Gin Pills

FOR THE KIDNEYS

Relieve Constipation while Healing the Kidneys

Gin Pills have an almost world-wide reputation as a Kidney medicine—their healing, cleansing, soothing effect has earned untold praise from thousands.

But their virtues do not end with the relief of Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Gin Pills are excellent for the relief of constipation. We have hundreds of testimonials from people telling us they have found that in taking Gin Pills for Kidney and Bladder trouble, the Gin Pills also acted as a gentle cathartic and bowel stimulant.

This is only logical, as in building up a medicine to restore the Kidneys to perfect health, the bowels must receive attention as the other organs of excretion.

If you are constipated, you will find the real relief you desire in the use of Gin Pills, which will also regulate your kidneys even though you have so far failed to notice alarming symptoms of trouble in these organs.

Your dealers sell Gin Pills at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50.

"ECHOES of the Past;

OR, The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER XXXIII.

"Yes; Tibby and I are going for a walk one day, and I shall say, like the man in 'Dickens' book: 'Why, here's a church! Extraordinary coincidence! Let's go in and get married.'"

Both weddings, though not quite so casual, were very quiet ones. Mina was married first; Tibby was her bridesmaid, Elisha, of course, gave her away, and Quilton was Clive's best man. There were no guests. They were married in a quiet little country place in Devonshire, and they went back to the rustic inn to eat that now generally obsolete meal, the wedding breakfast. There were plenty of flowers, but no speeches; unless a few words which Quilton spoke a little while before the happy couple drove to the train can be counted as one.

He and they happened to be alone for a few minutes, and he took out a morocco case from his pocket and handed it to Mina. She opened it and, uttering an exclamation, looked from one to the other; for the case contained a magnificent spray of diamonds, so large, so brilliant, that she had never seen anything like it.

"It is from Lord Chesterleigh," said Quilton, in his expressionless voice.

The color faded from her face and she glanced at Clive. He returned the glance, and pinned the spray on the bosom of her dress.

Stiff, Enlarged Joints Limber Up! Every Trace of Rheumatism Goes

Even Chronic Bedridden Cases are Quickly Cured.

Rub On Magic "Nerviline."

Nothing on earth can beat good old "Nerviline" when it comes to curing rheumatism.

The blessed relief you get from Nerviline comes mighty quick, and you don't have to wait a month for some sign of improvement.

You see Nerviline is a direct application; it is rubbed right into the sore joint, thoroughly rubbed over the twitching muscle that perhaps for years has kept you on the jump. In this way you get to the real source of the trouble. After you have used Nerviline just once you'll say it's amazing, a marvel, a perfect wonder of hill small; trial size, 25c; all dealers.

"There are some letters on it," he said in a low voice, "M.C.H."

"C!" she exclaimed unguardedly, then the blood rushed to her face. She knew that the "C" stood for Chesterleigh; and it was only natural that her heart should give one throb of pride—not for her own sake, but for Clive's.

"You are content, dearest?" he whispered.

"More than content," she responded, in as low a voice. "No one need know but ourselves, Clive; but—but I am glad to know."

The other marriage took place a month later, when Clive and Mina had returned from a honeymoon which had been one of such perfect happiness that in the after years they stole away together to repeat it. Tibby made a charming and fairlike bride, and Quilton, in his wedding finery, looked so absurdly young that she declared, with well-simulated indignation, that after all she had married an infant!

Clive had retired from office and from Parliament; and he and Mina spent a considerable time in some-what extensive traveling. His strength came back to him, and Mina blossomed not only into a lovely woman, but into so strong a one that she was able to take her share in Clive's outdoor sports; she learned to ride, to fish, to walk long distances; in fact, she became that precious gift to a husband—a companion.

They might have continued their wanderings for a still longer period but for an approaching event and some sudden news which made their immediate return to England imperative.

Clive brought the news to her as she was sitting in a Florentine garden. He had an open letter in his hand, and, seeing by his face that he had received bad tidings, she rose quickly and went to him. He put his arm round her and said in a low voice:

"Mina, my brother Bertie is dead. He died in California—was thrown from his horse. We must go back at once."

She did not attempt to console him with words; but her arm stole round his neck and she drew his head down to her. They went into the villa, and Clive gave her the letter to read.

"It has been delayed, following us about," he said, looking at the post-office stamps on the envelope.

She took it mechanically and read the address; and as she did so she started and uttered a faint cry, for the envelope was addressed to the Right Honorable, the Earl of Ratborough. He smiled at her sadly.

"Yes, dearest; you see I succeeded to the title, to Ratborough, by poor Bertie's death." They were silent for a moment or two, then he added in a whisper: "You have come into your own, Mina; Fate has, in a measure, restored that of which she robbed you. There have been times when my conscience has cried out against the sacrifice which you have made so willingly, so nobly; I have felt sometimes a poignant remorse that I had no right to let you keep the secret of your birth."

"No, no, Clive!" she urged quickly. "The decision rested with me. Nothing would have induced me to have put forward a claim that I might never have been able to prove. Mr. Quilton told me so. I was quite content to know that you and he—and, perhaps, Lord Chesterleigh—knew it. And now, dearest, you need never be uneasy again. We will always keep the secret. And you are an earl, Clive! And I am a countess!" She spoke with a certain sadness rather than elation, and Clive, who was swift to interpret her every look and tone, drew her closer and kissed her.

"You are thinking of the future, Mina?"

She raised her eyes, frank as a child's, and smiled; but still a little wistfully.

"Yes, Clive; but I am not afraid of the future, not afraid of the big world while you are by my side."

Girls! Girls! Try It! Stop Dandruff and Beautify Your Hair

Hair stops falling out and gets thick, wavy, strong and beautiful.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Care should be taken, when feeding the baby, that the milk does not flow too fast. By carefully holding the bottle so that the top of it is filled with milk, the baby will be prevented from sucking in air. One way of testing the nipple is to hold the bottle upside down, and if the milk drops the hole is too large. It is wisest to buy nipples without holes, perforating them with a heated needle.

The influence of air and sunlight cannot be neglected in the nourishment of children. Fear is sometimes expressed lest the child, taken into the air after feeding, should fall asleep. No better thing can happen the child than to sleep in the open air, properly protected, in bright, clear weather. In cool weather the rays of the sun should be allowed to fall directly upon the child, only his face being protected.

Love in a Flour Mill, OR, The Romance of Two Loyal Hearts!

CHAPTER I.

"Ah, look! The Princess; she is going to faint, poor thing!" said one of the ladies.

With an obvious effort, the Princess recovered herself and rose, trembling and shaking.

"No, no!" she gasped. "I—I am all right. I want to go home. Let us go home at once, Jasper." She added to Ronald Desborough, in terrified accents, "Don't—don't! We will go—we are going—at once!"

Brandon drew Ronald aside. Lydstone rose—he had remained seated, clutching his chair and glaring up at Ronald's white, stern face and flashing eyes—and, looking round, said with a sneer:

"We ought to change the name of this precious Club and call it The Bullies."

His unhappy wife drew him away from the table and out of the room; but in a moment or two he came back for a jeweled pocket-book which he had left on the table. Ronald Desborough happened to be standing near, surrounded by an excited group, who were bombarding him with questions about the row; and he turned suddenly and, quite unintentionally, came into slight collision with Lydstone. Ronald was quite calm now, and at once he murmured an apology; but Lydstone, with his head thrust forward, glared savagely at him, and, uttering in a frenzy of rage, "You did it on purpose; curse you!" struck at him.

Ronald Desborough was the last man in the world to take a blow, without returning it. There occurred one of those sharp, swift contests, of which not even the nearest spectators can afterwards give a clear account; but suddenly Desborough's arm shot out, and Lydstone was caught on the point of the jaw which is perhaps the most vulnerable spot in the human frame. He went down as if he had been shot.

The women screamed; the men, who had stood during the last brief moments as if paralyzed, rushed forward and bent over the fallen man. Ronald stood, the hand that had dealt the blow still clenched, his lips tightly set, his grey eyes like steel. As a matter of fact, he had not intended to deal so heavy a blow, to hit so hard; but he had been struck first and more than once, and had, perhaps, lost his head. Brandon disentangled himself from the men who were kneeling round Lydstone, and caught Desborough's arm.

"Come out of this!" he said, with his Irish brogue. "You've knocked him senseless. Come away now!"

Ronald shook his head. "No," he said, a trifle thickly. "I'll wait and see if he's hurt."

"Hurt! Of course, he's hurt! Do you think you can give a man one of your straight-from-the-shoulder sledge-hammer blows, without hurting him? I tell you, you've knocked him silly! He's no use waiting for him to come to; he'll stay like that for hours."

Ronald shook his arm free, and, thrusting aside the men who interceded at his prostrate foe, Lydstone was lying stretched out and looking horribly like a dead man; there was a splash of blood on his livid face. Ronald viewed his work with dismay and the shame which a strong man feels when he has hit a man who is not his match. As he stood, biting his lips and frowning irresolutely, his arm was grasped by a hand smaller than Brandon's, and he heard the voice of the Princess, gasping almost inaudibly, as she struggled for breath:

"Oh, go!—go! For my sake!"

He looked down at her white working face remorsefully, then turned away. Brandon and a man named Clemson gently and persuasively hustled him out of the room and down the stairs into the hall. Clemson took Ronald's hat and coat from a pale-faced, frightened footman, and helped him on with the coat.

"You must clear out of this, Ronnie," said Brandon decisively. "You must make yourself scarce—for a time, at any rate."

"What? What do you say?" demanded Ronald, with a frown. "Why should I? I'm sorry enough for what has occurred; and I beg your pardon, I'll apologize to the Committee—no, I won't! I can't! Lydstone struck me first."

"So he did!—so he did!" murmured Brandon soothingly. "Sure, we all saw it! But, all the same, you'd better clear out—leave London."

"Brandon is quite right," said Clemson emphatically. "If it had been any other man, the affair would end here. But Lydstone—confound him!—is not like any other man. He'll bear malice. Shouldn't wonder if he takes out a summons for assault and has you up at a police court."

"Let him!" retorted Ronald.

"Ah, yes; that's all very well!" exclaimed Brandon; "but just think of the consequences! There would be no end of a scandal; the papers would be full of it; the Club would get a bad name—it isn't over sweet as it is, I'm afraid. And, look here, Ronnie, we mustn't forget the poor little Princess. You don't want her name dragged through the journalistic gutter, do you? Shouldn't be surprised if that bound forced her into the witness-box; he's capable of it, by George!"

"He's capable of anything," said Clemson, with indescribable scorn and contempt.

Ronnie still lingered with bent head, frowning at the floor.

"Poor little woman!" he said at last. "Perhaps you fellows are right, and I'd better keep out of the way for a time. But see here, when Lydstone pulls round, you tell him—"

"Oh, we'll tell him; tell him you're mighty sorry you hit him—quite so hard. Come on with you, now!"

With the same gentle persuasion they had shown before, they got him out of the Club, called a cab, and waited until it had driven off with him; as if they half feared he might even yet come back to face the consequences of that blow of his.

Simple Wash Cures Eczema.

A great skin specialist who has compounded for his patients a marvellously effective cure for Eczema, Bad Leg and all other forms of it, has recently given his valuable preparation to the world. It is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema, a simple external wash, easy to apply, a reliable home remedy.

D. D. D. gives instant relief from skin disease. Nauseating stomach drugs are worthless, for the disease is in the skin, not in the blood. Greasy salves are dangerous for they clog the pores and aid the growth of germs. D. D. D. washes out disease, cleanses the pores, then soothes and heals the skin.

Test this simple cure; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

Hundreds of Deaths From Cholera.

New York, Nov. 8.—Cholera has added its terrors to the burdens of Armenian refugees who fled from the Tigris and Euphrates valleys to Tabriz, according to meagre advices received here by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions and made public to-day. One hundred a day is now the average mortality from the scourge in Tabriz alone, these advices state. Urumiah, too, the recent fighting ground of Kurds and native Christians, is afflicted by cholera, the Board announced. Forty deaths have already occurred there from the disease. All the deaths, both in Tabriz and Urumiah, it is said, have occurred among the natives. The missionaries stationed at both places are relieving the sick as best they can, with inadequate facilities.

Tiflis, Russia, which lies south of the Caucasus Mountains, not a great distance from Tabriz, and Urumiah, is similarly in the grip of an epidemic, which has already caused 700 deaths, according to the Board's advices. It is thought likely that these deaths were due to cholera, also, although the nature of the diseases is not designated in advices.

The Cavell Outrage.

It is sometimes said that "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church." Something akin to this is said to have happened as the result of the execution of Miss Cavell, the English nurse, in Belgium, by the Germans. The report is that when the outrage was published in Britain such an impetus was given to enlistment for active service that 10,000 young men were recruited as the result of the brutal outrage. Whilst Miss Cavell exposed herself to punishment by assisting aliens to Germany to escape, no accusation of espionage was made against her. In Britain, even when espionage has been clearly proven the sentence of death is never meted out to a woman.

If the accused is a woman the trial always takes place before a civil tribunal and the accused is always assisted by competent counsel. In the case of a German woman, recently convicted of being a spy and documents, proving her guilt, being found on her person, the sentence imposed was ten years' imprisonment. Her male associate with whom she traveled, proved to be a deliberate, persistent and dangerous spy, was condemned to death, but the woman, equally guilty, was allowed to escape with imprisonment.

The action of the German authorities has met with general and intense disapprobation in all neutral countries.

MICHAEL O'HALLORHAN
by Gene Stratton Porter.

This is the story of Mickey the news-boy and his ward-peacher, whom he found with a crippled back and cried for until she was cured. It tells of Mickey's part in the romance of Douglas Bruce and Leslie Winton; and of the kindness of Peter Harding and his wife to peacher, and finally of Mickey's own love story with the wife he found years before.

The book possesses, like all of the author's works, a deep feeling for nature, the charm of the woods, the flowers and all growing things.

The Bersaglieri.

(By H. H. in the "Manchester Guardian.")

Only those who have seen the Bersaglieri, the very flower of the army of Italy, on parade or on their annual manoeuvres can realize the great military strength that lies in this force. The name literally means "marksmen," but those who compose the force are considerably more than this, and it would be difficult to select any other corps in a European army that compares to them. The Alpine troops of the French army are probably the nearest approach.

It is no uncommon thing to find men serving in this magnificent body of light infantry who represent the third and even the fourth generation of their family who have carried the short rifle and worn the familiar dark green "smasher" hat with its proud cockade. The strength of this force cannot be estimated exactly at the present moment, but it is probably about 100,000, including reserves and partially trained men.

The chief pride of the Bersaglieri is their marching powers. During the war between Russia and Japan the distances covered by the infantry of the latter Power were regarded as almost incredible, and it was asserted in several quarters that no European troops could vie with them in powers of endurance. The Italian Light Infantry accepted the implied challenge, and speedily showed that not only could they cover the same amount of ground with comparative ease, but that they could go one better and yet finish fresh. They give rather a curious explanation of their powers—that when the men are marching they are supplied with a large amount of ordinary loaf sugar, which sustains them better than anything else could do, and at the same time does not need a halt to be called for them to consume it. During the manoeuvres of the French army some four or five years ago the commanding officer of one of the foot regiments decided to carry out a similar experiment with his men, and received the necessary permission from his superior. He had them paraded early one morning, served them with a substantial ration of sugar, not a little to their surprise, and sent them off on their way. The result was extraordinary. Examination showed that they had covered a greater distance, with fewer mishaps, than had previously been accomplished in the same time by any French troops on the march. Therefore sugar now forms a very important part of the dietary of the French army.

The Bersaglieri are trained on rough ground. They are used to the hills and valleys of Piedmont, from which the greater part of their number is drawn, and they surmount obstacles of every kind with an agility that is surprising to an English spectator. An illustration of this was supplied during the annual manoeuvres of the Italian army in 1910, when a number of this force was specially told off to carry out an "obstacle race" upon novel and very extensive lines. Formidable impediments were erected over some miles of ground, including walls and fences that one would hesitate to take a well-trained hunter at. These little soldiers, however, took them almost without losing their stride. Their shooting, too, is fully on a par with their marching and running powers. They carry a modified form of the Mannlicher-Sarcano rifle, with which they are expert. Accustomed to fire at a running target, since nearly every member of the Bersaglieri is a born hunter, they can hit a mark at a distance that would leave an Austrian trooper puzzled even to see. The description that a former French Minister of War applied to them as "disciplined brigands" was by no means unfair, though they fight scrupulously fairly, and the code of honor among them is very high.

They possess a dash and an élan that is beyond praise, while their lack of the castiron discipline of the barrack square is something to drive a soldier of the old-fashioned school almost to despair. Admittedly they are better when on the offensive than behind fortifications, and one sees them at their best in a swift initiative where the bayonet decides.

Long before the recent war in Northern Africa the military leaders of Italy had learnt the value of these light infantrymen, and their effort ever since has been to increase their number and to develop their training. Particularly has this been the case since the outbreak of this war, and Italy has never been so strong in these troops as now. In pre-war days the Bersaglieri were divided into three lines, of which the English equivalent would be, roughly first line, reserves, and militia. Since August, however, the whole of these three classes have been placed upon a war footing. The Ber-saglieri are normally divided into ten regiments of three battalions, roughly about three thousand bayonets on a war footing, but many new regiments have been raised during the past six months. Every man is picked, and, even if rejected from this force, is absorbed into the infantry of the line.

To each regiment a battalion of cyclists is attached. Actual experiment has shown that a trooper, picked at haphazard, and without previous warning, could carry four bicycles on his shoulders and yet outpace the swiftest infantry pursuit that could be sent against him. These cyclist battalions are especially designed to accompany the Bersaglieri cavalry in the field. These Italian cyclists excited the interest of the late General Sir Charles Douglas, and he was anxious that a similar force should be introduced into the British army.

The Bersaglieri, it may be added, is for the most part composed of men of much better social standing than the rank and file of the Italian army, and they claim, with considerable justice, descent from the famous army of some 70,000 men that, under Charles Albert, confronted the armed might of Austria in 1848 and formed the backbone of the Italian army in the Crimean six years later. Here it attracted general admiration from its excellence of organization, equipment and discipline. Thus it will be seen that the Bersaglieri is at once unique in its establishment and its training, and is a foe that might well confront even the Prussian Guard.

Britain's Financial Position is Sure.

Even in the face of the enormous outlay for war, Britain's financial position is secure, according to L. M. Wood Iron & Lumber Co., who has just returned from London.

"Great Britain," he said, "is economizing in a definite manner, so much so that the financial results of economy, coupled with increasing exports, compared with the war period of last year, will in a large measure neutralize the cost of imports of war materials for Britain's own use.

"The old domestic war loan of the British Government was paid for by capital that would otherwise have gone into ordinary foreign loans. There was comparatively little selling of foreign securities. At the rate war materials are pouring into Britain from United States factories, Britain's loan of $500,000,000 floated there recently will soon be exhausted. Last week's shipments to Britain, France and Russia were worth $89,000,000. While that was an exceptional week, it would not take many weeks to wipe out the proceeds of the loan.

"The flotation of another loan in Britain will come probably in December, but not later than January. To meet this foreign securities will probably be liquidated in large proportions. Although the amount has been disputed in some quarters, the estimate of the London Statist is generally accepted in Britain as approximately correct, that Britain's holdings of foreign securities aggregate $20,000,000,000. Of this $5,000,000,000 is invested in the United States, most of which is capable of liquidation.

"The annual outlay of Britain for war has now assumed a rate of $3,000,000,000 per annum, but of this $2,000,000,000 represents what Britain has advanced to her allies, because her foreign investments make it practicable by strengthening her credit. This enormous expenditure, therefore, is only one-third loss, because Britain is virtually substituting her United States investments for those of France and Russia.

"The war is being placed on a thorough business basis. With vastly improved organization of resources, economy, Britain's export trade and her credit facilities abroad, the country is in a financial position to carry on the war for ten years."

Do you suffer from Indigestion

Indigestion is largely due to a debilitated condition of the stomach. In this condition the stomach is unable to digest food—this is, extract the nutriment from it. Therefore, the food stays in the stomach and ferments, causing pains, fullness and heartburn. You almost dread meal-times because of those terrible indigestion pains afterwards.

But—try taking a wineglassful of "Wingarnis" a quarter of an hour before meals. You will find that "Wingarnis" will give you a "tone" and a vigor to the stomach and enable it to perform its functions in a natural manner. Don't continue to suffer needlessly. Take "Wingarnis" to-day. Will you try just one bottle?

The O'Toole Case;
The Government Should Act

We direct the attention of the Minister of Justice and the Governor-in-Council to the case of NORAH LARACY vs. MICHAEL O'TOOLE and EDWARD LOUGHLIN. The circumstances of the case raise the question of the desirability of continuing Magistrate O'Toole in his office, as magistrate. Yesterday a jury gave a verdict of one hundred dollars against him for the wrongful arrest and false imprisonment, by his orders, of a girl of eleven years of age on a charge of breaking a window, and of which charge she was innocent. Her sister, a year older, was also arrested and detained in prison overnight with her. The whole circumstances of the case raise the question whether Mr. O'Toole should be continued in his office as Magistrate. Even if these girls had been guilty of breaking a window, their arrest, removal from their home to another settlement, and detention in prison until trial was to our mind harsh, unreasonable and unnecessary. The absence of all circumstances which would give rise to any fear that the girls would flee from the charge, shows that it was unnecessary, and that the girl arrested to the tender age and sex of the accused, the harshness and hardship of proceedings which were in any case unwarranted, and the innocence of the young girls of the charge, the Minister of Justice should take up the matter with the Governor-in-Council and go into the whole circumstances of the case and the suitability of Mr. O'Toole for the office he holds. In our opinion public interest calls for action on the part of the Government.

Ladies' Costumes
Fall---1915---Styles.

Was there ever a more fickle lady than Dame Fashion? She is always making changes, and this season has surely surpassed herself.

There is a more decided change in this Fall's styles than has been known for many seasons. While materials are similar, Serges, Gabardines, Tweeds, Cord, etc., the designs are absolutely unlike any of their predecessors. Coats are of many styles, chiefly a la militaire, with high collars, snug-fitting sleeves, and the entire coat in some instances is beautifully braided. Skirts are much fuller, both pleated and gored, and are worn very short.

As descriptions are quite impossible, we can only say that we carry the largest and smartest line of Ladies' Costumes in the city.

The Deaconess, a devoted "Sister of the People" finds much to do among the sick and needy folk, and the church in recognition of this need, has set apart Sunday, Nov. 14th as "Deaconess Day." Services and sermons will be arranged in harmony with the occasion. In the evening, Miss Pike, a lady recently returned from musical study abroad, will be the soloist.

Has Germany Forgotten

Many tears have been shed by emotional Germans over the sad fate of Belgium, "which was promised the support of England and waited in vain for the help that never came." Now they are wringing their hands over the tragedy of Serbia which was assured of aid and received only "a few British and French officers, followed by batteries of little value." Has this sobbing chorus forgotten that Austria attacked Serbia before Britain was involved in the war?—Springfield Republican.

The O'Toole Case.

VERDICT AGAINST MAGISTRATE AND POLICE CONSTABLE.

A rather unusual case was heard in the Supreme Court yesterday before the Chief Justice and a special jury. The plaintiff was NORAH LARACY, a child of eleven years, residing at Harbour Main, and represented by her father, THOMAS LARACY.
The defendants in the case were MICHAEL O'TOOLE, Stipendiary Magistrate at Conception Harbour, and SERGEANT EDWARD LOUGHLIN, Police Constable at Holyrood.
The action was for the sum of $2,000.00 damages for wrongful arrest and false imprisonment. It appears that in July last the said arrest was made on complaint that NORAH LARACY and others had broken glass in a house at Harbour Main. NORAH LARACY, aged 11, and ELIZABETH LARACY, aged 12, were arrested at Harbour Main and taken to the jail at Holyrood and imprisoned over night. According to the evidence these little girls were kept in a dark cell where there was such a foul odor that they were unable to sleep.
The plaintiff, after being imprisoned over night was brought before Magistrate O'Toole next day. There was no evidence of her guilt, and she was released on condition that her mother would be responsible for her re-appearance in court again if necessary. Subsequent events, however, established the plaintiff's innocence and she was not recalled.
W. R. Howley, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff.
M. P. Gibbs, K.C., for defendant

A LITTLE TRAGEDY.

I jaunted in my motor car, and ran o'er Jimpson's shote, and from t' knocked the tar; I surely got his goat. I offered payment for the pig—'twas neither large nor fat—'twas Jimpson made the price too high; I wouldn't stand for that. "The rankest graft I ever saw," I cried with rising ire; "before I'll pay I'll go to law—a lawyer I shall hire." We went to law; the case was tried by Judges near and far; and now I see the lawyer ride in my nice motor car. I trudge along on weary feet, all burdened with disgust; the lawyer scoots along the street, and covers me with dust. Old Jimpson had a hundred pigs, that fed on cocklebars; they've gone to purchase gowns and wigs for stately barristers. We stood last night by my abode, to cuss the legal rich; my lawyer motored down the road, and shoved us in the ditch. For such a dark and dismal shame there's nothing can atone; the car that climbed my palsied frame was formerly my own. Oh, Jimpson, had a hundred hogs, and 1 a choo-choo cart; and he has nothing now but dogs, and 1 a broken heart.

Old Feildian Gets a Commission.

A prominent Old Feildian in the person of Mr. Harris Randell Oke, son of Mr. John C. Oke, carriage builder, of Prescott Street has received a Commission in the Army, having been appointed Lieutenant in the Royal Scots by the Russian Government. Before enlisting he was a student-at-law in the office of Mr. John Fenelon.

On Trial Trip.

The s.s. Bellaventure returned to port yesterday afternoon, having been on a four hours' trial trip prior to being taken over by the Russian Government. Conditions were very unfavorable, the fog being thick, yet the Bellaventure, which is looked upon as speedily and safely, having played the part of "rescue ship" at the terrible sealing disaster of 1913, ticked off 14 knots. The ship is now into dry dock undergoing further examination.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."
Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

BRITISH THEATRE.

An appreciative audience attended the British Theatre last evening and was delighted with the excellent programme. Mrs. Ayre's song "The Little Silver Ring" received much praise. The pictures were excellent subjects and were shown in a perfect manner. Altogether the show was first class and a large audience should attend its repetition to-night. On Monday night Mrs. Ayre will sing "The Lost Chord," so be sure to keep that night free.

AT THE POPULAR CRESCENT.

Hear Mr. Dan Delmar sing the latest novelty song: "If you can't get a girl in the summer time," at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day and see the big picture programme of five reels. Bessie Leary, the Edison leading lady, plays a wonderful character in "The Experiment." The Selig Co. presents an Indian drama: "The Lure of the Windigo." "It Doesn't Pay" is a Biograph drama, and the funniest comedy you ever laughed at is: "Ham and the Jitney Bus." You must see this show its great. On Monday a 3 reel Edison feature, Mr. Fiske's great stage success: "In Spite of All" will be screened. Take in the Crescent afternoon shows they begin at 2.15 every day.

SURPRISE NIGHT AT ROSSLEY'S.

At Rossley's to-night there will be a surprise turn. Don't miss this. Last night Carroll and Ellor, excelled themselves, and the large audience was loathe to let them go. The singing of Mr. Carroll just pulled the house down; he has a marvellous voice and the magnificent costumes worn by these artists simply electrified the crowd. The contest was the best yet, Miss Lily Thorne winning first prize. She has a very fine voice, and was secured at once by Mrs. Rossley for her pantomime "Beauty and the Beast." The pictures were splendid while the Rossley orchestra was commented on by all, under the able direction of Mr. Dan Roche.

Genius or Something Better.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

We fell to talking about genius the other night. Before we were through, the big lump that comes into my throat when I'm on the verge of crying, not because I'm sad, but because I'm thrilled by a glimpse of the deep realities of life, had arrived. This is the way the subject came up. Someone spoke of a woman who married several years ago a young man with considerable money and a tendency to fast living. She herself had been brought up in a good deal of luxury, but her family had lost their means, and she was suspected of marrying for money. About a year ago he lost every cent and had to take a minor position at a small salary. Someone asked how his wife was taking it, and Molly, the little stenographer lady, said: "She is wonderful. She does all her own work, takes the entire care of her two children, makes all their clothes and hers. Her home always looks lovely and their clothes are just as smart and dainty as those she used to buy in the shops. And more than that, she has helped her husband to give up his fast habits and, oh, they do seem so happy together!"

Molly Ends in An Exclamation Point. "That," said the Lady-who-always-moans-somehow, as Molly ended in an exclamation point, "is what I call genius."

"Amen," said the Cynic. "Genius?" repeated the Author-nan's wife in rather supercilious interrogation.

"If genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains, she most certainly has shown it," said the Authorman. "If genius is the ability to create something beautiful," said the Lady, "no one can have a better claim to it than she."

No Time For Self-Pity. "Or than Gertrude," said Molly, naming another woman whom we all know. She has three babies, and her husband makes about twenty dollars a week. Her home is one of the pleasantest and happiest I was ever in, her children are always neatly and prettily dressed, and she is giving them a bringing up that cannot fail to make them an asset to the community. She never owes a cent, and I have never heard her utter a word of complaint or self-pity.

"Don't forget Mrs. Dale," put in the Authorman. A Slight That Thills Me. "I should say not!" said Molly. Mrs. Dale is a widow. She was left with three children under eleven, and a heavily mortgaged house. She immediately began to take boarders.

She is a college woman and although she had to give up her clubs and everything of that sort, she brought her broad viewpoint into her family circle instead of giving it up, and made her table popular, not only because of the excellent food served there, but because of the delightful conversation which she stimulates. In this atmosphere of culture and self-help the children are blossoming forth, the girls into the sweetest-looking, sweetest-mannered girls in the neighbourhood, the boy into a studious and yet manly youth. Every time I see them on the street, I think, with a thrill in my heart, "She has her reward."

If this is not genius, the wrestling a beautiful and happy life out of hardships and deprivations and economic

The Kaiser's War Train

One of the many American war correspondents now with the German Army recently sent to his paper an interesting description of the special "War train" in which the Kaiser travels when moving along to different parts of his armies.

The train consists of seven coaches, which have armoured roofs as protection against air bombs.

One of these coaches is specially devoted to maps, of which there are over 700, so fixed on rollers that any one can be quickly unrolled and studied. These maps are all war maps on a very big scale, so that any particular part of the front can be seen magnified. There are also a number of smaller maps which show the whole area of operations. These maps are marked daily by the Kaiser with pins.

Another coach contains practically every war book published in English, French, and German. War news is cut out from the newspapers and pasted up on cardboard sheets for the Kaiser to read. The most important news is always marked in red ink.

The train, has of course, a special telephone which can link up with the main lines at every station.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous.

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisubated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisubated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

LONDON, To-day. Continued landing of British and French troops at Saloniki is causing uneasiness in Bulgaria and Turkey, and the Ministers of those two powers again protested to the Greek Government which took formal note of their protest. The determination of the Entente Allies in their Balkan campaign is shown by the large force they are sending to the Balkans.

WELCOMES BONAR LAW.

LONDON, To-day. The appointment of Bonar Law to the new formed War Committee Cabinet is warmly welcomed by the Times, Westminster Gazette and many provincial papers, all recognizing the appointment as opportune in view of what Overseas Dominions are doing in the war and the recognized necessity of consulting them when peace terms come to be discussed.

CAPTURED TURKISH VESSEL.

PARIS, To-day. A small French war vessel, having a crew of ten, surprised off Crete, a schooner carrying arms and ammunition. Forty-eight Turks, among whom were 11 officers were captured with all the men and material.

CHURCHILL'S RESIGNATION.

LONDON, To-day. The following letter passed between Asquith and Churchill: "When I left the Admiralty five months ago, I accepted an office with few duties at your request to take part in the work of the War Council and assist the new Ministers with the knowledge of current operations which I then possessed in a special degree which I offered to record upon the minutes of the committee of the Imperial Defence and memoranda which I circulated in the Cabinet, and I draw your attention at the present time to these; I am in cordial accord with the decision for a small War Council and appreciated the intention expressed to me six weeks ago to include me among its members. I foresaw then the personal difficulties you would have to face in its position; I make no complaint that your scheme should have been changed. My work in the Government comes naturally to a close. Knowing what I do about the present situation and being an instrument of Executive power, I could not accept a position of general responsibility in a war policy without a share in its guidance and control. I ask you to submit my resignation to the King. I am an officer. I place myself unreservedly at the disposal of the military authorities, observing my resignation is at the front. Asquith replied I had hoped you would reconsider your decision and regret to learn from your letter you have not felt able to do so. You have rendered services both in the Council and Administration which no one is able to better to appreciate than myself, with regard to the conduct and direction of the war, and I am sincerely grieved that you should think it your duty to leave the Cabinet."

ITALIAN STEAMER TORPEDOED.

ROME, To-day. The Italian steamer Firenze 3,975 tons, was sunk by a submarine, 6 passengers and 15 crew are missing.

HEAVY ARTILLERY DUELS.

PARIS, To-day. The following official statement was issued last night by the French

War Office: Artillery battles of unusual violence are reported during the day in Belgium, in region of Bus, in Artols district, in sector of Foss Calonne, north of the Somme near Sompiere, between the Meuse and the Meselle, and in redoubt of Apremont. There were no infantry actions in the army of the east from sixth to tenth November, there were many reconnaissances without any serious engagements. During the day of Nov. 10th, the Bulgarians subjected the railway station at Krivolak to violent bombardment. Upon the left bank of the Goina, we have captured the village of Krusevac and Sirkovo, in the region of Valandovo and Babrovo no event of importance occurred. During November 11th a statement of the Belgian War Office says "calm prevails along the front."

NO PASSENGERS OF MILITARY AGE.

LONDON, To-day. The steamer Lapland, sailing for New York yesterday carried no passengers of British nationality eligible for military service. Several bookings were cancelled because of new regulations which provide that men of military age shall not leave the country unless provided with passports. A few Irishmen who sought to board the steamer were not allowed to embark.

RIDDLED ANCONA WITH SHOT.

PARIS, To-day. Passengers aboard the Italian liner Ancona were compelled to seek safety in boats while the steamer was subjected to cannonade from submarine, according to a graphic story told by Dr. Griel of New York to Havas correspondent at Ferrysville. The American escaped only through her ability as a gymnast, she tried vainly to find a place in two boats but there was no room for her, she saved herself by dropping from the deck into a launch which already was in the sea. Her maid was killed in their cabin by gunshot. Dr. Griel's story indicates that the torpedo which sank the Ancona was not fired until the steamer had been riddled by shots from the guns of the submarine.

SUBMARINE LOST.

LONDON, To-day. An official statement given out today by the Admiralty announces that the British submarine E 20 has probably been sunk by the Turks in the Sea of Marmora. The statement says: Submarine E 20, which was on detached service in the Sea of Marmora, has not been communicated with since October 29, and fears she has been sunk. The enemy has announced that three of her officers and six men of the crew have been taken prisoners.

Mr. Churchill will review the war operations of the Admiralty during his term as First Lord and will justify the expeditions to Antwerp and the Dardanelles.

DR. DILLON'S WARNING AGAINST KING CONSTANTINE.

NEW YORK, To-day. A London cable this morning in the New York Herald says Dr. Dillon in a special despatch from Rome to the Daily Telegraph warns the British Government to keep a close watch on King Constantine, as it is generally believed in Italian Ministerial circles that Bulgaria and Greece have reached an agreement and that taking advantage of dissolution of Chamber, the King as head of the army may suddenly invade Albania and occupy Monastir. Dr. Dillon accuses the Government not to be the victim of treachery and false promises as in the case of negotiations with King Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

JOFFRE IN SUPREME COMMAND.

NEW YORK, To-day. The Herald publishes the following: General Joffre, Commander-in-Chief of the French armies, has been placed in supreme control of the fighting forces of the Allied armies is indicated by confidential advices said to have been received at the Imperial Russian Consulate in this city, yesterday, that French Generalissimo would soon take this post, if he does not already hold it, has been reported reaching New York from London for some time past.

Fair Play for Lord Derby.

London Daily Chronicle:—Surely there can be no question about the main point—that both Lord Derby and the trade union leaders, having responded to the Government's appeal, must be given a reasonable time and a fair field to show what they can do. Could anything be more unworthy of a British Ministry, or any responsible Ministry, than to invite public men to organise such an important campaign and then to strangle their schemes before they came into being? Could anything, we may add, be more fatal to the chances of conscription itself? For our part we dislike conscription, and believe that it can be done without. All, whatever their personal convictions, ought to unite to give a clear and unhampered run to Lord Derby, and also to the great trade union recruiting campaign.

Miss Rogers Becomes the Bride of Dr. Martin.

At the Elms farm, home of Mrs. Isa Barnes, yesterday at noon, Miss Margaret Rogers, daughter of L. A. Rogers, of Topsnam, and a former Houlton resident, became the bride of Dr. Stanley H. Martin, eldest son of A. W. Martin, Cashier G. P. O., of St. John's, Newfoundland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Kennedy. The house was prettily decorated with the late fall barberries, pines, carnations and chrysanthemums. The bridal march was played by Miss Clara Barnes while Miss Margaret L. Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Barnes, was flower girl. The bride was becomingly gowned in white crepe de chene with the bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms.

The bride is a Ricker graduate and made her home in Houlton for several years. Later Mrs. Martin graduated from a New York hospital and went to St. Anthony, Newfoundland, where she has been connected with the Grenfell Hospital. Dr. Martin has been assistant to Dr. Grenfell on the S. S. Strathcona, and to Dr. Little in St. Anthony Hospital, and the past six months specializing in surgical work in the Western Hospital, Montreal.

Recently Dr. Martin has been appointed by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to the field in Korea. Dr. and Mrs. Martin will sail from Victoria, V.C., for Korea, on Nov. 30th. The happy couple were the recipients of a telegram of congratulations, from Dr. Grenfell after the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Martin left on afternoon B. & A. train for their honeymoon, carrying with them the best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.—Houlton Pioneer.

The clergyman's thoughts are turned toward other and higher things than the investment of money. In such matters he usually acts on the advice of a parishioner.

The clergyman's salary, too, is not usually such as would enable him to build up an estate through investments in securities. There is really only one way in which he can bring up and educate his family and at the same time create an estate, and that is through insuring his life in a good company like the Canada Life.

On payment of the first premium an estate is at once created. The moderate yearly payments ensure constant protection, and the policy will earn handsome dividends throughout its lifetime if issued by the

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

"THE RELIGION OF PROHIBITION."

In the Trinity Enterprise of last week Rev. H. V. Whitehouse objects to the above title which I had used in your issue of 30th ult.

After playing through the whole gamut of impossible, absurd, and, as he says himself, insane meanings of the phrase, Mr. Whitehouse at length does me the justice to say that I probably meant the Christianity that was in Prohibition.

I am surprised that there was even one mind that could understand otherwise, especially as my article went on to speak of Christ's teaching.

Religion may be broadly stated as the art of doing and being good, and I frankly do not know that our Christian duty is better stated than as it was put in my former article—"A man should keep out of his life all that hurts and hurts the soul, and that he should hold the interests of others as dear as he holds his own"—though Mr. Whitehouse is unkind to it.

We all acknowledge God, but the true worth of our honour and worship is in direct proportion to our everyday acts. As for my authority for terming alcohol a great evil, I would point to Great Britain, France, to Denmark, to Sweden, to Norway, to Switzerland, to Germany, to Austria, to Italy, to Russia, to Andhra, and many parts of Canada and the States, and to the great hordes of Mohammedans and Hindus—all of which have dealt drastically with alcohol. Have these countries acted like this without reason? Mr. Whitehouse says that alcohol is neutral—it is neither good nor bad. I should think then that it is of no value, worthless. But in another place he agrees with an authority that alcohol is the very reverse of being harmful. He omits to notice that my words were "positively harmful to so many." Does he really believe that if all the pleasure and value of alcohol were put on one side of the balance and all the misery and unhappiness were put on the other that the former would weigh more?

There are men who can no more look complacently on while women and children lose their homes and their happiness through a man's drinking than they could look on a German entering their homes and ill-treating their families without trying to prevent him?

WHOM DOES PROHIBITION HELP?

It will help the man who drinks to excess, the women and children who suffer thereby, and the boys who will be the men of to-morrow. I dare to say that not one drunkard in ten is really concerned or conscious about his own condition—he does not see himself—he seems almost incapable of seeing the result of his drinking. And I don't state this fact at random.

Therefore I submit that the only way to deal with him is to take liquor out of his life altogether. God does

Hot Water and Happiness.

Hot baths are necessary for health, in summer as in winter. But in households whose hot water is supplied from the kitchen range, a hot bath cannot be secured during the summer months without turning the kitchen and its neighbourhood into a miniature inferno.

No wonder, then, that cook complains bitterly when nurse demands to have the fire made up, and that relations between the members of the household staff reveal a state of strain extending almost to breaking point.

It is here that the gas industry steps in to keep peace by means of its water-heating inventions, all or any of which, being entirely independent of the coal range, can give unlimited hot water at any moment without causing the least inconvenience.

Of all the boons and blessings that the twentieth century brain has devised, the gas water-heater is by no means the least.

THE NATION'S RESOLVE.

LONDON, Nov. 12.
 Reaffirmation of Asquith's pledge regarding the Entente Allies terms of peace delivered at the Lord Mayor's banquet on Nov. 9, 1914, was made by Sir Edward Grey to-day in a written answer to a question put by Sir Arthur Markham, Liberal member of Parliament for Mansfield division, Nottinghamshire. After stating how Britain's position was fixed by her alliance with France and Russia, the Foreign Secretary proceeded in our view the conditions of peace must fulfill those laid down by the Prime Minister on Nov. 9, 1914. It is very desirable that it should be understood once and for all, that this is the determination of the government collectively and individually, and of the nation.

ASQUITH'S PLEDGE.

Rumors have been current for some time that Churchill would resign his seat in the Cabinet and go out on active service at the front. He is a Major in the Oxford Yeomanry. Churchill was serving as First Lord of the Admiralty when the war began, and filled that office until the formation of the coalition cabinet last May, when he took the position of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the new cabinet. At the Lord Mayor's banquet on Nov. 9, 1914, Asquith outlining the war situation said: "There is going to be a long war, there is nothing in the long struggle to depress us in what has happened. Our enemy has tried three objectives, Paris, Warsaw, and Calais, and has been baffled in all. That is not enough. We shall not sheathe the sword which we have not lightly drawn, until Belgium has recovered more than she has sacrificed, until France is adequately secured against menace, and until the rights of smaller nationalities have been placed on an unassailable foundation, until the military domination of Prussia is finally destroyed."

CHURCHILL FOR THE FRONT.

LONDON, Nov. 12.
 It is officially announced that Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster has resigned from the Cabinet and will join the army in France.

CHURCHILL'S EXPLANATION.

LONDON, Nov. 12.
 Churchill, in his letter of resignation, explains that he agrees with the formation of a small war council, and appreciates the intention which Asquith expressed to include him among its members. He foresaw the difficulties which would have to face in its composition. He states that he makes no complaint because the scheme was changed, but with the change his work in the government is naturally closed. He could not accept a position of general responsibility for the war policy without any effective share in its guidance and control, and not feasible in times like these to remain in well-paid inactivity.

AN EXPLANATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.
 An explanation of the recent search of the American steamer Zealandia by British sailors off Progresso, Mexico, was made to-day to the State Department by Charge Barclay of the British Embassy, who said that the vessel was on the high seas at the time, and not in Mexican territorial waters as had been alleged. The Zealandia, Barclay told counsel Polk, anchored about three quarters of a mile outside the line of Mexican waters, and was headed by a party from a British cruiser and searched for contraband, an admitted right of belligerents. Barclay said that because the ship was flying an American flag she was not molested, although no document was found aboard to show her nationality or registry. These facts were reported to the British Admiralty, it was explained, and were submitted to the State Department for any action the States Government might desire to take. She carries a cargo of resin, which is used in the manufacture of explosives, and said to be manufactured chiefly by the Germans. There were reports that she flew the German flag during the voyage from Pensacola, Florida, to Progresso.

LEMNOS WATER SUPPLY.

LONDON, Nov. 12.
 When the first British expedition force landed at Lemnos, near the entrance of the Dardanelles they were surprised to find that the island, which has an area of nearly two hundred square miles, and a population of thirty thousand was practically destitute of drinking water except for uncertain supplies from a few small springs. The allied troops were supplied with mineral water which was sent by ship loads through the generosity of French women in Marseilles. The British authorities sent to Canada for engineers who are now engaged in sinking artesian wells, which will guarantee the people of Lemnos a reliable and abundant supply of water.

GREECE'S ATTITUDE.

LONDON, Nov. 12.
 All doubts as to what road Greece would choose out of the muddle, caused by the divergent views of her political leaders, and as to how the policies of the cabinet could be rendered compatible with the opinions of the adverse majority in the Chamber, to-day were dispelled by the public dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies. Greek officials in London and other points continue to assert that Greece's future actions depend solely upon military and not on political considerations. So soon as Greece is convinced beyond doubt that the Allies have produced enough troops to make possible a successful offensive against Bulgaria, and to remove the danger with which Greece would be confronted if she entered the war inadequately assisted, Greece will, so say her representatives in Europe, immediately range herself on the side of the Allies, and render all the military co-operation of which she is capable.

SERBIAN OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Nov. 12.
 The Serbian Legation in Paris made public the following official communication from the Serbian Government, dated Nov. 10: Serbian troops have occupied in good order the defences south and east of Kraljevo, east of Ivagnitz and also east of the left bank of the Morava river southward, where there was desperate fighting throughout the day of the 10th.

MONTENEGRO.

PARIS, Nov. 12.
 The French Minister at Cetinje telegraphs that all French citizens in Montenegro are safe and well. Communication between Montenegro and the outside world is extremely difficult.

BERLIN.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.
 Answering a portion of the Socialist party concerning the question of food prices, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, German Imperial Chancellor declared that the population of the country could be completely assured that the hopes of the Entente Powers of starving out Germany would be disappointed.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung recognizes the moderate (sic) tone of the speeches recently made in the British Lords by Lords Loreburn, Milner and Courtney, says the Overseas News Agency, but it doubts whether their suggestions, looking to a way out of the dilemma will lead to sensible peace proposals which, as is well known, many is always ready to consider. The Agency continues that the newspaper points out the speeches of the Lords were not answered, while three members of the British Cabinet in the Guild Hall announced a programme for annihilation of the German empire in spite of all political and military failures.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Appreciating the fact that the socialist party is possessed of sufficient supplies of food, the Imperial Chancellor declared that the authorities had further decided to remove all speculation in bread. Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg explained that the Entente Powers had deceived their nationals by misrepresenting German discussions regarding the question of food prices as signs of weakening in energy the German nation, which he said was sure of victory.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—According to reports from Athens, received at Budapest, the Turkish and Bulgarian Minister at Athens have entered a protest couched in friendly terms against the presence of Anglo-French troops in Greek Macedonia as not in accordance with Greek neutrality, says the Overseas News Agency. The Greek Premier replied according to Budapest advices that he took notice of the protest, and that the Government would do what was possible in order to clarify the situation.

MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn.—"I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have such tired, worn out feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. MABEN, 211 S. Spring St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Will Your "Boy" Spend Christmas "Somewhere in France"? Then help him spend it Merrily!

Nothing is too good to send to the boys who are serving King and Country. But let our gifts show thought and judgment as well as good-will and love.

Among the few really acceptable gifts—smokes and pipes, chocolates and sweet biscuits, fountain pens and tooth brushes, toilet and shaving supplies—the Gillette Safety Razor ranks as a warm favorite, for one of the real luxuries of trench life is a clean, comfortable Gillette shave. It's a luxury the lucky ones share with their pals, so send along plenty of extra blades. If he has a Gillette already, a few boxes of blades will go far toward making him the most popular man in his Company.

Welcome as it is on the firing line, the Gillette is even more keenly appreciated in the hospital. With it the wounded can shave themselves safely, easily and regularly. They certainly do enjoy the Gillette—and Doctors and Nurses can scarcely speak well enough of it.

Gillette "Bulldog" and Standard Sets cost $5.00 each—compact Pocket Editions $5.00 to $6.00—Combination Sets, including Soap, Brush, etc., $6.50 up. If you wish it, your Druggist, Jeweler or Hardware Dealer will arrange delivery through us, at the Front, of the Set you select, without shipping expense to you.

The "Adjer."

Describing the Duties and the Worries of an Officer Who "Pulls the Strings."

The adjutant—famously known as the "adjer"—of a regiment is generally the most important officer in it, for his influence for good or ill is even greater than that of the commanding officer. It is the "adjer" who pulls the strings of regimental life. He is the "power behind the throne" of the C. O., and his inefficiency on his part will quickly react on every rank and branch of the regiment.

The "adjer" is usually either a captain or a fairly senior subaltern of the regiment. Selected by the C. O., he is appointed for a term of three years, during which the orderly-room is his official habitat.

Some of His Duties.

As to the "adjer's" duties, he is primarily responsible to the C. O. for the discipline, training, and general efficiency of the regiment. He has his own "adjutant's parades" of the regiment, usually twice or thrice a week; he "mounts the guard," and closely supervises the training of young officers and recruits. He should

FOR Indigestion and Biliousness

Indigestion, biliousness, headaches, flatulence, pains after eating, constipation, are all common symptoms of stomach and liver troubles. And the more you neglect them the more you suffer. Take Mother Seigel's Syrup if your stomach, liver, or bowels are slightly deranged or have lost tone. Mother Seigel's Syrup is made from the curative extracts of certain roots, barks, and leaves, which have a remarkable tonic and strengthening effect on all the organs of digestion. The distressing symptoms of indigestion or liver troubles soon disappear under its beneficial action. Buy a bottle to-day, but be sure you get the genuine Mother Seigel's Syrup. There are many imitations, but not one that gives the same health benefits. 1015 be the last word in smartness, whether of appearance or at drill. The polish of his buttons and his boots should be the envy and despair of his brother officers.

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP

While he should be active and full of energy, and hard as nails, the "adjer" must spend many long hours in the orderly-room. He is responsible for the correct preparation and rendering on due date of all official returns and reports, and as there are about a million and a half of them annually—rather more than less on active service—the job is not a light one. He must know his way blindfold through such military "Bradshaws" as the "pay warrant" and the "allowance regulations." The "adjer" must have a silent tongue, for he has access to all confidential documents, and is the custodian of all regimental secrets.

Exceptional Qualities Required. He must have plenty of tact. In his official capacity it may be his duty to report officers senior to himself; he must contrive to do this without "getting their backs up."

The "adjer" must ever have his finger on the pulse of the regiment, and be quick to notice any deviation from the normal. At the same time, while nothing of any importance should happen in a regiment without the "adjer" instantly knowing it, he must never spy or pry, or abuse his official position. He must "play the game," and to play it successfully calls for exceptional qualities of heart and head.

Naturally, the "adjer" must have assistance, for no man could single-handed cope with his multifarious duties. For the musketry training of young officers and recruits he has the help of an assistant adjutant, but his more permanent assistants are, for drill and discipline, the regimental sergeant-major; for office work, the orderly-room quartermaster sergeant, the orderly room sergeant, and a small staff of military clerks. His, however, is the responsibility, for the "adjer" must stand on his own feet, and take the blame that is going. Excuses are neither expected nor accepted from him.

Doing a Man's Work.

What is the "adjer's" job worth? In money, its value is five shillings a day extra pay plus forage and groom's allowance. But to the "adjer" who is worth his salt the extra pay is nothing. His real reward lies in seeing the regiment "grow" under him, in feeling it respond to his slightest touch, and in knowing that in performing often thankless and most weary tasks he is doing a man's work.

Under ordinary conditions the "adjer's" work is hard, very hard; that of the "adjers" of the New Army battalions has been simply terrific. They have had to evolve order out of chaos; they have had to work with untrained staffs; they have had to grapple with the most unexpected difficult problems. Almost daily they have had to achieve the impossible. But they have done it, and the nation owes a very big debt to them.—Answers.

Whose Diplomacy Failed?

This is not the time to tell the full history of allied diplomacy in south eastern Europe since the beginning of the war, but the suggestion made by some of Sir Edward Grey's critics that all the errors were made by our own Foreign Office and that our Allies have nothing to reproach themselves with is so remote from the truth that it must be exposed. The secret of the failure of the diplomacy of the Allies is that in the three great problems which have faced them during the war—Turkey, the Balkans and (before she intervened) Italy—they were not at one, and they pursued not a single policy but several diverse policies. In all these critical questions the view taken by our own Foreign Office was wiser than that of our Allies.—Manchester Guardian.

UNREPAIRED WASTE MEANS DISASTER

Ourills are about evenly divided under two main causes:
1.—Unexpelled waste that poisons the system.
2.—Unrepaired waste that weakens the system.

It is a question which is the worst disorder. But this is certain. If you use up twice as much tissue, nerve force and vitality in a day as you replace while asleep it is only a matter of time before you face real disaster.

Very often this condition starts from some simple derangement of the system that sets up what the Doctors call a "vicious circle." Indigestion, loss of appetite, insomnia, "Nerves" and back to the starting point with chronic nervous indigestion and its inevitable consequence—unrepaired waste.

Our Volunteers.

The recruiting office continued its activities yesterday when the following young men offered their services for King and Country:

Marice Shea, St. John's.
Matthew A. Duddy, St. John's.
Patk. Molloy, Shoal Point, Trepassy.
Barney Bruce, Birmingham, Ala., U.S.A.

The total number of enrolments now is 2541. Indoor drill was gone through at the C. L. B. Armoury yesterday morning and afternoon. At the Highlanders' Armoury last night miniature shooting was indulged in.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Ayre, McNamara, Bradshaw, Mullaly, McGrath, Morris, Anderson and Withers were present at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

In reply to the Board's letter re the Court of Revision, the Colonial Secretary wrote saying that he would bring the matter before the Executive Government.

Mr. F. W. Knight for the Board of Fire Underwriters, wrote that if the Imperial Oil Co.'s tanks are installed according to the plans submitted, there would probably be no increase in insurance, the decision resting with the Local Board.

J. P. Blackwood wrote again re the McLaughlin property, LeMarchant Road. After a lengthy discussion it was decided Mr. Blackwood be given an opportunity to meet the Board. Mr. Blackwood also wrote on behalf of B. Bowering who contemplates building on the said property, guaranteeing to pay proportionate cost of instalment of sewerage.

A letter was read from the Reid Nhd. Co., in reference to a bill which was ordered to be paid.

Mr. McKay will be asked to further explain his proposition as regards the erecting of his smelting furnace.

Capt. W. Strong complained of the condition of the Southside and of the absence of lights in that locality. Arrangements for lighting have already been made.

The Standard Manufacturing Co. applied for permission to erect porches to protect their fire extinguishers from freezing. The Engineer will report.

The Reid Nhd. Co., informed the Board that they would do what was necessary to put the part of the street used by the railway in good condition.

Elishe Martin applied for permission to build on Mandy Pond Road. Permission not granted.

An application from S. Angel to build annex to house on Hamilton Avenue was referred to the Engineer.

Plans of wood working factory for Howlett and Armstrong, King's Road, were deferred for further enquiry.

J. J. Duff was granted permission to repair houses on George Street.

Plans of proposed dwelling submitted by Mrs. Fanning, Mullock St., were approved; and those of W. Connors, of Cornwall Avenue, will be further considered.

Plans of stable, submitted by J. Bishop, Pennywell Road, were deferred, awaiting a report the Health Officer.

R. A. Squires, for Mrs. Noel, Alexander Street, made claim for damages caused by flooding. The matter was referred to the Solicitor for report.

M. Malone requested the Board's consideration of the matter of granting him a pension. Will be considered after enquiry.

The Health Officer reported that there were twenty-four cases of diphtheria in the city. It was ordered that he be informed that it has been reported to the Board that the quarantine regulations are not being enforced.

After the adoption of the other reports and the passing of pay rolls the meeting adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

We Know Just How You Feel!

You need an engine for your boat and you are worried almost to death trying to decide which is the best one to buy. One fellow tells you to buy his machine because it is cheaper than others.

Another firm advises you that they have been in the engine business longer than anyone else and therefore their machines are the best.

Then along comes another chap with an engine which he claims is entirely new and better than anything else on the market.

NOW LISTEN.

DON'T buy an engine or any other piece of machinery because it is cheap; probably it has been made cheap.

DON'T experiment with new designs, let the other fellow do that.

DON'T depend too much on what any manufacturer says about his own product. Ask someone who has used it.

We would like to give you names of parties using FERRO Engines.

Write for catalogue with prices and terms, also ask for list of prominent men throughout Newfoundland who are using FERRO Engines. Ask them what they think about the FERRO.
