WON AT LAST.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

I met the expressive look in her large light eyes, and knew that my own answered them. I too lowered my voice in saying—
"Do you know, then, Virtue?"
"Yes, sir," she returned, quietly.
"I know. I knew long ago that Miss Natalie loved Doctor Yorke—before Mademoiselle Valdin came. I used to watch her—being so fond of her, you see," she added, in apologetic explanation—"and I soon found out. She used to flush up and look so bright when he came, and I have seen all the light go out of her face when he went away. Oh, I couldn't help seeing, sir, any more than you could!"
So this strange quick-eyed damsel had found that out too, it seemed; and I was rather astonished at her penetration, knowing how small her opportunities for exercising it must have been.
"Look here, Virtue," I began—"madame isn't aware of all this, you know, and—"
"I must not say anything to make her think so," she supplemented, composedly. "Oh, no, sir; I understand that of course!" Then, dropping her voice again—"Did you notice what she is holding, Mr. Ned?"
"No; I didn't see that she was holding anything. What is it?"
"Those flowers of Dr. Yorke's, sir—those that he sent her for the ball, you know. I picked them up after she trampled on them that time, and put them into water again. They disappeared afterward, and I thought

For Dandruff, Falling Hair, or Itchy Scalp—25c. "Danderine."

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DANDERINE DESTROYS DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR AT ONCE—GROWS HAIR, WE PROVE IT.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair she had thrown them away; but she must have hidden them somewhere. She has had them there—all old and faded as they are—all the time, and never puts them down for a moment. I moved them this morning, thinking they were in her way perhaps, but she gave a scream as loud as if I had hurt her, and snatched them back again.

"Did she say anything?" I asked curiously.
"No sir. I hoped she would cry then, but she only lay there pressing them tightly to her, and kissing them, I think."
I gave one more glance toward the bed, with that desolate, heart-broken little figure stretched upon it, but here was no movement there, and with a nod to Virtue I went softly out of the room and down-stairs, going to the morning-room, where I had left my mother.
It was pretty late in the afternoon, almost dark, in fact—but I saw by the fire-light the traces of tears upon madame's handsome face, and knew that she had been crying. It was no until I had stood by her for a little while that she looked up and asked me how Natalie was now. Mademoiselle sat by the window, knitting away mechanically in what little light there was; but her eyes were never raised from her busy needles.
"Just the same, mother," I answered. "She would not speak a word and hardly seemed to know when I spoke to her."
"I can not understand it," my mother said, sadly, using her handkerchief without any reserve at all. "Her utter prostration is a complete mystery to me!"
It was not to me, but just then

It was not to me, but just then roots fallish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at the drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.
We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now? A 25-cent bottle will truly amaze you.

was not the time to say so. Madame went on—
"She must have cared for that unhappy man, after all, Ned, although I was absolutely certain that she did not."
I shook my head.
"She didn't care for him, mother."
"But she behaves as though she were completely heart-broken," observed madame, wiping her eyes again.
"And no wonder, poor little thing!" I thought, my heart sinking at the recurrence of a fear which had haunted me ever since the tragedy—that if things were not quickly cleared up as regarded Roger Yorke, she—little delicate little thing that she was—would simply die under the strain of the mental agony which she must now be enduring. But I only sighed miserably as I felt.
"Doctor Dizarte told me to-day, that unless she could be roused by some means, he would really fear for her reason!"
I started.
"Oh, I say, mother, don't say that!"
"My dear, he did say it, and he certainly meant it. The poor old man is quite broken down himself."
That was true enough. The whole affair had from the first appeared to analyze the old doctor, and its culmination in the arrest of his "boy" had absolutely crushed him. He had aged ten years in the past two days. His firm tread had become slow and feeble, his round florid face sunken and pale; lines and wrinkles had appeared upon it as if by magic, and his full jolly voice had suddenly changed into that of a very weak old man. Only that morning he had broken down in a loud-pitched quavering speech to my mother, passionately protesting that his "boy" was innocent and had cried and sobbed like a child—a sadder sight to see, I thought, than even the suffering of the poor little girl upstairs.
"Poor old chap!" I said, feeling rather queer about the eyes myself as I recalled it. "I say, mother, you've never said, but you don't believe, do you, that Roger—"
I was interrupted by a tap at the door, followed directly by the appearance of old Styles; and so flushed and excited was his face that mademoiselle suspended her knitting to look at it in the light of the blaze, while madame rose to her feet quickly, and I felt my own breath quicken and then almost stop.

ing, and Virtue had not heard from him as to his new place of abode. All this, in fact, the girl had told my mother with plentiful tears and sobbings on the day when the inspector's suspicions had first fallen upon her, vehemently declaring that, if she did but know where to find her brother, so that some one could go to him, they would very soon see that she had not stolen Miss Natalie's jewels to give to him, poor fellow! This madame now corroborated as I repeated it, obviously very little to the inspector's satisfaction.
Mr. Blake had mentioned Miss Orme's governess, Mlle. Valdin. Would he like to see her?
No; it appeared that the inspector had intended to ask a question or two, but perhaps, all things considered, it would be well not to trouble the lady at present. As to the jewels, he was sorry that Mr. Chavasse should have fancied that he had either traced them or had a fresh slew to the thief. He regretted to say that so far he had not the least. With that he bowed himself out and took his departure, and madame and I went back to the morning-room.
Mademoiselle was not there. I do not know that I should have noticed that, if in crossing to the fire I had not managed to catch my foot in the great heap of knitting which I had seen her let fall as I left the room—a piece of clumsiness which nearly threw me forward on to my nose. The noise I made in recovering my balance made madame look round, and she inquired languidly what that was.
"Only this blessed knitting!" I answered, stooping to pick it up. "If I have got it into a tangle, I can't help it. Mademoiselle shouldn't make a trap of it. I wonder where she is?"
"Perhaps she has gone to sit with Natalie," my mother suggested, indifferently.
That I knew she had not, since Nat could not bear the sight of her—a fact of which it struck me the astute governess was well aware.
"Perhaps she has one of her headaches," I suggested. "She looked pretty pale just now, I thought."
"Did she? I did not notice; but then I am really too much worried and upset to notice anything properly," madame declared, almost irritably. "I hope she is not ill, poor thing! But really it is difficult to judge, for she never complains unless she is absolutely obliged; and it is not like her to drop her work about like that. Is that Styles in the hall, Ned? Ask him where she is."

What sympathy you feel for anyone whose nerves twitch and jerk, and what resolves you make to never allow your nervous system to become exhausted, until paralysis of some form claims you as a victim.
The only way is to watch the warning symptoms, such as sleeplessness, headache, indigestion, tired feelings and irritability. By the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can feed the feeble, wasted nerves back to health and vigor, restore the vitality of the body, and prevent serious disease.
Mrs. John McKellar, 11 Barton street east, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was injured some years ago, and that left me with a broken-down nervous system. I could not sleep, and I suffered from twitching of the nerves and disagreeable nervous sensations. I then began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I never used any medicine that did me so much good; in fact, I am entirely cured of my old trouble. The Nerve Food not only strengthened the nerves, but also built up my system in every way." Under date of Aug. 29, 1912, Mrs. McKellar writes, confirming her cure, and states that she has had inquiries from many people who had heard of the great benefits she obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers, or Edman—Hates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

"What is it, Styles?" my mother asked, quietly.
"You are wanted, madame, if you please. It is Inspector Blake; he wants to see you directly."
Madame passed out at once. I stopped the old man as he was about to close the door.

"What is the Inspector after, Styles? Do you know?"
"Not quite, Mr. Ned; but from something he said I fancy he has found it all out, sir."
"Found it all out?" I repeated, excitedly, making a spring at him and clutching him by the arm. "Be careful what you are saying, Styles! If Blake can prove the Doctor is innocent, he shall have a thousand pounds down to-morrow, as sure as my name is what it is! What did he say? Quick!"
"Why, bless you, Mr. Ned," cried the old man, blankly, releasing his arm, while mademoiselle's knitting, rolled in an unheeded heap on to the ground, "I don't mean that! You have got hold of the wrong end of the stick, sir, worse luck! It was about Miss Natalie's diamonds and things I meant. I think he's found out who took 'em. And he said he would like to speak a word with you, and with the French lady too—if you please, ma'm'selle," he added.

Too savage at my sudden hope and disappointment to wait and see if mademoiselle was following, I left old Styles with his last words hardly uttered, and hurried across to the library. The Inspector might have something to say about Yorke, after all, although I knew that it was not likely. And it was not so, I found. To the inspector the stolen jewels and the substantial reward attached thereto were far more interesting than the misery which had fallen upon all who cared for Roger Yorke. And old Styles was altogether wrong in fancying that the thief was run to earth. For Blake, I found, still clinging obstinately to his belief in the guilt of Virtue Dent, had come to ask if either my mother or I knew the address in London of that luckless scapegrace brother of hers—just to clear the ground a bit," as he phrased it.
No, my mother did not, nor did I and moreover, I did not believe that Virtue knew either. Blandly questioned by the inspector as to why I thought so, I told him. Ben Dent had told his sister on the day of the robbery, when she had gone to see him at Bridgely Norton, that he meant on account of his poverty and ill-luck in general to move from the lodgings which he was then occupying, and Virtue had not heard from him as to his new place of abode. All this, in fact, the girl had told my mother with plentiful tears and sobbings on the day when the inspector's suspicions had first fallen upon her, vehemently declaring that, if she did but know where to find her brother, so that some one could go to him, they would very soon see that she had not stolen Miss Natalie's jewels to give to him, poor fellow! Mademoiselle was not there. I do not know that I should have noticed that, if in crossing to the fire I had not managed to catch my foot in the great heap of knitting which I had seen her let fall as I left the room—a piece of clumsiness which nearly threw me forward on to my nose. The noise I made in recovering my balance made madame look round, and she inquired languidly what that was.

"Only this blessed knitting!" I answered, stooping to pick it up. "If I have got it into a tangle, I can't help it. Mademoiselle shouldn't make a trap of it. I wonder where she is?"
"Perhaps she has gone to sit with Natalie," my mother suggested, indifferently.
That I knew she had not, since Nat could not bear the sight of her—a fact of which it struck me the astute governess was well aware.
"Perhaps she has one of her headaches," I suggested. "She looked pretty pale just now, I thought."
"Did she? I did not notice; but then I am really too much worried and upset to notice anything properly," madame declared, almost irritably. "I hope she is not ill, poor thing! But really it is difficult to judge, for she never complains unless she is absolutely obliged; and it is not like her to drop her work about like that. Is that Styles in the hall, Ned? Ask him where she is."

Twitching of the Nerves

A Distressing Symptom of Nervous Exhaustion Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. John McKellar, 11 Barton street east, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was injured some years ago, and that left me with a broken-down nervous system. I could not sleep, and I suffered from twitching of the nerves and disagreeable nervous sensations. I then began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I never used any medicine that did me so much good; in fact, I am entirely cured of my old trouble. The Nerve Food not only strengthened the nerves, but also built up my system in every way." Under date of Aug. 29, 1912, Mrs. McKellar writes, confirming her cure, and states that she has had inquiries from many people who had heard of the great benefits she obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. ## I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove That You Are Curable

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who will stake medicine to anyone free of charge.

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally. I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to send you the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligation to do so for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will not send you a so-called "sample" proof or test treatment, nor will I send you packages of medicine and say that you can use some of it and supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligation to do so.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is indicated, as it is not a "sample" proof or test treatment, nor will I send you packages of medicine and say that you can use some of it and supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligation to do so. I will not send you a so-called "sample" proof or test treatment, nor will I send you packages of medicine and say that you can use some of it and supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligation to do so.

free of charge. I will not send you a so-called "sample" proof or test treatment, nor will I send you packages of medicine and say that you can use some of it and supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligation to do so.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1—Pain in the back.
- 2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3—Burning or obstruction of urinate.
- 4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 5—Prostatic trouble.
- 6—Gas or pain in the stomach.
- 7—General debility, weakness, dizziness.
- 8—Pain or soreness under right rib.
- 9—Swelling in any part of the body.
- 10—Constipation or liver trouble.
- 11—Painful or pain under the heart.
- 12—Pain in the hip joint.
- 13—Pain in the neck or head.
- 14—Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
- 15—Pain or swelling of the joints.
- 16—Pain or swelling of the muscles.
- 17—Pain and soreness in nerves.
- 18—Acute or chronic rheumatism.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they work in harmony with the bladder. It strengthens the bladder so that frequent desire to urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It cures chronic rheumatism and pains immediately. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints quickly straighten out. It reconstructs the blood and cures so that you soon feel healthier and more vigorous, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout the day. It does all this and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely innocuous for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider no expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All any fair minded afflicted person wants to know is if a certain thing will cure him or her, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or importunate loss of time. THESE FEW DAYS may be the turning point in your life.

All who are interested enough to write me for the free medicine will also receive a copy of my large illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write you a letter of diagnosis and medical advice that should be of great help to you; but in order to do this I must know the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promises. Show an inclination to be cured and you will be.

Dissecting Live Poetry.

A critic takes a dissecting knife and cuts up in the Cornhill, some modern verse to see exactly what the poets mean. "Prosaic view of poetry," he calls it.
He declares that most people are deterred from such operations by pity. They say "had poetry dies soon, and it is unnecessary or even cruel to flog dead things."
Here are two of his post-mortems: "Longfellow's 'Psalm of Life' has splendid purpose, and its simplicity is beyond praise; but there are two stanzas which run thus:

Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us,
Footprints on the sands of time.
Footprints that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing may take heart again.

Now, when in fable, fiction, or history did even a sailor sailing over the main, or open sea, ever see sand without a feeling of horror, whether the sand had, or had not, footprints on it? Half the shipwrecks of history and fiction have been on sand, and to those who know something about sailing or about stories of the sea, and spells shipwreck; so that those who love Longfellow much, but love the sea more, had better dip their pens deeply in the ink and blot out the solemn main before they venture to re-read this poem. Even then matters are not much improved.

"A consummate master of fiction named Daniel DeFoe did once describe the sensations which a forlorn and shipwrecked brother, named Robinson Crusoe, when he saw a footprint in the sand. Did ever any man, woman, or child feel sensations at the thought of Homer, Shakespeare, Julius Caesar, or even Longfellow, similar to the sensations which Robinson Crusoe felt at the sight of that footprint in the sand? Turn these eight lines round and round, right side up and inside down and the more irrefragably nonsensical they appear. Being nonsense, they ought never to have been written. Strange to say, if these two fatuous stanzas are omitted, the 'Psalm of Life' is not only intelligible, but is an unmistakable, invulnerable, poetic masterpiece.

"Matthew Arnold once wrote a poem which is more musical than most of his poems, and is much admired. It is entitled 'Requiescat,' and runs thus:

Strew on roses, r. res,
And never a spray of yew;
In quiet she reposes,
Ah! would that I did too!

Her life was turning, turning,
In maze of least and grand,
But for peace her way was yearning,
And now peace lays her round.

It sounds all very beautiful and sad; but once more, what does it all mean? Does it not mean that there lived and died a young lady of fashion who spent all her evenings in dancing, and declared nevertheless that all the time she wanted rest? If she really wanted rest, why did she keep waltzing round and round continually? The tears and sighs evoked by Matthew Arnold's pathetic dirge are wasted on a little humbug."

The Best Way To Bake Fish.

Clean, dry and stuff the fish with one of the stuffings given below; grease the pan well, put two broad strips of cotton cloth across the pan before you lay the fish in (with these you can lift the fish out easily and without breaking); use salt pork or clear drippings to grease the pan. Sprinkle the fish with salt, pepper and a little flour, dot with very small bits of butter. Have the oven very hot, and bake the fish with the liquor that is in the pan. Constant basting is essential. Some cooks put a little water in the pan, but the juice from the fish and the fat from the pork will be sufficient. Medium-sized white fish will bake in one-half hour.

Stuffings For Baked Fish.

Cracker Stuffing. One cup of cracked crumbs, one level teaspoon of salt, pepper to taste, two teaspoons of chopped parsley, four tablespoons of melted butter. Moistener all with one-half cup of warm water and add one egg well beaten. This will make stuffing for a four-pound fish.

Onion Stuffing. One egg beaten light, one tablespoon sweet chopped fine, one tablespoon of minced onion, pepper and salt to taste, one cup of dry bread crumbs. Mix all together, stuff the fish, sew or tie up and bake.

Oyster stuffing. One cup of bread crumbs, two cups of oysters. Roll the oysters in the crumbs, sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Rub the inside of the fish with soft butter, fill the fish with oysters, fasten up and bake.

The Home of Good Shoes.

Interrupting Oneself.

By RUTH CAMELON.

Once upon a time, when I was a little school girl, I fumbled an examination in a subject which I liked, and which I understood fairly well. And this was the reason for my failure: the time was rather short and I was nervous, and so, instead of concentrating on each problem, finishing that and going on to the next, I flattered frantically from one to the other, and at the end of the time had only solved one problem out of five.

I am relating that sad passage in my personal history because I so often think of it when I see myself and other workers dissipating energy by flitting from one task to another.

For instance, the other day I started to dust the room. As I was dusting the table I noticed that the lamp chimney needed washing, and I laid aside my duster, took the chimney out into the kitchen and washed it. While there I stopped to make out the order list and it was sometime before I took up my dusting again.

I really meant to finish in a rush this time, but I only got as far as my desk. There my eye lit upon a library book which was due that day, and I hastened to the telephone to renew it. While at the phone I took the opportunity to call up the dressmaker. On the way back to the living room I saw a spot on the hall carpet that ought to be cleaned at once, and—well, the upshot of the whole matter was that when a neighbour "dropped in" at eleven o'clock, I had not finished dusting the living room, though I started at half past nine.

Perhaps I'm more easily distracted than the average woman, but from what I have seen of other women, I should say that a great many of them frequently make the mistake of dissipating their energy this way.

For I think it is a mistake to flitter from one duty to another and it does dissipate one's energy.

Of course, each thing I interrupted myself to do was something that had to be done sooner or later, and, of course, each duty would take about the same length of time whenever it was done. And yet, though it may seem paradoxical, I still feel sure that one gets things done more quickly by sticking to one task until it is finished and then taking up another.

The shifting of one's attention, and the moving from one place to another—as in the case of my going out into the kitchen to wash the lamp chimney—eat up a little time, and since most of us find our day so terribly inadequate to do half our living in, even the little bits of time must be looked after.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood it bathes in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey I had chills and fever," writes Mr. MICHAEL MCGUIRE of Nassau Military Home, Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and quackery I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for Liver Ills.

Household Notes.

Never cook vegetables in an iron kettle.

Sugar tends to improve the texture of cakes.

If a cake cracks open while baking, there is too much flour in it.

Soaking in cold water makes the washing of all garments much easier.

The quickest method of warming cold plates in winter is to dip them in hot water.

Baking soda will sweeten milk vessels, clean brasses and is good for dish washing.

When the nails are brittle, apply vaseline, or hold them in warm sweet oil every day.

A pinch of baking soda put into the water when cooking tough meat will make it tender.

If boiling milk is poured on the beaten eggs when making baked custard, it will bake very firm.

When a vegetable has lost its firmness, soak it in very cold water until it is crisp and plump.

A good test in choosing beef is to press it with the thumb, if it rises quickly, it is of good quality.

The flavor of peas will be much improved if a dozen pea pods are washed and cooked with them.

In making a plain omelet, it is better to add hot water than milk, as it makes it much more tender.

When covers lose their knobs, they can be replaced by new ones that can be bought for 10 cents per dozen.

Try frying fish in fat that has been saved from former frying; the flavor will be very much improved.

In the sick room, it is much more pleasant for the patient if the medicine bottles are kept out of sight.

Stems can easily be removed from currants by flouring the hands and rubbing the currants between them.

Claret wine stains can be removed from a table cloth by soaking it in warm sweet milk fresh from the cow.

Among the kitchen novelties is the individual aluminum butter mould, which prints the initial on the butter.

Brush the lower crust of a pie over with the white of an egg. This prevents the juice from soaking through.

Salt put into the water in which cabbage, cauliflower or brussels sprouts are cooked is apt to darken them.

Boiled or roasted meat that is to be cut cold should be wrapped in a clean, moist cloth. It will be more tender.

If a very light cake is put into a quick oven it will rise rapidly round the sides, but leave a hollow in the middle.

Boiled puddings should never be turned out the moment they are done. They are very likely to break if this is done.

When mixing fruit or nuts in a cake, they should be added before the flour. They will then be evenly distributed.

Fine damask linen needs no starch. If sufficiently damp and ironed until dry, it will have all the necessary dressing.

If vegetables are overcooked, their texture, toughness, their flavor is somewhat destroyed and they are not so digestible.

The ironing of woollens is more like pressing and should be done with a warm iron when the garment is almost dry.

Do not rub, do not wring, do not boil woollens. The twisting and rubbing produces shrinkage by knotting the fibres.

The Wonderful Electrical Hotel.

Breakfast in Bed by Electric Flash.

On the Boulevard des Italiens, one of the most fashionable thoroughfares of Paris, the Grand White Way of the French metropolis, stands the most wonderful new hotel in all Christendom. It is called La Maison Electrique, and is the result of the genius of its proprietor, M. George Knap.

More magnificent than the Ritz or the Carlton and all the other beautifully-equipped hostries, La Maison Electrique has the added attraction of having no bell-ropes, no porters, no waiters, and no hat-checks. Everything in this wonderful house is electrified.

As the guests arrive from their taxi-cabs an electric moving carpet is laid from the vehicle to the entrance. You are swiftly carried into the doorway, where another moving floor takes you to the desk. Here an electric pen writes three duplicates of your signature simultaneously. One is for the Prefect of Police, one for the hotel, and one for mailing back to your banker or elsewhere.

No Keys—No Stairways.

Instead of a key, you are given a little combination magnet that fits your room and no other. Then your baggage is placed on an electric shelf that carries it up directly to your room. You enter an automatic elevator that you start yourself by pressing a button and a number. The journey makes the elevator stop at a floor corresponding to it. There is no stairway in the electric hotel. Moving inclines and electric steps take their electric Even the fire-escapes are constantly moving.

When you reach your room, adjust the magnet and combination properly, and enter; you will find an electric foot-lamp, electric curling-irons, electric half-brushes and combs, and a series of electric buttons marked "Breakfast," "Wine," "Beer," "Whisky," "Luncheon," "Dinner," "Menu," "Time," and twenty-six with the whole alphabet. Besides this, there are a telephone, electric lighter, electric cigar-lighter, and other usual objects.

If you press the "Time" button, a large clock dial showing the exact minute of the night, will be flashed like a calcium on the ceiling over your bed. If you press the "Breakfast" button, in five minutes the little table beside your bed—which has a circular tray on the ceiling over your head. If you press the "Breakfast" button, in five minutes the little table beside your bed—which has a circular tray on the ceiling over your head. If you press the "Breakfast" button, in five minutes the little table beside your bed—which has a circular tray on the ceiling over your head. If you press the "Breakfast" button, in five minutes the little table beside your bed—which has a circular tray on the ceiling over your head.

The dining-room of this hotel is absolutely bare of waiters. You sit at a table, examine the bill of fare, and write with the electric pen what you wish. This automatically writes your order in the kitchen below, and in due time the centre of your table slides downstairs, soon to return with everything ordered. If anything is omitted a smaller centre-piece again descends to return shortly with the missing article.

An electric orchestra of fiddles, cellos, bass viol, harp, and piano takes the place of the humanly-manned ones. Besides all of these, there are many other electrical manoeuvres carried out. As blase and wise as the Parisians are, they all acknowledge the novelty and Aladdin-like transformations wrought by Mr. Knap in hotel life.

One Virtue.

I have a hundred faults, I know, a hundred faults that I regret; I tried to shake them long ago—alas; they linger with me yet! They linger with me in a crowd, they cling upon me like a leech; of one thing only am I proud—I never tried to make a speech. I am the man who rocks the boat, that most detested of all knaves; a thousand revelers afloat I've sent to wet untimely graves; I've seen them brought in by the tide, and strewn along the sandy beach; and said, with pardonable pride, "Ah, well, I never made a speech!" Alone I kidnapped Charlie Ross, and tore him from his loved one's arms, and I've conducted at a loss, three imitation Guinness farms; I slew my victims with a spade, and murmured, as I heard them screech: "My conscience still is unafraid—I never tried to make a speech." When near the end of human strife, a comfort great that pilgrim knows, who can look back upon his life and say, "I never, never rose, the living issues to discuss, the unwashed multitude to teach; I never raised a verbal fuss, I never tried to make a speech!"

Notes and Comments.

A SENSATION. The letter published by us on Thursday regarding Sir Ralph Williams's conduct on the Allan boat on his way home to England has caused quite a sensation in the city and outports.

ONLY TOO TRUE. The Herald doubts our correspondent's statement. We would say that our correspondent is not the person to rush into print unless there were solid grounds for doing so. Unfortunately for Sir Ralph there is sufficient evidence to prove that our correspondent's statement can easily be borne out. It is not true that the matter was talked over in the clubs here, but not made public, before the letter appeared?

APOLOGIZED. Further, we are informed that Mr. Fitzherbert had to apologize for the ex-Governor's actions while on the steamer, and more we are told, so strong was the resentment at his conduct that when port was reached the ex-Governor and his party went ashore without any of the Newfoundlanders saying good bye or shaking hands with them.

WHAT DOES IT MATTER? But after all--what does it matter? Most Newfoundlanders have a better opinion of themselves than they have of Sir Ralph, and it is only individuals like P. T. McGrath who have been toying the greater part of their lives, will attempt to condone the ex-Governor's bad manners.

Supreme Court.

Joseph Baker and Son versus Edward Bishop. The Plaintiffs, who do business in Marytown, Mortier Bay, sold to the defendant Capt. Bishop, of Wesleyville, two traps for $475. The sale was concluded last November and the traps were taken home by defendant. Subsequently he claimed that on examination the traps were found to be worthless and he refused to pay the price agreed. The Plaintiffs maintained that the traps which were second hand, were in good condition when sold, but as Mr. Baker and his family are about to emigrate to Moosejaw, Alta., very shortly and were anxious to close their business in Newfoundland, they accepted Captain Bishop's offer of $375 and costs.

The action was set down for trial to-day and when it was called Mr. P. J. Summers for the Plaintiffs, stated the action had been set down and asked to have the record withdrawn. Mr. Morine, K.C. for the Defendant, ordered accordingly.

Commercial Cable Company versus Government of Newfoundland.

Mr. Kent, K.C., asked for a day. Saturday in the 12th of April set. Mr. Furlong, K.C. for the Government, Mr. William Dryer versus the Nfld. Clothing Company. Mr. Kent, K.C., asked for day for trial. Mr. Furlong, K.C., stated that Moses Myers was a material witness and was out of the country. This is an action for damages for the projection of defendant's wall over plaintiff's property. Mr. Furlong asked for commission to take Mr. Myers' evidence. Mr. Kent, K.C., objected to postponement stating the case was set down several times and was postponed pending negotiations. Further that he wanted Mr. Myers' evidence taken while he was in the country recently. The Court granted a commission. The question of costs of the commission stands over. The Court then adjourned till Monday at 11 o'clock.

The Mission.

Last night Rev. Fr. McAndish preached at the mission service at St. Patrick's Church, taking as his text the words from the Gospel of St. Matthew, "He who will not hear the Church, let him be to thee as the heathen and the publican." The sermon was an eloquent one and seldom has its like been heard here. This morning hundreds received Holy Communion, and to-night at the service the altar of the Blessed Virgin will be decorated with the flowers offered by the men who have done the mission. The mission will conclude with the service at 7 p.m. to-morrow.

YOKAMA, To-day. A fire which began yesterday caused damage to the extent of seven million dollars in the business quarter of the city. A number of silk factories and warehouses and 250 other buildings were destroyed.

BALTIMORE, To-day. Three hundred tons of dynamite, that was being loaded on the British tramp steamer "Alum Chine" in the Lower Harbor off Port Howard, exploded yesterday morning, instantly killing from forty to fifty men, wounding and maiming three score more, some of whom may die, and dealing destruction to more than $600,000 worth of property. The "Alum Chine" and the loading scow alongside, were completely annihilated. The tug Atlantic, which twice went to the rescue of the imperilled seamen was set on fire, and later sank. Buildings in Baltimore cities and towns many miles away were rocked by the force of the explosion. The cause of the disaster is unknown, but the federal authorities have instituted a thorough investigation to place the blame. Excited survivors told conflicting stories, some insisting that a negro stevedore caused the explosion by jamming a pipe into a case of dynamite. This was denied by eyewitnesses who declare that smoke had been pouring from the "Alum Chine" hold for several minutes before the explosion occurred. Many bodies, it is believed, will never be recovered from the icy waters. Of

A reply of the Allies to the Powers' offer of mediation of the war in South Eastern Europe, is still awaited. It is asserted in diplomatic circles that the Allies in no case will consent to anything of the nature of submitting any questions to arbitration, even if they should be willing to accept European mediation. According to a report from Sofia, the reply of the Allies will be handed to the Powers on Monday, terms including demand for indemnity. No news was received from the theatre of war yesterday. It is stated that the Greeks captured 108 around Janina, including 35 siege guns.

LONDON, To-day. The British Parliament was prorogued for one of the shortest recesses in its history. It is to reassemble on Monday, March 10th for another of those busy sessions for which the Liberal Government have become famous. The King's Speech from the Throne will probably be the briefest on record, on such an occasion, merely expressing regret that members of the two Houses would have only a nominal period of release from their labors. Last session was a long one, but almost every day was marked by a determined fight between the two front benches, in which private members had little opportunity of doing anything but register his vote when the time came.

HOUSE of ASSEMBLY

Opposition Worrying the Government—Kent & Clift Storming the Redoubts and Silencing Their Guns.

The Speech from the Throne occupied the entire sitting of the House yesterday. Mr. Clift presented petitions from St. Patrick's, Luke's Arm, Collet's Arm and Wood's Harbor on the subject of roads and a wharf, and the replies to the questions of the previous day were deferred until they were ready.

The Colonial Secretary informed Mr. Keat that the Reid Mfd. Co. had not taken up any land under the 1910 Contract.

Supply was granted on motion of the Minister of Finance, and the rest of the matter on the order paper was deferred.

Mr. Bennett then moved the adoption of the report of the Committee selected to draft the Address in Reply.

Mr. Clift taking up the Speech from the Throne gave it a searching criticism, taking it paragraph by paragraph, which he submitted to a close analysis. Among the interesting things he said in the course of his speech was that we would suppose that since its advent to power the present Government had done something by which this great reduction in taxation was rendered possible. He said not see what the Government had done the past four years in order to enable them to remit these taxes. The remission of the taxation on these articles was the policy of the Bond administration, which placed the present Government in a position to relieve the taxpayers of this duty, and it was the fruits of the seeds sown not by the present Government, but by their predecessors. Such being the case, the Premier and his colleagues could not for a moment say that they were responsible for being in a position to hand back this revenue. The next paragraph referred to the "substantial progress made by the Contractor with the construction work." That declaration conveyed nothing new. It was well known he had been so engaged the past two years, that the Irons had been laid to Bonavista and the rails laid towards Trepassay and Heart's Content. They knew, however, that these five branches would cost a great deal more than they were told by the Premier they would cost. He (the Premier) said in introducing the Bill that they would cost $4,000,000. Mr. Clift thought by the time they were finished the cost would be nearer $8,000,000. The Speech said the work on the Trepassay and Heart's Content roads would be resumed early next summer, and the construction work on the Bay de Verde, Fortune Bay and Bonne Bay lines would begin this year and completed as early as possible. All the work possible they knew would be given on these branches before the day of reckoning came—before the day when his friends opposite would be judged by the people. Work galore would be given on them so that when the time arrived for the marking of the ballots this would be fresh in the memories of the people. Two of the branches would be finished in the early summer and the construction work on the other three would be done as soon as possible. These three are Bay de Verde, Fortune and Bonne Bays, and the other two, Heart's Content and Trepassay. Bonavista branch would be the sixth. He (Mr. Clift) thought that five was the number contemplated in the original contract. The Premier no doubt would be able to give an explanation accounting for the sixth branch. The Old Age Pension scheme was not new to them and he could not see why it should be given a particular place in the Speech. That measure had been in operation two years. When it was introduced the number to participate in the benefits of its provisions was to be increased at the rate of 400 a year. This year an additional 400 would be added to the total, and would pretty well complete all those entitled to receive it up to 75 years. Personally he was very much in favor of the principle of the scheme, but he contended that the benefits of it should accrue to a man before he was 75. If a man could eke out an existence till he reached that age, then he would somehow or other find enough to carry him along the rest of his days. If this principle of old age pensions was a good one, then he (Mr. Clift) held that the benefits for these worn-out toilers should accrue before they were too old to enjoy them, and if the principle be admitted, the amount should be more than that given to-day, and without the strict enquiries made at the present time. Granted that the principle was good, and that the Colony could afford it, then every man arriving at a certain age should become entitled to it. The Government discriminated between two men of 75 because one had some little assistance from his family which the other had not. The man lacking the assistance might not, however, be in as great need as the other. There should be no discrimination, therefore he did not think there was much in that paragraph. Then they were told that they would have to consider a measure to create a fund to relieve the dependants of "bread winners who lost their lives battling with the seas in fishing and mercantile vessels. One could not well discuss the merits of the proposal before it was brought before the House. It struck him, however, that this must be something in the nature of an insurance scheme. It must be so in order to be equitable to the people of the country. The Workmen's Compensation Act covered this matter in connection with other industries and they covered their liabilities by insurance. They were old in the Speech that certain capitalists were about to undertake the erection of factories on the S. W. coast for the manufacture of glue from fish offal and dogfish. An excellent idea, but he would like to see the factory in operation before placing any expenditure on it. In the speeches which they had had from time to time, so many of these institutions were exploited and placed upon the Statute Book with a flourish of trumpets as if a great boon was to be conferred on the people, that he could not but be sceptical when he saw little, if anything, being done in this direction. It savoured in his (Mr. Clift's) mind of that kind of legislation known as "Cold Storage." They were next informed of the advantages of the daily train service, and that the movement justified its existence. He did not think anyone who took cognizance of that service the first four months could see anything satisfactory about it. First it was fair, but the transportation facilities for mails, passengers and freight were unsatisfactory altogether. They were also told of the extension of the Northern Labrador steamer service. When the report bearing on the matter was received they could judge of the facilities it afforded. Now they knew very little about it. After reciting the benefits to be derived from the Harbor Grace dock, made possible by the guarantee of the interest on the expenditure by the Legislature, and which it is now plain the Government must make good, encouragement, they were told in the Speech should be given for the creation of wharves and docks in other parts of the country. He feared that if the Government undertook any similar guarantees in other places they would not enjoy freedom from liability under the guarantee clause. Railway docks in Harbor Grace had been a paying proposition up to the present time, but great difficulty was found in the required capital, and if he was correctly informed all the capital for the dock now there had not yet been subscribed. As regards the paragraph in the Speech dealing with the 500 miles of telegraph wires that it is to be continued, and completed, it was hard to express an opinion until he had the Postmaster General's report on the new offices and the general service of the Postal Telegraphs in the Colony. In some of the many offices established, he was informed that the annual income of the office was not sufficient to pay for the fuel consumed. There was such a thing as overdoing this matter of the extension of telegraphs. Personally he believed in extension and furthering the facilities of our traders in every possible way, because they were in the interest of trade and commerce, but there was a limit, and it should be observed. The Speech then dealt with the dredge. A dredge in certain sections was a godsend. He knew harbors that would be refuges of safety if dredged, and he hoped the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who was so interested in the dredge, would see that steam was kept up on her all the time from now until the 1st of November to get round the Colony to do as much dredging as possible before that date, so that all may have the benefits of this work. Further provision, the Speech says, will be made for education and night schools established for young men. This was laudable and he hoped would be taken advantage of, and when they knew the amount of subsidy for this later they would be able to discuss the merits or demerits of the proposal. The question of education we must look straight in the face and treat upon a more business like basis. Though large sums were spent on the encouragement of education, they had accomplished very little comparatively. Sufficient had been voted to supply many settlements with new schools. If we had not to divide the grants up there would be sufficient to build new schools in places now lacking them, but the amounts were doled out to each denomination to three different creeds, often when one school should be sufficient. The time must come when this will cease, as it will be viewed from a business standpoint and not from one of sentiment. As regards the surplus of $211,000, that surplus would have been much more if greater regard were had for the economical carrying out of the Colony's services. For the past three or four years very considerable increases had taken place in the amounts voted under the heading of "Civil

Give Your Liver and Bowels a Thorough Cleansing with Gentle 'Syrup of Figs.'

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something to-night."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts, or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. It's as gentle as that of fruit; it's as nourishing as that of fruit; it's as refreshing as that of fruit; it's as palatable as that of fruit; it's as effective as that of fruit; it's as safe as that of fruit; it's as reliable as that of fruit; it's as sure as that of fruit; it's as good as that of fruit; it's as great as that of fruit; it's as wonderful as that of fruit; it's as marvelous as that of fruit; ### Morris Forced

To the Wall by the Demands of the People and the "People's Paper."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Of course it is quite to be expected that the removal of customs duties from tea, sugar, pork and beef would cause the organs of the Picnic Party to shout hurrah for Morris, who has reduced the taxes. I have noticed, with pleasure, that the Evening Telegram is determined that credit should go to whom it belongs, and I heartily support that attitude of the People's Paper. To our friend Tim Shanahan, much credit is due for the reduction, also to the Evening Telegram and Coaker. They have shouted reduction so persistently, and demanded so stoutly that the taxes be reduced, that Morris saw no other course to adopt. After having been literally forced to the wall by the demands of the people, through the stout advocates above mentioned, they yet have the cheek to applaud Morris for the deed; for doing what he could not help doing. As Mr. Kent expressed it, it is like a death-bed repentance. Their repentance, on the very eve of an election, comes too late to be accepted as other than a bare-faced attempt to purchase respect from a people whom they have so long outraged, and is sure to be resented. There are sins that are past forgiveness, and there are sins committed by the Picnic Party, for which there has been no redress and no redress is thought of.

We are accustomed to hear from Patsy of shattered fame, much talk of that money we get from Bell Island, that money on the mining output, but we do not hear a word from him about the damage being done to public property by the mining companies operating on Bell Island. I refer now to the amount of damage being done in Spaniard's Bay through the removal of those companies, of many thousands of tons of gravel from the beach there. The main road crosses that beach, and on account of the removal of the gravel and shingle, is being encroached upon by the sea. If the deprecation is permitted to continue, this country will, in a very short time, be put to the expense of constructing an altogether new road. Morris has not the courage to say to those companies as Bond said to Reid, leave that beach as you find it. Do not touch one stone of it, it does not belong to you, it is the people's property and we must protect it.

I am told that Reid had gone so far as to lay a track across the beach for the purpose of removing the gravel for ballast, when Eli Dave forbade him to meddle, and commanded him to remove his track, there was some backbone in the Bond-Dave combination, not so in the Morris-Piccott company. How have they sold themselves to the big concerns or abdicated so completely the rights of the people? We are being shamefully ignored by this miserable agglomeration known as the Picnic Party. Whither are they dragging us? Like captives to the Roman conquerors, we are being dragged along to what depths of degradation it is hard to see. Tied to the wheels of the victors' chariots, we are hurried along. The shouts of the frenzied few to whom the spoils are going, assail with painful effect the ears of those who, more sober than the maddened throng of victors, would restrain them in their forward rush to destruction. Drunk with victory, for four years, they have held high carnival, and nothing seems to check them. Spend, spend, spend! is the motto. Give money here, give money there; we must purchase with the money of the wealth producer, the fisherman and all who toil to bring wealth into the country, where argument less persuasive is ineffective. We must have a Judas here, a Judas there, to do our nasty work for us, is the plan of the Morris gang.

I have heard of men receiving from the public funds as much as $60, for which no return has even been given, or for that matter expected. Men are given money to spend on roads, etc., and not a stroke of work performed. One man is given an amount of money to spend. He refuses to accept the usual commission, and is virtually told to do as he likes. He takes day's pay. Not anxious to rush himself out of a job, he hires a man or two, and as "the more days the more dollars" is his motto, the work is spun out very slowly. There is nobody to say, here, take your commission or nothing. Morris will not, oh, no! Who then, Piccott? Certainly not.

The Reids are doing just as they like. The trains are permitted to rust on the rails, whenever an excuse in the form of a big fall of snow overtakes a week or more, because the Bruce is stuck. The Reids are being paid a nice fat sum to carry the mails. Why are they not forced to get them along? Who is to compel them? Is it Morris? Last winter a charter was granted certain capitalists or speculators. Permission was granted them to dam Deer and Grand Lakes, without due enquiry into the amount of damage such damming was likely to bring about to private and public property. Just another instance of how Morris disregards the true interests of the country. To have a big pulp mill started, or even mooted, would be another lever to popularity, so thought Morris, and no more. With all his shouting, he has not started one single industry, not one!

Speaking of prosperity, Morris and his papers quite ignore one great factor in the case. "A penny saved is a penny gained," that being admitted, we have to reckon with the thousands of dollars saved to the fishermen through the Union Trading Company and the F.P.U. Nearly $100,000 have been put into circulation through the Union Trading Company, that were lying idle in the homes of the fishermen throughout the country. Till the formation of the U. T. Co., the fishermen feared to bring out their earnings. They would not trust the banks, for the same reason that a burnt child dreads the fire. That $100,000 being actively engaged, is a strong factor in the prosperity that Morris boasts of. I will have more to say later on about prosperity, and also something to say with regard to the gift of Sanatoria to the Government.

House of Assembly.

Government." On the 30th June, 1909, the total vote under this head was $155,561.66, while in 1912 it was $223,188.32, showing an increase expended under this head of $67,626.57. Large sums were also spent under other heads for this same period, chiefly for the Post Office Telegraph services, and the expenditure under that head for 1909 was $460,904.00, and in 1912, $592,605.45, showing an increase for the department of $131,701. All must admire the manner in which our sister colonies and Dominions acted in their efforts for the defence of the Empire, and His Excellency referred to their splendid contributions towards Imperial Defence. The responsibility for this Colony's contribution must rest with Ministers of the Crown. He had no doubt we, when the proper time came, would do our duty. Our means were small but our hearts were large. His Excellency in closing says Newfoundland for the past 4 years has enjoyed a degree of prosperity never before equalled. Hon. members should not get away with the idea that this prosperity never before equalled was due to anything that had been done by the present Government during their term of office. It had been due to the process of nature and Providence, good harvests on land and sea which yielded better results than they formerly did and it was fortunate for those who were in the Government now that during their tenure of office they met with such prosperity. But this was not through any particular act or merit of theirs but by the blessing of Providence and the fruits of the seeds sown in earlier days. In the beginning of his speech His Excellency told of the great reduction in taxation. Putting that in the early part of the speech meant the playing of one of the Government's trump cards, but they kept another trump up their sleeve to be played at the end of the speech, and it was that in four years our trade had increased by 23 per cent with substantial surpluses of increase over expenditure each year making it possible to augment public works and establish new public services. This was to impress the public mind with the great things done by the Government during their term of office. If these had been unapproached in the annals of the public service of the Colony it was because the revenues during the periods of preceding Governments had not been so bountiful or large to enable them to expend monies on those great works and services, but the revenues left by the Government's predecessors in office enabled them to do as they stated. This paragraph was intended as an appeal to the people of the Colony on behalf of those now sitting on the ministerial benches, but he (Mr. Clift) thought that when the time came for the people of the Colony to select their representatives for the next session of the Legislature, that even the large expenditure, the large amount of reduction in taxation within the past four years would not be sufficient for them to place their confidence in those who are now governing in this colony, but that the aspect of this House will be changed, and although this session the Opposition are numerically weaker, he would say that those who would be sitting there next time would be fewer in number still, and they would not be members of the Liberal Party.

The Premier here in a rather laborious effort replied to the keen thrusts of Mr. Clift in which he denied appealing to the Governor's Speech, and retorted "you're another" when he said that the Bond Party had similarly appealed to the Colony in Sir William MacGregor's time. He claimed the increases to be due to the wise policy of the Government, indulged in the usual amount of political self-laudation and presumably to relieve the shortness of evening hovering nearby, gave still another father to the famous Mackintosh cod, who was first said to be Mr. Knowling and now Sir Robert Bond, though all will see the resemblance between the Premier and this much discussed wad.

Mr. Kent attacked the Government in a style which proved his ability and made the Government people wince. He saw nothing of a constructive character in the speech, it was intended rather to catch the eye than the mind and was not intended for those who might take it seriously. It contained nothing new. Taxation was reduced by the Bond Government as well as this, though when they came into power conditions were so bad that the then Finance Minister stated that to save the country's credit it would be necessary to sell our railway which cost $13,000,000 for $1,000,000. However by wise legislation and good management this was all changed in 4 years and the era of prosperity we now see and the credit for which is taken by the present Government, was ushered in. He reiterated that the present fiscal prosperity was the fruit of the economic policy of the Bond Government, and drove home his arguments with force and clearness in a speech which we regret lack of space precludes us from printing to-day.
A feeble attempt at reply was made by the Premier after which an adjournment was taken till 3 p.m. Monday.

The Fountain Pen.

BY H. L. RANN.

The fountain pen is a portable ink well which leaks with great freedom at one end and if necessary can leak at both. It frequently occurs that the leakage takes place while the owner is thinking of other things, which causes him to give the pen to his wife as a birthday present.

All of the fountain pens made nowadays are absolutely non-leaking when in an empty state. Many a man has bought himself one of these water-tight pens and filled it with a tenacious brand of copying ink, then turned it upside down in his vest pocket in order to rebuke skeptical members of his family. After he has tried this three or four times and ruined the title page of several $2 shirts, he will resurrect his old pencil holder and clamp it to his inside coat pocket with a vicious look.

Fountain pens always manage to run out of ink at the exact moment when a man's time is worth $24 an hour. The pen then has to be taken down in sections, during which it succumbs in depositing the contents of its emergency tank on the cuffs of the owner, after which it is filled with a clever little device called a dropper. By the time a man has ruined a pair of non-reversible cuffs and worked a large quantity of indelible ink under his finger nails, he is so nervous that he couldn't aim the dropper at the top of a sugar barrel and hit it three times out of five. The self-filling pen does away with this trouble by choking up along about the third round, after which it has to be cleaned out with a broom corn and a high grade of profanity.

Most fountain pens work by fits and starts, mainly by fits. A man will be writing a caressing letter to his fiancée, on scented note paper, when his pen will struggle in the midst of an endearing sentence and throw dark blue slivers all over the page. He then has to begin all over and look up words of more than two syllables in the dictionary again. When a fountain pen refuses to give down, all that is necessary is to tap it on the paper, when it will release its entire reservoir at one fell blow.

Confirmed For Rheumatism.

Rev. Joshua Kimber, in his "Reminiscences," tells the following anecdote of the late Bishop Horatio Potter:—

He had been journeying up the east bank of the Hudson River, stopping for confirmation each day at adjoining parishes. When he reached Poughkeepsie he saw a woman at the rail waiting for confirmation whose face he was sure he recognized and was somewhat familiar with. He was also certain that she had been confirmed within the week at another place. The Bishop whispered to her to remain after service, and said:—"My dear madam, what do you mean by coming for confirmation? I am sure I confirmed you on Monday at such a place. Did I not?" She said: "You certainly did. I have been following you up the river and have been confirmed every day this week."

He, astonished, said: "Why did you do that?" Whereupon she replied: "Because I heard it was good for rheumatism."

INTERESTING CASE.

An interesting case will be heard in the Magistrate's Court next week. The principals are the City Council vs. the St. John's Skating Rink Co., and the Council vs. the Nfld. Hockey League. The defendants in the case were written by the Council, demanding a tax on the proceeds of the Gymkhana and series of hockey games played recently. Both claims were repudiated.

Morris' Latest Election Dodge

Brazen Attempt to Delude the People in the Dying Days of His Government.

Morris hopes to delude the people by his daring election kite—the reduction of taxes on tea, sugar, pork and beef—but his hopes will be unfulfilled. The people are well aware that this is done to deceive them; that it is as Mr. Kent properly described it, in criticizing the Speech from the Throne, a deathbed repentance.

If the revenue is capable of bearing a reduction of $400,000 at the present time, it was just as well able to do so in the first year of Morris' term. Reduction of taxation, so that it might bear equitably on rich and poor alike was one of the earliest as it was one of the most oft repeated and solemn pledges of the Premier. Yet he waits until the very latest session of the House to put it into force. In the meantime the fisherman, the farmer, the tradesman and all who work for a living have been compelled to pay unnecessarily high prices on these essentials for the poor man's table.

Each recurring year since Morris assumed office, the revenue, as a result of the statesmanlike, far-sighted measures for the development of the country's resources, adopted and put into force by the Government of Sir Robert Bond, has enjoyed overflowing revenues. Not a cent, with the exception of the Bell Island royalties, is due in anyway to Sir Edward Morris.

The great mainstay of the Colony, the fisheries, have not had their products enhanced in value one jot or tittle by anything that Morris or his Minister of Fisheries has done. It would be more true to say that because of the tampering with the Bait Act and scandalous way its enforcement has been abandoned, that positive injury has been done. It is purely Morris' fault if our competitors have been placed in a better position to catch and market their voyages of codfish. The best his apologist, the Editor of the News, can claim for him, is that he aided in the formation of the Board of Trade.

But that gentleman in the long series of thirty or more articles boosting the Morris works, preserved a significant silence on this aspect of the Government's policy.

Why, we ask, did Morris wait so long to grant this boon to the labouring classes of the country? He has had control of tremendous surpluses for the past four years and the revenue has showed the same proportionate increase that obtained under the Bond Administration. Is it that he might have greater freedom in that remarkable career of extravagance that was sown, bore fruit and is still blooming under the presiding genius of the Picnic Chief? Is it not an indisputable fact, that will be borne out by the figures of the Finance Minister, that if the country can now afford this large reduction of taxation, but for the gross extravagance and the careless way in which money has been squandered the tax burdened tolling masses would have had the benefit of free sugar, tea, pork and beef three years ago?

If the great misfortune which befell this country when the present gang of spendthrifts, loqd and fee grabbers were given control of the Colony's affairs had not happened; if a deluded, but now clear seeing and repentant electorate, had entrusted Sir Robert Bond and his standard bearers of the great Liberal Party, the task which that statesman imposed on himself when he reduced taxes to the extent of $160,000, would have been continued and extended and included not alone the articles Morris has placed on the free list, but many other necessities of life.

It is doubtful if Morris is sincere. He has so loaded the back of the taxpayer with his railway debts and has laid the Colony under obligation for so many increases in the permanent charges against the Colony's revenues that it is difficult to see how even his methods of frenzied finance will succeed in reducing duties by $400,000 without leaving a large deficit for the Colony to face.

In counting on a progressive increase in the surplus Morris apparently takes no account of the ever increasing interest; road, poor, education and other annual revenue charges. Probably he does not care. His sloppiness at most times runs to downright foolishness and he is notoriously incapable of understanding figures. Praying and believing that the wrath of the people will escape him and fall on his successors he is prepared to make any promise.

to undertake the most hazardous feats if he can succeed once more in deceiving the people. Another four years of big fees, picnics, soft jobs, railway and legal fees, land and other grants and they all can snap their fingers at the people.

But they must be blind if they do not see, or if they mistake the trend of the popular movement now sweeping the country. That movement presents clearly day after day that one thing is certain, the Morris-Morison Government must go! Disgust and contempt are the mildest terms the majority of the people hold for them.

HAD RHEUMATISM IN ALL MY BONES

"Sometimes I Could Hardly Walk!"
2 Boxes of Gin Pills Cured Me

I SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured. I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Pills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without Gin Pills.

EUGENE QUESNEL,
Chief City Circulation Agent,
"La Patrie" Montreal.

Drive your old enemy out of your system. Be free of pain. Be able to walk and work and enjoy life. Away with pain in the back, Rheumatism, and Kidney Troubles. Take Gin Pills. A few boxes now, will mean ease and comfort for the rest of the year.

Remember, Gin Pills are sold on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction or your money refunded. 50c. a box, 5 for $2.50. You may try them before you buy them. Sample free if you write the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

Reduction of taxes will be accepted as a right, but little gratitude will be offered for a favour so long withheld and which is now given in an attempt to stem the tide of unpopularity which Morris knows is welling around him more strongly every hour.

On one other point the average voter has also made up his mind: that the experiment of a Morris-Morison-Crosbie-Piccott Combine has been tried and failed and the country cannot afford another.

YOUR BABY'S SKIN.

is the most delicate fabric in the world. You may cause it permanent harm by using poisonous mineral ointment for the little rashes and eruptions that every baby suffers from occasionally. Don't take any chance. Use Zam-Buk, the baby's best balm. Zam-Buk is made from fine herbal extracts, and is free from any harmful poisonous coloring matter. Like the grasses and the flowers, nature has colored it green. It is nature's own healer!

Most ointments and salves have, as their foundation, various animal oils and fats. Zam-Buk does not contain one atom of animal substance. Most ointments and salves are too coarse to be absorbed by the tender delicate skin of a baby, and remain on the skin an irritating mass. Just put a little Zam-Buk on baby's skin, and see how soon it is absorbed, showing conclusively that the pores of the skin are greedily for it.

Use nothing but Zam-Buk for baby's skin troubles and wash with Zam-Buk Soap.

Zam-Buk should also be used for cuts, burns, scalds, eczema, piles, ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

Nickel's Splendid Show

The Nickel Theatre's programme yesterday was easily the best for some time. It opened with a pathic weekly showing a great railway fire in Vienna, motor boat race at Huntington, N.Y., for the Harward prize. Railway accident at Needer-goseberg, Germany and others concluding with mid-winter fashions in millinery from Paris. "Life's supreme Treasure," is a pretty story. "Resignation" is one of the best 'movies' ever seen and should be witnessed by every parent. It tells of a young mother whose little boy dies, and her dream of what he would have been had he lived. It is a marvellous picture, highly interesting and appeals to all. "The Belle of New Orleans" is an attractive film while the "Installation Plan" kept the audience in roars of laughter. There was an extra reel in place of the song. The programme will be repeated this afternoon. Special matinee for children.

Music by Wireless.

Accidental Discovery at U.S. Radio Station.

Newport, R.I., Feb. 23.—What purposes to be a wireless telephone was discovered here to-day at the navy radio station, while tuning up to send messages to the Arlington station box. After obtaining a high tension, the operator was startled by voices, which were heard at somewhat irregular intervals. After careful manipulation of the instrument a graphophone was distinctly heard and four or five tunes were recognized by the operators.

Commander George W. Williams, U.S.N., inspector in charge of the naval torpedo station here, was so impressed with the possibilities of the new invention that he will make an official investigation and he will forward a report to the Navy department.

Entertainment

AT KING GEORGE V. INSTITUTE.

Another interesting and successful entertainment was held at the New Seaman's Institute last night. The Greenleaf Hall where the pictures were shown was filled to its utmost capacity. At 8.30 Governor Davidson, attended by Major Davenport, A.D.C., entered the building. On this occasion the audience, fully eight hundred sealters, arose and rendered the National Anthem.

When all were seated, pictures were shown of the icefields, depicting the perils and conditions encountered by the sealers and which gave His Excellency some idea in the main of what those who tread the frozen pans have to contend with. After a flash light photo had been taken of all present, the Governor gave an address emphasizing that he was glad to be among such men whom he had met for the first time. He referred to the many marks of Royal favour shown ## Vessels Arrive.

The vessels Dorothy Baird, 33 days from Bahia; Freedom, 42 days from Bahia; and Ada Peard, 51 days from the same place, arrived this morning in ballast, after very rough passages. The latter vessel had a hard time of it and lost a portion of her sails in the strong gales that she met on this coast.

The schooner Tobaccat, Peites, also reached port to-day from Cadiz with a cargo of salt. Terrific weather was experienced and the vessel had her foremast carried away. Heavy seas constantly boarded the Tobaccat and damage was done about decks. On arrival considerable water was found in the forepeak.

CHAPTER XXII.—THE STORY OF DR. WALSH.

The career of Dr. Walsh at Great Burin was one of usefulness and honor; and in all that he did he proved himself a Briton true and faithful. Of course in deserting he displayed a weakness which under certain conditions would be unworthy either a British soldier or sailor; but when the entire story is considered, and his former good record, and his subsequent career weighed in the balance, the account stands well in his favor, and ranks him as a hero. Perhaps could he have managed to conceal his companion until the ship had finished her commission, and report himself at headquarters, there would have been a possibility of justification; but having failed in his intention, and being discovered in his breach of discipline, he no doubt did the only thing that could have been done, unless he were prepared to suffer death or dishonor, and thus entail untold suffering upon his wife; and besides this, there was the possibility of a tacit understanding between the captain and the Doctor that escape by desertion could be made.

During the first year of the Doctor's residence at Great Burin he always felt timid at the passing of ships; but he was never disturbed in his quiet home. On one occasion, at the time of the American Revolution, he understood they were pressing men, and feared the possibility of his whereabouts being known. By that time he was quite comfortable; and was perfectly satisfied with his home and his condition. He did not wish to make any change whatever, not even that of returning to England to his friends and relatives there. He had his own home and friends, and the woman he loved; and found in her a companion true and worthy in every way. But he deemed "discretion the better part of valor," and so in the fall of the year he removed and crossed over the Reach, and went up into Burin Bay Arm, where he stayed some six or eight months until the Canter was past. He built a temporary residence at that place, but was warm and comfortable and made the best of it. In due time he returned to fish, and also to practice medicine. The place at which he spent the winter at Burin Bay Arm was called "Doctor's Cove," because of Dr. Walsh having lived there; and to this day that particular spot still goes by the same name.

Thus his monuments are two-fold; the Cove at Burin Bay Arm which bears his name; and the old forts at Great Burin which he was instrumental in constructing. At a good age he finished his career, and left a good record; and for a century or so he and the wife of his youth have slept side by side in the little village; and though their story was a romantic one, and one that is only known to the few, it meant a great deal to them; and also to Great Burin.

And so we close the tale of our hero and heroine; believing that its recital has been worth while. There is much in the story that teaches of the past, and which should inspire for the future. In closing we desire to record our thanks to Captain Hollett for his information, in the romantic tale which he has given our readers. We may further add that twenty chapters did not cover the ground which we intended; and we will therefore add another story to close with; trusting that some little good will be accomplished thereby; and that we will learn to think more of our land and of her possibilities; and do our best to bring her to the place where she should be. There is certainly a better place for Newfoundland than she has yet attained unto and while the hindrances are perhaps not easy to locate, it may not be incorrect to assume, that we do not study our own history sufficiently and have not learned that true patriotism which, rising above self, party, and sect, does its duty, irrespective of consequences.

CAN LAUGH AT LIFE'S MINOR ILLS

SINCE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HER KIDNEY DISEASE.

New Brunswick Woman Tells How She Was Rescued from Ill Health By The Twin Remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Neguae, Allan P. O., N. B., March 7.—(Special).—Mrs. Joseph G. Savoy, a well known resident of this place, whose health has been a matter of much concern to her friend, is telling of the cure she found for all her troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"My health is fine now," Mrs. Savoy says, in an interview. "The pains are gone from my side and back, and when I go to bed I can sleep. Before I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets I could not eat anything heavy such as meat, but now I can eat practically what I please with no ill effects."

Mrs. Savoy was in a generally run-down condition, and her cure came about by using the natural remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured and invigorated her kidneys, thus purifying her blood and improving the circulation.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets insured proper digestion of her food, thus furnishing the body with the nutrition it required. Women with healthy kidneys and sound digestion can afford to laugh at the minor ills of life.

Five thousand dollars has been placed with the Guardian, by Prowse Bros., as a basis of the new church fund. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it was evidently started in the boiler room.

C. R. THOMSON, ESQ.,
Manager Nfld. Boot & Shoe Co., Ltd.,
St. John's, Nfld.
Dear Sir.—This will introduce to you, Mr. A. G. Park of Wolf Creek, who is one of the largest ranch-owners in this State. He is anxious to secure the exclusive agency for California, and Oregon, for your special boots.

We have had the very best satisfaction from the boots which you made for us, when we were last in Newfoundland, and so far, we have travelled 26,000 miles in them, and they are still in first-class condition.

I may also add that we have had them resoled seven times.
In closing would say that should you decide to establish an agency here I know of no one better suited than Mr. Park to take it, as he has a very large acquaintance among his fellow-ranchers.

Yours very truly,

The Nfld. Boot & Shoe Mfg. Co., Ltd.
Dear Sirs.—In December of 1910, you supplied to my order a pair of boots made from the "Icegrain" leather, manufactured by the Sudbury

Tannery, and you now ask me to report my experience of their use.

I wore the boots constantly during the winter and spring of 1910-11 and of 1911-12. They proved to be perfectly watertight, warm, soft, and comfortable, and of very enduring quality. They are infinitely superior to porpoise hide boots in resisting snow-water, and they do not, like porpoise hide boots, harden, and crack and keep the feet cold.

I am still wearing the same pair of boots, and there is yet no sign of cracking, or hardening of the leather, and they have kept their original shape, without stretching or wrinkling. Yours very truly, (Sgd.) HERBERT KNIGHT.

St. John's, Nfld., March 1st, 1913.

C. R. THOMSON, ESQ.,
Manager Nfld. Boot & Shoe Mfg. Co., Ltd.

Dear Sir.—I take pleasure in bearing testimony to the extraordinary value of my pair of "Icegrain" leather boots that you made for me four years ago.

They are remarkably light and comfortable to wear, but the best quality of all is that in spite of four winters hard usage they are to-day, as thoroughly waterproof, as on the day they came new from the last. They are invaluable during the wet cold weather of spring, and also during heavy rains, and for out-of-town holiday trips. Yours truly,

Manager Nfld. Boot & Shoe Mfg. Company, Limited,
St. John's, Nfld.

Dear Sir.—Replying to your inquiry of recent date as to how I found the boots made from your "Icegrain" leather, I wish to say that I consider they meet all the requirements of a WATERPROOF Boot.

They are most durable, and after twelve months wear are as soft and pliable as when they first left your hands.

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) C. P. EAGAN.

C. R. THOMSON, ESQ.,
Manager Nfld. Boot & Shoe Mfg. Company, Ltd.

Dear Sir.—It affords me great pleasure to add my testimonial to those you may already have, about your "Icegrain" waterproof boots.

Four years ago I purchased a pair of these boots, and two years ago had another pair made, and the first pair, is to-day as good as when they left your hands, with the exception that they have been re-soled.

I have worn many kinds of so-called waterproof boots, but never had such satisfaction and comfort as that which I experienced since wearing your boots.

I have and shall recommend your goods to every one I know who are looking for a genuine waterproof boot, combined with softness and pliability. Yours truly,

Dear Sir.—Last year Mr. Sweet got a pair of "Icegrain" leather larrigans from your factory.

I would be much obliged if you would send me a pair of the same kind, size 9.

My boots are still good and tight, though they have had hard usage. I

Dear Sir.—In reply to your inquiry, I beg to say that the "Icegrain" boots made by your Company for myself and my boys have been entirely satisfactory both as regards their wearing qualities and their imperviousness to water. I can recommend them for sportsmen and others needing a light waterproof boot.

From the recommendations I have had from several parties who have worn your boots, I feel sure that a big trade for them can be secured, with the best accounts, in the above territory. Kindly send me a pair as a sample.

C. R. THOMSON, ESQ.,
Manager Nfld. Boot & Shoe Mfg. Company, Limited,
St. John's, Newfoundland.

Dear Sir.—Early in the summer I purchased a pair of your water-tight engineer's boots for use in Labrador. I wore these boots during my Labrador trip, and also on several long surveying trips I made in Newfoundland.

They were subjected to very rough usage, but I have pleasure in informing you that I found them satisfactory in every way. They were perfectly water-tight.

I could safely stand in water, and on wet ground all day without any water entering them, and the sole leather withstood heavy travelling over the roughest country.

I have had similar boots made for me by many of the leading American manufacturers of engineers' boots, but never had a pair to give such satisfaction as those made by you.

I am informed by several local engineers who have purchased boots from you that they find boots manufactured by you for engineers' use invariably give the greatest satisfaction. Yours very respectfully,

BOY SAVED FROM BEING A CRIPPLE

By Douglas' Egyptian Liniment

Mr. W. B. Perry, Tanworth, Ont., has a son who owes a good deal to Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, for without it he would certainly have been partially crippled for life. His father writes: "My son Marshall had his foot so badly frozen that the doctor said he would have to amputate the toes. The boy cried so much that we declined to allow the doctor to amputate. "A friend hearing of the case sent us a bottle of Egyptian Liniment and strongly advised us to try it before consenting to amputation. We wished it possible to save our son from being a cripple and used the Liniment. "Three days after the first application the frozen flesh dropped off and the boy's foot began to improve and was saved." The way Egyptian Liniment removes unhealthy matter from frost bites, scalds, burns and festering wounds, and restores sound, healthy flesh, is simply wonderful. 25c. at all druggists. The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs, representing London, presented an address at Marlborough House, emphasizing that loyalty and affection of Londoners toward the Queen Mother, which grows even stronger, if possible, with the passing years. Queen Alexandra expressed a strong desire a few weeks ago that the day would pass without any celebration, either official or private. If King Edward had been alive, the day would, of course, have been one of general rejoicing. The Queen Mother feels that any celebration of a day of such poignant memories would be out of place. This explains why the representatives of the City of London went to Marlborough House in ordinary dress. An emblazoned address was read by the Recorder in one of the reception rooms, and then handed to Her Majesty by the Lord Mayor. The surviving bridesmaids who attended the Queen, presented a gift to Her Majesty.

Roses, Roses

King Solomon in eloquent and appreciative language paid tribute to their beauty.

To the Ancient Greeks the Rose owes its title of "Queen of Flowers."

The Romans at public and private festivals used them profusely, even making couches literally beds of Roses.

We offer you every variety:

- Garden Roses.
- Tea Roses.
- Climbing Roses.
- Standard Roses.
- Moss Roses.

The kinds that give satisfaction.

The beginning of
"Paisley Flour"
The SURE raising powder was when Brown & Polson discovered that the addition of a proportion of their Corn Flour to the ordinary flour when making scones, buns, pastry and cakes, made a great improvement in added lightness, fineness and digestibility.

To the Corn Flour were added raising ingredients of the highest purity, resulting in the production of a new raising powder, which by its ease in use and improved results has marked an advance in home baking.

"Paisley Flour"—the sure raising powder—is sold in 2 lb. and 5 lb. tins, ready to mix 1 part to 4 parts of ordinary flour. The 2 lb. tin will raise 7 lbs. flour.

FISHERMEN!

FAIRBANKS MORSE ENGINES are made in different types, so a fisherman does not have to take an engine built expressly for pleasure or speed boats.

Type "M" FAIRBANKS is the fisherman's engine. It has a minimum amount of parts to get out of order. Is fitted with Make & Break Ignition, and is not affected by water. In the Maritime Provinces there are more FAIRBANKS MORSE ENGINES used than all other makes together.
