CAUTION.

The Cornwall Manufacturing Company have pleasure in intimating the complete restoration of their works at Cornwall which are now in full operation, producing large quantities of White and Grey Blankets, and Heavy Medium Class Tweeds.

They regret, however, having again to call attention of the public to the continuance of the disreputable practice of importing English Blankets and selling them as Canadian. These Blankets are made largely of Shoddy and Cotton Waste, with a small percentage of pure Wool, and though slightly in appearance, closely imitating the Cornwall Blankets, and ticketed "Canadian Manufacture," have neither warm nor wear, but can be sold at a lower price than the Cornwall Blankets which are made of Pure Wool can be produced for.

The public are cautioned against this attempted deception, and respectfully informed that the name of the CORNWALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY is printed on the ticket of every Blanket made by them.

Guelph Evening Mercury

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 31, 1872

Town and County News.

Mr. J. E. McElderry has received to-day another lot of those splendid Finnan Haddies, which are now arriving daily.

Quite a number of people have gone out to-day to witness the great shooting match at the race course, which is now going on, between 18 from the Town and 18 from the country.

Y. M. C. A.—The monthly public meeting of the above Association will be held in their rooms at 8 o'clock this evening, when Mr. Geo. Patterson is expected to read an essay. All are cordially invited to attend.

THE MASONIC LECTURE.—By a typographical error we were made to say that the Masonic lecture by Mr. Morris will be given on Wednesday evening, the 4th, when it should have been Monday, the 4th. The lecture is intended for Master Masons only.

HALLOWE'EN.—Time honoured Halloween, with all its old associations, its quaint old games, and many harmless amusements has come round again.

This is Hallowe'en night, and the young folks will no doubt be at their old tricks and sports, and even the elders will tend to a while, and take part in the games that gave them so much delight in their youth.

MONSTER POTATOES.—Mr. Mathew McPhatter, of Killeen, brought us in to-day about a bushel of the largest potatoes we ever saw. They are partly garnet chilis and partly a kind he calls the "Apple." Several of them weigh 1 1/2 lbs., and though of extraordinary size are solid and of good quality. Mr. McPhatter informs us that his crop of potatoes this year is splendid, and that most of the kinds above mentioned are much larger than the ordinary yield.

EXCELSIOR WORKS, GUELPH.—Messrs. J. B. Armstrong & Co. have just completed another of those splendid hearses which have reflected so much credit on the establishment. It is an exact counterpart of those previously manufactured by the same firm, with the addition of some exceedingly fine and tasteful carving on the corners of the panels. Mr. John Brown, Peterboro', is the proprietor of this very handsome funeral equipage, and another has been ordered for Mr. Little, of Galt.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—This popular periodical has been received from the publishers. In this number is commenced a new serial story entitled "The Parisians," which promises to be of great interest, as it will give an insight into the inner life of the Parisians during the eventful period of the Franco-Prussian war and the reign of the Commune. The other contents are:—William Smith; No. 8 of "A True Reformer"; the Session of 1872; No. 1 of Horatian Lyrics; and The Late Royal Progress in Spain. Blackwood is for sale at the Bookstores in town.

ACCIDENT ON THE RAILWAY.—Mr. Wilson, of Paisley Block, met with an accident on Saturday, which, had it not been for a much more serious character. He was proceeding by the railway track, and when near Mr. Hodgskin's old farm must have been struck by a passing train, for he was found in the evening by some men lying in an insensible state. On being taken home it was found that he was badly cut about the head, his collar bone fractured, and several of his ribs broken. He had a very narrow escape from being killed.

ALMANAC.—Mr. J. Anderson has sent in "The Illustrated London Almanac" for 1873. It is a gem in its way, beautifully illustrated, and contains besides four splendid chromo lithographs, also some well-executed portraits of eminent persons. Besides the calendar it furnishes a great deal of useful information. Mr. Anderson has also sent us "Josh Billings' Farmers' Almanac," which contains "moral truths and useful facts" for all. Both publications can be obtained at Anderson's Bookstore; also extra thick, very superior blotting paper, a large quantity of which has just been received.

CLEAN UP.—Now is the time for housekeepers to see to the renovation of their cellars and out-houses before cold weather freezes everything up for the winter. A little labor expended now will save a great deal when spring comes, and perhaps prevent the ravages of the multitude of pestilential emanations from foul cellars and filthy doorways. The scavengers ought to be at work upon the streets. Only a few days together of fine weather can be expected at this season of the year, and they should be taken advantage of. A little hard or disagreeable work now may be the means of saving life and money which may be lost if the work be left undone till spring opens.

THE STRAY CHILD IN MINTO.—At the last meeting of the Minto Township Council, Mrs. Allan McDougall appeared before the Council with a male child, about 6 or 7 weeks old, found by her on the evening of the 11th inst., in a fence corner on lot 95, con D, and nearly dead with cold. A resolution was passed that Mrs. McDougall be paid $3 per week to keep the child until the mother be found, or other arrangements made for the child's support; and that the Reeve give his order for $6 in advance for such keep; that the Reeve give his order to A. T. Armstrong for $6 for clothing, and that Mr. B. Heard procure a warrant, or take such steps as to him may seem best, to cause the arrest of the mother of the said child, or the person who deserted the same.

Local and Other Items.

Goderich is going in for the Western Normal School.

A fuel famine is feared in Montreal, with wood at $16 a cord.

A quantity of butter was shipped this week direct for Liverpool.

HAMILTON hogs have been attacked by the 200-200, and sausages are now sold remarkably cheap there.

LORD DUFFERIN has arrived safely at Ottawa, where he was met by his children, who have been brought out from Britain.

It is surmised that Mr. Gwynne may take the Vice Chancellorship, and that Mr. Beecher will take Mr. Gwynne's seat as judge.

An Ohio paper says that Colorado bags are sitting around on the fences offering 78 cents a bushel for potatoes, and a dollar a day for hands to plant them.

His Holiness the Pope has sent his blessing to Bishop Bourget, of Montreal, on the 50th anniversary of the ordination of the latter.

PROFESSOR AGASSIZ has been elected associate member of the French Academy, in the place of the late Rodrick Murellson.

PRINCESS CLOTILDE has received permission to remain in France. Her husband, Prince Napoleon, was expropriated some time ago by Thiers' Government.

The Emperor Napoleon will leave England for Madeira in spring, the royal yacht Victoria and Albert having been placed at his disposal by Queen Victoria.

EARL DUFFERIN has purchased from Mr. John Coote, of London, a very fine matched carriage team for his personal use, and paid Mr. Coote for them the handsome sum of $1,000.

It now turns out that Lieut-Governor Trutch helped to negotiate Sir Francis Hincks into British Columbia. What business has a Lieut-Governor to inter-meddle in politics.

The horse disease has so paralyzed trade in New York that fifty yoke of oxen have been procured from Dutchess County to convey goods from one point to another in the city.

THOMAS HUGHES has issued an address to his constituents of Frome informing them that he will not stand as a candidate at the next election for member of Parliament.

The Society of McGill University are striving to procure the services of Messrs. Froude, Tyndall and McDonald, as lecturers before they return to Britain. Similar efforts are being made in Toronto.

The customs officers at Detroit the other day caused 150 ladies to be examined on the ferry boats plying between Windsor and the city, and got an immense haul of smuggled goods, consisting of light dress goods, jewellery, etc., which were concealed about the clothing of the smugglers.

The Missouri Township Council don't seem inclined to pay the reward they offered for the capture and conviction of the murderers of Mr. George Campbell, and put in the plea that they are unable to decide who is entitled to the money, as an excuse for not carrying out their pledge.

TRIAL FOR SHOOTING.—Capt. Coote, of the schooner White Oak of Oakville, who shot Graham last month, was tried at Welland on Wednesday. The jury, after considerable deliberation, brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty," from the fact that Coote was acting in self-defence. Graham having rushed upon him with a knife.

EXCITING RACE.—A very exciting foot race, from Port Hope to Cobourg, took place on Wednesday afternoon between the celebrated runner Dave Hall, better known as the flying tailor and local orator; and a young man, J. D. Gilmore, of Quebec. Gilmore won in 45 minutes and 15 seconds, the distance being six and a half miles. The whole road to Cobourg was lined with buggies and carriages to witness the race.

THE EPIZOOTIC.—The curious complaint now affecting nearly every horse in the Dominion, and rapidly spreading among the equines of the States, appears disinclined to abate with anything like satisfactory speed. A few horses which some days ago were very sick are now convalescent, but very often those that appear to be well take a relapse which sometimes threatens to be fatal. The prevalence of the complaint is very depressing upon business, and will entail a heavy pecuniary loss upon commercial men. The popular query among citizens now-a-days is "How is your horse to-day?"

A SUCCESSFUL CANADIAN EXHIBITION.—Mr. John R. Craig (of the County of Peel) the well known exhibitor, has returned from a visit of the Fall Fairs in the States, having not only won many and high prizes by his animals, but sold almost the entire stock he had with him a very high price; of ninety Berkshire pigs he brought back four. At Cleveland he carried off the principal prizes, and at Springfield, Ill., he took seventeen first prizes and three sweepstakes; while at the International Exposition, or nine days' wonder of St. Louis, he bore off all the leading prizes and sweepstakes, though competing with the chief exhibitors of the United States. His success will not only bring remuneration and honor to himself, but credit to Canada.

M. Mario's present visit to this country, recalls to mind one of the sharpest criticisms of Madame Grist, at the time his wife, and one of the best bits of repartee on record. King Philippe passing through a room where Grist stood holding two of her young children by the hand, said gaily: "Ah, madame, are those, then, some of your little Gristettes?" "No, sire," was the reply, perfect in every requirement of the purport, "no, sire, these are my little Marionettes."

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Ravages of Cholera.

Marquis of Ripon on the Geneva Arbitration.

Resignation of Lord Penzance.

Burning of Steamer Missouri.

Considerable Loss of Life.

Louis Blanc on the French Republic.

The Sagasta Ministry not Impaired.

Death of Mrs. Greeley.

San Juan Boundary.

Non-Exclusion of Jews from the Servian Legislature.

London, Oct. 30.—The Marquis of Ripon, who presided over the High Joint Commission which framed the Alabama Treaty at Washington, delivered an address last evening at Ripon, in Yorkshire, upon the results of the arbitration in Geneva. The speaker expressed himself as thankful that all the points involved in the Treaty of Washington had been peacefully and amicably settled. He regarded this as a great step towards the preservation of the peace of the world, though, said the Marquis, the controversy between the two nations had been sometimes keen and eager, the feelings of the people as well as of the respective governments had never become embittered. He believed that the Arbitration of Geneva had been the means of inaugurating good relations between England and the United States, which would long endure.

The cholera has appeared at Wexford, Ireland, where one death from the disease has occurred.

Right Hon. Lord Penzance, Judge of the English Court of Probate, has resigned.

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—The race between Lucy and Occident took place to-day. The first heat was won by Lucy, time 2:25; the second heat was also won by Lucy. Occident distanced. Time 2:30.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—The Provincial correspondent to-day says the Prussian Government has determined to employ all its power by every constitutional means to carry the Reform Bill through the Upper House of Parliament. Upon the passage of this measure of legislative authority, says the provincial correspondent, the power of the crown and government are staked.

Key West, Oct. 30.—The steamer Missouri, of the mail line was burned at sea in a gale on the 22nd inst., at about 25 miles from Abaco, en route for Havana, via Nassau. Twelve persons were saved. The fire was discovered about 9 a.m. in the pantry, and suddenly burst in volumes of flame amid ships spreading rapidly over the ship. The boats were launched immediately, and all but one were swamped at once. These remaining on board were compelled on account of the flames to jump into the sea. Those saved landed in one of the boats at Abaco about 6 p.m. on the evening of the 22nd, and were taken from there in a small schooner to Nassau. Two of the boats were burned alongside of the vessel. There is no probability any of the others ever reached the shore.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—The cholera has broken out in Gumbens, a town of eastern Prussia, 65 miles south-west of Kongsburg, several fatal cases have occurred.

Paris, Oct. 30.—M. Louis Blanc, in an address to the Republicans of Avignon, demonstrated the necessity for the prompt dissolution of the National Assembly, and opposed the appointment of a President of the Republic. The Presidency being, in his view, a counterfeit royalty, which would perpetually endanger the liberties of the country. A rumor is afloat in official circles that Gen. De Cassey will resign the ministry of war, in the event that an equality is ordered by the President into the conversation of certain army officers at La Fare, who are charged with asserting that the minister of war and the members of his staff entertained strong sympathy for the Bonapartes.

Buda, Oct. 30.—The cholera is making serious progress here. Ninety-four cases are reported, of which 27 have proved fatal. Among the cases are those of twenty-nine soldiers, who were stricken simultaneously, and of whom five have died.

Madrid, Oct. 30.—A petition was presented to the Cortes to-day by one of the Republican deputies, asking the adoption of measures looking to the procurement from England of the cessation of Gibraltar to Spain. The Cortes has resolved by a vote of 124 against 104 to consider articles of impeachment against the members of the Sagasta Ministry.

Belfast, Oct. 30.—The Stoupechina, the Servian house of representatives, has rejected a motion providing for the exclusion of Hebrews from the Landwehr service.

New York, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Greeley died at 4 o'clock this morning.

London, Oct. 30.—A special to the Daily News from Berlin says: The three experts to whom the Emperor William referred the San Juan boundary case, in their reports to His Majesty, recommended as a compromise of the dispute, the adoption of the middle channel as a boundary line between British and American territory. The reports of the experts have not yet been published.

Hurrying to Death.

Hall's Journal of Health.

Very recently a distinguished professor in a Virginia University wanted to deposit a letter in the post office on the other side of the railway track. A locomotive was approaching, he thought he could cross before the ponderous engine could come along. He miscalculated the speed. In another moment he was a shapeless mass. Had he waited two minutes—half a minute, the train would have passed along, and he could have deposited his letter.

A young lady wished to show her friends how easily she could cross in front of a locomotive; she did cross, but her streaming dress caught in the passing wheel, drawing her back under its crushing weight.

One afternoon about sundown, a young wife was looking out of the window of her beautiful country home for the return of her young husband from the city. For the six months of their married life just past, they had been busily fixing up their country place; both were young, both were healthy; the husband was in business on his own account, with every prospect of increasing success. She saw him get out of the cars, and passed down stairs to meet him at the door; but when she reached it he was not there. She thought he was playing her a little trick; she called for him, playfully, affectionately, but there was no answer; she saw a crowd of men approach the gate, open it, come up the path, with her dead husband. He did alight from the cars, and safely stepped on the platform before the station. There was a train coming in an opposite direction; he thought he had plenty of time to cross in front of it, and did cross in front of it, and did cross, except by one single inch; the wheel struck the heel of his boot, wheeled him round under the cars, and all was over; one minute longer and he could have crossed with the locomotive behind him.

Limbs are broken, lives are lost every year, in every large city, by attempting to cross in front of a moving horse or vehicle; an infatuation seems to come across many under such circumstances, as if they were willing to risk limb and life itself to save one single sixty seconds.

Riel and Cartier.

(From the Manitoba Liberal)

Up to a short time previous to the election in Provencher, the Ministerial papers strove hard to convince the people that Louis Riel was running on the opposition ticket. They attempted to lead their readers to believe that John A. and Sir George repudiated all connection with the murderers, Attorney-General Clarke was brought out as if were to oppose him. These two worthies canvassed the county together, and pretended at times to speak harshly of each other, but they made sure that their words never came to blows. Clarke was an office-seeking Ministerial, and Riel was a warm supporter of Cartier, and wanted an amnesty. The result of the canvass showed that Riel's election was sure, and unless Mr. McMillen came to the rescue, he (Riel) would take his seat on the Ministerial side of the House, and Sir John and his government would be placed in a tight fix. Telegrams followed each other in rapid succession from Ottawa, and this celebrated Corruptionist, who happily monopolises a plurality of offices in this Province, of which we will name a few, Receiver-General, Land Agent, Head Detective, Crown Marshal, Treasurer of Police and Dominion Banker and Broker, &c., &c., thought well in the interests of the country at large to let these different offices go to pot, while he should go up to Provencher and regulate Riel's amnesty and Clarke's judgeship, and Cartier's election. Inside of ten minutes after his arrival at the place of nomination, and with only a few minutes' conversation, Riel resigned in favor of the gallant knight, and Clarke followed suit, and Sir George was duly declared candidate elect for the large and important and flourishing county of Provencher. Riel is now to adorn the Local as a free citizen of the Dominion, Clarke is to get a judgeship, and the other candidate, B. C., is to get something in the distance. Mr. G. McMillen has, if not before, at least proved himself at last election a very useful man to Sir John; and if the above half dozen of offices are not a sufficient reward, we would humbly suggest that in addition he be appointed Commissioner of the Pacific Railway and Governor-in-Chief over all the north-west territories, with a large residence erected at Government expense, surrounded with five hundred acres of land at Point Douglas, in which he seems to have taken such great interest of late. Then we shall be able, on the requisition of two magistrates to afford him a guard of 100 men, to stand sentry over his excellency, and protect his immense salaries from these horrid Canadians.

The Ontario Government as Viewed by Outsiders.

The Montreal Witness speaking of the new Local Government says:—Ontario may congratulate herself on having risen at the head of affairs whose character and antecedents give every prospect that they will promote the interest of the Province and see equal justice done to all classes. Mr. Movat's character, both public and private, is above suspicion; but the Opposition organs are trying to make a case out of his quitting the Bench for politics, alleging that in thus acting he has degraded the former, and hint that he must have been influenced by political leanings in his decisions as Vice-Chancellor. When a politician, say they, is promoted to the Bench, he is expected to lay aside all his former party bias and become rigidly impartial; and should he afterwards re-enter the political arena it is to be supposed that he has preserved his political attachments intact, and his judicial acts have suffered detriment thereby. Now this is absurd. It is not to be supposed that because a judge is of one party stripe or other his judgments will be affected accordingly. The Lord Chancellor of England has a double capacity of politician and judge, and goes out with the party he is attached to, and has, therefore, a decided political bias; but we never hear that his legal decisions or impartiality as a judge are challenged on that score. It is rather to be supposed that the habit of weighing conflicting claims in the scales of justice will have added a calmness and accuracy to Mr. Movat's judgments that will tend to enhance his ability as a statesman and administrator.

Municipal Loan Fund.

We understand that the interview yesterday, between the Provincial Treasurer, and the Mayor, the Clerk and Mr. Massie, in regard to the payment of our indebtedness to the Municipal Loan Fund, was of a very satisfactory character; also that the whole question is in a fair way of being settled.

Editorial Items.

Mr Mowat will make his first public speech on his return to political life, at the Reform Banquet to be held in Toronto on the 13th November.

President Grant has signed a proclamation declaring that all the provisions of the Acts imposing discriminating foreign tonnage and import duties in the United States are revived, and shall henceforth be and remain in full force as relates to goods and merchandise imported into the United States in French vessels from countries other than France, so long as any discriminating duties shall continue to be imposed by France upon goods and merchandise imported into France in vessels of the United States from countries other than the United States.

The death of Mrs Horace Greeley, wife of the Liberal candidate for the Presidency, which is announced in to-day's telegram, will be read, at the present juncture with special regret, occurring, as it did, almost on the eve of the Presidential election, which may result in placing her husband in the highest office in the gift of the American people. The blow must fall upon Mr Greeley himself with special force under the circumstances.

The Accident on the Great Western.

Further particulars are received of the accident on the Great Western Railway, at Beamsville, on Tuesday. There is no doubt that the passengers owe their safety to the great strength of the Pullman and Wagner cars; for had they broken up, the loss of life must have been fearful. Two of the first class passenger cars left the track, but did not go down the embankment. The accident was undoubtedly caused by the spreading out of the wing rail of the frog, at which the cars went off. There were no broken rails or axles, which makes it evident that the spreading of the rails was the only cause. The track at this point is in excellent condition, and what force was brought to bear on the wing rail to make it spread has not transpired. Mr. Furness, conductor of the train, received serious injury, causing concussion of the brain; he is at the station-master's house, and on Wednesday afternoon was reported to be somewhat better, though still lying in a precarious condition. Most of the other passengers injured were Americans going west. Their injuries are not of a serious character, and most of them will be able to resume their journey in a day or two. Within an hour after a telegram was sent, a train with six medical men, supplies for wounded, and men to repair the track arrived. Medical men from Grimsby and St. Catharines rendered prompt assistance.

An American View of Manitoba.

From the St. Paul Dispatch. Last evening a number of weather-beaten citizens of St. Paul returned from a trip to the Red River country and Manitoba. The party consisted of Capt. Hawkins and C. S. Dunker, Geo. S. Acker, Col. Remmy, of New York, and others whose names have not been ascertained. The St Paul delegation report themselves as pleased and surprised at the magnificence and fertility of the Red River country, and the trip has been a thoroughly enjoyable one in every respect.

Work on the St Vincent extension of the St Paul and Pacific road has been suspended for the season, the last member of the engineering corps returning with the party to St Paul. The track has been laid twenty miles north west of Cookville or Red Lake Crossing, but trains are not to be run further north than the crossing where they connect with the steamers to Fort Garry. The people are surprised and disappointed at the suspension of work on the line, but take courage from the fact that the suspension is only temporary.

Captain Hawkins, from whom these particulars have been obtained, states an immense quantity of freight is being forwarded by rail and river to the merchants of the Red River and Winnipeg, there being now stored and awaiting transportation at the Crossing, 200 tons of freight, the major portion of it being bonded goods from the English markets.

The boats make the round trip from the Crossing to Fort Garry and return in about twelve days, but their capacity being limited, they are unable to move the freight as fast as it arrives by rail.

There is a great tide of emigration to the Red River Valley and Manitoba, and it is confidently predicted that they will soon become two of the garden spots of the continent.

As an indication of the productivity of the soil, the fact may be mentioned that fifty bushels of wheat per acre have been raised in Manitoba this year, and the grain of the best quality.

The party speak in highest terms of the hospitality of the old settlers of Manitoba—many of whom left Scotland long years ago, and have lived continuously at their homes in the north, without bothering themselves with the turmoils of the outer world. Among those living in Manitoba since 1842, is John Inkster, a hale and hospitable Scot, who has dug $200,000 out of his farm, and seems able to add to his pile in his days to come on earth. He is a model in his demeanor and hospitality, but neither knew the name of our President nor the air of our Star Spangled Banner; he has never seen a locomotive, and imports the little he takes of liquor directly from Europe. Old-fashioned pianos and agricultural machinery are found in the settlements. Capt. Hawkins sang a Scotch ballad for honest John Inkster, and the old gentleman seemed highly delighted with this remembrance of Lang Syne; in fact, so grateful was he for it that he presented his guests with a flagon of port wine forty days old. After leaving Inkster's hospitable hearth, the party had occasion to cross the Assiniboine River, and, in doing so, Capt Hawkins accidentally fell in. The Capt speaks positively, but with a vein of sadness, when he saw that Capt Bunker and George Acker were prompt to save the wine first, and then devote a little attention to himself. The gentlemen return greatly pleased with the country visited and the people, and hope to repeat the experiment at some future day.

The Proposed new General Hospital.

To the Editor of the Mercury. Sir,—In to-day's Herald I notice that the Editor asks for information relative to the Guelph General Hospital. This Hospital was incorporated by Act of Parliament in 1861, but the act of incorporation has never been carried out. The act of incorporation appoints the clergy of the different denominations, with other citizens, as provisional directors, who are empowered to act until such time as directors are appointed and the institution got into working order. The Directors, twelve in number, are to be chosen by ballot of subscribers and donors within one month after the obtaining of one hundred subscribers at the annual sum of four dollars or more each. It also gives this corporation power to hold land, receive donations from any municipal corporation in the counties of Wellington, Grey, Waterloo and Bruce, or from private individuals as a legacy to said institution, and in other respects gives it similar powers to like institutions.

It is evident to any one who takes an interest in such matters that a General Hospital is required in this Town. St. Joseph's is not an Hospital in the proper acceptance of the term. It is a sectarian institution, under the management of individuals who may close its doors to any deserving person unless the individual is able to pay for all he requires. What we want is an Hospital non-sectarian, open to all, whose very necessities make them an object of charity, and where they can be visited by their friends and respective pastors. This is the age of progress and liberality, and sorry should I be to think that any of our citizens were so bigoted as to wish for a strictly Protestant Hospital. Let every afflicted being feel, whether he is Protestant or Catholic, that he has a perfect right to demand admittance to an institution founded and supported by the liberality of the Government and people of this country. Hoping that our citizens will take sufficient interest to allow of our Hospital being opened before winter, I am respectfully yours, A RATEPAYER. Guelph, Oct. 30, 1872.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.—The old Mexican silver dollar has for a long time borne a premium of five to eight per cent. in many countries on account of its weight and great purity. It has been at par in all markets, and no coin has been more sought after than that of Mexico. It is largely used for export, and has already gained a wide circulation in several of the Oriental countries. The American Government has undertaken to compete with Mexico in the matter of standard coin. It is reported that the mint at San Francisco is now coining a silver dollar which is worth six per cent more than the old dollar, and which is especially designed for circulation in China, where the want of silver coin has been much felt. It will be received in that country on the same terms as the standard Mexican dollar.

Cross & Co.'s cotton mill, at Bolton, Lancashire, were destroyed by fire on the night of the 26th. These mill, which were among the most extensive in the town, and employed 41,000 spindles. A large number of operatives have been thrown out of work by the conflagration.

CHAPTER XXIII.
A TERRIBLE INTERVIEW.

The repeated interference of Nathan Garrett had nettled Harry not a little, and the marked influence which these interferences had on his father's temper increased his resentment. It was therefore in few and curt words that he described the opening of the packet and its contents, though he could notice that both Garrett and his father—especially the former—listened to his brief recital with the most keen and eager interest. When he ceased it was on the tip of Nathan's tongue to ask after the youth who had learned by the packet that he was not Kenneth's son. Prudence, however, restrained the question, yet he looked towards Stephen significantly, expecting him to ask it. Stephen's inward rage was, however, again surging up against his son, and under the influence of that, he had lost sight of all else, though enlightenment was coming in a manner they did not expect.

"And pray," he demanded, with compressed lips, "why have you come now to announce this disgraceful marriage? You did not inform me beforehand, for a reason we can all well understand; but seeing that some months have elapsed, during which you have not thought it worth while to acquaint me with the fact, why have you come to do it now?"

"I did not come here for that purpose," answered Harry quietly.

"You did not?"

"No. The terms on which we have stood for years made it in my judgment, unnecessary to acquaint you with my marriage; and I intimated it on my entrance only to prepare my way for my real business."

"Oh, indeed, sir," returned his father, putting a strong but very obvious curb on his boiling wrath. "And your real business—what may its nature be?"

"It concerns my sister Lillias," answered Harry promptly, and as he spoke he consciously gathered together his inward strength, for he knew that now a contest was at hand.

"I have come," he added, "to remonstrate with you against the project of marrying her to Duncan Ralston."

"Oh!" exclaimed his father, and drew a long breath. "Then let me inform you that you have taken a long and useless journey; and you can return at once from whence you came."

"Not so, father," answered Harry; "I am resolved to—"

"Silence, sir; I will not listen to another word. You have insulted, defied and thwarted me so far, but your insolence has reached its almost possible limit. Leave the house, I say, and let me see you no more."

"I am ready to do so, sir, but Lillias goes with me. Nay, storm not, threaten not. My sister shall not be forced into this abhorrent marriage."

"Shall not?" roared his father.

"Ay, shall not."

"Who shall hinder it?"

"I shall. If we have the misfortune to be the offspring of a selfish and unscrupulous man, we are no longer children, to be the victims of his infuriate will. She is weak, and might be helpless to resist; but I, who know her rights, am determined to protect her. I am here for no other purpose. Expel me from the house, if you will. I am ready to go, but in that case, Lillias must go with me."

"She shall not. By heaven, this insolent rebellion shall be crushed, and to do it at once and effectively, Lillias and Duncan Ralston shall be married within a month. That is my answer. Now go, or the servants shall be summoned to eject you."

"Very well, father. You compel me to take a step which will not only defeat your purpose but bring the matter under the public gaze. Lillias has empowered me to invoke the aid of the law in her name. And you cannot be so ignorant of legal matters as not to know that the law will prevent you from exercising such power as you contemplate. Lillias, though still a minor, has a woman's rights. Prevent her from going with me, and a sheriff's warrant shall speedily open the door for her exit."
