Driver Arch Fleigher In Norwich Hospital

Newcastle Boy who is Suffering from Flesh Wound in Shoulder Doing Nicely

Mr and Mrs Fred Fleigher, whose son Archie went overseas three years ago and served twenty months, at the front have received the following letter:

Dear Madam:

I beg to inform you that Driver A Fleigher, No 90145, 2nd Division, is now in Norfolk and Norwich Hospital, Norwich, England.

He has been seen by Mr Rod Cross visitor, who reports that he is suffering from a flesh wound in the right shoulder, fortunately the bone is uninjured, so there is not much pain, though there is stiffness. He is up and dressed, bandaged, and has his arm in a sling. Our visitor says he is in good spirits, and very contented. This must be a great help to him, and we hope the report of your son will continue quite satisfactory.

He will be visited regularly and reports on his condition will be sent you from time to time. Should he be in need of any comforts other than those supplied by the Hospital, our visitor will let us know and we will send them from our parcels office.

Yours Truly,

Boiestown Boy Falls in Battle

Pte. Willard McCloskey Gives up His Life for his Country

Boiestown April 22nd—Mr Geo R Parker of Millerton is a guest at the Nelson House.

George Whalen and Jack Harrigan were in Bloomfield Tuesday while on their way there the house stepped onto a broken culvert and threw the occupants out Mr Harrigan's shoulder was hurt and the wagon broken, Mr Whalen escaped injury.

Mrs W A Campbell has returned home after spending a few days with Miss Wilson at Bloomfield.

A cablegram was received on Tuesday announcing the sad intelligence that Willard McCloskey was killed in action. The news is a great blow to his people as well as a host of friends here and elsewhere. The young man had been in Cobalt some years before enlisting. He leaves a mother, one sister, Miss Vida and seven brothers, Fred, Chpman, and Laurie of Cobalt; Hodley, Reginald and Audrey at home and Del at the front. His twin sister died a few years ago.

Premier Forces With Drawal of Motion

On Question of Woman Suffrage--Rule of the Road to be Changed--Charge Against Speaker Currie

Fredericton, N. B., April, 15.—The House of Assembly met at 8.30 p m.

Ex-Premier Murray moved, seconded by Mr Tilley, the resolution of which he had given notice, and asked leave to introduce a bill entitled an Act to confer the electoral franchise upon women and in amendment of the Act 6 George V, Chapter 15, "An Act respecting the elections to the Legislative Assembly." He said that the question of extending the franchise to women had been so much discussed of late that it was not necessary for him to go into it at any great length. The bill he had introduced was based on the principle to which hon. members of the House had subscribed only a few days ago. He believed that the time had arrived when the women of the province should have the right to vote for candidates to the Legislative Assembly. He hoped that in view of the very active part which women had taken in connection with the war that the House would deal with the matter, not on party lines but as the conscience of each individual member dictated.

Premier Foster said that when a bill to grant the franchise to women had been before the House a year ago, he had been one of those who had voted for it. In regard to the bill introduced by the Hon. leader of the Opposition, he felt that it interfered with the rights and prerogatives of the Crown and the government and advised His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to refuse his assent to it, in case it should pass the House. He would ask that the bill be withdrawn.

Mr Murray (King) said that the bill did not involve the expenditure of any public money.

Hon Mr Speaker said that in view of the fact the bill would not receive royal assent and would inter-

GERMANS AGAIN ATTACK ON BRITISH FRONT

Fighting Resumed Yesterday on Whole Front--All Enemy Attacks Repulsed

During the past week there has been more cheerful news from the western front, on Friday the British hurled back German hordes in the vicinity of Givenchy Six enemy divisions launched attacks which ended in complete disaster, and other Hun assaults failed. The British in operations at various points captured prisoners and machine guns. The British front was more secure than it had been for days.

A despatch from Amsterdam on Friday, stated that another mutiny had broken out amongst German troops in Belgium, when they were ordered to the British front in France. A number of the mutineers were shot, but the resistance continued.

There was a lull in the fighting in France and Flanders on Saturday. Reports stated that the situation was unchanged. La Basee still remained in the hands of the British. Italian troops were reported to be en route to the western front. France has lost 1,300,000 killed during the war, and as many more wounded or prisoners. The total strength of the British forces is seven and a half millions.

Early Sunday night a strong local attack accompanied by heavy shelling was made against the British positions near Messin. After sharp fighting in which the enemy captured an advanced post, they were repulsed.

A number of raids were successfully carried out Sunday night by British forces at points North and South of Lens, resulting in the capture of prisoners and machine guns. On Monday the British improved their positions north of Albert and captured sixty prisoners. A number of prisoners were also taken in the Dobecq sector, and near Watachou. In the neighbor hood of Fampoux, a British raiding party entered the enemy trenches and penetrated the support lines.

The German artillery activity increased Tuesday afternoon and opened on the greater part of the British front, particularly in the Somme and Ancre sectors, in the valley of the Scarpe and coctors near Bethune and Bailleul. At dusk the enemy attacked northwest of Albert, but were driven back with heavy rifle and machine gun fire. In the evening strong attacks developed near Dranoutre, but were repulsed by the French.

On Wednesday enemy attacks were reported in progress in the Albert sector, and between the Somme and Avre rivers. Concentration of hostile infantry in the neighborhood of Merville were dispersed by British artillery.

The Germans yesterday resumed their offensive near Amiens, capturing the village of Villers-Bretonneux eleven miles from Amiens. Heavy fighting is reported all along the British front.

Newcastle Town Council Hold Meeting

Town Improvement League Meets

Will Ask Town Council to Call Public Meeting on Greater Production Question

Newcastle Town Improvement League held a meeting on the 23rd instant.

Two new members were admitted: Rev L H MacLean and Mr A Kullander.

Those present were Devs P W Dixon, L H MacLean and Dr C W Squires; Mr James M Troy, president; Ald H H Stuart, secretary; and Messrs J E Anderson, A Kullander and James Stables.

The Secretary reported that, on behalf of the League, he had sent the League's requests to the School Trustees for action re Medical Inspection of schools, Manual Training, Domestic Science and School Gardening and Compulsory Attendance at School, to the Town Council for the above and, a new survey and plan of the town, better assessment, and Food Production on vacant lots. The Trustees acknowledged the desirability of all that was asked of them but pleaded lack of funds. The Council had merely received and filed the six requests made to them, not discussing any of them, even that for greater production.

The President thought that the secretary had presented too many items to the Council. Had he concentrated his efforts on obtaining a discussion on Greater Production, he would probably have been successful.

On motion of Rev Dr Squires and Rev Father Dixon, it was considered to send a New Committee to the Council to ask the latter to call a public meeting to discuss Great Food Production.

The following were appointed: J M Troy, Rev Dr Squires and J E Anderson.

It was moved by Rev Dr C W Squires, seconded by Ald Stuart and carried, that Conscious of the necessity of accurate knowledge concerning the war and a clear understanding of its problem at home and abroad and feeling that France and England are largely dependent upon our efforts to send them food to sustain them in winning the war and knowing that the teen age boys of our land are willing to lend a helping hand in this crisis, the Town Improvement League wishes to express itself as willing with all its strength to stand behind the efforts of the War Lecture Bureau, especially in its endeavor to enlist 25,000 Canadian boys as soldiers of the Soil.

Rev Father Dixon spoke very emphatically of the dog nuisance. He thought that the dog tax should be raised to $5.00.

Adjourned.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY

The fire dept. were given three calls during the past week on Thursday night an alarm was sent in for a fire on the roof of the Chinese Laundry. On Monday at noon for a fire on the roof of James Dunn's residence and Tuesday evening for a gas fire in the vicinity of St. James' Church. No damage was done at any of the three fires.

The Best Every-Day Work Shoe Made in Canada THE "GREB SHOE"

HERE ARE A FEW WORDS FROM THE MANUFACTURER THEMSELVES.

WE are every-day work-shoe specialists, manufacturing only good heavy work shoes. Specializing in this line for eight years. You will find they have an individuality and many characteristics distinctly their own, that place them, as everyday shoes, in a class by themselves.

All "GREB SHOE" lasts are designed and constructed by a footform specialist connected with our factory ever since we made the first "GREB SHOE" and you cannot find an every day shoe, that fits better, gives more comfort and carries more snap and style than the "GREB SHOE."

The uppers are cut from special patterns of our own, having gradually been brought to absolute perfection in size and proportions by eight years of study and experiment.

As to telling you in detail how "GREB SHOES" are constructed, it seems unnecessary. Their reputation is sufficient guarantee that they are put together from sole to upper, inside and outside, as honest as any shoe can be made out of leather, with one thought of making an everyday shoe that will give satisfaction to the wearer.

GREB SHOE CO. LTD.

For the next week there will be on display in my window, eight different lines of shoes manufactured by these people. Make it a point to call round and look these goods over, come in and examine them, no trouble to show you anything we have, and you need not feel under any obligation to buy either.

"THE FIGHTING TRAIL"

 "When I returned I brought Joe with me. He confided on the way, that Frances cried continually with Lawton. She did not love him. Upon arriving again at Lost Mine, I learned that Lawton had taken no steps. He confessed that he had lost all his money gambling. I was disgusted with him, and insisted that we return to Chihuahua. I refused to let him drink on the way, and he became enraged. Then, he told me that Frances would have nothing to do with me because, I quote his own words: 'I told her you offered to buy her because you didn't care to marry her—and she believed me.' His statement infuriated me. My errands, was suddenly boiling with Spanish blood, cooled through generations, was suddenly boiling with me. It was a matter of honor, challenged him to a duel with knives, and we fought. I know not how long, on the brink of a precipice. We struggled like maniacs; I do not remember all, but I do know that I was suddenly horrified as I realized that we were hurtling through space. We had rolled over the edge and were falling into the valley below. Lawton was killed by that fall. Through some miracle—it was nothing short of a miracle—I was saved. Joe revived me from unconsciousness, and that night we buried Lawton within a few feet of the scene of the struggle. Just as we finished covering over the body, Joe heard something moving in the bushes behind us. He hurried to the spot, and found nothing. A moment later we were started down the trail. I was haunted by the thought that perhaps someone had seen us, but in time managed to drive it from my mind.

"When we reached home Frances asked for her husband. I could not tell her the truth, but when I was not near, Joe told her all. He also told her the reason, which vindicated me in her eyes and brought me back her respect. She understood, thank God; and she forgave me! That night you were born, and your mother died. With her last words she begged me to care for you and bring you up to be happy.

"Very soon after your mother's death I received a visit from two men whom I had never known. They were a degraded looking pair, their attire rough, and their faces scarred from a hard life in the hills. They spoke well, however, which surprised me; they must have been fairly well educated and, I judged, had sunk to degradation in their early manhood. Their names you have heard since. They were Drant and Rawls. They were the men who had seen us bury Lawton, and, as a reward had been offered by the authorities for the conviction of the murderer, they claimed blackmail, which I was forced to pay. They continued their demands for money until I could meet them no longer, and fled secretly to this little abode in the hills, bringing only you and Joe with me. We dug the shaft which leads to the mine, and developed it only enough to yield a living. It is as rich to-day as if it had never been touched. And it is yours when you read this, for I shall have passed away. One-half of the chart is in an envelope that lies near this. The other half, which we took from Lawton's body, is in the main part of the chest. Together they will serve to locate the mine alone, no other can help. But Yaqui can also take you there. He is the only one alive, after I pass away, who knows the location. That is all.

"Your mother knew this story up to the point of her death. She forgave me. Can you, Nan, dear daughter of my heart if not of my body? I ask you, Nan, though I can never hear your answer. I may only live and die in hope.

"Don Carlos Ybarra De Cordoba."
 Gwyn looked up from the manuscript as he finished reading. He saw that Nan's eyes were filled with tears, but she brushed them away and forced a smile. Gwyn gazed at her, almost mechanically opening the other envelope as he did so. From it he drew a folded sheet of paper as old and yellow and brittle from age as the envelope which had enclosed it. Carefully, so as not to tear it, he unfolded the sheet, until there lay spread open on his lap, the chart. All of the lines and writing that seemed to lead to one side, stopped abruptly as they came to the edge of the paper. It was plain that as Don Carlos had stated in his letter, it was but a half of the map.

"This is what they wanted," Gwyn said thoughtfully. "It is the chart. They must have learned of its existence in some way."

"Yes," replied Nan, "and they must have gotten the other half. Do you remember when Joe ran to the chest after they had left, he shouted: 'They got it, but not all!' He meant the chart. They got a half. This is the rest. He went out to find their trail. He should be back by now

Do you suppose that anything could have happened to him? If they ever get him? If they ever get him and make him tell—" Her face grew suddenly pale as the thought of what they would do to the Indian. Gwyn rushed from the room and out through the door. Nan stood, as if she were dazed. The dawn was beginning to cast a thin, gray light in the sky, and shone as a mist through the tops of the trees. Around the hut, and in the thick stretch of trees it still was dark. As Gwyn threw himself upon a horse, ready saddled, and prepared to ride out to the trail, Nan rushed from the hacienda and mounted another. They did not speak a word, but clattered off toward the trail at top speed.

Meantime, Yaqui Joe, faithful to his trust, had ridden bravely after the brigands and, as it transpired, into the very jaws of death. When he mounted his pony and started after the gang it was easy for him to pick up and follow their trail. He rode rapidly for nearly five miles and then, his practiced eye noting that the others had stopped their horses, apparently to hold a conference, he suddenly dismounted, tethered his horse and began cautiously to advance on foot.

The Indian had gone only a sparse one hundred yards when suddenly the huge form of Shoestring Drant came hurtling from the bush on a rising at the right hand side of the road. He landed squarely on Joe's shoulders, bearing him to the ground and knocking his rifle from his hand. Von Bleck, Cut-Deep and two other men quickly joined Drant. Joe struggled manfully, but in vain. The odds were too great for him and it was a matter of only a few seconds for the outlaws to make him a captive.

Then began the torture that showed the depths of ferdinanness that lay in Cut-Deep Rawls and Shoestring Drant. Joe was bound fast to the trunk of a tree, his bonds cutting into his flesh so that he yelped from the pain. But he made no outcry. Rawls demanded that Joe, as the price of his liberty, reveal the location of the mine. The Indian made no sign. Rawls struck the man a blow in the face. Again Joe made his demand. Again Rawls was silent and Rawls, his anger welling up like a torrent, showered even the rugged Yaqui felled under the brutal attack and he passed into unconsciousness, his body sagging limply.

Rawls turned away. To Drant he said: "You and the others stay here and see what you can get out of this bull-headed coyote—Von Bleck and I will return to Ybarra's and hunt for the other half of this infernal map."

He and Von Bleck mounted and rode away and Shoestring gave his attention to Joe, who, weakened though he was revived in a few moments.

Shoestring took up the torture where Cut-Deep had stopped, but boating still failed to make the Indian betray his master's secret. Enraged, Shoestring drew his revolver and deliberately shot off the lobe of the Indian's right ear. Still Joe remained silent. Drant then drew forth a long-bladed hunting knife and, with cruelty unbelievable, began plunging it into the flesh of Ybarra's faithful servant, and soon blood was streaming from a score of wounds in Joe's arms, legs, neck and chest. When this failed to unseal his lips, Drant ordered his men to build a fire beneath the feet of their victim.

Joe by this time was almost beyond feeling and nothing that Shoestring could do now would add any more to his suffering. He was fast sinking into unconsciousness from loss of blood.

But the malignant Drant was determined and he personally applied the torch to the pyre that was to make Joe divulge his secret. The latter had slipped into unconsciousness again, but Drant depended on the fire to bring him back to life and confession. The outlaw had just lifted a burning brand and was letting the flames play on the soles of Joe's feet when a shot rang out. Startled, he swept the valley in a quick, all-embracing look, then leaped to his feet. He started to the trail, where he had left a man on guard and his other followed with him, leaving the dying Yaqui alone.

Arriving on the trail, Drant and his companion discovered their sentinel in a death grip with Gwyn. He and Nan had descended into the canyon on his farthest side by means of a rope which Gwyn took from a well on the side of the trail. Flying one end to the pommel of his saddle and taking Nan's rifle he had descended to the bottom of the canyon and she, remaining to be left alone, had followed. They crossed the bed of the canyon unobserved by Drant's sentry and climbed up the other side to the trail. Gwyn was almost upon the guard before the latter saw him and fired. He missed and Gwyn leaped on him, Nan taking a short cut to the point where Joe had been left to die.

Drant and his companion lost not a moment in going to the rescue of Gwyn's antagonist. Each tried to bring their weapons into play, but could not. The struggling pair moved so rapidly they dared not take a chance of killing their friend. The pair leaped on Gwyn, but he fought like a tiger. He engaged the three singly and together. A dozen times they swayed to the edge of the trail and it seemed as though all must plunge to death. But they did not. Finally, catching the guard around the waist, Gwyn hurled him over the brink and to death. The other man leaped down soon afterward, breaking his neck as he struck the rocks below.

Fearful of a similar fate, Drant fled down the trail, intending to return and finish Joe before Gwyn could rescue him. As he approached, Joe who had been released by Nan, rose from the ground and fired. Nan did likewise. Drant, his fury turned on the girl, fired at her. But Joe had anticipated him and he leaped in front of Nan, taking in his own heart the bullet that was intended for her. Drant disappeared in the brush as Joe fell, dying to earth. Nan was quickly bending over the mortally wounded servant and raised his head to her lap as Gwyn came running up. They realized that Joe's valiant life was near its end.

Suddenly the old, wrinkled face of the faithful Yaqui brightened. His eyes lighted for an instant, his lips parted, a whisper came forth. They bent low to hear. He spoke: "Joe no tell."

They were his last words. His head fell back, his face relaxed. He was dead.

Tenderly, Gwyn raised the poor, blood-run body in his arms. Followed by Nan he carried his burden to a point deep in the canyon and hid it in a rocky grave, piling rocks high over it so that coyotes or vultures should not get to it. Then they began to ascend the cliff. Nan satly weeping as they went. Half way up the trail, Gwyn halted, his eyes riveted on something deep down the valley. It was Drant, riding like mad. Taking careful aim, Gwyn fired one shot from the rifle and an instant later Drant's white pony went to earth, shot through the head, and his rider went flying through the air. Nan restrained Gwyn as he raised his rifle to fire at Drant.

Now Gwyn and Nan moved hurriedly toward the point where they had descended into the canyon. Drant, who had by now reached the upper trail where their horses stood, mounted Nan's horse and rode swiftly off, seeking Von Bleck and Rawls.

When Gwyn and Nan reached the dangling rope that had borne them to the canyon bed, they were confronted by the problem of getting to the top again. Gwyn thought first of climbing up himself and then pulling Nan up, but the danger of battering her against the rocky walls of the canyon caused him to dismiss the plan. He had a sudden inspiration. Tying the rope securely about the middle of Nan's rifle, he ordered her to sit on one side of it and he sat upon the other. Then he tugged at the rope until the strain put her into his horse and the frightened beast started on a mad gallop along the trail. As he ran, he pulled Gwyn and Nan to the top of the canyon.

When they reached the top, Gwyn replaced the rope in the well and he and Nan went in search of their mounts. Only Gwyn's was to be found and then they realized how Drant had got away. Lifting Nan into the saddle, Gwyn then got on back of her and they started for the hacienda.

Dusk was beginning to unfold its thin, blue veil over the solemn peaks of the Sierras. The shadowy outlines of the mountains looked like a thousand tombstones in the growing darkness. The thick silence about the little house that had been Don Carlos' home seemed to emphasize the vastness and solitude of the hills. It was just fourteen hours from the windows of the hacienda that low, flickering, nervous rays of candle-light cast their yellow brightness into the darkness inside, lounging comfortably in the living room, where three men, conversing earnestly in low, scarcely audible voices. They were Karl Von Bleck, Shoestring Drant, and Cut-Deep Rawls. Von Bleck was leaning forward in his chair, a worried, unquiet expression on his countenance. Drant was talking, and as he spoke he mopped the perspiration from his forehead with a filthy handkerchief. It was evident that he had entered but a moment before, and his excited tones as words fairly tumbled from his lips, denoted that he was reporting news of weighty importance. Drant's eyes were fixed upon Von Bleck.

"Where's the Indian?" Von Bleck fairly shouted. "I don't care a hang how long you fought. I want to know where the Indian is. We didn't find the chart here and he knows where it is. That's all I care about. Where is he?"

The Burden of Anxiety falls on the Women

ALMOST everybody is living under a tense nervous strain during these trying times, but the burden rests particularly heavy on the women in the home. Whatever their employment about the house, the mind has much time to dwell on the dreadful things that might happen.

There is nothing so wearing on the nerves as worry and anxiety. Nerve force is consumed at an enormous rate, and as the nerve cells become starved and depleted you find yourself unable to rest or sleep. You soon get so you can only see the dark side, and become down-hearted and discouraged.

Headaches, neuralgic pains, indigestion and failure of the vital organs to properly perform their functions are among the symptoms which tell of exhausted nerves and low vitality.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you if you will only give it a chance. We know this from long experience with this great food cure. We have proven it by evidence published in this paper from time to time. It only remains for you to put it to the test.

You may wonder why people are so enthusiastic in recommending this treatment for the nerves. But you will understand after you have experienced the benefits that are to be obtained by its use.

You will find yourself resting and sleeping better, appetite and digestion will improve and you will know again the joy of good health.

NEW ROAD RULE NOT YET IN FORCE

The new Highway Act, under which the rule of the road is changed is not yet in force, and it is not yet proper to turn to the right. The regulation will be changed on order-in-council and the public will have ample notice. It is not likely the rule of the road will be changed till after next January, when the County Councils will have an opportunity of passing upon it.

Taxes on War Bonds
Government War Bonds are to be exempt.

The bill to provide for tax exemption on government war bonds was introduced with an amendment providing that the exemption should not apply school taxes was adopted also. The bill provides that the exemption shall be at the discretion of the various municipal councils. It is not to affect St John Assessment in St John.

The St John Assessment Act was considered in Committee this morning.

Mr Fotts said that if the city would secure accurate knowledge of the number of 40 by 100 lots in St John it would be possible to raise the entire assessment without taxing income and without hardship.

Stock-in-trade is to be assessed at 50 per cent of its value.

A man living in one place and working in another would be taxed on his income or half in each place.

The committee agreed upon the principle that men doing business for themselves should pay full taxes on income in the place where the come arises.

The section relating to assessment of N B Telephone Co. was amended by eliminating taxation on the revenue from long distance business, that being subject to provincial taxation.

The section concerning the assessment of steam railways was amended so as to prevent any interference with concessions previously allowed by the city, on grain elevators and other property.

Fredericton, April 18—The House met at 3 p m.

The Bill relating to the Maritime Boom Co passed.

The Health Act
Hon Dr Roberts considered his remarks on the Budget. He fully concurred in the report, brought down by the commission, which had been making an inquiry with reference to the subject of technical education. The proposals of the commission would be advanced legislation, which would undoubtedly be of great service to the province.

Medical Inspection
With medical inspection the school system would be well high complete, and it would not be complete until proposed additions were made.

The Social Evil
Referring to the social evil, he said that the problem was complex.

the attention of provincial and state legislatures which were revising their laws and making them more drastic. The bill which he had lately introduced in the house would deal with the problem in what he considered a moderate way. He quoted the archbishop of Canterbury as saying in the house of Lords that the disease was prevalent among the soldiers at the front, and the reply of Lord Derby, who had expressed the hope that an understanding would be arrived at by the government of Great Britain and America to work together for the common good and with the object of stamping out the evil. He the (speaker) thought that the province should be organized to fight the evil and that the organization should be made as effective as possible.

The bill which he had placed before the house he believed would meet the case, and he trusted that it would be enacted into law.

Ex-Premier Murray Speaks
At 8 p m, Ex-Premier Murray spoke. The bonded indebtedness when the late government came into office was $5,834,533.99. When they went out in 1916 it had increased to $9,109,069.16, leaving a net increase of $3,274,535.17.

The speaker did not object to the principle of the Health Bill, but to its tremendous cost and cumbersome machinery. His Honorable friend from Victoria had not referred to the fact that the Grand Falls powers had passed to private interests, for the reason that the government led by a gentleman who had been described recently as one of the greatest statesmen the province had produced, was responsible. When the old government left office New Brunswick was better known among the troops in England and France than any other part of Canada with the exception of the West. When he was in London he had placed the scheme for the settlement of soldiers before Sir Harry Cheer Up and Thank God for the Y.M.C.A.

TRY to picture yourself in the muddy cold trenches after exciting days and long nights of mortal danger and intense nervous strain. Rushing "whiz-bangs" and screaming "coal boxes" are no respecters of persons. You are hit! But despite shock and pain you still can face the long weary trudge back to dressing station. Weary, overwrought and depressed, you are prey to wild imaginings of that other coming ordeal with the surgeon. There are other "walking wounded," too! You must wait, wait, wait. And then—

Up comes a cheery Y.M.C.A. man, the ever-present "big brother" to the soldier, with words of manly encouragement. Close beside the dressing station the good generous folks at home have enabled him to set up a canteen. He hands you biscuits, and chocolate or coffee.

"In thousands of cases," writes an officer, "it was that first hot cup of coffee that dragged the man back to life and sanity."

The tremendous helpfulness of the Y.M.C.A. as an aid to the "morale" or fighting spirit, of the soldiers is everywhere praised. No wonder the Germans make every effort to smash the Y.M.C.A. huts out of existence.

The Y.M.C.A. is everywhere. You first met the helpful, manly Y.M.C.A. worker in camp, then on train and boat, at camp in England and in France, close to the firing line. Often he risks his life to reach you in the trenches. He has won the warmest praise from military authorities, statesmen—the King!

Have you a precious boy at the front? You cannot be "over there," to guide him away from fierce temptations of camp and city. You cannot comfort him in his supreme hour of trial. Your parcels to him are necessarily few. But the Y.M.C.A., thank God, is "over there," going where you cannot go—doing the very things you long to do—doing it for you and for him.

Will you help? This vast organization of helpfulness needs at least $2,250,000 from Canada for 1918. For your boy's sake be GENEROUS!!

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ABELINE E. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous food and health remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Anglican Meeting at Blackville Last Week

Through the kindness of Rev. J. A. Cooper, Rector of Bathurst and a former Rector of this parish, services were held Sunday April 14th morning and evening in Trinity Church, Blackville and in St. Agnes, Grey Rapids in the afternoon. Large congregations attended the three services.

The annual business meeting of Trinity Church was held on Monday evening April 15th. Rev. J. A. Cooper in the chair. Minutes of the last Easter meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer's report showed the balance to be on the right side. Votes of thanks were passed to the secretary-treasurers for his services and to those having charge of the Sunday School for their splendid work during the year.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Wardens—B. N. Underhill, Isaac Underhill.

Vestrymen—Hudson Underhill, Chas. F. Underhill, Justus Underhill, Albert Underhill, Alfred Underhill, Jas. Underhill Sr., Thos. Underhill, Harry Underhill, Wm. Lebons, John Lebons, T. M. Barnett, Henry Seese.

Secy-Treas.—Justus Underhill
Delegate to Synod—Albert Underhill.

Substitute—Justus Underhill
Services will be held on Sunday April 28th in Trinity Church morning and evening and in St. Agnes, Grey Rapids in the afternoon. The Rev. F. W. M. Bacon will conduct the services.

Teething Troubles

Baby's teething time is a time of worry and anxiety to most mothers. The little ones become cross; peevish; their little stomach becomes deranged and constipation and colic sets in. To make the teething period easy on baby the stomach and bowels must be kept sweet and regular. This can be done by the use of Baby's Own Tablets—the ideal laxative for little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Henry Bernard, St. Emile, Que., says—"Baby's Own Tablets cured my baby of constipation and made his teething painless." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Practical Economy of Good Paint

Good paint is never an expense, but a saving. By its use you save your buildings from a steady deterioration in value.

Economy in painting demands the use of Quality Paint—Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint—the paint that protects and preserves.

The use of cheap materials is a waste of money—a waste of time.

MARTIN-SENOUR

"100% PURE" PAINT

wears longest, covers the greatest surface (900 sq. feet per gallon) and because of its even texture, takes least time and is easiest to apply. It is absolutely guaranteed—"100% Pure" White Lead, Zinc Oxide and highest quality Linseed Oil. It is admittedly the most economical paint on the market.

Take no chances. Make your investments secure by applying on your buildings, inside and out, protecting coats of Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint.

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop name and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1 1/2" to 48". These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

FORMER NEWCASTLE MAN LOSES HIS HOME
Marysville was visited by a very disastrous fire on Saturday morning. Some twelve buildings, having fifteen families were burned to the ground and a property loss of about $30,000 sustained. Among the homes destroyed was that of Mr. Eugene Savage, a former resident of Newcastle.

OBITUARY

MRS JOHN B BELL
Much sympathy is felt for John B Bell of Chatham and his son, Blair, at present a patient in an Ontario Military Convalescent Hospital, on the loss of their wife and mother, Mrs Grace V Bell, who died on the 7th instant aged 60 years.

MRS JAMES W RYAN
The community were shocked on Saturday to hear of the death of Mrs James W Ryan. Deceased, who leaves her husband and little son, the latter six weeks old, had been ailing for some three months she was twenty-two years of age, and was the daughter of the late William Whelan. She is also survived by her mother, and a brother and sister, Allan and Charlotte Whelan, all of Newcastle. The funeral was held to St. Mary's Church Monday morning, and was largely attended, interment in St. Mary's cemetery. The floral tributes were very beautiful.

JOHN KEYES
The death of John Keyes, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Redbank, occurred early Friday morning. Deceased, who was a well known and successful farmer, was 82 years old. He had been ill only since the previous Wednesday night, less than two days. He was a native of Redbank. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Anna Sutherland of Redbank; one brother, Jeremiah, of Cassilis; one sister, Mrs Nellie Dunn, of Redbank; and six children—George, Vancouver, B C; Patrick, Everett, Wash; Wm, of B C; Clifford, at home; Evelyn (Mrs. Thomas Hartley) Everett, Wash; and Miss Eliza, registered nurse, at home. The funeral was held Saturday morning, to the Roman Catholic Church, Redbank; Rev Father Duffy conducting services.

MRS ANNIE J GUPTIL
The death of Mrs Annie J Guptil, wife of John T Guptil of 14 Barker Street, Auburn, Maine, occurred on March 30th 1918. Deceased was a native of Newcastle, being the daughter of the late David and Margaret Campbell, Bethwell. For some time also she had lived in what is now Maple Glen. For the past twenty years she had lived in Lewiston and Auburn, Maine. She is survived by her husband, and one daughter Florence. Mrs E T Nichol of Somerville, Mass., is a sister of deceased. At the funeral services from the home of the deceased, three of the pallbearers—George Sutherland of Bath, Me; Murray Sutherland of Somerville, and Perry Herman—were her nephews. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was in the family lot in Sottiprel cemetery.

Save Food

In a time needing food economy many people are not getting all the nourishment they might from their food. It is not how much you eat, but how much you assimilate, that does you good. The addition of a small teaspoonful of Bovril to the diet as a peptogenic before meals leads to more thorough digestion and thus saves food, for you need less.

The marriage service was performed by the rector of the Church, the Rev W J Bate.

Premier Forces withdrawal Motion

Wilson, secretary of the Royal Colonial Institute, who had told him it was the first scheme of its kind to be presented to him.

Earl Grey also had endorsed it and Sir Max Aiken and Sir George Perley had displayed interest. Unfortunately the political upheaval in Great Britain had interrupted the successful prosecution of the scheme.

Fredericton, April 22—In the House today Hon Mr Baxter laid a charge that Hon Wm Currie, the speaker, did some time ago, as manager of the Continental Lumber Co, defraud Archibald Murchie, lumber scaler, to reduce the company's cut from 6,780,852 ft to 4,615,562 ft thereby defrauding the Government out of the stumpage on 2,165,290 ft. Murchie swears to this, and Mr Currie and Mr Richards deny the charge.

A commission of five members is asked for with power to view all papers and examine witnesses under oath.

Fredericton, April 23—In the House today, he Mr Baxter moved an amendment that the minister in charge of the Health department be the provincial secretary.

This was defeated by a vote of 21 to 19.
