TWO MEN TERRIBLY INJURED IN RAILWAY WRECK
WALTER C. BARNETT, HORTON ST., LOSES BOTH LEGS

"Colonel" Feely, Walkerville, Formerly of London, Badly Crushed.

TAIL-END COLLISION ON P. M. AND G. T. R.

G. T. R. Caboose Was Shunted Foul of P. M. Main Line —Accident at Waterloo Street.

THE INJURED.

Walter C. Barnett, London, both legs cut off, and crushed. Condition very critical.

F. Feely, Walkerville (known as Colonel), internal injuries, serious, but may recover.

As a result of a Grand Trunk caboose running foul of the Pere Marquette track near Waterloo street last night about 10:40, colliding with the Pere Marquette train from Walkerville, which was backing east from the G. T. R. depot, Walter C. Barnett, butcher, of 504 Horton street, had both legs cut off, and Baggagemen F. Feely, of Walkerville, suffered serious internal injuries. Both were removed to Victoria Hospital.

Barnett's physician says he has a chance for recovery.

How It Occurred.

Pere Marquette train No. 4 from Walkerville had arrived shortly after 10 o'clock in the city, and had discharged its load of passengers. It was in charge of Conductor Seigneur, Engineer George Guff, and Brakeman Walter G. Cole, Walkerville.

Orders were given the train to back down to the Pere Marquette sidings east of Waterloo street.

Brakeman Cole was assigned to the rear platform to blow a whistle to warn trainmen of the approach of his train.

Barnett stood on the steps to the left of Cole on the north side, and Baggageman Feely was standing on the steps at his right, on the south.

In the meantime yard engine No. 48, in charge of Engineer A. Bowles, Foreman J. McClarty and Brakeman A. Hall, was shunting in the Grand Trunk yards near Waterloo street.

The men were taking some cars out of the siding north of the London and Port Stanley yards, to attach them to freight train No. 418, due to go east.

Caboose Ran Foul.

The impact started some cabooses standing on the same siding, and they started towards the Pere Marquette main line.

At the moment the Pere Marquette train reached the switch leading to the company's yards, the runaway caboose side swiped it.

None of the men knew that it was so close, and before they could get out of the way the collision occurred.

Barnett was pinned between the caboose and the passenger train and terribly mangled.

Feely was crushed by the iron and timber of the car, especially about the chest and shoulders, and hurled 20 feet or more to the right side.

Cole was in the centre, blowing the whistle, and he was thrown backward into the door of the passenger coach.

The Work of Rescue.

He was not injured, save a few scratches, and immediately set to work to assist his comrades.

Feely was found lying on the tracks in a semi-conscious condition, and was rushed off to Victoria Hospital. He was bruised badly about the chest and abdomen.

Barnett was pinned in the wreckage, and Car Foreman Flynn, Foreman McClarty and others worked like heroes to release him.

When he was got out one leg was severed below the knee, and the other was fearfully crushed between the ankle and the knee, part of his leg being torn off and left in the wreck.

He was very weak from the loss of blood and the shock.

He received the full force of the impact, being caught between the steps of the passenger car and the caboose.

Shortly after Barnett was removed from the wreck his severed limb was found amid the wreckage, a grewsome relic of the tragedy.

Dr. W. J. Stevenson was called and ministered to the injured man.

The passenger coach was thrown over on its side, and the caboose was badly smashed.

Fire Department Called.

After the collision the fire department were summoned to the wreck as it was feared that the wreckage would take fire.

As a matter of fact, the coach did catch fire from the lamp at the rear, but it was extinguished by a pail of water.

The brigade was not needed and returned to the fire halls. The wrecking crew arrived within half an hour after the smash and began at once to clear the track. The passenger coach was hurled from its trucks and the east end lay imbedded in the sand. The steps were torn off, and the rear portion caved in.

The rails were torn up for a considerable distance.

The caboose was smashed badly. It did not leave the track, however.

Moving Slowly.

According to eye-witnesses both trains were going slowly when the pitch-in occurred.

The Pere Marquette was backing cautiously, feeling its way among the tracks, and Brakeman Cole was blowing his whistle constantly to warn the trainmen and others.

The caboose, too, was moving slowly after it had been started by the yard engine, and not until it was too

Wife Had a Premonition.

Walter C. Barnett resides at 504 Horton street, and is a butcher, employed by his brother, Mr. F. Barnett, Dundas street east. He was down town, and as was his custom when out that late, he took the Pere Marquette train, intending to ride as far as Colborne street, where he purposed getting off and walking home. He was accustomed to do this, and was warned frequently by his wife that he would ride once too often.

Mrs. Barnett had a premonition that something was going to happen.

"Walter did not leave home until 8 o'clock," said Mrs. Barnett, "I did not want him to go, at all, as I felt strange. I thought something was going to happen, and when they told me there was an accident on the Pere Marquette, I thought he was hurt."

Barnett has one child, a little girl about 3 years of age.

F. Feely, or "Colonel" Feely, as he is commonly called, is a well-known former Londoner. He was employed at one time with the Grand Trunk here, but left about ten years ago to work on the L. E. and D. R. R., removing with his mother to Walkerville.

Since that time he has been regularly employed on that road. He is very prominent in Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen circles, and has always taken a deep interest in their affairs. At the present time he is head of the grievance committee. He is popular among trainmen in this city and along the line.

300 WOMEN AND CHILDREN PERISH IN SHIP COLLISION

Excursion Steamers Bound for Great Festival Come Together in the Harbor of Montveideo, Causing Awful Loss of Life.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 24.—A collision today between two excursion steamers at the entrance of Montevideo harbor resulted in the drowning of from 150 to 300 persons, mostly women and children.

The vessels were the Argentine steamer Colombia, carrying passengers from Buenos Ayres to the festival at Montevideo, and a German steamer also engaged in the local passenger service.

The latter went down so quickly that all attempts at rescue were practically hopeless. It is said that the captain of the German steamer, and a few of the passengers were saved. The captain had to be restrained from committing suicide.

G. T. R. MAN WAS HURT AT KOMOKA YESTERDAY

Accident to Mr. N. L. Wickman, of 247 Hamilton Road.

N. L. Wickham, of 247 Hamilton road, a G. T. R. employee, was quite seriously hurt at Komoka yesterday. He was riding on the pilot of a G. T. R. engine at the gravel pits at that place, when the engine bumped heavily into a string of cars, injuring Wickham internally. He was immediately brought to the city and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was discovered that his injuries were confined to the stomach. While painful, these are not thought to be of a dangerous nature. Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson is attending him.

MACHINERY CONTRACTS ARE PRACTICALLY CLOSED

Tenders for Other Supplies for Water Plant Will Be Dealt With Shortly, Says the Engineer.

Tenders are now being received for the power plant, pumping plant and reservoir, by Mr. H. J. Glaubitz, engineer for the artesian wells scheme.

The contracts will be awarded tomorrow, and the work commenced as soon as it is possible to get it commenced.

"We have the tenders coming in, and we will award the contracts right away," said Mr. Glaubitz. "We will place some of them tomorrow. We have practically closed our contracts for pumping machinery also."

MODERN HOUSEWIVES LUCRETIA BORGIAS

Hand Out Poison From Ice-Box Broiler and Skillet, Says a Noted Chemist.

Denver, Aug. 24. — Modern housewives are veritable Lucretia Borgias, declared Dr. Harvey M. Wiley, head of the United States chemistry bureau, who is here to attend the national convention of pure food and dairy commissioners.

"The modern Lucretia," he said, "hands out poison from the ice-box, from the broiler and the skillet, and the little tins of the dinner she buys when breathlessly rushing home after her exciting bridge games at the club.

"It is the duty of every housewife to inform herself on the laws of hygiene. The average ice-box is a charnel-house, which not only holds death, but spreads it. And, too, many housekeepers allow disorder and uncleanliness to prevail in their kitchen and larders, through ignorance or indifference.

"They would rather pick out a Beethoven sonata, read an Ibsen play or memorize a bridge rule, than trace a ptomaine to its lair, and eradicate it, in the interest of family safety."

BULLET PASSED THROUGH HAND

Son of Sergeant-Major Erskine Suffers Severe Injury While Playing With Revolver.

BOY'S NARROW ESCAPE

Wound Is in Fleshy Part of Member, No Bones Being Struck by the Bullet in Its Passage.

While playing with a revolver on the roof of a neighbor's house, Rawdon Erskine, of 804 Maitland street, son of Sergt.-Major Erskine, of the Seventh Regiment, narrowly escaped death, when he pulled the trigger, the bullet going through the palm of his left hand.

Luckily the lead did not strike a bone or artery, and young Erskine is not suffering from any serious injury.

Dr. Kingsmill dressed the injury.

The neighbor's son, Erskine's chum, borrowed the revolver yesterday, and the pair went out on to the roof this morning to examine it.

In some manner the boy pulled the trigger, the bullet going through the palm of his hand.

The wound inflicted was a clean one.

WATERWORKS RECEIPTS ARE VERY SATISFACTORY

Despite Increased Cost of Pumping There Will Be a Surplus for City Council.

The waterworks receipts will be fully as great as last year.

The department has been under more expense than ordinarily, owing to the fact that the expenditures have been higher this year than ever before because of the pumping of the artesian wells.

Although lawn services have been in use all summer practically, the city has received nothing from them.

On the other hand the city had to pump a million gallons of water extra without obtaining any remuneration except from the increase in the number of services throughout the city.

This increase, it is expected, will overbalance any extra expense, however, leaving the city as large a balance as last year—which was one of the most satisfactory in the history of the department.

That means that the city will have as much money as last year to apply to the civic business, and not a decrease owing to the extra expenditure incurred in giving the people another million gallons of water.

POSTPONED HIS RETURN

Premier Will Not Return to Ottawa Until End of Week.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 24. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was expected in Ottawa today, has postponed his return, and will not arrive until later in the week.

MR. WALTER C. BARNETT,
Who Was Terribly Injured in the Accident at Waterloo Street Last Evening.

W. P. IRVING IS LEAVING LONDON

To Take Management of Bradstreets Office in Vancouver, B. C.

VERY POPULAR IN LONDON

A Lover of Clean Sports and a First-Class Businessman—A Well Known Referee.

Mr. W. P. Irving, local manager of Bradstreet's, has been transferred to Vancouver, where he will have charge of the branch of Bradstreet's in that city.

He will leave in a few days for the west.

Mr. Irving, who is a son of Mr. W. Irving, general manager of Bradstreet's for Canada, came to London two years ago to succeeed Mr. L. J. Walker, who was promoted to the Toronto branch.

Is Very Popular.

Since coming to London he has been very popular.

Personally of a genial nature he made many friends, who will regret exceedingly to see him leave the city.

He took great interest in athletics in the city, and last winter was president of the London Hockey Club.

As a referee his services were much in demand, and he was known far and wide for his straightforwardness and honesty.

Mr. Irving is a good businessman, and a very fine fellow, and his removal will be regretted by a wide circle of friends

His successor has not yet been named.

ENGINEER GRAYDON AND EDWARD STREET SEWER

Says the City's Sewer Is Not Responsible for Trouble on That Street.

The city engineer's department have done nothing so far regarding the complaints about the Edward street sewer.

"I have received no complaints regarding the sewer," said Mr. Graydon. "I cannot see how it is that there should be trouble, as the sewer is a trunk sewer. There are only a few houses attached to it, so I cannot for the life of me understand how it is that there should be so much trouble as we read about. I have done nothing, and if there is trouble of any sort, the difficulty must be some place other than the city's sewer."

At the present time, the department is busily engaged looking into the complaint of Mr. H. Gramlich regarding the Emery street sewer.

"I have always contended that the trouble complained of there was not due to the city sewer, but to the side drain," said Mr. Graydon. "Our investigation so far leads me to believe that the trouble does exist in the side drain. Our sewer is all right, but the side drain is crooked, and there are some open joints, so I fancy the trouble lies there. We will know exactly what is wrong in a day or two.

"The city's sewer system is getting to be in pretty good shape, and any complaints received are only minor."

TEMPORARY TRUCE AT M'KEES ROCKS

Rioters and State Arrange for Burial of Their Dead.

MARTIAL LAW PREVAILS

Troopers Strengthened and Recurrence of Hostilities Almost Impossible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 24. — The second day of the reign of martial law in McKees Rocks, the scene of Sunday night's turbulent disorders, in and about the plant of the Pressed Steel Car Company, augured well for a temporary truce of hostilities.

The arrival of additional state police under command of Capt. Robertson, of the Wilkesbarre barracks, early today, evidently had a quieting effect upon the foreign strikers and their sympathizers. From now on mounted troopers and deputy sheriffs will patrol Schoenville and the car plant day and night, rendering well-nigh impossible a recurrence of Sunday night's disturbance.

The arrest of suspicious persons will continue today, according to a statement made by Capt. Marsh. An additional box-car jail was prepared before dawn, as the two now in use are overcrowded with 82 prisoners.

Rioters' Funeral.

The funerals of the rioters will be held in the Greek Catholic Church at McKees Rocks today. Deputy sheriffs will be present in the church and graveyards. The bodies of Troopers John Smith and John L. Williams were hours of Sunday night are beginning to the former to Centralia, Pa., and the latter to Pueblo, Col. The caskets were heaped with wreaths and floral tributes, remembrances from the state and county authorities, as well as from the comrades of the dead troopers. The burial of Deputy Sheriff Harry Exley also was held early yesterday. Sheriff Gumbert, for the County of Allegheny, remembered his brave deputy with a huge wreath.

Sheriff Gumbert has announced that he has received a letter from the president of the Pittsburg Railway Company, requesting protection for passengers and cars passing through the McKees Rocks strike zone. The sheriff said that certain lines entering Schoenville will discontinue service temporarily today until order is restored.

Graphic sidelights of the riotous shipped to their homes early today, pierce the veil of gloom that has surrounded McKees Rocks for the past 48 hours.

Loopholed and barricaded, Green's hotel resembled a blockhouse during the fatal riots. A number of the Hudson River workmen employed in the car works board in the hotel, and James Green, the proprietor, received word that his place would be dynamited on Sunday night unless these men were evicted.

Hastily calling a consultation with his guests Green decided that with their help he could defend the place, a dozen of the men staying in the hotel arming themselves with revolvers and shotguns, and stood off the strikers, when two raids were made on the building. The arrival of the state police on the scene prevented the mob's scheme.

COMMISSION A SUCCESS IN DES MOINES, IOWA

Mayor Stevely Is Giving Much Thought to Municipal Government These Days.

Mayor Stevely has received a copy of Sunday's Chicago Inter-Ocean, containing an account of the working of the commission method of civic government in Des Moines, Iowa.

The article is a lengthy one and contains a vast amount of information on the subject.

One of the most important statements made is that Des Moines has received more value for every dollar spent by the city than ever before in its history.

The unqualified statement of the writer is that the commission has been a great success.

"The article is a very interesting one," said the mayor. "It proves conclusively that the commission is a success in the city of Des Moines. There seems to be no room for argument on that score.

"When I have more carefully read the article, I may have something further to say on it."

LOCAL CARRIAGE MEN WILL ENTER THE PROPOSED GIANT MERGER

Which Is Designed to Take in All the Big Manufacturers in the Dominion—Londoners Interviewed Give Their Opinions of the Big Scheme About To Be Launched.

The proposed carriage merger will not affect London firms so far as can be learned.

For some time the proposition to amalgamate all the carriage manufacturing firms in Canada has been under way.

There has been a considerable overproduction of goods in the factories, and as a result a large amount of stock has had to be sold at a low figure, so low as a matter of fact, that carriage men claim they have been making little or no money.

A Giant Combine.

As a result they have decided to come together, to form a merger with a capitalization of $2,000,000.

The deal has not been consummated, but is at the present time being considered by carriage men.

London manufacturers have not been consulted, as yet, but they know of the merger, and it is probable that some of them may subsequently join in the merger and take stock in the concern.

"I have known of the proposed merger for some time," said one manufacturer. "It has been discussed for a long time, and will probably go through. Large manufacturers throughout the Dominion say that they have not been making money during the past two years, and have organized to raise the price of goods in order to make a reasonable profit on their output. So far it has not affected local manufacturers. So far as I know they have not been consulted, but probably will consider it later on. It does not make much difference to me, as most of my business is funeral cars and the like."

A Good Proposition.

"The merger seems like a good proposition," said Mr. W. J. Thompson. "For some time past we have made little or no money out of buggies, and the manufacturers, I understand, are getting together. In spite of the fact that material and labor have doubled during the past five or ten years, buggies are $25 to $30 cheaper now. I am not in a position to state my position yet, but it is merely a means of protecting ourselves, and assisting us in making a fair margin on our goods."

The Campbell Manufacturing Company is in practically the same position, and it is likely that they, too, will enter the merger when the details of it are worked out.

Local Agencies.

Among the companies included in the merger are the McLaughlin Company, of Oshawa, who have a local agency here; the Tudhope Company, of Orillia; the Gray Company of Chatham, who also have a local agency here; the Brockville Company, and some others of minor importance.

MR. W. P. IRVING,
Local Manager of Bradstreet's, Who Is Leaving London to Take the Management of the Office at Vancouver, B. C.

CEMENT MERGER MAY AFFECT SIDEWALKS

Combine Will Result in Curtailment of Product and an Increase of Prices.

The cement merger recently consummated may result in an increase in the cost of cement curbs and gutters.

Last year, according to figures, there were two million barrels of cement produced more than used, and as a result a large number of firms were put practically out of business.

The merger will result in a reduction in the product of the factories and an increase in the price.

At the present time the city has been getting cement walks at 9 cents a square foot, and it is predicted that the price will be 10 cents next year.

UNIMPORTANT GRIST AT LOCAL POLICE COURT

Quite a Number of Cases, But No Heavy Work for P. M. Love.

There was a comparatively small budget at the police court this morning.

Earl Harrison, for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, was fined $1 or three days. The dollar was forthcoming.

A Greek vendor who rejoices in the euphonious name of Japrisus Gsperius, appeared to answer to the charge of obstructing the streets with his cart. After administering a caution as to what would be the result of a repetition of the offence, which made Japrisus' eyes bulge out like saucers, he was discharged.

Eight persons whom summons to appear at the police court had filed with a noble ambition to pay their dog tax, were permitted so to do, their cases being then discharged.

William Archer, who had imbibed too freely, was permitted to go, as it was his first offence.

Walter Colby, charged with being insane, appeared and was examined, but as the examination did not justify his confinement, he was discharged.

A Civic Booklet.

Mayor Stevely has received a booklet of the city of Fredericton, New Brunswick, somewhat after the fashion of the one recently issued by the city of London. It is somewhat more elaborate than the local souvenir, and is a very handsome volume. The book was sent with the compliments of City Clerk McCredie, of Fredericton.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY WOULD IMPEDE STAGES

Very Many Applications for Missouri Boxes and Trouble Is Brewing.

The proposal to institute rural mail delivery in East Nissouri is likely to meet with some opposition.

It was at first intended that the mail should be delivered by the stage, as is now done. But the fact that there are over 50 applications for boxes already, with the list continually growing, would make this almost an impossibility. The passengers would not be willing to submit to the very frequent stoppages, both to deliver and collect the mail, which would make the journey very slow, indeed. The matter has now come to the pass where the residents of this locality will have to decide between rural delivery and the stage. The stage proprietor route claims that he will not run the stage if this innovation is instituted. Of course, a special delivery could be arranged for, but this would take away the mail revenue from the stage and render it practically a worthless proposition, so in either case there will likely be difficulty, and it remains to be seen which convenience the residents of the district desire the most.

FIRE KING AGAIN VISITS WORTLEY ROAD HOME

Blaze Last Night Did $800 Damage to Residence of Mr. John Sifton.

Fire did from $700 to $800 damage to the residence of Mr. John Sifton, of 13½ Wortley road, last night, about 9 o'clock.

The fire brigade soon had the fire under control. The house was damaged considerably, and the furniture suffered considerable loss from smoke and water.

Mr. Sifton had his hands burned painfully trying to take out some of the furniture.

It started from a spark from a passing engine. This is the second blaze within three years at this residence.

COL. HODGINS TAKES CHARGE ON WEDNESDAY

Will Enter on His Duties as D. O. C. at London Tomorrow.

Col. Hodgins, the new officer in charge of No. 1 district, will enter on his new duties tomorrow. Brigadier-General Cotton, commanding the forces in Western Ontario, is in the city today arranging the transfer of the different papers and documents connected with the work of the district. The change is due to the retirement of the officer in command at Victoria, B. C., who has reached the service age limit and is therefore retired. Col. Peters was ordered to take charge of that depot, and Col. Hodgins, who has been in charge of No. 4 district, with headquarters at Ottawa, comes to fill the vacancy here. There is no other significance in the change. It is quite possible that there will be a number of changes in the administration of the district, but that is merely a matter of personal opinions of the officer in charge, and at present there is no intimation of any such changes.

Grocers' Annual Picnic.

The retail grocers expect to have a big crowd at Springbank for tomorrow's half holiday. A programme has been prepared which contains enough sports to keep the interest up all afternoon. It is the last half holiday of the season. Splendid accommodation by the street railway has been arranged.

RECORD FLIGHT FOR GLEN CURTISS

The American Aviator Eclipses Bleriot at Rheims Races.

LOWERS SPEED RECORD

Goes Six and One-Fifth Miles in Little Over Eight Minutes.

Rheims, Aug. 23.—Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, and M. Paulham, representing France, divided honors of the second day of aviation week, the former with a thrilling flight just before dusk, in which he lowered the speed record for the course, which measures 6 1-5 miles, to 8 minutes 35 2-5 seconds, the latter making two impressive high altitude flights of 49½ and 56 kilometres, respectively, in the endurance test for the Prix De La Champagne.

Curtiss' performance began just as the time limit for the start of the Prix De La Champagne was expiring, when the American enthusiasts had abandoned the hope of seeing their representative take the field. Amid unbounded jubilation of the French spectators, Bleriot only a few minutes before had clipped 16 seconds off Lefebvre's record, made yesterday with his powerful 80-horsepower aeroplane. Suddenly at one end of the field a cry went up: "The American is starting." All eyes were strained to that particular point, where the president of the Aero Club of America, and a crowd of other admirers surrounded Curtiss.

With a preliminary run along the ground of 100 yards, the machine rose lightly and shot by the tribunes at a height of 60 feet. It was going at a terrific pace. Curtiss made the last turn under the mistaken impression that the finish line was closer. He descended so close to earth that many thought he touched, but, perceiving his error, he mounted quickly and easily, crossing the line majestically. An instant later the signal was hoisted that he had made a record.

Curtiss said that he had not pushed his machine to the limit of its speed and laughingly declined to say more, adding that the most interesting incident of his flight was the view he got of his fallen rivals strewn around the course.

It is the intention of the American aviator to wait patiently the international event for the Gordon Bennett cup on Saturday, for which he is again the favorite, after which he will try for the Prix De La Vitesse, the final of which will be contested on Sunday.

The Endurance Test.

Paulham alone made a record in the endurance test today, but Lefebvre, Sommer, Sanchis-Pesa, Bleriot, De La Grange, Lambert, Cockburn, Bunan-Varilla, Gobron, Latham, Tissandier and Farman qualified with flights varying from 200 meters to 25 kilometers, the majority contenting themselves with covering sufficient distance to get within the limit. During Paulham's long flight, chance races took place between him and Bleriot and Lefebvre, the two latter outspeeding the high flying of Paulham. Belriot appeared while Paulman was completing his fourth round, and with his 80-horsepower monoplane swiftly overbauled and passed under the biplane, leaving it far behind.

Two monoplanes have been put out of commission by a slight accident in landing. Latham succeeded in making his best flight with an untried machine with an aluminum propeller. Until Saturday, when the international event will be decided, the flying is likely to be less interesting than during the first two days, but popular, as well as scientific and expert enthusiasm over aviation week, shows no sign of abatement. The policing of the course by French soldiers and mounted dragoons is the subject of general satisfaction. Squadrons of dragoons inside the field are often compelled to escape on the gallop from some low-flying machine.

Among the hundreds of Americans here are Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, jun., Mr., and Mrs. Nat Goodwin, Wm. H. Crane and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Killitridge, of Cleveland.

THE GLACE BAY STRIKE

Believed That It Will Be Ended Within a Few Weeks.

Glace Bay, N. S., Aug. 23. — The seventh week of the strike ended today with the situation apparently unchanged. Rumors there are of plenty of peace negotiations, and those who profess to know what is going on inside say that matters are progressing favorably and that the strike will end inside of two weeks.

President James Ross, of the Coal Company, however, still declares that there are no negotiations in progress and that the company will not yield one iota.

PORTRAIT OF PREMIER.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—During his vacation which he is passing at Arthabaska, Sir Wilfrid Laurier is posing for a portrait which it is said by those who have seen the rough draft, will realize the wish of the artist, Mr. Suzor Cote, that it be his masterpiece. Mr. Cote has but recently completed two large panels, one a portrait of Champlain, the other depicting the arrival of the latter at Quebec. The artist, as is well known, is an Arthabaska boy, and an old protege of Sir Wilfrid's.

DROWNED IN ST. LAWRENCE.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—The eldest son of W. W. Shipman, proprietor of Ivy Leaf Hotel, was drowned in the St. Lawrence River on Sunday afternoon.

MOORS ATTACK CONVOY.

Melilla, Aug. 23.—A Spanish convoy was attacked by the Moors today at a point near Sidimusa. After severe fighting, in which seven Spaniards were wounded, the convoy was extricated from its position.

The Moors are receiving reinforcements in large numbers.

CANADIANS LOYAL TO THE FEDERATION

The Report of International Union Warfare Without Foundation.

Washington, Aug. 23—No apprehension is felt by the officials of the American Federation of Labor of the reported movement on the part of some of the members of the Canadian Federation of Labor to incite a warfare between that organization and the American Federation of Labor.

"The independent organizations of Canada," said Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, today, "do not exceed 200 in their membership. The membership of the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada is entirely loyal to us, and there is no idea that any unfriendly contention will arise between the organizations."

WHERE IS ISABELLA AND WHERE LETITIA?

Nice Little Sum for Two Former Bothwell Girls, If They Can Be Found.

Toronto, Aug. 23. — Since 1894 Isabella and Letitia Gallagher, two sisters, who lived formerly in the town of Bothwell, have not been heard of by their relatives. Now they are wanted by the surrogate court, so that the property of their father, the late Robert Gallagher, may be equitably divided.

Mr. Gallagher left three children, the two daughters, and one son, Robert S., who now lives in Caradoc Township, Middlesex County. At the time of his death it was apparently not known that he had an estate, and the girls shortly after removed to Toronto, since when they have been entirely lost sight of.

Now, however, it transpires that they are entitled to $625 each, and their brother has applied to the court for leave to advertise for creditors of the estate, going on the supposition that his sisters are dead. But, as an official of the court put it, he must advertise for heirs, not creditors, and unless his sisters cannot be found the property cannot be administered for a time, at least.

TWO MEN INJURED

late to give a warning did it appear that an accident was imminent.

The men were caught without a chance to get away and crushed.

Watchman's Story.

"I was standing outside the shanty when the accident occurred," said Watchman Benness, of the Waterloo street crossing, to The Advertiser. "Both were backing down, but were moving quite slowly. If they had been moving fast, it is more than probable the accident would have been more serious. There was so time for warning. You could not tell there was going to be an accident until it actually happened. The caboose caught the coach on the end and crashed it in.

"Feely was thrown to one side, but Barnett had no chance and was caught in the wreckage."

The spot where the accident occurred is a very busy one and there is always considerable shunting going on there.

There is not a great deal of room there and narrow escapes are not infrequent.

Killed By Same Engine.

By a strange coincidence, Brakeman Shirley of this city was killed on Friday night last by the same yard engine, No. 48, with the same Engineer in charge, making up the same train, almost at the same moment, and in practically the same way.

It will be remembered that while he was making an air-brake coupling, train No. 418 was struck by yard engine No. 48, and the impact threw him under the car, cutting off both his legs.

Official Statement.

The official statement issued by the Grand Trunk is as follows:

"Pere Marquette engine No. 18, hauling empty coaches of P. M. passenger train No. 4, in charge of Conductor L.Seigneur, was backing into their yard at 10 o'clock, and was crossing Waterloo street when Grand Trunk yard engine, No. 48, Engineer A. Bowles, Yard Foremen Jack McClarty and Albert T. Hall, making up No. 418 on old Port Stanley siding, backed the rear across Waterloo street and foul of the Pere Marquette main line. The last coach of the P. M. train was damaged. A man by the name of W. Barnett, 504 Horton street, was riding on the steps of the coach. Brakeman Walter Cole and Baggageman F. Feely were also on the platform. Barnett had both legs taken off, and Feely was badly injured, and sent to the hospital. The auxiliary crew was ordered at once and cleared the track."

JEWELERS SWINDLED

A Windsor Shop Flimflammed With an Old Game.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 23. — Two well-dressed young men entered Howell Bros.' jewelry store Friday afternoon, and requested to be shown some diamond rings. Mr. Howell was busy at the time, and called one of the clerks to wait on the pair. They then proceeded to turn the old trick of substituting one ring for another, placing a stone worth about $25 in the place of a $200 ring which they had picked up.

It is thought that the strangers were here for the races, and that they made their way to Detroit. The matter has been reported to both the Detroit and Windsor police.

BODIES RECOVERED.

Huntsville, Aug. 24.—The bodies of the two sons of Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Weston, who were drowned in Lake of Bays Sunday afternoon, were recovered last night, and accompanied by the surviving family, were taken to Weston this morning. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

LAUNCH EXPLODES TWO ARE BURNED

Serious Accident on a Pleasure Boat on the Humber River.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—By an explosion on the gasoline launch "Topeka," in the Humber tonight, Joseph Whalen, of 170 Markham street, and Madge Devine, 396 Queen street west, were rather severely burned. The former had to be taken to the Western Hospital, and the latter to her home.

Whalen is severely burned about the hands, arms and face. He was out sailing with his mother, two sisters and Miss Devine, when the explosion occurred, and the women, who were frightened, jumped into the water.

The boat caught fire and came down towards the lake in a blaze.

Velda II., a Parkdale launch, came to the rescue and saved all the people.

KILLED IN PITTSBURG LIVED AT WOODSTOCK

Pittsburg, Aug. 23. — Harry Exler, who was killed in the McKees Rocks strike riots, had an uncle in Toronto. His parents, who were residents of Woodstock, Ont., are both dead.

SUICIDE, A SON OF MICHIGAN MAYOR

The Identity of Alf. Brown Established in Odd Way.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Alfred F. Brown, the man who shot himself in a Jarvis street rooming house on Thursday, was a son of ex-mayor and ex-Warden Brown, of Calumet, Mich.

Mr. Brown was told of his son's death by a neighbor, who read it in a Montreal paper. He then came to Toronto and identified the body at the morgue. Mr. Brown is at a loss to account for his son's actions, as he had a good home, all the money he needed, and was never ill except with dyspepsia.

The body was shipped to Calumet this afternoon.

FATAL AUTO CLASH

Two Women Killed When Locomotive Hit Motoring Party.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 23.—Mrs. George Granger, wife of a retired Kankakee merchant, and Miss Genevieve Rabig, an elocution teacher, of Chicago, were instantly killed and five other occupants of a touring car were seriously injured today when the machine was run over by a Big Four locomotive and caboose in Kankakee.

The party was on the way to Mound Grove Cemetery at the time of the accident. A string of cars on a side track obstructed the view of the chauffeur and of the engineer.

The injured are George Granger, husband of the woman killed: Miss Amelia Fortin, sister of Mrs. Granger; Miss Jeanette Granger, a daughter; Paul Granger, a son, and Ira Dole, chauffeur. All were severely hurt except the chauffeur. Miss Jeanette Granger was found between the bodies of her mother and Miss Rabig. She was rescued 30 minutes after the accident by jacking up the caboose

"E. H." BIG HEARTED NOT A HUGE SPIDER

Harriman's Secretary Says That The Big Man Has Been Misunderstood.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 23. — As the Kaiser Wilhelm II. draws hourly nearer to her pier, public interest in Mr Harriman's return grows acute, and the general anxiety as to his health has found expressions in published appreciations of his personality and achievements.

There is manifest disappointment in Wall street that Mr. Harriman's sojourn abroad apparently has not set him up sufficiently to resume active direction of the great interests with which his name is associated. Tomorrow, the date he lands, both the Southern and Union Pacific directors are to meet him, but it has not even been suggested authoritatively that Mr.Harriman will make any attempt to attend these meetings, which are expected to declare dividends and deal with other matters of importance. On the contrary, after a brief reception at the Erie railroad station, after leaving the steamship, he goes direct to his new country place at Arden for further rest.

Alex. Miller, secretary of the Harriman lines, one of Mr. Harriman's most trusted lieutenants, spoke of his chief today, with a seriousness and warmth that brought tears to his eyes.

"Mr. Harriman," he said, "has been pictured as an ogre, a huge spider, an octopus. You don't know what a big-hearted, big-souled man, he really is. I call him today the biggest, the brainiest, the most patriotic Amercan we have. Educated in Wall street, he yet has none of that provinciality sometimes attributed to the born and bred New Yorker. He was always in sympathy with the west, and intuitively divined its needs. Other men have helped, but Harriman has blazed the trail."

WAGES BOARD FOR EACH STATE

Conference of Australian Premiers Decides on an Advanced Step.

London, Aug. 24.—A Melbourne dispatch states that the conference of premiers decided to establish wages boards throughout all the districts of each state. The Commonwealth Parliament is to establish an industrial tribunal for appeal.

The bill to amend the colonial naval defence act gives power to the proper legislative authority of each colony to provide that volunteers raised in the colony shall form part of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, and that seamen and others raised and maintained by the colony shall be bound to general service in emergency. The schedule gives power to authorize the admiralty to accept any offer from a colony to place at the disposal for general service of the navy the whole or any part of the volunteers or seamen with all or any of their officers.

BRICKLAYERS' AGREEMENT.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Ottawa bricklayers and stone masons have signed a five-year agreement with the Builders' Exchange. The wages will continue at fifty cents an hour, as now, but after two years an eight-hour day will go into force, instead of the nine-hour day, which will continue till 1911.

Marine

Alpena, Mich., Aug. 23.—Today Diver F. E. Bildhauser, for the American Wrecking Salvage Company, located the steel trust steamer Grecian, sixteen miles off here, and brought up forks from the kitchen of the boat.

The vessel is in good condition and is valued at $100,000. The company expects to have her floating in ten days.

The Grecian sank in 102 feet of water.

Brazil Being Lightered.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 23.—It was expected this evening that the steamer Brazil would be released about midnight from Vidal shoals, where she grounded Sunday night. The boat is on hard and the lighter Reliance is removing a large portion of her ore cargo to float her.

Seams are open back to midships and two feet of water is in the engine-room. Pumps have been placed aboard and it is expected that she will proceed down without further delay after the cargo is replaced.

A ROBINSON CRUSOE OF MODERN TIMES

Lone Inhabitant on an Island in the South Pacific—Nimrod's Adventures.

London, Aug. 22.—On the homeward voyage of the Nimrod, the vessel of the Shackleton expedition, a modern Crusoe was discovered—a man who has elected to spend months on a lonely island in the South Pacific with two dogs as his sole companions.

The discovery was made on Macquarie Island, the southernmost of the off-lying islands of New Zealand. It lies 545 miles southwest of Stewart Island, and was discovered in the early part of the last century by a colonial sealing vessel. It is 21 miles long and 5 miles broad, and is the home of countless myriads of penguins, seabirds and seals.

A visit was paid to the southeast point of the island, and some specimens collected, and then the Nimrod proceeded along the coast northwards. As she drew near Nugget Point two huts were seen on the shore, and also the wreck of a vessel high and dry on the beach.

Capt. Davis says: "Suddenly, to our surprise, a column of smoke rose from the smaller of the two huts. As we had heard nothing of anyone living on the island, this was extraordinary. Presently, with the glasses, we could make out the figure of a man standing at the door of the smaller of the huts watching our approach. We came to anchor, and the boat was lowered and headed for the shore.

"The man who had been watching us from the hut, now walked down to the beach, accompanied by two little dogs. There was a heavy surf, but our Crusoe-like friend, after pointing out the best landing-place, walked into the water and assisted in beaching the boat.

"We soon ascertained that his name was William McKibben, and that he had been a member of a party which had visited the island in the previous season in order to obtain seal and penguin oil. When the season was over, and the party's vessel filled with barrels of oil, he had elected to remain on the island by himself in order to collect oil for the following season. He did not mind the loneliness at all."

During the voyage further geographical work of the highest interest has been carried out, adding considerably to the scientific value of the work of the British Antarctic expedition.

The work includes the establishment of the fact that no fewer than four islands or groups of islands shown on all admiralty charts do not exist. The Nimrod had to search for these islands in very rough seas, and when there were sixteen hours daily of absolute darkness.

The Nimrod, under the command of Capt. J. K. Davis, left Sydney on May 8. On May 18, in fine, clear weather, the vessel passed over the position assigned to Royal Society Island, with no land in sight. A sounding was taken in the neighborhood, and bottom reached with 2,430 fathoms of line. Capt. Davis then stood east and then south, but saw no sign of land in the vicinity.

Capt. Davis then proceeded to the chartered position of Emerald Island, over which he passed on the night of May 31, with a bright moon shining. No land was sighted, and a heavy sea made it impossible to take soundings. On June 9 the Nimrod arrived in the vicinity of the position assigned to the Nimrod Islands and found no land.

"We passed over the charted position of the island in clear weather with nothing in sight," he reported. "After steaming east sixteen miles from the position, it now being dark, I hove to and attempted to sound, which operation was performed in a kind of blizzard, by lamp-light, with the ship rolling heavily all the time. We slacked out 1,140 fathoms, but obtained no bottom, so hove in again, as the wind was coming away in fierce squalls from the southwest."

The Nimrod next visited the position of Dougherty Island, and found floating ice, but no land, after tacking backwards and forwards and making a thorough search. Capt. Davis reports that he is of opinion that the "island" chartered by Capt. Dougherty and later by the commander of another vessel was really an iceberg, which has long since melted.

The sun was shining for only a few hours a day when the Nimrod made her search, and the long hours of darkness made the work difficult, but the ship passed right over the charted position.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE WESTERN FAIR

Grounds and Buildings in Excellent Shape for the Great Exhibition.

Active preparations are being made by the management of the Western Fair to have everything in readiness for the great exhibition which will open in a short time. At the grounds workmen have been engaged all summer under the superintendent, Mr. Brown. The work done has not added much to the appearance of the park as when the buildings were painted last year, but it has nevertheless been just as important. The interior of the stock barns have all been repaired and new stalls put in wherever needed; outside steps have been built to the Horticultural Building. The open stand has been thoroughly repaired and a cement foundation placed under it. A great improvement this year will be an extra entrance at the King street gate for exhibitors and those holding passes of all kinds. No person on foot will be allowed to enter through the large gate. This has always caused more or less confusion in past years, as there are so many rigs of all kinds passing in at that gate. At the general offices every person is busy; the staff has been increased in order to keep up with the work. Entries are coming in freely and there is every indication that with good weather, this year's exhibition should be the best ever held.

GREAT BRITAIN WINS IN RACE FOR TRADE

Does One Third More Business in the Argentine Republic Than the United States.

Washington, Aug. 24. — In the race for trade with the Argentine Republic the United States makes about only one-third the showing of Great Britain, and is also beaten by a good margin by Germany.

Figures in the official statement of exports and imports for the first quarters of 1909 indicate the relative standing of this country with its nearest competitors in the fight for Latin-America's commerce. Charles S. Wilson, charge d'affaires of Buenos Ayres, has furnished the department of commerce and labor with data showing Argentina's imports as follows: Great Britain supplies in values $23,899,885, Germany $11,789,490, and the United States $8,897,317.

SPEER CASE WILL SURELY BE PROBED

Interested Buffalo Parties Are Trying To Stop All Investigation.

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—That the mysterious end of Victor Speer, self-destruction, killing or natural death, will have effect on the political situation in Western New York is beginning to be realized by Buffalo politicians.

From the moment J. N. Adam, Buffalo's Scotch mayor, took office nearly four years ago, Vic Speer was his guide in every political move. Twice Mayor Adams has tried for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Adam felt Speer's death more than anyone in Buffalo. He never has resented the current report that Speer was the real mayor of Buffalo. Adam left for his native Scotland as soon as possible after Speer's death. He declared he would run again for mayor, but his superiors are asking who will run his campaign.

There is nothing political, however, in the disposition of District Attorney Dudley to bring the matter of Speer's death to the grand jury on Sept. 7. Men of several parties and factions have interested themselves in preventing any sort of an investigation. The grand jury probe will be thorough and without favor. Only one thing can prevent it. That is the furnishing of absolute proof to the district attorney that his death was a natural one.

Two versions of Speer's death have been circulated; that he had a fight at the Mansion House in Williamsville has been proven beyond a doubt. This was with one of Buffalo's richest merchants, with whose wife Speer is said to have been on very friendly terms.

The other story is that on the way back to Buffalo Speer stopped at Snyderville, Maple Grove, where there is another roadhouse. There, the story goes, he met an angry father, another rich businessman. The father is said to have beaten Speer, finally warning him to leave Buffalo within three days or suffer the consequences. This story, however, lacks confirmation.

THE "MAN IN BLACK" DEEPENS MYSTERY

Seminary Professor at Rochester, N. Y., Might Explain Girl's Killing.

Rochester, N.Y., Aug. 24.—The mystery of "the man in black" and the shovel which figure in the killing of 17-year-old Anna Catherine Schumacher in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, are again to the fore in the hunt for the girl's slayer. "The man in black" was seen to walk out of the cemetery with the girl at 4 o'clock, Aug. 7, by at least three persons who swear to the incident. The shovel in the case has been proved to belong to Bernard's seminary.

The officials, when the crime was discovered, said no one was absent from the seminary who might throw any light on the murder. It is learned that a professor has been away since soon after the girl's body was found, and that he first found the spade with which the victim was buried in an old rabbit warren.

This incident, which now becomes of prime importance, is related by Mr. Schumacher as follows:

"Soon after the body was found by Constables Al Baker and Otto Friedman, a friend and myself walked into the old pumphouse. A professor from the seminary was in the pumphouse with the shovel in his hands. He told us it came from the seminary grounds. There was fresh dirt and some ground grain on the blade. We saw no blood on the handle, though there might have been on the stuff sticking to the blade. The professor stood the shovel up against the inside of the pumphouse, and we all walked away. I don't know who the professor was."

The shovel was found a few moments later by Thomas Craddock, a cemetery foreman. The district attorney's office wants the absent man to tell where he found the shovel, and why he did not turn it over to the officers, as he said that a few moments before he had seen the girl's body taken from where the slayer had put it. In the intense search for information about the shovel at the inquest and elsewhere, this man did not come forward.

BURIED ERECT.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 24. — Standing erect and with a shovel in his uplifted hands, the body of Leo Alesch was dug out of a cave-in in a gravel pit, near here, yesterday. George Miller, a farmer, while driving past the pit, saw a slouch hat on top of the gravel. He picked it up and discovered that it rested on a man's head. Alesch had been dead several hours, when his body was found. All but an inch of the victim's head was buried.

FEATURES OF THE BRITISH BUDGET.

The land taxes proposed in the British budget fall into three classes.

First and perhaps most important is the increment tax, which has been described in these columns. Briefly, it appropriates 20 per cent of the increase in the value of any parcel of land required for other than agricultural purposes. Past increments of value will not be touched—only the future increase. For this object all land will be officially valued as soon as possible. The tax will be collected only when the property is sold or leased anew. In defining these imposts Sir Edward Grey recently said: "They are not, strictly speaking, taxes upon land ;they are taxes upon the value which some land has acquired, not by its own inherent quality, not by labor or enterprise spent upon it, but by something quite outside itself, whic his the growth of the community around it." He added:

"We do not propose in the unearned increment taxes to take the whole of the unearned increment. We only take 20 per cent. We do not propose to take the unearned increment which has accrued in past years and deprive anybody of anything which he possesses at the present moment. We apply the principle in regard to the future, and we do not propose to take any incremental value which is due to expenditure upon the property by the owner himself. I call that a fair, moderate and reasonable application of the principles.—(Cheers.) When I am told we are ruining the enterprise and imperilling the security of capital, I say on the contrary we have taken all pains possible not to press upon enterprise, not to deprive any man of the value spent on the property by himself, and not to do anything which would impair security of capital. That is why we do not go back on the past. That is why we do not attempt to take any incremented value which has accrued in past years, because banks, insurance societies, friendly societies and trade unions, perhaps, have invested monies in mortgages on that unearned increment, and to go back on the past would be to do something which would make capital feel insecure. But the future is open to us all, and in applying our principle to the future and carefully not applying it to the past, we have secured the application of the principle which is not fairly open to the charge that it imperils the security of capital."

The second tax, and one almost equally fruitful, is one of a half penny in the pound upon the capital value of all "undeveloped land," by which is meant land that is not being put to the most productive use. It will fall with the greatest severity upon the owners of those vast tracts of arable land which have been converted into shooting preserves for the pleasure of a few rich people. It will also hit the speculator in urban lands, and tend to throw vacant lots upon the market. The only land under cultivation to which it will apply will be that in the neighborhood of cities and towns which could be more profitably used for building than for agriculture; so that a ground-owner who is growing hay, vegetables or grain upon land while it has a steadily-rising value for building purposes, must pay for the privilege of keeping it out of the market.

The third class of land taxation is the mining royalty. It is very clearly explained by Mr. Churchill, as follows:

"In the first place a mining royalty is income derived without any service of any kind being rendered.—(Hear, hear.) The capitalist puts his money into the mine, the miner risks his life, but the royalty owner exacts a mere dead weight charge in return for which there is no contribution either of capital or of labor, and this income from royalties which is derived in respect of no services rendered is also a privileged income. It ranks first in the charges upon the whole mining industry, and it does not participate in any way in the fortunes or the risks of that industry."

Like a tax upon rent, a mining royalty cannot be shifted to other shoulders. It will be borne exclusively by those upon whom it directly falls.

The increment duty and the undeveloped land tax will this year produce an estimated revenue of £325,000, an amount which will steadily and rapidly increase. The tax on mineral royalties will yield £350,000 the first year. It will cost £2,000,000 to value all the United Kingdom for the purpose of the new taxes, but this valuation will serve for all time. It is said that the land-monopolists fear the valuation even more than the taxes, as it will show that many of them have been paying upon ridiculously low assessments, some of them fixed a century or two ago.

The budget blazes a new path in national finance and one which leads the tax collector to a treasure-trove hitherto protected beyond other forms of wealth. It will solve the problem of financing the Government's schemes of social reform without throwing the burden upon the classes least able to bear it.

A MARITIME MOVEMENT.

The success of the movement which has been launched at Charlottetown, P. E. I., looking to the union of the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, might have an important bearing on the growth and progress of the Maritime Provinces, and, possibly, some influence on the Dominion as a whole.

The initiative was taken at the annual convention of the Maritime Boards of Trade last week, when resolutions were passed in favor of a union of the three provinces, and requesting the governments of each to nominate delegates to a conference for the discussion of terms.

One of the arguments advanced in support of such a union is the absurdity of a territory embracing three provinces with interests identical, and a population of only 893,953, being governed by three legislatures with a total membership of 138, while Ontario with its population of 2,182,947, sends but 98 members to its Legislature. As at present divided, the three provinces down by the sea consider it necessary to employ 23 cabinet ministers, while Ontario has a cabinet of eight, and three honorary ministers, and Quebec manages to get along with seven. A union such as that proposed should be the means of saving two-thirds of the present cost of legislation and administration—an important consideration.

The Maritime Provinces have been growing in the past few years, but not so rapidly as other provinces. Their relative lack of progress has resulted in a reduction of their representation in the House of Commons from 43 in 1875 to 35 after the last census. The promoters of the present movement contend that while union would not necessarily increase the population, it would place the provinces in a stronger position financially, and make possible a vigorous campaign for the encouragement of investors and immigrants.

Impediments to such a union will be encountered in the shape of local jealousies and sectional interests that are strongly entrenched, but greater obstacles were overcome by the statesmen who were instrumental in bringing about confederation. Union would give Canada one strong province down by the sea in place of three comparatively weak ones.

The Cunard Line may invade the St. Lawrence route, as the White Star Line has already done. Canada is taking its rightful place on the world's highway; or rather the world's highway is being diverted toward this country.

Lord Northcliffe is on his way to Canada. His maxim has been to give the public that he thinks it wants, not what he thinks it needs. The sudden flop of his newspapers on the budget shows that when the public doesn't like his sentiments he can change them instanter.

There was a tragic untimeliness in the death of Mr. Robert Reid. As a member of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission he had aided in carrying its great work, if not to the verge of completion, to a stage from which he could contemplate its final success. The vast undertaking had been initiated and had developed under the hands of himself and his colleagues, and without a doubt he had looked forward to its consummation with feelings of hope and satisfaction and with a justifiable personal pride. He was not destined to see the result of labor well and conscientiously performed, but it will be a monument to the faithful trusteeship of himself and his co-workers.

LORD LONDONDERRY'S CHANGES OF NAME.

(Westminster Gazette.)

Charles Stewart Vane-Tempest-Stewart, Marquis of Londonderry, who has just entered his fifty-seventh year, has been obliged to change his mode of signature five times. When he was born in 1852 his grandfather, the third marquis, and his uncle, subsequently the fourth marquis, were still alive. His uncle was Lord Castlereagh, his father was Lord George Vane, and he was Charles Stewart Vane-Tempest-Stewart. On the death of the third Marquis Lord George Vane succeeded to the Earldom of Vane, and his son getting the courtesy title of Lord Seaham thus signed himself when he was at Eton. The death of his uncle made his father Lord Londonderry and himself Lord Castlereagh, and as such he signed himself before he left Oxford. In 1884 he succeeded to the Marquisate, Earldom and Barony of Londonderry and the Viscounty of Castlereagh (all Irish titles), and the Earldom of Vane, Viscounty of Seaham and Barony of Stewart in the English peerage. Since then his signature has been "Londonderry," except in the House of Lords, where he sits by right of his English earldom, and therefore signs himself "Vane."

AUGUST RAIN.

[S. E. Kiser.]

The fields had long been brown and dry,
The birds had sadly ceased to sing;
No cloud ships sailed across the sky,
The whole-parched world was withering.

Then came the welcome August rain,
The thunder's roar, the lightning's gleam;
The water dashed against the pane,
The road became a gushing stream.

Today the meadows all are green,
A gleam is on the fluttering leaves;
The road where dust lay thick is clean,
Blithe swallows chatter 'neath the eaves.

Thus after hopelessness has made
Life seem a waste, like August rain
Hope comes to brighten croft and glade
And fill the world with cheer again.

FATHER'S FOOLISHNESS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

"What did your father say when you asked him if you could have me?"

"He told me to wait a year and then if I still wanted you to come back."

"My good gracious! And him speculating in stocks the way he does! Why, we're liable to wake up poor almost any morning."

HIS SUSPICION.

[Washington Star.[

"Why did that picture cost so much?"

"Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "to tell you the honest truth, I have an idea it's because the dealer who sold it to me is a good business man."

THE INCONSISTENT SATIRIST.

[Washington Star.]

Of new-rich folk he mocks the style
And makes all sorts of fun of them;
And yet he yearns to make his pile
And wishes he were one of them.

AGES OF BRITISH STATESMEN.

[Winnipeg Free Press.]

The youngest man in the Asquith ministry is Mr. Winston Churchill, the oldest is Lord Wolverhampton. Following are their respective ages: Mr. Churchill, 35; Mr. Runciman, 39; Mr. Samuel, 39; Mr. Harcourt, 46; Mr. McKenna, 46; Mr. Lloyd-George, 46; Sir Edward Grey, 47; Lord Pentland, 49; Lord Crewe, 51; Mr. Burns, 51; Mr. Haldane, 53; Mr. Gladstone, 55; Mr. Buxton, 56; Mr. Asquith, 57; Mr. Birrell, 59; Lord Carrington, 66; Lord Loreburn, 66; Lord Morley, 71, and Lord Wolverhampton, 79. It is admitted by the opponents of the Liberal Government that the cabinet is made up of men of exceptional ability and energy; it is, indeed, doubtful if any previous cabinet has been of so high an average of ability. In point of age, Mr. Asquith and the majority of his colleagues are young, as British public men go. The Opposition leader, Mr. Balfour, has no such array of ability surrounding him, but he is a host in himself. Though he is the senior of every member of the cabinet except four, he is younger than his years, which number 61, and is not an old man by any manner of means.

AT FIRST SIGHT.

[Washington Star.]

"Folks dat trusts in love at fust sight," said Uncle Eben, "is terrible apt to finish by not bein' able to see each other wif a spy glass."

AFTER A PIOUS WAIT.

[Calgary News.]

Sir Richard Cartwright knew that he was referring to a dead sure thing when he said, years ago, that the Liberal party was content to leave the reforming of the senate to an all-wise Providence. A change has indeed been effected.

NO ESCAPE.

[Chicago Daily News.]

Once a very nervous chap
To cross the street did try;
An auto handed him a tap
And sent him to the sky.

And ere he could descend again
He got an awful whack;
Somebody's whizzing aeroplane
Just tapped him on the back.

He shot down to the lake below,
He tried to keep afloat;
Alas, he fell a victim to
A puffing motorboat.

CANADA'S DAZZLING FUTURE.

[Earl Grey in England.]

There is another reason why any man who is fortunate enough to make his residence in Canada, must feel bound by every tie of sentiment and ambition to maintain his position as a citizen of the British Empire. It is not only because of the privilege—I know of no higher privilege than to be a British citizen. It is not only because of British traditions, because of what the British Empire has achieved in the past, but because every Canadian knows that it is only a matter of time before Canada becomes the most populous and the most wealthy, and if they live the right life, the most important portion of the British Empire. Provided Canada keeps her judiciary pure, her politics clean, and her administration honest, nothing can prevent her one day becoming the controlling factor in the empire of self-governing nations.

BISONS STILL FIGHTING IN THE EASTERN RACE

Buffalo Waded Into the Orioles Yesterday, Walloping the Birds by Score of 4 to 0.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—A great many have given up the hope that the Bisons will win the Eastern League championship this year, but included in the number is no member of the team. They are individually and collectively determined that the best way to win or lose is to win or lose fighting. There is lots of satisfaction and no disgrace in defeat if you know you've done your best after a battle. The Orioles were the first to feel the keenness of the Bisons' desire for revenge, when they were beaten yesterday on the local grounds by a score of 4 to 1, chiefly through the effective pitching of Dummy Taylor, but the combined all around playing of the whole outfit made the victory an easier one than the score indicates.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE

Four Toronto Ladies Competing With Finest Players in America.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 23.—The all-Canadian and international lawn tennis tournament commenced here this afternoon on the grass courts of the Niagara Golf and Tennis Club. Progress was slow owing to the late arrival of the players. The entry to date is 228, being the largest ever held here. Scores:

International ladies' open singles—Miss May Sutton, Pasadena, Cal., beat Miss Keith, Toronto, 6-1 and 6-0. Miss Beard, Cleveland, beat Miss Hunt, Toronto, 6-1, 6-1. Mrs. Hannam, Toronto, beat Miss Fairburn, Toronto, 6-1 and 6-0.

NO LONG AUTO CONTESTS

Indianapolis Is Last of Killing Grinds of Drivers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 23.—L. R. Spears, of Boston, president of the American Automobile Association, stated emphatically before leaving for home that sanction will not be given in the future for races like the Wheeler and Schebler 300-mile event and the 250-mile contest, in which five lives were lost and several persons injured. The A. A. A. will not meet until Sept. 24, in Lowell, Mass., when the opening meeting at the Indianapolis motor speedway will be thoroughly considered.

JONES FOR THE NATIONALS.

New York, Aug. 23.—Word was received here today that Fielder Jones, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, who retired from the game last fall to go into the lumber business in Oregon, is anxious to buy the Boston National League club outright, or become a part owner and manager of either the St. Louis or Washington Americans. Jones admits frankly that he has a chance to buy a half interest in the St. Louis Americans from Robert L. Hedges.

STALLINGS GETS JACK McCORMICK.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Jack McCormick, former fighter and star wrestler, also former trainer of the Cubs, today signed with the New York Highlanders as trainer and accompanied the team to St. Louis tonight. McCormick affixed his signature to the contract following a conference with Manager Stallings today.

FALL MEETING AT LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Aug. 23.—Thirteen days of fall racing was announced for Lousville today by officials of the Churchill Downs track. Louisville turfmen are inclined to believe that the dates, Sept. 25 to Oct. 9, will draw the best cards obtainable in the United States, because of the projected opening of the Winn track at Juarez, Mexico, shortly afterward.

JEROME TO TRY AGAIN

Will Once More Be Up for District Attorney of New York.

New York, Aug. 23.—District Attorney W. T. Jerome announced tonight that he will be a candidate for re-election this fall, running independently. In a brief statement issued tonight, he says:

"I have been considering whether I should seek re-election. I felt that I should be guided not by any personal interest, but by the consideration of whether a majority of the electors desire that I should further serve them in this position. But as I know of no way in which I can ascertain this except by offering myself as a candidate, I have decided to seek again a nomination by petition."

Friends of Mr. Jerome will at once start the petition for placing his name on the official ballot. Two thousand signatures are required by law.

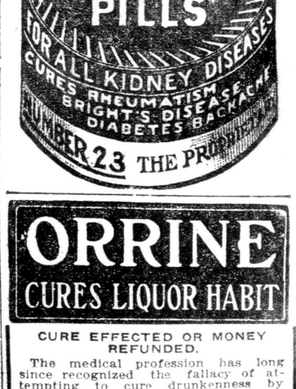

STRUCK THRICE BY VIPER

An Alarming Accident to a Medical Officer in England.

London, Aug. 24. — An extraordinary occurrence is reported from the moorland district near Chatsworth House, which the Duke of Devonshire visited while attending a fair at the hilly village of Daddington, near Buxton. The medical officer of health for Chesterfield, Dr. Herbert Peck, drove to Ramsley Reservoirs in order to carry out certain investigations. He had two of his children with him, and was explaining to them certain botanical specimens which he had secured. Seeing what he thought was a common grass snake moving through the bilberry bushes, he attempted to pick it up to show to the children, but being an ardent naturalist as well as a botanist he immediately noticed that the reptile was an English viper. Before he could get away it fastened itself to his wrist and struck him three times, the virulent poison being injected into both his hands.

Dr. Peck at once endeavored to suck the wounds, and applied a ligature. His trap was some distance away, and a good deal of time elapsed before he reached Ramsley Lodge, near Baslow. Dr. Edleston, who was hastily summoned, found the medical officer in an alarming and collapsed condition. He applied all the usual remedies, and sucked the wounds himself, but ordered the immediate summoning of friends from Chesterfield, where the greatest consternation prevailed, as the victim is a popular and able officer for nearly the whole of the surrounding local authorities joining up to the city of Sheffield.

Later in the afternoon Dr. Edleston reported there is now a chance of the doctor's life being saved. It will be some time, however, before he will be able to be removed from Ramsley Lodge to his home at Chesterfield.

ORRINE
CURES LIQUOR HABIT

CURE EFFECTED OR MONEY REFUNDED.

The medical profession has long since recognized the fallacy of attempting to cure drunkenness by moral suasion. The victim can no more resist alcoholic stimulants than a man with ague can stop shivering. The "Drink Habit" is a disease and must be treated as such. ORRINE is a medicine highly indorsed, and has been uniformly successful in the cure of the "Drink Habit."

Read what C. McCallum & Co. say about ORRINE:

"We do not hesitate to recommend ORRINE as a reliable remedy for the cure of the Liquor Habit. During the time we have been selling it we have known of many cures effected by its use."

ORRINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, tasteless and colorless, can be given secretly in food or drink. ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves.

ORRINE COSTS ONLY $1 A BOX. The Guarantee is in Each Box.

Write for free ORRINE Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to ORRINE COMPANY, 977 ORRINE Building, Washington, D. C. ORRINE is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

THE MAN FROM THE WEST

BY. E. EVERETT GREEN.

Author of The Marriage of Marcia, Lady Elizabeth, The Juggernaut, etc.

His eyes rested on Hilda's face as he stood beside her cycle at his gate, where she had dismounted on receiving a friendly hail as she was skimming along. She had come that way half hoping to see Val and tell her tale, and now he took possesson of her wheel and walked it up the road, still regarding her with some attention and a sort of smile of good-fellowship at she liked.

"I shall be awfully sorry when you go," she said frankly.

"Sure?" he asked, the smile creasing the corners of his eyes.

"Plum sure," answered Hilda, with her spontaneous laugh. "It's always horrid to lose one's friends."

"There's sometimes a way out of that horror," quoth the man from the west quietly.

She turned her head to look at him, and suddenly the color flooded her face, but for once she was tongue-tied.

"My country's awful nice—once you're used to it," Val continued, looking straight before him. "You'd admire to see the Rockies, the great canons, the peaks towering into the sky, some of 'em topped with snow most times; the air like new wine; the silence, like the noises, a heap bigger than anything you get here. I'd like to show you a heap of things over yonder, little pard. Some days I think considerable about that."

He paused for an appreciable time, and then went on with a queer sort of drawl that occasionally marked his speech when he meant something rather particular by it. "Somehow—it may sound like big bluff—but it ain't really—the things I get thinkin' of that way mostly figure out same fashion in the making. That's all I've got to say today, Partner. Maybe another time we'll talk of it again."

Hilda was walking quickly, just a pace in advance of him. The man from the west eyed her lithe young figure and her free, unfettered movements with satisfaction and admiration. Strength and vigor and elasticity of movement appealed strongly to him, and Hilda had all three in large measure.

"She'd like it, sure," he said softly to himself, and into his eyes there sprang a look which no woman had ever seen there before, and which Hilda did not see now.

A few minutes later he was upstairs in the long, low room, where Mary kept guard over a pair of ailing children, who greeted Val with a rapture of delight that showed their indisposition to be nothing very severe.

Mary's face brightened like a sunbeam at sight of him. There was something breezy and invigorating in his personality, and his fund of stories was inexhaustble. The children laughed till they cried, and were presently sung into sound slumber to the thrumming of a banjo and one of those interminable songs of which Val seemed to have an unlimited supply. Hilda declared he made them up as he went along, and the effect upon the small patients was to soothe them off to sleep at last.

"Not much wrong with the kids, Mary, eh?"

"I think not, just feverish colds. They got wet in that thunderstorm the other day, and they've been racing about rather too much in the heat. A few days of bed won't hurt them, I think; but I don't believe it's real influenza."

"Same here; those fools of doctors call everything by some long-winded name. A fellow can't have a bit of a mully-grub nowadays but they reckon to cut him open for appendicitis. They'd better try it on with me, that's all. They'd find it a game that two could play at—that game of knives."

"Val, you are delightful. You should write to the 'Lancet.' But it really isn't Dr. Frampton's fault. He's not a bit of an alarmist. But he's away on holiday, and there's only a young man in his place. And they are all so afraid of possibilities that we are put into quarantine nolens volens."

"I don't see the fun of having you shut up too."

"Ah! but I couldn't leave the babies, they really are poorly, and they would miss me so. I shouldn't be happy to be quite away from them, and there's no choice between that and being with them altogether. Indeed, I don't mind, Val. For some things I'm rather glad."

"As for what?" he asked, with his eyes on her face. He saw her color leap up and die down quickly.

"It is not very much; but that lawyer, Mr. Lawley, has been coming here several times lately. I would prefer to keep out of his way—as I can here."

"If that little skunk takes to annoying you, Mary, just tip me the hint. I'll want no more than that. I'll easy knock his teeth down his blame throat for him; then he'll want a brand new set of tombstones before he comes courtin' again."

Mary could not but laugh.

"Val, you are a dreadful savage. We don't do things that fashion over here."

"Don't you, now? Wal, you'd mebbe find it some better if you did. Anyhow, I'll find the way to square him somehow if he takes to bothering you and don't you forget that. Well, I'm off now; so long for the present. I'll be around some time tomorrow, just to see how the kids are doin'—and you, too."

Mary watched him from the corridor window as he strode away. The children were sleeping still, and the corridor was an airy and pleasant place. The window seat invited to comfortable rest, after a rather disturbed night. Mary sat there, looking dreamily out over the sweep of the drive and the parklands beyond, till she became aware of the rapid approach of a man on a cycle, and she drew back almost involuntarily as Lord Cotswold came skimming up to the doors of Coombe Basset.

They were not giving a luncheon party, Mary was sure of that. Probably this guest had come in more friendly fashion to join the family informally. Well, she would not see him today. She did not tell herself that this had probably been planned. If some such surmise forced itself upon her, she did not give it a place in her thoughts. She only fell into a reverie as she sat beside the window, a reverie that brought sweet and tender lights into her eyes, and a dreamy smile of contentment to her lips.

Several hours later she saw him go, with Bosh as his companion, along the drive and through the park. The children had been awake and lively during the afternoon, but were again dosing in their beds now; and Mary looked up with a finger upon her lips as the door opened. But to her surprise it was not Hilda or a servant that entered now, but—almost the last person she would have expected to see—her cousin Mona.

She rose quickly and silently, and came towards the door.

"Do you think you ought to come in—if it is what you think? Do you want anything, Mona?"

"Come out into the passage," said the elder girl in a curious, quivering voice, and Mary did so, softly closing the door behind her. To her surprise Mona got fast hold of her hands and seemed to be trembling all over.

"Is anything the matter?" asked Mary, gently.

Mona's laugh seemed to hold a sob in suspense.

"I've come to you—because I felt—as though—you would understand. Oh, Mary, Mary, I'm so bewildered, and happy, I don't know how to contain myself. And Norma would never understand. She has no sympathy for—for——"

Mary's grave sweet eyes fixed upon the speaker's face seemed to stem the tide of her flow of words.

"If you, will tell me what has happened, Mona——"

"Mary, Mary, I want to tell you. Do you know that Lord Cotswold came here today?"

"Yes; I saw him."

"Saw him? How—when—here?"

"From the window here. I saw him come and go. Mona, what is it? What is the matter?"

"Ah, Mary, can't you guess?"

"I would rather you told me, if there is anything to tell," Mary spoke very quietly, gravely and gently.

Mona gave another little sobbing gasp, and exclaimed:

"He cares for me, Mary—I know it, I feel it. I had thought it before, and now I am sure. I am so happy, I do not know how to speak of it. And yet I must—I must. Wish me joy, Mary dear; I know you will wish me joy."

CHAPTER XVI.

On the Trail.

The boy Bosh was transported with joy.

"I say, Val, how ripping of you! I've scarcely ever been in London yet—and then only just to see the sights; trundled round with a pack of other boys, and crammed with improving information all the while by some blooming master.'"

"I'll cram you with information, sonny, never fear!" spoke Val, with a grin, "and we'll see some sights, too, in our own way. And what you've got to learn, mebbe, is to keep your eyes open and your mouth shut and your tongue well behind your teeth; then, perhaps, we'll see things that may turn out improvin' for someone."

"Val, I wish you'd tell me what's up! I'm safe; I'll not blab it out. I can feel all through my bones that you're going up for something else than just a spree. I'll help you for all I'm worth, if only you'll tell me. Is it something about Mary now? You know I want to be on her side all I can."

"I know you do, sonny; you're staunch all through. Well, it isn't exactly on Mary's business I'm going up, and yet it mebbe will have to do with Mary in the long run; and when I tell you more, you'll begin to savvy what I mean."

It was in the train that bore them up to town that Val became more explicit. The two travellers had the compartment to themselves, and they travelled first-class; Val examining the cushions and photographs with his humorous grin.

"I don't cotton much to these cattle boxes you call trains over here; don't seem room to move around. But they're mighty snug and private if you get a loose box to yourself. I'm doing myself well this trip. I've done my share knockin' round. I'll be gettin' mighty soft one of these days if I stop here long enough; but it's dandy to try a spell of it."

"I say, Val, are you awfully rich? Have you got a big pile over yonder? You seem to do just what you like."

"Well, I've earned a bit of a fling, sonny, and I'm having it over here. As for rich, that's as you call it. My little pile wouldn't count for nothing in the eyes of some of your big bugs and gold grabbers. But it's a tidy little sum for a quiet chap like me. And I reckon it's going to keep a pair of us one of these days, and perhaps more. And there's more where that came from, and I know how to collar it, when the time comes!"

"I wish you'd take me back when you go, and put me on to something! They talk about Oxford or Cambridge for me now, and I just hate the notion. I've got as much Latin and Greek as ever I'll hold. I want to go out somewhere and do things, if it's only to be a cowboy on a ranch. I want to be out of doors all the time, and in a bigger country, too. I'm just seventeen; it's time I was doing something besides schooling and fooling!"

To Be Continued.

LITERARY NOTES

The August issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor at Woodstock, Ont., tells how the people in the Maritime Provinces (known by reason of the sea breezes as the "Kingdom of Cooldom") enjoy the beautiful summer weather. This article is profusely illustrated. A delightful paper is "Still Hunting with a Camera"; while of equally absorbing interest is one on similar lines, "Shooting Wild Geese With a Kodak."

The Technical World for September thus deals with the question, "Shall we go to Europe by balloon?

"Yes, say the Wrights, the most daring and successful navigators of the air which the world has yet produced. Yes, says H. Helm Clayton, America's most distinguished meteorologist, who has for sixteen years made a careful study of upper air currents. Not only may we go, taking advantage of what has become known to meteorologists as the great highway of the air, but we may return, for this highway is not a one-way route, but issues return tickets to all who will study its schedules and take advantage of them with the proper equipment. In other words, a balloon several miles high at the latitude of Boston, finds a wind blowing from west to east which is as dependable as the rotation of the earth itself, which will whisk it across 3,000 miles of sea at a rate of speed far exceeding that of the swiftest ocean liner. At a point near the equator it would find an equally steady return current, which would waft it at equal speed back to America."

Funk and Wagnall Company, of New York have just issued the fourth volume of the new Schaff-Herzog Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. The subjects range from "Draesefe" to "Goa," and the number of topics treated is 948, with 500 pages. In this work the speculations of theologians give way to cold, convincing facts. The authenticity of Holy Writ is upheld by the incontrovertible evidence produced by recent explorations and discoveries. Absolute impartiality has been the aim of the editors, and that this might be assured where opposing views are held the opportunity was given to both sides to present them. Efforts have been made to select the men best qualified to write upon the different subjects of which the work treats, and specialized scholarship will be readily recognized from the names of authors of the various articles. The same typographical devices that have characterized the previous volumes make for convenience of consultation in this. There is also a bibliographical appendix which brings the bibliographies for the articles contained in the four volumes published down to July, 1909.

BLACKMAIL CHARGED

Detective Accused of Attempting To Extort Money From Widow.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Albert Davis, a private detective, was today committed for trial on the charge of attempting to blackmail Mrs. McElroy, a plucky little English woman, who is trying to earn a living for her family by taking in washing.

According to the evidence, Davis visited her home at midnight last Thursday and tried to get $50 from her under threats of arresting her for keeping a disorderly house. Mrs. McElroy, while protesting against such a charge, promised to try and raise $20 if he would leave her alone.

To this Davis agreed, and next day the woman went out among her friends to try and borrow the money. One friend advised her to inform the inspector of the police station, which she did with the result that when Davis called that night for the money he was arrested.

Davis pleaded not guilty and elected a jury trial.

PULP FROM SLABS

Latest Discovery Adds Largely To Supply of Pulpwood.

Tawas City, Mich., Aug. 24.—Every once in a while a new use is developed for some of the product which the sawmills of a few years ago left when they went out of commission, and which was considered practically useless.

The latest discovery adds largely to the supply of pulpwoods of the country, and promises the establishment of a new industry here.

It is the manufacturing of woodpulp from the slabs and the other materials contained in the deserted lumber docks which line the shores of Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron.

About a year ago Albert Widdis purchased the old spiles and slabs in some of the docks here, and since then has been pulling out the slabs and shipping them to Detroit, as it was generally believed, for kindling wood. It now develops that he has been experimenting with them in the manufacture of pulp. It is claimed that his experiments have been highly successful, that the pulp is easily and cheaply made, and is suitable for making paper.

Widdis has purchased the docks as far north as Cheboygan and has an unlimited supply of the material. Efforts are now being made for the erection of a plant here for the manufacture of the pulp, and will undoubtedly be successful.

AFRICAN HUNT TROPHIES

Will Find a Place in $3,500,000 Museum at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The largest and most ornate exposition building in the United States has been completed just in time to receive the unique trophies of the hunt gathered by ex-President Roosevelt in Africa, now about to be unpacked in this city.

This building, of granite, with floor space of approximately nine and one-half acres, and costing $3,500,000, has been erected by congress for the national museum and is today being put in order for the proper exhibition of various objects, chief among which are the Roosevelt trophies.

It is likely rooms on the first floor will receive the Roosevelt specimens. Considerable time will be required to prepare these skins, which are packed in brine, in metal casks.

As soon as the 82 pelts gathered by Mr. Roosevelt are taken from the casks, they will be tanned as the best process for their preservation "for all time."

The splendid show case to be provided in the new museum building will give ample opportunity for an arrangement in effective style even of the largest animals. The greatest care will be taken to make this exhibit one of the most unique and attractive possessed by any government.

It will require considerable time to mount the specimens and every precaution will be taken to select the very best to be retained by the museum. An important value is attached to duplicate specimens for exchange purposes. The law permits the Smithsonian to make exchanges for species it may not possess. It is expected that every museum in the world will be anxious to obtain at least one of the Roosevelt trophies. By these exchanges the national museum will be able to come into possession of many new specimens.

PERSCH PLEADS.

New York, Aug. 23.—Pleas of not guilty were entered today by Donald L. Persch to two indictments charging grand larceny in the first degree, in connection with the Joyce-Windsor Trust Company $50,000 loan deal.

Persch was expected to make a statement explaining several features of the case that are still more or less mysterious, but the proceedings in the court were purely formal. Persch's attorney entered his pleas and he was sent back to the Tombs without more than a dozen words having been spoken.

A possible reason for the failure of A. D. F. Adams, the Boston broker, to procure $12,000 bail on Saturday was given today, when it was said that the trust company he depended upon refused to accept as security shares of Ohio Copper stock, because, it is alleged, this stock is under injunction by a Boston court.

HAPPIEST MARRIAGES RIGHT AGE TO WED

What Miss Sutton, Lady Tennis Champion Has to Say.

New York, Aug. 22. — Miss May Sutton, the famous lady tennis champion, has given rise to an interesting discussion concerning her very definite statements as to the correct age for marriage.

Announcing the breaking off of her betrothal to Mr. George Hahn, the son of a Mexican banker, Miss Sutton said:

"No woman should marry before twenty-five. I stand by that statement. In the first place, no woman before that age is sufficiently matured. She does not know her own mind and has not had experience enough. It does not seem to me right that a woman should have to learn her duties after she is married.

"In America a woman has more to do with the selection of a husband than in the older countries. Parents have little to do with her choice, beyond advising, and when a girl is young such advice is not appreciated. Hence it is of the utmost importance that the American women, at all events, should have a large experience of men and the world before she takes the important step of choosing a partner for life.

"Divorces in this country are due, in my opinion, to the large number of youthful, ill-considered marriages."

The aged Countess of Cardigan, who was born just after the days of the regency, has communicated to the Daily Mail an expression of her opinion as interesting a sit is weighty. Lady Cardigan says:

"No girl knows her own mind in her teens; or at least she did not when I was young. It is all very romantic and charming at eighteen, but no girl really knows the heart of a man until she is in the twenties. A man at twenty-eight is fortyeight in experience, and how can a schoolroom beauty permanently depose the adorable She who has filled the happy youthful years of a man's life?

"Cynics scoff at these turned down pages. Believe me, they are the most sacred of any. For the beauty of realization give me the fullness of a man's love, the perfect marriage, when, after years of disappointment, he meets the one woman who gently knits up his lost ideals and bids him forget. Not that forgetting brings happiness, but it brings repose.

"My advice is: Never marry too young. The chain of love becomes intolerable when it is hampered with the links of doubt and disillusion which cling round later love. Far better is it to meet on common ground, as mutual sympathizers, each eager to forgive the other's faults and to say: 'Let us begin again,' than to begin hoping and live unsatisfied.

"No, the happiest marriages are those that understand all, and forgive all, as the French says. As to the ideals in marriage, what could I quote better than the most human and charming words spoken by Jessica Falconer in "The Choir Invisible':

"'Oh, if you ever marry, don't make the mistake of treating the woman as an ideal; Treat her in every way as a human being, exactly like yourself, with the same temptations. And, as you have some mercy on yourself despite your faults, have some mercy on her despite hers.'"

NUNS OF ST. JOSEPH

Impresisve Celebration in Commemoration of Their Landing at Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 23. — Two hundred and fifty years ago on Sept. 1, or thereabouts, the first hospital nuns of St. Joseph landed in Montreal. The fact will be commemorated at the Hotel Dieu de Ville Marie on Sept. 1, 2 and 3.

On Wednesday, Sept. 1, pontifical mass will be celebrated at 9:30 by His Grace Mgr. Charles Hugh Gauthier, Archbishop of Kingston. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. M. Lecoq, superior of the sulpice.

A reception, attended by the delegates of the various religious communities of the diocese, will be held in the cloister. In the afternoon an entertainment will be held for the patients. Solemn benediction of the Holy Sacrament will close the day.

On Thursday at 9:30 Mgr. Burchesi will be the celebrant at pontifical mass and Rev. Canon G. Gauthier will deliver the sermon. The statue of Jeanne Mance will then be unveiled, during which ceremony there will be speches from the Archbishop of Montreal, Sir Alphonse Pelletier, lieutenant-governor of the province; Dr. Guerin and Dr. Hervieux; in the afternoon the solemn benediction of the Holy Sacrament.

On Friday at 9:20 a solemn service for the deceased nuns and all patients who have passed away will be held at the Hotel Dieu. Mgr. J. S. Brunault, Bishop of Nicolet, officiating. Rev. Father Louis Lalonde, S. J., will deliver the sermon.

DEATH OF HENRY MOTT.

Montreal, Aug. 23. — The death occurred tonight in Royal Victoria Hospital in his 85th year, of Henry Mott, formerly librarian of McGill University, who was at one time one of the best-known journalists in Montreal. Mr. Mott was connected with the Montreal Herald 25 years ago and founded the Canadian Spectator.

DR. BLACK DEAD.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 23. — Dr. Samuel McCully Black, editor of the Maritime Baptist, and one of the best-known literary men in Eastern Canada, died tonight after a lingering illness. He was born in Amherst in 1846.

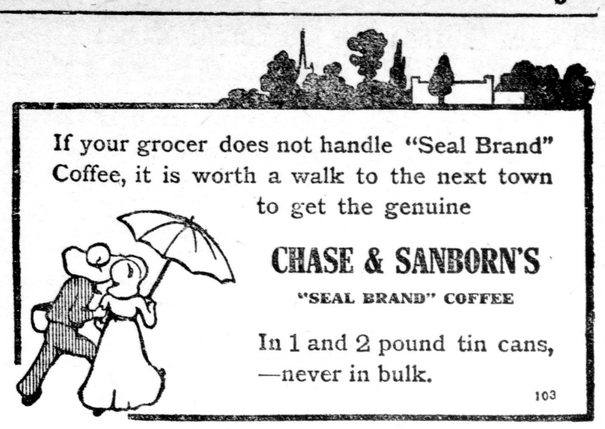

A FREAK FALL.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 23. — A marvellous escape from death took place at Hull on Saturday evening, when Mr. J. Moussette, son of the governor of the Hull jail, fell 50 feet from the third story of the courthouse to the ground. The accident did not even shake his nerve, for he was on the roof again an hour later.

HAD MADE CLOTHES FOR KING GEORGE IV.

Fulham's Sprightly Centenarian Tells Interesting Tales of Old Times.

London, Aug. 23.—Fulham is proud in the possession of a centenarian who can read his paper every morning without glasses.

Mr. Josiah Suckling, of Wandsworth, Bridge road, celebrated his hundredth birthday recently, and the residents of the district took the guns booming out that day rather as a feu de joie in honor of their prize inhabitant than of Coronation Day.

The case of Josiah Suckling is a distinct refutation of many pet theories as to longevity being necessarily an appanage of the outdoor life. His occupation has been that of tailoring, and he made clothes for, among other, the exquisite, George IV., who so ill deserved the title flatterers bestowed on him of "the first gentleman of Europe." The centenarian's recollections of the monarch, however, are most kindly.

"He was a fine old fellow," says the aged Josiah. "He used to go to the theatre in state with a band in front. He was a good customer for tailors, too. He was a dandy sort of chap. Before he came to the throne coats used to be worn loose, but he wanted to know what was the use of the loose cloth about the waist, and ever since coats have been cut across the waist. I used to work at Stultzer's, of St. James, and that is how I made clothes for royalty."

The old rule that threatened men live longest is proved very strikingly in Mr. Suckling's case. "I was a very delicate child," he says. "I came into the world in a hurry, and the nurse said she could have put me into a pint pot. I was booked for a dead 'un before I was fourteen, but after I had reached that age little seemed to ail me."

The interviewer found the centenarian comfortably before a half-emptied glass of stout, and judging by his expression he was enjoying it immensely.

"My father brewed his own beer," he explained, "and beer was poured down my throat when I was two years old, and I have liked and drank it ever since. If you had come after dinner or supper you would also have found me enjoying my pipe as well."

He came across the room with surprising vigor. A slight deafness was his only sign of senility. His daughter of 67, who has him in her care, said that he was accustomed to take a constitutional by himself every morning, and that he read his paper every morning with unassisted eyes.

"I use to wear spectacdes twenty years ago," chimed in the old man, "but I can read better without them now. I've a good appetite and can sleep well."

"I was born in August, 1809," he said, "at Bocking, near Braintree, in Essex. My father was a plumber, glazier, painter, and caster of lead, with a large business—in fact, he was the biggest man there. I am the only one left out of five girls and five boys."

"The only two of his family who ever came anywhere near his record," interjected Miss Suckling, "were two sisters, who died at 90 and 83 years, respectively."

Mr. Suckling was a patron of the first omnibus — Shilabeer's—that ran from Paddington to the city for a shilling. "I remember coming from Bocking by coach to the Three Tuns, Aldgate, for 8s. 6d.," the old man exclaimed.

INTO THE LIONS' MOUTH

Detectives Asked To Help Lift the Haul of Some Burglars.

London, Aug. 22. — Three detectives of the H division, up with the lark at 6 in the morning, made a fortunate catch while strolling through Brick Lane. The detectives, of course, looked anything but what they were.

Two men came towards them, pushing barrows, on each of which were three sacks. As they got near, one barrow tipped up, and the sacks on it were shot into the road. The men innocently turned to the detectives, and asked them to lend a hand at reloading the barrow. Having handled the sacks, the curiosity of the officers was aroused, and, the answers to their questions being deemed unsatisfactory, the detectives disclosed themselves, and the men were asked to go to the station.

There the sacks were found to be full of shop goods, and the men said the "stuff" was put in sacks to keep it clean, and that they were on the way from Sclater street to their workshop in Commercial road.

On searching the men a glazier's diamond was found on one named Isaac Milnick, and a quantity of bronze coin, and on the other, named Marks Kaspall, a skeleton key and some bronze coin.

The men were detained for inquiries, and an hour or so later information was brought to the station that Messrs. Rosenberg's Manchester and Bradford warehouse at 96 and 98 Hanbury street, Spitalfields, had been broken into during the night, and $500 worth of goods taken.

The things in the sacks were identified as the warehousemen's lost property, and Kaspall's skeleton key was found to fit premises adjoining the warehouse. The manager and a lady clerk, who identified the goods, said that when they came to the warehouse in the morning things generally had been turned upside down, and a safe, kept under the counter, had been moved some distance away, the bottom forced out, and about $10 in coppers abstracted.

The Old street magistrate remanded the two captives.

PLAGUE AT AMOY.

Amoy, Aug. 23. — One hundred and ten persons died of bubonic plague in Amoy during the fortnight ending last Saturday, according to an official announcement made today. During the same period there were thirty-three cholera deaths.

TO REVEAL SECRET OF FRENCH EMPIRE

Memoirs of Gen. De Galliffet Are Expected to Cause Some Sensation.

Paris, Aug. 23. — Something like a sensation is expected to be caused in France shortly by the publication of some racy memoirs which were supposed to have been safely burned. They are those of the famous Gen. de Galliffet, who died recently. Almost a decade ago the general sanctioned the publication of a few extracts from the reminiscences which he had begun to write, but he was said to have been so enraged at the chilling reception of these autobiographical fragments that he threw the remaining manuscripts into the fire.

That such was their fate, however, is now denied vigorously by M. Jules Claretie, who affirms in the Temps that the extracts referred to were merely discursive memoranda to which the general attached no importance. Later Galliffet set to work seriously on his reminiscences, which he told his friends would be published only after his death. Several years ago he wrote to M. Claretie, "I have begun my fifth volume."

"Galliffet's memoirs of Paris, the court, the army, and of life in general—what a mine of information these pages will be," says M. Claretie. "A world which has disappeared will live again; it will be a procession of phantoms, another 'revue nocturne.' I have heard him describe death—the self-destruction—of Mme. Bazaine, a story the empress wished had not been told; private recollections of Prince Jerome Napoleon and conversations with Gambetta. All these were living and astonishing passages of history. It would be regrettable indeed were these reminiscences not to see the light."

MADE MIDNIGHT WILL

Policeman Called From His Beat and Made Trustee.

London, Aug. 22. — Many as are the queer adventures that befall policemen, it is doubtful if any officer ever has had a more odd or weird experience than that through which a Grimsby constable has just passed.

At midnight on Friday the officer was passing the house of a septuagenarian named Francis Jeffrey, when he heard the old man hail him from the bedroom window. The policeman entered the house, and found Jeffrey alone. The septuagenarian stated feebly that he felt he was dying. Seeing that the old man was genuinely ill the constable sent for a nurse and a doctor.

But insisting that his death was near at hand, the patient bade the constable sit down, and after giving him the address of relatives, he dictated his will, finishing by creating the policeman trustee of the estate, and impressing upon him the duty of carrying out the testator's wishes.

Having completed this task, the old man died, despite the efforts of the police surgeon who attended him.

Death was undoubtedly due to the effects of grief on an enfeebled constitution, for a few days ago he awoke early in the morning to find his aged wife dead by his side, and since then he had been inconsolable.

MRS DAVIDSON DEAD.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Susannah Ferrar Davidson, widow of the late Rev. Canon Davidson, of Cobourg, and mother of Rev. Canon Davidson, Peterboro, and of Mr. N. Ferrar Davidson, K. C., died in Toronto today. She was a member of the Diocesan Board Women's Auxiliary and active in all church work. She was over 70 years of age.

LIQUOR VIOLATIONS.

Windsor, Aug. 23.—License Inspector Pacaul made the rounds yesterday morning and afternoon, and as a result several hotelkeepers, it is alleged, will be called upon to appear in court to answer to the charge of liquor violations.

A MIDNIGHT BLAZE.

Vankleek Hill, Aug. 23. — A fire broke out at midnight and destroyed the stores and residences of P. H. T. Soucier, jeweler; A. Matto, tailor; Chee Foo, laundry, and J. Farmer, harnessmaker.

The sheds of the Dominion Hotel were also burned. All the buildings were frame and burned like tinder. Loss is estimated at about $5,000, and is mostly covered by insurance.

KILLED BY BINDER.

Ninette, Man., Aug. 24.—A fatal accident occurred Saturday on the farm of Donald Graham, a prosperous farmer living about four miles south of the town. The men returned to the barns with a binder from the harvest fields about dusk.

Mrs. Graham went out to the barnyard with a lantern for the men. The light frightened the horses, and they ran away. In their mad career, Mrs. Graham was knocked to the ground. The knives of the binder caught her about the breast, slashing the flesh into ribbons, and completely severing one arm at the shoulder.

The victim of the accident was dead in a very few minutes.

NAVY VOLUNTEERS.

London, Aug. 23. — The bill to amend the colonial navy defence act gives power to the proper legislative authority of the colony to provide that volunteers raised in the colony shall form part of the royal naval volunteer reserve, and that seamen and others raised and maintained by the colony shall be bound to general service in an emergency.

The schedule gives power to authorize the admiralty to accept any offer of the colony to place at its disposal for general service of the navy the whole or any part of the volunteers or seamen, with all or any of their officers.

Wonders of the Human Body

Why Many People Never Need a Doctor.

You have a natural laxative in your body. Why, then, should you use a false purgative to move the bowels?

Bile is nature's laxative. It is bile—and bile alone—which moves the bowels as they should be moved. The liver is the storehouse for the bile. The liver pours forth the bile into the bowels, which stimulates them to move, and thus causes the waste matter to pass from the body.

Constipation is a disease, OF the bowels, but CAUSED by the liver. When the bowels do not move regularly and naturally, it is because the liver is not giving up enough bile. And the only possible way to cure Constipation, is to cure the liver.

Calomel, cascara, salts, senna, common pills and sweet lozengers and all the other purgatives do not act on the liver at all. They merely irritate and inflame the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation because they act on the liver. The fruit principles stimulate the liver to secrete and give up enough bile to move the bowels, while the tonics and antiseptics tone up and invigorate the muscles. "Fruit-a-tives" are the only medicine ever discovered that will cure Constipation, Biliousness and all other troubles due to a Torpid or Disordered Liver. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

AN AUDIENCE FALLS INTO A DEEP VAULT

The Floor of New Social Hall Collapses in Milan—40 in Hospital.

Milan, Aug. 24. — During a missionary magic lantern lecture at Valle San Bartolomeo, near Alessandria, the floor of a newly-built social hall collapsed, burying 350 people in a vault fifteen feet below.

The disaster occurred about 11 o'clock at night, owing to a side wall giving way, but it was 2:30 in the morning before efficient help arrived and rescue work was begun in earnest. Meanwhile a priest named Blanchi, who had been working the lantern and who escaped unhurt, preached patience and courage to the unfortunate sufferers buried or pinned beneath the wreckage. Among these were the lecturer, Pawre Constanzo Albasini, a Franciscan friar from China, who was severely injured in the arms and legs; most of the local nobility and a large number of summer visitors, chiefly ladies.

Over 40 people were removed to a hospital with dangerous injuries, and nearly everybody present sustained cuts and bruises or broken bones.

The electric light was extinguished at the moment of the crisis, but, luckily, the flooring at the far end of the hall resisted, otherwise the gas meter would probably have exploded and ignited a tank of acetylene, burning the hapless victims to death.

TEACH GIRLS HOW TO EARN LIVING

Austrian Ministry of Public Works Establishing Technical Schools in Vienna.

Vienna, Aug. 23.—As a measure for increasing the skill and capacity of girls and women who have to earn their own living, the Austrian ministry of public works is establishing a female trade or technical school. It will cover all kinds of feminine handicrafts, such as needlework and embroidery of all kinds, dressmaking, millinery, making artificial flowers and feathers, designing work in gold, silver and pearl embroidery, laundry work, clothes cleaning and many other branches of women's work. The project includes a general technical school, ateliers, special course of instruction and evening classes.

The technical school will be open to girls of 14 and upward, who have passed through the ordinary elementary schools. It will be divided into special departments for each kind of occupation, and will aim at giving a good foundation knowledge of each kind of work, while at the same time, general education will be continuer, combined with instruction in household management.

Pupils who wish to have a more highly specialized training in their future work can enter special ateliers where advanced teaching will be given by experts.

For girls and women already working, special courses and evening classes will be arranged in order that their work may not be interrupted.

The new technical schools will be under the management of a commission of educationists and employers representing each kind of trade included in the school course.

LOST A LEG.

Midland, Aug. 23.—Engineer Reid, of Lindsay, met with a serious accident here on Saturday by which he lost his leg. In backing his engine up to couple on to a freight train, he lost his balance and fell, the train passing over his leg above the knee. He was taken to the hospital, and although still weak, is doing favorably.

BOY RUNS AMUCK.

New York, Aug. 23.—The captain, the mate and a shipyard gang of fifty men at work on the steamer Harry Luckenbach were helpless for half an hour today against Salvatore Farina, a Portuguese youth of ten years, who ran amuck with a sheath knife. John Dalton, the mate, was seriously cut across the abdomen, and he will probably die, and his brother, Joseph, the captain, was less seriously wounded.

The fight began when the mate cuffed Farina for an impudent reply, and ended with two wounded men on the deck. Farina backed up against the foremast, an 18-inch blade in his hand, and the crew ranged around at a respectful distance.

He surrendered to the police.

DIRIGIBLE BALLOON FALLS INTO SEINE

Aviators Rescued From Their Perilous Predicament—Other Experiments.

Paris, Aug. 23. — The Bayard-Clement dirigible balloon, after making a flight here today, fell into the Seine. The aviators on board the airship were saved.

The Bayard-Clement dirigible balloon was built in Paris last fall. It is about 180 feet long and has a capacity of 3,500 cubic metres. The car is built of steel tubes. The airship is fitted with a steel-covered engine house and a shelter for the pilot and passengers. The motor is attached to the frame by strings, so as to prevent the vibration from being transmitted to the framework. The balloon is driven by a wooden propeller about fifteen feet in diameter, which has a speed of 350 revolutions a minute. The ship made a successful trial trip several months ago from Sartrouville to Saint Germain and Maisons-Lafitte.

Going to France.

New York, Aug. 23. — Charles Foster Willard, who has been givng exhibitions with his flying machine on the Hempstead plains, near Mineola, L. I, since Glenn H. Curtiss left to take part in the aerial contests near Rheims, France, is busy packing up his aeroplane today, preparatory to leaving this afternon for Toronto, Ont. He said today that his engagements to give exhibitions in Toronto precluded his staying longer in Mineola, where it was his intention originally to make a second attempt for the long distance record.

Ideal Conditions at Rheims.

Rheims, Aug. 23. — Blue skies and glorious weather, with only a trace of wind, made ideal conditions for this the second day of aviation week here, and the people in this city awoke to the improved prospects of good sport with keen relish.

Attracted by the sensational performance of yesterday, when no less than six aeroplanes were seen at the same time winging their flight in huge circles over the plain of Betheny, and when the dirigible balloon, Col. Renard, appeared over the field at 10 o'clock, having come from Muex, the tribunes and fences lining the field already were black with people. The Renard, which is the first of the dirigible balloons to arrive, carried out a series of impressive evolutions above the plain.

To Represent France.

Hubert Latham has been chosen as the third aviator to represent France in the contest for the international cup, the big event of the week, which will be run off next Saturday. The others are Messrs. Bleriot and Lefebvre. This decision was reached by the judges this morning after careful consideraton of the elimination contests held yesterday. Tissandier, Paul Ham and Sommer are alternates to Latham. Tissandier, who uses a Wright aeroplane, thus far holds the speed record. Only one other Wright machine, that operated by Shreck, remains to compete in this event.

Cortland F. Bishop, representing the Aero Club of America, today received definite assurances from Jacques Verne that he would send a small portable dirigible balloon, the Zodiac, to appear at the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York next month. The Zodiac will compete in the race for dirigibles here.

HOW MR. HARRIMAN SAVED THE ERIE R. R.

When on the Verge of Bankruptcy — Secret of His Influence on the New York Stock Market.

New York, Aug. 24. — The importance of one man to a whole country's prosperity has often been scouted, say J. S. Bache & Co., but the fact remains that if the United States were deprived of the great ability of Mr. Harriman, an ability the effects of which in its quick upbuilding are evident on every hand—the deprivation would be a serious one not for a long time to be resupplied. It may be affirmed with confidence that when Mr. Harriman a year or more ago saved the Erie Railroad, then on the verge of bankruptcy, from disruption, with his own money and single-handed, he averted from the United States a period of three years of hard times, inaugurating instead an era of quick recovery to prosperity. There were other important roads in Erie's plight, and its downfall would have been the signal—the first of the row of bricks—for one after another to drop into bankruptcy. Those who experienced the times of 1903-1906 know what this means—a country strewn with the wrecks of great industries, the toil and stress of slow recovery, the hardship of years of plodding poverty. Many able observers, especially in England, expected these conditions to follow the 1907 panic. The turning point was the exigency of Erie in the spring of 1908, when $5,500,00 of Erie notes were falling due with a nearly empty treasury, and none but pessimists surrounding the sick-bed. Appeals were made to corporations and individuals. Only one responded. In saving Erie, Mr. Harriman saved the whole structure of business rehabilitation.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Travelling incognito, an East Indian prince of the first rank is at present in Montreal. He will visit eastern parts of Canada and United States before returning to England. The prince is travelling in company with Lieut.-Col. Honoray, secretary of the East Indian Association, and president of the British Esperantist Association.

STABBED IN THE BACK.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—A row in a Rideau street hotel Saturday afternoon resulted in Robert H. Polson being stabbed with a knife in the back. Eight stitches were put in and the man is now in the hospital. John Newton has been arrested, charged with the stabbing.

HOT FIGHT OVER ICE.

Montreal, Aug. 23. — A fight is on now between ice dealers for the control of ice space in the river near the city. One of the best fields was leased some time since by J. E. Ewart from the Provincial Government. Now the City Ice Company and Donnelly & Co., rival ice dealers, through J. T. Finnie, the local member, are seeking to get the lease cancelled.

SOME PECULIARITIES OF LATE DEAN LEFROY

Was Continually Startling His Congregation—Objected to Flirting in Church.

London, Aug. 24.—Dr. Lefroy, dean of Norwich, who died in the Riffel Alps, Switzerland, where he was taken ill while spending a holiday, was nothing if not unconventional. He was continually startling his congregations by an outburst against something or other that he considered an evil.

One Sunday he electrified them by telling them that he heard "men and women in London would begin playing bridge immediately after dinner, and in their excitement ladies, after losing all their money, would part with their diamonds unless some rich man cleared off their liabilities."

He predicted the coming of the bridge face—that hard, immobile expression which is said to stamp the devotees of the game.

On another occasion he spoke with considerable severity of the flirting which went on in Norwich Cathedral. The conduct of the young people, he declared, "would not be tolerated in a theatre or concert room."

Dr. Lefroy was a broad-minded man, and did not attempt to blind his eyes to the fact that religion is losing its hold on the people. He once received a suggestion that he and the cathedral choir should parade the streets of Norwich before service. Instead of dismissing it with disdain, he showed himself quite prepared to consider it, and said there was nothing he would not do to cope with the religious apathy he was so anxious to dispel.

Some Peculiarities.

In a Lenten letter written a year or two since he confessed that no cathedral service could successfully compete with the innocent assemblies for afternoon tea, and as the hour of evensong conflicted with that of social refreshment, he proposed, with the agreement of his reverend brethren, to alter the time of evensong at the cathedral from 5 to 5:30.

Conferences with the younger clergy were frequent. The dean used to have what he called "egg-and-bacon parties" at the deanery, at which parish and other difficulties would be discussed.

He was very quick to express his opinions strongly whenever his feelings were roused. In Switzerland he once saw a peasant with a live butterfly pinned into his buttonhole. "If I had not been a dean," he said, telling about it afterwards, "I would have blacked his eye. I only wish there had been someone present to do it for me."

Dr. Lefroy was a journalist before he became a clergyman. Born in Dublin in 1836, he went to Trinity College, and then joined the staff of the Irish Times. It was not until he was 28 that he took holy orders.

In accordance with the dean's wish, he will be buried tomorrow (Friday) in the churchyard of the English Church at the Riffelalp, which he was instrumental in building.

IMITATION JEWELS IN CHURCHES

For some time past there have been frequent robberies of the jewels with which some of the statues in the churches in Rome are decorated. The Pope has given instructions to the various church authorities that in future the jewels with which the images are adorned are to be removed and replaced by imitation stones, the actual gems being lodged either at the Vatican or at some recognized bank. It is well known, of course, that many of the statues and images used in the churches are decorated with jewels worth thousands of pounds. The statue of Christ at Ara-Coeli, at Rome, contains gems worth about £80,000, while that of the Blessed Virgin at Loreto is set with precious stones worth nearly £240,000.—London Globe.

"Silver Plate that Wears"

Laid Behind the Counter Until Relief Came.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING OF AN OWEN SOUND CONTRACTOR AND BUILDER.

MR. WM. KRANTH, Owen Sound, Ont., writes: "Having read some of the testimonials of cures effected by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, I thought it advisable to say a word of praise for its merits.

"Some years ago I was much troubled with stomach trouble and cramps. I used to roll on the floor in agony, and on one occasion I went into a faint after suffering intensely for four hours. A short time after this, in driving to town, I was attacked again and had to lie down in my rig, seeking relief.

"When I reached the drug store I asked the druggist for a quick remedy and laid behind the counter until relief came. The remedy I received from the druggist was Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Whenever, after that time, I felt cramps coming on, I found speedy relief in the above mentioned remedy, and I am now cured of this dreadful malady. The bottle is small, but its contents effect a marvelous cure. I can recommend it highly for the cure of cramps."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for 65 years. It is not a new and untried remedy. Ask for it and insist on getting what you ask for. Refuse substitutes. They're dangerous.

Detroit, Aug. 24.—For ludicrous exhibitions of the great American pastime, as the magnates would have you call it, yesterday's combat between the tribes of Hughie Jennings and Joe Cantillon will find place in history as the limit of the fans' endurance. There were only eight and one-half innings of it, which was at least consoling. To have stretched the performance into overtime as these two teams frequently do, would have added injury to insult. An interesting game of ball was played on Union Hill Saturday afternoon when E. Leonard & Sons' team won from the Bolt Works by a score of 6 to 5. Both pitchers were in fine form, and deserved better support than they received. A return game will be played in the near future. Batteries—Leonards, Gillis and Boyce; Bolt Works, Summers and Bullard. Umpire —I. Donohue.

THE HARVESTER, GREAT TROTTER, NEVER LOST A HEAT

THE HARVESTER, FINISHING, PULLED UP.

If The Harvester, 2:06¾, isn't the fastest trotter in the world some knowing horsemen are in error, for bookmakers, owners, drivers and stable boys will tell you that the son of Walnut Hall has it on the best of them, including Hamburg Belle and Uhlan, the sensations of the year.

The Harvester is owned by August Uihlein, of Milwaukee, and just now that gentleman is congratulating himself for paying $9,000 for the handsome trotter. It was at Madison Square Garden, New York, that Uihlein broke the record price for an untried colt when he bought The Harvester and many a laugh was indulged in by the critics, at what they termed "Uihlein's folly."

But the Milwaukeen has lived to turn the laugh. He sent The Harvester to Geers with instructions to develop him, and Mar's Ed. sure did. He turned the colt around with a field for the first time, at Syracuse, N. Y., last year, and with the eyes of the horse world upon him proceeded to establish a record by driving home in 2:10¼ in the 2:25 trot. That was the fastest mile ever trotted by a colt on his first appearance.

His next race was at Columbus, O., where he took down the Stock Farm Stake and the Horse Review Stake. Then he annexed the blue ribbon of the trotting world, the Kentucky Futurity, at Lexington.

This year The Harvester won at Windsor, Detroit, North Randall and Buffalo, winning every heat with ease. He is entered in the Charter Oak at Hartford, Conn., and may have to step a trifle to win. If so, it will be the first time, for he has yet to meet the horse that will make him distend himself.

The Harvester is a wonderful piece of trotting machinery. He has never broken in a race, and the history he has already established is almost unparalleled in the annals of the harness turf. It would not surprise any one of the men who follow the harness horses closely to read that the great horse has stepped a mile in 2:00, any afternoon.

THE TIGERS MUST WIN TWO TO GET INTO PENNANT RACE

Cleveland's Failure to Take a Contest From the Athletics Leaves Detroit in a Bad Position, and Series Starting Today May Decide the Winner.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Detroit, Aug. 24.—Failure of Cleveland to take a single game from the Athletics, while Detroit was cleaning up with Washington, makes the series that the men of Mack and Jennings will start today one of exceptional interest. In fact, on it may hinge the pennant. Should the Athletics be as successful as they have been in prior series this season, Detroit's hope, at best, would be a forlorn one. Should Detroit make a killing, it would be well placed for the run to the finish line.

Will Use the Best.

Both teams will use the best that they have. Eddie Summers, most successful in the league against the Philadelphians, will open for Detroit, and Krause, loser of but three games this season, will oppose him, in all probability. Elsewise it will be Plank. Whatever the order, these two left-handers will pitch the first two games. Donovan will work the second contest for Detroit. On the third day it will be Mullin, and against him either the left-hander who starts the series or Bender will do the twirling.

Four Games in Fifteen.

Thus far Detroit has won but four games of fifteen played with the Athletics, taking one in each series. Seven are left, and Detroit must do its work in these games to have a chance for the flag. This is the time for the team to make its start, and for the fans to show their loyalty and their interest.

Detroit must take two of the three games to get on even terms with Mack's men. How the Tigers will be affected by the various possible combinations, the following figures show:

	W.	L.	P.C.

COVERPOINT JOLTS

The Suicide Club held a most successful meet in Indianapolis, seven dead and a score injured being the toll for the week. And there were about 20,000 whom the fool killer should get, silly enough every day to pay their coin to see some man or a couple of men smashed to death to make automobile dividends. Such a business should not have the indorsation of any sport-loving community. It makes the Roman gladiatorial days look like Sunday school picnics in comparison. There has not been much advancement in humanity at that in 2,000 years.

* * *

There is going to be a great race in the N. L. U. this year. The Torontos at the present time are the class of the outfit, and are playing the real lacrosse in that league. However they got away to a bad start, and may lose out on that account. They are all youngsters, and next year should simply walk home with the bunting. What a walloping they have given the Tecumsehs to date. It seems like beating a kid.

* * *

Cleveland looked bad with Larry Lajoie, but they look worse just now, and the Athletics simply beat them to a pulp in four consecutive days. The real test will come when the Philadelphia bunch reach Detroit. If the Tigers can wallop them, then the road is easy to the pennant. Last year the west was in the first flight. This year Detroit will be the only team probably in the first four. Cleveland is dropping fast, and the Highlanders may beat them out. The Boston speed boys would be a tough proposition if they had one reliable pitcher.

* * *

The Pirates continue to make the best of that five-game lead, and are rushing away in the van in good style.

LEACH CROSS EASILY PUTS CY SMITH AWAY

Loser Fought Gamely for Five Rounds, But Was Groggy at the Finish of the Tenth.

New York, Aug. 23.—Leach Cross, of New York easily took the measure of Cy Smith, of Jersey City, tonight in ten fast rounds of fighting at the Bedford A. C., Brooklyn. It was the first time Cross has been seen here since his defeat in the 41st round at San Francisco by "Fighting Dick" Hyland.

Both men were admittedly above the lightweight limit of 133 pounds, as they took their corners. At the tap of the bell Smith carried the fight to Cross with a smash. He was both clever and rugged, and for five rounds kept his man covering up.

In the sixth round Cross let out a series of long range left jabs and short arm jolts that puffed Smith's eyes, cracked his lips and flattened his nose. As Smith lost speed Cross put on more. In the ninth he outfought Smith at every point, and ended the round with a heavy knockdown.

Smith rose groggy but game for the last round. He blundered through continued heavy punishment, and was glad to get the bell. It was clearly Cross' fight.

CANADIAN BOWLERS HELD UNITED STATES

Americans 71 Runs Behind in International Three-Day Cricket Match.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 23.—The United States cricketers could do but little against the bowling of the Canadians in the annual three-day international cricket match which started here today, and were all out in the first inning for 85, having previously dismissed the Canadian batting side for 156. The Americans thus go into the second inning 71 runs behind.

The Canadian side started the batting on a fair wicket which wore well and improved as the game progressed. At the lunch interval they had scored 110 for the loss of five wickets and after Heygate had been dismissed, the remainder of the side went rather cheaply, except for Johnson's wicket, which realized 22.

Godwin, of Montreal, and Johnson, of Ottawa, started the trundling against the United States side, and though the latter was taken off and replaced by Wallace, the Americans failed to make any stand at all. Five of the team only reached double figures, the batting of E. M. Cregar for 23 being the feature. Godwin took six wickets for 40 runs, two of the Americans were run out, and Wallace, of Montreal, captured the two remaining wickets for 29 runs.

CARDINALS AND DODGERS SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER

Teams Took Turns at Slugging, St. Louis Being Blanked in Opener —Won Second by 9 to 1.

Brooklyn, Aug. 23. — Brooklyn and St. Louis divided a double-header today. Bell pitched brilliantly in the first game, while the locals batted Raleigh and Melter freely and ran bases at will owing to Phelps' endeavoring to catch with a sore hand. The visitors found Pastorius easy picking in the second, while Beebe was invincible. Bergen kept down the runs by throwing out seven men on attempted steals. Burch's all-around work was another feature. The scores:

MMENSE DAMAGE BY AUSTRALIAN FLOODS

Disturbances Originated in the West and Swept Across the Country.

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 23.—The rains have abated and the floods are subsiding slowly in most places, but the Goulburn River is still rising and threatens several towns. The damage in all parts of Victoria is enormous, but details are not yet available. Most of the telegraph wires are down, and railway communication is badly interrupted.

The disturbance originated in Western Australia and travelled eastward. The rains were accompanied by heavy hail. Great areas of crops have been submerged and orchards and gardens devastated. The rivers are washing down dead animals, furniture, trees and haystacks. Business has been suspended in many townships.

Innumerable bridges have been destroyed. Clune's bridge collapsed during the passage of a train, which fell into the gorge. Many passengers were injured.

ROOTED TOO MUCH

Sherbrooke Lad Dies as the Result of Ball Game at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23. — The excitement aroused by a close game at Bennett Park, coupled with vigorous cheering for the Tigers, caused the death of Arnold Brown at Harper's Hospital, last night. Brown, who was 22 years old, came to Detroit from Sherbrooke, Que., to visit relatives. He had some trouble with his lungs, but his general condition was good, and it seemed entirely probable that he would recover. No discouraging symptoms were noted until the evening after he had attended the baseball game, when he suffered a severe hemorrhage. He went to the hospital, where he sank rapidly. His interest in baseball continued up to the last, and he inquired eagerly for news of Detroit's progress. The body has been taken to Sherbrooke for burial.

THE FLYING DORDONS

One of the Attractions That Will Be Given Twice Daily at the Western Fair.

Sensational aerial gymnasts are the Flying Dordons, consisting of four men and one woman. This quintette, among other things, introduces the cutaways, pirouettes, doubles, trapeze, high dives and somersaults of all kinds. There is nothing under the sun too difficult for them to successfully accomplish in this varied line of entertainment. The double somersault of the woman, as she leaps from one man to another on the swinging trapeze, never fails to bring forth abundant applause, for the spectators realize that this is one of the greatest acts of its kind ever performed by a woman. Quick as a flash the members of this troupe jump from one difficult feat to another, the men swinging in the air by their hands, feet and teeth, and their bodies shoot from ring to ring and trapeze to trapeze as if cast out by an explosion. The difficult manoeuvres of the body and the various poses and the formation of a human pyramid are other exhibitions that have earned for the Flying Dordons the well-earned title of kings of the air.

ADDRESS BY MR. TROTTER

British Representative of Trades Congress Will Speak Tonight.

Mr. W. R. Trotter, British representative of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, will deliver an address at St. George's Hall this evening. Mr. Trotter was appointed by the trades congress at Winnipeg in 1907, and his mission proved so successful and useful that he was reappointed by the Halifax congress in 1908. The last two winters he has spent in the British Isles, securing a large amount of trades union information, more especially such as relates to immigration. Through his efforts, old country trades unionists have been enlightened as to conditions in Canada. As to immigration, Mr. Trotter discovered that many societies were sending out new citizens for the Dominion from selfish motives, their fitness not being considered, and he has succeeded in turning towards the Dominion only the most desirable and needed class.

BRANTFORD PASTOR DEAD

Rev. George Constable, of Onondaga Church Passed Away Suddenly.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Word reached the city yesterday of the suden death from typhoid fever of Rev. George Constable, pastor of the Onondaga Baptist Church, and a former resident of Toronto. Deceased was but 30 years of age, and married. Born in Toronto, he was educated at McMaster University. At the conclusion of his studies some three years ago Rev. Mr. Constable was appointed to the Onondaga church and had a successful pastorate, doing much effective work among the Indians there. The remains will be brought to Toronto today for interment tomorrow at St. John's Cemetery, Norway. The funeral will take place from the home of deceased's sister, 34 Breadalbane street, at 3 o'clock.

COUNTERFEIT QUARTERS.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—During the past week the Dominion secret service police have been making investigations in Toronto. Their presence here was rendered necessary by the discovery of countrfeit 25-cent pieces of the issue of 1904.

STEAD SEES REVOLT OF "UNKNOWN PEERS"

Believes That They May Compel the Rejection of the Budget.

New York, Aug. 24.—W. T. Stead cables as follows from London to the American: The question of questions which is exciting British politicians is the threatened revolt of "unknown Peers" in the House of Lords. As that legislative assembly consists of some hundred peers who attend more or less irregularly during the season, they constitute the working House, and behind them are four hundred peers who only take trouble to attend parliament when some Liberal bill of exceptional importance is to be mutilated or thrown out. As a rule there is a full muster of hereditary legislators once in five years, and it is these non-attending peers who threaten to revolt. Their mutiny is filling the Tory leaders with alarm and the Radicals with unconcealed delight.

Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Tories in the Upper House, is a Whig by descent and a statesman by temperament. It is known that he does not contemplate a great constitutional conflict with the Commons over the budget. He will growl and go as far as he dares in mutilating non-financial proposals embodied in the budget, but there he will stop. His policy, dictated by many reasons, is that the Lords have no constitutional right to amend the budget, and that throwing out the budget will fling the country into confusion, precipitate a financial crisis, and render it impossible to collect taxes or pay the army or navy.

The budget, furthermore, is so popular that it is almost impossible to hold a large public meeting against it in any part of the country, and lastly, a fight to the death between the peers and the people could not possibly be fought on any issue more disadvantageous for the Peers than on the question of relieving rich landlords by increasing the cost of food to the people. All these considerations weigh with the Tory leader, who earnestly desires to let the budget pass, but the "unknown Peers" are so furious that a sacrilegious hand should be laid upon their ancient hereditary right to appropriate the result of the industry of their untitled neighbors that it is reported they refuse to listen to Lansdowne's cautious counsels. They feel that the rights of their order and the rents of their estates are endangered, and they are vowing that, come what may, they will throw out the budget and dare the Liberals to do their worst.

SEEKING DIVORCE

Grace Van Studdiford Wants Separation From Her Husband.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 24. — Grace Van Studdiford, the well-known light opera singer, filed in the courts here papers in a suit for a divorce against her husband, Charles Van Studdiford. It is believed that she charges desertion and non-support.

Coming soon after serious injury to her husband in Decatur, Ill., the filing of the suit has caused much comment. Van Studdiford was overcome by heat on Aug. 12 in Decatur while riding on a coach and fell to the ground, striking on his head. He has been in a hospital ever since.

Charles Van Studdiford was at one time a successful businessman in this city. He lost his fortune, and his wife, who possessed a fine voice and great beauty, returned to the footlights. Later she left the stage, and, it is said, used her personal fortune in re-establishing her husband in business. After a year or so she returned to the stage.

PAUPER GETS $200,000

Inmate of a Poorhouse Comes In for a Handsome Fortune.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 24.—Through the death of Oliver Newhouse, of Indianapolis, Albert Newhouse, an inmate of the poor farm of this county, becomes heir to the former's fortune of $200,000. The legatee is 30 years old and has been sick, penniless and friendless for some time. He had been employed at a local hotel as a porter for several years, but he suffered a severe attack of rheumatism six months ago and was compelled to go to the poor farm.

Newhouse received the information regarding his fortune without any display of emotion. He immediately offered to pay the county for the expense of his care, although he did not possess enough money to buy a postage stamp. Albert Newhouse has a brother, but they have been enemies for some years. The estate comprises 300 acres of rich farm land within five miles of Indianapolis and is valued at $500 an acre. There is also $60,000 on deposit in Indianapolis banks.

The property is free from encumbrance or entanglements and will be turned over to the poor farm beneficiary without deductions. It is not believed that the brother who was ignored will make any fight to obtain a portion of the estate.

THE NUNTHORPE.

York, Eng., Aug. 24.—The Nunthorpe selling stakes of five sovereigns each with 200 sovereigns added for 2-year-olds, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by Pieman, H. P. Whitney's Oversight was second and the Spider third. Nine horses started.

ASK KING'S INTERCESSION.

Stockholm, Aug. 24.—A petition signed by women from all classes of society has been presented to the King, begging him to intercede to bring about arbitration of the dispute between the laborers and their employers that resulted in the strike now almost a month old. The ministry of the interior has sent telegraph instructions to all local governors to take drastic measures to protect the laborers who returned to work. One hundred and twelve German stevedores have arrived here from Travemunde to unload a number of coal steamers that have been lying in the harbor over a fortnight.

REMARKABLE SPEED.

Washington, Aug. 23. — Remarkable high speed was made by the torpedo boat destroyer Flusser in her contractors' preliminary trial off Rockland course last week. The vessel scored 31.03 knots per hour, her contract requirements contemplating but 28 knots.

Without examining the records, the officials say they believe this to be the fastest speed ever made by a United States naval torpedo boat destroyer, previous records being around 30 knots per hour.

THE WHEAT ALL DOWN BY END OF THE WEEK

Fifty Per Cent of Saskatchewan Crop Will Be Cut by Saturday.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—Jack Frost will have to get a move on if he gets in any of his work on the wheat crop. The farmers of Western Canada, according to the Canadian Northern crop report, are buckling into the harness today at all points. In Manitoba, according to the report, the harvest is well on, and at some points threshing is about to begin. It would seem that this week will see about the finish of wheat cutting in this province, and Saskatchewan reports that 50 per cent of the wheat there will be cut by Saturday. Some points in Manitoba report shelling of grain, but on the whole, everything seems to be in an especially satisfactory condition, with excellent weather prevailing everywhere.

FUTURE OF AVIATION DEPENDS ON MOTOR

So Far Aeroplanes of the Biplane Type Have Proved Most Successful.

Bethany Aviation Field, Rheims, Aug. 24.—A black flag snapping from a tall staff over the tent in front of the tribunes facing the aerodrome, and a signal that said "the wind is over ten metres a second" conveyed to thousands of persons who assembled on the Betheny field this morning for the third day of aviation, that no flights were possible until the wind abated.

This was the day set for the visit to the aerodrome of President Fallieres and a dozen special trains came out from Paris. But owing to the unfavorable weather conditions the President and the members of the cabinet decided to postpone their visit until later in the week.

When it was recognized that no flying would be attempted a large crowd of experts in aviation visited the sheds behind the tribunes in which the various aeroplanes are housed, and the morning was spent in discussing the previous performances of the different machines. Many interesting questions have been raised by this new sport of racing in the air. The fact that there have been no serious breakdowns or accidents even when the machines were flying in a wind of 26 miles an hour and encountering difficulties is regarded as ample proof that the aeroplane already is a practical and businesslike machine, whose further development is only a question of time and money. The experts differ as to the respective merits of the biplane and monoplane, and the various types of machines in each class, but it is unanimously agreed that the future of aviation depends upon the perfection of the motor.

The experts agree that the biplanes thus far have demonstrated marked superiority, stability and possibilities of control in a wind as compared to the monoplane. No monoplanes have ventured out except in absolutely calm weather.

The brilliant performance last evening of Glenn H. Curtiss, who covered a lap, six and one-sixth miles, in 8 minutes 35 2-5 seconds, makes him a favorite for the big event of the meeting, the international cup, but there is little actual betting. The rule that requires the contestants in this event, which will take place on Saturday, to start before 5 o'clock in the afternoon, gives Curtiss much concern, as the calm or evening seldom sets in before half-past five. It is evident that the American has no liking for wind.

BATTLE FOR LIFE WITH MONSTER EEL

Terrific Struggle Between Huge Animal and Attendants at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—The Aquarium on Belle Isle was the scene of a thrilling life-and-death struggle early this morning between Geraldine, a huge Moray eel, which had escaped from its temporary quarters in the fish commission's car, and three attendants at the aquarium, who attempted to force the seven-foot monster into the tank which had been made ready for it.

Shortly after 2 a.m. it was discovered that Geraldine had succeeded in breaking through the heavy netting which had been used to keep her in the tank, and was loose in the car. The attendants immediately decided to remove her to the aquarium tank, but they did not then realize what a dangerous job was ahead of them.

With its immense head raised high in the air, the great fish resembled nothing so much as a huge boa constrictor. To touch the eel, which is highly poisonous in every part of its slimy body, meant sure death. So the men fought the battle with long poles to which heavy nets were attached.

It was a desperate fight, and the men knew it. Finally after over half an hour's hard work Geraldine's head was "hooded" with a net and she was pushed and pulled until the immense body fell, at last, with a loud splash into its tank, where it will probably remain.

The Moray eel is noted for its pugnaciousness and voraciousness, particularly those coming from the coral reefs of Bermuda. Its greatest defensive weapon is its natural poison.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Remains of Late Robert Reid Are Expected to Arrive Wednesday Morning.

The funeral of Mr. Robert Reid will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the residence of Mr. Geo. M. Reid.

The body has not yet reached the city, but is expected tomorrow, either on the 3:40 o'clock train in the morning or on the 11 o'clock eastern flyer, it is not known which.

The services will be held at 2 p.m., and the funeral will follow at 2:30 o'clock.

Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

WORSHIPERS KILLED.

Lucca, Italy, Aug. 24.—The village church at Gello, a neighboring hamlet, was struck by lightning today. The roof of the building collapsed, killing two of the worshipers within and injuring fifteen others.

COL. PETERS IS IN THE KIPLING CLASS

Doughty Soldier Takes to Writing Poetry to Get Even With Friends.

A complimentary banquet was tendered Col. Peters by a number of his friends at the Kennels last evening.

About 35 sat down to the dinner, and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Major Hume Cronyn presided, and introduced the toast list. He spoke of the regret that he personally felt at the departure of Col. Peters, and he was sure he voiced the sentiments of all present, when he declared that it was a distinct loss to the city of London when Col. Peters was transferred. Since coming to this city he had made a legion of friends, who were extremely sorry to see him go.

Col. Peters made a characteristic response, in which he declared that he was sorry to leave so many friends behind, but regretted that all could not accompany him to the west. His speech was, as usual, very witty. He recited a poem, composed by himself, in which the foibles of his numerous friends were splendidly hit off. The refrain was "I'll not forget you." It created not a little amusement, and was very cleverly written.

Among those present were: Major Hume Cronyn, George C. Gibbons, K. C., George B. Gerrard, City Engineer Graydon, A. H. Marshall Graydon, Lieut. Wood Leonard, Major Ibbotson Leonard, Jack Labatt, Hugh Labatt, Major Beattie, M. P., Hon. Adam Beck, M. P. P., Hugh Niven, Harry Blackburn, Major H. R. Abbott, Major Shannon, Capt. Anderson, Capt. Gibsone, Major A. A. Campbell, Col. Gartshore, H. M. Rumball, Capt. H. Campbell Becher and many others.

DIFFICULT TO SECURE A COMPETENT SUCCESSOR

Toronto Globe's Tribute to the Late Robert Reid of London.

The Toronto Globe says:

"Though Mr. Robert Reid was not widely known to the people of Canada until his appointment, five years ago, as a member of the commission intrusted with the task of constructing the eastern division of the National Transcontinental Railway, his reputation as a merchant and manufacturer in the city of London was deservedly high. In selecting the members of the commission the Dominion Government deliberately chose men of experience in business rather than men of experience in railway construction or management. In private life the great railway projectors, promoters and constructors have generally been business men, not engineers.

"In adopting and carrying out this policy the Government invited and received criticism, but the result has amply justified the policy. Part of the credit for this outcome is due to the sterling character and exceptional competence of the late Mr. Reid, of whom it is high praise to say he was worthy of his colleagues. It is not a little to be able to say that in the selection of a long route through a difficult country, in the letting of contracts for amounts making up an enormous aggregate, and in the vast and varied work of administering a railway partially completed, but to a great extent under construction, there has never been any charge or even suspicion of embezzlement of public money.

"It will be a matter of some difficulty to find a successor to Mr. Reid who will prove competent to take up the work at the point where he left it off, and do his share of it in such a way as not to embarrass his colleagues. The task of the commission is not more than half completed, and the next five years will be no less arduous than the last five have been. When it is completed, the whole line from the Atlantic to the Pacific will be a perennial monument to those who carried it through and amongst the names connected with it none will stand higher than that of the man whose useful career was brought to so untimely and tragic a conclusion."

CABLE RATES CUT NOT BEEN DROPPED

The Postmaster-General Says Matters Progressing Towards Desired End.

Montreal, Aug. 24. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux are in the city today. The Postmaster-General denied the report in an Ottawa paper that the question of the reduction of cable rates, in which he is interested keenly, has been allowed to drop, and declared that on the contrary, matters are progressing favorably towards the desired end. The cable rates reduction was one of the things strongly urged at the recent imperial press conference in London.

HARRIMAN MARCONIS HE'S FEELING WELL

Coming Back To Gain Ten Pounds Lost in the "Cure."

New York, Aug. 24.—Edward H. Harriman, who is now approaching New York, after several months' sojourn in Europe, today sent the following wireless message to the Associated Press: "On board steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II., via wireless, to Sagaponack. My condition is good. I am going back to Arden for the after-cure, and to regain ten pounds which I left at the Gaste-in cure. The condition of the American crops make the outlook bright and business conditions for the future safe.

"The views I expressed on June 1, before leaving the United States, have undergone no change."

EIGHT-POUND NUGGETS

Important Silver Discovery Made in Gowganda District.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 24.—Advices have been received here respecting what is stated to be the most important silver mining discovery yet made in the Gowganda district. The Northern Mining Company, a close corporation, of which Lieut.-Col. Morrison, D. S. O., of Ottawa, is president, owns the property. This is situated close to the southeast end of Miller Lake. The vein exposed is 14 to 24 inches wide, containing calcite and native silver. Several native silver nuggets weighing six to eight pounds have been already taken from a few feet below the surface, and the wall rock is heavily shot with native silver.

The directors of the Union Pacific Railroad declared a regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the common stock and a regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock.

The directors of the Southern Pacific Company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the common stock.

ONE GOULD DIVORCED

Final Separation Papers Between Frank and His Wife.

New York, Aug. 24.—Mrs. Helen Kelly Gould today obtained her final decree of divorce from Frank J. Gould. The interlocutory decree was signed on May 20 of this year.

There was no opposition today when Mrs. Gould's attorney made a formal application to Supreme Court Justice Giegerich for the final papers.

The decree gives the custody of the two children, Helen and Dorothy, to each parent for six months in each year.

Mr. Gould is not permitted to remarry in this state until after the death of his wife. The papers do not mention alimony.

HOBOES HAD VANISHED

When St. Kitts Police Arrived to Round Them Up.

St. Catharines, Aug. 24.—A gang of tramps, said to number about eighteen, having their camp in Belton's Bush, near St. Catharines, had been terrorizing this district for some time past, and last night a number of St. Catharines' police, accompanied by some members of the frontier police force at Niagara Falls, all being heavily armed, swooped down on the camp. The hoboes apparently had got wind of the raid, however, for when the officers arrived, not a tramp was to be seen. The men are supposed to have boarded passing freight trains.

TAX ON LAUNDRIES.

Chatham, Aug. 24.—The city council last night passed a bylaw imposing a license of $50 a year each on laundries and appointing an officer to see that these places are kept in a sanitary condition. The bylaw is aimed chiefly at Chinese laundries which have become very numerous in this city.

BOYS STOLE TOBACCO.

Belleville, Aug. 24.—Three boys stole tobacco from the warehouse of Kenny Lalkenny & Walmsley, in this city, yesterday afternoon. Two kept watch while the other did the stealing. The boys were frightened away before they could be identified. The police are investigating.

THE BADMINTON.

York, England, Aug. 24.—The Badminton plate of 150 sovereigns, for 2-year-olds, distance 5 furlongs, was won by H. P. Whitney's Top o' the morning. Photome was second, and Sister Anne third. Eleven horses ran.

KING OF ENGLAND TRIES SIMPLE LIFE

Edward VII. Rests a While at Marienbad After Busy Social Season.

London, Aug. 23.—King Edward decided on enjoying a much needed rest at Marienbad after what has probably been the busiest season he has ever known. Not only have visits from the Czar and the Russian Duma added to his social duties, but he has fulfilled an unusual number of engagements in London and the provinces. In Lancashire, Gloucester and Birmingham many of his subjects saw him for the first time since he has been King of England. At Epsom a tremendous crowd cheered his victory in the Derby race and at Wellington and Rugby school boys heard him speak on duties of citizenship. He opened museums, reviewed artillery companies and attended many dedication ceremonies.

As to the state functions of the season it is impossible to do more than hint at them. There were the usual levees, investitures, receptions and balls, and in addition the press delegates from the colonies and a delegation from the Turkish Imperial Parliament were entertained. With all this the King did not omit visits to his friends.

He made fourteen week-end visits to country houses, three of them to Americans, Lady Paget, the Whitelaw Reids and Mrs. Lewis Harcourt having been among his entertainers. He dined with many of his friends in London also, and found time to appear at the opera at Covent Garden seven times and the theatres nine times, which included the matinee performance of "His Borrowed Plumes," by Mrs. Cornwallis West. He attended two fashionable weddings and countless bridge parties, besides gala days at the horse show and other public affairs.

Then, after this whirl of business and pleasure, the King led the simple life at Marienbad, rising at 8 a.m. to drink the waters while walking to the golf course, after breakfast giving three hours to correspondence and state matters, then after a simple lunch more walking, a little croquet, more waters, an early dinner and bed at 11 or thereabout.

FEWER GERMANS NOW COME TO AMERICA

Spontaneous Emigration Has Practically Ceased, Says Official Report.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—"Spontaneous emigration" to the United States has practically ceased so far as Germany is concerned. The fact is brought to light in a comprehensive report just issued by the German emigration authorities. The statistics compiled by the bureau, which dispenses information as to business conditions and chances of making a living in foreign lands, show that while there has been an increased demand lately for data regarding other countries, inquiries as to the industrial conditions in the United States are rare.

"The emigration to America, which still absorbs a large proportion of those leaving Germany," says the report, "is only to a very small extent spontaneous or the result of free and uninfluenced decision of those emigrating. It is due chiefly to the attractive force of the millions of people of the same race and speech who have settled there.

"Family relationships, not industrial conditions, are now the determining factors of more than nine-tenths of those now seeking information about America. They have relatives there who have invited them over. Their inquiries relate not to the business outlook, but to immigration regulations and routes of travel."

Some dissatisfaction is expressed here in shipping circles about the attitude of the American immigration officals, whose stringent enforcement of the regulations is held to be responsible for the unsatisfactory state of the steerage traffic. The increase of the head tax on immigrants from $4 to $12 is also viewed with disfavor.

Reports of German steamship companies show that only 174,000 persons have embarked at Hamburg and Bremen since the first of the year. This is greatly in excess of the figures for the first six months of 1908, when the financial crisis caused a sharp decline in emigration, but it is nearly 100,000 below the record for the same period of 1907.

MARRYING SALARY LIMIT.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—The management of the Molsons Bank has raised the marrying salary limit of its clerks from $1,000 per year to $1,200. The higher limit is in consequence of the increased cost of living throughout Canada. Several other banks previously have taken the same step.

GREAT LAWYERS THERE.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—The 32nd annual meeting of the American Bar Association opened here today with the reading of the president's address by Frederick W. Lehmann, of St. Louis. The delegates include many of America's leading lawyers, and among the distinguished visitors are Sir Frederick Pollock, the English jurist, and George S. Barbey, advocate of the court of appeals of Paris, France.

A CHINESE ASSEMBLY.

Pekin, Aug. 23.—The throne has given orders that it be supplied with estimates for the construction of an imperial assembly hall to occupy the site of the ancient hall of executions. The rules to govern the first National Assembly of China also are being drafted.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The permanent injunction sought by western railways against the interstate commerce commission in the famous Missouri River rate case, was granted here today by Judges Crosscup, Baker and Kohlsaat of the United States circuit court.

THE WOMEN LET IN, SECRET LET OUT

Big Suns of Money Won and Lost by Gambling Right in Czar's Prison.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—Gradually interesting secrets are leaking out regarding the raid upon the much-frequented gambling quarters in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress, this city's great island prison.

Owing to the energetic steps taken by the town commandant to suppress gambling, players had had much difficulty in finding rooms for the pursuit of their pastime. Finally Col. Vrevski gave up his quarters in the fortress for $50,000.

There play began at 10 o'clock every evening and continued throughout the rest of the night, the players being guarded against interruption by sentries which Col. Vrevski placed around the house.

A few months ago women were admitted to the gambling club and many noble ladies as well as titled men were ruined financially.

One night a queen of the demi-monde lost an enormous sum, went to Col. Vrevski and demanded that he make good her losses. On his refusal to do so she promptly denounced him to the commandant, who had the colonel's house immediately surrounded by a company of soldiers.

The players were panic-stricken, and many of them, including representatives of the highest society, tried to hide themselves. But all in vain. They were discovered and Col. Vrevski was arrested.

The exposure caused a tremendous sensation. In the last few years huge sums have been won and lost by young noblemen and others in St. Petersburg, and the authorities were unable to locate the club. The last place they thought of looking for it was in one of the state prisons.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

BRISK SALES ON THE LOCAL MARKET

Hay Again Advanced Sharply —Oats Brought Stiff Prices Today.

MUCH FRUIT OFFERED

No Change in Meat and Vegetable Prices—Other Quotations on the Square.

There was a brisk sale on this morning's market, despite the fact that it was considerably smaller than the market of last Tuesday or Thursday.

Hay again advanced strongly, owing to the very small number of loads offered, there being only six or seven in all. The lowest price paid was $13 50, while the highest was $14 50, and the majority went at this price.

Oats also were scarce, and brought a very good price. The price for old oats was $1 61 to $1 68, and for new $1 45 to $1 50, and the majority were sold at the higher prices. A couple of loads of straw were offered and sold for $6 50 to $7.

There was no change in butchers' meats and the market on them was very small, and the supply scarce.

Dairy produce was also staple. Eggs sold at 20c to 20½c by the crate, and 21c to 22c by the dozen.

There was practically no change in vegetable prices, and the supply was not large. The tomato supply was unusually small for this time of year, and as a result the prices remained strong.

Fruit was offered in fair quantities, peaches running from 35c to 50c a large basket. Plums, 40c to 60c, and apples, 25c to 35c.

Thimbleberries were still quite plentiful, and sold at 9c to 10c.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 23. — The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged figures to an advance of five in response to a partial gain of half franc at Havre, and the steadiness of the Brazilian markets in the face of the continued heavy movement. Trading was quiet but prices were sustained, the market closing quiet, net unchanged to five points higher. Sales were reported of 7,750 bags, including September at $5 35; March at $5 35; May and July at $5 40. Spot quiet; No. 7 Rio, 7¼c to 7½c; No. 4 Santos, 8½c to 9c; mild, dull; Cordova, 8½c to 12c.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Union Stock Yards.—Business was again very quiet in the butcher cattle trade at this market today, but prospects look a big export trade for tomorrow's market.

Receipts are heavy, amounting so far to 113 cars, with close upon 2,400 head of cattle, and to this number will probably be added some 30 or 40 cars in today. All cattle of good quality and weighing 1,000 to 1,100 pounds and upward were held for the export trade. This limited the available number of cattle offering for the local butchers' trade to probably less than 50 carloads, these including a large proportion of medium to common butcher cattle, with very few first-class butchers. With the exception of the latter few, which held firm at from $5 to $5 30, the general run of prices for medium to good butchers were steady at around $4 to $4 80. Good butcher cows are steady to firm at $3 70 to $4 25.

Calves easy at $3 to $6 50.

GLASGOW.

Glasgow, Aug. 23.—Edward Watson and Ritchie report 524 cattle on offer. Trade better. Prices as follows: 13¾c for top quality; secondary, 12½c to 13c; bulls, prime, 11½c; secondary and inferior 10c to 10½c per pound.

LIVERPOOL.

Liverpool, Aug. 23.—John Rogers & Co., Liverpool, cable today: States steers, from 12¾c to 13¼c; Canadians, 12c to 12¾c; cows and heifers, 11½c to 13¼c; ranchers, 11c to 12c; bulls, 9½c to 10c. Trade firm.

GETS HIGH PRICE FOR HOGS.

Niles, Mich., Aug. 23.—Frank Starkweather, of this place, sold today 25 hogs at $7 75 per hundred live weight to Philips & Wells, of Pokagon. Mr. Starkweather explains that the high price of corn caused pork to soar. He says notwithstanding the corn crop in the United States will be the largest ever harvested, the price of pork will be high for months to come, because of scarcity of hogs in the country.

CLANDEBOYE.

Clandeboye, Aug. 23. — Mrs. Snell, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lamport, has returned to her home in Exeter.

Mrs. W. Cunningham and daughter Jane, and her grand-daughter, Miss Yager, have gone to Hamilton as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Parlament.

Mrs. W. Fraser, of Port Huron, is visiting her parents here.

Mrs. W. J. Hodgins, of Mooresville, is very ill at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs Harlton, here.

Mr. Moses Hodgins, who has been sick for some time, is not improving very much.

Mr. J. B. McIlhargey, who has been sick for the past three months, is improving nicely.

Mr. D. Quigley, New York, made a short visit to his uncle's in this place today.

Mr. Jack Quigley called on friends here today.

Mr. D. Cunningham and daughter Lily, of East London, are visiting friends here.

Mr. T. Flynn, of Stratford, is visiting friends here and in Denfield.

Farmers in this vicinity are pretty well through with their harvest. Now threshing is all the go. Those who have threshed report very favorably on the average turnout, which is between 20 and 30 bushels per acre for wheat.

EAST LONDON

FELL TWENTY-FIVE FEET AND NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

Alfred Miller, a Tinsmith, Had a Miraculous Escape in East End Today.

Mr. Alf. Miller, a tinsmith, employed by J. A. Page, on a two story house being erected on Ontario street, north of Queen's avenue, fell from the roof where he was working this morning, being badly shaken up. Dr. Holmes was called and had him removed to his home on Grey street in the ambulance.

Miller fell a distance of about 25 feet, alighting in the sand, and his escape from serious injury or even death is remarkable. He will be laid up for some time, his leg having been strained.

TOOK DRUNK IN FRUIT DEALERS CART

Laughable Sight When Officer Pushed His Prisoner Along Street to Station.

Some amusement was caused in the East End this morning, when P. C. Snider arrested a drunk, and was compelled to take him to the police station in a fruit dealer's pushcart, which he borrowed for the purpose, the patrol horses being out on an ambulance call.

The man had passed the "tight" stage, and was so loose and limp that the policeman found it impossible to keep him on his feet.

He sent in a call for the patrol, but was told to bring the man along himself, as the horses were out.

About that time an Italian passed crying his wares, and a happy thought struck the "cop." He secured the cart easily, and loading up his man, pushed him down the pavement to the Carling street station.

The prisoner will come up tomorrow.

MUCH PETTY THIEVING

Is Reported in the East End These Days.

A great deal of petty thieving is said to be going on in the East End these days, and many of the residents are up in arms against tramps and other loiterers.

The gentry who are causing the trouble appear to have a fondness for clothesline stuff and chains.

Many horses are tied in the field south of the old Grand Trunk coal chutes, and almost every night some person misses a chain. On several occasions horses have been found on the tracks and among the sidings.

Mr. O. W. Cambridge is one of the recent losers, two chains, each worth about $4, having been stolen within the past week. The second one was new, he having purchased it a day or so before it was stolen.

ONE MAN COMMITTED

Charge of Assaulting Pottersburg Constable Was Heard Yesterday.

The three young men charged with assaulting Constable Mills, of Pottersburg, over a week ago, appeared for trial yesterday. The men had been drinking, and were in a quarrelsome humor, and were causing a disturbance when Constable Mills asked them to move on.

According to the evidence given yesterday afternoon at their hearing before Squire Chittick, one of the men promptly struck the constable in the face, and otherwise injured him. The constable hit the man lightly with his billy. The men finally made their escape.

The magistrate finally decided that only one of the men should be committed for trial, as the others were only indirectly connected with the affair. The man was allowed out on $100 bail. Mr. J. B. McKillop appeared for the crown and Mr. Scatcherd for the defendants.

YOUNG SON DEAD.

Eugene Francis Hiney, aged 9 years and 11 months, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hiney, of 801 Princess avenue, died at the home of his parents Saturday after a prolonged illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiney were just preparing to remove to Ottawa, where Mr. Hiney was formerly soloist in the band of the Governor-General's Foot Guards.

He is survived by three brothers and one sister, as well as his parents. They are: James Hiney, of this city; Bernard T. Hiney, staff sergeant in the Middlesex Regiment. Hanover Hance Hamshire, Eng.; Ernest Hiney, secretary to the Governor-General at Ottawa, and Miss Grace, at home.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, and will be of a private nature. The services will be conducted at 2 o'clock.

OBJECT TO ARENA.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Mr. George Pepper, assisted by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., today asked the board of control to give its consent to the sale of a site of a site on Bloor street east for a big arena. The representatives of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Westminster Presbyterian and Central Methodist Churches, tre Salvation Army Training School, Moulton College, St. Margaret's College and other institutions opposed. After courteously hearing all sides the mayor informed the deputations that the matter rested entirely with the oard of edubcation.

Miss Edna Windee is visiting relatives in Chicago, Waternau and Aurora.

GLENCOE IS GRATEFUL TO CITY OF LONDON

For Prompt Attempt to Render Aid During the Big Fire on Sunday.

Mayor Stevely has received a letter of thanks from Reeve W. D. Moss, of Glencoe, thanking him for his kindness in placing the steam fire engine and part of the local brigade at the service of Glencoe on Sunday morning last on the occasion of the fire.

Reeve Moss stated that the citizens appreciated the kindness of London.

"We did some quick work on Sunday morning," said Mayor Stevely."We had a train ready and our engine loaded in half an hour ready to go to Glencoe, when the message came that the fire was under control."

HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM LOSING SIGHT

Boy Throws Water on Lime With Painful and Serious Results.

Mike Catalano, the 14-year-old son of Cosimo Catalano, of 292 Dundas street, met with a serious accident about 1 o'clock today, which seemed likely at first to cost him his sight. The boy was playing with some lime in a tin box, and not knowing its qualities carelessly threw some water into it, with the result that it exploded, throwing the lime into both his eyes.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson was immediately called, and succeeded in cleansing the eyes, but not before both had been very seriously burned. Dr. Stevenson expects that the sight will be saved, but the boy's eyes are still in a serious condition, and it is impossible to definitely determine what the result will be.

FIRE CHIEF HOWARD VISITING IN LONDON

Head of the Peterboro Dept. Just Returned From Grand Rapids Convention.

Fire Chief W. A. Howard of Peterboro, is spending a few days in the city visiting old friends here. He is on his way back from the fire chiefs' convention, recently held in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"The meetings were very fine, and we had some of the finest demonstrations in modern fire fighting one could wish to see," said Chief Howard in conversation with The Advertiser. "It was a very profitable gathering."

Chief Howard is doing well in the eastern city, and is rapidly making a name for himself among fire chiefs.

Next year the convention will be held in Syracuse.

Provincial Association.

Chief Howard also stated that the fire chiefs of Ontario organized in Grand Rapids into a provincial association.

Ald. T. Church, of Toronto, made the suggestion, and the fifteen fire chiefs from Ontario who were present formed the association.

Chief TenEyck of Hamilton was elected president, and Chief Howard was elected secretary-treasurer.

The city of Toronto invited the members to meet in Toronto during the exposition, but it was impossible for them to do so, and it is probable that a meeting will be held in that city this autumn.

LATE LOCAL ITEMS

—The Salvation Army Band will give a musical festival in Victoria Park on Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, at 8 o'clock.

—Judge Elliott is today in Parkhill holding court. Tomorrow he holds court in St. John's, and in Lucan on Thursday.

Both Doing Well.

At the time of going to press the reports on the condition of Walter C. Barnett and F. Feely, the two men who were seriously injured in the wreck last night, were satisfactory. The men are, if anything, doing better than could be expected.

Masquerade at Port Stanley.

Tomorrow evening a grand masquerade carnival will be held on the board walk at Port Stanley. Music will be furnished by the Twenty-sixth Battalion Band. The lifesaving crew will give an exhibition on the lake in the illumination of large bonfires. Everything will be in full swing.

The Closing Event.

The closing event in connection with the boys' swimming baths takes place tomorrow, when the competition for prizes will commence promptly at 11 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to all those interested in the work of the association who have the baths in charge, to be present on this occasion.

End of Long Vacation.

Only one week more remains of the "long vacation" at the court house, and after Sept. 1, the old order of things will be returned to and the offices will be open from ten o'clock till four. The courts, too, will open and things will once more begin to move briskly about the hall of justice.

Hit by a Girder.

A passenger on one of the Springbank cars was badly shaken up when returning to the city last evening when he was struck and knocked back into the seat by a girder on the York street bridge. His hat was bumped into the river, but he did not suffer any serious injury.

A Successful Londoner.

Mr. William Angus, a former Londoner, and now of Chicago, is in the city visiting his father, Mr. Robert Angus, the well-known mechanical expert. Some years ago Mr. Angus was Mergenthaler machinists in the composing room of The Advertiser. He left about thirteen years ago and went to the big New York factory of the Mergenthaler Company, where he mastered the details of construction of the typesetting machine. Then he went to Denver, Colorado, where for some time he was employed as expert machinist on the big dailies there. His success attracted the attention of the Mergenthaler Company, a concern capitalized at $50,000,000, and today he is the company's representative in four of the important states of the American Union. Mr. Angus has a kindly feeling for London and London papers, and is pleased with the progress he observes all about him in this city.

SAUNBY PETITION IS GROWING LARGER DAILY

Scheme to Place Dredge on River Is Now Being Considered in London.

The petition asking the city to take over the Saunby property is still being circulated, and is being signed by a number of prominent citizens.

In connection with this, another scheme is also being considered by some prominent citizens, and that is the placing of a dredge on the river, and allowing the Saunby property to remain as it is.

The statement was made today that the city could put a dredge on the river, obtain its own gravel, and save much money every year in the process.

How It Works Out.

Last year approximately $11,000 was spent for gravel throughout the city.

It is stated that the city could have the same amount of gravel drawn for $5,000, or at least $7,000, and there would be still $3,000 or so left to pay for the dredge.

The river would be deepened, and pleasure craft could be used at all times on the Thames.

This idea is occupying the attention of some citizens at the present moment, and may have some result on the coming municipal elections.

A VERY KEEN CONTEST FOR THE MAYORALTY

A Glance Ahead as to What May Happen in January, 1910.

There is a certain shaking-up among the aldermen of the city, and it is rapidly becoming evident as to who will take a chance with the electors on Jan. 1 next.

Practically the whole council will seek re-election. It is certain that Ald. Cooper, Ald. Rose, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Fitzgerald, Ald. Moorhead, Ald. Garratt, and Ald. Stevenson will again run.

Ald. Gerry has announced several times this year that he has had enough, but it is possible that he will again run, and if he does, it is practically certain that he will be elected.

Ald. Parsons has announced that he will withdraw for good and all, and it is certain that he will not run.

For the Mayoralty.

Ald. Beattie will not run for the aldermanic board again, but may take a flyer at the mayoralty. Ald. Ferguson will also run for mayor, and it is practically certain that he will be in the field.

Mr. Fred J. Darch, of the water commission, will also be a candidate for the mayoralty, so his friends say, and it is likely to develop into a three-cornered contest.

Some dark horses are mentioned for the chief magistracy of the city, so there is every possibility of a keen contest.

The Water Commission.

The water commissioners will retire in a body. Chairman Jones will not run again, it is said, now that the water question has been solved.

Commissioner Darch may run for the mayoralty, and Mayor Stevely will likely retire.

The water commission will be increased to five members when the power question must be dealt with, and his worship may sit on this board.

Board of Education.

Four members of the board of education retire this year—Trustees Westervelt, G. N. Weekes, Rev. D. S. Hamilton and Dr. Teasdall. Rev. Mr. Hamilton will retire, and Mr. Westervelt may. However, if he does stand for re-election he will undoubtedly be given the honor.

There is little talk about the other boards as yet.

THE CADET TEAM.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—The first range, 200 yards, of the governor-general's match, was shot off at the D. R. A. today. The weather was good in the morning, but became darker and more windy in the afternoon. The Canadian cadet team, to compete for the Lord Robert's trophy, is composed of Cadet Robertson, Renfrew; Cadet C. McKenzie, P. E. I.; Cadet Haggarty, Harbord, C. I., Toronto; Cadet Porter, Yarmouth, N. S.; Cadet Ote, Harbord C. I., Toronto; Cadet Robertson, St. Andrews, N. B.; Cadet Lawson, Dundas, and Cadet Kellock, Harbord C. I., Toronto.

The party proceed on their way today to Toronto and the Bay of Quinte.

HENRY—BANNERMAN

An Interesting Event at "Maple View Place," Monkton.

On Wednesday, Aug. 18, "Maple View Place," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bannerman, was the scene of a very interesting event, when their eldest daughter, Sadie E., became the wife of Mr. Charles Henry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Ferguson in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. At high noon the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Wm. Bannerman. After the knot was securely tied the happy couple led the way to the dining-room where a sumptuous dinner was served. The tables and house were artistically decorated with carnations, sweet peas and ferns.

The bride looked dainty in a pretty gown of champagne-colored silk, and carried a bouquet of white asters, carnations and ferns. Her going-away costume was of old rose chiffon broadcloth, braided and trimmed with jet buttons.

The bride received many beautiful and costly gifts, indicative of the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Among these presents were two substantial checks and a set of Limoges china. Guests were present from London, St. Marys, Stratford, Mitchell, Woodstock and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry left Monkton on the 3 o'clock train for Toronto and Niagara Falls amid showers of rice and confetti. On their return they will reside in Monkton. Their many friends wish them every happiness.

RIB STOPPED BULLET

Attempt of Young Man to Suicide Was Not Successful.

Brantford, Aug. 23.—Robert Craig, aged 20 years, in a fit of melancholy, to which he was subject, attempted suicide at the farm of Mrs. Henry Cleator, Mount Pleasant, five miles from this city, Suday night. He went out to the barn, where he shot himself in the breast with a 22-calibre revolver. Luckily the bullet struck a rib and did not penetrate the lungs. The people in the house heard the shot, and found Craig lying in the barn. Doctors were summoned, and say he will recover.

HUSBAND'S DEATH CLOSE ON THAT OF WIFE

Mr. Franklin Mutch, a Well-Known Former Londoner, Died Yesterday.

Death did not long divide Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mutch. It is just a week ago Sunday that Mrs Mutch died at the home of her daughter, Mrs C. E. Wheeler, of Waterloo street; and yesterday again the house was darkened by the shadow of death, when Mr. Franklin Whistler Mutch died, just eight days after his wife.

Mr. Mutch was a native of Fergus, having been born in that place 66 years ago. It is over 25 years ago since he came to London, where he was employed in the Grand Trunk car shops. While in London he was a manager in the King Street Presbyterian Church, and took a very prominent part in all its activities. Eleven years ago he moved to Woodstock and joined the James Hay Company.

Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Mutch came to London on a visit to their daughter, and shortly after their arrival both were taken ill, and died in their daughter's home.

The surviving children are: James, of Detroit; Mrs. C. E. Wheeler, of this city; Mrs. Sydney D. Dulmage, of Toronto, and the Misses Elsie and Georgina, at home.

MAY ANNEX SUBURBS TO SECURE POPULATION

Latest Scheme Being Put Forth by the Advocates of Sunday Cars in London.

It is expected that ward 1 will show an increase in population, perhaps 100, but not nearly sufficient to place the population of the city at 50,000.

At the present time the assessors are busily engaged on the work, and will finish it within a reasonable length of time.

There is some talk of taking annexation proceedings to bring in the suburbs in order to have a Sunday car service.

If cars were favorably received under the present agreement, Pottersburg, Broughdale and Springbank will be cut off, and parts of Chelsea Green would not be served satisfactorily.

If these portions of the city were annexed, there would undoubtedly be more than 50,000 people, sufficient to give Sunday car service.

No such a move has been taken as yet, but it is anticipated that something of that nature will be attempted within a short time.

A PRETTY WEDDING ON QUEEN'S AVENUE

Miss Grace Harding Becomes the Bride of Mr. James McKenzie, of This City.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at the home of Mr. W. R. Harding, 472 Queen's avenue, when his daughter, Miss Ella Grace Harding, was united in marriage to Mr. James McKenzie, of this city.

The bride was handsomely gowned in cream silk, and wore a silk embroidery Brussels net veil, and carried a bridal bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, while her going-away dress was of navy blue broadcloth.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with evergreen, golden-glow and sweet peas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. T. Hill, of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, after which the wedding party and their friends adjourned to the lawn, where a dainty lunch was served. After the usual toasts, the party returned to the parlors, where the afternoon was spent in music, by Miss James, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, Mr. Redhead, Mr. Frank Harding and others.

There were many beautiful presents, the groom's gift to the bride being a very handsome baby grand piano.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left on the eastern flyer for Hamilton, where they will take the boat for Montreal, visiting a number of other places during their trip. They expect to be back in the city about Sept. 4. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie carry with them the heartiest good wishes of a host of friends in this city.

MANY VOLUNTEERS FOR MISSIONARY WORK

Summer School at Port Burwell, the Most Successful Ever Held in District.

The summer school recently held at Port Burwell is pronounced by Field Secretary Robert Alway to have been "one of the most successful ever held in the St. Thomas school district."

Actual results of the week's work shows fourteen volunteers for foreign mission work, five volunteers for home mission work, and twelve conversions. But this is a small measure of the success of the services. At the close of the meetings a unanimous feeling was expressed that the union school be made a permanent annual affair, as every department shows such splendid advancement from year to year.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Honorary president, Rev. C. E. McLeod; president, Rev. Arthur Brown, Port Burwell; first vice-president, Andrew Graham, Buffalo; second vice-president, A. W. Gray, North Tonawanda; secretary, Rev. George McKenzie, London; treasurer, Miss Maggie Niell, St. Thomas; field secretary, Robert Alway, St. Thomas.

Those in charge of the various services were: Bible teacher, Rev. George McKenzie, London; mission study class, Rev. Arthur Brown, London; missionary address, Miss Hester Alway, Brooklyn, N. Y. The evangelistic services were in charge of Messrs. Graham and Gray, of Buffalo and North Tonawanda.

Those who offered themselves for the foreign field were: Miss Alma Wilson, Summers Corners; Miss Crossett, Kingsmill; Miss Annie Ward, Atherton; Miss Lella Curtis, Bloney; Miss Annie Winch, London; Miss Myirl Ashton, Kingsmill; Miss Maude Chestorman, Courtland; Walter Donley, Union; Miss Lilian McCall, Delhi; Murray Able, Herbert Miller, Summers Corners; Miss Maggie Niell, St. Thomas; Miss McLeod, Port Burwell; Miss Lottie Colinson, Grovesend.

NEW HOSPITAL WAS THROWN OPEN

Many Citizens Yesterday Inspected the Sections for Contagious Patients.

A COMPLETE INSTITUTION

Modern in Every Respect, and Well Calculated to Serve the Purposes for Which It Is Intended.

The new isolation section of Victoria Hospital was open for visitors yesterday afternoon, and quite a number of the citizens of London took advantage of the opportunity to view what is undoubtedly one of the most complete buildings of its kind in Canada.

It would be hard to imagine a brighter or more cheerful looking structure than this. Windows are everywhere, and these, in conjunction with the spotless white walls, leave not a single dark spot in the whole building. Instead of the usual corners, where floor and walls meet the surbases have been curved out, so that there isn't a place where even the most retiring microbe could elude observation, or a particle of dust find a safe resting place.

The west ward is given over to scarlet fever patients, while the east is for diphtheria cases. The two wards are exactly similar, and are joined by a long corridor that successfully isolates the two buildings from one another.

A Complete Hospital.

Entering the doorway, on the right is the office, and opposite to that, two detention wards, where incoming patients are placed till their accommodation has been arranged for. On the right again is the fumigating-room, where all bedding and linen is thoroughly sterilized, and across from it the room of the superintending nurse, a delightful little room with bathroom attached. Farther on, there is the doctors' robing-room, beyond that the exit bathroom, where patients who have recovered are given a last bath before leaving the institution. Then there are the private rooms, four in number, and just opposite them the dietroom, where the meals for the private patients are cooked and any special dainties are prepared. Then there is the ward office for the nurse in charge of the ward, with wash basin and other conveniences controlled by knee action. This section of the building is isolated again from the public ward by a short passageway, that can, when the doors at the end are closed, be swept with a draught of air, and thus thoroughly cleansed of any infection.

The Public Ward.

The public ward is a large square room, with windows on every side, that is to contain ten beds, and which could in the case of emergency accommodate double that number.

To the south, and opening out of the public ward, is a large sun-parlor that is capable of being heated in winter. This looks out across the river, and it would be hard to imagine a prettier scene, and if pleasant environment has anything to do with the successful recovery of a patient, the outlook of the new hospital ought to be of material service.

A side wing, communicating with the building by a passageway, leads to the patients' bathrooms. The baths are situated in the centre of the room, that the nurses may be able to get at the patient from all directions. Beyond these again, is the service-room, with a chute to the basement. Through this chute the bedding and other linen is sent down to be cleansed. By this means the laundryman can get it without passing through the building.

The north end of the first floor is given over to the nurses' bedrooms, dining and bath rooms. Beyond these again, are the private wards, with the public ward to the north the same as in the ground floor. From this public ward there opens a balcony, where convalescent patients can take the air.

The Second Floor.

On the second floor there are rooms capable of holding ten patients. At present it is not intended to use these for wards, but they will likely be used for playrooms for convalescent children. They are there, however, and in the event of an epidemic could easily be called into service.

The present preparations are for 28 patients in each of the scarlet fever and diphtheria wards, while in cases of emergency, they could easily be made to accommodate as many as 132 in the two divisions by bringing everything into requisition.

Another department connected to the hospital by a passageway, contains the dining-rooms for the servants, with two pantries, and a modern gas range, capable of cooking for 100 persons, while on the floor above is the cook's bedroom and a large dormitory for the maids.

Change of Air.

The building is heated by a hot-air system, and is thoroughly ventilated, ducts entering each room from the floor and the roof, the air in the room being changed every eight minutes.

This ventilating system is most complete, an electric motor, running a large, double-flanged fan, which revolves at 200 revolutions to the minute, draws the air from outside. It is passed through heating coils, and then through water, which cleanses it from all dust, and it is then forced through the hospital.

The hospital, too, is supplied with a very complete fire protective system, fourteen 50-foot-lengths of 2-inch hose being spread through the building, and as the building is itself practically fireproof, all save the fittings being either brick or reinforced concrete, the danger of fire is practically eliminated.

The section, as described here, is merely the scarlet fever wing, the diphtheria wing on the east side being an exact replica of this.

The institution is one of which Londoners may very justly feel proud, and those who took the opportunity of visiting it yesterday afternoon felt amply repaid for the time spent. The furniture has not yet been installed, and from appearances it will be some weeks yet before the hospital is in active operation.

PAROLE FOR LAMPHERE

Alleged Slayer of Mrs. Gunness Dying of Tuberculosis.

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 24. — As a result of a visit to the Indiana State Prison yesterday of Mrs. H. L. Finley and Mrs. Mary Steele, sisters of Ray Lamphere, serving sentence in the Indiana State Prison for burning the house of Mrs. Ella Gunness, who, with her three children, is said to have lost her life in the fire, Attorney Worden has drawn up a petition to present to Governor Marshall, asking for the parole of Lamphere on the ground that he is growing weaker daily from tuberculosis.

BROTHERS DROWNED IN THE LAKE OF BAYS

Tragic Fatality in the Family of a Weston Minister.

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 23. — The two victims of yesterday's drowning accident in Lake of Bays were Jack and James, the two younger sons of Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Weston, who has for many years occupied his summer cottage at Norway Point. The fatality occurred about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, near Bigwin Island, which is probably two miles across the lake from Norway Point.

The two younger children, in company with their elder brother, Frank, about sixteen years old, had secured the permission of their father to go out for a ride in their Peterboro canoe, equipped with airtight chambers. The lake was not dangerously rough, until they had crossed close to Pan-Cake Island, when a stiff breeze set up. In the trough of the waves close to Pan-Cake Island, the canoe was suddenly capsized, and all three were precipitated into the water.

The older boy struggled to save his younger brothers, but could not, and, being a strong swimmer, swam to Pan-Cake Island, where he attracted the attention of the occupants of a sail-boat from the Wawa. Stimulants were administered to the boy, who was in an exhausted state, and a moment later Professor Clark, a summer resident at Fox Point, came over in his gasoline launch. The story of the accident was related to him, and a search for the bodies was at once instituted, assistance coming from every part of the lake. The grappling iron continued to work throughout the evening and all night, but up to the present, the bodies have not been recovered.

This morning Matt Ackroyd, of the Toronto Life-Saving Crew, comes up to Huntsville to assist in the work of locating the bodies. The lake where the fatality occurred is very deep, and days may elapse before the bodies are found.

"GUNPLAY" MAXWELL KILLED

Was Out to Kill Town Sheriff, But Latter Was Too Quick.

Price, Utah, Aug. 24. — C. L. Maxwell, known as "Gunplay" Maxwell, was shot and instantly killed by Sheriff Ed Johnson on the street here last night.

Maxwell, who had an interstate reputation as a "bad man," came to Price with the avowed intention of settling an account with Johnson, which grew out of his arrest by the officer in Goldfield, Nevada, a year ago.

But Johnson was the quicker, and Maxwell fell with two bullets in his body before he could draw his pistol.

Maxwell was born in Massachusetts. It is believed that his real name was Bliss. His penchant for "shooting up" small towns earned him the nickname by which he was known.

"The Talk of New York."

"The Talk of New York," which has scored one of the greatest triumphs yet accorded a play, comes to the Grand Opera House, Friday, Aug. 27. Of all the plays that Geo. M. Cohan has presented to the American stage up to the present time this, his latest, seems to have hit the popular fancy with a greater degree of accuracy than any that has come before, and Victor Moore, as "Kid Burns," in "The Talk of New York," has broadened and perfected a type of character created by Mr. Cohan that will undoubtedly find many prototypes on the comedy stage of the future.

Heavy Tourist Travel.
