IN CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL.

Here rose the minister where Augustine taught; Beneath our feet here slumbers one whose life, 'Twas hostile King and Duke, was one long strife.

CHAPTER II.

The castle of Doom, where the long line of the Earls of Morvah had reigned in feudal splendor, commanded St. Ives bay, and, like most of the Cornish castles, was quite close to the sea.

A MAN WITH A HISTORY.

"I can't see those three palm trees," said the major, head-down, "ranker," who supported a wife and a family of six in West Kensington, out of his pay.

He had the best part of his regiment under his command were winding their way across the desert, through thick thorny scrub, between treacherous looking low parallel ranges.

"I can't make out those palm trees," said the major; "Lieut. Lovett, shoot the guide at the first sign of his playing false."

"Lieut. Lovett's gone with two file of men and the guide to the top of the ridge to reconnoitre, sir."

"Lieut. Lovett and the two file of men never came back, and the major said no more, for a volley from the ridge stretched him lifeless."

Officer after officer, sergeant after sergeant fell, marked out by their uniforms as distinctly as if they had been branded. The Arabs evidently had some renegade among them well up in English uniforms.

Still the column fought its way on doggedly. At last there was only one commissioned or non-commissioned officer left—a smooth-faced boy, fresh from school, just rushed through Sandhurst. But still the magic of discipline held the men together. And then he, too, was picked off by the sharpshooters; and if he had been a Crimean veteran, the effect could not have been more instantaneous.

CHAPTER II.

The castle of Doom, where the long line of the Earls of Morvah had reigned in feudal splendor, commanded St. Ives bay, and, like most of the Cornish castles, was quite close to the sea.

At last, in an evil moment, the captain thought of Lady Gwen. Carbis' jointure as a means of satisfying his creditors. Lord Morvah was one of his most intimate friends, and he imagined that his consent would be asked.

Not so Lord Morvah. Capt. Le Grey might be good enough to be his friend, but he was not good enough to be his sister's friend, much less her lover.

Lady Gwen's spirit was equal to her brother's, she was her own mistress, and marry Charles Le Grey she would. Lord Morvah forbade him the house.

On the highest point of ground of the St. Ives peninsula in Lord Morvah's park stood a disused engine house, such as one sees dotted all over Cornwall, like castles battered in the civil war.

Outside this tower one autumn morning, while the mist was still thick enough to hide every thing, a few miles away, stood the Queen's Own, or Captain Her Majesty's Rifle Brigade, who fell in the moment of victory while gallantly commanding his regiment after it had been denuded of its officers at the battle of Wady Issek.

Words cannot express the gratitude which people feel for the benefit done them by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Long-standing cases of rheumatism yielded to this remedy, when all others fail to give relief.

A distressing cough or cold not only deprives one of rest and sleep, but, if allowed to continue, is liable to develop more serious trouble in the way of congestion or laryngitis, or perhaps consumption. Use Baird's Balsam of Horehound.

to his fall through so many feet of air, the expression of his face was ghastly beyond description. Those who saw the last Earl of Morvah, lying on a tavern table awaiting the coroner's inquest, were haunted by the recollection of the castle of Doom.

My Dear Brother—Our favorite, but too well known brother Charles, has finished the stormy career which opened so brightly, I arrived just in time to see the letter which you had written to me.

Manx—Herewith I beg to return to you the miniature of yourself which you gave to my late lamented brother, Capt. Charles Le Grey, together with the letter which you had written to me.

The poor sinful folk of Charles Le Grey does not lie in the sands of the desert, but in the great cathedral, whose golden cross shines over the last beds of Nelson and Wellington, whither it was transported at the cost of the last of the house of Morvah.

THE GALA WEEK.

The Carnival is almost upon us. Monday begins our gala week. Thousands of strangers will see St. John in her holiday attire.

It is not necessary to ask courteous treatment for strangers. We always try to treat our visitors well. But there are exceptions and they include the people who grab every such opportunity to demand exorbitant prices.

Sometimes, through the oversight of the blue pencil, St. John gets a square show in a Halifax newspaper. "N. P." correspondent of the Mail has this paragraph about St. John weather:

The fog with which we have to create with so often and so much, and through which we can see our way clear appears to have deserted us for the time being.

At the closing exercises of Glasgow academy, one of the model schools of the old country, Rev. Dr. MARSHALL LANG said in closing his remarks:

In bidding the academy good-speed, he should regret if ever one east-iron Government departmental system could crush out individual effort and put an end to healthy diversity and rivalry among educational institutions.

The Glasgow Academy is not a public school in our sense of that term. It is one of the educational centres in that great city, and every pupil in attendance pays for his instruction.

There is something radically wrong with any system that promotes a subordinate over a competent man. Such appears to be the case with Baggage Master WILLIAM KINGSTON'S fortune and Conductor EDWARD THOMPSON'S misfortune.

When we compare the provincial income with our annual expenditure for education, the question, Can we continue this, naturally arises. Perhaps it would be better to curtail the expenditure, cut down the course of instruction in the public schools and make attendance compulsory.

The days of cheap gas are approaching. A London syndicate, with a capital of $20,000,000, are planning to introduce water gas plant into the large American cities.

Mr. C. N. SKINNER, M. P., will not run for the office of mayor. This is well. A city can mix its politics no more than a citizen can mix his drinks.

On the third page we print a poem and a short story by Mr. DOUGLAS SLADEN, the bright Australian who visited St. John this week.

EDWARD S. CARTER, Publisher. Office: No. 27 Canterbury St. (Telegraph Building)

The maritime provinces are getting a good deal of attention from travelling correspondents this summer. Much of the criticism is too unjust to be reproduced. For example, here is something about Halifax in the Boston Transcript that no reputable writer would care to own.

There are hotels there which are dingy and nasty, and are not called in true linguistic Academie, "Maison des Chats," but they ought to be. They take other names on the old Oriental plan. The Excelsior Sea was so called because it was not at all exciting, that means hospitable to strangers, whereas the sea was full of pirates. Still the fact at the hotels is not the best. Coffee is unknown in Halifax or in the provinces. They call it coffee, but what good does that do? There are no steaks there. Never ask for steak, drop the delusion, and say chop. Forridge means oatmeal, so don't ask. If you are determined to have steak you will be served with a mix of vulgus and subterfuge, though leather. Say chop, for you will have to come to it.

If the truth was known, the writer of the above probably patronized a dollar house and picked his teeth in the office of the Halifax or Queen hotels.

Miss MARY KINGSLEY TIBBETS, of Fredericton, had a rich and rare experience in Montreal this week. To be arrested for another person on a charge of conspiring to murder, must be anything but pleasant. But Miss TIBBETS appears to have conducted herself and her case remarkably well until the arrival of her mother and President HARRISON, who identified her. She has a large amount of self-possession, which came into excellent play in such an adventure. Montreal must be a queer place, with queer officials. We fear the chances of Mrs. TIBBETS and her bright daughter getting any compensation for such a gross outrage are slight, indeed. They might think themselves very fortunate if their expenses were paid. Surely a city like Montreal will see that this is done.

The Moncton Times prints on better paper than any Canadian daily. And it is a good newspaper.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Do Not Divide the Show. To the Editor of Progress: In a local article in your issue of the 13th inst., under the heading of "Boom the Exhibition," you make the remark that "the carnival is for the visitors and the provincial, let us who can afford to attend it." The farmer cannot do this, and so I would infer that if you have gauged public opinion in the country aright, the great rush from the rural districts to the city will not be the sight of the carnival, but rather to see the exhibits on the products of the farm and the workshop, etc., as to be displayed in the forthcoming exhibition. In connection with the latter you say that "the Agricultural Society is bent on keeping up its end of the programme, and it is about settled that the produce of the farm and the household articles will be held on its own grounds at Moosepass."

Now, from past experience, the manifold occurrence attendant upon a divided show, it occurs to the writer that it would be far better for the exhibition committee of citizens already appointed under an act of the legislature, and the Agricultural Society to come to some harmonious arrangement to hold the entire show on the grounds of the Agricultural Society, as at the centennial, on the old Barrack grounds. If the citizens' committee have not yet decided that the exhibition should embrace the products of the farm, including, of course, stock, it is dangerous to trot such a decision.

If of the pace and carriage of coils and roadsters, must be a necessary adjunct to an agricultural exhibition, let the society have their race and draw all they can to see them. But the funds in the hands of citizens' committee for exhibition purposes could be united with those of the Agricultural Society, and thus have one good show instead of two poor ones.

Should the railroad facilities for taking people to the object of their so good, it will place two shows, one at Moosepass, and one at two remote points. Restaurants will be needed at both places, expenses of various kinds will be increased, and persons will be travelling from one show to the other continually, blaming the obstinacy of the managers, and should the weather be unfavorable, so much the worse for the shows and the people attending them.

They Are Ready for Business. The columns of PROGRESS are crowded with business announcements today, to the exclusion of some of its interesting reading matter. Two clothing firms—Mr. Wm. J. Fraser and Messrs. Scovil, Fraser & Co.—are partly responsible for this. With their usual keen eye for business, these firms lost no time the first of the week in taking sufficient space in PROGRESS (three columns) to talk about their magnificent stock of goods. A marked down sale has its peculiar attractions for the visitor, especially if he hail from the counties of the province. Wm. J. Fraser does not go back on any of his reputation for good bargains, and he has marked sufficient stock to such a point that the man who needs clothing and does not carry some of it home with him, prefers to go shabby. His announcement will be found on the eighth page, while that of Messrs. Scovil, Fraser & Co. can be seen on the second.

TO KATHLEEN. How can I write with these two little hands Entwined about my neck? The lips you lit So temptingly to mine for their demands, Send all my concentrated thoughts a-drift.

How can my theme connected be when sounds Of childish prattle break upon my ear? The silvery laugh that thro' the room rebounds So often, is the only music I hear.

Do I complain? Ah! sweet, these deep blue eyes Shame the forget-me-not! These little plums Are far more soft and pink than summer dew. At sunset, and the day melts like a psalm Of perfect peace, since thou against my breast: Thy golden head doest lay, and nought beside Could bring the love of song as my beloved— For thou art poetry personified!

TALK OF THE THEATRE.

It is five weeks since the Lansdowne opened with a stock company, and during that time nine different plays have been presented, and 24 performances given. Since the opening night the company has steadily increased in popular favor and artistic merit.

The Maritime Agriculturalist is out. For inexperienced men, Messrs. Paterson & Gilbert have done well. The mechanical work is done in the office of the Post, Sackville. The publishing location is well chosen, for if a farmer's paper is to flourish anywhere Sackville should be the place.

Mr. R. J. Gilbert's assiduity as business manager has provided for several healthy pages of advertisements, and if the subscription list is just as robust, the proprietors can make a good bid for success.

The Moncton Times prints on better paper than any Canadian daily. And it is a good newspaper.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Do Not Divide the Show. To the Editor of Progress: In a local article in your issue of the 13th inst., under the heading of "Boom the Exhibition," you make the remark that "the carnival is for the visitors and the provincial, let us who can afford to attend it." The farmer cannot do this, and so I would infer that if you have gauged public opinion in the country aright, the great rush from the rural districts to the city will not be the sight of the carnival, but rather to see the exhibits on the products of the farm and the workshop, etc., as to be displayed in the forthcoming exhibition. In connection with the latter you say that "the Agricultural Society is bent on keeping up its end of the programme, and it is about settled that the produce of the farm and the household articles will be held on its own grounds at Moosepass."

Now, from past experience, the manifold occurrence attendant upon a divided show, it occurs to the writer that it would be far better for the exhibition committee of citizens already appointed under an act of the legislature, and the Agricultural Society to come to some harmonious arrangement to hold the entire show on the grounds of the Agricultural Society, as at the centennial, on the old Barrack grounds. If the citizens' committee have not yet decided that the exhibition should embrace the products of the farm, including, of course, stock, it is dangerous to trot such a decision.

If of the pace and carriage of coils and roadsters, must be a necessary adjunct to an agricultural exhibition, let the society have their race and draw all they can to see them. But the funds in the hands of citizens' committee for exhibition purposes could be united with those of the Agricultural Society, and thus have one good show instead of two poor ones.

Should the railroad facilities for taking people to the object of their so good, it will place two shows, one at Moosepass, and one at two remote points. Restaurants will be needed at both places, expenses of various kinds will be increased, and persons will be travelling from one show to the other continually, blaming the obstinacy of the managers, and should the weather be unfavorable, so much the worse for the shows and the people attending them.

They Are Ready for Business. The columns of PROGRESS are crowded with business announcements today, to the exclusion of some of its interesting reading matter. Two clothing firms—Mr. Wm. J. Fraser and Messrs. Scovil, Fraser & Co.—are partly responsible for this. With their usual keen eye for business, these firms lost no time the first of the week in taking sufficient space in PROGRESS (three columns) to talk about their magnificent stock of goods. A marked down sale has its peculiar attractions for the visitor, especially if he hail from the counties of the province. Wm. J. Fraser does not go back on any of his reputation for good bargains, and he has marked sufficient stock to such a point that the man who needs clothing and does not carry some of it home with him, prefers to go shabby. His announcement will be found on the eighth page, while that of Messrs. Scovil, Fraser & Co. can be seen on the second.

TO KATHLEEN. How can I write with these two little hands Entwined about my neck? The lips you lit So temptingly to mine for their demands, Send all my concentrated thoughts a-drift.

How can my theme connected be when sounds Of childish prattle break upon my ear? The silvery laugh that thro' the room rebounds So often, is the only music I hear.

Do I complain? Ah! sweet, these deep blue eyes Shame the forget-me-not! These little plums Are far more soft and pink than summer dew. At sunset, and the day melts like a psalm Of perfect peace, since thou against my breast: Thy golden head doest lay, and nought beside Could bring the love of song as my beloved— For thou art poetry personified!

FROM THE GRAND STAND.

Among the junior twirlers honors are easy between Connolly and McIlhenny.

Moncton has a live team. They will make the diamond quake next week.

Moncton and St. John play a "friendly" game to-day. At least that is what the hand-book says.

Moncton is proud of Larrabee. He is batting safely and strongly and doing fine, clean work on the red bag.

Everybody admits now that the Shamrocks ought to be in the league. Is it too late to remedy the mistake?

Manager Nevins is a lucky man. If he should sign Clarkson and Bennett, the boys would be through.

It will take a good deal of work yet to make the Shamrocks ground A. 1, especially for playing early in the season.

The Frederictons have an excellent player and a hard worker in Thayer. He works for the game rather than for a record.

Robinson and Webster worked $45 as a result of their work in the first league game. It only took five minutes to make up the difference.

But where would the home team be this year without Parsons, I wonder. He has more than once pulled the boys out of the conundrum.

If stealing bases will do it, the pennant will grace the Fredericton grounds this year. The Celestials stole 10 bases on Monday the last two games.

St. John has a team of experienced players and heavy hitters; our boys don't play with the dash and vim of the Monctons in the field, though.

It is that second game between Moncton and the home team, losers were really about even. The latter won more by luck than superior playing.

The Moncton cranks are down on Jimmy Christie. It is that second game between Moncton and the St. Johns that cranks game, but Jimmy is square all the same.

Like Parsons, of the St. Johns, Seale is the sheet-anchor of the Monctons. It will be interesting to compare the work of these two men at the close of the season.

St. John has the finest ball ground, but Fredericton the noblest grand stand of them all. And the exhibition field that only requires money to make it perfect.

Really there is no need for quite so much blood on the face of the moon between the boys of the snaky city and those of St. John. Keep cool, gentlemen, till the dog star sets.

That fine all-around player, O. P. Burns, of this year Bates College, had signed with the Frederictons. In Thayer and Burns the Capital team has a reversible battery.

Like the rules, gentlemanly department of the Fredericton players as well as the orderly conduct of the Fredericton audience, Moncton, and even St. John could learn a lesson from the placid Celestials.

NOTICE.

Sir: We find it currently reported that the exhibitors at the electric exhibition are to receive the profits accruing from the sale of tickets.

As members of the committee having the exhibition in charge, in justice to the exhibitors, the citizens and the committee wish to make the following statement:—

The exhibitors receive nothing. They have incurred great expense. In busy times, and when their facilities have been taxed to the utmost, they have cheerfully provided large, expensive and well assorted exhibits from all parts of the dominion and United States in order to insure the success of our exhibition. For this we are most thankful, and it is unfair to them and to our citizens and committee not to give them credit for their kindness and generosity. The only advantage they reap is in form of advertising their goods.

Whatever profit there may be after paying expenses will be handed to the carnival committee to assist in defraying the expense of the carnival, so that each person who buys a ticket simply becomes a subscriber to the carnival fund to that amount.

DORCHESTER.

[Persons in for sale in Dorchester at George M. Fairweather's store.]

July 17.—Time was when the winter was our season of gaiety, and summer the season for everyone to move out of town and visit other places. The order is exactly reversed of late years, and now we are invariably as dull as dish-water all winter long, while the summer brings us a flock of summer visitors and a correspondingly large crop of dances and other enjoyments. Our "season" seems to have fairly opened now, and dances and parties, tennis parties and excursions are beginning to show their noses above ground, with prospects of more to follow.

Mrs. Joshua Chandler gave a very enjoyable party at her home on Friday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Forsythe, of Toronto. Dancing was of course the order of the evening, and was kept up with spirit till a late hour. The evening was just cool enough to prevent the grounds being spent about the nice lawns and the intervals surrounding the house. It would be superfluous to say that every one seemed to enjoy the party extremely. Mrs. Chandler's parties are too well known to need any praise from me.

Rev. J. Roy Campbell and Mrs. Campbell have been enjoying a visit from Rev. Robt. H. Taylor, principal of the Theological college of St. John's, Newfoundland. Mr. Taylor occupied Trinity church pulpit at both services on Sunday, and on Friday evening, and his very clever addresses were much enjoyed by the large congregations present. This is his first visit to this part of the world, and he expresses himself delighted with the maritime provinces in general and Dorchester in particular. He left on Monday for a trip to the upper provinces, after which he will return to Newfoundland.

Hon. F. A. Landry, M. P., and Mrs. Landry left for Fredericton last week, to visit Mrs. Landry's father, who is reported seriously ill. They have not returned to Dorchester.

Mr. W. W. Wells paid a short visit to Fredericton last week, on business connected with his profession. He returned on Saturday, and left again for a trip to St. John on Monday.

Rev. J. B. Campbell left on Monday for a holiday trip to Nova Scotia, seeking rest after his hard year's work. He will visit Yarmouth (his parish for 13 years) and other towns, and will probably be absent about a fortnight.

Mr. S. A. Mackenzie of Moncton, was in Dorchester on Saturday on business.

Mrs. Brown, of Fredericton, made a short visit to Dorchester, last week, with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. M. Fairweather.

Mr. W. F. Campbell left for Nova Scotia on Monday, to be one of a series of lectures under the charge of Prof. Butler, of King's college, Windsor. He will be away for some weeks.

Mrs. D. L. Harrington gave the first of a series of tennis parties, Monday afternoon, on the lawn below her house. The party, though not all large, was much enjoyed by those present, and the balls were kept going merrily from 3 o'clock till half-past 10, when ice-cream and other refreshments were served on the lawn. These disposed of, play was resumed and kept up till approaching darkness, when it was broken off by a certain one, and a damp wind suggested thoughts of home and mother.

The same evening, Mrs. W. Hiram W. Palmer gave a very pleasant dance at her beautiful place in the outskirts of the town. It was at first proposed to have a party in a hall, but had been built outside the house, in the middle of a beautiful grove of ornamental trees, but the evening was so cool that the music, violins, cello, piano, and castanets, so the guests were obliged to confine their dancing to the fine large room inside, where they spent a most delightful evening. Most of the music was by an orchestra of five pieces, composed of Mrs. H. W. Palmer, Mr. N. Palmer, Mrs. W. B. Robinson, and Miss Nellie Palmer, while for some dances Mr. G. B. Fowler and Miss Nellie Hobb were the solo dancers. The evening was a most successful one, and the guests departed with a very pleasant and very happy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Blain, of Boston, in Dorchester, visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Hickman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Blain, of Boston, in Dorchester, accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Robinson, of St. John, made a short visit to Dorchester on Monday, returning to Sackville this morning.

Mr. J. W. Hickman left Dorchester on Thursday last for a business visit to St. John. He returned home on Monday.

Miss Alice Estabrook, of Sackville, was in Dorchester on Monday, visiting her sister, Mrs. A. E. Dalton.

The July session of the supreme court was opened here yesterday, and the effect of being held here was a little, and making the court house square look more like it does on circus or election days. His honor Judge King is presiding, and is registered at the Weldon house.

Mr. John W. Gilmore, manager of the Telegraph, was in Dorchester on Monday, on business.

Hon. A. G. Blair is here, engaged in court. He is registered at the Dorchester house.

Mr. W. A. Russell, barrister, of Shediac, and Mr. D. I. Welsh, of Moncton, were in Dorchester yesterday, at the opening of the court. They returned home last evening.

Mr. A. W. Bennett, of Sackville, was registered here on Monday.

Mr. W. J. Robinson, of Moncton, was in town yesterday on business. He returned to Moncton the same evening.

Mr. H. Barry Smith, barrister, of Moncton, was registered at the Dorchester house yesterday. The Methodist and Baptist churches of Dorchester intend holding a union picnic on Friday, going to Amherst and Fort Lawrence, and the singing and the serious illness of his sister there. We trust that her illness will not result fatally.

Mr. William C. Milner, of Sackville, was in Dorchester last evening.

I am sorry to hear that Mr. George M. Fairweather's illness has turned out to be of more significance than was at first reported. He is still confined to his bed, and is so exceedingly weak that it is somewhat better the last day or two than has been. We hope to see him about soon, none the worse for his tedious illness.

Invitations have been issued for a large dance to-morrow evening, at the residence of Doctor and Mrs. J. E. Church. The attendance will, of course, be large, and a very enjoyable time may safely be predicted, judging from previous experiences in the way of dances given by Mr. and Mrs. Church.

KINGSTON, KENT CO.
JULY 15.—Although not communicating heretofore with you, I enjoy your weekly arrival immensely. We are all rejoicing at the reappearance of the sun. In fact, all the sons here are hilarious just now on account of the arrival of several of our darlings who "steal your affections away" man.

The "Cedars," always noted for its open hospitality, is at present a pleasant place to call, for besides the two charming daughters of mine here, there are Miss Doherty, of Campbellton; Miss Gertrude Cleveland, of St. John, and Miss Etta Davidson, of Moncton.

Miss Jennie Leveson, of St. John, is visiting her cousin, Miss Mary Main, of Galloway. Jardineville is rejoicing, just now, in the return of its fair daughters, the Misses Orr, Standish and Jardine.

ST. STEPHEN.

[Persons in for sale in St. Stephen at the book-store of H. Smith & Co. and G. S. Wall.]

JULY 17.—St. Stephen and Calais are having a full share of summer visitors, and there is a prospect of a brilliant social season during July and August. Mrs. A. H. Thompson returned home on Tuesday. She has been absent for a while, visiting in Washington, Boston and the state of New Hampshire.

The ladies of St. Anne's church, Calais, had a very successful supper on Thursday evening, for the benefit of their church and the handsome sum of $87 was realized.

It is said that one of our favorite young ladies is receiving congratulations of a very pleasant character, and that the vicinity of Montreal will be her home in the near future.

The friends of Mrs. Hannah Gilmore were greatly shocked at the death of her sudden death which occurred last night. She was a most estimable lady and will be much missed in her family and among her friends.

Mrs. O'Malley, of Fredericton, is the guest of Mrs. Hiram W. Palmer on Monday afternoon, entertained a large party of friends with a picnic supper, at her home in St. Stephen, some four or five miles below Calais.

Mrs. Edwin B. Todd, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. S. Smith, and Mr. Todd, are at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, for a short visit.

pit was a mass of tall white lilies, white pond lilies were in profusion. These flowers were gathered by Rev. J. Vincent at Middy Temple lake. A large number of people who were unable to attend church there visited the place at the close of the service.

Miss Gertrude Eaton has returned from Philadelphia, where she has been visiting a number of weeks. Her host of friends are delighted to welcome her home.

Miss Minnie Horton and Mrs. Chas. Hill are spending a few weeks at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, and we hope that she will be able to visit.

Mrs. Paul Burgess, of Machias, and Miss Ray, of Somerville, Mass., are visiting at Mr. Weston McAllister's.

The new hotel, which is being built by a number of Calais gentlemen, at the Devil's Head, is nearly completed.

Just a mile down the river, close to shore, are six unusually large tents, which have been the eyecore of the Calais fair. It is the intention of Mr. Francis Burrows, and has been sent out by Lieutenant J. J. Smith, for the purpose of surveying the river. Among the party are Mr. John S. Pheasant, class '80, Bowdoin college; Mr. Geo. S. Smith, class '80, Bowdoin college; Mr. Fred W. Fuger, class '81, Boston Institute of technology, and John Morton.

The departure on Monday morning of Miss Jessie Fialwick to her home in Halifax, is much regretted by the Calais friends, and we hope that she will believe that she is "The" lost to sight, to memory dear.

Mr. Blaine, secretary of state, purchased last week of a Calais gentleman two handsome dark bay horses. Mr. Blaine will use them as carriage horses at Bar Harbor this summer.

Parties are at work decorating St. Croix Hall, which will be the scene of the Calais fair. It is a very musical organization that has ever visited Calais.

Mr. E. P. Romeril, of Montreal, spent Sunday in town.

If referred to the item in Progress, last week, about a concert given here a short time ago, in all fairness to those interested, let me say the success of the concert was due to the combined efforts of a number of young ladies.
