ONE MEXICAN BANDIT REPORTED KILLED AND TWO CAPTURED BY AMERICAN TROOPS IN PURSUIT

Information Was Brought to Texas Town by an American Cavalry Sergeant—250 Carranza Troops, Under Gen. Pruneda Camped On Trail of the Bandits Near Cuchillo.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT PROTESTS.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The Mexican ambassador here has been instructed by his government to protest to the state department against the dispatch of American troops across the border and to request their withdrawal, according to a statement issued at Mexico City yesterday.

Marfa, Texas, Aug. 21.—One bandit was believed to have been killed and two others made prisoners, since American troops crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico Tuesday morning. A report received here last night told of an American cavalry sergeant, who rode to the border after dark, and reported that Capt. Leonard Matlock had captured two bandits, believed to have been implicated in the capture of the aviators, Peterson and Davis.

Gen. Pruneda, with approximately 250 Carranza cavalry troops, camped on the trail of the bandits for the night, near Cuchillo Parado, 40 miles up the Conchos River, from the base at Ojinaga. American pack-trains and other units crossed and re-crossed the path of the Carranza troops without friction.

AMERICAN TROOPERS FOLLOWING TRAIL OF THE MEXICAN BANDITS

Marfa, Texas, Aug. 20.—An airplane arriving at 11:15 o'clock this afternoon brought this message from the American troops in Mexico: "Still following trail."
The Mexican consul at Presidio, Tex., reported today that General Pruneda, with a column of Carranza cavalry, had gone to Cuchillo Parado, 40 miles up the Conchos River from Ojinaga, in search of the bandits in the Ojinaga district, where the American troops are operating.

Troopers sleep in wilderness. Reports from the field in Mexico today told how the Americans spent the night in the Mexican mountains. The troops slept in canyons, on trails, wherever they happened to be when it grew too dark to continue their pursuit. The sentries were stationed at entrances to canyons, and at points on trails to prevent surprise attacks.
No fires were permitted. Horses were picketed in hollow squares and the men, rolled in blankets, slept beside their mounts with rifles at hand. Flocks of birds patrolled the temporary camps.

CARNEGIE LEFT SEVERAL TIMES FIFTY MILLIONS

Statement That He Had Only $50,000,000 Left Is Contradicted.

REVOKED FIRST WILL
Decision of Steel Magnate
Was After His Daughter's Marriage.

New York, Aug. 21.—Although Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate and philanthropist, declared during his lifetime that he expected to give away his huge fortune and "die a pauper," his estate to be disposed of by a will which will be filed for probate next week was several times $50,000,000. It was learned from an authoritative source here tonight.

Publication of a brief document which Mr. Carnegie had given away all of his estate with the exception of about $50,000,000 brought the statement that the estate was much larger.
It also was stated that a will of approximately $400 million, drawn by Mr. Carnegie himself, and which was generally believed to be his last will, had been superseded by a brief document of 2,000 words, drawn by Elihu Root.

Revoked Original Will. The decision of Mr. Carnegie to revoke the original will on which he had expended much time and thought, and which bequeathed a large part of his estate to his daughter, Margaret, was said to have resulted from her marriage to Elsie Roosevelt Miller, several months ago. Mr. Carnegie settled a large "dot" on his daughter at the time of her wedding and for this reason is said to have found it necessary to alter the provision of the will.

The Home Trust Company of New Jersey, which was organized by Mr. Carnegie in 1907 for the purpose of administering a fund set aside by Mr. Carnegie for nearly 60 persons to whose individual welfare he had contributed, will act as executor of the will.

FORMER KAISER AND FAMILY TO LIVE IN 'HOUSE OF DOORN'

William Hohenzollern Purchases Country Home From Baroness—Building Was Erected in 1356 and Estate Originally Consisted of 800 Acres.

Amsterdam, Tuesday, Aug. 19.—The former German emperor personally selected the "House of Doorn," which William Hohenzollern has purchased as the future home of his family and heretofore imperial husband home to settle down and live the lives of country gentlemen in Holland.
The former emperor has not yet seen the "House of Doorn," but it is anticipated in Amsterdam that he will soon pay a visit to it. Recently he is reported to have been taking great interest in the idea of buying the English castle, where he is living at present.

The house, though rich in history and imposing in appearance, has only twelve rooms in addition to small chambers for servants. From the main highway train, which is only 200 yards away, a view of the house, in the midst of a grove, is presented to all passers-by. The front of the house is accessible only through the estatekeeper's lodge.

No Walls Around Castle. The baroness de Beaufort still occupies the house.
It is not expected that the former emperor will leave Amsterdam for three months. There are no moats about the "House of Doorn," and no walls like those surrounding Amerongen Castle. The former emperor's heart again is troubled here. Dr. Foerster made frequent visits to the Castle of Amerongen yesterday and today.

St. Catharines, Aug. 21.—The threatened strike in all departments on every division of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Electric Railway went into effect at 4 o'clock this morning and was completely observed. Machine shops are idle, and it is impossible to get answers to telephone calls at any of the ticket stations.

Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King Announces That D. D. McKenzie Will Again Be Leader in House During Coming Session—New Leader Declares He Will Leave the Question of Candidacy to Electors.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—When questioned today as to the likelihood of his being a candidate in Glengarry-Stormont, in view of the action of the United Farmers, in nominating a candidate yesterday, Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King stated that he could make no definite statement until after the Liberals held their convention in August.

"These are matters," said Mr. King, "which I think the people must in all cases decide."

Mr. King referred to the letter he had addressed to the secretary of the Glengarry Liberal executive, in which he expressed his views as to the inadvisability of there being a contest between the farmers and the Liberals owing to the similarity of their platforms, and added that if he were nominated by the Liberal convention he would then have to consider whether or not he would accept.

The Liberal leader made the definite announcement that Mr. D. D. McKenzie will again be the leader in the House during the approaching session of Parliament.

Mr. King is still busily engaged in clearing up the large volume of correspondence which has continued to pour in on him since his election as Opposition leader.

H. Hartley Dewart, M. P., provincial Liberal leader, who is in town today, in conversation with The Advertiser, in regard to the charges he has made in speeches of corruption in connection with the compiling of the voters' lists, said this afternoon: "Let them call the charges I have made of irregularity in connection with the compilation of the voters' lists 'moonshine' if they will, the fact remains that all over the province either by accident or design, names have been left off the lists, the names of the men who fought in the House last session, dividing the House, in fact, on the matter of the voters' lists, should be prepared."

"We took the ground that the one rational, fair way was to have a spring sitting of court, and under the complicity of the municipal assessors, who know their districts, and understand the names of the people entitled to vote, a partisan scheme."

"Instead of this, a scheme, partisan from beginning to end, has been adopted, whereby enumerators appointed by the Government to do the work, and under the eye of an election agent, will provide entertainment."

MIKE CONVINCES THE COURT OF INNOCENCE IN GAMBLING CASE*Seven Residents of "Little Russia" Mulcted Two Per.

Seven residents of "Little Russia" formed a queue leading into the police court clerk's office this morning and paid the clerk $2 and costs for sitting in a card game at 552 Philip street Sunday afternoon.

Mike Kalinowsky, wearing the uniform of a United States machine gun corps, wore such a bland and innocent expression and told so straight a story, that he was dismissed by the court after two cops who raided the Philip street house had sworn that Mike was one of the night card players who jumped through the window and escaped, leaving his hat and coat in the room.

"Nother man," Mike replied.

"Was it that your coat and hat was in the room when the police arrested you?"

"Mike said he left because it looked as if 'much trouble' was brewed in the card game. According to both of the cops, however, Mike was one of the night card players who jumped through the window and escaped, leaving his hat and coat in the room.

"I go out by the front door," Mike said indignantly. He was handed his hat and coat and sent to the magistrate, but returned soon afterward to lay an information against an Austrian, charging him with disorderly conduct in persisting that a young woman friend of his was not entitled to walk on the same street with the man who is made the defendant lives.

STUPENDOUS RUSH OF BUSINESS FOOT THE DOLLAR DAY; JOYS AND TRIBULATIONS MIXED

Apart from the fact that it doubtless kept many out-of-town shoppers at home, the rain of this forenoon had very little effect upon "Dollar Day."

People had read the advertising columns religiously, and throngs of bargain-seekers were to be seen gazing in the store windows for several preceding days, hence mostly everybody knew what was being offered for special, and the things that would meet personal or household needs.

Early Birds.

Street cars did a record business after 7:30 o'clock, the old idea apparently prevailing that "the early bird gets the worm." Little Miss Shrinkling Violet, an exception which probably proves the rule. She discovered that more muscular and purposeful birds were capable of wrestling from her early morning prizes that rewarded the special effort to be out betimes. "What's to be known early," she said, "it is only to be known early."

Miss Shrinkling Violet was "amongst those present" before 8 o'clock in a jam of four hundred or so according to the proprietor, awaiting the opening of the doors of a popular Dundas street store. Whether the store was the cause of either end of the long building, a regular tidal wave of customers swept in, and the store was a scene of confusion. Her feet, even if she did struggle valiantly for her objective, the kimono counter, she found it was a scene of confusion, where she was marked at exactly one dollar.

Cornered Kimonos.

Did Miss Shrinkling Violet capture her "A large, innocent person" and a small, purposeful person" (so the story goes), she was "finally" captured. The large person, with a sweep of her arm, gathered up a whole lot of kimonos, purple, green, and blue, and triumphantly carried them, after paying the wonderfully low price of "one dollar."

"I can't imagine what she was going to do with so many and such a variety of colors," said the proprietor. "She wanted to give a Joseph's coat effect to her family."

"What did you get?" was the question put to the Violet.

"Not a thing," she choked. "I got the clerk to tell me that I was not to be looked simply petrified. She was so overwhelmed, she couldn't make the sale to me. Finally, she gave up and I went out, feeling much more like the worm than the early bird."

Approximate Stupendous.

Approximate the big opening hour rush, one merchant has been simply astounded. We couldn't handle it. We could have used fifty more clerks to advantage, and a whole company of returned men to keep order.

Talking about order, while the Dollar Day, there was a scene of confusion. The clerk, who was a young man, was looking for the competition of speedily changing the money. The clerk, who was a young man, was looking for the competition of speedily changing the money.

FORCED TO LEAVE COUNTRY IF DRY NOTES SHOULD WIN

Delegate Young at Trades and Labor Meeting Speaks To This Effect.

"I shall be forced to leave the country if the Liberty for which I fought in France is taken over the vote on the temperance referendum," stated Delegate Young of the Trades and Labor Council at a meeting held last evening, while making an appeal in favor of the adoption of a Liberty League. "In making that statement, I do not mean to imply that I am in favor of the vote on the taking away of all personal liberties. Why, I have even heard it said that in 1924 we shall not be permitted to smoke cigarettes and cigars or use tobacco. I propose that this council assist in the organization of a Liberty League to fight these issues. I object to the taking away of all personal liberties. STEEL WORKERS' STRIKE LIKELY

Will Depend on Conference Men Hope To Have With Employers.

WALKOUT IS FAVORED

Ninety-Eight Per Cent of Men Declare For Strike.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Whether a nation-wide strike of iron and steel workers will be called depends upon a conference which the union leaders hope to obtain within the next ten days with representatives of the United States Steel Corporation. If the corporation officials refuse to meet the union representatives, a conference of six representatives of the 24 unions involved, headed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today canvassed the votes of the unions on the question of calling a strike.

The one who had missed it by a hair's breadth, took up the chase, declaring she had selected it and wanted it. But, who would be meek enough to give up something really wanted, particularly when another woman was so keen to get it?

CANADA GOVERNED BY AUTOCRACY OF TEN MILLIONAIRES

Speaker Tells Haldimand U. F. O. Meeting—Select Candidate August 26.

CAYUGA, Aug. 20.—In two stirring addresses delivered in the court house, Cayuga, the members of the U. F. O. (United Farmers' Co-operative Association) met to discuss the organization. Mrs. E. Webster, in her address to the U. F. O., urged the organization to take action on the farmers' wives, courtesy from those to whom they sold their produce, cash for the same and the help for the class which she claimed were not properly treated under existing conditions.

She treated her subject logically under two heads: "Why should we organize? and What is our work?" She should organize, she said, because all other classes organized and thus protected themselves, and that under the present state of affairs farmers with produce could not secure a market in order to keep prices up for the producers. Women's work, she continued, was to secure conveniences for the farmer, provide clarity and the help of the ten millionaires of the country, strongly advocating consolidated schools. She also urged the farmers to take action on the farmers' wives, courtesy from those to whom they sold their produce, cash for the same and the help for the class which she claimed were not properly treated under existing conditions.

GOVERNMENT HAS BLUNDERED OR IS PLAYING POLITICS IN FIXING $2.15 WHEAT PRICE

British Wheat Commission Decides To Pay $1.55 To $1.80—If Hundred Million Bushels Exported To Britain Loss Will Be $35,000,000.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—News from London that the British wheat commission has fixed the price of Canadian wheat imports at from $1.55 to $1.80 per bushel has been received here with some consternation. On the strength apparently of advice from overseas the Government a week ago decided to fix the initial price for Canadian wheat at $1.75 per bushel, guaranteeing the farmer this amount and undertaking to pay him the difference, if any, when marketed. Pressure, however, induced the Government to increase that amount, and it was announced that the initial guarantee would be $2.15 per bushel.

That is two days ago. It was to be expected that the Government before making its decision would have communicated with the overseas authorities. But now comes the report, apparently authorized, that the British board has fixed the price of Canadian wheat at from $1.55 to $1.80 per bushel. Assuming that the Canadian exportation surplus will amount to a hundred million bushels, and that Great Britain will be the market, Canada has apparently guaranteed thirty-five million dollars more for the Canadian crop than it will bring in the market.

In the meantime, Sir George Foster declares that he will await for further official advice before making any observations. On the face of it, however, it would appear that someone has either blundered, or is playing politics and incidentally planning bribery for votes.

NO OFFICIAL ADVICE.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—No official notification has reached the department of trade and commerce of the fixing of prices to be paid for wheat imported to Great Britain by the British wheat commission. A London cable this morning said a maximum of $1.80 per bushel for Canadian wheat had been decided on. This, with the fixed initial payment of $2.15 per bushel, would mean a wheat board of control, would mean a serious financial loss to be adjusted. It is expected that an official explanation will be forthcoming very shortly.

MEAGRE BILL OF FARE

Coming Session Will Not Likely Occupy More Than Six Weeks.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—The bill-of-fare for the coming short fall session of Parliament will be a somewhat meagre one, and should not occupy very considerable time in its disposal. The speech from the throne will be laconic and the opening ceremonies abridged as much as possible. Members hope that for the last time the session will be brief and the schedule of orders passed under the microscope of the House of Commons.

The session will be occupied chiefly in the ratification of the peace treaty and in the passing of a bill including a schedule of orders passed under the microscope of the House of Commons.

It is not certain whether prohibition will be included in the schedule or not. Rather, it is believed that a prohibition bill, similar to that introduced in the House last session, but killed by the Senate, will be reintroduced. This bill sought to amend the existing federal restriction passed under the war measures act. The Senate limited its working until the proclamation of peace, when the order-in-council will expire in any case.

There is no reason to believe that the bill introduced next session will have any better fate at the hands of the Upper House than the one introduced last session.

It is not believed that a permanent franchise bill will be introduced until the House reassembles in the spring. The bill, however, is expected to be introduced in the House of Commons.

The public works department, it is said, may have some supplementary bills, but these will be little more than amendments.

A bill will be passed at the coming session providing for the defraying of the expenses of the House of Commons. The bill, however, is expected to be introduced in the House of Commons.

EVELYN, Aug. 20.—Great preparations are being made by the committees for the great celebration and picnic to be held at the farm of James Whiston, lot 12, Winton road, on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 27.

Nothing will be too good for the boys who safely returned from the battlefield, because the people of West Missouri do not want to forget and never will forget what these brave boys saved them from, the committee states.

They were sent away amid the blare of bands and cheers, and West Missouri purposes that they will receive home as heroes. It will give the soldier boys some idea of what the old township thought of its heroic sons, and what it is doing to do if Fritz had hung on indefinitely.

It will be a day never to be forgotten by the great throng of happy people who will gather from all parts of the country to "render honor to whom honor is due" and all that is now required is fair weather.

The program will start at 1 o'clock (standard time), when Earl-Gon Shanon will unveil the memorial tablet and honor roll. This ceremony will be followed by the presentation of 112 gold medals by the ladies of the West Missouri Red Cross Society to the returned soldiers.

Speeches will be delivered by Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, Mayor of West Missouri, and J. F. Glass, M.P., John McFarlane, M.P., J. E. Elliott, M.P., Lieut.-Col. Earl-Gon Shanon, Lieut.-Col. M. Sutherland, Rev. Capt. Riddiford and Rev. Capt. A. C. Crummer, returned chaplains.

The Great War Veterans' Band of London will render appropriate selections during the afternoon and again in the evening, when, with the Maple Leaf Quartet of Galt, they will furnish a delightful program.

During the afternoon there will be a lively contest on the baseball diamond between the Meadow Larks of Iderton and the Thamesford team, winners of the Oxford County League.

The baby show, as usual, will be an attraction worth while. A large number of entries are expected in this pleasing event, as Missouri is noted for its well-proportioned, healthy and good-looking youngsters.

There will be races for old and young, for men, women and children. A prize will be awarded the oldest veteran in the war on the grounds. The tug-of-war, wards 1 and 2, vs. wards 3 and 4, will be an exciting contest. The teams selected are already practicing.

The ladies of the Red Cross will banquet the returned men, and a special invitation has been sent, and request them to wear a guest badge and appear in uniform.

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture.) Hair can be easily banished from the skin by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package.—Adv.

CORRUPTION CHARGE IN COMPILATION OF VOTERS' LISTS MADE

H. Hartley Dewar Gave a Stirring Speech in Ailsa
Craig Town Hall to North
Middlesex Reform Members—John Grieve Nominated.

SHOWS UP GOVERNMENT

By Staff Reporter.
H. Hartley Dewar, provincial Liberal leader, and G. W. Charlton, secretary of the Western Ontario Liberal Reform Association, made specific charges of Government partisanship and corruption in the compilation of voters' lists for the coming referendum, at the meeting of the North Middlesex Reform Association held in three, yesterday afternoon in Ailsa Craig town hall.
The act governing the compilation of these lists places power right in the hands of partisan enumerators to place or leave off names of voters as they wish, the Opposition leader declared,
and he and other speakers warned advocates of Liberalism to see that their names are not left off the lists as published.

Officers Elected.
The meeting opened with elections of officers for the ensuing year for the North Middlesex Association, and was followed by the unanimous indorsement of John Grieve as candidate for the riding, after three other nominees,
two of them women, had withdrawn
their names.

Voters' Names Omitted.
"The Government did not want an independent voters' list," Mr. Dewar said, "and in Toronto a meeting was called recently for the purpose of nominating enumerators for the constituency, with the result that the chief enumerator becomes the returning officer, in the election. Over 20,000 names have been omitted from the Toronto lists," he said, but added that even with the 20,000 names left off the list he did not think the Government would save themselves in Toronto.

W. G. Charlton, urging wariness on the part of voters, said that on Tuesday he found himself in a room where which has 400 electors, that 51 names had been left off deliberately from the lists compiled by the Government appointed enumerators, and one of the names was that of a man 90 years old who had lived most of his life in Aylmer.

"The Provincial Government is dropping your names from the voting list," the speaker warned. He explained that the lists compiled for the referendum are to be used by the Government not only for the referendum, but for the next election also. Some of the names have been dropped by county clerks, and the ten days allowed for the names to be corrected for Friday.

Nominations.
Mrs. E. McE. Smith and Mrs. William Dawson of Parkhill, nominated for the riding, candidates for the riding of Gibson of Lucan, all three of whom withdrew in favor of Mr. Grieve, who declined that he was not a woman representative of North Middlesex in the Provincial House had not yet come.

"For a long time yet we can sit at the feet of the men and learn," Mrs.
Dawson said, with the announcement that women are going to ask more for children and women from the Government than has ever been asked before.

Horse vs. Child.
"Care of the child is going to be our work," she said, and quoted a prize list published recently at a country event in which $200 was offered as a prize for the best horse race, contrasted with the $3 prize for the winner of the baby show. Note the difference between the horse race and the human race," the speaker remarked.

"Women are soon to count for immensely greater interest in the country, when we shall spend more on our children and less on prisons and asylums."
"We may have the effect of giving
to public life the best kind of men,
smothering effects of political life," Mrs.
Smith thought. "Give us tall men, who will live above the fog in public and private thinking," she asked.

Prolonged Applause.
Prolonged applause from the packed hall, in which women were present in almost equal numbers with the men,
treated the introduction of Hartley
Dewar from the platform.

Sir William Hearst, he said, "referred to the U. P. O. as a camouflaged made donkeys of by them. How well Mr. Hearst is playing the game set by Hearst, and playing into his hands," the speaker continued. "The Liberals with whom I sit in the Legislature are earning service came first. Their one thought was that of the best means of service. We stand on the platform of arouse, not for personal gain, but to arouse the people to the realization of how this province is being mismanaged and how rates are increased.
The appreciation of the people will be our reward."

Reiterated Statements.
He reiterated his statements made at other recent meetings, declaring that he had never had any connection with the liquor interests in any manner with any arrangement of the
this connection as the rumor made it he asserted, and that the issue which that of the failure of Government to conserve our natural resources."

The unrest in Ontario today, he explained as being due to the fact that the people do not know to what extent the Government is willing to give up autocratic power and submit to the will of the people. "The Government
now at Toronto are like a lot of Kilkenny cats, for whom they are fighting or whose side they are on."

Temperance Question.
"Take the temperance question, for instance," he pointed out. "We do not know what the government's policy is.
There is none laid down." He then outlined the Liberal policy regarding the temperance question as formulated at the Toronto Liberal convention, and stated that the policy of the entire Liberal party, regarding the temperance question, the high cost of living, industrial relations, methods to be applied to reform and agriculture."

Declaring the government inertia was responsible for the present inferior condition of dissatisfaction among farmers in the province, Mr. Dewar said that the suggested appointment of

It was their inability to reach the tion. Only a few hours were necessary to decide the route in other sections.

The Government," he declared, "was even then slow to give any definite information as to a traffic census of the road, nor specifications of road sections.
He contrasted the policy of the Government in planning the highway with the New York State methods, involving cost, maintenance, construction traffic and routes before the scheme is placed before the vote of the people. New York by-and-by, he explained, which correspond to our partially-completed provincial highway, are built and maintained at the cost of the state, with only a mileage payment from the local municipalities.

Fixed Prices.
Mr. Elliott also voiced the need for government representatives in sympathy
with the needs of agriculture. "When
the Government showed down the maximum price of wheat during the war
to $2.20, it took care not to fix a price

of the crop and the transportation
there was any, which was to be pooled and go to the cost of the state, with only a mileage payment from the local
municipalities.

Mr. Elliott also voiced the need for
government representatives in sympathy
with the needs of agriculture. "When
the Government showed down the maximum price of wheat during the war
to $2.20, it took care not to fix a price
for agricultural implements which was, early this season, when the crop
look was the most optimistic it ever was, threatened, due price was set at $1.70 as a minimum, the Government

ELECTION WITHIN A YEAR PREDICTED BY
HON. T. W. MCGARRY

No Provincial Conservative
Convention.
IS NOT NECESSARY

Provincial Treasurer Says the Party in Power Needs
No Convention.

Marmora, Ont., Aug. 20.—Legislation
enacted by the Ontario Government, particularly since the commencement of the war, was reviewed by Premier Sir
William Hearst at a picnic given by Gus
Porter to the electors of the West Hants constituency here today. The premier referred to himself as a "war
man," and declared that the Government had given the gifts of the province to their friends, the present Government enriched the people.

The premier repeated in substance his Queenston reference to the temperance question, declaring that, as a war measure, he would again pass prohibition.
The referendum to be taken, he said,
they could determine for the people, and policy which would be fairly and fearlessly put out by the Government. It was a great question, however, and he asked the electors to show the same courage in deciding it that their sons showed in fighting overseas.

Speaking of labor, Sir William took credit for introducing the workmen's compensation act. A minister of labor would shortly be appointed, he said, and promised introduction of legislation for mothers' allowances.

Election Within Year.
Hon. T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer, intimated that a provincial election
would be held "within the next year."
He referred to statements made by Liberals that Sir William Hearst had been properly selected as leader of the party
in a letter on the death of Sir John A.
Macdonald.

Mr. McGarry made it clear that the demands of a number of Conservatives
for a provincial convention did not meet with the approval of many prominent men in the party, and no such convention would be held.

"There have been statements made in the press of this province calling upon the Conservative party to meet in convention in order that they might consider the history of constitutional government when a government was in power, where a government had a majority of members behind it on the floor of the House, that it required or ever because while that convention, why?"
he asked.

EXPECTS THOUSANDS

Imperial Government To Pay
Fares of Those Who Did
War Work.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINNIPEG, Aug. 20.—Without any employment in prospect, and ignorant of labor conditions in Canada, thousands of English, Scotch and Irish women, who served during the war, will come to Canada in April.

H. B. Willing, secretary of the Imperial Veterans' Association, was notified of their intention today through orders issued by the war office. The Imperial Government has promised to pay the passage of W. A. A. C., munitionettes and many others who
served in the war, to overseas dominions.
It will mean that thousands of
women will take advantage of the offer.

Mr. Willing said: "We have been forming that passage of W. A. A. C., munitionettes and many others who
served in the war, to overseas dominions.
It will mean that thousands of
women will take advantage of the offer."

Mr. Willing was of the opinion that the girls would not be willing to do housework.
"They want to get married, or enter business, perhaps," he said.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 20.—John Fishrecently returned from overseas, was friends at the home of Alex. Rose, near Banner, Donald Sutherland, M. P., gram of speeches, vocal and instrumental music and readings was given. The presentation of a well-filled purse to the returned hero was one of the pleasant features. Mr. Fishback replied in grateful terms. During the evening refreshments were served.

a keen demand. This is a fact sub-

Saturday last aggregated the splendid sum of $28,000. This represented only the one day's business, but is indicative of the keen demand for local property.

Liberal Party Meets Needs of the Soldiers

Meeting the needs of the returned man in a practical way at every point has been the aim of the Liberal party in Canada in formulating its "returned soldiers" policy as adopted at the national convention held in Ottawa the beginning of August.

Consciousness of the full extent of the debt owing to the men of Canada who at great cost have purchased the boon of peace and freedom for the nation, as well as for the world, is manifested in the pledge to make, when opportunity is afforded, fittingly generous provision in the way of pensions, both for the men who come back, and the dependents of those who have poured out the "red rich wine" of life.

So far as pensions are concerned, the Liberal platform provides that "such pensions and allowances be granted as shall enable soldiers or their dependents, as the case may be, to maintain a liberal standard of living sufficient to guarantee health, education and all the necessities, comforts and amenities which go to make a standard of life worthy of Canadian citizenship."

Why should the widow and her fatherless children be obliged to give up their home for poorer quarters, and the children be deprived of educational advantages because the head of the household saw his duty and gave his life in his country's service, while the family across the way, in exactly the same circumstances before the war, enjoys increasing prosperity and opportunity, owing to the fact that the provider stayed at home and availed himself of war conditions to better his fortunes?

Such questions as the foregoing could not be side-stepped by men and women of Liberal ideals, holding to the Liberal principle of "the square deal for all citizens of the state, equal rights and opportunities, and no special privileges," when it came to passing upon the question of right in regard to pensions and allowances for returned men and their dependents.

More Morality

The subject of "New Morality" was actually too large to be covered in a half-column yesterday. So here it is continued in our next.

Perhaps the morality of the age might be summed up in "live and let live." Yesterday it was suggested that where the former age emphasized self-control, self-denial, with some distrust of human impulse, the modern ethics call for life and self-transcendence. The natural corollary to living is letting others live and co-operating with them to that effect. There was some excuse for restrictive control of others when you held your own mouth with a curb-bit. If you scorned delights and worked for the night was coming, you felt virtuous in making others do so. The maxim was that only by ruling yourself could you rule others. But the new morality dimly evolving is less concerned about rule than energizing the healthy instincts and attaining generous social ends. Strong drink used to be condemned as a "sinful lust of the flesh." Now it is overriden as an economic obstacle and a social nuisance. It used to be called high life, too much life; now it is seen as dehumanizing, low, inhuman, impracticable. The old prohibition was restrictive, negative, the new would be realistic and constructive. Formerly it was thought that we should not have too good a time, now people mean to enjoy themselves and not let others be miserable either.

Dean Hole tells a story of a Sunday school teacher who had been explaining to a class the difference between a Christian and a cannibal. "Johnny" then, being questioned, answered that the Christian was one who enjoyed himself and the cannibal one who enjoyed others. Johnny was not far wrong.

Life is always a difficult business of harmonizing opposites or apparent opposites. Self-expression and altruism both make demands. Art can't be altogether crowded away by the needs of missions. How much shall be spent on the home and on dress, how much for general welfare? Enjoyment and sacrifice are two vast and in some degree conflicting ideals. The new morality tries in large, half-conscious fashion to be inclusive and harmonious.

Certainly there was never so much spirit of helpful co-operation before. The war has intensified that spirit. Experience and education have helped was the ideal of a former generation. We believe in it still, but more than formerly the individual merges himself in great associations for common ends. There is much friction and ill-will, but men are also banded to overcome the selfish egoists who trample on the right. So the age of self-expression, art revival and frank enjoyment is also an age of larger humanity and positive idealism, making immense sacrifices for the general good. It is the age of a new humanism upon which we have already entered. The old humanism was individualistic and intellectual and its "humanities" were studies for the reason, quite compatible with "inhumanity to man." The new humanism is human in the social and practical sense, its humanities consisting in sympathy and mutual help.

Intervention in Mexico

American cavalry seems to have crossed the frontier into Mexico under official orders, in pursuit of the bandits who held American aviators for ransom. Such punitive raids have happened once or twice before in late years, and it is possible that nothing important may grow out of this one. But national indignation is rising against the anarchy that seethes in Mexico and insolently makes free with foreign life and property. It is hard to believe that the present raid will not develop into a resolved effort to pacify the land of chaos.

For many years Mexico has been growing worse and worse. Carranza, the nominal head of the country, controls only a part of it as a sort of head brigand there. In his hatred of Americans he has been eager at all times to help Germany and makes no concealment of his disgust at the Entente victory. The Hun's friends are of his own ilk, Swedish and Dutch junkers, and Mexican brigands. These all stick naturally together.

The various bandit chiefs of Mexico, leading troops of the most mixed character, Indians, half-bloods, outlaws and escaped criminals, fight one another, harry the gentler population and prey on foreign properties. It was proposed at Paris that Mexico should be a mandatory of the United States, but the Americans have been very reluctant, naturally, to interfere with their next-door neighbors, fearing for one thing the jealous temper of all Latin America.

Some objection is being made by French and American writers to a British protectorate over Persia. However the British move in that quarter may appear, it may be pointed out at least that the internal conditions of Persia and Mexico are much alike, bands of brigands everywhere, repressed in Persia mainly by fear of British troops, intertribal civil wars every now and then, stagnation of commerce and a mere pretence of a central government. If the British take Persia in hand, it will at any rate be for Persia's good. The same should be true of Mexico under an American direction. Canadians who have invested money in Mexico or who would like to participate in the development of the country's resources, will welcome with joy an effectual American pacification.

RING THREE.

By Will T. Ames.

The telephone in the east room of the Hanford home had been ringing for some time. Miss Hanford, who was writing notes, glanced inquiringly at the instrument. The house was on a party line, to be sure, but she was sure that the caller was not to be thought of; but Eleanor did not remember having heard a "ring-zing-zing" call that year.

"Ring-zing-zing!" zing-zing-zing! clanged the phone. Miss Hanford was wondering, as ten thousand other people have wondered under similar circumstances, whether she shouldn't really answer, on the chance, or whether, having made a mistake, when a man burst into the room.

The man was a total stranger. Eleanor had never seen him before. He was a large man and young, and obviously started in to knock, but he had made his entrance to the house uninvited and without permission of anybody, but now, without the first word of apology and without even glancing at Miss Hanford, he rushed wildly to the telephone, grabbed the receiver and yelled in a lavishly abundant voice, "Hello!"

To Eleanor's ordinary calm eyes his entire demeanor was that of a lunatic, perhaps a dangerous one. Without too much time she shifted her position so that the drawer with the pistol in it was just behind her. The intruder, who had flung himself into the room, stood staring at her, his eyes fixed on the telephone and made it speak alarmingly in doing so, appeared still to be utterly unaware of Miss Hanford's presence.

"Hello! hello!" he bawled, the look of wild anxiety on his countenance becoming more and more desperate as he waited in desperate impatience, a reply that did not come.

Miss Hanford, who was never precipitate, had almost made up her mind to flee and seek the protection of old Mark, the gardener, or Hannah in the kitchen, when a great change came upon the man at the phone. The strained, eager look disappeared, a happy light sprang into his grey eyes, and he smiled broadly. Miss Hanford mentally classified the smile as a grin. "Like a Cheshire cat's," she indignantly concluded.

"Sure, this is Les," the uninvited guest was saying into the phone. "Never so glad to hear a human voice in my life, sweetheart! Don't seem as if I could wait another minute to see you. What's that? Didn't know, but you'd be up on the two-thirty. Yes, gets here at five-twenty. You bet! I'll be there. Good-bye, honey!"

When about half way through this monologue the man twisted about on his chair till he was facing the mistress of the Hanford establishment. Then, still grinning broadly and with the receiver still at his ear, he winked at Eleanor—winked at Miss Eleanor Hanford, if you please! The nerve of him!

Miss Hanford arose, to the full height of her sixty-three inches. She no longer felt any fear of this madman; she was experiencing instead a mighty indignation—nothing—anything—might be forgiven in a mere lunatic; but for a vandal like this to violate her privacy, and worse, to propose to set at defiance all the conventions and safeguards of society—for the purpose of making love over your phone—to some other woman—ugh!

Miss Hanford was all icy calmness as the trespasser, hanging up the receiver, uncoupled his tail length from the trembling window chair and stood erect. She gave him no time for a first word—there is no strategy in that.

"Why," she said, "I acquired Eleanor, 'to know to whom I have the honor of being hostess, and why?' There is about this house to give the impression that it is a stranger's home, or an office building? I do not think it has ever been regarded as a mere public utility."

"I'm awfully sorry, Miss Hanford—are you not? But when I saw the look of that talk—know you are, I am—honestly—awfully sorry to come tearing in that way, but I'll tell you, I've had that little bungalow that sets back in the woods a quarter of a mile above here for a week. I've been away for a good while on that little business over across and she's been in California, so we haven't seen each other. She got home to New York yesterday and what she'd heard here on this afternoon's train. There are two trains, you know, and I put in a telephone call for her at New York. After it was in, and I'd waited half an hour, I realized that if I waited any longer I might miss her. So I started. When the phone man hooked up the bungalow he told me that this big white house and that stone one down below were the only other subscribers on the line. My number was three."

"Just as I was passing here I heard the ring. 'What was I going to do? If I stopped to be polite they'd call me,' said 'Party's hung up, excuse me.' I know it was rotten manners, but you've got to make allowances for a fellow named Grey—Lester Grey! I scribble foolish things that foolish people don't read. I hope you'll pardon my headlong intrusion."

Miss Eleanor Hanford, with all her dignity of position and not a little wealth, was as a matter of fact, just a mere girl. And this big, utterly natural, blundering boy with the marks of overseas still on him, was good to look upon, in spite of the fact that he was a bachelor bungalow that made Eleanor feel a new and different kind of indignation toward him. Away down in her secret heart she knew that it was because there was a sweetheart at all.

"Oh, very well," she laughed—for, of course, under this new circumstance, being a woman, she could no longer show indignation of any sort lest it be construed in a certain way—"If you your defense on the ground of temporary aberration, there is nothing else to do but pardon you, I suppose." Of course he should. A young man in his peculiar position, he should be doing very well, you'd think to get out of the situation without complicating it further. But the more he looked at this marionette-like little person the more he didn't want to. The only thing he could think of to say, however, was: "May I bring her to see you, Miss Hanford?"

If looks could kill, Lester Grey should have been at least a serious casualty. "Bring whom, pray, Mr. Grey?" Eleanor inquired childishly with her eyes fixed on a quarter of an inch higher than normal.

"My mother, of course." "Whisper, Secretly! Just between you and me. There was the gladiolus little thrill that ever was, right through the middle of Eleanor's heart, as she said very nearly gasped—"Why, I should be positively delighted."

"NEWSPAPERS ARE WORLD'S MIRROR"

Comment, Cleverness and Mere Verbiage From "Educators" or the Common People" in Canada and Other Lands.

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES.

(Detroit Free Press.) One of the mysteries of life is how a boorish man can keep right on observing the ways of gentlemen and never acquire any of them for himself.

JUST SO.

(Toronto Star.) Sooner or later the idea that the high cost of living is something about which nothing can be done, owing to the sacred laws of supply and demand, is one which will have to be abandoned here in Canada.

HOW TO DO IT.

(Orillia Packet.) Astonishing as it may seem, it is still possible to live on a penny a day. The recipe is an old one, so old, indeed, that it has no doubt been generally forgotten. Here it is: Eat a penny's worth of dried apples for breakfast, drink freely of water at dinner time to swell them, and sup with a friend.

SPENDING, NOT PRODUCING.

(New York World.) There is sound sense in the remark made by a witness before the Senate food investigating committee at Washington a day or two ago: "The world is on a holiday, and people are spending money like drunkard sailors without producing." That is a more potent cause of the high cost of living than is profiteering.

DEMAND FOR CENT PIECES.

(New York World.) The fact that the Philadelphia mint has been working overtime to meet the abnormal demand for cent pieces is one of the curious things about the inflated cost of living. Though the cent has lost its old purchasing power it is more useful than ever in paying the odd and uneven sums which represent the cost of an article plus war taxes. The war has made the penny an indispensable coin without necessarily conducing to its popularity.

VICTORY DAY IN DUBLIN.

There was much foolish talk in Sinn Féin circles about making the day "Victory Day" in Dublin, celebrating her victory over Germany a time of mourning.

The stomach is wrong. Assimilation is poor and food is not changed into blood. Naturally the system is robbed of vitality, lacks strength and reconstructive power.

Don't slip from vigor into weakness. Don't allow the appetite to fail, but instead use Ferrozone.

You're bound to feel rejuvenated and strengthened at once. Appetite is braced up, digestion is stimulated, your vigor imparted to the system. Everything you eat is transformed into nutriment that supplies what your thin, weak system needs.

Vital, life-giving blood that makes rosy cheeks and dancing eyes—that's the kind that Ferrozone makes. The strength and buoyancy that defies depression and tiredness, that's the sort you get with Ferrozone.

Every pale woman can transform her bleached-out appearance with Ferrozone. Not only will it improve looks and spirits, but by rebuilding all weak, tired organs, Ferrozone establishes a soundness of health that's surprising.

For women and girls who want to feel well, to look well, to be well, and stay well, nothing known in the annals of medicine is so certain as Ferrozone.

Won't you try Ferrozone? Concentrated cure in tablet form, that's Ferrozone, six per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarthzone Company, Kingston, Ont.

in Ireland. Here is what a correspondent reports that he saw in Dublin on Saturday: "After having watched 16,000 men march past Lord French, and after the enthusiasm of the second only to those which I witnessed on peace night in Paris, I might have been justified in coming to the conclusion that the Sinn Féin was dead."

Before the Americans commit themselves too far in the De Valera movement, they would better make sure that they know what are the actual sentiments in Ireland.

PROTESTS COME TOO LATE. (Springfield Republican.) Japan has now been in actual physical possession of the old German concessions and leaseholds in Shantung Province for nearly five years, and if the League of Nations project is scrapped and we revert to the pre-war conditions and policies, just how are we to get Japan out of Shantung, especially out of Kiau-chau? It is war contemplated. The question is, is it war? It is not the original robber in Shantung, nor is the robbery of recent date. It is twenty-one years old and our government never protested against Germany's seizure, nor has it ever quailed in all parts of the union against food boards and price gougers. The shown by all the government authorities, federal and state, and a close net has been drawn about them, so as to exploit the hunger of the people for their monetary emolument. The cold

CAN WE LOOK ON? (Telegraph.) The American administration confidently declares that all profiteering will be eliminated from the United States in two months as the result of the huge campaign now being conducted in all parts of the union against food boards and price gougers. storage plants are being turned inside out, and larger stocks of butter, eggs, meat, and other goods are being seized by the authorities. It appears almost certain that profiteering will shortly be a thing of the past in the United States, and prices will once more be normal for the American people.

But what about Canada? Are the people of this Dominion to be forced to sit and see their neighbors relieved of these profiteers while their own shoulders ache from the burden of the old Man of the Sea? Are Canadians going to see prices fall in the United States, and remain sky-high here, simply because the United States has a vigorous government and Canada has not? If not, the Canadian people had better bestir themselves.

Winifred Black

Here it is again—the old story. I hear it at least a dozen times a week, and I see it every other time I go into any kind of a business office and stay there any length of time. "Dear Winifred Black," "I am coming to you with a question which has bothered me greatly for some time. "How can I show my employer, who has a very annoying habit of putting his arm around my waist or touching me on the shoulder or arm, that I do not like it, without offending him and losing my position?" "My position, which I have held for several years, is an important one, with good pay. I like the work and the money I earn is needed at home, for my mother is a widow and we are trying to keep my younger brother and

Quarter of a Million.

Dear Miss Grey—As I sit here that stockings are such very costly articles of dress and I am altogether too far adding to the bill of my wardrobe, I am writing to beg the favor of the much sought-after stocking pattern, for which I enclose stamped envelope. Am I to be the last to have it? I hope your pattern has been completely disposed of by the stock of aprons that I have certainly must have had at least a quarter of a million; also bangles, dresses and kid gloves. I am a poor girl, and I am offering to ask him to sometimes remember the like they like to get a suitable dress, as much as those who are half their age, and more now than when it was filled up with crocheted pattern exchanges and requests for coupons.

GRANNY BARTFOOT.

Ans.—A copy of the pattern has been returned to you. As long as the town pattern is available the supply can meet the demand. The apron designs, perhaps, are the most popular and "go" the best. Anyhow there must truly have been a number of different varieties upon the pattern department, and hope you are something of a collector before long. Of course, some of the more useful styles may be adapted by a little altering and modifying.

Has He Changed?

Dear Miss Grey—First of all, I sincerely hope you can read my writing. I want your advice, and Daddy says to read what I write is impossible. There was a boy. He liked me and I wished him to become engaged to him. I enjoyed him very much, but he was a flirt and wouldn't let myself down. He said he would go away for a year. He wrote all the time, but lately his letters have been fewer and farther between, also shorter. The spirit of them is the same, and he wrote once and said this was his busy time, and that he was working day and night. However, this doesn't satisfy me, as I am sure if I was working 24 hours out of 24 I find some time to write to him. Would you take this as a sign that he has broken his promises and wishes our correspondence to cease? I wish if there is some middle-aged motherly woman that writes to your columns she would write to me, because my mother died eighteen months ago, and daddy and my big brother are all I have. All of my aunt are in New Zealand. I was brought out here when I was five months old. Hoping to hear from your valuable column soon and to benefit by your advice. I am, yours truly, HELEN.

HOMELESS HELEN.

Ans.—Your writing is peculiar, Helen, and I am a mind-reader, to know what is going on in that young man's mind—or your handwriting. Helen, from what you say, I fancy you would not mind me right? If so, I will start awfully to write candidly to the young man and ask him to be frank with you. But you had far better do so now, than allow the affair to go on longer. It may be you just fancy that his letters are not as warm as formerly, but—well, get your courage up, be brave—and find out. You are a woman, and you should be able to manage such an affair so that no one, even the man himself, will know but that she is one to choose a life partner. And that helps to soothe even so sad a thing as a wounded heart.

Needs Her Specs.

Dear Miss Grey, I am a constant reader of your page, but it is seldom that I get enough time to write. I like the page just fine, only I am like some of the other readers have to put on my spectacles to read the letters. I wrote a while ago, but I never saw my letter in print. So here's hoping to see this one in the page.

I wonder if some kind reader who has the daisy yoke pattern would lend it to me? I have one I will copy in exchange, or if she wishes it returned, I will return it to her. Thanking you.

IRISH GIRL.

P.S.—Do you remember me, Miss Grey?

Ans.—No, dearie. I cannot say that I do, but that's scarcely to be wondered at, is it? If I receive any reply for you, I shall put a request for your address in the Mail-Box.

Please, Robina.

Robina—Who asked for someone to make her a tatted yoke, please send your address, as I have replies for you from Mickey and Country Girl.

A "Sure Cure."

Dear Miss Grey—Like a great many other perplexed ones, I have come to you for some help. Very lately I have been busy trying to get rid of bedbugs. It is a mystery how they ever came, but nevertheless they are causing me a great deal of extra work these days. I have been trying several remedies, but they haven't seemed to do much good. I want to appear on the scene in a few days again. I mind of reading once in the paper several remedies for them, but wasn't interested at the time, nor ever expected to be. Your kindness will never be forgotten if you will only send a "sure cure" for them.

A BUSY MOTHER.

Ans.—Since you enclosed an envelope, I have mailed you several "sure kills," and by the time you have tried them all the bedbugs ought to be completely discouraged. Here's hoping so, anyway.

Something to Live For.

Dear Miss Grey—Here I am again after three years, but I lost my husband three years ago, and I surely did lose all interest in everything, and do miss him yet. There seems nothing to live for now. I have been thinking of you while out walking. My friend once told me that if there is anything in a black cat running across in front of you while out walking, it means that you are about to die. I am sure that if you think it is, or is it only a whim? Hoping to see this in print soon. I will sign my old penname, ROSEBUD NO. 2.

Ans.—I should certainly think that something to live for, and be thankful for it, anyway.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS.

Children Cry For

Mother and Doctor.

Baby's not well. Looks well but cries, and now what's the matter? Pins? No. Tight band? No. Seem to enjoy its breakfast this morning? Yes. What did the meal consist of? A cup of hot milk and I guess I gave her some of the rolls and bacon I had. Don't guess. If that was her breakfast send out for a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and after you give her a dose read carefully what a baby of her age should have for breakfast—you'll find it in the booklet around the bottle.

Too many young mothers are like this mother.

Caution. That's the word that should be hung in every home. Caution, Mothers, must be burned, burned deep in your mind if our little ones are to remain with us.

At the first irregularity: at the first flush of fever give Fletcher's Castoria, then call in your physician—he will commend you. You will have done much to aid him.

WHY NOT?

Why not carry a good watch? There is no good reason why you should be carrying an old worn-out, cheap watch, is there? You have the time, usually within five or ten minutes of the correct time.
Why not carry a watch that when you look at it, you know is within 20 or 30 seconds of the correct time?

We have them in nickel cases
from $2.00 up. In gold-filled cases from $15.00 up.

All these watches are guaranteed, of course. They come from "Young's."

Come in any time, no trouble
to show you one.

CUSTOM ASSOCIATION

BANQUET AT TEUMSEH

The London Customs Association
held a most enjoyable banquet in the Teumseh Hotel last evening, at which 40 members and guests were present.
The guests of honor were Robert Colvin of Hamilton, the president of the Dominion Customs Association, and the second of the Dominion organization.
They delivered splendid addresses, dealing with the new classification of the civil servants. The other guests brought from Port Stanley, St. Thomas, Galt, Stratford and Parkhill, and from St. Thomas, R. Gray and A. Sharp were selected to speak, which they did in a most able manner. Several musical selections also assisted in making the evening's event entirely successful.

CLEVELAND HIKERS COMPLETE LONG WALK TO LONDON TODAY

Ohio City Boys Arriving at Noon After Tramping
From Windsor.

This city will be invaded this morning
by the Cleveland Hikers. The Hikers may have been seen on the downtown streets yesterday afternoon and last evening, but their official invasion is not due until about noon today. At that time they expect to complete the last lap of their walk from Windsor to London. Yesterday at noon they straggled into Springfield and pitched camp there. Tired, footsore and hungry, the leaders of the party thought it wise to rest up for a triumphal entry here.
The Cleveland Hikers are a band of young men, ranging in ages from 15 to 19, who set out from Cleveland on Monday, August 11, on a trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, by way of Detroit.
They took boat from Cleveland to Detroit, and then crossed into Canada by the ferry to Windsor. Then began the most interesting, and for many, the hardest part of the journey. The trip from Windsor to this city was to be made on foot. Each of the party who walked the whole distance is to receive a bronze belt buckle in token of his ability as a long-distance pedestrian.

The boys set out on the walk on the afternoon of Tuesday, August 12. They claim they have been averaging eighteen miles a day. Most of them are in splendid shape, and even those who are nursing blisters and other ailments of the feet, express themselves as delighted with the trip.

Some Hopped Into Autos.

Not all of them are eligible for the belt buckles, however. Several passed up their claims by hopping into autos
and accepting a ride at the invitation of the driver. Most of the footsore jaunters took advantage of lifts here and there along the road, in order to keep the party from becoming too scattered. But the majority trudged the weary miles and enjoyed every bit of
it. They collected a lot of tan and sunburn. Most of them went bareheaded, and all are dressed in khaki shirts and trousers, some adding to their military appearance by wearing puttees. They cook their own food and carry sleeping bags with them. The road trip hasn't added any to the neatness of their dress,
but being good, healthy, sound boys,
dress doesn't cut any figure with them.
They were a strange contrast to the downtown shoppers when they breezed into the city yesterday afternoon, coming up the Springfield cars after they had completed their camping arrangements there. Most of them forget their aches and pains in their eagerness to see what the city looked like and no doubt the prospect of attending a picture show revived them considerably.

Leave Here for Falls.
They plan to march the remaining distance from Springfield Park to the city this morning, and will leave this evening by train for Welland. From there they go to Niagara Falls for a day and thence to Buffalo where they will remain for a day or two before taking the boat back to Cleveland.

The party is in charge of Karl Kist,
Harry Hoogesteiger, Rudolph Concor
and William Buttress. The boys are a well-behaved, manly crowd, and their arrival here today will attract a lot of attention. They all reside in Cleveland.
