations have sprung up during the past few hours, and are now active in firing on some points within the British lines, such as Vauvillers, Framerville Procyate, Lihons, Dernancourt, and the forward areas south of the Villers-Bretonneux-Chaulnes Railway.

The Germans have also subjected the valley North of Morlanecourt to heavy gas shelling and have similarly treated arbonnieres and the Greasiers Wood region. No further counter attacks by the enemy are reported.

In the region of Bray, north of the Somme as well as immediately south of the river the British have been actively straightening and pushing forward their line. Northwest of Bray the British raided the enemy lines and found them unoccupied except for a little increase in the raiding activity by both sides, which is customary immediately following a battle for the purpose of ascertaining possible changes in dispositions. The remainder of the British front is in a normal state.

FRENCH ADVANCE.

Paris, Aug. 16.—The French troops have made an advance on a front of two and one half miles west of Roye.

The progress was in the region of Villers Les Roye about two and one half miles west of Roye, Staurine and Armancourt.

BOMBS DROPT ON PARIS.

Paris, Aug. 16.

Several bombs were dropped in the Paris region last night by German airplanes. There were only a few victims. The statement follows: "Sounds of engines having been reported by lookout posts in the region north of Paris the alarm was given at 10.33 o'clock Thursday. The enemy airplanes were violently shelled by the fence batteries. Several bombs were thrown in the Paris region. There were a few victims and some material damage; all clear" was reported at 12.30 o'clock Friday morning.

FRENCH PRESSING ENEMY ON NOYON LINE.

Paris, Aug. 15.

Both sides are gathering strength for a resumption of heavy fighting; that, however, does not prevent the French from hammering onward thru away at the Zassigny-Noyon line and struggling onward thru Gazacoeked Woods. General Humbert's men have carried Ribecourt, which barred the road running toward Noyon between Thiscourt ridge and the Oise and protected the Germans in Ourscamp forest, east of the river. It is a useful success, as it seriously endangered both Thiscourt ridge and the Ours salient. The enemy in the Thiscourt position, already severed in half by the attacks of General Humbert's left is reported to be showing signs of giving way.

BIG ENEMY LOSSES.

Paris, Aug. 16.

The figures of German losses include 1,400,000 kild up to the beginning of the German offensive last March. From March 27 to June 17 the Germans are said to have lost 120,000 killed alone.

The total of German losses from the beginning of the war to the end of July 1918 are understood to be six million according to the morning newspapers.

Newcastle, Ont., Aug. 14

AT THE WAR.

Canadians have taken two more Villages northwest of Roye.

The French have carefully cleared the hilly and wooded district around Lassigny North of the Somme, there are but minor engagements, the Germans are still retreating. This retreat is largely between Albert and Arras.

In this present fight the British 4th army and the French 3rd Army have taken 34,000 prisoners and 670 guns.

The French had advanced north of the Oise and took two quite important positions.

The Canadians are enthusiastic over their late great gains and are anxious to get at the Hun again.

The Italians have captured high ground from the Austrians and are now bombarding strong defences of the enemy. This is good war and will keep the Austrians busy, so that they cannot answer the Hun cry of "Come over and help us." In Prussia affairs are going hot— and very hot for the German Bolsheviki.

The Soviet troops are leaving Moscow. Peasants are everywhere joining the decent Russians.

American troops have landed in Siberia, British troops have won great victories in the Carpan Sea again and the Turks and their Hun Allies are in a serious position; and their retreat may be cut off.

All is going well for the Allies on every battle front; and the Hun is almost everywhere in his "masterly retirement" movements.

—General Mangin, in an inspiring order of the day, warmly eulogizes the work of the English and Scottish troops in the Marne Valley, and especially the storming of the Ourcq's waterhead. He says the British arrived when the battle was fiercest, but in conjunction with the French fought a superior number of the enemy's best divisions foot by foot, notwithstanding bitter counter attacks. General Mangin declares the British were responsible in large measure for the victory gained.

—The Militia Department has issued an order applicable to all parts of Canada governing harvest leave, limited to six weeks, and cancellable at any time by wire or letter.

"There's a Reason"

One Of The Six Hundred

"Yes; Newton Calderwood Norcliff and yours?"
 "Agnes Auriol."
 "Good heavens!" I almost exclaimed, as the whole mystery of her life and manner burst with a new light upon me.

So my mysterious incognita was that poor girl of whom the mess had whispered. Berkeley's mistress—Agnes Auriol—the girl whose letter—a heart-breaking one, likely—he had dropped at Calderwood, and which he had burned so carefully when I restored it to him. So his were the initials that were on the gold locket at her neck, and his were the forage cap and cigar which had attracted my attention on first entering the cottage parlour.

It was certainly an awkward situation for me, this self-introduction and visit. If discovered there, I knew not how far it might compromise me with him, and still more with others whose opinion I valued.

And as thoughts of the Chillinghams and of the mess flashed upon me, I felt that I would gladly have changed places with Sinbad on the whale's back, or Daniel in the lion's den.

CHAPTER XVII.

Oh, for the wings we used to wear,
 When the heart was like a bird,
 And floated through the summer air,
 And painted all it looked on fair,
 And sung to all it heard!
 When fancy put the seal of truth
 On all the promises of youth!

Hervey.

To have introduced myself abruptly to Mr. De Warr Berkeley's wedded wife, if he had one, might be explained away satisfactorily enough; but to present myself to Miss Auriol, related as she was to him, there could be no palliation whatever, and in dueling days could have led to but one result—the pistol!

Something of what passed in my mind, together with an air of bewilderment, must have been apparent in my face, for the young lady, after gazing at me earnestly, as if her clear and bright, but dark blue eyes would read my very soul, looked suddenly down, and said, while her colour came and went, and her bosom heaved painfully.

"I can perceive, Captain Norcliff, that my name explains much to you; but not all—oh not all. There are secrets in my short but wretched life that you can never learn—secrets known to God and to myself alone!"

"It really explains nothing to me, Miss Auriol," I replied with a smile, being willing to relieve her embarrassment, by affecting ignorance of that which the whole mess knew—her ambiguous position; "for I am aware that—that we never met before."

"But you have heard, perhaps—you know Mr. Berkeley?"

"Of ours—yes; he was in Scotland with me a few weeks ago."

"That I know too well for my own peace," said the girl, coughing spasmodically and applying her handkerchief to her mouth.

"He is frequently in this quarter, is he not?"

"Yes."

"At this pretty cottage, perhaps?"

"No, sir."

"Where then—the Reculvers?"

"At Chinnillingham Park. Since he has begun to visit there he scarcely ever comes here. Have you not heard—have you not heard," she repeated, making a fearful effort at articulation, "that he is to be married to the only daughter and heiress of Lord Chillingham?"

I felt that I became nearly as pale as herself, while replying—

"I certainly have not heard of such an alliance; it is probably the silly humour of a gossiping neighborhood."

She shook her head sadly, and seated herself with an air of lassitude.

"Are you sure that Mr. Berkeley was not here after I escorted you home last night?"

"I am unfortunately, but too sure. Why do you ask?" she inquired, looking up, with her eyes dilated.

"Because I could have sworn that I passed him on horseback in the dusk."

"Riding in this direction?"

"No, towards Canterbury."

"Ah, towards Chillingham Park, no doubt—there shines his loadstar now!"

"And mine too," thought I, bitterly.

The girl's intelligence, whether false or true, crushed my heart more than I can describe.

Aware, however, of the imperative necessity of retiring, I took my hat and bade her adieu; but for the purpose of learning more of Berkeley's movements I promised, when riding that way, to call again and inquire for her health.

"The locket you have just restored was Mr. Berkeley's gift to me upon a fatal day," said she; "and, believe me, sir, that—that whatever you may have heard of me, or whatever you may think, I have been more sinned against than sinning."

In another minute I was in the saddle and on my way back to Canterbury.

Though she did not know it, nor could she know it, this unfortunate girl had been planting thorns in my breast. I could not believe in the reality of such perfidy on the part of Louisa—of such facility on the part of the haughty Countess, her mother—or of such rapid progress on the part of Berkeley with all his wealth, the hard-won thousands of the late departed brewer.

How I longed now for the arrival of Cora, who might solve or explain away some of the doubts that surrounded me.

My heart swelled with rage; and yet I felt that I loved Louisa with a passion that bade fair to turn my brain!

As Miss Auriol would be certain to know something of Berkeley's movements, and as she and her faithful follower, old Mrs. Goldsworthy, might prove invaluable in acquainting me with what passed at Chillingham Park, for they had jealousy to spur on their espionage, I resolved to visit once or twice again the cottage at the Reculvers, when I could do so unseen.

This timid, little knowing how greatly the poor girl would interest me in her sad fate, and still less foreseeing that the course I pursued was a perilous one. But the agony of my anxiety, the bitterness of my suspicions, and my love for Louisa, overcame every scruple, and blinded me to everything else.

She, on the other hand, was naturally anxious to learn the movements of Berkeley, whom, notwithstanding his cold desertion, she loved blindly and desperately. Thus we could be useful to each other.

My heart recoiled at times from such a mode of working; but I could have no other recourse till my cousin Cora came.

As I rode up to the door of the hotel, my heart leaped on seeing Willie Pitbado, awaiting me there.

"A letter at last!" I exclaimed, as he came forward.

"From the colonel, sir," said he, touching his cocked hat.

"The colonel?" I repeated in disappointment and surprise as I tore the note, the contents of which ran briefly thus:—

"My dear Norcliff,—As the barracks here are becoming uncomfortably crowded, by the Indian depots and so forth, your troop is detached to Canterbury for a week or two, to share the quarters of the hussars. You will remain there, probably, till the route comes. You need not return to head-quarters, unless you choose; but may report your self to the lieutenant-colonel commanding the consolidated cavalry depot at Canterbury. This is a stranger day at mess. We are to have an unusual number of guests, and the band. Wish you were with us.

Believe me, &c., &c.,
 LIONEL BEVERLEY, Lieut-Col.

"P. S.—You will drill the troop once daily to the sword and lance exercise on horse back."

"How lucky?" thought I. "I shall have Canterbury for the basis of my operations, and the Reculvers for an advanced post; quartered here, and Chillingham close by!—When does the troop march, in Willie?"

"To-morrow forenoon, sir, under Mr Jocelyn."

"Good. You will take my card to the barrack-master, and my horses to the stables, and receive over my quarters. I shall remain at the hotel until the troop comes in."

I did not ride to the Reculvers on that afternoon, though I scoured every road in the vicinity of the city, by Stru-ry, Bramling, and Horton.

Next morning I went for a mile or two in the direction of Ospringe, and soon saw the troop advancing leisurely with their horses at a walk, along the dusty Kentish highway, their keen heads glittering with all their bright appointments in the sunshine, their scarlet and white banners, and the long plumes in the men's square-topped caps dancing in the wind, as I trotted up and joined them, though in mufti.

My lieutenant, Frank Jocelyn, and the cornet, Sir Harry Scarlett, were both pleasant and gentlemanly young men, and would have been a most welcome addition to my residence in Canterbury, but for the hopes, the fears, and plans which occupied me. They asked me how I liked the cathedral city, and there was a smile on their faces, which, when taken in conjunction with my secret thoughts, galled and fretted me. Yet I could not notice it.

Accompanied by a multitude of the great "unwashed," we proceeded straight to those spacious barracks which are covered for cavalry, artillery and infantry, on the road that leads to the Isle of Thanet, and there the lancers were rapidly "told off" to their quarters, the horses stabled, corned, and watered.

We dined that evening with a hussar corps, of whose mess we were made honorary members while we remained in Canterbury and from Jocelyn I learned incidentally that for the last three days Berkeley had scarcely been in barracks. The hope that I had harassed myself in vain passed away now, and fear alone remained.

While the first set of decanters were traversing the table, I slipped away unnoticed, and without changing my uniform, took the road at a rasping pace direct for the Reculvers. The moon was just rising from the sea, and the last notes of the curfew were dying away, as I drew up at the door of Miss Auriol's cottage.

She was alone, and sitting at tea, to which, she bade me welcome, in a manner that showed she half doubted the honesty of my visit, and betrayed such emotions of shame, confusion, and awkwardness, I felt myself quite an intruder. But I simply asked if she had heard more of Berkeley.

She admitted that she had, and stated mournfully that for the last three days he had been constantly at the park, thus confirming what Frank Jocelyn had told me.

In the course of another visit or two, I gradually learned piecemeal all the poor girl's unhappy history, and how she became the victim, first of evil fortune, and afterwards of a cold-blooded man of the world as De Warr Berkeley.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Where are th' illusions bright and vain
 That fancy boded forth?
 Sunk to their silent caves again,
 Auroras of the north!

Oh! who would live those visions o'er
 All brilliant though they seem,
 Since earth is put a desert shore,
 And life a dreary dream!
 Moir.

She was the orphan daughter of the poor curate of a secluded village on the borders of Wales. Her mother, also the daughter of a curate, had died when Agnes was very young. She was thus left to be the sole prop and comfort of the old man's declining years and he loved her dearly—all the more dearly that, with a little brother, a beautiful, gold-haired boy (the same whose miniature I remarked), she alone survived of all their children; few in number.

The rest had perished early; for all possessed that terrible heritage, seeds of which Agnes was now maturing in her own bosom—consumption.

One by one the old clergyman had seen them borne forth from his little thatched parsonage, under the ivy-clad lyke-gate of the village church, and laid by her mothers side, a row of little grassy graves, where the purple and golden crocuses grew in spring, and the white-eyed marguerites in summer, all as gaily as if the last hopes of a broken heart were not buried beneath them.

In the fulness of time the shadow of death again fell on the old parsonage, and the curate's white hairs were laid in the dust, close by the quiet little Sax on church in which he had ministered so long; and now the ten graves of the mark them.

"In the days this last calamity befell me, Captain Norcliff," said Miss Auriol, "when my poor father was wont to take my face caressingly between his tremulous old hands, and kissing my forehead, and smoothing my hair, would tell me that my name, Agnes, signified gentleness—a lamb, in fact—that it came from the Latin word Agnes, and when he would bless me with a heart as pure as ever offered up a prayer to God, how little could I foresee the creature I was to become! Oh, my father—oh, my mother! what a life mine has been; and after my father died, what a youth!"

"I have often thought of the words of Mademoiselle de Enclos, when, in the flush of her beauty, she exclaimed to the Prince of Conde, 'Had any one proposed such a life to me at one time, I should have died of grief and fright!'"

"So my father passed away; the new incumbent came to take our mansion, with its humble furniture at a valuation. After paying a few debts, with a small sum, I found myself with my little brother, who was sickly and ailing, in London, seeking subsistence by exerting the talents I possessed—music, chiefly, for I am pretty well accomplished as a musician."

She continued to tell me all of her heart-breaking struggles, her perils and bitter mortifications, and of the acute sufferings of that little fair-headed brother; on whom all her love and hope were centred; and how, daily in the fetid atmosphere of a humble lodging, far away from the green fields, the bright sunshine and the rustling wood of that dear old parsonage on the slope of the Denbigh hills, the poor child grew worse and more feeble; and how her stored heart was wrung as her little store of money melted away like snow in spring; her few ornaments went next, and no employment came.

How misery depressed, and horrible forebodings of the future haunted her; how she remembered all the harrowing tales she had read—and such as we may daily read—of the poor in London and how they perish under the feet of the vast multitude who rush onward in the race for existence, or in the pursuit of pleasure; and how thoughts and doubts of God himself, and of His mercy and justice, at times came over her even as they came at times, now when the man she had loved and trusted most on earth had deceived her.

Employed at last as a hired musician she was out frequently to play the piano at balls and evening parties, for half a guinea per night, in London, and thus made a slender subsistence for the suffering child and for herself.

After receiving her fee from the hand of some sleepy butler or supercilious upper-servant, as she nightly wrapped her scanty cloak about her, and quitting the heated and crowded rooms, hurried through the dark, wet, and snowy streets to an almost squalid lodging which even her native neatness failed to brighten, and to the couch where the poor, thin, wakeful boy, with his great, sad earnest eyes, awaited her; ere long she began to find a cold and cough settling upon her delicate chest; and then the terror seized her that if she became seriously ill, and failed to obey her patrons at the nearest music-shop where would the boy get food? And if she died—in a hospital perhaps—what would be his fate, his end, in other and less tender hands than hers?

Then, as she wept over him in the silence of the night, and remembered the prayers her old father had taught her, she would strive to become more composed, and sleep like the child that lay hushed in her bosom; but her dream if not full of terrors for the present, were ever haunted by the sad memories of the past; for the kind faces and sweet smiles of the dead came vividly before her, and the familiar sound of their voices seemed to mingle in the drowsy hum of the London streets without, or with the murmur of her native Dee, and the pleasant rustle of the summer leaves in the woods of the old parsonage, she would never see again, or the green hills of Denbigh that overshadowed.

Foreseeing and fearing that the child would be taken from her, she assumed her pencil, in the use of which she was very skilful and accomplished, and thus produced the likeness that hung in her little parlour. In this labour of love I was struck by the close resemblance it bore to herself.

On one occasion, at some West-end party, she remembered having seen me. On beholding me in uniform now the recollection came fully upon her; and it would seem that, on the night in question, when all else had forgotten the pale and weary musician amid the glow and merriment of the supper-room, I had sent her cake and wine, and the former she had secretly pocketed for her little brother; but of this casual rencontre I had no recollection whatever.

On another occasion, it happened that the neglected and lonely, but useful "young person" past whom youth, beauty, and merriment whirled in white satin and diamonds, lace and flowers, attracted the attention of Mr. De Warr Berkeley. Her soft and wistful glances at her former equals caught his watchful eye; and the graceful politeness with which she acceded to their contrary suggestions to play quicker or slower, together with the great brilliancy of her execution, were all remarkable by him.

It was on one of these nights, like some others, when old companions passed her by in the waltz and galop, and former friends too, without a smile or glance of recognition; yet, as she thought of the child at home, with a crushed and swollen heart she prayed no and on mechanically.

Some unusual slight had been put upon her, and while she played in the bitterness of her soul, her hot tears fell upon the keys of the piano. At that moment for Berkeley to introduce himself was an easy matter. He did it so quietly, so respectfully, that the poor girl felt soothed. She never mistrusted him, and, as her evil fortune would have it, he met her three nights, almost consecutively, at three different places. An intimacy was thus established.

On the third, the rain was pouring through the desolate streets of a suburban district in torrents. The soaked shrubbery and the railings of the garden shone flickering through the lamp-light, and the dark clouds swept past in loomy masses overhead. It was a wild night or morning rather and not even a policeman, in his oilskin cape, seemed to be abroad.

Gathering her threadbare shawl tightly round her, Agnes, terrified and bewildered, was setting forth afoot, timid and shivering, on her way home having some miles of London to traverse, when Berkeley, who had artfully lingered to the last, respectfully offered her a seat in his cabriolet, and by setting her down where she mentioned, discovered her residence, and marked her for his prey.

Berkeley's attentions filled the girl with gratitude instead of alarm; and he soon inspired her with a passion for him. "The more a young girl believes in purity," says a writer, "the more readily she abandons herself, if not to her lover, at least to her love; because, being without distrust, she is without strength; and, to make herself beloved by such a one, is a triumph which any man of five-and-twenty may secure himself whenever he pleases. And this is true, though young girls are surrounded by extreme vigilance and every possible rampart."

To trace the gradual and downward course she trod, she how artfully Berkeley gained an ascendancy over her by the interest he affected to feel in her little sibling brother and how lavishly he supplied the means of such comforts as the poor child had never possessed even in his father's homely parsonage, can neither be for me to describe, nor my reader to know.

Suffice that the gentle Agnes fell into the snare, as our common ancestress did before, and became what I now found her to be.

From that hour she had never known real peace, and the memory of her parents, blended with the agonies of remorse, haunted her day and night. As a drowning wretch will cling to straws, so clung she to the desperate hope that Berkeley would love her while life lasted, and that he would redeem his promise by marrying her, for she loved him blindly and devotedly, with all the strength of her young heart and of a first and only passion.

The change now, from work all day and music all night, with trudging to and fro, through rain or sleet, was doubtless great; but the change brought with it no joy, no peace of mind.

Had she a thousand caprices, in the first flush of her amour, her rone lover would have gratified them all; but luckily, her tastes were simple, and she shrank from proffered boxes at the play or opera, from rural parties, and everything that made her public.

By retribution was coming now; her tears and sorrow fretted him, and he began to absent himself. The luxuries with which he surrounded her brought to her no happiness, and to her little brother no health, for the child died, passing peacefully away in his sleep, and was buried—not in the pleasant green village burying-ground where his kindred lay—but in a horrid fetid London churchyard, amid the human loam of ages; and when the little silver mounted coffin was carried away, Agnes Auriol, as she cast a bouquet of lily of the valley on it, felt that she had no real tie on earth, unless it was her lover, and from him even she shrank at such a time as this.

She stood alone by the little grave, the only mourner there. She had thought of asking Berkeley to accompany her; but, somehow, his presence would seem a species of pollution by the grave of the pure and sinless little boy, and the face of her father seemed ever before her.

Her unwelcome repentance fretted him, and without compunction he saw the agony of her spirit, and how the lustre faded to her eye, and the roses died in her cheek. Sedulously she endeavored to conceal the sorrow that embittered her existence, as she perceived that it only served to disgust him. And as this sorrow grew, so did her strength diminish, and the hectic flush of consumption and premature decline spread over her delicate little face.

He was frequently absent from her now for weeks, and those periods seemed insupportable, for the love of him had become a habit; and to break that habit seemed as if it would snap the feeble tenure of her life.

He ceased, too, to supply her with money. Her former musical connections were completely broken. She was frequently without the means of subsistence save by the sale of her ornaments; and at last she had parted with all save her mother's wedding ring, which she wished to be buried with her.

In January last she discovered that Berkeley was at Calderwood Glen in Scotland. She wrote to him a most piteous letter, to which, however, he accorded no reply; and at that time she must have died, had her nurse, Goldsworthy—an old and faithful servant of her father's, not discovered and brought her to this cottage near the Reculvers.

When the lancers were at Maidstone Berkeley had visited her from time to time, and pretended still his old views of marriage to amuse her, but trammelled with secrecy; and latterly he had derided her letters entirely. Moreover she had come to the bitter and sting ing conclusion that he hated her, as she possessed letters of his which legally compromised him.

He who does another person an injury never forgives him for what he has endured. He alike hates and fears him; and in this spirit did Berkeley fear and hate the poor girl whom he had wronged.

Such was the plain, unvarnished story of Agnes Auriol, which she related in the intervals that were unbroken by a hard, consumptive, and undoubtedly, "churchyard cough."

"I have but one wish now," she added, as she lay back exhausted; "and that I cannot gratify."

"Is it so difficult to achieve?" I asked in a low voice.

"There are insuperable difficulties."

"And this desire?"

"Is to leave this place forever," she said, almost in a whisper, while the hot tears ran unheeded down her pale cheeks; "and—and—"

"Go where?"

"To look on poor papa's grave, and on dear mamma's and then die."

"No, no, no, do not speak in this hopeless manner," I urged, feeling that I, a young officer of cavalry, was a very unfitting comforter or adviser at such a time; and I rose to retire; for the evening was now far advanced.

"This craving is so strong in the poor lamb's heart, sir, that she will be a dying as sure as we look on her, unless it be gratified, and about an angel comes from heaven; I don't know how it is to be done," said Mrs. Goldsworthy, weeping noisily, like all people of her class, as she ushered me to the door, and to my horse, which was pawing the ground impatiently, with the dew on his coat and saddle.

"Take her there without loss of time, my good friend," said I.

"She divided her last crown with a poor fisherman yesterday, to get some comforts for his wife."

"Good heavens! Is she then with out means?"

"Quite sir; and if Mr. Berkeley—"

I struck my spurred heels into the gravel at the sound of his name, and exclaimed—

"Poor girl, I shall give her the means."

"You, sir?"

"Yes."

"Oh, sir—sir—but she'll never take it from you," said Mrs. Goldsworthy, sobbing into her apron with great vociferation.

"She must; and let her remember me in her prayers when I am far away. At eight tomorrow evening I shall be here again for the last time, my worthy friend, and will supply her with what she requires."

Before the nurse could reply I was in my saddle, and had closed the iron gate but just as I rode off, I nearly trod down a man who was muffled in a poncho cloak, an who leant against the gate pillar—whether listening or asleep, I knew not; yet, I had looked more closely, I might have detected the moustached face of my quondam friend, Mr. De Warr Berkeley. For this loiterer, or eavesdropper, proved in the sequel to be no other than he.

To outflank me, and to place himself, his fortune (and his debts) at the complete disposal of Lady Louisa Loftus, was now the plan—the game—of my friendly brother officer; and with what success we shall see ere long.

I was full of thought while riding slowly home to the barracks on the Thanet Road; I longed for Cora's coming to unravel the mystery of Louisa's conduct, and yet dreaded to face my cousin or broach the matter to her. I was inspired with sympathy for the poor creature I had just quitted, and full of indulgence for her mode of life, and excuses for her fate and fall. Her singular beauty greatly aided emotions such as these, for the morbid state of her health lent a wondrous lustre to her dark blue eyes, and marvellous transparency to her lovely complexion; and I felt extreme satisfaction that it was in my power to gratify a wish that was, perhaps her last one—to pay a pilgrimage to the resting-place of her parent.

The sweet verse of honest Goldsmith occurred to me—
 The only art her guilt to cover,
 To hide her shame from every eye,
 To give repentance to her lover,
 And wring his bosom is—to die.

At the same time I thought it very doubtful whether any such catastrophe would wring the padded bosom of Berkeley.

Had Agnes Auriol been a wrinkled crone it may be a matter for consideration whether I—a young officer of lancers—would have been so exceedingly philanthropic in her cause. I hope I should.

On arriving at the barracks, my first task was to despatch Pitblado by the night train to head-quarters, with a note to M'Goldrick, the paymaster, for at least fifty pounds, saying I wanted the money, and must have it by noon tomorrow.

CHAPTER XIX.

But the spite on't is, no praise
 Is due at all to me;
 Love with me hath made no stales
 Had it any been but she.

Had it been any but she,
 And that very face,
 There had been at least ere this
 Twelve dozen in her place.
 Sir John Suckling.

Promptly, by an early train, Willie Pitblado arrived with the cash from M'Goldrick, and with that which alike puzzled and provoked me—a brief note from my friend, Jack Studhome, the adjutant, advising me that, from rumours he, Scriven, and Wilford had heard—rumours circulated insidiously he knew not how or by whom, in the billiard rooms we frequented, and indeed about Maidstone barracks generally—my visits to a certain romantic cottage near the Reculvers were well known; I might mean no wrong, certainly; but was it judicious or wise to get myself into a scrape with a brother officer?

There was no mistaking the object of this friendly epistle of Jack's, and it filled me with fresh anger against Berkeley. Who but he could insidiously

A SATISFACTION.

Mr. C. E. Bentley, who writes the C. E. Bentley & Co business getting advertising, that appears in the News regularly, has cheered the office up by a word now—instead of an obituary notice.

Attached to a copy of the last two adverts, that appeared he had a brief appreciative note of the appearance of his copy.

He said in his Saturday's News, "An old advertiser must again express his great satisfaction with the excellent setting of this advert. It is not equalled in many of our Metropolitan papers and from our advertiser's standpoint, I consider it the work of an artist and a type expert."

Every one knows how particular Mr. Bentley is that everything be as near right as possible and it is indeed a satisfaction to know that he is pleased with our service.

There was an unusual run in the rivers and lakes of P. E. Island of big gamy trout.

REV. BRICE D. KNOTT OFFICIATES AT MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FALLEN SOLDIER.

A memorial service was held in the New Cornwall Baptist church, Sunday morning, August 11th, in memory of Private Halton A. Dorey, who joined the 25th Battalion three years ago, serving in the Rifle Grenades. He was twice wounded and returned to the trenches and on June 12th, while on duty in the trenches at Avron he was killed. Rev. Brice D. Knott, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Truro, for over ten years pastor of New Cornwall Church, was the preacher. The church was crowded with those who knew this soldier. He was only seventeen when he enlisted, and at the early age of twenty had made the supreme sacrifice. The reverend gentleman spoke from the words: "To what purpose is this wasted?" and in an eloquent tribute to the dead reviewed the war from the standpoint of the onlookers who were not engaged in it. In referring to the dead he said alone young men's faith was lost or injured by the war, but he was glad to say that this struggle and the participation in it had given to this soldier a firm faith in the verities of the christian religion.

OBNOXIOUS MEXICAN OIL DECREES.

Washington, Aug. 15

So far from mitigating the severity of the original decree of Feb. 27 last, imposing new taxes and restrictions upon the foreign owners and operators of oil properties in Mexico, in the opinion of officials here the reply of the Mexican Government to the British protest against that decree has only added to its obnoxious nature. Although secretary Aguilar note is directed to the British Government, it is said that its substance is of equal application to the America oil interests.

DUTCH SHIPS FOR U.S. TRADE.

Washington, Aug. 15.

Forty Dutch ships, totalling approximately 100,000 tons, how lying in the Dutch East Indies are expected to be released to bring sugar, tin, quinine and other commodities to the United States, a result of an informal modus vivendi, effected by the war trade board thru the Dutch charge here. In return for the tonnage the United States government will undertake to license normal exports to the Islands, subject only to such limitations of commodities as may be necessary by the war program.

ACCIDENT TO AIRPLANE.

HUN LABORITES WILL ASSIST THE BOLSHEVIKS.

Amsterdam, Aug. 16.—Sixty propagandists, belonging to Labor organizations, supporting the Bolshevik regime, have left Moscow for the front where the Bolshevik are fighting the Czechoslovaks.

INCIDENTS OF THE CANADIAN FIGHT ON AUG. 8.

With the Canadian force, Aug. 15.—The anecdotes of battle, that follow are garnered in a visit to a couple of units and are typical of the entire force. All day Thursday August 8, when the battle opened, great difficulty was met in advancing on our left, the nature of the ground and strength and depth of the enemy defence made of this a much harder "nut to crack" than the comparatively free-going over the prairie to the north.

Finally it was decided that the only way to advance was to turn the left flank. A famous Quebec battalion was entrusted with the task. They had to take up their position in the dark by the aid only of the stars, maps and compasses. Only military men can comprehend the difficulty of the undertaking. At the appointed hour, half past four in the morning, they were on their ground, whence they advanced and forcing the entire enemy line in this sector to fall back with trifling loss to us. One officer had a bet with another that he would bein the Boche Divisional headquarters at Questel first on Thursday night. It was a wild race and was not settled till Friday morning, when the winner actually took possession of the quarters while his troops were still fighting at the far end of the town. He captured the entire enemy headquarters plant; shortly after the loser came along and had to content himself with humbler billets. This was nine miles from the starting point of Thursday morning.

The advance of Manitoba battalion was the record of the battle being over twenty thousand yards from our front lines.

One officer fell, while leading on his men against a machine gun nest that was enflaming the line. "Come on boys," he cried, "we don't care for machine guns." He bore five wounds stripes.

Another battalion was directed to take a wood. The colonel found it alive with Boches, making it impossible to pass without being mown down by machine guns. The first three Companies were hotly engaged and could not be broken off. The colonel got hold of the fourth company and personally organized an attack on a corner of the wood in face of heavy machine gun fire. The portion of the wood was cleared making it possible for other companies to proceed towards their objective and outflank the enemy positions compelling its garrison to surrender. While marching down a road the battalion was attacked by eighteen German airplanes, flying low and sweeping the ground with machine gun fire. The order was given for the men to scatter and not one was hit.

A cavalry squadron, galloping down the same road, also escaped without a casualty. One officer summing up the battle said it was the best organized "show" he had ever seen; the arrangements were perfect and worked without a hitch; within twenty four hours of the casualties the men reported to replace them and the supplies came thru as regularly as in camp.

CANADIANS STRENGTHEN POSITIONS.

With the Canadian Forces, Aug. 15.—The Canadians captured the village of Parvillers in a smart operation, which enabled them to straighten out their line in that sector of the front. A number of machine guns and prisoners were taken. The latest report was that our troops were holding the village and reinforcements have gone in support against the strong post the enemy has in the vicinity.

Enemy artillery activity indicates a stiffening of resistance. Hostile aerial craft have been considerably strengthened on the whole of the Amien Monte Didier front.

Some thirty four enemy Divisions have been engaged including eleven fresh Divisions and two tired divisions from his Reserves. The enemy has used up every battalion of two of the four Divisions, holding his line in front of the Canadians, these being the 79th and 118th.

GAINING GROUND GRADUALLY

With the British Army in France, Aug. 16.—The enemy artillery was active last night from one end of the British front to the other. The activity was especially marked along the new Somme battle front, in the Esarts sector and in the region of Le Basse on the northern front, where there was a heavy gas bombardment. There was no activity by the enemy infantry anywhere, however. All along the Somme front the British are continuing various slight forward movements to gain advantage of positions. It was in movements of this kind that Damery and Parvillers came yesterday into British hands.

The situation north of the Ancre has not yet been clarified. There are no further reports of widespread withdrawals in this region altho the enemy seems to have abandoned several of his small forward positions. On the other hand the British patrols, that crossed the Ancre last night were fired upon and forced to return.

HUNS HOPPING MAD.

Amsterdam, Aug. 16.—German newspapers comment bitterly on the manifesto issued by Great Britain, in recognition of Czechoslovak nation. "It is the acme of hypocrisy when England gives these notorious traitors a testimonial that they are waging legitimate warfare," the Cologne Gazette says.

ENEMY IS WEAKENING—AMERICANS BOMBING IN VERDUN SECTOR.

With the American Army on the Vesle, Aug. 15.—The sustained pressure by the French and the Americans on the line between Soissons-Rheims appeared today to be having the expected result. Information from behind the German front obtained by observers indicated the withdrawal of one or two enemy divisions. In addition the counter-attack of the Germans have been notably reduced of late. Moreover the Huns' reply to the American gns, which never have ceased their punishment, has been appreciably less prompt and the failing off enemies aerial activities has been especially notable.

American aviators successfully bombarded the railroad yard at Dommar-Baroncourt in the Verdun-Metz sector this morning. Longuyon, north of Verdun, and Thievcourt were attack Wednesday.

WILL ASSIST THE PEOPLE OF SIBERIA.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The pressing need for arms and ammunition by the people of Western Siberia, who have arrayed themselves against the forces of German and Austrian prisoners and the Bolshevik, is being considered in the Allied capitals according to information received today. The answer of the Allied nations to his appeal has not been disclosed but it can be stated on high authority that the United States government is anxious to be of whatever possible assistance.

IMPORTANT UTTERANCE BY PREMIER BORDEN.

London, Aug. 14

Premier Borden, in opening today the exhibition of War Specimens collected by the Canadian Army Medical Corps, remarked that the British and French hospitals were keeping the most careful records of war cases. He also said that these records would be of the greatest service in the future to medical science. It was, he added, gratifying to know that the Canadian medical officers, backed by the Canadian Government, were assisting in this work.

NEWSPAPERS FAVORABLE TO BRITAIN'S RECOGNITION OF NEW RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT.

London, Aug. 15.

British recognition of the Czechoslovak nation is commented on favorably by the newspapers. The Daily Graphic says that it means that in addition to the other war aims the Allies are now committed to the formation of a separate and independent Czechoslovak nation out of the ruins of the Austrian Empire.

FRENCH PAPERS SUM UP ALLIED SUCCESSES.

Paris, Aug. 15.

Just four weeks ago today the residents of Paris were awakened by the sounds of such a cannonade as they never had heard before. It was generally believed that it was a counter preparation against the great German attack, which the enemy believed was leading him to the gates of Paris.

In phrases, tempered with joy the French newspapers outline the great change that one short month has brought. The enemy who was at the gates of Aimes, Rheims and Compeigne has been soundly beaten and out-generalled at every point and the initiative has been wrested from him by the military genius of Martial Foch.

The German commander is said to have transferred the direction of operations to General Von Boehn-specialist in retreating.

Allied troops have captured 73,000 prisoners and more than 17,000 guns; this is a greater number than the Allies have taken in four weeks since the beginning of war.

CONSPIRING RUSSIANS.

London, Aug. 14.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Vladivostok, dated Sunday, says the Germans are already conspiring with Russians on a small scale.

DUEL WITH A SUBMARINE.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 14—The members of an American transport crew, arriving here this evening, gave accounts of a duel, Tuesday afternoon between the naval gunners of the ship and a German submarine which attacked their ship three hundred miles off the American coast.

About eight shots were exchanged; the transport under full steam drew away the submarine ceased firing

MORE HUN BRUTALITY

Boston, Aug. 15

Four survivors of the fishing schooner, Progree, sunk by a German submarine Saturday, were brought here today, after being adrift in a dory seventy two hours, without a compass, and with little water and food. Others of the crew were landed earlier in the week.
