Council's Request For Resignations Wipes Out Old Organization.

Two hundred members of the olconstabulary of Middlesex County were officially taken off the lists last night, when their resignations, requested by the county council, became effective.

This morning there are but fifteen members of the force, and all active, men, according to Clerk Stuart.

And the real reorganization of the force is yet to come

Some time ago the county counc decided that the constabulary in the county was not all that it should be, and after much discussion thought that it would be better to cut it down to a reasonable number. The reason for this was the inactivity of many of the members, and the complaints received by the clerk regarding police protection and service.

With this decision, the council asked for the resignations of all men holding the appointment of county constable. Several of them forwarded notice, but many did not. But whether they did or didn't, this morning finds them no longer on the rolls In the investigation regarding the men, it was found that several were much too old for the position, others had died, but their names were still on the list, still others did not appear to work at all, while a very few of them proved their worth.

June saw the appointment of the force, numbering fifteen, most of them members of the old constab-ulary, but it was then discovered that there was no high constable. With this discovery, it was determined that Sheriff Donald Graham must act in that capacity. Since then he has been fulfilling his dual roll, and states that he is getting results to the police, the church was all

In recognition of the help rendered by the Anglican Church in Canada to the Chinese during the period of their famine a year ago, Right Rev. David Williams, bishop of Huron, as chairman of the Missionary Society received, several days ago, a decoration from the Chinese government.

Word was received two months ago that several prominent members of the Anglican Missionary Society in Canada would receive a token of thanks and gratitude from China, but it was only the other day that the elaborate decoration arrived. The Canadian Anglican Church responded to the cry of help of thou-sands of Chinese during their winter of starvation last year. The church assisted the starving by sending food supplies and money, and as a con-sequence four Canadians have been recently given the high Chinese decoration for their services.

Bishop Williams, chairman of the Missionary Society, Archbishop Mathewson, primate of the Anglican Church, Doctor Cody, and Doctor Gould, secretary of the M. S. C. C., all received the decoration China.

Rare Old Wits Flourished in the Days of New Jersey Journal.

HERO'S MESSAGE

What is supposed to be the first newspaper that ever came to London was discovered in the vacated prem-ises of Dickison & Nicholson Com-pany, Richmond street, by William Coles Jun. yesterday.

The newspaper is called the New Jersey Journal, and is among the first dozen ever printed in North America. From an historical viewpoint, it represents a valuable find, and the copy in Mr. Coles' possession is dated "February 16, 1779. Vol. I., Numb. 1."

e of her most distinguished families.

Sir William Meredith, eldest son of the late John C. Meredith, belonged to a race of men and women noted community hall right in the heart of the city. both for ability and for personal attractiveness. The late chief justice possessed all the attributes of his family to a generous degree.

After receiving his education at the London grampar school, William, or Bill Meredith, as he was known n his earlier days, studied law with Thomas Scatcherd, and on his call to the bar entered into the partnership of Scatcherd & Meredith. The firm took its place as leaders of the bar, a position left vacant by appointment o the bench of the late Hon. John Wilson.

Like his partner, William Meredith soon engaged n politics. Apparently neither man was awed by the enture. Thomas Scatcherd, when asked how he liked after his first term in parliament, replied: "They're not so big when you get close to them." William Meredith to a similar question replied: "Slow, slow!"

As a young man, just gaining his spurs, perhaps his ost important case was Mossop vs. Mason, the City his opponent. It was a hard-fought fight, and had a good deal to do in making the reputation of W. R. Meredith and James Magee, both destined to occupy afterwards seats on the bench of the court of appeal.

William Meredith soon became known as a firstclass all-round lawyer, a big man in every way. On the policies. death of Thomas Scatcherd in 1876 he became city solicitor; on the death of H. C. R. Becher he became solicitor for the Bank of Montreal. He, with Thomas Hodgins and E. J. Parke, drew up the deed of partition and release disposing of probably the largest amount of settlement of the Matthews estate.

William Meredith grew old gracefully, and death has come to him only at the end of 83 years of rich experience and distinguished public service. The quotation has been used before, but it seems particularly role. appropriate here:

"Why call it death's dank night? Death is the entrance into light. Behind its cloudy, purple gates The everlasting morning waits. Then fear not death, its pains, its strife, Its weakness—these belong to life. Death is the moment when they cease, When Christ says 'Come,' and all is peace."

A good judge is perhaps the best man in the world. must know human nature well to reach the bench. His life has been rounded out by a knowledge of right and wrong as laid down in the law books and the book of experience. Its principles and theories are above the morality of the world. In that higher light it is his duty and privilege conscientiously to do justice.

William Meredith has been a good judge. His life has been an honest, able one that has done credit and honor to Canada. He was one of Canada's great men.

It will be remembered that President Roosevelt made a similar promise when he was called upon to succeed President McKinley. But Roosevelt did not keep his promise. It would have been impossible for him to do so, as by preference and desire the two men were very much unlike.

It seems to be an emotional tribute of necessity that is paid to a departed leader of a nation, that his policies shall prevail.

In a general sense they may, but in the larger sense the thing is impossible. Policies must change; they must meet conditions rather than be subject to them.

President Coolidge had been associated with the Hotel being involved. Mr. Justice James Magee was late Mr. Harding, knowing his ideas and plans. This may give him an opportunity to follow the Harding policy, but it will be found that inside of a few weeks he

THE DUTY OF HAPPINESS.

Man's chief end is to glorify God and to enjoy him forever .- The Shorter Catechism, Quest. 1. Some professing Christians are among the most depressing and worryful people in the world-the most difficult to live with

And some, indeed, have adopted a theory of ethics which puts special value upon unhappiness. The morbid spirit which mistrusts every joyful feeling, and depreciates every cheerful virtue, and looks askance upon every happy life as if there must be something wrong about it, is a departure from Christ's teaching to follow the dark-browed philosophy of the Orient. Jesus tells us that cheerful religion is the best. It is fine to do right against inclination. But there is something finer, and that is to have an inclination to do right. There is something nobler than reluctant obedience; and that is joyful obedience.

The rank of virtue is not measured by its disagrecableness, but by its sweetness to the heart that loves it. The real test of character is joy.

HOLD SHOWER IN HONOR OF MISS MABEL ZAVITZ Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Aug. 23.-A very jolly shower was held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Stonehouse, St. James street, in honor of a bride-to-be, Miss Mabel Zavitz. About forty-five girl friends of the guest of honor assembled in costumes representing many of the most noted men and women of past and present periods. The colored butler (Mrs. Mae McDougall), admit-ted the guests, and announced their arrival to the hostess and the guest of honor. Among the various groups were noticed: "King George" and the "Prince of Wales" chatting in a very friendly manner with "Maggie" and "Jiggs." much to Maggie's delight. Two ladies of the early 40's looked on with dismay at the loving glances that "Mackenzie King" was dividing between the "Queen of Hearts" and a sweet little "School Girl." "bloyd George" and "Kaiser Bill" spent a pleasant hour talking over old times.
"The Gipsy Girl" was kept busy telling the fortunes of "Minnie Ha Ha" and a "Country Cousin." Many guests came from "The Houseboat on the Styx." and it was remarked how friendly "Sir John A. Macdonald" and "Sir Wilfrid Laurier" were as they talked together. "Mar-tha Washington," "Abraham Lin-coln" and "Teddie Roosevelt" were

H. G. Salsinger, writing in the Detroit News, draws attention to the part a nameless mongrel dog seems to be playing in the recent wins of the Detroit Baseball Club. It is no secret that ballplayers are scarce who are not superstitious on the field. But Salsinger's story is worth repeating. National League President

"The romantic chapter of the current baseball season in Detroit is the nongrel alley dog from Chicago that has received more publicity than any dog in the country in the last month. "This cur, christened Victory by the Detroit players, is as worthless as

WOULD SUE PAPER any dog could possibly be, but the man is not living who would produce sufficient cash to buy this mongrel. "Adopted as a messenger of luck on the Tygers' last visit to Chicago, the team won three games from the White Sox. Taken to Washington, the Tygers did not do so badly there, and when in Philadelphia Detroit won the only two games played, the team became convinced that the dog had

In the Baseman Sammy Bohne and Left hustle of returning east the dog was overlooked and left in the clubhouse Fielder Pat Duncan flatly denied the here. With the mongrel Victory missing, the Tygers lost three out of four accusations.

The charges were published last Saturday by Collyer's Eye, a Chicago weekly sports paper, but the first official recognition given them was at today's hearing in the office of the National League executive, who established a precedent by inviting Cincingting newspaperment traveling with the games to the Red Sox, and then, going to New York, they lost two there, one of the defeats the result of bad luck. The reason that three games were lost to Boston and one to New York by the margin of one run was ascribed to the absence of the mongrel mascot.

"When the team returned to Detroit last week Victory was awaiting the players in the clubhouse. Again in possession of the mongrel, the team felt sure that a run of luck would follow.

"The Tygers took three out of four from Philadelphia, two out of three from Boston, and they won the opening game of the New York series yesterday. That makes six games won out of eight played since the team

Today, however, both players denied under oath that they had been approached either directly or indirectly by gamblers, while President Heydler after the hearing asserted: "The charges against Bohna and Duncan appear to me to be silly and unfounded." Nevertheless, the league executive emphasized, every effort would be made to trace them to their source.

After hearing the players this morning President Heydler advised them to institute legal action against the publication. He also urged that the Cincinnati club take similar action, a suggestion which was followed by an immediate declaration by August Herrmann, president of the club, that he would tack the players in any legal course they took.

THINKS WINGO HIGH

By JOHN B. FOSTER.

New York, Aug. 23.—If the report that Detroit paid Toronto $30,000 for Wingo is true, the only comment necessary is that it paid too much. There isn't a $50,000 ball player in the International League. However, the Detroit Club is generous in dealing with the minors. Consider what it gave Portland for two pitchers, yet it made on the deal.

Major league scouts are busy now passing final judgment on promising material turned up in the minors. There are more scouts in action than likely young players.

Dudley Lee, Tulsa shortstop, is said to be the best fielding shortstop in the minors this year. He comes from Denver and is one of the few players who is a Denver home product. He gets all over the ground like grass and has a fine arm. The Giants have had Scout Dick Kinzella on the road looking him over. Other teams besides the Giants have been on the lookout for Lee, and if some secret agreement has not been entered into by the Tulsa management, be bidding for him may be high before he is secured.

Dye Attracts Scouts.

Dye, of the Buffalo team, is attracting a good deal of attention from the scouts. He is a left-hander, hits hard and is fast on his feet. He might prove to be the right kind of a player for some big league team needing a left fielder and a left-hand hitter. The Athletics have had Harry Davis looking him over. Connie Mack is determined to find something for that outfield which fizzled on him in a pinch. It may be Strand of Salt Lake, and it may be Dye.

No club has grabbed Wright of Kansas City. Pittsburg is said to have him tied up. He was held at a prohibitive price, but that did not keep Pittsburg out. Dreyfuss is determined to pour concrete into gaps that need it badly.

Boehler, the Western pitcher, who failed to make good for Pittsburg, was sent out to Omaha, did not go for a promise. The Pirates are said to hold a claim on May, Omaha's best pitcher, May played in Vancouver last year and while he did not prove that he was anything brilliant, he gave promise, winning a little more than half his games. Boehler was not of much use to Pittsburg on account of a sort arm. He is one of those minor league pitchers who puts all he has in every game he pitches and suffers the next season.

Get Florida Infielder.

Johnson, an infielder with the St. Petersburg team down in Florida, has been transferred to Brooklyn for delivery in 1924. Brooklyn is sadly in need of infielders, like many other teams. Johnson is a little light for major league company right away.

Two or three clubs would like to do business with San Francisco for Waner, the batting prodigy of the coast, but all of them know the San Francisco players come high and that the men on the coast are smart enough not to tie themselves up with agreements by which they get something in the future.

Groves the Baltimore left-hander, is wanted by three major league clubs, but none of them will pay more than $50.000, at which the player is priced now.

"I brought him up and he is getting better all the time" said Jack Dunn.

outing and the Ruckle-Switzer remotion were real successes.

The first of the McEachern Clan settled in Ekfrid township about 1833, and a large number of the descendants of the early settlers are still residing in the district. Thursday's event was in the nature of an organization reunion, and was the first held by the McEachern Clan. However, close to 300 were in attendance, and next year with a complete organization, the clan members hope to stage one of the largest family reunions in the London district.

The officers of the clan were elected as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. Vern Thatcher of Detroit, president, J. J. Stalker of West Lorne: vice-president, M. O. McAlpine of Glencoe: secretary, Miss Katharine Campbell of Crinan; treasurer, Ross McEachern of Glencoe.

Legends of the Faroes. One of the Foroese men, a member by to the attractiveness of the rooms of the Lagthing, or parliament, in- I could have lived in that home myerested us greatly when he said that self and felt at home! the greatest legend in the Faroes is the story of William Tell. I knew claimed that Tell appeared in the north years before his narrated ex-ploits at Lake Lucerne round about 1499. But what I did not know was eleventh century, about a man by the name of Geyti Aslakson.

King Harald (alias Gessler) asks John Moxley, 3, Hurt While tract till April 1. his men if they know anyone his match in strength. They reply yes, that there is a peasant's son in the uplands, Geyti, son of Aslak. Forthwith the king rides to Aslak and asks where his son is.

"Alas, he is buried," was the reply.

"Alas, he is buried," was the reply. The king rides away, and meets presently a man dressed in scarlet, who gives his name as Gauta. They enter into a contest in swimming, and the Gauta gives the king a ducking. The king, in retailation, commands having his whole arm cut off last Gauta to shoot a walnut from his brother's head. Gauta, preparing his bow for the shot, prays to God and St. Olaf. Here it is in poesy, as our were using it to tighten the strands parliamentary friend recited it to us a grave and solemn voice:

On the string the shaft he laid, Jesu hath heard his prayer. Nor hurt the lad a hair.

"List thee, Geyti Aslakson,
Truly tell to me,
Why had you the arrows twain
In the wood yestreen with thee?"

"I had the arrows twain My brother dear had I but slain, The second were aimed at thee.'

Evidently the Faroes bred strong and brave men, unaffaid of king or death, for our friend entertained us next with many stories of daring deeds accomplished by his countrymen-of Sigmnud Bresteson, prince of the Faroes, who was Christianized by King Olaf Trygveson, and who swam four miles to escape death at hands of the pagan Throad: of Ole cragsmen ever seen in the isles. sometimes depending from a rope swung over a precipice and swingseveral fathoms, in order that on the rebound he might get a footing on a shelf hollowed out of the rock and get his birds there. But alas! Ole did it once too often; for a sack of meal, being lowered over the cliff by one of his own men, bumped against Ole, and knocked him into the abyss below. And, according to the Faroese tradition, when a man fell from the cliffs he burst in midair, so that really poor Ole is greatly to be pitied for his manner of dying! Faroes' Attitude Toward Denmark. The Faroe Islands, of course, belong to Denmark. The official language is Danish, although the natives speak a dialect much like the Icelandic. They even read and under-etand the old Icelandic sagas, but the sounds, in their tongue, when our parliamentary friend recited a fragment to us, differed from the Ice-landic. Two members from the Faroes are sent to the Danish par-liament in Copenhagen. The local affairs are managed by the Laghing. ing quite worthy of any city in Canada. Lagthing members are elected by ballot every three years, with an amtmand oppointed for life by the Danish king.

Are the Faroese satisfied with this n of government, or do they no h that they had the same meas ure of freedom that the feelande have, I asked. And in the reply

DEATH CALLS KATO,

CHAMPION OF PEACE

Special Cable to The Advertiser. London, Aug. 24.-Admiral Barer Kato, Japan's great naval hero and "peace premier," is dead in Tokio, a despatch from the Japanese capital said today.

Owing to the custom in Japan of not officially announcing immediately the death of an important official, it was several hours before this repor-could be confirmed. Kato became premier last year and nnounced a peace program of economy and development of friendship with the United States. His coming to the premiership jus after returning home from heading the Japanese delegation to the Washington arms conference was hailed as inaugurating an auspicious era for Japanese-American relations. The admiral first came into world notice during the Russian-Japanese war, when he was one of the heroe of the great sea fight of Tsushima, in which the Russian armada was wiped out by a Japanese fleet, commanded by Admiral Togo.

Kato was considered responsible for the brilliant Japanese strategy in this battle and was promoted to viceadmiral for his achievement.

Kato was made a baron in 1920. He vas born in Hieroschima in 1859, of family in moderate circumstances, and became an orphan a few years later. At 12 he entered the navy, and later completed his education in the Naval Academy. After graduation from the academy, his advancement was rapid, and by 1922 he was chief of staff of a squadron, the position he occupied when he led the Japanese

FOR ENGLISH PICNIC

St. George's Society To Hold Grand Outing at Springbank Tomorrow.

The gala day for Englishmen of the city is at hand. The annual English picnic held under the auspices of the St. George's Society is to be subjects dealt with by Prof. J. H. the St. George's Society is to be held at Springbank Park tomorrow, and from advance reports this year's outing is to be the best yet.

Bands, sports, refreshments, baby shows, everything that goes to make a picnic a success is contained in this year's program, and from the commencement of the soprts at 2:30 till late in the evening the day will be crowded with entertainment. be crowded with entertainment. Thirty-five events are included on the program, and the sports commit-tee consisting of W. Ball, George French, F. K. Nicholas, H. Meads, E. Potter, H. Lee, A. E. Smith, J. Lewis, W. Streeter, R. E. Edwards, W. Nicholas, C. Powel, G. Potter, and E. Ball have seen to it that the program shows originality in it's list of events. Such events as the hand and forestry department. Ninety-five per toe race, the watermelon eating com-petition, a cricket match, and English rounders where the married lad-

The Forest City band are to furnish music for the afternoon, and during the evening will play "Olde Countree" dance music for the dancing on the

Among the special attractions on the picnic program is the baby show the picnic program is the baby show for children under two years who were born in England. Kellogg's special cash prizes for the married ladies' race is expected to draw many entrants for this event. And the clown brigade, which is to accompany the picnickers to the river park will be well armed with candy and other delicacies to offer to the children.

1917, 50 per cent of the fires were attributable to railways, but since that year the average has decreased by half.

Following Prof. White's address, it was announced that the Kiwanian convention at Quebec City would be held on Oct. 5 and 6. A large delenumber of fish in the tops of fallen be well armed with candy and other delicacies to offer to the children.

TELLS METHODS USED

White, chief of the provincial forestry department, in an address at the Kiwanis Club luncheon today.
Prof. White presented an array of statistics in connection with the lum-ber industry, showing the value of Ontario forests to every person living in the province, and stressing the need of conserving them for future tario, he said, and the lumber industry represents a capital investment of $66,000,000. Ontario is second to Quebec in pulp and paper production. Lumber, pulp and paper and subsidiary industries represent a capital investment of $200,000,000, while 42,- 000 wage earners are employed.

Prof. White outlined the problem cent of forest fires are caused by man, he said. The department is respon-sible for the protection of an area les play the single, are expected to three times the size of England. provide much entertainment and About 1,200 fire rangers are employed for this purpose, equivalent to nine rangers to a county the size of Middlesex. This gives an idea of the tremendous areas that must be looked after by a limited number of men. Methods used to reduce forest fires were explained by Prof. White. In 1917, 50 per cent of the fires were attributable to railways, but since that year the average has decreased by half.

PAPER STOCKS ACTIVE AND PRICES ADVANCE

Upward Trend in Montreal Power Adds Much Interest to Early Trade.

Reported for The Advertiser
by Johnston & Ward.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—The advance that has occurred in Montreal Power was used as a means for increased activity throughout the general market in the forenoon session. On several occasions during the past few months Montreal Power stock has been the leader. When the increased demand for securities developed special attention was again given to the paper issues. For several days past there have been indications that traders were adding to their commitments, and the buying today was on a larger scale than had been seen for several weeks. It was thought that the foundation is being laid for a more active market. Buying of Quebec Railway continued around 20, and the street inclined to the view that some of the inside interests are now adding to their holdings in order to strengthen their position in connection with the plan for the proposed merger.

The namer stocks generally were quite plan for the proposed merger.

The paper stocks generally were quite active and strong, Abitibi advancing to 66, Brompton to 42½, Spanish River to 92, and Spanish River preferred to 99. Jr. and Spanish River preferred to 99.

In the public utility group Brazilian Traction was slightly easier at 44; a troken lot of Bell Telephone came out at 122½; Montreal Power was active and fractionally off from yesterday's close, being quoted at 123½; Twin City sold at 70 for a small lot.

Everything the Farmer Trades In

HAY PRICES LOWER

Increase in Offerings Causes General Decline of One Dollar Per Ton.

Hay declined in price about $1 per ton this morning on the local market. The cause of this decline was an increase in the offerings during the past few days, the requirements of the buyers having been more than met. Consequently sales were slow, though the dozen loads delivered were all disposed of. Earlier in the week the range was $11 to $13.50 per ton, but on Priday these figures were reduced, $10 to $12.50 being the prices.

Oats also met with a slow sale at slightly lower prices, $1.60 to $1.85 per cwt being paid for the three small lots offered. New oats show no change at $1.10 to $1.20 per cwt.

No wheat was received.

With these exceptions there were no other receipts, the only business transacted being done by the regular market dealers. Tomatoes were 65c to 75c for the 11-quart basket. Plums ranged from 65c to $1 per basket, according to variety and quality. Thimbleberries were 28c per box. and appear to be scarce. Pickling onlons vary in price from 15c to 25c per quart, several grades being sold.

Saturday's market is expected to be few days, the requirements of the being sold.

Saturday's market is expected to be a big affair, as the many necessary duties which have prevented farmers from coming to the city are nearing completion. The root crops are also rapidly maturing, and this fact will necessitate the marketing of supplies.

CHICAGO

week were not good enough for export, and too rough and heavy for the domestic trade. They were bought by the abattoirs at a lower price, from $5.75 to $6.50. There is a market only for choice butcher steers and heifers weighing about 900 pounds. The common grades have been very dull all week. Buyers will take good, breedy, short-keep feeders and stockers, and milch cows and springers are in some demand. About 900 head of common will be carried over until Monday.

On Monday the best load of heavy steers offered averaged 1,483 pounds, and went to a packer at $3.25. Good to choice butchers sold steady with last week at $6.75 to $7.25 a hundredweight at the opening, but for the balance of the week the market was a quarter lower on all grades, including heavy steers. Export prices closed at $7.50 for the best, with few offerings, Medium to good butchers brought $5 to $6.75 with some at $7. Common sold down at $4 a hundred. Good butcher cows brought $4 to $5.25. An odd good bull made $4 to $4.50, with plenty of common ones at $2.50 to $3.50. Stocker trade was dull, but there was a good inquiry for feeders at $5 to $6.50 a hundred.

A lot of western cattle consigned to H. P. Kennedy, 15 loads of stockers and feeders and 8 loads of butcher heifers, sold at from $4.50 to $3.50, and light yearlings sold for stockers at $2 to $3.50. Farmers are buying good western feeders, probably because the price is low and the prospects for feed are good. It is reported that many of the western cattle are going to $1. Louis and Chicago. Western cattle that are rived on the Toronto market this week are decidedly of a better grade.

With speculators taking 6 loads of calves for Buffalo, the additional outlet was reflected in the strength of the market. Prices advanced $1 per cwt. with tops closing at $11.50 to $1.2. An unusually large supply of heavy calves was sold at $6 to $9, with grassers at $3.25 to $4.

The hog market continued last week's advance, with 25c rise on Monday, reaching $10.55 fed and watered for the kes should be sho Chicago, Aug. 23. - Closing cash Chicago, Aug. 23.— Closing cash prices:

Hold Outing At Home of Arthur Brown, Dufferin Avenue.

One of the most enjoyable outings in the history of Adelaide Street Church choir took place on Wedneslay when, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Dufferin avenue, the annual picnic was held. During the afternoon sports were held on the lawn and a game of softball indulged in by the early comers. After a delicious supper served by the ladies, under Mrs. James Baldwin, convener of the refreshments, another game of softball was enjoyed. In the evening the host and hostess were successful in their untiring efforts to make their guests at home, and games were enjoyed by all.

One of the events of the day was the presentation made by the choir to two of the members on the approach of their wedding, when Miss Jean Short and Tom Brown were the repients of a silver tea service. The esentation was made by Mrs. Ar-Brown, while the address was made by Mrs. James Baldwin. about-to-weds thanked the choir their lovely gift, and hoped they ald all have the pleasure of paring tea out of it soon.
Those present were: Mr. and Mrs.

thur E. Brown and Miss Edith own, Mr. and Mrs. James Baldwin, iss Marjorie Piercey, Miss Elsie x, Miss Jean Smith, Mr. and Mrs. rank Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, per cent of the 83,000 wheat growers are signing the contracts.

1,000 Eggs In Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs Next Winter— Famous Poultryman TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short." says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born of hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

ALBERTA WHEAT GROWERS ARE SIGNING CONTRACTS

Canadian Fress Despatch.

Calgary, Aug. 23.—Approximately 400 signed wheat contracts were received at the head offices of the Alberta Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, this morning. This boosted the total number of contracts to approximately 1,500 for a total acreage of about 200,000.

Reports from all parts of the province so far indicate that at least 75 ner cent of the $3,000 wheat growers

• A good, proved plan for livestock breeders located in the same district is co-operative Want Advertising. Two or more farms can participate. The cost is shared.

The benefits derived are numerous. To begin with, several swine breeders, for example, co-operating, can run very economically a Want Ad several times as long as any one of them as an individual probably could afford to. This means that each participant in the Want Ad plan gets the benefit of large space. Many more see and read the larger Want Ad. Each swine breeder, individually, has more inquiries, makes

Then there are the benefits of prestige. Each Want Ad will be headed with a brief explanation of the code of the association-how it stands for fair prices, how members guarantee satisfaction, how the association insists that each member maintain a reputation for square dealing with customers. This will carry a good deal of weight-much more than similar assertions made by an individual concerning himself. Following this general matter will come a list of members, addresses, what they offer, and prices. If there are special features of the advertiser's district which constitute good "talking points," they should be used. Healthful environment is something that appeals to buyers, and often can be used. High, dry land, free range, for instance, people associate with strong, vigorous stock, in the case of poultry. In some cases, convenience to buyers is the best talking point. If the advertiser's locality is close in and has frequent car service, that should be told. On the other hand, a far-out district can offset location disadvantages by advertising to meet inquirers and provide transportation. One fact of possible importance is that in these days of automobiles, a paved highway may be as favorable an asset as a car line. Get together with fellow breeders, and start a Want Ad

Just Nine Years Ago Since the First Canadian Army Gathered at Valcartier.

INCIDENTS OF CAMP

Nine years ago this week saw the city planned and erected within a remarkably short time through the genius and energy of the late Gen. Str Sam Hughes, in 1914 minister of milities.

From all parts of the Dominion the volunteers for service in the war with Germany gathered, and with much enthusiasm started in to make the best of the life for which they had signed up, little caring how long t lasted, so it brought about the downfall of the Prussian beast. Valcartier itself, situated about 25 miles outside Quebec, and on the banks of one of the tributaries of the mighty St. Lawrence, formed an ideal camp site. In a hollow, sur-rounded by hills, the spot was well $6,500—South, new rug brick bunga-low, 7 rooms, hardwood floors, 3 bedrooms, 3-piece bath, furnace, fully modern, nice lot. Let us show you this home. $2,700—East, frame cottage, 3 bed-rooms, hall, usual living-rooms, hydro, water, part basement, drive, lot 39x150, $700 down, balance $39 a month, interest and principal at 6 per cent. suited for the ceaseless manoeuvring sinted for the ceaseless manufactures and skirmishing through which the Canadian troops had to go in order to fit themselves for the business of

From early in the morning until arom early in the morning until late at night battalions and batteries could be seen wending their ways in the direction of these hills and wood-ed slopes. Our to one side would be seen a brigade of infantry starting out in close formation, afterwards ex-tending and surrounding this place certain directions, and after the armor that with much expenditure of istice it was only American capita blank cartridge. Off the other way that poured into the province. Probwould be a brigade of artillery three batterles, ammunition column and headquarters, with horses straining any way, only it is illuminating, as and men alert for the commands that accompany the orders "action front "action rear."

Getting Into Shape. "Advance in column of route from the right," was a common command, and the men and horses soon brought themselves to the required point of training as far as drill went. There remained the practice with live ball and shell. This also was done, and the camp finelly correlated on Services. the camp finally concluded on Sept 24 with a review by His Highness the Duke of Connaught, governor-genera

Several incidents stand out in the memory of the oldtimers, who were present at that great gathering place. Probably the most distinct among ing picture theatre, which late one night was destroyed by a number of the men who decided that it would be the right thing to do if they taught the proprietor to change his pictures. Night after night the same film was shown, and the men became dis-

Among the mounted men the stor rifle off at a shadow. He was stationed near the pontoon bridge, on the camp side of the river, while on the camp side was a big barbed wire inclosure, containing hundreds of horses just off the range. With the sound of the rifle the horses surged that they have been discriminated against, and that it rankles to one corner of the fence and broke through. With a sound like thunder they tore across the nontoon bridge For Sale—One 1923 Jewett sedan, equipped with front and rear bumpers, stop light, running board mats, slip seat covers, flower vase, interior heater, Gabriel snubbers, motor meter, etc. This car is in the very best of mechanical condition and can be seen at our show room at any time during the day and evening. morning the majority had been found, but for days afterwards the French armers were bringing in horses. It has been stated on good authority that the farmers themselves benefitted by the stampeded to the extent of > Bathers Surprised. One of the most amusing incidents occurred one balmy day when a number of men took the opportunity to bathe in the river. They neglected the formality of bathing suits, feeling that they were quite secure from intrusion. But just as they were nicely enjoying the swimming some of them standing on the bank clad of them standing on the in the in Nature's garb and others in the water, a large motor load of girls drove up. With a shriek that reached the skies the girls burst out roarg, and the boys immediately took

> Many other little happenings that took place there could be mentioned, but it would take a book to hold them all. Let it suffice to say that at Valcartier the men of the first continuous treasured their transfer which ingent received their training which made them the most feared and rock-less fighters engaged in the war. "Shock troops" was the name given to them and the name they lived up

"COD-LIVER" OIL FROM SHARKS.

Much of the cod-liver oil that comes to market is derived from the livers of Greenland sharks, a species numerous on banks off the west coast of Norway, and likewise all over the North Sea and Arctic Ocean. They are from ten to eightéen feet long, and afford a lucra-tive fishing business.

It will be a great saving to you, perhaps, if you have your eyes examined to-day. You will save not only money—but you will make a real investment in physical and mental comfort.

Isolation of British Columbia and friendly eyes towards the East." In the westerly provinces from the domination of the east, was the keynote with a chuckle threw a new light on of an interview given The Advertiser today by Walter Jordan, an old St. Thomas boy, now home on a trip to the haunts of his youth. Mr. Jordan, who until a few months ago was their franchise for the first time and managing editor of the Revelstoke the wets gained the day. I know gathering of the first big Canadian Review, was born in St. Thomas, and it sounds ungallant to put I that army at Valcarfier camp, the tented for eighteen years served on the way," he remarked, "but I have heard city planned and erected within a Journal.

"The first thing I would bring to your notice," said Mr. Jordan, "is the fact that British Columbia is suffering just now from lack of capital t develop her industries. As Revelstoke is the center of the timber and mining industry in the province, and so I am in a position to know. Much American Money.

"The large majority of new capital that has come into British Columbia since 1914 is American. Before the war British and Canadian money was not hard to get, but when the war came along things slacked up in istice it was only American capital ably it is just a matter of economics howing part of our troubles.

"Up in the hills around Revelstoke is what is generally conceded to be the greatest virgin mineral field in the world. Only with money can this source of wealth be touched, and it seems as if the money from the ath is going to do it. "Up in Stewart, there is a mine joyous at the the which last year paid over 100 per cent, and it paid it on American couver in future,"

money at that." On another point of interest to easterners Mr. Jordan was communi-cative. "Do you know," he asked, "what is the most commonly heard rumor in B. C. today? It's this: 'If we can't get justice from Montreal let's get it by ourselves and break with the east.' Now it's only a vague rumor, nothing more, just something intangible and undefined. Yet it's there, and to me it is a straw in the breeze, showing how the wind blows, and may blow still harder under certain circumstances.

Railway Freights. The railway freight question you of the stampede is still related with have doubtless heard all about in much laughing. It happened one the east. "Then there is the question of Asiatic labor on the coast. That is and down through the artillery and another problem we are facing alone. At present it has not reached the these units with them. Within a stage of a serious menace. But we roar, and men were scurrying here and there in an effort to round up the frightened animals. By the next tudy the question and try to question, laden with such serious consequences, that even Ottawa may not be able to settle it satisfactorily and safely.

"We feel that Montreal and the big Interests are not greatly concerned about the comfort of Canadians on the coast. So long as they are able to bring in cheap labor, it matters not to them whether it is British or Chinese. Down here you don't realize the presence of a yellow peril. I don't mean in the way of war, but in the way of increased population and the fact that we cannot, and never can completely assimilate them in this country.

A Modern Hat Cleaning Establishment

Beyond any doubt a cleaner who can clean ladies' delicate wearing apparel, naturally can clean a felt hat, so the point was to install proper equipment to block hats-perfectly.

At considerable outlay we have installed

A "New Way" Hat Blocking Machine

which blocks hats as they are blocked by the manufacturers.

No further need now to discard perfectly good hats, simply because they need cleaning and blocking. Send us one for a trial order, and if anyone can tell your hat from a new one they will need a magnifying glass
