

HUNTER WINS BY ACCLAMATION

Lawson Hunter, third year Science, has won the Presidency of the SRC by acclamation. Alf Brien, who entered the presidential contest last week, announced his withdrawal, which he said was due to personal reasons. Also acclaimed were two Business Administration candidates, four Engineering, and one Nursing.

The principle contest now is among the four candidates for Vice-president: Terry Bird, Eric Champion, David Kamweti and John Trevors.

Some of the candidates for Arts representative observed Sunday's regular SRC meeting: Robert Asprey, Wayne Beach, Peter Blair, Keith LeShana, and Barbara Roberts.

Council Votes For 'Academic Freedom'

At Sunday's meeting of the Students Representative Council, a motion was passed asking the University to drop its regulation regarding classroom attendance. At the present time, students who miss twenty per cent of their classes may be ejected from the class and refused permission to write their examinations.

Most council members, and two possible future councillors, took part in the active debate. Opposition to the move was centred around arguments stating that students, especially freshmen, had to be guided in order to assure that they would have the greatest possible chance of passing. Councillor Champion said he opposed the idea that people had that "automatic idea (after high school) is to go to college". People think of college, he said, as just another grade in the school system.

Lawson Hunter said the rule is "an infringement on academic freedom".

After an unsuccessful attempt to take the issue, and an attempt to discredit the proponents of the motion on the grounds that they did not have enough statistical evidence, the motion was passed.

A recommendation will be made to the Board of Deans.

The revised system of deciding awards for students active in non-athletic activities was passed after a few minor revisions were made.

$100 was given to the Forestry Association for a woodsmen's competition at MacDonald College.

WUSC Chairman Stocker announced that the Slave Auction grossed $196. She also got $87 from the SRC for a conference in Halifax.

There was a brief remark about elections, and returning officer Brian Church said would be a meeting to tell candidates what is going on. He also criticised two council members for nominating a dog for valedictorian.

Balloon Race Will Be New Carnival Event

There will be a one or two-man balloon race during the UNB-STU Winter Carnival. The event was initiated after a proposal was made by two individuals from outside the University. A $100 prize will probably be offered, in addition to possible merchandise

The race will begin in the parking lot of the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium at 1:00 p.m. on Friday, February 4, weather permitting. It will end in Saint John.

The two entries so far received come from Sable Island, where balloon racing has been an increasingly popular sport.

Carnival officials say the Carnival parajump competition will be temporarily recessed during the start of the race.

The Winter Carnival Committee has dispatched letters to ballooning enthusiasts on three continents announcing the event. Inquiries have come from as far away as

SAA Nominations Close

Nomination day for the Students Athletic Association, the student council for sports, closed at noon, January 19. Announcement of the closing date was made last week, too late for publication in the Brunswickian.

The SAA election will be held Wednesday, January 26.

The SAA acts as the liaison between the students and the Athletic Board of the University. About two years ago the association became separate from the Students Representative Council. Until that time, the President of the SAA was a voting member of the SRC. Now the SRC has no voice in SAA affairs.

QUEENS TAKE TIME FOR TEA

This year there will be eight girls contesting the position of Winter Carnival Queen. The new candidacy was created for St. Thomas University, which has joined UNB for this year's Carnival. The queens are shown above, as they stood in the receiving line at the Queens' Tea Sunday. Left to right: Alice Ferraris (STU), Marilyn Gangerdeen (Science), Joanne Taylor (Phys. Ed.), Kate Lewis (Law), Bonnie Hamilton (Forestry), Marilyn Stewart (Engineering), Kathy Sullivan (Bus. Ad.), and Kathy Mead (Arts).

Twenty-one students will be contesting twelve seats in next week's elections for the Students Representative Council. Eight seats were filled by acclamation including the Presidency. One will be left vacant until the fall by-elections.

One candidate for SRC President, Alfred Brien, withdrew from the contest.

There are four candidates for the first vice-presidential seat. They are Terry Bird, Eric Champion, David Kamweti, and John Trevors.

Seven students will be contesting six seats as Arts representatives. They are Robert Asprey, Wayne Beach, Peter Blair, Jerry Gadd, Raymond Jackson, Keith LeShana, and Barbara Roberts.

Beverly Boone, Gord Cunningham, and Sue Story will contend for two Science seats.

Forestry candidates are Robert Meisner and Francis Wanyaki. There is one seat for forestry on the SRC.

Elected by acclamation were Robert Burnett and Bob Edwards, Business Administration; Bola Egberongbe, David Jomini, Lynn Radley, and Hank VanderLinde, Engineering (one seat vacant); and Bonnie Hamilton, Nursing.

Other elections will be held at the same time as the SRC elections. For sophomore class executive, there are two candidates for presidency. Andy Devereaux and Gregory Rodd. John Oliver was elected vice-president by acclamation. John Dawes and Arthur Jamieson will contest the seat of secretary-treasurer.

The candidates for senior class executive are as follows: for President, Jerry Gadd, Peter McDerby, and Doug Stanley; for vice-president, Claire Gray and John Webster; for secretary-treasurer, Kathie Sullivan who was elected by acclamation.

Nineteen seniors are contesting the four positions on the Life Executive. For President: Ken Carty, John Short and Bob Stevenson. For Vice-president: Eric Bodtker, Steve Chandler, Barry Cooper, Allan Furlong, Tom Pinckard, and Dan Sargeant. For Secretary-treasurer, Elaine McEwan, Rae Smith, Beth Waters, and Mary Worrell. Candidates for valedictorian are Nelson Adams, Brian Davidson, Gary Davis, Brian Malone, Clyde McElman, and Tina Sparkel.

Election for the Student Athletic Association will be held on the same day, but the deadline for nominations was January 19. For that reason there is no list of candidates for this paper. If there is a special pre-election Brunswickian on Monday, January 24, the list will appear there.

Federal-Provincial Conference on Education

A committee of the Education Ministers of all ten provinces called on the Federal cabinet last week to take immediate action on higher federal aid to university education. Spokesmen said the target is an increase to $5 from $2 in the present per capita payment to the provinces. This was one of the recommendations included in Dean Bladen's report on the Financing of Higher Education. Such an increase would doubtless freeze the fees in New Brunswick but one can't help think of the students at Memorial University who, after hearing an announcement to this effect, would have nothing less to think of than vacations with pay.

Military Coup in Lagos

The chief of the Nigerian general staff, General Ironsi, announced Sunday night he had accepted an invitation to head a provisional federal military government to maintain law and order in Nigeria. Prime Minister Balewa is said to be a prisoner in the Capital City under this new regime. It is believed that the rebels represent only a minority of the army and general staff but until communications are resumed with that country the facts will be obscured.

Premier to Mend Ways

Over the weekend Premier Robichaud indicated that amendments to the proposed "Program of Evolution" would be made. He was addressing himself to the annual meeting of the Maritime University Liberal Federation at which he and Mr. G. Peter Smith of Ottawa were guest speakers. Unfortunately the Premier did not indicate what the amendments would be.

Nehru's Daughter as Prime Minister

The chief minister of most of the Indian states have decided to support Mrs. Gandhi, daughter of the late Prime Minister Nehru as a candidate for Indian Prime Minister. Information Minister in the present government, Mrs. Gandhi is the only person who could be unanimously elected by the party without a contest. Mrs. Gandhi has also expressed deep concern for the main problems of her country — its underdeveloped economy and a threat from Communist China.

Appearing this year in Fredericton during the 1966 U.N.B. Winter Carnival, are the RCA recording artists, The Womenfolk. The group, rising rapidly in popularity across the United States and Canada, received their initiation to fame through their appearance on the "Ed Sullivan Show" in New York. They have also made frequent appearances on the Canadian "Let's Sing Out" television program. The Womenfolk are appearing in the Fredericton Folk Festival, along with another popular group, The Villagers, on Saturday, February 5 as part of the carnival highlights.

Anti-Apartheid Group Formed

A branch of the Alexander Defense Committee was formed at the University this year. The stated aim of the committee is "to create sympathy among people for the victims of persecutions under the Voerword Government" of the Republic of South Africa.

The committee also plans to supply "both them and their dependents with material and moral aid in their unceasing struggle."

The first such committee was founded in West Germany where Dr. Alexander, a distinguished student and known as a defender of civil rights in South Africa, organized a group of sympathizers. He was later arrested in South Africa under the 90 Day Detention Law, and later tried under the "Sabotage Act".

Other committees have been formed in England, the USA, Canada, and other countries in Africa, Europe, and Asia.

A provisional committee was set up at UNB in December. It plans to establish a constitution soon. A letter from the committee says they "urge all those who are in sympathy" to join.

This is the third branch in Canada.

Robert MacKinnon and Ludo Abitch are organizing the movement.

Students Can Shape UNB's Future

The UNB Education Committee announced today details of its requests for student organization briefs. The committee is preparing a student report for the Commission on the Future of the University. The report will be discussed by that faculty commission at an open hearing on March 10th.

Education Committee chairman Roger Harley disclosed that he has requested the submission of briefs from about a dozen student organizations. Included are the local executives of CUS and WUSC, the presidents of the men's and women's residence House Committees, the International Student's Club, and each of the student faculty associations.

The Education Committee suggested that each brief cover certain issues. The local CUS branch was asked to discuss the role of UNB students in national student affairs. It was requested to suggest specific projects that local students should undertake both on and off campus.

WUSC and the International Student's Club were asked to submit a joint brief on the role of foreign students at UNB. request specified that the problems encountered by the foreign student should receive a "clear and frank assessment."

The residence House Presidents were asked to report on the residences in terms of facilities provided, the organization of the system, and residence policy. The committee suggested that the men's residence House Presidents present a joint brief, and the women's residence House Presidents another.

Each faculty association has been requested to prepare a brief dealing with academic issues in the respective faculties. Questions included the calibre of instruction, staff accessibility, senior year theses, the system of instruction, faculty research, and time spent in class. In addition, the Law Society was asked to comment on the availability of financial aid for law students, and the Arts Society to discuss proposed modifications in the Honours and Major programmes in Arts.

Harley stressed that the suggestions were to serve only as guidelines for the organizations and that the committee would certainly consider any other issues raised by the briefs.

The briefs are to be submitted to the Education Committee by February 9, and open hearings on them will be held between February 10 and 14.

Asked about the possibility of individual submissions, Harley replied, "The committee will be happy to receive briefs from individual students. We require five copies by the same deadline as that applying to organization briefs, and they could be submitted at the SRC office. The absence of a Post-Graduate association" (SEE page 5, column 3)

JOHN SHORT

Attention Seniors

Let me introduce myself. My name is John Short, I am a senior Business Administration student and a candidate for the position of President of the 1966 Life Executive.

This is not just another executive position to be changed from year to year but a job that will require a great deal of attention on the part of the president for a great many years to come. His enthusiasm or lack of it therefore should be given serious consideration when you make your choice for Life President. You can display your enthusiasm by voting next Wednesday... DOUG STANLEY SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

By the people

The news that Alf Brien had withdrawn from the SRC election race, giving Lawson Hunter the post by acclamation came as a surprise and shock to most people. His name had been mentioned often during the Fall as a possible candidate, and we all expected a close race. Now for the first time in many years, there will not be a presidential election, and the SRC is poorer off for it. Elections always provide a chance for debate and discussion and a chance to define the issues. It would have been especially useful this year when student government is faced with a number of interesting and difficult problems — rising fees and living costs, inadequate crowded housing, the virtual failure of the residence system, the inadequacy and waste of big classes, the new student union building. None of these can be solved by student action alone, but we have a big stake in all of them. Without clear public discussion, the new president has little idea where the students stand — assuming they stand anywhere.

It is unfortunate that the new council must make some of its most important decisions in a very short time, when it will select the heads of a number of big campus organizations — Carnival, Brunswickan, Radio UNB, and others. The SRC will have to move carefully and ask for a great deal of advice if its appointees are to be as successful as this year's group.

Moreover, the new Council will be without experience and more important, will be themselves partly elected by acclamation. The Engineering students are so apathetic they couldn't even find enough people to fill the five vacant seats. Arts has six seats. Seven people applied. There are a few welcome new faces, and three former members will probably be back, but the Council is untried and inexperienced, and without clear directives from the student body. Most of them will do their best, though there will be a few deadwood social climbers, as usual. In general this campus gets the kind of Council it deserves, though there are occasional exceptions, like this year's executive group which has done well. Last year's SRC, however, provided an excellent example of the rule.

It is hard for me to account for the stupidity of the UNB electorate, which seems quite content to expend whatever meagre amount of energy it can muster for "student affairs" on picayune bellyaching, and not a bit of time on constructive work. Complaints without proposals are really tedious, and some people are getting a bit tired of it. Where were you at election time?

Developments In Higher Education

by
Prof. E. D. Maher

The significant developments in the past year have been in the field of higher education in general rather than in business education. Unfortunately the developments have been largely in the form of more reports setting forth the needs in Canada for very rapid expansion of staff and facilities and estimates of the resources required; there has been little action to implement the recommendations.

The Economic Council of Canada in its second annual report, released on January 5, 1966, refers to the importance of education and training as "crucial" and the need as "immediate". Dr. Deutsch, the Chairman of the Council, commenting on the Report stated "The central theme running through the whole of the Council's second review is the need to improve productivity. In productivity the most important factor is our human resources, and we can best invest in them through education. So education and training is fundamental to the whole".

The Bladen Commission, which was established by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada to estimate the requirements of the universities for staff and facilities for the next decade, reported on October 6th. Among its major recommendations were the following:

1. The Federal and Provincial Governments should provide for expansion of higher education on the assumption that undergraduate enrollment by 1970-71 would be 100% above the 1964-65 level and that by 1975-76 it would be 150% above the 1964-65 level. Graduate enrollment was expected to exceed four times the present level by 1975-76.
2. The Federal per capita operating grants should be raised from $2 to $5 per capita for the year 1965-66 (i.e. the present academic year) and by a further $1 each year until alternative financing arrangements are introduced.

3. A federal Capital Grants Fund should be established by an annual contribution of $5 per capita of population.
4. They also stated "That the financial problems of the universities are so urgent that action to resolve them should be taken without delay."

The Commission's statement about the urgency of the situation seems to have made little impression on the Federal Government. Although the Bladen Report was not released until October 6th it is dated June 30th and it was certainly in the hands of University Presidents and, judging from the press reports of election speeches, its contents seem to have been known to many candidates for election well before its official publication date. However it took Federal Government about two months from the official publication date to take any action; the "action" was to call a Federal-Provincial Conference for February. The Commission's recommendation that "action... should be taken without delay" seems to have made little impression.

Repeated submissions have been made to the Federal Government in recent years, by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (and its predecessor the Canadian Universities Foundation) and by the Canadian Association of University Teachers, setting forth the expected very rapid increases in demand for higher education in the 1960s and 1970s along with estimates of the resources needed to meet these demands. All these reports seem

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

May I remind the Senior students of this University that in a few short months our graduation will take place. It is important therefore that the ceremonies and festivities of this event and the programme of future generations be administered in an efficient and imaginative manner. On January 26th, we elect our Life time executive who will serve in these positions. It is important that seniors are aware of the programs planned by the Presidential candidates and to this end a Senior Class meeting has been arranged for January 24th at 6:00 p.m. in the Chemistry auditorium. Other business to be discussed is the March Senior Class party, whether or not the Red n' Black cast should attend this function, our gift to the University, and finally the financial statement regarding the present position of the Senior Class.

The 1966 Senior Class has had a fine record thus far and I would hope that the interest of the class will not falter in these final months.

J. Brian Malone

HIGHER EDUCATION

to have fallen on deaf ears. The Federal per capita operating grant to the universities has not been increased since 1962. Enrollment has in recent years been rising at a rate of about 10% a year and operating costs per student have been rising at about the same rate. Thus the financial needs of the universities have been rising at an annual rate of about 20%. However, the Federal Government's operating grant is tied to total population which has only been rising at about 2% per annum in recent years. As a result the Federal Government's percentage contribution to university operating costs has declined to about half of what it was in the late 1950s. And New Brunswick Universities continue to be restricted by the recommendations of the 1962 Deutsch Commission; recommendations which, whatever their merits at the time, are long out of date.

The Federal Government has, of course, provided loans for students. But this does not help the Universities; in fact, so long as fees cover only a modest portion of operating costs anything which increases the demands on the universities without increasing these institutions' resources simply makes the situation more difficult for everyone — staff and students alike. The only way the student loan plan help the institutions would be if fees were raised was this what the Federal Government intended? They certainly didn't say so.

It is encouraging to note that the Economic Council recommends that special assistance be provided to the Atlantic Provinces to enable them to expand higher education. The Bladen Commission did not accept this idea although many submissions made to it asked that it recommend just such a step. The Economic Council however now appears to hold the same view as was expressed by the Association of University of New Brunswick Teachers in its Brief to the Bladen Commission. The AUNBT pointed out that the expansion of education was a necessary condition for closing the gap between incomes in the Atlantic area and Central Canada; subsidizing declining industries — no matter how necessary on social grounds in the short run — provides no hope for the future. The Government seemed to have no difficulty in finding an extra $25 million for the Cape Breton coal mines in the midst of the election campaign but it ignored the needs of higher education.

Another recent development, of particular importance to UNB was the reappointment of the Deutsch Commission to review University requirements in New Brunswick for the period 1967-72. The Commission originally reported in June 1962 and made recommendations for the period 1962-67 including the recommendation that the Government should appoint another Commission before the end of the 1966-67 academic year in order to consider the needs for the next five years. The Government has now followed this recommendation. Long range planning is, of course, a good thing but it seems unreasonable to assume that five year plans in the field of education will not need to be changed during the five year period. It is significant that the best estimates of university enrollment have considerably fallen far short of the actual enrollments. The recommendations of the first Deutsch Commission have been out of date for some time but it seems unlikely that any changes will now be possible before 1967-68. The Economic Council of Canada issues annual reports. Does this provide some hope that Dr. Deutsch will recognize the weakness of his previous approach and recommend some type of permanent University Grants Commission — as recommended in the Bladen Report — to provide continuous review and assessment of educational needs?

One final point. The Premier continues to state that the New Brunswick Government has implemented all the recommendations of the Deutsch Commission. This is not quite correct as the Minister of Education recognizes. The proposal for a comprehensive system of scholarships, bursaries and loans has not been implemented and the introduction of the Canada Student Loan Plan has only dealt with part of the problem.

"THE PLOWBOY PHILOSOPHY"

Part I

We have established in our previous installments that there has been a sexual revolution in North America . . . revolution being defined as a successful uprising . . . The weapon which wrought this revolution was the closed car, which resulted in momentous changes in the courting practices of the younger generation. In the good old days that we've all heard so much about, they used to write songs about "Hitching Ol' Dobbin to the Shay" and "Looking Sweet Upon the Seat(s) of a Bicycle Built For Two". Well, anyone who's ever tried to manage a horse and woo a girl simultaneously needs no further explanation of the effect of the closed automobile on romantic aspirations. The older generation brings back memories of things past when they drive by country lanes and apple orchards . . . the man of today (and recent yesterdays) becomes immersed in nostalgia when he passes an auto junkyard.

Ranking close to sex in conversational importance for the modern generation is humour . . . And here is our greatest failing. After all, a sense of humour must be cultivated, while our instinctual qualities will eventually lead us to sexual understanding, either voluntarily or otherwise. Thus having dispensed with sex, for present purposes at least, let us examine philosophically the position of humour in this community.

To put it succinctly, the college generation of today takes itself far too seriously. By dressing up in a camel-hair coat and a button-down collar, by carrying around an attaché case, and by parroting the voices of dissent on great causes and issues, the college man loses his ability to take part in the boisterous joyousness that should make university life a cheerful, happy thing. When he does engage in humour, it's only of the macabre variety . . . Polish jokes, watching Solo electrocute three men with his pen knife, chortling as Laurel gets hit in the face with a pie.

There is, on the college scene, no fun just for the sake of sheer, irresponsible fun . . . no practical jokes . . . no puns . . . no pranks. Nobody will realize that this is the only time in their life they can escape serious responsibilities . . . that they should relax and enjoy themselves, that there will be plenty of time for the rest later.

We believe that, if people don't have a good honest laugh, either with you or at you, several times a day, you are much too serious for your own good . . . and will soon lose the ability to laugh . . . especially at yourself. The inevitable result is that you will soon start thinking you are a heluva fella, one of the great serious thinkers of your time.

While lightly made, these are serious criticisms. We know of dogs who have better . . . and more healthy . . . senses of humour than some members of the modern generation . . . Which is reason for them to pause and consider. The situation is covered by an old Hebrew expression. "The next thing you lose after you lose your sense of humour is your mind".

Beavers Post Double Win

The UNB Beavers spent last weekend on the road and came back with a very rewarding double win. On Friday night at Shearwater the Beavers racked up 125 points to win a three way meet. Mt. A with 111 and Dal. with 77 followed UNB in the standings. The next afternoon at Acadia the Beavers waltzed to a 93-23 win over their hosts. The Shearwater meet opened with a very convincing UNB win in the 400 medley relay. Taylor started and stayed with Gord McMichael, presently the best back stroker in the Maritimes. Pentland swam breaststroke and made up the few yards Taylor had lost.

Price followed and gained a good lead with the butterfly and finally Fillmore added to this lead on the freestyle leg. UNB's time was 3 seconds ahead of their nearest competitor.

Robb and Jackson of Mount A won the next two events. Noel Villard posted a win in the 200 individual medley, beating out Pentland by 2 seconds. Mount A came back with another win in the 100 breast stroke. The score was now Dal. 33, Mount A 45, UNB 41.

Price won the 200 Butterfly for UNB. Taylor and Edwards combined for 9 more points with second and third place finishes. Depth and strength in all events had now put UNB ahead with 66 points.

Price and Pentland finished 1,2 in the 100 Butterfly. Pinckard and Fillmore placed second and third in the 100 freestyle. Taylor and Edwards combined again, this time for a win and a second.

Barry posted a good time of 7:42.8 for 400 meters to win a hard fought race over Bus-saw. Pentland, Pinckard, Fillmore and Barry swam to a win in the 400 free style relay.

The Acadia meet featured poor conditions which prevented any good times. The Beavers and Mermaids showed that they are the top collegiate swimmers in the Maritimes. They should prove so again when the Beavers host Dalhousie January 29, at the LBR pool.

Mermaids Top Mt. A, Dal

Full of spirit and determination, the UNB Mermaids journeyed to Halifax last weekend to meet the Mt. A. Goldfish and the Dalhousie Tigerettes in a three way swim meet. The Mermaids scored 147 points to come out on top. The Goldfish were second with 119.5, and Dal. scored 43.5.

The meet, held in Shearwater's 25 metre pool, served as a good indicator to coaches expect in the annual inter-and swimmers as to what to collegiate championships. The championships come up February at Mt. A.

Coach Whitwill was pleased with the performances of all her charges. Despite some injuries and sickness the Goldfish came up with some near record times in the meet.

YEARBOOK MEETS SCHEDULE

Yearbook editors Barry Cooper and John Short have announced that the first deadline for the yearbook has been successfully met. A number of pages of copy have been sent to the printer. Many students will recall that the reason for the lateness of the '965 yearbook was that the staff missed many deadlines. The editors of the '966 Up The Hill are sure that they have their edition well under control.

DEVILS SWEEP WEEKEND GAMES

Grant Scores Five

Ed Grant, with 5 goals in two games, paced the UNB Red Devils to a pair of Weekend victories over the St. Dunstan's Saints and University of Moncton.

Grant scored two goals Friday night in the LBR rink as the Devils tripped up SDU 5-3. Picking up single markers for the Devils were George MacMillan, Boyd LeGallais and Austin Duquette.

Although outshot 25-21 by the Saints, the Devils made the most of their scoring opportunities. The Devils never fell behind in the fast moving contest.

UNB held a 3-2 first period lead and led 4-2 after two periods.

Summary:

First Period: 1. UNB, E. Grant (Winslow) 1:54; 2. St. Dunstan's, D. Flynn 2:04; 3. UNB, G. MacMillan (Andrews, Hudson); 4. UNB, B. LeGallais (Loughrey, Russell) 8:01; 5. SDU, M. Roy (Kelley) 13:04. Second Period: 6. UNB, E. Grant (Furlong, Winslow) 13:57.

Third Period: 7. SDU, O'Donnell 2:53; 8. Duquette (Furlong, Winslow).

Saturday's Game

On Saturday night in Moncton the Devils completely outclassed the U of M Aigles Bleus to score a 7-3 win. Ed Grant continued his fine play for the Red Devils. Grant had one of the best games of his intercollegiate career while scoring the elusive hat trick. Madill, Winslow, Furlong and Russell scored singletons for the Red Devils.

The Devils were just too powerful in all departments for the hapless Aigles Bleus. The 7-3 score was hardly in-again trailed by only 2 points, 31-29, at halftime. In the second half X, led by veteran Dave Barry, outscored UNB by the wide margin of 48-23.

Dave Hill was high point getter for the Raiders with 15. MacAleenan with 13 and Nutbrown with 11 followed Hill in the scoring.

dicative of the calibre of the two teams. Only a combination of penalties and bad luck kept the goal spread from being much greater. Two of U of M's goals came when the Devils were shorthanded. The Devils outshot U of M 31-22 and just missed denting the twines on several occasions.

The first period ended in a 1-1 tie. The score could just as easily have been 5-1, as the Devils came threateningly close to scoring on several occasions. U of M scored the first goal of the game with Carmen Hudson in the penalty box. The goal came on a long drive from outside the blue line. Goalie Terry Bird started to clear the weak drive, but the puck broke his stick and bounded into the cage.

Al Furlong took a perfect centering pass from George MacMillan to score for the Devils at 19:04 of the first frame.

Things started to click for the Devils in the second period. At 6:32 Grant scored his first goal on passes from Winslow and Duquette. Less than a minute later Herb Madill scored on passes from MacMillan and Andrews.

U of M took advantage of a Devil's defensive lapse to score their second goal on a pretty pass play. Five minutes later with Furlong in the sin bin, U of M scored from a scramble to tie the score at 3-3.

The third period was all Devils. Ed Grant scored again at 2:08. Marty Winslow scored at 5:31 on passes from Grant and Duquette. The Devils finished up the scoring with two goals in 30 seconds. Ed Russell scored at 16:24 and Grant completed his hat trick at 16:55 to make the final score 7-3.

Editor's Corner

The Red Devils got off to a fine start on their tough post Christmas schedule with their two victories over the weekend. The Devils now occupy third spot in the league with 3 wins and a loss.

Starting this Friday night the Devils play 4 games in 8 days and every game is a big one. To keep their championship hopes alive the Red Devils will have to win their game, against Acadia, Mt. A and St. Thomas and 'beat X' on the 29th.

The whole Red Devil lineup played well over the weekend.

- Ed Grant played two fine games scoring 5 goals
- the line of Duquette, Winslow and Grant came out of a slump to play their best hockey of the season
- Madill, MacMillan and Andrews checked well in both games as well as being a big cog in the Devils offense
- the line of Loughrey, LeGallais and Russel played sound hockey and are due to rack up some points
- Hudson, Furlong, Morell and Jim Grant combined to give the Devils a sound defense in both games

Terry Bird made his first league appearance in goal Saturday night. Although called upon to make a few difficult saves, Bird proved himself as capable a goalie as the Devils have on their roster.

Congratulations to the Beavers and Mermaids on their fine performances on the weekend. Both squads look like good bets to win their respective MIAU championships.

Coach Don Nelson and his Red Raiders ran into a little tough luck over the weekend. The Raiders battled evenly with both X and Acadia for half the game, but seemed to lose their scoring punch in the second half. The Raiders now have a 2-2 record in Maritime Intercollegiate action and are a good bet for a third or fourth place finish in the league.

Don't be surprised to see Red Devils' Terry Bird and Martin Winslow giving their sticks a few extra checks in the upcoming Devil games. Bird's stick broke while he was handling a long drive in the U of M game. The puck caromed off the heel of his stick and into the net. Winslow beat the U of M goalie cleanly in the first period of the game only to have his stick break and the puck slide wide of the cage.

It was nice to see newcomer George MacMillan come into his own in the weekend games picking up a goal and two assists. George was St. Dunstan's third leading scorer last season and he should prove a valuable addition to the Red Devils lineup.

Raiders Drop Pair

Last Friday night in Wolfville the Red Raiders took a 83-47 thrashing from the Acadia Axemen. The next night in St FX, UNB went down 79-53 at the hands of the X-Men. The two defeats added up to a disastrous weekend for the Raiders. They had a 2-0 record going into the weekend games. This was good for a first place tie with Acadia.

In the Acadia game the Raiders trailed by only 5 points, 31-26, at halftime. But the Axemen went on a scoring binge in the second half to outscore UNB 52-21.

Hec Roach led the UNB scorers with 10 points. Crandemire, Cotter and Bonnell all scored 6 for the Raiders.

PREVIEW CRITICS PRAISE DRAMA SOCIETY FOR 'SALESMAN'

Attis Excels In Lead Role

Geoffrey Eathorne, Kate Lewis, and David Attis are shown above taking one of the few short breaks they have during rehearsals of Death of A Salesman. Tickets to the play are available at no cost to students who pick them up at the headquarters of the Drama Society, in the basement of Memorial Hall.

The spring production of the Drama Society is one of the few free activities students get just by showing their SRC card. This is an opportunity for students to see a first rate production.

David Attis will take the lead actor role in the University of New Brunswick Drama Society's production of Arthur Miller's Pulitzer Prize winning play "DEATH OF A SALESMAN". "Death of a Salesman" will open at the Fredericton Playhouse on Saturday, January 29. This will be the premier performance of a scheduled three-night run.

Mr. Attis has been an active member of the Drama Society for several years. In this time, he has had leading roles in three plays in the New Brunswick Regional Drama Festival.

Fredericton theatre-goers and students will remember particularly his performance in "Inherit the Wind". In this play, David portrayed Matthew Harrison Brady who prosecuted Bertram Cates for teaching the Darwinian theory of evolution. For his excellent performance he won the Best Actor Award at the New Brunswick Regional Drama Festival. He repeated this success last year by winning the Best Actor Award for his portrayal of the bandit in "Rashomon".

Besides being an excellent actor, Mr. Attis has displayed his industry and artistic ability as stage manager for many productions which have been hailed by adjudicators on both national and provincial levels.

This year Mr. Attis is tackling one of the most difficult acting roles ever taken on by the UNB Drama Society, that of a once debonair braggart who unable to accept the fact that his role in the world is a truly insignificant one, builds a dream world in which he is the dominant figure.

Commenting on his decision to give David Attis the lead role in "Death of a Salesman", Alvin J. Shaw, director of the production, said, "This is a challenging and difficult role to portray, but after seeing his performance in "Rashomon" and "Inherit the Wind", I have great faith in him because he is both a talented actor and a hard worker."

Professor Alvin Shaw is directing Death of a Salesman. He has been directing plays at the University for a number of years, but it is improbable that he has ever had a play more challenging than this one. He takes an active part in dramatic activities on the national and provincial scale. As they say, there's no business like Shaw business.
