The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XXVI.

From that evening a very fever of unhappiness seized Hettie. She longed so intensely to see Leah again; her thoughts were always with her. Martin Ray began to complain bitterly of his youngest child; she was so absent, so inattentive—it was the first time he had had to find fault with her. She was always dreaming instead of working, thinking instead of doing. What had come over her? Nothing but an irrefragable longing to see again the sister whom she so dearly loved. Leah in her magnificence haunted her—Leah with the love-light shining in her eyes. Ah! how could she be so happy when she was parted forever from them? Did she remember them in the midst of her wealth and luxury? Did she ever think of them—she who had once loved them so dearly?

At last the fever of longing mastered her. She would not break her promise—she would not speak to her; but she must look upon her face again. For days she struggled hard to find a few moments' leisure; but Martin seemed to know that she wanted a few hours for herself, so he kept her constantly employed. At last it came, this leisure hour for which she had longed. Her father went out, and was not to return until after midnight. Quick as thought she dressed herself. It was just eight o'clock, and she would probably be in time to see Leah leave Harbery House for whatever ball or party she might be attending.

Those who lived in that noble mansion little thought that the fair young sister of their beautiful mistress stood outside for many hours, with a wistful look on her pale face, her eyes fixed on the great entrance-door. Leah had left the house before she reached it; but Hettie was resolved to wait for her return. It would have touched a heart of stone to see the patient figure walking up and down with tireless footsteps.

The stars began to shine; silence fell over the great city; the distant

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this letter,
Mrs. Rena A. Smith, Country
Harbor, Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicine I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

rear of carriages grew less. She could hear the measured tread of the policeman; the soft shadows of night fell around her. She knew she ought to go home; but she could not leave the spot until she had seen Leah's face, just once, if only for a moment.

At last came the sound of wheels; lights appeared, as though by magic, in the windows of the great house. The carriage drew up before the hall door and the footman descended. Hettie drew back into the shade as a flood of light fell upon the pavement. She saw the carriage door swung open, the general descended first, and then Leah. She saw the lovely face, more beautiful than ever, enveloped in a mass of soft white face. Leah made some laughing remark as she stepped from the carriage to the ground; and Hettie saw that she carried a bouquet of scarlet flowers, in her hand. In another minute she had passed through the wide open door.

Then Hettie came forward and touched the footman on the arm. "I will give you," she said, "a sovereign for the flowers which that lady carried in her hand. Could you get them for me if I remain here?"

The man looked at her in astonishment. "Do you understand?" she went on, quickly. "I will give you a sovereign for the flowers this lady carried in her hand."

The light from the lamp fell on her sweet, upraised face, and the man was more bewildered.

"What do you want them for?" he asked.

"Never mind," she replied—"I do want them. Do not waste time talking to me, but get them if you can."

"Look here," said the footman; "that lady is our young mistress, and I would not have any harm come to her."

"I mean no harm," she returned quickly. "I simply want them to keep by me after they are withered and dead, for love of her—that is all; but I do not wish any one to know."

"Oh, if that is what you want them for, all right!" said the man. "I will get them for you. Stand there; I will not be a minute."

Leah had laid her bouquet on one of the hall-tables. It was composed of scarlet passion-flowers. The man took it up and went back to the door. "Here," he said, briefly; and the next moment Hettie had exchanged her one sovereign for the faded bouquet.

How she loved her treasures! How she kissed them! Leah had held them in her hand, perhaps even touched them with her lips.

"It is all that I shall ever have to remind me of my beautiful Leah," she said to herself. "I will keep them as long as I live."

She hastened home, reaching there fortunately before Martin Ray's return.

In her own mind Hettie had decided to repeat her little experiment. If she could see Leah once or twice in each week, it would amply repay her for any trouble.

But her pleasant anticipations were soon destroyed. Martin Ray was not well pleased with his visit to London. He was not treated with the respect that he considered due to himself; besides which, his health was rapidly falling. He did not rest until he had left the great city behind him and was once more in his pleasant country cottage.

Leah did not know that her sister had seen her, and the little incident of the flowers had never been mentioned.

It happened that an artist, travelling in the county where Martin Ray and Hettie lived, had seen her, and had made a very perfect sketch of her face; this he had afterward made the subject of a picture that he sent to the Royal Academy. It was called "The First Glimpse of Morning," and it was one of the finest paintings exhibited that year. It represented a young girl looking from a casement window in the early morning. The gray and rosy dawn was in the eastern skies; the trees and flowers seemed to be waking from their sleep, and a few birds were on the wing. The window was wreathed with lovely roses; and the girl's face, framed in the green foliage and crimson flowers, was something to wonder at. On it there was the reverent look of one whose first thoughts in the morning had been given to heaven—a face so fair and sweet that one felt the better for gazing upon it. The golden hair and the blue eyes, the delicate bloom, the spiritual rapt expression, made the picture famous. Leah and Sir Basil went together to the Royal Academy. She was exceedingly fond of pictures. "Have you seen 'The First Glimpse of Morning,' Leah?" he asked her. "If not, come this way. There's always a crowd round it. There—that is my ideal face, the loveliest that could be either imagined or copied." Leah looked at it earnestly, and in her own heart she thought how much it was like the face of her sister. She did not know then that it was perfectly like her. "It is a lovely face," she said slowly, wondering if Hettie, whom it so strongly resembled, had grown up as beautiful as that. "Do you know," said Sir Basil, "that I see in it a great likeness to you?" "Do you?" she questioned, her face flushing warmly. Then, as though he had made a discovery that surprised him, he said,—"That face, Leah, has what yours in some ways lacks—tenderness." It was perfectly true; yet the moment he had said the words he repeated of them, she looked so terribly pained. "I am sorry that my face lacks anything in your eyes," she said—"above all, tenderness." "Do not misunderstand me, Leah—I do not say the heart—merely the lines of the face." "What do the lines of my face express?" she asked. "Courage, pride, spirit," he replied. "This face is full of yielding and sweetness." She said no more. But after they

LLOYD GEORGE'S APPEAL.
 GENOA, April 26.—Lloyd George drew an alarming picture tonight of Europe, which he said is seeking its level might to overwhelm the nations. Europe, he said, must be equipped by Germany, Russia and America. He said that up to two thirds of the population of Europe, and there was no frontier line from the Baltic to the Black Sea. I wish America, he exclaimed, not for selfish reasons, but because she exercises a moral authority. But America is not Europe and Europe must do her best to solve her problems. Urging the nations to install good will and patience, Lloyd George declared that unless Europe is reorganized, unless the Continent developed something equitable, the nations would again be in blood.

Fire at Westminster Abbey.
 On April 27, 1829, an alarm was raised that Westminster Abbey was on fire. At a little after ten o'clock at night, flames were seen issuing from the north transept, and as the news spread it caused a pang in many hearts. The anxiety of the moment was the difficulty of getting at the place that was burning. The Dean was out of town, but his place was well filled, and the mischief stopped. A cast of screen, used in the Westminster plays, was put away with other lumber, in a corner, and was discovered on fire, and in falling had kindled the boards. When an entrance was obtained the flames were climbing rapidly to the roof and it was considered certain that delay of half an hour would have caused the destruction of the building. There was for some time a good deal of mystery about the origin of the fire. The only thing clear at first was that is must have been done by somebody secreted among the lumber; but the finding of a mass of lead in a strange place, and traces of homalised shoes, were thought to show that some thieves had come to steal lead from the roof, and that the fire was caused by them.

A Great Prussian General.
 Field Marshal Count Von Moltke, one of the greatest Prussian Generals, died on April 24, 1891, aged ninety-one years. When he was 35, Moltke was sent to re-organize the Turkish Army and narrowly escaped being killed in the battle of Nisibis. In 1857 he was made chief of the Prussian General Staff, and with the help of his colleague, Van Roon, he practically trebled the fighting strength of the Prussian army by making the Landwehr (militia) an effective reserve. He also adapted the whole military system of Prussia to new conditions of war, which included perfect preparation to take the field—arrangement of the railway system for war—improvements in the constitution of the staff, and the securing of the best ability for the superior commands in the field. These improvements first bore fruit in the Danish Campaign of 1864, but were more conspicuous in the war with Austria in 1866. Moltke practically directed the operations in the field of this war, and largely contributed to the success of the Prussians. The Magistrate also issued a notice offering temporary relief to the sufferers, and directions were given to the destitute to repair to the Court House for shelter. The Rev. RELIEF ARRIVES.

About 12 o'clock on Sunday, two boats came into the harbor, laden with provisions, forwarded by several gentlemen of Carbonear, for the relief of the unfortunate sufferers, and in the evening His Honor the President, accompanied by Lieut. Col. Oldfield, R.E., arrived from St. John's. Portugal Cove—His Honor having received the intelligence sent by the Committee of the deplorable conflagration which had destroyed the town, left Government House at an early hour, after leaving directions for the forwarding of supplies and crossed the Bay in a small rowing skiff in order to make himself personally acquainted with the extent of the distress and to afford suitable directions and relief. This act of His Honor is the most prompt and paternal which we ever witnessed from so exalted an individual, and has called forth the gratitude and admiration of all hearts. After visiting the scene of desolation, His Honor, R. A. Tucker, President of His Majesty's Council and Acting Governor of the Colony, proceeded to the Court House, and remained in conference with the Magistrate and Town Committee, for upwards of two hours. His Honor embarked for Portugal Cove in the cutter Dolphin shortly afterwards. On Monday afternoon a boat with the following supplies, despatched by order of His Honor the President, arrived here to the Committee of Relief, for distribution among the sufferers by the fire, viz:—50 bags Bread, 10 lbs. Pork, 10 barrels Flour, 2 barrels Sugar, 1 barrel Oatmeal, 1 qr. chest Congo Tea, 46 tents and 1000 Blankets.

AROSE FROM ITS ASHES.

It is wonderful the energy displayed by the people of Harbor Grace in those days. In a short time the old town rose from its ashes—new houses were quickly erected—streets were widened and everything proclaimed that industry was in full swing. You will notice my reference to the great mercantile firm of H. and T. Danson. That firm (like so many others of later date) was commercially murdered. It from the commencement of the alarm, reduced to ashes. No lives were lost, but the loss of property was great, in consequence of the rapid progress of the destructive element, and has been, as accurately as circumstances would permit, estimated at the value of $100,000.

SIX HUNDRED HOMELESS.

The Established Church which had been considered the pride and ornament of the town, and was certainly the most handsome edifice of the kind in the Island, was consumed at an early period. It cost about $2,000 in building about fifteen years before

The establishments of all the supplying merchants in the town, with only three exceptions, shared the same fate together with all the goods and merchandise which they contained, besides seven retail shops. The Waterford Arms, Keefe's Hotel, and the Commercial Room, twelve public houses and upwards of sixty premises occupied by tradesmen and others were entirely destroyed. In all, at least one hundred families, forming about six hundred of the inhabitants were deprived of their dwellings in the short period we before stated, and reduced to take in the houses of such of their fellow townsmen who were beyond the reach of the destructive element and to a dependence upon public benevolence for that compassion and relief which their industrious exertions enabled them, in common with the rest of the community, promptly and generously to afford to the unfortunate upon every similar occasion.

LIST OF SUFFERERS.

Among the principal sufferers were—Mr. Foley, P. Rogerson, Messrs. T. Ridley & Co., J. & B. Henderson, W. Innot, J. Innot, James Prendergast, sr., W. Mitchell, G. P. Jillard, T. Marks, D. Candler, Joseph Soper, Stephen & Samuel Bennett, T. Danson, J. Knight, T. Dunford, John Richards, D. Donovan, R. Donovan, M. Green, F. Lynch, D. Keefe, W. Meagher, D. Green, H. Garland, Mrs. E. Garland, John Murphy, Mrs. Quinlan, Mrs. English, Mr. Grubert, Thos. Woolfrey, Mrs. St. John, George Bayley, and Sir Henry Pynn.

CARBONEAR TO THE RESCUE.

Indications of the alarming conflagration had been early perceptible at Carbonear, and much to their credit, the principal merchants and inhabitants of that town hastened promptly to the scene, and in conjunction with the terrified and distressed townsmen exerted themselves to render effectual assistance in the dreadful emergency, and prolonged their compassionate assistance until the flames became exhausted, retiring only when further efforts were unnecessary, with a promise of a speedy supply of food for the immediate subsistence of the sufferers. On this calamitous occasion, as soon as apprehensions of further danger to the remaining houses, had in some degree subsided, the Rev. J. Burt and N. Stabb, J. Stark Esqrs, the Rev. Fathers Nowlan and Berney, and Messrs. J. Fitzgerald, R. Anderson (grandfather of Sir R. A. Squires, Premier) and A. Mayo, repaired to the Court House, and proceeded to take every expedient into consideration for providing for the unfortunate, and it was immediately resolved to dispatch the cutter Dolphin to their countenances rendered the scene truly appalling.

INEFFECTUAL EFFORTS.

At the very first alarm such of the inhabitants, whose property was not immediately endangered, collected in great force, with the two fire engines belonging to the town, and after a fruitless attempt to subdue the flames upon the spot where they broke out, directed their attentions to the preservation of the extensive mercantile establishment belonging to the estate of Mr. H. W. Danson (now Munn & Co.'s premises), which was in its immediate vicinity to the westward, for which purpose the engines were brought to play upon various points, but the fire had got such a head before they arrived, and the materials were so inflammable, as to render all their exertions to check the progress ineffectual. A quantity of gunpowder was deposited here also, and in several other stores that destructive article had been imprudently lodged, which exploded from time to time, terrifying the people and paralyzing their exertions, and fatally increasing the conflagration by hurling the burning fragments, accelerated by the wind, to an astounding distance. The before-mentioned premises were now reluctantly abandoned, and the crowd retreated to the dock between them and Mr. Peter Brown's premises—here the contiguous houses were covered with blankets which were constantly saturated with water by the engines—the neighboring fences and pallings were immediately cut down, and by these combined efforts the fire first received a check, and the wind providentially veering at this time to W. by N., co-operated and at length happily prevented the flames from extending to the west part of the town—all the buildings, however, in the contrary direction, as far as before stated, except a few in the rear, amongst which were Mr. Parkins', the Parsonage, and the Newfoundland School were totally consumed. Entirely built of wood, containing great quantities of pitch, tar, resin and other combustible articles, besides being thickly interspersed with large manufactories of oil, they were in the short period of two hours

Harbor Grace Almost Totally Destroyed --- Phoenix-Like it Rose from its Ashes.

(H. F. SHORTES.)

I am to thank my old friend, Mr. W. H. Greenland, for placing at my disposal a record from which I am able to give some very important information about the great fire in Harbor Grace in the year 1832—the days of our sealing fleet brought in the history of our industry. Mr. O'Mara is 'over the top' with information, traditionally connected with the days of our country, but, enough, does he treat us to a recollection of the past in print. He does, his communications with the greatest interest by our countrymen at home and

Mr. Jenkins Took a Cracked Club To Tame Lions

The exhibition ended rather badly. It very nearly was a big day for the lions and a sad day for Mr. Jenkins—all for want of proper care in getting ready.

Many a man who has business to do and a living to make and a job to fill is as careless how he feeds his body as Mr. Jenkins was in picking out a club.

Some foods are too heavy, some are too starchy, many lack necessary elements and so starve the body—and many load the system down with fermentation and auto-intoxication.

Grape-Nuts helps build health and strength. It contains the full richness of wheat and malted barley, including the vital mineral elements, without which the body cannot be fully sustained. Grape-

Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely. Served with cream or good milk, it is a complete food—crisp and delicious.

Grape-Nuts is just the food for those who care to meet life's situations well prepared in health. Order Grape-Nuts from your grocer today. Try it with cream or milk for breakfast or lunch; or made into a delightful pudding for dinner.

Penalising the Trade

We direct attention to-day to a communication appearing on this page signed Importer, the subject of which is one that most vitally affects the future of this Colony so far as trade conditions have to be reckoned with. If it is the studied intention of the Government to extort the last cent from business men under the Profits Tax Act, such a determination is not calculated to produce good results in the way of carrying on the general business of the Colony: nor can it be argued that the cutting of the pound of flesh from off the body commercial will promote the prosperity that every true Newfoundlander desires to see restored. Conditions to-day are far from normal. Everybody is facing circumstances without precedent in the every-day life of the whole population. To extract then the last cent from a trade already overtaxed and overloaded with expense will have a most deterrent and disastrous effect on the business community. Trade like every thing else thrives on reasonable protection, and if that measure of protection be not forthcoming up go the shutters with the inevitable aftermath of employees being thrown out of situations, and either becoming charges on the state, or shaking the dust of an ungrateful country off their feet and emigrating to other lands in their search for work, thereby becoming irrevocably lost to their native soil, and by their loss precipitating the crisis which must follow their departure.

Good fortune cannot follow any penalization of trade. This Colony has experienced instances of this all too recently. The motto of the hour should be stabilize conditions, not demoralize them by insisting upon the payment of the uttermost farthing. Assist the trade of the Colony legitimately. Enable the business men to employ the population, thus making all classes producers. It is not for the Government to usurp the prerogatives of the commercial body and to become the employer of nonproductive labor at a cost which will reduce the country to irretrievable bankruptcy. But it is the duty of the Government to assist by doing everything possible, and consistent with economy in the maintenance of the public services, in lightening the burden of taxation, and cutting down correspondingly the load of expenditure. Persecuting the trade with a demand for arrears of taxes that should be remitted is not the quality of encouragement to offer under present circumstances. When firms through the stress of the times have to reduce their staffs of employees, surely that is not the opportune hour to take advantage of their misfortunes and insist that they must dig down still further in an already depleted trade treasury for money which cannot be found there, but which has to be forthcoming under penalty of the law. Such conduct on the part of Government is but adding to misfortune and driving the men who form the business centre of the Colony's trade into the deeper waters of insolvency, the end of which is the cessation of employment and ultimate ruin for both country and people.

Radiophone Concert.

The radiophone has at last found its way to St. John's and at frequent periods the fortunate owners of wire-les receiving outfits will be enabled to hear concerts by means of their apparatus. On Tuesday night, Mr. J. J. Collins, Marconi Superintendent here, gave a gramophone concert. It was heard so clearly at the Mount Pearl station that by means of an ordinary telephone, the music was transmitted back to Mr. Collins. Those who travel by S.S. Kyle are enabled on nearly every trip to pick up a concert which is being held in the States. Mr. Collins hopes to send a local concert over the radiophone shortly.

St. George's Day Celebration.

CONCERT AND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION AT BELL ISLAND.

Amongst the celebrations at Bell Island on Monday the 24th inst. in honor of St. George's Day was the presentation of prizes and concert held in the Church of England School Building. A very large audience was present. Rev. John Stead as Chairman voiced the opinion of all present when he expressed his unqualified pleasure at the excellence of the programme, which showed the careful training of the popular principal, Mr. William Shepherd. Capt. Leo Murphy of 'Ours', was present, by invitation, to judge the Barbell and Dumbell contests, for which special medals had been presented by Mr. J. P. Burke; these were won by Masters Wallace Bennett and Gordon Bennett respectively. A prize offered by Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., M. H.A., for punctation supplied a very interesting competition which was won by Master Hiram Bennett; consolation prizes being awarded to Master Hubert Uter and Miss Laura Normore. An exhibition of reading was reviewed by a Committee from the audience, who awarded first place to Miss Edith Warrilow. The prizes following the result of examinations held before the Easter vacation were presented by Mrs. Stead. Pressure on space forbids publication of the complete list but it is obvious that good results were obtained by the pupils. In physical training the boys have made great strides, and in their exhibition of Barbell work would have done credit to a city institution. After the National Anthem the audience were the guests of the scholars, who served refreshments and made ideal hosts and hostesses.

An Open Letter on Railway Matters.

To R. C. Morgan, Esq., C.E., of Winnipeg, in the Dominion of Canada, and of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, City.

Dear Sir,—The Contract for the construction of the Branch Line Railways was entered into on the 7th day of December, 1909, and it was confirmed by the Legislature during the next ensuing session. The contract price was at the rate of Fifteen Thousand Dollars per mile, but, contrary to precedent, this amount had to be paid in cash, on the completion of each five mile section. Under previous contracts, the contractor was paid in four per cent. Debentures, which he had to convert into cash at his own cost. The difference meant nearly a Million Dollars to the taxpayers of this country, for that is what it cost the Colony to convert its Debentures into cash. In other words, the Contractors received a gift of that sum of money from the Government, which, according to their own admission, they "financed" into power. I say a gift, because in my opinion under Section 13 of the 1901 Contract the Reid Newfoundland Company were bound to construct such branch lines, as were necessary, at Fifteen Thousand Dollars per mile payable in Debentures of the Colony. That position was argued in the House of Assembly by Sir Robert Bond. In reply to that gentleman's contention, Sir Edward Morris, Prime Minister and Attorney General, said he had consulted learned Counsel in England, who had advised him to the contrary. In rejoinder, Sir Robert Bond reminded him, that when before the Lyttelton Arbitration Court in 1902 the Reid Newfoundland Company's own learned Counsel advanced the plea, that under Section 13 of the Railway Contract of 1901, the contractors had to provide such branch lines "as were necessary to accommodate the Industries of the country," and he added that as lawyers differed on the question, the clear duty of the Government was to submit the question to the Judge of the Supreme Court. That was not done. (See Speech Sir Robert Bond in Evening Telegram of 9th February, 1910). Had it been done, in my opinion, a Million of money would have been saved for the country, which was the difference that resulted from payment in gold, instead of in Debentures of the Colony. Further, this remarkable Contract of 1909, provided that the Contractor shall construct at least fifty miles of railway during "every year of the period during which the Contract shall continue." You will observe, that it fixed a minimum of work to be performed in any one year, and left it to the Contractor, if he found it to his advantage, to double or treble the amount, no matter what it cost the Government to provide funds to pay him. It was a clear demonstration of the game,—

Remit the Tax.

Editor Evening Telegrams.
Dear Sir,—I notice by the newspapers that the Business Profits Tax Act is now before the Legislature, and that the object of the new Act is to compel the payment of the Tax on the "paper" profits made a few years ago.

There could be no objection to this during normal times, but under present conditions the question may be asked, is this a wise policy? It is interesting to note the attitude of the British Government towards business concerns during the past two years. The Government knew that if the last pound of the Profits Tax was extracted many firms who made heavy losses in 1920 and 1921 would be forced to suspend and their employees would be added to the ranks of the unemployed which would mean a further drain on the Government.

The decision therefore was that any firm whose statement showed heavy losses on their 1920-21 business should have their unpaid taxes cancelled and if the tax for 1919 was paid it was returned in full. In this manner millions of pounds were returned, and so offset some of the losses. This enabled many firms to keep their doors open and employ as many of their staff as possible.

Many Newfoundland firms are reducing their staffs who would otherwise be able to keep their employees if they had the Profits Tax returned or cancelled as in England. The most important question at this time is, which is the better policy; to force the payment of a tax on profits which no longer exist, or to help keep business concerns on their feet and enable them as far as possible to employ the rank and file. A closed business is of no advantage to the country.

Yours truly,
IMPORTER.

Lectured on Japan.

REV. CANON SMART DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS.

A very entertaining lecture on Japan was delivered at the Canon Wood Hall last night by Rev. Canon Smart who is here on a visit from Hearts Content. Among those present was His Lordship Bishop White. The Rev. lecturer dealt chiefly with the history, life and development of the Japanese, laying particular stress on the extraordinary pains taken by them to increase agricultural production by intensive methods of cultivation. The Japanese educational system was amongst the most up-to-date in the world, both as regards their Kindergarten Primary and University syllabus, and Canon Smart dealt exhaustively with the moral, intellectual, physical and spiritual development in the bringing up of young Japan. The lecture was illustrated with beautiful coloured slides throughout, while before the lecture slides of local celebrities including His Excellency the Governor Hon R. Watson, Rev. E. C. Earp and others were shown. A feature of the evening was the singing of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" illustrated by 21 coloured slides. Songs were rendered by Miss Mina Brown, and Quartettes by Mrs. Churchill, Misses Stirling, Legge and Major, and Messrs. McIlwraith, Seymour, Fitzgerald and Hammond, added to the evening's programme. At the conclusion His Lordship Bishop White gave a short address and the Rev. E. C. Earp thanked the lecturer for his very interesting discourse. On to-morrow night Canon Smart will again lecture at Canon Wood Hall his subject being "The Challenge of Islam." This will be illustrated.

Ships Still Fogbound.

EXPECTED THIS EVENING.
The disabled steamer Oxonian which is being towed to port by the Wintredian, was still off port up to press-hour awaiting for the fog to lift before entering. Yesterday evening the steamers were about 18 miles East of the Narrows. Cape Spear reports the fog lifting a little, and it is probable the ships will arrive this evening. The Oxonian besides having a large general cargo has some 750 head of cattle on board.

War Memorials.

The following letter which we have the liberty of clipping from the "The Mail and Empire" may be particularly appropriate to the subject when the subject of a fitting memorial is being daily brought to the notice of the people of Newfoundland. Mr. Ford, who signs the letter, discusses the subject from a viewpoint, and believes that any memorial should be redolent of life rather than turn human nature toward mournful themes. It is a simple matter for consideration in the sentiments expressed, being the subject.

A FITTING MEMORIAL.

The Editor of The Mail and Empire. It is with regret that ex-sergeant read that the vice-president of the Sportsmen's Athletic Association suggested that the new stadium called Flanders Field, in memory of those who gave up their lives for their country in the Great War. When I am sure it will not be a mere rink or a football stadium. It is very properly take the form of a memorial pile at the entrance to the Park of which stands the beautiful and dignified South African monument. But wherever it is placed it should take such a form as to be the imagination of even the wildest man, and give him at least a glimpse of the higher things, that are now felt by all thoughtful people that the suggestion to divert from the purpose, money subscribed to the memorial to the dead, by tackling utilitarian schemes for the better of the living, was ill-considered and unsound. To capitalize the memory of the dead, and to neglect the living, is unworthy of our traditions and our race.

The writer believes he voices the sentiments of all who are not through—and he asks your aid to "read, mark, learn and inculcate" the ideas set forth—express themselves accordingly, in the memorial comes up for publication.

It is no shame to be a flower; there is a use and utility; finer the soul that burns with rapture at the bloom, the more it is a blessing on the fruit.

Yours, etc.,
P. T. L. FORD.

CELEBRATE 100th ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING OF THE ORDER.

Large and enthusiastic gathering of the members of Atlantic Lodge No. 136 at the Colonial Hotel No. 136 at a banquet meeting held last night in the Exchange Building, celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Order. April 26th will always be a letter day for the members, as the date in 1818 the first lodge was formed in the New World was instituted. The meeting last night was under the auspices of Atlantic Lodge, J. M. Carberry, Noble Grand presiding. The regular routine business concluded the presiding officer announced that a social hour would be held, and the following programme was the order of the evening:—
District Deputy Grand Master, Bro. G. T. Phillips, P.G. "Ode of Welcome" as it was and is."
Bro. Wm. W. Gaulton, Noble Grand, Colonial Lodge.
Invocation—Bro. Chas. Rodway.
Reading—Past Grand, Bro. Chas. Udell.
Address—P.D.G.M., Ed. Spurrell.
Invocation—P.G. Wm. White.
Invocation—Bro. Arthur Tilley.
Address—P.G. Gordon Bradley.
Invocation—Bro. Arthur Heath.
The programme was nicely rendered and very interesting. The address by P.D.G.M. Phillips was indeed a fitting tribute to the noble band who initiated the order, being a recitation of the order from its inception to the present day. It is the intention to close the Anniversary celebration by attending Divine Service at St. George Street Methodist Church on Monday morning at eleven o'clock, when the Worthy Chaplain, Rev. Bro. C. L. B. Band will render the service. Visiting and transient Brethren are cordially welcome.

REPORTED DISABLED.
Last night a message was received by Messrs. George Neal Ltd. from Mr. J. Colbourne, stating that S. S. Mary had arrived at Catalina in a disabled condition. The message requested that immediate assistance be sent. The Mary left Bell Island over two weeks ago on a sealing expedition, having on board a crew of ten men, including Mr. J. Colbourne, a shareholder in the Steamship Company. The ship was reported from Cape St. Francis on Tuesday evening last, and since then her whereabouts were unknown. Some anxiety was felt for her safety, as it had been feared that she had been caught in the ice floes. The Mary was in charge of Captain Bourne, and was well provisioned and coalled. Arrangements have been made to have the ship towed to St. John's for repairs.

A Tragedy Recalled.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS SHOT WRONG MAN.
GENEVA. (Associated Press) — A tragedy that attracted the attention of Europe and America fifteen years ago has been recalled with the death, in an asylum near Berne, of Princess Leontieff, a Russian nihilist. The Russian Princess, who was known on two hemispheres for her revolutionary activities, shot and killed under dramatic circumstances a Paris millionaire named Muller, whom she had mistaken for M. Durnovo, then Russian Minister of the Interior, who was alleged to have sent thousands of Russian political prisoners to death in Siberia. M. Muller was lurching alone at a hotel in Interlaken when Princess Leontieff, who was only 20, approached his table and fired seventy shots. Her innocent victim fell lifeless to the floor, the Princess exclaiming, "Thank God, I've rid Russia of the greatest murderer on earth." The Princess was unaware that the real object of her vengeance, M. Durnovo, had left for Berlin two days before. She was sentenced to four years' penal servitude and twenty years' expulsion from Switzerland. After two years in prison the unfortunate woman became insane, and was removed to an asylum at Munsinger, near Berne, where she died.

Wedding Bells.

FAOUR-NOAH.
A very pretty wedding took place on Sunday evening last, April 23, at St. Patrick's Church, when Mr. E. G. Faour led to the Altar Miss Mamie M. Noah, daughter of Melin Noah of this city. The ceremony which took place in front of the main altar, was performed by Rev. Dr. Kitchin. The bride was given away by her father, while Mr. Kaleem Noah, uncle of the bride, supported the groom. The bridesmaid was Mrs. S. G. Faour, sister-in-law of the groom. The bride, attired in a silk dress, with overlace and carrying a bouquet of flowers, looked charming. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to New Gower Street, the residence of the bride parents, where a reception was held. Over 70 guests were present at the feast, and happy speeches were made, one being by Mr. John Noah, cousin of the bride. Amongst the numerous presents received was a purse of gold. Many valuable pieces of silverware were also included which testified to the esteem in which the happy couple are held. The Telegram wishes Mr. and Mrs. Faour many years of wedded bliss.

A DRESS BUDGET.

Do you have a dress budget? Yet that $200 really covers everything except silk stockings and nice lingerie, which she usually receives as gifts, and now and then such a gift as a fur from her husband.

When I asked her how she went about it she gave me these details. In the first place she has a budget for the year. At the beginning of the clothes year she goes all over her wardrobe, takes a paper and pencil, and tries to visualize herself about her various activities and plans what clothes will be needed the most.

Hence instead of buying some down she sees in a shop because she thinks it is pretty whether it is what she really needs or not, or instead of falling in love with a sport outfit that she will have little chance to wear, she really does get the things she needs most.

How She Saves Money.
She always manages to keep her wardrobe in such shape that she can renew it at the middle of the beginning of the season thus saving a great deal by buying at sales. She makes a business of studying the advertisements in her daily paper.

She takes a good fashion magazine and studies fashion tendencies in it so that she will not buy the merely temporary thing.

She tries to have as few clothes as possible so that she may buy good things. I have actually known her to pay $45 for a plaid skirt. That would seem high on that appropriation, but it was a beauty and with different blouses and sweaters it served many purposes. She has worn it three years, and it is still useful and greatly admired.

Keep to a Color Scheme.
Of course when she makes a large purchase like a coat she plans that it will last, at least, three years and divides the cost in her budget accordingly.

She keeps to a general color scheme of one or two colors and their shades, because it costs so much if you have to constantly renew accessories for a change in color.

She takes good care of her clothes, always using hangers, shoe trees, etc. All these are things which almost any woman could do.

But I must in fairness admit that one more ingredient goes into her success which not every woman could supply—plenty of time. She is a young, married woman without children and can and does spend a good deal of time familiarizing herself with shops and values.

Nevertheless, the very fact that one does not have unlimited time would seem to make a budget more instead of less important.

FAREWELL WINTER.

It has been a weary season, this old winter that departs. Spring arrives, and with good reason we have gladness in our hearts. Always when the winter's aging we grow weary of its curves, weary of its futile racing, and its presence jars our nerves. When the wind, in nook and cranny, howls through dark and bitter hours, how we yearn for Gentle Annie, with her apron full of loaves! When the winter first comes chasing, we pretend we like its play: "Ah, this cold," we say, "is bracing. It is good for any Jay; it is fine to face the blizzard, and it makes us young again; heat may suit the clammy lizard, cold is for the sons of men." For a week we smile and chortle as we jog through drifted snow; but our mirth is frail and mortal, and a fortnight lays it low. Oh, the night wind is uncanny, and it has a ghostly sound, and we yearn for Gentle Annie with a yearning most profound. Snow will do for crazed explorers who would find some sort of pole, but the spring winds are restorers of the weary human soul. And I sit here with my grumpy arm in arm we twain abide, and we root for Gentle Annie, gladly letting winter slide.

A little nutmeg added to the white sauce of creamed fish gives a delicious flavor.

Russian Grain Trade Ruined.

That the Russian grain trade has permanently passed, never to return, is the claim, interesting to Canadian wheat growers, made by The London Morning Post. The Post points out that even after Russia's production of grain is once more raised to the level of her internal consumption, cereals will be needed for the restoration and upkeep of her live stock.

"With this further and indefinite postponement of a net margin for sales through the passing of the Russian grain trade is, in the opinion of Mark Lane, an accomplished fact," says the Post. It goes on to say that Canada, Argentina and the United States have replaced Russia as wheat producers, and that the Argentine and Canada furnish the low-grade white oats formerly obtained from the Czar's Empire.

Whitbourne Notes.

The cold weather the past two weeks has been most unpropitious. It is good to see the lakes all free of ice once more and the snow gone, however.

During Holy Week daily services were held in the Anglican Church. The C. E. Teacher escorted the children to church each morning at 11 a.m.

Good Friday was a calm and mild day. The usual services at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. were attended by large and devout congregations. The sermons at Matins and Evensong were most touching and impressively delivered. The "Story of the Cross" was sung at 3 p.m., when many people assembled to watch awhile beside the Cross of Calvary.

On Saturday, April 8th, Rev. C. Jeffrey left for town to visit an old parishioner at the General Hospital, Mr. Isaac Chaffey, of Crabbes, St. George's, who, on his way to the Asylum, was with such a sad and painful accident on the express a short while ago.

Easter day was a cold wintry day with a high wind. "St. John's Church" was prettily decorated with evergreen and flowers, and wearing its white festal hangings, looked at its best. The "C.E.W.A." presented the flowers for the altar vases, and a friend of St. John's Church a pair of candle sticks. The Holy Eucharist was celebrated at 8 a.m.; Matins and Celebration at 11 a.m., and Evensong 7.30 p.m. The offerings for the day were devoted to "Queen's College Fund," and amounted to over twenty-five dollars, we understand.

Mrs. John Walsh, who had been a great sufferer from gangrene, breathed her last on Easter Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. Her sufferings were patiently and heroically borne for nearly two years, and the Angel of Death came as a welcome visitant to one so tried in the furnace of affliction. May she rest in peace. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. The funeral took place on Wednesday, 19th, to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

On Easter Monday evening the Church Women's Association held a concert, sale and tea in the C. E. Schoolroom. The clergyman opened the entertainment at 7.30 a.m., which was well patronized by the various denominations. We understand about thirty-five dollars were realized, part of a money goes to "Queen's College," sister's concert programme with songs, recitations and dialogues in a pleasing manner. The tea tables looked most attractive and the viands provided proved very delectable.

Mrs. Roy Jones presented her husband with an infant daughter on the 19th inst.

Rev. C. Jeffrey returned from a pastoral visit to Blaketown on Monday last, 24th inst.

The C. E. School under Miss M. Barlett re-opened this week.

The R. C. School, teacher Miss Hopkins, is also again in operation after the Easter vacation.

Sorry these notes, such as they are, were delayed and are consequently rather stale.—COR.

Wedding Bells.

The wedding of Miss Annie M. O'Brien, only niece of the Rev. P. J. O'Brien, Willess Bay, to Mr. W. R. Panning of St. John's, was solemnized at St. Patrick's Church, Willess Bay at 7 a.m. on Wednesday, April 19th, immediately following Mass, the ceremony being performed by the bride's uncle. She was gowned in ivory satin and georgette, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations, hyacinths and tulips. She was attended by Miss Bertha O'Neil, sister of Superintendent O'Neil, who wore brown canton crepe with henna plush hat. The groom was supported by Mr. R. J. O'Brien, brother of the bride. After the ceremony breakfast was served at the Presbytery. During the evening the happy couple left for Bay Bulls, where they were guests at an entertainment produced under the direction of the Sisters of Mercy and Rev. M. J. Kennedy and were given an ovation upon entering the hall. The groom's present to the bride was a set of taupe fox furs, to the bridesmaid a cameo brooch, and to the best man a stick pin. Many valuable presents were received by the young couple. They will remain at the "Sea View" Hotel, Bay Bulls for a few weeks before proceeding to town.

PETITION RE HERRING FISHERY—MR. HIGGINS IN HUMOROUS MOOD.

Several votes passed the Committee of the Whole on Supply at the House yesterday afternoon. The session was very dull and was confined altogether to consideration of the Estimates.

PREVENTING HERRING WASTE.
The member for St. George's, Mr. MacDonnell, presented a petition with reference to the herring fishery on the West Coast. He said that a public meeting had been called at Bay of Islands some ten days ago with Magistrate March as chairman for the purpose of discussing the tremendous waste of herring which occurred every year. It was decided to ask that legislation be introduced with the object of preventing the use of less than 2 1/2 inch mesh. He suggested that the large quantity of herring caught which was not available for use as Scotch Pack be used for the manufacture of lubricating oil, and that the residue be sold as cattle feed. The machinery for extracting the oil from the herring was inexpensive and easy to operate. The Government might consider giving a bounty to such men as would undertake to start a factory for the purpose of manufacturing the oil. Mr. MacDonnell also referred to the fact that there did not appear to be any standard pack for herring in his district. He hoped that the Prime Minister would appoint a committee to confer with experts in the herring fishery with a view to remedying the matters to which he had referred.

The Prime Minister agreed with Mr. MacDonnell that there was an enormous waste of herring and said that the Government would be glad to confer with him and get acquainted with the facts so that such ideas might be suggested as would benefit conditions.

CONTRACTS FOR SUPPLIES.
During questions, the Prime Minister had a busy time. He quickly disposed of a bulky Order Paper, however. With reference to the much discussed Mr. Moran, he said that he had been engaged as Railway adviser to the Government after he had resigned from his position as Chairman of the Railway Management Committee of the Newfoundland Company. Sir Richard believed that the Government had paid Mr. Morgan at the rate of $15,000 a year.

The Minister of Posts told Sir Michael Cashin that the answer to his question would be found in the resolutions which will be tabled tomorrow for the purpose of ratifying an agreement between the Government and the Commercial Cable Company.

The Prime Minister did not think it advisable to make any comment on expressions of opinion that had been passed at the meeting between the Government and the Board of Trade Committee. He told Mr. Higgins that he did not think the Government could see their way clear to assist the School for the Blind with a grant this year.

When the House went into Committee on Supply, Sir Richard took occasion to refer to the paragraph in the Auditor General's Report about contracts for supplies which had formed the subject of an acrid discussion on the preceding day. He said that both the Auditor General and the Minister of Public Works had been right. Mr. Berteau had referred to specific supplies, coal, milk, meat and flour. Sir Richard quoted from a letter received from Mr. Berteau in connection with the matter. The Minister of Public Works added a few words of explanation with which the matter was dismissed.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.
Mr. Moore asked if there were any truth in the report that Mr. W. H. Rennie who was secretary of the Hospital Board of Governors was also secretary of the Gas Company. He said that there is also a report current that Mr. Rennie goes to the Hospital for only an hour each day and that bills are collected by the nurses. The Prime Minister said that the appointment of Mr. Rennie was made by the Governors of the Hospital and in all probability, if the matter were in the hands of the Government, the post would have gone to someone else.

Mr. Walsh asked for a statement concerning the status of Dr. Keegan but obtained no satisfaction beyond a defence of the acceptance of private fees by the doctor.

A brief discussion of the question of roads and bridges resulted in a divergence of opinion over the proposed trenchment in this connection and ended in the matter being again dropped.

THE POOR OLD MOUNTED.
The vote for the Justice Department having been taken up, the Minister, Hon. W. B. Warren, entered into an explanation of the necessity for the much abused mounted police. He said that the establishment of the mounted troop had been found to be more economical than to increase the police force by the number of infantry required. Their services would be invaluable in patrolling the country roads. There were fewer men in the police force to-day than there were thirty years ago.

Mr. Higgins again poured forth a flow of humour and ridicule at the expense of the poor old mounted force. His witty remarks caused considerable amusement in the House. He suggested that the Minister should further consider the matter. He asked for certain information which the Minister promised to obtain.

Released on Bonds.

HUSBAND GUARANTEES WIFE'S BEHAVIOUR.

A woman who has frequently appeared before the Magistrate on a similar charge, was on the instance of Constable Curnew, charged this morning with loose and disorderly conduct. Accused's husband was in Court and Mr. Halley, who appeared for him, said he had given accused a comfortable home and was looking after her well. The husband offered to give bonds for his wife's future good behaviour. The Judge could not understand how accused should desire the street life again when she was living comfortably. He accepted the husband's bonds and released accused on suspended sentence of 30 days.

Found Hypogeum.

What are believed to be contemporary portraits of St. Peter and St. Paul, have been discovered in a hypogeum, or underground structure of the Roman epoch. The belief in their authenticity is shared by the well-known archaeologist, Professor Lanitali. The hypogeum was found in the course of excavations for the building of a large garage. It comprises a number of rooms and galleries, a crypt, and a Christian church with marvellous frescoes of a very early date. The professor believes the portals were painted from life.
