SUDDEN DEATH

Of V. J. A. Venner, M. D.
Yesterday

A RESPECTED CITIZEN

Prominent in Civic and School Board Affairs

The community was shocked yesterday morning to learn the sad news of the death of V. J. A. Venner, M. D., who passed away at his home here in the early morning.

He had not been in his usual good health for the past few days being confined to the house, but on Tuesday he felt so improved that he made arrangements to go to his office the next day.

However, late in the evening it was noticed by the family that the Doctor was gradually weakening and as the hours passed it became too apparent that the patient's sufferings would soon be over, death occurring at about 3 o'clock a. m.

Dr. Venner was one of Campbellton's most respected citizens, of a genial happy nature that made him many friends and his hearty laugh and witty sayings will be much missed by those who knew him. In his chosen profession he had quite an extensive practice, having been the oldest resident medical man in town.

V. J. A. Venner was born of French parents in Quebec on April 15, 1849. He was educated at the College of St. Anne de la Pointe. He obtained the degree of B. A. from Laval University and studied medicine at Laval and Bishop's College, Montreal, receiving the degree of M. D. from the latter in the year 1874. The following year he came to Campbellton and commenced the practice of his profession. In all civic and educational matters he always took a deep interest and was a member of the first Town Council after incorporation, being elected Ward One with A. G. Adams. The next year he sat at the Board with G. E. Asker, being elected April 15th 1890. The following year he was elected on April 21st with A. D. MacKendrick and in 1897 he was again elected with A. G. Adams. He was also a prominent member of the Board of School Trustees ever since the incorporation of the town.

The deceased leaves a widow and four daughters, all of Campbellton Mrs. John Harguail, and Misses Corinnette, Jeannette and Georgine Venner, with whom the whole community deeply sympathize in their bereavement. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8.30 o'clock. Requiem high mass will be held in the R. C. Church at 9 o'clock.

"When in the opinion of the Town Council danger of fire is apprehended from any building, factory, laundry, mill or manufacturing establishment from whatever cause or reason, the said Town Council may instruct or direct the owner, manager or occupier of the same, or person in charge of, or having the control of, any such place whence the cause of such damage issues, to remedy or remove the said cause, or to make such changes, alterations, repairs, improvements or additions as may be by the said Town Council be deemed necessary to safe-guard against danger of fire, and in case of his default or of his refusal or neglect so to do, the said owner, manager, occupier or person in charge of, or having such control, shall, on conviction thereof by the Police Magistrate or any Justice of the Peace, on the information of any ratepayer of the Town of Campbellton, forfeit and pay a sum for each and every offence of not less than twenty dollars and not more than one hundred dollars."

Coun Murray from the Electric Light Com. recommended that hereafter no commercial wiring or electric supplies be furnished by or at the expense of the town, or installation made by town officers,

NEW PEST-HOUSE

To Be Erected on Lot of Land Leased from John Mair.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening, the full board in attendance.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication from H. F. McLatchy asking that McKenzie & Co., tailors, be relieved of business license of $20.00 as they would be assessed for taxes this year, was referred to Police & License Com.

Coun. McDonald from the Public Property & Street Com. recommended payment of street labor accounts, amounting to $54.41. Carried.

Coun. Taylor made a verbal report in the matter of the Water System.

In answer to Coun. Murray, the Mayor stated that the Town of Campbellton had been designated as coming under the Public Health Act in regard to inspection of plumbing, and had been duly gazetted.

The Mayor stated that a lease had been drawn up with John Mair for a lot of land on which to erect a pest-house. The yearly rental is $20.00 and the lease runs for a period of twenty years with an option of buying at $200.00. The Mayor was instructed to execute lease and the Town Clerk have it recorded.

On motion Couns. Vantour and Murray and the Mayor were appointed a committee to erect a pest house.

Orders were issued for new uniforms for the town policemen. The Mayor called attention to recent legislation in regard to damage from fire as follows:—

"When in the opinion of the Town Council danger of fire is apprehended from any building, factory, laundry, mill or manufacturing establishment from whatever cause or reason, the said Town Council may instruct or direct the owner, manager or occupier of the same, or person in charge of, or having the control of, any such place whence the cause of such damage issues, to remedy or remove the said cause, or to make such changes, alterations, repairs, improvements or additions as may be by the said Town Council be deemed necessary to safe-guard against danger of fire, and in case of his default or of his refusal or neglect so to do, the said owner, manager, occupier or person in charge of, or having such control, shall, on conviction thereof by the Police Magistrate or any Justice of the Peace, on the information of any ratepayer of the Town of Campbellton, forfeit and pay a sum for each and every offence of not less than twenty dollars and not more than one hundred dollars."

STEAM SERVICE.

M. Connolly's Contract has been Cancelled.

NEW TENDERS

To be Received up to July 15—Another Chance for the People.

(Special to Events.)

Ottawa, June 20.—The contract with the North American Transportation Co. for the Baie des Chaleurs has been cancelled and tenders are called for next year's service, such tenders to be received up to July 15th. The company had promised to put on a new boat and having failed to do so the contract was cancelled. Another opportunity is given the people of the Baie to get control of this service.

Messrs Lemieux and Marcell laid the complaints of the people before the Minister with the above result.

but that all installations by whomsoever made shall be subject to the inspection and approval of the Manager of the Electric Light Department and in accordance with the rules of the Fire Underwriters. Carried.

Board of Health accounts passed as follows:—

Frank Doncott, labor $2.36
Anslow Bros, 1.50
Wm Tope, labor 2.81

Coun Taylor said that he had been approached by ratepayers in regard to compulsory sewerage connection in certain instances where it was deemed in the public interest and asked if there was any provision in the Act along this line.

Mayor Murray read the section covering the case which gives the town power to compel a householder or landlord to connect with the sewerage system.

Considerable discussion followed and it was thought that instead of making the compulsory clause general, the ratepayer who had a grievance could report such to the Council and if the facts seemed to demand the enforcement of the section, the Council could take action.

There was also a lively discussion on the finances, some of the departments not having funds to carry on their work, after which Council adjourned.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Jas. LaPointe, a Native of Restigouche.

MEETS DEATH

By the Accidental Discharge of a Pistol in the Hands of a Chum.

A United States subscriber sends us the following clipping from the Massville, Wash. Globe but unfortunately does not mention the date of either the accident or the issue of the paper. We would judge that the unfortunate affair occurred on the 6th inst.

Monday morning Mrs D. J. Noonan received a telephone message from Sedro-Woolley that her brother, Jas. LaPointe, had met with a fatal accident. No particulars were received, only asking her to come. When she arrived there she found it was fatal indeed as her brother had died in the hospital the evening before. Mr. Noonan received the news later in the day. The particulars of the accident are as follows:—

The deceased and four or five of his friends were sitting on the steps of his home on Sunday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. They had been shooting at a park using a 22 calibre rifle and a Stevens' pistol of the same calibre, the deceased having the rifle and his friends, James McGregor, having the pistol, a cartridge having accidentally dropped to the ground, the deceased, James and David McGregor quickly stooped to pick it up, James McGregor reaching with his left hand holding the pistol in his other hand. The action was so quickly done that the deceased head struck the weapon in his friend's hand which was discharged the bullet entering the left temple and lodging in the brain. The best medical attendance was sent for to Sedro-Woolley, in the meantime the deceased had walked some distance and sat down. He did not seem to realize that his injury was fatal and later when the doctor arrived he held out hopes of his recovery. He was quickly taken to the hospital and everything was done to save his life, but in vain, for he died at 11 o'clock that night. The body was brought to Marysville on the morning train and was taken to the Catholic Church where solemn masses were held by Father Gard, he spoke very feelingly, "that in the midst of life we are in death." The choir, under the leadership of Miss Cora Morrison, of Port Townsend, sang some very beautiful hymns. The funeral was held from the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. D. J. Noonan, at half past two and from there was conveyed to the church where the burial services were held and then to the cemetery where the last sad rites were performed. The floral tributes sent by kind friends were many and beautiful. A number of the deceased's friends accompanied the remains from Sedro-Woolley to Marysville. Mr. McGregor is about distracted over the accident.

The deceased leaves a wife and child father, mother, three sisters and four brothers, Mr and Lawrence LaPointe, of Nash's Creek, N. B., Mr Joseph Morrison, of Port Townsend, and some very beautiful hymns. The funeral was held from the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. D. J. ## A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

And you naturally object to be converted into an instrument of torture?" said Marsden lightly. "She is mistaken, however; she would never have succeeded in marrying me to her mind, even if I had not met a certain witch of a kinswoman. Why, Nora, you must not look dismayed. When you have been Isabel's sister-in-law for a year or two, she will think me the luckiest fellow going, especially when she sees the reformation you will work in me."

"I share Nora's feeling that your only near relative's objection to your marriage is peculiarly unfortunate, perhaps it might be as well to postpone."

"Great heavens! Not!" interrupted Marsden, energetically. "You know I have agreed to put off the wedding till after the 15th of February, and that is an age—nearly two months off."

"Barely enough time to make due preparations," said Mrs. L'Estrange, laughing.

"Preparations! Why, very few are necessary. Nora and I are old friends and don't want to astonish each other with finery," urged Marsden.

Nora laughed, and tried to rouse her own very fond of pretty things, I assure you," she said.

And is there any reason that the power of choice or purchase should leave you when Nora L'Estrange becomes Nora Marsden?"

"And Mrs. Ruthven is really getting better," asked Mrs. L'Estrange.

"Really and truly this time—recovery sufficiently to dabble in business, which her soul loves. I was amazed this morning by a summons from my lawyer, which delayed my appearance here, and on reaching the office, I found it was an offer from Mrs. Ruthven to rent Evesleigh for five years at a higher rent than any yet propounded. Fortunately, I had not absolutely come to terms with the man who has been nibbling at it for some time, so I determined to give the fair yellow the preference."

"It is curious her wishing to live at Evesleigh, when she wanted to fly from it after that dreadful robbery," said Mrs. L'Estrange. "I suppose those jewels will never be found, nor the robber."

"Not after this lapse of time, I fancy," returned Marsden lightly. "I should think the thief is tolerably safe."

"I forgot to tell you that Mr. Winton passed through town while you were away," said Mrs. L'Estrange.

"He seems disposed to return to India before his holiday is half over. He has gone down to see his uncle, Giles Winton, before he goes."

"Ah! Mark Winton is a capital fellow, in spite of his solemnity. You did not make yourself agreeable enough to him, Mrs. L'Estrange, or he would not be in such a hurry to run away," and Marsden threw an expressive glance at Nora as he spoke, which sent an icy, painful dart through her heart. "He had not this fatal impression of Marsden's countenance?" "That is the uncle who brought him up with his own son, is it not?" continued Marsden.

"Yes," said Mrs. L'Estrange. "The son is dead."

"I did not know that. Then Winton is the old man's heir?"

"I believe so," Mrs. L'Estrange rose and closed her writing-book.

"You will, I am sure, excuse me, as I promised—"

"Pray do not apologize," cried Marsden gleefully.

"Is it not very fine to-day?" exclaimed Nora. "Do you know, Clifford, I should enjoy a drive so much."

"Would you? Well, I will go and find a conveyance, and a tolerable pair of horses; you shall drive to your heart's content."

"And you, Helen?"

"My dear, you know I am engaged," and with a smile and nod of the head Mrs. L'Estrange left them together.

"And you are glad to see me back, Nora, as glad as the last time I returned?" said Marsden, taking her hand and kissing it repeatedly.

"Yes! Oh, yes only I feel nervous, uneasy, not a bit, like myself. I am distressed about Lady Dorrington. I scarcely can say what I fear. But I feel I want air and motion."

"Very well, we shall have a nice drive. I shall be back in about three quarters of an hour. You will be ready?"

"Quite ready!" Still Marsden lingered.

"Look at me Nora," he said softly. "You have not given me a kiss to-day."

"Do not ask me," exclaimed Nora. "I can not, not now." She half turned from him, but he laid out her hand.

turned from him, but he laid out her hand.

He kissed it again, murmuring, "As you will, darling!" and went away not displeased, he fancied she must be waking from the unconsciousness that chilled him.

These were terrible days and nights to Nora L'Estrange. Her heart knew no rest from gnawing regret for the miserable misunderstanding which had wrecked her life, and the torturing doubt as to what was best and right to do. She was the source of sorrow to the man she loved most truly, she was deceiving the lover whom she sincerely liked, and Winton out of the way, might have loved her. Then, although she had been mistaken as to regard Mark Winton's feelings, it did not follow that her ideas respecting Mrs. L'Estrange were also wrong; perhaps in his disappointment Winton might turn to her. If so, Nora felt she ought to be pleased, but she was not, by any means pleased with the idea; on the contrary, it was very bitter. Then what was the right course to take with regard to her? She was so fond of her. How could she break with him, and break his heart? And suppose she had the hardihood to tell Marsden the truth, how would it sound to say, "Despairing of Mark Winton, I promised to be your wife; now I find he is willing to take me, I wish to break my word to you." Such was the simple fact. Not! She never, never could make such an avowal. It were best she should bear the penalty of her own weakness in having too readily yielded to persuasion, to her overbearing desire to throw off the pain and shame of a secret, and she must look by her own hand for a man who preferred an honest, true, and simple life to a life of dissimulation and deceit.

Besides, what would Winton himself think if, after telling him she was to marry Marsden, she declared herself free? Probably that she was a heartless jilt.

No, there was but one way for her to walk in, and she must look by her own hand for a man who preferred an honest, true, and simple life to a life of dissimulation and deceit.

leaving Winton to conquer his fancy for herself, which a strong sensible man, as he was, no doubt, would; forget him quickly, if possible, marry Marsden, and love him, and everything being settled in the spirit of affection till love came. Oh! would it come? And if it did, would it be true? Destiny was too potent for her; she could only conquer by bearing her fate!

Nothing, however, can put the drag on time's chariot wheels; the days went by swiftly yet heavily. Nora was surprised how few opportunities she found for being alone with Mrs. L'Estrange. She longed to ascertain what the had existed between Mark Winton and her step-mother. Yet she never had a chance for leading up to that subject. It was one respecting which she could not ask a simple, straightforward question, and she never was long enough alone with Mrs. L'Estrange to approach the topic with masked batteries.

Marsden was constantly with them, always charming, obliging, sympathetic; and it needed all Nora's tact and ingenuity to avoid the frequent tête-à-tête interviews he was perpetually contriving, to escape his caresses, from which she shrank with a sort of dread she was herself ashamed of. Sometimes she could not conceal this shrinking from him, and it filled him with an angry despair, that called forth her deepest remorse, and obliged her to atone so amply, that Marsden was once more joyous and hopeful.

"If you knew all you have cost me!" he would sometimes cry, "all I have risked for you, you would not cut me to the soul, with this accused cold prudery! Not that I would hesitate to pay any price that would make you mine, but I sometimes doubt you have any heart to give."

Then Nora would tremble, and assure him how dear his happiness was to her, and take his hand in hers, and stroke it with gentle kindness, and Marsden would become reasonable once more.

Oysters in New Brunswick

There are white-meated, plumped and delicious oysters of full natural, and even improved flavor, which are taken on the Miramichi by fishing for them with a jackknife blade, although those who know how and where to get them to the best advantage go among them armed with a regular oyster knife, says D. G. Smith, Fishery Commissioner of New Brunswick, in Forest and Stream.

When we tell visitors to the Miramichi that our oysters in a certain locality bite at the knife blade, are taken upon it by the basket full, and that they are the most plump, white-fleshed and best flavored oysters which have been served out in the shallow water inside of the "hook," where they are dry for a few minutes at low tide, but water-covered at other times. In this pure salt water they lie with open shells as soon as the tide covers them, and the seeker after the fattest, best flavored, and most shapely oyster walk out among them with a pair of rubber boots on to keep his feet dry, and placing his knife blade on the inside of one shell find the other closed quickly and tightly upon it, enabling him to lift the bivalve from its artificial bed. He has his choice of eating it raw on the spot, or collecting as many as he may desire for more leisurely consumption. There is no danger of bacteria of any harmful kind; the fat which the oysters take on is genuine natural and flavor-improving—Fishing Gazette.

MISCOU HARBOR.

Nearly every one is through farming pleasant weather still continues.

Mr. Finlay Anderson paid us a visit this week, he was on his way to Pt. Misou.

W. S. Loggie's Sch. Stewart L. called here on Thursday of this week with supplies for the factory.

Landings at the southwest end of Bay du Vin (Bay de Vents) Island, where there is a Sandy Hook on a small scale, the visitor finds hundreds of barrels of large oysters which have been served out in the shallow water inside of the "hook," where they are dry for a few minutes at low tide, but water-covered at other times. In this pure salt water they lie with open shells as soon as the tide covers them, and the seeker after the fattest, best flavored, and most shapely oyster walk out among them with a pair of rubber boots on to keep his feet dry, and placing his knife blade on the inside of one shell find the other closed quickly and tightly upon it, enabling him to lift the bivalve from its artificial bed. He has his choice of eating it raw on the spot, or collecting as many as he may desire for more leisurely consumption. There is no danger of bacteria of any harmful kind; the fat which the oysters take on is genuine natural and flavor-improving—Fishing Gazette.

The Jackknife Liar

Bay du Vin Island June 13.—The Cheviot holder of the jackknife blade as the worst liar in New Brunswick has been telling wonderful tales about fishing for oysters down here with a jackknife, the same old knife that its former holder surrendered to him on the picnic excursion in honor of Commodore Miller. Perhaps it was Governor Williston who stuffed him, or perhaps he invented the yarn himself. His story is that we waded out, down here, reach down to the bottom with a jackknife, and the oysters bite the knife. Now isn't he an impudent liar to impose a yarn like that on the readers of a New York paper? If the lies were told personally it wouldn't matter to me, but as it is signed by the liar as Fishery Commissioner of New Brunswick it disgraces every New Brunswick. The only basis of truth to it is that here in the Basin, as well as at Speldrake Island and other places where there are oyster beds in shallow water, one can wade in and pick up oysters at low tide, more especially after a storm.

FLATLANDS.

What has become of our Flat Lands correspondent, has he left for parts unknown? If so I will try and fill his place by writing a few lines to your valuable paper.

Mr. Alexander Adams has started with a scow load of young fish for the head waters of the river, hoping that it will increase the fish for the next season, as the anglers are almost discouraged with the poor fish of this season.

Mr. Greenshields of Toronto is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. Gordon.

Some of our trout fishermen have been very unfortunate by falling into teever and had to spend the remainder of the evening in a very unhealthful condition.

Mr. Stogie McLeod was nearly trampled under by two large moose in his field last evening.

Mr. John A. M. Anderson, our popular and only blacksmith, intends leaving in a short time for Tegucigalpa.

W. S. Loggie's Sch. Stewart L. called here on Thursday of this week with supplies for the factory.

Landings at the southwest end of Bay du Vin (Bay de Vents) Island, where there is a Sandy Hook on a small scale, the visitor finds hundreds of barrels of large oysters which have been served out in the shallow water inside of the "hook," where they are dry for a few minutes at low tide, but water-covered at other times. In this pure salt water they lie with open shells as soon as the tide covers them, and the seeker after the fattest, best flavored, and most shapely oyster walk out among them with a pair of rubber boots on to keep his feet dry, and placing his knife blade on the inside of one shell find the other closed quickly and tightly upon it, enabling him to lift the bivalve from its artificial bed. He has his choice of eating it raw on the spot, or collecting as many as he may desire for more leisurely consumption. There is no danger of bacteria of any harmful kind; the fat which the oysters take on is genuine natural and flavor-improving—Fishing Gazette.

The Jackknife Liar

Bay du Vin Island June 13.—The Cheviot holder of the jackknife blade as the worst liar in New Brunswick has been telling wonderful tales about fishing for oysters down here with a jackknife, the same old knife that its former holder surrendered to him on the picnic excursion in honor of Commodore Miller. Perhaps it was Governor Williston who stuffed him, or perhaps he invented the yarn himself. His story is that we waded out, down here, reach down to the bottom with a jackknife, and the oysters bite the knife. Now isn't he an impudent liar to impose a yarn like that on the readers of a New York paper? If the lies were told personally it wouldn't matter to me, but as it is signed by the liar as Fishery Commissioner of New Brunswick it disgraces every New Brunswick. The only basis of truth to it is that here in the Basin, as well as at Speldrake Island and other places where there are oyster beds in shallow water, one can wade in and pick up oysters at low tide, more especially after a storm.

CORONER'S ENQUIRY

Shows that Scarcely any Attempt Was Made to Subdue Flames

New York June 17.—Despite the untiring work of the divers and grapples and the watchfulness of scores of men who have given themselves over to the task of searching for the missing, but few bodies of those who perished in the Slocum disaster were recovered to-day.
It was stated by divers who went down into the wreck at dawn that there are many bodies still under the entanglement of timbers and paddle wheels, and that it would be necessary to dynamite the hull to raise it before they could be reached.
There is in the Coroner's possession a standpipe taken at his direction by a diver from the submerged wreck. The valve of the pipe is closed tight, showing that no use was made of this pipe in fighting the flames on the Slocum.
Statements were made to the coroner by several of the steamboat employees who will appear as witnesses at the inquest, that the Captain of the Slocum sent his boat three or four miles before he beached her. Several watches showed that more than half an hour had elapsed from the breaking out of the fire until the boat was run ashore. All the watches which were taken from the bodies stopped between 10.10 and 10.20.

Already 359 bodies have been recovered, of which about 50 remain unidentified. These include 273 children 243 women and 23 men. Thirteen officers of St. Luther's Church are among the dead, among them being a woman.

A score of funerals were held to-day and they were attended by thousands of persons from the east side community, where most of the dead had lived.
To-morrow there will be 300 or more funerals, and 32 unrecognizable bodies which are now lying at the morgue, will be laid away in the Lutheran cemetery at Middle Village, L. I.

Many thousands of dollars have been subscribed to the relief fund, and money will continue to pour into the hands of the Treasurer of the mayor's relief committee, for the benefit of the widows and orphans. Within an hour or two after the subscription which was opened $25,000 had been collected.
B. F. Conklin, engineer of the General Slocum is at his home in Catskill, N. Y., ill from the effects of his terrible experience in the disaster, but today he has so far recovered that he was able to talk about it. He said:

"Less than a minute after the fire was reported water was being poured on the flames, but it did not seem to check them in the least. Two minutes or so later the fire alarm sounded and someone on deck cried 'Fire!'
Instantly there was a roar as the terrified passengers arose like one person and made a rush for the stern.
Never shall I forget the horror of that scene and the terrible confusion that followed. There was no checking that frenzied crowd. Most of the crew were busy fighting the fire, and those who were on deck were unable to calm the fears of the women and children. The captain rang the bell for a full head of steam and the boat shot forward like a race horse—

"A thick volume of smoke rolled from forward and filled the lower part of the boat. I was compelled to cover my mouth and nose with my arm in order to breathe. Mingled with the small oil burning paint and wood was the sickening odor of burning flesh.
The women and children rushed about for help of their senses. Mothers grasped their children and rushed to the side of the steamer and jumped in the water only to drown. I saw several children with their clothing on fire and their mothers vainly trying to put out the flames with their hands. I never saw fire spread with such rapidity, and in less time than it has taken for me to tell you this, the whole forward part of the vessel was in flames and the boat had been newly painted and this, of course, made it burn more rapidly. Those who were on the lower deck rushed aft and many children were knocked down and trampled to death. Try as I can it is impossible to erase that scene from memory. When I close my eyes at night I can see the struggling crowd, the dead upturned faces and floating bodies. I can yet hear those agonizing and piercing screams and feel the scorching flames."

"We had eight lifeboats and two rafts aboard, but it was an utter impossibility to get near them, for the crowd was so dense about them that it would have taken a hundred men to push the frenzied persons aside and launch the boats. It all happened so suddenly and the fire spread with such rapidity that in less than 15 minutes after it was discovered the boat was in flames from stem to stern."

"When the boat grounded there was a terrible crash as the upper decks gave way, and for a moment I felt sick for I knew that many people were caught beneath it. Brandow stopped his engines, and we made our way with difficulty aft. Here there were a number of women and children who beseeched us pitiously to save them.
I did my best to calm them and told them they must jump overboard. Just then a tug came up alongside and a rush was made for it.

"I was carried over with the rest
and fell underneath the struggling mass
I arose, and when I reached the shore
I saw Captain VanSchaick and Pilot Vanwort standing in the water taking out bodies which were floating all around us. I assisted in the work as long as I could. Brandow was badly burned about the head and neck, but he escaped. He and I were the last to leave the boat."

John J. Oakley, a deckhand on the General Slocum, made a statement before Coroner Berry this afternoon that the flames were first discovered in hay which had been used in packing barrels of glassware. These barrels were placed in a store room where oil was stored. He also said that when the hose was unrolled it knicked so badly that it burst when the water was turned on. He testified in addition to this that the boat was passing Blackwell's Island, opposite 80th Street, when the fire was discovered. Others have variously said that there was no sign of fire until 11:00 or 1:30th Street was reached.

ASSASSINATION.

The Governor General of Finland, the Victim.

NO EXCITEMENT.

Assassin's Family Arrested
but are Subsequently Released.

Helsingford, Finland, June 18.—
The Russian flag at half mast over the Governor's palace yesterday morning proclaimed to the people of Helsingford that General Bobrikoff, Governor General of Finland, was dead. There was no excitement in the city and no attempt at a demonstration was made.

The father, mother, brother and sisters of Schaumann, the assassin of Bobrikoff, were arrested and subjected to a searching examination, but late last evening they were released and allowed to return to their home.

How far the Swedish is implicated in the killing of the Governor General has not been established but the authorities are convinced that Schaumann and accomplices who found in the brooding half-fanatical student a willing tool.

Warning of the intended assassination of the Governor General reached the authorities in December last, but Bobrikoff, against the pleading of his official family, declined an escort. A few months later this warning was repeated and Bobrikoff was thereafter attended by a small guard and a number of secret service men except when he attended the Senate building, the Senate requested to be allowed to furnish protection to the General there.

There was a considerable crowd of the curious outside the Governor's palace throughout the day, but there was no manifestation, either of exultation or sympathy. The police kept the crowd moving.

Sunshine Furnace

Easy to Shake.

More than half the drudgery of tending a furnace is in the shaking down. Enough to break a man's back, and certainly no work for a woman, is the job of shaking down some furnaces.

With a Sunshine Furnace you stand up and oscillate a gently working lever that a child could handle. It's so easy you won't believe it, if you've been used to the common back-breakers.

And the Sunshine is a hygienic, coal-saving, practical house-warmer in every way that a good furnace ought to be.

Sold by all Enterprising Dealers. Write for booklet.

A HARVEST OF CRIMINALS

OUR "boom" times produced an unusually large crop of criminals and the harvesting appears now to be at its height.

From 1896 on new wealth was created in this country very fast, but the activity of those days was by no means based entirely on this fact. In very large measure, it was the result of more speculative scheming. A comparatively few persons became very rich without adding at all to the resources of the country. Men required wealth over night. Their success was blazoned forth on every side and their ways of spending their new riches was bruited abroad. All this fired the soul of the man on a moderate or small salary. The few successful ones had no more brains than he and were far from being able to make so creditable a use of wealth. The only thing needed was capital to begin speculating with. The itching palm was epidemic between 1898 and 1904 and out of the experience of those times has come the ruin of many good reputations. Bank positions afforded peculiar facilities for weak-headed and weak-willed employees who were determined by hook or crook to speculate. But while misguided underlings were helping themselves to bank funds, bank directors were so absorbed in private money-making affairs that they could not give the needed attention to their financial institutions. Of course, a prolonged drop in the stock market was bound to bring to light the whole business.

LABY'S OPINION.

"I am by no means clear that we should be the gainers by the triumph of the Japs," writes Henry Labouchere in London Truth. "If Russia loses in the far east, she will seek compensation where she is not so heavily weighted with distance from her centre, and where she will not have to depend upon having a strong navy. Nevertheless my sympathies are with the Japs, because I have always thought that it is just, as well as in the interests of humanity, that the equality of nations should not depend on their color. This will only be recognized—so far as Asia is concerned—when they have shown that they can fight for their own, and Asia is no longer a continent in which white nations can dispute amongst themselves for territory. A China able to defend itself would make for peace, not war."

At a meeting of the New Brunswick Telephone Company held last week it was decided to extend the company's line from the Miramichi to Campbellton. Whether or not this will eventually mean the absorption of the Campbellton system we are not at present prepared to say, but no doubt either the N. B. Company or the Bell Company will take over the system. As already pointed out in these columns the long distance phone connection with other parts of the province is urgently needed from a business standpoint, and there is no doubt that such a system would yield good interest on the money invested.

The London Daily News observed that the cancelling of the appointment of Lord Dundonald is one of the most sensational events that has happened in Canada

BISHOP BARRY

Administers the Sacrament of Confirmation

AT CAMPBELLTON.

Miss Anna Belle-Isle Invested with the Holy Habit of Sister at St Joseph.

His Lordship, Bishop Barry, of Chatham, accompanied by Rev. Father Campbell of Barnaby River, Rev. Father Foucher of Dalhousie and Rev. T. O'Leary, Secretary, arrived in Campbellton on Monday evening, here to commence the confirmation tour of Restigouche County.

His Lordship administered the sacrament of confirmation to 87 persons on Tuesday evening. Very Rev. Father Maurice, O. W. C., addressed the children on meaning and necessity of this sacrament and Father Campbell spoke briefly to them on the sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. In the afternoon His Lordship, accompanied by Father Wallace and Father Campbell visited St. Anne's, the Indian Mission, and expressed himself well pleased with the Mission, particularly with the splendid church which is in process of construction.

On Wednesday Bishop Barry and his companions visited Tobique, where His Lordship confirmed 18 persons, and Glenelg where he confirmed 7 persons. Upon his return to Campbellton in the evening the Bishop performed a supplementary ceremony of confirmation in favor of those who because of their occupations were unable to attend the ceremony of Tuesday morning and administered the sacrament to 20 additional persons.

After presiding at the ceremony of the investing with the Holy Habit of Sister St. Joseph, Miss Anna Belle-Isle, at the Hotel Dieu on Thursday morning, His Lordship, accompanied by Fathers Maurice, Campbell and O'Leary left in the afternoon by carriage for Balmoral, where he will confirm on Friday.

for some time. It is hardly more sensational, however, than the retirement of Tarte and Blair and not half as sensational as will be the retirement of Laurier.

India newspaper notices of "Cobden Centenary" contain a remark made by Mrs. Cobden to her husband in 1865: "I sometimes think after all the good work you have done, in spite of fame and the good position, it would have been better for us both, if, after our marriage we had gone and settled in the backwoods of Canada."

You are not a reader of Events unless you read the advertising columns. There are bargains galore in these columns every week and you can save considerable money by paying some attention to them.

Appropos of the General Slocum disaster it might be observed that moose and caribou hairs make the best life preservers. It would be well for our enthusiastic sportsmen to remember this.

Dundonald will probably be able to get a job with Russia.

DALHOUSIE

The McNeish Brook Test Satisfactory

IMPROVEMENTS

Confirmation Services Next Sunday—Personal and Other Items

The water question in this town has advanced another stage. Mr. Daniel McMillan Crown Land Surveyor, has tested the McNeish Brook and on the 17th inst he found that the total discharge of water in 24 hours was 163,886 imperial gallons.

The water should fall to 17 1/2 inch deep, from surface water in dam to bottom of opening 5 1/2 inch wide, the total discharge in 24 hours would be 38,000 imperial gallons.

Among the improvements made in Dalhousie recently is noticed the tasty changes made in the rooms of our club. The managing committee deserve great credit and the members can fairly claim to have one of the finest club rooms in the province.

The foundations are being laid for two very pretty cottages to be erected on Adelaide street. One will be owned and occupied by Mr. Ed Watts conductor of the Dalhousie Branch Railway, and the other will be occupied by Mr. W. A. Cragg, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada here.

Other improvements are being made by Mr. Geo. Moffat to two of his tenement houses situated on William Street and they are presenting a very fine appearance.

On Wednesday evening 25th inst. the pupils of the convent will give an entertainment in the Convent Hall of Dalhousie, if one can judge by the preparations, the affair promises to be something worth attending.

His Lordship Bishop Barry is expected here on Saturday next and will confirm a large number of children on Sunday. His Lordship was formerly parish priest of Dalhousie and no doubt he will find that his encouraging words of the past have borne good fruit as he will see a beautiful new church, one of the finest convents in the province and all his former parishioners enjoying prosperity.

The bazaar at Jacques River opened Tuesday and if one can judge by how things went the first day, the affair will be a most successful success. Those who were there from outside speak highly of the ability shown by the people of Jacques River in handling the fair. The best of order prevailed all through and everybody enjoyed themselves promising to return next year.

Rev. Father Percell and his people are to be congratulated on the successful opening of their bazaar. Among those present at the opening were our two local members who speak most highly of the prosperity and push of the people in the lower end of the County.

Mr. W. A. Mott ex M. P. P. was at Murphy's Hotel on Wednesday.

Mrs. John Nadeau of Port Daniel has moved to Dalhousie with her family and is occupying the Nadeau house.

Mr. Peter Nadeau has gone to Port Daniel with his family. Mr. Nadeau will manage the business of the Port Daniel Lumber Co.

THE SALMON COMING.

Several Good Catches Reported from Down River

It was reported on Tuesday that several good catches of salmon were made on Monday.

Mr. W. S. Montgomery is said to have caught thirty salmon.

Another stand caught 16 salmon the same day.

Eight hundred pounds was caught at Charlo the first of the week.

These reports from down river are encouraging to those who have salmon stands in the vicinity of Campbellton, and particularly to the anglers, who are watching patiently for the first signs of the coming of this king of game fish, which are this year very late in making their appearance.

Too Great a Risk
In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of cholera or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. THE CANADA EASTERN.
To be Purchased by Government and Operated in Connection with I. C. R.

Ottawa, June 18—At a meeting of the Cabinet, yesterday it was decided by the Government to purchase the Canada Eastern and to operate it in connection with the Intercolonial Railway.

The price paid for the road is in the neighborhood of $800,000.
At one time it was said that the road would be leased. The decision, however, is to buy it and legislation is being prepared and will be put through this session, making this road part of the Intercolonial system.

LAURIER GIVES NOTICE OF BILL TO BUY CANADA EASTERN.
Sir Wilfrid stated in the House yesterday when moving to take Monday for government business that there would be in the way of legislation an amendment to the election act, providing for preparation of voters' lists in parts of Canada where they are not now prepared under judicial or municipal authorities. ## TWENTY SLAIN IN FIERCE BATTLE.

British New Guinea Natives Punished by Government Police.

Vancouver, B. C., June 18—Twenty natives slain in British New Guinea in a conflict with the police, three planters and half a dozen native servants massacred in German New Guinea—such is the sensational news brought by the Australian steamer Manuka, on her initial trip to this port.

Poisoned arrows were used on one side and modern rifles on the other in the engagement which resulted in the killing of 20 natives of British New Guinea. The New Guinea Government steamer Merriv England went to Gouarhari Island to arrest the murderers of Rev James Chalmers and Mr. Tonkins, a report of whose insolent deaths at the hands of the blacks, was received some time ago. Judge Robinson, acting administrator of New Guinea, was on board, with a squad of police.

Several of the supposed murderers were seized and taken aboard. Then the islanders decided to attempt a rescue. The government party, not suspecting this design, allowed a large number of canoes to approach the vessel. An arrow with a poisoned tip was fired at Capt. Harvey. This was the signal for a general shower of arrows, most of which went over the steamer; several, however, dropped on board.

The arrows are terrible weapons, as once they enter the flesh, the only way to get them out is to pull them right through. The constabulary quickly replied to the attack, and firing was kept up until the assailants of the vessel had had enough, when they hurriedly fled to the shore. There are conflicting reports as to the number of natives killed, some putting it as high as 80, but 20 is given as the most reliable figure. Nobody on the Merriv England suffered. There were between 400 and 500 natives in the attacking party.

Nothing Like Experience.
"One truth learned by actual experience does more good than ten experiences one hears about." Tell a man that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will cure cholera morbus; and he will most likely forget it before the end of the day. Let him have a severe attack of that disease, feel that he is about to die, use this remedy, and learn from his own experience how quickly it can relieve, and he will remember it all his life. Amateur Burglars Rob a Safe.
Mr. J. D. B. F. McKenzie is so curious to know who visited his pharmacy, Sunday night, and helped himself to all the cash on the premises, that he offers a $25 reward for the information. Some time ago the corrugated hinged window at the shop door, was broken and a few bottles of medicinal wine extracted by inserting an arm through the opening. Last Sunday night another pane of this glass was broken out with a dead end, making an opening through which a man might crawl, and a man or boy entered. The contents of the cash registers were appropriated. The safe was examined and found unlocked. Combination locks are somewhat of a nuisance to open, and Mr. McKenzie like many others had not been in the habit of locking his safe. The visitor, not being provided with burglar tools, took a rifle that was in the office and rammed in the fronts of the drawers, securing cash to the amount of $65. The iron drawer, in which there was nothing but papers, was battered with the rifle till the stock was split and the muzzle dented badly but was not opened. Two five cent pieces were left on the floor with some loose papers from the safe drawers. No goods were missing as far as could be seen. An envelope in which there had been $50 had been torn up and the fragments thrown down. It was cash and no incriminating papers, that the thief wanted. When the work was done the thief unbolted the back door and let himself out. He was apparently familiar with the premises, knowing how to find his way about, both upstairs and down, and probably knew that he would be likely to find the safe unlocked. The detectives are working on the case.—World

The Mischievous Magpie.
Here is an anecdote illustrative of the magpie's love of mischief and of sport: There was a field wherein clothes were often hung out to dry on posts which were let down into deep wooden sockets buried in the ground and were carried away and put under cover when they were not in use. A gravel path ran round the field, and a tame magpie, which had the run of it, was observed to walk repeatedly and demurely from the path to a particular point in the field, conveying each time a stone in her bill and then returning without it. A magpie seldom continues at any one amusement for any length of time, but this amusement went on so long that the curiosity of the owner was aroused. There must be something unusually novel or piquant about it. He went to the spot and wrote below: "The Swan and Harp." At the Goose and Griddle. Sir Christopher Freeman presided over the St. Paul's lodge of Freemasons for over eighteen years, and he presented to the lodge the troy and mallet with which he laid the first stone of the cathedral. The goose is still preserved with her unusual "harp" in Guelph—Julian King Colford in St. Nicholas.

The Goose and Griddle.
There existed in London long before the great fire in St. Paul's churchyard a very popular music house called the Miter. Here concerts were held, and the music at these performances had at least the merit of volume and joyousness. But the great fire laid the building in ruins and banished the music. When the place was rebuilt, the new tenant, wishing to rid the character of the former business, chose as his sign a goose stroking the bars of a griddle with her foot and wrote below: "The Swan and Harp." At the Goose and Griddle. Sir Christopher Freeman presided over the St. Paul's lodge of Freemasons for over eighteen years, and he presented to the lodge the troy and mallet with which he laid the first stone of the cathedral. The goose is still preserved with her unusual "harp" in Guelph—Julian King Colford in St. Nicholas.

Columbian Natives.
In Colombia the huts of the poor are of logs, with bamboo plaited sides and mud filled chimneys. The windows have wooden shutters, but no glass. Sleeping places are bamboo benches with hide thrown over them, or hammocks woven by the women. Girds of various shapes and sizes do duty for dishes, spoons and knives. Chairs and benches are hollowed logs of wood. But the peons get their living easily and enjoy life well. They delight in music and dancing, and women as well as men are smokers. Cockfighting is a favorite amusement.

Wooden shoes.
Wooden shoes in France are produced to the extent of about 4,000,000 pairs yearly. They are made in Alsace and Barrires by machinery and in Lorraine by hand. In the last named province persons are engaged in this manufacture, and the yearly product is more than half a million pairs. The best are made of maple. In the provinces nearly every lady possesses a pair of the finer sabots for wearing out in damp weather. These have monograms and other designs carved on the vamps, and they are kept on the foot by ornamented leather pieces over the instep. The manufacture of these pieces of leather is a regular business in France.

Boy She Got New Clothes.
The lawyers at Iowa were swapping yarns the other day during a recess in the district court. A lawyer whose wife is marked for her good dressing told how he had come to be such a good provider. Soon after he was married his wife met a school friend. The friend said to her that she wasn't as well dressed as she used to be before marriage. "Oh, you are mistaken," said the wife, "I am wearing the same clothes I did then."

Suitable Text.
"Dr. Thirdly is certainly an up to date clergyman," said Fiedick. "So?" said Keedick. "Yes, sir. One of his parishioners was killed by the explosion of his automobile, and the doctor took for the text of his funeral sermon the Biblical account of Elijah going to heaven in a chariot of fire."

A Treatise.
Ethel (aged six)—Oh, gradual! She's just a hard person. She's forever wishing she was a boy.
Minnie (also six)—Well, I'm sure I wish I was too.
Ethel—Of course, but she wishes I was too, so she can hear her.

Inebriety.
Inebriety is called a disease, but is a disease of the will. As with the hysteric, the inebriate said, "I cannot" it looked like "I will not" it is "I cannot" will." Its successful treatment involves the problem of how to rehabilitate a human will.

Let the Worry to the Doctor.
"How about that little bill?" asked the doctor.
"Yes, doctor," was the reply, "only a little while before you sent it in you told me not to let anything worry me, and I haven't."

OBITUARY.

The death of Mary Agnes, youngest daughter of the late John P. and Mary Doyle occurred at Fudry Harbor, San Juan Co. Washington. She was 38 years of age.

Miss Doyle was a Restigouche girl born and educated at Jacques River and chose the profession of teacher. She taught her first school in Sunnyside. She went west to Washington in Dec 1883 and followed teaching until 1902 when she was compelled by ill health to retire. Her funeral which took place from her mother's home in the San Juan Valley was one of the largest ever seen there and the beautiful floral offerings showed the high esteem in which the young lady was held by her friends and neighbors. The family consisting of an aged mother, one sister and six brothers have the sympathy of the entire community.

THE FIRE CROWD.

As a Rule It Likes a Big Blaze and Crashing Walls.

"There is one curious thing connected with fires," said a thoughtful man, "and that is the fact that while the fireman is always a hero in the public estimate and while men and women have all kinds of admiration for these brave fellows they yet want to see them get the worst of it in the fight against the flames. It is an interesting fact that the average man and woman are not at all anxious to see the fireman get the fire under control. They want much rather see the flames spread until the affair developed into an immense conflagration. Mind you, the trait is not at all vicious. There is no malice in it. It is simply the love of excitement and adventure, things that are so deep rooted in human nature that we may not control them at will. Besides, we want to develop our heroes to the limit. We want our firemen to fight a good fight against long odds and under great difficulties. We cannot quarrel with this feeling in the human makeup. After all, it is what one may call the poetry of human nature, and without it this old system of ours would be dull and prosaic indeed. Of course, you will always find a few persons around a fire who are directly concerned in the fight the firemen are making. They want to see the flames put out. In the case of some of the spectators it means bread and meat. It means the loss of a position or maybe the loss of home. But I was speaking of the vast majority of men and women who gather to witness a fire. The fire is the thing with them. They want to see a big blaze and hear the crash of the walls and all that sort of thing. Did you ever take the trouble to analyze a fire crowd? In the first place an alarm of fire will draw a crowd quicker than anything in the world. Whenever the bells begin to clang and the engines go rushing down the street you will see men, women and children rushing this way and that in order to see as much as may be seen of the fire and the fire fighters. The hour of day or night does not make so much difference. The crowd will get there in some way and for some reason, though the great majority of the persons have no sort of interest other than idle curiosity. Once on hand, they want to see a good fire, and that's why I say they want to see the flames get the best of the firemen. They will go away and talk about what a game fight the fire ladders made. Human nature is a curious thing, is it not?"

Never Occurred to Him.

"I don't know why it is," said Mr. Gossop as he came downstairs red eyed and sleepy and greeted his guest "but I never can get used to the striking of that clock in our room."

"It has such a loud, insistent 'bang' when it strikes the hours that it wakes me up nearly every time. We've had it in the house two or three years, but I can't become accustomed to it. We would have put it in the attic long ago, only it's a present from my wife's mother, and that would never do. Good clock, too, aside from that, but it worries me nearly to death. I wish I knew what to do with it."

"Why don't you wind merely the timekeeping part of it," said his guest, "and let the striking part go unwound?"

"Johnson, you have saved my life!" exclaimed Mr. Gossop joyfully. "I never thought of that."

She Took Them at Their Word.

Kensha lake is one of the most attractive of the great chain of lakes in the interior of New York state. Bluff point at its head is a bold promontory which rises grandly and impressively. It was upon the banks of this lake that the famous "Jenna Wilkinson" founded a colony nearly three generations ago and announced that she could walk upon the water of the lake. A large crowd gathered to see her undertake the experiment. Turning to her followers, she asked, "Have you all faith that I can walk upon the water?" "We have!" they replied. "Then there is no use in my undertaking to do so," she replied. "If ye have faith ye shall be saved without my walking upon the water."

An Apt Quotation.

The readiness of repartee of Thomas B. Reed was never better illustrated than on one occasion when he went to visit a friend who lived at the top of a long and narrow flight of stairs. Half way up Reed missed his footing and fell to the bottom. His friend, hearing the racket, rushed to the door and shouted down the semicircular of the hall, "Who is that?"

"His Elser rolling rapidly," drawled the man from Maine as he picked himself up.

Chickweed.

Like the plantain, which the Indians called "the white man's foot" because it sprang up wherever the whites penetrated, the chickweed seems to follow the track of the white colonist, and in New Zealand the Maoris call it "the mark of the paleface." The little flower is a sort of barometer. It opens when fine weather is coming, remains closed if rain is in the air.

Both Artists.

"My pa," said the blind man's boy, "can tell dimes from pennies and nickels from quarters by just feeling of them."

"Huh," replied old Hardbush's son, "that's nothing! My pa can tell the difference by the smell."

A woman is never known to advertise for the return of stolen property "and no questions asked." She would ask questions or die.

A CRUEL JOKE ON FISHERMEN.

Bricks Substituted for Bait in an Outfit Box.

(Transcript)

Two young men (not far from Moncton) who left last week on a fishing trip north, had a rather unique experience. The locality where they had selected as the scene for operations is located among the hills far back of Campbellton and as a natural sequence they took time for the forelock and procured a first-class supply of "bait" which they placed in a box and air tight. There were all told three dozen samples of "bait" and all well preserved. The box, marked "handle with care," was sent to the home of one of the twain, in his absence, and a friend became curious as to what it contained. An investigation resulted in the removal of the contents and the substitution of bricks. Blissfully ignorant of the complete transformation which had taken place, the fishermen started on the maritime express for their destination. At the getting off point a train was awaiting, the "bait" transferred and a drive of ten miles completed before the grey mist of dawn overspread their surroundings. The fishing tackle was adjusted and the testing of the "bait" naturally suggested. The box was opened. Whew—What a scene followed! The expressions of denunciation of the perpetrators of the deed were most euphatic. The atmosphere suddenly assumed a brimstone appearance. Little waves of fiery heat flitted through the air and sank into oblivion in the far distant horizon. It was indeed "a picture no artist can paint." Over one hundred and fifty miles from home and ten miles distant from human habitation! Fishermen, just think of it! Is it not appalling? However, the young men recognized the fact that they would have to accept the situation and make the best of it, but they vowed vengeance on the practical joker. In the words of one of them "It was too much!"

You Have Indigestion.

And conclude of course that the stomach is at fault. So it is, but there is a cause away back of the stomach that must be reached before the stomach can be made to do its work. The cause is nerve disturbance or nerve debility. First get the nerves in shape and then the stomach will be right also. Ferronine has accomplished this for thousands of people whose digestion was completely gone. Ferronine is food for the nerves and works wonders in stomach trouble. Where digestion, appetite and assimilation are faulty just try Ferronine. It cures thoroughly. Price 30c at druggists.

BATHURST NEWS.

A Very Pretty June Wedding.

MILL ACCIDENTS.

Fenwick Bros. Meat Market to Supply Camp Sussex.

The Bazaar dates are settled for July 6th and 7th on the church grounds, Bathurst Village. A good band will furnish music on the grounds afternoon and evening. Will the election contest be interesting? Well you ought to get around and see. Bazaars in the Village are always attractive.

The job of printing constitutions, Register Tickets, and Notices for the Temperance Society recently started in the Village, was given to Events Office who quoted a lower price than a St. John Publishing House Competitor. The new society has now seventy-two members enrolled.

A very pretty and artistic wedding took place on Tuesday morning at the convent chapel, when Miss Angeline Reiden, one of Tete-a-gonche's most popular young ladies, and who was as well the most winsome bride of the season, was united to Mr. Alexander Kelly, of the same settlement. All present at the ceremony conceded the bride to be specially charming, gowning in a fine dress of white organdie with hat to match. The bridesmaid was Miss Currie of Belledune, who wore cream colored silk. The groom was well supported by Mr. Amos Reiden. After the nuptial mass was celebrated the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was held and about fifty guests sat down and did justice to an elegant dejeuner.

A restaurant is being opened up in the old McCullough Store, Bathurst Village. The proprietors are two young men from Amherst. A good lunch counter to accommodate the surrounding country. People who come in the Village to trade is one feature of the enterprise that should pay admirably.

We take considerable pride in making note of the fact that Messrs Fenwick Bros. received a letter from Ottawa on Monday last announcing to them that their tender to supply Camp Sussex with beef, was accepted. There were seven tenders sent in from the Provinces for this contract, and we are glad to see that Bathurst's enterprising firms landed on top of the other competitors in this line. It might be added that the consumption of beef at Camp Sussex averages about 3000 pounds a day and for twelve days will aggregate at least 36,000 pounds, which means quite a supply.

The American Vitagraph popular concerts are meeting with continual successes throughout the Maritime Provinces. The moving pictures are the best and latest made and their programme is of a variety which is sure to please the most fastidious. Mr. Martin Savage in his musical novelty is well worth hearing, also Mr. Lawrence Drew introducing pictured melodies. The Company will give two night performances here on Friday and Saturday, June 24th and 25th, with special Saturday matinee, in the Lezere Opera Hall.

Last night by the American Vitagraph was the best of its kind ever seen in Amherst. The several subjects were received with approval by a large audience and never before has such a varied programme been rendered. The bull fight was perhaps the most interesting of the serious subjects, while the London Window Cleaners, Two Little Tons and Who said Rats! were the best of the comedy films. The Russia Japan war pictures brought the trouble in the far East right before us and after seeing them you get a clearer idea of the situation at the seat of war. The pictures are wonderfully clear and steady. In addition to the pictures Marvin Savage introduced some original novelties on the piano which were well received and Kek Schilling rendered pictured melodies in a pleasing manner. His last song "Blue Bell" has a catchy air and is being hummed and whistled all over Amherst today. It will be repeated to-night by request. The war pictures will also be repeated, but otherwise the programme will be changed and among the pictures will be The Great Train Robbery, The Poachers and authentic studies of H. R. H., King Edward VII.

AT NORTH WISCONSIN ACADEMY

Miss Beatrice Miller Graduates in Elocution

The closing exercises of the North Wisconsin academy this week were unusually interesting. It was a week of perfect weather, which always adds much to commencement occasions. The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday by Rev. J. P. Deane was inspiring and stimulating. The graduate recital in elocution by Miss Beatrice S. Miller on Monday evening showed a versatility and self-possession in the histrionic art which was exceedingly pleasing, speaking much for the ability of the reciter, and for the successful training of Miss Mable Brown, the director in the department of oratory.

The class play on Tuesday evening entitled "The burglar," was an amusing farce, admirably presented by Messrs Dan Brownell and Fred Bruce with Misses Annie Curtis and Bessie Brace. Miss Miller's reading of Mammy's L'il Boy in costume was excellent. Miss Martha Lathrop's two piano solos evoked much favorable comment, as well as the "Spring Song" chorus, by the whole senior class.

The class day program on Wednesday evening was exceptionally good with a large attendance at the academy chapel. The following is the programme presented:

Piano solo, Miss Martha Lathrop.

Oration, "The Martyr Spy," Fred Bruce.

Class history, Miss Bessie Brace

Oration, "Long Range Specialization," Edwin Folbrecht.

Vocal solos, "An Irish Folk Song Sunrise," Miss Anna Curtis.

Reading, "What William Henry Did," Miss Beatrice Miller.

Essay, "The American Negro," Wm Wollerson.

Class charge, Fred Dahlberg.

Reply by Middlers, Chas Wiegand.

Piano solo, "Prelude," Miss Hopkins.

Essay, "The Panama Canal," Andrew Martinson.

Class prophecy, Miss Nellie Hopkins.

Oration, "The New Slave," Dan Brownell.

The final graduation exercises were held last evening at the Congregational church, with a large audience present. The graduating class of twelve is the largest yet sent forth from the academy, and is composed of excellent material, with the following members:

Misses Bessie Brace, Anna Curtis, Bessie Brown, Lillian Brown, Nellie Hopkins, Martha Lathrop, Beatrice Miller, Messrs Fred Bruce Dan Brownell, Fred Dahlberg, Edwin Folbrecht, Andrew Martinson and William Wollerson. Six of these live in Ashland and six in other places representing Bayfield, Curtis, Dorchester, Chelsey and Waukega in this state and some from North Dakota.—Ashland (Wis.) Daily Press.

VALUABLE ASSETS

The St John Business College does not find it convenient to give a summer vacation, as many of the students, some of them far from home, cannot afford to suffer interruption to their studies. Besides there is no special need of a vacation, as Messrs Kerr & Son possesses in St John's cool summer weather, their elevated position and perfectly ventilated rooms, assets which no similar institution enjoys in like degree.
