Guelph Evening Mercury
FRIDAY EV'NG, FEB. 20, 1874

Town and County News
We are sorry to hear that Mr. Chance is rather worse, having passed a restless and delirious night.

The Forpus Brass Band has purchased from the maker, Mr. Leonard Allan, of East Garafraxa, the drum which was awarded first prize at the Provincial Exhibition held in London last year.

ACCIDENT AT HARRISTON.—In the machine shops of Mr. R. G. Lambert, on Thursday, Donald Smith, one of the workmen, had one of his hands badly smashed by being caught in the machinery.

MOUNT FOREST CATTLE FAIR.—The organization for the proposed fair is progressing favorably, and an executive committee has been appointed, which will report to the Directors at a meeting to be held on Wednesday, March 18.

THE POULTRY SHOW.—The Poultry Association of Quebec have sent word to the President of the Guelph Association that they intend to send a deputation to the Show at Guelph next month. Our Guelph men have decided to give them a hearty reception.

GEORGETOWN ACADEMY.—The Literary Society of the Institute was reorganized on Friday evening last. Mr. C. Ross, was elected president and Mr. W. Small Secretary and Treasurer. The Society has been carried on successfully for the past two years by the students, and is now entered into with fresh vigor.

TOWN HALL TONIGHT.—We remind our readers of the annual tea-meeting of the British Methodist Episcopal church, to be held in the town hall to-night. A good tea will be provided, and ministers from Nova Scotia and London will address the meeting. The church needs support, and every visitor will help.

A serious accident happened on Saturday to Mr. Chisholm, of Rothsay. He was driving along the gravel road towards Harriston with another gentleman from the same place, when both were thrown out of the cutter. Mr. Chisholm received very severe injuries about the head and face, and for a time his life was despaired of. He is recovering slowly.

HONOUR AMONG CURLIERS.—It is a cardinal point in the curliers' creed to punctually fulfil all engagements. The Guelph Club justly complain that their brethren in Elora have not stood by theirs. They agreed to play the Guelph men here on Thursday, but telegraphed late on Wednesday night that they could not come, and that they would write and explain. But as yet no explanation has been received.

Y. M. C. A.—On Thursday evening last a general meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in their rooms. After the business had been transacted, Mr. Miller read an essay on "Total Abstinence." As was anticipated by some, it proved to be a treat, something entirely new, and nothing like the usual thread-bare speeches on this subject. The essay evinced careful study, and was entirely original to Mr. Miller, and was listened to with great attention. We are sorry that the attendance was not larger.

The death of Mr. Alexander Wilkie, of Fergus, is recorded in our obituary column. Deceased was an old settler in Fe. gas, and for many years carried on an extensive blacksmithing and wagon-making business. Upon the village being incorporated, he had the honor of first occupying the position of Reeve. He was also captain of the first fire brigade, and for a long time occupied a prominent position in all public undertakings of local interest.

TO BUILDERS.—In another column will be found an advertisement for tenders for the erection of three new stores on Upper Wyndham street, for Mr. John Hogg. We understand the stores are to be erected on the south side of the Alma Block, which property has been purchased by Mr. Hogg quite recently. A few good buildings between the Wellington Hotel and the Alma Block will add much to the appearance of that part of the town, and we hope soon to see the present tottering tenements give place to buildings that will be a credit as well to the town as to its leading street.

MAPLE SUGAR.—Now that during the warmer portions of the day the sap is beginning to ooze up into the trunks and branches of the greenwood tree, those who have maple trees and are accustomed each spring to make maple sugar and molasses are getting all the needed utensils and matters ready. The old man is sitting in the corner making "spiles" out of the hollow elderberry tree or other material, while the good woman of the house and her buxom daughters are scrubbing out the pails, kettles, &c., and the stout young men about the farm are "rigging" up the shanty in the woods, setting hogheads in their places, fixing up the furnace, making all the out-door preparations, and choosing the trees to be "tapped." A good yield is expected this year.

London, Feb. 19.—The Times says the Earl of Derby is to receive the portfolio of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and the Marquis of Salisbury is to be Secretary of State for India. It is probable that Mr. Disraeli will complete the Cabinet to-night. It is said the Marquis of Westminster is to be made a Duke.

Mr. Disraeli will go to Windsor tomorrow, and submit to the Queen the list of members of the new Ministry. The Queen will hold a Council of State on Saturday, at which the resignations of Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues will be formally accepted, and the seals of office conferred on the new Ministers.

Viscount Enfield will be summoned to the Chamber of Peers as Baron Stafford.

Mr. Gladstone has advised the Queen to confer knighthood on Mr. Charles Reed, member of the late Parliament for Hackney.

Dr. Isaac Butt, member elect for Limerick, addressed a meeting of the Home Rule Association in Dublin to-night. He claimed that there would be 88 supporters of the Home Rule movement in the new Parliament. This number included 24 elected in England. He expressed the opinion that the Conservative Government would not last beyond three sessions of Parliament. The Irish Home Rule members elect will meet in conference in Dublin on the 2nd of March.

New York, Feb. 20.—A Middletown despatch says that a dozen of disaffected discharged employees of the Midland Railroad detained the trains between Ellenville and Middletown until four o'clock yesterday.

Chief Justice Waite was on the floor of the Senate yesterday. In the evening Secretary Delano gave a dinner to the Chief Justice; the President, the Cabinet, Judges of the Supreme Court, and Congressmen being present.

Dr. Peters, of Hamilton College, New York, telegraphs to Professor Henry that he has discovered a planet. Its position is eleven hours nineteen minutes right ascension, plus four degrees twenty-five minutes declination. The motion is parallel.

In a quarrel at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday, Chisholm, a gambler, shot and killed another named Bedell.

Prominent Brooklynites held another meeting last evening to further annexation with New York, and decided to circulate petitions to the Legislature.

Early this morning a fire broke out in 14 Day street, extending through to 10 and 12 Cortland street. Among the sufferers are Orlant Gas Co., N.Y. Rubber Company; T. Kroeber, clock importer; Lazarus & Morris, spectacle manufacturers; S. J. Marden, hardware merchant.

An Xenia, Ohio, despatch states that over 300 ladies were in the streets yesterday, and there was great excitement. The saloon keepers are opening their doors for the ladies to come in and pray. A band of little girls singing temperance songs were also in the streets.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 17.—The Dictator is coming up the harbor. All is right.

Ontario Legislative Assembly.

Thursday, Feb. 19.
At the opening of the House Mr. Currie called attention to the necessity for some proper arrangements for the care of the Brook Monument at Queenston.

Mr. Currie moved the second reading of his Bill to limit actions and suits relating to mortgage sales, which was carried.

The Attorney-General then introduced certain amendments to the Bill he has before the House relating to the incorporation of Joint Stock Companies. He proposed to make the Bill somewhat more elastic than when it was first introduced.

At the request of Mr. Byrker, the consideration of the Amendments was deferred.

Mr. Crooks then moved that the report of the Committee of the Whole on the Assessment Act Amendment Bill be received.

Mr. McCall moved an amendment declaring that Bank Stocks, Building Societies' shares, bonds and mortgages should all be liable to assessment.

Mr. Currie, by figures he quoted, proved how very unpopular were taxes on personal property, and then went on to show the inequality and injustice of assessment of bank stock.

Mr. Byrker once more opposed the exemption of bank stock, and argued in favor of taxing mortgages.

Mr. Ardagh favored exemption, and declared the prosperity of the country largely depended upon it.

Mr. Meredith opposed the exemption in the interest of other holders of personal property. If they dealt with the subject at all, the Government should deal with the whole question of taxation.

Mr. Hardy in a forcible speech, advocated exemption. He supported the proposal of the Government in the interest of the agricultural classes. He stated that bank stock the banks would have to raise their rate of interest, and the farmers and producers would ultimately have to pay for it.

Mr. Craig (Glenagary), as a farmer and the representative of rural constituency, supported the exemption of the question at some length, leaning generally in favour of taxing bank stock.

After considerable discussion Mr. McCall's amendment was declared lost upon a division.

Mr. Ryker moved an amendment to expunge the exemption clause.

This was lost on a division by yeas 14; nays, 49. The report was then received.

Mr. Crooks will make his financial statement this afternoon.

The funeral expenses of men killed in the Hoosac Tunnel, and paid by the contractors, have amounted to $10,000 in five years.

A young man from Providence went to work in Westport, where he was assaulted by a stranger, and in one month he was sick for breach of promise.

Samuel Leamons, who sloped from Webster, Mass., with a widow, tempered his meanness. He left a debt conveying all his property to his wife.

During a revival at Green Bay, a citizen is reported to have arisen and asked to be forgiven for having been a subscriber to the Chicago Times for nineteen years.

This is what the New York Sun says about Nevada:—Nevada, a State of mines and desolation, whose only hope after its mineral work shall have been worked out is the agriculture of one or two valleys, is having its woods levelled by 3,000 sturdy axe men. In a few years it will be a commonwealth of sage brush.

Fox having struck his dog a Capt Mackenzie, of the Ross-shire (Scotland) militia, recently finished a boy in an ignominious cruel manner. The brave militiaman enticed the boy into his house in Dingwall, and, with caustic and iodine, marked the word "dog" upon his forehead. Afterwards he deftly sketched whiskers and moustaches upon the youth's face, and finally held him before a fire until the caustic had sunk into his skin. A truly caustic revenge!

A farmer named John Keefe, of the 9th line in Amaranth, met with an accident lately which has endangered his life. He was upon a straw stack throwing down fodder to the cattle, and after getting through pitched down the fork, which stuck in the straw. He then jumped down and hit upon the handle of the fork, which entered his body, injuring him so severely that his recovery is uncertain.

A DEUL WITH PISTOLS.—There have been of late some corpse-raising transactions between the medical students of the Laval and McGill Universities, and a quarrel arose. One of the Montrealers deemed it due to his offended honor to file of witnesses and a second, and challenged the Quebecer, who accepted. The belligerents met on the St. Foy road at half-past ten o'clock in the morning. On the word being given both fired. The Montrealer, shaken perhaps by his trip in the cold, fired into the snow, as Quebec lodged a bullet somewhere in the leg of the "pilligallo" of Montreal. There was then a general stampede, and the police were seen coming.

Guelph Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 20, 1874

Ahead of Time.

We learn from the Dundas Banner that last week, after a long deliberation, the Conservatives of North Wentworth nominated Mr. Thomas Stock as their candidate at the next election, in 1875, for the Local Legislature, and Mr. Robert McKechnie as their candidate at the next Dominion election—five years hence. The Banner ridicules this last nomination in view of the length of time which must elapse, and the many changes that may take place before that period, but makes use of it at the same time to give the Reformers timely warning, so that they may watch the operations of their political opponents, and be prepared for them next year; or at any future election, however remote. As regards the duty of Reformers in preparing for the election next year, it throws out the same suggestions about looking after the voters' lists that we have already urged upon the Reformers in this county to adopt. We hope they will at once act on the following advice given by the Banner:—"Reformers should have local committees appointed in every voting division to look after the rolls NOW—AT ONCE! The probability is that the next Local Election will take place on the voters' list prepared this season, and it is the duty of every one who feels an interest in the success of the Reform Party to see that every man's name who is entitled to a vote is on the roll, and at the same time to see that Conservatives do not get those on the roll who should not be there. We want to have fair play, and nothing but fair play, and we warn Reformers that they need not look for this unless they attend promptly to the revising of the Assessment Rolls in every voting division in the Riding."

American National Grange.

Last year the farmers of Illinois formed themselves into Granges, their primary object being to curb the growing power of the great railway corporations in lessening the excessive freight charges; also to make farming more remunerative in doing away with middlemen and bringing producers and consumers into more minute relations. The movement spread rapidly, and soon was not confined to one, but spread into other States, until all through the West associations of farmers—organized for their mutual benefit—sprang up, and became a power in the land. By and by a National Grange was formed, its members representing almost every State in the Union. Last week the first meeting of the National Grange was held at St. Louis, when a carefully prepared and comprehensive declaration of purposes was submitted and approved of. The following condensation of the Grangers' platform will be of interest to our readers:—

To enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes, and strengthen our attachment to our pursuits. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining. To diversify our crops, and crop no more than we can cultivate. To condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel, and more on hoof and fleece. To systematise our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the farm system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the Grange. For our business interest we desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers, and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence we must dispense with a surplus of middlemen; not that we are unfriendly to them, but we do not need them. Their surplus and their exactions diminish our profits. We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatever. On the contrary, all our acts and all our efforts, so far as business is concerned, are not only for the benefit of the producer and consumer, but also for all other interests and tend to bring these two parties into speedy and economical contact. We are not enemies of railroads, navigation, and irrigating canals, nor of any corporation that will advance our industrial interests, nor of any laboring classes. In our noble order there is no communism, no agrarianism. We are opposed to such spirit and management of any corporation or enterprise as tends to oppress the people and rob them of their just profits. We are not enemies of capital, but we oppose the tyranny of monopolies. We are opposed to excessive salaries, high rates of interest, and exorbitant profits in trade. We shall advance the cause of education among ourselves and for our children by all just means within our power. We especially advocate for our agricultural and industrial colleges that practical agriculture, domestic science, and all the arts which adorn the home be taught in their courses of study. We especially and sincerely assert the oft-repeated truth taught in our organic law, that the Grange, Nation, State or subordinate, is not a political or party organization. No Grange, if true to its obligations, can discuss political or religious questions, nor call political conventions, nor nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings. Yet the Granger should do all he can in his own party to put down bribery and trickery; to see that none but competent, faithful and honest men, who will unflinchingly stand by our industrial interests, are nominated for all positions. It should always characterize every Patron of Husbandry that the office should seek the man, and not the man the office.

Ours being peculiarly a farmer's institution, we cannot admit all to our ranks. Many are excluded by the nature of our organization, not because they are professional men, or artisans, and labourers, but because they have not a sufficient direct interest in tilling or pasturing the soil, or may have some interest in conflict with our purposes. It shall be an abiding principle with us to relieve any of our suffering brotherhood by any means at our command. Last, but not least, we proclaim it among our purposes to inculcate a proper appreciation of the abilities and sphere of woman, as indicated by admitting her to membership and position in our Order.

The correct majority for Mr. Daly in North Perth is 307.

A CANARD.—The Mail of to day gives currency to a report that there has been a difficulty in the Cabinet at Ottawa; that Senator Brown was sent for, and had arrived; and that a rupture between the French and English members of the Cabinet was imminent. The whole story lacks confirmation.

LOUIS AGASSIZ.—No sounder piece of manhood was put together in this century. It was a great nature, affluent, genial, overflowing with sympathy, absolutely unselfish, artless and fresh as a child's, with a poetic warmth and tenderness and richness that suggested Burns, while the steadiness, the manly energy, the simple uprightness, the goodness, were all Scott. How welcome he always was, and everywhere! How he loved children, and how they loved him! How sympathetic and appreciative of all other talent and aspiration! It was this sense of goodness which impressed and charmed all who met him, and with which he warmed and drew his public audiences. Somehow it was transmitted beyond his personal circle, and everybody had a pride in him and a love for him. He was one of the men in whom we all see our own capacities and possibilities "writ large"—a high-water mark of human nature. The great impression that he made upon the country is more remarkable because there are so very few persons who are capable of really estimating just what he did, or could follow him in his scientific explanations. In this he was very different from a man who tells a story or writes a poem that everybody can enjoy. But we all felt that, if we could not understand him, he was working for us all the time; and whenever, during that life-long labor, he looked up with a smile, those who saw in it the sweetness of that noble, manly soul, felt it to be a benediction. He was one of those over whom, when dead, we do not say, Nisi dominum, for when he was among us and living and loving, nothing else could be said.—Harper's Magazine.

The Rival Clansmen

A Scottish Vendetta. CHAPTER XIX. THE PURSUIT.

Poor Flora! she realised her position now. She instinctively knew that she was being conveyed by an underground way. Her destination she knew not; but the purpose for which she was being conveyed thither was only too apparent. Oh, what was she to do? how could she escape? But she could offer no solution. A feeling of giddiness took possession of her senses, and a season of sweet relief came—she swooned away.

But within the Castle all was now uproar and confusion. Again and again had the cry of Anne M'Leod been repeated, until it had been stopped—perhaps by no gentle means. The clashing of weapons was mingled with the shouts and cries of men, and heavy tramping of feet approached the door of the room which Ian M'Kenzie had just left with Flora Macgregor. A light suddenly gleamed into the passage beyond, and Donald Cameron was seen approaching with a female struggling in his arms. He carried in one hand his drawn claymore, and the blade was dyed with blood. A wild, savage gleam was in his eyes, and his whole aspect was one of the most savage ferocity.

"Lead on quicker, you varlet!" he shouted to a strange looking man who preceded him carrying a torch.

"This will be the place," was the reply; and the voice could have been distinguished as that of Gregor M'Donald, the landlord of the inn at Kinloch-Ewe; but it was evident he had taken the precaution to guard against too easy recognition.

But the clashing of weapons sounded near behind them, and, suddenly, above the confusion was heard the voice of Hector M'Leod.

"To the rescue, my clansmen. Down with the Caterans of Ben-a-Chruil!"

"Damnation!" shouted Cameron, in a tone of bitter disappointment and annoyance; "that puppet still lives. What blunder is this?"

But rushing quickly forward, the landlord entered the room, and approaching the corner where Ian had disappeared, pressed upon a panel. A dark aperture was revealed, and he quickly passed through, followed by Cameron, who still bore Anne M'Leod in his arms, and the panel slipped again into its place.

The sound of the conflict came nearer, and in a moment after three or four Highlanders—Caterans, one could tell at a glance—were forced backwards into the room, fighting every inch of ground, pressed on by a number of partially dressed M'Leods, conspicuous amongst whom was the young Chief, fighting with all the fury of an enraged and outraged man.

Once inside the room one of the men who were fighting against Hector turned and made a dart to the corner, in an instant passing through. It was the new serving man, Angus M'Turk. Hector observed the movement, and in a moment the whole plan of action was revealed; and more he realised how successful it had been.

"Ha, no!" he exclaimed, as the two Caterans who remained also backed towards the place, "you shall not. Too many have gone by that route already."

As he spoke he sprang between the Caterans and the place for which they were making, and in an instant more one of them, uttered a loud cry, fell to the ground, pierced through the heart by Hector's sword, while his companion, springing back, plunged his weapon into his own breast, preferring death in this manner to suffering the vengeance of the outraged M'Leods.

"Now, my kinsmen, to the pursuit and the rescue," shouted Hector, with flashing eyes, though with a slightly tremulous voice. "We need not follow in this direction. The entrance to the Castle by this passage is at the back of Skerryvach. It has been built up for years, and these villains must have conspired with them, but we may be in time to meet them ere they can leave the passage. Don your clothing quickly, and follow me."

A cheer answered his words, and with eager haste all left the room, some to prepare more fully for the pursuit, and others to summon those of the clan in other parts of the Castle to join with them.

The Royal Pantheon. Some interesting details in reference to this great establishment, the burning of which was recorded amongst our telegraphic intelligence recently, have appeared in the New York Sun. We give a portion of the article:—

The Royal Pantheon Company was organized in 1893, and was similar to the American Security and Trust Companies. The building itself was an imposing block, eight stories high, fronting Hyde Park, and in the immediate neighborhood of the palatial residences of Baron Rothschild, the Duke of Wellington, Sir Robert Peel and others. The basement, which was lined with iron, was carefully guarded by watchmen, while each safe had an iron grating before it. Here were locked up the valuable silverware of the old families of England, who rarely used it except on state occasions. These priceless collections were carefully numbered, the company giving bonds for their safe keeping, and charging according to the valuation of the property.

The first floor was a magnificent art gallery, in which were deposited the rarest pictures of the Turner, Reynolds, and other galleries. Persons going out of town also left their private collections of pictures here for safe keeping. Besides these were glass cases filled with costly jewelry and valuable collections of coins. In the rear of the first floor were collections of equipages, mostly of foreign make. On the floors above were endless collections of costly furniture, requiring constant care and attention to keep in order. Supposing that a London family desired to give up a town house for three or four seasons, to travel on the continent, or reside elsewhere for a short space, instead of selling off their furniture at a sacrifice, losing thereby many things they could not replace, they would arrange to take one or more compartments in this institution. The Pantheon was also used for the safe keeping of landed titles, mortgages, and other valuable papers, the company sometimes advancing money on the collateral deposited.

Every day during the London season rows of carriages could be seen standing in front of the building while their occupants were viewing the collections inside. The company owned a large number of vans and carts, and employed nearly a thousand persons. It had branch offices in all the principal cities of Great Britain. The destruction of the building will involve heavy losses of rare family pictures and plate which cannot be replaced. There will be sorrow in high places through this conflagration.

BEECHER remarks that you often see a man with a little bullet head, having a vigorous stomach to drive his body and brain, accomplish more than the high-headed man who makes a small quantity of blood, and that poor and thin. To enable mind and body to endure protracted mental and physical exertion, there must be perfect digestion and assimilation of food, and the formation of pure blood to vitalize the organs and tissues. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Cellulose perfects nutrition, and furnishes material for bone, muscle and nerve, to supply the waste of vital force going on from overwork, dissipation, bad habits, and all prostrating diseases. my87w.

"Pay as You Go."

Good Doctrine: first rate: Admirable Philosophy: more good sense and economy in these few words than most people are aware of. If you take a paper, pay as you go—your butcher, baker, tailor, shoemaker, pay as you go. It is a philosopher's stone. We wish it was impressed on some people's hearts with a sledge hammer.

THOMAS' Electric Oil!

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold

"Pain cannot stay where it is used."

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' Electric Oil, purely a preparation of six of some of the best Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians state that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power, and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, or any other ingredients, and entirely different from any ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wide range of application, it has been found to cure ever before discovered. It contains no alcohol or other volatile liquids, consequently loses nothing by evaporation. Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with all other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small quantity of Oils which they contain.

Prepared by S. N. THOMAS, Hempel, N.Y., and NORTHROP & LYMAN, Newcastle, Ont., Sole agents for the Dominion.

Note.—Electric Oil—Selected and Electric Oil. Sold in Guelph by E. Harvey & Co., B. Petrie, McCullough & Moore, and all medicine dealers everywhere. 13
