Mr. John Burns, the labor leader, and present member of Parliament, is making a lively campaign for re-election in the Battersea division of London. MONDAY EVENING'S FIGURES. London, July 15.—The returns received thus far show the election of 149 Conservatives, 22 Unionists, 25 Liberals, 4 Anti-Parnellites, and 4 Parnellites. The total number of seats gained by the Unionists is 19. It does not require the gift of prophecy to be able to foretell a most disastrous defeat for the Liberal party. Amid the darkness there are a few rays of faint light. In one or two instances the Liberals have wrested seats from their opponents, but this fact has not served to lessen the depression that fills the heart of the party.

Another staggering blow was delivered to the Liberals today in the defeat at Bradford of the Right Hon. Shaw-Lefevre, formerly President of the Local Government Board. Among the Unionist candidates elected today was Henry M. Stanley, the African ex-plorer, who defeated Mr. Trevelyan, the Liberal candidate, in the north di-vision of Lambeth. In the last gen-eral election Mr. Stanley was a candidate, but was rather badly defeated.

The Daily News publishes a telegram from Sir William Vernon Harcourt, stating that he has no intention whatever of retiring from public life. He declares that he will persevere so long as he is able in the service of the

The Unionists are bubbling over at their many successors. They claim that the electors are heartly tired of the home rule question, and the ceaseless squabbling of the Irish party, and have determined to pronounce their emphatic disapproval of both. However this may be, the fact remains that from present appearances the Liberals are badly whipped. In the metropolitan districts the Labor candidates fared badly. James Keir-Hardie was defeated, and Burns' majority reduced. The subjoined returns from the districts in which elections were held today will show the drift of the voting:

STAMBOULOFF SHOT AND STABBED.

Sofia, July 16.-While ex-Prime Minister Stambouloff, accompanied by M. Petkoff, was walking home last night from the Union Club he was attacked by four unknown men. Two of them shot him with revolvers while the two others stabbed him. There is little hope of M. Stambouloff's recovery. He was wounded in more than twenty places. He raised his hands to guard his head and his wrists were nearly severed. Both hands had to be amputated. M. Petkoff was slightly wounded.

The Chief and Second Engineers Were Badly Burned-Remains of the hird Engineer Probably Discovered.

Lewiston, N. Y., July 15 .- The death of Wm. Hammell, the third engineer, was witnessed by many. He was hemmed in by flames and his pitiful cries for help moved John Wilson, one of the crew, to follow the burning Cibola in a boat, shouting to Hammell to jump into the water, but he was too much dazed by the awful situation to do so. He was single, 30 years old, and lived in Toronto. A. J. Woodward, second engineer, was badly burned about the face and neck. He will recover. Chief Engineer Welsh was burned about the legs, but not seriously. First Mate John McKeown, assisting at the pumps, was somewhat burned. The crew of 40 lost all their effects. Manager Foy of the steamboat line says the boat was worth $225,000, and was half insured. The fire was caused by gas emanating from the coal bunk-

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

Trouble Among the K. of L. in Boston-The Detroit Cigarmakers.

Detroit, July 14.-Everything was quiet yesterday at the cigarmakers' strike headquarters. Thirty bolts of blue ribbon have been cut and distributed by the girls as sympathy badges and as much more will be cut on Monday. The eastern unions have sent about $300 to aid the men out of work, who are not entitled to strike benefits. A report is current at the headquarters that the Detroit Cigar Company will resume work Tuesday, and that the strippers would be put to work on Monday. Boston, Mass., July 15.—District Assembly No. 30, Knights of Labor, which includes in its jurisdiction the entire State, has been suspended from all privileges by General Secretary Haves. The suspension is for insubordination, in admitting to its privileges State Magter Workman Padden, who, some months ago, was suspended as the outcome of a controversy with the general board. A meeting has been called, and the assembly may secede.

Detroit, July 15.—Members of the local labor unions are wearing blue ribbons in the button holes of their coats, in sympathy with the striking cigar men. The tract car employes appear to be the most pronounced in this respect.

The Nine Months' Search o the Detectives Rewarded,

And the Girls' Remains Discovered Buried in a Cellar in Toronto-Story of a Terrible Crime.

Toronto, July 15 .- Detective Geyer, of Philadelphia, has been for several days in the city searching for traces of the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Pietzel, who disappeared here last October, while in charge of H. Holmes, alias Harmon W. Mudgett, of Philadelphia. Their bodies were found today, stark-naked, in the cellar of No. 16 St. Vincent street. Gever had been searching for days in Toronto without Geyer was assisted by Detective Cuddy, and the two learned that on Oct. 18, the day the girls were taken away from the Albion Hotel, no children's tickets were purchased on any road running out of Toronto. The search been arrested.

BOLIVIA AND PERU MAY FIGHT.

Lima, July 15.—The relations of Peru with Bolivia are strained. It is ru-Then they found that No. 16 St. Vincent street had been hired for a few days by a mysterious stranger about that time. The owner of the house was Mr. Neudall, clerk in the education department, whose father was at one time in the employment of the police department. A photograph of Holmes was procured and shown to Mr. Neudall. "Why, THAT'S THE MAN that rented my house," said he. Then the officers knew that they were on the right track. The house was searched, and the cellar last of all. Here the place was dug up, and presently the bare shoulder and arm of a little body was discovered. Then the whole naked body came to view, and under it another one was found.

No trace of wounds was found, and it is thought that Holmes decoyed them into a trunk under some pretext, and took them to the house. Then food was inserted by means of a tube through a small hole. A trunk with a hole in it, neatly covered over with a strap tacked down, has been found in one of after in Philadelphia, and Pietzel was insured for $10,000. Shortly after he was found dead in a house he had rented, and it was said that he had been accidentally burned to death. Holmes and the three children of the dead man left Philadelphia. They journeyed to Cincinnati and thence to Indianapolis and to Detroit. Here it seems that the children became burdensome to Holmes, and he feared a meeting between them and their mother, who, up to the time of Holmes' arrest, did not know of the death of

Holmes was arrested for defrauding the insurance companies, and in trac-ing up the case this story of an awful crime came out. Doctors who have examined the bodies agree with the theory of Detective Geyer that the children were put to death by means of hypodermic injections of chloroform. THE NEWS IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, July 16.—The announcement here last night that two of the murdered Pietzel children had been found buried in a Toronto, Ont., cellar created a sensation, as the children were last seen alive by those who knew them in this city. Detective Geyer was here three weeks ago searching for the lost children. It was here he got the clew that led to the finding of the bodies in Toronto. He traced the children from here to Detroit and from there to Toronto. He was unable to get any evidence that the boy left this city alive, and went from here believing that the boy had been murdered and his body shipped from here in a trunk. The children were taken away from

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—The Journal prints today an article containing the statement that the Pietzel boy, the brother of Alice and Nellie Pietzel, whose dead bodies are supposed to have, been unearthed at Toronto Yesterday, was beyond doubt murdered in this city on Oct. 6 last, presumably by Holmes, the insurance swindler, pow in custody at Philadelphia. It was developed that a certain express driver, by agreement with Holmes, called at the Old Circle House on that day and removed through a rear door the large trunk which is believed to have contained the boy's remains. Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy. Montreal, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among classes over the recent dispatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

Trust a woman who sits with her thumbs up; she may be determined, but she is truthful. The one who conceals her thumbs is apt to be deceitful. Look at the thumb if you want to judge of people's intellectual strength, for the longer it is, proportionately, the stronger the brain.

Sweet clover, in which the roadsides in some parts of the country abound, is a fragrant delight for a whole year, if used to fill couch pillows. There is not in my mind the least doubt that poor bread is the cause of much crime. Such people are half starved, and their restless, uncomfortable bodies govern their unsound minds. A sound mind is found only in a sound body. Upon investigation it will be found that in the poor and criminal districts of London, England, puffed up, light, soft bread is the universal food.

Long before the approach of midsummer, the denizens of the city have made their plans for the hot weather. More and more it is the habit to flee to the farm, the mountain or the seaside, and live near to Nature's heart. For a few hundred dollars a cheap cottage can be built. The furnishings will be inexpensive, yet they should be artistic. In the country, the rough finished walls may be washed with solid tints of the grays, such as blue-gray, green-gray and yellow-gray. Warm colors are out of place when out of door and window one looks upon a riot of trees. Against soft neutral tints, the trophies from meadows and hills and roads show at

Vigorous Debate in Which In sinuations Are Made.

The Committee's Course Defended and the Tender Accepted.

What's the Matter With the City Fire Alarm System?

Three Suits for I amages-Union Wages for City Workmen-Renting the Stone Crusher - Books for the Free Library-Cash for the City.

The City Council last might, after a vigorous debate, awarded the contract for asphalt pavement on Dundas and Richmond streets to the Barber Company, of Buffalo. The tender was not the lowest, but the concensus of opinion was that that company were the most reliable and their work in Buffalo and other cities was accepted as a guarantee for the satisfactory fulfillment of the contract. There was a little juggling with the report of the expert electrician who examined the fire alarm system and an evident desire to suppress its contents, From this it may be taken that the system is not without its faults.

AFTER DAMAGES.
The grist of communications revealed among its miscellany three writs for damages against the city. These formidable documents were couched in the proper legal phraseology, and were labeled "Lewis vs. City," "Miller vs. City," and "Wallace vs. City." In the first instance Mr. Lewis, of South London, sues for $5,000 damages because of an alleged nuisance caused by the emptying of a sewer on his property. Mr. Lewis sued a neighbor, but lost the case, and now will endeavor to hold the corporation responsible. He also asks for an abatement of the alleged nuisance and for an injunction. Fraser & Fraser are acting for Mr. Lewis.

The other two writs relate to the unfortunate sewer accident, in which Matthew Miller lost his life. E. T. Essery, as administrator, sues on behalf of the widow and children for damages—the amount not specified alleging carelessness and negligence of corporation officers who had charge of the case. The same person also sues on behalf of Mr. Henry Wallace for damages for injuries sustained in the same accident. The writs were referred to No. 1 committee to advise the solicitor. The OTHER COMMUNICATIONS. R. Lewis, W. J. Legg-Re taxes. No.

Granted. AN UNSATISFACTORY ALARM SYSTEM.

Clause 5 of the report of No. 3 committee, dealing with the report of the electrical expert, Mr. Gibson, on his examination of the city fire alarm system, caused some discussion. Ald. Powell hesitated before reading it. Ald. Parnell raised the point that it was a question of policy whether or not the report should be printed. Ald. Dreaney moved that it be not read, but printed in the minutes.

Ald. Weld seconded. Ald. Parnell thought even this measure of publicity too great, and that it would be unwise to print it in the minutes. He advised the laying of it on the table, where all the members could read it. Ald. Heaman seconded.

Ald. Pritchard felt that the city should know the state of efficiency of the boxes. Ald. Powell said that there were facts in the report of vast moment, and in event of a serious fire someone might be to blame, and he wanted the committee to be in the position to place any onus on the council. Therefore, they brought in the report. Ald. Dreaney's motion to print the report in the minutes prevailed.

From the continued effort to suppress the report it is plain that the alarm system is not complimented to any great extent therein.

THE ASPHALT CONTRACT LET.

The clause of No. 2 committee's report recommending the purchase of lot for the storage of machinery was referred back. The committee will no doubt recommend that a lot be bonded instead of purchased.

The committee recommended that the tender of the Barber Asphalt Com-pany, Buffalo, be accepted for the construction of asphalt pavement on Dundas and Richmond streets, at $2 65 per square yard.

Ald. Garratt moved that all the tenders be read. The council voted the motion down. Ald. Dreaney said it was very strange and unjust and even unfair that the tenders should not be read. Ald. Carrothers spoke out very sharply, saying that it was "a cowardly transaction" to hide the other figures from the citizens.

Ald. Wm. Heaman—I don't think the committee has any objections. Ald. Carrothers-Well, it looks like Mayor Little-I think, Ald. Heaman, it would be wisest to give the figures.

THE FIGURES. Ald. Heaman then read the figures as follows: Godson Construction and Pavement das street, $2 87; Richmond street, $2 83 per yard.

Laidlaw Bros., Detroit—$2 36 per

M. & N. Connelly, Toronto, $2 88 per N. & M. Connelly, Kingston, $3 23 per yard. Barber Company, Buffalo, $2 65 per

Fruin & Bambric, St. Louis, $2 49 pe

In the case of the first-named tender Ald. Heaman read a letter stating that the company had made a mistake and did not in their tender take into consideration the recutting and resetting of the kerbing. However, if the city decided to put in new walks, this would make no difference. If they did not put down a new walk he asked that the oversight be taken into consideration. PRO AND CON. Ald. Carrothers wanted to hold the Godson Company to their contract, or let them forfeit their deposit. The city should not be held responsible for any mistakes. Ald. Parnell defended the report of the committee. They had not gone so much upon the basis of getting the cheapest article, but to get the very best pavement that could be got. He pointed out the unsatisfactory state of the pavement in Detroit and Toronto, and the very satisfactory condition of the Buffalo paving. Ald. Garratt challenged Ald. Parnell class style. Then he cast grave doubts on the ability of most aldermen, including himself, to recognize asphalt when they met it. "We don't know it from tar." said he. Ald. Garratt further emphasized the necessity of trusting the quality of work to name a street, alley or lane that the Toronto firm had not asphalted in first-to a competent inspector AN INSINUATION. Ald. Skinner insinuated that No. 2 committee never intended to accept any other tender but the Buffalo one. The members had thoroughly made up their minds, and it was not fair to the other contractors who had tendered. Further along Mr. Skinner admitted that there was such a thing as good asphalt.

Ald. Marshall took him up on this point, and complimented him on the acknowledgment. The other night he would not admit that any pavement other than brick was good. Ald. Skinner-And I am still of opinon that vitrified brick is best. Continuing, Mr. Marshall said that it was the consensus of opinion that the Buffalo pavement was very good. The city wanted the best work available. and wanted the most responsible company to do it. He spoke of the fallacy of forcing a contract upon a firm which had made a mistake in tendering. The firm would surely endeavor to make up for their mistake.

Ald. O'Meara denied the imputation of Ald, Skinner, and stated that the committee had not known whether or not the Barber Company were even going to tender.

Ald. Carrothers—How many yards will have to be asphalted?

The mayor-There are 16,000 yards in the city's portion.

Ald. Garratt—And the difference between the Godson and Barber tender is $6,240.

Ald. Powell hinted that the rider placed by the Godson Company on their tender meant that a demand would be made for extra money if their tenier was accepted;

Mr. Godson asked permission to address the council, but was refused. Motions to hear the representatives of other companies were also voted down. Ald. Garratt moved and Ald. Dreaney seconded, that the tender of the Godson Company be accepted.

Bambric Company ($2 49) be accepted. Ald. Pritchard moved and Ald. Dreaney seconded, that the tender of Laidlaw Bros. ($2 36) be accepted. Lost. Ald. Weld then asked Ald. Heaman if the opening of the tenders had been delayed until the last moment from any sinister motive. Ald. Heaman's explanation of the delay was perfectly satisfactory. The tenders had been in charge of the city engineer, and had not been tampered with in any way. A motion to refer back by Ald. Gar-ratt and Dreaney was voted down, and the clause of the committee's report recommending the acceptance of the Barber Company's tender at $2 65 was adopted on the following division: Yeas -Heaman (J.), Brener, O'Meara, Powell, Heaman (W.), Callahan, Nutkins, Parnell, Weld and Marshall—10. chine it could not be expected to crush stone. The bylaw to give the street railway company rights on Railway street, South London, was read a third time and passed.

UNION WAGES.

The bylaw dealing with the matter of a union scale of wages for city contractors was laid over to admit of the addition of the following amendment by No. 2 committee: "That the proposed bylaw to provide for payment by civic contractors to their workmen of the union prevailing rate of wages, be amended by striking out the word 'or' before the word 'prevailing,' in the seventh line of the first clause of said bylaw, and adding the following words to the end of the third clause: 'Provided always, that the corporation shall not be responsible for any claim for wages according to terms and conditions of this bylaw, unless the said claim be presented within 30 days after the completion of the contract under which the claim is made,' and as thus amended passed by the council." The council then adjourned and Mr.

Godson asked permission to address the "I have no jurisdiction now," said the

SIR OLIVER HONORED.

Presented With the Freedom of Scotch Burgh.

The Town Council Pays Him a High Tribute-Mowat's Ancestors.

During his sojourn in Scotland, the land where his ancestors lived and flourished, Sir Oliver Mowat has been shown not a little attention, and when he reached Caithness he became the lion of the hour. The rollowing extract from John O'Groat's Journal of June 28 will be read with interest by tine people of Ontario: Sir Oliver Mowat, Prime Minister of Ontario, is expected to arrive in this county tomorrow (Saturday) by the afternoon train from the south, and will proceed by way of Thurso to John O'Groat's Hotel.

At the meeting of the town council of Wick held last night it was unanimously resolved to offer the freedom of the royal burgh to Sir Oliver Mowat. This is the highest monor which the official representatives of the commun-ity have in their power to confer upon the distinguished Canadian statesman in recognition of his brilliant career. Councilor David Nicholson proposed the following motion: That the freedom of the burgh be conferred upon Sir Oliver Mowat, Q.C. K.C.M.G., Prime Minister of Ontario, as a mark of the high appreciation of the council of the distinguished position to which he had risen and has long retained by his able, honest and wise administration, and in recognition of his connection with the county of Caithness, in which he has always taken a deep interest, and which he now, ripe with years and honors, revisits as the land of his fathers."

In speaking to the motion, Councilor Nicolson said he was sure they had all seen with pleasure in the newspapers that Sir Oliver Mowat, the popular Prime Minister of Ontario, was at present on a visit to this country, and that he was to be here a few days on a second visit to the county. It was a very suitable occasion for showing such a man all the honor they could, by bestowing upon him the freedom of the burgh, considering his very high position in Ontario, and what he had done not only for that Province, but also for Canada and the empire. (Councilor Nicolson) did not feel called upon at the time to go into any special details regarding Sir Oliver Mowat's work; that would perhaps be more fitdone when the presentation would be made. But in claiming Sir Oliver as a Caithnessman, which they did, although he was not exactly born in the county, it should, he thought, be fittingly emphasized that not only was he brought up in a Caithness familv. but he had been all his life to some extent associated with Caithnessmen in the Dominion, some of whom had risen to very important positions (Applause.)

Councilor Brims seconded the motion, which was cordially agreed to, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. SIR OLIVER'S ANCESTORS. Calder, in his "History of Caithness," says: "The family of Mowat came originally from the south, but in what year is not exactly known. In 1410 William Mowat, of Loscragy, by a charter from James the First, made over to his son John a wadset of the lands of Freswick and Aukingill. This John, nine years afterwards, was killed in the chapel of St. Duthus, in Tain, to which he had fled for refuge as a sanctuary, by Thomas Mackay, of Strath-navar. For this murder, and next burning the chapel, Mackay was, by order of the king, apprehended and hanged at Inverness. The Mowat family, of whom none now held any landed property in Caithness, are of considerable antiquity. In the year 1316, during the reign of Robert the Bruce, the name of William Mowat appears in the list of the Scottish chiefs and nobles who sent a missive to the Pope, firmly maintaining the civil and political independence of Scotland. (In the papers of the Spalding Club, Patrick Mowat, of Bucholie, is mentioned as being witness to a testamentary deed by Andrew, Earl of Errol, at Slains Castle, 3rd of October, 1585.) The Latinized name in ancient charters is 'De monte alto.' On acquiring the property of Freswick the Mowats repaired and inhabited Sweyn, the pirate's old stronghold, which was then called Bucholie Castle. The patronage of the Church of Canisbay belonged to them, and in 1610 it is particularly mentioned that an incumbent who entered on the cure was presented by Mowat of Bucholie."

THE BRITISH GENERAL ELEC-TION.

The British cable dispatches, as they come in, seem to indicate a working, perhaps a large, majority for Lord Salisbury's Government,

Such an outcome does not bring surprise, the average result of the last dozen general elections in Great Britian having been-turn about; each party alternately in office.

Among causes of the temporary Liberal defeat may be included-(1) the withdrawal from public life of Mr. Gladstone, the incomparable political leader of the age; (2) the accession of Lord Rosebery to the leadership, with his lack of seriousness and his devotion to turf gambling; (3) the waning interest in the question of Irish Home Rule, caused by the intercine differamong Irishmen themselves; (4) the successful revival for the moment of the Beer and Bible cry and coalition; (5) and, perhaps, as much as anything else, the attempt, at wittily described by Canon Wilberforce, on the part of the Liberal hen to hatch

It is all for the best. The late Liberal Government in losing Gladstone, lost its dynamo, its mandate. After a season of restorative leisure, the party of progress will again take the its energies and purposes strengthened; its friends on one side, its foes on the other, clearly revealed. In no way other than by temporary defeat could it have got rid of Rosebery as leader; and Rosebery, the sporting peer, could never have taken the place of the morally-in-earnest Commoner Gladstone

The British Conservatives will have their hands full, not alone with the natural difficulties of their position, but with the jealousies and ambitions of the Chamberlain people. The Liberals, even if numerically in rear of the Conservatives, will still be able largely to compel such legislation on many subjects as they may desire.

On the whole, then, whatever may prove to be the final figures of the soon-to-be completed British general election, they can be regarded with composure by the party of progress throughout the world, as a necessary prelude to the next democratic ad-

MR. FOSTER'S REPLY.

Ottawa, July 15.-When the House was moved into committee of ways and means this afternoon both Mr. Laurier and Mr. McCarthy took the floor, which was given to Mr. Laurier, who began his speech by describing the school question as a perplexing one. He did not believe that the Ministerial crisis was over. The reason for the resignations of the Quebec Ministers was not, as Mr. Foster had described it, "a misunderstanding," but a want of confidence in the sincerity of the Government. The proper word to describe the crisis was not "misunderstanding," but "mistrust."

REASONS FOR MISTRUST.

that a party was to be judged. Confederation, the C. P. R., the National Policy were cited in evidence. Turning There was foundation for this mis-trust. The nights and days of the Government were haunted by the demon of vacillation. This, Mr. Laurier illustrated, by citing the cases of the Insolvency Bill, the cattle regulations, the Hudson Bay Railway loan, all of which were marked by shuffling and changes-anything and everything to keep office. (Opposition cheers.) They had a record of unfilled promises, broken engagements, decisions adopted and abandoned. The promise of remedial legislation in the remedial order and given to the electors of Vercheres was not implemented by action, but there was proposal to negotiate. He recalled the fact that the request of Manitoba for delay at the outset to prepare their case was peremptorily refused, so great was the Government in haste to follow out their policy; but after months and months the Government now again proposed to ask Manitoba for further negotiation. It might be said that conciliation was a grand policy. Yes, it would have been the grand policy at the beginning, but the

BEGAN WITH COERCION. Even at the end conciliation would be welcome, but the dissenting colleagues and followers of the Government do not believe in the good faith of the Government, which, instead of adopting moderate language and firm action, were bullying in language and weak in action. Mr. Laurier charged the Government with never having dealt honestly with the ques-

THE GOVERNMENT'S GAME. They were now reaping the result of the long game the Government had played to reconcile orange and green. To show the attitude of the Controller of Customs, he quoted his 12th of July speech, where Mr. Wallace said he would no Mr. Laurier refused to accept merely the utterances of the leader of the House as to the policy of the Government, made to stave off a diffi-culty of today by creating a greater difficulty tomorrow. The Government should have a solidarity, and they should not, while declaring a policy, allow the shadow of Mr. Clarke Wallace to overshadow them.

MR. LAURIER'S POSITION. "My position," Mr. Laurier proceeded, but got no further for a moment, as the Ministerialist cheered, and Liberals gave back still louder cheers, 'My position," continued the Liberal leader, "was stated in this House before. I said then that there was a question of fact whether these are Protestant schools, and not a question of law. My advice then was to investigate this question of fact; but I was not heeded, and ever since the honorable gentle-men opposite have been themselves without policy, although Mr. Ouimet took God to witness that this session would not pass without remedial legislation. They have insulted me in their press as wanting in courage to declare myself on this question. CURIOUS COURAGE. "Sir, if to make promises and not implement them is courage; if to make threats, and then quail, is courage; if to boast of boisterous action and take weak action-to pass an order and refuse to execute it—is courage; if to act in such a manner as to force your best friend to the conviction that you are deceiving him-then," exclaimed Mr. Laurier, in scathing tones, pointing to the Government benches, "then there is a collection of courageous men before the House. (Loud Opposition cheers.) As for me, I care not a farthing for their praise or their tongues. When the day comes I shall walk into the battle and perform my part with-out bragging or weakness. (Cheers.) I am not in the battle today. (Cries of "Oh!" from the Ministerial benches.)

them to a definite policy, and he would like to catch Mr. Speaker's eye before THE BATTLEFIELD. like to catch Mr. Speaker's eye before prorogation, so that he could give a clear challenge to the policy of the Government. He did not care to vote for Mr. Laurier's amendment, and he would cortainly not vote against it. "No," exclaimed Mr. Laurier, pointing to the Government benches, "the is there. (Loud Opposition cheers.) That is the seat of conflict. Let them unite their discordant elements, let them agree upon a policy, and then I pleage myself that if it commends itself to my judgment I shall give it my support. I have no desire that my party should walk into power over the Manitoba school question. But the Government must settle it in some other manner than the way they pro-Something must be done and that at once. This policy of delay and vacillation is not only paralyzing, but it is disintegrating, national life, because it is ranging creed against creed and race against race. What should be done I have no hesitation in saying (speaking my own personal sentiment) is that the minority in Manitoba may be allowed the privilege of teaching to their children in their schools their duty to their God and man as they un-derstand those duties. This is my wish, but I say that object is not to be obtained by imperious dictation or administrative coercion. Sir, this is my policy. (Cheers.) What matters it to hon. gentlemen opposite if the country is raked up by the fire of discord so long as they can keep their offices?

THE IDEA OF CONFEDERATION. "Sir. we must cary out the idea of confederation. If this is done we might teach every citizen, no matter what his creed, in the prosecution of his rights, not to exact the last pound of flesh. I belong to a party always signal for its broad views of tolerance and justice, and when the time comes for the Liberal party to deal with this question I can pledge every member of the party that we will endeavor to solve that problem on lines fair and equitable. Animated by those sentiments, I arraign the policy of the Gov-ernment and beg to move in amend-

"That this House regrets the failure of the Government to deal with the Manitoba school question in a manner demanded by the best interests of the country, and is of the opinion that the the question are calculated to pro-

The Yankee girl is not always blest with abundant health. There are unfortunately hundreds of Yankee girls and matrons who are dragging out an existence. They suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Life is a burden. Where can they obtain relief? The question is not hard to answer. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bring the brilliant and mirthful light back to their eyes and the blush of health to their cheeks.

THE NEW FIRE APPLIANCES.

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": I notice your city has finally ordered an expensive heavy aerial ladder truck at heavy cost—and heavier cost to maintain. My offer was something that would far better suit your requirements, for less money, viz.: a city steel hook and ladder truck to extend 60 feet, equipped with nine pieces of all kinds of ladders, extension, wall, roof, and also pompier ladder, two large Bab-cocks, large steel hook poles, chains, ropes, steel door opener, wire basket and life lines, swinging torches, lanterns, steel fire axes, picks and crow-bars, large gong, all handsomely nickel-plated, and all ladders of Douglas fir from British Columbia, the best of the kind made—all excepting a large screw to raise the main ladders. Ours is lighter, quicker and easier, by rope-pulley and brass box springs. One horse easily handles ours—just what your city needs. Our latest, largest and best 120-gallon double copper tank chemical is the best in the world, and so guaranteed. It is equipped with ladders, torches, lanterns, hose, nozzles, two streams, steel crow bars, large gong, rear platform, guages, silver rails fitted for one or two horses, all complete. This grand total double outfit, all for the sum of $2,800, delivered free in London, guaranteed five years. Common sense asks, Why is it this ten-der was refused? I beg of you to make it public. You lately got a Bangor ladder taking twelve men to hoist, when you could have got from us a much lighter one, much better, which three to four men could hoist, and for half the money; and yet the same Conservative mayor on platforms for political effect shouts "Canada for the Canadians!" And twenty years ago, when you bought Yankee fire steamers the same mistake was committed. Yourself, Mr. Editor, then demanded we should be heard from. The same is now again being repeated in a heavy, costly actial.

Respectfully yours, RONALD FIRE ENGINE WORKS. Brussels, Ont., July 15.

THE ENDEAVORERS

Closing Day of the Great Gathering at Beston. Boston, July 15 .- In Tent Williston, Dean Alfred A. Wright, D.D., of Auburndale, Mass., made an address whose topic was "The Bible." "Back the Bible must go into the little red schoolhouse, and the Christian Endeavor will keep it there," said the dean in conclusion. Rev. A. C. Beck, of Denver, in unrolling the roll of honor, said that the Christian Endeavor movement was the center from which missionaries were pushed to the uttermost parts of the earth. The rolls contained the names of 5,557 societies, that during the year have contributed $10 or more to the cause.

Rev. Lloyd Darcil, of Cleveland, O. received for his society the banner for the best work in promoting systematic and proportionate giving. Rev. A. C. Crews, of Toronto, Ont., made the presentation. The last address of the morning was by President Ethelbert D. Warfield, LL.D., of Easton, Pa., and the meeting then adjourned.

BEQUESTS FOR PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONS.

Toronto, July 16.—Rev. Dr. Reid has received a bequest from the late Robert Forbes, of Guelph, which covers the following items: For foreign mission of the Presbyterian Church, $2,500; for home missions, $2,500; aged and infirm ministers' fund, $2,500. Dr. Warden, of Montreal, has also received by Mr. Forbes' will $1,000 for French evange-

A KINGSTON MAN DROWNED. Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 16.—Last night Philip Welsh, John Hollingsworth and Daniel McCarthy, of Prescott, Ont., and Capt. John Saunders, of Kingston, Ont., arrived here in a rowboat. Early this morning McCarthy and Captain Saunders started away in the boat. When about 400 feet out from the slips Saunders fell out of the boat. Mc-Carthy threw him two oars and a chair, he says, and then started for the shore in the boat to procure help, but Saunders drowned before he could render him any further assistance. Captain Saunders was a vessel owner and a prominent business man.

SHE LEARNED TOO MUCH. There's an old saw that "a little learning is a dangerous thing." That learning how to write can sometimes do damage, is shown by an incident told recently of a down-east woman whose husband was a soldier. The husband, though fairly entitled to one, was of an independent nature and never applied for a pension. After his death, the widow made application, and, as she never learned to write, signed the paper by making her mark. Every-thing was proceeding all right until in course of time a call came for some additional papers. The woman had been taking lessons in writing in the meantime, and had then progressed far enough to write her name. So she very proudly executed the new papers by putting down her written signature, and no doubt thought Uncle Sam's officials would be pleased to see how she had improved. The answer came right speedily, as most bad news does. Her claim was rejected for informality and deceit, because she had at first made her mark, when she should have signed her name. She hopes to be able to make the pension officers see how the thing occurred, but has not yet been able to do so.-Lewiston Journal.

THE WEATHER TO-DAY.

How to Sell Shirt Waists.

Last week we received a special purchase of those very popular shirt waists, fashionably made and assorted colors. We got them at a big bargain, and began at once to consider the best and quickest way of selling them. The lot contained a great variety of designs. We know we could readily sell the $1 50 lot at 95c, and the 95c lot at 50c. But that seemed to be too astonishingly low, and would leave us very little to let them go at that figure. And they go! Most certainly, and would have been in great demand at a higher figure. But when we put a price on any article, that's what it sells at, and those who come first can have the balance at the same low figure. The like was never heard of before. Think of two 95c waists for one dollar! You can't possibly make a mistake at these prices.

ANOTHER WONDER.

Those about to go away on their holidays will appreciate this. And even supposing you are going to stay right here at home it will pay you to buy at least one dress from this lot of about 25 pieces of very superior dress goods in fancy tweeds, diagonals, etc. These are a part of our excellent stock which we formerly sold at from 45c to 75c. Now you can have your choice at 30c. Our large west window shows a number of dress lengths complete for $1 80. You can see exactly the big inducement we are offering without coming in. But we have other patterns and colorings inside. In our east window are displayed a number of pieces of Cotton Ducks. Those who know the usual price of such goods, especially the kind we handle, will be surprised to see the price ticket at 12½c. But that is all we are asking. There is no mistake.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE SUSPENDS. Pending an Investigation of Its Affairs-Depositors Likely to be Paid in Full. Montreal, Que., July 15.-The Banque du Peuple, owing to recent difficulties, which have impaired confidence in the bank, has decided to suspend business, in accordance with the Banking Act, which allows a bank to suspend payment for 90 days, pending an investigation. Owing to the resignation of the cashier, Mr. Bosquet, confidence in the bank became impaired, and many of the best customers withdrew their bus-

The suspension of the bank is likely to be much felt, as it was one of the leading banking institutions in the Province. It has branches in Quebec, St. Roche, Three Rivers, St. Johns, St. Remi, St. Jerofe and St. Hyacinthe. The paid-up capital of the bank is $1,200,000, and reserve fund. $600,000. The depositors, it is expected, will be paid in full paid in full.

A GREAT RAFT.

However, we decided pany, states that the raft contained 12,000 telegraph poles, 25,000 ties and 50,000 posts.

A DANGEROUS PLIGHT. Victoria, B. C., July 16.-Fierce forest fires are raging at Telegraph Bay, four miles from here, and the destruc-tion of the Victoria powder works is threatened. In the magazine are stored 80,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, and the gravest fears are entertained that the fire will reach it. The local firemen fought it all Sunday night, being relieved in the morning by the employes of the works. The assistance of the firemen was asked again in the afternoon. The magazine is a wooden building, and it was feared one of the showers of sparks would set fire to it. It has been guarded constantly. Probably an attempt will be made to remove the powder on barges. If the magazine explodes it will do great damage here.

Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

CHICAGO. Chicago, Ill., July 15.—It was all due to some samples of wheat, and stories of great injury to spring wheat in North Dakota, that several of the big bear traders evinced nervousness and covered wheat during the last half hour of today's session. Corn—The support was weak and values declined very quickly during the first half hour, ruling lower than Saturday during the balance of the session. Nebraska sent in cheering reports on the crop prospects in that section. Oats—Trading was without particular incident. Such publications may find a field of usefulness, but their service to the news reader is not palpable. The partition between news and advertisements is very thin, and it has already been taken down in many places. The best advertisements nowadays have some news quality. How tame even the magazines would seem to most readers if they had no advertisements to give them timely, practical, human interest!-Philadelphia Record.

ELECTRIC NOTES. The iron poles for stringing the electric power wires on Dundas and Richmond streets have arrived, and were this morning distributed along those thoroughfares.

They will be erected immediately. The rails for the city line are expected by Aug. 15, and Manager Carr says that the cars will certainly be running by Fair time. Nearly all the poles on the Springbank line are in place and work has been commenced on Railroad street.

BURST A BLOOD VESSEL. Mr. Christopher Lewis, one of London's oldest and most esteemed colored citizens died very suddenly at his home on South street this morning. Mr. Lewis lived next door to his son in law, Mr. James Charles. The house is a double one and connected. Mr. Lewis was apparently in his usual health this morning and about 9 o'clock came out to the back stoop. Then he fell forward and began vomiting large quantities of blood, His daughter, hearing the noise, went to his assistance and a messenger was dispatched to Dr. Balfour, hospital superintendent. When the latter arrived the old man was dead. The cause of death is supposed to have been an internal rupture of a blood vessel. Deceased was born in Kentucky nearly 80 years ago and was a slave. He made his escape to Canada about 40 years ago and has lived in this city ever since. His wife preceded him by a number of years, but two daughters are yet alive-Mrs. James Charles, and another in the United States. Mr. Lewis was a Baptist and a member of the Talbot Street Baptist Church. TALK OF INJUNCTION. There was considerable talk around the City Hall this morning about an injunction which, it was alleged, was about to be issued to restrain the Barber Company from paving Dundas and Richmond streets. The name of Mr. George Hiscox was connected with the rumor, and he was asked by the "Advertiser" whether or not it was correct. Mr. Hiscox said he did not know just what he would do until he had consulted his solicitor. The representatives of the Godson Company, Toronto, and the Fruin & Rambric, Company, St. Louis, feel aggrieved because their tenders were not accepted. Mr. Godson, after the council meeting, used some strong language toward Ald. Wm. Heaman in the mayor's office. The aldermen felt that they could not take the risk of experimenting with unknown or untried companies, or companies whose work had not given satisfaction. It is not known just when the paving work will be begun, but it will be in the near future. THE ACCIDENT TO MR. GILLET.

The accident to Mr. Edwin Gillet, late of 521 Philip street, city, in the G. T. R. carshops, Brantford, will probably prove fatal. It occurred while he was oiling a machine, his sleeve being caught by two revolving cog wheels. The hand was drawn between the two wheels and crushed, and before the machine could be ungeared the whole of the left arm had passed between the two wheels and was tron to pieces from the tips of the fingers nearly to the shoulder. The heavy machine on which the accident occurred was covered with blood and pieces of flesh and bone, and there was little left of the arm to amputate, as the machine had taken off nearly all of it. The injured man went from London when the G. T. R. shops shut down here, and is 50 years old. He has a wife and eight children, who are yet living in London, and he has only recently recovered from a severe accident which happened to him while in London.

Rev. J. R. Adams' Unsuccessful Effort to Build Up His Church.

A Month and a Week on $20-Lack of Unanimity, Financial and Moral Support-Was Deceived in the Call.

The First Congregational Church is without a pastor. Dr. Wild preached his farewell sermon there on Sunday, and Rev. Mr. Adams has not officiated since June. In conversation with the "Advertiser" today Mr. Adams spoke very plainly concerning the church affairs. He said that he had put in the hardest year's work of his life, but, to use an expression of Dr. Wild's, he had found the church not "boomable."

"I came here from Chicago on a guaranteed salary of $1,000," said Adams. "The doctor was also to have $3,000. During last July and the first week of August I only got $20. Since then I have received on an average $10 a week, sometimes more and sometimes less. Dr. Wild received about $20 a week on the whole.

"The church is divided against itself, and a house divided against itself cannot stand. There was a lack of support financially and morally. By moral sup-port I mean attendance of members at the various church meetings.

"There exists a singular lack of unanimity. If one portion of the congregation has its way, the other portion would never think of falling in with it. "I was greatly deceived in my call. Had I known the condition of affairs I certainly should never have accepted Since coming here I have gone over the books, and I find that the church began to decline fifteen years ago. The floating debt is almost $12,000, including a $10,000 mortgage. I made a spirited appeal for the congregation to meet the half-yearly interest in June, and so did the doctor, but to no avail. "When I took charge I stemmed the tide of disruption for a time, but the membership made no advance, and with the lack of support, we thought the best thing to do was to quit." Mr. Adams will remain in town for a week or so. A supply has been arranged for the pulpit next Sunday.

CHEESE AT THE FAIRS.

Some Suggestions as to How to Display Dairy Products at the Exhibitions. (By J. W. Wheaton, secretary D. A.

W. O.) During September the fall fairs take place. At all these fairs especial inducements are given to the exhibitors of dairy products. The two leading exhibitions patronized by the Western Ontario Dairymen are the Industrial, Toronto, and the Western Fair, London. The Western Dairymen's Association and the Ontario Creameries' Association have made special grants towards prizes in the cheese and butter departments at both Toronto and London, thereby affording special inducements in the way or large prizes to exhibitors in these two classes. The distribution of prize money for dairy products at the Industrial Fair will be conducted in the same manner as last year, with the exception that the prizes for white cheese will be as large as those for colored. At the Western Fair a new method of distributing the prize money will be adopted in sections 1 and 2 of the cheese and butter classes. Instead of dividing the money into a number of stipulated prizes, such as first, second and third, the total money to be distributed in the section will be divided as follows: "The number of points scored by each exhibitor of cheese over 94 points and of butter over 96 points shall be added together and divided into the amount offered for prizes, and this product multiplied by the excess number of points in each case will give the amount of each prize." This is a new venture in awarding prizes for dairy products, and it is hoped that our cheese and butter makers will give it a fair trial this year. It has several advantages over the old method. Every exhibitor's cheese or butter that scores more than the quired number of points will get a share of the prize money, and the differences between the amounts of the prizes will not be out of keeping with the differences in the qualities of the various exhibits, as frequently happens by the old method. The distribution will be fairer than if arbitrary amounts were fixed for the different prizes, and more exhibitors are likely to receive

All goods placed upon exhibition should reflect the skill and intelligence of the exhibitor. Every cheese maker who exhibits should send such goods as are the direct outcome of his and of his knowledge of the principles of cheese making. To do this successfully some definite plan should be followed. Get the pat-

When the manufacturing process is completed, give particular attention to having the cheese pressed symmetrical in shape, without bandages pulled down or edges broken. Fair grounds. Some of the suggestion to cheese makers will apply to butter makers as well. As a rule, exhibits of butter from the regular creameries are usually well finished. The Secret Out.

It was the second morning of their new life in their new home that Dr. Cameron suprised his wife searching the columns of the morning paper with great eagerness. Her face wore an anxious look and her hands trembled ner-

"What is it?" he asked. "You seem to be looking for something especial, Genevieve.'

She at once dropped the paper. "Oh, no," was the nonchalant reply. "I was only whiling away a spare moment or two. Is it time for you to go It was, but he lingered a moment.

"I wish I understood you," he said. "Understood me?" *Fhere are moments when you seem miles away from me." "O. no! O. no."

"Not at this moment," he whispered, she had thrown her two arms about his neck, and hidden her face on his breast. "At no moment," she breathed. "You made him hyper-sensitive. "You would make any man think black is white," he cried. I am afraid I should have difficulty in persuading even this man that white is black," she laughed, touching her hair with her jeweled finger.

"I don't know," he murmured, "you have not tried." And so their parting was pleasant. Next morning she was first at the paper again, and this time she explained herself. "I do not see any notice of Dr. Molesworth's arrest. Should it not be in the

"Certainly, and I have been wonder-ing about it myself. They can give me no news of him at the hospital, and the case he spoke of has become mine; but there is no talk anywhere of his being in custody or even under the surveillance of the police. I think I will hunt him up at nis home.' "It would be kind of you," quoth

Genevieve. And thus it was that Dr. Cameron rang Mrs. Olney's beil one morning, and being ushered in asked for Dr. Molesworth. He was told he was not well, but saw a few patients and perhaps would see him; whereupon, Dr. Cameron sent in his name and waited with considerable curiosity for the

It came speedily and was to the effect that the doctor would be pleased if he would step to his office. Dr. Cameron at once complied, and upon entering that bare and unattractive spot, saw first the figure of his colleague stretched upon a long hair-cloth sofa, and next that of a small and insignificant-looking man, who with his face bent over a cheap novel which he held in his hand, seemed to take up a certain amount of space rather than add his personality to the scene."

"I am glad," began Dr. Molesworth, springing to his feet as the door closed behind the servant, "for an opportunity to ask you how our patient is getting on.'

"Well," returned the other; "considering that the nurse shakes her head over every drop of medicine she gives

"You will have that nurse removed; the case must not suffer from any such nonsense as that.' Dr. Cameron nodded, and looked curjously at his compainon.

"You are ill, they say."
A grim smile disturbed the corners of the other's lips for a moment.

'I have a nurse, you see." Dr. Cameron cast a glance at the silent figure of the man in the corner. "I understand," his intelligent look seemed to say. Then with quiet solicitude. "And how soon do you think you will be better?"

Dr. Molesworth shook his head. "As I have not yet made a satisfactory diagnosis of my case, I will not venture a prophecy. "Do you want a prescription?" "No."

"Do you want anything 7"1 "Not from you."

It was gently said. Dr. Cameron looked at the speaker with renewed in-

The light in the visitor's eves was unmistakable.

"You have said it," he assented. Dr. Molesworth's lips parted with a smile, that touched the other strangely. "I congratulate you," said he, and softly closed the door between them.

CHAPTER XIII.

Dr. Cameron met his wife at a restaurant that afternoon and they went home together. He had told her of his interview with Molesworth, and she had uttered a polite word or two of thanks, but her interest was evidently less than in the morning and he did not stive to increase it. Her gayety was to agreeable for him to mar it. He basky in her smiles and lent himself unreservedly to the pleasure of the moment. At the door of their own house they looked at each other and "It is pleasant to get home," he cried. "It is heaven," she faintly mur-

The house was not large, but it was exquisitely furnished. As they entered an atmosphere of ease and luxury enveloped them, making it hard for them to part at the foot of the stairs. "Come up," entreated Genevieve.
And he went, excusing himself for this open disregard of certain duties awaiting him by the plea that there was so much to talk about when people were settling themselves in a new

And so it happened that he was standing by her boudoir fire when Genevieve entered her dressing-room to take off her hat; and the two rooms cry of astonishment she uttered as she beheld lying out before her on the bed her whole assortment of dresses.
"What is it?" he asked hurrying to her side. "O nothing, I suppose. I was surprised at this display of silk and velvet, and I can't imagine now what it means." "We will soon find out," he rejoined, and turned to ring the bell. But at this instant the young girl whom they had temporarily engaged for upstair work came into the room wearing an anxious and somewhat troubled expression. "Did you call, ma'am?" she asked, watching with concern how her new mistress' eye fell on her outspread

"No. but I should have done so in a moment. Why are these things lying here? I left them carefully hung up in closets or laid away on shelves. Who has presumed in my absence to take them down?" "I am sure, ma'am," began the girl, tremblingly, "I thought you ordered it. The young woman seemed very sure of herself and told me just what dress you wanted fixed, only I couldn't "Young woman? What young woman?" "Why, the one from the dressmaker's, ma'am. She told me you had sent for her; that one of your dresses, a blue silk, she said, was too long in the skirt, and that she had come to fix it. She had her needle and thread with her, ma'am, and looked very respectable. But I couldn't find the blue silk, and she went away."

"I sent for no girl from any dressmaker, and you did very wrong to touch my dresses without my express order. It is lucky she did not walk away with one.

"O, ma'am," the girl exclaimed, "she was very respectable, and said there must be some mistake. You can see her, ma'am, if you wish, she will tell you it is as I say."

Mrs. Cameron's lips opened, but her husband's voice forestalled her. "She left her name, then, and told you the place where she works?" "No, sir; but she came from the dressmaker who made the dresses. Mrs. Cameron will know-

Failure and Success. It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless importan elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way, people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. MR. CLEVELAND'S MARRIED LIFE A Letter in Which He Says It Has Been

"One Grand, Sweet Song." Atlanta, Ga., July 15 .- A letter from President Cleveland, in which he speaks of his married life as "one grand, sweet song," has been brought to light by the news of the recent domestic event at Gray Gables. In December, 1890, Col. John Temple Graves, the southern orator, was sending out invitations to his wedding to Miss Annie Cothran, of Rome, Ga. sent one to his personal friends, the ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland, who were then residing on Madison avenue, New York. Acknowledging the receipt of the invitation, Mr. Cleveland wrote:

"My Dear Mr. Graves,-We received the card of invitation to your wedding a day or two ago, and I am glad that your letter, received only a few hours ago, justifies me, on behalf of my dear wife and myself, to do more than formally notice the occasion.

"And, first of all, let me assure you how much we appreciate the kind and touching sentiment you convey to us in our married state. As I look back upon the years that have passed since God, in his infinite goodness, bestowed upon me the best of all his gifts-a loving and affectionate wife-all else, honor, the opportunity of usefulness, and the esteem of my fellow-countrymen, is subordinated in every aspiration of gratitude and thankfulness.

"You are not wrong, therefore, when you claim, in the atmosphere of fastcoming bliss which now surrounds you, kinship with one who can testify with unreserved tenderness to the sanctification which comes to a man when heaven-directed love leads the way to marriage.

"Since this tenderer theme has made us kinsmen, let me wish for you and the dear one who is to make your life doubly dear to you all the joy and happiness vouchsafed to man. "You will. I know, feel that our kind wishes can reach no greater sincerity and force than when my wife joins in the fervent desire that you and your bride may enter upon and enjoy the same felicity which has made our married life 'one grand, sweet song.' Truly your friend,

HER SEARCH. Although much is said of the impertinence of clerks in drygoods stores, there are many models of long-suffering politeness among them; and was one of this large class to whose lips rose a rejoinder which even his diplomatic employer counted as excusable, if nothing better. Whenever a special sale of any line of goods was announced from the store in question, there invariably appeared on the next morning a woman who insisted upon being shown every article on the shelves, but had never been known to purchase anything. The store was not a large one, and It had fallen to the lot of one clerk in particular to wait upon this woman again and again.

At last there came a day when a sale of blankets was announced. Early the next morning the woman appeared, and for nearly half an hour the patient clerk displayed blankets until they were heaped high before him. At last he announced that there were no more. "Very well," said the woman, indifferently, taking up her hand-bag. "I was just looking for a friend." "Madam," said the clerk, in a tone of perfect respect, "if you think there is any chance that your friend is among these blankets, I will go through them

We have had our usual quota of fires lately. On Tuesday forenoon the residence of Mr. W. Newton, Ellor street, was discovered on fire. The building being frame and situated at the limits of the corporation, it was pretty well burned down before the firemen reached it. The occupants were away from home, attending the funeral of Mr. Newon's mother. The origin of the fire is not known. The house and contents were partialy insured. On Monday afternoon fire broke out in the residence of Mrs. Eury, Fourth line. The family were absent at the time, and but little was saved. No alarm was given, as it was outside the fire limits.

A number of our leading citizens are camping on Walpole Island. We expect the usual stretchers in regard to the fish they have caught. Failing the fish, their best catch will be malaria. Death has claimed three of our oldest and most respected citizens within the past week. Mrs. (Dr.) Bettridge, after a lingering illness of over two years, passed away last Sabbath. A resident of the town for 35 years, wife of one of our oldest practitioners, she will be missed by a large circle of sorrowing friends. Mrs. Thomas Fawcett died at the residence of her son on Saturday morning in the 78th year of her age. Mrs. John Newton, after a short illness, died on Saturday morning, in the 61st year of her age. Reeve Owens has resigned his position in the council. Deputy Reeve Gillies intends contesting for the seat, and Councilors Shields and Avery are considered probable candidates for the deputy reeveship, while ex-Councilors Robertson and Hawley are spoken of as contestants for the vacant councilorships Notwithstanding the extreme dry weather, it is astonishing how well the spring and root crops are looking The pastures are in a deplorable condition, and rain is needed very bad'y. Mr. J. S. Hodgins, one of your respected Front street grocers, intends leaving shortly for Toledo, O., to enter into business there. Dr. Swann, dentist, also removes to Toronto, to enter into an extensive practice now carried on by his uncle.

BURNED TO DEATH. The house of J. W. Reid, an Ailsa Craig tailor, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night last, and Mr. Reid's charred remains were found in the ruins. Coroner Dr. Anderson notified Crown Attorney Magee, and an inquest was ordered. It is believed that Reid had been on a spree.

DISMISSED. The Board of Education held a special meeting last evening to consider a special report from No. 1 committee, recommending "That notice be given the drill instructor at the Collegiate Institute (Mr. George Baxter) that his services are no longer required." At a recent meeting of the board a report from Principal Merchant was read, stating that the discipline in the drill room was unsatisfactory, and that a change of instructors was considered necessary. Mr. Baxter was asked to hand in his resignation within ten days, but declined to do so as no complaint had been made that his services were unsatisfactory. He appeared before the board and maintained that his work had been good, and that it was ridiculous to think that a person of his reputation as a drill instructor could not maintain order in a class of boys. Mr. Merchant stated that he had no animosity towards Mr. Baxter. The drill department, if managed properly, should add to the general discipline of a school. This, however, was not the case at the Collegiate Institute. In Mr. Baxter's three years' service, instead of the drill adding to the discipline it was a disturbing factor. He (Mr. Merchant) had backed up Mr. Baxter at every opportunity and suspended pupils at his suggestion, and in regard to his not having made complaint, he would never do so unless authorized by a committee. Trustee Griffin opposed the dismissal of Mr. Baxter, on the ground that he had never been given notice that his services were not acceptable, and he moved that a further trial of six months be given. This was defeated on the following division: Yeas -Trustees Griffin, Sanders and Johnston-3. Nays-Trustees Blackwell, Dr. Campbell, Anderson, Greenlees, Buchner, Murphy, Jeffrey, Craig, Martyn

Robert Routledge, aged 76 years, London township, related the particulars of the trolley accident in London West before Coroner Flock and a jury last night, and exonerated the street railway company and employes from any responsibility in causing the death of Dr. Boyd. Mr. Routledge is the man who was driving on the Wharncliffe with Dr. Boyd on July 3, when the rig was struck and both occupants were dumped out, the doctor receiving a fatal fracture of the skull and Routledge receiving injuries from which he is slowly recovering. He said he was driving north, and the first he heard was the whizz of the car coming, as he

on Charles street. He claimed that his hearing and eyesight were good, but he would not swear that the gong was not rung. His impression, judging from the force with which the rig was struck, was that the brakes had not been applied. The jury's verdict was that no blame was attachable to the company or employes. It recommended that printed instructions be placed in the car for the guidance of motormen and conductors, and that the gong be rung at all street crossings. EDWARD BOWERS' CASE.

Edward Bowers' solicitors have been notified by the Secretary of State that the Governor-General has been pleased to commute four years of the sentence passed upon Bowers for manslaughter. Both the petit jury and grand jury that tried the case petitioned the Gov-ernor-General to release Bowers, as also did above 2,000 of the most influential citizens in the county. The circumstances of the death of Wm. Cain are fresh in the minds of "Advertiser" readers. Bowers had incurred the ill-will of the people in the notorl-ous Donnelly neighborhood by buying a farm at a mortgage sale. His life was repeatedly threatened, and when a number of persons collected in front of his house one dark night and began whispering about in coteries, Bowers became so terrified for his family that he rushed to the door and fired a revolver to warn them that he was armed. The bullet struck the under side of a limb, glanced down and struck Wm. Cain, who died from the wound. Bowers was tried and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. The feeling in the city and county throughout has been that Bowers was much more sinned against than sinning, and the action of the Minister of Justice will doubtless be heartily indorsed by almost the whole community. Especially so, as the wife of the unfortunate man became unbalanced in her mind before the trial, and has remained so till now, and there are four small children. The effect of the order will be that Bowers will be released about the middle of August.
