AUTUMN DRESS GOODS

During the past two weeks we have been procuring shipments of our dress fabrics for the Autumn season. Hundreds of yds of the fashionable weaves and designs are now on exhibition. No style or shade that is right is lacking. To those who make their purchases early, we would advise a visit to our Dress Goods Department, so that you may see the assortment at its best.

Dress - Making

We have been fortunate in securing, as a successor to Madam Skirving, Mrs. J. A. Stephens, of Toronto, who comes to us with the highest recommendations, as a skillful modiste. The department, under her management will open on Tuesday, September 3rd, when she will be pleased to see our patrons.

Report On The City Milk

Dr. Hall Reads Results of Test Before Board of Health

Hyslop St. Sewer to be Built as a Health
Measure

The first report on the quality of milk delivered in this city, showing the results of the tests made by the new milk testing apparatus recently installed in the Health Department, was made before the members of the Board of Health at their meeting yesterday afternoon by Medical Health Officer W. R. Hall. As Dr. Hall stated that he would not assume any responsibility for the publishing of these reports, and as he is the only authority for their accuracy, this journal refrains from giving the full results of the several tests. However, Dr. Hall stated that though the first samples taken did not show up very satisfactory, the last test made was quite satisfactory to him.

The first tests showed results ranging all the way from 19.3 per cent gravity to 33 per cent gravity; and from 2 per cent butter-fat to 6.25 per cent butter-fat. The last test, which was made on Sept. 2, showed all the vendors to average 30.1 per cent gravity, with three and three-fifths butter-fat. This, Dr. Hall said, could not be much improved upon.

The report, on motion, was adopted without further comment.

HYSLUP STREET SEWER.
Mr. Wanless remarked that the sidewalk is being put down outside the trees on Hyslop street, and that a sewer should be laid on the street before this work is finished. The sewer, he said, is greatly needed, and the people who are protesting against it are those owning property on the side of the street where there are no houses.

Dr. Hall said that the sewer would undoubtedly be a great boon to a number of the residents on the street, as the water stands in places in front of their residences, but the majority of the ratepayers were opposed to the sewer, and it was just a question as to whether the Board should force them to lay the sewer. He, however, recommended its construction as a health measure.

Mr. Wanless moved, seconded by Dr. Charteris, that the Board recommend that a sewer be constructed on the street in the interests of the public health.—Carried.

Fence Will Be Removed

Eye Sore At Collegiate Institute Will Soon
Disappear

The Board of Education held a record-breaking meeting last evening, much to the delight of the reporters and the members of the Board, who were anxious to get home early. The business of the evening was completed in 20 minutes. The Finance Committee recommended the payment of the usual list of accounts for maintenance and improvements, and their report was adopted. The accounts were as follows:

J. C. Wanless, $2.65.
R. Tipping, $3.40.
Cost of Blackboard, $12.75.
A. Tomlinson, $3.55.
L.R. Block, $4.50.
A. Jamieson, $3.50.
George Lamphard, $3.00.
J. E. Causgrove, $5.00.
J. C. Wanless, $3c.
J. A. Hildreth, $45.00.
R. S. Dunlop, $70.00.
H. Green, $50.00.
C. Brooks, $56.00.
J. Brown, $45.00.
News, $3.48.
Coltart & Wilson, $207.25.
J. C. Wanless, $7.80.
Mrs. Hassen, $4.50.
The accounts of Brisco, for electric wiring, and Blomde for work at the Collegiate Institute, were left with the Finance Committee with power. The work has not yet been inspected.

The administrators of the estate of the late Robert Park will receive $40, due the late inspector. His examination account will be left with the Finance Committee to make a satisfactory arrangement with the administrators.

W. H. G. Colles and J. H. Smith applied for the position of Inspector of the city schools. As some of the members of the Board were not present, the matter was referred to a special meeting which will be called by the chairman.

The old fence around the Collegiate Institute will be taken down and sold.

There were present at the meeting: Chairman McKeough, Messrs. Richards, Sullivan, Brackin, Somerville, McCortie and McLachlan.

ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT TO BE A SUPERIOR ONE

Mr. L. G. Read Writes that Two Engines Will Be Installed Instead of One As Stipulated in Contract—
Engineer Jones Vindicated

The following letter from L. G. Read, of the Colonial Engineering Company, is self-explanatory:
To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—I see by your recent issues some discussion as to Plans not being ready for electric light plant and how to say that the slight delay occasioned by not getting certain minor details from the City Engineer, will not delay the time of starting the new plant at all. The construction of the equipment is being rapidly pushed and there will be plenty of time in which the new building and foundations may be prepared. And although one of Mr. Jones' letters to me seems to have gone astray, even that did not cause the slightest delay. When I made another request for the details, Mr. Jones very promptly forwarded same. The engine room plan for Chatham was finished within 48 hours after my return to Montreal from Chatham, but instead of sending it immediately to Messrs. Potter and Jones, as was my original intention, and knowing that it would not cause any delay, I sent the plan to our works in England to first get their approval, so that I could feel sure of having the best possible lay-out. The plan will be returned to me within a week or so, and I shall then forward it to Chatham.

My reason for sending this to you for publication is to correct any impression that the work is being delayed or that Mr. Jones has been in the least derelict in his attention to my requests.

In fact, the people of your city may be pleased to know that we have decided to furnish two engines, of same aggregate horse power, instead of one, and to give them a more elaborate equipment than the contract calls for, and at no additional charge. Our reasons being that as it is the first plant of the kind in Canada we desire to make a model one.

Faithfully yours,
L. G. READ,
Chief Engineer.

Big Conservative Rally To Be Held Here Next Saturday

Mr. R. L. Borden, Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Federal Government, will arrive in this city next Saturday at 1.11 o'clock, and will be met at the station by the 24th Regiment Band, and a reception committee appointed by the Liberal-Conservative Association of West Kent.

A parade will be held and Mr. Borden, the distinguished visitor, will be conducted to the Garner House, where he will hold a public reception. At this reception people of the riding will be made welcome, and presented to the Leader of the Great Conservative party of the Dominion.

At 2.30 in the afternoon Mr. Borden will address a meeting of farmers and citizens in the Opera House. He will also address another meeting in the evening, commencing at eight o'clock, sharp.

The people of this city and surrounding district have been looking forward for some time to the visit of Mr. Borden, and there is no doubt that there will be large attendances at both meetings.

TRAIN JUMPS THE TRACK; MANY KILLED AND INJURED

An Exhibition Special Comes To Grief At Caledon Near Toronto—Goes Around The "Horseshoe Curve"
At High Speed—Tumbles Down Embankment

Caledon, Sept. 4.—Running at sixty miles an hour, down the famous horseshoe curve grade, a C. P. R. exhibition special, with 400 excursionists aboard, jumped the track here yesterday.

It killed outright, one died at the Western Hospital, Toronto; a dozen are seriously injured, and scores were cut and bruised and badly shaken up.

That 100 people were not crushed to death is marvelous.

The train, composed of six passenger coaches and one combination smoker, with Engine 855, was made up at Orangeville on the arrival of a four-coach special from Markdale, carrying hundreds from the north to the Toronto fair.

Engineer George Hodge was at the throttle, with Fireman Herb Martin on the opposite seat. Conductor Matthew Grimes was in charge of the train.

The train left Orangeville some twenty minutes late, and a lengthy stop was made to take on passengers at Caledon.

Commencing a couple of miles just out of Caledon the "horseshoe curve," the only one of its kind in America, extends for nearly a mile.

It has long been regarded by railway men as one of the spots where care is specially required. The curve is, roughly, in the shape of a horseshoe, the distance from one cork to the other being 600 feet, but, so sweeping is the devious road, that trains must travel about 1,400 yards in making this descent of the Caledon slope.

There is only a slight grade, on leaving Orangeville, but as the locomotive enters upon the turn, the speed rapidly increases, and it has been customary for trains to sway sharply, one side being considerably uplifted, or, at least, it so appears to the passengers. There are few sections of railway line in the province where the passenger, who is inclined to timidity, has more reason to feel uncomfortable, but the long immunity from accident at the point has made it appear that the danger was more apparent than real, and that a train traveling at ordinary speed could be trusted to make the curve without risk of jumping the rails.

There is, all told, a grade of 100 feet to the bottom of the mountain.

Speed increased.

As the train approached the curve, people on board noticed that the momentum was gaining in perfect leaps. A sudden pitch forward was felt as the first turn was being made, and on approaching where the curve grows sharper the engine left the rails, plunged into the ditch, turned turtle, threw the cab with its occupants a distance of 20 feet and stopped dead still, with its cupola blown-up on the grass and its mechanism a twisted mass.

Accident At The Lighthouse

Gas Buoy Explodes Injuring Henry and Arthur
Cartier

They were Charging it with Carbide When The Fluid Ignited

A serious accident happened at 2.30 yesterday afternoon at the Lighthouse at the mouth of the river, whereby Henry and Arthur Cartier, lighthouse-keepers, are suffering from severe burns about the face and hands.

About a week ago the gas buoy at the mouth of the river went out, and yesterday some new carbide was sent from the city for the purpose of re-charging the buoy. Henry and Arthur Cartier went out in the tug "Vic" to pour in the carbide, and while they were charging the buoy the accident happened. Contrary to their expectations and knowledge, the inside of the buoy was damp. Seven or eight cans of the carbide were poured in when several hundred pounds of the fluid exploded—ignited by the dampness inside the buoy.

Both men were standing on the buoy when the explosion occurred, and both were thrown a considerable distance. Arthur was pitched into the water through the force of the explosion, and Henry was thrown clear off the buoy and landed on the deck of the tug. Henry's arms and face were badly burned, while Arthur sustained severe burns on his face.

Dr. McCall, of Tilbury, was called and the wounds of the two men were dressed, and although they are suffering a great deal of pain, their injuries are not considered as serious as they might have been.

Exposure Of Eatables

Dr. Charteris Brings Up An Important Health
Regulation

Grocers and Fruit Vendors
Should Keep Wares off
The Street

Dr. Charteris came up to the Health Board meeting, yesterday afternoon with an old-time complaint, and one which has on several previous occasions been threshed out at Health Board meetings. The doctor thought that it was time that action be taken by the authorities to make it compulsory that all grocers and fruit vendors should keep their wares off the streets, where they are exposed to contamination.

Dr. Hall—I made a report recommending the passing of such a by-law a year ago. The worst feature of the exposure of fruit, vegetables and fish in front of stores is that germ-laden dust is being constantly blown upon them.

Dr. Charteris—After seeing what happened to a water-melon in front of one of the King Street fruit stores, to-day, I don't think I could ever eat any more water-melons.

The Mayor—I saw a lady buy a fish the other day which I don't think I would care to eat after seeing what happened to it a few moments previously.

Mr. Wanless—The sanitary inspector might also keep a closer watch on meat coming into the city to see that it is properly wrapped in clean clothes. I saw some meat on the market recently which was wrapped up in a lot of dirty old rags.

Dr. Hall stated that the spit by-law needed revising, as at present the regulations only prohibit the spitting of tobacco on the sidewalks. Before the close of the meeting the secretary was instructed to write to the Toronto Health Department and find out what regulations they have enforced with regard to the exposure of fruit, vegetables, etc., in front of stores.

The following accounts were ordered paid:—M. Martin, $2.50; Fleming, Tison and Co., $3; J. C. Wanless, $3.11.

Those present at the meeting were—Chairman W. B. Baxter, Mayor Stone, Dr. R. V. Bray, Dr. Charteris, Dr. Hall, and Clerk Merritt.

GREAT CONSERVATIVE MEETINGS

While Sir Wilfrid has been struggling to make his Cabinet presentable Mr. Borden and his friends have held remarkably successful and enthusiastic meetings in Eastern Canada. The Halifax gathering was described even by Liberal journals as one of the largest and finest ever held at the Nova Scotia capital. At Glouce Bay the opposition leader and others addressed the largest political gatherings ever seen in Cape Breton. At Middleton, the hall where the meeting was called could only hold a fraction of the audience, and the meeting was adjourned to the open air. St. John people crowded the largest hall in the city and many failed to obtain admission. The same thing happened in Newcastle, N. B., though the town is justly proud of its public hall. The meeting in Quebec City was attended by thousands. Mr. Bergeron, M. P., was with Mr. Borden in his lower province meetings. Mr. Foster, who spoke at Middleton with Mr. Borden, has addressed other gatherings in Nova Scotia, and is to speak in New Brunswick. Everywhere the Conservative platform and the Conservative speakers have had receptions, which plainly show that the tide is turning in their favor.

It is expected that the big rally which will be held in the Maple City next Saturday will be one of the largest and most enthusiastic of the whole tour. Everyone is looking forward with pleasure to the visit of the distinguished leader, and those who expect the most will not be disappointed.

MARRYING A GIRL WITH "MONEY"

When Mr. Blank was thinking of marrying a girl with "money" a friend advised him against it, according to the New York Times. My boy, he said, before I was married my wife inherited $500 from her grandfather. The whole town knew it. When I built a store they smiled. His wife's money, they said. When I built a house the same smile went around. His wife's money. After awhile I took stock in the new gas and electric company. Ah! said the treasurer, I see you are investing some of your wife's money. All my life that poor little $500 has received the credit for everything I have been able to achieve. As a matter of fact, my wife spent the money the day she got it for a diamond ring and a piano. She lost the ring a week later, and I guess some of the neighbors wished heartily that she would lose the piano.

THE NEW REMEDY

Take It Now That Vacation Days Are Fast Approaching.

Thousands of men and women are anxiously looking forward to the vacation days that come much for the pleasure or enjoyment as for the chance of getting rid of their ill health.

To thoroughly drive away troubles of the stomach most people think they have to make a business of it with dieting, exercise, and perhaps a vacation.

But Mi-o-na stomach tablets taken with regularity, in a very few days will drive away indigestion, dizziness, distress after eating, headaches, sleeplessness, and the many other symptoms of bad digestion and that keep people from enjoying themselves.

Day after day, at work behind desks or in the factory with poor sunlight and air, soon results in sluggishness of the entire physical and mental apparatus. The first slight symptoms of indigestion can be easily cured, but when they are allowed to increase without any help, then the stomach complaints become hard to shake off.

Strengthen the whole digestive system with Mi-o-na and you will soon find that both stomach and bowels do their work as they should.

C. H. Gunn & Co. sell Mi-o-na in 50 cent boxes and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy does not give complete satisfaction.

Pride fosters our foes and puts our friends to flight.

A newly called fireman of only average pluck was serving at his first fire, and the chief rushed up to him and shouted: "Shin up that ladder to the eighth story, crawl along the cornice to the fourth window, drop down three stories and catch that wooden sign you see smoking there, swing yourself along to the second window, break the glass and go in and rescue those three old ladies. Well, what the deuce are you waiting for?" "For pen and ink, sir," said the new man. "I want to hand in my resignation."

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, as my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Do not make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys—as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak or pitiful nerves. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all Dealers.

French physicians have tested the power of charcoal and proved that it is the most active of all known antidotes. The charcoal must be taken as soon as the poison taken begins to show its effect, and the dose must be large. Charcoal is in no way injurious, and as much as a soup-spoonful may be taken in divided doses mixed in water.

CLARIFIED AND BOTTLED MILK

To clarify and bottle milk is the only sanitary and up-to-date way to handle such an important product of the dairy as milk, for while it is one of the best and most necessary foods we have if properly cared for, it is certainly one of the most dangerous if neglected or carelessly handled, and should never be exposed to street dust, as is done in the ordinary way of peddling milk from large cans with open measures. The Steam Turbine Machine used to clarify all the milk sold from the will certainly take all the impurities out of the milk, thereby removing the danger of many cases of sickness, especially among children, that can be traced directly to the milk supply. Don't take such chances this hot dry weather when you can get

IN FASHION'S REALM.

The Newest Thing in Negligee Effects.

LINGERIE SKIRT AND SACK.

Few of the Short Matinee Show Any Waist Line—The New Shoulder Style Seen In These Up to Date Robes—A Pretty Maternity Sack.

Quite the newest thing in negligee effects is the lingerie skirt and short sack combination, and nothing daintier has been offered for a very long time than may be indulged in by those of moderate means as well as those of the very wealthy class.

In design the petticoat follows the conventional, and the jacket is quite short, falling only a little below the waist, something like a pony coat, being quite loose and not defining the figure in the least. The sleeves vary. There are the minked, the wing and the bell all to choose from. Sailor collars, the large star shaped and the short square Dutch neck are all represented.

Sacks come separately as well as in sets, are in dotted swiss, batiste, linen, etc.

IN IVORY CHINA SILK.

gerie and printed lawn, in prices from $1.75 upward. At this price a very pretty sack of white dotted swiss may be bought, and for an advance of 50 cents there is a printed lawn in delicate pink and white, with sleeves in double bell effect, the wide collar falling over the tops of the sleeves and suggesting a third bell.

Few short matinees show any waist line, but just fall straight. This may be said, indeed, of all wash goods models. A few in china silk are tucked or gathered a little, defining rather than emphasizing the waist line.

A pretty little maternity sack seen in a shop is of pale pink accordion plaid china silk, supported by a square yoke of lace. The sleeves are full, edged with lace and accordion plaid; $5.75 will purchase this dainty garment.

A new cut which is the expression of the long shoulder is a loose looking affair which seems to have been a very large circle folded in half, the fold to come on the shoulders. Then a portion is taken out which creates sleeves and brings underarm seams. It is quite the simplest pattern imaginable and could be made from any of the pretty remnants found thus early on the bargain counters.

Long negligees are exceedingly lovely. Indeed, some of the more expensive of these fluff garments are so exquisite, both in design and coloring, that it is almost difficult to believe that they are not ball gowns masquerading under another name, and, as a matter of fact, quite a number of these are being sold for home dinner gowns, for which function they are certainly worthy.

To Perfume Underlinen.

Put a lump of orris root into the boiler on washing day. The clothes will be deliciously fragrant, even after ironing.

BABY WASTED TO MEER SKELETON

In Torments a Year and a Half with Terrible Sores on Face and Body—Hands Tied to Stop Scratching and Tearing at Flesh—But

CURE BY CUTICURA COMPLETE AND SPEEDY

"My little son, when about a year and a half old began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come all over his body, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest; worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the age of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloth at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So great was her faith in it that she gave me a small piece of Cuticura Soap to try and a little Cuticura Ointment. I took it home without any faith, but to please her I tried it, and it seemed to dry up the sores a little. I used Cuticura Soap and got a case of Cuticura Soap and followed the directions, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any more of any kind since. He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for your most wonderful remedies my precious child would have died from those terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. Mrs. Robert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1905."

ITCHING PIMPLES Cured by Cuticura in Nebraska.

"I had suffered with itching pimples for years. At last a friend told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did so and in three weeks my face was entirely cured. I am so pleased with Cuticura Remedies that I will recommend them to other sufferers. Mrs. Florence Delavergne, R. F. D. No. 2, Auburn, Neb., Aug. 28, 1906."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humour of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent for the Blood. The Blood is the source of all skin diseases, and it is the duty of the parent to keep the blood pure. Cuticura Resolvent is a powerful blood purifier, and it is the duty of the parent to keep the blood pure. His Idea of Water.

At one time the balliff in charge of an English jury was sworn to keep them "without meat, drink or fire." It was Justice Maule who gave the classic reply to the balliff, who inquired whether he might grant a jurymen's request for a glass of water: "Well, it is not meat, and I should not call it drink. Yes, you may."

Japs Coming to Canada.

The Japanese Government has notified immigration companies in Japan that all restrictions have been taken off immigration to Canada, owing to the unequalled agreement of Canada to the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty. Formerly only a limited number of coolies could be sent annually from Japan to Canada. Now as many will be sent as can pay the price. A great influx of Japs has already begun into British Columbia.

AN OCEAN BED TRAGEDY

DIVER'S FIGHT FOR LIFE BENEATH THE DEEP SEA.

Heroism Twenty-Five Fathoms Deep—Struggles for Hours to Save His "Pal"—First Man Down Had Life Lines Entangled—Was Saving Sunken Torpedo Boat—Dangers of Submarine Work.

It is difficult to conceive a more dramatic story than that of the rescue of a diver off Torbay, after he had been imprisoned beneath 150 feet of water for five hours and a half.

Walter Trappell, a Government diver, descended in the English Channel outside Torbay from the deck of the gunboat Spanker in connection with the salvage operations of a sunken torpedo boat. He got entangled, and another diver, named Leverett, went to his rescue. In terse, simple language Leverett told of the events that followed on the ocean bed.

"I descended immediately, and upon getting down found that Trappell was fixed in such a position that he was absolutely helpless. The wreck lies almost upright. Trappell was standing upon the sea bed, and his air pipe from the davits and other places where they were fouled. It took me three hours to get them clear, and I thought I should never be able to finish the job, as I was getting exhausted. Once, I gave it up, and let him, but I pulled myself together again and went back to him.

Nearly Done For.

"I was getting nearly done myself; blood poured from my nostrils and I was much exhausted, but I made an effort and stuck to the job until I got Trappell free. This was accomplished only just in time, for about three minutes before he was raised to the surface Trappell became unconscious. Leverett was greatly distressed to hear of the fate of Trappell, whose condition at first raised hopes of his recovery. Trappell, however, died suddenly in a hospital on the following Saturday night soon after his wife and daughter had left his side.

Leverett, the hero of this ocean bed tragedy, is a splendidly built, athletic young fellow who is known as a keen footballer. When arranging for the salvage of the torpedo boat the Admiralty asked for volunteers divers, as twenty-five fathoms, the depth in which the wreck lies, is much above that to which service divers are obliged to descend. Trappell and Leverett, the two senior shipwright divers in Portsmouth dockyard, volunteered for the dangerous task.

CITY OF PILGRIMAGES.

Canterbury the Scene of Many Stirring Historical Events.

Canterbury has once again been the scene of remarkable demonstrations, the pilgrimage of the Roman Catholic Guild of Our Lady of Ransom being attended by some 600 pilgrims, who, through the streets and devotional services in the cathedral.

The Saxon Cantuar, or City of the Men of Kent, is one of the most interesting and most ancient of English cities. Some chroniclers would, in fact, make Canterbury more ancient than Rome itself. Among the most picturesque of the fragments of ancient times are large portions of the walls which originally encircled it. No other English city can show anything like the same number of ancient unaltered churches. They are met whichever way one turns.

And the cathedral itself, embodies all that is picturesque. Huge are its dimensions—of many different ages and styles its architecture, yet it is perfect in its harmony and generally pleasing effect.

The crypt is the largest and loveliest in England. Here the remains of St. Thomas of Canterbury (Becket) lay from 1170 to 1220, and it was here that Henry II., fasting and disrobed, with naked feet, bared back, and streaming eyes, performed the memorable penance on July 1, 1174. With his head partly thrust into one of the openings through which the actual coffin was visible, he knelt and received five strokes from every bishop and abbot present, and three strokes from each of the eighty monks.

Her First Birth.

Black Sarah was busily employed about our northern kitchen, remarked a prominent housekeeper, when I had occasion to go out there and by way of being pleasant said:

"You are from the south, are you not, Sarah?"

"Law, yes, miss!" was the answer.

"Born in the south?" I continued.

"Originally bawn in Richmond, miss," was the astonishing reply.

Her First Fear.

A little girl remarked to her mother, "I am not afraid in the dark."

"Of course not," said the mother.

"I was afraid once, though, when I went into the pantry to get a tart," she added.

"What were you afraid of?"

"I was afraid I would not find the tarts," was the reply.

DOCTORS IN TURN FAILED BUT ZAM-BUK CURED.

Magistrate F. Rasmussen, writing from his residence, 211 Marquette St., Montreal, says: "I take genuine pleasure in informing you of the great good I have derived from Zam-Buk. For many years I was troubled with a serious eruption of the skin, which was both unsightly and painful. Not one, but several doctors in turn were consulted, but I was unable to get any permanent relief. Some time back I noticed a report from a Justice of the Peace who had been cured of a chronic skin disease by Zam-Buk, and I determined to give this balm a trial. After a thoroughly fair test, I can say I am delighted with it. While everything else I tried—salves, embrocations, washes, soaps and doctor's prescriptions failed absolutely to relieve my pain, three boxes of Zam-Buk have worked a complete cure. In my opinion this balm should be even more widely known than it is, and in the hope that my experience will lead other sufferers to try this herbal healer, I have no objection to your publishing this letter. Yours truly, (Signed) F. RASMUSSEN, Justice of the Peace, Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price."

Summer eczema, rashes, sunburn patches, children's heat sores or babies' chafing sores, cuts, burns, bruises, insect bites and stings and all skin injuries and diseases yield to Zam-Buk. Most housewives judge the purity of a flour by its whiteness. White somehow signifies purity. But while pure flours are always white, white flours are not always pure.

Royal Household Flour is the whitest flour that is milled. It is also the purest. You may think the flour you are using is about as white as flour can be. Yet if you place it beside Royal Household Flour it will look yellow by comparison. Ask your grocer for Royal Household, and make sure that he understands that you mean it.

SELECT YOUR MEDICINE WITH CARE.

In debility and weakness medicine should be mild and far reaching. Many pills and purgatives are too harsh, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this, Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Mandrake and Butternut so as to mildly increase liver and kidney activity, flush out the elementary canal, tone and regulate the bowels. Thus Dr. Hamilton's Pills eliminate poisons from the body, restore clearness to the skin, bring strength and that sweet restorer of health—sleep. Best medicine on earth, 25c. per box at all dealers.

A gentleman buying a bottle of Veteran's Sure Cure, said: "This is a small bottle for 50c." I replied, make a calculation. A 12 oz. bottle of other medicine costs $1; the dose is 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day, equal to 1-1/2 oz.; the 12 oz. lasts 8 days. That 50c. V. S. C. bottle contains about 150 days' medicine; 18-24 times as much as the large bottle—a saving of $18.00. In the one you pay for water and glass. V. S. C. is concentrated medicine without water. It is the medicine for all classes; 50c. and $1 bottles. At drugists', mailed anywhere by The V. S. C. Med. Co., Chatham, Ont.

Mox's Vacation

By HELEN HEDGES.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Satchell.

Vardon stopped across the street and turned to smile at the grim old pile. For fifteen whole days he would not enter those dull offices on the seventh floor. For two weeks and a day he was to be care-free—free to loaf, to invite his soul and to see Bess Curtin. The last was the best part of it, for Bess had gone to the country at the first sign of hot weather, and he had not seen her in weeks.

At the house there was a case of fishing rods, and already he could see the brook, with its green clad banks, and Bess, sitting on a fallen tree, watching his luck. He raised his hat ironically to the office building and turned down the street.

At the corner the newsboys made a dash for him, but Vardon waved them asked. "Where's Mox?" he demanded, scanning the crowd for the tiny vendor from whom he always bought his evening paper.

"WE HAD TO TAKE THE LEG OFF," HE EXPLAINED THE PHYSICIAN.

"Mox ain't here no more," explained Muggsy. "He was crossin' th' street this afternoon, and th' fire engine beat him to it."

"Is he badly hurt?" Vardon's face clouded. The lame newsboy was a sort of protégé of his.

"Wouldn't it hurt you 't get run down by an engine?" demanded Muggsy. "Naw, it didn't hurt him. He liked it."

Vardon bought a paper and turned away, when there came a tug at his coat, and he looked down to see the midgit, thin faced and wistful.

"Mox said would 'y come 't see 'im? He wants 't say goodby before you went 't th' country. He's in th' 'mergency'."

Vardon bestowed a dime upon the messenger and hurried on. There would be time to stop at the Emergency hospital on the way uptown. For more than a year "Limpy Mox" had been on that corner, rain or shine, to hand out the evening paper and a greeting. A queer friendship had grown up between the two. It would only take a few minutes. Vardon knew one of the internes at the hospital and could get in even though it were past the visiting hour.

In a little while he was standing in one of the wards with grave faced Dr. Tomlin, looking down into the still white face.

"We had to take the leg off," explained the physician. "The heavy wheel crushed the bone beyond mending. It was better so, for the leg never was much good. Now he can get an artificial leg and walk better than he used to—that is, if he pulls through the summer."

"I guess you can do that for him," laughed Vardon. "He's better off here than at his home."

"Bless my soul, we can't keep him," cried the doctor. "My dear fellow, if we kept our patients here until they were fully cured we should have to refuse aid to more needy cases. The boy must be removed to his home as soon as he can stand it."

Vardon thought of the tenement house district. Mox had always been sickly. A long summer of inaction in the stuffy hole he called home would surely end in death. A few brief questions showed how absurd it would be to expect the organized charities to take proper care of a convalescent.

Mox, just coming out of the ether, clutched the strong hand with his bony fingers and smiled hopefully. "I guess you'll have a good time," he smiled. "Goodby, Mr. Vardon."

Vardon patted the clawlike fingers and turned away. A scheme was working in his brain, and he walked home that he might think the better.

It seemed like murder to turn the lad out of the hospital as soon as the condition of the wound made it practicable, yet he could not blame the hospital authorities. They were crowded for room, and the sunstroke cases were taxing their capacity. Vardon wanted very much to see Zess. Somehow it seemed as though he might open his heart to her with a better chance of success in vacation time, and all the year he had been planning the trip. He had nearly $200 saved up, for the Curtains were wealthy and spent the summer at an expensive resort. Yet it did not seem right to spend all the money when it might be the price of Moxie Solomon's life.

With a sudden determination he turned into a side street, and presently he was in the charity organization office. The superintendent was interested, but helpless. Like the hospital, the demands were greater than their resources. He might send Mox away for two weeks with one of the fresh air parties. More than that he could not do—unless Vardon cared to raise a subscription. When Vardon turned away it was with a receipt for more than $100. Mox's vacation money in his pocket. Mox's stay in the country until his leg was well was assured.

It was hard to have to write Bess that he was not coming. It was harder still to explain without seeming to ask her appreciation of his action. In the end he said nothing of the reasons, simply writing that unexpected developments made it impossible for him to come.

Mox's delight at the news of his vacation brought a feeling of warmth to Vardon's heart, but it did not relieve the ache when Bess' cold reply came. She had not understood and was angry that he should have changed his plans at the last moment.

Vardon spent his two weeks at a cheap resort near town and came back to take up the office grind again. Bess had not replied to his last letter, and though Mox's beaming face as he departed on the train for the country home repaid part of the sacrifice the dull ache remained.

The next few weeks dragged miserably. Then one morning there was a letter at his plate at the breakfast table that for a moment seemed to stop the action of his heart.

Bess was coming to town on Friday, and she suggested that they might lunch together and he could take her to a root garden in the evening.

"I have a lot to tell you," she wrote. "I met one of your friends up here, and I want to tell you what he said. I shall save it for lunch."

Somehow the days dragged by, but Friday came at last. Sitting across the table from her Vardon could not realize his good fortune.

"I thought you were angry," he said as he leaned forward.

"I was," she admitted frankly. "I was counting so much on your visit. I had made no other plans for those two weeks, and when your letter came, and you did not even offer an explanation of your rudeness I could not understand it. It seemed as though you wanted to hurt my feelings."

"Could you think that?" he cried reproachfully.

"I am afraid," she confessed shyly, "that in my disappointment I was not fair. Then your friend came, and it was all explained."

"Who was that?" he asked curiously. He did not remember having told any one of his real reason.

"A gentleman of the name of Solomon," she smiled. "Moxie Solomon, I believe it is."

"What is Mox doing in your part of the country?" he demanded. "I understood that he was at Melrose."

"That is just below us. We drove over there one day to see the kiddies, and Mox told his story."

Vardon moved awkwardly in his chair. He did not want to be praised, even by Bess.

"I suppose Mox put a lot of trimming to it?" he said after a pause.

"He was very truthful," she said, smiling softly. "He said that you were the best man he knew."

"And you think so too?" His voice trembled with eagerness. Bess nodded.

"Good enough—for a husband, your husband?"

"I think so, Dick," she whispered. "That's what I came to town to tell you—to make up for your lost vacation."

"Lost vacation?" he echoed. "Why, Mox's vacation was the most selfish thing I ever did since it won me you."

Betrayed by Clumsiness.

"We have to constantly keep on the lookout for people who, in order to get trade prices, pretend to be in the business," said the head of one of our wholesale wall paper houses. "They are not always easy to detect, either, for some are pretty well posted on the subject and are hard to trip up. But I caught one the other day. He claimed to be a paper hanger from the west, and he wanted something 'hang up' in style at trade prices. He talked so knowingly about wall papers that I had about made up my mind to give him the discount, when a little thing happened that 'put me wise.' He attempted to roll up again some paper he had spread out on the floor to examine. The way he did it was a revelation. He took hold of it and matted it about as if he were kneading bread. I never saw anything less like the professional way of doing it. I gave him the discount all right, but up instead of down."—Exchange.

Finnish Honesty.

Russians all over Russia are glad to employ Finnish servants, because "they never steal, and nothing has to be locked up." I remember how once, when I went to the captain of a steamer which was carrying me to Stockholm to find out when I could telegraph to Helsinki for a valuable good buckle I had left in the hotel, he replied: "There is no occasion to telegraph. Write to the hotel manager when you get to Stockholm, and he will send the buckle on to you. No one ever steals in Finland." I wrote as he directed, and the buckle followed me to England, where I received it soon after my arrival.—Mrs. Meakin's Russia.

Looseness of The Bowels.

It is very seldom during the summer months that most people are not troubled with "looseness of the bowels."

Sometimes it only goes that far, but generally it develops into Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Summer Complaint and has a tendency to weaken the whole system.

When the bowels get loosened up in this way and you wish to check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation, there is only one remedy to use, and that one is Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

This remedy is not an experiment as it has been used in thousands of families during the past sixty-two years.

When you ask for Dr. FOWLER'S Extract you get it, as many unprincipled druggists will try to palm off a cheap substitute on you.

Miss M. Hopkins, Roseview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and found it is all it is recommended to be for Diarrhoea and Summer Complaint. We would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

Drowning at Windsor.

Windsor, Sept. 3.—Albert Jubenville, aged 24, son of J. P. Jubenville, inland revenue officer, was drowned in the Detroit River here yesterday.

The young man was engaged in helping a crew raise the G. T. R. car ferry Huron when he slipped off a raft. The body has not been recovered.

Prince Leaves for Falls.

New York, Sept. 3.—Prince William's visit to New York came to a close Sunday with a sight-seeing dash over the city that carried him from Harlem to Staten Island and back again.

The royal guest left last night for Niagara Falls.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indecent questions, the obnoxious examinations, and the unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispels with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription."

The doctor's medical adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expenses of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps for paper covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

Steel Made From Sand.

As a result of experiments being carried out by the U. S. Government at the old Lewis and Clark fair grounds in Portland, Ore., bessemer steel has been reduced from the ordinary black sands found at the mouth of the Columbia river. Whether this reduction can be carried on profitably has not yet been determined.

Indoor Paupers in England.

Official statistics of pauperism for the second quarter of the present year, issued recently, show that although the general decrease which has been shown since December, 1905, has been maintained—thanks to the smaller number of persons receiving outdoor relief—the number of indoor paupers was higher last quarter than in 1905.

Lake of Quicksilver.

A lake of quicksilver, covering an area of more than three acres and having a depth ranging from ten to fifty feet, has been discovered in the mountains of the state of Vera Cruz. The value of the product is estimated at millions. This lake has been known to the Indians for many generations. It is situated far up in the mountains in an almost inaccessible position. Its surface is partly covered by stones. It is believed that volcanic action in the mountains above smelted the quicksilver out of the slumber ore and that it ran down and filled this depression. A tunnel will be driven through the base of the mountain, and the quicksilver will be brought down by means of gravity.

A PIONEER OF ONTARIO

NOT IN CHOPPING VIRGIN FOREST, BUT CHOPPING WORDS.

Some of the Work Done by Dr. A. Hamilton in the Direction of Spelling Reform—Chat With Him on His Hobby Is Not Only Pleasant But Profitable—Mine of Information on the Progress Already Made.

A veritable mine of information on spelling reform and the progress that has been made in this direction from earliest times, is Dr. A. Hamilton of 25 Bellevue avenue, Toronto, says The Sunday World. With the exception of Mr. W. H. Orr, the doctor may be said to have been the pioneer in this movement in Ontario. To chat with him on the subject is to spend a most profitable as well as pleasant half-hour, for the doctor is always willing to discuss the progress made in this movement, in promoting which he has spent the greater portion of a lifetime, and it is impossible not to glean considerable interesting information from such an interview.

As far back as 1859 Dr. Hamilton became publicly identified with the spelling movement in Ontario; at which time he contributed a series of articles on the subject to The Toronto World. This was followed by the establishment at Port Hope in 1855 of a quarterly journal "devoted to pronunciation and amended spelling," entitled The Herald. Soon afterwards the doctor moved to Toronto and has continued the publication of The Herald to the present time.

His object cannot be better set forth than appeared in a recent sketch in The British Colonial Printer and Stationer, which says: "He tries to precipitate results on two planes, first that of moderately amending current spelling, under the title of Amended Spelling; second, to evolve a New (or more ideal) Spelling, toward which, as an end, advocates of improvement

He remained thus for three-quarters of an hour, when he was aroused from his stupor by flames, immense volumes rushing down the staircase. The ruffians had set fire to the house. The surgeon, with difficulty, arose and crawled through a skylight into the adjoining house, where he was found. The house was completely destroyed, and no clue was ever found to the perpetrators.

At first it was thought Mr. Wakley could not recover, but his strong constitution saved him. He was, however, not at the end of his misfortunes, for the insurance office refused to pay the insurance money, and he was forced to bring an action to clear his character, for the insinuation was that he had himself set fire to the house.

He won the day, and the truth of the story of the murderous assault was proved; but the mystery as to the cause of the outrage was as great as ever. All that could be found out was that the young surgeon was supposed to be the man in the mask who had executed the Thistlewood gang. There was, of course, not the slightest foundation for such a statement, and a letter from the sheriff of London put an end to the slander.

It would not have been safe at the time to say who the man really was; as it would have cost him his life; but the secret may now be divulged. The masked hound was a man named Tom Parker, the head dissecting room porter at a school of anatomy known as Grainger's.

A Soldier's Memorial.

The grim humor of soldiers is not often displayed on tombstones, but here is an inscription on the cemetery at Winchester, revealed on a walking tour in these parts:

"In memory of Thomas Thatcher, a grenadier of the North Regiment of Hants Militia, who died of a violent fever contracted by drinking small beer when hot, the 14th of May, 1764, aged twenty-six years."

"In grateful remembrance of whose universal good will toward his comrades this stone is placed here at their expense as a small testimony of their regard and concern."

"Here sleeps in peace a Hampshire grenadier."

Who caught his death by drinking cold small beer.

Soldiers, be wise from his untimely fall.

And when ye're hot drink Strong or none at all.

"This memorial being decayed, was restored by the officers of the garrison, A. D., 1851."

"An honest soldier never is forgot. Whether he died by musket or by pot. This stone was placed by the North Hants Militia when disembodied at Winchester on April 18, 1852, in consequence of the original stone being destroyed.—London Tribune."

No Need to Cry.

"Don't cry, Buster," said Jack after the catastrophe. "Napoleon didn't cry every time his brother hit him accidentally on the eye."

"I know that," retorted Buster. "Napoleon did all the hittin' on the eye himself!"

Brown Hats Reign Supreme—Brick Red Also Very Modish.

The brown hats for the moment are quite supreme. Only for a moment, though, can they count on their success, for the new shades of blue are so effective that it will not be long before every woman thinks it essential to her happiness to wear a blue hat with jacket of the same color. The gown itself must also be blue, but of a lighter shade. If so desired, it may be made over a lighter blue lining. In innumerable and various ways fashion is dealing with brick red. It is seen as tiny taffeta lapels on the gowns of serious looking cloth jackets, as elaborate petticoats peeping from under black skirts, as tulle under the brims of hats and wherever embroidery, braiding and color are necessary.

Colored silk skirts with hats to match are again to be in fashion this year. Certainly the style is an effective one and at the same time is practical, for with a smart little coat and hat a gown that in itself lacks some quality that renders it ineffective can be transformed into a most charming costume. Last summer the fashion was attempted, but was so badly carried out that it met with no success. Now it is being revived again, but with quite manly changes, and bids fair to be most popular.

The picture illustrates a dress of linen lawn for a little girl. It may be made of any washable fabric and will be found to be a most desirable style.

Some Fashionable Shades in Fabrics and Trimmings—Graduation Frocks. Cedar brown is in several shades from the color of the bit of wood in a pencil to the richer shade of the cigar box. Leather color, according to Vogue, is taking to itself the yellow tinge instead of the reddish shade that it might.

The ombre stripe, plaids, dots or figures this season, however, mean that the stripe or plaid is formed of lines that graduate in size instead of the color deepening or paling, the lines also placed closer together or further apart to get the effect of shading by this contriving. In the dots or figures the rim or outline varies in width in some, and in others the sizes increase, but no difference is being shown in color.

Cotton voiles make charmingly fresh-looking gowns both in all white and in the striped patterns of delicate colors. Blue and white, pink and white and green and white are so decorative that they almost trim themselves. White frocks with touches of delicate coloring in their finish are most used, but any becoming color is suitable for graduation gowns.

The essential point is to choose a model that is suitable and to see that the details of the toilet are carefully matched up. Shoes, jewelry, gaiters, gloves, etc., in perfect accord and of like quality make an unpretentious gown smart, while the smartest frock is spoiled by ill-matched accessories. The square Dutch neck is popular for girls with well rounded throats, and the others wear it nicely by filling the opening with lace or mull.

Embroidered and spotted muslins are again very much to the fore, and these make up prettily with very little trimming. The cut shows a very tasteful gown of fustian having a ground of nautique blue with rings of white. It is trimmed with black velvet ribbon and cream lace. JUDITH CHOLLET.

Their Feelings Spared. Two travelers were journeying along a dusty road on a hot day toward Squashville, where they expected to satisfy their thirst and their hunger and to put up for the night. A native approached, driving a weary team.

"How far is it to Squashville?" he asked.

"About two miles," he replied, squinting back over the road as though measuring the distance.

Encouraged by the progress they had made, they jogged along hopefully until it seemed as though they must have gone six or eight miles when they met another stranger.

"How far is it to Squashville?"

"About two miles," he replied carefully.

"Sure?"

"Course I am. I live there."

Another long and weary walk, seemingly of several miles, followed, when they met a third man.

"How far is it to Squashville?"

"Two miles," replied the stranger.

"Well, thank goodness," said one, "we are not losing anything."

A Literary Curiosity.

Some years ago a Paris newspaper ordered a story of adventure from a well known novelist. The price agreed upon was 1 franc a line. The novelist straightway hunted up an old man of letters—the unknown collaborator of many more famous authors—who agreed to write the story for 25 centimes a line. When the work had reached its second part in the course of publication the novelist learned that his old client was seriously ill. Hastening to his bedside, he found him dying. In agony for the fate of his story, the novelist rushed to the office of the newspaper, got hold of some back numbers in order to pick up the threads of the romance and brought it to a speedy end in a few brief chapters. Then he went to the office with the manuscript.

"What's that?" asked the editor.

"Why, the continuation and end of my story."

"Oh, then, you want to change it. I suppose, because, you know, you sent in the last chapters three days ago."

Admirable self possession on the part of the novelist prevented disaster, and he finally found this explanation: The old man, whose price was 25 centimes a line, had himself subtlet his task to a third writer at 10 centimes, and thus the work had been finished in safety.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses. "The eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very centre of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition.

Guard of the Cows.

Out in India one actually finds English soldiers standing sentry over cows. The cow is a sacred animal in the eyes of the Brahmins and this, of course, leads the Mohammedan portion of the population to take a savage delight in putting to the sword all the cows upon which they can lay hands at certain times of the year. The result is that religious conflicts, of the most sanguinary character frequently take place between the members of the rival creeds. It is with the object of preventing riots arising from cow-killing by the Mohammedans that English sentries are now appointed in certain places, especially in Bombay, to stand guard over that public benefactor whom "Tommy Atkins," deeply disgusted, has christened "Saint Cow."

HARVEST CUSTOMS.

Curious One Still Extant in Gloucestershire, and Some Others Obtain in Yorkshire.

In these days the use of agricultural machinery has driven almost all manual labor from the harvest field, and with it have disappeared most of those quaint customs which endeared the season to the farmer as well as to his men.

One old-fashioned Gloucestershire farmer, however, still keeps up as many of the old customs as he can. All his wheat, barley and oats are cut by hand, just as in the days of half a century ago. The first sheaf in each of his wheat fields he has always cut himself, and the binding, or tying together, of it has always been done by his wife.

It was a quaint idea of his own. When the reapers, to the number of three or four, are ready to begin, he appears in the field, armed with a bright sickle sacred to the occasion, with which he solemnly proceeds to cut the first sheaf of wheat. Then his spouse, who accompanies him, takes up a handful of the newly-cut wheat, and with it ties the sheaf together.

Refreshments are then passed round to the waiting reapers, and, bidding them God-speed in their work, the farmer and his better-half leave them to it. If they make a neat, even stubble they always receive an extra shilling or two for their pains.

Gloucestershire is really seen in the harvest field, but there is at least one farm in Herefordshire where the wives and children of the harvesters turn out after the corn has been gathered in to pick up the scattered ears that have fallen.

It is surprising how much wheat a family of three or four industrious children can pick up ear by ear. It must be back-aching work, and cannot be very profitable, but in this instance it is done more for keeping alive an old custom than for anything else. Every afternoon when there are any gleaners at work the farmer's wife sends out tea and cake for all, which is much appreciated by the workers. When they have finished for the season the farmer adds a bushel of wheat to each collection and pays for the grinding of the grain at the four mill.

A Yorkshire farmer, renowned for his genuine hospitality, insists on all his harvesters attending his harvest supper, though as a rule they do not require much pressing, and the tables groan under the load of good things provided, and the guests are invited to eat to their hearts' content.

Part of the meal is the fruit of their own industry, for the bread on the tables is always a special baking of loaves made from the flour of the recently-cut wheat. Of this loaf is given to each worker when he leaves for home. Driffield, in the east riding of Yorkshire, is one of the few places in the country where the ancient custom of ringing the harvest bell is still observed. The ringing is to notify the inhabitants of the district that the time has arrived for them to cut their corn.

As soon as the grain has ripened, one of the bells of the parish church rings out at 5 o'clock in the morning the welcome intimation that reaping time has come; the same bell, throughout the harvest, signalling the fall of evening by again tolling at 8 p.m. It is an interesting fact that for upwards of fifty years the harvest bell of Driffield was rung by one and the same parish clerk, a record which stands almost unique.

In the town of Richmond, in the same country, a very curious and ancient harvest custom is observed. There, for many years, it has been the practice for the mayor of the borough to present a bottle of wine to the person who first takes into the market a sample of newly-threshed wheat. Needless to say, the competition for the honor of first comer and the coveted bottle of wine has always been pretty keen, though the recipient has not always been the same.

A Lincolnshire landlord used to make a somewhat similar present, but in this case the present went to that one of his tenants who was the first to start cutting his wheat. The gift, too, was a great deal more valuable; for, instead of a single bottle, it consisted of a whole case of wine.

The "Autocrat" of Egypt.

Mustapha Kamel Pasha, the Egyptian Nationalist leader, in an interview with the Paris correspondent of the Fall Mail Gazette, declared that Lord Cromer is the worst friend Great Britain could have. "He had an admirable opportunity of winning our love, but he has acted as an oppressor, as a tyrant."

"The deplorable fact in the governance of Egypt is the hypocrisy which is over everything. An autocrat or a tyrant, recognized as such, stops imposes his will. Lord Cromer imposes his will just as surely, but through the forms of law. He is an autocrat as great as Abdul Hamid, the Czar, or the Kaiser."

"We are constantly being made to feel that we are an inferior race. In what way are we inferior? I am sure the Englishmen are as intelligent as the lower classes in England, and as capable of self-government. We ask for a constitution, for an Egyptian Parliament, such as was promised to us when the regime of Khedive Tewfik was suppressed. For 24 years we have waited for that Parliament."

Kamel Pasha denied that his following desired to come under Turkish, German, or any other tutelage. "We wish to remain Egyptians."

CANADA HAS ARRIVED.

How Dominion Has Grown and Prospered Since Confederation.

Canada recently celebrated the 40th anniversary of her present political organization. The provinces then known as Upper Canada and Lower Canada held their first united Parliament in Kingston on June 14, 1841. The demonstration under that system of Canada's ability to manage her own affairs led to the confederation, which became effective on July 1, 1867. The anniversary of this event is known as Dominion Day.

Forty years ago Canada's population was a little less than 3,500,000. To-day it is probably not far from 6,000,000. In this respect the country has grown but slowly. Few immigrants came in, and many Canadians crossed the border to share in the large growth and the greater prosperity of the United States. The census of 1901 shows only 5.2 per cent. of the entire population as of foreign birth. The census of 1911 will in all probability show a marked change in this respect. Many Canadians are returning to their own country and large numbers are going in to become Canadians of alien birth. Within the last five years the arrivals have increased more than threefold, and Canada is now getting more than 200,000 new citizens a year from other lands.

In 1868 Canada had only 2,269 miles of railway in all her vast domain. She now has about 22,000 miles, and in a few years will have 30,000. Her foreign trade 1868 was $181,000,000. The next thirty years increased that to $240,000,000. The succeeding decade lifted it to the figures of last year, $547,000,000, a very striking total for so small a population. In 1868 Canada's bank discounts were $56,000,000. They are now well above $500,000,000. In 1868 there were 8,638 post-offices. There are now more than 10,000. Her mail business has grown from the 18,000,000 letters posted in 1868 to nearly 300,000,000 at the present time. She has paid enormous sums in bounties to industries, and even larger sums to develop railway and canal systems.

The first three decades of her 40 years of experience as a Confederation were a time of plowing and planting. For the last ten years she has been garnering an ever-increasing crop. She was slow in finding herself, but it may be said to-day that Canada has arrived.—New York Sun.

FARMING IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Province Promises to Become Ideal Agricultural Country.

There has just been completed in the Province of Saskatchewan a series of Farmers' Institute meetings. The province was divided into two series, for each of which a delegation of two speakers was provided. The speakers were Mr. C. M. MacRae, B.S.A., Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Orillia, for the Live Stock branch, and Mr. T. N. Willing, inspector of weeds in Saskatchewan, and Mr. A. P. Ketchen, deputy commissioner of agriculture for the province.

Owing to the lateness of the meetings the earlier ones were poorly attended, as most of the farmers had not finished seeding, but during the latter half of the period the meetings were exceedingly well attended. Mr. Anderson, who was in charge of the report that although growth was very slow in commencing that it has made such rapid progress since the summer weather and the rains have come that vegetation is very little behind what it was at the same period last year.

These gentlemen report that the live stock, particularly in the eastern part of the province, have come through the winter in excellent condition. The farmers were supplied with an abundance of hay and cut straw, with which they were able to bring through their stock in really fine condition.

Mr. Anderson is enthusiastic with regard to the portion of the country which he visited north of the Saskatchewan. The land is rolling and much better adapted to mixed farming than wheat growing. He considers that there is a wide field for the milking Shorthorn. While beef cattle are needed they will be much more valuable to the farmers if they are able to produce a good quality of milk. Cream gathering creameries are springing up and these will be able to take care of a large quantity of milk from dual purpose cows. From the class of settlers in a large portion of the country and the physical features of the land, it would appear that in a very few years there would be a very extensive output of butter, cheese and bacon. With this combination associated with wheat growing, the rolling sections of Saskatchewan promise to become an ideal farmers country.

TRAIN JUMPS TRACK

one of the fortunate occupants in the third car from the engine, and describes his impressions as follows:

"I had been up north on an outing. The train was composed of about seven coaches, as near as I can remember. I boarded the middle one. It was fortunate that I chose the one I did, for in the crash about a mile from Caledon the two coaches ahead of mine, and the one back of mine, were almost torn to splinters.

"When the crash came I was badly startled, but involuntarily I braced myself and didn't leave my seat. Many of the other passengers in my coach were thrown half the length of the car, and I was badly shaken up. None were injured in this coach, however, and it was pretty well filled.

"This coach was undamaged, except the rear-end, which cannoned into the one at the rear and telescoped into it, running half its length and crushing many people. Only one in this, the fourth coach, I believe, was killed.

"The women in my car were in hysterics, and the men almost like wild men, endeavoring to get out into the open. We had to jump about ten feet to get on the ground, for although our coach was not overturned like most of the others, it was tilted to an angle of three degrees.

A Terrible Scene.
"When I did get down, the scene about was terrible, and no one can describe the terrible cries and moans of the injured. Their pitiful, shrill, heart-rending calls for help and water were fearful to hear.

"Two of the first persons I saw on jumping from the car were the engineer and fireman. These men, I was told, had not jumped from their engine, but had stuck to their duty manfully. How the engineer escaped, God only can tell.

"The train was running faster than it should have around the sharp horseshoe curve.

"The engine was turned completely over, and the crew found an opening through which they could crawl. With the thought of the possible explosion of the boiler, or being scalded to death by steam, they were terror-stricken when I first saw them.

Women Fainted.
"Most of the women survivors had fainted, or were in hysterics, and all had to be sent back to Caledon to be cared for by sanitarians there.

"The nervous man I ever saw in my life was an old gentleman with a broken leg. He was lying on the platform of one of the wrecked cars. His face was white with agony. His hands were clenched and his teeth bit through the flesh of his under lip as he kept back the cries which his suffering tried to force from him. As a physician came up to him and instructed myself and another to remove him to the side of the track, where he could be attended to, the old man cried hoarsely: 'No! No! Do, attend to the others. Take the women first.'

"I never saw a finer, more self-sacrificing courage, and," concluded Mr. Thompson, "my belief in mankind is greater since I witnessed that scene than it has ever been."

Mrs. J. T. Caldwell, wife of Rev. Dr. Caldwell of Fleisherton Methodist Church, who suffered severe cuts about the head and left eye, told a reporter what she could remember of the wreck as she lay in the relief train at Dupont street.

"Look at that," she said, holding up what had once been a pretty hat, "isn't that the toughest hat you ever saw for a minister's wife. It was torn from my head as our car rolled over."

"I was sitting with my husband and another gentleman. I noticed that the car was going at a terrible speed on that awful curve. Then our coach turned over; something struck my head. Thank God there was no fire."

Mrs. John Wilson, Markdale, wife of Rev. Mr. Wilson of that place, was in the worst part of the wreck and emerged by a miracle from the demolished coach with only a painfully wrenched knee.

"Our coach was smashed to splinters. That is all I remember," she said as she was carried to a cot in the hospital.

Forty of the injured were taken to Toronto on a special train, which arrived in the city at 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon. A number of these were but slightly injured and disappeared in the crowd upon alighting from the train. The others were taken to the Western Hospital in police wagons and ambulances.

The injured were patient. Although many must have suffered untold agony no word of complaint was heard. A low groan when a stretcher jolted unaccountably or a stifled scream as an arm was set or a dislocation reduced was the only protest against almost unendurable pain.

Conductor's Heroism.

To Conductor Grimes is due great credit that the loss of life was not much greater. He was in the fourth car when the wreck took place. His presence of mind did not leave him for a second. He stood on a seat and waved his arms, and with a voice like thunder shouted: "Sit down! Sit down!"

The passengers obeyed; there was no panic, the cars toppling over and over. Then the people got out with slight cuts and bruises.

Fast Running.

Superintendent James Osborne handed out the following statement at the scene of the wreck late last night:

"We have examined everything. Our experts, Mr. Smith and Mr. Fairbairn, the C. P. R. track engineer, have carefully investigated every inch of track. Personally, I examined the rolling stock, as did Mr. Fairbairn. The rolling stock was perfect, and there was not a defect in the rails.

"The cause of the accident must have been fast running."

Dr. S. Alliston of Caledon East opened the inquest at Peter Baxter's house at 6 o'clock.

Fourteen jurymen were sworn in, and the enquiry will be continued on Sept. 10 at Caledon East.

SPORT

CITY LEAGUE HAVE A NICE ROW.

Chatham, Sept. 4, 1907.

Sporting Editor The Planet.

Dear Sir,—The following letter will explain why the Walpole Indian ball team did not show up to play the C. F. M.'s, as scheduled for Monday afternoon. The boys went to a lot of expense in making preparations for this game, and it certainly was a dirty piece of business to block the game.

When the C. F. M.'s saw that the Indians were not going to play they made arrangements for a game with the St. Clair team. This cost them an extra $25, but they gladly paid it out rather than disappoint the crowd.

Yours respectfully,

WILL ROBERT,
Captain C. F. M.'s.

The following is the letter handed in by Captain Robert—

Chatham, Ont., Aug. 27, 1907.

Manager Walpole Island B. B. Team,

Walpole Island.

Dear Sir,—Understand that you have a game on with a local team of this city on Labor Day, Sept. 2nd.

If you could see your way clear to postpone this game until the following Thursday we will be glad to play the game. We will be glad to play the game. We will be glad to play the game.

We do this on account of us having two games on with a Detroit nine, of which we are under quite an expense, and the three games being played here would not be of much benefit to either team.

Hoping to hear from you at an early date, I am,

Yours truly,

WM. COTTINGHAM,

Manager Chatham B. B. Club.

Kindly answer by return mail.
