MAY MEAN THE GREATEST SEA DISASTER KNOWN

Reported Wreck of British Ship With 2,000 Lives Lost

HELSINGFORS SENDS NEWS OUT

No Word at Lloyds or British Admiralty; If True, Vessel Likely Was Transport With British Soldiers From Archangel

Archangel, Oct. 11.—Two thousand lives have been lost in a wreck of an unnamed British ship on the Norwegian coast, according to a wireless despatch received here from Helsingfors.

London, Oct. 11.—Neither the admiralty nor Lloyds have received any information relative to the wreck of a British ship on the Norwegian coast. At this press, the report is discredited.

If the loss of life reported in the foregoing despatch is as large as indicated, the disaster will mark a new record in the annals of the sea. It would seem probable the ship reported wrecked was a military transport bringing British soldiers from Archangel. Copenhagen advices received yesterday stated that British soldiers who have been on the Archangel front have just landed at Riga and have been rushed to the front south of that city to meet onslaughts of German and Russian forces.

The largest recorded loss of life in a marine disaster occurred when the Titanic was sunk after colliding with an iceberg south of Newfoundland on April 15, 1912, the list of deaths showing 1,500 names. The Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine on May 7, 1915, carried with her more than 1,200 of her passengers and crew. When the Empress of Japan was wrecked in the North Atlantic, she lost 1,000 lives.

It is said by military men that the steamer La Provence was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean during the war with a loss of 5,000 lives.

STAND MEN ASK C.M.A. TO HELP TO BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 11.—Messrs. Welsh, Bristol and Shurtz, general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and J. Dougan, development manager of the same, addressed a meeting of trade meeting here on Thursday night, and left yesterday on return to Montreal and Toronto.

The C. M. A. men spoke mainly along the lines of the work of the association. The local business men asked for the co-operation in remedying the train service on the mainland, since the change of time table passengers for the island from the west are held up twenty-two hours at Sackville. What is required is an early train out of Sackville to Toronto, so that passengers can get to the island early enough to get to their destination in any part of the island next day.

Manager Welsh of the C. M. A. asked for all correspondence and proposals to use the influence of the association towards effecting a remedy.

VERDICT IS DEATH FROM NATURAL CAUSES

(Special to Times.) Moncton, N. B., Oct. 11.—The inquest into the death of John Foley, found dead on the Salisbury road on Thursday evening, was held yesterday by Dr. R. H. Botsford, coroner.

The evidence showed that the deceased had been employed in railway construction work near Moncton. He came to this city on Thursday from Montreal. Companions, who travelled with him on the train, swore they had seen drinking some brandy, but that Foley was not under the influence of liquor. They left the camp for Moncton in his chest. He told them to go on and he would rest. They wanted to get a doctor, but he said "No." When returned in about an hour they found him dead.

The jury brought in a verdict of death from natural causes.

THE LAKE MANITOWA NOW LIKE NEW SHIP

Halifax, Oct. 10.—The steamer Lake Manitow, burned at Montreal in August, 1918, while taking on a cargo of fuel oil and twisted almost out of shape by the heat, has been rebuilt at the Halifax shipyards and will sail for Philadelphia on Sunday to load for a European port. Her name has been changed to Iver Heath and she is owned by the Iver Heath Company, a subsidiary of the Bishop Navigation Company. She will be a freighter.

Spread Strike to Coastwise Traffic At Every Port On The Atlantic Coast

New York Indication of This Today—A Forlorn Hope—Shipping Board Announces That Every Resource Will Be Adopted to Sustain Decision of Adjustment Commission

New York, Oct. 11.—Extension of the longshoremen's strike to the coastwise traffic at every Atlantic port appeared inevitable today.

John F. Riley, chairman of the committee in charge of the strike, announced that orders for such an extension had been issued following refusal of the National Adjustment Commission of the United States shipping board to grant an increase from sixty-five cents to $1 an hour.

The only apparent hope of averting a spread of the strike, of by terminating the strike in New York, lay in a meeting of the strike committee with the National Adjustment Commission starting this morning. This seemed a forlorn hope, however, as Chairman Williams of the commission, in granting a request of the strike committee for a re-hearing of the wage award recently given longshoremen in the trans-Atlantic service, and which the strikers refused to accept, announced that the committee could not receive from original sources.

Activities in New York harbor this morning were virtually at a standstill. Most of the coastwise longshoremen at this port went on strike on Wednesday with the deep sea longshoremen. The strike extended to the system with the Fruit Company. All ferries on the Hudson suspended service at midnight when the crews walked out in sympathy with the longshoremen. Ferry boat men employed by the Pennsylvania, Erie, Jersey Central and West Shore, and other lines, walked out, and the railroads tag and lighter crews also struck.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Both the shipping board and the department of labor today took cognizance of the longshoremen's strike in the New York harbor. The shipping board suspended service at midnight when the crews walked out in sympathy with the longshoremen. Ferry boat men employed by the Pennsylvania, Erie, Jersey Central and West Shore, and other lines, walked out, and the railroads tag and lighter crews also struck.

TRIAL OF LONG FOR HIS LIFE IN MONTPELIER

Resume of Case in Which New Brunswick Faces Murder Charge

MARRIED WOMAN VICTIM

Body, Scantly Clad, Found in Field—Lang, Taken to Scene, Affects Air of Indifference—The Jurors all Married Men

(Special to Times.) Montpelier, Vermont, Oct. 11.—George A. Long, a New Brunswicker, is standing trial in the Washington County court for the murder of a woman in a field near Montpelier, Vermont, on May 4 in Barre, Vermont.

Harold Jackson, aged eighteen, was the first witness testifying and described his discovery of Mrs. Broadwell's body on a Sunday morning, a short time after the murder. Mrs. Broadwell, aged seventy, with whom Long lived, was the victim. She was found face downward in a field near Montpelier, Vermont, on May 4 in Barre, Vermont.

Prosecution's Theory. Jealousy because Mrs. Broadwell, a married woman, was friendly with Long and wished to end their relations is the motive the authorities assign for the crime. The state contends that Long was seen in the vicinity of the crime on the night of the killing and that he was seen with the body of the woman in the field. Long affected an air of indifference to the damaging implication of the state officers and several times joined with them in pointing out places which will figure in the testimony.

He posed all the time he was in Barre, joining in the laughter and in every way making the impression that he was not the murderer. He was a lodger and was seen by the jury in the company of Mrs. Broadwell and her son, who was a married man, on the night of the murder. Mrs. Broadwell was a visitor to the Parker house, was married once having been challenged or excused.

The Prisoner. Long was born at the Narrows, Queens county, N. B., and lived there until he was sixteen or seventeen, when he went to Toniton, Maine, and worked in the woods for the Great Northern Pulp and Paper Company. Later he went back to the lake again to Woodstock and did lumbering in the St. John River Corporation. After two years he went to Auburn, a suburb of Providence, R. I., and was a driver for the Providence Ice Company, boarding the white with a family in Pine street. He was there one summer and part of the next. Later he worked in Lakeport, N. H., lumbering, and in the vicinity of Bangor, Me., mainly for ice concerns. He was in Boston a short time but did little or no work there.

He was subsequently in Rochester, Vt., Bethlehem and Montpelier. While in Montpelier he was convicted of forgery and was sent to the House of Correction for a year. Last September he moved to Barre and has since been working as a teamster. He does not appear very rugged, but is of wiry build.

CONTRACT AWARDED. At a meeting of the committee on building this morning, J. A. Lacey, presiding, those in charge of the re-opening of the Martello Hotel for the Protestant Orphan Home awarded the contract for the work to Isaac Mercer, Carmarthen street. Those at the meeting besides the chairman were J. K. Kelley and D. H. West.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornum, "wondering what we have got to be thankful for on Monday?"

"That we ain't had our legs broke by fallin' in a hole in the street, or been killed by a automobile, or been broken in the speed limit," said Hiram. "That St. John is going to get some houses built year after next if nothin' happens. That it don't cost anything to look at a pair of eyes. That it ain't so popular as it used to be to bonus the rogues. That we ain't been wiped out by a cyclone or a hot oven. I kin keep on a spell longer if you want to listen, but maybe that's enough for now."

"It is," said the reporter. "You did right to stop at the oven. Wine would have done you good, wouldn't it? I thank you for those various reminders of our misdeeds."

"It is," said Hiram, "I don't do to grouchin' all the time. I tell Hanner he may hev it hard, but I ain't nothin' to say any more. She knows Sil, well—let's git along to the settlement."

Russian Situation Has Grown More Serious; Riga Is Reported Captured

Hardest Problem For Allies to Solve Since Armistice—Von der Goltz and Russian Supporters Playing The Game for Germany

London, Oct. 11.—It was stated in authoritative quarters here this afternoon that the German-Russian attack on Riga was carried out on Friday under cover of a heavy bombardment by German guns, forcing the Letts to evacuate the city. The reported capture of Riga is regarded most seriously by military experts here. They say that between these German-Russian troops and the city of Petrograd there is no force that would prove effective in stopping an advance upon that city from which one it was reported, it would be difficult to dislodge them.

B. C. FEDERATION OF LABOR LEAVES TRADES AND LABOR CONGRESS

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 11.—The British Columbia Federation of Labor has withdrawn from the Trades and Labor Congress in Canada according to an announcement in the organ of the B. C. Federation of Labor. This withdrawal was the result of the B. C. Federation's refusal to accept the Trades and Labor Congress's proposal to amend the constitution of the Trades and Labor Congress to give it the power to call a conference of all labor organizations in the Dominion.

WINE FIGURES IN ELECTION IN ONTARIO

Question of Supply for Jewish Feast of Tabernacles

CHARGE BY LIBERAL LEADER

Hartley Dewar Criticizes Ontario Board of License in the Matter—Statements Made by Him and Chairman J. D. Flavell

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Referring to a charge recently made by H. H. Dewar, Liberal leader in Ontario, that large quantities of liquor were furnished to the Jews during their Feast of Tabernacles, in some cases several bottles to each family, J. D. Flavell, chairman of the Ontario Board of License Commissioners, said yesterday.

"The understanding when the Jews' request was assented to was that the quantity supplied should be one bottle to every Jewish family, vouchered for by the rabbi and approved by Mr. Stour special dispenser. Each bottle contained only twenty-six ounces twenty ounces making a pint. We have been assured by the dispensers that only the regular quantity was given, and if the quantities mentioned by Mr. Dewar were obtained they were irregularly obtained."

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—Hartley Dewar, Liberal leader, with reference to the statement of License Commissioner Flavell said here last night that it was contrary to any fair interpretation of the law that the importation of wine to be used at the evening meal over which a blessing is said, could be stretched so as to be considered "wine" used in divine service. If this is a fair interpretation of the law, why was this application never thought of until the week before a general election?

By no special ruling can the wholesale importation of liquor equal to proof spirits of 22.5 per cent be justified. Mr. Dewar added.

"Mr. Flavell says that the board feels justified in assuming that the authorities of the Jewish church have acted in a perfectly good faith. The charge is not against the Jews' Feast of Tabernacles, but against the license commissioner. The responsibility and duty is theirs. The charge will stand, but this license commissioner, in the interest of his masters, the Liberal government, in their hour of emergency in an election campaign, has tried to pass an illegal act. The board should have known that their action is illegal. If they do not know it the members of the board are not fit to hold their positions. If they do know it, they should be dismissed for their misconduct."

"One of the important questions before the people today is whether the Liberal party can be better trusted to enforce the law than a premier and a government which allows its violation almost under their very eyes. I can promise that the Liberal party will see to it that there will be no such fall down in the administration of the law as the present conditions disclose."

DAILY MAIL ATTACKS THE GOVERNMENT ON FINANCIAL MATTER

London, Oct. 11.—During the last fortnight more than 25,000,000 in currency notes has been added to the amount already outstanding, while only 2,000,000 has been added to the amount of gold and bank notes held against them, according to the Daily Mail, which in its paper attacks the government for its "waste and extravagance" in thus creating more than 23,000,000 in paper money, which it says tends to increase popular extravagance and such "manhandling" as is now prevalent in the stock exchange. It is said that this money may lead to further wage troubles.

RUSSIAN SITUATION HAS GROWN MORE SERIOUS

London, Oct. 11.—The advance guard of Col. Avaloff-Bermondet entered and occupied Riga on Wednesday evening of Thursday morning, according to the demand permission of the Lithuanian government for the passage of his troops to the Russian frontiers. London, Oct. 11.—(By the A&P Press)—Allied powers have the hardest problem they have encountered since the armistice thrust upon them by the German-Russian attack on Riga. It is believed the Lithuanian government will expect the peace conference to furnish troops to resist Gen. von der Goltz and his Russian supporters, but who will furnish the peace conference with more British blood. Latest news received by the government is described as confirming the view that Germany is deliberately scheming to secure a controlling position in Russia, and that she probably contemplates the occupation of Petrograd. Altogether, the Baltic situation is recognized as presenting acutely dangerous possibilities. London, Oct. 11.—Confirmation of a newspaper report that German forces have captured Riga is being awaited here. "Germany's new war," is featured in this morning's newspapers. The overtures of General von der Goltz continues to be the subject of contradictory rumors and estimates of the size of the army commanded by Col. Avaloff-Bermondet also show a wide divergence.

SWEET CIDER ARRIVES
The S. S. Valinda has just reached St. John from Bridgetown (N.S.) with a large shipment of "Seagull" sweet cider. The apple crop in the Annapolis Valley will probably reach two million barrels this year and there should therefore be a plentiful supply of this very delicious beverage.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

MILLE VERLET TO GIVE CONCERT WEDNESDAY OCT. 22

Wednesday, October 22, we will have an opportunity to hear Mile. Verlet, the "Little Belgian Queen of Song" as she is lovingly called in her own home country near Brussels.

Mile. Verlet came to America direct from the Paris Grand Opera Company where she was premier coloratura soprano. She had a brilliant reputation which she acquired in musical centres of Europe, and her coming to America has only increased her fame. For American music lovers were not at all disappointed in Mile. Verlet's marvellous voice, in spite of her great reputation.

Mile. Verlet was in Brussels when the war broke out. Of course she and her mother were obliged to close their house and flee in haste, just getting away before the German's advance.

Her brother was less fortunate, however. He was a retired officer in the Belgian army and after seeing his sister and mother safely out of the country, he determined to go back and offer his services to fight the foe. Before he could reach Antwerp, however, he was arrested by the Germans. "Arrested" we call it, but the German way of making the arrest in this case was to knock Mile. Verlet down, beat him with the butts of their rifles and then force him to march several miles to Brussels, where he was imprisoned and left two days without food. But the gaoler was a Belgian so Mile. Verlet was able to escape by bribing him, and was finally taken to a hospital. Mile. Verlet's injuries proved so serious that he spent fourteen months in bed. He was quite unable to work so escaped deportation to Germany.

Mile. Verlet's concert here will be an invitation affair and the musical fans of St. John will be there in full force. This concert will be a long looked for opportunity to hear the wonderful golden voice of the gifted Belgian.

Whether you dwell by hut or throne, whether your feet tread silk or grass, comes the one day you shall never own Or the one lass.

Whether you've peace to spend, or gold, whether you've toll or time to weep, comes the one pain that may never be told.

And may never sleep, whether you weep or mock in pride, whether you tell or still deny, comes the one scar that your heart must hide.

THANKSGIVING.

The setting apart of a day to be annually observed as Thanksgiving Day is a formal recognition by the people and the government of man's ultimate dependence upon a Higher Power. In the past the day is a holiday, and the merest fraction of the total population takes any part in public religious observance.

WOMEN'S WORK.

It was frequently observed during the war that the marvellous energy of women devoted to war-work would at its close be diverted into channels of social welfare without losing much of its force. We find the prediction fulfilled in St. John, where women's organizations are doing and planning work of the utmost value to the community life.

Canadians have great reason to be thankful that the country enjoys a measure of prosperity instead of the hard times which it was feared would follow the war. They may also be thankful, whether they are or not, that their lot is cast in a country whose possibilities surpass those of any other on the face of the earth.

There should be no selfishness in our thanksgiving. The greater reason we may think we have to be thankful for personal benefits enjoyed, the deeper and more practical should be our sympathy for those less fortunate. Many who may think it a duty to be thankful for gratitude if they were unable to feel the genial rays of a warm human sympathy, which is but a human expression of an attribute of the divine.

CANADA'S DEBT.

The net debt of Canada increased nearly $85,000,000 last month, compared with less than $28,000,000 in September of last year. The debt now stands at $1,750,000,000. Before the war it was $836,000,000.

These figures emphasize in the strongest manner what has been said in parliament and out of it to impress upon the people the urgent necessity of thrift, industry and economy. This is the Victor situation is serious, but far from hopeless. Canada bore the strain of the war in a wonderful way, and the present task will not daunt the people.

Yesterday the St. John Standard called on all good people in Carleton-Victoria to rally to the banner of Dr. W. D. Rankin, an independent Conservative candidate in the coming by-election. Today the Standard omits to announce a name.

The citizens of St. John and especially the business community will learn with sincere personal regret of the death of Mr. James A. Seeds. His long connection with the firm of Vassie & Co. of which he was president at the time of his death, had brought him into touch with business men by whom and by all who knew him he was regarded with the highest esteem.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE.

In view of the coming of the Board of Commerce representatives to St. John as part of the government railway system should bring more winter business to ports in the maritime provinces.

A REEL EXPERT WITNESS.

A Young foreigner was being tried in court and the questioning by the lawyers on the opposite side began. "Now, Lasky, what do you do?" "Ven?" asked Lasky.

Sorry He Said It.

"He—'I can't bear that fellow Brown. No, de factory," he was talking to you about?" "You?"—Boston Transcript.

Friend in Need.

"Yes," said the young man peevishly, "a dog I once had saved my life." "Tell me about it," said the young woman, with eager interest.

Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason. (Copyright by George Matthew Adams.)

THE SURE CURE

Some grand old truths are everlasting, one is that industry is good; and the yawning and dozing, remember that, and saw your wood. Too many talkers spring their wheezes, too many make the welkin ring; many orators are climbing on stumps and legs to show their curves; and even as I do this rhyming a braying windmill jars my nerves.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

THE HON. DR. BELAND

Few members of the Canadian House of Commons have such a peculiar place in the regard of Canadians as the Hon. Dr. Henri Severin Beland, the member for Beauce. That is partly due to the tragic story of his arrest and detention almost the entire period of the war by the Germans.

THE SLEEPY KNOWE

If you walk today by the Sleepy Knowe, Where the knee-deep bracken is turning gold, The hill will bring from its rounded brow A magic tale that the years have told.

LIGHTER VEIN.

An Intelligent Officer. "Crook (under arrest)—'Kin I go back an' get me hat?" "Certainly not. Ye can't be running away from me that way. You stand here where ye are, an' I'll go back an' get the hat for ye."

According to Size.

"Senator, here is a man for whom we positively must find a job." "All right. What's his size? Will he be satisfied to be a door-tender or must we put him on an investigating committee?"—Judge.

Glad To Get It.

"Can you find room for this little poem I dashed off today?" "Certainly, plenty of room. There isn't a thing in the waste basket just now."—Baltimore American.

Sorry He Said It.

"He—'I can't bear that fellow Brown. No, de factory," he was talking to you about?" "You?"—Boston Transcript.

Friend in Need.

"Yes," said the young man peevishly, "a dog I once had saved my life." "Tell me about it," said the young woman, with eager interest.

Absolutely True.

"I have a terrible cold," he complained. "My head feels all stopped up." "Have you tried a vacuum cleaner?" she queried sweetly.

ILLICIT LIQUOR SHIPMENTS

(Toronto Globe.) Three large shipments of liquor disguised as glass, oil, and pickles were detected this week at Toronto railway yards and confiscated by the police.

The Ontario authorities get little help from Quebec where the new lease of life given the liquor business, under the pretence of legalizing only the sale of wine and other spirits, and brought the usual lawlessness. The railway companies make no special effort to prevent illegal shipments into the province.

THEMSELVES TO BLAME

(Toronto Star.) United States Steel officials declare that the strike is largely a strike of foreigners. Many are ignorant of the English language, and are unable to understand written or printed orders.

If all this is true the employers have brought the plague upon themselves. The American workman, on the other hand, who has been found resisting the unrestricted immigration of Chinese laborers. Obviously it was in the workers' interest not to increase the number of Chinese who might deprive him of employment or force down wages.

FREE SPEECH.

The right of free speech has always been associated with British institutions but it is a right whose recognition was not obtained without struggle, and any effort to challenge or restrict that right must be regarded as dangerous and reactionary.

WOMEN AND LABOR.

Speaking before the British Association, Prof. A. W. Kirkby said that the estimated labor force before the war was 6,000,000 men and rather more than 2,000,000 women, so that one-quarter of the working force, as it has been changed by war, there were large numbers of people who were not nearly so skilled as the workers before the war, but they had been taught to work with a gauge and micrometer. They would not produce such high quality work as that achieved in pre-war days, but it would probably be more accurate work.

"Inside" Value

The practical worth of a Birks' Watch is proven, not by the outside case or by the general appearance, but by the movement inside. Even the movement itself is only actually proven by its performance in the years which follow.

For half a century we have imported our best movements from the makers in Switzerland, and have enclosed them in gold or silver cases of superior workmanship.

With the record of a lifetime behind us, and, therefore, with more than ordinary certainty do we make our statement.

"Guaranteed, of course," which, by the way, covers every grade of watch we sell.

Write us if you are considering a watch for somebody—it will be worth your while in the end.

SUES FOR $50,000 BREACH OF PROMISE

New York, Oct. 11—Mrs. Margaret B. Brown was awarded $50,000 a week alimony by Supreme Court Justice Luce pending the outcome of her suit for separation from her husband, Henry Douglas Brown, former assistant manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt. He was the recipient of the "Dear Douglas" letters written by Mrs. Charles S. Melton, wife of the former president of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., which were read in court when Mr. Melton obtained a decree of separation a little more than a year ago. In her application for attorney, Mrs. Brown stated that a separation agreement was made by her and her husband in October, 1917, by which he promised to pay her $50 a week. Since Sept. 18, 1918, she alleges, her husband has paid her nothing. Mr. Brown, at the time she began her suit, announced that he had stopped his payments because of his wife's action in furnishing Melton with the letters received from Mrs. Melton, which resulted in his losing his job at the Vanderbilts. According to his wife, Mr. Brown is now manager of the Pelham Health Inn.

Mrs. Brown, in her application, admits having given the letters to Mr. Melton, and alleges that her husband drank to excess and that the primary cause for their separation was his habit of coming home intoxicated and keeping her awake until daylight. She alleges that he has jewelry worth $750 belonging to her, which was given to her by her first husband, W. J. Mackin.

Presentation to Magistrate.
A gold-headed cane was presented to Hon. R. J. Ritchie last evening by the younger lawyers of this city as a token of their esteem and personal regard for him. K. J. MacRae made the presentation and an appropriate speech on those present were W. R. Scott, L. A. Conlon, E. J. Heunberry, U. J. Swersey, J. A. Barry and J. S. Tall. His honor celebrates his seventy-sixth birthday on Sunday, Oct. 12.

Rev. Thomas and Mrs. Marshall returned home yesterday on the Montreal train. Mr. Marshall has been in England on an extensive trip and returned to attend a meeting of the missionary board of the Methodist Church in Toronto. He will resume his pulpit work on Sunday in the Fairville Methodist church.

WEDDING OF INTEREST

Miss Eva Veronica Callaghan
Bride of Charles O. Jackson—
Will Live in Roxbury

In the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, on last Wednesday morning at six o'clock a very pretty wedding was solemnized, when Rev. Father Allen united in marriage Miss Eva Veronica Callaghan of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Callaghan of this city, to Charles Odville Jackson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson, of Cincinnati, O.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a tailored suit of navy blue broadcloth, oriental vest, and an emerald tie and black velvet hat with amber trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Miss Ethel Callaghan, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and was becomingly attired in a beaver brown velvet suit with picture hat to correspond and carried a bouquet of Kiss-me-if-you-can roses. Patrick Flood acted as best man. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives a dainty wedding breakfast was served.

A beautiful array of costly presents was received, including cut glass, china, and silverware, and also a substantial check from the groom's uncle, all of which testified to the popularity of both the bride and groom. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid a cameo ring, and to the best man a set of gold cuff links.

The groom is a returned soldier, having served more than two years in France. He went overseas with the 197th Battalion in which he was promoted to the rank of sergeant major in the field on May 1, 1917.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left on Wednesday morning on an extended honeymoon trip to New York, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends, and on their return will reside in Roxbury, where the groom is prosperously employed.

Cooking by Wire

NOTHING in the last ten years has helped to make the lot of the housewife easier, more congenial and less irksome than Electric Labor Saving and Cooking Devices.

Take for example the Electric Table Grill illustrated above. It will broil, fry, stew or toast at your convenience, or cook an entire meal for three persons right at the dining table. What could be more convenient for hot weather cooking or early morning breakfasts?

In purchasing Electric Cooking Devices care should be taken in making the original selection. Buy only those which are of favourable repute. It is one thing to purchase an apparently perfect article—it is quite another to have to spend time and money to keep it in a state of perfection.

The perfection of C.G.E. Electrical Goods is permanent, a factor which, taken into consideration with the extreme reasonableness in price, makes them a necessity in the modern home.

EFFECTS OF STEEL STRIKE

The Iron Age says: "With the back of the strike broken chief interest is centered in conditions which the industry now faces. Return to normal operations will be slow and with the shifting of labor that has been going on and aggravated losses by emigration, the market for some months will definitely belong to the seller. Steel producers are expected to hold down prices.

"Increasing demand is developing for next year's needs, but little success has had in securing bookings. Premiums are freely offered for prompt shipment. No cancellations have been received even by mills totally idle and the strike shut-downs will force considerable 1919 business into 1920.

"Railroad inquiries for rails for next year indicate preparation for the expected reversion to private ownership and steel exports for August were 25 per cent above that of July. August machinery exports reflected an increased valuation of $400,000 over those of July."

Visiting Officers Entertained And Meeting of Provincial Executive Held - The New Advisory Board

Following the convention of the Retail Merchants' Association in Moncton, declared to be the most successful ever held in the history of the organization, the St. John branch gave a banquet last evening in Bond's restaurant to the Dominion officers and the newly elected provincial president, P. L. Higgins, of Moncton.

Following the banquet the provincial executive met with the newly elected president, P. L. Higgins, in the chair. The appointment of an advisory board resulted as follows: William Hawker, P. L. Higgins, J. H. Vaughan, T. P. Drummond, G. M. Ross, T. A. Armour, A. N. McLean, A. E. Everett, C. H. Burt, J. J. Weidall, R. P. Dickson, G. E. Ford, T. P. Price, Robert Strain, James Staples, H. E. Buck, A. Archibald, R. G. Linn, P. S. Creed, J. T. Carr, A. C. Smythe, Walter Jennings, J. P. McRay, Alexander Skeene, S. E. Fisher, L.

THE PRINCE INSPECTS OFFICERS, SAILORS AND STUDENTS AT ESQUIMAULT, NAVAL COLLEGE

BY COURTESY OF C. P. R.

W. Smith and A. E. McSweeney. Miss F. P. Alward, who has rendered splendid service and has proven herself very capable, was reappointed provincial secretary for the current year. It was decided to hold the next convention at St. Stephen, on invitation of W. G. DeWolfe.

Business which was unfinished at Moncton was taken up by the executive last evening and it was decided to leave the matter of the Workingmen's Compensation Act in abeyance for the present until the opinion of the various branches can be obtained.

The early closing act, and its application to rural communities, was discussed but the matter was left to the incoming legislative committee to take up. This committee is composed of Messrs. A. C. Smythe, A. N. McLean and F. W. Daniel.

Mr. Banfield followed in an admirable address and said that the R. M. A. was an association to look into the trials, troubles and tribulations of the retail merchant and lay them before the powers at Ottawa. There were fifty-seven subjects for settlement affecting the R. M. A. to be taken up with Ottawa. In the history of the retailers there was today a crisis and the question was whether the retail merchant was to be told how to run his business or to be allowed to run it himself.

"Never mind your prices, we'll regulate them," is the cry that is being thrown out to the retailers, said Mr. Banfield and in reply let it be: "Here's my keys, you run my business, but I'll hold you responsible."

Touching on the financial condition of Canada, the speaker said that Canada had nothing to fear. At the end of August Canada had enough money through its savings and deposits to liquidate its national debt. The savings average was $300 per capita or a total of $1,760,000,000 which was the banks standing in all Canadian banks or savings and deposits.

This, the speaker urged, should act as an impetus to buy victory bonds. The last estimate showed there was a total of $2,275 in national wealth for every man, woman and child in the Dominion and this, he declared, made Canada the richest country in the world in regard to per capita wealth.

Mr. Higgins, the newly elected provincial president, made a fine impression with a short but stirring address in which he urged for an increase in membership to get the full benefit of the R. M. A. He urged the association to advertise itself.

"We advertise to get business, then advertise to get members. We must also have the goods behind our advertising and the R. M. A. have the goods," he said. The association was responsible for getting the merchants together and the value to the members was untold. The boom of Moncton, he added, should be reproduced by all the hamlets, cities and towns of the maritime provinces.

R. B. Emerson, the president of the Board of Trade, assured the visitors of a hearty welcome to St. John and promised the association as a whole that any assistance he or the organization he represented could give would be duly granted.

A. O. Skinner moved a vote of thanks to the entertainers including Mr. Smith, Mr. Carson, Mr. Guy and Mr. Cochrane. This was seconded by Mr. Hawker who referred to benefits of the R. M. A. and urged all retailers to link themselves up with it. W. H. Banfield, of Toronto, gave several humorous as well as instructive selections which were greatly enjoyed.

SCOTIA IS AFTER BUSINESS ABROAD

Manager McDougall Goes to Europe Expecting to Secure Large Orders

(Halifax Chronicle.)
Interviewed before his departure for Quebec, whence he will sail tomorrow on the "Empress of France" for Europe, President D. H. McDougall of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company spoke very optimistically but in moderate terms of the prospects of Scotia and of Canada's trade and industry generally. Mr. McDougall, accompanied by Colonel Cuddey and W. D. Ross of the Scotia directorate, will be overseas about 10 months, most of which time will be spent in Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries. The principal object of the trip, Mr. McDougall said, is to endeavor to lay a solid foundation for the future development of Scotia. The securing of more shipping will be one of their endeavors, so as to place the Company in a position to regain markets that had to be abandoned during the war. Mr. McDougall warned against expectation of an immediate push of orders as a result of their trip. They were looking ahead some years, he said, and if the foundation was laid for future trade, even without much business for the immediate future, it would be considered satisfactory.

He expected on his visit abroad to make connections which in the next few years would bring orders to practically every department of the Company's business. There was hope of enlarging the Company's export coal trade. Scotia coal had already been sold in Holland and in substantial quantities in the Mediterranean, most of this being exported in the Company's own boats. Some enlargement of this trade was hoped for, but the sale of Cape Breton coal in Europe at present was only possible because of abnormal conditions there, and the margin of profit was very small. The Company had greater expectations as regards the sale of iron ore. It was expected to build up a large market for the Wabana ore in Great Britain. With this in view, the Company was pushing development of its Wabana iron areas, so as to make available for shipment a large proportion of the excellent ore from this deposit, which Mr. McDougall considers the finest in the world of its kind. It was also expected to make preliminary arrangements which in a comparatively short time would lead to orders from abroad for steel cars and for heavy forgings used in ships, for which work the Scotia plant is well equipped. To Build Large Ships. Speaking of the Company's ship-building department, Mr. McDougall said plans were now under consideration for the enlargement of the shipyards so as to build ships up to 10,000 tons. This matter would be decided very shortly after his return from Europe, and there was every probability of such extension forming part of Scotia's large programme for improvements necessary to take care of the increased business, which it was expected to secure during the next few years. A steamer would be launched tomorrow and the keel laid immediately for another of 8000 tons. There were good prospects of several of 5100 tons being built some of which would be to supplement the Company's own fleet. Speaking of shipbuilding, Mr. McDougall said there was some prospect of charter rates being lower next spring, so that the Company would be in a better position to handle its steel and ore shipments, as well as retaining some part of its former coal trade in the St. Lawrence. Asked about the Dominion Steel and Scotia amalgamation talk, Mr. McDougall said that as far as Scotia was concerned, there was absolutely nothing going in that direction at present, and whatever the opinion had been in the past, Scotia was not disposed to consider amalgamation at the present time. As regards the submarine area question, Mr. McDougall said there were no new developments. The matter was in the hands of the Nova Scotia Government, and Scotia awaited their further action with entire confidence as to the outcome. Concluding the interview, Mr. McDougall said he expected improved business conditions next spring, of which Scotia counted upon obtaining a substantial share. There would be in the near future, he thought, a more exhaustive development of the coal field and a larger production from the Steel Works. They had started two open hearth furnaces and resumption of steel making on a large scale would depend entirely on business conditions of the next few weeks. At present he would not care to say anything very definite about the prospects for the fall and winter, but he hoped they would be enabled to have a more extensive operation of the steel plant before many months. With the restoration of normal labor conditions during the next few years he expected that the company would do a greater business in the export of coal, steel and steel products than in the past. Mr. McDougall said he believed Canada was going to enter upon a era of prosperity, probably the greatest in her history, and that will occur within a comparatively short time. The present period of depression would be followed, Mr. McDougall said he believed, by ten or twelve years of the most prosperous business for Canada generally.

TO TAKE OVER GRAND TRUNK RY.

Final Decision of the Government—Big Outlay Involved—Canada to Have Greatest State Owned Railroad

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 10.—Within a few months the government of Canada will acquire the Grand Trunk Railway system and merge it with the Canadian National Railways, making the latter the largest publicly owned railway system in the world with a mileage of over 20,000 miles. A resolution introduced in the House of Commons tonight, by Hon. Arthur Meighen provides for the acquisition by the government of the entire capital stock of the Grand Trunk Railway except the four per cent. guaranteed stock amounting to £12,500,000 sterling. A board of arbitrators will determine the value of the first, second and third preferred stocks and the common or ordinary stock. One of the arbitrators is to be appointed by the railway company, the second by the government and the third by the other two or failing agreement by judges. The present capital stock of the road aggregates £19,573,492 sterling and the outstanding debenture stocks amount to £21,225,122 sterling. A committee of management is to be formed consisting of five persons to endure the operation of the road as far as possible in harmony with the Canadian National lines, the two systems being treated in the public interest as nearly as possible as one system. It was reported in the city, yesterday, that the River Valley Lumber Co., which suffered the loss of its entire plant during the recent fire in Ormoco, has purchased the Pilewelling Lumber plant at Hampton and will dismantle it and use whatever machinery is possible in the reconstruction of their mill. Charles Robinson, secretary of the returned soldiers' aid commission, received a telegram from Halifax last night worded as follows: "The following soldiers for New Brunswick arrived here by steamer Saxonia: Fies, O. Galloway, Dalhousie, K. B. Lamb, Sussex; J. H. Stanley, Mispec; E. Smith, Rustagomish."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY

The closing meeting of the week of rally services in connection with the Portland Methodist church was held last night, and was attended by many. The services have all been very successful, and the church has received an impetus for the work of the fall and winter that promises well for all the varied activities which engage its attention. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. Neil J. McLaughlin. The president, Frank W. Gerrill, occupied the chair, and the following programme was given—O Canada; recitation, Miss Helen Hannah; recitation, Miss Kate Skelton; piano solo, Miss Irene Stylist; recitation, Kenneth McLaughlin; recitation, Miss Alice Dawson; piano duet, Miss Alice Hartshorn and George Hartshorn; recitation, Miss Laura Panjoly. After the programme was over the gathering played a game of autograph at which there was much merriment and excitement in effort to get the most names on their papers. The prizes were won by Miss Annie Hartshorn for the ladies, and Arthur C. Powers for the gentlemen. After this refreshments were served. The pleasant evening was terminated with the singing of the national anthem.

DETECTIVE DONOHUE AND MISS E. M. LANE WED

A wedding event of local interest took place in St. Michael's Cathedral, Chatham, N. B., on Thursday morning when Miss Elizabeth Mary Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lane of that place, became the bride of Kenneth Thomas Donohue, of the local detective force. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mgr. O'Keefe. William Lane, brother of the bride, and Miss Jennie Donohue of this city, sister of the groom, were witnesses.

Following the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Donohue left on a honeymoon trip to Prince Edward Island. The bride is a graduate nurse of Malden Hospital and served for a time as a nursing sister with the American forces. The groom is popular in this city and both he and his bride will have the best wishes of a large circle of friends for future happiness. They were the recipients of many handsome wedding remembrances. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Donohue will reside at 55 Exmouth street.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES A. SEEDS

President of Vassie & Co., Ltd. and Kindly Gentleman, Succumbs to Stroke of Apoplexy

St. John today mourns the loss of one of her most prominent and most highly esteemed business men—James A. Seeds. General regret was expressed throughout the city when it was learned that Mr. Seeds, president of Vassie & Co., Ltd., had succumbed to an attack of apoplexy which he was stricken at 6 o'clock this morning, his death following an hour later. His ability as a business man, his uprightness of character, his kindly nature and his genial disposition had won him a high place in the regard of all who knew him and he will be greatly missed and sincerely mourned.

Mr. Seeds was born in St. John in 1848 and attained the age of seventy-six years. In spite of his advancing years he had continued until the last his active interest in business and public matters and had appeared to be in his usual health at the time he retired on Friday night. He had been at his desk as usual yesterday.

His business career started when he entered the employ of Hastings & Co., one of the leading dry goods firms of the city in bygone days. After a few years he joined the staff of Vassie & Co. and, through energy and ability, won his way up to the position of president, which he attained the office of president, which he filled until the time of his death. He had been with the company for more than fifty years. At the last annual meeting of the Canadian Club he was elected vice-president of that organization.

Mr. Seeds' death occurred at 90 Mecklenburg street, his residence, when he had returned a short time ago after spending the summer at his country place in Hillside.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Caroline Seeds of this city and Mrs. Charles Coverhill of Upper Cornwall, York county. They number many who will regret the passing away of this kindly gentleman.

A Battle Won.

A battle which has been waged by the small boys of the eastern end of the city for the last century seems to have ended, with victory perched on the banners of the boys. Ever since the diagonal path was laid from the court house corner to the middle path of the old burying ground, the school boys who pass through that historic ground have maintained their right to continue across lots to the north-eastern corner on Carmarthen street. For almost a quarter of a century the public guardians of the graveyard fought the boys on this issue. "Keep off the grass" signs were erected on each side of the area which the youngsters were determined to invade. Blockades were erected and barbed wire entanglements laid to prevent their advance, but it was a losing battle. The signs and the fences have disappeared and across the greenward there is now a well defined path worn smooth by the uninterrupted passage of the victorious armies of school boys.

FACTS SHOW FAILURE OF EFFORT TO DISCREDIT FOSTER GOVERNMENT

Definite and Convincing Word From Deputy Works Minister in Ottawa About the River Wharves

An unscrupulous effort to blame on the provincial government the failure of the wharves along the St. John River during this last summer has been utterly defeated by an investigation of the facts. ONE OF GREATEST HEROES OF THE WAR PRACTICALLY BEEN FORGOTTEN

Eiffel Tower Was Mute Ear Witness, Hearing the Secret Messages of Enemy to or From Every Quarter of Globe

Paris, Oct. 10.—The demobilizing of the French soldiers will be completed at the end of this month and one of the greatest heroes of the war, the Eiffel Tower, had almost been forgotten. But matters in that respect have been righted and the tower now wears civilian paint. It has no war cross or medal, yet its records remain to show its faithful service to the Allied cause. For more than thirty months it sent out France's hopes and fears; it was a useful propagandist for neutral countries, and it sent out cheery words to the people of the invaded districts where clandestine apparatus was known to exist.

MILITARY TRAINING COURSE IN HARVARD

Will Specialize in Field Artillery—Guns of All Kinds—Horses for the Students.

With the signing up of approximately 250 students in the new courses of military science and tactics, and the arrival of the final consignments of the allotment of $250,000 worth of war material several days ago, Harvard practically becomes to the reserve corps of the United States army what the Military Academy at West Point is to the regular army. As the "West Point of the reserve branch" students upon receiving their degree will at the same time be awarded commissions as second lieutenants. In addition, the courses will count as full credits toward an A. B. or S. B. degree.

According to Colonel R. F. C. Goetz, U. S. A., a graduate of the class of 1909 at West Point, who has been detailed by the war plans division of the general staff of the army at Washington to head the military courses given during the ensuing year, discipline and uniform will be noticeable by their absence, the object of Harvard's "West Point" being to put military science in the heads of the students, rather than military discipline in their feet. The students will specialize in field artillery.

Colonel Goetz will be assisted by Major Miller and Captain Dick, both regular army officers, and a detail of eighteen enlisted men to care for the military equipment loaned by the war department for purposes of instruction.

Colonel Goetz is enthusiastic over the outlook for the forthcoming year. He addressed a large group of first year men, the majority of whom "signed up" for the courses, as soon as they realized that they could take military science without interfering with their other scholastic duties, and particularly since they would receive full credit for the courses.

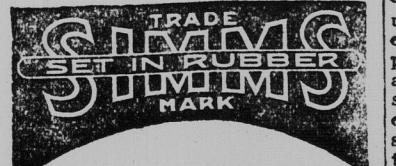

Speaking of the work, Colonel Goetz said:

"In many respects the courses to be given at Harvard are a new departure in the teaching of military science and tactics. It is our aim not only to instruct the men in the fundamentals, and the requisite knowledge so necessary for the leadership of men in battle, but also through practical work, to give them that necessary insight into army problems, without which they can never hope to succeed. Instead of putting military discipline in their feet—which is quite necessary—we are going to put more in their heads—and the discipline will come afterwards."

"Hitherto in all the reserve officers' training corps throughout the country the men have been fatigued by long drills and the thousand and one details of army routine, and in many instances the bigger and more important subjects have been slighted. In our courses the men will wear no uniforms, or be required to submit to strict military discipline. In many respects the courses in tactics will be conducted similarly to other courses given at the university." Colonel Goetz told of the equipment which had been placed at his disposal by the war department. "We will specialize," he said, "in field artillery, and to that end we have received more than $250,000 worth of material, which at present is housed at the Commonwealth armory through the courtesy of the state guard. We have all the practical field pieces, including an English 18-pounder, a French 150 R. M. a French 75, a firing battery of American 3 inch guns, several Browning machine guns and automatic rifles, Lewis machine guns, four caterpillar tractors, a forty horses and the promise of as many more as we require to mount every student a full signal corps equipment, including field wireless, high power telescopes, pyrometric compasses and various site and sound ranging apparatuses. "The course in military science will include theoretical and practical work in field artillery, material and gunnery, hippology and motor mechanics, which will amount to a total of three hours of lectures a week. The theoretical instruction in material will include a study of the part that the various types and calibres of guns played in the recent war, and the possibilities of these guns. A thorough study of at least one type of gun, rifle and howitzer will be made. "The gunnery course is preliminary to the course in artillery firing, and conduct of fire. Taking up first the angular and linear measurements of both the English and metric systems, and their relations to field artillery, the work will pass to the drill of the firing battery and the duties in detail of the gun squad. Hippology will cover the anatomy of the horse, his points, conformation of different types, diseases, their treatment and cure. Motor mechanics will be the study of various types of internal combustion engines, principally those employed in tractors and tanks.

"The course in military science will also be open to sophomores to whom it will be given in more concentrated form so they may receive in three years practically as much as the freshmen receive in four. The complete course offered to sophomores will count four points toward their degrees. By omitting theoretical hippology and motor mechanics, and by substituting military law and ordinance a half year will be gained.

"With regard to the instruction in military ceremonies and drill, the students will be required to attend only one of the summer camps, where they will be paid for their time by the government, drawing subsistence and pay of cadets. All camp, uniform and equipment will be supplied by the government, and military discipline will prevail.

courses in military science has cost the university practically nothing, the government defraying all the necessary expenses, Colonel Goetz hopes that as soon as their practical value has been demonstrated the university will defray the expenses of the necessary gun housing sheds and stables, so the courses in equitation will not have to be given in the Commonwealth Armory which is located some distance from the university, entailing lost time.

"It is my earnest belief that the courses in military science given at Harvard are a natural result of the growing sentiment toward universal training," said Colonel Goetz. "Through these courses there will be obtained a large nucleus of officer calibre, which will grow continually. Such a nucleus is necessary as the backbone of any standing army worthy of the name."

"He merely offered to pay my funeral expenses!"

Medical Research Saved The Armies

Prevented Debacle Due to Pestilential Disease, Said Dr. A. D. Blackadar

Montreal, Oct. 10.—"Had it not been for knowledge obtained through the persevering medical research of the decade, the dreadful conflict of the last four years would have resulted in an awful debacle due to pestilential disease," was the declaration of Dr. A. D. Blackadar, when in the course of the Founder's Day lectures delivered by him in the Royal Victoria College yesterday afternoon, he traced the development of medical research in McGill University.

In the treatment of wounds no less than in dealing with disease, the speaker pointed out that the use of serums to prevent and check gangrene had saved the lives of thousands of soldiers. In proof of this statement Dr. Blackadar compared the records of the loss from wounds of the Germans in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 with the statistics of the McGill Canadian hospital in France.

Turning from the war to the importance of the serum in the prevention and cure of disease in the community at large, the speaker drew attention to the strides that had been made in controlling the most fatal cause of death, typhoid fever.

Dr. Blackadar said that there must be no slackening in medical research for there were still wide fields of investigation left unexplored while many bacteria still baffled the searchers after the means of defeating the foes of the human organism.

Will Gompers Kill Red Leadership in Labor's Ranks?

As many observers see it, the calling of the steel strike at this time reveals the purpose of certain revolutionary radicals to wrest control of the American Federation of Labor from the hands of Mr. Gompers and the other moderate-minded leaders and place the Reds in the saddle, thus making it "the first gun of the industrial revolution."

MOVIE FIGHTS REAL

"The true director stops barely short of murder in the pursuit of realism," says Herbert Corey in Everybody's. He intimates that a good director would much prefer to lose the life of a beautiful "star" to having the critical situation of a picture spoiled at the last moment because a temperamental young woman loses her nerve and refuses to swim under a burning bridge.

According to Mr. Corey, moving picture fights are the real thing, and a leading actor once lost popularity because he was "pulling his punches." In speaking of this feature of the moving-picture business a director has this to say: "A fight must be the real thing. We can fool the folks about a good many things, but not about fighting. Mr. Corey says: 'Most of the stars either enjoy it, for they are hearty, full-blooded humans, who must keep in perfect training to be fit for their work. They have the further consolation that movie ethics forbid the stage desperadoes from hitting a star where it will show—his cheek or a broken nose would certainly cost the management a great deal of money, for the star would probably remain on salary. The offender might be forbidden to take part in any further fights in that studio.'

A RED LEADER'S BIG PROGRAMME

W. Z. Foster on Syndicalism and General Strike

He Would Seize Capital and Make the Workers Masters by Any Means That Could Be Made Use of William Z. Foster, secretary of the National committee managing the steel strikes, has been a radical revolutionary in his published utterances previous to his present appearance.

New York Sun recalls a pamphlet which he issued and presumably wrote, extracts from which, as printed show him to be very advanced as a labor revolutionist. Here are some of them:

"It is the interest of the capitalistic class to rob workers of as much of their property as possible, and the interest of the workers to prevent this robbery as far as they can.

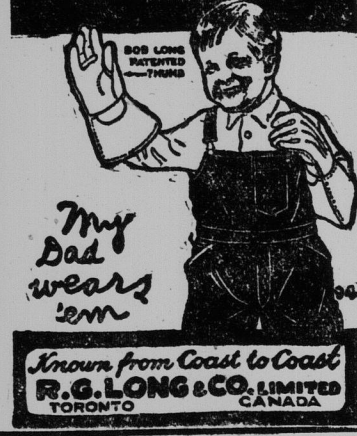

A guerrilla warfare—known as the class struggle and evidenced by many strikes, working class political eruptions and the many acts of oppression committed by capitalists who are heartless and cupidity personified, being the dominant class of society and the shapers of its institutions have organized the whole fabric of society with a view to keeping the working classes in slavery. It is therefore evident that if the workers are to become free it must be through their own efforts and directly against those of the capitalists.

"The emancipation of the workers must be wrought by the workers themselves."

"It goes without saying that for the workers to overthrow capitalism they must be thoroughly organized to exert their combined might. Ever since the inception of the revolutionary idea the necessity for this organization has been realized by progressive workmen and they have expended untold efforts to bring it about.

"These efforts have been almost entirely directed into the building of working class political parties to capture the state—it being believed that with such a party in control of the state the latter could be used to expropriate the capitalists. The Socialist parties in the various centers have been laboriously built with this idea in view. But of late years among revolutionists, there has been a pronounced revolution against this programme. house-holder would himself by regulations regarding burglary adopted by an association of housebreakers. Consequently he ignores them (the laws and the current code of morals) in so far as he is able and it suits his purpose. He proposes to develop, regardless of capitalist conceptions of "legality," "fairness," "right," etc., a greater power than his capitalist enemies have; and then to wrest from them by force the industries they have stolen from him by force and duplicity and so to put an end forever to the wages system. He proposes to bring about the revolution by the general strike.

"Preliminary organization unquestionably aids very materially to the success of strikes, but all great strikes—which differ only in degree from the general strike—prove to us that this preliminary organization by no means has to be so thorough as the objectors insist. They show us that vast masses of unorganized workers can be readily provoked into a revolt by the contagious example of a few, and also that these workers once on strike, are in a few days easily and effectively organized—though for years previous untold effort have been expended to organize them."

"In all probability the general strike will occur in its incipient stages, will follow the course that any number of modern great strikes have taken. Only a small part of the workers will be organized, this organized fraction, under some strong stimulus, will provoke the strike which vast masses of unorganized workers seeing an opportunity to better their conditions, and caught into the general contagion of revolt will join the strike, organizing themselves meanwhile; the strike will spread, society will be paralyzed and the revolutionary workers, perceiving their powers, will proceed to put an end to capitalism."

"Another favorite objection of ultra legal and peaceful Socialists is that the general strike would cause bloodshed. This is probably true, as every great strike is accompanied by violence. Every forward peace humanity has taken has been gained at the cost of untold suffering and loss of life, and the accomplishment of the revolution will probably be no exception. But the prospect of bloodshed does not frighten the Syndicalist worker, as it does the peaceful Socialist. He is too much accustomed to risking himself in the murderous industries and on the hellish battlefields in the rugged service of his masters to set much value on his life. He will gladly risk it once if necessary in his own behalf. He has no sentimental regard for what may happen to his enemies during the general strike. He leaves them to worry over the details."

"The general strike will not be broken by the workers being starved into submission as is often objected. The general strike will be so devastating in its effects that it can last only a few days, during which period, it will be the workers, accustomed as they are to starvation and sustained by the enthusiasm of the revolution, could live on the most meagre rations. To get these reforms the Syndicalist must be confident, as far as possible, all provisions found in the cities. They will also encourage the numerous poor farmers, tenants and agricultural wage workers to cast their fortunes with them to revolt against the state, their landlords and employers and to seize the land they occupy. Until provision is made to these farmers, the discussion is normally resumed the Syndicalist will trade to these farmers the amassed wealth of the cities for their foodstuffs. More than one revolution has started out by the farmers refusing to part with their products in exchange for worthless paper money. The Syndicalist have learned this lesson well and in tend to give the farmers the substantial commodities they desire in exchange for their products. The army will be so busy protecting capitalist property and so permeated with rebellion that it will be at once incapable and unwilling to prevent this method of provisioning the revolution."

$5,000 Legacy For London Bootblack

"Old John" Frances, Past 70, Long Well-Known Figure in Strand

London, Oct. 10.—"Old John" Frances, upward of seventy, has been a shoeblack in the Strand for more than thirty years. He has been informed that a legacy of $5,000 is coming to him from Mrs. Hawes, of Millwood Road, Brixton, when she made her will twenty years ago. Frances has long been a familiar figure to every English and American newspaper man whose office is in the Strand. During the war he shined the boots of hundreds of soldiers, and in those flush days he earned as much as $20 a week. But since then his business has fallen off. Feeble and in poor health, he lives in Dartnell road, Camberwell.

"I was reading a book of heirs a few months ago when I saw that John Frances was wanted and that £1,000 was waiting for him in the Court of Chancery," he said. "I knew Mrs. Hawes. She was a milliner my mother and she were close friends. When she made her will she told me she would fix me all right. Years went by and I lost sight of her. I heard she died at Brighton in 1906. 'I went to Somerville House and got a copy of the will. It was the man right enough. The unclaimed balance of Mrs. Hawes' estate is £298, so you see she calculated very close for me. My wife says it's too good to be true—but you know how obstinate women are. I shall buy a little home with a pony and trap for the missus, and take it easy. We can both do with a rest.

"He's been coming into that money a long, long time," said one who knows him, "and I hope he'll get it. Good luck to him, for he's a kind old chap."

Not the Same Thing. One morning an old man was busy in the backyard with a saw and hatchet when the next door neighbor came in to inquire after the health of his wife. The wife, it seems, had taken a severe cold.

"Good-morning, Mr. Smith," said the neighbor. "How is Mrs. Smith this morning?"

"Just about the same," answered old Mr. Smith. "She didn't sleep very well last night."

"Poor dear," said the neighbor, sympathetically, "I s'pose that's her coughin', ain't it?"

"No, it ain't her coughin'," said Smith, keeping his eyes on his work. "It's a new hen house."

Did Not Need Them. "You must push matters a little, James," said the chemist who kept a post office. "By calling a customer's attention to this article and that article you often effect a sale."

"Yes, sir," responded the new boy, and then he hastened to wait upon an elderly person who wanted a stamp.

"Anything else, mum?" inquired the ambitious youth, politely; "hair dye, cosmetic, face powder, rheumatic drops, bel-ladonna, mole destroyer."

"The elderly lady deals at another establishment now."

This Post-War Maxwell is a Rare Study in Automobile Development

WHILE the great plants of the Maxwell were busy in war production the engineering laboratories were working night and day on a Post-War Maxwell.

To-day this car is in the hands of dealers. It expresses in a decisive way the progress of automobile making in this country.

Unquestionably it leads the way among cars selling under $1500.

There's a new type radiator, larger, more efficient, more handsome; a new Elliott type front axle, which makes steering now a tireless pleasure; a new rear axle, heavier, with an indestructible four pinion differential; an improved electric system; a new idea in an instrument board; a larger and more convenient gear-shifting lever; full crown fenders with wire edge reinforcing, (the front fender aprons are crowned to eliminate all vibration and rattle); a new way of anchoring the running board; a larger gas tank, and hung in the rear; a new tire carrier; a new emergency brake, located at the transmission, and not on the rear wheels; a heavier service brake, and equipped with equalizer to prevent any tendency to skid. Also equipped with Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn.

These are but a few; and yet it is the same fundamental chassis on which 300,000 Maxwells have been built.

To miss seeing this Post-War Maxwell is to miss the motor car treat of the year.

MR. O'CONNOR HERE TUESDAY

A telegram from W. F. O'Connor, assistant chief commissioner, Board of Commerce, was received, last evening, by Mayor Hayes, stating that he would arrive in St. John on Tuesday morning and that the board would sit in St. John for that day only, starting at 11 o'clock; the sitting will take place in City Hall.

NATURAL HISTORY LADIES.

The executive of the Ladies' Association of the Natural History Society met yesterday afternoon in the society rooms to discuss matters in connection with the opening of its winter season. The president, Mrs. John A. McAlty, was in the chair. It was decided that the annual meeting should be held next week. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $119.08. The programme which was suggested for the winter consists of a series of loan exhibitions, each different and entirely new. Those mentioned were very attractive. All the exhibits will emphasize the work of the museum and they will replace the course of lectures which have been held in other years. With very great regret the executive accepted the resignation of its secretary, Miss Winifred Colwell. Miss Grace K. Leavitt moved and Mrs. H. Lawrence seconded a very hearty vote of thanks which was extended to Miss Colwell for her most efficient and willing service while she held the office of secretary.

A HOT SPOT Chalmers Lures You

PICTURE in your mind the things that you would have liked to own—that piece of rare jewelry, that very fetching motor boat—possibly an airplane—that delightful old house on the hill.

That is the engine. Not so much by what it is, because so many look alike. But by what it does, what it gives.

It "pulverizes" gas before the spark plugs touch off the fuel and you have a throbbing, jarless, silky sort of action from underneath the bonnet.

It gives you the feeling of fineness, without the excessiveness of power, although you can punctuate the speedometer dial with speed probably as quick as in any car built today, and make a hill country look like a plain—if you want. But you don't have to use it, and when you do it isn't like giving a banquet. Remember this about a Hot Spot Chalmers.

Money would have meant little could you have procured them.

Here's one more—and quite possibly you've never "discovered" it. Most good things, you know, you've got to "discover."

Its looks may charm you, its specifications may attract, its comforting economy you may enjoy, but there's one thing about it that'll lure you—charm you—delight you beyond words.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR NEW HOME

Accommodation for Forty Orphans on West Side. WERELY TEMPORARY. Martello Hotel Leased for Five Years, Until New Suburban Quarters Can be Secured--Special Department for Babies

T. H. Estabrooks presided at a meeting of the directors of the Protestant Orphan Home in the board room of the institution yesterday afternoon.

By unanimous vote the president was empowered to sign a lease with the Dominion Government for a five-year term of rental of the West Side hotel at $300 per year.

President Estabrooks submitted an approximate budget covering the cost of operating the institution for the year 1920.

The eventful plan. President Estabrooks, Treasurer H. C. Rankine, Joseph Likely and others made it plain that the acquisition of the building in West John was merely a means of providing comfortable housing for a number of New Brunswick children whom they felt were at present inadequately in need of institutional care.

It was thought by several members of the board that the building after the opening of the West End institution about forty children would be housed there and it is upon this number as well as forty-five in the British street building that the foregoing budget is based.

The famous Marmolot tablet form has been put up in convenient tablet form and is now sold at the rate of four tablets for one dollar.

The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear.

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitude more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to spare the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses.

Note: Another prominent Physician who has written the article was quoted as saying: "The Bon-Opto prescription is one of the best I have ever used."

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 40 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Cure Act' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day without complaint. Friends are surprised at the change."

You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism with like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Ure Acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," now being published free of charge by an authority on Rheumatism for twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of Jewels is desirous of "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. F. Clewley, 235 J. Street, Fall River, Maine. Send now, let you follow. If not a sufferer yourself, cut out this notice and hand this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it by return mail without any charge whatever.

Y. M. C. I. PLANS FOR THE WINTER

It is an ambitious programme which the Y. M. C. I. has arranged for the winter activities, and the various branches of the work are in the hands of efficient committees which have already started to get things going. A banner year is forecasted. All branches of winter time sports are included in the athletic arrangements and the social side of the association is being arranged by a live committee.

The athletic and gymnastic classes are now practically all in full swing under the able direction of Joseph McNamara who has established an enviable reputation with the members. All the men's and boys' classes are now running, and a start will be made on the women's and girls' classes in the near future.

The schedule of classes has been arranged as follows: Senior men--Monday and Thursday, 8 p.m. Business men--Tuesday and Friday, 8 p.m. School boys--Wednesday, 4.30 p.m. Friday, 8 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m. Women--Monday and Thursday mornings.

Young ladies--Wednesday, 8 p.m. Saturday girls--Monday and Thursday, 4.30 p.m. Tuesday and Saturday nights will be reserved for ball, individual work and other games.

Next Tuesday evening will see the administrative council of the Y. M. C. I. at the alleys which have been put into excellent shape for the season. The league will run in rough until about the middle of April. Three series of twenty-eight games each are to be run off and there will be eight teams entered in each series. Enthusiasts are being added daily to the howling game and an interesting exhibition round will be held in St. Andrew's rink. It is also planned to hold a gymnastic and athletic exhibition during the first of November. A handball league will also be formed and should prove interesting.

VON FALKENHAYN TRIES BOOST FOR HIMSELF

Berlin, Sept. 10--(Correspondence of The Associated Press)--In defense of the German general, Von Falkenhayn, who was dismissed from the German army in 1915 and 1916, General Ehrlich Von Falkenhayn writes an article in the "Berliner Tageblatt" in which he declares that he was the victim of the German military machine.

German defensive operations at the Somme, he declares, were effective under his direction, whereas only limited success was achieved by the English and French at the Somme. He claims that the German military machine was the cause of the heavy reinforcements to the Western front.

Von Falkenhayn declares the swift success of the Rumanian campaign which he commanded after his dismissal, was due primarily to his exhaustive preparations of the general staff and his retirement from the army. He declares that he was the victim of the German military machine.

SAYS $8,000 IN GEMS AND "LUCKY COINS" GONE

Newton, Oct. 11--Mrs. William A. Mitchell, of 20 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill, wife of a wealthy shoe manufacturer, testified in the West Newton Court before Judge Allen, that the loss of more than $8,000 worth of jewels is connected with the theft of several lucky coins and small articles of clothing which have disappeared from her home during the last two months.

The theft of the coins was charged to a man and his wife who were servants in the household. Mrs. Mitchell said that in the last year by using the numbers on one of the coins she had made a great deal of money playing roulette at Palm Beach. It is contended by Mrs. Mitchell that the coins were stolen from her by the servants.

The accused servants employed counsel and denied that they stole either the coins or the jewels.

WORLD'S FINEST ARMOR IN MUSEUM

Equestrian Suit of 1527. Worn by Gigantic Warrior of Francis I. Exhibited on Horseback

Is Overlaid With Gold—Seven Colossal Statues of Lion-Headed Goddess of War Sekhmet Also Among Rich Accessions

(New York Times)

The finest suit of armor in the world, an equestrian armor for man and horse, every inch of its wonderful mechanism covered with finely etched engraving and the whole heavily overlaid with gold, was placed on exhibition in the most prominent position in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the big entrance hall, yesterday afternoon.

It is a harness of regal splendor," Bashford Dean, Curator of Arms and Armor of the Museum, said. "It is finer than any of the suits of armor of that great King Francis I, which have come down to us." It is dated 1527.

This famous suit of armor was first seen by William H. Riggs, famous collector of Paris thirty years ago, on a military exposition in the French capital. It was a harness too fine to belong to any private collection, Mr. Riggs believed, and for more than a quarter of a century he has been using every effort to obtain it for the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The Museum collection of armor is one of the notable ones of the world, and this piece will add greatly to its glory.

Sieur Jacques Gourdon de Genouillac, a courtier and warrior in the days of Louis XII, and Francis, was the original owner of the armor which, shut up in an old castle in the dry air of Southern France, has come down to the present day in a wonderful state of preservation. Even the lining and some of the straps remain, and the covering of gold is almost intact. Beneath the breast plate is what Dr. Dean calls "mint pure" men of olden days, as their armor tells the tale, were men of small stature, but this wonderful old harness belonged to a warrior and knight of gigantic proportions. To determine the size one of the attendants of the museum, a man of more than six feet and of proportions agreeing with his height and weighing 225 pounds, put on the armor, and he, as some one said, "merely rattled round in it." The piece of armor, that of man and horse made each for the other, has been given the installment worth of it, and is mounted on horseback.

"Think when you look at that of a troupe of horsemen in such armor, and you have an idea of the magnificence of those days," says Dr. Dean.

Only the most expert of the armorers of that time could have turned out so wonderful a piece of mechanism, and was at least two years in the making. It was intended for use as well as for beauty, and while the mechanism upon it is very beautiful, it is no where deep enough to weaken the metal. The articulation of the footplate is so delicately constructed that it permits of lateral turn. Apropos of the great size of the armor, there is a definite and in detail story related by Mr. Riggs which history tells of the warrior when, with Francis I invading Italy, he had drawn his armor into Italy in range for effective when he received an unconditional order from the king to cease firing. It was a fatal order, the army met with disaster almost immediately and de Genouillac was so enraged that he seized a cannon near him, by the wheel, turned it over and sprang it with his foot.

The old armor was part purchase with the Rogers Fund of the Museum and part gift of Mr. Riggs. Its remarkable feature is that it is in no way restored, as is the case with many pieces of armor, but has in no part a modern piece. It has also for a harness of its kind a greater number of pieces de rapport than any other armor described.

Another magnificent gift, this from

Henry Walters, second Vice President of the Museum, is a series of seven colossal seated statues of the lion-headed goddess of war Sekhmet, made of black granite, wonderful old pieces of Egyptian sculpture from a forest of such statues set up by Amenhotep III, in the temple of Mut at Karnak. From the 500 old statues which the king, a man of peace, set up as propitiatory measures, others have gone to the museums of the big cities of the world. The Metropolitan Museum already has one and this with the seven new ones makes a magnificent presentation in the 12th Egyptian rooms of the museum. Since 1880 the seven have been in the possession of Lord Amherst of Hackney in his important collection of Egyptian antiquities. Lord Amherst acquired them in 1864 or 1865 of Dr. John Lee. The statues appear in the catalogue of the collection of Harvard House in 1888 and can be identified as part of a collection sold at Sotheby's in 1893. At one of the sales of the big lion-faced goddesses they were found too heavy for the salesroom and were placed on Waterloo Bridge in London and sold from there. Unfortunately some passerby not liking the appearance of the lion-faced ladies, overturned one of them and the finest of the museum seven has a break at the waist line, caused by this vandalism.

The Egyptian sculpture as well as the suit of armor was purchased in 1914, and both were held on the other side of the Atlantic and purchased of the War.

A rich collection of accessions was put on view yesterday at the museum and in the recent Accessions Room is a fine first edition of Breydenbach's Itinerary of a Voyage by Sea to the Holy Land, date, 1486, written in Latin, printed by Ehard Reuwich. An interesting print of Venice is unfolded as the book is shown in the case. It is an important addition to the print collection of the museum. A rare twentieth century bronze, the base of an altar cross of the school of Godefroid de Claire, is another worthwhile accession in the same room.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN.

Second street and Washington avenue is totally removed from the big business quarter. There isn't even a good neighborhood trade to be had there. It's a dismal, dilapidated section of the city and getting more drab all the time. It is not even on a main traffic line. It's the last place in the world in which one would seek a fine hardware store.

The store is not there for any particular reason. No strategic advantage marks its location. It's there because it just happened there in the old days forty-two years ago when the neighborhood was better than it is now.

But Devitt has 27,000 customers. They come not only from all over Philadelphia, but from Bristol, Jenkintown, Fox Chase, Norristown and other outlying communities. To his store in the evenings and on Saturday afternoons come mechanics from every trade in droves.

Devitt says he brings them there by two things, advertising and service.

Difficult Customers There's no more particular customer in the world than a mechanic when he's buying a saw, or a wrench, or a vice, or a plane, or in short, any kind of tool under the sun. He studies the problem of the purchase probably for weeks before he decides. He devours catalogues. He asks his friends what their experience has been with this, that, or the other brand, size and shape. Then he studies it some more and finally, having pondered over every possible phase of the problem, he decides definitely and in detail just what he wants.

If the store he enters doesn't carry that brand, or doesn't happen to have within 1.32 of an inch the size he wants, he's sore-sore with a capital "S." The fact that the store may lower its stock-turn possibilities by half as a result of carrying 25,000 other items in stock for his benefit is not anything in his life. He wants what he wants when he wants it. Devitt operates on the principle of taking no chances on not having it. It is carefully advertised, that brings them from all over the surrounding country.

Neolin Soles Would Pay For Your Thanksgiving Turkey

Every family in Canada could have a fine, ten-pound turkey on the table this Thanksgiving—a turkey paid for out of the money now unnecessarily spent in shoes.

For shoe expense can be lowered. Shoes can be bought which give longer service. Canadians can save enough on shoes in a year to pay for the Thanksgiving turkey for every family.

Shoes wear out first in the soles. If soles wear longer, you don't have to buy shoes or repair so often.

Neolin Soles wear longer!

Those who have worn them have proved this.

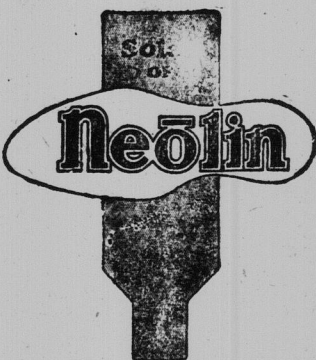

We have proved it in direct comparison with other soles.

The average saving which we have proved in many tests, is very high. Multiplied by the number of people in Canada, it becomes a tremendous sum.

Enough to pay for all those big turkeys, and still leave something over for dressing, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

Your family can make their share of this saving. You can make your own share. Go to your shoe dealer. Ask him.

Here the Ad Manager Really "Manages"

Filene Brothers in Boston, are not afraid to do some things a little differently. For instance, selling plans are controlled by the advertising department, and not by the buyers. In place of a buyer loading up and then telling the advertising manager to get rid of the goods, the publicity director works it the other way. He creates a demand and then tells the buyers to find the goods to supply the demand. Five buyers, are kept busy all the time in New York picking up merchandise for the automatic bargain basement, and their ready check book (for they pay cash for everything) has brought them many a choice lot of goods.

Every employee in this store is given a fifteen minutes "recess" in the forenoon and the afternoon to do just as they please. It is all arranged by schedule so that a few are off at a time.

During the flu epidemic last winter there were only four deaths from that disease among Filene employees. This is attributed to the admirable hospital and medical service maintained exclusively for the help. If a girl gets a pin scratch she is rushed off to the head nurse, who attends to the wound to prevent blood poisoning. If she sneezes she is rushed into a room for breaking colds, and required to breathe a mixture that will kill a cold before it can turn around.

When the flu epidemic was in full swing the moment a Filene girl showed any signs of not feeling well she was examined by the nurse, and if she had flu symptoms she was sent home at once. If something else was ailing her she was given proper treatment and told to forget all about the flu. In this way out of 3,000 employees there were about forty cases of flu and only four deaths. The showing was so remarkable that the government asked the Filenes how it was done.

The hospital was a problem when it was first started. The girls kept away from it because they were afraid of being "put up" by a surgeon. Finally, after feeling about to find out why the girls were afraid, the name was changed to "clinic." That did not sound quite so horrible as hospital, and the patronage increased.

But still the manager was not satisfied. Some of the girls kept away because they did not want to have an official record made of their ailments. Then the record books were thrown away and no records kept except those required by law. Now the girls think the clinic is a lovely place, for they can go to the nurse and get fixed up without it being marked down so some man can read about it afterward in a horrid record book.

And yet the clinic is exactly the same as when it was a hospital. It is all in the way the idea was presented, which after all, involved a lot of real salesmanship to "sell" the hospital to the help.

Tobacco, Toys and Timer Cabnet Well Over on the North Side of Pittsburg Leo Dorfbaum has demonstrated that he can sell alarm clocks even if he handles tobacco almost exclusively. He tried it out the last week, putting in a line of toys as a business-getter, with the "you must get up" timepiece on the side. He so arranged his window that any one needing an alarm clock could hardly resist the temptation to buy, at the same time suggesting that if you want to begin the day's work on time take this home." The toys attracted the eyes of the youngsters. For his shop at 929 Federal street, and they in turn called "dad's" attention to what was going on down at Leo's smoke-shop.

Indifferent Clerks Lost Most Customers

"Why do my customers insist on leaving me and dealing with my competitor?" is a question asked many times by retailers in all lines of business.

A prominent department store in the Middle West recently investigated the problem and compiled a table of statistics showing the reasons advanced by individuals for changing their trade. Let us see what the reasons were for the loss of both sexes, asking why they change stores. One hundred and ninety-eight replies were received, states the house organ of the firm which made the investigation, and the reasons advanced were tabulated as follows:

Indifference of clerks 47
Attempts at substitution 24
Slow deliveries 18
Overinsistence of salespeople 16
Unnecessary delays in service 15
Tactless business policies 11
Bad arrangement of store 9
Ignorance of clerks concerning goods 8

IV, told the basic details of her construction. As he pointed out, it was the first time he had ever revealed them for publication.
"The challenger," he said, "is the first boat built in England under the American measurement rule. I went about my own way in interpreting the rule and as a result the Shamrock IV, is unlike any yacht in this country. She is far different from the defending boats, the Resolute and Vanitie.
"The Shamrock IV, in the first place, although in the composite class, is virtually a wooden one. She has a multi-skin planking of three thicknesses. The two inner strakes are diagonal and the outer one runs fore and aft.
"She had no timbers or frames in the ordinary sense and but few web frames. Some of these frames are of steel and some of aluminum. Instead of ordinary frames, she has longitudinal wood stringers. Her deck is of wood and very light.
"The challenger came across the Atlantic without any damage or straining in the slightest.
"Her mast, instead of being steel, is a hollow wood one and is not even braced to take the strain of the biggest hollow wood spar ever made.
"The Shamrock IV, will have more sail area than the Resolute or Vanitie. She also has more quarter beam length and will have to give the defender combat.
"The Shamrock IV, has a much fuller bow than the defenders and is longer.
"The challenger has withstood the climate these five years splendidly. The extreme heat and extreme cold have not affected her. Her aluminum frames, when I inspected her recently, were in perfect condition. Some of the aluminum deck fastenings will have to be renewed, but that is about all that will have to be replaced.
"Her giant wooden mast was examined just in time to save it. The sails are in good condition and they will be used again. I believe in old sails that have been tried and found true. Of course new sails will be made for use in case of need."
Mr. Nicholson said that W. P. Burton would sail the Shamrock IV, in the international races and said he was heartily in favor of amateur helmsmen in the America cup contests. If the Resolute defends the cup, Charles Francis Adams of Boston will be at her wheel.
Mr. Nicholson spoke with an air of unmistakable confidence in the Shamrock IV. He said if Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenge is accepted, he would return here to superintend her fitting out early in the spring.

WHAT ABOUT WINTER SPORT IN THIS CITY?
Need of Hockey Rink and Artificial Ice Plant
Moncton and Bathurst Reported Making Plans—This City Should Get More Heartily into Good, Wholesome Sport

The voice of Rumor has reached the city on the wings of gossip comes the report that Moncton is to have a real up-to-date rink this winter. Word is going the rounds that the rink is to be modern in every respect. Artificial ice will be made to defy the elements and the young folk can rest assured of a skate whether or not the thermometer soars above or sinks below the freezing point.
If the proposed rink materializes Moncton is to have a hockey league and the home team will be ever ready to meet a sextette from any part of the province. Closely following this rumor comes one from Bathurst that they also are to have a skating rink that will eclipse anything of its kind in the province. At a meeting held at the office of the Bathurst Lumber Company a few days ago a committee was appointed to secure all information regarding the erection of such a building, the cost of an artificial ice-making plant, etc. A financial committee was appointed and is out seeking purchasers of stock in $100 shares, payable at a rate of twenty-five per cent by Nov. 1, twenty-five by December, twenty-five by Feb. 1 and the last payment on April 1, 1920.
So far rumor has ignored St. John. There is no talk of an indoor rink, no talk of hockey, little talk of anything in the line of winter ice sport that will make the fans sit up and take notice. And why?
There is no better class of sports in Canada than in St. John and yet instead of being the leading centre it is slowly dropping into the discard. A promoter is taking a big chance to bring any fast skaters to this city from upper Canada or the United States because he fears that weather conditions might not be suitable for making good ice and as a result he would be out a lot of money. Again the Victoria rink is not suited for hockey and is not the type of rink on which championship races are held.
If St. John would awake to the crying need of a large new rink with artificial ice it would not only be the mecca of sport and an attraction to old and young, but would be a boost to the city. A city without sport is dead and sooner or later the bad effects will make themselves apparent in no uncertain way.
An example of the advertising opportunities available was given during the last summer months. St. John had a class of baseball that could compare favorably with that of any amateur leagues in Canada, yet they had some of the most dilapidated grounds in the domain. Players thought nothing of jumping over ash heaps, old tin cans, etc., on the diamond. It was a matter of getting a ball regardless of the risk involved, thought nothing of running to meet a ball coming off a bat with terrific speed and dropping down to intercept it on grounds covered with stones and cinders, which might cause the ball to deflect and strike them in the face or body, causing painful or serious injury, and yet they were in the streets of the city. The daily papers through the maritime provinces, in Montreal and in Toronto ran notices that the city champions of St. John were to compete with the champions of Montreal and Toronto for the baseball championship of eastern Canada. In these cities the name of St. John was spoken about the streets of those cities by thousands of people. If St. John had a ball ground as good as those in cities like Moncton, St. Stephen, Colias, Woodstock or other maritime centres these teams would have been brought here and return games would have been staged in upper Canada.

It is time St. John awakes and once again take their place in sport, which is theirs by right of ability.
It is gratifying to learn that the East End Improvement League will follow the example of the South End and provide a big outdoor skating rink this winter.

Editor's Note:—Peter Farren of this city clipped more than a second off the pacing record in a trial heat this summer, and the following day set a new mark, which held until John A. Hal's performance. If the St. John pacer is going well next year he may establish a record on the Chatham track that will be hard to beat.

THE OFFICER AND THE PRIVATE

A Comparison by One Who Has Been Both

SAYS OFFICERS BETTER OFF

Had Many Comforts and Conveniences Not Accessible to the Men in the Ranks, But Greater Responsibility and Danger

(Toronto Mail and Empire) Which has the harder lot, the officer or the private? The opinion of the great majority of privates is that the officers have, on the whole, a "cushy" job compared with theirs and, on the other hand, the officers are not to be blamed if they think the privates are lucky to be only privates, free from the officer's responsibility. Here and there, however, is to be found an officer who declares unhesitatingly that in the Great War the officers had all the best of it. One of them is that distinguished author and playwright, St. John Ervine, author of "Changing Winds," perhaps the best English war novel, and "John Ferguson," one of the latest New York dramatic hits. Mr. Ervine was both an officer and a private in the war, and his views were offered in refutation of a letter that appeared in the New Statesman, an English weekly, asserting that, everything considered, the private had the best of things. Being an officer was more dangerous, the writer said, more tiring, and not more attractive except for decorations. Mr. Ervine does not specifically deal with danger and the statistics of the war will probably show that the most dangerous post of all was that of a subaltern in an infantry regiment.

"The Wind Up" But Mr. Ervine says that if an officer "got the wind" up or, in other words, lost his nerve, it was a simple matter for him to get away to the transport lines or secure a transfer from an infantry regiment to another branch of the service, but the man in the lines with the "wind up" had to stay there and get it down as best he could. But we should think that "funking" would be much more conspicuous in an officer than in a private, and that a very human falling away from heroism would appear more damning in him than in another. Apart from the vital inter-related questions of danger and courage, Mr. Ervine says that the officer had all the best of it, especially in England. In hospital and as a prisoner of war the officer's advantage was increased, and it is to be admitted that however much was left to be desired of the German treatment of officer prisoners they had a much better time than the privates. The ingrained German respect for officers was even translated to their enemies. Again the officer suffered from few of the childish restraints it was thought necessary to impose on the privates, and the writer says that the officer, even if he is a boy of nineteen, is treated as a responsible person, while the private, though a middle-aged business man must be in barracks by ten o'clock.

The Matter of Leave The arbitrary fixing of bounds does not apply, except theoretically in some cases, to officers, he continues, a statement that is probably open to contradiction. As a private soldier, he says, he had to waste hours of his precious leave in waiting about company office until an officer could be found to sign his pass. As an officer he merely suggested to the adjutant that perhaps the army could stagger along without his presence for a week-end, and the adjutant would give him leave. The officer got better and more varied food than the men, he continues. In France his fare was better cooked. He admits that perhaps officers had too much to eat, and is convinced that they had too much to drink. He writes: "I have never been able to understand why whiskey was so easily obtainable both out of the line and in it. The men received no other alcohol, stimulant than that provided by a teaspoonful of rum after stand-to, but the officers had bottles of whiskey every day. There was actually a time in my experience in France when it was easier to obtain whiskey than rifle oil, and I have known men to go into the trenches without rifle oil at the same time a trainload of whiskey was lying at railroad."

Whiskey and Beer He finds it a satisfaction to report that the Germans captured that train and he trusts that the whiskey made them very drunk and very sick. The aftermath of this lavish distribution of whiskey, he says, is the present great number of young officers who are drunkards. Let this should be seized upon as an argument in the present referendum campaign; it is fair to say that Mr. Ervine adds, "Honest beer—if the word honest is applicable to beer nowadays—would have been better for the officers, and would certainly have done the men no harm." a sentiment at variance with the doctrine one hears nowadays that beer is perhaps worse than whiskey. Housing arrangements at home at the base, and in rest sections were much better for the officers than for the men; so were the dugouts and shelters in the line. The officers had facilities for washing that the men had not, and though the bathing arrangements in France were pretty good, much better than in Eng-

More Farms-Good Times

How it Affects You

Among our returned soldiers there are thousands of practical farmers. Still other thousands are studying farming under Canada's supervision, by hiring out to farmers, and by taking courses in agricultural colleges. These men want to "go on the land," but they have no capital. So, through the medium of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, Canada says to them "If you are fully qualified to farm, I will lend you money to purchase land, stock and implements. You may pay it back within a stated time, and for the loan of it, I will charge you only a moderate rate of interest."

Canada makes this offer, not only because men who have fought deserve well of their country, but because it is of prime importance that more land should be cultivated.

The love of outdoor life and the resourcefulness of our soldier citizens are just the qualities to make them successful farmers, and upholders of the best Canadian tradition.

As evidence of the value of the Land Settlement Act, the following figures were available on August 15:--

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes: Number of applications from soldiers (29,495), Number of applications investigated and approved (22,281), Number of soldiers actually farming this year (9,043), Average amount of loan to each soldier ($2,960), Total amount of loans ($26,767,304), Average size of farm (160 acres), Total amount of homestead lands that is, virgin soil placed under cultivation (1,000,000 acres).

This million acres was divided among 3,768 soldiers, 160 acres each being the original allotment; but 2,512 soldiers availed themselves of the privilege open to all soldier-homesteaders to obtain an additional 160 acres, making their allotment 320 acres each.

In addition to a million acres of virgin soil already placed under cultivation, more than 6,000 other farms are now being worked, many of which would have been less productive if returned soldiers had not taken them over.

It is just as true to-day as it was before the war that big crops favorably marketed mean general prosperity for Canada.

The more wheat and farm products Canada grows and sells, the more money will be spread through all classes of the community. Not only the farmer, but the merchant, the manufacturer, the industrial wage earner and the professional man will benefit.

Here is where YOU come in.

$24,000,000 of the forthcoming Victory Loan will be used to make loans to soldier farmers.

By purchasing Victory Bonds you will help the soldier who is starting life anew on the farm as well as sharing in this national investment in farm development. You will not only get good interest on your money with the best security, but you will participate in the increased general prosperity which greater farm production brings.

Get ready to join in the promotion of greater national prosperity, therefore, by subscribing to the

"77" FOR COLDS

During the last epidemic of influenza it was said that six months supply of drugs and medicines was exhausted in six days. Among these was Dr. Humphrey's Seventy-seven.

The cause was partly due to the abnormal demand, but largely to everyone anticipating their wants. We now appeal to our friends to conserve their supply of "Seventy-seven." Don't buy more than you need; don't take more than is necessary. Study and follow directions.

painter and universal genius, are many sketches of wings to be fitted to arms and legs, and more than one disastrous attempt was made to fly with such devices.

Thus at the beginning of the sixteenth century an Italian alchemist promised to fly from the walls of Stirling Castle to France, and actually tried to do so. Naturally, he failed; by luck he only broke a leg.

A more successful, if more modest attempt was made recently at Longchamps by a French professional cyclist. Poulain, who with a man-driven airplane actually flew, not to Stirling Castle, but a distance of thirteen yards. It is understood that a prize of 10,000 francs awaits him if he shall repeat the feat under specified conditions.

Could Reckon Percentage. With the idea of bringing his business knowledge up to date Sandy McFee left his village shop in charge of his wife and went to Glasgow. He got an introduction to the managers of a big city store and began to ask questions, mainly as to the profits obtained. "Oh, as to profits," said the Glasgow man, "they vary, of course. On some articles we get ten per cent and on others only five."

"Mon, it's awful!" sighed Sandy. "Ten per cent! An' mostly I can get only one, for if I buy an article for one shilling I sell it for two!"

"He ought to be suppressed. Next thing you know we'll have another Lang-tail."
