TALK ABOUT CHARITY

Patience, sociability and bank accounts in connection with the happiness of a home! Why these things are but parts, not the whole of home life. A very necessary constituent part of social happiness is a good family newspaper. Not one devoted to market reports, murders and the morbid doings of the decadent undergrowth, but a brightly edited, finely printed, well illustrated, clean review of daily events in the world, comments and characterizations thereupon, and such an admixture of humor, poetry, personal gossip, and pretty pictures as shall add spice to the whole dish. Such a journal is TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT, which for ten years has been a source of joy in thousands of Toronto and provincial homes, and is eagerly looked for by those unhappily exiled from this Queen City of the West. SATURDAY NIGHT takes life seriously but not sadly. Whilst it has no party to serve nor fad to float, it keeps a free lance for humbug, corruption and superstition, under whatever guise they present themselves. Its features of personal and social gossip, and current comments by Don and other writers won for it an immediate field which has ever since been held. There have been imitations but there is only one SATURDAY NIGHT. Its editors and contributors are men and women who travel and think, and that is the reason their weekly output is so entertaining. Come with us and we'll advise thee, we'll cozen thee with wit, split thy sides with laughter and make life something more than a dull round of toil. SATURDAY NIGHT really does not cost you anything, but the publishers and newsdealers expect 5c. per copy or $2 per year. Printed and published at Saturday Night Building, 26-28 Adelaide St. W., Toronto.

PREFACE.

In compiling this work we have not tried to make simply a list of persons moving in exclusive social circles ; our object has been rather to present a useful directory for home and social purposes as distinguished from business purposes. We have endeavored to include all names for which any lady in the city may have occasion to look, and to add such other information as will make the book as necessary in the home as the city directory is in the office.
