DOWNING-STREET.

January 14, 1859. Sir.—I have to inform you that it has been decided by agreement between Her Maje ty's Government and the Government of France, that a Joint Commission equally composed from the two nations, shall proceed to Newfoundland, as soon the season opens, to enquire into the facts as regards ring on French subjects rights of Fishery on the coasts of that Island, and more rticularly to ascertain in what respects and to what extent the Treaty stipulations may have been disregarded on either side.

This measure appeared to Her Majesty's Government to be well adapted, in the first place to meet present emergencys, and, also, not unlikely to pave the way-to some ultimate settlement of a permanent character. It was therefore proposed by Her Majesty' Government to that of France, who have new concurred in its adoption.

2. The number of Commissioners of each nation is not yet definitively settled, but Her Majesty's Government propose that there shall be two on each side; in order that the the ce of one of the English two may be assigned to the Government of the Colony. jects would not in future be allowed to fish be carried on there." As it is important that no time should be lost in this matter, I have now to restruct doubtless stimulated the French to the pro- French. you to proceed without delay to select, with the advice and concurrence of your Executive Council, but subject to your approval; some duly qualified person for the probable appointment to this important office; such nomination-must however be also subject to the ultimate approbation of Her Majesty' Government. The gentlemen thus designated should come over to this country with as litle delay as possible to receive in struction, and concert such arrangements a may be requisite with Her Majesty's Government and his colleague. It would be desirable that he should do so without waiting for the ultimate sanction to his appointment, or for in ormation whether the number of Commissioners proposed by Her Majesty's Covernment - is -adopted by the French, as his presence in this country wil be in any event very valuable for concerting those instructions.

3. The expen es of the British Commission including of course the allowances of both the Commissioners, will be provided for out of Imperial funds. I am as yet unable to inform you of the precise scale of remuneration for the service which will be adopted, but you may a sume that in ad litton to the expenses, each Commissioner will receive while employed, an allowance at the

SELECT POETRY.

TO THE MEMORY OF BURNS.

Full now a hundred years have roll'd, Their tribute to the past, Since Bur.'s, our darling child of song In infancy was cast Among the glens and dales where first, His magic Muse inspir'd. Breath'd forth the dear undying strains His manly bosom fir'd.

Tho' but a ploughman poor he was Who daily turn'd the sod; His bosom held as grand a scul As ever sprung from God. Tho' bush'd be now his mighty lyre. And calmly now he sleeps; Wille o'er his sacred ashes ione his own lov'd daisy weeps.

Yet never can the flame expire That first his genius lit, While Scotland holes a bosom true By ingle side to sit. It's wasted far across the main, O'r many a foreign strand, And burns as clear in exile's heart As in our native land

Long be it ore our hearts forget Old Scotia's minstre! dear, And may cur children's children too His mem'ry still revere. What's mortal of our sainted hard 'Mong kinuned dust ceclines, But far al ove, his might; soul A muster spirit shines.

LAMENT FOR MARY.

If I had thought theu couldst have died, I might not weep for thee; But I forgot, when by thy side, That thou couldst mortal be: It never through my head had passed, The time would e'er be o'er. And I on thee should look my last, And thou shouldst smile no more.

And still upon that face I look, And think 'twill smile again; And still the thought I will not brook, That I must look in vain. But, when I speak, then dost not say, -What thou ne'er left'st unsaid; And now I feel as well I may, Sweet Mary, thou art dead.

If thou wouldst stay, e'en as thou art, All cold and all serene, I still might press thy silent heart, And where thy smiles have been. While e'en thy chill, bleak corse I have, Thou seemest still mine, own; But there I lay thee in thy grave-And I am now alone.

I do not think, where'er thou art, Thou hast forgotten me; And I, perhaps, may snothe this heart, In thinking, too, of thee: Yet there was round thee such a dawn Of light ne'er seen before, As Fancy never could have drawn, And never can restore.
