Continuing, the anonymous correspondent remarks: "Every American knows this to be another Jameson raid, and that the Americans intend to keep control of the Klondike. The Klondikers have already announced that the Stars and Stripes will be flying at Dawson City by July It would please a large body Americans if the Klondike could be made a pretext for war between England and the United land and the United States, which would result in the annexation of Canada." Bastern Question. Statement That Britain's Treaty Rights Have Not Been in Danger-An Assurance From Russia. London, Feb. 9.—On the resumption of business in the House of Commons the new members took their seats. Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, the new member for York, was loudly cheered, while J. M. Campbell, the new member for St. Stephen's Green division of Dublin, on taking the oath, was greeted by the Irish members with cries of

"Londger," referring to the alleged election frauds in that division. The government leader of the house, Mr. Balfour, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader, warmly greeted.

On a sessional motion that peers and lord lieutenants should not interfere in elections, Right. Hon. James Lowther, Conservative member for the Isle Thanet division of Kent, amended it to omit the word "peers."

Sir Wilfred Lawson, Bart., Radical member for the Cockermouth division of Cumberland, seconded the motion.

When 100,000 men were in arms was a much better market for Euroin various parts, they could not congratulate themselves upon "pax Britannia." Mr. Balfour spoke very briefly on the eastern question, and to the same effect as Lord Salisbury had spoken in the House of Lords, conveying the impression that the negotiations as to the Chinese loan were ended. He added that the government adhered to the statement already made by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and himself with respect to the protection of British treaty and commercial rights in China. Sir Charles Dilke attacked Lord Salisbury's concessions to France in Siam, Tunis and Madagascar, which, he said, were not hopeful indications of a firm insistence of British treaty

The Eastern Question Brought Up in the Reichstag.

Important Statement by Minister Von Buelow-In Harmony With Britain-Nothing to Conceal-Humorous Reference to the "European Concert."

Berlin, Feb. 9.-In the Reichstag, Herr Richter, the Radical leader, referring to the Chinese question, said he regarded the acquisition of Kiac Chou as much more useful than hoist-ing flags in Africa. Germany ought to preach none but a free trade gospel in China, thus forming a natural comain. He said he feared, however, that all the public's hopes with regard to China would not be realized. pean products, and European peoples need not be anxious about their most sacred possessions in consequence of Japan's development. In conclusion, Herr Richter invited the government to give all details of the position regarding Germany's treaty with Russia, negotiations for the loan and collateral matters. Baron Von Buelow, the foreign minister, replying, said the government was not desirous of veiling its foreign policy, but it was impossible prematurely to divulge confidential negotiations. The dispatch of a squadron to Kiao Chau was not, he declared, an improvisation, but was an expression of well-considered, calm and clearly-defined policy. Baron Von Buelow then pro-ceded to justify the acquisition of a Mr. George N. (Renewed cheers.) Our modest demands have neither menaced the integrity of China nor called for justifiable objections on her part." Baron Von Buelow then gave the details of the Kiao Chau convention, already known. Baron Von Richthofen, under secretary for the colonies, said no negotiations had occurred regarding the Chinese loan, and consequently there was no danger of Germany particupating in a guarantee of the interest. Herr Bebel, the Socialist leader, condemned the seizure of Kiao Chau as "no better than the Jameson raid." He was about to refer to the famous "gospel of your majesty's consecrated person" speech of Prince Henry of Prussia, when the president interposed, and forbade him to introduce the sovereign into the debate. TO DRY CHILDREN'S SHOES.

Proper Way to Do It So That the Leather Will Not Shrink or Footwear Be Uncomfortable.

"Damp feet are always walking toward disease and death," says an eminent physician, and a more impressive truth it would be difficult to put into words. Children must play out of doors and they will run about in all weathers. It is almost always the case when the little shoes come off at night, they are damp, if not actually wet. careless mother passes them by, thinking that they will dry by morning, forgetting that, even though they do dry, they will be harsh, uncomfortable and irritating to tender little feet, and may lay the foundation for discomfort and suffering untold. little ones have finished their play they should be taught to remove their shoes and stockings and put on dry ones. House shoes of soft leather or felt are inexpensive and comfortable, and they last a long time, besides being a great saving in noise and the nerve irritation that is often harder to bear than the laborious work with which the house mother has to struggle. As soon as the shoes are taken off they should be filled to the very top with dry oats. An eloquent speech was then delivered by Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M. P. P. for North Oxford, and the meeting terminated with a very vigorous oration by Mr. Gilson. It was but a few minutes past eight o'clock that Squire Lacey was moved to the chair, and a number of gentlemen, including the following, took ceats on the platform: Dr. McWilliam, John Gilson, Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., and Frank Love. Squire Lacey briefly op-

He referred first to the size of the audience, as particularly gratifying, in view of the fact that there was another attraction, which it would be supposed would have made the attendance small. FRANK LOVE.

Mr. Frank Love was greeted with an ovation. He was an old friend of Dr. McWilliam, and had known him since a student in the office of Warren Rock, Q.C., and in his long and close friendship he knew him to be a man that they should all be proud to have as their representative. "You all know how good and kind a doctor can be to the boor," said Mr. Love, "and Dr. McVilliam is an ideal doctor in that respect." (Applause.) Another strong appeal was made by Mr. Love on the score that as the Conservative newspapers throughout the province had declaimed against the normal school being located in London, the cople of East Middlesex should strengthen the hands of the Liberals of the city of London and make certain that this prize be not taken from their midst. Mr. Love dwelt upon the ability of Fremier Hardy and the government aders, as contrasted with the leaders I the opposition. Who could supply Ir. Hardy's place? They hadn't a man with anything like his ability. Who could replace Hon. George W. Ross? Mr. Whitney says they would let the work of the minister of education out the candidature, in the present election, he said that it was only upon being the past, Mr. Love said they tried not long ago to stir up fires of religious rancour and strife in the land by a cry about a Protestant Bible. But they had failed, and had dropped that cry now. "And I would rather," he said, "see them have no policy at all than to be trying to set creed against creed, friends against friends, just because we happen to worship at different churches. (Applause.) That hideous organization which put Mr. Toothe on that very platform to shout for a Protestant Bible, had dropped out of sight. The Hardy government," continued Mr. Love, "have been your servants. If they have done right, have served you well, ought you not to retain them? (Voices: "We will!" and prolonged applause.) ANDREW PATTULLO, M.P.P.

Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., Woodstock, felt it an honor to be present to support the claims of his personal and political friend. He had known Dr. McWilliam for a great many years, and could say that he was a man of noble character. (Applause.) He rank-ed very high in his profession—(aplause)-and was singularly intelligent on matters of general interest. (Applause.) Mr. Pattullo was not surprised that a man like Dr. McWilliam, who was known to be so able and good, had such a strong hold upon his political friends and opponents alike. Of Dr. McWilliam, could truthfully be said he used the opportunity of his life for the betterment of those among whom he has lived. After speaking kindly of Dr. McWilliam's opponent, the speaker turned his attention to the political situation.

In his own experience in the house, Mr. Pattullo said he had learned to have the highest regard for the leader of the government. Having known Mr. Hardy intimately, personally and politi-cally, Mr. Pattullo could say sincerely that even in the loss of so great and good a man as Sir Oliver Mowat, Ontario was still in so able hands that the loss had not been felt. Mr. Hardy was a man of the very highest character, of singular ability, of the highest aims, and with a capacity for work that was simply surprising. The speaker respected Mr. Whitney, who was by far the ablest man on that side of the house; but he had not anything like the ability of any of a humber of members of the government.

What would happen if the country were put in the hands of the lieutenants of Mr. Whitney, who were going about the country at the present time? Continuing, Mr. Pattullo ridiculed the opposition's want of policy, and said that Mr. Meredith during his leadership had gone to the country with some clear-cut issues. What a contrast now? The speaker differed from Mr. Love in his statement that the opposition had abandoned the sectarian "They have abandoned it publicly," he said, "but not in secret, as the visit of Mr. Marter to London a few days ago clearly shows. They have abandoned it publicly because they wish to use one side in one constituency, and another side of the cry in another constituency. This attitude of the opposition, said Mr. Pattullo, was exactly similar to the attitude of the Dominion Government under Premier Bowell on the school question. Then the people of the country saw their vacillation and hurled them from power. At the back of Mr. Whitney in the present contest was Sir Charles Tupper. Dominion members of parliament were chairmen of many of his committees, yet the Conservatives were accusing the Pro-vincial and Dominion Liberals of having an alliance. The Ontario Government in the world which did not impose taxes on world which did not wor the people; and in the face of this fact it was astonishing that the Conservatives of the country were going about clamoring that the people were being taxed to death. The government had spent large sums of money—$10,500,000 in public works, $8,500,000 on railways, etc., all without imposing a cent of hunder work the large sums of the sum of good government in the future as we have done in the past."

county had received from the government since confederation, and to illustrate what had been done with the people's money, he said this county had received for the care of lunatics $628,-000; for her share of the maintenance of Central Prison, $76,000; Boys' Reformatory, $55,000; School for the Blind, $29,000; School for the Deaf and Dumb, $38,000; for the administration of justice, $204,000; agricultural purposes, $66,000; Mechanics' Institute, $28,000, or a total of $1,542,000. An allusion had been made, continued Mr. Pattullo, to the normal school which London had secured. To this he would refer with fear and trembling, he said, good-humoredly. He felt a little sore about it, and thought the school should have gone to Woodstock, but London had stolen it from them. (Laughter.) It would be a singular advantage to the city, making it more of an educational center than it was and benefiting it in many ways. Although he had wanted the school at Woodstock, he believed that the government had conscientiously given it to London, because London was a great railway center. Mr. Pattullo was amazed that the Conservative press of the country were now condemning the government, as none of the Conservative members in the house did during the session, charging that the normal school had been given to London as a bribe. There was no bribe about it. There was not a government in the world today of which so much could be said in the way of honesty as of the government led by Sir Oliver Mowat and later by Mr.

Hardy. (Applause.) Speaking of the attitude of the opposition towards the distribution of the large sums of money to the various counties for philanthropic causes, he said they would have had the money received by the province at the time of confederation, piled up in the banks

-a preposterous policy. A Voice-They want to steal it by and bye. (Laughter.)

Mr. Pattullo then contrasted the timber policy of the Dominion government of the policy of the desired with ment, under Conservative rule, with that of the Ontario government. The former gave away timber lands in blocks of 50 square miles to political friends for nominal sums, and comparing two deals for 50 square miles, the difference in the revenue in favor of the Liberal party was $207,000. Yet the opposition had the audacity to find fault with the timber policy. Speaking of the Engledue deal, Mr. Pattullo said that step of the government toward the development of the natural resources of our own province was most wise and judicious. It would have been criminal neglect not to have carried out the agreement. Had it not been for this the gold regions of the province would probably have been forgotten in the great rush to the Klondike. (Applause.) The policy of the government had been attended with marvelous results in the way of development of the latent and natural resources of the country. (Hear, hear.) tion of the government was invulnerlation was the best and most progressive on the statute books of the world. (Applause.) None of the charges against the government had been made good-not a single one-and now nothing was left but the weak and failing cry, "It is time for a change." (Laughter.) Some of the picayune cries taken up by the opposition and abandoned were humorously referred to. Of the effect of Liberal rule in Canada during the past year Mr. Pattullo said in a stirring peroration: 1897 was the greatest in the history of Canada. The days of gloom have passed and the dawn of a brighter day has come. Canada is recognized in ious leader of the Liberal party, Si. Wilfrid Laurier. (Applause.) But the record of that leader was only made possible by the good government of Sir Oliver Mowat. Hold the fort political Deafening applause attested to the hold which Mr. Pattullo's eloquent ad. dress had taken upon his hearers. Mr. John Gilson then addressed the and incisiveness. The men who had been the advocates of Liberalism in this country and in England had always advocated the cause of the masses. Liberalism might be thanked for the extension of the franchise. Mr. Gilson referred to his failure to secure election in the last campaign, but said he had reduced the Conservative majority in the riding several hundreds. Dr. McWilliam would not need to be any more successful to be elected. Speaking of the last campaign, Mr. Gilson was reminded that he had heard from the platform in that West London hall most unmanly and unpardonable statements by Conservatives, and he wished to meet Mr. Hodgens and those who were talking with him. The speaker referred at some length to the policy of the government, and incidentally said that almost a blamable scrupulousness had been shown in the management of public institutions. At the London asylum, for example, provisions were secured by tender. The flour was supplied by Mr. Hunt, a Conservative, because his tender was 2 cents less than that of Mr. Saunby Mr. Gilson enthusiastically praised the educational system and other departments of the government. In conclusion, he predicted four years of glorious Liberal rule, and was roundly cheered. The meeting broke up with a vote o

Young Men and Their Votes. The four days' registration of voters in the city of London has added 2,746 names to the voters' list on which the contest for the seat in the Ontario from Tuesday next.

Norfolk, South W. A. Charlton

Norfolk, North..... E. C. Carpenter

This is an enormous increase in the voting strength of the city, and it upsets the calculations of the Opposition politicians who were boasting two weeks ago that their canvass of the city had been completed, that they had 700 odd names in all ready to be added, and that it was impossible for the Liberals to match that number. The result of the registration is the best answer to that contention. It proves that the large majority of the young men in the city are today, as they were in the last provincial contest, in favor of the Government which passed the law that enables them to vote. The Liberal Government of Ontario is not afraid to trust the people. Its franchise measure insures that every man who has a stake in the country shall be enabled to go to the polls. Unlike the iniquitous Dominion franchise law, which Mr. Whitney and his friends for years aided in keeping on the statute books, and never once opposed by voice or pen, the Ontario act organizes no inquisition into the earnings, wash bills and other personal expenses of a young man before he is permitted to assert his manhood.

The Ontario law makes no discrimination in favor of the rich man's son and against the man born in humble circumstances. The Dominion law, soon to be repealed by the Liberal Government at Ottawa, is offensively unjust in this regard. The Ontario act provides an up-to-date list. In the last Dominion election hundreds of men in this city, who had come of age or who had obtained citizenship by years of residence here, were disqualified. Under the Ontario act every man who has lived here three months, and in the Province for twelve months, is entitled o vote, and the registration now comsleted shows that there are thousands who highly value this right. But under the Dominion law, so often upheld by the votes of these young men, not only vas this large class disfranchised, but they were humiliated by the spectacle hundreds of men who were not living the country, and who had no ionger interest in it, returning to vote, and, fact, to decide the election.

How can the Opposition leaders, afhaving aided in thus treating the turdy young manhood of the country, spect to get their votes now? Not rtainly on the record of Mr. Whitney ad his associates, and it is by their

Where is there a province which has so husbanded its natural resources that it can keep out of debt, have an interest-bearing surplus as a nest-egg, and yet gives yearly financial assistance to every laudable project? It may be said that in carrying out this programme the Government has had the assistance of the Opposition at All times. Not so. When Mr. Whitney's leader at Ottawa declared that not one stick of timber, not one pound of minerals, not an acre of territory in the northwestern half of the Province, should be permitted to belong to this Province, did Mr. Whitney and his friends stand up for Ontario? By no means, Mr. Whitney and his associates were quite contented to let the manipulators seize our valuable minerals, forests and agricul- be conceded that Ontario is the most Supposing the enemies of Ontario,

In the hands of speculators-given away for a mere song. Indeed, the distribution had been begun when the defenders of the Province overcame the enemies of Ontario, and secured for the people the splendid territory, from the riches of which it can be confidently asserted our Government and public institutions will receive sustenance for many a year to come. If direct taxation is far removed from the rising generation of Ontario, it is due to the determination, prudence and economy of our present rulers, who preserved to them this splendid territory, and husbanded the resources of the Province for the benefit of the whole people, and not for the speculator.

The Essery-Hobbs Experience Revived.

Our city contemporary is making its usual claims of fabulous gains in this city in the registration of voters. But our contemporary made exactly the same claims over the Hobbs-Essery registration, yet the Conservative candidate was defeated by 803 votes. The fact is, that the Opposition managers have really been kind enough to register the names of many scores of voters who will not vote with them on the 1st of March. As in the Hobbs-Essery contest, it will be found on the day of polling that the bulk of the new vote will declare for a continuance of the present reign of good government in

It is believed that the rush to the Yukon this year will exceed the famous '49 experience in California. There is little use in cautioning people about the risks of going. Once a man makes up his mind to go, a ship's anchor will not hold him back. It is a craze, if not a disease, and must run its course. Fortunes will be made, but many will have nothing but trials and empty purses for their pains. It is always thus in a rush for the gold fields.

A Danger To Be Avoided.

The Toronto Mail and Empire, which is the chief Conservative journal, once more asserts that a new Normal School should not be built in London. Briefly, its argument is that the pupils of Western Ontario ought to journey to Ottawa and Toronto for their Normal School training. That the importance and convenience of London as an edu- of the rose, the sunflower that of the cational center for the populous West jessamine, the calla lily that of the should not be recognized, is the logical for the worse. Yet a change for the worse in every respect might be made as readily through over-confidence or neglect as through deliberate intention. Every citizen of Ontario who values the priceless blessings of good government, as enjoyed in this great Province, should keep constantly in mind the weighty words of a statesman at a time of national crisis: "Men say that God moves slowly, yet will not let a good cause fail. Let them refresh their piety by a glance at his ways in history and reflect that he visits wasted opportunities not less than wickedness with ruin."

The Free Press is trying to cover up Mr. Marter's tracks. It says that Mr. Marter was in London on Saturday on personal business. This is disingenuous to say the least. Mr. Marter came to London, not on personal, but on political business. His pilgrimage was to the shrine of the P. P. A. With Mr. Beattie, M.P., Dr. Roome and other Con-Dr. McWilliam, the people's candidate for East Middlesex, made a most Provincial elections, he promoted the "holy alliance" between the P. P. Mail Service.

Nine out of ten of the rural mail routes to and from London proceed on the proper theory of arriving in the city in the forenoon and returning in the afternoon. This allows the mails to be received and answered on the same day. The one exception almost has been the service reaching Fernhill, Poplar Hill, Coldstream. lo lo, etc. We understand that some reasonable compromise arrangements, fair to everybody, are probable in the near future, by which all interests and views will be fairly met, and under which, in all probability, there will be retained the advantages both of a morning and of an afternoon service.

Not in London alone are new manufacturing enterprises contemplated under the new order of things. The Canadian Manufacturer, in its fortnightly summary, gives the following, among others:

The Royal Paper Mills Company's pulp mill at East Angus, Que., is rapidly nearing completion. Hon. W. B. Ives will be manager.

St. Johns, N. B., will benefit by Mr. Spiro's new pulp mill, which will likely be built at Indiantown or Carleton. The I. B. WELL KNOWN VIOLINIST

Traveled Extensively Throughout the Provinces - Interesting Statements Concerning His Experience.

STELLARTON, N.S.-James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Provinces, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician for the last 26 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, but now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's. Hood's Pills are the only pills to take

Battle Royal Between Collegians and "Bobbies."

Two Thousand Students Fight With Forty Policemen—The Engagement Lasted All the Afternoon-Several Persons Bad-

Chicago, Feb. 9.-Two thousand students of the medical college, the Chicago college of dental surgery, and the Marquette school engaged in a desperate conflict yesterday afternoon at Harrison and Wood streets with 40 policemen. The battle raged, with intermissions of peace, from noon till 6 o'clock in the evening. The police were compelled to send in riot calls repeatedly, and in the early part of the scrimmage they were badly worsted. It was a free-for-all, rough-and-tumble fight. When the students were finally put to route they retreated to the protection of the college buildings. From there they hurled down all kinds of missiles upon the police who were chasing the offenders.

A glass jar filled with paste was thrown from the fourth floor of the college of dental surgery. It struck Policeman Brennan upon his right arm, knocking him to the ground and forc-ing him to release his club, with which he was trying to chastise the fleeing students.

Janitor Gus Christianson, of the Marquette school, was badly beaten. Christianson was only lately clothed with police power, and he endeavored to assist the police. The students fell upon him and he had to be carried from the field of battle. The streets in the vicinity of the colleges were black with people. Twice prisoners were wrested from the police by the students. The students howled and jeered at the police. This defiance caused the police to lose control of themselves, and they rushed madly about in a wild effort to arrest everyone in sight. Brandishing clubs and revolvers, they chased the students inside the college doors and forcibly took them from the buildings. When the riot was over and peace reigned, 25 students had been place under arrest. The prisoners were taken to the Lake was bailed out. The trouble began by the students engaging in a snowball fight, in which the police interfered, and then the officers. For a time the row was goodbattle began at 5 p.m., when the offi-cers arrested Carl Case, the son of a professor in the dental school, and who is said to have been innocent. The students took him away from the officers, and later, when another prisoner was locked in a patrol box, the students smashed the box, rolled the officers in the gutter and released the prisoner. During the fight four students were badly clubbed and Officers Sullivan American, white and colored, steady, and Brennan were injured in a manner sufficiently severe to give them a lay-

The All-Canadian Yukon Scheme Discussed.

It Is Explained Frankly by the Minister of Railways.

And Opposed by Various Members of the Opposition.

Grave Reasons of State, Hon. David Mills Said, Made the Move Imperative.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—It is not the practice of parliament to discuss a bill upon the motion for the first reading, but the extraordinary importance of the measure to ratify the Yukon Railway contract, which was submitted yesterday, justified by a departure from the cuscanals, who presented the bill, made an able statement to the house in ex-planation of the conditions of the bargain entered into with Messrs Mc-Kenzie and Mann, and in justification of the prompt action taken by the government to meet the situation created by the discovery of the riches of the Yukon and the mad rush of the to possess them. Mr. Blair explained the various clauses of the measure, as already detailed in your correspondence from this city. He explained that the bill did not correspond entirely with the one legalizing and confirming the contract with the C. P. R., introduced by the late government in 1881. That bill simply conferred upon the governor-general in council general powers to issue the charter and incorporate the company. In this instance parliament would be asked to incorporate the company and confer upon it what power it thought it should have, and but little was left for the governor-general in council to do. He reminded the house of the importance of the problem in the Yukon which the government had to solve, and the need of immediate action. The officials of the department of the interior estimated that as many as 250,000 people would go into the Klondike this year, and no estimate fell below 50,000. The transportation of these people and of the provisions which they required was, he said, an important problem, upon which depended the maintenance of law and order and civil government in that district, and the government would have been unworthy the confidence of the people who placed them in power if they had failed to act in accordance with their information. It was also essential to secure Canada the trade of that district before it settled into channels from which it would be difficult to divert it afterwards. Mr. Blair said the Stickine river route had been chosen on the advice of competent engineers. An interim report was received by the minister of the interior in December and the final report in January, so that the government did not waste time before taking action. Four of the passable routes were rejected because they traversed a portion of territory in the possession of a foreign government. Mr. Haggart said there was no justification in prompt action, but he op-posed the bargain entered into with the contractors. Mr. McMullen commended the contract as a wise one. If the contractors make a good thing he reminded the house that they are taking extraord-inary risks. He characterized Mr. Haggart's spech as a wild one. Mr. Clarke Wallace said the contractors got too much. They were not taking a great risk.

Mr. Morrison. B Morrison, British Columbia, sald it would have been criminal, in view of this inevitable rush into the gold district, not to have made provision for getting into the mining towns and camps an adequate supply of food. The government, by building the road through Canadian territory, would administer a death blow to the trade which the United States was purloining from the people of the Dominion. begun soon enough. He also held that no foreigner should be given the right to mine gold. Mr. John Ross Robertson condemned crime which the government were about to commit in the name of economy. The late government committed their crimes in the name of patriotism. Mr. Robertson, after speaking of the Crow's Nest and Yukon agreements, told the Conservatives that they would never get wanted and opposing every one it did not want. The bill was read a first time. Before the house adjourned, Sir Charles attacked Lord Aberdeen's late speech at Toronto on preferential trade and asked the premier if the government would be responsible for it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the opposi-

Whether or not the the Yukon gold fields. Hon. David Mills, leader of the senate, said there was no parallel between the government, but they might have the case of the Australian railway, to take some action during the present mentioned by Sir Mackenzie, and the Yukon road. Australia was master of the situation, while Canada had the United States on either hand ready to gobble up the entire trade of the country. The government had been forced to move boldly. With the exception of the route secured by the government, tom. The minister of railways and every other entrance to the country was through territory ckimed by the Sir Mackenzie Bowell-Have we not

By any other route, except the one chosen by the government, would be impossible for Canada to take any kind of an armed force into the Yukon if the United States objected. If all that had transpired in reference to this matter could be made public he was satisfied that there would not be a single member of the senate who would not second the government in its efforts to secure at once the construction of a railway to the head waters of Yukon navigation through Can-Senator McCallum-Then we ought to have that information. Senator Mills explained that it would be impossible to make public all the information on the subject, as much of it formed the subject of international correspondence and negotiations with Great Britain and the United States. The government had been blamed for undue haste in coming to an agreement with Messrs. McKenzie and Mann, but when it was known that unless supplies were conveyed over a sleigh road to the head of Lake Teslin before the spring all hope of completing the railway before the opening of next winter would be at an end and the necessity for haste would be recognized. With all the facts in connection with the contract were before the house, Senaor Mills was confident that it would be found that not only had the government acted with great caution and after the most matured consideration, but in the best interest of the country at large.

The Premier's Reply to a Pronibition Delegation Who Waited on Him.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—The members of the Dominion Alliance who have seats in the House of Commons and Senate of Canada yesterday waited on Premier Laurier and asked that the coming plebiscite measure should have no rider attached to it referring to the direct taxation necessary to make up the loss of revenue if prohibition were decreed. The delegation also asked that liquor should be excluded from the Yukon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he

The agreement represented a to have the law if it would cost them such a length and who did not desire more than what they were paying at the present time. The only object the government have was to have an honest expression of public opinion on this subject, with all the consequences before them. Whether or not it was advisable to have the naked question coupled with its implied consequences, was something the government had not yet determined. He agreed with Mr. Dougall that direct taxation was not the legitimate corollary of prohibition. It was not a necessary consequence; but it was a perfectly legitimate corollary that more taxation must follow, at least for some years. The Many Ways in Which Life May be Made More Healthful, Safe and Enjoyable.

That the city of the future is to be a very different thing from the city of the present is as certain as that the human race is to advance. Nobody believes that our extravagant expenditures for light, for instance, are to be kept up, because a time is coming when the people will demand the same sort and amount of service for themselves in a mass as for themselves individually. Nobody believes that the operations of the board of health will be so feeble as to allow barking dogs, braying donkeys, crowing cocks, jangling bells. shrieking steam whistles and smoking chimneys to be harbored in the quar ters of a dense population; or watered milk to be sold, as it now is, or things intended to be used for food to be put on the sidewalks, exposed to the dust and filth of the streets, and the friendly attentions of every passing dog. Nobody believes that quarts of things will be openly sold that only measure a pint, or liquids sold in bottles that have a big hump underneath that will crowd out a couple of gills, or coal be sold as a ton that weighs 1,500 pounds Nobody believes that in fifty years from now a whole street will have to be torn up whenever a drain is to be repaired, or water is to be put into 8 house, or a gas or sewer connection is to be made, or telephone wires to be introduced. Nobody believes that in fifty years hundreds of thousands of people will be living as families in single rooms, in our big cities, some of the rooms unlighted and none of them sufficiently ventilated. When it is shown, as it is by statisticians, that the death rate among people in the tenements is over 163 to the thousand, as compared with a rate of less than five and onefourth in the thousand among the people who live in clean houses, it becomes a question of immediate importance whether the city is doing its duty by not at once closing these moral and political as well as social and material

Americans are slow to accept any more government than is necessary, but once it is resolved upon, no people are more obedient to it. That many of the evils under which the cities suffer are capable of amending, and at slight expense, is clear enough. it is realized that the neglect of obvious duty has a deterrent effect upon right, as in the case of the grocer or butcher and milk merchant, who are allowed to cheat or to offer soiled or tainted food; when it is shown that it has an ill effect to confine children in overcrowded school rooms and unventilated factories; when it is shown that would be pleased to lay the resolutions handed to him before his colleagues. These are but examples of many forms that will soon be compulsory in all our American cities.

A GREAT ACTOR COMING. lish actor, recently knighted by the Queen, is on his way to America, and will give readings in the large cities for charitable purposes. He will appear in London is about two weeks. Squire Bancroft, like Sir Henry Irving, has done much to elevate the stage. His professional talents and the purity of his domestic life have given him a high place in the best society of England. His forte is comedy, and for years he set the standard of the British stage in this respect. He is now rich, and has retired from active dramatic pursuits. He has lately given readings in the British Isles to large crowds, and has devoted the proceeds to charity. WEST LONDON CONCERT.

A very successful concert was given last evening in the West London Methodist Church, under the auspices of the church choir. The attendance was good, and hearty applause greeted those who took part. Rev. G. B. Sage led the proceedings, while Pastor A. G. Harris made an efficient chairman. Following was the programme: Invocation, Rev. G. B. Sage; chairman's address, Rev. A. G. Harris; piano solo, Mr. W. H. Hewlett; quartet, Mrs. McCrimmon, Miss Couke, Messrs. Winnett and McKay; solo, Mr. Stockwell; violin solo, Miss Hay; solo, Miss Templeton; recitation, Miss Higman; solo, Miss Currie; solo, Miss Goulding; piano solo, Mr. W. H. The reasons given by those who came not out at the call of Deborah to free Israel from the oppression of Jabin of Syria, were the same as those which are given today by those who refuse to act on the side of right and opposition to evil today: 1. Those like Benjamin, who talk and pass resolutions in conference, but make no effort to oppose the evil with one sword thrust. 2. Those who will do nothing because the evil has not touched them personally, as did Reuben, "with great searchings of heart." 3. Those who abide by the ships, as did Dan, because it paid, and think only of the revenue. 4. Novelist Zola Roughly Handled by the Mob Outside the Court Room. Paris, Feb. 9.-A tremendous rush followed M. Zola on emerging from the jury door yesterday. He was recognized and obliged to return and seek refuge in the robing rooms, the doors of which were then locked. The crowd remained outside, yelling "Conspuez Zola!" etc., led by a number of young barristers, in their robes, who roughly handled M. Zola's sympathizers until a detachment of republican guards cleared the approaches to the court. M. Zola then emerged, and the moment he appeared on the steps leading to the courtyard there was an immediate clamor, and shouts of "Down with Zola!" "Long live Zola!" Zola!" "Long live Zola!" and "Death to Zola!" the last cry dominating the others. In the meanwhile the police, misunderstanding their orders, closed the gates, and M. Zola thus found himself inside the courtyard, surrounded by a howling, threatening mob. The police were powerless, and for a moment it looked as though he would be lynched with his friends who formed his bodyguard. Eventually the gates were reopened, and the police, having been reinforced, escorted M. Zola to the street, while the majority of the mob vere confined in the courtyard. The women in the crowd were especially violent. A man who cheered for Zola was set upon by a mob of people, who hustled him to the Michele bridge, where they tried to throw him into the River Seine. But the police were reinforced in the nick of time, and saved him.

POPE'S JUBILEE.

Twentieth Anniversary of His Coronation To Be Marked by Magnificent Services.

The pope's jubilee will soon be celebrated in Rome. Last year Victoria was the cynosure of all eyes. This year tually convinced that their happiness of the civilized world. Not only does the pope's birthday take place in March, but also the celebration of his coronation. In accordance with the canons and customs of the church, these events are marked by magnificent services in St. Peter's, and also by appropriate ceremonies among the "faithful" throughout Christendom.' Leo XIII. will be just 88 years old on March 2. And, curiously enough, or opened with appropriate services. For work 16 hours a day, getting from $5 on Jan. 2 the aged pontiff observed the 60th anniversary of his first celebration of mass. The gift of the United States at that time was a diamond cross. The Queen Regent of Spain sent a massive gold and jeweled goblet; the Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, 50,000 florins; and President Faure of France, six beautiful Sevres vases.

The pope is now but five years away from the proverbial "years of St. Peter." According to the Catholic Church, the first bishop of Rome presided over the destinies of his flock just a quarter of a century. It is seldom that a supreme pontiff can cele-brate the twentieth anniversary of his coronation. And only once has it happened among the 258 popes that the 'years of St. Peter" were reached. This exception was in the case of Pious IX., who found himself the center of a world-wide demonstration of loyalty when he attained the 25th anniversary of his papal elevation. The long life of Leo XIII., 's largely due to the fact that he is an enthusiast for frugality. In addition to this he is one of the most accomplished popes who has ever adorned St. Peter's chair. Not only in church polity, but also in poetry and philosophy has he stamped his name indelibly upon the pages of history. Small wonder is it, then that the "faithful" in every clime are preparing to renew their homage to the holy father. Nor is it surprising that the jubilee should be celebrated with all the pomp becoming a prince of the church, and all the pageantry befitting a pope.

The pontificate of Pius IX. was the longest in history, and was terminated in 1878. On Feb. 2, he gave his last allocution to the cardinals, and five days afterward died very suddenly. On Feb. 18, the sacred college met in solemn conclave, and two days later Cardinal Joachim Pecci was proclaimed the new pope, under the name of Leo XIII. The coronation ceremonies took place in the basilica of St. Peter's on March 3,

WELL SPOUTS CLAY.

It Is Also a Sare Indication of What the Weather Is Going to Be. Chamberlain, S. D., Feb. 8.—The government artesian well at Lower Brule Indian agency is a freak that is puzzling the geologists of the Northwest. Originally the pressure threw the solid six-inch stream of water to a height of 21 feet above the top of the well casing. Soon after the well was completed the pipe would become choked and at such times the water would not flow for two or three days at a time. Then without apparent cause the pipe suddenly would become clear and the water would again spout to its former height. After continuing for a few days, during which time it almost constantly spouted large quantites of sand, the water once more would become choked and cease to flow. This became so frequent and so regular that in time the three weeks ago the well at intervals which the clay is conveyed to the surduring the temporary eruptions, and rises slowly above the top of the cas-help of that marvelous "Favorite Prescription," invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and designed expressly to restore healthy vigor to the delicate feminine structure involved in motherhood. It takes away all of the danger and most of the pain attendant upon motherhood, and confers on the baby that lusty hardihood which is a joy to a mother's heart.

ing, exactly as sausages emerge from a sausage machine, until the top is so high in the air that it becomes over-balanced; then five or six feet of the length topples over upon the ground. The continued upward movement of the clay in a few minutes causes more of the column to topple over. This has continued until circular pieces of the blue clay, aggregating several hundred feet in length, have been deposited on the ground in the vicinity of the well, necessitating the employment of men to remove the huge deposits before the top of the casing should become com-pletely buried. The discharges of blue clay are accompanied by very little water, and the clay, probably from the great pressure required to force it through the well casing, is always hard and dry.

Another peculiarity is that these eruptions invariably begin a short time prior to the advent of windy or stermy weather, and continue until the weather again becomes settled.

The Denunciation of Them by Sir Charles Tupper.

Cut at the Prince of Wales as Well as a Slur on the Late Sir John Macdonald.

Montreal, Feb. 9.-La Presse (a Conservative journal) says that Sir John Macdonald, who accepted and wore the Grand Ribbon of the Spanish Order of Isabella the Catholic, must have turned in his grave when he heard Sir Charles Tupper criticise the Canadian wearers of foreign decorations. Sir Charles must have remembered that incident in the life of the leader before yielding to the pleasure of announcing to the whole universe that he was compelled to refuse from the King the Belgians a rank in Order of Leopold. Sir Charles the only forgot the career of Sir John, but committed an unpardonable sin with regard to the heir-apparent to the throne, by reminding Sir Wilfrid Laurier that there exists an Imperial statute forbidding British subjects from wearing foreign decorations unless they wear them in military service of the power which gives them. Sir Charles ought to tell us in what campaign the Prince of Wales gained the Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor which France gave to him. If the wearing of the decoration of the Legion of Honor is legal for the first gentleman in England, we do not see why it would be illegal for the first citizen of Canada. As to Sir Charles Tupper, we beg him to consult the life of Sir John Macdonald and to read the speech which the Marquis of Lorne pronounced in the presence of his royal wife at the inauguration of the Royal Society of Canada, and which he finished by asking the Canadian Academicians to wear the foreign decorations which they had received for their fine

Delaware, Ohio, Feb. 9 .- A startling statement has been made by Miss Nancy Fix, who was tortured and robbed of a fortune Tuesday night, and who is in a dying condition from the effects of her injuries. She recov-ered sufficiently to describe her assailants, four in number, two of whom were mere boys. She said that after binding and torturing her the men compelled her to reveal the hiding place of her money and that they secured $15,000 in cash from a jar where she kept it.

The robbers attempted to set fire to her clothing, and after securing the money they left her bound and nearly naked. Before going they built three fires in the house with the intention of burning it, and then locked the doors.

A LONDON LADY

Tells How Her Health Came Back

There are too many women who suffer from dreadful backaches, pain in the side and headaches, who are weak, nervous and run down, whose life, energy and animation seem gone. Here's a lady-perhaps you know her-who was cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Miss Lizzie Jones, 497 Grey street, when interviewed by our reporter, spoke as follows:

"Eight years ago I had rheumatism, which left me with weak nerves and Berious heart trouble. Just at the time when I was convalescing my dear mother died, and this threw me into a complete state of nervous prostration, thus aggravating my heart difficulties, which have since been growing more serious.
"My blood was so impoverished that I had no color in my face. I lost flesh and became very weak. The condition of my heart friightened me, as I suffered from sharp pains and violent palpitation. It was impossible for me to get restful sleep at night, and on this account I was unable to walk even a short distance, as the slightest exertion made me so short of breath that could scarcely move.

"I was easily startled, and mentally became very despondent, thinking I was going to die shortly. I had to give up my painting, which was my chief pleasure. Last November I gave up treatment with the doctors because their medicines seemed of no effect. then commenced taking MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS, which got at W. T. Strong's Drug Store. "From the time I commenced their use a radical change took place. My nervous system was completely restored to its usual strength and vigor. I have now taken four boxes, and am strong and well. They have restored healthly blood; the color in my face has returned, and I sleep as well as ever I did. I do not suffer now from ceart or nerve trouble, I can walk any distance today without inconvenience or weariness. All my friends remark

The Split in the Conservative Party. The Progres de Valleyfield says that the rupture between Sir Adolphe Chapleau and Sir Charles Tupper and the Conservative party is complete, and it adds: "This is an important event, for if Sir A. Chapleau has not all his former vigor, his friends in the Conservative ranks remain faithful to him, and they are both numerous and powerful. The declaration of war against Sir Adolphe Chapleau will have the effect of splitting in our province the Conservative party, already so much weakened by its two defeats of June 23, 1896, and May 11, 1897. In the fight which Sir Wilfrid Laurier will have to make in two years to obtain a renewal of his mandate, he can rely again on the Province of Quebec. The thing becomes more and more evident every
