 YOU CANNOT DRIFT TO SUCCESS.
 It's a good deal easier to drift with the stream than to swim against it. But there's neither glory nor safety in drifting; the world reserves its applause for the man that opposes the current and forces his way to the Harbor. The stream of life has always crowds of drifters trusting to currents of luck to float them to the Harbor of Success. That's why so many bachelors wear looks of disappointment. Their bright dreams of youth have faded with the years, their age has no refuge. Not a pleasant prospect to think about, is it? But you'll do well to think about it now while there is still time to provide for the future; it is not too late to catch up with the crowds of House Furnishers; begin to-day. Secure your partner, visit our store and you will certainly buy.

THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER IX.
THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

LILIAN most impromptu pleasures, it was a success. It was not every day that the gentleman could dance in cool flannels and the ladies without the long trains and elaborate toilets.

'This is the most sensible and enjoyable ball I have ever known,' said the duke, as he sat down after the opening quadrille, which he had danced with Lady Warner, and she was satisfied.

An hour before midnight Lillian stood beside the chair in which the marquis half lay, half sat. The ball was at its height, faces were glittering, faces were flushed, but she stood, with but the faintest color on her cheeks, her eyes contemplative and calm.

'Are you tired?' said Gerald; 'or is it out of pure kindness that you come to me, Lillian?'

'I am not tired,' she said, looking down at him.

He drew his legs up a little, and patted the seat, and she sat down beside him.

'And are you enjoying yourself?' he said. 'Let me look at your programme—it is full, of course! I have been watching you all the evening. Why do you not look triumphant?'

'Triumphant?' she said, slowly turning her dark eyes upon him.

'Yes,' he said, nodding his head and pushing the hair from his forehead. 'It is a triumph, if ever there was one. And you are as calm as a statue. Haven't you any vanity at all, Lillian?'

She laughed, and then suddenly the laugh died away in a little sigh.

'Why do you say that?' she said.

'Don't you know that all women are vain?'

'Not all,' he said; 'but you have cause to be. I see here are some more of them.' As two or three men came up to try for a dance, he took the programme out of her hand and held it up. 'Full—all full,' he said; then, as they turned away murmuring their disappointment, he glanced down the lines.

'The next is your cousin,' he said; 'and here he comes,' he added, as Harold's stalwart form made its way slowly toward him.

With the blood mounting in his cheeks, his eyes flashing with that light which belongs only to perfect health, he stood before her.

'The next is mine, Lillian,' he said.

Instead of rising, she took up the ball card and glanced down it, then looking up calmly.

'Do you mind my sitting out?' she said.

A shade of disappointment crossed his handsome face.

'It is the only dance I have been able to get with you,' he said, in a low, almost pleading voice.

After a moment's hesitation, she rose, and was going in a moment, Gerald, looked up, said in a low voice:

'Why did you send him away?'

Instantly, as if unconsciously, she answered:

'For his own good.' Then, a moment or two afterwards, she nodded, with a strange smile: 'See, he has consoled himself, and inclined her head to the center of the room, where Harold was dancing with his arms

The sleeve is a coat-shaped one-piece model. Wash or woolen fabrics may be used for this design. around Laura Warner, her fair, elflike face almost resting on his shoulder, her eyes turned up to his.

Gerald looked from the two to the lovely face beside him, and a puzzled, troubled expression came into his violet eyes.

'Poor Harold!' he murmured; but, as if she had never heard him, her calm eyes looked steadfastly before them.

Five minutes afterward she herself was whirling round the room, and Harold stood apart, gloomily leaning near one of the openings in the marquee watching her, his huge arms folded across his broad chest, his handsome face cast down and despondent.

'No,' he muttered, 'she does not like me. It is hoping against hope. To think that a few short weeks ago she clung to my arm so helpless and confiding, and now—'

And, with a bitter sigh, he turned away, and stepped out in the starlight night.

At midnight the ball broke up, and, like snow, the guests melted away.

In a corner of the Woodleigh carriage Lillian nestled, half hidden by the multitudinous wraps which Sir Talbot had piled round her. Opposite, in his corner, sat Harold, his arms folded, his head bent upon his breast.

'Are you both asleep?' said Sir Talbot, erect and all aglow with pride and love. 'Lillian! Harold! Are you quite exhausted?'

With a start, Harold looked up.

'I thought you were both asleep,' he said.

Sir Talbot chuckled.

'At twelve o'clock! Why it is early yet! But, then, I haven't been playing lawn tennis all the afternoon, and dancing to the 'Blue Danube' all the evening. Are you tired, my darling?' and he laid his hand on the warm arm beside him.

'No,' said the low, musical voice; 'I was thinking.'

'Going over the triumphs of the evening, eh?' said Sir Talbot, with a laugh. 'You have quite enough to think of, my dear!'

The carriage drew up at the Hall; Sir Talbot got out, and Harold stood ready to help Lillian to alight.

With the weight of a feather, the girl touched his arm and ran up the steps. He followed her, and, with

JAS. R. KNIGHT,
Commission Merchant,
311 Water Street.

He passed the National Gallery, pausing a moment to look abstractedly at the gushing fountains in Trafalgar Square, and then, making his way by the Banquet Memorial, walked slowly by Regent Street and turned into Piccadilly.

With the same listless gait and moody face, he turned up Grafton Street, and, opening a door on the left hand side, went up the stairs, with his white hand resting on the banister, and entered a comfortable apartment, which formed one of a set of chambers.

It was more than comfortable, it was luxurious; and that in the costly, elaborate style of the day. The eye could not turn to any part of the cozy room without meeting some article of beauty and cost. The hangings were genuine products of the Persian looms; the carpets of choicest Turkey pile, formed a square, inclosed by a parquet of sandal and ebony; the furniture was, each article in its way, a rarity and curiosity. Here a billiard table, there a carved chair that might have come from the hands of Grinling Gibbons. Upon the walls hung masterpieces of the new and ancient school. Bronzes which would have made the mouth of a collector water stood on Florentine tables and mediaeval cabinets. In the vacant fireplace, formed by Flemish tiles and brass-work, bloomed costly exotics, which filled the room with dainty perfume; all that a cultivated taste could desire was here in lavish, and yet apt vulgar, profusion.

With the same listless manner, the owner of it all dropped into a chair tilted his hat back upon his white forehead and yawned.

A pile of letters lay upon the table near him, and after a few minutes he reached out his hand, and, sweeping them together, took them up, one by one.

Some he threw aside unopened, others he dropped after perusing; a few he glanced at, many were uninteresting from similarity, in truth, they were invitations to some formal, many pressing and cordial. Invitations to some of the best country houses, invitations to Scotland, to join the writer's fishing party, to come down to this and that shooting, all clearly proving that it was, from choice, and not necessity, that the receiver of them wandered about the hot streets of town, solitary and bored.

One by one he threw them aside; and then closed his eyes, as if weary of them, as of everything else. But he could not sleep; some restless demon seemed to be sitting on the chair, and, prodding him, to be up and moving.

With a smothered exclamation, he rose, lit a cigarette, and went down stairs again, and into the street. The heat seemed to have grown more intense; all Piccadilly literally 'augmented' in the fierce glare of that August sun; the sidewalk men crawled pantingly, along the pavement; the policeman's tramped by with his helmet on his hand; the very cabmen who rarely show any signs of distress had not inside their cabs, and were muting their dreams with the tired horses.

With slow and purposeless steps this solitary son of fashion made his way to the park gates, and, turning in, dropped on a seat under some trees, apparently at rest at last.

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained using DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Strathroy, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Please Mr. Mascuine Reader—if such a thing exists—don't read a word further tonight.

And since after that warning, of course the eyes of every one of you is racing up and down the page I'll save you bitter disappointment by telling you my most innocuous reason at once.

To-night's topic can't possibly interest you. It is just a few do's-and-don'ts of the military world.

They were most eagerly contributed by my milliner to distract my attention while I waited for the hat that was to have been done three hours before.

Positively painful isn't it, Miss Cameron, to see some of the outlandish things that people who have fairly good taste in other matters will put on their heads?

"Tell you some of the things one should avoid in getting a hat? Well let me see."

"And these are the don'ts," she evolved.

First of all don't put blue roses and green poppies and yellow geraniums and all the rest of the flowers that never were on land or sea, on hat. There is nothing in worse taste than a flower done in some color it could not possibly be.

In buying a hat get it to harmonize with the clothes you are going to wear it with, not only in color but in general style. For instance, don't get a lace hat to wear with a suit. That's about on a par with diamonds in the morning or a train and low neck on the street.

"Of course you never should put flowers or plumes on a utility hat. Plumes aren't good taste for a walking or business hat anyway, and neither plumes or flowers look at all attractive after the first damp day. Always trim your utility hat with either feathers or ribbon. You can get much smarter effects with them and effects that will last much longer."

"You wouldn't think it would be necessary to tell people not to put flowers or feathers on a panama, but it is. Why I've seen lots of people who were dressed in fairly good taste otherwise walking around with that particular blunder on their heads."

"I mustn't forget to say something about the auto-bonnet craze. If a girl wants to mark herself 'cheap' in letters big enough to be seen as far off as she is, the best way is to go about the streets with one of those things on. I don't see why I shouldn't just as out as it would be to wear a riding habit to your business or on a shopping tour and I don't believe any one would do that."

"And while I am talking about hats I must surely put in a word for the proper care of them. The summer hat needs its daily brush every bit as much as the winter one, but it doesn't seem to get it somehow. Of course straw doesn't show the dust as it does but dust is there just the same and once the hat gets wet, the straw if it is light, is apt to be badly discolored. So whatever kind of hat you have don't forget that daily brush."

And now Mr. Mascuine Reader if any of you did read this far, don't you wish you had headed my warning?

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds his—regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unequalled remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

RIOTS FOLLOW THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Mobs of White Men Search for Negroes Throughout New York.

New York, July 5.—Riots between negroes and white men, attacks upon the former by the latter, and in many instances upon the whites by the blacks, occurred in all parts of the country yesterday as a result of Johnson's victory over Jeffries at Reno, Nevada. Scores of negroes were injured seriously and four negroes were killed outright. One killing occurred in Houston, Texas. The negro's throat was slashed by a white man on a trolley car on which both were riding, and the negro bled almost to death before he could be taken to hospital, where he died later. He had jeeringly proclaimed Johnson's victory. The three others were slain at Uvaldia, Ga., in a gang fight at a construction camp.

In this city fights between white and blacks were frequent throughout the night. Gangs of men and boys formed apparently for the sole purpose of beating up whatever negroes they could get their hands upon, and in many instances the negroes retaliated in part. Riot calls came into the West Thirty-seventh police station constantly throughout the evening. The centres of the local trouble were the districts known as Hell's Kitchen and San Juan Hill and in Harlem. Fifty-third street, a negro section, was another source of almost constant trouble.

Stopped Cars.

In St. Joseph, Mo., feeling ran so high that a mob attacked a white man who had taken the part of a negro against it, and the white victim was saved, only by the intervention of the police. In Pittsburgh the blacks stopped street cars and evicted the white passengers, usurping their places. Four were sent to the hospital there.

From Washington, Philadelphia, New Orleans, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, St. Joseph, Macon, Little Rock and Pueblo also came reports of conflicts between whites and blacks.

In Little Rock the conductor of a railroad train was shot by rioters who fought all over his train. Probably the worst fight was that at Uvaldia. The conduct of the negroes in the construction camp near there so enraged the whites that an armed force marched against the camp to "clean it out." The invaders were met with volley after volley of pistol and rifle shots from the negroes, but none of the whites were injured. Their return fire, however, killed three negroes and wounded five others. The rest fled into the woods where they are being hunted now by the whites.

Schenectady, N.Y., July 5.—A white man guiding a wheelbarrow containing a colored man through the downtown streets early last night precipitated a riot here. It was in payment of a bet as to the result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Feeling ran high for several hours, and before it subsided ten negroes had been badly handled. Fully half a score sought refuge at police headquarters. In one case the fugitive was pursued to the very door. Police scurried hither and thither, but succeeded in arresting but few of the rioters. The most serious injury resulting from the disturbances was sustained by J. J. Hurley, a saloon keeper. He was slashed across the face by an unknown negro.

Militia Was Ordered Out.

Norfolk, Va., July 5.—Many negroes are in the hospitals with broken heads and bruised bodies as the result of conflicts with three hundred sailors, who, following news of the fight at Reno, marched through the streets last night hunting for negroes. They beat one negro almost to death against the post office building. Practically every cell at police headquarters and the second precinct station is filled with negroes, sailors, and young white citizens. Mr. Kiser, the chief of police, requested Major L. W. T. Waller, at the Navy Yard, to send assistance, and a detachment of marines and sailors, heavily armed, was hurried to the city. The situation was under control before morning.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 5.—Clashes between blacks and whites were numerous last night, following the result of the Johnson and Jeffries fight. A negro was knocked down by a militia man and the police had to stop the riot following. Arrests followed, and the militiamen began forming for an attack on the negroes. This was broken up by the police. Half an hour later, on the same street, J. T. Bullen, private of the 3rd Mississippi Infantry, was seriously cut by a negro, who was saved from a mob by the police.

Columbus, Ohio, July 5.—Rioting, in which noses were broken and heads were cracked, marked a parade through the streets organized by hillarious negroes late last night. The trouble was caused chiefly by drunken whites, who sought to break up the parade of the blacks.

Washington, July 5.—In a fight between two negroes and white men over the championship battle at Reno, Thomas Mundle, an enlisted man of the United States Marine Corps, had his throat cut and is at the Casualty Hospital in a serious condition. Another white man, who was found unconscious late at night in Pennsylvania avenue, after a free for all fight, was taken to the hospital, where it was discovered he had sustained concussion of the brain. Several other participants in street fights were reported severely injured.

Hand-painted scarfs, ribbons and dress studs, as well as parasols, are decidedly smart.

DR. BOVEL'S HERB TABLETS AS A CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A Toronto clergyman writes as follows:

Gentlemen:—Have been taking Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets for about two months for dyspepsia, an oppressive feeling round the region of the heart, also dizzy spells which entirely disappeared. I now feel better than I have for years and can honestly recommend them to anyone needing a medicine to tone up the system and purify the blood, pleasant to take and mildly purgative. Wishing you every success. I remain yours truly,

REV. D. CONVERY.

The really serious cases of indigestion and dyspepsia almost always have their location in the bowels and can only be reached by making the liver and kidneys active. No medicine regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels so nicely and so promptly as do Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets.

Mondy, July 11, 1910.

Good Service.

The Grand Jury in its last presentation gave expression to a fear which is present in the minds of some who follow the chronicling of lunatics being brought in by steamer and train. The presentment contains the statement:—"Lunacy is certainly on the increase in our island." We do not know whether this statement is based on exact statistical information which was before the Grand Jury, or not. It undoubtedly agrees with an impression which is made by reading reports almost daily of admission to the Lunatic Asylum. There should be data available in that institution to verify or contradict the statement.

If, as the Grand Jury asserts, Lunacy is on the increase, its inference is a correct and proper one, viz., "It is surely the duty of the Government to do all in their power to provide the best ways and means to check it"; moreover the Grand Jury has done the public marked service in drawing public attention to the matter.

The value of modern method and expert knowledge in curing mental trouble is becoming more accepted every day, and that is also another point which the Grand Jury is properly emphasizing.

The suggestion of converting the present building into a Poor Asylum and building a new Lunatic Asylum is one which should put the Government on enquiry, and no doubt they could obtain sufficient data to guide them as to the proper policy in the public interest.

But on the question of wages and hours of the servants, surely there can be no room for a difference of opinion.

The presentment is dated June 24th, we wonder whether anything is yet being done in the matter of providing additional service and paying fairly for it. The efficiency of the institution and the cure and care of the unfortunate inmates must largely depend on the efficiency of the service. We remind the public of what the grand jury stated in this connection.

"The hours of some of the servants are altogether too long. For instance, the night watchman, who has charge of the male ward of the Institution has under his care about 140 male patients; he goes on duty at 9 p.m. and remains on duty until 6 a.m. without assistance. We recommend that a second warden as assistant be given and a better rate of wages granted, as one dollar per night is not sufficient recompense for the duties that are incumbent upon him. It is well known that within the past ten years the cost of living has increased considerably in St. John's and whilst the earning power of the people generally has increased to a corresponding degree, it appears to us that the attendants in the Penitentiary and Lunatic Asylum have been overlooked. We would suggest an enquiry into the matter by the Government."

The public are under a debt of gratitude to foreman Muttaly and his colleagues, Messrs. Roper, Hepburn, Pike and LeMessurier for ventilating these matters.

DIPHTHERIA INCREASING.—A 13 year old boy was stricken with diphtheria at his residence, Cochran Street, yesterday and was sent to hospital. A woman residing on the Southside contracted the disease this morning and is being nursed at home. The disease is said to be of a very virulent character.

Thunder Storm.

A terrific storm of thunder and lightning raged yesterday at Goose Bay. It continued for about two hours with great violence, during which time large hail stones fell followed by sheets of rain. During about five minutes the effect was alarming. A cloud burst occurred and at Mr. Cobb's headquarters on the branch line the car rocked like a cradle, and it was feared that the roof would blow off. The felt on the roof of the men's shacks filled the air like a flock of black crows, and pieces of felt blew three miles up the country. Messrs. Johnson, Taylor and Emerson, who were out there in Mr. Rioux's gasoline car inspecting the work, had an experience that they will not soon forget.

At the R. C. Cathedral.

Rev. Fr. Pippy preached at the R. C. Cathedral last evening a very fine sermon on human respect, taking his text from the 12th chap. of St. Luke, 8th and 9th verses—"Whoever shall confess in Me before men I shall also confess him before my father, Who is in Heaven. Whoever shall deny Me before men, I will also deny him before my Father, Who is in Heaven."

Personal Notes.

Mr. J. Phelan, who came from Grand Falls to take out his family, leaves by the express to-morrow for the inland town. He is engaged there at chimney building for the A. N. D. Company.

Rev. W. J. Hutchinson arrived to-day from Britannia Cove, where he was the guest of Mr. J. T. Currie. He will go to Battle Harbor on the next Prospero.

Rev. Dr. Whelan arrived in town by the express to-day.

Rev. E. Reid, who is now visiting the city, is due back in England by August 7th for induction as Rector of his new parish.

Here and There.

BOWLING SHIPS.

The Portia left Grand Bank at 12.45 a.m. to-day.

The Nellie M. left Barbadoes for St. John's on the 14th inst. with a load of molasses for Bishop & Sons.

The Grace sailed to-day from Rose Blanche for Oporto with a load of fish.

FOR THE ASYLUM.—Alex. Tuma, a Syrian, arrived from Bell Island this morning to go to the Lunatic Asylum.

MANUFACTURERS MEET.—A meeting of the Manufacturers' Association will be held to-morrow in the Board of Trade Rooms at 8 p.m.

TEMPERATURE RECORD.—The temperature yesterday up the country ranged from 5 to 75; it was 90 at Clareville. At the Quarry to-day it is 75 above above.

EXAMINING COAL OUTCROPS.—We understand that Mr. Turnbull, who is examining the outcrops of coal seams in St. George's, is well pleased, and believes there is workable coal there.

ANOTHER FIRE.—A small fire broke out in the basement of the City Council Building this morning. There is a lot of old paper and kindling wood there and a smoker must have dropped a burning match.

ILLUMINATING THE STREETS.—A new illuminant has been introduced at St. George's, and the streets will be lit with it at night. A number of lamps are being put up and the people are very pleased at the possibility of having their streets properly lighted.

ST. GEORGE'S NEW FERRY.—A new motor ferry boat called the Madonna was recently put on the route between St. George's and Sandy Point. P. Power is running her and she is comfortably fitted up for passengers. There is much traffic between the two points.

The anniversary Mass at Belvedere for the Dead will take place on the 28th July, and not the 27th as announced yesterday at the Cathedral. It was found after the announcement was made that the Garden Party at Mount Casheil will take place on the 27th; hence the date for the Requiem Mass was changed.

RENOVATING HALL.—The T. A. Hall at Torbay is being thoroughly repaired inside and out. It will also be painted and decorated, several improvements made, and the stage will be given special attention so that it will be an ideal place for theatricals.

The yacht Surf from New York, and bound to Labrador, arrived at Curling this morning. She has several millionaires on board who are on a pleasure trip down the coast, and they wired Messrs. Bowring Bros. to get them a pilot here. An eligible man will be secured by the firm and sent on by to-morrow evening's express.

Rev. C. Hackett Says Farewell at George Street.

Rev. C. Hackett preached his farewell sermon at George St. yesterday. The Methodist Guards, of which he is Chaplain, attended at the morning service. The sermon dealt with topics pertaining to young life, and the preacher gave the laity a few words of advice that will linger in their memories long after he has left them.

In the afternoon he addressed the Bible Class, taking for his topic: "A Young Man's Religion." He handled the subject in a very able manner. He pointed out the difference between a young man's and an old man's view of religion, and emphasized the necessity of giving more consideration to the problem of dealing with the young life in the Church. Methods that we used successfully years ago would not do now, and the methods that suited older persons would not do for the younger. He made a strong appeal for manliness and outlined some broad principles which young men might take for a guidance. At the close of his address the following resolutions were unanimously carried:

WHEREAS to-day's service mark the close of Rev. Charles Hackett's term as Pastor of this church, AND WHEREAS during the four years of his ministry amongst us he has been untiring in his labours for the social, intellectual, and spiritual advancement of the young men of the congregation,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that we, the members of the A. B. C. desire to place on record our appreciation of his work in this regard, to express our regret at his departure and to add, our wish that he may be as successful in the new scene of his labours as he has been during the term just closed.

Several members of the class spoke testifying to the good work Mr. Hackett had done among the young men. Mr. Hackett leaves for Cupids on Tuesday. He has taken a prominent part in all movements in the city that have for the object the moral improvement of its citizens and he is respected among other denominations as by his own people. If he has any one characteristic that stands out more than another it is his love for young men. There is not a young man who knows him but admires him for his strong manly qualities. During his term at George St. the church has made great progress. An addition has been made to the building and the inside refitted and beautified, until it is one of the finest churches in the country. All the departments of the church work have continued to advance and Mr. Hackett may well feel gratified as the result of his labours. He takes with him to his new circuit the well wishes of a host of friends in St. John's, with whom the Telegram joins.

Hit By a Stone

As Master Hubert Carter, son of Mr. Hugh Carter, of Harvey & Co.'s, was passing up Circular Road, near Rankin's Cottage, some boy, whom he does not know, threw a stone from behind a fence with great force and hit him in the right eye. The orb was badly cut and is to-day very much discolored and swollen, and if the missile had hit a quarter of an inch higher the sight might have been destroyed. When will boys realize the danger of stone-throwing?

A Plea Against Emigration.

BY H. P. T.

(With a hope that he for whom this is written will read and consider the thoughts expressed.)
A city's roar resounds along
The broadened streets; a busy throng
Is rife with matters all its own—
With me, my mind is ever prone
To wander far-off to the West,
To where a little island blest
Nestles against the Atlantic's breast,
Not heedless of the lone
Lost traveller who seeks the rest
And comfort kindling hearts that yearn
Impatiently for his return.
While he in foreign lands is bent
On fast destroying life's content,
Where happiness full of is lost
A victim of the holocaust,
An exile offered God;
When visions of a golden land
Illumed the future dim but grand
Of a far distant sod.
Thus oft it is, when youth and health
Are rampant, the desire for wealth
Fast takes us to itself: while we,
The dupes of an alluring plea,
Forget the land that bred and bore us.
Forget the flag that flutters o'er us.
Forget the tears and signs dolorous,
That bid us pause and see
The future in a calmer light
Undarkened by the gloomy night
Which blackens all our youthful dreams
(The more we think the darker seems).
But if we dared to persevere
And see the peace through darkly glare,
The sky would change to blue,
And after years and after thought
May point this moral grimly taught
To FATHERLAND and YOU.

The saloon is nicely fitted up and is capable of accommodating 15 passengers. She was formerly employed in the general trade of the Grand Northern Winnipeg Co. between Eastern Harbor, Cape Triton and Montreal.

A Fine Parade.

The Methodist Guards paraded to George St. Church yesterday morning to attend Divine service under Lieut.-Col. Pitts. Rev. Charles Hackett, Chaplain of the brigade, delivered a farewell address to the lads. The sermon was a most impressive one and all were no doubt made better by it. After the sermon, headed by their fine brass band, they returned to their hall.

Ireland's Trade in the States.

Out of the twenty-five European countries whose trade is recorded separately, Ireland stands ninth in the value of goods imported into the United States during the year 1909. In fact, the imports from Ireland that year exceeded all previous figures, and amounted to no less than £3,840,000. In return, Ireland took from the United States goods to the value of £2,651,000. The summary which has been issued from the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, discloses some other remarkable facts which show the great and growing importance of the Irish trade with America. Detailed in this summary are the principal exporting countries of the world, exactly 100 in number, and in this list Ireland holds the sixteenth place as regards the value of goods sent to the United States. She stands above Austria-Hungary, Spain and Russia. She beats Chile by a round half-million, and exceeds the total of all the Central American States put together by more than a million pounds sterling. The more these facts are brought to the knowledge of our kinsmen in the United States, and of business firms in this country, the greater will be the efforts made to extend still further intimate trading relations between the two countries. —Clipping from a New Glasgow paper.

"Clothes."

His actions having scared a crowd of children almost out of their wits Saturday afternoon, Sgt. Mackey and a policeman were constrained to go in a cab to the neighbourhood of Smithville and arrest the notorious Jack Quinn. "Jack" is no stranger to the cells, and on each occasion he visits them he has to doff a varied assortment of wearing apparel. Saturday, however, he reached the limit in this respect, and how he got about in the heat is a mystery. When he arrived at the station he started in to divest himself of some of his clothes. These consisted of 5 pairs of pants, two of underpants, three pairs of stockings, four shirts, four coats—the outer being an overcoat, pair of ¾ boots and a pair of mits. He had a hat on his head and a cap in the pocket of his coat. The clothes were given him by charitable people, and as he had no place to put them he placed them on his back. If compelled to enter for a Marathon race Jack, under these conditions, could hardly expect to break the time record.

Another queer character arrested had two coats on him when placed in the cells.

Tragedy at Montreal

Stephen Shute Under Arrest for Killing Man Who Insults His Mother.

Resenting insults to his mother's name, Stephen Shute, an eighteen year old longshoreman, attacked another worker with a piece of plank. The wounds resulted in death and Shute is now in Central Station awaiting a trial on the charge of manslaughter. The dead man, William Miller, known about the wharves as "Yank" Miller, was about twenty-six years of age and was one of the most rugged men around the docks. He weighed 200 pounds and the lad, who is now in jail, was physically no match for him.

Shute was arraigned before Judge Lanctot this morning on the charge of manslaughter. He was represented by counsel who entered a plea of not guilty. The preliminary hearing will begin on Friday.

Shute showed signs of having spent a restless night and took very little interest in the proceedings this morning, apparently overwhelmed by the result of his blows.

According to the story of the prisoner the dead man, since they had been working together, had constantly twitted him about his nationality and about his lack of strength. From these taunts continued until at last Miller would throw various articles lying about the shed at the prisoner, finally striking him with a dead rat. Even with this Shute took no direct action, but on Saturday morning after finding that jeering and jesting in an ordinary way failed to have any effect, Miller referred to the young man's mother in language that could not be misunderstood.

The prisoner in his statement says that when Miller made the infamous remarks about his mother he could no longer restrain himself. He grabbed a piece of scantling and struck Miller across the legs, arm and head. Then he threw down the board, Miller at once desisted in his remarks, but did not appear to be seriously injured. He picked up the truck and continued working. The boss came along and hearing of the quarrel discharged Shute. There the matter seemed to end. On the following day Miller became worse, his skull had been fractured, and he died from the effects of the injuries received.

Shute, who lives with his widowed mother at 60 Ottawa Street, is completely overwhelmed by the shock. He is a slight lad and, according to his friends, was making a stiff battle in the hard work about the wharves. Since the opening of navigation he has constantly been at work and has never appeared of a quarrelsome disposition. He is a temperate man, never touching liquor, and bears a good reputation amongst the neighbors. He came to this city from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, about the first of January. He was the sexton of the Anglican Church at Harbor Grace. Besides his mother, two brothers, Llewellyn and Jack, live in this city.

Since his arrest Shute has made a plain statement of his story to the police, giving all details leading up to the quarrel.

A Sad Story.

"It is the first time," says the boy, "that I got into some kind of trouble. I have never in my life appeared in court, and never had any trouble with the police. I do not know what is the inside of a Court House and I never spoke to a lawyer. If I am in trouble now, it is because I went wild and could not stand it any longer."

"Since the opening of navigation I was working on the wharf loading and unloading ships. For many weeks Miller and I were on the same gang, and from the first day he started to abuse me, without the slightest provocation. There is no kind of abuse that I did not stand from him. I was called the lowest and meanest names. I stood some treacherous passing blows, all kinds of obstacles were thrown amicably in my way, and one day my face was mopped with a dead rat. What could I do? More than once I felt like jumping at the fellow and making the fight of my life, but what could I do in fighting him with fist? Miller was about twice my weight and there was no sense in it. I had to swallow it. In spite of all the other men of our gang, who were blaming me for enduring so much. 'Why don't you go at him and give him a good one?' they used to say. 'None of us would stand for that much.' But I never fought in my life, except when I was a school-boy, and I was in no shape to face such a big fellow, and I did not want to be fired as I needed the job. I have to support my mother and I can't take any chances at idleness.

"Saturday Miller had been abusing me, and I suppose he had reached the limit, because I went blind wild. To the best of my memory I was coming in the shed with a heavily loaded truck, when passing across Miller he started calling me 'cod' and many other names, and gave me a slap on the neck. I dropped my truck and taking the first weapon that I could reach, a piece of board about two feet in length, two or three inches in width and one inch in thickness, I struck him thrice. The first blow landed on his back, the second he stopped with his right hand, and the third hit him at the back of the head and he fell down. The foreman immediately stepped in and fired me.

"A few minutes later, when I walked away with my pay, Miller was unloading my truck. It is the last time I saw him, and I never thought he would die."—Montreal Star.

The Susu Here.
The S. S. Susu, Capt. Baxter Barbour, arrived here at 10 a.m. yesterday from Fogo. Leaving here at 4 p.m. Tuesday she had fine weather up and down the coast and made all the ports of call, except the Outer Wadhams, reaching Change Islands at 1 a.m. on Friday, and leaving on the return run an hour later. She brought some lobsters and salmon and her passengers were—Professor Anderson, wife and 2 sons, Misser Maggie Ledrew, Ada Norris, Susi Seymour and Hilda Giles, Jehrr Perry, Dr. C. I. Whiteaway, Captain Morgan, S.A., A. Born, Const. S. White, George Green, J. T. Walsh Geo. Clouter, Mrs. Baxter Barbour, C. Parsons, Cecil Kean, and Messrs. Montgomery and Miller who were on the round trip. The ship handled 89 passengers on the round trip. She will not await the arrival of the Fogota, but sails at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Police Officers Kindness
At 8.30 Saturday evening Officer Nugent and two others found a man of respectable appearance lying under the wheels of the rock crusher on Water Street West, just above the Gas Works. For a while it was thought the man was dead as he lay in a stupor from an overdose of alcohol. After undoing his shirt collars, which bound his throat tightly, Nugent placed his hand over the man's heart to ascertain if it beat, and finding life in him despatched another policeman for a cab. When this arrived a man who knew the unfortunate offered to take him home, and this the officer permitted.

Susu's Fishery Report.
By the Susu we learn that the fishery news down to Change Islands and all about Fogo District is practically a blank. There was a good sport of fishing on Thursday and Friday last, at Peckford's Island, but no fish to be had Saturday. At night at Tilton Harbor boats secured a quantity each, but strange to say in daylight nothing is to be had. At the other places on the coast the people can't get fish enough for their own consumption, and the outlook is gloomy in the extreme. At Pool's Island one man had a quintal on Saturday, quite an unusual thing there this summer. Caplin is scarce there and it is a blank for traps, most of which will soon be taken up. There is no fish at the Wadhams. Collins, of Indian Islands, had 50 qts. a week ago, but before and since that did not secure five quintals for his trap. Squid has not yet made its appearance, and caplin are leaving the shore.

The possibilities of profitable gardening on one acre of land are not confined to France, where the system of intensive culture on such small plots has become the most developed. An acre of land cultivated on the French system near London, yielded in the last complete year £600 in gross returns, which is a record for England. There nearest approach to it is an acre of land between London and Oxford, which has yielded in one year flower seeds to the value of £250.

In Tibet there is an acre of land that yields an annual revenue exceeding £3,000. Upon it grows the sacred "tree of a thousand images," the leaves of which bring this amount of money. There is also an acre of land in the Moselle wine-growing district which yields £2,400 a year.

A military train is in readiness at North Street Station to take 200 soldiers to Springhill and make certain that disturbances of the peace do not occur in the strike town. The military authorities in Halifax were communicated with, and the requisition placed in their hands. It is likely the soldiers will be forwarded to-day.

Roasts Roosevelt.

Special Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, N.Y., July 9.
The Guild Hall speech of Theodore Roosevelt in which he gave Great Britain advice on how to rule her colonies re-echoed across the sea to India, and one of the many answers so late as to-day from the lips of Maharanee of Baroda, who with her husband, the Goekwar, is now in New York on a trip around the world. "I don't like the speech of your soldier Roosevelt," said the Maharane, "in which he told the English how to rule my people and the Egyptians. What can he know? He has never been in my country. He should not speak of things of which he knows nothing." A son of the royal couple is a student at Harvard.

Diamond Smuggling.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BERLIN, July 9.
Smugglers with diamonds worth $400,000 from the southwest African fields have succeeded in evading the Colonial officials at Ludéfitz Bay and escaped for Europe. It is believed they are aboard a German liner. The Government, which is entitled to 23 1/3 per cent. of the value of the jewels, is watching all vessels which arrive. The revenue officials assert that diamonds worth many millions have been smuggled out in this way in recent years. The smugglers have not been detected. They are supposed to be women who concealed the stones in their clothing.

Austrians Displeased.

Special to Evening Telegram.
VIENNA, July 9.
Austrian diplomats are said to be displeased over the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese convention. It is feared that Russia by it will be relieved of all apprehensions in the Far East and therefore can devote herself to regaining former predominance in European politics and thus obstruct Austria's Balkan ambitions. The general view in high quarters here is that the agreement is chiefly directed against the United States.

Electricity for Airship

Cambridge, Mass., July 4.—Professor John Trowbridge, retiring Rumford Professor of Science at Harvard, prophesies that an airship of the future will derive its motive power from the earth, and that electricity is a likely factor for this new epoch in aerial navigation.

The present system of power the Professor points out, is entirely inadequate when long tests of endurance are necessary, while electricity is many-sided, full of surprises and inspirations.

To bring electricity in as an aid to aerial navigation, stations along routes on land and sea would be necessary where the electricity would be generated and distributed to the ships.

A Kindly Act.

Mr. Edward Cummins, one of the oldest drapers in the country, who was at Baird's old dry goods establishment for a number of years, was yesterday taken very ill at the residence of Mr. Rorke, Holyrood, and his friends telegraphed here last night for a priest to come hurriedly and also an old friend of his in the city, Mr. Samuel Ryall, of Anderson's. There was no train to be had and when Mr. R. G. Reid heard of the matter he generously put his auto at the disposal of Father O'Callaghan last night and he and Mr. Ryall left here at 9.45 for Holyrood.

Bad Fishery News.

The banker Alice C. reports that all about Trinity Bay the fishery is a blank for traps and boats. One man at Trinity has only half a quintal of fish for two traps to date. Mr. Sulley, of New Harbor, is high liner of Trinity Bay and all he has ashore for his trap is 30 qts. Several traps have already been taken in and their owners and shipped men have gone to work on the railway. If there is no improvement in the fishery this week mostly all the traps about Trinity Bay will be taken up and the fishermen will seek work on the new railway, Bell Island or Sydney. Caplin are plentiful in the Bay but there is no sign of squid yet.

Ulunda Arrived.

The S. S. Ulunda, Capt. Dew, arrived from Liverpool Saturday night, 16 days on the passage. The trip was a very tedious one on account of the head winds and heavy sea, particularly on the 6th when the ship had to lay to for eight hours. There was dense fog up to Saturday morning last. The ship brought 390 tons of freight, 6 baskets of mail and the following saloon passengers:—T. S. Pooke, C. N. Dodd, J. Higgins, Capt. Halfyard and J. Waite, mate of the lost Charlotte Young.

Another Banker Here.

The banker Alice C. owned and commanded by Jas. Woodman, of New Harbor, T.B., arrived here yesterday for a supply of salt. She had made her first trip to the Banks and secured 350 qts. fish for 4 dollars. She found cod plentiful but the weather very stormy. She saw the Bohemian, Australia, Kingbird and other vessels, most of whom lost considerable gear. Mr. Martin of the Kingbird lost all his trawls and gear for 8 days and his cable and anchor. The vessel will sail for the Banks again from this port.

A School of Cod.

The banker Alice C. reports that when coming to St. John's Friday evening she encountered a large school of codfish in Baccalieu Tickle. They were breaching like caplin before the bows of the vessel and were following those little bait fishes to the land. The crew of the vessel believe that there will be good trapping this week at Bay de Verde, Red Head Cove and other places.

Jury's Verdict in Montreal Herald's Holocaust.

MONTREAL, July 5.—The following verdict was reached to-day by the Coroner's Jury chosen to judge the case of thirty-two victims of the Herald fire, and its attending casualties:—

"We find that the deceased (thirty-two victims of the Herald disaster of June 13) came to their death as the result of the collapse of The Herald Building. We consider that no one can be held responsible, but we suggest that a by-law be passed calling for the inspection of the water tanks once every few months."

All the evidence went to show that everything had been done to avoid such accidents, and the City Inspector said that he would have given the permit to erect the tank had he been asked for one. This has been the exact verdict reached in two previous cases where several people were killed by falling tanks.

The friends of Mr. Briertley are well satisfied at the outcome as it will prevent those interested lawyers from pouncing down upon the proprietor of the Herald with all kinds of accusations, but the question remains where will this tank business end?

Some of the most important testimony of the inquest was that of Walter J. Francis, a civil engineer of Toronto University, with membership in Canadian and American Societies of Civil Engineers. He was of the opinion that faulty floor construction was responsible for the disaster.

The City Council to-day voted $10,000 in aid of the relatives of the Herald victims. The proposal of devoting $10,000 to receive the eminent strangers attending the Eucharistic Congress in September was also approved of.

The Heroism of an Officer.

Capt. Beresford Killed By a Bolting Horse.

In a gallant but unsuccessful attempt to stop a horse which had bolted with its rider, Captain C. E. De La Poer Beresford, of the Royal Engineers, one of the most popular officers in the Aldershot Command, met his death in Aldershot recently.

Captain Beresford was about to lead his troop out of Aldershot to their summer camp on the South Downs. The troop, in marching order, had paraded at six o'clock and in column of route, with Captain Beresford at their head, was just moving out of barracks into the Farnborough road when a groom mounted on an officer's charger was seen galloping madly along the road.

It was evident that the horse had bolted, and Captain Beresford, taking in the situation at a glance, turned his horse across the road in hope of checking it sufficiently to enable him to grasp the reins.

The horse dashed with full force into the officer. In a moment both horses with their riders formed a struggling heap in the road. From the hoofs of the plunging animals Captain Beresford received injuries which caused his death.

Both Captain Beresford and the groom, whose name is Perry, were removed to the Cambridge Hospital, but the medical officer realized at the first glance that Captain Beresford's case was hopeless. His father was telegraphed for and reached the hospital a few hours later. He saw his son gradually sink and die.

Slips of An Oxford Don.

Inventor of Spoonerisms Col. Roosevelt's Host—Quaint Verbal Mixups of the Learned Dr. Spooner.

Four Oxford Dons gave receptions in Oxford colleges gave receptions in honor of Mr. Roosevelt. One of them was at New College, where the Colonel's host was the famous Dr. Spooner, who has given to the English language the term "spoonerism."

It is doubtful, perhaps, if the quaint little doctor has perpetrated one of the verbal mixups to which his name has been given, but generations of undergraduates have exercised their ingenuity in fabricating examples. Most people at some time or other have unwittingly made a spoonerism, but the New College don is supposed to make the mall day long.

A spoonerism consists of the transposition of the initial letters of two or more words in the same sentence. Some of the best known examples attributed to the head of New College are supposed to have been made at table or in the college chapel.

Once when he wanted some stewed figs he is said to have electrified a luncheon party by asking a lady to pass him the pigs' feas. Those who know the doctor well understand at once that he was merely asking for "the figs, please."

At the same luncheon he is said to have asked his neighbor to have "some of this stink puff," pointing to an ornamental dish of pink jelly. In chapel it is recorded that he has read out the first line of the well known hymn which starts "From Greenland's icy mountains" as "From Iceland's greasy mountains," and has spoken of the wicked men whose words were "as ears and sparrows."

Once, when he was not officiating in the service, he was surprised to find some one occupying his pew in chapel, and addressed him sternly with "Are you aware, sir, that you are occupying my pie?"

One of the quaintest mixups put down to him is perhaps a phrase he once used in a sermon. Speaking of the vague, half-formed wish so often experienced in the mind, he said: "We all know what it is to have a half warmed fish in us."

Late for dinner one night he sidled into the room with the explanation that he had been "hatching a pasty snipe." Even an old friend would take a moment or two to translate to be true.

At dinner one night he stuck his fork into a lady's hand, urbanely remarking "My bread, I think." Once when speaking to one of a pair of twins, who were undergraduates at New College, he said, "Am I addressing you or your brother?"

There is some doubt as to the truth of his chasing a black hen down the High street of Oxford under the impression that his college cap, which he was holding on as he ran, had been blown off by the wind. It is easier to believe that he poured his claret over some salt he had spilled on the tablecloth.

A STRIKE-BREAKER FOUND.

On Buffalo Docks Bleeding to Death.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 27.—Edward Fraser, a non-union sailor, was found bleeding to death on the docks to-night. His left ear had been slashed off, and there was a deep thirteen inch gash in his thigh. Across his forehead was pasted a printed placard bearing the inscription, "Don't be a strike-breaker." Fraser had lost a lost of blood before a policeman found him, and he may die.

Many of the Persian bags have small silk tassels added to the handles. Old-rose colors are fairly entrenched in the fashion scheme of the moment. Brown satin pumps for street wear are among the newest things in footwear. Blue suede shoes are quite smart for street wear when one's costume is a dark blue. Supple poplins, fine serges and tissues of open meshes are used for tailored suits. For street wear there is a growing fashion for the severe frocks of striped linen. Referring to the great success that had attended anti-malarial measures either by doses of quinine or protection from mosquito bites, Professor Ronald Ross, in an address read by Dr. C. F. When Gas Makes Aeroplanes Go.

The aviator pushed aside the 293, 546 people who had watched the completion of his journey across the Atlantic. So perturbed was he that he even forgot to wear his hand-camera smile. It was nothing to him that he had made history, and incidentally won the capital-to-capital prize of £150,000. More important matters filled his great mind.

Elbowing his way with the combined strength of Sandow and his most promising pupil, he at length reached his brand-new Ideal Home, built in two and a half hours, on the stoneless-wall principle, and, followed by the ever-increasing kind of crowd, inserted his latch-key, and rushed wildly to the cellar. When he reappeared his visage was wreathed in smiles.

"Friends, Britons, countrymen," he roared, "when I passed the Statue of Liberty, I began to wonder if I had turned out the gas in the coal-cellar. Like a flash of lightning, I raced home, won the £150,000 prize, and, best of all, I am pleased to be able to inform you that the gas was out, and I dared meet my wife's mother again!"

"Last year we placed this mosquito-proof equipment in a small steamer, the Axholme, specially built by Messrs. Cammell Lairds for work on the Niger River, and it has turned out a great success, reducing considerably the mortality from disease. We built a large house at Cape Lopez for the accommodation of our staff, and we fitted it throughout with windows and doors. Even the ver-
