PARADISE

March 28.

Mr. Isaac Freeman of Berwick, was visiting friends here last week.

One of our aged residents, Mr. Charles Covert, senior, is seriously ill.

Mr. Homer Pearson and Mr. Roy Burling went to Boston on Wednesday last.

Our Literary Club closed its winter campaign with a banquet in Longley's hall on the evening of the 30th inst. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather which was cold and rainy, with an east wind blowing there were a goodly number present, including two guests from Bridgetown, John Irvin, Esq., and Dr. Armstrong. The hall was tastefully decorated with bunting, Japanese lanterns, etc. and the tables neatly and artistically arranged. It was in fact a success from every view point, and the committee in charge are to be congratulated upon the result of their efforts. Regrets were expressed that our good friend Dr. Hall, president of the Lawrencetown Literary Club and other invited guests were unable to be present on account of the weather. The President of our local club, R. S. Leonard, M. A., conducted the program, which was as follows:

"The King," proposed by the President, responded to by singing the National Anthem.

"Our Vice-Royal Ruler," proposed by J. C. Phinney, responded to by singing "The Maple Leaf."

"Canada," proposed by the President, responded to by a poetic selection read by Mrs. G. L. Pearson.

"The Legal Profession," proposed by F. W. Bishop, responded to by John Irvin, Esq.

"The Medical Profession" proposed by H. W. Longley, responded to by Dr. Armstrong.

"The Clergy," proposed by J. S. Longley, responded to by Rev. A. M. Mcintosh.

"The Educational Profession" proposed by Roy I. Balcom, B. A.

"The Ladies" proposed by H. A. Longley, responded to by G. L. Pearson.

"Our Next Merry Meeting," proposed by H. J. Startatt, B. A., responded to by Rev. J. H. Balcom.

The program also included several selections by a male quartette consisting of B. W. Saunders, H. A. and H. W. Longley and Ewart G. Morse. Among the many interesting features of the evening some remarks by Mr. Irvin on the evolution of law, and by Dr. Armstrong regarding the problem of relieving the monotony of rural life and the relation between the strenuousness of modern times and nervous diseases, are worthy of special mention.

PARKER'S COVE

March 30.

Mrs. Bertie Hardwick went to Boston, March the 28th, for an indefinite period.

There will be service in the Methodist church on Sunday at half-past two by the Rev. Mr. Davis.

Mr. Willis Davis visited his parents, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Granville Ferry over the week end.

Mrs. James Oliver came home on the 28th. She has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Reuben Gilliat of Granville for several weeks.

Sch. Lloyd, Capt. W. H. Anderson, arrived from St. John last week with a general cargo of merchandise, this being her first trip of the season.

Miss Clydia Ellis returned to her home in Victoria Beach the 30th. She has been the guest of the Misses Minnie and Beatrice Weir the last two weeks.

Mr. Manasseh Weir went to Victoria Beach on Saturday to attend the funeral of his father, Mr. Benjamin Weir. We sympathize with him in his sorrow.

It begins to look like spring. The wood piles are mostly out up, piled away, and quite a number of the men are getting their lobster traps ready for the water.

Messrs. George Milner, Howard McGarvey and several others of the fishing schooner Loran B. Snow of Digby spent Sunday and Monday at their homes here. They expect to return to Digby the 31st.

The silent messenger entered our quiet community quite recently and called to rest Miss Mary A. Reid, at the advanced age of eighty-two years. She died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Oliver. Mrs. Oliver was a niece of the deceased, she having made her home with them for the past five years. Her people mostly all have predeceased her. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church. Interment took place in the cemetery here. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Stephen and David Robinson, William Snow and Aaron Oliver. Rev. Mr. Davis conducted the service at the house and grave.

The Bank of British North America is third with a total of $84,897.

TOURING IN ENGLAND

(Rev. R. O. Armstrong, M. O.)

My last letter closed with the "Hands Across the Seas" party hunting baggage at 10 p.m. at Taunton in Somerset. The next thing was to find our respective homes. The various places we visited usually extended as invitation to the party and thereby made our stay more pleasant, beside giving us the benefit of a personal welcome. In this town the party was distributed over thirty-three different places—mostly private homes. Some of them they were quite lively, but I was never troubled much in that way. Two ladies in the party affirmed that they had to rise at 3 a.m. to slaughter a wild beast with only the pale light of a candle to guide their movements. The folks with whom I stayed were bakers. They were desirous of coming to the new world. The man had three brothers in the United States, (Shenectady) all younger than himself and all doing well. I talked Canada to him, particularly Western Canada. He is about forty years of age, with wife and one small boy. He is temperate in habits and looked like a fellow who could adapt himself to a new country and would soon be doing a business for himself. As it is he claims he is just what he was twenty years ago and no prospect of improvement whatever. His brothers had recently been home and were urging him to go to America: He was the only man I met during the trip who expressed a genuine wish to migrate and wanted advice about it. This I gave him quite liberally, because he appeared to be the right kind of an immigrant—good habits, industrious, and just seeking a new environment in order to give a good account of himself.

Taunton, like Weymouth, had a non-conformist mayor. He was a Baptist and his Chaplain was a Baptist church member. The Established Church people here, apparently, even yet adjusted themselves to non-conformity. At one of the towns where we were welcomed by a non-conformist Mayor, a lady in the company remarked apologetically to a member of our party that she was sorry he hadn't come two years ago when her husband was mayor, because now we had to be welcomed by a dissenter. Some officials are rather surprised to find that the great majority of the "Teachers" are dissenters and that in Canada we call all regular places of worship "Churches".

On Saturday, Aug. 16th, we were en-trained for Glastonbury and Wells. Time fails to tell of all the wonders we saw in these places, and the still greater wonders we heard about and could believe if we liked. Glastonbury has a history stretching back to very remote times. It was here— if you care to accept it—that Joseph of Arimathea with Lazarus, Mary Magdalene and Philip, reached the end of their wanderings, having been driven from Palestine by the hatred of the Jews. It was traditionally stated that Joseph stuck his staff in the ground and sat down for a rest, when behold the staff began to take root and grow; signifying that it was the will of Providence that he should stop here. St. Joseph's Chapel, the best preserved ruin about the Abbey, is named for him and is said to be built over the spot where Joseph erected the first little wattle chapel. This then, you see, takes us back to the days previous to the first English conquest and links us with early British christianity. Just here I may say that the latest explorations and investigations reveal evidence that the Britons were not so barbarous as we have been taught to believe.

The "Abbey" is now a vast ruin, with enough left however to indicate something of its former glory and greatness. We are accustomed to this of our forefathers being a cruel and warlike people and in some ways we guess rightly, but look at the prodigious work they put into their religious temples. It must have been, in part at least, a labor of love. It may not equal Grecian and Roman architecture, but certainly it is beyond the imagination of the average Canadian tourist. The very centuries seem brief as we stand here in the presence of so many Vikings, Britons, Anglo-Saxons, Danes, Normans, Early English, pass before us. A century, after all, is short, and it is only nineteen since the christian era began. Time has not ravaged these noble piles so much as human passions. At the dissolution of the Monasteries, by Henry VIII in 1539, the destruction of this Abbey was begun. For centuries following people ruthlessly plundered the sacred old edifices and helped themselves to the stones to build roads and dwellings. Even now they are excavating and discovering more wonders. While walking around by the "Monks' Kitchen" and not perceiving just where I was treading I found myself standing on some bones which had been newly dug up after the quiet rest of centuries. To give an idea of the size and proportion of things I might say that the Abbey was 550 ft long. The nave was 220 feet long. So many "saints" were buried around there, historians declare that there is no place free of their shrines. Let it be noted, too, that this is the reputed burial place of good King Arthur and his Queen.

This was interesting beyond expression, but scarcely had we turned our backs upon it, when we were ushered into a museum containing maps and numberless relics of a village of "Lake dwellers" which occupied the site of the present Glastonbury. As we did not see the "village" there is nothing better to advise our readers than to look up an encyclopedia on that topic.

From Glastonbury we took our special train to Wells where other rare sights and more thrills awaited us. Sight-seeing in England is a series of climaxes. ## Good Fruit

The most successful fruit growers of the Annapolis Valley have for years followed the practise of applying Muriate of Potash mixed with Basic Slag and Bone Meal, or other Phosphatic fertilizer, to their orchards, depending on a crop of clover to supply the necessary Nitrogen and Humus.

There is no doubt that the adoption of this ideal system is directly responsible to the remarkable color and quality of Nova Scotia apples, which features have gained for them so many awards and established their enviable reputation in the markets of Britain.

We can supply you with all high grade fertilizer materials, Potash, Nitrate of Soda, Acid Phosphate, Basic Slag, etc. at lowest prices. You can mix these yourself at home and save 25 to 40 per cent in fertilizer cost. Call and see us.

An unusual story comes from Pittsburgh: A workman carrying a heavy steel plate got within the zone of a powerful magnet which was unloading scrap iron, and was lifted off the ground. He yelled, the operator shut off the current, and the plate dropped with the man underneath, injuring him severely.

Easter Day this year will fall on April 12. Last year it was on March 23, the very earliest date possible and the festival will not be in March again until 1918. In the next twenty five years there will be only five Easter days which will fall on the 12th of the month. The latest Easter will be April 23, in 1216.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1914.

During the late very cold snap
the electric signs in New York became very dim. Investigation proved that great numbers of birds, sparrows, pigeons, and even seagulls were themselves warm thereby, and it was their unexpected presence which obscured the light.

During the temperance campaign in New Jersey, the proprietors of the breweries published in a local paper
the following notice: "Alexander the Great drank beer and conquered the world before he was thirty-two. Perhaps he might have done it sooner if he had not drunk beer, but you'd better take no chances." Shortly after the same paper published the following as a rejoinder: "Alexander the Great died in a drunken debauch at the age of thirty-three.
You'd better take no chances."

ANTI SALOON LEAGUE OF NEW JERSEY.

A very fine portfolio in colors, of sixteen pages, giving a detailed account in maps and letter press, of the Panama Canal and the preparations which are being made for the Panama Exposition, may be obtained for 50c. at the Bible House, 443 S. Dearborn St., Chicago. The Exposition grounds contain 525 acres and extend more than two miles on the water front, and about one-half mile in width. It is expected they will be open to the public on Feb.
26th, 1915, and closed on Dec. 4th of the same year. Before the opening twenty millions of dollars will have been expended on the buildings and grounds, and will serve, in the opinion of the Californians, to make the Exposition "The Eighth Wonder of the World."

THE HARVEST OF THE SEA.

Bulletin No. 10, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, reports the value of fish of all kinds caught in Canada, during January of this year so have been $685,884. Of this amount $138,032 must be credited to smelts, and $221,000 to lobsters.
Nova Scotia contributed more than half of the reported total, viz., $327,487. Of this sum $3,768 must be credited to smelts and $194,287 to lobsters, and the remainder to fish of various kinds.

Prince Edward Island is especially noticeable, in this connection for its harvest of smelts, the value of which for the same period being $19,883.

The chief market for both lobsters
and smelts is the United States.

The Eiffel tower, which was one of the attractions of the last Paris Exposition, is now to be fitted up with powerful wireless apparatus.
The International Association, to whose regulations fifteen governments have agreed, with more to follow, have arranged with the French Government for the exclusive use of the tower, for a period of ten or twelve minutes, twice a day, for the purpose of giving the correct Greenwich time to the world. At specified periods the time will be flashed out. Other wireless stations will receive it and in their turn transmit it. Vessels at sea, fitted with the wireless, will catch the message and be able to determine their location within thirty feet. It is estimated that by this method, the correct time will be known in every part of the world with a possible loss of not more than one hundredth part of a second.

Experiments have been carried on for some time in the laboratory of the California State Board of Health for the purpose of determining the exact value of ozone for medicinal purposes. This substance is nearly always found in the atmosphere. It is supposed to be derived from oxygen by electrical action. It has been highly recommended as a destroyer of noxious germs, and, when inhaled,

an important aid to physical health
and vigor.
The result of these experiments is altogether disappointing. Ozone as a destroyer of germs has little or no value. It only weakens the sensibility of the nerves of the nose, so that they do not detect the injurious odors, and by liberating iodine which is in combination in the atmosphere, it provides a harmful irritant to the throat and lungs.
Such, at least, is the decision of these scientists. "Lots of ozone in the atmosphere today" will be regarded as a call to remain indoors, rather than as an inducement to a long morning walk.

During 1913 there were fewer labor disputes in Canada than in 1912, the numbers being respectively
118 and 150.

The most serious was the strike of the coal miners on Vancouver Island, which began in 1913 but reached its climax in 1913. The chief cause was the refusal of the owners of the mines to recognize the union. In all about 568,000 working days were lost in 1913, because of the dispute and at the close of the year the trouble was not altogether settled.

Another dispute, occurring near home was in St. John, N.B. All the sawmills were idle during June, because of the demand for higher wages by the raftsmen, pondmen and pilers. There were only about 150 of these men, but in all, about 1500
were thrown out of employment.
There were 124,850 working days lost.
Indirectly, all trades were seriously affected. Building operations were suspended for lack of lumber.

The loss of work was keenly felt
by the families of the working men.

This Week Forty Years Ago

(From Monitor files of Apl. 1, 1874.)

Old winter still lingers in the lap
of spring.

The residence of Mr. John Ruggles,
New Albany, was consumed by fire on March 24th.

Mayflowers have been handed to us
by Mr. Henry Carroll picked in this vicinity.

Beginning April 1st, the W. & A.
Railway will run express trains three days a week over this line.

Mr. Hiram Young, the successful shipbuilder on the Bay shore, has now in frame a large ship for Messrs Troup & Son of St. John, to measure about 2000 tons.

Chas. W. Parker aged sixty-three years, a man much respected by all who knew him.—At Lawrence town, March 25th, Avard Daniels, son of Beriah Daniels, aged thirty years.

On Thursday evening a social tea
was held at the Methodist Parsonage with Rev. S. F. Houstis, about sixty were present and after partaking of a plain tea, a plate was made to do the old accustomed service, by being handed around to each guest for a contribution to the fund for replenishing the furniture in the parsonage. The very respectable sum of $27.00 was the result.

that the Prince Albert of the Minas

DREYDALE, Ont., June 15th, 1913 "I am a general storekeeper at the above address, and on account of the great good I have experienced from using "Fruit-a-tives", I recommend them strongly to my customers. They were a great boon to me, I can tell you, for about two years ago, I was laid up in bed with vomiting and a terrific pain at the base of my skull. The pain nearly drove me mad. Doctors feared it would turn to inflammation of the brain but I took "Fruit-a-tives" steadily until I was cured. I have gained fifteen pounds since taking "Fruit-a-tives" and I verily believe they saved me from a disastrous illness."

MARCONI HAS PHONED ACROSS OCEAN

Talks With Glace Bay From Warship Steaming off the Sicilian Coast.

New York, March 16.—A cable to the Tribune from Rome says:

William Marconi has achieved a notable success with his experiments in long distance wireless telephonic communications. The inventor has been conducting a series of tests from the Italian battleship Regina Elena on the high seas. During these experiments he used his newly devised high sounding receivers, in connection with phonographic registers and repeaters.

The first day while the warship was off the Sicilian coast, Signor Marconi received very clear messages from Gliden, Ireland, 1,750 miles distant.

The next evening the fleet received signals from Canada 4,062 miles away by means of wireless telephony. On the last day a radio telephonic conversation between warships in motion succeeded perfectly, and with a minimum expenditure of energy. Communications under these conditions was kept up between vessels forty-five miles apart, and up to sixteen miles where land intervened between the communicating vessels. A conversation was kept up without a break and with great success for twelve hours.

THE TRICKS OF UP-TO-DATE PICKPOCKETS.

(New York Sun)

On the East Side there are a number of men who make their living by buying and selling old clothes. One of them will start out each morning with $10 or $20 in his pocket and an empty bag slung over his shoulder prepared to do business. The pickpockets of the East Side have recently invented a new way of robbing these men.

The old clothes man walks along the street uttering his familiar cry. A woman looks out from a window on the fourth or fifth floor of one of the tenement houses and beckons to him. He climbs up the four or five flights of stairs, enters the woman's apartment and asks her what she has to sell. She turns on him and says: "Oh, I haven't anything to sell, but my little boy has been very naughty all day and I told him I would call you up and have you take him away in your bag."

The old clothes man becomes angry and expostulates with the woman. She pacifies him by promising to have a fine supply of old clothes for him on the following day. He departs. On the staircase, which is usually narrow and dark, he encounters two or three men. They jostle him. When he reaches the street his wallet is gone. He cries out, gets a policeman and runs up to the woman's flat. She disclaims all knowledge of the theft, the men are gone, the money is lost and no one can be held.

From 5 to 6 p.m. every day there is a constant stream of people returning from their day's work going eastward on Delancey street. The pickpockets are wont at this time to employ two women pushing baby carriages. The women walk toward each other, and just where the crowd is thickest, their carriages collide.

The women begin to quarrel. The homegoing crowd stops for a moment's fun. With amused faces they stand listening to the women, and some of the younger people spur the two combatants on. The women keep up their dialogue, and when the argument has reached its highest pitch and everyone is intensely interested the work of picking pockets begins.

The gang reaps a harvest, especially if it happens to be pay day. The women on the East Side when they go in the morning to do their day's shopping among the pushcarts never put on hats or coats. They usually throw a shawl of some kind over their shoulders, and basket on their backs. They do not cart anything in their purchases. If the pushcart vendors see a woman with a hat coming toward them they are impressed. She must be one of those who have risen from their ranks to an uptown or Bronx estate, but who clings to her old pushcart habits, they argue. The vendors are quite sure she will pay them well and will not bargain.

The woman approaches one of her carts, buys about fifty cents worth of fruit or fish and then begins to look about for her purse. She doesn't find it. She turns to the pedlar and says: "I have left my purse home. In it I have a $10 bill. Send one of your children with me with $3.50 change and I will give him the $10."

The pedlar immediately summons one of his numerous family, who are playing about, gives him the $3.50 wrapped in a paper and sends him with the customer. They arrive at her house. She says to the child: "Give me the change. I will throw the bill down to you through my window."

Ladies with hats on must be obeyed. Theurchin gives up his money. The lady ascends the step of the house to the roof and goes down again through another house to the street. The pedlar has lost his $10.

MASSACRE OF THE INNOCENTS IN THE MOSCOW FOUNDLING HOSPITAL.

Empress Alexandra Feodorovna, Moscow's Governor, Count L. N. Mouraviev, and many other mighty persons are deep in discussion of the Massacre of the Innocents. The Massacre of the Innocents (nothing like it has been seen since Herod's day) is the terrible slaughter of babies that goes on in Moscow's Foundling Hospital.

Everyone in Moscow knows the Foundling Hospital—the "Vospitatelni-Dom"—a vast, white barrack-like house, probably the Empire's biggest building, which lies on the bank of the Moscow river. Nobody can help knowing it, for from it every day issue from ten to fifty coffins of little children who have done no one harm except the harm of being born into the world. Since this charitable institution was founded it has put nearly a million babies to death, and despite "science" and "civilization," and "the progress of medicine," it is more fatal to be put into it today than it was in the barbarous age of its founder, Catherine the Great. For though in the first years of foundation sixty per cent of the foundlings died before one year of life was finished, that is nothing to what happens now. Of the 119,000 foundlings brought into the "dom" during the decade ending 1911, 99,859 were dead within a year.

Last summer a member of the Moscow Municipal Assembly called the "Vospitatelni Dom" a "great lethal chamber; but somewhat expensive. If they must all be killed why not kill them at once." This remark was called forth by a newspaper report that of 207 children brought into the hospital during Easter week, 135 were dead before the end of July. Moscow wits call the big institution "bozhya grablya," or "God's rake," for there is a proverb that "God rakes in everything at the end," and a baby sent to the "dom" is almost as sure to be raked into the grave as is a sentenced man who already has the noose round his neck.

"My dear Tom," Mary replied with a note of scorn in her voice, "what reason have you to suppose that I choose this instead of marriage? I know you have made a great success of it and have written books about it and all that sort of thing, but—do you think it is worth it?"

"Well," Tom regained his composure and became somewhat obstinate, "I don't know about had marriages when they accepted matrimony." Tom squirmed, and wondered if the list included his wife. "I'm the one who clings to my ideals. You see, they hadn't any patience with fate, they were afraid of being old maids—and they look what came. Idealists! Cowards! I'm the idealist!"

"You cousins and sunts and old fogies who are generally scolding someone for not getting married make me sick! You seem to think that women like me set their teeth and vow that they will not marry; they will have the right man, or none. There's no second best. Our right man may not be very rich or very handsome or very clever, but we'd know him if he came, and, well, chance in life will do, he be the best."

"Perhaps you think, Tom, that if I had not gone in for what you doubtless call a 'career,' if I had concentrated my mind on housekeeping and cooking and matrimony, I should have married. Well, my mother took all the responsibility for the house and felt that if I shared it she was being put 'on the shelf.' The drudgery end, which was all that was left, with none of the planning, would naturally appeal to no human being with a young and active brain. Any way, the girl who concentrates her mind upon household matters to the exclusion of everything else, who fits herself for matrimony—if that is fitting herself for matrimony—and nothing else, is going to be a disappointed woman if matrimony doesn't come her way, whereas the other interests don't make her any less competent to cope with the problems of married life."

"That I have had the strength to hold out for my ideals against all the temptations to cave in—the temptations tangled up in other girls' trousseaux, and home-making and activity in all the lines a woman's most loves—that I have had the strength to go on giving my best energy and love to other women's children, tiring myself out and growing old, is my greatest pride in life. I may have failed in lots of things, but I've waited (in vain it seems) for my ideal. Yet, it hasn't been in vain for I made wov of my waiting, my dream energy turned the wheels of everyday accomplishment. It takes a gallant heart to be an old maid. Tom, you ought to give me God-speed in my task instead of discouragement and criticism. Here's my gate. Good-bye."—Polly Pele.

GALLANT SPINSTERHOOD.

She was a gentle-looking little woman of about thirty-five, and as she bade each of her little kindergarten charges good-bye they turned to her with many a spontaneous caress. Then came a father to take home the last and tiniest girl. He and the kindergarten had gone to kindergarten together in their day, and he said: "Put on your hat, Mary, we go right past your door."

While small Nancy followed with alert eyes a stray dog which capered at her feet, the two talked. "Mary," said the man, waving a hand towards the disappearing bery of little people, "please forgive my impertinence, but why do you choose this instead of marriage? I know you have made a great success of it and have written books about it and all that sort of thing, but—do you think it is worth it?"

Mrs. Subbubs (to tramp)—"Out of work, are you? Then you're just in time. I've a cord of wood to be cut up and I was just going to send for a man to do it."

Tramp—"That so, mum? Where does he live? I'll go and get him."

THE AGE OF COSMETICS.

Lady Aberdeen, at a dinner recently uttered a neat epigram on the modern woman. "The modern woman," she said, rarely weeps. Her complexion won't stand it."

A farmer, who had gone to London for the first time, was walking along the Strand. He was filling his pipe when a match boy came up to him with his usual "Lights, sir?" The farmer took the box from the boy, extracted a match, lit his pipe, and handed the box back to the astonished lad, passing on with the remark: "Lor! What a wonderful place London is to be sure."

A small boy who was sitting next to a very haughty lady in a crowded omnibus kept on sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could no longer stand it, and turned to the lad. "Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded. The small boy looked at her for a few seconds, and then, in a very dignified tone, came the answer: "Yes, I 'ave; but I don't lend it to strangers!"

A pretty, go-ahead New York girl, dressed in masculine attire, often rides her horse in one of the public parks. Recently she got a severe fall and a burly sailor rushed to her aid. As he lifted her gently he felt her corset and yelled out in alarm to the people who had gathered round: "Some of you get a doctor at once. This youngster's got his ribs goin' North and South, instead of East and West."

The tramp looked shrewdly at Miss Wary, and she returned his gaze with equal shrewdness, but her expression did not soften in the least. "You see, it's like this, ma'am. Six months ago I had a little home of my own, but I made an unfortunate marriage. My wife's temper was such that it kept me in hot water all the time."

"H'm," said Miss Wary, dryly. "It is a pity there couldn't have been a little soap in it. Only six months ago, did you say?"

His Worship—"What we want you to tell us is the exact words used by the prisoner when he spoke to you." Witness—"He said, your Worship, that he stole the pig."

His Worship: "No, no, he would not use the third person." Witness: "But, your Worship, there was no third person." His Worship: "Then he must have said, 'I stol. the pig.'"

"Well, may be you did, your Worship, but he did not tell on you."

A miner, who was proud of his boy's attainments at school, one evening picked up a home-lesson book and read from it a quotation which ran like this: "Some books should be tasted, some swallowed, and some chewed and digested.—Bacon." Turning to his boy, he said:—"What's this, sonnie? Thou doesn't eat books at school, does tha? I know you are very clever, but you cannot do those nannygoat tricks, I'm sure. I'll warrant that'll be one of those printer's errors, sonnie!" "Oh, no, father," said the boy. "Metaphorically speaking, we eat books."

"Now, you cannot diddle me, like that," said the father. "I didn't go to school very long, but I ken that's one of those printer's errors. Why, sonnie, can thou not see? He's put the word 'Bacon' in the wrong place. It should be, 'Some bacon should be tasted, some swallowed, and some chewed and digested.'"

A HOUSE FLY AS BIG AS A CAT. Many thousands of people have seen the big glass mosquito at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Now it has a companion in a house-fly sixty-four thousand times as big as the one we are so often adjured to "swat" or "starve." This model has cost nine months of work and study on the part of Ignaz Matuschak, a Hungarian model maker in the service of the museum. The proportions have been preserved with the minutest care. Mr. Matuschak having made his drawings and casts for the head, body and various members of the insect from dissection. Larvae and pupae of the fly are shown in models moulded on the same scale, as are the eggs, which appear as little, cucumber-shaped pieces of paraffin about two inches long. A real fly's egg is just about visible to the naked eye. The same artist has painted an enlargement (one thousand five hundred diameters) of the hairy foot of the fly, showing the typhoid bacilli, of which the insect is the common carrier, on the claw-like tip of the member.—The Outlook.

Why Do Women Suffer

When They Could Be Well? It is so easy to be well and strong and able to enjoy life, that it is surprising how many women drag themselves through the day suffering tortures from lame back due to kidney trouble. Mrs. Wilcox found the way to cure herself and gladly writes about it so that others may be induced to use the same remedy.

"During the last winter, I was bothered very much with a Weak Back. I was advised by a friend to try GIN PILLS and I did. The first box I found helped me very much and I found when I had taken the second, I was completely cured." Mrs. F. WILCOX.

GIN PILLS do not do all that we say they will—let us know, and we will cheerfully refund you your money. Send for a free sample and see for yourself that they will do you good. Then buy the regular boxes at your dealers—soc., 6 for $2.50. National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

BUTTER-MAKING IN HOLLAND.

According to the Practical Dairyman, dairy conditions are changing in Holland. Heretofore cheese-making has been the main industry. There are many excellent co-operative creameries in Holland, and as a consequence more butter is being made than ever before for the British market. It is said that the Hollander is paying a great deal of attention to an increased fat production on the part of cows, and a great number are now testing around 3.5 per cent fat and quite a number 4 per cent. The dam of one young bull, shown at the Leeuwarden fair in October averaged 4.33 per cent of another has a record of 16,500 lbs. milk with an average of 4.23 per cent. These are not forced records, but are made under normal farm conditions with six months in the pasture and six in the stable.

Your Oven Gains by Our Oven Test

Your oven becomes a certain producer of more bread and better bread. We can promise that. For from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. We grind it into flour. We bake the flour into bread. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it. There is no guess-work about our promise of more bread and better bread from flour bearing this name.

Eastern Chronicle, New Glasgow.—From what we can gather our local postal service was in grave danger yesterday. Janitor Forbes, in the act of feeding fuel to the large furnace that heats our public building, noticed a suspicious looking roll of paper substance, which, on being made the subject of investigation, proved to be a plug of dynamite or other explosive, such as is used in the collieries. It was a rather startling discovery, and fortunate to have been made before the explosive had reached the hot coals.
