BATTLEFORD'S FIRE LOSSES

Heavy Damages Which Cripples Thriving Young Town—Investigation to be Held

North Battleford, Dec. 29.—An alarming series of fires, supposedly of incendiary origin have occurred here.
On Friday morning a fire was discovered in a livery barn occupied by F.
Allan, originating in a board fence in the rear. No ashes or inflammable material were deposited in the vicinity.
The same night a fire was discovered in J. Chisholm's lumber office too late to discover the origin. When the brigade arrived, it was found that the had been used for flooding the rick and was frozen, and though water was plentiful from the C.N.R. roundhouse, little could be done to save the buildings, stocks, etc. The South Battleford brigade made a good record run and assisted to save a sound sleeper. He was only roused just in time, he had his leg burned and escaped in his night gear. The

NEW YEAR'S GREETING

(Written for The West by Eugene Cleugh.)

Last night, came a voice to my wakened ear,
A voice that whispered: "Be thou of good cheer,
Twas the spirit voice of the young New Year
As he swept from unfathomed ether
It awoke on the tones of the midnight bell
As the sound waves rolled in a heaving swell,
Submerging the world in a vast farewell,
Like a sigh drifting hither and thither.
And I said to my heart: "The old year has passed,
The youth and his train approaches fast,
And the clang of the bells is a victor's blast
Of gladness wild and free."
And the voice spoke unto my heart again—
"Arise from repining, ye children of men,
To perfect a flower God sends both sunshine and rain
Seek the good life hold for thee."

Then all the copious wassail bowl,
Let it warn the frozen depths of the soul,
Toss of the Viking's ringing "skol!"
Let the old earth echo laughter,
Bid all the world a glad New Year,
Let the children's voices, high and clear,
Ring in joyous shout and merry cheer
From cellar to attic rafter.

For the New Year offers thee honor's crown,
The cross of the Old Year cast ye down—
Let a smile on the lips displace the frown,
"For 'tis better to laugh than be sighing."
So quaff the wassail's brimming cup,
Drink a health to all with a hearty sup,
As the precious nectar bubbles up,
For swift the hours are flying.

Here's to one dear heart that's fond and warm
To the eyes and lips with their wondrous charm
To the arms caress that would shield from harm
And the smile where the sunlight gleam
And here's to the parent, pride on earth
That hath tears for your sorrow and smiles for your mirth,
The thing that to heaven itself hath birth—
The heart of a friend that is true.

In reverent deep now bow the head,
A grateful incense round her shed,
Beneath her feet your honors spread,
Stand and pledge—To MOTHER.

Here's a helping hand when one is due,
A heart to the hearts that beat for you,
A sigh for our foes and a pardon too,
And a kiss for the loved at home,
Here's a tear for those not here today,
A prayer for the weak ones gone astray,
Here's a sigh for the summers passed away
And a smile for those to come.

Then hail to the merry, glad young sprite!
The child of Dawn, the son of Night,
Who cometh to our soul with promises bright,
Right royally greet him king,
May he give you the prize you hold most dear,
Surround you with love that will gladden and cheer
May your sun burst in splendor, all clouds disappear
A Happy New Year I bring.

the lumber yards. The loss is about $31,000.

On Sunday at 5 a.m. roused by a petulant child, Mrs. Fox, wife of the manager of the bank of Commerce, noticed a bright light and the alarm sounding. It was found that the block occupied by J. Haywood's grocery furnishings, was in flames. The store was completely destroyed together with the contents valued at $12,000, insurance $6,000. The second storey of this building was occupied by the customs office, and considerable C.N.R. express and government mail was stored there in boxes, which was all destroyed. In spite of the trouble with the frozen hose, the brigade succeeded in checking the fire.
The South Battleford brigade again responded.

The Saskatchewan and Battle River Development Co. lost a building valued at $3,000, and documents worth $2,000, while President Norton lost his private papers valued at $5, 000. A. M. Nanton, barrister, who had offices in the building, lost one thousand.

H. Simpson of the Battle River Land Co. slept in the building and in aggressive since Sir Wilfrid Laurier endeavored in the address debate to put Mr. Borden and his supporters on the defensive by attacking the Halifax platform. The results of the bye-election have been encouraging to the Conservatives who broke into the solid representation from Nova Scotia and also put up such a fight in Ontario that the result is a great moral victory for the opposition.

As to the work of the session so far Mr. Lake says that the House will be at a good starting point when it reassembles. The preliminaries have been disposed of and the regular work will proceed with the budget debate which, according to the general impression around Ottawa, will be of a somewhat protracted nature.
The whole session promises to be lively and interesting from many aspects, and in fact it has not been dull at any stage so far. With regard to the debate on the address, Mr. Lake says that Mr. Foster made a very effective speech in reply to the leader of the government's criticism of Mr.
Borden's platform.

Mr. Lake leaves in a day or two to resume his duties at Ottawa.

We wish

CHARGED WITH KIDNAPPING

United States Officer Drags Canadian Citizen across the Line and Makes Him Sign Incriminating Document—Action Taken.

Winnipeg, Dec. 25.—Information has been laid in the department of the attorney general here, against George Foulke, an officer of the secret service department of the United States treasury, on a charge of kidnaping Isaac Casson and Albert Tolson, two citizens of Emerson. The alleged crime was committed on Dec. 3rd, at 9 a.m. The two men were driving east along International ave. Emerson, which is very close to the boundary line between the United States and Canada. Just across the railway track a stranger rushed out of the watch house and seized their horse by the bridle. In reply to the strangers questions they told him their names. The stranger was Foulke and he at once informed them that he was an officer of the secret service department at Washington, and that he wanted them to get out of their rig and go with him across the line to Noyes. Both refused to go, saying they were British subjects and refused to consider themselves under arrest. They wanted to drive their horses ahead, but Foulke threatened to shoot the animal if they did so. He then appointed Robert Rossal, a signal man on the railway, a special constable, and ordered him to assist in the arrest. In rather strong language Rossal refused, on the ground that he was a British subject, and that the officer had no power on this side of the line.

Foulke declared that he was on neutral ground, and a struggle occurred between the men, but neither of them could be induced to leave the rig. The stranger then backed his horse, and by a quick move secured the reins and had the rig across the international boundary in an instant. There the two men were placed under arrest and taken to Noyes station. On arriving at the station Casson and Tolson were compelled to sign a paper in order to be released and allowed to return to Canada.

The reason given for their arrest was that it was desired to implicate them with others in the charge of smuggling grain into the United States. The papers they signed they claim were untrue and they signed them under protest in order to be allowed to return home. D. Forrester, a lawyer of Emerson, has the case in hand and a claim is being made on the treasury department of the United States for a sum of $5,000 for the arrest of each of the two men kidnaped. Already a prominent official of the department has been to see Mr. Forrester, to have the matter kept quiet, but he has placed it in the hands of the secretary of state at Ottawa, and the British Ambassador at Washington.

SENDING OUT FLOUR

Samples Made From Wheat Grown within 400 Miles of Arctic Circle Sent Out by Free Press.

It seems incredible now that a high scientific authority should have declared as recently as fifty years ago that wheat growing could never be made a success on this continent west of the state of Ohio. That declaration, made by John Klippart, a member of many learned societies, in his work on the "Wheat Plant," published in 1859, is one of the many interesting matters referred to in the little book entitled "Wheat from Canada's Far North West, with Some Account of Wheat Growing and Flour Milling, Ancient and Modern," which the Free Press has sent out accompanied with a little barrel—with staves, hoops and all complete—filled with flour made at the Hudson Bay Company's mills at Fort Vermillion, on the Peace River, the northernmost mill on the continent, from wheat grown in the Peace River country.

For a number of years the Free Press has made it a custom to mark the Christmas season by sending out a souvenir, and this latest one in the series is worthy of its predecessors, if indeed it may not be said to excel them in interest. Among the preceding souvenirs have been a calendar made from the quill of a Canadian wild goose, a gopher's tail, mounted; a little sack of pemmican, and a little sack of No. 1 Hard Manitoba wheat. Each souvenir has been accompanied by an illustrated booklet, usually containing an Indian legend, given in print for the first time. The present little book has no Indian legend, but more than makes up for the absence of that feature in the mass of interesting, curious and valuable information which it presents. The advance of wheat growing and milling in northwestern Canada on this continent is dealt with most instructively, and it is a safe venture to say that even a person who is well posted on this subject, will not be able to turn over the most interestingly written pages of this little book without having his eyes light upon something which will be new to him. The whole subject is handled in such a manner as to make it one of really fascinating interest. It is in every sense of the word an attractive, and indeed, remarkable specimen of the bookmaker's art. The cover design, in colors, is a picture of a woman grinding flour in a hand-mill of the kind referred to in the familiar scripture text: "Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken and the other shall be left."

An appendix contains up-to-date statistical information in regard to the development and progress of the West, the advertising of which in novel and striking form is the obvious purpose of these Christmas souvenirs. That being their purpose, they are not sent out, it is understood, to the people in Western Canada, but only to the newspapers and are distributed in the East, across the line, and in the Old Country, so as to serve most effectively as advertisements of this country.

Brandon, Man., Dec. 26.—A joint meeting of the executive of the Union of Manitoba municipalities and provincial inspectors was held here this afternoon to consider the advisability of appointing provincial auditors. Those present were: President Cochran, secretary Carlyle; J. P. C. Menlove, Dr. Thompson, Wm. McBride, C. Stinson, of the Union and provincial inspectors; J. A. McDougall, I. A. Morton, C. P. Estlin, and U. A. Rea. The Hon. G. R. Caldwell was also present and discussed the matter with the delegates. After lunch discussion it was decided to ask the government to appoint provincial auditors, but it was thought that first one system of book-keeping must be put in force in all municipalities in the province outside of Winnipeg, but which system the delegates were not at present prepared to recommend until that used at Virden had been examined.

Resolution Passed. The following resolution was passed: "That it is the opinion of this meeting that the government shall be requested to provide legislation for the appointment of permanent municipal auditors to audit the books of all municipalities in the province except the city of Winnipeg, and that the present system of auditing be abolished, and it is suggested that the new system be commenced during the middle of the year 1926."

Each municipality in the province should hold a tax sale every year not later than October 1st, of all lands two years in arrears of taxes. That the secretary-treasurer shall prepare a balance sheet to be submitted to the people up to Nov. 15th of each year according to the form prepared by the municipal commissioner, and a similar one at the end of each year. The first balance sheet to be printed in some newspaper published or circulated in the municipality about a week prior to nomination day. One copy of the last balance sheet shall be sent to the council and one to the municipal commissioner, both to be certified correct by the secretary, and the provisions of subsection 10, of section 304, of the consolidated act of Ontario be adopted with such changes to suit the case, adding a provision for a penalty for not furnishing such statements. That the matter of book-keeping for each municipality be left over until the spring meeting of the executive and municipal inspectors, when secretary Menlove, of Virden, shall bring down sample copies of their system and that some system be then decided upon, and that the government be asked to legislate for the same. That every municipal auditor send out notices to every ratepayer on the books for arrears of taxes.

BIG RUSH AT YORKTON

Doukhobor Lands Thrown Open and Unoccupied are Again in Great Demand

Yorkton, Dec. 27.—When the Doukhobor lands were taken up here in the summer, the department of the Interior gave those fortunate enough to secure a quarter section, six months in which to become residents of their quarter. This time expired on Monday and another rush took place for the lands then unoccupied. In order to get into the office this morning, some of the men spent a December night on the steps of the lands office building.

Several of those who entered the strenuous rush last summer and paid $10 for a quarter worth two or three thousand dollars here, thus lost what they fought for. The department would show no leniency to anyone in respect to these lands and those who were not on their quarter when the time expired lost it.

Police Go North From Mafeking to Meet Other Detachment.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—A detachment of mounted police left Mafeking on the line of the Canadian Northern Railway, on Saturday with mail for Fort Churchill, on Hudson's Bay. They will proceed as far as Norway House where they will meet a detachment from Split Lake Post. When the latter body reach home they will meet the small force sent out from Fort Churchill, who will carry the mail to the latter post.

The Mafeking contingent takes with them to Norway House the reprieve of the Indian, Fiddler, who choked an Indian woman to death to exercise the evil spirit with which the tribe thought she was possessed.

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets. The Regina Pharmacy Stores. Harden Label Suit. Berlin, Dec. 25.—Interest in the famous Harden label trial now centres on Princess Charlotte, the sister of the Kaiser, who was unexpectedly brought into the case by the assertion of the editor, that it was upon the information received from her that he based his accusations against Count Von Moltke. Public opinion which has gradually been turning against the editor because of the seeming weakness of the defence and the failure to substantiate many accusations against Von Moltke, is now returning to the cause of the editor. It is agreed by all that the testimony of the Princess is probably the crisis of the Harden case. It is not yet known whether her evidence will be given in court or taken by commission, but in either case it will prove one of the most important features of the trial.

If the testimony upholds Harden's accusations, as it is expected, it will go far towards exonerating the editor from liability for libel. It is also said that the Kaiser cannot very well refuse to accept the evidence of his own sister.

Sessional Review

(By C. F. Hamilton)

There is no doubt that the best sessional reporter at Ottawa is C. F. Hamilton, special correspondent of the Toronto News, who accompanied the Borden party on their recent tour reviewing the session to the holiday adjournment. Mr. Hamilton writing in his paper says:

"The calling of Parliament in November this year has been justified of its works. The House of Commons has labored with remarkable industry and done a good deal of foundation work, and has got rid of a good deal of the discussion which is inevitable and proper.

Things done.

The work first. Two very important documents are before the public, the French treaty and the Insurance Bill. Both are reserved for discussion, but it is indispensable to discussion that they should be before the country for a reasonable length of time before the formal debate is undertaken. Consideration in the streets and in the counting houses of merchants should precede the discussion in Parliament. The budget is not yet delivered; last session it was got rid of before Christmas adjournment, but this year the competition of other business, and possibly the probability of a long debate—far longer than the opposition has ventured upon in recent previous sessions—has helped to postpone it. Beside this Mr. Oliver has managed to get two of his western measures, which seem unobjectionable, put out of the way; so far as he is concerned, the decks seem clear for the discussion of his highly contentious Dominion Lands Bill. A private member's bill, Mr. Lancaster's excellent level crossing measure, has been sent to the work of the public business.

work has been the voting of something over $1,500,000 in supplies, and the tabling of the enormous main estimates of $119,000,000. Add to these the organization of the committees, and the taking of preliminary steps by the Public Accounts Committee, and you have a very respectable sum of achievement for the first fortnight of the house, a period often distinguished by leisurely treatment of the public business.

Fighting has begun.

But the real interest of the opening fortnight has been political. This is looked upon as the pre-election session; it is beginning to look as if the Government is receding from its project of appealing to the people next autumn, but whatever the decision may be, the opposition is bound to make its first fight within the next six months, and it has begun pugnaciously enough. There can be no doubt that the Conservatives assembled in a mood of unwonted encouragement and confidence. They also have shown the temper of attack that disposition to make things unpleasant for the other side, which is invaluable to a party, and which they hitherto have lacked.

Things Discussed.

The political matters discussed fall into main classes; public affairs over which there is difference of policy, and purely partisan quarrels. In the former category may be included:

1. The financial difficulty and its bearing on governmental finance and expenditure; also the cognate subject of Western transportation difficulties.
2. The Imperial Conference and its sequel of the All-Red Line.
3. The Quebec Bridge disaster.
4. The Japanese business.
5. The rural mail delivery.
6. The immigration policy of the Government, and its relation to the present distress and lack of employment.

The partisan quarrels:

1. The Pugsey episode.
2. The attack by the Government on the Halifax platform.
3. The Imperial Conference.

The Imperial Conference may be dismissed so briefly. So far the opposition first, because it can be positioned has not directly challenged Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude. It has disputed his right to take credit for sundry achievements, but it has not as yet ranged itself on Mr. Deakin's side in the great controversy which occupied the greater portion of the time and energy of the Conference. On the other hand the premier's All-Red route scheme seems to be languishing. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's announcement that Mr. Sirton is not acting officially for the Government in the matter aroused a surprise which has hardly been lessened by the qualifying intimation that "Mr. James White, the Dominion geographer, who is in England charged with the duty of investigating the subject, is acting closely in touch with Mr. Sirton."

Blue Rain.

The most interesting political development of the financial situation is the disposition of the Conservatives to raise the "blue rain" cry. Next to that comes the amazing agility with which the Government apologists set the good times down to the credit of the Government and prove that it is not responsible for the hard times. Of far greater interest than these partisan manoeuvres is the very serious fact that, despite financial difficulties, the Government shows little disposition to curtail its expenditure. After allowing for the special expenditure on the Transcontinental and deducting cross entries, the fact remains that the main estimates are $14,000,000 larger than those of last year, and that we are likely to see appropriations of from $135,000,000 to $140,000,000. These statements barely touch the fringe of the financial situation, which is exceedingly complicated. This much is evident, that, while last year Parliament was extravagant in making appropriations, the spending departments were cautious in disbursing them. The Public Works Department for example, seems to have allowed $3,000,000 of its note to lapse. Past this stage we get to persistent rumours that the Government has been shirking all payments possible, and that it is heavily indebted to the banks. There also is curiosity and apprehension on the subject of the tremendously heavy debt renewal—$29,300,000 this year—which are facing us. The Opposition has been questioning Mr. Fielding persistently on these points, but without much success. On one point, that of overdue debts owed by the Government, his reply was noticeably guarded. Mr. Fielding has kept mysterious about his offer of help to move the western crops; something has been heard of the Western troubles.

On the Quebec Bridge issue the advantage so far rests with the opposition. The Government insists on waiting for the report of the Commission of investigation. The Opposition, without waiting for that, has placed before the country a direct, and serious indictment of the Government, which seems to possess a footing apart from the technical question as to the responsibility for the collapse. The counts are: (1) What business had the Government to entrust this sum of $6,000,000 work to a company with only $65,000 paid up capital? Indeed the charge was explicitly made that the company has put no money at all into the enterprise. (2) This building company has been transformed into an exploiting company, and given power to exact huge tolls when the time comes to use the bridge. The gravity of this latter charge hardly seem to have been appreciated as yet.

The Japanese Embargo.

The Japanese business is of exceptional importance. It is our first essay in what may be styled overseas diplomacy, and the difficulty of the situation is extreme. The Opposition has frankly sought to make party capital out of it; before it is condemned for this one had better ask oneself what benefit the Opposition would get from unanimity, and how often oppositions anywhere have abstained from actions of this sort. The British Columbia members, who are between the devil and the deep sea, have sought to square themselves by an afternoon of talking. As speeches their efforts were remarkably good; it was curious to see how the difficulty of the situation drew out the powers of one or two men who do not ordinarily concern themselves much with general politics. As a move in the game, the whole demonstration had rather an air of insincerity; it looked uncommonly like a game of "mending fences." The Government, for its part, while steadily refusing to announce its policy, or bring down official correspondence until Mr. Leneux's return some time in January, seems to be evolving a line which is intelligible and at all events plausible. The whole subject demands more extended treatment than is possible here.

Other Topics.

The preliminary skirmish on free rural mail delivery has resulted in a curious stalemate. Mr. Armstrong has riddled the technical arguments brought forward by the Liberals; but he and his friends have not strictly political arguments brought forward by Dr. McIntyre, that the West won't let the East have a luxury which it cannot share.

Mr. Oliver has put forward an elaborate apology for the immigration policy of the Government. Up to a certain point his defence is satisfactory; the Government has been energetic, it has attracted large numbers of immigrants, it has been discreet on the issue whether it should seek to import artisans as well as farmers, and it seems to have been judicious in altering its policy to adapt it to changing conditions. There is, however, the ugly suspicion that this splendid activity was marred by "toll-making." Mr. Oliver did nothing to dispel this.

The Pugsey Squabble.

The Pugsey episode remains mysterious. Mr. Pugsey has refused to be drawn. Doubtless he is within his rights in choosing his own time and circumstances to make the statement which it is absolutely necessary he should make; but deliberation may pass into something else, and a people will respect a man who sits immobile very long under such a challenge as Mr. Kemp presented to him. So far the opposition has the advantage.

The Compliment to the Platform.

So far the opposition has the advantage. The general fact remains to be chronicled that the Government met the house in a mood as pugnacious as the Opposition, and at the opening made an obvious effort to override it. All this amounted to a confession that it is very angry at the Halifax platform. Why should it be angry at the Halifax platform? Clearly, because it is afraid of it; the attentions of so cute a judge of public opinion as Sir Wilfrid Laurier constitutes the best compliment yet paid to Mr. Borden's policy. Again, there is this to be noted. During the first two or three days the undoubted dialectical superiority of the Government enabled to secure an advantage of a sort; but as the days went on, the spirit of the Opposition seemed the more persistent. Its attack has been unflagging—if so large a term can be used of so short a period—while the Government on several occasions has refused to develop its case.

Good for Mr. Graham.

It is pleasant to be able to note in conclusion that Mr. Graham has made a good start. He has been polite and obliging in the house; he has made one or two short speeches in connection with grievances as to railway connections which seem to show a real public spirit; and his treatment of Mr. Lancaster's excellent levelling bill not only showed public spirit, but was marked by an admirable personal courtesy and generosity to Mr. Lancaster. Apart from his personal squabbles, Mr. Pugsey has shown in the house the bland urbanity for which he is famous; leaving stating that he has tightened certain aspects of the business methods of his Department he, as yet, has done nothing of a constructive nature.

Government of Saskatchewan Will Take Part in Dominion Fair at Calgary—Not Much Space Left.

Calgary, Dec. 27.—Manager Richardson, of the Dominion fair, received a letter yesterday from the Saskatchewan government, signed by the deputy minister of agriculture, asking space for a provincial exhibit at the Dominion fair. The space required is equal to that taken by the Alberta government, and will be located in the agricultural industrial building.

This is the first outside province to signify its intention of placing a provincial exhibit at the fair and it is quite probable that some of the older provinces will follow suit.

Judging from the manner in which the applications for space at the fair are coming in, it will probably end in a problem for the board where to dispose of them all, as the building funds are limited, and if the number of applications keep increasing, the available space will soon be exhausted.

KING ALFONSO MAY COME

King of Spain Planning Trip to Latin America—Voyage a Necessity.

Madrid, Dec. 27.—King Alfonso will probably visit Latin America next year. The Emperor approves of the idea and adds: "In the 16th century the King of Spain had visited the American colonies now different would be the position of Spain to-day. The king is to visit the American continent from Mexico to the Argentine. His journey will dispel the recollection of the historical errors which have cost us so much money and blood, and will demonstrate the progress westward of the Latin race, and the possibility that it will be able to sustain its supremacy in the world. The voyage of his majesty is a real necessity politically, socially and internationally."

"A Kingly Gift"

EARL GREY'S APPEAL

On behalf of Needy Consumptives

Strong words of Canada's Governor-General

At the official opening of the King Edward Sanatorium for Consumptives, near Toronto, His Excellency delivered an address that must have an important bearing on the future of the sanatorium movement in Canada. We quote:—

"The proceedings this afternoon commenced with a beautiful and reverent prayer from your old friend, Dr. Potts. He prayed that the light of the Lord might shine upon us. That prayer is abundantly answered. We also prayed that the White Plague might be removed. Well, whether that prayer will be answered or not depends upon yourselves."

"Is it not a standing shame and reproach to the governments and individuals that there is not more care taken by the people of Canada to protect themselves against the curse of consumption?"

On his way out to the King Edward Sanatorium, so named by permission of His Majesty King Edward VII.—the Governor-General's car was stopped in its progress outside the Canada Cycle & Motor Co. by a large crowd of its employees. A contribution of one hundred dollars was handed the Governor-General, a donation to the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives.

"'Twas a kingly gift," said His Excellency in making acknowledgment. "I will tell the King."

Addressing the large audience that attended these opening exercises, referring to this event, Earl Grey said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, when the workingmen of Canada are setting an example of this character, I hope you will not be slow to follow, and I trust that the example of the Canada Cycle & Motor Co. may be followed, as I am sure it will, in every factory and manufacturing industry throughout the land."

Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives

An institution that has never refused a single applicant admission, because of his or her inability to pay.

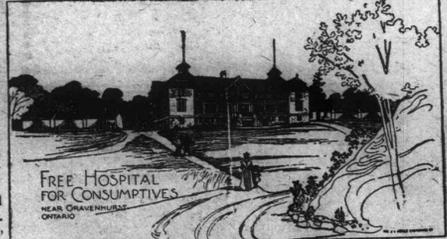

Seventy-five patients can be cared for to-day. Accommodation could be provided for three hundred if the required money were forthcoming.

To make this possible, our appeal is for $50,000, to be used in extension of buildings and maintenance of patients.

Where will your money do more good? Every community and every individual is interested.

His Excellency Earl Grey has shown his interest and sympathy in the work at Muskoka for needy consumptives, by accepting the position of Honorary President of the National Sanitarium Association.

Contributions may be sent to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Chief Justice, Osgoode Hall, Toronto; W. J. Gage, Esq., 84 Spadina Ave., or J. S. Robertson, Sec'y-Treas., National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street West, Toronto, Canada.

The selections on the program by Mr. A. W. R. Dinan, Miss Ivy Evans, Mr. H. Westley and Mr. T. R. McCool were very much appreciated and the performers were forced to give encores. After the musical part of the program dancing was indulged in till three o'clock in the morning, the light fantastic being stepped to the excellent music supplied by the band.—Com.

The Regina friends of John R. Marshall will sympathize with him in the death of Mrs. Marshall which took place at St. Catherine's, Ont., on Friday last. Deceased had been ailing for some time, and had postponed a trip to Scotland last summer, but went east for treatment. The news of her death came as a great shock to her husband and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall came to Regina eighteen years ago and have been actively connected with the life of the city. Mrs. Marshall took an active interest in church work being a member of Knox church. She was one of the first members of the Regina Victoria Hospital. Mrs. Marshall wrote considerable in Scotch dialect under the pen name of "Sandy Grant," her contributions being both in verse and prose. Deceased was born at Selkirk, Scotland, Feb. 28, 1848, and was the daughter of James Henderson, coming to Canada at the age of seven years. On Feb. 27, 1880 she married John R. Marshall at Chesterfield, Ont., and on leaving Hamilton the train left the rails injuring the bride and groom, both of whom were taken to the hospital where they remained for some weeks. It was shortly after their recovery that they removed to Regina where they have since been amongst our most esteemed citizens.

Ernest McGlashen of the firm of Hutchinson and McGlashen, has gone to Minneapolis for his family.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

An Opportunity to Carry Gladness to the Suffering and Needy

Toronto, Can., Dec. 11th, 1937

Dear Friend—
A Christmas message, "Peace on Earth: Good Will to Men," was sent to this old world long ago to bring gladness.
Was this poor fellow included?
The Place. Not Africa or Pagan India, but Christian Canada.
The Persons. A son pleading for his father. Father, with one arm (the other lost in railway service), stands with tears streaming down his cheeks as he tells his story in the doctor's office, Muskoka Hospital.
"I have been a railway conductor. I have been turned out of my boarding-house, where I lived for seventeen years, because I had consumption. Then I had to leave the hotel for the same reason. The hospital of my town refused me. I have travelled for two days to reach here. For God's sake, doctor, let me stay. I have got money to pay for all I want."
If this was the story of a poor fellow with money, what about the hundreds who are seeking admission to the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, with their money all gone in the struggle with this dread disease?
The Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives has never refused a patient because of his or her poverty.
It now cares for seventy-five patients. It would care for three hundred if the needed money was forthcoming.
It has no endowments, except in the kind hearts and the generous gifts of the people of Canada.
His Excellency Earl Grey has shown his interest and sympathy in this great work for the needy consumptives by accepting the position of Honorary President of the National Sanitarium Association.
Your golden dollars may be the Angels of Mercy this Christmas to bring the glad tidings of Good Will and Returning Health to some poor fellow seeking admission into his only refuge, the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.
A last word—will you help to care for these whom others do not want?
Faithfully yours,
[Signature]
