Sweet Eva!

CHAPTER XLIV.

"And so you said you didn't care for me—you said you'd known all along. . . . You said. . . . Eva, were any of all the ghastly things you said to me that day—true?"

She shook her head.

"I don't know. . . . I—can't remember. . . . I only wanted to make sure that you should never know I—I had cared. . . . It—was like being stabbed and left to die. . . . It was like. . . . She caught her trembling lip between her teeth. After a moment she went on with an effort. "So you see. . . . I only—want—to—forget. . . ."

"You mean that. . . . you won't ever care—again, that nothing I can ever do. . . ."

She looked away from him into the cheery fire.

"It all seems so long ago," she said faintly.

It seemed an eternity before either of them spoke; then Philip asked huskily:

"That night. . . . when I struck you—you meant to leave me then—why didn't you? . . . But he knew why, before she answered.

"It was Mr. Calligan—he made me promise not to. . . . She raised her sad eyes to her husband's face for a moment. "Oh, he's been a good friend to you," she said earnestly. "He's so often begged me to be patient, to give you another chance. . . . Her lips twisted as if in pain. "Even the other night—when you came to town and didn't stay here in this flat—

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such up-building treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearce, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER III.

"Make them clever and accomplished women."

Sir John spared no expense, Miss Fairfax no pains; and the two sisters received an excellent education.

Martin Ray was released from prison when Leah was in her fifteenth year and Hettie still almost a child of fourteen. He was not grateful to Sir John. He had intended to educate the girls after his own fashion. Leah, who was gifted, clever, and brilliant, he had meant to bring out as a lecturer; a beautiful young woman lecturing on politics would be a novelty that would pay well. As for Hettie, there was plenty of time to think over what should be done with her.

Having plans of his own, he was hardly grateful to Sir John for having sent them to a school where they had received a solid, sensible education. He comforted himself by the thought that it was not too late to undo the effects of it; he had time yet to form their minds as he would. He came out of prison homeless, friendless, almost penniless, but the first thing he did was to take his daughters from school. He had secured apartments for them and for himself in Camden Town, and there he intended to devote his time, first to making money, and then to the education of his daughters. They never heard of or suspected the secret of his imprisonment; he would rather have died than let them know it. He received their homage and worship much as he had received their mother's before them, as a right, as income they ought to burn before him. When they talked, in their simple girlish fashion, of how great a statesman he was, of what great things he would do, he was flattered and pleased.

Many people looked coldly upon him now who had once seen noble qualities in him. The imprisonment had been against him. He was the more determined that his daughters at least should retain their veneration for him. People began to look upon him more as a popular agitator than as a guide or a leader. He was sour, embittered, yet compelled by the force of the law to be more careful and reticent. He dared not again advocate the right of a king; and the fierce settlements he had been wont to express openly now seethed and gathered in his heart. Sullen, bitter, vengeful rage had possession of him. How he longed to crush all those above him, the queen in whose name he had been arrested, the jury who had found him guilty, the judge who had sentenced him, the governor and chaplain of the jail where he had been imprisoned, every aristocrat who had read his trial and smiled at his sentence! How he hated them! How he clothed in words more fierce than fire his black, bitter thoughts, though he did not dare utter them, lest the law should seize him again and render him mute!

If he dared not speak in public, in private he atoned for it. When the little group of men met in the dingy parlour of the dingy house in Camden Town, what horrible treason was spoken, what vile, murderous plans were suggested! The very fact that he could carry none of them out embittered Martin Ray the more. He went into prison mistaken, yet earnest; he came out more fond than man. Before that event there had been something human in his breast; nothing lived there now but a desire for revenge. He looked at the beautiful face of Leah, his daughter. If he could but educate her to his way of thinking, and send her out into the world like a frebrand—send her to preach equality and fraternity—men would listen to her, would follow her in crowds; she would soon make a name, have an influence. He remembered how many women had made themselves famous in the same fashion. He looked with complacency at her beauty. If those dark eyes of hers would flash fire, if that lovely mouth would give utterance to his teachings, men would hang on her words and believe them. His beautiful Leah should be a popular lecturer—not on women's rights, but on men's freedom. He had the best masters in education for her, he spent hours each day in teaching her.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

THE TAX GEM

My income tax has now been paid, and when I dug the money, I said, "This life's a thing of shade, that once was fair and sunny. The way they cinch an old fat hard is something fierce and bitter; there is no sense in working hard at the lid she's wearing; I show her then my tax receipts, and shed some tears despairing. The village live wires come and say they need some coin for boosting; I sigh: "My troubles are to-day with tax collectors roosting." This is the way the voter feels when modern law's bereft him; with assiduous care he hoards the wheels the tax collector left him. But in a while he looks and sees—what other hands are doing, makes how the foreign voter fees, with taxes still pursuing; he blushes for his discontent, for tears that he let trickle, and gives the beggarman a cent, the clergyman a nickel.

A Bride for the Prince of Wales.

There has been a rumor going round that so soon as the Princess Mary's marriage was safely out of the way, the Duke of York's engagement was to be announced, and rumor proposed to write him to Lord Strathmore's unmarried daughter, who is a very beautiful girl, writes Friend in Town to the Glasgow Weekly Herald. Whilst nobody suggests the King's sons are paupers, they will all be a great deal more comfortable if they "marry money." So I should, as a mere unskilled scribbler, have guessed in other directions, and am not surprised at the official denial. The Prince of Wales is in no hurry to get married; but the King is to an unknown quantity in this country, so no doubt he will marry before long. An acquaintance of mine, having given the matter careful consideration, points out to me that all German princesses are impossible for a generation, that the Constitutional Law forbids his marriage to other than a Protestant, and that political reasons make his marriage to a Russian, Greek, Roumanian, Bulgarian, or Serbian Princess undesirable. That leaves Denmark and Sweden, but there are no agreeable princesses available in either country. A British marriage would be popular; but there are many objections to his marriage with the daughter of a British Peer, though such an announcement would probably be met with ramping delight. So that by a process of elimination one gets down to a lady on whom my friend is betting ten to one. That lady is the Princess Maud of Fife. She certainly seems rather probable.

Salt Rheum Covered Her Face Every Winter.

I used one sample bottle of D.D.D. one dollar bottle and it cured my face of Salt Rheum. I spent good many dollars with doctors and other medicines. I was bothered every winter and last winter I had no trouble. My skin was perfectly free from any spot, thanks to D.D.D.

Anyone suffering from skin trouble—mild or severe—should investigate at once the merits of D.D.D. Try it to-day. Your money back unless the first bottle relieves you.

Fashions and Fads.

Indoor dresses will have fuller skirts.

Leopold trimming is used on tailored waists.

Sleeves still retain their voluminous lines.

All is "shiny" in the world of sports clothes.

The newest straw hats show higher crowns.

Embroidered sleeves are smart on plain frocks.

The faster fasteners one's frock has the smarter it is.

The coat dress will be worn a great deal for spring.

Strapped slippers of suede are good for afternoon wear.

Black embroidered flat lace is used a great deal in Paris.

An overblouse of rich red crepe de chine is vertically tucked.

Face veils have taken the place of the embroidered draped veils.

Novelty Canton crapes with satin stripes are used for sports wear.

The beaded bag is a smart accessory to the afternoon costume.

Bandeaux of gold and silver leaves are worn with evening dress.

A slip of emerald silk shows thru the cut-work of a tan linen frock.

The Frenchwomen are carrying shining ebony canes with ivory handles.

Just Folks

THE WAITER.

I met him in a college town, a youngster with a grin. And he was sweeping up the floor when I was ushered in. When I had registered my name, he put aside his broom. To grab my suitcase from the floor and show me to my room.

That night at dinner I beheld that youngster at my side. "We've pork and lamb," said he to me, "potatoes, baked or fried." When I had made my choice of food, he happily went away. And when he next appeared he had my dinner on a tray.

"So you're waiter too?" said I. He chuckled soft and low. "Three times a day it is my job the dishes round to throw. I'm hell boy in the afternoon, between times I'm the clerk. But I can get my lessons when I've finished up my work."

"I'm on my way through College, and I'm paying for it here. Some day I'll chuck this job and be a civil engineer. I want an education, and the only way I had."

"Was to come and be a waiter, for I haven't any dad."

I don't know how to say it, but some day I know I'll hear, I'll be an man with the living, of a civil engineer. Who has earned his way to glory, and I'll smile at his renown. And say, "There stands the waiter of that little cottage town."

There has been a rumor going round that so soon as the Princess Mary's marriage was safely out of the way, the Duke of York's engagement was to be announced, and rumor proposed to write him to Lord Strathmore's unmarried daughter, who is a very beautiful girl, writes Friend in Town to the Glasgow Weekly Herald. Fads and Fashions.

Small, close-fitting hats of black satin have their rolled brims flower-trimmed.

Tailored jackets have small collars and straight sleeves set in large arm-holes.

A new corsage consists of two squares of fabric sloped off on the shoulders.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easy to prepare, and saves money.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick relief, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 25¢ boxes of Pinex. Pour this into a bottle and add all the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can granulate instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief. You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really a miracle.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Spruce resin, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

Or many are the indications of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, get 25¢ boxes of Pinex with full directions and don't accept any cheap imitations. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

AMUSING BLUNDERS.

The annual report of the Stirling Education Authority gives the following "howlers" from school examination papers:

"The abolition of slavery was in 1878. The British said no slaves were to be in Britain any longer. The Americans who lived in the South were not pleased with this, for they kept slaves themselves, so they sent into the Transval and Orange Free State, and the people who lived there called them the Umlanders."

"Sir Robert Clive fought in the Indian Mutiny. He gathered a large army against the English. He hated the English. The battle took place at the English. The English soldiers were completely defeated."

"After Clive won the battle of Plassey he returned to Glasgow, where he committed suicide."

"James Watt was the first man who invented steam. Some people who are mixed up say it was him who invented steam engines, but it was Steven-

Manitoban Government Defeated.

Note of Censure Downs Premier Norris---
Irish Provisional Administration Going Ahead---Lord Curzon Waxes Indignant--- Nova Scotia Miners Reject Wage Offer.

SUCCESSING.
LONDON, March 14. Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, replying to questions in the Commons to-day said, "The Provisional Government of Ireland is doing its best and I think it is succeeding."

MANITOBAN GOVERNMENT DEFEATED.
WINNIPEG, March 14. The Norris Government of Manitoba was defeated in the Legislature at six o'clock to-night on a motion censuring the Government. Premier Norris announced he would take no action on the vote of censure until Monday.

REJECT AGREEMENT.
SYDNEY, March 14. The miners of Nova Scotia, by an overwhelming vote rejected the wage agreement arrived at by the conference of their Executive officers and the South Empire Steel Corporation in Montreal recently.

SITUATION WELL IN HAND.
PRETORIA, March 14. Good progress has been made in suppressing the revolt, according to an official communication issued to-day. Many new points where rebel forces were besieged have been taken and great numbers of prisoners have been taken. The encircling of the Government force is complete and the situation is well in hand.

STETSON REPLIES TO MONTAGU.
LONDON, March 14. Speaking under strong emotional stress and in a voice that shook with indignation, Lord Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, replied before a packed assembly in the House of Commons to-day to the address of Edwin Stetson before his constituents in the bridge in which he said the Foreign Secretary was aware of his having permission to publish the Indian Government telegram, which led to Stetson's resignation as Secretary for India. "Instead of making the statement in Parliament where he could be answered, Mr. Montagu went to his constituents and publicly travelled both his letter of protest and private conversations and vilified a colleague," Lord Curzon said. Lord Curzon read a letter written by him to Mr. Montagu in which he stated that "I hope this may be the last of these most unfortunate circumstances, but if any other is ever contemplated I trust you will at least give me the opportunity of expressing my opinion in the Cabinet before sanction is given."

TROUBLE BREWING IN BUILDING TRADE.
LONDON, March 14. A struggle is impending in the building trade here, where employers seek to further reduce the wages of 700,000 operatives under the cost of a living standard scale and also want to extend the existing forty-four hour week to fifty hours during the summer with a shorter week during the winter. The workers are said to be strongly opposed to any extension of hours, whatever concessions they may have to make regarding wages. The last reduction was a half-penny an hour in February when it was agreed that the forty-four hour week question should be deferred until March.

EGYPTIAN POLICY CRITICIZED.
LONDON, March 14. The Government's Egyptian policy was subjected to severe criticism in the Commons to-day at the hands of Liberal and Labor members, the latter demanding the recall of Said Zagloul Pasha, who was recently deported. Austen Chamberlain replying for the Government, expressed satisfaction that the policy only was criticized and that its principles were not challenged. He asserted Zagloul had an anti-British and anti-Turkish record and exercised intimidation on the Egyptian people. He would not be recalled as he was a danger to peace or the effective protection of British interests in Egypt. Mr. Chamberlain explained that the difference between Field Marshal Allenby, High Commissioner and the Government was that Allenby wanted to abolish the Protectorate first and afterwards negotiate with an Independent State thus created for the protection of Great Britain's special interests. When Field Marshal Allenby came to London, said Chamberlain, he accepted the Government's contention that the safeguarding of British interests must be part of any scheme abolishing the Protectorate and that these should not be left to the mercy of a subsequent agreement.

LOOKS GOOD FOR TREATY.
WASHINGTON, March 14. In its first roll-call on any issue of the Four Power Treaty fight the Senate to-day rejected the amendment of Senator Robinson to extend the benefit to non-signatory nations. The vote was 55 to 30.

COAL STRIKE INEVITABLE.
WASHINGTON, March 14. A general strike in the soft coal industry on April 1st, is inevitable, Secretary of Labor Davis and President Lewis of the United Mine workers agreed to-day. Mr. Lewis declared the mine owners were forcing the strike as a hold commercial policy for which the public would have to pay.

RAIDERS GET TEN YEARS.
BELFAST, March 14. Fermanagh Assizes to-day sentenced three men described as leaders to ten years penal servitude for participating in the recent kidnaping raids in Ulster.

Nfld. Poultry Association.

On St. Patrick's Day at the Court House in Bay Roberts a deputation from the Nfld. Poultry Association will give a lecture on "Poultry Raising." Messrs. A. J. Bayly, Secretary of the Nfld. Board of Agriculture, G. R. Williams, President of the Nfld. Poultry Association, and Mr. R. Butler, B.S.A., formerly of Truro Agricultural College will be the speakers. The addresses will be at 3 p.m. and admission free. Special invitations have been sent to the schools in order that all the children may attend, as three prizes will be offered for the best essays on the subjects of the speakers. It is hoped all ladies and gentlemen interested will make an effort to be present and take an increasing interest in producing more eggs and chickens this year.

Reports From the Fleet.

EAGLE AND DIANA REPORT 4,000 EACH.

The sailing news received last evening show that the ships are meeting with adverse ice conditions making it impossible to pick up seals, which are reported scattered, should a swell breeze in after yesterday's breeze more promising reports may be expected within the next 48 hours, as all the ships are evidently on the track of the main patch. Yesterday's reports to the owners were as follows:—
BOWING BROTHERS.
Terra-Nova. (Tuesday p.m.)—Seals are very scattered and small, got a few hundred to-day.
Eagle. (Tuesday p.m.)—Struck a small patch of whitecoats, panned 4,000 to-day.
JOB BROTHERS & COMPANY.
Neptune. (Tuesday p.m.)—Got a few seals to-day, very small and scattered.
Thetis. (Tuesday p.m.)—Ice very heavy, frozen together, impossible to get through, got a few seals, very small.

JAMES BAIRD, LIMITED.
Diana. (Tuesday p.m.)—1,000 on board, 3,000 panned this evening. Heavy sheet ice, impossible to get them on board without a swell.
Miss Mary Eagan will sing at "Irish Night."

Opening of Legislature.

USUAL CEREMONIAL OBSERVED.

The House of Assembly opened yesterday afternoon with all the ceremonies attendant upon such an occasion. This is the third session of the 34th general assembly. Guards of Honour from the Constabulary, and the City Brigades were formed up in the square in front of the Colonial Building and as the Governor drove up, these presented arms while the hands played the National Anthem. His Excellency was attended by Capt. Hamilton, Baird and Harvey, Hon. R. Watson, Commander Kerr, R.N. and others. The Speech from the Throne was, as could be seen from a perusal of it in yesterday's Telegram, one of the baldest documents of its sort ever read and will probably come in for some harsh criticism in both Houses during the session.

Mr. A. Lawrence will sing at "Irish Night."

Nix Vinicombe, Karl Trapnell, Gus Herder, Fatty Marshall, Plus Parsons, Bob Simms and the rest were all star players a few short years ago. See what they do to Brigus at the Prince's Rink to-night.

Fascinating Star At the Nickel.

The mid-week show at the Nickel is one of exceptional interest being such as will appeal to the various sorts of movie fan. Miss Ruth Chase, the popular Soprano will be heard in the latest vocal renditions. The feature attraction is Wanda Hawley's starring vehicle "Miss Hobbs." A very modern young woman indeed was Miss Hobbs. Her ideas were about half a century ahead of her time. So were her queer clothes. But a good hard attack of old-fashioned love cured her of her radical notions. See "Miss Hobbs." Wanda Hawley's first picture as a Realist star, at this theatre to-night. It is a comedy, pure and simple, without a single heart-ache, tragedy, or death from the first reel till the last. We can't promise that there will be no tears, however, for you will laugh till you cry, very likely.

Appreciative and Suggestive.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Mr. Gosling's letters to the press on public matters, are always both interesting and convincing and his latest letter dealing with the means to the end of effecting a reduction in the cost of living is no exception. The writer has no "party" bias politically. At the present moment the country requires the services of its most capable minds and assuredly Mr. Gosling would be an acquisition in devising the constructive legislation that the prospective exigencies of the near future will insistently call for. Would it not be wise for either Government or Opposition to ascertain whether Mr. Gosling would be prepared to give his services to the country at the present time so that steps may be taken by some districts electorate to secure them. Personally Mr. Gosling is unknown to the writer. The suggestions herein made is the outcome of the conviction formed on him that Mr. Gosling possesses administrative capacity of a high order.
Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

Lakewood Woman

WINS BRITISH ROYAL RED CROSS.

The Queen of England has bestowed the Royal Red Cross upon a Lakewood woman for services rendered during the great war.

Mrs. J. J. Baker, 1422 Lakewood Avenue, has joined the small circle of Women of the United States to be thus honored. As Mrs. Mahoney, she was supervisor of the Newfoundland Military Hospital at St. John's, Newfoundland, and was responsible for the welfare of more than 2,000 overseas casualties who passed through her hands.

Mrs. Baker was married in September, 1919, on her first holiday since 1916, and came to Lakewood. She is a graduate of St. Mary's Hospital, Detroit, and originally joined the American Red Cross for service in France. The illness of her father who was taken sick at St. John's, Newfoundland, took her there and she transferred to the British service.

Mrs. Baker had several distinguished patients, among them Sergeant T. Rickett, Newfoundland's first Victoria Cross winner, who gained the coveted distinction when he was but eighteen years of age. She also looked after Major Morgan, first man to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight, who came to grief in the ocean just off Newfoundland.

Mrs. Baker was much surprised at her new honor. "The fact that I was able to help the boys was really all the recognition I cared about," she said.

The medal already has been handed down to Frank, her one-year-old son as an heirloom. The above clipping was taken from a Cleveland, Ohio, paper dated Jan. 22nd.

The Last and Biggest Event in the "WASH OUT" SALE

Climax Sale of MEN'S HATS

Soft and Stiff
ALL THIS WEEK

A Sale for celebration purposes only. Water reached very few of our hats. Spoiled all our delicate stuff, left our hats untouched practically. Anybody knows that water couldn't take the color out of a Stetson, a Christy, a Borsalino. Something we've spouted about for years. And here comes a grand, royal chance to prove it, and the water hikes right into another part of the store. Rotten luck! We had to celebrate the closing of this Sale. All our damaged stock was bought up, so we cut into the ranks of the regulars. Every hat placed on the price-block. Prices we dare any store to duplicate, even where the hats come from. And the hats are untouched, unharmed, perfect. Man alive, there never was such a chance for you to save money.

The Comedy Begins

Upon the stroke of three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the curtain was rung up on the first act of Newfoundland's third annual comedy, under the present management. Nearly all the characters were in their places, but the stage manager did not adorn opening day with his august presence, for the reason that he is absent from the scenes of his own producing, enjoying greener fields and more flowery pastures. Neither was the prompter at his post, thus two important offices were left vacant, as there were no understudies selected. It is said that the third session (the present) of the twenty-fourth General Assembly, will be marked by more farcical legislation than ever introduced into any previous Assembly, and our bucolic lawmakers will have but little to do but sit tight and hearken to the directions of their leaders, and then vote as they are instructed. And so the stage has been set. The mimes are in their places; the supers have their instructions, and the walking on parts have been allotted. The initial argument in the shape of the Speech from the Throne has been delivered, amidst pomp and ceremony and splendour, following the time-honored and almost consecrated formalities.

And what a Speech! What a travesty on speeches of the past delivered by Governors who refused to be mouth-pieces alone of Executives. Of course there have been formerly some speeches bad, many indifferent and a number good. But the address delivered yesterday was without question the baldest ever listened to by those who heard it. It was as empty as a blown egg-shell. Words ad infinitum almost, but nothing more. As a foreshadowing of any legislation intended or proposed by the Government it was as bare of outline as a white naped fish or of black tissue. It was as banal as it was bathetic. Last year's Speech from the Throne was bad. This year's is worse by degrees and it is an insult to the representative of our good King George to put such empty words and sounding but meaningless phrases into his mouth. There is absolutely nothing in the Speech, and that is proven by the fact that both the movers and seconders of the motion for the Address in Reply in the two chambers were obliged to bring extraneous information to their assistance. The regret expressed in the opening sentence of the speech is perhaps not the least sincere of its contents. Whether or not it was the intention to have an early session can only be defined from the sentiments uttered. Circumstances, however, do not bear testimony in that direction. The reference to the good wishes called Princess Mary on the occasion of her marriage to Viscount Lascelles will, we feel sure, meet with the approval of all, and the reply of Her Royal Highness surely struck a responsive chord in the hearts of all Newfoundlanders. The reference to the lamented death of Capt. John Lewis in a foreign land, far from the bosom of his family will likewise appeal to all who had the honor of his acquaintance, no less than to those who only knew him by name. Truly Newfoundland can ill afford to lose such men of sterling worth as the late Capt. John Lewis.

HIS DIARY.
March 14th.—Busy at the office all the morning. To the opening of the Parliament and did have some discourse there with divers ladies and gentlemen. I did stay some time in the Clerk's Room at the Council and had some talk with the sheriff, Mr. Blandford. Anon to the Opposition Room, where Sir M. P. Cashin talks to me of Capt. John Lewis, that died lately at Naples. And a fine man he was and will be greatly missed. To the Legislative Council Chamber where I did take my seat inside the Bar and did hear the Governor to deliver the Speech from the Throne. He in fine trappings and many officers in uniform attending on him. The Speech is, I think, the emptiest I did ever hear and pretty to see how many did smile at it. So to the Commons and very little done there. I did discourse with Mr. J. Cheeseman and of the Speech which he will make. Many members I did see to be absent, and for divers reasons. The air very bad in the House and I forced to leave it. I met Mr. MacDonnell who did shake me by the hand and did show much concern for my health.

Topical Articles.

To-morrow the Telegram will publish two topical articles both of which are of more than passing interest to all readers. The first is an article on St. Patrick from the facile pen of Mr. H. E. Shortis, the second being a vivid description of the seal-fishing of 1857, written by Mr. M. J. O'Mara, who is so well known as to need no introduction to the public. Both these articles will well repay perusal.

Aeroplane at Botwood.

LANDED MAILS AT TRINITY.
Major Cotton, in the Martinsyde aeroplane, reached Botwood at 4.40 p.m. yesterday, having landed mails at Trinity in the course of the flight. He left St. John's at 1.10 p.m. and reached Trinity one hour later. Landing there, he delivered his mails and taking others on board the plane left at 2.30 p.m. for Botwood. The actual flying time to Botwood from Quidi Vidi was little over 2 1/2 hours. It is reported that offers have been made by certain firms of furriers to Major Cotton with the object of getting him to carry furs by air from Labrador to St. John's for transhipment to New York.

Irish Night.

Irish Night at the Methodist College Hall promises to be even better this year than on previous occasions. A galaxy of local talent, including our best vocalists and instrumentalists, have promised their services and there will also be an excellent sketch. The best inducement to concert goers to attend Irish Night is the fact that the affair is under the management of the Columbus Ladies' Association, and they have never yet failed to make a success of any of their many undertakings.

Kyle Leaves Louisburg.

THUNK LINE NOW CLEAR.
S.S. Kyle left Louisburg last night with foreign mails and passengers for Port aux Basques. No word of her arrival had been received up to press hour. As soon as the ship reaches Port aux Basques, and transfers her mails and passengers, the waiting express will leave for St. John's. It is expected it will arrive here on Thursday night or early Friday morning unless the Kyle is considerably delayed by ice. The line is clear and there is nothing to prevent the express from making good time.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE PASSED—MANY MEMBERS ABSENT—GOVERNMENT BOMBARDED WITH QUESTIONS.
Very little interest was taken in the proceedings at the House yesterday. No business was done during the afternoon beyond the passing of a resolution of condolence to the relatives of the late Capt. John Lewis, formerly member for Hr. Main. The motion for an Address in Reply was made and seconded in brief speeches which contained nothing of importance. Before adjournment was taken until Monday next, Sir M. P. Cashin, Leader of the Opposition, passed some brief comments on the Speech from the Throne and read a list of questions which is likely to keep the Prime Minister busy for the remainder of the session, if he proposes to answer them in detail.

MEMBERS ABSENT.
Many members were absent from the House, a most unusual thing on opening day. On the Government side, the seats occupied by Hon. W. F. Cochrane, Hon. E. J. Foote, and Mr. H. Small were vacant. The Opposition ranks had been depleted by the sad loss of Capt. John Lewis. Neither Sir John Crosbie nor Mr. C. J. Fox were present. The former left today for England on the Schem and the latter was ill. Mr. M. S. Sullivan was present yesterday, but also left by the Schem today.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.
After the Speaker had read the Speech from the Throne to the House, the Prime Minister moved the following resolution of condolence:—RESOLVED that this House dores to place on record an expression of deep regret at the passing since last session of John Lewis, Esq., for some time representative of the District of Harbour Main in this House.

THE ADDRESS IN REPLY.
Mr. R. Hibbs (Fogo), moved for the appointment of a Select Committee to draft an Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne. Mr. Hibbs had very little to say, which occasioned no suspense owing to the staleness of the Governor's speech. He confined himself to a little comment on various sections of the speech and took a very optimistic view.
Mr. J. Cheeseman (Baron) seconded the motion. He dwelt chiefly upon the fishing industry and said it should receive the earnest consideration of the Government. He laid emphasis upon the fact that he was not a politician and held his seat solely for the purpose of benefiting his district.
CAUSTIC COMMENT.
Sir M. P. Cashin (Ferryland) passed caustic comment on the Speech from the Throne which he characterized as the baldest document which had ever been read at the opening of the local Legislature. He was not surprised that the railway had been recommended for the earnest consideration of the House for had not a loan of six millions been practically squandered on it last year. He dwelt at length on the seriousness of the financial situation and deplored the amount of relief work which had been and is being given out. He said that many people with bank accounts were getting relief.

NO TARIFF REVISION.
The Prime Minister said it was not usual for much information to be given in the Speech from the Throne. It came as a surprise to hear from him that although the Tariff Commission would be appointed this year, and would soon be announced, the proposal for revision might not be dealt with during the present session.
In reply to Mr. Bennett who reminded him of his promise, made last year, Sir Richard said he had made no definite promise of Tariff Revision for 1922.
Mr. Bennett then asked why the Commission had not been appointed in the recess and was given an equivocal answer.
Sir Richard only confirmed the current rumours when he said there was no number proposition before the House.
The motion was then put and carried and Messrs. Hibbs, Cheeseman, Barnes, Jones and Sinnott were appointed as a Committee for the purpose named.
A formidable array of question were then tabled by Sir M. P. Cashin and Mr. J. R. MacDonnell, after which adjournment was taken till Monday next.

Seen From the Gallery.

The usual array of auditors were not in evidence yesterday afternoon at the opening of the Legislature, and particularly was this noticeable in the Gallery of the House of Assembly, whether this scribe hied himself in order to view the members o'er. He had an unobstructed view of the "Eloquent Chamber," the first to come under his gaze being His Honor the Speaker, who appeared in newly ironed and laundered robes of office, and read the Speech from the Throne, for the better information of the members, with great expression andunction.

The Prime Minister sat in his accustomed place looking a very picture of imperturbability, and not at all worried as to the outcome. Sir Richard is obviously a man of iron nerve and is an cool and collected under the as he is when haranguing the House on any of his pet foibles.

The Minister of Justice did not appear to be very much interested in the proceedings. Some "lewd fellows" sauntered and within earshot remarked that they could almost see the Humber-Valley Project Bill bulging his well-fitting coat. But it was discernible, at all events.

The Minister of Finance and Customs was present also. The "Silent Doctor" Minister of Education looked exceedingly classical, and his thoughts were evidently "up in the air" on that promised four shifts a week at Bell Island to his constituents for which he flew to Harbor Grace some days ago.

Bro. Jennings, Minister of Public Works Department had also a far away expression and was doubtless thinking of all the questions he will have to answer on the extraordinary spending qualities of his Department. Dead men, Badger Road and the Road-de-Luxe will be prickly matters to tackle.

The formidable Minister of Marine and Fisheries was conspicuous by his absence, as also was Hon. S. J. Foote. Other honorable members on the Government side lounged in their seats chewing Wrigley's, not even becoming interested when Messrs. Hibbs and Cheeseman floundered about and around the Speech from the Throne in their manful endeavors to make a good case out of a bad one. But Mr. Cheeseman, not being a politician, on his own admission, gave the show away. Nevertheless both those gentlemen, with such paucity of material as they possessed managed to talk on something, the which, however, did not strike hearers as relevant.

Mrs. W. R. Warren will sing at "Irish Night."
ARGENTIA vs. PLACENTIA.
THE CASE FOR THE PLAINTIFF.
ARGENTIA, Yesterdays Special to Evening Telegram.
S.S. Argyle is supposed to be jammed in the ice here, and but little effort is being made to get the ship clear. But Argentians men on board and they would quickly get her out with very little trouble, as there is but seven inches of ice ahead of the ship. People in Bay starting, and no reason why they should not be relieved. Steamer has been here since Thursday. There is one Government official on board, from Placentia, as usual. ARGENTIA.

Mr. Holmes will recite at "Irish Night."
Confederation Debated Last Night.
Confederation was the subject of debate at Wesley debating club last night and an intensely interesting discussion took place. The resolution read:—"That Newfoundland should go into Confederation with Canada." The leaders were: affirmative, E. Bursley and H. Sparks; and negative, A. E. Pelley and Bernard Adey. The negative won by one vote. Besides the set speakers the following took part: Fred Gushue, Walter Sparks, Rev. W. B. Bugden, William Crane, A. McC. Morgan, W. G. Cummins and J. R. Smallwood. The subject was so interesting that even after the debate was over the subject could not be dropped, and groups of members gathered on the floor and thrashed it out all over again! The annual dinner of the club takes place in the Green Lantern next Wednesday night. A fine toast list has been prepared, and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

AN APPEAL!
There are 400 people in St. John's and 450 in the outwards who owe me money for the last two years. I sent out over 700 letters within the last ten days asking for payment. Some responded, but very few; more than my profit for the last two years is still owed me. My whole capital is out on credit and it is impossible to do business when we cannot get paid within a reasonable time. I have my everyday demands to meet to keep up stock and pay wages. I give out my goods freely, and intend to do so, but I want payment within a reasonable time, but when the time goes into one two and three years, it is out of all reason; and I must make this appeal to those who are inclined to pay me, so I can continue business. If they cannot pay me all at once, let me have what they can. Their extreme attention to this appeal will greatly oblige

G. W. V. A. Meet.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED.

The annual general meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association was held in the T. A. Armoury last night. After the usual one minute silence had been observed the meeting settled down to business.

LETTER FROM EARL HAIG.

A letter was read from Lord Haig, President British Empire Service League, addressed to all Dominion Presidents of Veterans' Associations throughout the Empire, asking that a representative from each Dominion be appointed to act with him on the Executive of the British Empire Service League in London. Captain E. F. Fox, who is now residing in London, was unanimously elected to be the representative of the G.W.V.A. of Newfoundland.

THE REGIMENTAL COLOURS.

The matter of Regimental Colours then came up for discussion. It was moved and unanimously carried:

"That a vote of thanks be extended to the representatives of the G.W.V.A. who conveyed to His Excellency the Governor the protest against depositing the Renewal Regimental Colours in the Legislative Council Chamber."

"That this meeting confirm the attitude of the deputation that the disposition of the colours be left in the hands of the G.W.V.A."

"That as the deputation to His Excellency the Governor had decided that all colors should be placed in the Government House, under the custody of the Governor, until such time as a permanent place could be arranged, this meeting confirm this decision as to their disposal."

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED.

The election of officers was the next after that came up. It was moved that the retiring President, who refuses nomination, should hold the chair for the election. The election resulted as follows:

Dominion President—Capt. A. B. Baird. Dominion V.P.—Comrade Chesley Keafley, R.N.R. Dominion Asst. V.P.—Comrade C. F. Garland. Asst. Secy.—Comrade Harold Mitchell.

Dominion Executive — Comrades Capt. W. J. Long, Major J. W. March, M.C., Capt. J. H. Snow, Capt. A. C. Tait, M.D., Capt. D. R. Christie, H. Raines, C. McGrath, N. A. McLeod, J. Taylor, S. Dewling, H. Crocker, W. Dawe, J. Rodgers, W. Fanning, G. Normore.

The retiring President, before vacating the chair, availed of the opportunity of expressing his warmest thanks to the members of the executive and all other members for all the help they had given him during his term of office, and called upon the members to support the new President.

TRIBUTE TO PAST PRESIDENT.

The new President then took the chair and addressed the meeting. He referred to the great work that had been accomplished by the past President, and felt that if he could accomplish half the amount of work that his predecessor had done he would feel that he had done something worth while. He was followed by Comrade Bradbury who eulogized the work performed during the past year, and made a strong appeal for more members. Various other speakers passed complimentary remarks regarding the work performed by the retiring President and his executive and a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to them. A hearty vote of thanks was also extended for the magnificent work and kindness shown by the Ladies' Auxiliary, who are always ready and willing to help the G.W.V.A. in every possible way. A vote of thanks was also extended to the press for gratuitous help.

Miss Mary Ryan will sing at "Irish Night."

St. Margaret's Guild.

At last night's regular weekly meeting of St. Margaret's Guild, the Rev. H. L. Pike gave a most interesting address taking as his subject, "Ruth." There was a large attendance of members and the Rev. speaker was listened to with close attention. The Guild is now making arrangements to hold a bazaar at Easter, the proceeds to be devoted to Church Funds.

Mr. P. Jardine will sing at "Irish Night."

Father and Son Jailed.

Two men, father and son, arrived in the city last night in the custody of Constable Pittman, and were taken to the Penitentiary to serve sentences of nine and six months respectively, for larceny. Another son is serving two months in H. Grace jail for implication in the same offence. The accused stole $200 in gold from Albert Crocker of Heart's Delight some four months ago and were rounded up by Constable Pittman. The case was tried before Judge Panney of Carboneau.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

BELFAST CALLS DEATH ROLL.

BELFAST, March 14. Belfast's casualty list from activities of gunmen and bomb throwers in the last ten weeks, total eighty three dead, and 187 seriously wounded, according to the Northern Whig, which declares "this is relatively more terrible than for the whole year of 1921." The list would have been greatly swollen, the newspaper adds, if all those who received bullet wounds were included. It points out, as the worst feature of recent outbreaks, the number of women and children, some of the latter babies, who were struck by chance bullets or bomb splinters.

MONTREAL FOR MORE DAYLIGHT.

MONTREAL, March 14. The City Council last night decided to adopt daylight saving from May 1 to October 1.

TORNADO TRAGEDY.

MCCALLISTER, OKLA. March 14. Twelve Mexicans were killed last night, when a tornado swept the foreign section of Gowan, fifteen miles from here.

ANOTHER TOWN WRECKED.

SULPHUR, OKLA. March 14. One man was dead, and a half dozen seriously injured, as the result of a tornado, which ripped through the west side of this place yesterday, wrecking about fifty buildings, with estimated property damage of one hundred thousand dollars.

REFERRED BACK.

PARIS, March 14. Formal reply of the Allied Finance Minister to United States demand for payment of $241,000,000, as expenses of United States troops, part of Allied army of occupation in Rhineland, before any other reparations are paid, was handed to Roland Boyden to-day. According to the Temps the note contains three points. First, Allied Ministers take note of Mr. Boyden's Memorandum. Second, note states that a clause was introduced into the agreement of Finance Ministers of March 11, reserving rights of United States. Third, Finance Ministers decided that they were unequalled to settle the question, which they agreed came within the competence of the various Allied Governments, with which they suggested United States Government should take up this question.

FREE TO SHIPPING.

KINGSTON, J.A. March 15. The government proposes to make Kingston a free port of call, in order to attract ships passing through the Panama Canal.

DONT WANT CONTROL.

KINGSTON, J.A. March 15. A mass meeting of citizens, yesterday, protested against proposals that the government take over the entire liquor trade, and run it for the benefit of the country. A resolution was adopted, urging the government at London to veto liquor control bills.

ITALIAN STORM CENTRE.

ROME, March 15. The government is again faced with the question of the internal situation at Fiume, where conditions now approximate those made by Gabriele D'Annunzio's refusal to evacuate the city, after the treaty of Rapallo had been negotiated.

CLEARING UP.

JOHANNESBURG, March 15. Advances from Frobenius, timed late yesterday, report that Government infantry was then clearing the streets following capture of the town from Rebels. Many prisoners had been taken, and the remainder were retiring on the Langlagate River. Prior to bombardment of the town, leaflets were dropped by airplanes, warning women and children to leave. There was an immediate response, a steady stream of refugees proceeding to a special camp outside the bombardment zone.

SITUATION IN HAND.

JOHANNESBURG, March 14. It is officially announced that all sectors have been cleared of Rebel Forces, except the central Johannesburg area and recruiting has ceased.

LEGAL PROCEDURE.

BOSTON, March 14. Proceedings against the British Schooner Grace and Ruby, and the half million dollar cargo of liquor she carried, when captured off this port as a rum runner, recently, will take the form of civil libel. Assistant United States Attorney Curtis announced to-day. He said the schooner would be prosecuted on the ground that she had violated Customs Law in landing merchandise illegally. The form of procedure in such cases is a new question to be determined by the case which Government regarded as test cases, Curtis said. The first was whether a vessel of foreign register outside the three mile limit, assuming she had violated United States laws, could be seized and put under the jurisdiction of a Federal Court. The second was whether liquor constituted merchandise. If not, Mr. Curtis said, the Government had no case.

BRITISH PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, D.C. March 14. The British Government has already gone on record as protesting against any assertion by United States authorities of right to interfere in any manner, or seize a British vessel on the High Seas for a violation of United States Prohibition Laws. The British protest, which was based on the seizure of the British schooner Marshall off Block Island, many months ago, firmly denied the existence of any right conferred by International Law for the extension of jurisdiction of United States beyond the three mile limit.

CONFIRMED.

FERNIE, B.C. March 15. The election of Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works in the Canadian Government, in the East Kootenay bye-election, was conceded to-day by one thousand majority over the Labor Progressive opponent.

RUSSIAN GENERAL HELD.

VANCOUVER, B.C. March 15. Pending formal advices from Washington, the Immigration Authorities here detained General Semenov, former anti-Bolshevik leader. General Semenov arrived on the Empress of Russia from the Orient yesterday.

CHICAGO'S DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

CHICAGO, March 15. A spectacular early morning blaze to-day destroyed a full square of business buildings just outside Chicago's loop, or downtown district, with a loss estimated at from ten to fifteen million dollars. One fireman was killed, another seriously injured and ten or more slightly hurt. An unknown number of the hundred thousand spectators, who thronged the burning districts, were slightly hurt by falling bricks, timbers or sparks.

Small Boys Charged.

Two very tiny boys, whose ages were said to be ten years, but who did not look much over six, were charged in the Magistrate's Court to-day with larceny. They went into Ayre & Sons and took a box of games, some polish, and other small goods. Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., who was present in court undertook their defence. His Honor warned the small prisoners of the consequences which followed conviction of larceny and upon the promise of their parents to give them a lesson they were allowed to go.

Excluding Young Children From Town Streets.

PROTECTING JUVENILES FROM THEMSELVES AND OTHERS. The town of North Sydney has passed the following by-law, which has been approved by the Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia in Council. This By-law relates to the exclusion of young people of both sexes from the streets after nine o'clock at night during certain months, and 9.30 on others, and the Mayor is of opinion that St. John's needs something similar, if our juveniles are to be protected from themselves and others, and to grow up into good citizens. We commend this regulation, which we publish in full, to those who desire the best principles of morality to apply to life in this city.

"Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of North Sydney as follows:—

- 1. No person under the age of fifteen years shall walk or be on any street of the town after nine o'clock in the evening during the months of November, December, January, February, March and April, or after 9.30 of the clock in the evening during the months of May, June, July, August, September and October, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian of such person, or by some person over the age of 21 years to whom such parent or guardian has entrusted the care of such person; or if there be no parent living, by some person over the age of 21 years who is bona fide exercising over such person the supervision usually exercised by parents.
- 2. No parents or guardian of, or person so entrusted with, or bona fide exercising supervision over, any person under the age of 15 years shall permit such persons to walk or be on any street of the town after the said hour in the evening.
- 3. Provided always that if on the trial of any person for a violation of this by-law, the magistrate or magistrates trying the case be satisfied on oath that the walking or being of such person under 15 years of age on the street was urgently necessary or unavoidable, such person shall not be deemed or found guilty of the violation so charged.
- 4. Every person who violates any provision of this by-law shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of not more than twenty dollars, and in default of payment forthwith on conviction to imprisonment for a period not exceeding twenty days.
- 5. The fire whistle shall be blown one long blast at five minutes to the said hour every evening for warning to such young persons.

C. L. B. Parade.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD MEETING.

There was an excellent parade of the C.L.B. Cadets last night, despite the extremely cold weather. The recruits, in particular, had a big turn out, and the vacancies made in their ranks by those recently posted, have been filled. Capt. J. Snow was the senior officer present. A Company carried on under the supervision of Lieut. L. Hayward, and Lieut. Rendell and Reid supervised the work of F. Company. Lieut. Perlin was in charge of the recruits. After the parade had fallen in, Rev. J. Brinton, Battalion Chaplain, read prayers. The Athletic Association is holding its annual meeting this week, and is in a position to report excellent progress for the past year. The C.L.B. Gymnastic squad is helping Paul Nangle in the big Boxing and Wrestling Tournament which will be held in April. The Band is holding a concert on Easter Monday night and is practicing hard. All their numbers will be new to local music lovers.

Malakoff Returns.

OBLIGED TO ABANDON SCHEDULE. S.S. Malakoff, Capt. Connors, who was replacing S.S. Portia on the Western Coastal Service, arrived in port at 9 p.m. yesterday. Several passengers who left on her were compelled to return. It was proposed to send the Malakoff as far West as Belleoram, but ice conditions, which are unusual on that coast this year, prevented the ship from getting farther than Placentia Bay. The Malakoff brought a fairly large freight to St. John's. She will leave again this week on the same route and will attempt to get as far as Belleoram.

Twenty Years Ago To-Day.

(Evening Telegram, March 15, 1902.) The schooners Orient, Stanley Lake, and Tubal Cain built in Fortune Bay, were entered for registry. S.S. Bruce reported passing through 40 miles of ice on the trip across Cabot Strait.

The whaler Cabot was cut down by the whaler Puma in Hermitage Bay.

The former ship was struck amidships and had her bows crushed. King Edwards held his first court at Bunkie's Palace. The affair far exceeded in splendor any like event in Queen Victoria's drawing rooms. Lord Charles Bessford urged an immediate mobilization of the entire British Navy, and the elimination of all warships of inferior speed and usefulness.

Australia's New High Commissioner.

Nearly forty years ago a young coal-miner determined to seek his fortune in the new world, and embarked in a sailing ship for Australia. Now he has returned to the country of his birth as Australia's High Commissioner in London.

THE BOTTOM OF THE LADDER.

Sir Joseph Cook began work in Australia at the bottom of the ladder. Although he had left the mines behind in England he went back to the mines in New South Wales, and he signed on with a colliery near Lithgow.

THE LIFE OF SAINT PATRICK Apostle of Ireland.

One of the best and most interesting stories of the life of the Irish Saint that has yet been written. It combines historical and antiquarian interest with an edifying and beautiful picture of St. Patrick's life and labours that cannot fail to instruct and improve those who read it. Illustrated, Price $2.10.

Whitecoats in Bonavista Bay. The Marine and Fisheries Department received a message this morning through the Postal Telegraphs, stating that 150 seals had been landed at Newtown and Cape Freels yesterday. The message stated that the seals were mostly whitecoats. The ice was reported as running fast and a northerly wind prevailed. Sealing owners have received no further news from the ships since the reports of last night.

The Famous McClary's KOOTENAY. Wm. J. Clouston, Limited. 184 Water Street. Agents for Nfld.

On Suspended Sentence. An aged man, who has been acting as a watchman for some time, was charged before Judge Morris to-day with the larceny of sugar from a Water Street grocery store. The accused is not in full control of his mental faculties, and having the keys of the store in his possession, was prompted to enter and take the sugar. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Mr. W. J. Higgins defended, and put up an able plea on behalf of the accused.

Japan Built in Sixty Years. Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador, in an address to a crowded gathering at the Indian Students' Union and Hotel, Keppel Street, said it was, he thought, one of the wonders of the world that in the course of about sixty years one could create Japan—its shipping, Navy, Army, and commerce—as seen to-day.

caption, and that for many reasons the principal of which was that it was a private residence. In this connection he regretted that the Royal Naval Reserve had no emblem by which its services and sacrifices would be remembered. He suggested as a permanent memorial that a flag of blue should be hung in the Parliament Chambers with that of the Regiment. Regarding the Government's decision to make the Normal School as the Colony's War Memorial, Sir Patrick said it was regrettable, for although it was desirable to have a Normal School it should not be as a memorial. He favoured one that would tell its own story to the passer-by. At the conclusion of Sir Patrick's speech the President announced the following as those selected to draft the address in reply, Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath, J. J. Murphy, S. K. Bell, M. P. Gibbs, Alex. Mews.

Questions That May Prove Embarrassing.

The following questions were tabled by Sir Michael Cashin yesterday: To ask the Hon. the Prime Minister to lay on the table of the House a full statement of the expenditure of the railway line to Argentina, showing (a) the amount paid for the construction of the railroad and the length of the same from the point on the main line where the diversion to Argentina was made; (b) the amount paid for compensation for land taken for the same improvement, and a list of the parties to whom such payments were made; (c) if any claims are still outstanding and not arbitrated and if so when it is proposed to deal with them; (d) the amount paid for the wharf, sheds, etc., at Argentina; (e) what benefit has been derived by the country from the enormous expenditure of money in connection with this alteration; (f) why has not the steamer Kyle been calling at Argentina all this winter as promised; (g) is it correct that the captain of the Kyle refused to bring his ship there unless a number of aids to navigation were provided; (h) if one of the reasons given for this said alteration was that the Harnsworth Company at Grand Falls would ship all their paper during the winter to Argentina, if any paper has been so shipped and if not why not; (i) and what use does the Government expect to be made of this terminal to justify the expenditure incurred in connection with the same.

To lay on the table of the House a statement showing the quantity of pit props out on Government account or in connection with which the Government gave any guarantee during the winter of 1920-21, the amount paid from the public funds on account of the same; what quantity of those pit props has been sold; how much was paid for them per cord, and for any other expenses; what quantity remains unsold; at what prices are these pit props assembled, and does the Government propose to do with the same; what are the actual receipts on account of all these pit props to date; and what is the total expenditure, also for how many cords of pit props or pulp wood has the Government contracted to be cut during the present winter; to table a list of the parties with whom contracts were made and the quantities for which they contracted; what is the total liability of the Colony on account of the same, and how does the Government expect to dispose of them?

If it is correct that some weeks ago Hon. W. F. Coaker wrote the Reid Company directing them to continue the operation of the branch railroad, or say of them; if so was Mr. Coaker authorized by the Government to write such a letter and if so to lay on the table of the House a copy of the same; also if Mr. Coaker made any promise that the Government would pay for the operation of the said railroad; was he authorized to make such a promise and for what amount will the Government be liable on account thereof?

If a large quantity of beaver skins were received by the Department of Marine and Fisheries recently for sale, if so what was the number of the skins and to furnish a list of all parties sending skins to the Department and the number they sent; were tenders invited for the purchase of these skins, and to lay on the table of the House a copy of all tenders; were these sealed tenders, and if so by whom were they opened and what steps were taken to ensure that parties tendering got a "square deal"; were the skins ultimately disposed of to the Rev. Frank H. Boose, of Medford, Mass., and a Hebrew fur dealer named Morris Silberman, of Boston; if the said Rev. Frank H. Boose visited Port Union last fall and made speeches there in favor of Mr. Coaker and his movement; what amounts did he pay for the beaver skins and what did the Government do with the same; were all the proceeds paid to the owners of the skins, or if not was a portion of the amount retained by the Department; if so how much; if any payments by way of expenses were made in connection with the said sales, and if so to whom and to give a list of the parties receiving same and the amount they received; and to what fund was any portion of the proceeds paid, and where is the balance, if any, from this transaction at the present time.

If Hon. W. F. Coaker tendered his resignation as Minister of Marine and Fisheries shortly after the last session of the House closed, and if so to table a copy of said resignation and to state what action was taken on closing; (b) if it is correct that since August, 1921, Hon. W. F. Coaker has never entered his office in the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and if so what is his reason for not attending it; if he is drawing the salary of that office and if so what salary is he receiving in return; (c) if it is not the case that between last August and the end of the year, Mr. Coaker was absent from St. John's for almost the whole of that time, and if so who was conducting the affairs of the Department; (d) if Mr. Coaker, after a brief visit to St. John's at New Year, did not return to Port Union and remain there for several weeks, then came back here and after a few days left his departure for an extended trip to the United States and Brazil; (e) if Mr. Coaker sent a message from Port Union some weeks ago to be shown to the Premier, threatening that if the Humber River project was not put through the Legislature he would refuse to support the Government, if that message was shown to the Prime Minister, and if so what action he took on it; (f) is Mr. Coaker's present trip abroad on public or private business, if it is on public business what is the nature of the said business, if it is on private business is he drawing the salary of his Department; (g) if his Private Secretary, Mr. Cloutier, left here recently to join him in New York, if so has Mr. Cloutier joined him to do public business or private business; in the former case what is the nature of such business, in the latter case is Mr. Cloutier's salary being paid and will his travelling expenses be paid; (h) is it correct that Mr. Coaker is receiving viewing financiers in the United States in connection with the Humber River project, if so is he representing the Government in such capacity, and if so to lay on the table of the House a copy of the instructions to him in that connection; (i) is it correct that Mr. Collishaw is accompanying Mr. Coaker in this capacity and if so has Mr. Collishaw any authority from the Government, and if so to lay on the table of the House a copy of same, and what payment if any is to be made to Mr. Coaker and Mr. Collishaw for such services.

Irish Postage Stamps. British stamps with Gaelic overprints are now in use in the Irish Free State. The following notice appeared in the Irish press during the first week of February:—

Public Notices. Ard-Oig An Phais, Ath-Cleith, (General Post Office, Dublin). The Postmaster-General of the Irish Free State invites DESIGNS FOR STAMPS to supersede those now issued. All designs submitted should be of symmetrical character, and may not embrace any representation of a personal nature. A payment of £25 will be made for each successful design. Any design so accepted will be the property of the Government, which will be free to make use of it with any firm of Contractors who may be selected to produce the stamps. Specimens of the stamps now issued can be inspected and full information obtained from the Secretary, General Post Office, 16 Upper O'Connell, Dublin. By Order, K.A.A.

Commenting on the Gaelic overprints, Stamp Collecting says:—"The selection of Gaelic characters for the provisional overprint, as well as for the projected permanent stamps, is a slight on the present state of affairs in Ireland, for less than ten per cent. of the whole population of that country speak or even understand Gaelic. The translation of the overprint is, 'Provisional Government of Ireland, 1922.' It is, of course, quite possible that an inscription in English may supersede the Gaelic overprint, but readers can be sure of the latest definite news in due course. We understand that the Irish Postmaster-General is in London and in close consultation with the British Postmaster-General."

THE WOMAN WHO STICKS.

Some years ago the husband of a friend of mine conceived a violent infatuation for a young girl in his employ. He was a man of 35 and she a girl of about 19. She was pretty, bright, amusing, sunny-headed, vulgar and selfish.

The wife knew the girl well, had in fact procured her the position in her husband's office when she left high school. When she found out about the affair (as women generally do) her first feeling was one of outraged pride. She thought, she told me afterwards, that she would not have minded so much if the rival in her husband's affections had been someone of great charm and fascination. Though perhaps she added with the honesty that is part of her own charm, "perhaps I would have minded more; one often deceives herself about these things." And her first impulse was to free her husband and have nothing more to do with him, since this was the sort of man he was.

Ultimately Unhappy.

Had she acted on that impulse, had she made his infatuation and admiration for this girl, his craving for her society, his defiance of some of the minor conventions, (it never went beyond that), a basis for breaking with him, and insisting that he let her get a divorce, he might have finally been pushed into that false step. Then he would probably have married the other girl, her rival, and the utter lack of real attraction between them and have been thoroughly unhappy.

She Would Not Give Him Up.

But the wife did not follow her first instinct. Instead she thought the whole thing over (how thoroughly and how painfully only those who have had cause to spend watches of the night in such heart-searchings can know) and came to the conclusion that she would give her husband a chance. "I believed I meant more to him than any such infatuation," she said. "I believed it would be for his ultimate happiness as well as mine if we managed to pass through this phase. I knew I could never feel quite the same toward him, but I thought there would be enough happiness left to make it worth while. And more than all that, I knew that girl would ruin his life, and I could not give him up to her so easily, because I loved him and did not want his life ruined."

The Finest Kind of Pride.

And the day came when her husband not only realized what a fool he had been, not only came to love his wife more than ever, but even reached the point where he thanked her for what she had done. At the time I heard several women who knew something of the situation criticize her for putting up with it. "I should think she would have more pride," they said. "You can just bet I wouldn't stand for anything like that."

More pride!

I think she had the finest kind of pride any woman could have. I doubt very much if I would have the strength of character to do it, but I honor her and any other woman who can see things in a big enough way and can love deeply enough to do a thing like that.

The Codfishery.

(By M. E. GORDON.)
ARTICLE II.

In my opening remarks on this great national industry of Newfoundland, the Codfishery, which is one of the principal products of food fishes, which we take annually from that inexhaustible mine of the sea, the greatest mine in the world, and why? Because it supplies codfish to the Continents of Europe, North and South America, codfish being one of the principal articles of food, and one of the common necessities of life to all classes, and superior to all the other common foodstuffs, being a more brainy and easier digestible food.

We have the famous Grand Bank, Labrador and Shore fishery. Of the latter shore codfish is a superior fish, being a better fed fish than the Grand Bank fish, as the latter is all caught with trawls, and which because of same goes through a process of strangulation, but our shore fish are principally caught with codtrap, jigger, handline and some with trawls. The fish caught with the jigger, which is a destructive method, is bled more or less, and is therefore superior to either the handline, codtrap or trawl, under our present crude system; but the fish caught with the jigger, handline and codtrap could be made a superior article of food to the consumer, if it were bled when taken from the water alive and standardized as such with a guarantee to the consumer, and scrap all the diseased or green livered fish, and when the consumer will have pure fish food, after same have been cleaned in pure brine water, salted in bulk—not pickled, and thoroughly cleaned before curing in brine water. We that are producers of the codfish will not eat a diseased livered fish, and why should we give it to the consumer? Why not, like the Jewish Rabbi as to diseased meat, which is scrapped, and the producer of the bled fish will be well compensated financially with the extra price that he will get for the above article for his extra trouble. I will give positive proof of what I state.

Our competitors of other countries in the fisheries. But we collectively lack education in many cases, which is the cause of a lot of ignorance. Lack of education means want of cleanliness and the fishermen are not to blame. As a general rule they did not get the opportunity of an education that others had, and the merchants often gave as much for the inferior fish as they did for the good, in buying by the talque system. But our principal competitors, the Norwegian fishermen, merchants, Governments, etc., on account of their superior education enables them to study cleanliness as to handling codfish as an article of food to the consumer; so let the merchants, exporters and Government get out of the old rut, and make an honest effort to help the fishermen to put up an article of food for the consumer, and standardize it same as flour, and then we will not worry about the future of our codfishery. Our country, and you countrymen of mine, identified with the fisheries, need not worry as to the future price of our codfish; only handle it well, as an article of food, and you will get a good price for it. Why do I maintain that? Do you not all see it as well as I do? Is not the producing fisherman decreasing in this Newfoundland of ours, and the consumer in Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Brazil, United States, West Indies, etc., increasing in population, and yet the supply will not equal the demand. The codfish, that we are summer must have to sustain life, and what gold, iron, coal or copper mine in the world can equal the Mine of the Sea, which we have had for hundreds of years and will to the end of time.

STANDARDIZATION.
We must standardize under our own registered brands, and make an effort to get new markets, with modern ideas as to same. Cuba, the pearl of the Antilles or the richest island in the world, I am informed, in the year 1920, purchased 130,000 boxes of codfish of 100 lbs. each, and I have reason to believe that not one hundred boxes of this came from Newfoundland. I may tell you that I will be in Havana in May next and will get a good percentage of that market with a superior article of codfish to the consumer in Cuba, standardized and put up under my own registered brands and guaranteed to the consumer there. I want no Government inspection, as I will stand or fall on my own brands, and I will take my country out of the rut as to its fisheries; if the experience of 33 years count. My next article will be in connection with our herring fisheries.

AND LONDON LOST ITS HEAD.
Only the aged among us have any memory of the coming to England of the Princess Alexandra and the extraordinary impression that event and her marriage to England's future King created in this country. No Royal romance of modern times has so entirely captivated the mass of the people.

Mr. W. R. H. Trowbridge, in "Queen Alexandra" (T. Fisher Unwin), gives a description of the scenes that took place in London and the country on the arrival of this remarkably beautiful Princess.

THE GIRL IN WHITE.
When the Royal yacht arrived at Gravesend on March 7th, 1863, the crowd saw a girl, barely nineteen, dressed entirely in white, with a white shawl draped loosely around her shoulders and a little white bonnet on her head. A mighty shout rent the air. The scenes that followed on this and subsequent days seem incredible in these days of well-regulated crowds. As a spectacle the reception was a

GIRLS! GROW THICK LONG, HEAVY HAIR WITH "DANDERINE"

Buy a 50-cent bottle of "Danderine." One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks, as when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

When the Royal yacht arrived at Gravesend on March 7th, 1863, the crowd saw a girl, barely nineteen, dressed entirely in white, with a white shawl draped loosely around her shoulders and a little white bonnet on her head. A mighty shout rent the air. The scenes that followed on this and subsequent days seem incredible in these days of well-regulated crowds. As a spectacle the reception was a sorry affair—the decorations were tawdry and devoid of taste. The Home office, supposed to be responsible for all the details, was in conflict with the municipalities through which the procession was to pass, and they in their turn with one another. There were no troops to line the route, and the police were insufficient. The Lord Mayor and Corporation lingered too long over their lunch at the Guildhall, and so the Royal couple had to wait half an hour at London Bridge in snow and rain, and then only the Lord Mayor managed to reach them.

A BATTLEGROUND.
Eventually a squad of cavalry had to make a way with drawn sabres—From King William Street to the Mansion House was a battle-ground, strewn with hats, caps, bonnets, shoes, crinolines, and the fragments of almost every variety of human attire, male and female, torn from their wearers in the fearful crash. Many were injured, and some past recovery.

For a time it seemed as if the spectacle, from which all semblance of order had vanished, would end in some terrible catastrophe. "Above the cheering the shrieks of women were painfully audible, and boys in a pitiable state of terror were seeing a struggle for life." The Princess herself, with her own hands, was seen to rescue the head of a youth which had got entangled in the wheels.

PIERRE LOTI AT THE PALACE.
Mr. Trowbridge quotes from the remarkable account written by Pierre Loti of a visit to Queen Alexandra at Buckingham Palace. In conversation with the Queen he made embarrassed excuses for attacks he had made on England:—"Oh," interrupted the Queen, with a trustfulness which touched me more than it she had reproached me, "that belongs to the past. I am sure."

"Yes, madam," I replied, "that belongs to the past." Then I recalled unobtrusively a certain article on Rangoon, about to appear, in which I had bitterly criticized the British occupation of Burma. Mon Dieu! shall I have time to suppress it—at least to tone it down? Oh, the gentleness, the goodness, the rectitude, apparent from the very first moment in this Queen!

After a time which appeared to me very short, but which was almost long for an audience, Her Majesty deigned to ask me if I would like to see the palace. To see it in such company never should I have dared to hope! She rose, and I followed her for a never-to-be-forgotten promenade in

Did you ever try Grape-Nuts? with stewed prunes or peaches?

THERE isn't anything better for breakfast or lunch than a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, and stewed prunes or peaches.

This delicious combination gives you the elements of a well-balanced food. For it contains not only the material needed to build tissue and furnish energy, but it also supplies fruit acids, that help keep the system in good order.

Go to your grocer today and order a package of delicious Grape-Nuts. You will find that it will digest more readily than most other cereals, and it will "stay by" you longer—because it's so richly nourishing.

How Queen Alexandra Came to England.

AND LONDON LOST ITS HEAD.
Only the aged among us have any memory of the coming to England of the Princess Alexandra and the extraordinary impression that event and her marriage to England's future King created in this country. No Royal romance of modern times has so entirely captivated the mass of the people.

Mr. W. R. H. Trowbridge, in "Queen Alexandra" (T. Fisher Unwin), gives a description of the scenes that took place in London and the country on the arrival of this remarkably beautiful Princess.

THE GIRL IN WHITE.
When the Royal yacht arrived at Gravesend on March 7th, 1863, the crowd saw a girl, barely nineteen, dressed entirely in white, with a white shawl draped loosely around her shoulders and a little white bonnet on her head. A mighty shout rent the air. The scenes that followed on this and subsequent days seem incredible in these days of well-regulated crowds. As a spectacle the reception was a sorry affair—the decorations were tawdry and devoid of taste. The Home office, supposed to be responsible for all the details, was in conflict with the municipalities through which the procession was to pass, and they in their turn with one another. There were no troops to line the route, and the police were insufficient. The Lord Mayor and Corporation lingered too long over their lunch at the Guildhall, and so the Royal couple had to wait half an hour at London Bridge in snow and rain, and then only the Lord Mayor managed to reach them.

A BATTLEGROUND.
Eventually a squad of cavalry had to make a way with drawn sabres—From King William Street to the Mansion House was a battle-ground, strewn with hats, caps, bonnets, shoes, crinolines, and the fragments of almost every variety of human attire, male and female, torn from their wearers in the fearful crash. Many were injured, and some past recovery.

For a time it seemed as if the spectacle, from which all semblance of order had vanished, would end in some terrible catastrophe. "Above the cheering the shrieks of women were painfully audible, and boys in a pitiable state of terror were seeing a struggle for life." The Princess herself, with her own hands, was seen to rescue the head of a youth which had got entangled in the wheels.

PIERRE LOTI AT THE PALACE.
Mr. Trowbridge quotes from the remarkable account written by Pierre Loti of a visit to Queen Alexandra at Buckingham Palace. In conversation with the Queen he made embarrassed excuses for attacks he had made on England:—"Oh," interrupted the Queen, with a trustfulness which touched me more than it she had reproached me, "that belongs to the past. I am sure."

"Yes, madam," I replied, "that belongs to the past." Then I recalled unobtrusively a certain article on Rangoon, about to appear, in which I had bitterly criticized the British occupation of Burma. Mon Dieu! shall I have time to suppress it—at least to tone it down? Oh, the gentleness, the goodness, the rectitude, apparent from the very first moment in this Queen!

After a time which appeared to me very short, but which was almost long for an audience, Her Majesty deigned to ask me if I would like to see the palace. To see it in such company never should I have dared to hope! She rose, and I followed her for a never-to-be-forgotten promenade in

Petrol "Divining."

"The experiments which Dr. R. Moineau and M. Regis have been conducting seem to suggest that day will come when a delineating the areas where petrol exists is a simple matter of laboratory work," says the Times Paris Correspondent. "Already," says a writer in L'Espresso, "the apparatus of M. Regis is functioning at the Puy du Dome, in Clermont-Ferrand region, and been able to detect and delineate petrol areas in Alsace 200 miles away. Next, oil sources were detected in Saxony, Hanover, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Sardinia, Corica, and Sicily." "The writer gives no particulars of the apparatus beyond an explanation that it is harnessing the waves that the oil, coal, and water, and, indeed, the whole of the terrestrial solid liquid and gaseous composition of any area is indicated. X-ray photography plays an important part in the investigations of M. Regis in determining the exact subterranean structure of an area, and he suggested that when an oil well has been discovered in some part of the globe all that will be necessary to determine the best place to begin soundings will be to have a series of photographs taken by aeroplane circling over the area."

MOTHER!

Your Child's Bowels Need "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful to-day may prevent a sick child to-morrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Eight pieces were sung at the opening by the sextet of "English Gleaners" (Miss Flora Mann and her friends) from Taverner, who succeeded under Henry VIII, to Tomkins' organist of Worcester Cathedral, who closed the "Golden Age" by the first published batch of 11, which is now on sale at cost price (2nd ed. each).

These separate pieces, in a pocket octavo edition, are forerunners of great quarto volumes which are to begin to appear next year, commencing with Byrd (Anglican services) and them, from scattered MSS. and books hitherto unknown save to archaeologists) and Taverner.

Did you ever try Grape-Nuts? with stewed prunes or peaches?

THERE isn't anything better for breakfast or lunch than a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, and stewed prunes or peaches.

This delicious combination gives you the elements of a well-balanced food. For it contains not only the material needed to build tissue and furnish energy, but it also supplies fruit acids, that help keep the system in good order.

Go to your grocer today and order a package of delicious Grape-Nuts. You will find that it will digest more readily than most other cereals, and it will "stay by" you longer—because it's so richly nourishing.

What is Your Verdict!

Is it not safe to assume that the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, who manufacture in their own huge perfectly equipped plant practically every part of the Ford car, are the people best qualified to make replacement parts at the lowest price compatible with the high quality which must be maintained?

Manufacturers of spurious parts, operating as they do on a small scale with limited capital and inadequate equipment, cannot possibly make parts of the same quality or accuracy at anywhere near the low price you have to pay for Genuine Ford Parts. Yet you are asked to believe that these spurious parts not only equal Genuine Ford Parts in quality but can be produced to sell for less!

We rest our case here. The verdict we leave to you.

FALSE ECONOMY.

It is often remarked by customers, "I must try and make my old clothes do for the winter." Perhaps the winter may mean very much longer. To protect your body against our cold winds you want warm woollens. An investment in a good Suit or Overcoat may save you months of illness. Durable material, cut and moulded to your figure by expert workmanship in the garment at MAUNDER'S. Samples and self-measuring cards sent to your address.
