THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Secretary Burns of the board of health, in an interview printed in Saturday's Times, took exception to some statements made in this paper on Friday.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS

A St. John paper on Saturday quoted the following statement from the Chatham World: The St. John Globe's afternoon rivals have been giving away advertising for the purpose of attracting patrons from the old favorite, but the Globe's prospect is not unimpaired.

STREETS AND SIDEWALKS

Perhaps it would be an exaggeration to say that at no time since the period of corduroy roads have the streets and sidewalks of St. John presented as battered and broken an appearance as they do this spring.

Indiantown is in many places quite as bad as a corduroy road. Streets that are not paved present a wretchedly uneven surface.

The St. John Star takes the extraordinary ground that the St. John city council should be in no hurry to consider the nationalization of the port.

The St. John ferry service despite the purchase of an 800,000 steamer, was reduced yesterday for a time to a tugboat and boats propelled by oars.

The Constitutional Democratic Congress in St. Petersburg yesterday is said to have cheered for ten minutes when it was reported that the Governor-General of Moscow had been assassinated by a bomb-thrower.

In the first week of February an order was passed to improve the sanitary conditions of the market.

More soundings are to be taken at Sand Point and a chart prepared. Now that the winter port season is ended, this is the proper step to take.

It was the irony of fate that the Sun on Saturday, on the very day on which it boasted of its growing greatness as a newspaper, was "clean scooped" by the Telegraph on the most exciting local news story of the day.

The coal strike will not take place. President Mitchell fears that the miners would not stand together.

Director Murdoch will find food for reflection in the discussion and the action of the city council this morning.

The east side of Prince William street, from the post office to Duke street, is perhaps the worst piece of paved street in North America—unless there is a worse piece on Main street.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 6.—Henry G. Goll, former assistant cashier of the First National Bank of this city, who was convicted on nineteen counts in the United States district court a week ago of misappropriating funds of the bank, was late this afternoon denied a new trial by Judge Quares and sentenced to ten years in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

A CRISIS COMING

The New York Journal of Commerce a few days ago published a rather significant article on the present period of price inflation in the United States, and concluded with this warning sentence: "That the existing conditions portend a crisis there can be no doubt, though it does not appear to be immediately impending; it is to be hoped, however, that during the interval we may learn how to avert the force of the shock and graduate the process of readjustment."

Table with columns for Cotton, Wool, Wheat, Corn, etc., showing prices and trends.

"Out of these eighteen quotations, there is no exception to the rule of an exceptional advance, the rise ranging between 5 per cent and 67 per cent and averaging about 28 per cent.

"One of these groups—"meats"—shows a decline in price of 8 per cent, while the rest exhibits advances varying between 5 per cent on clothing and 47 per cent on metals and averaging 23 per cent net on the whole large range of prices.

"So far, we have failed to learn how to treat these abnormal conditions. From sheer cowardice, we fail to apply a remedy until even is beyond possibility.

FIVE DAYS WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER

Dillon Wallace

New York, May 6.—After spending eleven months exploring the wilds of Labrador, Dillon Wallace has returned to his law office in William street. Between legal cases, so to speak, he will write a series of articles for a magazine and next spring he will issue a new book on Labrador.

From start to finish Wallace's trip was filled with adventures and frequent peril. After leaving Fort Chimo on the way in and while traveling in eighteen-foot ice they were wrecked on an island and was five days without food or water. They were compelled to abandon all of their extra clothing and walk across the ice to the mainland. In such constant danger of going down in the ice pack were they that even the native guides were ready to give up and call on Tomohak the god of evil, for deliverance.

Upon reaching the mainland the party encountered a pack of large timber wolves which followed it for days. The wolves of Labrador, Mr. Wallace says, are the most vicious in the world. He saw one of them fight a pack of thirty dogs, and when it was shot by the owner of the dogs it had fared little worse than many of the dogs which were after it.

During his trip, which covered 2,000 miles between Fort Chimo and Nainichuan, Wallace used 360 dogs, relays of dogs, which they ran out of dogs, they tried an interesting experiment of raising half breeds from the get of a big wolf which had run in with the pack. Sometimes a wolf will take up with dogs of a hunting or exploring party and at night run in with them, keeping at a distance during the day time when the men are awake.

The experiment promised to be quite successful, for the mother dog raised a litter of five half breeds, which when only a few months old were large enough to work. None of the trained sled dogs could equal them for endurance. But the cure of the wild wolf was on them. The old gray father followed his children over hundreds of miles of snow and in every night he would "come in" and sleep with his family. In the day he was always half hunting, "with the outfit," trailing on behind the exploring party.

One morning the dog drivers went to hitch up, and all of the wild dog young-sters were gone. The men had feared this, knowing that the wolf by nature is a tramp, and they had always kept the half-breeds tied up at night. "The Baron," as their big gray father had been named, had come in and eaten their ropes loose. Once free, they were never afterward seen by the party.

Mr. Wallace heard of another case at Nainichuan, where wolf-dog pups turned out very well for a few months, but when they were nearly grown they became so vicious they had to be shot.

All of the Esquimaux and Indians were found to be extremely hospitable. Tobacco and matches will endear any white man to their hearts. For two plugs of tobacco they would trade their prize squaw. The Indians are all heathens and polygamists. They live in skin tents and have no money save "ak-ak." A white Arctic fox pelts for example, is worth seven "skins," and one skin will buy a pint of molasses or a quarter of a pound of tea or a plug of tobacco. The worth of every commodity is rated by its "skin value."

Shrewd at Barter.

While the Indians and Esquimaux there are a child-like people in some ways, Mr. Wallace says they are great bargain drivers. One they met had two foxes to sell, and he asked 200 skins for them, but he took fifty without any hesitancy.

The Ungava Bay Indians live in snow houses and are filthy in their habits, but notwithstanding are extremely healthy. Esquimaux men are giants and the women are universally robust, despite the dirt they live in and raise their children in. Each man carries a snow-knife, which is about eighteen inches long and looks something like a Cuban dagger, except that its handle is wrapped with leather so it will not stick to the hands. An Indian can build himself a snow house which will be ample for his entire family in about half an hour. They cut the snow building blocks with these snow knives faster than they could be cut by machinery, and as they drop, the wife and children pile them up into a snow house. These houses last indefinitely. The snow and by north wind harden them until they are as solid as if been out of marble.

Mr. Wallace says he advises all New Yorkers who are going on a trip of this kind to fit out in Manhattan. One should know, of course, what he needs and be careful not to overpack. In the matter of food he recommends pemmican very highly for trips to the cold regions. He ate about a pound a day and found it fully sufficient. He says one does not grow tired of eating it even for months of stretch. After using it you do not feel full, as one does after an ordinary meal of meat and vegetables, but in about half hour one begins to feel quite satisfied and it seems to nourish the body immediately. Do not make the mistake of carrying whiskey along, he says, as you cannot use it in the cold countries. Even the natives do not use it, and in Labrador the Canadian government imposes a fine of $50 on any man who gives an Indian a drink of whiskey.

Scientists in Party.

In Mr. Wallace's party were Leigh Stanton, a Nova Scotian; Clifton R. Easton, a student of forestry from the Vanderbilt College of Forestry, Billmore (N. C.); George M. Richards, a student of geology in Columbia University, and "Pete" Stephens, a Chipewya guide. They left New York April 1, 1905, and June 29 they left the Northwest River coast for Lake Mishi Kanaro, thence to the headwaters of the George River. October 16 they reached Ungava Bay. The trip, in this far was the hardest part of the long tour. From Ungava they worked by 300 dog sled relays to Fort Chimo.

They returned to the Hudson Bay fur trading post and then started toward Esquimaux Point, which they reached April 29, traveling in all 2,900 miles.

The party brought back many specimens of flora, wood and minerals. These collections are now being classified for exhibition and the use of students in botany and geology.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Worden and son left for the Boston train Saturday evening for a short visit to friends in Houlton.

Mrs. John Oakley left Saturday evening for Dalhousie.

A. R. Wetmore, of Fredericton, government engineer, was registered at the Dufferin Saturday.

NOT TEN PER CENT. OF ONTARIO IMMIGRANTS ARE WOMEN OR GIRLS

Out of 14,000 Arrivals There Were Scarcely Any Unmarried Ones—Loud Cries for Wives from the West

Toronto, May 6.—(Special)—"Out of nearly 14,000 immigrants who have come under your attention since the first of this year, not ten per cent of them have been women and girls," said an officer of the Ontario immigration office this evening.

"I think I would be safe in saying they did not number more than eight per cent," he continued, "and nearly all the gentler sex were married women at that," he added.

"It goes to show there is good ground for statements from the west that men there are unable to find wives. Granting the number of women and girls who have come in were ten per cent of the total, that would mean only 1,400 in an army of 14,000 men, or one woman for every ten men.

"The scene rather an amusing situation," concluded the officer, "but it is none the less true."

WILCOX BROS., Dock St. & Market Sq.

Montreal, May 6.—(Special)—It is more than probable that the completion of the Empress of Britain and the Empress of Ireland will be followed by the construction of two more sister ships of the same tonnage, speed and equipment, thus enabling the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Atlantic steamship line to give the long desired fast weekly service between Liverpool and the St. Lawrence in summer and St. John or Halifax in the winter.

This was inferred today from the remarks of Manager Arthur Piers, who has just reached home from Great Britain, having come over on the new Empress Saturday week so as to be present when the sister ship, the Empress of Ireland, makes her series of trial trips preparatory to sailing from Liverpool for Quebec on the 23rd of June.

The two new liners will give a fast fortnightly service to Quebec and the Empress of Britain should reach that port, barring fog, early on Saturday.

Mr. Piers believes the advent of these ships to the Canadian trade will concentrate the public mind of the old world on the comparative shortness of the St. Lawrence and Halifax routes. Their sailing qualities are such that the manager says the Canadian line cannot but be the fast route between the old and new world and especially the highway to the Orient. The mails, he added, cannot but come this way, as public opinion is already very hostile in the matter of sending British mails on German ships.

St. John's, Nfld., May 6.—Public sentiment throughout the colony strongly supports the Bond cabinet's aggressive enactment against the American fishermen, while from views expressed in an official way, it appears probable that the premier has the endorsement of the British government, which believes the restrictive measures proposed are within the colony's legal rights.

The government will employ whaling vessels in addition to the revenue cutter in enforcing the bait act against American fishing vessels. The new foreign fishing vessels bill is expected to pass the upper house of the legislature tomorrow. Both houses will be prorogued Wednesday.

Frost Coming Out of Ground Responsible—Traffic Delayed But Damage Was Slight.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 6.—(Special)—The roadbed of the Prince Edward Island Railway is in bad condition owing to the frost of the past winter. There have been a number of derailments not of much importance but yesterday two trains were thrown off the track, one near Royalton Junction, when five box cars were derailed, and the other at Port Vernon, when a car loaded with potatoes was derailed. In the former case the passenger coaches remained on the track and no injury was suffered by the passengers. Traffic was considerably delayed.

WAITING FOR FINE WEATHER

Investigation at Sand Point Will Start When Weather Clears.

It was expected that Harbor Master Ferris would commence operations at Sand Point today, to prepare a report as to the depth of water at berths Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and the nature of the harbor bottom so as to judge of future dredging requirements. Owing to the inclement weather, however, the work could not be commenced today, but a start will be made as soon as conditions are more favorable.

The work being undertaken by order of the committee appointed to hold the recent investigation into the charges that refuse material was dumped into the harbor and after consultation with Ald. McGoldrick, chairman of the board of works, who was given authority by the late council to have new soundings taken. The work will be carried on from a scow and a complete specification will be drawn up showing the variation in depth at different points. The nature of the material found on the bottom will be noted with a view to ascertain whether mud or hard pan is met with and whether it will be necessary to employ a more powerful dredge than that owned by the city to bring the depth of water to a uniform thirty feet at lowest spring tides.

ALD. LOCKHART IS CHAIRMAN

Ferry Committee Appointed Him to Office at This Morning's Meeting.

At a meeting of the ferry committee this morning Ald. C. B. Lockhart was elected chairman. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the erection of the ferry blocks on some suitable site, they having been removed from the South Rodney slip on account of the encroachment of the dredging operations.

A communication was received from John C. Collins of Leproux, stating that an action was being started to recover damages for injuries sustained by his wife, while on the ferry boat in January last. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Recorder and the guarantee company, which insures the city against such accidents.

ON CRITICISM AND WORSHIP

Summary of Sermon Preached Last Evening by Rev. A. B. Cohoe.

Criticism and Worship was the subject of a sermon preached by Rev. A. B. Cohoe, in the Brussels street Baptist church last evening, from the following text from Paul: "Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Rev. Mr. Cohoe remarked in opening that men possessed the right of finding fault, and of saying whether a statement was true or false. There had always been criticism, but the field had widened and the number of critics increased. They do not seem to call a lie a lie, and if anything cannot stand the test of helpfulness to humanity they call it bad, and nothing more.

The preacher observed that there were two kinds of criticism one healthy and the other unhealthy, and gave illustrations of each. The latter sees only the evil and merely tears down. It is pessimistic, bitter and blighting. The former, while it may tear down yet builds up, because it is in the soul, in the end helps and uplifts. Idols must be torn down. Jesus was an idol breaker, and for it He was crucified. An idol-breaker or critic is not to be criticised for his work, but for his motive in breaking idols and criticising religions. He must first break the idol in his own heart. His sincerity, which can only be known to himself and God, must be tested by the extent to which he holds himself true to the vision. The critic who is merely actuated by a morbid, unhealthy appetite for criticism, who merely tears down, amounts to nothing and does nothing. But the criticism which points out the untrue because of a healthy regard for the truth, produces good results. Can any fault be found with a discontent with the incomplete and imperfect? There is no contradiction between criticism and worship, but between the spirit that merely tears down and that which builds up.

What is worship? Is it not implied in the text? We can all be critical—we all worship. One definition of worship says it is the acknowledgement of the right of a revealed Supreme Being to command submission to His will and authority, because He is supreme—the subject bending before the King, whose power is represented by the army and the police.

But many a man removed from superstition, and feeling that he must be honest with himself, feels that behind this idea of authority is something before which he cannot bow. He believes that which is genuinely supreme, needs to be backed up by no authority; but he can bow before it because it embodies everything that is true, honest, pure, lovely and of good report—and to lend the body or submit the intellect, but to offer the worship of the heart.

This is an age of increasing criticism. Every man has his hammer to test the foundations on which life is built. Nothing is too sacred for investigation. No divine right is recognized, no sacredness, to forbid the enquiring intellect. The flock of establishment of no church, the flock of no priest, the creed of no church, turns back the awakening mind. More and more men are saying that neither flock, nor creed nor authority is worthy of their submission.

But shall we turn from what is positive and forget that the end of man is to find out what is true? To save ourselves from either dilemma let us not try to avoid walking this way or that, but get back to the test of Jesus and ask: How can that stumbling man be saved from his sin, and that wicked man from his wickedness? We should be led to look toward a higher and better life, believing that the purpose of the almighty has not yet been realized. Keep close to the beating heart of humanity. Meet the needy soul and minister to it. Come to the spirit of humanity and there will be no danger of your becoming a carping critic, but you will realize that in theaching human nature, there is a possibility of the appreciation of what is true and pure and of good report, to answer to your care and love, and to give promise of the realization of the ultimate purpose of the King of Heaven.

THROWN DEAD AT WIFE'S FEET

Terrible Accident to Canadian Northern Engineer -- Wife Saw Him Killed.

EDMONTON, May 7.—(Special)—J. J. Woodley, a Canadian Northern engineer, was taking an engine out of the round-house here on Saturday, when the injector burst, filling the cab with steam. He jumped to save himself from being scalded, but as he did so he turned the throttle and in the big locomotive bounded forward, throwing him under the wheels and severed his head from his body at the feet of his wife of a few months. Woodley was an old and experienced rail-roader and formerly resided in Winnipeg.
