Mr Waddell thinks Chairman Leitch's letter is a vindication of his course. He said this morning that he did not care to have anything further to say about this morning that he did not care to have anything further to say about the matter. His duty ended when he placed the facts before the aldermen.

The Mayor promised this morning to go into the matter with the solicitor.

Ineaker the committee sent Mr. Hawkins a letter, stating the union was agreeable to leaving it to the Board, and Organizer Reeves began making preparations to leave for the west, believing the trouble was practically settled.

At noon to-day, however, the committee received a letter from the General Manager to the effect that he did not agree to arbitration and regretted if the committee considered that he so implied. He stated the union had the right to apply to the Board or to the Minister of Labor for an investigation and suggested if they saw fit to take this step and desired further correspondence in the matter with the company, to address the communications to Mr. Clyde Green, the Traction Manager.

Application for an investigation will be made this afternoon to the department of Labor at Ottawa.

Chicago Policemen to be Retired by New Method.

Chicago, Jan. 22—Policemen in Chicago are to be retired in the order of the hardness of their arteries.

"It has been determined beyond dispute that a man is as old as his arteries," said Health Commissioner Evans last night, in explaining the plan on which the retiring board will work.

"While it is a universal rule that as a man grows old his arteries harden, yet the process of hardening does not move evenly with the years. The arteries of a man of 50 may be harder than those of another man of 65. It depends upon the way he has lived.

"The machine for testing the arteries is a hollow rubber band put around the piecps of the arms and connecting with a rubber tube, which runs to a common pump bulb in the hand. By working the bulb the person being examined forces the air into the band around the arm until it swells enough to stop the pulse. A mercury standard attached indicates how much pressure this takes."

MR. TROTTER'S GREETING.

Tells Britain Emigration Will Not Solve Unemployed Question.
London, Jan. 21.—Mr. W. R. Trotter addressed a fraternal greeting on behali of Canada to the Labor Congress at Hull to-day. He emphasized the entire absence of a demand for skilled artisans in the Dominion, and pointed out that emigration agencies were carrying on a propaganda unauthorized by the Dominion Government, while in every city in Canada there was an unemployed problem. The Salvation Army, he said, ought to come into the open as emigration touts. Mr. Trotter believed the solution of the unemployed question in Britain was not to be found in emigration. gration.

Their Dory Swamped in Big Sea Off
Westport, N. S.
Halifax, Jan. 21.—A drowning accident took place off Westport, Brier Island, this afternoon. Frank P. Titus, aged 36 years, and Lis son Blake, aged 20 years, were rowing in from their lobster traps. Mrs. Charles Buckman, wife of the Northern Point lighthouse-keeper, saw them pass the point. A big sea was breaking on shore, caused by a heavy ocean swell coming up the Bay of Fundy. A few minutes after the dory passed the point Mrs. Buckman noticed that it was bottom up, and immediately gave the alarm.

In the meantime both bodies had been washed ashore, the father's body being badly bruised where it came into contact with the rocks. Frank P. Titus was one of the most prominent resident of Brier Island.

A Memory Test

A Memory Test.

A professor of mnemonies had gone to lecture at or near Canterbury. After the lecture was finished he had to waig for his London train. It was a most comfortless day, and he retired to an inn for shelter and refreshment. To pass the time he began to eshibit his feats of memory to the yokels in the inn parlor, and one and all were thunderstruck except the waiter. There is always one sceptic in every communion, whether of saints or sinners. Do what he would he could not mitigate the aerid smile of acid incredulity of that glorified potman! In the midst of one of his most difficult feats the whistle sounded of the "only train to London to-night!" and he rushed off to catch it. He caught it at the station, and his reputation caught it in the inn parlor, for the waiter—coming in with some ordered refresh, ments and finding him gone—pointed to the corner where he had been sitting and exclaimed: "Silly sumbug, he's forgot his umbrella!"—Young Man.

Every cent of civic money that is spent this year will have to be properly sanctioned by the committees and authorized by the Council. That is the stand Mayor Stewart has taken. He issued orders to the City Treasurer today that no account not sanctioned in this way was to be paid. In past years the Chief of the Fire Department has haid the power to buy horses for the fire department on getting the consents of the Mayor and Chairman of Finance. the steam pumps at the Beach are now pumping 98 per cent. The loss on electric pumps is explained by the higher speed at which they run. This difference in efficiency the Mayor believes will add about $87.0 per horse-power to the price of power, making the cost of power at the Beach something like $27.

The chief business for the Finance Committee to-morrow night is the consideration of matters referred to in the Mayor's inaugural address. These include the re-division of the city wards, reducing number of aldermen to two for each ward, election by city at large of a Board of Control, resuming negotiations with the C. P. THE HAMILTON TIMES

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22, 1908.

MR. LEITCH'S LETTER.

Mr. James Leitch, Chairman of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board, has written a letter to Premier Whitney reference to the status of electric railways under Dominion jurisdiction, and setting forth that the Dominion Railway Commission has not and cannot have any power to enforce agreements or contracts between such railways and municipalities, and that consequently any agreement made, for instance, be tween the city of Hamilton and the Radial Railway Company would be of no avail, as there is no authority able to ce its provisions should the railway not live up to them. If Mr. Leitch is cor rect in his contention, and we believe the courts have refused to put the law in force in certain cases, the condition of affairs affects more than electric railways.' If there is no provision in the Dominion Railway Act for the enforcement of an agreement between a railway and a municipality, of course the municipalities would be in the same fix in any agreement they might make with a steam railway. But Mr. Leitch would not go so far as to say that steam roads should not be declared for the general advantage of Canada because the enforcement of the Act does not rest with Mr. Peebles at the command of the mathe Dominion authorities. In the past the Dominion Railway Commission has met with little difficulty in enforcing its mandates, and we fail to see why it should have more difficulty with electric than with steam railways.

It is in some such way as this that Hamilton and the Radial Railway Company are arranging to come to terms in reference to that road.

THE NEW K. C'S.

It is no longer a distinction to be enwear a silk gown and carry a red brief Once upon a time, the title was thought to indicate special acquirements in the realm of law. Within the last decade, however, the creation of Queen's Counsel and King's Counsel has been so diligently followed by both Dominion and Provincial authorities, that from being a what of an encumbrance. The other day the Attorney-General's Department of Ontario tagged 188 more lawyers of all ages and degrees of ability, giving out statement regarding them to the effect that the new issue was in great part for the purpose of giving Tory lawyers the desired honor. They will, of course, no take precedence of former issues of the legal mint, but will stand before any who may have escaped the eagle eye of the decorator. Perhaps we may have an inquiry instituted to find out whether there may be a few lawyers yet overlooked.

THE ALDERMEN.

The position of alderman is an honorable one only as the man ocupying it makes it so. It can easily be made dishonorable, and the easy steps in that direction are inattention to the business of committee, carelessness as to committee members' rights and the shirking or shifting of responsibilities that it is the duty of the ordinary alderman to face as the trustee of the people. The ordinary alderman may and should be the controlling force of committee and council. trolling force of committee and council. He sometimes fails. How will it be this year?-Hamilton Spectator.

Yes, the position of an alderman car easily be made dishonorable. For instance, it is made dishonorable when an alderman consents to vote for no man for a civic office unless he be a Tory who has received the endorsement of the also made dishonorable when an alderman votes or refrains from voting for tively. By its action what looked like certain things or persons at the behest of that Executive or for a certain consideration. It is also made dishonorable when an alderman votes with the deliberate purpose, not of appointing the best man to a chairmanship, but of keeping all the chairmanships to men of his own stripe of politics. The position is also de dishonorable when it is used for the purpose of keeping men opposed politically to certain aldermen off the independent boards of the city. It is also made dishonorable when an alder interests of the party to which he belongs than in the interests of the city which he represents. We have alderme in Hamilton, we think, who have agreed to make the position dishonorable the

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. Ho was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first. Very soon, however, the rash began to spread over his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The discomfort. I took him to a forter and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The discomfort. I took him to a forter him bedy was quite raw. No one thought we would read him. The regimental doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, be said the only hope was that he might, if he lived long enough, outgrow it to some extent. We had him in hespitals four times and he was pronounced one of the worst cases, if not the worst, ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable; in fact he got worse under the successive treatments. At one hospital they incased him in plaster, and this seemed to aggravate the soreness terribly. He looked so badly that no one liked to go him. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past hoping for a cure. After the report had been read Chairman Sweeney suggested that the same committee that is to interview the company about the streets night sound it on the question of improving its system. "I, think it is only right we should do this before we go hammering at them again this year," he said.

"We might see if they have any plan mapped out," agreed Ald, McLaren. "We don't want to quarrel but, if we can't help it, we are willing to right."

Ald. Howard and Jutten favored the same committee taking the matter up and this was agreed on.

To Engage Engineer.

The aldermen admitted that they were at sea on the Hydro-exetric proposition. Ald, McLaren thought it was important that an independent engineer should be secured to supply all necessary information and assist in working out the details. The Mayor urged that the proper course was to conter with the Commission first and make sure about the contract. The Fire and Water and Sewers Committees were interested and he thought they should have something to say in the matter.

Want Permanent Roads.

Chairman Sweeney brought up the matter of paving James street north and Barton street east. Ald, McLaren thought it would be unwise to do anything of this nature with the street rail-thing of this nature with the street rail-way tracks in their present condition. If the tracks came up he thought is would be found the ties were rotten. Chairman Sweeney said he thought the street railway should be urged to fix up its tracks so that permanent work could be proceeded with. Ald. McLaren thought there should be a by-law providing for the pavement of the main entrances into the city and streets leading to the railway stations.

This would cover the streets on which there was the heaviest traffic.

Some of the aldermen thought they should see first how much of an appropriation they were going to receive.

The inquest was concluded last night. James Powers, who has been in jail since the accident, was the principal witness, and he told the same story as was published at the time. He said that he was a sailor, and that the deceased had told him he was also a sailor. He had not heard the dead man's name, and he did not understand what the Spectator's "identification" was founded on. W. Beattie, engineer: A. Enright, baggageman: E. Connors, conductor; W. Brick, brakeman, and several doctors testified. Constable Gibbs explained the supposed identification as follows: Constable W. McLean thought he recognized in the dead man the face of John Nevills, who was brought into prominence some time ago in connection with a copper wire case. The story was talked about among the police, and got to the ears of a reporter. It was part of the story that a piece of paper bearing the name "John Nevills." was found in the pockets of the deceased, but Constable Gibbs swore there was nothing of the sort found. Photos of the dead man were taken, but they look very little like Nevills. The body has been em-

Japanese Government Will Restrict Immigration ---Statement In Parliament.

to Japan will be earmarked in the Parto Japan will be earmarked in the Parliamentary history of Canada not only as an oratorical effort of marked distinction, but as one of the most satisfactory and reassuring messages ever conveyed to the Commons and the people. The importance of the occasion was evidenced by the crowded state of the carnest desire of the Imperial Government to promote by every means within their power the growth and stability of the cordial and mutually beneficial relations which exist between our countries. I venture to believe also that this desirable result will be found to have conveyed to the Commons and the peo-ple. The importance of the occasion ple. The importance of the occasion was evidenced by the crowded state of the public galleries and by the intense interest with which the Minister of Labor was followed throughout the two and a half hours' he occupied. Mr. Lemieux spoke with the deliberation befitting a question so important and delicate, and showed great skill, discrimination and tact in his handling of the diblowatic and integrational phases of which we have a superior of the diblowatic and integrational phases of the discovering and phase of the discove diplomatic and international phases of the problem. He revealed all there was to be revealed, and yet was careful not to disclose anything that could possibly give offence to the great nation with whose representatives he had been in negotiation, in this respect giving proof of statesmanlike qualities that more than justified the confidence reposed in him by the Prime Minister and the Brit-than justified the configure representation by the Prime Minister and the British Government.

The speech produced a most favorable impression, and the feeling here to night is that the authoritative assurances which Mr. Lemieux was able to lay before the House will prove generally acceptable and will carry with them a satisfactory solution of the difficulty. In Liberal circles the Postmaster-General's statement is regarded as unassailable, and as probably the last word on the Japanese immigration question.

The Agreement With Aoki.

Mr. Lemieux began by administering a well-merited rebuke to the press awell-merited rebuse to the press-agency and newsapers which had sought to discredit him in his mission, and then gave a succinet and illumina-tive survey of the causes which had led to the agitation in British Columbia against Asiatics. His first point was that from 1900 onwards Japanese m-wigesting was vesticated by an underthat from 1900 onwards Japanese mmigration was restricted by an understanding which found emphatic expression in an instruction issued by Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Foreign Minister, during that year. That understanding was duly observed by Jajan, as was shown by the fact that between 1900 and October, 1907, there was hardly a complaint from British Columbia. It was because of that understanding and of assurances given by Japanese Consul-General Nosse that the Government last year ratified the Anglo-Japantse of voluntary restriction on the ompany thropgh Japanese emigration gencies,

These circumstances furnished the keyto the solution of the difficulty, and as the result of his negotiations with the Japanese Government Mr. Lemieux announced, amid loud cheers, that the avenue from Hawaii would be barred, that it was now possible to so restrict the immigrants from Japan as to revert to the order of things existing before 1907, and that the Japanese Government were not only willing but anxious to meet influx of immigrants.

He appealed to the House to trust the representatives of Great Britain and Canada in this matter, and as indisputable proof of the good faith of the Japanese Government read a comunication from Count Hayashi, Minister of Foreign Affairs, intimating that the Government of the Mikado had decided to take efficient means to restrict emigration to Canada. While not at liberty to disclose in detail the measures taken by Japan, Mr. Lemieux assured the House that they were satisfactory to both the British Ambassador and himself.

Contract Laborers Kept Out.

Contract Laborers Kept Out.

One result would be the prohibition of the immigration of contract laborers, artisans included, which means that hereafter the operations of such companies as the Kippon Supply Compan will be effectually stopped. Results already effected were the closing of the avenue from. Hawaii and the suppression of emigration companies in Japan. Mr. Lemieux claimed that the dignified assurance given by Count Hayashi was a solemn engagement which Canada was bound to accept in good faith, and which would be proved by a trial of six months or less. The arrangement was, in his view, a fair and honorable one, and one that would eliminate the possibility of further trouble.

Japanese Minister's Letter.

"In reply to your note of this date, I ave the honor to state that although "In reply to your note of this date, I have the honor to state that although the existing treaty between Japan and Canada absolutely guarantees to Japan and reside in any part of the Dominion of Canada, yet it is not the intention of the Imperial Government to insist upon the complete enjoyment of the rights and privileges guaranteed by these stipulations when that would involve disregard fo special conditions which may prevail in Canada from time to time. Acting in this spirit, and having particular regard to the circumstances of recent occurrence in British Columbia, the Imperial Government house decided to take efficient means to restrict emigration to Canada. In carrying out this purpose, the Imperial Government, in pursuance of the policy above stated, will give careful consideration to local conditions prevailing in Canada, with the spirit of the Government of the Bath alt it is given of her own treaty and the dignity of the State.

What Are the Means?

"In this letter the Minister of Foreign Affairs gives Canada the official assur-ance that the Imperial Government have Arians gives canada the official assurance that the Imperial Government have decided to take efficient means to restrict emigration from Japan. I will be asked at once, What are those efficient means and where is the guarantee of that restriction? My answer is that during the course of our conference a series of most stringent regulations accompanied by instructions addressed to the loval Governors and to the Consuls in Canada were adopted. I can assure the House that the British Ambassador and myself are satisfied, that these regulations are sufficient for our purpose, and that they will be honestly enforced by the Foreign Office at Tokio. There is, however, one feature of those regulations which I am authorized to make public. We all know how strongly has been resented in British Columbia the presence in large numbers of Asiatic labor. A Minister of Labor. I was mere presence in large numbers of Asiatic labor. As Minister of Labor I was most anxious to decrease the pressure of sur-plus alien labor in that Province. As a school-room, and it was the best turnout of the men of the church for some timent. This means that hereafter such sompanies as the Nippon Supply Company of Vancouver will be unable to co-operate with the emigration companies of Japan in sending labor under contract to this country. Of course bona fide students, merchants and tourists from Japan will, as before, continue to enjoy freedom of entrance in the Dominion.

Emigration From Hawaii.

"As regards emigration from the Hawaiian Islands, the question is setpart of Japan.

A Perfect Chain of Assurance.

In fact, as the Postmaster-General put it, beginning with Viscount Aodi's letter of 1900 until after the treaty was ratified last year, the chain of assurances was perfect. Turning to the situation which developed in 1907, he availed himself of Mr. Mackenzie King's valuable and opportune peport and showed that the abnormal influx of Japanese was attributable to the evasion of the existing restrictions by large numbers coming from Hawaii over which the Japanese Government had no control, and to the importation of laborers by the Canadian Nippon Supply Company thropph Japanese emigration agencies.

House that these emigration companies have been practically suppressed. I hope I have convinced the House, sir, that the arrangement concluded with the Japanses Government is satisfactory—though I am prevented, by State reasons, from I mfolding many of its essential details. The House, I feel confident, will accept the assurance given officially by Japan Carbon Companies of the British Ambassador at Tokio and to his Majesty's Government in Canada, the I trial of six months, or even less, will be the best proof that this assurance has been given in good faith.

Fair and Honorable.

"In conclusion, sir, this arrangement is, in my humble judgment, a fair and honorable one. The Japanese Government, I know, are not anxious to encourage the migration of their laborers where they are not wanted, more especially, where their presence is liable to draw their country into international entanglements. The fact that they have already suppressed the emigration companies, on the ground that they become dangerously exasperating factors, shows plainly what course they are determined to take. Acting in that spirit, and with a view to meet our desires, they will voluntarily take such measures as will prevent any further trouble, thus maintaining the cordial relations which should exist among allies, and restoring peace and order in that fairest of the fair Provinces of the Dominion." abrogate the treaty or accept the arrangement. Assuming that we would abrogate the treaty, which can be done by giving six months notice, what would be the result? The abrogation of the treaty would, in so far as Canada is concerned, result in the loss of important commercial advantages with a market of 50,000,000 people. Look at the possibilities of our trade with the Orient. The question of our wheat trade alone with Japan, where during the last ten years the consumption has increased by 800 per cent., should ever be borne in mind, not to speak of the many other articles which Canada can supply her with, such as oatmeal and cats, lumber and pulp, lead, copper, asbestos, aluminum, leather and kides, butter, cheese, fish, horses, cattle, cannel milk, canned fruits, wool, baeon, agricultural implements and machinery of all kinds. We may not, as yet, have derived from the treaty such advantages as were anticipated, although our exports to Japan have risen from mothing to the half million dollar mark in a very short time, but the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the increase of transportation facilities, with cheaper artes than the existing ones, cannot fail, especially in the case of our cereal trade, to be productive of most satisfactory results.

"On the other hand, were Canada to mpose upon the Japanese a poll tax of $500 this is practically exclusion, and it.

MR. J. LEITCH ADDRESSES A LETTER

Proposed Amendment of Dominion Act No Power to Enforce Agreement Between Railways and Municipalities.

Toronto, Jan. 22 .- Is there to be conflict of jurisdiction between the Dominion and the Province of Ontario in regard to iaws controlling the running of roads operated by electricity within the Province of Ontario? Mr. Jamies Leitch, Chairman of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board, apparently timks there is. In a letter addressed to Premier Whitney, Mr. Leitch says that he encloses a newspaper clipping, from which it Appears that the Dominion Railway Act is to be amended, so as to make it clear that no railway operated by electricity shall have the right to run on the highways in Ontario without the consent of the municipality. onflict of jurisdiction between the Dorun on the highways in Ontario without the consent of the municipality.

The letter goes on to say: This is all right as far as it goes, but if it rests here the provision will be useless to the municipalities. The prohibition against building an electric railway on a highway without the consent of the municipality will necessarily lead to an agreement with the municipality, where in the rights of the railway and of the municipality will no doube be defined. The municipality of difficulties will not end here, and this is where the proposed amendment will turn out to me a failure. There is no provision in the Dominion Railway Act for the enforcement of an agreement between a railway and a municipality. There cannot be, because the enforcement of agreements is a civil right which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Province. The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board Act, 1960, has the provision, which the Dominion Railway Act has not and cannot baye, giving the board power and Act, 1900, has the provision, which the Dominion Railway Act has not and can not have, giving the board power and jurisdiction to construe agreements beween railways and municipalities and enforce them to the extent of taking possession of and running the railway.

Company May Break Agreement. With the proposed amendment to the Dominion Railway Act a municipality will find it is in a position of having an agreement with the railway company which it cannot enforce, and which the company may break with impunity. In tain these ends meetings wil be held and such other effectual means adopted as are consistent with the object of the Association.

Any man who is proposed by a member of the association and accepted by the committee on membership shell between the multicidalities should be subject to the invisite of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. It may be said, why not leave the enforcement of these digreements to the High Courts? The answer to this is that the courts have no machinery to enforce these agreements. They might give damages, but giving damages is not an effective removal. The fact is that no celetric railway should be declared for the general davantage of Counda and taken away from local juri-diction. The only remedy for this is for th

Immediately agreements have been entered into with the municipalities and the road is in operation for some time. On one pretence or another the company gets a declaration from the Dominion of general advantage. This has not the effect of repealing the local legislation. It prevents further Provincial legislation, and it removes the road from the jurisdiction of the Ontario Railway Board. The consequence is that we have Provincial legislation on the statute books and agreements with the municipalities in full force, but incapable of enforcement for the reason that the Dominion act provides no machinery, and the Ontario Railway Board has no power, because the railway has been taken from under their jurisdiction. by the declaration of general advantage,

Can Evade Provincial Policy.

Further, by the Ontario railway act, 1900, an electric railway may only charge a rate of two cents per mile, Under Dominion legislation they are entitled to charge three cents. By getting Dominion legislation the company can evade the fixed and settled policy of the Provincial Legislature that a two-cent per mile rate should prevail.

These questions have, as you are aware, been brought to my notice by the Hamilton Radial Railway bill, which is now before the Dominion Parliament, and in response to your request 1 give you my views as above.

BRYAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Two acts at Bennett's this week have created an impression on theatregoers that will stand a long time be-fore they are effaced by time or other performances. These are Eltinge and Charles K. Bradshaw. The former is a gentleman performer in lady's clother. He cannot be called a female impersonator, because he is more than that. He has introduced a character which no woman could, and while it is a faithful portrayal of the female style, there is something in it that no living actress ever thought of. His songs and actions are models of propriety. Mr., Bradshaw is divertingly clever as Fix, in his little Japanese Tea Given by Emerald farce, and the laughs come very quickly when he is on the stage. The piece is well conceived and admirably acted.

Goldsmith and Hoppe are a particulast night, when the lecture room was of saill as musicians, they are comedians of rare ability. Hoppe's imitation of Sousa's brand of leadership is one long scream. Will Rogers, the lariat king, works wonders with his lassoes and does some knot tying and circling with them which is truly remarkable. Chinko is a young juggler, who already has a bunch of smart feats at his finger tips, and will make one of the best in the business. Murphy and Francis have a singling, talking and dancing specialty, which is quite out of the ordinary. Minnie Kaufman, late of the famous Kaufman family of cyclists, upholds the reputation made by that aggregation as clever trick-ters. The Countess Rossi and M. Pauli sing several songs with great taste.

The house held a record matine crowd yesterday.

Signor Caminada, this week. The Alexandroff troupe of Russian dancers, as expected, is proving a popular feature. It has justified all that was claimed for it as the liveliest and brightest dancing act in vandeville, Garry Owen, the invenile monologue artist, is one of the real big bits of the bill, and it kept him busy responding to encores last night. Arthur Yule and allie Sinpson have an extremely anusing singing and comedy act, in which the former gives some splendid imitations of musical instruments. The Golden Gate Quintette is another rattling to the contract of the contract with Genea by a canal built on an entirely new plan, which will be anothe to accept the Alps.

Instead of the usual system of locks by which canals are raised to higher levels, the trans-Alpine canal will be constructed on the apparently impossible basis of inclined "tubes." There will be a double line of tubular canals ten miles long and divided by lockgates into 137 octions.

The water will descend through both anals, but will cross to each alternately, so that while a boat descends with the sinking water in one section of one tube, another vassel will rise with the rising water in a lower section. These inclined canals will be constructed of masonry and the gates will be of iron. The highest point of the waterway will be at Isolata, in the Splugen Pass, about 3,000 feet.

Miss Ethel Cheer of the Bohemian for February is bright with many attractive pictures and is overflowing with good things to read. There are ten short stories, and several spicily written special articles. "The Lure of the Melodrama," by Jules E. Goodman, tells something of the men who write melodrama, the actors who play it, the managers who produce it, and the audiences which see it. It has many pictures. "The Cornell Widow" is perhaps the most distinctive humorous ellege journal in America, and in the February Bohemian its editor tells of the origin, growth and function of the Widow. Grace George, in a short article entitled "My Yesterdays," tells the story of the rife. New York, Jan. 21.—George A. Witzthe world's champion bigamist, who is credited with having 500 wives, is believed to be under arrest at Bristol, England. Reports from the police of that city say that their prisoner gives the name of Arthur Hynes, but his scription and career fit those of Witz

Matrimonial Exploits Remarkable. Matrimonial Exploits Remarkable.
Witzhoff is declared by those who are familiar with his exploits to be the most remarkable bigamist that ever lived. His knowledge of women is without a flaw, and, compared, with his slippery methods, the lovemaking of the unlamented Johann Hoch was a cumbersome and awkward effort. Hoch spent the best years of his life in the accumulation of fifty wives, while his distinguished contemporary seems to have guished contemporary seems to have been able to increase his list of bette balves at the rate of two or three a week at the rate of two or three with the Chicago tigamist, the love making of Witzhoff was directed toward the savings accounts of the women married, and once their money the savings accounts of the women he merried, and once their money was transferrred from their keeping into his own the much married dentist sought greener pastures.

Witzhoff came to America from Switzerland over ten years ago. For a while he maintained a dential office in Detroit, and met his first difficulty when the American Dental Association found that he was practicing without a license. His action was nointed out to the executive beard of the association, and he was fined $300 and warned not to repeat the offense. After paying his fine and promising to secure a license Witzhoff left Detroit, and it is now supposed he then reached the conclusion that the marrying business offered onicker and more substantial returns than was to be derived from the use of his drill and forceps. ill and forceps.

His first exposure came after his marriage to Mrs. Phillip Parkhill, of New courtship they were married. Mrs.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Agrees to Opposition Leader's Motion, and the Whole Trouble Evaporates—Mr. Foster as Sad Delinquent.

It subsequently was learned that Witz-hoff had married Miss Randall in 1903, and that he had lived in Someville with her under the name of Dr. George A. Muller. For awhile Witzhoff made his New York wife believe that the Boston New York wife believe that the Boston and that he had lived in Somerville with patient and that an injustice had been done him by the woman friend of Mrs. Parkhill. To satisfy herself Witzhoff's second wife went to Boston to investigate the story. While she was gone the dentist got as many of her belongings together as he could and left the city. Since that time Witzhoff, with a new name for each victim, pursued the career of a bigamist. He studied hypnotism and the fashions, and, as Johann Hoch declared, "the art of promising." Travelling from city to city, he adopted a varying disguise, and in his capacity as assistant in various dental offices he met many women. Bending over his patients in the dental chair the young man whispered words of love in their ears, and seldom did he meet with reverses in his conquest of feminine hearts. Always it was the story about wanting to establish an office of his own in some town where he and his prospective bride could build themselves a little home and live happily ever afterward that made his victims forcet the new solutions. and that he had lived in Somerville with nund themselves a little home and live happily ever afterward that made his victims forget the nerve splitting grind of the drill and the clutch of the cruel forceps as he worked over their teeth. Managed to Escape Arrest.

Managed to Escape Arrest.

Witzhoff always escaped arrest in spite of the efforts that were made to capture him, and within two years after his experience with Mrs. Parkbill the romantic dentist turned up again in New York as one of the managers of the largest and most audacious marriage syndicates that ever was attempted. Twenty-seven young men were employed to woo and win girls and women in the various cities of the east, and of these Dr. Witzhoff and Harry Kaufman, who now is serving a five year sentence in Sing Sing penitentiary, were the star lovers.

The marriages were arranged through a "schatchen," or marriage broker, and as soon after the ceremony was performed as possible the husband would get possession of the wife's money and jewelry and then desert her. The plunder was all returned to the syndicate office in New York and divided equally among the promoters of the scheme. The syndicate finally, was discovered by detectives working out of the District Attorney's office, and they, with the aid of several Government secret service men, arrested some of the men and drove the

U. S. RECORDS.

The sport in America is not thirty years old, and of this the first few years were devoted to short distance races. The first incentive to longer distances was in 1878, when $100 in gold was offered to the owner of the first bird to return from a station 300 miles away. The first attempt was made the same year, but the birds were lost in the attempt. Better results were made the following year, but through some misunderstanding of races the record did not count. The next attempt was very successful, and to O. Donner, Brooklyn, N. Y., belongs the honor of having the first $500-mile Homer in America, this gentleman's bird arriving home before moon of the second day.

The efforts from this time on were for a one-day performance, and the attempts were many, but not until 1885 were they crowned with success, when T. Fred Goldman, Brooklyn, with his game bird Ned Damon, made 500 miles in 14 hours and 25 minutes.

While we have been dealing with the 500-mile journey, longer distances were being successfully accomplished, In 1880, Wm. Verrender, Jersey City, N. J., with his bird Garfield, covered a distance of 620 miles in 20 days, while in 1882, J. C. Peunet, (leveland, with his Gen'l Sheridan, made 701 miles in 32 days, while that of E. H. Conover's, Reyport, N. J., made 725 miles in 10 days. In 1885. R. L. Hays, Philadelphia, successfully accomplished with his game cock Red Wizie 303 miles in 12 days. Later on this

 It was in 1882 that young birds were first sent to fix.

It was in 1882 that young birds were first sent to fly home over 250 miles, while the best results of the many at-tempts made each year, went to F. Beard, Brooklyn, N. Y., with Tormentor, mak-ing a journey of 343 miles in 10 days, In 1885, the first same day performance for longer distances is that of J. at present date as sought for.

Coming to more recent performances, we find that 500 miles same day is a common occurrence, while 600 and 700 same day records have been handed down to us.

The following performances from longer stages show the rapid advancement in the sport:

In 1800, George H. Bowerman, Fall River, Mass., 1,092 miles in 30 days.

In 1889, Sidney Corbett, Brooklyn, N. Y., 1,972 miles in 11 days 7 hours 2 minutes.

in the old country. He thinks that a strong club can be formed here, and he also suggests that an Ontario or Canadian federation be organized, taking in the clubs in Toronto, London, Hespeler, Mimico and other places.

The following article on the sport is from the pen of Mr. S. Alison, editor of the Canadian Fancier, a Toronto montbly;

The sport of pigeon flying is at its best in Belgium, it being the national pastime of that country. It is said that one-fifth of the population are active farciers, while most of the buildings have their dormer windows, which denote a fancier within. The extent to which it is carried on may be known when the birds of one province ent into France for literature in one season were over a million in number. Netther are our English fanciers far behind. A special consignment was sent into Manchester this past season under care of one of their National Clubs, and was of such size that five special trains, numbering eighty cars, were chartered, and contained nothing but craies of homers for the one liberation.

THE THAW TRIAL.

Mr. Littleton then read the codicil to the jury. The codicil, it will be remembered, provided a number of bequests to lawyers and others to aid alleged victims of Stanford White to prosecute elaims for damages against him, and for the prosecution of all persons engaged "in such awful practices as said Stanford White."

Among those whom the funds, were made available were R. Ross Perry, of Washington; Dr. Charles H. Pankhurst and Anthony Comstock.

Thaw named a number of young women and girls now on the stage as possible claimants against White.
Following the reading of the codicil, Mr. Littleton created something of a stir by calling Anthony Comstock to the stand—his first appearance in the case. Mr. Comstock said he was Vice-President of and special agent for the Society for the Suppression of Vice and inspector in the post office department, having held these position for many years.

"Do you know Harry Thaw!" A.— "Do you know Harry Thaw?" A .-

Mr. Comstock said that Thaw called at his office in February, 1904, and complained of a party who was wronging young girls. Thaw went into details, which the witnesses repeated as far as he could remember. Mr. Comstock also said he received several letters from Thaw

The witness identified several communications from Thaw-one of the pa-pers being a diagram of the premises where he declared evil men were carry-where he declared evil men were carrying on criminal practices.

Thaw declared that workmen on buildings near these premises had heard young girls scream, and suggested that men be sent to watch the entrance to the place. Thaw also said he had communicated with the Secretary for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, suggesting that a search warrant be issued and an investigation be made of the house, which was located in 22nd street.

"Thaw told me he had been followed to my office the second time by men who were employed to watch him," continued the witness. "I sent several men out in the hallway to see if any one was there."

Mr. Jerome objected to the witness

Mr. Jerome objected to the witness telling the result of his search, but it came out in the discussion that no one had followed Thaw.

"When Thaw came back to see me the third time," continued Mr. Comstock, "I told him I had been unable to secure any evidence, as the house in 22nd street seemed to be closed. He said he would furnish the names of several girls who had been there. I told him it would be better to corroborate their stories and we talked the matter over some little while."

Mr. Comstock here identified three

Comstock here identified three more letters from Thaw, one having been received as late as April, 1906, two before the tragedy

Mr. Littleton first read to the jury communication from Thaw to Comstock, written in November, 1904. It at. to give in detail a des of the 24th street house, with crude diagrams appearing here and there in the text.

Thaw declared that one room was furnished like a forest, and that secret stairs led from it to the room of the mirrors. The door in the first room was hard to find, the letter declared, and there was no escape for the young girls who were drugged. Thaw claimed that six or seven "criminal scoundrels" controlled the place and that three or four decent young men who did not know of the criminal acts often frequented the place.

"Thousands of crimes have been committed there and many felonies," Thaw wrote, and added that there was a little room to which access was gained by a door behind a picture.

"In this room," the letter went on, "there is a valuable French painting of n woman and of peculiarly infamous suggestivity." Thaw declared that one room was fur gestivity. In another letter Thaw suggested that patterson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Impures working on a building adjoining the 24th street house might be induced to drop some heavy article through the skylight and reveal what was below. Thaw also called attention to the fact that there was a libel suit in Paris instituted by a young woman who had been mentioned as posing for the picture previously complained of. Thaw declared that the houses in 22nd and 24th streets were "consecrated to orgies by a gang of rich criminals."

Thaw suggested that one copy of one of his letters be sent to District Attorne Jerome, and Thaw also suggested that if Mr. Comstock needed more funds to carry on the enquiry he might ask Miss Helen Gould for assistance in that line. Giving the name of a young actress, Thaw described at length what he said was an effort to save this girl from the blackguard." Thaw said he enlisted a prominent man in the cause, who was at first loath to believe that such practices as complained of existed, but afterwards was convinced. This man threw what protection he could about the girl, but when he had gone abroad "the blackguard got her."

"Besides four victims I have already told you about, there is another," Thaw street north

Mad Dog Record.

One who reads the newspapers of the country cannot escape the conviction that dog madness is a real and dangerous fact, and Massachusetts is by no means the only place where this is recognized and guarded against. While three persons in this State last year died the terrible death which rabbes brings. three persons in this State last year deat the terrible death which rabies brings, the year before there were svn daths from this caus, and it is not reassuring that the grand total of rabies cases entered upon the record last year was 1,170, against the total of 1,988 for the year just closed. The trouble not only remains, but increases. There have been some new outbreaks of rabies in this part of the State—at Orange, where dogs were bitten in that town and Warwick; in Northfield, West Wothington and Cummington. The collar of one dog which was shot in Hampshire county showed that the animal belonged to Torrington, Conn., which illustrates how far a mad dog is liable to run, spreading trouble along the way.—Springfield Republican. the terrible death which rabies brings publican.
