THE SCORE BY INNINGS

				R.	H.	E.
GIANTS	030	401	000	8	13	2
YANKS	320	000	000	5	7	0

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 11.—Again the Giants proved their superiority in a terrific slugging contest with Miller Huggins' men, overcoming a three-run lead which the Yanks obtained in the first inning, and then driving in sufficient runs to win the game.

Two home runs—by Snyder and Meusel—in this comeback rally put the crowd on its toes, the outburst of cheering only being equalled when the Yanks followed up with another hitting streak, during which Fewster got a circuit clout. Both Toney and Harper, opposing pitchers, were driven from the box and their relief moundsmen, Barnes and Shawkey, were almost as unsuccessful in their efforts to hold down the number of hits.

Yankee fans bemoaned the loss of Babe Ruth, whose infected arm will prevent him taking part in any more of the series games. The massive hurler's arm is swollen and the poison from his elbow has spread to the glands of the upper arm. It was learned that Hoyt had pitched eight innings yesterday with a split finger, refusing to step out of the box.

The day was bright and clear and sun toasted the early comers in the bleachers. The crowd came late. The Yankees today played host to the Giants.

Meet At Round-Table to Decree Ireland's Destiny

ONLY 4,796 CITY WOMEN SURE OF FEDERAL BALLOT

1920 Municipal Lists Now Likely To Be Basis of Election Qualifications.

MEIGHEN DELAY BLAMED

Believe Change Will Prove Hardship to Residents of Rural Ridings.

Of the women in London between the ages of 21 and 60, British subjects, who will be entitled to a vote at the federal election in December, all but 4,796 of them will have to look to getting their names on the voter's list if they desire to cast a ballot.

This is the information secured from good authority. The contention is based in the firm opinion that the municipal lists of 1920 are to be used as the basis of the federal election list.

The Ottawa story published in The Advertiser, outlining how Premier Meighen's scheme to manipulate the lists had been foiled, proved quite an eye-opener, and was much discussed on the street.

The ruling, putting the two-year limitation on the 1919 provincial election list, will kill the local list, as it has in most other centres. The only alternative left is to turn to the 1920 municipal list.

A review of the 1920 municipal list shows that there were 20,235 names on it. Of these, 4,796 were women. A careful estimate of the total vote in the city for parliamentary elections, as outlined in Monday's Advertiser, showed 34,000 voters. It is safe to say that women will make up from 60 to 75 per cent of the unlisted 14,000, or between 8,500 and 10,000.

Today these women stand virtually unfranchised, and to secure the right to exercise their franchise they will have to place their names on the list.

It is believed that a number of revising officers will be named for the city, and those whose names are not on the list will have to appear and swear their names on.

It is believed that the change will be hard on the rural ridings. There also the 1919 lists are dead and new ones will have to be prepared.

UNSKILLED LABOR CHEAP IN LONDON

Wages Paid to the Civic Employees Lower Than in Toronto.

The contention of the Toronto Board of Trade, that the unskilled labor wage of 60 cents an hour is too high, and a deterrent to a resumption of normal activity by the precedent it creates, hardly applies to the unskilled labor employed by London.

Unskilled laborers in the employ of the city of London today total close to 600, and their wages vary, but fall materially short of the 60-cent average of the Queen City.

Garbage collectors for the city are paid $25 weekly. Street cleaners, 40 cents an hour, laborers on municipal works, 50 to 55 cents. Paving hands are drawing from 40 to 65 cents an hour. The 65-cent-an-hour men are few and are those who are skilled in pavement laying. Employees at the incinerator draw 45, 48 and 55 cents an hour.

GREEKS WIN IN FIGHT AT BRUSA

Athens, Oct. 11.—Greek and Turkish Nationalist forces have been engaged in stern battle along the new front in Asia Minor, extending from Afiun Karahissar northward to a point almost directly east of Brusa. On the southern end of this line, the Greeks, says an official statement issued here, have won a complete victory, driving the Nationalists from the field and inflicting heavy losses upon them. Further north the fighting has apparently consisted of raids in force, but it is evident the hostile armies are in contact with each other.

Enemy concentrations north of Kios, on the right bank of the Sakaria River, have been scattered by an offensive carried out by Greek troops, while enemy detachments further north have suffered grave losses.

Does Mrs. Babe Ruth Sit At Home As "Swat King" Clouts Homers?

Not So You'd Notice It! She's Busy "Panning" Giants From Box Over Yankee Dugout.

New York, Oct. 11.—What of the wives and mothers of the baseball heroes, as the glory of their loved ones hangs in the balance in the world series?

Today Mrs. "Babe" Ruth sits at home nursing the ulcered arm of her "man"; but when the great Bambino is at the bat, does she wait as a patient Penelope for the return to the family fireside of her hero, to soothe his troubled brow as he moans the fate that will not let him have just one more "tweeny-weeny" home run triumph in the battle with the Giants?

No, girlie. Mrs. "Babe" sits in a box over the dugout where the Yankees retire between innings, and stares daggers at those awful Giant pitchers.

A pretty, plump brunette, she was a vivid picture yesterday afternoon. The crown worn by the queen of the "King of Swat" was a wonderful thing of scarlet. She permitted herself to be interviewed.

"Mrs. Ruth, what does your husband's achievement in baseball mean to you?" asked the interviewer.

"Fifty - fifty," said the great "Babe's" queen.

She paused meditatively and then proceeded:

"He hands over his check every pay day, and he'll do the same with his money in this series. I'll split 50-50 with him."

"What do you do to stimulate your husband to success?" asked the interviewer.

"Talk baseball," said Mrs. "Babe," following a momentary pause.

"I talk it all the time," saids Mrs. "Babe." "Sure, I know every kink in the game."

Efforts to get Mrs. "Babe" to reveal some of the hardships in the life of a gold-plated star baseball player's wife were of no avail.

"I go traveling with 'Babe' all the time," she said, "and when he goes into vaudeville after the series I'll go along part of the time."

Some of the Giants appeared on the field.

Mrs. "Babe" glared at them.

"They think they're smart," said Mrs. "Babe" with emphasis.

DESCRIBES SLAYING OF WINDSOR WOMAN

Witness Testifies Victim "Fell of Her Arm" After Flash.

Windsor, Oct. 11.—A vivid account of the manner in which Mrs. Louisa Warlow met her death on Ottawa street, Walkerville, on the night of March 19, was given this morning by Mrs. Emma Tierney during the trial of John Warlow, husband of the dead woman, at the Essex County fall assizes in Sandwich. Warlow is charged with murdering his wife.

When the first witness, Benj. B. Rogers, Windsor, photographer, did not answer when his name was called, Mr. Justice Logie ordered that a bench warrant be issued for his arrest.

"People who treat the court with contempt can be prepared for arrest," said the justice.

Served Wrong Man.

On investigation, Sheriff C. H. Anderson found that the subpoena had been served on the wrong man, and that it was not Rogers' fault that he was not in court when called as a witness. Mr. Rogers was hurriedly summoned, and the bench warrant was not served.

On the night of the shooting, Warlow was seen to come from across the street and join his wife, the two walking toward her home, Mrs. Tierney testified. They seemed to be having an argument. Mrs. Warlow called to her: "John is saying terrible things about me!" witness testified.

Witness said that she went down off her porch and took hold of Mrs. Warlow's arm, saying to Warlow: "Leave this little trouble over until Monday, and leave her alone tonight."

"No, you don't," Warlow said, the witness stated.

Witness Saw Flash.

"I saw a flash, and I heard a noise, and Mrs. Warlow fell off my arm," said Mrs. Tierney. "I heard another shot and I saw Warlow in a sitting posture on the lawn."

James Clegg, Walkerville baker, where Mrs. Warlow was employed, and brother-in-law of the prisoner, testified that in November, 1920, friction developed between Mr. and Mrs. Warlow and quarrels were frequent, he said. In January, 1921, the two agreed to separate, Mrs. Warlow going to live with Mrs. Tierney.

About 10 days before the shooting, Clegg said, Warlow showed him a revolver, and said that he was carrying it because Norman Warlow, his cousin, was carrying one.

Cross-examined by J. H. Rodd, K.C., counsel for the prisoner, Mr. Clegg testified that Norman Warlow had been very friendly with Mrs. John Warlow ever since she had come from Montreal. He said that their friendship had frequently caused quarrels between Mr. and Mrs. Warlow.

DIES SHORTLY AFTER BEING HIT BY TRAIN

Albert Luce Walking to Work When Overtaken.

Struck by G. T. R. eastbound passenger train No. 110, west of Komoka, at 3:20 o'clock Monday afternoon, Albert Luce, 8 Orchard street, died in Victoria Hospital, London, at 11:20 o'clock on Monday night from injuries received.

Luce, who was 48 years of age, had been in the employ of the Grand Trunk for the past four years as a carpenter in the bridge and building department. He had been repairing a bridge, and was walking to Komoka to rejoin his comrades when he was hurled to one side by the engine.

It was just beyond a sharp curve where the accident took place, and, driven by Engineer G. Tuskey of Sarnia, the big Canadian National engine No. 5282, was upon Luce in the twinkling of an eye. The train was stopped and the victim hurried to Victoria Hospital.

Luce rallied, and for a short time it was thought that he had more than an even chance to recover, but the injuries to his lungs proved of too serious a nature.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Roy and Miss Leona, both at home.

The remains were removed Tuesday morning to the undertaking parlors of W. Harrison, where an inquest has been ordered for 6:15 o'clock Wednesday night by Coroner Dr. Cameron Wilson. The jury was selected by Detective Robert Egelton Tuesday afternoon.

EARL HAIG CRITICIZES DISBANDING OF CAVALRY

London, Oct. 11.—Canadian Press Cable.—Speaking at the unveiling of a memorial to gallant Kentish men, Field Marshal Earl Haig of Bemersyde, sharply criticized the proposed disbandment of four cavalry regiments expressing opinion that such a step was not justified by the lessons of the war.

Earl Haig declared that if Ludendorff had had sufficient mounted men to throw into action southeast of Amiens on March 27 and 28, 1918, the result might have been disastrous for the Allies. The war has taught us emphatically, he said, that cavalry was an essential arm of the service, and could not be replaced by tanks, aeroplanes or heavy guns.

GRAYDON REPORTED TO BE IMPROVING

The condition of Magistrate Graydon, who suffered a relapse a few days ago, after being dangerously ill with pneumonia, was reported as considerably improved Tuesday afternoon.

Must Pass Prison Gates To Reach Ailing Mother's Side

Osman Matsen, who broke into a store to get money to take him to his mother who lies seriously ill in a little farmhouse near Odense, Denmark, will have his desire fulfilled, but before he goes through the emigration office he must pass through prison gates, which will close behind him for an indeterminate period.

Osman is one of a large family of Danish peasants, which was broken up when it was found that their little farm would not provide food for all.

His brother was the first to leave home, going to Baltimore, where he became a sailor in the American navy.

Fortified with a slight knowledge of English, which he gained [illegible] school in his native land, Osman chose Canada as his land of promise. Last August he landed on Canadian shores and being experienced in farm work secured a position at $26 a month and board with a farmer living near Crumlin.

Five weeks elapsed, and then came the news of his mother's illness. The young immigrant had spent his all to get here, and had not saved much since his arrival. This did not alter his determination to get to his parent's bedside. Last week his employer and the employer's family went to London. They did not return at night. Osman had heard that there was a little money in the general store at Crumlin.

Armed with a hatchet, he set out to get it. Not being a professional robber he did not work noiselessly, and by the time he had smashed a rear window in the building and gained entrance, the storekeeper and his sons were aroused. They threatened him with a revolver. Osman showed fight, but luckily there were no casualties. Finally the young Dane was overpowered and handed over to the police.

When he faced Judge Talbot Macbeth in the county court at noon Tuesday, he made a full confession of his guilt and admitted that he knew it was wrong to rob. The judge and Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K. C., were impressed by his straightforward story, and although the law provides that Osman could be cast into prison for the remainder of his life, the judge decided to give him a chance to once more visit his little home and his sick mother.

CAMERON QUITS HIS OFFICE AS COUNTY SHERIFF

Direct Outcome of Inspector Dunlop's Report On the Murrell Escape.

IS EFFECTIVE NOV. 1

Has Held Post For 28 Years, Although Now 77 Years Old.

Donald M. Cameron, sheriff of the county of Middlesex, resigned on Monday night at the request of the provincial authorities. His resignation takes effect Nov. 1.

This action was the direct outcome of the escape of Sidney E. and William G. Murrell, alleged murderers, from the county jail on Friday, Sept. 2. At the investigation into the escape, conducted by Inspector of Prisons W. W. Dunlop, it was brought out that the sheriff had been incapable since June, 1917, and that Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth had been attending to all the business of the office, in addition to the duties required of him as high constable.

In his report, the inspector of prisons recommended that the sheriff be retired, and soon afterwards the Government asked for his resignation. Monday night he handed it to the local official deputed by the Government to receive it.

Prior to his becoming incapable because of age—he now is 77 years old—Sheriff Cameron was one of London's most public-spirited citizens, taking an interest in many charitable institutions and civic organizations. He had been secretary of the London Health Association, president of the Children's Aid Society, and a member of the court of revision.

In 1884, he carried the Liberal standard to victory in the federal elections in West Middlesex, and represented that riding until his term expired.

He became sheriff 28 years ago, and previous to that time was a member of the firm of Cameron & Son, shoe merchants, at Strathroy. In 1862 he was a reporter on the Toronto Globe.

PERSHING'S VISIT PLEASES BRITAIN

London, Oct. 11.—The British Government last night telegraphed to Paris, expressing its pleasure at the proposed visit of General Pershing to lay the congressional medal of honor on the tomb of the British unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey, and General Pershing is assured the warmest welcome. The cabinet ministers were absent from London over the week-end, but on returning to London dealt promptly with the question, and it is affirmed the Government views the visit with the greatest satisfaction.

GERMANS NOW FEAR REVERSE IN SILESIA

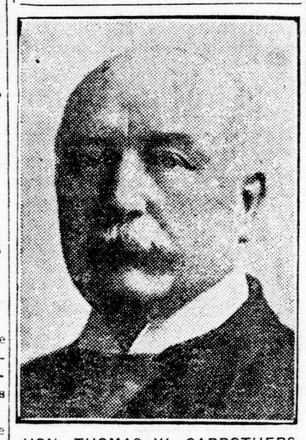

Berlin, Oct. 11.—The hurried return to Berlin of Chancellor Wirth and the unexpected conference on Sunday between Dr. Sthamer, the minister of Great Britain, and Dr. Rosen, the foreign minister, tonight, form the basis of a rumor that the German Government is definitely anticipating an adverse decision on the Upper Silesian question.

MAYOR LAUGHS AT POSSIBLE GAS SUIT

Ald. C. Wilson Claims That Ald. Wenige Is Wrong.

Ald. Cameron Wilson, who, among other members of last year's council, is mentioned as a possible defendant in a suit which Ald. G. A. Wenige intimates is to be launched in a further effort to collect $60,000 from the City Gas Company, its readiness-to-serve charge, does not take the matter seriously.

Ald. Wilson says that Ald. Wenige is basing his case on the wrong minutes, taking those of the special gas committee, instead of those of the city council.

The council minutes show, the alderman for ward 4 contends, that at a meeting of the council he called attention of the council to the statement which the gas company was carrying on its bills. This was to the effect that the company was inaugurating the new charge at the request of the special gas committee of the council.

Ald. Wilson says that he pointed out to the council that the special gas committee had not the power to make such a request. He made a motion that the city clerk notify the company to that effect. The city clerk immediately wrote the company, and the gas bills were changed the next time they appeared.

Ald. Wilson also points out that there is a resolution on the minutes of the council urging the city solicitor to take action to recover for the citizens the $60,000 which the company collected. The city solicitor advised against such action, stated Ald. Wilson, evidently foreseeing the result as shown by the decision in the recent action of Ald. Wenige.

Mayor Little laughed when it was called to his attention that he was going to be haled into court as a defendant in the $60,000 action against the gas company.

ERIN'S CHIEFS SIFT PACT WITH CABINET TODAY

Arthur Griffith Is Spokesman for Sinn Fein in First Session of Conference.

LITTLE DISCUSSION SEEN

Representatives From Ulster May Yet Be Invited To Attend.

London, Oct. 11.—The conference of representatives of the British Government and the Sinn Fein, called for the purpose of endeavoring to find a solution of the Irish peace problem, met at 11 o'clock this morning in the cabinet room at 10 Downing street, Prime Minister Lloyd George's official residence. After a session which lasted until 1 o'clock, the conference was adjourned until later in the afternoon.

A communique issued after adjournment was taken, merely said that the first session of the "conference land" was held at 11 o'clock. the names of those present, a cluded by saying that the co was adjourned until 4 o'clock th noon.

The Sinn Fein delegates were as they drove away from No. 10 ing street in motor cars. They to answer questions put by new correspondents.

One of Mr. Lloyd George's sec ies, who received the newspap just after the conference opened, ingly said: "You cannot expect news for weeks yet."

Ulster Considered.

The work of the opening session expected to be devoted entirely to procedure to be followed during la sittings of the conference.

There seemed to be a disposition consider the sending of an invitati to Belfast, asking that the Ulster Gov ernment send representatives to th meeting, and it was possible that such a step would be taken. Ulster has thus far stood aloof in the negotiations between the British Government and the Sinn Fein, but there seemed today to be some sentiment in favor of calling both the northern and southern Irishmen together in an effort to reach, once and for all, a definite understanding.

It is doubtful if there was ever an opening day of an important conference in London marked by so little newspaper comment as today's meeting. Several of this morning's journals refrained altogether from discussing the conference, while others assumed an attitude of restraint, manifes balancing between hope and fear.

The proclamation issued at Dub last night by Eamonn de Valera, which he called for unity of Ireland was issued too late to be reviewed editorially, some papers finding room only

THRESHING NEARLY COMPLETED IN WEST

Loss in Grade and Yield Less Than Expected.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1. — The Manitoba Free Press, in its crop report, published this morning, states that threshing has advanced much further than seemed possible, and the percentage in loss in yield seems to be relatively small.

The loss in grade was to be expected, and while it is severe in some districts it is considerably less than was anticipated before threshing was resumed. The reports indicate that even in Saskatchewan about 75 per cent of the wheat is threshed, while in some of the northern districts it is claimed that it will be completed this week.

In Manitoba the amount of threshing completed is much larger than in Saskatchewan. It is apparently 90 per cent done, taking the province as a whole.

MOURN DEATH OF CRIPPLED, SMILING WOMAN IN DETROIT

Detroit, Oct. 11.—Death suddenly took one who had fought years against pain and hardship, but who always had a smile for others.

The tone of the residents around 3820 Sixth street, where Herminie Govan, 71 years old lived, carries a note of sorrow, because they miss the genial, crippled little woman whom they have seen day after day busying herself about her small house and garden. The neighbors are not alone in their sorrow, because there are several members of the Visiting Nurses' Association who will miss Minnie as well.

Late Sunday night, Herminie, with the eccentricity of age governing her thoughts, left her small house to walk to the office of her doctor. Neighbors do not believe she was sick, but that she merely imagined she needed the attention of a doctor. Often she had visited the doctor when her health was perfect, they said. Crossing Michigan avenue at Vinewood crossing, she was struck by an automobile driven by George Smith, 2928 Mullett street, knocked to the pavement and taken to receiving hospital. She died of a fractured skull yesterday without regaining consciousness. The driver was held by the police.

About thirty years ago, while Herminie's father was tending a coal stove, Herminie suffered one of her frequent attacks. Turning to care for his daughter, the father left the stove unattended, and the coal gas asphyxiated him and his wife.

At the time the little property left by the father was in litigation, but it was given to Minnie for the remainder of her life. Each year since then, a man from McGregor's mission has come to spade up the small garden. Each week the city welfare commission has provided her with an order with which to purchase enough food to sustain her. For the last fourteen years nurses from the Visiting Nurses' Association have come to her weekly, bringing her clothes, bathing her, washing her hair and cheering her for an hour or so.

Never a Christmas or Thanksgiving Day but the nurses appeared at the little door with a basket of the season's food. Never a summer but Minnie was bundled up and sent to Bay Court, where she enjoyed the hospitality of that resort as the guest of Detroit charities. On one of her visits there she paid what was for her a typical tribute to these nurses, using an expression that was never profane with her, but which always prefixed any important or heartfelt utterance: "My God, what them nurses haven't done for me!" she told an attendant at Bay Court.

Her constant companion in her later years has been a small canary, the gift of the nurses, a gift that was almost necessary to keep Herminie alive, the nurses say, because of her grief at the death of her own pet bird some time before.

On Monday neighbors were much concerned over the situation surrounding the bird. The house was locked. By order of the coroner it was to stay locked until he had inspected the personal belongings of the dead woman. And the bird was inside, cold, hungry and in danger, the neighbors believed. On Monday afternoon, however, the house was opened, and Minnie's pet, the constant companion of her somewhat lonely life, was rescued.

AUDIENCE PLEASED BY GREW PLAYERS

"Trail of Lonesome Pine" Delights At Majestic.

That old, old story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which is known by practically everyone, coupled with the ability of the Grew players, gave the patrons of the Majestic Theatre probably one of the best evening's entertainments obtained here for some time.

The Grew players have been able to adapt themselves to nearly every class of story from a slap stick comedy to a real drama. The play Monday night was full of pathos, tense moments and with a sprinkling of humor it was a decided success.

Regular patrons at the theatre noticed two new faces on the stage. They were Burton Hibner and Charles Wray. Before a new audience and working under new conditions they played their parts remarkably well.

Virginia Mann again delighted the audience with the manner in which she played her role. She plays the part of June Tolliver, a girl who lived practically all her life in the mountains. Her linguistic attainments imitating the language of the uneducated mountain people is worthy of special mention.

Robert Hyman, who took the leading part, again showed his ability as an actor. Never for one moment did he allow the interest of the audience to wane.

The Majestic Theatre Orchestra, under the direction of Jack W. Cortese, entertained the audience during the intermission between acts.

The same program will be continued all week.

LONDON ADDS ANOTHER TO HER LIST OF FAMOUS BOYS

Written by an old London boy, Harvey O'Higgins, the sterling production, "Mr. Lazarus," which is scheduled to open in London, England, for a long run, recalls to mind amongst older citizens many others who forsook the Forest City in days gone by to chance their fortunes in distant places.

Harvey O'Higgins, now a resident of New York, came into prominence several years ago by his series of stories, "The Smoke Eaters." He is the son of a grocer who kept a small store on Dundas street here for many years, just across the road from the grocery store of Moses Wilson, father of Thomas Wilson, the famous packer of Chicago. In fact, Tom" Wilson and Harvey O'Higgins grew up together, one going in for business pursuits, and the other chasing the rainbow of literary fame until he found success in New York.

There were three of the O'Higgins boys, "Jack," "Tom" and Harvey, and they were educated in St. Peter's Separate School and the London Collegiate. Harvey later taking a course in Toronto University, his parents having removed to the Queen City. He is a grandson of the late Senator Frank Smith, one-time mayor of London, and his grandparents gave him the advantages of a trip through Europe when quite young.

He first began writing for Toronto newspapers, finally developing into a successful playwright.

Other Famous Boys.

Included in the crop of boys who sprang up at the same time as Harvey O'Higgins were several others who have become famous. Alfred Bryan, now of New York, author of such well-known songs as "Sympathy," "Iola," "Childhood," "Who Paid the Rent For Mrs. Rip Van Winkle?" "Joan of Arc," and the one that caused such a rumpus in the United States during the war, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," sat a couple of seats behind him in St. Peter's School. Bryan has evidently said his piece and is giving way to younger men, but in his time he made a barrel of money out of the songs he wrote.

When Harvey O'Higgins graduated into the collegiate institute in the senior form of the general school was a boy known as "Bill" Penn, who afterward achieved fame by writing a song which was sung around the world, "The Honeysuckle and the Bee." Just at that time "Jim" O'Dea was rolling cigars in a local factory, but filling engagements at night as a song and dance artist in London halls. Later he went on the stage and ten years ago made a big hit with his song, "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie."

Sweet Singers.

About the time that Harvey O'Higgins left London for Toronto a young man of some literary attainments had met the O'Higgins family through coming to this city to visit his sweetheart, an American girl, who was being educated at the Academy of the Sacred Heart. This rising young genius was "Cy" Warman; and it was while sitting in Victoria Park here that he wrote "Sweet Marie," as a tribute to the sweetheart. He had the song published, and it is to this day remembered affectionately by millions. To the day of Warman's death he and the O'Higgins family were the best of friends.

Thus London boasts of having given to the world some of the most famous heart songs, and now one of her sons is providing England with the best plays on the old London boards.

In The MOVIES

AT THE ALLEN.

"Dangerous Curve Ahead," the Goldwyn picture with a new angle, drew capacity houses at the Allen Theatre Monday. The producers can thank Rupert Hughes for the original story and Helen Chadwick and Richard Dix for making it a screen success.

It is a story of a few years of a young married couple's lives—their differences and ways and their final adjustments to each other's temperament—true to life in every detail.

Among the Allen features Monday was a baby show in the afternoon, which proved a drawing card. Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson acted as judge.

Beatrice O'Leary, one of Canada's best sopranos, who delighted audiences last week, received even a greater ovation this week.

"Snub" Pollard, in "Late Lodgers," provided the comedy. Other film attractions were the Allen News and travelogue pictures.

AT THE PATRICIA.

"He stood aloof from her because he knew the woman he loved was waiting in far off Frisco. Inevitably, as granite walls even crumple before the ceaseless onslaughts of the merciless seas, he succumbed. Cast adrift among the South Sea islands with scant hope of a rescue, Frank Mayo juggled with fate regardless of the future."

Staged along the sandy shores of those romantic South Sea islands, Santa Cruz and Catalina, the Universal production, "The Shark Master," featuring Frank Mayo, which is appearing at the Patricia the current half of this week, stands revealed as probably the last word in moving drama enterprise.

As will be evident to the most unsophisticated eye, no time, effort or finance has been spared in the setting of this film. No picture perhaps has ever been shown in London so rich in real dramatic situations on the high seas. A real tropical hurricane, a schooner that burns to the water's edge in mid-ocean and the sinking of a liner are scenes that are concrete testimony to what degree the Universal producers will go to portray a realistic picture of the sea and its sailors.

Like many another drama, "The Shark Master" is not a new story by any means, but it is told in an entirely different and pleasing manner and the cast has undoubtedly been chosen after careful deliberation. The star himself, already a popular figure in screenland, is ably supported throughout.

Two comedies, a Universal and a Star, "The Girl in the Saddle," complete the screen offering. The latter is a western cowboy tale, with humor proportionately interspersed with the serious.

In the selection of Bill and Cora Monahan, the "Hot Time Minstrels," the management of the Patricia again has shown a determination to measure up to its high vaudeville standard already attained.

AT LOEW'S THEATRE.

"Life," a big special production by William A. Brady, is the headliner of a splendidly balanced bill at Loew's today and tomorrow. It is artistically screened, and the plot taken from the successful melodrama of Thompson Buchanan runs the gamut of action and thrills with a love story very prettily worked in.

Willian Stuyvesant, a wealthy New York broker, is murdered by Tom Burnett, son of his former partner, and his best friend. Burnett and Stuyvesant's young son, Ralph, have been speculating in stocks, and are caught in a crash. They endeavor to fasten the murder upon Billy Reid, secretary of Stuyvesant, who has married the financier's daughter unknown to any of the family. The working out of the story gives some splendid glimpses of how the New York police work, and how the murder was unravelled. Incidentally, some beautiful settings are introduced.

The vaudeville bill kept the audience laughing and applauding. Baldwin, Austin and Gales in a combination of song and humor were well received.

Conne and Albert, a youthful looking pair in a role of a spectacled school boy and a dainty little school girl, made a hit with their comedy chatter. As a yodeler, Mr. Conne did some of the best work heard here in some time, and was given repeated encores.

Byron and Langdon in "The Dude Detective," a comedy sketch, provided an entertainment filled with humor and not a few thrills. The sketch was generously applauded.

"Love Taps and Hard Knocks," a screaming Mack Sennet comedy, has a laugh every second, and introduced some absurdly funny scenes.

The bill includes the Pathe News features, an artistic Breton travelogue, and a delightful overture and program by the big Loew orchestra.

"FRENCH LEAVE" IS CHARMING COMEDY

Scores Favor At Grand With Large Audience.

The Marc Klaw production, "French Leave," which is the offering at the Grand for the first half of this week, was ably presented Monday night by the English cast, which has been preserved intact for the Canadian tour. It is an excellent comedy by Reginald Birkeley, who, by combining unlimited humor with a simple plot, has produced an admirable piece.

The play, on account of the delightful humor and clever acting, lacked a single moment of ennui throughout.

Charles Romano, as a staff captain, gave a forceful characterization, while Madge Surtees' protrayal of the disguised wife, left no doubt regarding her claim as an actress.

In the role of Capt. Harry Glenister, Jack Murtagh played with considerable force. The other members gave a talented and natural presentation of their respective roles.

The setting of the plot is in a French farmhouse behind the battle lines in France. Capt. Henry Glenister is supposed to have gone to Paris on leave, his wife, expecting to meet him, goes to Paris also. But the captain could not get away. Hence his wife, eager and devoted, schemes to go to him. To this end she bribes and otherwise wins her way to brigade billets, where she succeeds in persuading the landlady of the billets to allow her to pose as her daughter, an opera singer, who has come from Paris for a brief holiday. Her husband is delighted, naturally. Also his is perturbed, in view of army orders, which prohibit such tricks on the part of doting wives.

His apprehensions are fully justified as future events soon demonstrate. As Juliette she fascinates the handsome staff captain, Lieut. George Graham; also, the elderly, but not unattractive, Brig.-Gen. Root, C. B.

A combination of unfortunate coincidences together with an insanely jealous husband result in a tangle. In the end, however, the surprising denouement saves the situation to everybody's satisfaction.

Altogether "French Leave" is a comedy worth while and should make a solid hit for the remainder of its stay in London.

CANADIAN-MADE TRUCKS DRIVE-AWAY TO QUEBEC

Built at Chatham Plant, Fleet Carries Capacity Load to Destination.

The first international speed trucks built in the new motor truck factory of the International Harvester Company of Canada, Limited, at Chatham, Ont., passed through London Monday night on what is said to be the first factory drive-away of a fleet of Canadian-made motor trucks ever attempted.

These trucks are en route from Chatham to Quebec. Each truck carries a capacity load and the drive is accompanied by Mr. E. C. Duffy, Canadian Motor Truck sales manager for the Harvester Company. In conversation, Mr. Duffy said:

"The establishment of our new truck factory at Chatham marked the achievement of a purpose of long-standing. We chose the Chatham location because of its superior shipping facilities, and because it is the site of our wagon works, where Chatham, McCormick and Dearing wagons and sleighs have been made for many years. As rapidly as possible production of speed trucks will be brought up to a point where the demand can be met entirely with the Canadian-made article."

SUNDAY NIGHT BLAZE AT SOLDIER-FARMER'S HOME

EXETER, Oct. 10.—Fire was discovered in the home of Victor Hogarth, a young returned soldier farmer, living about four miles south of town, last evening by his cousin, who lives across the road, and who was on her way to church. By the use of the telephone neighbors were summoned and a car was sent to Exeter for Mr. Hogarth, who had just settled down for the evening services in Main Street Methodist Church. The quick work of those summoned by phone soon had the blaze under control, and when the owner arrived all danger was over. The cause is thought to have been a faulty incubator. The loss is estimated at $200.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrifaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, billous attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Close observers believe that the announcement will be that 9-cent bread will be offered to the citizens of London.

The retail grocers will meet tonight. It is an adjourned session of the meeting recently held to consider the bread question.

The grocers are chiefly concerned with increasing their own margin of profit. They are getting one cent a loaf profit from some bakers and 1½ cents from others. There are some of them not satisfied with the 1½-cent profit. The matter will be further reviewed tonight.

The offer made to the grocers by John Bridge to organize a giant co-operative bakery for the grocers, may also be gone into.

The Advertiser asked Mr. Bridge for the details of his plan, but he declined to discuss them. However, it is known that he is willing to go ahead with the grocers on such a plan, and may even branch out on a much larger scale.

The bread war in London seems only to have started, and the housewife may safely look forward to a cheaper loaf immediately, with the prospect of a further decline at a not distant date.

LONDON LOANS FINALLY PASSED

The local housing commission has been notified by the Provincial Housing Commission at Toronto that the last loans of the local body, 17 in number, have at last received their sanction and will go through.

These loans have been on tap for some time. When they were first sent to Toronto the provincial body held them up, contending that there was a wide discrepancy between the figures of the local and provincial body. As a result an accountant was sent to the city to go into the matter, and it was finally straightened out by the city agreeing to issue $300,000 more debentures. Immediately on his return to Toronto the provincial official explained the situation, and the approval of the 17 loans, which were being held up, followed.

These are the last loans which the London commission will grant, and brings the city's total up close to $700,000.

ASSESSMENT OFFICIALS SATISFIED WITH MEASURE

Say No Improvement in Act Is Required.

"We have a pretty good assessment act, carried out by independent men, and I do not think a measure embodying personal assessment would be an improvement," said Assessment Commissioner Grant, in discussing a letter published in Monday's Advertiser offering such a suggestion.

"For instance," said Mr. Grant, a man might assess his house quite low. If a buyer came along and wanted to purchase at this assessment basis, the owner could still hold out by having his wife refuses to sign off. If the owner of a downtown store had a buyer in sight and put the assessment higher, it would react on the tenant, who would likely face a big increase in his business assessmeent.

"When I came into the assessment department 40 years ago, we had to do considerable guessing. For instance, a man had to be assessed as to the value of his stock. His word had to be taken. If it was not paid for he was not assessed.

"Today the situation is different. The assessment act in force is the same all over the province. It is a provincial statute, and since it was first put in force in 1904, has been amended from time to time until today, it is a very good measure."

Mr. Grant is not anxious for a change.

APPOINT CLERKS FOR ELECTION IMMEDIATELY

Active Preparations for Taking Vote Under Way.

Active preparations in connection with taking the vote in the federal election were commenced Tuesday by Returning Officer W. C. Fitzgerald. Alfred Burwell has been appointed election clerk, and the appointment of registration clerks will be proceeded with at once.

"There will be thirteen or fourteen appointments made in London immediately," said Mr. Fitzgerald on Tuesday. "We are making them on the basis of one to every 4,000 of population. Registration will be proceeded with as soon as possible."

No instructions have as yet been received regarding what lists are to be used, and a good deal of interest is being shown in the matter locally.

The registration is expected to show some interesting figures, especially in connection with the women's vote, and this it is generally admitted is going to be a very vital factor in the campaign. At the registration in connection with the prohibition referendum there was a record registration of women, and it is likely that there will be just as large a number on the lists for the federal vote.

OUSTS WOMEN FROM CITY JOBS

Detroit, Oct. 11.—Highland Park, an adjacent city, has decided to strike from its payroll all women employees. Married women were recently ordered discharged from city positions, and last night the council adopted a resolution prohibiting officials from hiring unmarried women in the future.

The council was prompted in its action by the large number of men out of employment, it was said.

ITALIAN DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE HELD UP

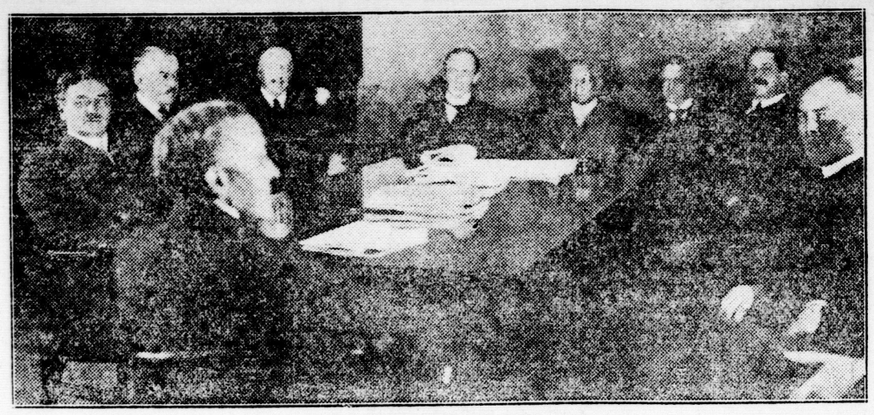

Rome, Oct. 11. — Government officials are finding much difficulty in providing transportation for the Italian delegation to the coming conference at Washington. They have requested that the sailing date of the liner Dante Alighieri be advanced so that berths for the delegates may be secured, but the company owning the vessel has replied that every berth is already taken.

The company has informed the Government that unless a requisition is made of the entire ship the directors must fulfill the undertaking they have already made in booking passages aboard the steamer.

Hanna Sees End of Operation of Government Roads at Loss

Reports Gross Revenues For Month of August On Five National Lines Exceeded All Expenses by Substantial Amount.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National Railways, issued his statement today:

"It is a matter of extreme gratification to me to be able to announce to the Canadian people that during the month of August this year the gross revenues secured from the operation of the intercolonial, Prince Edward Island, National Transcontinental, Grand Trunk, Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways exceeded the expenses by a substantial amount. This is the first monthly period since these railways had been operated by the board that it has been possible to present such a favorable statement. While I do not wish to appear as unduly optimistic, I do not believe that the economies effected, as one result of the consolidation, are beginning to be reflected in operation, and that the day is not far distant when the National Railways will be an asset in which all Canadians may take pride.

"The month of August is one not specially busy in that it marks the end of the crop year in the Canadian West, as the new grain does not begin to move until September, in large quantities, to the lake carriers and to the sea.

Embraces 17,000 Miles.

"The mileage of the railways embraced by the statement is over 17,000 miles. The figures for the month of August were:

"Gross earnings, $10,536,461.74; working expenses, $10,489,230.30; net earnings, $47,231.44.

"No one would venture to foretell the future with trade conditions as unsettled as they are today. It would, however, appear that the end of serious operating losses on the National Railways is appreciably nearer—nearer, in fact, than the most sanguine of us had hoped for. We are beginning to reap the fruits of the great and complicated work of consolidation which was begun when the merging of the Canadian Northern and Canadian Government lines was accomplished in 1918 and continued when the lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway were turned over to the National for operation."

Attendance Officer Puzzled When Permits Not Returned

Because many children, in possession of working permits, have failed, he says, to return their original temporary cards and receive the regulation permit in its place, Dr. George Weir, attendance officer, is encountering considerable difficulty these days.

He explains that when the adolescent school act became effective in September he had no supply of the proper permits and in order not to disappoint children who did not contemplate returning to school he issued typewritten duplicates on condition that they would be returned upon application. Since the department in Toronto has supplied him with the new blanks, however, he states that few have acted according to agreement.

With the old permits, the holder can change from one position to another without interference. With the regulation permit, however, the child is compelled, when leaving one employer to renew the permit with the school attendance officer.

DRUG ADDICT GIVEN 3 YEARS FOR THEFT

Says "No Justice in Country" When Remand Refused.

Jack Smith, self-styled drug addict, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett in police court Tuesday morning, after he had pleaded guilty to four charges of obtaining money under false pretences and one charge of theft.

Police showed that Smith's record began in 1910, when he was sentenced on two charges, and that since that time he has served several terms, and that he only emerged from jail last winter. Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K.C., thought that the sentence was for the prisoner's good, as there might be some hope of his being cured of the drug habit if he was confined. He was termed, by the crown, as the worst dope fiend in the city.

Smith asked that he be remanded for one day before sentence was passed, saying friends on the outside would make good the money he had secured by illegal means, but the court did not think that this would aid him any, as the charges were too serious.

"I'm sorry for you, Smith," remarked the deputy, "but it is for your own good."

"You don't need to be sorry for me," replied Smith. "There's no justice in this country," was the prisoner's parting shot as he left the courtroom to begin his term.

BOWLERS EXPECT BIG GATHERING

Brantford, Oct. 11.—A very enthusiastic meeting of representatives from the city bowling clubs was held last evening at the Brantford Club, and after considerable discussion it was decided to hold a monster open tournament in this city next year, to begin on the second Monday in July. The following officers will guide the destinies of the tournament for the first year:

President T. McPhail, Vice-President E. C. Tench, Secretary-Treasurer I. Newsome. Executive committee, H. B. Beckett, J. W. Shepperson, A. Ames, W. H. Inglis, A. A. Lister, R. C. Burns, D. Adams, W. F. Paterson.

There are 30 greens available for the play here, and trophies will be hung up.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTIST WAS FORMER LONDONER

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 11.—A man and a woman, who gave their names as Charles Sydney Beese, 39, and Anna Beese, 24, who detectives say have passed forged checks which may total $50,000 on banks and hotels in all parts of the continent, were being held here today and charged with forgery.

In the man's pockets were found engraved cards bearing the inscription, "Lieut. Sydney Beese, Eleventh Hussars, British Army." Before her marriage three years ago, Mrs. Beese said she lived in London, Ontario. Scores of checkbooks taken from merchants in various parts of the United States were found in the couple's apartment.

Barter Jewels To Buy Grain

Sofia, Oct. 11.—Jewels which belonged to the Russian imperial treasury are alleged to have been found in the possesion of a soviet delegation from Ukraine, which came to Bulgaria to purchase grain for Russia. The Bulgarian authorities are holding the Ukrainians, who were placed under detention when they disembarked at Varna.

The Russian soviet government has protested to the Red Cross commission, headed by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, but the Bulgarian authorities have demanded guarantees that the delegation will agree not to circulate Bolshevik propaganda in this country.

RAILWAY AGREEMENT BIG NATIONAL GAIN

C. P. R. Official Claims Service Safe From Interruption.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—This is not a settlement, but an armistice, was the summing up of one of the executives of the railway association, in discussing yesterday the agreement arrived at between the railways and their employees.

"It is disappointing in that it is a further delay in getting back to normal. Tentative settlements with employees are not settlements at all. I understand the agreement is practically the unanimous decision of the board of conciliation. But it leaves the wage issue still vague."

Other officials are less pessimistic and say that no other course could be adopted as the United States settlements still hang fire both as to wages, and freight rates.

"One big national gain is made through the agreement," said a C. P. R. officer, "and that is, that any danger of interruption to Canada's railway service at this critical period of the year is removed, as both sides have agreed to give prior notice before seeking for a reconsideration of the rates of pay. This will probably not happen until the United States situation has clarified."

"WILD MAN" MAY NOT BE MORRISTOWN MURDERER

Morristown, N. J., Oct. 11.—The mystery of who murdered 11-year-old Janet Lawrence in a clump of woods on the outskirts of Morristown last Thursday, deepened today as detective abandoned the second of the clues they had worked on.

Frank Felice arrested yesterday after neighbors had told of seeing a "wild man" near the scene of the murder, was said to have convinced the authorities he had no connection with the crime.

A report that an escaped lunatic had been arrested in Stamford, Conn., and had admitted being in Morristown on the day of the murder, was denied by the Stamford police, who said they knew of no such man.

Woman Kills Eagle Lured By Millinery

TOMAHAWK, Wis., Oct. 11.—Mrs. George Kelley, residing north of Bradley, Wis., was forced to fight a huge golden eagle while fishing in a boat. The big bird was attracted by a bright hat she was wearing and swooped down on her. Realizing her danger, Mrs. Kelley took up a stick attached to a fish stringer and killed the bird with a blow on the head. The eagle measured 7 feet 6 inches in his wing spread. The bird will be mounted.

SOUTHEASTERN SECTION OF CITY TO GET SCHOOL

Will Relieve Congestion in the Ealing and Chesley Avenue Buildings.

LAND BUY AUTHORIZED

Architect To Submit Plans to No. 2 Committee.

After final consideration the local educational authorities have decided definitely to establish a school in the southeastern section of the city. On Tuesday the board of education authorized the city solicitor to purchase, at a cost of $4,850, a portion of Price street, bounded by Dakin and Holman streets. The city's representative has been directed to complete the transaction forthwith.

The construction of a four-room school, as the most favorable selection of the board, will relieve the congestion in the lower grades of both the Ealing and the Chesley avenue schools.

Plans for the proposed building will be submitted by the architect at the regular meeting of No. 2 committee Tuesday afternoon. Whether any actual work will be undertaken this fall is problematical, however.

MUST SPEED UP NOTICES OF ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES

Motor Club Secretary Receives News for Motorists.

Motorists who contemplate suing a county or township municipality for damages resulting from non-repair of highways or injuries received, must forward a notice in writing served in person or by registered post within ten days to the clerk or head of the municipality, otherwise the municipality cannot be held responsible.

This is the gist of a communication received by E. C. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor Club from Toronto headquarters. The amendment to the statute was passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature.

Where a city, town or village is liable to be held responsible a similar notice must be given within seven days. In this respect there has been no change in the law.

CRACK IN PIPE DISABLED SHIP

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 11.—A crack in a bathroom pipe may have been the cause of the flooding of the Canadian Importer, which drifted about the Pacific Ocean for weeks disabled and water-logged, was twice lost and found again, towed to port 500 miles, and then was found to be practically intact as far as her hull was concerned.

In a Vancouver drydock yesterday workmen found a crack two and a half feet long in a bathroom pipe, where it passed through a hole just at the waterline, and the crack in the pipe is just outside the 'skin" of the ship. It is thought that this is where the ocean found ingress.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The feature of slow trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning was the comeback of Holly. It opened at $7.42, shortly developed strength, and closed at $7.49, a gain of 8 points on yesterday's closing. McIntyre was steady at $1.93, and Teck-Hughes was in demand at 15½c. Keora droped ½ point on the sale of 10,000 shares, and Dome Mines was steady at $20.50. Schumacher reappeared at 24c. Total sales were 28,680. Silvers were quiet, and fractional changes were registered in Beaver, Peterson Lake and La Rose.

OWNERSHIP IN DOUBT; POLICE SEIZE LIQUOR

Montreal, Oct. 11. — Alcohol valued at nearly $6,000 was seized by the special police of the Quebec liquor commission from a warehouse on Queen street. Lyons' drug store and a city bank both lay claim to the goods.

According to H. H. Lyons, the liquor belongs to a drug manufacturing firm, but is tied up financially by a bank.

The case will be taken to the courts.

FREEDOM ONLY IRISH SOLUTION, SAYS DE VALERA

Delegates To London Parley Hold No Foolish Hopes, He Declares.

URGES UNITY IN ERIN

Ulster's Problems May Prove Stumbling Block To Settlement.

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—Eamonn de Valera issued a proclamation tonight through the Dail Eireann, dealing with the London conference. In it he declares that the only peace which can end the struggle will be one consistent with the nation's right and one guaranteeing freedom worthy the sufferings endured to secure it.

The Irish delegates who are to meet the British representatives in London, he says, indulge in no foolish hopes, and he advises the country not to indulge in them.

The Sinn Fein leader alludes to the power opposing Irish aspirations, and sounds the warning that essential unity will best be maintained by unswerving faith in those deputed to act in the nation's behalf.

The text of the proclamation reads: "Fellow Citizens:

"The conference in which the accredited representatives of the nation are about to engage with the representatives of the British Government must profoundly influence and may determine the whole course of our own country's future. It will affect the lives and fortunes of every section of the community.

Duty of Irishmen.

"Whatever the differences of the past, it is to the interest, as it is the duty, of all Irishmen to stand together for Ireland now. Our delegates are keenly conscious of their responsibilities; they must be made to feel that a united nation has confidence in them and will support them unflinchingly. They share with each one of us the ardent desire that his secular conflict between the rulers of Great Britain and the Irish people may happily be brought to an end.

"But they realize that the end of the conflict does not depend upon their will or the will of this nation. The struggle on our side has always been simply for the maintenance of a right that in its nature is indefeasible and that cannot there be either relinquished or compromised.

"The only peace that in the very nature of things can end the struggle will be a peace consistent with the nation's right, and guaranteeing freedom worthy the sufferings endured to secure it. Such a peace will not be easy to obtain. A claim that conflicts with Ireland's right has been ruthlessly persisted in through centuries of blood—it seems unlikely that this claim will be abandoned now. Peace and that claim are incompatible.

"The delegates are aware that no wisdom of theirs will suffice; they indulge therefore in no foolish hopes; nor should the country indulge in them.

No Closer Ties.

"The peace that will end this conflict will be secured not by the Imperial Parliament and if, and when, it acepts a place in the British Commonwealth it desires no closer affiliation than Canada and the other dominions."

The Sinn Feiners declare they are bound to set forth Ireland's claim for complete saparation, which, they have pointed out, is their mandate from their constituencies. Any recession from that position will be made at a price bringing in Ulster, and the Ulster question thus is expected to assume importance from the outset and may again prove the stumbling block to a settlement.

EVERY DOMINION TO DECIDE ON IRELAND

Viscount Grey Speaks On the Policy of Empire.

London, Oct. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The position of Ireland and the self-governing dominions of the British Empire was discussed at length by Viscount Grey in a speech at Berwick in support of the candidature of Walter Runciman for election to the House of Commons in the seat formerly held by Viscount Grey.

"I am not quite sure that we in this country generally quite understand what dominion partnership has now come to mean," said Viscount Grey. "I am not sure that we realize all the consequences of the imperial conferences held this year in London with the British Government and the British self-governing dominions. People sometimes talk as if the dominion partnership was a one-sided affair in which the dominions gave up something of abstract independence and we in Britain gave up nothing. It is not so. Britain has been giving up some of her independence in order to make the dominions' imperial partnership a real thing.

"There can be only one foreign policy for the Empire, but precisely because there can be only one foreign policy, the dominions are called into consultation. The foreign policy is now arranged, after consultation and agreement with the dominions. The British Government has given up the practice which they formerly exercised of deciding foreign policies without consultation with the dominions.

Viscount Grey said that it was very likely that the consent of the other self-governing dominions to the admission of Ireland had been secured. If not, he said, he had no reason to doubt that it could be easily secured.

"But let us bear in mind," he said, in conclusion, "that when we are talking dominion partnership we have got to make it real partnership all through. We cannot even discuss Ireland coming into that partnership on the same terms with other self-governing dominions without an agreement with the self-governing dominions already in the Imperial council."

FORD ASSEMBLING FORCE GIVEN 3-MONTH HOLIDAY

The local assembling force of the Ford Motor Company has been cut down, the change taking place on Monday. Several employees were laid off. The shutdown is the usual fall move. About the first of the year sees the launching of the next year's work. "Sales are very satisfactory," states the manager.

Rubber Collar Foils the Fangs of Rattler

BECKENRIDGE, Texas, Oct. 11. —Wiliam J. Shoupe, oil field worker, solemnly swore Saturday night to wear rubber collars the rest of his life.

Shoupe was driving alone in a flivver when engine trouble developed. He got out and got under. As he was working under the lifeless engine, he felt a rattling against his rubber collar.

Shoupe grabbed a monkey wrench and killed a rattle snake with four rattlers. The collar was soiled but not damaged.

ACTIVITY GREATER ON CHICAGO MARKET

Early Advance of Corn Futures—Country Offerings Small.

Chicago, Oct. 11—More buyers were in the market today and wheat prices tended upward on early trading. The opening was 1-2 to 3-4 up. Scattered buying at the start encountered few selling orders, and the initial advance amounted to around a cent over yesterday's finish. The early bulge was lost when pressure increased, but this did not prove persistent and full recoveries were made.

Corn futures advanced early, when hedges were removed on liberal sales of cash corn made late yesterday. Country offerings were smaller, but trade was light, and the market responded to every light wind that blew.

Oats were firmer on scattered buying and lessening pressure. The opening was 1-4c higher.

Provisions were firm.

Y. M. C. A. TO CELEBRATE ITS 100TH ANNIVERSARY

World Pays Tribute to Sir George Williams, Founder.

In many leading cities of the world the Young Men's Christian Associations are on Oct. 11 holding ceremonies in connection with the centennial anniversary of the founding of the association by Sir George Williams.

Sir George, with the assistance of a few friends, started the first Y. M. C. A. in England, the incentive for the work being the conditions under which boys were forced to live in the early sixties. The association was such a success that when he traveled to America in 1876 he decided to spread the Christian association idea.

The founder died in 1905, and in many places in the world memorial tablets and monuments were erected in memory of him. England's tribute to him is a memorial window in Westminster Abbey, which will be unveiled shortly.

Viscount Bryce, in paying a tribute to Sir George, said: "Unfortunately, I do not know Sir George Williams personally, and my knowledge of his particular work is wholly gained from others. But I can truly say that I think he rendered a great service to the world in what he did for the Young Men's Christian Association. Its work has gone out into all lands, and I remember how much good it seemed to me to be doing when I saw its establishment in South America. The whole world knows how much splendid work it did during the war."

U. S. EMERGENCY TARIFF REMAINS UNTIL FEB. 1

Washington, Oct. 11.—The emergency tariff, instead of expiring Nov. 25, will remain in effect until Feb. 1, under a bill favorably reported today by the house ways and means committee. The life of the dye embargo would be extended, as well as the rates carried in the emergency act.

October Is Best Month of Year To Apply New Paint

Only one month remains in which outside painting can be done safely. By the middle of November the best in autumn weather will have passed, and from then on constantly changing and treacherous weather will always be a menace to newly-applied paint.

For this reason it behooves all lovers of the beautiful who desire their homes and surroundings to look their best through the cheerless winter months, to attend to this important work at once.

BEST TIME TO PAINT.

Much is to be gained by undertaking the work at the present time. At no time of the year, according to experts, are weather conditions more suitable to painting than during the month of October.

The sun has lost its hottest rays and no longer can destroy the work of the brush. In the summer time hot winds and blazing suns are very liable to blister and crack freshly-painted surfaces. Under their influence the paint, as a rule, dries much too rapidly to give the best results.

In the late fall and winter frost touching new paint is almost sure to cause it to peel. Success may attend the efforts of the workmen, but the risk of freezing weather is always too great to make it worth while.

On the other hand none of the conditions are to be met with in October. The days are never too hot and yet not too cold to give the painter an opportunity to obtain the best results. The usual moisture in the air tends to harden the surface, while the frequent rains also lend assistance.

The summer flies have gone and no longer are a menace to good workmanship, while the bracing air contains little dust to cloud the painted surface.

The city is now in the midst of a general clean-up campaign, and all paint applied during this week will do much to help the cause along.

Canadian High Commissioner Reports On League Progress

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Sir George H. Perley, Canadian high commissioner, returned today with Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty to London and gave the Canadian Press some impressions of the second assembly of the League of Nations, which has just concluded.

Sir George Perley said the League had already justified itself. It was unfortunate that so many people expected too much from the start. The very fact that the representatives of the different nations got together and discussed matters had in itself made for world peace. The discussions throughout, he said, were characterized by a degree of patience and tolerance that was most inspiring.

Of the work accomplished, said Sir George, the outstanding achievement was the formation of a permanent court of international justice, which the powers had tried to establish several times previously. A step forward had also been made regarding the traffic in women and children, the assembly extending the international convention handling this matter. The league had also shown the world what could be done by joint action in health matters.

Regarding typhus, Canada had given generously toward this and it was hoped that other nations would increase their subscriptions. Sir George also mentioned the alterations regarding the expenses of the league, under which Canada and the other dominions have been paying as much as Great Britain. Under the revision, Canada will pay 35 units against Britain's 90.

Concerning the criticism levelled against the league, alleging unduly heavy expenditure, Sec. George Perley said, two experts, one English and one French, had investigated and reported that the expenses were not excessive.

SARNIA LIBERALS PREPARE FOR FRAY

Pardee-Dewart Stories Are Declared To Be Falsehoods.

SARNIA, Oct. 10.—Sarnia Liberals opened their campaign here tonight, when headed by Fred Pardee, M.P., plans were inaugurated for a reorganization, which, according to officials of the party, will see Fred Pardee seeking re-election on election day. Local leaders of the party branded as falsehoods the stories sent out from this city and elsewhere announcing that Mr. Pardee would head the provincial party, supplanting Hartley Dewart. According to the Liberal officials, Mr. Pardee would have retired from political life but for the fact that the ensuing campaign promised to be the hardest that had ever been fought in West Lambton. The Liberals will hold another meeting in the near future to pick their campaign committee.

STILL HUNTING A TORY CANDIDATE IN ST. THOMAS

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 10.—Official announcement is made that with the refusal of Dr. J. D. Curtis to accept the Tory nomination, W. W. Scott, M. C. R. engineer, will be the nominee of the party at the Conservative convention at Dutton, Wednesday. To placate the yeoman voters of West Elgin, it is announced that Mr. Scott was born and brought up on a farm, and that the railwaymen may stand by an esteemed member of their order. Mr. Scott is mentioned as a leading official in St. Thomas Lodge of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers.

Then John Lane, who is looked upon as the prospective candidate of the U. F. O.-I. L. P. is also a railway employee, and William Tolmie, a prominent farmer, the nominee of the Liberals, a variety of candidates is given to all sorts and conditions of electors.

PREPARING FOR CONVENTION.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 10.—At a gathering tonight of the chamber of commerce arrangements were made for the reception of delegates to the Associated Boards of Trade convention here next month. Two resolutions, one on unemployment and the other on express rates, are being formulated by the local chamber.

STOP THE FIRE

Before It Becomes a Disaster!

Don't Wait for the Fire Department

Ten minutes' handicap may turn an incipient blaze into an uncontrollable conflagration. Seventy-five per cent of all fires are extinguished by chemicals and more by hand chamical extinguishers than by any other means. With a "PYRENE" Extinguisher you can throw a gaseous, fire-killing stream fifty feet. It will seek out fires between walls and floors and places otherwise inaccessible. It has many times the extinguishing power of water and will instantly snuff out fires that water has no effect upon, such as burning oil, gasoline, kerosene, paints, etc. Every home, office and factory should be equipped with "PYRENE" Fire Extinguishers.

MUST NOT BOARD ANY MOVING M.C.R. TRAINS

Passenger Stopped by Special Agent of Railway Company.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 10.—The Michigan Central has ordered that passengers may not board trains while in motion at its depot here. A patron of the road was about to make a running jump at the station today when a fast train was moving, but he was held up by Special Agen Mulvenny until the last car had passed west through the depot. The passenger was indignant and the more so because he wished to reach Windsor before the first race was pulled off. The company will insist upon the observance of this safety first regulation.

Prisoners Waxing Fat.

The cost of maintaining the prisoners in the local jail for the last quarter reached 12½ cents a man and woman daily. The chief sources of nourishment was bread, oatmeal and molasses. There was a time the expense of the prisoners keep did not exceed 3½ cents a day, but the older inhabitants remember it as the period of the big winds.

18 AUTOS STILL ON DETOUR ROUTE

BRANTFORD, Oct. 10.—Announcement has been made here that the Brantford end of the Hamilton provincial highway will not be opened until October 20 or 21. Writing to the local motor league, Hon. F. C. Biggs states that it may be the latter date when the road is opened again to traffic. Construction work, however was completed a week ago, but the concrete is very slow in setting. Detours used between this city and Hamilton are practically all impassable, as a result of the heavy rains of the past few days, coupled with the heavy motor traffic.

During the past few weeks traffic from this city to Hamilton has been diverted at Cainsville on a detour to near Fairchilds Creek. For about five miles the road is of heavy clay, and with the rains of Friday, Saturday and today the road has become impassable. The masonic party, which escorted his honor the lieutenant-governor of Ontario, Lieut.-Col. Harry Cockshutt, to Toronto on Thursday, was caught in the heavy roads and eighteen cars of the party became stalled.

Paisley Farmers Get Good Prices For Their Cattle In England.

PAISLEY, Ont., Oct. 10.—A. McCrimmon, with his assistants, Edward Waring and Joseph Rathwell of Paisley and D. McArthur of Port Elgin, has returned home after accompanying a shipment of 175 head of cattle to Great Britain.

They report receiving satisfactory prices for their stock, although livestock values have recently dropped overseas, despite the fact that the embargo on Canadian cattle is still discouraging shipments from this country.

It is claimed that Scottish farmers produce the best beef cattle and their stock brings $40 to $45 more per head on the English market than Canadian stock. Livestock from Scotland and Ireland may be held indefinitely in England, but cattle from Canada must be slaughtered within ten days after landing at a British port.

This embargo sometimes forces the Canadian shipper to sell at a sacrifice and prompts the agitation of Ontario breeders for the removal of restrictions to allow them to feed their stock in British yards until more favorable sales are possible.

Enthusiasm and Confidence Evidenced Throughout the Riding.

AYLMER, Oct. 10.—Liberals of East Elgin will gather here Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the forthcoming general election. A large attendance is expected from all parts of the riding.

WANT SARNIA MAN'S NAME.

SARNIA, Oct. 10. — As a result of stories told Police Magistrate Gunton of Simcoe by Fred Masten of Brantford, in which he implicated Sarnia men in rum-running and liquor theft plots, the Sarnia police will ask for names of local men implicated. For some time the provincial members have been working on the case, but until Masten implicated the local men the O. T. A. officials here have been unsuccessful. Masten is known in this city, as is also Hugh Farrell, connected with the Simcoe $900 liquor theft. Masten declared the wet goods were stolen for a Sarnia man, and it is this man's name the Sarnia authorities hope will enable them to clear up the liquor traffic said to exist between Sarnia and Port Huron.

Clemenceau Asks Compatriots To Think of Him As a Friend

MOUILLERON-EN-PAREDS, France, Oct. 10.—(By Associated Press.)—"I should like before I disappear to formulate as a last wish that everybody should think of me as a friend," said Georges Clemenceau, the war premier, at the dedication of the soldiers' memorial at his birthplace today. "It would be my best reward.

"I have never changed. Life has taught me much. I finish by admitting that certain of my ideas cannot be placed on the same plane as formerly, but I have always recognized that there is nothing higher than the brotherhood of all Frenchmen.

"I have been much blamed during my life. I supported it gaily when I was young. I did not exactly detest strife, but if strife has charms, so also has peace.

"It is easy in war to muster all one's forces to dash upon the foe, but it is quite another thing to come back to peace and remain faithful to the new policy of peace and union among Frenchmen. I have passed all my existence in being impatient, but as life ebbs from me I have learned patience, and I think I can assure you that henceforth I will conform to that rule of life."

Hon. T. A. Crerar Commences Ontario Campaign Next Monday

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—According to a message received at the local United Farmers of Ontario headquarters today from Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Party, the westerner will devote the week of Oct. 17 to his election campaign in Ontario. The send-off will take place at Brampton on Monday night next, when Premier E. C. Drury of Ontario, and J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., will appear on the same platform, and at the same time will give the official push to the provincial farmer campaign. The following meetings have been arranged for the week with Hon. Mr. Crerar the leading speaker:

Simcoe, Oct. 18 Woodstock, Oct. 19; Wingham, Oct. 20; Mount Forest, Oct. 21; Orangeville, Oct. 22.

A portion of the following week will also be given over to Hon. Mr. Crerar's Ontario campaign, but as the dates are uncertain, arrangements have not yet been made for the meetings. Following this part of his Ontario tour, the Progressive leader will visit the Maritime Provinces, and upon his return he will be available for another week or ten days in Ontario.

Mr. Soward was about 40 years of age.

CARLISLE IS SILENT ON MONTREAL VESTRY OFFER

HAMILTON, Oct. 10.—Whether or not Ven. Archdeacon Carlisle of All Saints' Anglican Church, Windsor, is to become rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, is a matter yet in abeyance. It was learned at today's session of the general synod that the vestry of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, has favorably considered his appointment as rector, but nothing definite will be done until the congregation has been consulted.

It is said the Archdeacon Carlisle himself is non-committal on the matter.

RED CROSS AND CITY SHARE COST OF HEALTH NURSE

St. Thomas Society Cannot Continue for Another Year.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 10. — The Red Cross Society appealed to the board of health tonight for a grant of $1,500 to pay the salary of a public health nurse. The society felt that with one nurse doing visiting and bedside nursing, and one public health nurse that the city work will be well looked after.

The society stated that it could finance one nurse for the work, putting on an extra nurse at times when the work requred it, but could not carry the heavy responsibility of three contracts.

The board after some discussion agreed to the demands of the society.

Red Cross Report.

The Red Cross Society reported to the board that the visiting nurse made $3,172 calls during the year and held 27 baby clinics with an average attendance of 28, and there are 389 babies registered on the clinic. The financing of the work of funds, although there is no deficit, been difficult and owing to a shortage of funds. Although there is no deficit the society will not be able to carry on another year.

COMMIT TWO FOR OWEN SOUND DEATH

Dan McMillan and Wife Held On Murder Charge.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 10.—Magistrate Creaser today committed Dan McMillan and his wife, Mary McMillan, to stand trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction on the charge of murdering Mrs. McMillan's former husband, Jamieson Johnson on September 5.

There was considerable evidence taken in the four and a half hours' sitting of the court on this case, practically all of which was brought out at the inquest ten days ago. There was no evidence presented for the defence, W. H. Wright and H. G. Tucker, acting for the respective prisoners, deciding against this.

Evidence was brought in to show that the death of Johnson had occurred under very suspicious circumstances. Johnson was taken violently ill on September 3, and stated in front of witnesses that he had eaten porridge that morning that had tasted very bitter. He also said that he had asked his wife if she had put turkey rhubarb into the porridge.

A neighbor, Mrs. Karn, said she had seen him at 5:30 a.m. on Sept. 3, and he appeared all right. At 7:15 a.m. she saw him sitting at the back door trying to vomit. Dr. Middleboro was called, and the victim fully recovered on Saturday night and Sunday.

Drank Porter Together.

On Monday evening he and McMillan, the accused, had a drink of porter together at the Comely House, and a half hour later Johnson again became violently ill with spasms, cramps and stiffening of the legs, and he was taken home. Dr. Middleboro was again called, and after the death he reported to the coroner that he believed Johnson's death had been caused by poisoning. The coroner made an investigation and gave a death certificate, naming lockjaw as the cause of death.

Dr. Frizzell, who made the autopsy, said the symptoms as described by witnesses, pointed to poisoning. On Sept. 1 a clerk in Parker's drug store sold ten grains of quinine to a man whom she swore very strongly resembled Dan McMillan. She would not positvely state he was the man. McMillan has sworn at the inquest that he had never been in that store, nor had he ever bought any poison. George Flanigan swore he had seen McMillan in that drug store during the week between Aug. 29 and Sept. 3.

Handwriting Expert Testifies.

C. A. Fleming was positive that the person who wrote Dan McMillan in the marriage register on Sept. 10 also wrote the name Dan Cameron in the poison book at Parkers on Sept. 1. He is principal of the Northern Business College here, and has had 40 years' experience as a handwriting expert. The defence, through W. H. Wright and H. G. Tucker, representing McMillan and his wife respectively, put in no defence, and the prisoners were committee to stand trial for murder.

There was a very large crowd in the courtroom, many of whom were women. The case will come up at the assizes on Oct. 17, when the grand jury will probably consider it. The trial will probably not be held until the spring assizes next April.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN SUTHERLAND'S FATE

Tories of South Oxford Hold Convention at Mount Elgin.

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 10.—Intense interest is evidenced by all political parties in South Oxford as to the outcome of the Conservative convention at Mount Elgin tomorrow afternoon. It is fully expected that Donald Sutherland, M.P., the present member, elected as a Unionist in 1917, will receive the nomination, but there are several disquieting rumors afloat which will be dispelled tomorrow.

As yet Mayor Dean, the Liberal nominee, has made no announcement as to the course he will pursue, but something is expected directly after tomorrow's convention is known. It is quite certain the Liberals are not going to stand idle and let any party have the riding by default. It is claimed in some circles that Mayor Dean will retire, and that an especially well-known man from the north part of the riding will carry the Liberal banner.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 9 to 15, 1921

LONDON'S FIRE CHIEF APPEALS TO CITIZENS

"To you men who smoke cigarettes I make a special appeal---Be careful where you throw the 'butts,' for more than half the fires today are traced to this source." ---CHIEF AITKEN

$64,874,935 Worth of Property Destroyed By Fire During the Last Five Years In Ontario Alone

(and this does not include forest fires)

The average fire loss in Ontario for the last three years has exceeded one million dollars per month, a per capita of $5 for every man, woman and child in the province.

Extracts From the Fire Bylaw.

48. (1) That the reels, engines and vehicles of the fire department of the City of London shall have the right of way on the streets and highways in the said city while proceeding to a fire, or answering a fire alarm call.

49. (1) No person shall, within the city, place, keep or deposit ashes in wooden receptacles, or within twenty-five feet of a house or building, unless the same are contained in some safe depository constructed of brick, stone, or other incombustible material.

(2) No person shall, within the city, keep in a cellar, basement or area under any sidewalk, any waste paper, straw, shavings, lumber or other combustible material for a longer period than twenty-four hours; provided, however, that this sub-section shall not apply to the stock-in-trade or merchandise of any person within the city.

51. Any person convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of this bylaw shall forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the convicting magistrate, a penalty not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars for each offence, exclusive of costs.

EXTRACT FROM GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S PROCLAMATION

It is shown by authoritative statistics that the amount of the average annual loss of insurable property by fire in Canada exceeds twenty-six million dollars and that in addition to this recorded loss of our developed resources there is a tremendous unappraised loss from forest fires.

In Canada more than 300 persons annually lose their lives as a result of fire.

It is shown by reliable statistics that at least 80 per cent of the fires which occur originate either directly or indirectly through inexcusable ignorance and neglect and are therefore preventable, and that the exercise of reasonable prudence and proper carefulness on the part of responsible individuals would reduce losses by fire in Canada to the comparatively insignificant proportions of losses in other countries.

Economic and humanitarian considerations imperatively demand that human life and material resources in Canada be so far as possible conserved in order that the national prosperity may be maintained and that the general welfare of the people may be measurably increased.

It is desirable that the attention of the public be directed to the extent and underlying causes of the preventable loss of life and property by fire and to the best and most practicable means for its control and that a specific period of the year be set apart and properly designated for the dissemination of such information.

Now know ye that we, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council of Canada, have thought fit to appoint and do appoint the week commencing Sunday, the ninth day of October, and ending on Saturday, the fifteenth day of October, in this present year as "Fire Prevention Week."

Toronto's Unemployed.

The unemployed in Toronto have started "demonstrating" again. For the honest-to-goodness unemployed man, citizens have every respect, and will sanction any reasonable move made to assist him.

This Toronto crowd, though, looks very much like last year's brigade as far as leadership is concerned. The same agitators who were urging men to violence last year are again at the head of the list of speakers. It would be mighty interesting to know if they wear any calous spots on their hands from their honest toil between last year and this.

Here, in brief, is what the Toronto agitators are starting out with:

"Employment or compensation at a union rate of wages. In order to provide this fund, we demand a heavy taxation of all incomes over $3,000 a year."

Toronto will have more than its share of unemployed to look after this winter. In the last winter they adopted the poor policy of handing out meal tickets, and securing nothing in return.

It is a fact that when work becomes scarce in Ontario the unemployed head for the larger centres, and Toronto undoubtedly gets more than its share.

Socialist and Soviet agitators find these unemployed crowds splendid ground in which to sow their seed of propaganda. The fact that they are asking that those who are making $3,000 a year or over to be taxed for upkeep of the agitators, and Russian Soviet government be also recognized, shows the trend of the movement.

That the existence of this extremist group, and unfortunately they are nearly always found in control—makes it hard to come to some reasonable and workable understanding with the bona-fide unemployed men who really want to go to work.

Where any community convinced that its appropriation for the relief of unemployment was being put to the creation of useful or necessary work, then there would be the basis for money paid for value received. The unemployed, in their own interests, should get rid of their never-sweat leaders.

General Knowledge.

Whither are we drifting educationally? That is to say, if we are drifting at all. Out of 69 candidates who sat the last examination for junior trade commissioners, only four were successful—just sufficient to fill the vacancies—and another examination will be necessary, as it was the intention to form an eligible list from which future appointments could be made.

H. R. Pousette, director of the Commercial Intelligence Service at Ottawa, commenting on the matter, says:

"It would appear that education in Canada, on which we are wont to pride ourselves, does not yet fully equip the individual with that general knowledge so necessary to success in the commercial world."

This is a subject for serious reflection, and calls for remedial measures if the deficiency in this respect is found to be widespread. It seems that in connection with this examination the written papers—confined to a test of general knowledge such as any man between the ages of 21 and 30, with the equivalent of a university degree and some experience should possess — displayed a very low average.

But the lack of general knowledge in these young men, of which Mr. Poussette complains, is not confined to Canada. The famous list of questions set by Thomas A. Edison for candidates for admission to his staff of employees is still fresh in the memory. The result of Mr. Edison's questionnaire was extremely disappointing, and he remarked that "the public would be amazed to read the answers and learn the ignorance of the average college graduate."

Of course, the query may be put as to whether the knowledge called for by some of these questions is essential to the occupation which the candidate has in view, but whatever the answer may be to this, too much specialization is undoubtedly the principal cause of failure to make good along general lines. If the specialist is to have the right of way others must step aside.

True Freedom.

While Eamonn de Valera and his followers are demanding self-determination" and separation from Britain, other countries are tending towards unification and consolidation. A new nation has just been born on this side of the Atlantic, which will be known as the Central American Federation, and will be composed of Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador. This new republic will have an approximate area of 1,000 square miles, and a population of 4,000,000.

"Tribalism" has undoubtedly been a failure in South America. Ever since Columbus found the natives with their bows and arrows and other primitive weapons making war upon one another, upheavals and revolutions have characterized this part of the globe. The so-called "pocket republics" have had their fling, progress has been retarded by their incessant bickerings, and it is no matter for surprise to find that some of these miniature nations are getting tired of paddling their own canoes, so to speak.

Robinson Crusoe ran a republic all by himself, and did not find it altogether a success. He was monarch of all he surveyed, but when the novelty had worn off he longed for union with the country from which he had been cut off. He enjoyed absolute freedom, had no taxes to pay, and all he could eat and drink, yet he was unhappy and was mighty glad when the ship came to take him back to a land where he would become a humble unit among millions.

The new Central American republic will be composed of peoples who have, like Crusoe, been suffering from an overdose of freedom. Russia is at the present moment in the same predicament, but in a much greater degree.

Freedom is, after all, a good deal like certain kinds of poisons, excellent as a tonic when combined with other constituents and properly administered, but destructive and deadly in its effect when crudely imbibed by those whose mentality unfits them to appreciate its merits or to beware of its abuse.

That St. Marys Team.

St. Marys Alerts won their lacrosse game from Sudbury for the intermediate championship of Ontario. The play was clean all through, a splendid exhibition of Canada's real national game. St. Marys has always been a good lacrosse town, and has remained so. The team could always be counted upon to put up a clean, hard game, and the aggregation that won from St. Marys on its own grounds had to fight for the win, and prove itself a better team from goal to inside home.

Strange how the influence of one or two enthusiasts in any town will turn the trend of sport. On the line between Stratford and Sarnia the pace was set for years by the "Irish Nine" of Lucan, and baseball it was. Every town along that line looked forward to the day when it would have a team that could clean up on the Lucan nine.

Take a town a little farther west, for instance, Parkhill. Lacrosse was brought in there by the McGinnis brothers, who operated a box factory. There were three of them, Charles, Philip and Peter, all fine lacrosse players from Quebec. The town fell for the game, and baseball had to take the corner lots for a while. Then, a number of years after it was again revived, because Bill Fairgrieve, a printer, and a good lacrosse player, came to town. That was in the days of the old C. L. A., and in that district at various times have been Parkhill, St. Marys, Exeter and Stratford, while in after years Petrolea, Sarnia and Forest were included.

Some of the best men we have today can recall strenuous days in that old league. If we mistake not "Big Bill Martin," now premier of Saskatchewan, has had his fingers rapped many a time when playing on the old Exeter team, while Robert Garden, now superintendent of motive power for the Grand Trunk system, was one of the stalwarts of the defence in the old Stratford team.

Lacrosse is a good hard game. It gives plenty of scope for head work, as well as physical exercise. It is essentially a Canadian game, and the St. Marys Alerts are due for three cheers and a tiger from the rest of the community for the showing they have made this year.

PREMIER VENIZELOS AND BRIDE.

ATHENS, Oct. 11.—Although the former premier of Greece was ousted from office when King Constantine returned to the throne, yet he now rules supreme in Cupid's bower.

Demand For Thrills.

One wonders whether it is not time for shutting down on what are generally called "dare-devil" feats, which are performed on land, water, or up in the air for the purpose of giving a "thrill" to certain people who might be better employed than watching their fellow creatures risking their lives by way of entertainment.

This sort of thing has been going on since the time of the gladiatorial contests in the Roman coliseum, and comparatively recent examples of it may be found in Blondin's tight-rope feats above Niagara Falls, or Captain Webb's fatal attempt to swim the Niagara whirlpool.

The invention and development of aerial navigation has furnished a source of thrills more exciting than anything hitherto attempted, and the crop of fatalities has been correspondingly large. We say nothing of the deeds of men such as Hawker and others who have laid down their lives in pioneering certain phases of aviation, and posterity can have nothing but praise for the brave airmen who were constrained to attempt almost impossible things in the Great War, but what is there to be gained by repeated loopings of the loop, jumping from parachutes at giddy heights, or trying to climb from one airplane to the other at altitudes of hundreds of feet?

In world emergencies and in wars such things have sometimes to be done, or at least attempted, but why should such terrible risks be imported into everyday life merely for the sake of affording a few hectic moments to a morbid mob?

Were the element of danger to be eliminated from such performances, were every man and woman who gazes on such scenes convinced that there was not the remotest chance of the beautiful young lady or the handsome young man breaking their limbs or dashing their brains out in the course of their daring operations, one is safe in saying that very few would think it worth while to go beyond their doorsteps to witness such things. But the instincts of the cave-dweller are there; the spirit of pagan Rome still survives.

LITTLE 'TISERS

One correspondent rises to remark that silo-filling is the order of the day. And another is the pluming of the stalwarts and the standard-bearers.

Jewelers in Ontario cannot issue marriage licenses, but they can still participate in the joyful events by providing the pink pickle-dishes and the spoonholders.

Reports from various centers report an increase in the fur crop this season. This, of course, does not mean that there has been a general strike against the barber shops.

A Toronto man killed a six-foot snake crawling on his lawn. At least, it looked that big to him as he rushed to arm himself with the garden rake and the clothes prop.

There is little use of nations agreeing to scrap battleships and armament in general until the people of those nations are turned from warlike tendencies. A man, under agreement, may drop a club, but what's to hinder him picking up a brickbat an hour after?

It is generally admitted in financial circles that the advisers of the Conservative Government made a serious mistake when they issued some Victory Bonds tax free. When legitimate private business enterprises have to compete with the Government for capital, this constitutes a serious handicap.

Hon. F. C. Biggs is attacked by G. G. Halcrow in Hamilton on account of the low wages he pays in the department of public works. On the other hand, he is bombarded with complaints because he is spending so much money on public roads. He's somewhat between the devil and the deep blue sea.

Many sneering references are made to the war record of W. L. Mackenzie King by the Conservative press and leaders. And by the same token it might be stated that the country would be much better off today if certain of the dollar patriots had been kept away during Canada's participation in the world war.

The Peterboro Examiner seems to have little faith in the chances of one James Simpson of Toronto getting elected. Of course, it is taken for granted that he will run again, which causes the Examiner to pen the following complimentary press notice:

"Jimmy Simpson, labor leader, has not yet decided what constituency he will be beaten in in the coming election."

Those who imagine there are no charges to be delivered against the Meighen party might do well to listen to Rodolph Lemieux, when he says: "I accuse Mr. Meighen, prime minister of Canada, of having disfranchised his political adversaries: I accuse Mr. Meighen of having taken $25,000,000 of our money and thrown it into the Black Sea (referring to the loans to Rumania and Greece)." Mr. Lemieux also declares that free trade would never do for Canada, "but there should be no protection for any favored classes."

Predicting the date of the federal election was a favorite occupation a few days ago. The Brantford Expositor came out with this: "On unimpeachable authority the Expositor announces that the election date, when announced from Ottawa, will be found to be Wednesday, December 7." Then the Tory papers in this district were served with this one: "The latest date announced for the election is Monday, December 5, with nominations on November 21. This story is from an official source, usually authoritative." And so with one "unimpeachable" authority gone wrong, and another "usually authoritative" source out a day, it really is not to be wondered at if the layman misses by a cog or two when he takes a guess at such matters.

NOAH'S POETRY

Clever People.

There are some folks what I admire with all my youthful zest, they make the admiration blush all up and down my chest. I do adore the handy man, his wife has got a gem, she sure did land a treasure from a lot of worthless men.

And then again we have the chap with music in his dome, he is a treat to have at nights a-hangin' 'round the home. He rattles off a foot or so and all the neighbors yell: "For goodness sake, ain't he a peach, a reg'lar parlor belle."

And there's them folks, them funny ones who crack the stalest yarn, some gag that had its whiskers on when Noah built his barn—but they can put the thing across, a smile upon their jaw, and company's sure to break in with a glorious hee-haw.

We won't forget the gay old bird who wears the flashy tie, and talks as though his mouth was lined with steak and kidney pie—he reads the lady's hands, you know, and looks them in the eyes, and tell 'em things they want to know and bluffs them to the skies.

Ah, yes, these folks are smart, I know, they are a wondrous crew, but I know one who's got them beat and licked right through and through.

Now let us toast this super-man, we'll give three cheers around, to him what eats his oyster soup without that sea-wave sound.

—NOAH.

CANADIAN PAPERS TALK ON VARIOUS ANGLES OF POLITICS

Too Many Candidates.

Calgary Albertan: Any man, faction, party or group who does anything toward multiplying candidates and dividing forces opposing the Meighen Government in this country, is playing the game of Premier Meighen. Nothing more and nothing less.

Turn To Liberalism.

Guelph Mercury: From all parts of the riding of South Wellington come reports of a rallying to the old Liberal fold. Experienced observers in matters political have had their ear to the ground for a long time, and are convinced that the noise of battle has quickened the pulse of the thousands throughout the province, and that the coming election will see a return to first loves, where all will work together for a revival of interest in party politics.

A Fearless Critic.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: It is announced that Mr. Murdock, the well-known labor man and former member of the board of commerce, is to enter the campaign to fight for the Liberal party. The qualities revealed by Mr. Murdock as a member of the board of commerce give promise that he will add to the interest of the campaign. It will be remembered, perhaps, that the reason he gave for leaving the board was that he could not continue to draw a salary if he were not allowed to do the work he wanted to do, and which in his opinion, the board was designed to do.

Yes—Rather Thick!

Brockville Recorder-Times: The followers of Hon. Arthur Meighen are putting the taffy on a little too thick. He is heralded as the only statesman since the day of Sir John Macdonald. What twaddle. No person believes in rattle-trap of this kind. It is an insult to Sir Robert Borden, and most people believe that Borden was a bigger statesman than Meighen. Little Arthur may be a great man, but up to the present he has not shown it. To compare Mr. Meighen to "John A." is ludicrous. Never for a minute was the present premier in the class of Macdonald. He never will be.

The Real Issue.

Halifax Chronicle: The main issue in this election is not between protection and free trade, it is not even between protection and a tariff primarily for revenue. It is an issue between an irresponsible government which has outlived its usefulness, has never received a mandate from the people to govern, and has, in short, no moral authority to carry on the affairs of the country—between such a government as we now have, and a government wholly responsible to the people.

Fooling the People.

St. John Telegraph: Premier Meighen is not helping himself or his party by his campaign of misrepresentation. In his speeches he not only deliberately atributes to the Liberals and the Farmers statements they have not made, but lacks sincerity in his promise for the future if his Government should be sustained. The premier's course is not winning new friends for the administration, nor is it creating in the Liberal and Farmer parties the distrust he has hoped for; but it is placing him and his supporters in a position before the electors which is by no means enviable.

For instance, at Amherst yesterday, Hon. Mr. Meighen said:—"Make the Liberal platform law and you will have free trade and nothing else . . . The moment this country decides that it is through with protection, that moment it starts down the path of commercial absorption by the United States." Mr. Meighen knew when he made that statement that he was misrepresenting the facts. He knows that free trade is in no sense an issue, that the Liberal policy is a tariff for revenue and that tariff revision, not tariff annihilation, is one of the solid planks of the Liberal platform. Why, then, does he attempt to fool the people by discussing an issue which does not exist?

Read Your Character

[By Digby Phillips.]

THE BROAD NOSE.

BROAD-NOSED people love the good things of life. They're willing to work and fight for them, and when there are not too many factors in opposition you can make up your mind that they are are more or less successful in getting them.

For the broad-nosed type is also a vital type. The indication is not so much that of muscular strength (though that, of course, may well be present in the broad-nosed person), but rather that type of physical strength we term constitutional.

Physiologically the broad nose is a factor in favor of health. It means a good air-passage and large lungs. And good health in its turn means mentality unhandicapped by physical shortcomings. Of course, if you see a bread nose associated with known physical weakness, or sickness, common sense dictates that you modify the importance of its indications. The same is true when it is associated with certain of the other signs regarded as important in the science of character reading.

However, records show that on the whole the broad nose is a sign of powerful mental capacity of the kind that manifests itself in practical results. It's not the mentality of the dreamer which soars, but arrives at no useful terminal. It is not satisfied with intangible results. It works toward achievements that may be weighed and measured by accepted standards.

Is the druggist at your corner doing a successful business If he is, look. See if he has not a broad nose. Do you know a department store or factory manager? Haven't they broad noses? If they haven't, and yet are successful, you can take for granted that they have overcome a handicap, and somewhere in their make-ups you will find the indications of other tendencies and ability that have enabled them to.

During the week-end speculation was rife as to the man who would uphold the U. F. O. standard in Kent for the coming election. To all intents and purposes the nomination now rests between Sam Montgomery of Dover, and E. W. Hardy of Kent Bridge. The U. F. O. branches in Kent are said to be formulating a platform which may be announced shortly.

A big bazaar in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital of this city opened in the local armories this evening under most favorable auspices. The opening ceremonies consisted of a short address by Mayor Brisco, and a short musical program by city talent. Music was furnished by the band of the Kent Regiment. The bazaar will last all week. The proceeds are for the purpose of creating a fund to erect a two-story nurses' building and lecture hall, which will be used to accommodate the entire training school of the hospital.

Fifty Dollars a Month

(Guaranteed to you by the Canada Life)

How Fifty Dollars a Month looks to the Average Man

Age 20—Happy on Fifty Dollars a month.

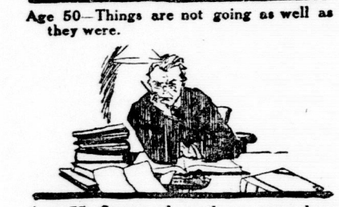

Age 21—Fifty Dollars a month is not enough.

Age 35—Thinks he can easily afford to "spend" Fifty Dollars a month

Age 50—Things are not going as well as they were.

Age 55—Strange how these assets have depreciated! Fifty Dollars a month is good interest on $10,000, and not to be despised.

Age 60—He finds Fifty Dollars a month pension, added to what income is left, brings happiness.

You know of men well up in years who are still "drudging along". They cannot stop if they would, but must go on to the end of their days working for a living. You can avoid that.

Why Not Pension Yourself?

Why not "take stock" of your present financial position—to size up your personal affairs and decide on a plan for the future?

Our New Pension Plan

guarantees that upon reaching a certain age in life, you will receive a monthly cheque for $50.00, $100, $200, $250—as you may now decide—and this monthly payment cannot cease as long as you live.

An Income for Life

Think what it may mean to you to be certain of an income right up to the end of life, when you consider that 97% of people in their later years are partially or wholly dependent upon others for support.

When they were younger they did not have the chance now offered you. It was not then possible to secure such a convenient and certain provision as this Monthly Pension Plan.

And This is Not All

Suppose some day before you reach age sixty you meet with a mishap and become totally and permanently disabled through accident, illness or any cause. (Such a thing has happened soon after men have secured this new policy of the Canada Life.) Immediately, the payment of further premiums would be cancelled. The Canada Life would become responsible for sending you $50.00, $100, $200, $250, a month, as arranged, for the rest of your life.

There are many other benefits.

An average deposit of only a few dollars a month will return you $50.00 a month later on.

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to show you how to end film. See below.

Five Quick Effects

When you brush teeth in this way

This new way of tooth brushing brings five desired effects. Some are immediate, all are quick. A ten-day test, which costs you nothing, will clearly show you what they mean to you.

Leading dentists everywhere advise this new-day method. Millions now employ it. You see the results in glistening teeth wherever people gather. Now let your own teeth show them.

You must fight film

Brushing does not save the teeth if you leave the film. That's why well-brushed teeth so often discolor and decay.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it, so very few people have escaped its damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So dental science has in late years sought ways to fight that film.

Scientific methods

Efficient methods have been found. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests. The best dental opinion endorses them.

These methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And to let all know its benefits a 10-Day Tube is being sent to everyone who asks.

A 10-day test is free

Pepsodent quickly proves itself. The results are unique and conspicuous. And a book we send tells what each one means.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The saliva's alkalinity is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Pepsodent, twice daily, attacks the teeth's chief enemies.

ALLIANCE RECOGNIZED BY LONDON CITIZENS

Will Send French-Speaking Delegates To Greet Visitors.

The "Alliance Francaise" is finding for itself a definite place in the community, when the chamber of commerce asks it to produce two French-speaking citizens to greet the officials who come to the city with the "French exhibit" this month. The greeting is to be given in the French tongue as a mark of deference to the visitors.

The Alliance this year aims at getting more closely in touch with the French students of the city. Mrs. C. R. Somerville, the president, feels that the organization might be a great help to the students by letting them hear French spoken and getting them to enter into French conversation. The organization also aims at a study of French art, music and literature, and the year's program will include lectures, little French plays, etc.

Prof. Squair to Speak.

At the first meeting of the Alliance on October 21, at the Normal School, Prof. Squair, for a long time head of the department of French at Toronto University and author of the French Grammar used in the Ontario schools, will be the speaker. And his subject is "Les Grandes Epoques de l'Art Francais," to be illustrated with slides. A recent meeting of the Alliance executive made arrangements for this meeting, and made plans towards the year's program.

W. C. A. DONATIONS.

The Women's Christian Association has recently received some splendid donations for the Victoria Home for Incurables, among the givers are the names Johnson & Barbour and Bert Weir. A handsome oil painting is another gift which was sent anonymously to the home.

STRESSING THE SLENDER LINE.

After several seasons of having to be satisfied with second place, the suit comes into its own, and emerges triumphant. Even the French women, who are anything but at their best in a suit, have taken to them with enthusiasm.

Although the style changes are not radical, the expressive or individual touches are marked, and these are featured in trimming as well as in cut. Knitted woolen fabric comes in for a generous share of applause, since it is not only durable, and most practical, but it has a style decidedly all its own, that cannot be copied in a cloth model. One of the knitted suits made from yellow wool, had a choker collar of brushed wool, and cuffs of the same, while trimmings of dark blue tricot silk-braid edged the front of the coat, and trimmed the skirt, which also had a fancy girdle finishing the waistline.

Speaking of Skirt Lengths.

The all-important question of skirt lengths really does not materially affect a suit, for the skirt will remain, according to the best authorities, about shoe-top length. In other words, about eight to ten inches from the floor. Satin, or velvet may be used, or cheviot and the basket weave fabrics with a velour finish are popular, and as for color, while the strictly tailleur demands the sombre tones, black being preferable, the garments of the sports variety take on the hues of the rainbow and jauntily swagger forth in red, green, grey, yellow, and bright red, the latter not stopping with the sports clothes or sports hats, it has higher aspirations. Red velvet gowns for evening are making their appearance, and it is said by those whose social activities take them to the formal dinners and dances, that red velvet evening dresses are always in evidence. It would seem that in order to get away from black, which last season held the center of the stage, the color pendulum has swung to the farther side, and singled out red as a reaction.

The straight line remains, and while some are of the opinion that eventually the longer skirt will be adopted by the American following the French trend, it is doubtful if the vogue will be popular here this season, nor will the semi-fitted coat be generally sponsored. Everything seen so far, that is everything that has found favor in the line of coat suits, tends to give the human figure a slender, unbroken silhouette.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[By Cynthia Grey.]

HAVE you "phonitis"? Are you one of those persons who waste valuable time talking unecessarily over the telephone?

Did you ever stop to consider how boring you may be to the person on the other end of the wire? Supposing it is a busy housewife you are calling, in the morning—as this seems to be the pet time for attack—when she has a hundred and one household duties to attend to. Think how annoyed she is having to listen to your idle chatter, which is of little interest to her.

Unfortunately, we all meet persons possessing this habit in every walk of life, no matter how hard we try to avoid them.

Don't be one of these pests—for this is what they are. If you must talk and chatter, save it all for some time when you get a poor defenseless victim face to face, when they have no possible chance of escaping you. And think how much more you will be able to say—and repeat! Don't abuse the use of the phone, and don't be a burden to the whole community!

SENDS LARGE MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I have written to the Mail-Box, but I read and enjoy the page, and I've received lots of useful information. I see where Geranium has sent in two crochet patterns for pillow slips. Could I have them until copied, and will return if wanted? Would like some of Aunt Rose's flower seeds too, some of each. Find inclosed $1 for sick children's hospital. Wishing the page future success. Return postage inclosed. M. E. D.

The crochet patterns and seeds are already on their way to you, M. E. D. Thank you very much for such a generous mite. Our fund is increasing daily, and with what we have already collected from quilts is over $500.

PLEASE GIVE NAME.

Dear Miss Grey,—As this is my first visit to your Mail-Box, I do not intend to stay very long. Well, Miss Grey, how have you been keeping these days? Hasn't it been cold for this time of the year? Well, I'll have to bother you for a question, please. Would you be so kind as to send me the meanings and different ways of placing stamps on an envelope? Well, I guess I'll have to close, as the mail man will soon be here. PEACH.

You did not give your name and address, so I did not know where to send the stamp language. If you will send it in, I shall forward it to you.

Cleopatra—I did not publish your letter, as it is against the rules to print letters of this nature. You write a very good hand.

WANTS DOUBLE HOLLYHOCK.

Dear Miss Grey,—What a beautiful autumn we are having and such an abundance of flowers and no frost as yet. And how the seeds are coming in to help swell the fund. Mine are not quite ready yet. Please send me a package of Aunt Rose's phlox seed, some sweet williiam seed, salvia and a few castor beans. Mite is for S. C. H.

I wonder if any of the Boxites would like to exchange double hollyhock seed with me! I have only one color, a dark red, but it is a beauty, as large as a saucer, with a round ball in the center. Will exchange for any color, as long as it is double. My address is with Miss Grey. Please send me A Wife's address, also Five Roses. Thanking you in advance, I remain,

A. C. VINE.

Am mailing you all the seeds asked for except castor beans, and there are none of this variety in the Mail-Box. Am sending you A Wife's address, but Five Roses' is not on file.

WITH THE BRIDES

CLENDENNING—BLACK.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. McKay at the manse, Dorchester, on Tuesday, October 3, when Miss Beatrice Black, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Black, was united in marriage to Mr. King Clendenning, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clendenning of Banner. The bride wore her traveling suit of navy blue, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. She also wore the gift of the groom, a pearl lavallere. After the ceremony the bride and groom motored to London, where a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's grandmother. The happy couple left later for Windsor and Detroit. After their honeymoon they will take up their residence in Dorchester.

McMULLIN—MEEK.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Meek, Gorham street, Newmarket, Ont., when their only daughter, Anne Gertrude, became the bride of Mr. Willis B. McMullin, B.S.A., M.C., son of Mrs. Ellen McMullin, of Blytheswood, Ont., Rev. Capt. W. L. L. Laurence officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of cream canton crepe with touches of rose point lace. Her veil, an heirloom in the family, was becomingly arranged in coronet fashion and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and Ophelia roses, and wore the groom's gift, a necklace of pearls. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Sadie McBride, of Inglewood, who was attired in orchid organdie, and carried butterfly roses. Mr. Eric Weston of Windermere, Ont., was groomsman. The wedding music was played by Miss Edwinna Currey of Newmarket, and Miss Sylva Pulford of Amherstburg sang very sweetly, "Beloved It Is Morn." The groom's gifts to the attendants were silver coin purses, and to the best man Masonic cuff links. After a dainty dejeuner the happy couple left, amid showers of confetti, for Niagara Falls and points west, the bride traveling in a suit of navy velour with beaver trimmings and hat to match. On their return they expect to reside at Bruce Mines, Ont.

Other camp leaders present were Miss Marion Pryce of St. Thomas, Miss Moseley Williams and Mrs. Lowry.

MISSIONARY DESIGNATED AT MOORELINE CHURCH

A fairly large number of friends of Miss Helen McDougall gathered recently at Mooreline Church to witness her designation for foreign mission work. The Rev. J. C. Forster was in charge of the service, J. R. Hall, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Sarnia, conducting the designation services in the absence of Rev. George Aitken, moderator for the district.

Mrs. J. C. Forster, as a representative from the general board of the Women's Missionary Society of Canada, gave a short address, and according to custom, presented Miss Helen McDougall with a Bible. Mrs. Stereet, as a representative of the Sarnia Presbyterial, gave a short address, and presented the missionary with a camera, a gift from that executive.

Miss McDougall made a short and suitable reply to these presentations. A solo, "He Stood in His Garden," was sung by Mrs. Arthur Elliot.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Dr. McKay, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, his address being very inspiring and instructive.

Of Scotch Descent.

Miss McDougall's ancestors come from Scotland and Ireland, and in the early days helped to found the church where she was recently designated to her work. Miss McDougall herself is a true Canadian, born and educated in this country. She studied in the high schools in Sarnia and Petrolea, and is a graduate of Sarnia Business College. While working at the Home Bank in Toronto Miss McDougall became interested in mission work, and studied towards that end for some time at night school. Later she attended the Bible College at Toronto for two years, and has won particular honor for the college in that she is the first graduate to go out under the auspices of the Foreign Mission Board by the Presbyterian Church.

Leaves Shortly.

Under the auspices of this church she will leave from Vancouver on November 28 for Shanghai. She expects to spend the Christmas season in Honan, and later will proceed to Pekin, where she will study the language and customs of the people for a year before she begins active service in the great work to which she has devoted her life.

Some of the new gowns have skirts from three to five yards wide, reaching the instep in length.

Bags for evening are of velvet, flower trimmed and lined with brocaded satin. The black and steel pouch bags are smart with costumes.

At Cupid's Call

CI.—Mary's News.

Mrs. Dick Calardin descended to the breakfast room of the White Lodge at half-past eight the following morning.

Eve Rochester and Julian Vandaveer were in the room before her entry. So also was Mr. Carrington Bellairs and his majestic aunt.

"I hope I'm not late?" said Mary brightly.

"No one is punctual in this house," remarked its chatelaine. They all sat down to breakfast.

And then the telephone bell rang.

"Shall I answer it?" suggested Mary.

"I'd better go myself," said Carrington Bellairs. "I'm rather expecting a phone call from town about this time.

He went out to the hall.

Three minutes later he returned, looking rather grave.

"Been foul play at the Barley Mow—the landlord's just rung up," he said briefly. "They found young Dick Calardin lying on the floor unconscious only half an hour ago. He's delirious—shouting for Miss Drew here—" He flung a worried look at Mary.

Mary—white-faced and trembling—had risen to her feet.

"Oh, I must go at once!" she cried.

The aunt of Carrington Bellairs cast a glance of indignant reproof at the young girl.

"Miss Drew, you surely forget yourself," said the good lady in a ringing voice. "If anyone must go, then it's Eve, who is Mr. Calardin's affianced wife."

"Oh, I couldn't!" Eve shrank back. "I'm terrified of illness, auntie. Don't—I beg of you—don't insist upon my going!"

Mary was half-way across the room. "Miss Drew, where are you going?' With raised and quizzical brows her employer stared at the young girl. "You've eaten no breakfast at all. Whatever is the matter?"

"I—I have some slight knowledge of nursing," Mary faltered, "and—and you said—that he was calling for me—Dick—"

"I don't think you had better go," said Carrington Bellairs. He already was regretting that he'd given Mary any message. "I'm going to telephone to town at once for a good nurse. I'm sorry for young Calardin. The landlord of the Barley Mow has informed the police of the occurrence. He thinks that the motive was robbery, for Calardin's sleeping apartment seems to have been thoroughly ransacked."

"He—he isn't going to die" faltered poor Mary, the little bride of yesterday.

"I understand he's badly hurt," came the slow answer.

Here Bellairs' aunt once more cut in:

"It would be highly improper, Miss Drew, for you to visit the young man unchaperoned. Besides, the nursing you could do would be of very little use! No, don't argue—that affair is settled!"

"Miss Drew—" he began, tentatively.

It was then that Mary flung her bomb into the midst of the startled assembly.

"I am not Miss Drew any longer," she cried. "I'm Mrs. Dick Calardin. Dick and I were married yesterday up in town. And—don't try to stop me—for I'm going to my husband!" She darted from the room.

"Will he recover, doctor?" Mary gazed with anxious eyes into the doctor's face. The doctor and she, helped by the landlady of the Barley Mow, had worked beside Dick for an hour. He was still unconscious, and in pain.

"He's had a bad blow to the head," the doctor said. "It would have killed any man with a less strong constitution than this young fellow." He looked at the unhappy, worried little bride. "Mrs. Calardin, we must just hope for the best."

Day after day, then, Mary sat by the bedside of her husband. A nurse from town was also in attendance, and the landlady of the Barley Mow—who always had adored Dick—took turns in the night work, at such times as Dick was very ill.

A week went by. Two weeks.

There were periods when Dick was conscious, but extraordinarily weak. He would lie there, very white and helpless, clinging to his young wife's hand, a very shadow of his former self.

Tomorrow—What Dick Vouched For.

The hems of the wide skirts are lined with crinoline having tiny ruffles, pinked, to trim the under part of the hem.

Many of the smart women are parting their hair, and drawing it down over their ears, without any curls.

Fancy or costumes jewelry is exceedingly popular and is worn with all manner of dresses, whether crepe, cloth, or silk, in the dark shades.

The program for the convention of Catholic Women's Leagues of Western Ontario, to be held in the city on October 25 and 26, includes two luncheons at the Tecumseh House on the days of the convention sessions, and a motor trip through the city, to be given by the local members of the league and by the Knights of Columbus. The local committees appointed in connection with the convention are the reception committee, including Mrs. Coffey, Mrs. H. A. Panet, Mrs. Philip Pocock, Mrs. Frank Forristal, Mrs. Foley, Mrs. W. H. GIRL GUIDE CAPTAINS.

A meeting of the Girl Guide captains of the city, held in the King street Y. W. C. A. last night, launched the work of the season. Plans were made to further instruction in first aid and nature study, by asking the local Girl Guide committee to furnish instructors in these branches of the work. The Guide officers of the city will meet every Thursday for supper, to study along the line of Guide work, and make mutual plans for the advancement of the work in the city.

MRS. H. COCKSHUTT HONORARY PRESIDENT

Will Be Elected by Ontario Girl Guide Executive.

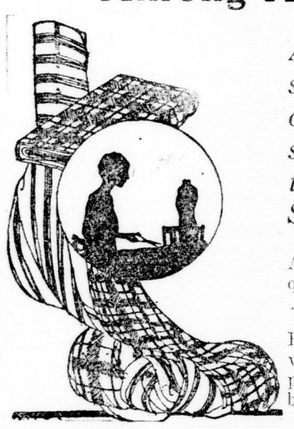

One of the chief pieces of business in connection with the meeting of the Provincial Girl Guide executive to be held in Toronto on Thursday, October 13, will be the making of Mrs. Harry Cockshutt honorary president of the Provincial Association, according to Mrs. F. P. Betts of this city, the provincial commissioner, who left last night to preside over that meeting. Mrs. Betts is in Brantford today attending a luncheon given by Mrs. George Watt in honor of Mrs. Harry Cockshutt, and this afternoon two new Brantford patrols of Girl Guides are being enrolled. A very interesting meeting of Guides was recently held at Pickering, and in Kingston the work is going on splendidly. Mrs. Betts says that the greatest difficulty in the progress of the work is the scarcity of leaders, and proposes to have very many leaders' training camps throughout the province next year. It is possible that a leaders' class will be started shortly in the city to meet this very difficulty here.

Accompanying Mrs. Betts to Toronto will be Miss Beth Pennington, the provincial secretary; Mrs. Ernest Smith, the deputy commissioner, and Mrs. Auden, the provincial treasurer.

RUTH IN UNEXPECTED ROLE OF BUNT ARTIST TURNS TIDE FOR YANKS

Waite Hoyt, Flatbush "Boy Wonder," Turns in Second Win Though Hit Harder Than Nehf—Has Held the Giants To One Run in 18 Frames.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A bunt in a baseball game doesn't hold a candle to a home-run as a popular feat, but a little bunt which "Babe" Ruth laid down on the grass at the Polo Grounds today showed how much importance sometimes attaches to the less sensational performance.

The "Babe's" home-run in the ninth inning of Sunday's game was for the Yankees, as a team, just one more run, and nothing more. His bunt in the fourth inning of today's game, the fifth of the 1921 world's series, proved the turning point of the contest, which was won by the American Leaguers by the score of 3 to 1 over their National League opponents.

The victory again gave the Yankees the edge in the series, which now stands:

	Won.	Lost.
Americans	3	2
Nationals	2	3

Waite Hoyt, the "boy wonder" from the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, pitched the Yankees to their third victory in the series, his potent right arm being aided by some great defensive work on the part of his teammates in holding the Giants' scoring proclivities to a minimum. He had been scored upon in the first inning, an error by McNally paving the way to the Giants' only tally, but the Yankees tied the score in the third when Mike McNally was passed by Artie Nehf, the Giants' crack left-hander, went to third on Wally Schang's double and came home on Elmer ...er's sacrifice fly.

It Started Here.

...en, to start the fourth for the ...kees, Ruth, who had struck out his ... time up, did the unexpected thing ... laid down a bunt. The Giant in... was taken completely by surprise, ... Ruth landed safely on first. The ... had been opened for a tally, and ...th scored it a moment later on ...bb" Meusel's hot double to left, ...ich his brother Emil, on the Giant ...m, seemed somewhat slow in handing. This ultimately proved to be ...e winning run for the Yankees, but ...nother was speedily added when ...eusel scored on Aaron Ward's sacri... fly.

...hat ended the scoring for the day. ...rt, who had seemed a bit unsteady ... the early innings, settled down be... ...nd his two-run lead and pitched a ...eady game, which had the big guns ...n the Giant line-up guessing when ... safe blows were necessary to put across ... runs. The youthful Yankee twirler ... was hit more freely than in his shut... out game of last Thursday, as the ten safeties for the National Leaguers attest, but he would have had another scoreless game to his credit with a little better luck in the first inning, which witnessed the Yankees' only fielding bobble, a mess made by McNally of George Burns' hard bounder. As it was, the Flatbush boy won the honor of being the first boxman to win two games in the present series and of holding the heavy-hitting men of the McGraw clan to one solitary run in eighteen innings.

Bob Meusel Conspicuous.

Both on the defensive and offensive sides of the Yankees' play the work of Bob Meusel stood out conspicuously. The lanky right fielder of the Hugmen hit .500 for the day, with a single and a double in four times up, his double, as related, scoring Ruth with the run needed to win the game, and his own crossing of the plate directly afterwards making the Yankees two up on their opponents. It was Meusel's powerful right arm, however, which proved the most telling argument of the game outside of the box work of Hoyt. His quick throw to first of Bancroft's single in the second, trapping the Giant shortstop on the lines toward second, started a run-up on Bancroft, during which George Burns, who had started from first on the hit and run, tried to score, but was caught at the plate as Peckinpaugh shifted the play to Burns and threw to Schang. This play saved one tally, but at a still more critical point in the game Meusel's deadly aim proved the factor which broke up a Giant rally and possibly saved the contest for the Yanks. It was George Kelly who took chances with Meusel's arm, after singling to right in the eighth with Young on first and one man out. Kelly made a gallant dash for second, but Meusel's throw was there first. One more Giant then had to be attended to to retire the side, and Hoyt induced Emil Meusel to send up a high foul, which Wallie Pipp got close to the boxes after a long run.

"Babe" Ruth played under a great handicap. He injured his elbow stealing second in Thursday's game, and infection set in, and a minor operation was performed. Every time he swung his bat today his face reflected the extreme pain caused by the injury. In addition, he had been troubled with a bad leg, the result of an old pulled tendon.

The Giant fielders gave a fine performance on the defence. Only one error, a dropped throw by Frisch, marred their record. Nehf held the slugging Yanks to six hits. The Giants' inability to hit Hoyt effectively was their fatal handicap. George Kelly led his team at bat with three hits.

GUNBOAT SMITH K. O.'D BY WILLS

HAVANA, Oct. 10.—Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight pugilist, this afternoon knocked out Gunboat Smith in one minute and seven seconds of fighting. Six clean blows from Wills, among them a crush right to the back of Smith's neck, dazed the former sailor and a left uppercut to the jaw sent him to the floor, where he was counted out. Smith did not land a blow.

The fight was to have gone twenty rounds.

$292,522.33 Will Be Divided Between Huggmen and Giants

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The players participating in the 1921 world's series funds will divide $292,522.33 a new high record for the players' share. Under the rules players and umpires cease to share in the gate receipts after today's game, the fifth of the series. The increased seating capacity and higher admission charges account for the new high record.

While today's attendance and gate receipts fell slightly below those of Friday's game, the official figures gave 35,758 paid admissions for a total gate of $116,754.

Of this amount the advisory board collected $17,513.10, the players $59,544.54, and the club owners $39,696.36.

The best previous figures for the players' total share were those of the 1919 series between Cincinnati and Chicago, when the players' pool amounted to $260,349.66. While the present series has not yet evolved a winner and loser, the two local clubs' players will divide $219,391.66 on a basis of approximately $131,634.97 to the team which finally captures the championship, and $87,756.69 to the losers. Subject to possible minor corrections by the Advisory Board accountants, the Cleveland and Pittsburg players in the role of second place winners will divide something like $43,878.34, while the two St. Louis teams, as third in each pennant race, will split $29,252.23. The four umpires' remuneration will be provided from the Advisory Board's fund upon a basis of a sum equal to one winning and one losing player's share combined and divided into four equal parts.

THE JACK FORCED TO TAKE RECORD OF 2:05

Edith Worthy Captures Feature Race At Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 10.—Edith Worthy and Favonian captured the features of the program at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track this afternoon, Edith Worthy winning the Lexington, for 2-year-old trotters, in straight heats, while Favonian had to go three heats to get first money in the Kentucky for 3-year-olds.

Wanda May made it a double on the meeting by winning the 2:08 pace in straight heats. The winner received very little opposition. The Jack, an added starter in the 2:12 pace, also won in straight heats, but was forced to take a record of 2:05 to do it, Tony Mac pushing him closely in both mlies.

ZURICH TAKES FIRST FROM WINGHAM 4--3

Albert Beats Morden in a Pitcher's Battle.

WINGHAM, Oct. 10.—The first game of the North Wellington League finals was played today between Zurich and Wingham, and resulted in the most keenly contested and exciting game ever played here. The final score was 4 to 3 in favor of Zurich. The deciding run came in the ninth inning. The game was a pitchers' battle between Albert of Zurich and Morden of Whngham, and both put up splendid exhibitions.

Wingham led, 3 to 1, until the eighth inning, when a couple of costly errors gave Zurich two runs, and in the ninth the boys from the South added another, which gave them the game. The return game in Zurich next Saturday should be a real battle, as Wingham's team is by no means beaten.

Batteries—Zurich: Albert and Henning; Wingham: Morden and Anderson.

Umpires—Wilson and Ramsay, Owen Sound.

SARNIA JUNIORS PLAY HARD OILS WEDNESDAY

SARNIA, Oct. 10.—Sarnia Juniors will make their first raid out of town Wednesday afternoon, when they play the Hard Oil kids at Greenwood Park in the Oil Town in the second game of the district series. Petrolea not only looks forward to winning Wednesday's game, but of hauling down the ten-point lead as well. The fact that they were beaten does not seem to indicate to them that they are doomed to be whipped all the time.

Umps Should Be in Press Box, Ring Says Their Angle's Wrong

[BY RING W. LARDNER.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—In the fifth inning of this one George Moriarity stopped the game while he ran to the Giants' bench and told somebody to shut their mouth. If they would only appoint somebody to do the same in our section of the grandstand a person might maybe get a few hours' sleep. The way it is you just begin to doze off when some umpire or other makes a decision which is all wrong—that is, it's against the Yankees. Five or six hundred assorted fish, including some of the experts themselves, leap to their feet yelling "Robber," and before you can get back to sleep you have seen three or four more plays.

During my 64 years' experience with the national pastime I have mingled with bugs of all cities and in all stages of the disease, but I never seen none as far gone as the Yankee bugs and still able to walk. If the Yankees win this series they will be no living in New York City, and if they lose it will be so much the worse. They don't seem to be no future here for a man that is in the sears and yellow and wants to pass his declining years listening to something besides baseball talk.

Umpiring All Wrong.

As far as the umpiring is concerned, of course the system is wrong, and Judge Landis will no doubt have it arranged different before next fall's alleged classic. An umpire's place is in the grandstand, and especially in the press-box where a person can see the plays and see them right, and if you don't believe it, come and set in my seat tomorrow and hear how wrong the guys are that is down there on the field trying to umpire the game from that ridiculous angle. Why that ridiculous angle? Why, Bob Meusel come up to bat in the ninth innings today and hit a two-base hit to left field, and he hadn't no sooner got to second base when this here Rigler said it was a foul, and made him come back and bat over. That is just a sample, and the worst of it was that all we could do about it was stand on our hind legs and boo. Meusel himself didn't say nothing to Rigler, but that was probably because he ain't only known him a week.

However, that ain't telling you the high points of today's pastime. In the Giants' first inning, McNally kicked Burns' grounder and Bancroft forced Burns at second. Frisch singled and Young walked, and the bases was full with Kelly at the bat. No, he didn't. He singled to center field, and drove in the Giants' only run.

In the Yankee third, McNally walked and run to third when Schang's grounder took a sour hop through Frisch, and went for a two-bagger. Mike scored when Miller flied to Irish Meusel. Irish's throw would of nailed McNally, if the plate was ten feet nearer the grandstand.

Babe's Bunt.

In the next innings up came the Babe, and what did he do but lay down a bunt. This surprised even his old pal, Jack Dempsey. The Giants was completely upset by it, and Ruth scored all the way from first on Bob Meusel's double to left. Bob himself come in on a couple of outs. In Babe's other three times at bat he got nine strikes.

Mr. Ruth has a bad leg, as well as a bum arm, and it is becoming more and more painful for him to write his articles, as he uses a typewriter on which the shift key is operated with the foot.

You can read about the rest of the game in the detailed accounts. Suffice it for me to say that I haven't been so thrilled since the day Carpentier went back to France.

The ball players don't get no share of the dough in the games played from now on, and a person can't hardly help from crying when he thinks of those boys out there on the field giving their youth and vigor and getting no returns. The thought of the seven or eight thousand bucks aplece coming to them is all the consolation they've got. Poor stiffs.

Manager Huggin's pitching problem for tomorrow is no problem at all, you might say. All he has to do is find out the names of the guys that was in there last Friday, and be sure it ain't none of them. They's two or three pitchers for McGraw to pick from. Toney and Shea is his first choices, but it was rumored round last night that Slim Sallee, who has been warming up for two years, is pretty near ready.

WINDSOR COLLEGIANS BEAT DETROIT SQUAD

Canadians Found Yankee Defense Easy To Penetrate.

DETROIT, Oct. 10.—Northeastern High had a defence against Windsor Collegiate Institute on Collegiate Field this afternoon, but lacked tally-making ability, and went under 7 to 0, the Canadians scoring in the final period after carrying the ball from their own 30-yard line by forward-passing methods the Falcons could not diagnose.

Previous to the successful wide-open play, the Green and Gold held Windsor for downs three times after the Canucks were inside the Yanks' 5-yard mark, the visitors finding the defending forwards tighter than a "blue-law Sunday."

When the Canadians did register, it was on a fourth down, the forward toss being short.

Giles and Churchill did particularly meritorious service for Windsor.

Lo! Flowers

Sporting Editor, Advertiser:

Dear Sir.—As you know, the Alert lacrosse team played the final with Sudbury for the intermediate championship of Ontario here on Thursday. This was the second greatest event in amateur lacrosse circle of Canada for the year. In looking over the sporting columns of the Toronto and London papers, I find that The Advertiser was the only newspaper that gave an account of the game in keeping with the importance of the event, it having given almost a full column to it. As for the others, they gave from a column to two columns to a description of the baseball world series game in New York. The event here was Canadian, amateur, and an exhibition of our national game. The event in New York was foreign, professional, and an exhibition of baseball, which is not our national game. What encouragement is there in this for Canadians to develop our national game and good amateur sport?

Moreover, with reference to this final game for the intermediate championship, not one of the home team was ruled off, and only one of the visiting team, and that for a minor offence. And just here I would like to say in reference to the Sudbury players, that although 300 miles from home, with no supporters, without very much practice and just previous to their coming, and with the game going strongly against them, they kept their heads and played the game square from start to finish, without any whining and without any grumbling, proving themselves to be sports of the right type. It is just such games as that of Thursday which makes for the finest type of amateur sport.

Respectfully yours,
Hugh L. STEWART.

Nearly 600 See Two School Teams in Opener of Oxford and Middlesex I. R. U.

L. C. I. triumphed over Tech twelve in the opening game of the Oxford and Middlesex Interscholastic Rugby Union yesterday afternoon at Tecumseh Park by a score of 25—0. The light old gold and purple squad romped through the Techs with end runs and straight kicking plays, Tech's style being best adapted to bucks, in which style of play they more or less held their own.

Between five and six hundred students turned out from both schools, and the new rugby organization promises to develop a lot of rugby fans, as well as players.

Punting Game.

L. C. I. kept to the kicking and passing game nearly all the way through, and it got them their victory. Yesterday's game, even with both teams showing much inexperience, demonstrated the tendency of the new rules to open up the game and make it speedier.

Tech held the winners down to a 4—0 count for the first period. A rouge gave the Dufferin avenue people first claret. Session landed through with a nice drop kick, which ended the scoring this quarter at 4—0.

In the second quarter L. C. I. worked down the field, gaining through a series of kicks. With ten yards to go, Session was bucked over for an unconverted touch on the second down.

A rouge and Baird's touchdown marked the scoring in the third quarter. Baird's touch was unconverted.

Ardiel and Baird in the fourth quarter both went over for touches. Ardiel was sent around the end for the first and Baird bucked through twelve yards for his. Neither were converted.

L.C.I. Field Day On October 25

Local Students Go To St. Thomas C. I. Field Day Thursday.

The L. C. I. field day committee decided to hold their inter-school games with the St. Thomas C. I. on Oct. 25, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. These games were scheduled for last Friday, but owing to heavy downpours of rain both Friday morning and afternoon it was next to impossible to even walk over the playing field at Tecumseh Park.

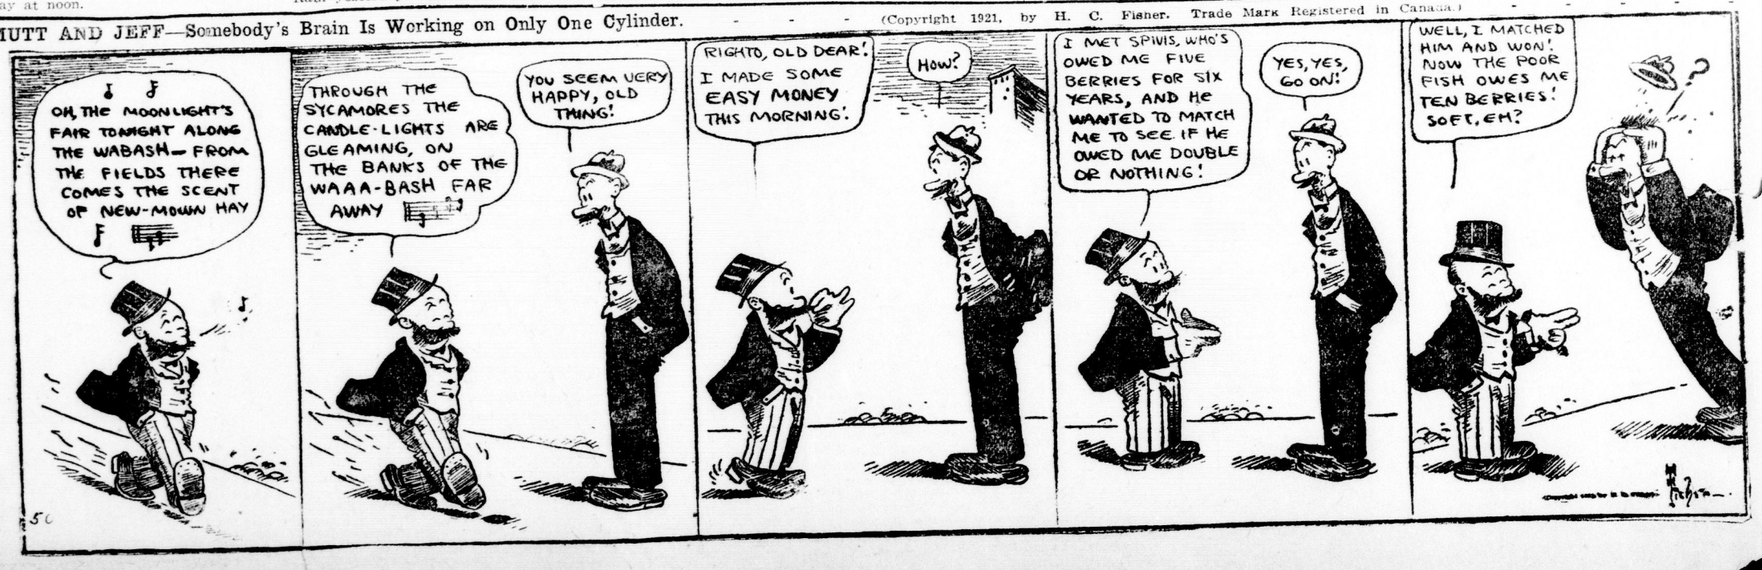

The local students will journey to St. Thomas on Thursday to take part in the Railroad City C. I. field day. The rugby squad is fully prepared to shake the St. Thomas jinx, and also the fact that 13 is unlucky. The girls' basketball and indoor baseball teams are practicing for their games, and promise to give the St. Thomas maids a hard battle.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

ALLIANCE RECOGNIZED BY LONDON CITIZENS

Will Send French-Speaking Delegates To Greet Visitors.

The "Alliance Francaise" is finding for itself a definite place in the community, when the chamber of commerce asks it to produce two French-speaking citizens to greet the officials who come to the city with the "French exhibit" this month. The greeting is to be given in the French tongue as a mark of deference to the visitors.

The Alliance this year aims at getting more closely in touch with the French students of the city. Mrs. C. R. Somerville, the president, feels that the organization might be a great help to the students by letting them hear French spoken and getting them to enter into French conversation. The organization also aims at a study of French art, music and literature, and the year's program will include lectures, little French plays, etc.

Prof. Squair to Speak.

At the first meeting of the Alliance on October 21, at the Normal School, Prof. Squair, for a long time head of the department of French at Toronto University and author of the French Grammar used in the Ontario schools, will be the speaker. And his subject is "Les Grandes Epoques de l'Art Francais," to be illustrated with slides. A recent meeting of the Alliance executive made arrangements for this meeting, and made plans towards the year's program.

W. C. A. DONATIONS.

The Women's Christian Association has recently received some splendid donations for the Victoria Home for Incurables, among the givers are the names Johnson & Barbour and Bert Weir. A handsome oil painting is another gift which was sent anonymously to the home.

STRESSING THE SLENDER LINE.

After several seasons of having to be satisfied with second place, the suit comes into its own, and emerges triumphant. Even the French women, who are anything but at their best in a suit, have taken to them with enthusiasm.

Although the style changes are not radical, the expressive or individual touches are marked, and these are featured in trimming as well as in cut. Knitted woolen fabric comes in for a generous share of applause, since it is not only durable, and most practical, but it has a style decidedly all its own, that cannot be copied in a cloth model. One of the knitted suits made from yellow wool, had a choker collar of brushed wool, and cuffs of the same, while trimmings of dark blue tricot silk-braid edged the front of the coat, and trimmed the skirt, which also had a fancy girdle finishing the waistline.

Speaking of Skirt Lengths.

The all-important question of skirt lengths really does not materially affect a suit, for the skirt will remain, according to the best authorities, about shoe-top length. In other words, about eight to ten inches from the floor. Satin, or velvet may be used, or cheviot and the basket weave fabrics with a velour finish are popular, and as for color, while the strictly tailleur demands the sombre tones, black being preferable, the garments of the sports variety take on the hues of the rainbow and jauntily swagger forth in red, green, grey, yellow, and bright red, the latter not stopping with the sports clothes or sports hats, it has higher aspirations. Red velvet gowns for evening are making their appearance, and it is said by those whose social activities take them to the formal dinners and dances, that red velvet evening dresses are always in evidence. It would seem that in order to get away from black, which last season held the center of the stage, the color pendulum has swung to the farther side, and singled out red as a reaction.

The straight line remains, and while some are of the opinion that eventually the longer skirt will be adopted by the American following the French trend, it is doubtful if the vogue will be popular here this season, nor will the semi-fitted coat be generally sponsored. Everything seen so far, that is everything that has found favor in the line of coat suits, tends to give the human figure a slender, unbroken silhouette.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[By Cynthia Grey.]

HAVE you "phonitis"? Are you one of those persons who waste valuable time talking unecessarily over the telephone?

Did you ever stop to consider how boring you may be to the person on the other end of the wire? Supposing it is a busy housewife you are calling, in the morning—as this seems to be the pet time for attack—when she has a hundred and one household duties to attend to. Think how annoyed she is having to listen to your idle chatter, which is of little interest to her.

Unfortunately, we all meet persons possessing this habit in every walk of life, no matter how hard we try to avoid them.

Don't be one of these pests—for this is what they are. If you must talk and chatter, save it all for some time when you get a poor defenseless victim face to face, when they have no possible chance of escaping you. And think how much more you will be able to say—and repeat! Don't abuse the use of the phone, and don't be a burden to the whole community!

SENDS LARGE MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I have written to the Mail-Box, but I read and enjoy the page, and I've received lots of useful information. I see where Geranium has sent in two crochet patterns for pillow slips. Could I have them until copied, and will return if wanted? Would like some of Aunt Rose's flower seeds too, some of each. Find inclosed $1 for sick children's hospital. Wishing the page future success. Return postage inclosed. M. E. D.

The crochet patterns and seeds are already on their way to you, M. E. D. Thank you very much for such a generous mite. Our fund is increasing daily, and with what we have already collected from quilts is over $500.

PLEASE GIVE NAME.

Dear Miss Grey,—As this is my first visit to your Mail-Box, I do not intend to stay very long. Well, Miss Grey, how have you been keeping these days? Hasn't it been cold for this time of the year? Well, I'll have to bother you for a question, please. Would you be so kind as to send me the meanings and different ways of placing stamps on an envelope? Well, I guess I'll have to close, as the mail man will soon be here. PEACH.

You did not give your name and address, so I did not know where to send the stamp language. If you will send it in, I shall forward it to you.

Cleopatra—I did not publish your letter, as it is against the rules to print letters of this nature. You write a very good hand.

WANTS DOUBLE HOLLYHOCK.

Dear Miss Grey,—What a beautiful autumn we are having and such an abundance of flowers and no frost as yet. And how the seeds are comning in to help swell the fund. Mine are not quite ready yet. Please send me a package of Aunt Rose's phlox seed, some sweet william seed, salvia and a few castor beans. Mite is for S. C. H.

I wonder if any of the Boxites would like to exchange double hollyhock seed with me! I have only one color, a dark red, but it is a beauty, as large as a saucer, with a round ball in the center. Will exchange for any color, as long as it is double. My address is with Miss Grey. Please send me A Wife's address, also Five Roses. Thanking you in advance, I remain,

A. C. VINE.

Am mailing you all the seeds asked for except castor beans, and there are none of this variety in the Mail-Box. Am sending you A Wife's address, but Five Roses' is not on file.

WITH THE BRIDES

CLENDENNING—BLACK.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. McKay at the manse, Dorchester, on Tuesday, October 3, when Miss Beatrice Black, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Black, was united in marriage to Mr. King Clendenning, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clendenning of Banner. The bride wore her traveling suit of navy blue, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. She also wore the gift of the groom, a pearl lavaliere. After the ceremony the bride and groom motored to London, where a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's grandmother. The happy couple left later for Windsor and Detroit. After their honeymoon they will take up their residence in Dorchester.

McMULLIN—MEEK.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Meek, Gorham street, Newmarket, Ont., when their only daughter, Anne Gertrude, became the bride of Mr. Willis B. McMullin, B.S.A., M.C., son of Mrs. Ellen McMullin, of Blytheswood, Ont., Rev. Capt. W. L. L. Laurence officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of cream canton crepe with touches of rose point lace. Her veil, an heirloom in the family, was becomingly arranged in coronet fashion and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and Ophelia roses, and wore the groom's gift, a necklace of pearls. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Sadie McBride, of Inglewood, who was attired in orchid organdie, and carried butterfly roses. Mr. Eric Weston of Windermere, Ont., was groomsman. The wedding music was played by Miss Edwinna Currey of Newmarket, and Miss Sylva Pulford of Amherstburg sang very sweetly, "Beloved It Is Morn." The groom's gifts to the attendants were silver coin purses, and to the best man Masonic cuff links. After a dainty dejeuner the happy couple left, amid showers of confetti, for Niagara Falls and points west, the bride traveling in a suit of navy velour with beaver trimmings and hat to match. On their return they expect to reside at Bruce Mines, Ont.

Other camp leaders present were Miss Marion Pryce of St. Thomas, Miss Moseley Williams and Mrs. Lowry.

MISSIONARY DESIGNATED AT MOORELINE CHURCH

A fairly large number of friends of Miss Helen McDougall gathered recently at Mooreline Church to witness her designation for foreign mission work. The Rev. J. C. Forster was in charge of the service, J. R. Hall, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Sarnia, conducting the designation services in the absence of Rev. George Aitken, moderator for the district.

Mrs. J. C. Forster, as a representative from the general board of the Women's Missionary Society of Canada, gave a short address, and according to custom, presented Miss Helen McDougall with a Bible. Mrs. Stereet, as a representative of the Sarnia Presbyterial, gave a short address, and presented the missionary with a camera, a gift from that executive.

Miss McDougall made a short and suitable reply to these presentations. A solo, "He Stood in His Garden," was sung by Mrs. Arthur Elliot.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Dr. McKay, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, his address being very inspiring and instructive.

Of Scotch Descent.

Miss McDougall's ancestors come from Scotland and Ireland, and in the early days helped to found the church where she was recently designated to her work. Miss McDougall herself is a true Canadian, born and educated in this country. She studied in the high schools in Sarnia and Petrolea, and is a graduate of Sarnia Business College. While working at the Home Bank in Toronto Miss McDougall became interested in mission work, and studied towards that end for some time at night school. Later she attended the Bible College at Toronto for two years, and has won particular honor for the college in that she is the first graduate to go out under the auspices of the Foreign Mission Board by the Presbyterian Church.

Leaves Shortly.

Under the auspices of this church she will leave from Vancouver on November 28 for Shanghai. She expects to spend the Christmas season in Honan, and later will proceed to Pekin, where she will study the language and customs of the people for a year before she begins active service in the great work to which she has devoted her life.

Some of the new gowns have skirts from three to five yards wide, reaching the instep in length.

Bags for evening are of velvet, flower trimmed and lined with brocaded satin. The black and steel pouch bags are smart with costumes.

At Cupid's Call

CI.—Mary's News.

Mrs. Dick Calardin descended to the breakfast room of the White Lodge at half-past eight the following morning.

Eve Rochester and Julian Vandaveer were in the room before her entry. So also was Mr. Carrington Bellairs and his majestic aunt.

"I hope I'm not late?" said Mary brightly.

"No one is punctual in this house," remarked its chatelaine. They all sat down to breakfast.

And then the telephone bell rang.

"Shall I answer it?" suggested Mary.

"I'd better go myself," said Carrington Bellairs. "I'm rather expecting a phone call from town about this time."

He went out to the hall.

Three minutes later he returned, looking rather grave.

"Been foul play at the Barley Mow—the landlord's just rung up," he said briefly. "They found young Dick Calardin lying on the floor unconscious only half an hour ago. He's delirious—shouting for Miss Drew here—" He flung a worried look at Mary.

Mary—white-faced and trembling—had risen to her feet.

"Oh, I must go at once!" she cried.

The aunt of Carrington Bellairs cast a glance of indignant reproof at the young girl.

"Miss Drew, you surely forget yourself," said the good lady in a ringing voice. "If anyone must go, then it's Eve, who is Mr. Calardin's affianced wife."

"Oh, I couldn't!" Eve shrank back. "I'm terrified of illness, auntie. Don't—I beg of you—don't insist upon my going!"

Mary was half-way across the room.

"Miss Drew, where are you going?" With raised and quizzical brows her employer stared at the young girl. "You've eaten no breakfast at all. Whatever is the matter?"

"I—I have some slight knowledge of nursing," Mary faltered, "and—and you said—that he was calling for me—Dick—"

"I don't think you had better go," said Carrington Bellairs. He already was regretting that he'd given Mary any message. "I'm going to telephone to town at once for a good nurse. I'm sorry for young Calardin. The landlord of the Barley Mow has informed the police of the occurrence. He thinks that the motive was robbery, for Calardin's sleeping apartment seems to have been thoroughly ransacked."

"He—he isn't going to die" faltered poor Mary, the little bride of yesterday.

"I understand he's badly hurt," came the slow answer.

Here Bellairs' aunt once more cut in:

"It would be highly improper, Miss Drew, for you to visit the young man unchaperoned. Besides, the nursing you could do would be of very little use! No, don't argue—that affair is settled!"

Carrington Bellairs became considerably nettled with his interfering aunt. She was taking far too much upon herself.

"Miss Drew—" he began, tentatively.

It was then that Mary flung her bomb into the midst of the startled assembly.

"I am not Miss Drew any longer," she cried. "I'm Mrs. Dick Calardin. Dick and I were married yesterday up in town. And—don't try to stop me—for I'm going to my husband!" She darted from the room.

"Will he recover, doctor?" Mary gazed with anxious eyes into the doctor's face. The doctor and she, helped by the landlady of the Barley Mow, had worked beside Dick for an hour. He was still unconscious, and in pain.

"He's had a bad blow to the head," the doctor said. "I would have killed any man with a less strong constitution than this young fellow." He looked at the unhappy, worried little bride. "Mrs. Calardin, we must just hope for the best."

Day after day, then, Mary sat by the bedside of her husband. A nurse from town was also in attendance, and the landlady of the Barley Mow—who always had adored Dick—took turns in the night work, at such times as Dick was very ill.

A week went by. Two weeks.

There were periods when Dick was conscious, but extraordinarily weak. He would lie there, very white and helpless, clinging to his young wife's hand, a very shadow of his former self.

Tomorrow—What Dick Vouched For.

The hems of the wide skirts are lined with crinoline having tiny ruffles, pinked, to trim the under part of the hem.

Many of the smart women are parting their hair, and drawing it down over their ears, without any curls.

Fancy or costumes jewelry is exceedingly popular and is worn with all manner of dresses, whether crepe, cloth, or silk, in the dark shades.

The local committees appointed in connection with the convention are the reception committee, including Mrs. Coffey, Mrs. H. A. Panet, Mrs. Philip Pocock, Mrs. Frank Forristal, Mrs. Foley, Mrs. W. H. GIRL GUIDE CAPTAINS.

A meeting of the Girl Guide captains of the city, held in the King street Y. W. C. A. last night, launched the work of the season. Plans were made to further instruction in first aid and nature study, by asking the local Girl Guide committee to furnish instructors in these branches of the work. The Guide officers of the city will meet every Thursday for supper, to study along the line of Guide work, and make mutual plans for the advancement of the work in the city.

MRS. H. COCKSHUTT HONORARY PRESIDENT

Will Be Elected by Ontario Girl Guide Executive.

One of the chief pieces of business in connection with the meeting of the Provincial Girl Guide executive to be held in Toronto on Thursday, October 13, will be the making of Mrs. Harry Cockshutt honorary president of the Provincial Association, according to Mrs. F. P. Betts of this city, the provincial commissioner, who left last night to preside over that meeting. Mrs. Betts is in Brantford today attending a luncheon given by Mrs. George Watt in honor of Mrs. Harry Cockshutt, and this afternoon two new Brantford patrols of Girl Guides are being enrolled. A very interesting meeting of Guides was recently held at Pickering, and in Kingston the work is going on splendidly. Mrs. Betts says that the greatest difficulty in the progress of the work is the scarcity of leaders, and proposes to have very many leaders' training camps throughout the province next year. It is possible that a leaders' class will be started shortly in the city to meet this very difficulty here.

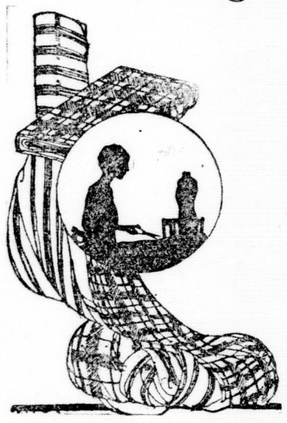

Accompanying Mrs. Betts to Toronto will be Miss Beth Pennington, the provincial secretary; Mrs. Ernest Smith, the deputy commissioner, and Mrs. Auden, the provincial treasurer.

MAKES FULL CONFESSION

Body of Gertrude Rademacher Claimed by Sister From Illinois.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 10.—Herman Rademacher, traffic patrolman, confessed late tonight to the murder of his wife, Gertrude. "I threw her off the bridge. I want to tell you the truth," Rademacher declared, when brought before Assistant Prosecutor Kent.

Rademacher then made a formal confession in the presence of a group of detectives and the prosecutor, and his statement was taken down by a stenographer.

A few moments before he admitted the crime Rademacher told detectives that he had been on Belle Isle bridge with his wife, and that after a dispute she had thrown herself over the railing, nearly pulling him with her as he attempted to save her.

After making this statement Rademacher told detectives that he wanted to talk with the prosecutor. He was taken upstairs and ushered into the offices where Chief of Detectives Fox, Deputy McCarty and other detectives were assembled.

A stenographer was called and a confession taken.

Rademacher said that he threw his wife over the bridge in a sudden fit of rage rising from their quarrel. He said the quarrel grew out of his wife's announcement that she intended to go out among friends more than she had been going.

He told the prosecutor that he and his wife had been across to Belle Isle for a walk, and that they were returning when he picked her up and threw her bodily over the railing. He said she made no outcry.

"Could Not Sleep."

"I went home after that, but could not sleep," Rademacher told the officers, "so I went over to the home of Mrs. Weill."

Rademacher said he was sorry for his act, and ascribed it to his uncontrollable temper.

The patrolman was identified by three of four fishermen, who said they saw a women hurled over the bridge railing.

The authorities this afternoon released the body of Mrs. Rademacher to her sister, Mrs. C. C. Mansfield, who arrived in Detroit today. Mrs. Mansfield will take the body to Connellsville, Ill., for burial.

Following their identification of Rademacher, the four fishermen were taken to view the body of Mrs. Rademacher, in an effort to identify it as that of the woman whom they saw thrown from the bridge.

Among important links in the chain of evidence police have been forging about Rademacher was the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth Weill, 2230 Joseph Campau street.

Tells of Midnight Visit.

When questioned she said that Rademacher came to her home after midnight Thursday. He appeared nervous, and told her he had just been told by a jitney driver that his wife was missing.

Rademacher was left undisturbed in his cell in first precinct cell block today until after 4 o'clock, when the four witnesses were brought in to confront him.

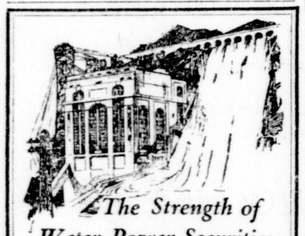

When the witnesses were admitted to the cell block they found eight men lined up. Among them was Rademacher wearing a dark civilian suit and the hat he is alleged to have worn the night of the tragedy. They went in, one at a time, and according to detectives, three of them in turn laid his hand on the shoulder of Rademacher, indicating he was the man whom they saw fleeing from the bridge.

The couple were married a little more than eight years ago. At that time Mrs. Rademacher, then Miss Gertrude Scott, lived with her parents on a farm near Greenville.

According to Mrs. Mansfield, her sister never mentioned trouble between herself and Rademacher in her letters home. She said she had known of no trouble until she talked with neighbors and friends of the couple in Detroit Monday.

TRAIN BOYS FOR ANZACS.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—A country mansion in Hertford, purchased for $200,000 is to be used for industrial training of Barnardo boys with the view to their dispatch to Australia after a six months' course. The house will accommodate some 100 boys.

The Strength of Water Power Securities

Strikes, deflations, inventories to mark down, and all other afflictions of the average industrial security have had but little effect upon strategically located Water Power Companies.

The services of Power Companies have been but little affected by changing business conditions. On the contrary, most of them are showing steadily increased earnings, both gross and net.

Our experience which extends over many years, convinces us that they are the most desirable securities, combining safety with a generous interest return.

Head Executive of G. W. V. A. Roused To Sudden Action

BRANTFORD, Oct. 10.—Following a general meeting behind closed doors the local G. W. V. A. officials today handed out the following statement on the stand taken in regard to politics:

"It was agreed that the G. W. V. A. attitude be not made public at this juncture, and that no aspirant for federal honors be allowed to campaign at the meeting.

"The real surprise of the evening was the reading of a telegram from Ottawa wherein the present administration decides to immediately reconsider and readjust any outstanding cases caused by harsh treatment with reference to pensions, etc.

"This display of belated benevolence was received with ironical laughter."

Secretary Walker of the Onondaga Fair Association announced this afternoon that the fair would be postponed until Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. It was scheduled to be held tomorrow and Wednesday, but bad weather is expected in the district and the officials are taking a chance on better weather next week.

Liberalism Stands For Good of All People At All Times.

CAYUGA, Oct. 10.—That Liberalism stands for the good of all the people at all times was declared by W. G. Chariton of Welland at a reform convention at Cayuga today, when Jacob Kohler was unanimously nominated as candidate for Haldimand. The speaker discussed the premier's manifest, claiming that Liberals stand for revenue tariff only, but not for free trade. That the debt of 1893 was wiped out in three years, and not re-established in the following fifteen years. Lieut.-Col. A. T. Thompson, J. W. Holmes, D. Z. Gibson also addressed the meeting. The attendance was especially good.

PRISONERS ESCAPE IN TRAIN WRECK

French Criminals Assist the Guards After Accident.

LYONS, France, Oct. 11.—Handcuffed in pairs and in charge of four gendarmes, twelve French military prisoners en route for Algeria to serve sentences ranging from five to fifteen years, were aboard the Strasbourg-Marseilles express when it jumped the track at Les Echets, a few miles from here. Forty passengers were killed and 70 injured.

None of the prisoners were seriously hurt, but three gendarmes were killed and the other pinned under the wreckage, lay seriously wounded.

All semblance of authority and order had disappeared. The prisoners were free but, instead of running away, they pulled the wounded gendarmee out of the tangled mass of wood and iron, and laid him on the gross. During the night they rescued 31 injured passengers. Then they gave themselves up.

They have since left for Algeria to serve their sentences, but it is understood that the minister of war is studying the case and the opinion is expressed that, in due course of red tape, they will be pardoned.

Kincardine

KINCARDINE, Oct. 10.—The migration of summer visitors is nearly over, and only a few cottages retain their inmates. It has been a delightful summer for city folks, calm, warm weather prevailing, and the clean, sandy and gravelly beach has been a delight to young and old.

Whether the city fathers know that the beach has become the dumping ground for lime and brick, broken cement, tile, etc., is hard to determine. The lake side of the revervoirs is now an eyesore.

When officials were asked who ordered the rubbish to be piled there, the reply was that the superintendent did, and that the purpose was to protect the reservoirs.

* * *

Many visitors were disappointed at the poor fishing from the piers. Practically no minnows were to be had, and only a few insignificant fish were caught. This is usually attributed to the dye works coloring the basin, or it may be partly due to the prevailing winds.

New buildings are being hurried ahead and alterations go on in spite of heavy taxes.

George A. Connelly has sold his livery barn and stables to D. R. McPhail and Fred Slade.

W. Griffith, who bought the building lately occupied by Miss McIver, is preparing to rebuild, and will make a fine-looking block, to match that of Mr. Farley.

The town council met Friday evening and went through a lot of business. A. McIntyre introduced a proposition for a lady of Chicago who is desirous of building a summer hotel somewhere near the shore. The only privilege asked is a fixed taxation for ten years. The council will probably grant the request. J. Shoebottom asked $500 compensation for injuries received by his wife at the pavilion. Her leg was broken. The matter was laid over for further consideration.

James Watson, proprietor of the wickerwork factory, asked for a loan from the town to enable him to enlarge his factory.

ONTARIO LAWS BLOCK PICKING OF ELECTORATE

Ottawa Report Bares "Reason" For Delay in Dissolution of Parliament.

BASIC LAWS SAVE DAY

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—That delay between the announcement of Premier Meighen on Sept. 1 that an election would be held and the actual dissolution of Parliament and issuance of writs was not a circumstance over which the Government had no control is fairly well demonstrated by the tangle which has occurred in connection with the preparation of voters' lists in the province of Ontario.

Mr. Meighen made his initial announcement on Sept. 1, as has been stated. Dissolution, however, was unaccountably delayed until Oct. 4. And even after that writs were not issued until Oct. 8. There appears to have been "method" in the delay.

In Ontario the preparation of the voters' lists is specifically set forth in subsection 2 of section 32 of the Dominion elections act. This provides for the use as a basis of any lists utilized in the provincial election of 1919 which are not more than two years old on the day of the issuance of the writs.

Expired Last Month.

It appears that practically all of the lists—90 per cent on an estimate—prepared in 1919 expired about the end of September last, and are therefore more than two years old. These cannot, as a consequence, be used as a basis for federal lists for the pending election. Had the premier thought about dissolution shortly after his initial announcement it might have been different. The Government was perfectly aware of the situation, as may be gathered from the announcement by Hon. Edward Bristol in Toronto to the effect that if the writs were not issued before Sept. 27 existing Ontario lists would be outlawed. It was, however, in the power of the Government to have dated the writs back, so that the difficulty could have been overcome.

In cities, towns and villages of Ontario there is no statutory provisions for the preparation of lists beyond the above provision, excepting that it is laid down that where such dists as are specified cannot be used, lists prepared under the Drury act of 1920 may be made use of. As a matter of fact but few lists were prepared under the latter act.

Planned Own Lists.

It was apparently the intention of the Government that it should prepare its own lists. The lists compiled in 1919, which are now outlawed by lapse of time, were probably the most representative ever prepared in the province, inasmuch as they were revised by several parties, including Liberals, Conservatives, Independents, Labor, Agrarian, "Wets" and "Drys."

The Government apparently desired to pick and choose its electorate.

But owing to a clumsy interpretation of the act the Government has struck a serious snag. It is now stated by the chief electoral officer that the new lists will be prepared from "basic" lists already in existence. The only "basic" lists are a few of the provincial general election lists which did not expire before Oct. 8, a few provincial by-election lists compiled since 1919, a few municipal lists of 1920 compiled under the Drury act.

Where these do not exist it would appear that absolutely new lists will have to be prepared without statutory authority and that parliamentary sanction for their use will afterwards have to be sought.

In any case the preparation will involve the hiring of a new army of enumerators not contemplated in the law.

Seaforth

SEAFORTH, Oct. 10.—The remains of Mrs. Lockhart, a former old and highly esteemed resident of McKillop, and widow of the late George Lockhart, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Button, in Moore Township near Sarnia on Saturday, were brought here today for interment, the funeral taking place from the Grand Trunk station to the Maitland Bank Cemetery. The deceased, who was in her 89th year, leaves a family of four sons and one daughter, Rev. G. Lockhart, Griswold, Man.; James of Sarnia; William of Windsor, and Thomas of New York State, and Mrs. Robert Button, Moore Township.

* * *

D. Ross, a well-known resident of Brucefield, and son of the late Alex Ross, dropped dead this morning from heart-failure. He leaves a widow and two children.

* * *

The death took place Saturday evening at the home of her son, Nell Gillespie, of Agnes McKellar, widow of the late James Gillespie of Hibbert Township. The deceased lady was born in the township of Dalhousie, Lanark County, 1831, and was married to her late husband when 17 years of age. They moved to Hibbert in 1856, where Mr. Gillespie was the pioneer school teacher for many years and where she resided until about four years ago, when she came to live with her son in Seaforth. Although Mrs. Gillespie had attained the advanced age of over 90 years, she possessed remarkable vitality and was able to take a keen interest in current events. She would in all probability have lived several years longer had it not been for a fall two weeks ago from which she never recovered. She was an esteemed member of the First Presbyterian Church, and one of the most willing workers in the local Red Cross Society, having knit several hundred pairs of socks during the war. She leaves a family of six, Donald and Hugh of Saskatoon; James of Chicago; Mrs. Robert Purdom of Brandon, and Neil and Miss Jessie of Seaforth.

STUDENTS JOIN IN SEARCH FOR LOST PROFESSOR

BELIEVED STILL ALIVE

Find Remains of Porcupine Educator Missing For Month May Have Eaten.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 10.—Druggists of Fort William and Port Arthur are organizing a party to aid in the search for their former chemistry professor at Toronto University, Dr. Graham ("Foxy") Chambers, reported lost in the woods at Atikokan. They will leave Fort William tonight for Atikokan, which is 142 miles west of here.

Dispatches from Ottawa state that the air board is also taking steps to assist in locating the missing professor, from whom no word has been received since Sept. 9. Instructions have been sent by Colonel Leckie, director of air board operations, to Captain Carter, in charge of the Northern Ontario station at Sioux Lookout, where there are three machines, to cooperate in the search.

Find Porcupine Killed.

The remains of a porcupine, believed killed for food by Dr. Chambers, have led searchers to believe Chambers is still alive. Two white guides and twelve Indians are scouring the five-mile-square tract of bush surrounding Clearwater Lake, where the doctor's camp is situated.

The guides are basing their hopes on the fact that wild animals will seldom, if ever, kill porcupine for food at this time of year, when all kinds of game are abundant.

Mrs. Chambers, who is with friends in Fort Frances, has faith that her husband will be found soon.

On Sept. 29, Dr. Chambers, with his nephew, started out on a tramp to Eye Lake, 1½ miles from Clearwater Lake, over a good trail. Before reaching Eye Lake the nephew decided to turn back to camp, but Dr. Chambers said that he would keep on.

After retracing the trail for some time, the nephew turned back after Dr. Chambers. He kept to the path to Eye Lake, but could not find any trace of his uncle. Indian guides succeeded in following the trail for some distance past Eye Lake. Then the trail was lost on rocky ground. The ground around Eye Lake is pitted with old mining shafts, many of which are filled with water.

Wife Joins in Search.

G. H. Parkes of 120 South Drive, Toronto, brother-in-law of the missing physician, received a telegram Sunday night, Oct. 2, from the doctor's nephew, also named Graham Chambers, a fifth-year medical student of the University of Toronto, who had accompanied his uncle on a fishing and recreation expedition. The party consisted of four, a bush ranger friend of the doctor and a guide being the other two.

The message from the younger Mr. Chambers ran to this effect: "Uncle is away from the camp and we fear he is lost in the bush." Mrs. Chambers left Toronto at once and made an effort to have the Provincial Police employ bloodhounds in the search, but none was available.

Doctor Graham Chambers is prominent in the medical profession. He is associate professor of clinical medicine at the University of Toronto and served overseas with the University Base Hospital at Saloniki, and later at the Ontario Hospital at Orpington with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

A nervous breakdown as a result of war service had greatly affected him since his return from overseas, and he had been compelled intermittently to suspend his practice.

DEMAND FOR HAY AT LOCAL MARKET SLOW

City People Buy Fruits and Vegetables For Winter.

More than 20 loads of hay were offered for sale on the local market Tuesday. The demand was slow. The majority of the loads were sold at $18 a ton.

Old oats took a drop, and were selling at $1.90 per cwt. The price of eggs remains firm, with a good demand.

Apples were plentiful, but no change in price took place. There was a fair demand for vegetables. It is believed that there will be a good demand for all vegetables on Saturday's market. City people are beginning to buy in larger quantities for winter use.

IRISH CHIEFS OPEN PARLEY IN LONDON

for a summary of the proclamation in their news columns.

There were no predictions relative to the outcome of the deliberations of the conferees, and it was recognized that the result of the negotiations was as uncertain as they have been at any time since early last July, when they were initiated.

Newspapers Comment.

The London Times, anxious for good results, said that recent events should have "led both England and Ireland to learn the blessedness of concord through the bitter experience of strife," and that such progress as actually had been made should inspire confidence in the ultimate success of the negotiations."

The public was advised by the Daily Chronicle to "blend prudent caution with optimism." The newspaper remarked that the negotiations leading up to today's meeting had done nothing material to narrow the wide gulf between the views taken on each side of the question.

"Of the many conferences held regarding Ireland," declared the Daily Mail, "there has never been one with such sharpiy-contrasted possibilities for good or evil."

Norfolk Farmers See Veiled Threat in Tory Advertising

SIMCOE, Oct. 10.—A thinly-disguised attack by the National Liberal-Conservative supporters against J. Alex. Wallace, Farmer candidate for Norfolk, is seen in the call that went out today for a mass meeting to be held here next Monday to nominate a Government candidate. The exhortion reads: "A call to all persons, both men and women, who are in sympathy with the Meighen Government, irrespective of their former political leaning."

That John H. Martin of Port Dover, known as the American Wyandotte king, may have the nomination for the asking is generally conceded, but whether he would accept it or not is a question that has not been answered.

That protection vs. free trade will be the issue in this constituency is evident. The Liberal-Conservatives declare that the prime qualification of the candidate is that he "must be a protectionist."

Great emphasis is being placed on the women vote here. According to reports emanating from the village of Boston, pourparlers are being carried on with the voters of Townsend Township. Townsend has always held the balance of power when the two old political parties were fighting it alone, and that township's support was invariably thrown on the side of the Liberal candidate. With a call for fusion of the two old parties Government supporters claim they have more than a fighting chance, but with Townsend's vote thrown to Mr. Wallace, his election is generally conceded.

Prominently mentioned as the Liberal standard-bearer, Warden R. M. Taylor of Port Dover has decidely refused the nomination, which likely means there will be no King supporter run in this riding.

65-Year-Old Deadline Has No Terror For These Stalwarts.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 10.—Postmaster W. G. Raymond, who resigned from office today, following his acceptance of the nomination as Liberal standard bearer in the riding of Brantford, is well past 65 years. He has been postmaster 22 years here, but continued in office when the superannuation decree was lifted by the postmaster-general's department. Two other candidates, A. W. Burt, representing the organized Farmer-Labor element, and W. F. Cockshutt, Conservative, are also past the 65-year-old "deadline." All are "hale and hearty" and active in their various callings.

Pelee Island

PELEE ISLAND, Oct. 11.—Fire broke out at the Breezy Point clubhouse at 4 a.m. Tuesday. The cottage, containing dining-room aand kitchen, was totally destroyed, also a sum of money owned by Mr. Tidwell, the caretaker. Mr. Tidwell and family were sleeping in rooms at the boathouse. One of the guests of the clubhouse discovered the fire, but it was too late to save anything. The cause is unknown.

The Willing Workers of the Southend Methodist Church gave a bazaar, supper and concert on Wednesday. There was a good attendance. An excellent program was provided by Miss Noble of Toledo, O. Miss Noble is claimed to be the shortest woman in the world for her age, being 37 years old and only three feet tall. Mrs. McClure gave two piano selections, and her daughter Colleen sang. Rev. Mr. Poulter presided. After the program Sam Lucas auctioned several articles, which were left over from the bazaar.

SON STEALS LIQUOR FROM FATHER'S CELLAR

Sold the Whiskey To Preston Resident For $175.

GALT, Oct. 10. — To have a father complainant against his son was the novel situation in the local court today, when W. Barley, Selkirk street, found that his son Arthur and a companion named William Dickson were the parties who had stolen five cases of brandy from his home and then sold it for $175 to a Preston man. The accused both pleaded guilty, and were remanded for sentence. Both young men have records.

The police recovered $163 of the sum derived from the sale of the liquor hidden in the prisoners' homes. The purchaser of the liquor, charged with having received stolen property, pleaded not guilty, and his case will be heard on Saturday.

SIX MUNICIPALITIES TURN DOWN SCHOOL NURSE PLAN

HARRISTON, Oct. 10.—At a well-represented meeting of the school trustees from the municipalities of Harriston, Clifford, Drayton and Palmerston, also from the townships of Minto and Maryborough, it was decided not to engage a school nurse for another year. Inspector Galbraith of Mount Forest presided, and Dr. Grey, who conducted the medical inspection of the school children recently in the various municipalities, outlined the advantages of a school nurse for the children's welfare.

It was pointed out that if forty rooms could be obtained a school nurse could be engaged at $40 per room per annum. The Ontario Government has agreed to pay $10 per room, leaving $30 to be paid by the ratepayers.

Amongst those who addressed the meeting were Dr. Coleman of Palmerston and Dr. Charlesworth of Harriston. Much discussion followed and it was decided to leave the matter over for another year. Some of the trustees want to place the matter before their ratepayers.

The annual supper was held in the church Monday evening, and a large congregation enjoyed the supper and program rendered by talent from Stratford, Toronto and Harrison. The singing at the Sunday services by singers from other churches in town and visitors was greatly enjoyed.

OVERDUE STEAMER AND CONSORT ARRIVE SAFELY

SARNIA, Oct. 10.—The steamer J. C. Ford and its consort, the barge Owen, arrived today in Port Huron with pulpwood for the Port Huron Sulphite and Fibre Company. Several days ago a report from the Soo said the steamer and barge were overdue at their destination. The master of the Ford has orders to never take chances in uncertain weather, and no alarm is felt at this port when no word is received from the boats for a week at a time. Often the Ford and Owen remain in shelter for several days.

Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. Regina, Sask.—"I was going through Change of Life and suffered for two years with headache, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results, and I also find it a very helpful Spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends, and am willing you should publish this."—Mrs. MARTHA W. LINDSAY, 810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

GRAND JURY RETURNS THREE TRUE BILLS

John Warlow of Walkerville To Face Trial For Murder.

WINDSOR, Oct. 10.—The grand jury tonight at Sandwich returned a true bill in the case of John Warlow, Walkerville baker, who is charged with shooting to death his wife, Louise Warlow, at Walkerville, on the night of March 14. Warlow will be placed on trial Tuesday morning. J. H. Rodd, K.C., former county crown attorney, will defend him.

* * *

True bills were returned against Harold Graham of Ford for beating and robbing Miss G. Trudel, messenger of the Ford branch of the Merchants Bank; James Grant, Amherstburg, for an alleged offence against a girl, and Medos Triolet of Sandwich, for shooting at Patrolman Renaud with intent to do bodily harm.

Pleased with the plan of the London Hydro Commission to install electric water heaters in homes, the city council tonight instructed Mayor Wilson and the transportation committee to request the local commission to adopt a similar plan. Alderman Warren fathered a resolution, in which he asserted that hundreds of homes in new districts required some such service as proposed by the London commission.

By a vote of seven to five the city council declined to sanction a recommendation of the industrial committee to allow manufacturers to use not more than 25,000 feet of natural gas per month.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

SYNOD ASSAILS OPPOSITION TO CHURCH UNITY

Wants Public Schools To Pay More Attention To Bible Teaching.

ASKS LAW ENFORCEMENT

Favors Repetition of Ten Commandments At Least Once a Week.

HAMILTON, Oct. 10.—The presentation and consideration of the report of the general board of religious education was the big item of this morning's session of the general synod. For this business the House of Bishops were present and took part in the proceedings.

Rev. R. A. Hiltz submitted the report, and also several suggested resolutions, the first of which met strong opposition from Dr. Cody of Toronto, and Rev. W. B. Waterman of Carp. This recommendation commended the union of font roll and the babies' branch of the ladies' auxiliary.

"Just as soon as a boy becomes conscious of himself he objects to becoming part of a woman's organization," said Dr. Cody.

Strong criticism was levelled at certain Toronto papers by the synod, regarding statements of alleged opposition to church union, alleged to have cropped up on Saturday, when the proposal to fix a date for the discussion of this vital matter was broached.

Synod Adopts Motion.

The synod unanimously adopted a motion urging that more attention be paid in the public schools of Canada to the teaching of the Bible, and to religious instruction generally.

The subject was introduced by Chancellor Kirwan Martin of Hamilton, who placed the onus for the bringing into use of present regulations dealing with religion in schools on the local clergy in the individual parishes and rural deaneries.

"If clergy and laity in the different school districts would see to it that existing regulations are enforced they would get a result far beyond their expectations," declared Archdeacon H. J. Cody, of Toronto, formerly minister of education for Ontario. Archdeacon Cody pointed out that local boards of trustees in Ontario had the power to authorize the teaching of the Bible to a much greater extent than was generally believed to be the case.

The board of religious education was authorized to continue its efforts to put the needs of the case before the authorities concerned. Its program looks towards the authorization of alternate daily readings from the Bible by teachers and pupils, the repeating of the Ten Commandments at least once a week, and the memorization of passages selected by the principal of the school from the Bible.

Sing Doxology.

With the members of the Synod standing and singing the Doxology, a vote of thanks to the membership of the church for their able and willing response to the Anglican Forward Movement appeal was enthusiastically adopted.

Latest reports show that while the Dominion objective was set at $2,607,000, the Anglican Churches had pledged $3,471,608. Up to August 31, 1921, total receipts were $2,664,192.

Discussion of the mutual commission proposal for re-ordination of the ministers of the churches concerned in the union question was the theme around which the two main addresses of the debate at the afternoon sitting centered.

Chancellor Kirwan Martin referred to the offer of the bishops to accept a form of commission which would be acceptable to other communions. He was greatly disappointed, however, at the way in which the proposal had been received by other Protestant churches.

Pleads for Conference.

What they seemed to want was that the bishops should accept the ordination of their denomination. Venerable Archdeacon Smith of Montreal made his account of the negotiations, which have taken place between a joint committee appointed by the Montreal Presbytery and the Bishop of Montreal, the basis for a strong appeal for a continuation of the conference with the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Presbyterians alone had come to the Church of England on their own accord and asked for a conference, he said. At those conferences, which had extended over a year, cultured leaders in the Presbyterian Church had indicated their willingnes to accept "ordination to the sacred office of the Catholic priesthood."

Reading the written agreement, which was arrived at, he described the various forms of services by which the commissions could be exchanged. He wished to point out, however, that there was danger of being too optimistic.

The debate opened with a somewhat confused discussion as to the method to be adopted in the consideration of the message on church union sent down by the bishops. Ultimately on the motion of Chancellor J. A. Worrell, Toronto, it was agreed to consider the preamble and the remainder of the message resolution by resolution.

That difficulty was disposed of, only to have another crop up immediately Canon F. G. Scott protested against the wording of the preamble, maintaining that it involved a principle which the Canadian Anglican Church could not countenance. He referred to the implication in the words "The Upper House of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, having taken part in the issuing of an appeal to all Christian people," as giving the Lambeth conference a position in the church which was not lawful for it to assume.

The inference was that the Lambeth conference had legislative authority, and the Canadian bishops were bound to take the action they had taken because they had attended it.

After several protests had been made, Chancellor Worrell moved a motion of non-concurrence in the preamble, on the ground that the upper house, as such, had not attended the Lambeth conference, and it could not agree to a resolution committing "to the national, regional and provincial authorities of the churches within the Anglican communion the task of putting the aforesaid appeal into effect."

His motion was adopted without revision.

ADJOURN PORT STANLEY AND M. C. R. RATE CASE

Demand Cut in Wages Paid Unskilled Labor in Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 10. — Seventy-five members of the Toronto Board of Trade waited on the board of control of the city government today and asked for a reduction of wages paid to unskilled labor by the city and for other steps steps towards economy.

The deputation claimed that the high wage rate of 60 cents an hour for unskilled help was "a deterrent to a resumption of normal activity in all lines of industry because of the precedent which is established, the encouragement which it gives to demands being made for a similar rate in industry and the unrest resulting from the inability of industry to comply."

Mayor Church said the big outlay in Toronto was for education and carrying charges on debts, and that the city council was not responsible for the mounting tax rate.

He gave no assurance that the wage rate would be cut, although the deputation declared that Toronto was practically alone in paying 60 cents at present to unskilled labor.

ALLEGED THUG SHOT BY CONSTABLE DEAD

Second Windsor Suspect Lies Wounded in Hotel Dieu.

WINDSOR, Oct. 10.—Alex Dupres, 1634 McDougall avenue, alleged to have been one of the two burglars shot by Constable J. E. Bower while he was frustrating their attempt to break into Austin's drug store, corner Glengarry avenue and Wyandotte street, at 2:45 o'clock this morning, died in Hotel Dieu at 3 p.m. today. Although detectives were at his bedside when he succumbed to his wounds, they were unable to get a statement from him on account of his weakened condition. An inquest will be held.

William Gerard, 1616 Howard avenue, also in the hospital suffering from wounds in his side, is expected to recover. Both he and Dupres were brought to the hospital in an auto driven by a stranger one hour after the robbery attempt, and stated that they had been shot by hold-up men on the Tecumseh road.

Constable Bower was patrolling his beat in the early morning, and as he walked into an alley saw two men in a dark corner. His suspicions were aroused. He challenged them, and they replied by suddenly attacking him. Both his assailants were thought to have been armed, for one flashed a nickel-plated object resembling a revolver, and the other struck him over the head with an instrument, thought to have been a billy. Then they turned to run, and he warned them to throw up their hands. They did not heed him, however, and he fired, wounding the pair. They scaled a fence and disappeared in the night.

The flier squad was summoned and Bower, accompanied by Sergts. Pero and Begg, began a thorough investigation. It was found that the men had been at work drilling holes in the door of the store, near which was found a brace and bit.

Search for the missing men followed. Word that two wounded men had been admitted to the hospital was followed up with the result that the pair were found and identified by the officer.

Bower has been on the inWdsor police force a year and has figured prominently in many important cases here. His superior officers described him as one of the most capable men on the force.

NEW OCCUPATION PROFITABLE ONE

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 10.—Illinois' most unique market is to be found on the banks of the Illinois River in Mason County. Fifteen men earn a livelihood digging fish worms for anglers, and signs are displayed stating that this bait can be procured at the rate of three dozen for 25 cents. This is the standard rate, but the angler of limited time, who does not care to invest so extensively, will be sold one dozen worms for a dime. The worms are usually sold in a tin can filled with damp earth.

The Illinois River in the vicinity of Havana is the mecca for thousands of anglers annually, and the bait industry thus thrived with the increase in the number of hook and line fishermen. The black bass are the favorite of the finny tribe, and angleworms are said to be the most alluring bait for this species. With the coming of cooler weather the pastime has an increased number of devotees and the bait sellers have experienced a harvest.

The advance guard of ducks from the feeding grounds of the north, en route to the south for the winter, was reported this week along the Illinois River. The birds will work their way south by leisurely stages, and the sport will reach its height in the closing weeks of October and November.

NEW BRUNSWICK DRYS HAVE BIG MAJORITY

Can Only Obtain Liquor Legally by Doctor's Prescription.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 10.—With the returns only beginning to come in from other parts of the province, the drift of the voting shows unmistakably that New Brunswick had declared by the ballot against the legal importation of liquor for use as a beverage. Under the existing provincial act any householder may import supplies for his own personal use, with few restrictions. Under the legislation, which will follow today's vote, this privilege will be abolished and the only legal purchases of liquor in this province will be those made on physicians' prescriptions for medicinal purposes.

The fact that St. John city voted in favor of the bone-dry law by a total of 5,049 to 3,056, came as a surprise even to the temperance leaders. In the last plebiscite for the confirmation of the present act, the city voted for prohibition in the proportion of six to five, and it was expected that the wet vote would be larger today.

CONTINUE FIGHT ON CITY GAS CO.

The fight against the City Gas Co. to recover "readiness-to-serve" charges has not been given up, according to Ald. George Wenige, against whom judgment was given by Judge Judd in a similar case.

"There will be another case to come before the division court two weeks from Wednesday," said Ald. Wenige Monday afternoon. He would not state just what new angle will be unfolded when the case comes to trial.

The manufacturers of the city have secured the arena for "plowing week" and it is the intention to make a display of "Made-in-Woodstock" goods.
