At 12:40 a.m. today the war office appointed military secretary to the issued the text of the dispatch, which is viceroy of India, and in 1881 became dated Ladysmith, Nov. 2, 10 a.m,. giving the list of casualties among the officers, as follows:

Royal Artillery-Killed: Lieut. J. T. McDougal, Wounded: Major John Dawkins, slightly; Lieut. Harold Belcher. King's Rifle Corps--Killed: Major T. Myers, Lieut. H. S. Mursden and Lieut. T. L. Forster. Wounded: Major Henry E. Buchanan-Riddel and Lieut. H. C. Johnstone, both very seriously. Royal Irish Fusiliers-Wounded: Capt. F. B. H. Price and Capt. W. B.

BOER LOSS AT KIMBERLEY. An official telegram reporting the condition of the wounded at Kimberley, adds that Colonel Kekewitch, the British commander there, has learned from various sources that the Boer losses on the occasion of the late sortie of the British troops from

Kimberley were very heavy. THE FIGHT. A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph at Ladysmith, filed Monday night, giving a description of the battle said: 'A similar mule stampede occurred to Lieut.-Col. Grimwoods' column on the Bulwan side. Ammunition was lost, but our infantry held their own. It was a serious misfortune that the Powerful bluejackets were not summoned sooner, as the result of the

would have been different." The Daily News has a dispatch this morning, dated Tuesday at 10:40 a.m., which gives the accourt of the cutting off of Col. Carlton's column, at Farquhar's farm. The correspondent says: column was sent out Monday night, made a wide det our, and reached the spurs of the Drakensberg hill by dawn. Col. Carlton stormed the position by bayonet, and maintained his position against greatly overwhelming numbers until his animunition gave out and surrender was inevitable. Nearly 200 had been killed and wound-

BOMBARDMENT RENEWED. Special dispatches from Ladysmith, dated Tuesday, give further details regarding the renewal of the bombardment. The Boers, having reoccupied their old positions, remounted big guns. Their firing was accurate, but almost harmless. Some of the troops were slightly injured by splinters. Lieut. F. G. Egerton and his men from the Powerful did splendid work and quickly silenced the Boer guns. The Boers acknowledge they suffered heavy losses in men and horses in the previous battle.

DEATH OF GEN. KOECK. Gen. Jan Koeck, who was second in command in the Transvall force, and was wounded in the battle at Ladysmith, died in the hospital at Ladysmith on Sunday night.

The magnitude of Monday's fight is more than ever evident. Virtually three actions were raging simultaneously, but it is obvious that the intention to roll back the Free State troops was not achieved.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT QUESTION. The real question now for the Bult-

This Does Not Include Pri- ish public is, Can Gen. White hold out another ten days or two weeks, until army corps arrives? Less anxiety would be felt on his account were it not that every day seems to bring a fresh list of casualties. At the best, the coming week must prove a critical and an anxious time.

The morning papers are divided in Detailed Description of the opinion as to whether Sir George Stewart White's latest list of casualties includes the loss of Lieut.-Col. Carlton's column before its surrender. The pre-ponderance of opinion inclines that these are not included; since, if they were, Gen. White would probably have mentioned the fact. London, Nov. 2 .- 10:50 p.m .- The war office has just informed the Associated Press that a dispatch has been received from the governor of Natal, Sir Walter Francis Hely-Hutchinson, announcing that communication with Ladysmith has been interrupted since half-past two o'clock this afternoon. This is not regarded by the war office, however, as in any wise confirming the rumors of a complete investment of Ladysmith or of the capture of Colenso.

WHITE'S RECORD.

Gen. Sir George Stewart White is a holder of the Victoria Cross, a grand Troops Beyond Filling Gaps-Com- | commander of the Indian Empire, a munication With Ladysmith Was grand commander of the Star of India. He has been quartermaster-general to the British army since 1898. His career from the time when he en-tered the army until he started for South Africa had been a most distinguished one. An Irishman by birth, having been born in the county Antrim in 1835, White was educated at the Royal Military Academy active service almost at once. served during the Indian mutiny with Fusiliers, obtaining a medal and clasp went through the Afghan war with Maidan, the capture of Takti Shah and on the march from Kabul to Canlieutenant-colonel of the famous Gor-don Highlanders. Four years later he was colonel of that regiment. He was sent with the regiment to Egypt, where he and his men distinguished themselves, and in the Burmese war of 1885 he commanded a brigade. For his services in that campaign he was promoted to be a major-general, and received the special thanks of the government of India. Afterward he conducted the successful expedition into Sehob, and from 1893 until last year was commander-in-chief of the #### British forces in India. AN EXPERTS VIEW.

H. W. Wilson, a recognized military expert, contributes to the Daily Mail an article on the situation in Natal, in which he says: "There is no denying the fact that though the loss of two British battalions and a mountain bat-tery cannot be described as a great disaster to our arms, it must seriously affect the situation in South Africa, as it deprives Gen. White of 1,500 bayonets and six 7-pounder guns at a time when he is certain to want every soldier and every gun he possess. His position is critical, but it is scarcely possible it will compel him to withdraw his army from Ladysmith and retreat to the line of Tugela. Gen. Yule probably would never have escaped had not Gen. Symons on Oct. 20 administered such severe puhishment to Meyers' command and temporarily discouraged the Boers. "It is probable, then, that Gen. White will elect to stand at Ladysmith and face an almost certain siege. For it the enemy is, as the reports represent, from 20,000 to 30,000 strong, with plenty of artillery, any further offensive movements on our part are practically impossible. The British force is now about 10,000 strong, with possibly 500 to 1,000 blue-jackets. The sudden arrival of the latter is in itself a danger signal. The total strength of the artilin White's command is 34 15pounder field guns, three 12-pounders landed by the Powerful, two quickfirers captured at Elandslaagte, and eight 7 or 9-pounder muzzle-loaders of the Natal local forces. Such an army as this, with ample food and ammuni tion and a river running through the town, assuring a good water supply, should be able to easily hold Ladysmith until the first troops of the army corps arrive. There is some doubt as to the actual positions occupied by the British and their defensibility. The Boer tactics no doubt will be to draw a cordon round the town and bombard

"As to reinforcements for White's force, no troops will be immediately available, as the first brigade of the army corps will not reach Cape Town before Nov. 8, and could not be in Durban before the 12th or 13th, but the indications are the pressure will be taken off of White by a demonstration in the direction of Bloemfontein at the earliest possics moment, so that the troops as they arrive will be pushed toward the Orange River.
"The fact that Zayathla's artillery was a week ago dispatched in this direction is not to be overlooked, as the Free State forces will not see without some alarm that their capital is threatened and would be certain to at once fall back. The manner in which the Boers have fought and the great strength they are showing in all directions necessarily suggests the question whether or not it is wise to send, further strong reinforcements without de-

THE BOER FORCE. "As far as can be gathered from various reports, the following are the Boer commands: Natal, 18,000 to 25,000; recommends: Natal, 18,000 to 25,000;

Probably these figures are exaggerated, but the Boers are not far short of 45,000 in field strength. The army corps and its troops for the line of communication will be about 48,000, to which is to be added 2,000 Australians and Canadians added 2,000 Australians and Canadians, 7,000 from Cape Colony, and the Natal force of 10,000. The loss of 2,000 men will in no sense avert ultimate British success, but has only postponed the end."

LEAFT'S. The Times, commenting editorially upon the fact that news appears to arrive in Belgium from South Africa by some channel uncontrolled by British censorship reminds the government that information valuable to the enemy can similarly leak from Europe to the Transvaal. Bt suggests that the government should fairly exercise their right, under existing conventions to know if any such channel has been for special reasons left open, and it appears think there may be some truth in the Berlin and Paris stories. The Daily News suggests that these rumors are likely intended for propagation at the Cape and to influence the

Afrikander. COOKED NEWS.

Paris, Nov. 3.-Tha: Havas agency last evening published the following extraordinary dispatch, which, the agency says, came through its correspondent at Brussels: "Cape Town—The news of the Boers' two victories around Ladysm'th has created concupation of Kabul, the expedition to Maidan, the capture of Takti Shah Sir Alfred Milner, the British high commissioner, is much perturbed at their attitude. Gen. White, in these two engagements, lost about 350 killed, wounded and prisoners. The second victory was won by Free Staters, commanded by Lucas Meyer, who seized Colenso, thus cutting off the retreat of Gen. White, who is wounded. The investment of Ladysmith is complete, and the Boers are masters of Pietermaritzburg and the Durban railway. News has reached Gen. White that Mafeking is closely besieged, and that the Boers have successfully repulsed the sorties. The surrender of Mafeking is expected. It is also confirmed that the Free Staters have seized Collinsburg.

BASELESS. The secretary of the war office, who was shown the Cape Town dispatch of the Havas agency, said the statements made were utterly baseless. Brussels, where the Havas dispatch originated, is the headquarters of Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, and it is thought the Cape Town dispatch may be an exaggerated Boer version #### of the recent fighting.

NOT NEEDED. Canada's reported desire to send a further contingent to South Africa provokes grateful references. It is understood, however, that Gen. Buller has no present desire for further troops, beyond those filling up gaps. parliamen-Mr. George Wyndham, tary under secretary of state for war, has replied to Co. Sir Charles Howard Vincent's offer of a thousand volunteers as marksmen for South Africa, that it would be against the regulations to send volunteers abroad or to enlist them for a shorter period of three years. He adds, however, an assurance that in the event of a crisis requiring a large increase of the garrison, of which at present there is no sign, the volunteers will be used, and enlistments will be permitted for a short time. A SECOND ARMY CORPS. Again it is ascertained at Aldershot that the mobilization of a second army corps will begin on Nov. 20, and that the whole reserve of the transport branch of the army corps will be called out. A composite detachment of Royal

Marines will be formed at Portsmouth, looking for appointment for land ser-vice in South Africa. FOR A HOSPITAL SHIP. The Princess of Wales has placed at the disposal of the Red Cross Society PRO AND CON. The Vossische Zeitung rublishes an appeal, signed by the commit-tee of the German corps in the Transvaal, calling upon Germans to support of the families of "those German volunteers who have taken up arms in a just cause." The Hamburgische Corre-The Hamburgische Correspondenz, in the course of a semi-official article, which cautions those who to embroil Germany in a conflict with Great Britain, says: "Germany is not going to pluck chestnuts for other people out of Great Britain's fire. Such a policy would drive Ger-many so closely into the arms of Russia that she would hardly be able to GENERAL BULLER'S MOVEMENTS. are in progress at De Aar, Cape Colony, for the concentration of Lieut .-Gen. Buller's army. Thousands of mules are corralled in that neighborhood, and transport material is being hurried up from the south.

According to another dispatch the

This coincides with the view, prominent an some quarters here, that the British They apparently came from Mafeking, invasion of the Transvaal will be made from that point.

DARGAI HERO WOUNDED. Among the officers of the Gloucesters and Irish Fusiliers, alive, or dead, in Boer hands, considerable interest is evinced by the Roman Catholics for the fate of Father Matthews, chaplain of the Fusiliers. Col. Carlton is the youngest regimental commander in the service, being only 42. He had seen no fighting before. There is a touch of pathos in the hard luck of Meiklejohn, senior subaltern of the Gordon Highlanders, son of Prof. Meiklejohn, of St. Andrew's of Prof. Meiklejohn, of St. Andrew's University. He had been fighting on the Indian frontier with the first battalion for the last five years, and was one of the heroes of Dargai, where he was wounded in two places. Exchanging into the second battalion, he went to Natal, to lose his right arm at Elandslaagte. As he is left-handed, et is hoped by his friends that he may remain on the active list.

RUSSIA MEDITATING, FRANCE SULKING.

The channel squadron is waiting orders at Gibraltar, but no cloud as large as a man's hand is yet seen at any point of the horizon. Russia is e is sulking, but neither power is yet prepared to make advance against England's big cam-paign in South Africa. The secret understanding between Germany and England operates to hold the jealousies and ambitions of France and Russia under restraint. The German Emperor, under restraint. The German Emperor, unless all signs fall, will receive a most cordial welcome when he comes to England. His friend, Lord Lonsdale, is evidently sure of it, for he even ventures to argue that the German Emperor's famous dispatch to Kruger was a proper protest against an unjust and wicked raid, and that the British Government, Lord Rosethe British Government, Lord Rose-bery and common sense had corrobor-ated his judgment. He does not explain why a flying squadron was ordered out.

ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING. By a singular coincidence the battle of Ladysmith was fought on the silver day. Lady White, who is a charming woman, greatly beloved by a large circle of London friends, sent him a dispatch congretable time being the circle of London friends, sent him a dispatch congratulating him that day, but it crossed with the tidings of the failure of his tactics and the disaster to the fattalions which he had isodated and left in air. Gen. White's youngest son is now at sea, going out to the Cape. He is a second lieutenant in the Gordon Highlanders. This was Gen. White's own regiment in the Afghan war of 1878.

LATEST DISPATCHES

Gen. Joubert Objects to the Shells Used by the Eritish Artillery.

London, Nov. 3.-Belated dispatches from the British camp at Ladysmith, Natal, add little information regarding Monday's fight, except the estimates of the Boer losses, which are now said to be 95 killed and 200 wounded, moststating the object of his quest, he was kindly received. A dispatch from Kimberley, dated Oct. 29, says all the wounded are doing well. Small bodies of Boers, about 400 strong, were then frequently seen. for the purpose either of assisting in the attack on Kimberley or to resist the advance of re-inforcements.

The absence of water outside the place causes the Boers to continually move their camps. RAILWAY TO LADYSMITH OPEN.

London, Nov. 3.-While the wires to Ladysmith are cut, the optimism of the war office officials yesterday evening in refusing to believe that Ladysmith was completely invested or Colenso captured, appear to be justified, as this morning it was asserted that the railroad is still open, though traffic has been conducted with the greatest caution. What, however, was only a rumor yesterday evening, may, it is claimed be reality at any moment, as Gen. Joubert, with a large and wonderfully mobile force, is expected to detach several thousand and make a dash at the railroad.

RUMORS OF ALL KINDS

are springing up here. It is even asserted that Gen. White has been compelled to fall back on Pictermaritzburg, leaving his wounded behind. Probably such rumors have their origin in the recollection of the ominous silence which preceeded the evacuation of Dundee. But, it is asserted, conditions are altered, and the British guns now seem more than equal to the artillery of the Boers, thus en-hancing the difficulty of any assault on the British lines. A Cape Town dispatch reports a re-pulse of the Boers by the British yes-

And Praises the Colonies for Their Patriotism.

London, Nov. 3 .- The Marquis of Lansdowne, secretary of state for war, was the chief speaker at the Cutiers' feast in Sheffield last evening. Replying to the toast to "Her Majesty's Ministers," he went over the usual ground in explaining the cause of the war, and defended the government against the charge that the military preparations were not abreast of the negotiations. He said the diplomatic messages went by wire, the reinforce-ments by ship. Moreover, in order to keep abreast, the army and navy would have had to commit most pro-vocative and threatening acts. The Boer ultimatum followed British mo-bilization, and if Great Britain had mobilized earlier, the ultimatum would have been earlier.

Lord Lansdowne explained the promptness of the mobilization, which had enabled five cavalry regiments. ten batteries and 30 battalions to get far away on the sea. During the earlier operations, the enemy, he went on to say, had great superiority of numbers, and the advantage of a choice of ground. This phase of the stiuation, he hoped, was approaching its conclusion; for in less than a week the first installments of Sir Redvers Buller's force would arrive at Cape Town, to be followed at a steady rate thereafter.

"Therefore," continued the minister for war, "there need not be any anxiety regarding the result. In conclusion, Lord Lansdowne ex-pressed, on behalf of the government, profound admiration for the heroism of our troops, who have rehabilitated the reputation of the British soldier in South Africa—a great gain, which to my mind outweighs the heavy losses we have sustained and outweighs the serious disaster which was due to an accidental cause."

Rean Admiral Sir Charles Beresford, replying to the toast to the "Imperial Forces," praised the transport arrangements. Referring to the surender of the Irish Fusikers and the Gloucester Regiment, after their ammunition was exhausted, he said it was an honorable surrender. He expressed the opinion that the government was not sending men enough to South Africa in view of the probability that the Cape Dutch would join the Boers. Discussing the general question of military armament, he observed that there were only two really patriotic nations in the world-the British and the Americans, because they alone had volunteer armies.

CANADA OFFERS ANOTHER CORPS

Dominion Government Wires the War Office.

No Difficulty in Raising Another Thousand-Will the War Office Accept?

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 3.-The Dominion Government has offered a second contingent to the imperial authorities to assist her majesty's forces in South Africa. This action has been taken on account of the disaster at Ladysmith. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier returned from Quebec, where, along with some of it e other ministers, he was seeing the Sardinian off, he had a meeting with some of his colleagues, and it was decided to cable at once an offer of further assistance. The premier made the offer through the Governor-General in the usual way. As to the manner of raising the contingent, and what it will comprise, the Canadian Government will be guided by what Lord Lansdowne and the war office may determine. There will be no difficulty in Canada in raising another thousand soldiers, and they can be equipped and outfitted, as ready has been demonstrated, in very short order. Those who were disappointed in not going with the last contingent may yet have an opportunity of going to the front.

Mr. Hobbs and Unions

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I am not at all surprised at seeing the effusion of the Rev. Richard Hobbs on the labor question, as he has a great weakness for seeing his name in print. He seems to be surprised at the demoralizing degeneracy begotten of the street car strike. He has forgotten that this is simply the fruit of his preaching while in the city, and the interest which he has in the city is to undo what he has done. "Afraid of what? Afraid of whom?" he says. Some men will go where angels fear to tread. "I am not prepared to take second place." How characteristic of the man! He speaks of a tyrannical union. Let us look at these two union men for a few moments.

Union Man No. 1.—The labor union asked to have their union recognized. their proper wage, and arbitration in all matters of dispute between master and servant. They do not ask to run nate a director, or be chairman at any meeting of the company.

Let us now look at Union Man No. 2.

I say, without fear of successful contradiction, that he belongs to the most tyrannical union known to the civilized world. He takes his place at a stated salary of $800 a year, and therefore he is a hireling, or hired man. He says to the people who pay him: "You have got to give me a free house. I must have things comfortable. My goods are coming in a few days; I want the freight paid. You will have to get me some furniture, for my family have not been used to take second place." He is not there long before he announces a contingent collection to collection for home and foreign missions, to keep up the union and the hired man. He then announces for next Sunday a superannuated or in-surance sermon to keep up the union, and then to make it sure for the fu-ture generation of this union, an educational collection is taken up. And to put it beyond all doubt this union has decided to raise $1,000,000 to keep it on decided to raise $1,000,000 to keep it on proper footing. The people say to this hired man, we want Brother So-and-So for a Sabbath school superintendent This hired man says "you have no voice in the matter. I will nominate a man who will favor the union," and they have to submit. The people say we want Brother So-and-So for chairman at a coming anniversary. He says, "No, the discipline says I am to says, "No, the discipline says I am to act," and there is no meeting, legal, according to this union, without the hired man. Now this union man has reached the top of the ladder and looks down upon the other union man who down upon the other union man who is struggling to form a union. The former, with his hair parted in the center, silk hat, broadcloth suit, shiny shoes, kid gloves and cane, shouts to the men who are grinding the poor union men, "Get on the comfortable street cars and ride, get on and ride and nut an end to this union!" and put an end to this union!"

I suppose, that if this divine had lived in the days of slevery in Egypt, when there were no unions and when

God had to interfere and run those beautiful horses and chariots into the sea, he would have said. "What a destruction of property, what comfortable things these would be to ride in." If he had lived in the days when David pased by acclamation: Moved by Mr. J. E. Day, seconded by Mr. A. Johnston, 'That this con-vention of Liberals of the south riding of Wellington embrace this early op-portunity of extending to the Hon. George W. Ross our hearty congratulations on his accession to the premier-ship of this province. We look with pride upon his magnificent parliamentary career both in the Dominion House of Commons and the Provincial Legislature, which career has marked him as a man of unquestioned personal integrity, of keen intellectual and per-ceptive powers, of distinguished administrative and executive capacity, and as a broad-minded, progressive statesman. We express our unbounded confidence in the new premier and the government he has formed, and believe that under his leadership the affairs of this province will continue to be administered with that wisdom, economy and progressiveness that have been so conspicuous in Liberal administration for over a quarter of a century. THE LAURIER ADMINISTRATION.

Guelph, Nov. 3 .- At the recent meeting of the South Wellington Liberal Association the following resolutions

It was moved by Dr. Hamilton, of Erin, seconded by James Scott, Puslinch, "That we look with the utmost satisfaction and pride upon the results that have been achieved since the advent of a Liberal administration at Ottawa, under the able leadership of the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier. existing condition of prosperity and contentment throughout the length and breadth of the country is a source of gratification not only to every Liberal but to every citizen of the Dominion. The reformation of the tariff, the introduction of the preferential tariff in favor of imports from Britain, the opening of the mining region of the country, the placing of the Intercolonial Railway on a paying basis by connecting it with Montreal, the enlargement of the canal system, the improvement in the efficiency of the immigration department, are only some of the important administrative measures that have contributed to the rapid develop-ment in the progress of Canada during the past three years. We congratulate Sir Wilfrid on the promptness and dispatch with which the Canadian contingent has been forwarded to the scenes of war in South Africa, where the motherland is engaged in fighting for the civil and religious freedom of her oppressed subjects. This convention heartily indorses the general policy of the Laurier government, and we hereby pledge our best and undivided ef-forts to send a representative from the riding of South Wellington to support the most progressive administration where they had lain all night, and discovered Yaster in horrible agony. The dose of paris green, however, failed to work, and Yaster filled his mouth with gunpowder, touched it with a lighted match, and succeeded in distorting his features most frightfully. But again his attempt at self-destruction was a failure. As a last resource he took another dose of paris green, and so finished the last chapter of a dark tragedy. Before his death he told some doc tors that he had murdered his wife and daughter because they were always troubling him. For the last few years he had been regarded as insane.

London, Friday, Nov. 3.

The War News. Some of the London dailies are naturally chafing at the censorship in South Africa, which seems to be unusually, if not unnecessarily, rigorous. The correspondents at the front find their functions usurped by the British war office, which is running a press bureau of its own, and is "scooping" its contemporaries quite regularly. So far the only important newspaper disthose describing the pitched battles. Apparently the correspondents have been given liberty to treat only what has happened, not what is going to hapgen. This is in marked contrast to the movement of the American forces was chronicled and every plan disclosed by the American press with a license which would have been highly useful than the Spaniards. While the present thinks the step unnecessary. censorship is a hardship to a public cager for every scrap of information, the war office is making some amends patch s. These are not very complete far as they go, and that is more than can war. Perhaps the British war office has reason to know that news leaving South Africa finds its way back again and reaches the enemy's ear. Again it may be expedient not to let certain European powers know too much about British operations. British people will not complain of being deprived of information which might be used to Great Britain's dis- a pound and still compete in the Amadvantage.

City Waste Removal.

before the civic authorities of Ottawa, grounds. having for its object the establishment of a systematic removal of the household and store refuse of the city. In the proposed bylaw each householder is to provide himself with a box or other large receptacle in which all garbe deposited. The city will be divided into districts and once a week the contractor will call at every house or ward and empty the refuse in the box householder will know exactly on what day the collector will call.

In Canada with over 30,000 inhabitants which does not have a weekly or semiweekly removal of domestic refuse. This statement is nearly correct. We regret to say, however, that London is in the same box with Ottawa. So far, we have not been able to get the authorities to recognize the necessity and importance of this much-needed reform, and despite the healthfulness of the city we have the unenviable reputation of being as backward in this regard as is the capital. Always when a move has been made the bogey of expense has been set up. There is the expense now, without the cleanliness and effectiveness incident to a British weekly removal of all garbage. The London householder pays from 50 cents to $3, or more, each year for the in scientific militarism than in the preannual or semi-annual removal of cision ashes and other domestic refuse. It has, without conscription, mobilis permitted to accumulate until there lized are large heaps in the lanes or back serves and militia, and in the words. In many cases decaying vege- celerity with which she is sending tables and other disease-breeding regulars and reserves half-way around refuse are permitted to lie for months, the globe, after equipping them for but the time comes when they have to be removed, and the cost to the in- plus supplies. The speed with which dividual taxpayer is, on the average, as great as in other cities where it is done on the civic co-operative plan, if not greater, while the menace to the public health is constant. The only Increase in cost will fall on the rich property owner. The tenant or small British press regards this dispatch as property owner pays less if the work is done by the city, and the work paid for out of the civic funds, than do those who have their domestic refuse removed by private contract.

We trust that Ottawa will succeed in proving itself wide-awake in this respect, and that London will be shamed into following the example set by every other city of the first-class on the continent.

The Boers are generally credited with being two centuries behind the times, but in military operations they invariably conceal the fact.

Our readers will be interested in knowing how they stock up the ships that have been chartered to convey British troops to South Africa. ### What Others Say.

Oh! Oh!

[Cleveland Plaindealer.] Gen. Buller has the reputation of holding, like Sherman, that "war is hell," and of making it so to the best of his ability.

A Melancholy Truth.

[Toronto Star.] War is an abomination. All that we suffer today through defeat, the others will suffer when we rejoice over a Fearful Mortality Among Army Officers fearful mortality in the British officers in this war illustrates a phase of modern war which is said to exert a steadying effect upon military leaders in one country at least. M. de Bloch, in his work on the "Future of War," thus foreshadowed the fate of officers in the next great war: "But in all armies many of the more intelligent officers realize the fact that for them a declaration of war will be equivalent to a sentence of death. Among German officers, especially, I have found of late years a remarkable disappearance of all desire for war. There is no war party among the German officers today, for they know that war to them would mean death. Again and again they have said to me: 'If war breaks out we shall of course go to the front; it is our duty. But none of us will come back.' And they are right. Sharp-gives the melancholy explanation of the fate already of scores of brilliant British officers. Some means ought to be devised to guard against so great fatality among the leaders in battle.

The Freight Steamer Daniel Driven Ashore.

Captain and Seven Men Rescued From a Sinking Schooner.

COASTING SCHOONER MISSING. St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 3 .- A coasting schooner, hailing from the Newfoundland shore, near Belle Isle, which went to the wreck of the British steamer Scotsman, in the Strafts of Belle Isle, has not returned, and has been missing since Sept. 28. It is believed that she foundered with a crew of ten men, seven of whom were married, with families. They belonged to the settlement of Griquette, which is thus prac-tically depopulated of adult males.

STEAMER ASHORE. Halifax, N. S., Nov. 3.—The freight steamer Daniel, about 2,000 tons, from New York, bound to Tilt Cove, Newfoundland, for a cargo of ore, ran ashore at Whitehead in a heavy gale. The crew were saved. The Daniel struck the rock at Mosquito Cove Point, on the east side of the entrance to White Haven. A special from Whitehead, N. S., says: The Daniel may be got off. There is sixteen feet of water in her hold.

JUST IN TIME. New York, Nov. 3 .- The Clyde line steamer Comanche (Capt. Pennington), which arrived this morning from Jack-sonville, via Charleston, Oct. 30, had on board Capt. Styles and seven men of the schooner Napoleon Boughton, which sprang a lead and foundered on Tuesday, five miles west of Frying Pan Shoals, in fourteen fathoms of water. The crew was taken off by the Comanche five minutes before the schoon-

Induction of a Former Middlesex Man prices. as a Professor in Queen's University.

Kingston, Nov. 3. - The formal opening of the Theological Faculty of Queen's University occurred Wednesday evening. Chancellor Fleming presided. The chairman presented scholarships in arts and divinity to the successful students. The principal feature was the induction of Prof. Jordan. In the absence of Principal Grant, Dr. Jordan was introduced in a brief speech by Chancellor Flemming. The subject of

Dr. Jordan was born in Whitby, Engvarious studies with a view to practical Christian work. In 1880 he matriculated first-class, London University; in 1882 passed intermediate B. A., and in and New Testament exegesis in Airedale College, Bradford, and finally went to London, where he entered the Presbyterian College, and at the same time had charge of a small congregation at Darenth, Kent. He graduated with honors in the theological department and held the Muter scholarship of $150 per annum. On leaving college he was inducted to the pastoral charge of Trinity Church, Dudley, England, but preerring a colonial career he came to Canada in the autumn of 1889 with a commission from the Presbyterian Church of England. The following spring he was called to Strathroy, where he remained until invited to accept a professorship in Queen's University. which had previously given the able young minister the degree of D. ### DEMAND FOR BOOKS ON SOUTH AFRICA

At the Public Library-Best Works on the Subject to Be Duplicated-Opening the Library on Holidays.

At the regular meeting of the public library board, held last night, it was decided to duplicate a number of the best works on South Africa, as there has been a constant demand for them since the beginning of the war. Some of the books will cost $3 and $4 per days. The motion was lost. On motion of Mr. Macklin, it was decided to keep the library open on every holiday, with the exception of Christmas. The library has been closed on all holidays for the past two years.

A motion by Dr. Jeffery to keep the reading-room open from 2 to 5:30 p.m. only instead of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., as the nule calls for on holidays, was lost. The library committee reported the purchase of 215 volumes, at a cost of $220. On recommendation of the committee the supply of periodicals for 1900 was renewed with John Mills.

The matter of enlarging the library was laid over. The librarian's report showed the average circulation of books per day for October to have been 275. Fiction was, as usual, the chief class of work in demand. Forty magazines were issued daily. During the month $23 20 was collected in fines, and the sale of cards and catalogues added $11 65 to the receipts. The total number of cards issued to tate is, 7,227. There were present Messrs. Talbot Macbeth (chairman), H. Macklin, P. H. Dignan, Jas. Egan and A. O. Jef-

To Cure C tarrh and Stay Cured You must use the most up-to-date and most improved method of treatment. This can only be had in the use of Catarrh, which cures by inhalation and is sure to reach the right spot. Treatments requiring the use of sprays, douches, snuffs and ointments are thing of the past, and the medicated air treatment supersedes them all. There is no danger or risk in the use of Catarrhozone. It is both pleasant and effective to employ in any case of Irrivable Throat, Fetid Breath, Bron-chitis, Catarrh and Asthma. ### A Zorra Farmer Had Itching Piles

For Nine Years-Could Obtain No Re lief-Suffered Terrible Pain - Was Cured by

Dressed hogs, 100 lbs, selects... 5 00

DR. CHASE'S GINTMENT. Mr. James McBurney, farmer and reterinary surgeon, Embro, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching piles for nine years, and after rid-ing they would bleed and get very sore and cause terrible pain. I have tried everything I could hear of, but

"Knowing of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book and its reliability, and hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment, I decided to try it. One box cured me completely. It is now over two years since I used it, and I have never since had a symptom of piles. I recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to everyone suffering with this disease, knowing that it will positively cure."

Such evidence from a man well and favorably known in Oxford and Mid-dlesex counties is beyond dispute. Dr. Chase's Ointment never fails to cure piles. 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Croup, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Asthma are positively cured by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Tur-pentine.

CONSCIOUSNESS

Mr. John Tanton Died Last Night From His Injuries.

Base of the Skull Was Fractured-He Was One of the Best Known Merchants of London.

The injuries received by Mr. John Tanton, of Adams & Tanton, flour and feed merchants, who was thrown from a wagon in a runaway on Wednesday, resulted fatally. Mr. Tanton died at his residence on Piccadilly street at 11:20 o'clock last night, having never regained consciousness since the accident. The principal cause of death was in the city today.

It is essentially a play of human interest. Mr. Bury Dasent, manager of the company, was in the city today.

Sengers have perished. Garments found in the cabin indicated that at least one woman was among the unfortunate party on the yacht. The vessel is thought to belong to some Michigan port. The dead man lashed to the rigging was a parently 50 years old. On dent. The principal cause of death was a fracture at the base of the skull. The doctors who were in attendance upon him did everything possible to preserve his life, but from the first examination it was deemed almost impossible to bring about his recovery. Mr. Tanton was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and deep regret is expressed on every hand at his untimely death. Mr. Tanton, who was 52 years of age, came to Canada from Devonsire, Eng-land, when he was about 25 years old. He settled in London, and has remained here ever since. He first engaged in the flour and feed business in the firm of Tanton & McLeod, afterwards be-coming a partner in the firm of Tanton & Phillips, and upon the death of the latter in the city hall disaster, he carried on the business with Mr. Chas. J. Adams. Mr. Tanton was married to Miss Sarah McLeod, of the sixth concession of London township, by whom he had two children, Ernest, who is 20 years of age, and Maud, who is 17. His mother and brothers and sisters survive him in the old country, besides one brother, Edmund, who lives on Huron street, and a nephew in Strathroy. He was one of the oldest members of the North Methodist Mission. The funeral, which will take place on Sunday at 3 o'clock, to Woodland, will be conducted by the Canadian Order of Foresters, in which organization he was an active worker.

Amusements.

"PARSON JIM COMPANY." "Parson Jim," the great American play by Lloyd Grand, son of Mrs.Sarah Grand, author of "The Heavenly Twins," will be presented here at the Grand next Thursday. The members of the company include such well-known people as Wm. H. Pascoe, Fred Bock, Frank Lander, Frank Currier, Miss May Tyrell, and Miss Dallas Tyler. The entire original scenic equipment for

City Hall Notes.

The contingent committee practically went out of business this morning, when a final meeting was held in the mayor's office to pass accounts. It was found that the "send-off" given by the city to B company of the Canadian contingent and to Col. Buchan cost $498. The hunting-knives given as souvenirs to each member of the company cost $29 50 a dozen the committees of the council change very materially. It takes the new members the whole year, almost, bethey have a record of the views of the White, are: outgoing board they will be able to avoid useless expenditure and steer clear of pitfalls, which might not otherwise be avoided. Another reason for the proposed estimates of the following year's work lies in the aid it will give for striking the tax rate at an earlier date than heretofore. In the past nothing could be done with No. 2 committee's estimates until the mem-bers went over the entire city to find out what was needed. Ald. Parneil's suggestion with regard to the stocktaking of the tools belonging to the department is not a new one. During the years he served the city as chair-man of the board of works, this business-like method was annually followed.

At the beginning of the year it was estimated by the city auditor that $400 was away under the mark, as the remissions already total $1,100, and although so much more than the estimate was allowed off, the tax collector's returns for 1898 are $800 in excess of Mr. Jewell's estimate. This state of affairs is creditable to Major Hayes, and is also an interesting indication of London's prosperity.

The hospital trust will meet this afternoon. It is expected that arrangements will be made for furnishing the hospital in time for the opening. Of 28 private wards, 12 are already being furnished by private individuals and societies. Further action in this line is expected.

A draft of an agreement between the Ontario government and the London board of education, with reference to the use of public schools for teaching purposes in connection with the new Normal School, will be considered for the first time by No. 1 committee this evening. Dr. Teasdall, chairman of the board, says the statement made by the Free Press that the board was dissatisfied with the proposed agree ment is wholly incorrect, as the draft has never been considered by the board, nor by a committee even.

A. S. Johnston wishes it stated that he is not in the field as school trustee in No. 3 ward.

Trouble Caused by the Fierce Northeast Gale.

Many Vessels Blown Ashore-Serious Loss of Life Probable.

Chicago, Nov. 3 .- The northeastern gale which has been raging for over 48 hours, and brought the first snow of the season to this locality, still sticks. Life-savers at various lake points have been kept busy watching for and aiding vessels in distress. The following vessels were reported as being in trouble at various points: Schooner William H. Dunham, twomaster, ashore near St. Joseph. Mich. Steamer, name unknown, ashore on Tin Shoals, near Bois Blanc Island. Schooner Kate Lyons, from Cheboygan, Mich., to Chicago. Schooner Elgin, bound for Chicago; put in at Milwaukee, leaking badly. The fleet of sheltered vessels in Chi-cago harbor last night were reported as greatly increased. Over 240 boats have been reported in shelter during the last two days, which makes an unusually large list.

The Montreal Millionaire Makes a Great Offer.

Will Establish Technical Education in Every Province-His Plan Outlined.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.-Prof. Robertson, of the department of agriculture, last night, during an address to the Ottawa school board, made an important announcement on the subject of manual training. The professor said: Everybody has head of Sir William Macdonald, of Montreal, and his splendid benefactions to the cause of higher education in Canada. His gifts to Mc-Gill University exceeded two millions of dollars. He is keenly interested in primary education as well as in uni-versity training and extension. He now offers to pay for the equipment required for educational manual training in one place in every Province in the Dominion, and also to meet the expenses of qualified teachers and incidental maintenance for three years in all those places. In Ottawa, he offers to equip and maintain for three years as many centers as are required to give all the boys (about 10,000) between the ages of 9 and 14 in the public schools an opportunity to receive this training. It is hoped that after a year or two an equally valuable course of practical instruction suited for girls of the same ages may somehow be provided, and, doubtless, na-ture studies in rural schools will be joined to them. In Ottawa the plan will incidentally provide for evening classe for those actually engaged in trades who need and want technical instruction. Sir William has authorized me to make a similar offer to the school authorities of Brockville, Ont., of Charlottetown and Summerside, P. E. I., of some place in the Province of Quebec, of Truro, N. S., of Fredericton, of Winnipeg, Man., of Calgary, N. W. T., and of some place in British Columbia. To begin it on right educa-800 tional lines thoroughly trained and ex-750 perienced teachers of high attainment rill be brought at first from Scotland, ingland or the United States. Next ummer it is proposed to pay the expenses of several teachers from Can-ida to Great Britain and Sweden, to ake the course of training there, to ee for themselves the educational sysems and methods of these countries, and to meet teachers and other edu-ational reformers in them. When ose Canadian teachers return they will be as lights set on hill tops. The ire of their inspiration, information and enthusiasm will spread. Such in orief outline is the proposal I have the upreme satisfaction and happiness of mnouncing. It must result in im-nediate, lasting, far-reaching benefit to the boys of Canada. I am sure that we all join in the earnest hope that Sir William C. Macdonald, the wisely patriotic and generous benefactor, may long live, gladdened by knowing that the children and the grown men and women of Canada rise up and call him blessed."

FATAL IGNORANCE.

A London, Ont., Man Didn't Know He Had Bright's Disease.

London, Ont., Oct. 30.-Mr. G. R. Brady, this city, has never ceased excape he experienced recently. Bright's Disease had insidiously fastened its grip upon him and eaten deep into his kidneys. Mr. Brady was in ignorance of what the matter was until he happened to read the symptoms of Bright's Disease in a Dodd's Kidney Pill

Says Mr. Brady, "I purchased three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and after I used one box I felt the disease leaving me. I am now completely cured. My friends here in London will vouch for what I say, Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life."

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Pryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me: and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Inspector Ballard, of Hamilton, reports that out of 7,000 public school manifests. On the western side of the Transvaal | pupils 418 are short-sighted.

THE CONTINGENT NURSES.

Many were the gifts and remembrances received by the Ottawa nurses who sailed on the Sardinian. Each nurse was presented in Ottawa with $148, while the May Court Club gave them four lovely shawls of a color to match their uniform. The nurses who have left Ottawa for the Transvaal will wear becoming suits of khaki cloth -a dark, fawn-colored "drill." made of cotton thread, warp and weft, very much after the style of ordinary linen, but infinitely more durable. The word "khaki" is derived from the Hindoo, and means simply dust or claycolored, but in the war office sense "khaki" is elevated from the position of adjective to substantive, and refers exclusively to that drab-colored material which was worn for the first time probably by some of the East Indian regiments

Lord Aberdeen, a per- are far more applicants than children. Mr. J. J. Kelso, of Toronto, the society's provincial superintendent, was in the city this morning. In Ontario he says there are now 1,000 children whom the society has placed in fosterhomes. Owing to the society's labors there is not nearly so many cases of neglect by parents, nor so much begging by little children throughout the province as there was six or seven years ago. Consequently fewer children have to be taken into the society's charge. On the other hand, each ward placed in a foster-home has been an advertisement, and the applications have greatly increased. If a child is without a home a good one can be found for it in a few weeks. Great is used in selecting good homes. Orphanages are no longer a necessity in Mr. Kelso's opinion. They are more an accommodation for parents or others who wish to put the children out to board than a necessity.

Mr. Kelso and Sheriff Cameron will address the annual meeting of the St. Thomas Children's Aid Society this evening.

British War Office Has Heard Nothing From Ladysmith-How News Gets Past the Censors.

London, Nov. 3.-The war office. this afternoon, replying to inquiries, said no information had been received there of fresh Boer movements at Colenso or elsewhere, and, it was added, the officials were not aware if the railroad to Ladysmith was intact or not.

TO RELIEVE KIMBEREY. New York, Nov. 3 .- A copyright cable message to the Journal, says:

"London, Nov. 3 .- Despite the strict censorship concerning the movements A very pretty wedding took place at of the troops in Africa, it is evident that a strong column is forming at De 193 Waterloo street, being the marriage Aar Junction for the relief of Kimberley. The 1st Munster Fusiliers, the 2nd Berkshires, and half of the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry, are known to be there, numbering nearly 2,000 in all. The Munsters have been converted into mounted infantry. It was originally intended to send an entire army corps this way, but the critical position of the British in Natal necessitates diverting the reinforcements as soon as they arrive at the Cape. The government has hoped that Gen. White would be able to hold the Boers in check in Natal long enough for the army corps to arrive, and make a dashing invasion for Orange Free State and thence into the Transvalal, but all of these plans are upset now. Until the conditions in Natal can be bettered, some of the troops must be spared to help Kimberley. Lord Salisbury is anxious, too, about his son in Mafeking, and every effort will be made to help the two beleaguered towns as soon as possible."

> DE BEERS' COSTLY DEFENSE. The De Beers Company has spent a large amount of money in defense of its property at Kimberley. It owns six 9-pounders, six 7-pounders, ten Maxims and 500 Lee-Metford rifles; has thrown up earthworks and con-nected all the mines by telephone, erected powerful searchlights, and also practically runs and pays the Kimberley Volunteer Regiment, the Diamond Fields Horse, and the Diamond Fields Artillery, nearly all members of which are employes of the company.

A supplementary naval brigade numbering 349 men will start for South Africa on Saturday.

TO HELP SOLDIERS' FAMILIES. The war office has recognized the establishment of a war employment bureau, the object of which is to ap-peal to employers of labor to give preferment to the wives and families of the reservists. England is certainly doing all in its power to alleviate the possible distress of families of the soldiers at the front. Kipling's latest poem has already realized $5,000 for the benefit of the families of the reservists. A FORGOTTEN FACT. London, Nov. 3.—While there is a habit here to assume that news of Boer victories amanating from the continent cannot be true, because of the censorship, the fact is forgotten that foreign governments are fully that foreign governments are privileged to send and receive cipher

The point at which they were severed is not indibut it is doubtless between Ladysmith and Colenso. The news does not necessarily prove that the Boers have surrounded the town and closed in. It seems most probable that they have placed themselves upon the British lines of communication, repeating exactly their Dundee tactics. Apparenly Commandant-General Joubert means to attempt the capture of Gen. White's force, in the hope of either bringing England to terms or leading to European intervention.

NO COAL FAMINE

Boats Are Loading at Lake Erie Ports Very Rapidly.

Detroit, Nov. 2.-The coal situation is much improved. Two things have caused the break in the scarcity. At lower lake ports the railroads have begun to send in large shipments of coal, and once more there seems to be plenty of cars. The other facts is that rates have fallen from the high standard they reached recently, and, with ore at $160, owners find it worth while to take coal up instead of going light. At Cleveland one coal dock is loading an average of 10,000 tons a day now, and other docks at Buffalo, Conneaut, Erie, Farport, Cleveland and Toledo are doing rushing business. With a continuance of such a movement there is not much danger of a coal famine up the lakes this winter.

The Strange Metamorphosis.

Mr. Bultitude wandered disconsolately about the upper part of the house after this, not daring to go down, and not able to remain in any one place. The maids who came up to make the beds looked at him with pit-Iful interest, but he was too proud to implore help from them. To hide would only make matters worse, for, as he had not a penny in his pocket, and no probability of being able to borrow one, he must remain in the house tll hun-ger forced him from his hiding-placesupposing they did not hunt him out long before that time. The shouts of the boys in the playground during their half-hour's play had long since died away; he heard the clock in the hall strike 11-time for him to seek his awful rendezvous. The doctor had not forgotten him, he found, for presently the butler came up and ceremoniously announced that the doctor would "see him now, if he pleased."

He stumbled downstairs in a half-unconscious condition, the butler threw open the two doors which led to the schoolroom, and Paul tottered in, more dead than alive, with shame and fear. The whole school were at their places, with no books before them, and arranged as if to hear a lecture. I shall now proceed to act. Richard Bultitude, remain there till I return to mete out to you with no sparing hand the punishment you have so richly merited."

With these awful words the doctor left the room, leaving Paul in a state of abject horror and dread which need not be described. Never, never again would he joke, as he had been wont to do with Dick in lighter moods, on the subject of corporal punishment under any circumstances; it was no fit theme for levity; if this—this outrage were really done to him, he could never be able to hold up his head again. What if it were to get about in the city? The boys, who had sunk, as they always did, into a state of torpid awe, under the doctor's eloquence, now re-covered spirits enough to rally Paul with much sprightly humor.

"He's gone to fetch his cane," said some, and imitated for Paul's instruction the action of caning by slapping a ruler upon a copy-book with a dreawful fidelity and resonance; others sought to cross-examine him upon the love-letter, it appearing from their casual remarks that not a few had been also honored by communications from the artless Miss Davenant.

Sludge sat at his desk with raised shoulders, rubbing his hands, and grinning like some malevelent ape. "I told you, Dickie, you know," he murmured, whether the ways hetter not to case me." that it was better not to cross me.'

And still the doctor lingered. Some kindly suggested that he was "waxing the cane." But the more general opin-ion was that he had been detained by some visitor; for it appeared that (though Paul had not noticed it), several had heard a ring at the bell. The suspense was growing more and more unbearable.

At last the door opened in a slow, ominous manner, and the doctor appeared. There was a visible change peared. in his manner, however. The white heat of his indignation had died out. His expression was grave, but distinctly softened-and he had nothing in his

"I want you outside, Bultitude," he said: and Paul, still uncertain whether the scene of his disgrace was only about to be shifted, or what else this might, mean, followed him into the hall. "If anything can strike shame and confusion into your soul, Richard," said the doctor, when they were out-"it will be what I have to tell you now. Your unhappy father is here, in the dining-room.'

Paul staggered. Had Dick the brazen effrontery to come here to taunt him in his slavery? What was the meaning of it? What should he say to him? He could not answer the doctor

"I have not seen him yet," said the doctor. "He has come at a most inopthing for the back and lungs. He had a portune moment" (here Mr. Bultitude could not agree with him). "I shall allow you to meet him first, and give you the opportunity of breaking your conduct to him. I know how it will wring his paternal heart!" and the doctor shook his head sadly and turned

> With a curious mixture of shame, anger and impatience, Paul turned the handle of the dining-room door. He was to meet Dick face to face once more. The final duel must be fought out between them here. Who would be the victor? It was a queer sensation on entering told, looking as he felt, absolutely to see the image of what he had so lately been standing by the mantelwords, and stool pale and speechless in the presence of his unprincipled son. Dick, on his side, seemed at least as much embarrassed. He giggled uneasily, and made a sheepish offer to shake hands, which was indigantly

As Paul looked he saw distinctly that his son's fraudulent imitation of his been successful, and it is as painful for father's personal appearance had beme to tell you as for you to hear, that come deteriorated in many respects, since that unhappy night when he had last seen it. brimmed felt wideawake. Altogether, it was by no means the costume which a British merchant, with any self-respect whatever, would select, even for a country visit.

And thus they met, as, perhaps, never since this world was first set spinning down the ringing grooves of change, met father and son before!

Mr. J. H. Aiken, Formerly of London, Writes From Natal.

War Was Bound to Come-Intense Animosity of Dutch and English.

The following letter from Mr. J. H. Aiken, addressed to Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York, is a pecially interesting as the writer is a former resident of this city. Mr. Aiken, it will be remembered, re-visited London nearly three years ago and delivered a series of able lectures on days ago, and died from the injuries South Africa, where he has lived for received. some years:

Imperial Hotel, Maritzburg, Natal, Sept. 23, 1899. Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls Co., 30 La. fayette Place, New York, N. Y., U.

S. A.: Gentlemen,—I am just in receipt of Gentlemen,—I am just in receipt of Aug. 15. In your very welcome letter of Aug. 15. In this letter you express the very pretty sentiment as to the terribleness of war, especially in the closing period of the nineteenth century, which is all the place very true. But you also say in your letter: "We still feel that the world Mr. T. S. Cole, for a number of would not allow a war in South Africa to take place at the present time." Really, gentlemen, there has been so much agitation here, and the feeling is so bitter, and is running so high, among both Dutch and English, that to express the above sentiment, in either English or Dutch territory here would be risky in the extreme—and almost render one liable to a charge of high treason. As you know, in my business, I am daily meeting with all classes of people in this city, the capital of Natal. I am meeting with clergymen, lawyers, doctors, merchants—in fact, all classes, and I can assure you that, one and all, they are bent upon war, and are determined to have it. One of my friends the other day was talking about a leading clergyman, and exclaimed, in speaking of the minister: "Oh, my! But he was bloodthirsty!" Now, this clergyman is one of the most devout "men of the cloth" on this sub-continent, and I can assure you he is only votcing the feeling of nearly every Britisher in South Africa. On the other side—the Dutch side—the feeling is ever so much more bitter and intense. Now, you must know that there must be a reason for such a state of things, but to explain to you all the causes that have led up to this present state of affairs would necessitate a book of a thousand pages, and I have neither the time, nor the inclination, to go into these details at present. I realize, of course, that the saints are not all on one side, nor are the sinners all on the other; but there can be no question that the Dutch of this country determined for years to undermine British supremacy, and have been planning and scheming to this end for quite as many years. They think that they are now in a position to "boss the show." and are anxious to try their strength, but this is where they are making a great mistake.

You will remember my telling you how well I got on with the Dutch in in the council, to submit it to a popu-Pretoria, and how nicely they treated lar vote at the municipal elections me, and I can honestly say that, individually, I like them very much; but, taken collectively, they certainly do not know how to "run" a modern and progressive republic. A few years ago the Dutch of South Africa—the wealthiest of them—were nearly as recommended. thiest of them-were nearly as poor as the proverbial "church mouse," and the republic was practically bankrupt. British-or, more properly, Anglo-Saxon -brains, money and enterprise, have made the South African Republic what it is today financially. To digress, about a year ago I was traveling in Dutch territory, and had occasion to stay over-night at a Dutch farmhouse. There was a large family, about fifteen or sixteen (their families are abnormally large as a rule), and just before the evening meal was placed on the table, the whole family went through its ablutions, commencing with the old man, then his vrow, and the fourteen or so children, all using the same small bowlful of water on the table, and using the same rag of a towel, the haircombing, etc., being all attended to at the same time. Now, I do not wish to say anything against the old farmer, for he was very kind and hospitable. even generous, for though they kept me, my horses and driver, for the night he would not charge a single pennyin fact, he said, speaking through an interpreter, as he could not speak Eng-"Tell the gentleman, that though In the Free State the towns are not free, yet in the country things were yet free to the stranger"; but what I wish to convey is that such people as the above farmer are the voting power—the only voting power—in the republic. The men of brains, the financiers, the leading bankers, and all the other leading classes, who have made the country what it is, who have built the great city of Johannesburg, developed the mining industry, and made wealthy men of the satellites of the government at Pretoria, have no voice in the taxation, or the ruling of the country; but have been compelled to stand passively by while a corrupt government made themselves rich with the ill-gotten spoils of office. Now, you can see that this sort of thing cannot be permitted to continue in this nineteenth century. Trouble is bound to ensue, and we are assuredly living in most troubled times here at the present moment. Whole volumes could be written upon the troubles, suffering and anxieties that the poor women and children, to say nothing of the husbands and fathers, are passing through at the present time. The whole country is completely upset, people are fleeing in open trucks, walking or riding, in ever direction for safety; in a general way business is almost entirely suspended, and people are thinking and speaking of nothing but war. The latest report this morning is to the effect that the Dutch intend marching at once upon Maritzburg. The impression is strong that should the Dutch succeed in getting the upper hand, that they would give the Britishers no quarter at all, but would slaughter men, women and children alike. In this connection I think I should say that, while we in Africa are not so hardened and bloodthirsty as not to realize the true terribleness of war, yet we feel that there is no other way out of it, that there will never be peace and prosperity in this country until we have a good, big fight, and until it is definitely decided who is "boss." Then, again, you must bear in mind that we have the native element to consider. In Natal there are about ten natives to every white person; and if the British do not thrash the Dutch now (after seeing the English fleeing in thousands from the Transvaal), we could never make these natives believe that the English are not cowards, and afraid to fight, and the result would undoubtedly be-at least, such is the opinion of those who are best informed on the subject—that within a year or two we would have a native rising, which is simply too horrible to think of. I might say that the natives, to a man, hate and loathe the Dutch, and are simply screaming with delight at the prospect of the English being about to "lick" the Dutch.

Timely Preparations for the New Board of Works.

Lack of Continuity of Policy Causes Waste-Deficit of $3,000 This Year.

Ald. Parnell believes in the application of business methods to run the municipal machinery. At the regular meeting of the board of works last night he pointed out the desirability of a continuance of the board's policy from one year to the other. Lack of this continuity of policy, he said, was one of the causes of the waste of mony on public works. To overcome this he moved that he engineer prepare a statement of the works necessary to be undertaken in the ensuing year, together with the estimated cost of such works. In support of his motion Ald. Parnell said that by adopting this plan the new committee would have the benefit of a year of experience, as the present committee would go over the en-gineer's statement and report thereon. The motion carried unanimously, all nembers of the committee expressing their approval of the sugges-City Engineer Graydon also favered the proposal.

Another motion made by Ald. Parnell suggested the new year. It was that the city engineer have an inventory of the tools in possession of the city for handing over to the next council. Mr. Graydon estimated that the board would have a deficit of $3,000. Nearly $2,000 is at present overdrawn. At the suggestion of the chairman it was decided to ask the council for a supplementary grant.

THE RED CROSS CONCERT. An entertainment in aid of the Red Cross Society funds was given last night in the mission school house, corner of Oxford and Colborne streets. The room was almost filled. In the absence of Col. Holmes the chair was taken by Mr. C. B. Edwards, of the Collegiate Institute, who prefaced the programme with a short address. touching on the causes of the present war. The concert proved very enliven-ing. The "Peake Sisters," a company of north end ladies, provided an in genious medley of mirth and music. and showed no little dramatic talent They introduced a most laughable skit, called "Made Over." The action centers around a number of old maids, who join in a society that abhors all pertains to the masculine, for the careful preservation of a fastfading belief in their own allurements At last, when the inevitable truth dawns upon them that their beauty is not what it was, they call in the aid of a male magician, who restores to them the youth and accomplishments of bygone days. Ample scope is af-forded for some charming satire upon foibles of maiden ladies, and this is cleverly taken advantage of by their young impersonators, who, in their old-fashioned gowns of a decade since pictures in the course of this en-joyable comedietta. A large congregation gathered in the All Saints' Mission Chapel, Hamilton road, on Wednesday evening, to celebrate the twelfth anniversary of its establishment. The mission was most beautifully decorated with a wealth of flowers. A short address was deliver-ed by Rev. C. C. Owen, who spoke of the work done since he became con-nected with the Memorial Church. Rev. Mr. Ten Eyck, who had charge of the mission for some years, urged upon them the necessity of living more earnest lives. Rev. Canon Richardson who founded the mission, reviewed his work in connection with the mission, and told of the desire he had from the first that it should become an independent parish. At the close of the service Rev. Canon Richardson and Rev. Mr. Ten Eyck were welcomed by the members of their former con-

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Grieve Celebrate Their Golden Wedding.

The celebration of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Grieve, 790 King street, was the occasion for a very happy gathering on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 1. Since their marriage, in 1849, there has been no break in the family, and all the members were present, including Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grieve, Plympton; Rev. F. and Mrs. Ballantyne, Beverly; Mr. and Mrs. D. Bane, St. Marys; Mrs. Bell and Jean, at home; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grieve, Wilton Grove; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Elliott, Sarnia. There were also the invited guests: Rev. Mr. T. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Baty, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Baty, Wilton Grove, and Miss Douglas and Miss Goven-

Mr. and Mrs. Grieve were offered the congratulations of their friends, and were presented with the following address from the session of the King Street Presbyterian Church, of which board Mr. Grieve is a member. "To Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Grieve: "Dear Friends.—The session of the King Street Presbyterian Church, London, desire to take some little part with your family and friends in extending to you congratulations on having reached the golden jubilee of your wedding day. duration, wet we have learned to esteem you both highly for the work's sake. The event which you today celebrate calls forth gratitude to Almighty God, who has so signally blessed both you and your children. Few there are who are privileged so long to journey together, amid the joys and trials of life. Having reached the term of life to which you have both been spared you have had no little part in the growth of the church in this part of the province, and we are sure that no regret is experienced by either of you that you have taken such an active part in the Lord's work. It has been your happy experience to have fulfilled in your lives the promise, 'Them that honor me I will honor.' In all your ways you have been enabled to acknowledge Him and He has directed your path. Our earnest prayer dear friends, is that the closing days of your pilgrimage may be the hap-piest, and that the declining years of your life may be spent in happiness, looking forward to that life when we meet, but meet to part no more. Signed on behalf of the session—Thomas Wilson, moderator, David H. Dobbin,

The address was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Grieve, who recalled incidents in his early life and in the life of his father and neighbors. His father settled in Westminster in 1819, years before the first log cabin was built where London now stands. He shingled his house with boards split from oak blocks, laid down by poles fastened at the ends with basswood bark. Mr. Grieve expressed his deep gratitude that no break had taken place in their family since their mar-riage in 1849. His wife was Elizabeth Douglas, daughter of the late John Douglas, of Judburgh, Scotland. Mr. Grieve, who is one of the best-known Humanity Demands Them!

CONDITIONS IMPOSED With Regard to the Canadian Packing

Company's Sewer Connection.

The Canadian Packing Company's request for connection with the city sewerage system was considered by the sewer committee last night. Certain conditions will be imposed and, if satisfactory to the company, the work will be proceeded with at once. The sub-committee's report recommended that the company be granted the right provided that they construct a 15inch tile sewer from Egerton street, the terminus of the trunk sewer, easterly along Dundas to the city limits, the said sewer to become the property of the city and to be laid under the direction of the city engineer. Further, the company are to agree to treat sewage from their factory and provide grease traps and other means to prevent the entrance of sewage detrimental to the sewers. The report was adopted. It was decided not to have any openings in the "filling in" at the cove. The openings would be a detriment, the city engineer said, and would cost $1,000 additional. Harding & Lea-thorne have the contract, and will start work on it at once.
