A MONTHLY FOR STAMP COLLECTORS.

VOL. I., No 7.

TORONTO, CANADA.

APRIL, 1893.

A. G. Allison.

The subject of this sketch has been a general collector sinc: 1889 and has acquired quite a nice collection during this short time. Short articles have been written on stamp collecting and how he became an admirer of the ert. He can also be found giving gratuitous advice and dealing on matters connected with philately, besides having a goodly supply of duplicates to dispose of at odd times. He regards stamp collecting as something enticing; that it favorably influences one's choice to try and acquire the needful. He will no doubt add many are beauties to the cause of philately as time rolls on.

De Coppet Sale.

The De Coppet sale at New York has been going on as advertised, and if we can read the signs of the times the relatter stamps will, if they have not already found their way back to Canada.

men (the school boy element was not being the highest price ever paid for a there) and would do credit to the callof any single specimen at auction. It might be monetary, scientific or other prominent added that this stamp is one of six only institution or association. Some idea of known to exist, three of which were in the the importance of the sale may be gather famous Tappling collection, and now are cd from the fact that all the prominent reposing in the British Museum. The daily newspapers, from the Herald, Times, 12 penny Canada realized $179.00; and etc., down, published daily quite full and the 2½ pence, pink, used, unperforated interesting accounts of the previous day's sale. This shows the active and substantial interest that is being taken in this line. One of New York's most prominent philatelists stated recently in answer to the question, if collecting was on the wane or otherwise and the probable effect of the recent sales of advanced collections, "that for one collection sold, ten new ones made their appearance. A proportion of these would no doubt drop out in a short time, but the others became active and in due course prominect collectors. A consensus of opinion shows that nothing that has happened of a similar nature or indeed in philately in this hemisphere tends to revive and increase interest, and place it on a higher prominence than these several sales. We regret exceedingly that this magnificent collection of Mr. De Coppet's has been broken up and scattered, but welcome the news that he is not to be lost entirely to the philately world. He is sults promise a new era in philately. We going to devote himself to a similar field regret exceeingly that a larger represent in making a specialty of Mexico, of which ation of Canadians was not present, for he even now has a very advanced showing. on no occasion have such a choice lot of Men of Mr. De Coppet's prominence and British North American stamps been of vast research are indeed few, and cannot fered. However, though they were not be spared from our ranks. He regrets at present (with one exception) still, they parting with old friends in his collection had not forgotten to forward bids to be exception will no doubt be softened considerably by ecuted for them and numbers of these the remembrance that his famous British Guinea, 1850 issue, 2c circular on rose paper, cut round, neatly mounted on a The audiences that assembled at these piece of the same paper cut square, used, sales were composed of representative brought the neat little sum of $1010.00,

British Columbia, 1851, realized $111.00. We trust to be able to give to our readers a list of other prices.

Cancelled Old Stamps.

For some time past the postal authorities have been aware of the fact that the revenue derived from the sale of postage stamps each year was considerably less than it should be, but all efforts to apprehend the persons who were evidently defrauding the Government by re-selling old stamps proved ineffectual.

Detectives Davis and Slemin were successful in placing under arrest John Anderson, who is evidently an old hand at this kind of work. His entire outfit, together with about $2000 worth of old stamps, which have been cleaned, are also at headquarters.

At five o'clock yesterday afternoon, Detectives Davis and Slemin were detailed to bring Anderson to headquarters. They found him busy at work among his stamps in the attic of 18 Temperance street, and, arresting him, brought him before the inspector, who put him through his "catechism" so thoroughly as to be convinced inside of a very few minutes that he had good grounds upon which to hold the man.

While being examined Anderson kept up a running fire of threats of what he would do in case he was detained, representing himself to be a man of means.

In the meantime the two detectives had returned to the prisoner's room, and confiscated a large chest literally filed to the rim with boxes of Canadian stamps of different denominations and postal cards, the cancellation marks on which had been so deftly removed as to in many cases defy the eyes of an expert.

A large bottle containing the chemical solution with which the old man accomplished the cancellations was also found in the room, which was miserably furnished, containing merely a couple of chairs, a rickety table and a wreck of a stove.

Deputy Postmaster Carruthers at the request of Inspector Stark examined the stamps and declared them to be almost as perfect as when first issued, in many instances defying the closest scrutiny in detecting erasures.

It has not yet been ascertained just how the prisoner disposed of the stamps which he resurrected, though the theory is that his agents were scattered over the entire province

The prisoner is well known around nearly all the down-town offices, as he was always to be found routing around through old heaps of rubbish, etc., hunting for envelopes with stamps upon them and could be frequently seen slouching along the streets with a huge bag slung around his neck into which he transferred old envelopes and postcards which he secured in gutters and rubbish heaps by means of a nail fastened in the end of a stick.

Her Weight is in Her Favor.

Third Assistant Postmaster-General Hazen has received an application from a Kansas postmaster for the employment by the Government of his daughter to sell postage stamps at the Chicago Columbian Exposition. He states that she has had much experience in selling stamps, and mentions as one of her qualifications the fact that she is the largest postal clerk in the county, weighing 472 pounds. She is 24 years of age.

Expensive Stamps.

A Brantford man recently saw an advertisement in a United States paper offering to send a fine engraving, depicting the landing of Columbus, for $1. He sent along the money and shortly afterwards received one of the new 2c. Columbian postage stamps, bearing the scene referred to.—The Empire.

Would it be out of the way to remark that a postage stamp is in love when it is stuck on an envelope?

Around Town.

The following philatelists visited this city during the past week :-- J. Payne, London, England; C. A. Needham, Hamilton, W. Maitriet, New York and H. F. Ketcheson, Belleville. We are at all times pleased to receive a call from collectors when visiting this city.

Mr. Wilson Wilby informs us that he has the new letter cards in three distinct colors, viz., pink, brown and red brown.

At the De Coppet sale, Mr. Brouse was fortunate enough to secure a copy of the 2 1-2d British Columbian stamp for the small figure of $111.00. since been offered double what he paid for it. This is the only used specimen known of.

W. S. Weatherston has shown us two varieties of the 2c. Columbian envelope, one having periods after "America" and "Cents" and the other without periods, in the latter, the ornaments at the sides have longer ends than the other variety. About 15 distant shades are to be found in this stamp.

It is rumored that H. Beasley will not publish the "Queen City Philatelist" as advertised.

Wise and Otherwise.

It is surprising to note the number of stamp magazines that are announced, but which never make their appearance. only reason that I can assign for this is that philatelists, as a class are a very goahead crowd and when the idea enters the brain of the average would-be editor, he has to spring it on to a suffering community, whether he is prepared to carry it to completion or not. My advice would be to refrain from saying anything others "blow the horn."

It is quite amusing sometimes to note some instances of the ignorance of the postal laws that is disp'ayed almost every day. A short time ago I was standing in an office when the postman came in and among other mail was what the sender evidently thought was a post card. It was the business card of the firm to whom it was addressed, with a one cent stamp on it and the message written on the back. It cost him a cent and it cost the firm four cents that received it, which made the total cost of that post-card just five cents. Rather high postal rates wasn't it.

The move to form a philatelic society Mr. Brouse has in Hamilton is a step in the right direction. I found when visiting there recently that it is as wide awake a city, philatelically, as Toronto, though of course in a smaller way? The fact that Messrs. Needham and Livingstone are the prime movers in the concern is a sufficient indication that it will be a success in every respect.

> "What's in a name?" The question whether "philately" is the proper name for our science seems to be worrying quite a few people just at present. Would it make it any more interesting or instructive if we called it "Timbrology?" Could we make any more money out of it if we called it "Timbrophilie?" As far as I am concerned, I am perfectly satisfied with the present title and would not wish any change unless it would be of a great deal more benefit than it would appear from the present outlook.

It looks as if collectors in the U.S. and Canada, instead of dropping stamps for the summer, will take a greater interest than ever in them this year. The fact that the principal conventions will be held in connection with the World's Fair will be sufficient to keep the interest alive for your paper is out and then let all summer and we need have no fear of any dull season this year.—JEP.

Editorial Notes.

The Philatelic Journal of Canada is no After a brief issue of four numbers it has merged into the International Philatelist, its publisher finding that there was no profit and little glory in publishing a philatelic paper. Doubtless many of our contemporaries have come to the same conclusion; be that as it may, it is a known fact that of all the philatelic magazines published on this continent and that pay for themselves, could be counted on the fingers of the one hand. With this issue of the International Philatelist is consolidated the Philatelic Journal o

Canada, all advertising contracts and all subscriptions will be filled by the International.

The J. W. Scott Co., Limited, have removed from their former address, on Fulton street, New York City, to more commodious quarters, at No. 40 John street. This was necessitated by their largely increasing business. While Mr. J. W. Scott, their very able manager, is a peer in philately, he is apparently none the less out of his element as an auctioneer, judging from the way he handled the hammer at the De Coppet sale.

We understand that Mr. W. H. Brouse, of this city, secured at the De Coppet sale at New York, on the 3rd inst., the 21/2d, pink, unperforated and used British Columbia, 1861, at $111.00. This particular stamp is said to be the only one in a used condition known to exist, and, as such, we consider it the rarest and consequently the most valuable of all British North American postage stamps. The late Mr. Tappling was anxious to obtain this specimen, but at the time Mr. De Coppet was not disposed to part with it. It is noteworthy that rarities of this kind are being brought back to our country again.

Mr. M. P. Castle, of the Philatelic Society, of London, England, with several other friends in philately, is making a journey around the world, and is expected in a few weeks at New York City, where he will be tendered a banquet by the several Associations there. With tickets at $10.00 each, one may expect to hear something worth while, and also a large supply of viands, etc., which Delmonico alone can provide.

Suing the Queen.

The British American Bank Note Co., has brought an action against the government to receiver the value of a large quantity of stamps which were prepared by the Company and held in stock by them at the time that the change in the series and denomination of stamps in 1883 took place. The claim, which amounts to $8,500, is that these stamps were in the then existing contract and that the Government should take them and pay for them.

France is soon to adopt an interesting innovation in the postal card system. The cards will be issued in the form of checkbooks, with stubs. The sender of the postal card can maks memoranda of its contents on the stub, and can have this stamped at the Post Office before the card is detached, so that a verified record of the correspondence can be kept.
