Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

A CLASSICAL EDUCATION

THE TENDENCY to work away from what used to be known as a classical education is apparent to any person who is at all familiar with student conditions of the present day. Our young people have no time to devote to foundation work but must forgo this in order to get into the practical work of life. This is regarded as a mistake by many of the big men in business and industry as well as by educationists.

The best aim of education is to enlarge the mind, to widen the mental horizon, to equip a human being with the utmost capacity to apply his intelligence appreciatively to anything that the world is likely to place before him. Sir Henry Thornton, in an address which he recently gave at Ottawa before the University Club, made the statement that "no education along merely technical lines, no education aimed primarily at making a practical livelihood, no education devoted chiefly to preparation for any profession, can give the broadening effect of a university course in which the chief concern is human nature and human history. The engineer, the doctor, the lawyer, the chemist, the mechanic, the merchant, will be all the better if an education in the humanities has formed the basis for his later study. He will be a finer man, and not a worse scientific machine."

Under economic conditions which exist it may be that it is sometimes necessary that a boy must make a choice between a technical education and no education at all, and in order to meet this it may be necessary to so modify the course as to effect a necessary saving in time and expense, and the idea of extending our system of public school work to include the Faculty of Arts may also be worthy of consideration. Public assistance given to any movement that will produce greater efficiency on the part of its citizenship is by no means an unthinkable proposition.

GOOD CITIZENS SHOULD HELP

INSPECTORS under the Nova Scotia Temperance Act are evidently finding the enforcement of the law a difficult problem in other towns beside Wolfville. That official at Windsor in reporting his doings during the past year to the Council laments the fact that rum-running and boot-legging through the agency of the automobile seems to be on the increase. With the disposition on the part of the public to give the inspector so little support and the willingness of witnesses to perjure themselves, the position of the inspector is far from a pleasant one if he is conscientiously endeavouring to do his duty. The officer at Windsor declares that it is impossible for one man to handle the situation, and calls upon right thinking citizens to lend a helpful hand. The suggestions he makes are practical and if heeded in any community is bound to be effective. Surely in Wolfville as in every other town in Nova Scotia there should be citizens who are willing to co-operate with upholders of law and order in an honest effort to suppress this great menace to individual and community welfare. We have a good law which would be a great boon to the public if properly enforced. When our municipal rulers, backed by the full force of those who profess to stand for sobriety and clean-living, once determine to clean-up this blighting and demoralizing traffic, it will soon be done. To say that the law cannot be enforced is to admit a very lamentable state of affairs.

THE ADVERTISER GIVES BETTER VALUES

ADVERTISING and turnover. These two go together in good store management. And turnover may be defined as a policy of merchandising which says, "Sell at a small profit, and carry as little merchandise over from year to year as possible."

This policy spells success for the merchant because it creates hundreds of satisfied customers.

The merchant who follows it, advertises steadily. He must use advertising to move his merchandise off his shelves. And to get results from his advertising, he must offer the public better values and better lines of goods.

It means lower prices.

It means more seasonable merchandise. You are not sold stuff that has been hanging around on shelves from the year before.

This makes it look as though there is no common sense back of the old idea that the advertiser puts the cost of his advertising in the price of the merchandise he sells.

The merchant who doesn't advertise really has to charge more. He has his money tied up in old merchandise when he needs it to buy new stock. He suffers a real loss in carrying old stuff over from year to year and this loss has to be made up by the public. So patronize the merchant who advertises. It pays.

COMMUNITY PRAYER MEETINGS

THE PEOPLE of Annapolis Royal have adopted a new and commendable feature in the life of their town in the form of a "community prayer-meeting". This is held at the Town Hall and is participated in by members of all the religious denominations of the place. Interesting programs are presented and leading men take part. At a late meeting Dr. B. C. Borden, formerly president of Mt. Allison University, now a resident of Annapolis, presided and the subject under discussion had to do with a number of the leading hymn writers.

In these days when people are inclined to lay aside their denominational differences and adopt a more practical method of demonstrating their religious interest than was in vogue in days that are gone it seems to us that this institution is bound to fill a useful place. As a sign that the people are getting nearer together in the promotion of their religious and community interests this innovation carries a very hopeful message.

OUR POSTMASTERS

THE SMALL town postmaster is one of the most faithful and efficient officials who serve the Canadian people. Himped by red tape and burdened by many duties they perform their services with admirable completeness which is rarely appreciated by their townsfolk.

It is reported that plans are being made to broadcast the roar of Niagara by radio. The undertaking, however, while it may be a scientific triumph, will hardly interest local fans, most of whom are able to get something that is just as good every time they attempt to tune in.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE I.O.D.E. WAR MEMORIAL

The War Memorial of the whole Order was undertaken by the National Chapter in 1919, and approved at each annual meeting since then. The responsibility and the privilege of each Primary Chapter whether formed before or after 1919, to help to complete the fund.

The purpose is the memorial of the Order as a whole, throughout Canada, to the men and women who gave their lives for the Great War.

The amount aimed at is $1,000,000, the amount contributed, accumulated interest less $400,000, and the amount needed more than $100,000. In 1924 the National Chapter endorsed the suggestion of the President of the Manitoba Provincial Chapter that an energetic and earnest effort should be made to complete the fund this year, if possible before the Treasurer's books close in April.

There are three parts to the War Memorial: (a) Bursaries, (b) Scholarships, (c) Pictures.

(a) The Bursaries, for children of killed or totally disabled soldiers, were formed to show gratitude to men who gave their lives for the Empire by helping to give their children the education which they would have had if they were living.

A sufficient sum was set aside to provide one Bursary in each Province each year until 1938; after that time practically all eligible children will be past the eligible age. Of this sum the principal and interest are being used. The Bursary is worth $300 a year for four years, and may be held at any Canadian university or the Royal Military College. Almost all Canadian universities allow $25 a year or more in fees to our Bursary holders, making the Bursary worth $325 a year. While not covering the expenses of a student away from home, this bursary makes a college course possible where otherwise it would be impossible.

Since 1920 forty-three sons and daughters of killed or totally disabled soldiers have held these Bursaries or are now holding them. Nine have graduated.

In each Province memoranda stating the conditions are sent to schools preparing for matriculation. Applications must be sent in by April to the Provincial Bursary Committee. The Provincial Committee can give anyone further information. In awarding the Bursary the Committee considers the applicant's school work, character, general ability and interests, and the circumstances of the family.

(b) The Overseas Post-graduate Scholarships were formed with the purpose of bringing Canadian students into closer touch with Britain and the rest of the Empire by sending picked men and women, graduates of Canadian universities, to Britain for further study, which they would otherwise probably have to take in the United States, running the risk of acquiring there an American point of view and of remaining in the States instead of returning to Canada.

This scholarship is worth $1,400, to be held for one year. Only the interest of this part of the fund is being used, so that this part of the War Memorial will be lasting, a link with the Mother Country for years and years to come. When the fund is complete, it will be possible for a scholarship to be awarded each year in each Province. At present one can be awarded only every alternate year, i.e., four Canadians are sent to Britain one year, five the next.

Since 1921 eighteen Canadian men and women, two from each Province have studied at a British university for one year. There they have come into contact with students from all parts of the Empire.

In each Province memoranda are sent to the universities, and Chapters are urged to let eligible men and women know about these scholarships. Applications must be sent in in October to the Provincial Educational Secretary, who can give further information. Returned men or members of their families are given the preference.

(c) It is proposed to show Canadian children, by means of pictures hung in the schools, something of the service given by Canadians in the Great War. These pictures, for the most part reproductions of pictures painted for the Canadian Government, and beautifully coloured, represent all kinds of service.

A sum of $40,000 was set aside to buy 1,000 sets of eighteen pictures each. These sets were bought and divided among the Provinces to be distributed among the schools. Each Provincial Chapter is looking after the framing and distribution of its own allotment of pictures.

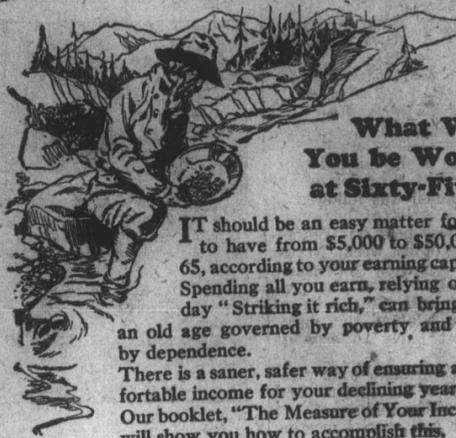

In this way the War Memorial is threefold, showing Canadian children in years to come what the war meant, helping to educate boys and girls whose fathers gave their lives in the war, and carrying on the Imperial ideals for which these men died by sending chosen Canadian men and women for further training.

The War Memorial fund is invested for the Order by the Royal Trust Company. At the annual meeting of the National Chapter the National Treasurer's statement, placed in the hands of each member, shows the payments in the various divisions of the fund. Each payment from the fund is authorized by resolution of the National Executive Committee, and all regulations regarding the fund are made by resolution of the National Chapter, usually on the recommendation of the War Memorial Committee, on which each Province is represented. A certain sum has been set aside, the interest of which is used to cover the expenses of administering the War Memorial fund. Rigid economy is experienced and each year any interest not used is transferred to the main fund.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE FUND GROWING

The "Lambda Sigma Club" has now on deposit in the Bank of Commerce $100.00 as a nucleus for the new school house fund which, with the consent of the Mayor and Town Council its members volunteered to build. Numerous letters have been received from former pupils who received their start in the old building approving of the scheme and offering assistance. Donations have been received from the following in the United States: Mrs. Stoddard, Misses Alma and Georgie Stoddard, Miss Mabelle Trask, Nellie Davison, Grace Shaw; Ethel Rochefeller, of Toronto; Mrs. V. L. O. Chittick, Mrs. R. P. Harvie, Burlington, and W. C. Churchill, Windsor.

MRS. W. D. FULLERTON

The passing away of Mrs. W. D. Fullerton, daughter of the late George and Abbie Trenholm of Grand Pre, on Thursday, Feb. 5, after an illness of a week's duration, came as a great shock, not only to the immediate family but to the community as well. The deceased was an estimable lady of a most lovable and cheerful disposition and dearly beloved by all who knew her, and an adherent of the Methodist church. She is survived by a sorrowing husband, three sons, Laurie, of St. John, N.B.; Gordon, of Winthrop, Mass.; Everett at home, and one daughter Hilda, also at home; one son Cecil having predeceased her a number of years. She is also survived by two sisters, Alice (Mrs. Charles Fuller) of Los Angeles, and Della (Mrs. Capt. Lawrence) of Hantsport, who have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

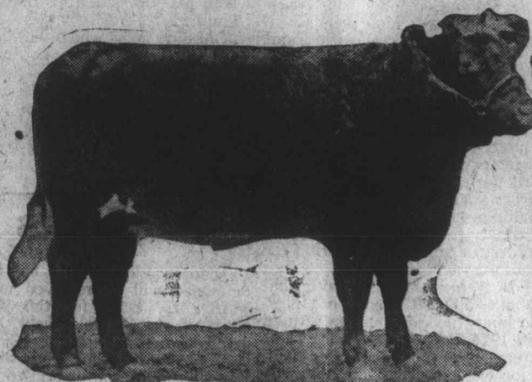

The funeral services, which were largely attended were held from her late residence Saturday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. A. B. Higgins, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Outerbridge and Rev. J. W. Prestwood, B.D. The choir of the Methodist church furnished the music. The pall bearers were D. W. Murray, E. R. Gertridge, A. E. Cornwall, and J. Reid. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. She was laid to rest in River Bank Cemetery beneath a bed of flowers.

PRESENTATION TO CHOIR MEMBER

Mrs. H. L. Smith, Main street, was "at home" to the Baptist choir members on their last regular night for rehearsal, the guests of honor being Miss Lottie Boyd and Wilfred Trefry whose nuptials were celebrated Tuesday. During the evening the bride elect, who is a valued member of the choir, was presented with a silver casserole dish as a small token of esteem from her associates in the choir, the presentation being made by Miss Marguerite Lawrence, vice president, who made a very happy little speech.

FUNERAL OF OLD TIME RESIDENT

The funeral of the late Judson M. Card, a former well known and highly esteemed resident of Hantsport, whose death occurred last week at his home in Woodville, Kings county, took place from the home of his niece, Mrs. J. E. Borden, on Friday afternoon last. Rev. Z. L. Fash, pastor of the Baptist church, conducted the service, which was simple and appropriate. The music included "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep", a favorite of the deceased. Interment was in the "River Bank Cemetery" beside his wife who predeceased him a little over four years ago. DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

July 12th, 1850. I went over to Mrs. G. Davidson's last evening to a sing; quite a company were there and I enjoyed myself well. I had a delightful ramble tonight, looking out a spot to have a picnic with my scholars.

Monday evening, 15th. I went to Conference meeting on Saturday and from there up to father's. When I returned home at sunset Sister Ann came part way with me and carried a pitcher of strawberries. Mother gave me, the boys having just picked two bucketsful of beautiful ones. Sunday was very warm but I went to church. Rev. Vaughan preached; then I went up home expecting to go out to Brooklyn to the funeral of Mr. Hall's daughter, but none of them went so I stayed and read a while, then took a walk to one of my favorite spots on the hill near Mr. Davidson's. I went to a class meeting in the evening. Today when school was out I went down to Olivia's, and Adah came back with me and will stay all night.

17th. Last night I went up home to a sing. This morning early I took a ride with the boys and Ann up to the mill to get our wool. We took a walk around and about the mill, went in bathing and then took a row in the gundalow on the mill pond. Got back to father's at 7 o'clock, ate breakfast, then came down for school and found some of the scholars waiting for admission.

18th. We arose early this morning hoping it would be a fine day for our picnic, so we were all much pleased to see such a beautiful morning. The scholars assembled as usual, except they had on their Sunday dresses. They brought as many roses and other flowers as they could get. We went through with the morning lessons. Marianne Davidson and Ann came down and I set them to making wreaths of the flowers. Susannah Davidson was chosen as the prettiest girl and we decorated her to represent "Flora". Between eleven and twelve o'clock we started to march down near the shore. We marched by couples, "Flora" and I leading the way. We soon arrived at the spot I had chosen under some trees in Mr. Davidson's pasture. We took our dinner seated on the ground, after which the children played around for a while, then recited some hymns they had learned. They sang some pieces beautifully, then Ann played some for them on the accordeon. We also gave each of them a present with which they seemed much pleased. We took a walk along the beach and up to the top of the bank, where we sat for a while to rest. Louisa joined us there and then we marched back home quite well pleased with the day's enjoyment, and they asked when we could have another picnic. Marianne and Ann stayed to supper and in the evening my brothers and Albert came. We sang and played the accordean.

20th. Maria came home this morning from Parrsboro, accompanied by Louisa Gabriel. I spent the afternoon with them. After supper we took a walk down to the shore. Saw J. Davidson who had just come up from Halifax, the "Wanderer", having arrived the day before. I am to spend the night with Elmira.

21st. I went to S. School as usual but only three of my class were there. After meeting I went up to father's and in the afternoon Ann and I went to Mt. Denison to meeting. The walking is quite wet as it rained last night. In the evening we went to Capt. R. Davidson's, at Albert's request, to a sing.

23rd. This has been a lovely day. Mrs. Wilson had a daughter last night. I was washing this a.m. when Elmira came to the window and said she had good news for me, as there were letters for Maria and I at the office, so I told her to tell Maria to go and get them. She soon returned with them. They all were well when they wrote but Curry had been sick and Simeon had sprained his ankle. He gave some account of their travels, which were truly delightful. They found friends all along the way. We have much to be thankful for, as many have lost their lives this season on the lakes from steamboat accidents.

24th. Maria stopped with me last night as we wished to talk over the contents of our letters. Many of our friends rejoice with us upon the good news we received. Rebecca Elder called to bid me adieu, as she is going to Falmouth to make a visit.

Miss Edith Stairs left on Wednesday morning to spend a few days with friends in Halifax.

Mr. Ernest Robinson, M.P., left recently to attend to his parliamentary duties at Ottawa.

Mr. George Barnes was called to Amherst on Tuesday, in consequence of the serious illness of a sister living there.

The many friends of Mr. Leslie Fry will be glad to know that he is gradually recovering from his recent serious illness.

Dr. H. T. DeWolfe returned on Monday from Toronto, where he attended a convention of Sunday School superintendents.

Mr. C. H. Beardsley, of Berwick, was in town this week, visiting at the home of his niece, Mrs. W. B. Davidson, Kent avenue.

W. T. Osborne, Professor of Physical Education at Acadia University, accompanied the Acadia hockey team on their recent trip to Sackville.

Mrs. K. B. Craig, of Woodville, was in town over Monday, visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. B. O. Davidson, Summer street.

Mrs. Ernest H. Coldwell and little daughter Edith, who have been visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Colin C. Cleveland, of New Brunswick, for the past six weeks, have returned home.

Mrs. Trueman S. Sanford, who has been spending some months in Florida, arrived home on Tuesday afternoon. She expresses herself as much pleased to get back to Wolfville, and patrons of the Royal, as well as numerous friends are giving her a cordial and most sincere welcome.

In a recent poetry contest conducted by Pearson's Magazine, the Rev. Ralph M. Jones, son of the late Dr. R. V. Jones of this town, was the fortunate winner of the 1st prize of two hundred dollars. An interesting feature of the contest was that Edwin Markham, author of the celebrated poem, "The Man with the Hoe", was the chief judge. Mr. Jones is now pastor of the Baptist church of El Paso, Illinois.

Miss Olive S. Parker spent the week end at her home here, returning to Halifax on Monday.

L. E. Shaw, of the firm of L. E. Shaw Ltd., is in Chicago attending the Brick Makers' Convention.

Miss Alice M. Fuller has returned to her duties at the post-office, after enjoying a month's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fraser and little son George, of Wolfville, spent the week end with Mrs. Fraser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks.

THE TAILORED FROCK IS MADE OF NAVY REP

Cloth frocks with all the charm of youthful simplicity will be in the foreground of Spring fashions. The model above chooses rep for its material, because rep lends itself admirably to the circular treatment. It is extremely light weight, and supple in texture. The back of this dress is perfectly straight of line. The front achieves the smart fullness by adding two circular cut flounces. The jacket repeats the circular treatment. The buttons are of bright blue bone.

Mr. Albert Starratt, who is employed at Shubenacadie this winter, was called home last week to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Wm. Starratt, of Lockhartville.

Mrs. F. F. Graham and little daughter Jean have returned home after spending a week with Mrs. Graham's sister, Mrs. Roy Woodman, at Grand Pre.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Holmes, of Windsor, were the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Holmes, for the week end.

Mrs. Henry Childers left on Friday of last week for Boston, where she will spend a month visiting relatives and friends.

A most enjoyable sleighing party was held on Friday evening last, when thirty young people accompanied by Mrs. Geo. F. Huntley and Mrs. A. S. Fuller as chaperones, drove to Port Williams, where after spending two hours skating in the open air rink they were given a lunch by the people of that place, which was very much enjoyed by all present.

THE FOOL'S AWAKENING

Fans who like their movies in large dramatic slices, well-sugared with comedy and beauty of background, will find a feast in "The Fool's Awakening", the new Metro picture, coming on Wednesday and Thursday to the Orpheum Theatre. This feature, which was directed by Harold Shaw, is a screen version of William J. Locke's thrilling novel, "The Tale of Triona"—the story of a writer who assumed another man's name, and became famous.

The cast includes a host of big players such as Harrison Ford, Enid Bennett, Mary Alden, Alec Francis, Lionel Belmore, Harry Northrup and others. Tom J. Hopkins was the film adaptor.

AN INDUSTRY THAT HAS WON SUCCESS

L. E. Shaw, Limited, Avonport, Show Remarkable Gain in 1924 Output

The annual meeting of L. E. Shaw, Limited, brick and tile manufacturers, Avonport, held recently showed a remarkable record for the year. The president, L. E. Shaw, in his address gave an interesting resume of the year's activities. A most important point was the almost phenomenal gain in the sale of interlocking and other hollow ware, which increase was 89 per cent. over 1923.

This is the more important when it is considered that this is a Maritime product which, up to three years ago, had never been made in the Maritime Provinces. The increase in sales enables the manufacturers to get lower costs, and they have decided to pass that advantage along to their customers in lower prices, making a special price on foundation and fruit warehouse construction, to place it on a level in cost with frame construction. As a test case the Berwick fruit house, the largest in the Valley 250x70 feet, two-storey, with twelve-inch wall, built of interlocking tile, was quoted. It has gone through two winters and, notwithstanding the intense cold, has been absolutely frost-proof. With no heat in the building, there has never yet been a frosted apple. It also prevents fruit heating during the hot season.

It is interesting to note that about 500,000 pieces of interlocking tile were manufactured in 1924, and that a considerable quantity of this went into foundation work, thus reclaiming to the clay industry a share of the business which in recent years has gone almost wholly to the cement people.

The prospects for 1925 are very bright, the product of the brick and tile works being more widely and favorably known, especially in hollow ware, which is the popular material of today. With a well-equipped plant trained labor that is willing and loyal, large contracts, a record year is looked forward to with confidence and optimism.

L. E. Shaw, president of the company, left Wolfville last week on a business trip to Boston, New York, Chicago and Toronto. At Chicago he will attend the Hollow Building Tile Association and the Common Brick Manufacturers Association, and will imbibe ideas which will later be developed in the L. E. Shaw, Limited.

The Sophomore Class of Acadia University held a sleighing party Monday evening to Kentville.

TENDERS

Tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received until March 15, 1925, for the purchase of the DeWolfe field, formerly owned by the late C. C. Brown, situated in Greenwich, Kings county, and bounded on the west by the Deep Hollow Road, and on the north by the Post Road. This field contains eleven acres, more or less. Not bound to accept the highest or any tender.

COCHRANE'S IMPROVED

PINE-TAR and HONEY MENTHOLATED

Everyone knows the value of this old-fashioned cough medicine for Pine-Tar and Honey has been in use for many years and has always proven satisfactory. Our "Improved" Pine-Tar and Honey is a distinct advance over the old-time product in that it has Menthol, Cod Liver Extract and Eucalyptus added to make it even more effective. You will find this reliable remedy of great value in the relief of lingering coughs and being quite pleasant to taste, children will take it readily. Let us suggest that you keep a bottle on hand always, in case of sudden need.

Blue Bird Tea Brings Happiness.

There has been an unusual amount of sickness in this community during the past week or two.

The Junior Class at Acadia University held a sleigh drive to Canning on Tuesday evening, being entertained there at the home of Mrs. A. M. Covert.

Acadia University was the recipient of a small bequest by the will of the late Capt. John W. Anderson, of Yarmouth.

It is said that the great Napoleon was responsible for the statement that the British always lost every battle except the last. The Wolfville hockey team's 1925 record furnishes another illustration of the fact that the British are hard to keep down.

After an unusually steady and cold winter thus far, the present week has furnished an exceptionally prolonged mild period for the time of year. Generally exempt from fog this section has experienced a blanket of mist for the past five days.

The ladies of the Faculty Club were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. A. C. Chute. Miss Palmer, of Acadia Ladies' Seminary, gave an account of her recent trip to Scotland. Mrs. Hill told of her trip to Devonshire and the south of England, while Mrs. Balcom and Mrs. Tufts described their travels in France last summer.

GRAND PRE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The February meeting of the Grand Pre Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Patterson. The president, Mrs. R. W. Woodman, presided. A communication from Mrs. D. C. Hilton, convener of the provincial legislation committee, was read and discussed and the enclosed petition requesting equal rights and privileges for women in voting on all school matters was signed by the members.

A letter was read regarding the enquiry which has been made about the cost of school books due to the frequent change of texts.

It was decided to meet once a week at Mrs. Bowser's to sew for the bazaar. All interested are welcome.

The evening meeting, at which the men will be guests, was postponed until March.

The programme this month was on Valentine topics. Mrs. Alden Harris read the opening poem. Mrs. L. P. Dennison read a very interesting paper on Valentine rites and customs. Vocal music was pleasingly rendered by Miss Doris Eaton. Short articles and stories were read by Miss Edith Trenholm, Mrs. Bowser and Miss Ida Mitchell.

ACADIA BASKETERS BEAT WANDERERS

The Acadia College basketball squad easily defeated the Wanderers of Halifax by a score of 36 to 19 at the college gymnasium Wednesday night. Although it was the first game of the season for the locals, they showed fine form and had a big advantage in the play throughout.

Cox and A. Noble were in fine shooting form in the opening session, and they piled up the points when the fine combination work of the Acadians bewildered the Reds. Wilks and Thompson, of the visitors, were in good form also, but the locals had a good lead when the period ended with the score 25 to 11.

Wanderers did much better in the second period and held the local collegians to eleven points. Davison scored the majority of points for the locals in this session. P. Osborne, physical director at Acadia, handled the whistle in a capable manner.

The teams:

Wanderers—Armitage, centre, 2; Thompson, 8; Wilks, 9, forwards; Worsley and Laing, guards; Sinclair, sub.

Acadia—A. Noble, centre, 13; Cox, 14, and Davison, 6, forwards; Webber and Moffatt, 1, guards; Fwin, 2, sub.

"THE BREAKING POINT"

Herbert Brenon's "The Breaking Point" is another splendid action-romance by the man who made "The Spanish Dancer", Nita Naldi, Patsy Ruth Miller, George Fawcett and Matt Moore are featured in the production, which opens at the Orpheum next Monday.

It's an entertaining combination of society love drama and murder mystery, with a dash of the scientific angle that made "Black Oxen".

Nita Naldi plays the same kind of a vampirish role she had in "The Ten Commandments". Matt Moore is the hero. Miss Miller is cast as Elizabeth Wheeler, Moore's sweetheart, and Geo. Fawcett is a kindly old doctor. Some cast!

"The Breaking Point" was extremely popular as both a book and play by Mary Roberts Rinehart. There never was a better piece of screen material written, and Julie Herne and

The Home Nursing Class under the auspices of Habitant Women's Institute, held by Mrs. Lorne Parker, met at the home of Mrs. Ira Cox Thursday evening. These classes are largely attended and much benefit.

The Annual Due Tea of the Women's Missionary Society of Canning Methodist church was held at the home of Mrs. R. W. North Thursday afternoon, Feb. 5, president, Mrs. Leander Eaton, in the chair. An interesting programme, consisting of readings by Mrs. L. F. Blenkhorne, Mrs. Alfred Ells, Mrs. A. A. Ward, Mrs. James Kennedy, Mrs. Leander Eaton, Mrs. Neary, and a vocal duet by Mrs. Alfred Ells and Mrs. Walter R. Dickey, were much enjoyed. At the close a social hour was enjoyed over the tea cups. The programme was in charge of Mrs. L. F. Blenkhorne.

Dr. Anna Schafheitlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schafheitlin, Canning, has accepted a position as assistant professor of German in a college near Pekin, China. Dr. Schafheitlin is a member of the staff of Bryn Mawr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox entertained at "Bridge" last week, Mrs. Otto Schafheitlin winning the ladies' prize and Allan Clark winning the gentlemen's.

The friends of Mr. Theodore Ells, who has been ill in Montreal, will be glad to know that he has recovered and resumed his duties.

W. P. Jones, Canning, who spent the winter in the States, arrived last week and is a guest at the Waverley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leander Woodworth, Jr., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ells.

A successful Acadia night under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Aid Society of Pereau Baptist church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Porter Wednesday evening, Feb. 4, president, Mrs. Everette Roscoe, in the chair. Mrs. Byard Greene, who opened the programme by a few well chosen remarks, was followed by Professor Gordon who gave several delightful selections on the violin, Miss Thelma Roscoe and Laurie Strong rendering enjoyable piano duets and Mr. Everette Lyons singing delightfully. Violin selections by Mr. Rufus Greene were much appreciated. Readings by Miss Lois Porter and Miss Ethel Crowe added much to the pleasure of the evening. At the close of the programme supper was served and a social hour spent. The proceeds for the Acadia fund amounted to $20.00.

Canning Literary Society was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Payzant Friday evening, Feb. 6, president, Dr. S. W. Spicer, presiding. The speaker was Dr. McDonald of Acadia, who gave a delightfully interesting address on "Scotland, At Home and Abroad". The Scottish programme, which was greatly enjoyed by a large number, was the following:

Piano duet — Scotch Dance — Mrs. Charles Sinnett, Mrs. A. D. Payzant.

Vocal solo — Land O' the Leal — Mrs. Sinnett.

Violin duet — Mrs. (Dr.) F. F. Chute, William Payzant.

Vocal solo — My Ain Folk — F. Ibsen.

Violin solo — Blue Bells of Scotland — Mrs. Chute.

An expression of appreciation was extended to Dr. McDonald for an evening of unusual pleasure.

Fire which broke out at 3.30 p.m. Sunday afternoon partly destroyed a fine barn owned by Mr. Alphonso Sullivan of Delhaven, four miles from Canning. The barn was built three years ago at a cost of over $4000.00. Mr. Sullivan discovered smoke coming from the roof of the barn as he was driving from his home. The neighbors for miles responded to the call for help and the fire was put under control. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

SHEFFIELD MILLS

Sheffield Mills Women's Institute held a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rand, Upper Canard, in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsman, Sheffield Mills. Mrs. Rand was assisted in receiving by Miss Dorothy Rand and Mrs. W. W. Harris. On behalf of the Women's Institute Mrs. Frank Irving, president, presented Mr. and Mrs. Kinsman with words of appreciation, which were accompanied by a gift of money. The guests of honor who were taken entirely by surprise, expressed their appreciation, and the evening was spent in music and games, which were followed by supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Burbidge, who have been confined to the house by illness, have recovered.

Sheffield Mills Women's Institute, president Mrs. Frank Irving, held a tea at the home of Mrs. Harold Fellows Friday afternoon, Feb. 6, which was largely attended and enjoyed. A delightful programme, consisting of instrumental solos by Mrs. John Burgess and readings by Mrs. John Kinsman and Miss Doris Ross, was followed by supper. Those assisting were Mrs. Harold Fellows, Mrs. David Ells, Mrs. Emerson Taylor, Mrs. John Kinsman, Mrs. Henry Spinney, Mrs. Clarke Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henwood, who have been ill, are improving.

The funeral of the late Mrs.

David Burgess was held from the residence of her son, William D. Burgess, Sheffield Mills Thursday afternoon, Feb. 5, at 2.30 p.m. and largely attended. Rev. G. D. Hudson conducting the service. Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung. The floral tributes were many. The pall bearers were Messrs. Ernest Harris, W. W. Harris, Alfred Ells, Perry Rand. Interment was at Upper Canard. Mrs. (Rev.) James Ramsay, who attended the funeral of her mother, returned to Moncton on Friday.

Miss Roast, who has been visiting Mrs. David Ells, has returned to New Ross.

GALLANT CANNING CAPTAIN

The captain and crew of the schooner Nettie C., which was abandoned on Wednesday last while on a voyage from New York to St. John, were taken off and brought to Halifax by the tern schooner Fieldwood, commanded by Capt. Ezra Forsythe of Hillaton. The Fieldwood was the last vessel to be built at Canning, and her commander is a man who might be expected to do gallant work. When abandoned, the Nettie C. was about fifty miles from the Lurcher Lightship, Yarmouth, and in her water-logged condition is thought to have sunk shortly after.

CANNING HIGH WON OVER CENTREVILLE

Canning High School defeated the Centreville Juniors in the Centreville rink last Thursday night by a score of 8 to 7, one period of overtime play being necessary to decide a winner. The game, witnessed by a large crowd, was played on excellent ice and was fast from start to finish. Centreville scored four goals in the opening session, two in the second and one in the third period, while Canning got three in the opening frame, two in the second, two in the third and one in the overtime.

Arthur Whelan refereed. The teams:

Centreville—L. Manson, goal; Kinsman and Balsor, defence; Foley, centre; A. Balsor and R. Desborough, wings; Rockwell, Cole and Palmer, subs.

Canning—E. Spicer, goal; P. Deek and W. Payzant, defence;

M. Ells, centre; L. McBride and N. Eaton, wings; W. Meek, F. Melvin and F. Smith, subs.

CANNING SCHOOL WINS OVER WOLFVILLE PLAYERS

The Preparatory Department of the Canning High School scored a five to nothing victory over the Junior Crusaders, of St. John's Anglican church, Wolfville, here Saturday evening in a fast game, which was witnessed by a good sized crowd. The contest was clean throughout and only one penalty was handed out. After the game the visitors were entertained at a luncheon at Wood's Restaurant. Scoutmaster Brown, of Wolfville, refereed the game. The players: Wolfville—Cohen, goal; Sanford and Morine, defence; Lynch, centre; Cook and R. Coldwell, wings; J. Coldwell and N. Sanford, subs.

Canning—Gough, goal; McBride and "Skipper", Blenkhorn, defence; Smith, centre; Spicer and Bennett, wings; Spinner and J. Blenkhorn, subs.

GOOD ADVERTISING Pays Its Own Way

To Advertise Is One Thing---To Advertise At A Profit Is The Real Objective

Good and bad seasons are merely a state of mind. The man who is big enough to make his own condition never has any "bad" seasons. Equalizing business throughout the year is simply a matter of education—education by way of intelligent advertising.

WHO ARE YOUR PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMERS?
Mail your sales message DIRECT to them and eliminate waste circulation. Don't wait for that "beaten path to your door", let The Acadian pave the way.

We are a nation of headline readers; therefore you've got to say what you have to say with a PUNCH. You might hit the bull's-eye with bird shot. You CAN hit it with a .44. You might reach your customers with general advertising. You WILL with direct advertising in THE ACADIAN.

CHAPTER II

When they had ridden well of the lines to the horn of the pipe filled it with the last grains of his tobacco and some shreds of bark to eke it out.

Hospitable old son of a gun, "Scotty," said he. "I'd have had him for a fill of my pipe as the saying goes, 'avoid very appearance of bum-'"

His Margaret is sure a beauty. I was up there one night in Movie Bill was showing old man a collection of arrowheads, and say—was beauty and the beast all," said Piccolo.

"I guess," agreed Tremaine, "Movie Bill is sure homely to you."

"Homely!" piped Piccolo. "I wonder why they call him Movie?"

Has he been mixed up in these flicker pictures? Why, you Welsh innocent."

"You know? Don't you know, it take a fall, see it, without asking?"

"'s because he's so tough—Piccolo opened wide his eyes and shook his head.

"Tremaine," exclaimed Tremaine, "He'd make the star man for the star movie."

Got that? Well, how foolish of me!" Piccolo.

He too had dropped the lines to the horn. When shaking the horn from his right-hand pocket he had put out all its contents, as we know, into the left pocket; and he began, as he rode, to take inventory of what bulked him out so greatly.

A jack-knife, an aluminum tobacco box, a pipe with a stub of pipe, a grey with dirt. He held it in his hand and put them in the empty pocket to right.

When he delved again into the pocket and rummaged, Tremaine waved a hand in and struck a match on his thumb-nail in an easy gesture.

Benwell once said to me," remarked, "that he didn't think Movie Bill was as tough as he looked. Guess he imagined he was kind of leery of him. I think some one has come along who can be made a jest of."

But suddenly that look passed. He glanced down toward some fragments of rock that Piccolo, with almost a shy gesture, had flicked to the earth, foolishly clearing out that left-hand pocket.

At the veranda's end, a little apart, sat, with a book in hand, surely the plainest man—to a superficial first gaze at any rate—that you ever chapped eyes on. He was a daring man to be reading a book when Mark was around; for Bantling, in that condition, was ready to haze men he thought weaklings; and he was also the kind of man to think reading anything beyond a catalogue of six-guns a simpleton's employment. But the face of the man at the veranda's end was, whether as bluff or not, not a face to inveigle Mark, drunk or sober. He could even have read a book of poems, with a face like his, in security from Mark's joshing. He held the book with a finger in place and under his brows considered, not the boob who had sidetracked Piccolo, but Mark Bantling.

Those deep-set grey eyes saw much. A lonely man by reason of his features. He was plainer than the famous Cyrano de Bergerac—to a superficial consideration; though once, to be sure, in a pullman of the Great Northern spinning through Montana, when Frederic Remington got on at Glendive and saw that face, he produced his notebook and sketched surreptitiously. "Isn't he fierce?" asked his companion. "Fierce!" said Remington.

"Why, that's character! Character! That's what he has. It's not a bad face. For myself I'd trust myself in the last ditch with him but," and he laughed, "he'll remain a bachelor I expect."

Movie Bill, he of this interesting countenance, had noted Mark

"I'll just side-step, then," said Piccolo. "I'll catch you up."

"Take care of yourself, you innocent Welshman, though I don't see you can come to much harm."

Tremaine rode on, and Piccolo turned aside to the scatter of houses called Colvalli—a general store, a drug store with a few magazines in the window, and a hardware store, each with a ringed hitching pole before it—for Colvalli is in the beginning of the rolling prairie country of Washington beyond the Rockies and before the Coast ranges.

"I see you got your horses," said a man who has nothing to do with this story except that he was the boob, as one might say, who stopped Piccolo.

The fact was evident, the remark uncalled for. Piccolo did not know what to reply; so he said "Oh yes, got our horses."

"Well!" said the silly fellow. Piccolo, absently clearing out his left-hand pocket, stared at him.

"Well," he said genially. Tremaine would have said, in response to the first remark: "You see them don't you?" and in response to the second: "How many wells would make a river?" But Piccolo was not that kind of man—with no aspersion on either. They were made a shade differently, that was all.

All the men on the Benwell House veranda were made a shade differently too. Some grinned at the fool, some at Piccolo some at both. Some didn't grin, at all. Some paid no attention, or appeared to pay no attention.

Piccolo could take care of himself in an emergency, but he did not like "toughs", and he was sorry he had drawn aside from the road, for on the veranda were two definite toughs, to wit Alfred Greer and Mark Bantling whom Tremaine had mentioned but a few minutes before. Of the latter it was common knowledge that he knew all about the menu in the penitentiary, and of the former that he ought to if he did not. And Mark had clearly had recent traffic with a bootlegger. He was in the condition known as "lit up".

He looked as if he was on the point of speaking to Piccolo; he had a grin of the kind a certain type of man shows when he thinks some one has come along who can be made a jest of.

But suddenly that look passed. He glanced down toward some fragments of rock that Piccolo, with almost a shy gesture, had flicked to the earth, foolishly clearing out that left-hand pocket.

At the veranda's end, a little apart, sat, with a book in hand, surely the plainest man—to a superficial first gaze at any rate—that you ever chapped eyes on. He was a daring man to be reading a book when Mark was around; for Bantling, in that condition, was ready to haze men he thought weaklings; and he was also the kind of man to think reading anything beyond a catalogue of six-guns a simpleton's employment. But the face of the man at the veranda's end was, whether as bluff or not, not a face to inveigle Mark, drunk or sober. He could even have read a book of poems, with a face like his, in security from Mark's joshing. He held the book with a finger in place and under his brows considered, not the boob who had sidetracked Piccolo, but Mark Bantling.

Those deep-set grey eyes saw much. A lonely man by reason of his features. He was plainer than the famous Cyrano de Bergerac—to a superficial consideration; though once, to be sure, in a pullman of the Great Northern spinning through Montana, when Frederic Remington got on at Glendive and saw that face, he produced his notebook and sketched surreptitiously. "Isn't he fierce?" asked his companion. "Fierce!" said Remington.

"Why, that's character! Character! That's what he has. It's not a bad face. For myself I'd trust myself in the last ditch with him but," and he laughed, "he'll remain a bachelor I expect."

Movie Bill, he of this interesting countenance, had noted Mark

Bantling's smile. He felt perhaps more pity than contempt for Piccolo's shyness. If Mark should try to haze him he, Movie Bill, would act in that play. He might, or might not be a tough too; but whether he was or was not he felt a sense of antipathy to Mark Bantling, seeing him leer on the young man of the high voice. He was no self-analyst like Angus MacPherson. He did not ask himself whether dislike for Mark or pity for Piccolo the more moved him.

Then he saw a change of expression on Bantling's face. He saw him glance towards his partner, Greer. He saw the fragment of a nod Greer gave, subtle, tiny, little more than a drop of eyelids; and he saw their eyes on the stones dusted from Piccolo's pocket.

"Been far!" asked Green. "Oh, quite a ways."

"Where did you get them?" Somehow it came easier to Piccolo, thus cross-questioned (and inwardly just a hint annoyed at being cross-questioned), to repeat Jack Tremaine's way of telling of the distance of their journey than to give it counting the miles from Colvalli.

"In an air-line maybe eighty miles north—," he began. "Gosh!" broke out Bantling, and so interrupted Pete's thin voice which was going on to say:—"of the Boundary."

"That ain't so darn far!" Bantling went on. "You were just a little way over the Boundary into B. C., I guess. Colvalli is about fifty south of it."

"I guess!" piped Piccolo. That slight annoyance at having been called over for nothing and a little additional annoyance over interrogations by these men whom he had always avoided, made it a matter of moonshine to him, of no consequence whatever, that they had an erroneous impression of how far the bunch of horses had strayed. Then, his pony fidgeting, he took the advice of its impatience, flicked a line and rode on, back to the road and went lippety-lope away off after his partner, Jack Tremaine.

A bell rang indoors. The men came down from the tilt one by one. Chairs scraped, feet shuffled. They moved to eat. Alfred Greer and Mark Bantling and Movie Bill alone remained, the latter with his finger still in his book, eyes shut now, legs extended, at ease.

The two toughs—more than alleged—looked at him. Then Mark took off his hat, tossed it spinning up in air, caught it, repeated that action once or twice till the hat fell over the veranda, then lurched down to retrieve it. As he stooped Movie Bill rose so as to be high enough to see what he did down there. And so he

CLAIMS THAT PROHIBITION IS SUCCESS

LONDON, Feb. 2.—American prohibition has fully vindicated the predictions of its promoters, Guy Bayler, President of the World Prohibition Federation, declared in a speech here.

"The United States death rate has been considerably lowered," Bayler said, and tens of thousands of children have been saved from premature death.

"The home life of the common people has been bettered many ways; the worker and his family are better clothed, better cared for and better educated."

"Five years prohibition despite all bootlegging and smuggling has proved itself of inestimable value to the whole community."

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Mr. Geo. H. Chase has gone to Montreal on his annual business trip, and will visit American cities also before his return.

Miss Elizabeth Brown, of Halifax, (Red Cross worker) spoke before several of the ladies of the Women's Institute on Monday, p.m., Feb. 9, in the interests of the Home Nursing class which is being organized here.

Mrs. Stephen Kidston has been confined to her bed for the past week with influenza.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chase, Church Street, has returned home from Moncton, accompanied by Mrs. Ramsay, wife of the Rev. Mr. Ramsay, of Moncton. Mrs. Ramsay's friends extend sincere sympathy to her in her recent bereavement.

Mrs. David Sutton, Church Street, is yet with her sister, Miss C. Dewar, in Ottawa, and latest reports are that Miss Dewar is improving.

Mrs. Leander Woodworth, Jr., entertained a number of her friends at a crokinole party on Tuesday evening, Feb. 10th.

Mrs. Geo. A. Dodge who has been ill with influenza is able to be out again.

Mrs. Mary Harris, who is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. N. Coulstan, is not in her usual good health. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Several of the hockey enthusiasts went to Kentville on Monday evening to watch the game between Wolfville and Kentville, bringing back the report that Kentville played a wonderful game.

Mrs. Chas. Collins entertained a number of her friends at an afternoon tea on Saturday, Feb. 7th.

Miss Dorothy Illsley has opened a Kindergarten class and has already a goodly number of pupils. We predict great success for Miss Illsley as she is especially fitted for this work, making a specialty of Kindergarten and Primary while at Truro Normal school.

Mr. Otis Jess, who has been seriously ill at his home, Belcher Street, has quite recovered and is able to take up his duties at the Port Williams Fruit Co. again.

Mrs. Justin E. Gates, who has been very ill with bronchitis, is steadily improving.

The return game of hockey between Wolfville and Kentville, which was played in Wolfville Tuesday evening, resulted in a win for Wolfville.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Norman Regan on the arrival of a son on Monday, Feb. 9th.

Miss Carrie Weaver and Mrs. E. R. Loomer, of Kingsport, spent the day recently with Miss Weaver's sister, Mrs. C. A. Newcombe, Church Street.

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 11, the W.M.S. held their annual Crusade meeting in the church vestry. Notwithstanding the bad roads a goodly number were present to listen to Rev. R. E. Gullison and wife and were not disappointed. They spoke with much earnestness and the call for more workers is very urgent. We hope to hear them again soon, as their time on Wednesday evening was all too short.

GREENWICH

Two of our school boys, Fred Pulsifer and Lovitt Bishop, joined the Wolfville Boy Scouts and Cubs respectively, last Tuesday evening. More of the boys might follow suit.

Miss Esther Pearson went to Bear River last Friday, returning home on Saturday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Brenton L. Merry and two children, who will visit here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.

T. Andrew Pearson, for a time. The G.C.L. meeting last Friday evening was much enjoyed by a well filled hall. Mrs. Duffy's lecture was well appreciated, it being both interesting and instructive. The piano and violin music by Messrs. Philip and Robert Bishop was also much enjoyed. This week the programme for evening is in charge of the Social Committee and a pleasant evening may be expected, "valentines and eats" being the chief feature.

Fruit Growers

---AT TENTION---

SPRAY is the most natural way to fertilize your FRUIT TREES in order to prevent and kill PESTS. THIS SEASON, I will place before you the latest and most up-to-date equipped MACHINE that is manufactured in the world today

FOR APPLYING YOUR SPRAY

THE LARGEST MACHINE IS A REAL TWO GUN OUTFIT, self oiling, SAND, DUST and DIRT PROOF, AUTOMATICALLY CONTROLLED, pressure from 150 to 400 lbs., 10, 12 and 14 gals. per minute; TANKS 150 to 600 gals. These machines are a new departure, having been thoroughly tested, and manufacturers' guarantee goes with them.

ONE GUN OUTFITS ARE ALONG THE SAME LINES

I am not offering the public OBSOLETE sprayers, but can supply same in any quantity if needed, and at prices such as any fruit grower can afford to have one.

OUR NEW LINE consists of TEN DIFFERENT EQUIPMENTS

These goods are manufactured by F. E. MYERS & BRO. and represented in the Maritime Provinces by Agents wanted in every J. W. HARVEY, Mfg. Agent, locality, Catalogues Port Williams, N.S. furnished on request.

Miss Annabelle Webster, a well known book agent, spent the week end in the place.

At the church service last Sunday there was a good attendance. The lovely solo by Mrs. Curry, the choir leader, was much enjoyed. Two of our choir members, Mrs. Curry and Mr. Turpele, have kindly consented to help in the song service at New Minas Baptist church next Sunday evening, Mrs. Curry with solos and Mr. Turpele in quartette singing.

Miss Rena Cox has been confined to her room and home about a week with a bad cold.

Miss Ethel Fraser has been very ill with an attack of La Grippe for two weeks. There is some improvement in gaining strength, we understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Fenwick for a few days recently.

The oldest warehouse here, a part of the building being the old station of the so called Windsor and Annapolis Railway was sold at auction on Monday afternoon. Mr. William Harris of Port Williams was the purchaser, and we understand the building is to be torn down and removed from the spot.

On Monday evening a party of our young people, about twenty-eight in all, chaperoned by Mrs. Curry, included, enjoyed a sleighing party to Kentville. A great evening and two good teams, kindly provided by Messrs. Hazen Bishop and Robert Bishop. All went to the arena and enjoyed the key match between Kentville and Wolfville, one of our boys, Andrew, being on the latter team which lost that evening.

BURIED ON THEIR OWN FARM

In accordance with their instructions, the owners of a large farm, Mr. and Mrs. John Llewellyn of Scollock, in Pembrokeshire, England, were buried together in a field facing the house under a novel tombstone. At the head of the grave, the life size figures of this devoted couple, carved in alabaster, stand out in relief on either side of the central column. The faces were copied from the living models and the figures and apparel are correct in every detail.

In addition to the customary inscription giving date of birth and death, there is also the following wording:—

"Peace, perfect peace." By the blessing of God and their joint industry and thrift they bought their farm, and hand it down without encumbrance to their heirs.

"Endeavour to pull together as they did. Union is strength. As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise that you may prosper in this life and have no fear of death."
