INSURANCE BYLAW ILL-ADMINISTERED

Soldiers' Widows Shrink From Rebuffs That Hurt Pride.

TWO YEARS' DELAY Cases on File Speak Badly for Officials En-gaged.

Returned men all along the line are in agreement with Ida Webster of The World that, while the bylaw respecting civic insurance may be clearly defined, the means necessary in many cases to receive that same insurance are such as to make most women with pride shrink from making the necessary advances to obtain their due. In short it is the opinion of returned soldiers that the administration of the insurance bylaw might well be modified to permit of greater speed and less humiliation in the process of receiving the insurance.

Men of the first and second contingents have remarked in many instances that they were unaware of any inducements offered by the city council, and have pointed out that the bylaw must have been passed in 1915, after the organization of these contingents. Among them the opinion is strong that the insurance was voted by the city fathers more as a token of appreciation than as an inducement to enlist. This is not borne out, however, by men who enlisted late in 1915 and 1916, who note that such an inducement was made by the city fathers today have no right either to rescind the bylaw of 1915 or to create difficulties for those entitled to the insurance.

Inducement Delay.

George H. Gustar, secretary of West Toronto G. W. V. A., touching upon this question, pointed out that the inducement delay, red-tape and carelessness have characterized the administration of this bylaw. He recorded one case in which a woman has waited more than eight months for what was her due, and that as far as could be ascertained she might wait another eight months before action was taken. "This is the way it works," said the secretary. "The claimant makes a claim. This is passed on to the claims department, then on to special committee and on again to the city solicitor, and voyages as far as other departments. When this lengthy procedure has taken place the city gets ready to deliver the cheque, after which it appears as if nothing more is to be done for the widow or bereaved mother to receive the same. I have two cases on file that speak badly for the people who are deputed to attend to the needs of the saddest people in the city, those bereaved of the sons and husbands."

Curious Query.

Secretaries of the G.W.V.A. are kept busy by a variety of questions, and one secretary on Saturday was asked by an anxious mother if the association could do anything to help her son to return from Archangel.

Club House Campaign.

The joint executive of the G.W.V.A., comprising the executives of every branch in the association, will meet on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Queen street and Dovercourt road, to discuss ways and means for the coming club house campaign.

Members Rolling In.

"The way new members are coming over to us is very gratifying," said George H. Gustar of West Toronto G.W.V.A., "to The World last night. Men who anywhere from 11 to 36 months in France are coming into our office voluntarily asking to be enrolled. This is an excellent indication of the esteem in which the G.W.V.A. is held by the returned men."

Postal Employees Give Ultimatum.

Higher Salaries and Half Holidays for Eleven Months Demanded.

What is practically an ultimatum is being presented today to the cabinet by representatives of both letter carriers and the postal clerks of the eastern provinces. A prominent member of the local association pointed out last night to The World that the government had to date been all pro-mises with no materialization. "Today Alec McMorris, Paul Jules Menard, of Montreal, and W. H. Macdonald, of Hamilton, will demand (1) the eastern carriers receive payment of $130 to equalize wages to the western carriers (always a matter of dispute), (2) a salary of $1,600 until such time as the civil service commission shall have presented its report to the house of commons, and (3) Saturday half-holidays for 11 months in the year. The Toronto delegation left on Sunday night.

TORONTO REFUSES TO PAY INSURANCE

For Death of Veteran, Mistaking Him for Draftee—Twice Tried to Enlist.

The case of Mrs. James Smart of 22 Gladstone avenue, widow of the late Corporal James Smart of the C.A.S.C. in England, who died of pneumonia at Devonport Hospital in October, 1918, is causing a stir among veterans. The municipality of Toronto is alleged to have refused payment of insurance to the widow on the ground that the corporal enlisted during the administration of the M.S.A. The facts as related last night by George H. Gustar, secretary of the West Toronto G.W.V.A., are that the corporal, who had been married ten years at the time of his death, had tried to enlist twice before the M.S.A. became law and once in the C.A.S.C. and that the A. and R. button had been mislaid in the mayor's office when the West Toronto secretary began to look into the matter. "There can be no doubt," said Comrade Gustar, "that in view of the fact that Corporal Smart, enlisted and was not a draftee, also that he had tried twice before to enlist his widow is fully entitled to the pension granted to the widows of all bona fide residents of Toronto under the act." The branch intends to thoroughly probe the difficulty of the moment, and Comrade Gustar stated last night that the branch had been working on the case for months past.

CONSTABLE RUN INTO BY THIEVES

Attempting to head off motor thieves in a stolen car on West Queen street, Saturday night, resulted in Motorcycle Officer Harry Twigg being run into by a stolen car, and his leg being badly injured. The thieves swerved their car into Twigg's motorcycle, when the officer shot in front of the auto in an effort to bring the driver to a standstill. Motorcycle Officer Dickenson, who was also chasing the car with Twigg, gave up the chase to attend Twigg when he fell over on the road.

Caught Red-Handed.

Frank Roblin, 198 Crawford street, and Robert Dorkin, 135 Strachan avenue, were arrested Sunday afternoon by Detectives Mitchell and Wickett, charged with stealing a motor car belonging to G. M. Walkey, 971 Ossington avenue. Mr. Walkey was in the General Hospital, when he saw four men drive off with his car. The thieves took the car and drove it up a blind lane in the rear of Crawford street. People living on Crawford street saw the car left there, and they telephoned the police. Wickett and Mitchell went to watch for the culprits to return for the car. At 5:30 last evening, Roblin crawled from a hole in the fence, and was going to enter the car, when Wickett took hold of him. Dorkin ran down the lane, and was getting over a fence when Mitchell caught him by the leg.

HAPPY HEARTS MET MEN FROM SCOTIAN

Many Were Made Civilians Before Second Train Drove In.

Despite the rain which fell the hearts of those who met the seven hundred men at Exhibition Camp from the liner Scotian were full of joy. He who had any sympathy in his heart could not fail to find satisfaction in seeing the little groups eagerly, anxiously waiting in the transportation building, wondering if the train would be on time and how "their" soldier, the dearest, bravest of all the army, would look.

There was no weary waiting, promptly at the hours set for the arrival, 8 and 8:45, the trains drew in and the men, headed each time by the C.G.R. band, marched to the huge building where they met their friends. All those on the train were receiving their discharges. Some of the latter, who could not make the train connection with their home towns, spent the day in the city, the guests of the Y.M.C.A., K. of C. army huts and kindred organizations.

By 9:30 almost all the town men were civilians once more, and the out-of-the-city soldiers were receiving their discharges. Some of the latter, who could not make the train connection with their home towns, spent the day in the city, the guests of the Y.M.C.A., K. of C. army huts and kindred organizations. All the men were highly pleased with the treatment given them by the authorities on boat and train and the splendid manner in which they had been discharged.

About Intrinsic Value

How often have you asked yourself the question before making a purchase: "Will it wear well, will it give the maximum amount of comfort and style and is the intrinsic value there—to justify a given expenditure?" How often have you walked into a store to buy a certain article and after seeing it, were in doubt of its quality? And then, to have your better judgment predominate, finally deciding to take no chance, you purchase some standard product whose name is synonymous of quality.

The same principal is the reason why you should do your shopping at Murray-Kay's—an establishment which for over 66 years has been selling honest goods at fair prices—hence cannot afford to misrepresent or mislead. This store has ceased to be merely a store—it is an institution, woven into the very fibre of the municipality of Toronto, an organization—standing for the best there is in merchandising.

Revolutionary Miners Support Demands and Mines Likely to Be Flooded.

Essen, April 6.—The revolutionary miners of Central Germany and Silesia have declared in favor of the Ruhr workers, who have made certain demands for improvements in their conditions. In case these demands are not granted by Wednesday the Ruhr miners have vowed to cease the so-called emergency work, with the result that the mines will likely be flooded with water after the pumps have stopped. It is claimed by the Spartacists that a total of 345,000 miners, from 215 mines, are on strike, and that the workers in 35 additional mines will soon be out.

LET US BUILD UP FOREIGN TRADE

All the markets of the world stand wide open to Canadian trade. The greatest opportunity in our national history as a manufacturing and exporting country is ready and waiting.

We must not let this opportunity slip by.

European conditions lead us to believe that on this continent we may lead the world.

Canada will have at least one-half of the wealth and responsibility that follows this leadership.

We must put ourselves in training for these great things to come.

By co-operation; by an appreciation of the fact that the relations of capital and labor have changed for the better for all time, we must make ourselves ready.

Let us set our own house in order so that we can be prepared for it.

Ottawa's Land Taxation Experiment.

It seems as tho an experiment in land taxation was to be made in Ottawa. If the bill gets past the legislature and the few years of the schedule provided are permitted to elapse, the benefit of the plan will be apparent.

We regret that the experiment was not to be tried in Toronto, as the enormous amount of exemptions of government property in Ottawa somewhat deranges the system.

Our civic assessment department is the chief barrier in Toronto to all taxation reforms, but, as Dr. Bland pointed out on Friday evening, the difficulties of raising revenue will compel the authorities sooner or later to have recourse to land taxation.

One of the criticisms which has been made is that the present system of assessment is not fair. This is frequently corrected, is to the effect that if the taxation were taken off improvements it would all fall on vacant land, or that vacant land would have to pay the difference. This misleading statement is made again and again. If taxation was removed from improvements, the difference in revenue would have to be made up from land in the aggregate, and not vacant land merely.

The principle of land taxation which is relied upon to commend it is its absolute justice and fairness. Under our present system, if a man improves his property and thereby benefits the community, he is penalized by extra taxes. If he lets his property lie unimproved, growing weeds, an eyesore and a nuisance, he is allowed to reap the benefit of his neighbors' enterprise, and to sell his property at the increased value his fellow citizens have given it without contributing anything out of his gains to the extra expense they have had to bear by reason of their improvements.

When all taxation is placed on land the vacant land does not pay any more taxes than the land that is built upon. They all pay alike. But the man with improved land gets a revenue out of it, and the man with vacant land gets none. When he finds he has to pay taxes equally with the man who has improved his property he starts to improve it also, so as to get some revenue against the taxes he has to pay. The tendency of land taxation is to consolidate the building areas and bring vacant land into use.

It appears to be impossible to get these simple principles into the heads of some present-day assessors, and most of the opposition to land taxation comes from the official classes, and not from the people. The people who object are the land speculators, the big real estate speculators, and those who profit on the increment of idle lots, when honest dollars are working for the prosperity of the country.

Other People's Opinions

The World will gladly print under this heading letters written by our readers, dealing with current topics. As space is limited they must not be longer than 200 words and written on one side of the paper only.

The Daily Round, the Common Task.

Editor World: Allow me to express my joy at reading "Housekeepers' letter re maids and a few other things; also let me endeavor to throw a little light on a few points of argument which are involved in the lady's letter.

I would refer especially to that part where she expresses herself thus: "Just think of the mother of young children who is longing for a little quiet time with her husband on the only day of the week he has at home, compelled to not only attend to her all the meals here."

That, dear lady, is the kernel of your letter, and it is also a gem of quiet yet serene and deserves a better setting than the rest of your letter, which is merely the wall and threat of one who has been, and is, we shall remember, dear lady, your threat to use a Chinaman to do our labor conditions. Well, so be it, lady, we will see you later about this.

There has been a war over in Europe, and we are wondering what our meat and our sons died for and so we shall refer you again to your own sentence beginning, "Just think, just think, just think, that is just what we are busy doing. The writer got up this morning at 5:30 a.m., replenished two fires, carried out the rest of your letter, the chickens, rabbits, pigeons, etc., etc., broke the ice on the cistern, washed the cinders, carried in the day's water, straightened up the down, to answer you at 9:30 a.m. We, too, lady, are middle aged, and our comparisons are odious sometimes. We would suggest to you that a morning and mine would not be at all out of the way, and the term which you use of "so-called working classes" is, with a few variations, such as washing, ironing, baking, mending, dressmaking, preserving, etc., etc., the day of thousands of maidless women in Canada, and all over the world, and, with it all, we have, some of us, taken a little time to think, and you, lady, have given us a theme, and now claim it up and take your letter, and give you our viewpoint. Let me introduce you to my neighbor whose young daughter came home from a completely prostrate nervous condition after serving in a clergyman's home for three years, where she was one of two maids, girl friends who went together, and who left together. My neighbor is wondering if she will be able to snatch her daughter from the jaws of the white scourge. The doctor shakes his head over the problem, and the girl's sweetheart, who was waiting on her coming home to be married, wonders why anyone claiming to have ordinary common sense and decency, allows a growing girl to overwork to the extent she did. Let me give you a sample of the work those two girls took on hand, in addition to their ordinary duties, in that home, where their mistress explored their leaving. In the hot summer days, the family of four had, every day, two or more complete out-

All One Body We!

Spurious outbursts on the part of some soldiers must not be taken to represent the cool-headed views of soldiers in general. The demonstration on Friday against the W.C.T.U. was not a justifiable outbreak. The W.C.T.U., as a body never objected to cigars or even the rum ration, but some young hooligans circulated the story and no one stopped to inquire the truth of it. Some women held these views, but not the W.C.T.U. officially. The soldiers might as logically have proposed to wreck Toronto because some conscientious objectors lived here.

There is great need for leadership among the soldiers, and when the men all return it is hoped that one big solid organization will be formed which will represent all phases of the soldiers' interests. The men who led in France should not be without leadership here and a spirit of comradeship and loyalty to the men from taking mob leave to deal with matters that could easily be settled in council.

John Buchan and the War.

Another volume of John Buchan's "History of the War" has come to hand, and perhaps it impresses one more than any other extraneous fact of the war as to its extent and gravity that we have here the 21st volume of this contemporary chronicle and that it goes no further along than the battle of Cambrai on Nov. 20, 1917, and the close of the campaign in the following month. "The Conquest of East Africa," "The Extremity of Russia" are additional chapters, and the last in the volume, the 15th, is one of extreme interest on "Political Reactions." This is as admirable a summary as we have seen of the inside events of the winter of 1917. The accession of Georges Clemenceau to the premiership of France, in his 76th year, was a turning point in the European political situation. To him as much as to any one was due the defeat of that internal treachery which would have delivered France into the hands of Germany, as it delivered Russia, and almost delivered Italy. It was out of Clemenceau's premiership that arose the movement for unity of action among the allies, and the creation of the new "allied council" at Versailles in November. The members were Cadorna for Italy, Foch for France, and Sir Henry Wilson for Britain. General Bliss was subsequently added for America, Weygand substituted for Foch, Sir Henry Wilson by Sir Henry Rawlinson, and Cadorna by De Robiliant. Sir William Robertson became restive under the allied council, and resigned, and Sir Henry Wilson succeeded him as chief of the imperial general staff. Of Sir Henry, Mr. Buchan says that he had been deputy chief of staff for Sir John French at the beginning of the war and had held various liaison posts with the French army. "A man of remarkable natural gifts and wide experience, he was an intimate friend of Foch, and much trusted by the French staff—a fortunate augury for the new co-operation."

In ample appendices Mr. Buchan gives the despatches dealing with the more important actions, of which he treats. The earlier part of the volume describes the Italian campaign, the situation on the Tigris and the fall of Jerusalem. There is, therefore, only slight opportunity for reference to Canadian action. Mr. Buchan notes in the battle of Cambrai the gallantry of one squadron of the Fort Garry Horse, belonging to Gen. Seely's Canadian Brigade of the 5th Cavalry Division, which crossed a temporary bridge south of Masnières, broke through the Beaurevoir-Masnières line, charged and captured a German battery, cut up a body of 300 German infantry, and only retired when most of its horses had been killed or wounded.

ALL CLASSES MUST MAKE SACRIFICES

Labor and Capital Can Only Restore Social Order in This Way.

Rev. Dr. Ribourg, preaching a Lenten sermon Sunday evening at St. Alban's Cathedral on "Following the Crucified," said in part:

"The cross is still challenging the world. It is still calling to the high vision, to the finely tempered courage, to the noble enterprise, to the splendid daring.

"Today, when our civilization is being shaken to its very foundations, Christ calls us to go out in His way to meet the great need of the hour. It is to be rebuilt on a solid basis, all classes of society must be prepared to make a sacrifice for the common weal.

"It is not the mere camp follower, neither is it the employer and employee in these days of social unrest. Nothing great or noble good is obtained without sacrifice. The benefactors and reformers of humanity must take their lives in their hands, prepared to lay them down for the ever-existing Gogolka. The note that vibrates thru the world is an iron note, the note of self-sacrifice.

"The honors of the kingdom of God are not distributed by favoritism, as is the case in the world's kingdoms. They must be won, and they cannot be won easily and cheaply. They are won by long endurance, many sufferings, hard crucifixions, bitter tears.

"The prize is to him that overcomes. It is not the mere camp follower, neither is it the employer and employee in these days of social unrest. Nothing great or noble good is obtained without sacrifice. The benefactors and reformers of humanity must take their lives in their hands, prepared to lay them down for the ever-existing Gogolka. The note that vibrates thru the world is an iron note, the note of self-sacrifice.

"This is the inexorable law of life, counter to the law of the world, the law of triumph, thru the material to the spiritual, thru death to the perfect life.

"This law of sacrifice has destroyed forever the formula of material tyranny that might is right. It has put to shame the self-assertion of false heroism. It has made clear to the pure of heart that the prerogative of authority is wide service, for if no cup no kingdom, if no cross no crown.

ENGINEERS FORM SUB-COMMITTEES

To Find Employment, Assess Fees and Professional Salaries.

The executive committee of the Toronto branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada has appointed three sub-committees. The first is to consider the means and means of finding employment for disemployed engineers and for the advancement of others who are seeking the same. This committee had elected E. T. Wilkie as chairman and W. Cross as secretary.

A second sub-committee was appointed to consider the feasibility of drafting a code of fees for services rendered by engineers. This committee is presided over by Frank Barber and the secretary is W. S. Harvey.

According to duties.

The third committee is considering the problem of grading the salaries of engineers according to their responsibilities and duties of office.

The executive committee considers it is due to the public and to the engineers that these matters should be put upon a satisfactory basis. It is well known that the engineers have been organized by the Trades and Labor Unions and by the government but these do not adequately provide for the needs of professional engineers. They also deem that the other subjects are equally important to the public because consistent service merits reasonable remuneration.

HUNGRY, BUT GETTING A LITTLE FED UP ON HONEY

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

By JANE PHELPS.

Barbara Calls Upon Blanche Orton.

CHAPTER LII.

After that conversation neither of us again mentioned the men he brought home. Occasionally he would still bring some business man to dinner, but not often, and invariably a very correct, very nice-looking man. What he did with the other sort interested me so little that I forgot to ask.

Lorraine Morton and I were shopping one day. It was about 6 o'clock when we finished.

"Let's stop at Mrs. Orton's on the way home. I haven't yet paid my last dinner call," she said as we got into the car.

"That's a good idea. I haven't paid mine either and so is of such long standing I am almost ashamed to go."

"She will, perhaps, be dressing for dinner. Still we will go."

"I was surprised to realize suddenly that I was anxious that she would be at home and able to receive me. It was a peculiar feeling, so strong that it rather puzzled me as to its cause.

Happily, she was at home. She received us in her boudoir. She was lying on the chaise longue. She looked very lovely, but rather tired.

A lovely, pale, creamy-yellow silk tea gown clung to her figure, making her svelte gracefulness particularly noticeable. She seemed to be pleased that we had called, altho Lorraine said afterward that it was because she knew she looked lovelier than either of us ever could hope to. But Lorraine was a bit "oaty" at times.

"I am to have company to dinner," she explained and am resigned. "I have been up very late for several days, and am showing the fatigue. I want to be at my best for I expect to be bored to death."

"Why be at your best if you are bored?" I asked smiling.

"That is when one needs to be. If you are being entertained it is easy and natural to be entertaining. But if you are bored at just as surely is almost impossible to keep yourself from being bored. Think that over and see if I am not right," she said, turning to Lorraine, who looked as if she had been there for some time.

"Yes—I guess you are right," I said slowly. "I remember, when Nell brings home a clever, interesting man to dinner I never have the slightest trouble entertaining him, but when he brings some stupid man I am so tired when he is gone and can't think of anything to say to him while at dinner without an almost visible effort."

"Of course I am right! I have entertained both kinds often enough to know."

"We then gossiped for a little before we left. On our way out we passed one of her maids carrying a huge box of flowers. I knew they were American Beauties by the stems, which stuck out from the end of the box.

"Some one is attentive to the widow," Lorraine said after we had entered the car. "I'll wager she won't be a widow long."

"Of course she won't; she's too clever and too beautiful." Never, even to myself, had I failed to acknowledge Blanche Orton's cleverness or her beauty. It wasn't my way.

"That was a great idea of hers about resting so that she could be at her best before men who bored her," Lorraine mused. "I think it's awfully clever of her to think it out like that. I wonder whom she is having."

"No," she said "company." I returned.

"I'll bet she meant men," said Lorraine. "She hasn't any intimate woman friends, and if she was giving a dinner I should be sure to have heard of it, even tho I were not invited. No, it's a man affair!" she finished decidedly.

"But why ask men who bore you?" I queried. "One sometimes is bored by one or the other of a married couple whom one has to ask, but I can't see entertain any one who bores her."

"It may be a business affair," Lorraine said carelessly as she bade me good-bye.

Tomorrow—Barbara's Father and Mother Come to Visit.

IDA RE THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

By IDA L. WEBSTER.

The investigation into the complaints made by the police constables before Sir William Meredith is almost at an end, but the desire to give up their charter is still very far from the thoughts of the members of the union. And knowing what they do, it is little wonder.

Years ago before unions were nationwide, in fact we might say when they were in their infancy, the workman was at the gentle mercy of the employer at all times. He was dismissed without the slightest reason times without number, and tho he raged silently or out loud as the case might have been, yet he had no redress. He had to swallow what was dished out to him and let it go at that.

Today he is in an altogether different position. He cannot be fired from his job without sufficient reason to guarantee his dismissal. He is paid a living wage and only works a certain number of hours. In short he is now a free man living in a free country. His family is better for it and the world is better for having him content. All that has been brought about by the strength of the union—a strength which is even greater and more helpful than the average man imagines, even tho he is a member.

The petty spite which always blooms in the working world, no matter what one's calling may be, is prevented from becoming a menace to the man who belongs to the union, because the employer knows that he dare not back his union men in any such manner. He must be fair to him and give him a square deal at all times. Every member of the unions has a perfect right to honest treatment.

Also there is no such thing as working a man three or four hours over his time and not paying him for it. He must receive according to the hours he puts in. If he is booked for a day off then that day must be forthcoming. The union sees that the man gets every inch of his contract, and also sees that he is never on the short end of it.

Police men have just as much right to have a union as any other class of men. They are men working for a wage, which may or may not be a good one, and they live in the same neighborhoods, but at any rate they are workmen, and might as well work for it as that. They should on no account be asked to work longer than eight hours, and for every extra five minutes they should receive remuneration.

One of the grievances was that the men had not been given all the off days which were coming to them, owing to the riots or the Exhibition or some other thing. The police men were just what the particular occasion was, but at any rate they were not given their holidays. Had they been members of a recognized union, they could have demanded their days and the department would not have refused them.

This policeman job is certainly not the easiest one in the world, and when a fellow is fed up with a host of disappointments and a lot of old-fashioned ideas and stuck in a job that is every time anyone connected with the department approaches, it is little wonder what he rebels. Of all the tomy tomy that ever was invented this system of salarating a hundred times a day is the worst. Certainly it is quite within reason for a man to have respect for his superior officer, but when it comes to almost prostrating oneself before the said officer then it is about time to call a halt.

There is one inspector in this town who puts on more "side" than anyone ever read of, tho I am sure. His attitude when on a street car or anywhere else where there is a flock of citizens is almost painful. Certainly when one looks at him they could not help recalling the words of Burns, which run: "Wad some o' these wale-pipers be, they'd blaw us a tune, but on reflection and consultation with various real estate offices he commended a lease at $55 and thought he was fortunate.

In the meantime the Toronto housing commission has not yet taken any action, and if matters went much worse it is likely that the city council will have to take some drastic action to relieve the tension.

Apartment suites, too, are almost next to impossible to obtain. Present tenants are remaining where they are and signing removal leases at fifty dollars a month from five to fifteen dollars a month. Owners say the increases asked are justified in view of the semi-official announcement that the cost of repairs is, if anything, soaring rather than declining.

In the Danforth and other residential districts of Toronto a sudden demand has arisen for houses both for rent and for purchase, for landlords have notified their tenants that either they are to be evicted or the tenants occupy, and the tenants have to move, or that they have advanced the rent. Enquiry in the district porter disclose that the rise in rent averaged about $5 a house a month.

Persons who would move rather than pay so much more rent find that moderate-priced houses are exceedingly scarce, and hence has arisen an active demand for houses to purchase at $500 to $1000 each. For anything over that sum, intending buyers want in addition a side drive and a garage. Many persons who own houses, however, are in no haste to sell them.

"I have a house on Browning avenue, set on a nice residential street, and I would like $1400 for it at any time, but if I sold it, I would have nowhere to move."

Wants New Bill.

The city housing commission will not commence work until a housing bill specially applicable to Toronto has been passed by the Ontario legislature. H. H. Williams, of the Housing Company, was at the parliament buildings, Saturday morning to see the premier in regard to the new legislation.

Mr. Williams declined to discuss the terms of the bill until such time as Premier Hearst had time to make himself acquainted with it. "I may say tho, that we are doing all we can to get it in workable shape," he stated. "We are anxious to get matters in shape so that we can proceed."

HOUSES, APARTMENTS ARE SCARCE IN CITY

The housing situation in Toronto is becoming more acute daily. The influx of population continues and new building is entirely too limited to keep pace with it. What has made the situation more serious is the difficulty of getting immediate supplies of raw materials, such as brick and lumber.

Never in the history of the city have houses been so ready of sale, and renters are finding that the only measure of safety to secure a roof over the head of the family is to buy, and are doing this in desperation.

The World talked with one during the week who had tried to sell his house for several years. He had now done so, but was sorry for making the deal after he had started to look around to get another. Another man told The World his rent had been bumped up from $15 to $40. He first refused to consider the matter, but on reflection and consultation with various real estate offices he commended a lease at $55 and thought he was fortunate.

In the meantime the Toronto housing commission has not yet taken any action, and if matters went much worse it is likely that the city council will have to take some drastic action to relieve the tension.

Only Quarter Amount Raised by W. C. T. U.

As a result of interference by returned soldiers the W. C. T. U. tag raising $20,000 succeeded in raising only a little more than $5,000. The amount set as the objective was for the purpose of making up the $100,000 which the association needed to enable them to extend Willard Hall.

Brant, Norfolk and Waterloo

Galt, April 6.—At a meeting held at the local Y. M. C. A., to reorganize the Brantford football district and extend it into the Brant, Norfolk and Waterloo County Association Football League, which delegates were present from clubs in Brantford, Simcoe, Hespeler, Kitchener and Galt, President D. Forsyth and Hon. Secretary T. G. Elliott of the W. F. A. were present, and invited the league to become affiliated with the W. F. A., promising a grouping from Kitchener to Simcoe.

The proposition was received with favor by both Brantford and Simcoe, which previously have not been in the W. F. It is the intention to start the schedule in the district on Saturday, April 25.

FRESH ADVANCE BY PETROLEUM

Another sharp rise in International Petroleum to a point well above the former high record, and the revival of a buying movement in Maple Leaf Milling provided most of the interest in a fairly brisk morning's trading on the Toronto Exchange on Saturday.

The market was almost entirely one of specialties not a single transaction being recorded in any of the steel, iron, tin, copper, zinc, lead, silver, gold, or wheat, apart from Barcelona, dealings in members of the utility group were limited to a few broken lots. The early strength and the late reaction in New York were alike ignored by the general list of local stocks.

The upturn of Petroleum was in reflection of the advance in the stock in the New York curb to around the $25 mark. On the Toronto Exchange, Petro opened at $24, and closed at $24.70, the high of the morning, with $24.70 for more, and none on offer. On Friday, Petroleum sold here at $22, up to that time a record high figure. For months Petroleum has been selling at a big distribution of some kind was coming to the shareholders, and apparently the present movement is of an "inside" character. Maple Leaf was in good demand through selling up 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and closing there with 137 1/2 bid, and 140 asked. Canadian Locomotive was in good request at 43, a gain of 3/4. Shredco, Wheat transactions in which are infrequent, sold three points up at 129. Canadian General Electric held its gain at 107. Atlantic Sugar preferred at 75 was off a point.

Barcelona was traded in to the extent of 200 shares at 10, slightly firmer than of late, following reports of the restoration of order in the district. Toronto Railway was unchanged at 42, but the closing bid dropped to 40, the lowest on record, with 42 asked. Winnipeg Railway was unchanged at 48, with more stock on offer at that figure and bids absent. There was again fairly brisk trading in a lot of bank shares, the advance showing strength at 193, an advance of 1-2. The war loans were quiet and steady.

COBALT SHIPMENTS

Due to the general agitation over the attempted passage of the "blue sky" law pertaining to mining which undoubtedly interfered with the working forces in the various mines of Cobalt during the past two weeks, the output from the camp for the week ending Friday night was the smallest since the start of the year. In a long time, according to official information received by Hamilton B. Wills, of the Wills Building, over his wire from Cobalt, to wit: 189,213 pounds shipped by two mines, Buffalo and La Rose.

It is expected, however, the output of the week will soon be materially increased as satisfactory changes in the proposed bill have been made. The complete list as compiled by the C. & N. O. Railway was as follows:

ON NEW YORK CURB.

Hamilton B. Wills received the following close of the New York curb market on Saturday: There was considerable activity among the leading oil and mining stocks today, several of which advanced into new high ground. During the first hour Tonopah and the established record high prices above the $10 mark, subsequently selling off slightly under profit-taking.

CANADIAN FAILURES.

The number of failures in the Dominion, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co. during the past week, in provinces, compared with those during the same week, and corresponding week of last year, are as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Province, This Week, Last Week, Last Year.

London, April 5.—Money, 3 1/2 per cent. Discount rates, short and three months' bills, 3 1/2 per cent.

LONDON WOOL AUCTION.

London, April 5.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 8000 bales of a miscellaneous character. The tone was steady. New Zealand, secured at 5s. 3d. New Zealand greasy at 3s. 4d. Italy brought greasy merinos.

WASAPIKA SETS UP NEW RECORD

There were two features of outstanding interest in the trading on the Standard Exchange on Saturday morning, one being the setting up by Wasapika of a high record at 56 1/2, a point higher than the stock had ever reached before, and the springing of a sudden advance for Timiskaming, which, at 34, showed a net gain of 2 1/2 points. The volume of trading in general showed some improvement, the total transactions for the single session, 63,377 shares, being little below that for the full day on Friday.

Wasapika was in strong request throughout the morning, 13,000 shares changing hands at the top, 56 1/2, with the closing at 56 1/2 being bid for the stock. The deal whereby control will be transferred to New York interests has reached a point which assures consummation and as the price is well above the current level of the stock, it seems reasonable to look for continued strength. Timiskaming accounted for nearly 3,000 shares, the demand for the stock being unexplained. It has recently been intimated that friction has developed with the Beaver over ownership of ore, hardly a bull argument for the stock, and there are no new developments recorded in the company's news in the British Columbia. Other firm stocks included W. N. at 23 1/2, Nipissing at $8.85, and Ophir at 9 1/4; McIntyre at $1.64, and Dome Lake at $1.25; Adanac at $2.08, and Mining Corporation at $2.08, were also easier.

Reports from Gowganda indicate that considerable work will be done this year on properties which have been idle for some time, including the Reeves-Dobie on the Collins group of claims, about six miles east of the Miller Lake-O'Brien. There is a growing interest also in the Huronian River district, where it is stated a promising discovery of gold has been made on the Cisco property, situated about one and one-half miles from the Martin Gold Mines. The property is under option to a Montreal syndicate.

ANOTHER HIGH-GRADE VEIN ON THE HOLDING

R. I. Henderson returned to Toronto yesterday after a hurried trip to the Holding claims at West Shining Tree. The visit was made for the purpose of inspecting another vein just discovered. The new vein is about twenty-three inches, immediately south of the No. 1 vein, and samples returned are equally as rich in gold showage as those from the first spectacular vein. The new discovery is now being trenched to define its length and extent.

AN AERIAL DERBY LATEST COMPETITION

New York, April 6.—An aerial Derby, which will be the first competition for a trophy offered by Ralph Pulitzer, Joseph Pulitzer and Herbert Pulitzer, will be the feature of the aeronautical convention and exhibition at Atlantic City in May, it was announced here tonight. The Pulitzer trophy is a challenge trophy to be competed for annually in an event to be designated by the Aero Club of America. The trophy must be won three times before it becomes the permanent possession of any aviator. The trophy this year will be awarded to the aviator who covers the longest non-stop flight in cross-country flying over land, water or both, starting or ending at Atlantic City. The Derby is open to all aviators.

ALLIES MAY BE FORCED TO EVACUATE ODESSA

Paris, April 6.—Bolshevik pressure against Odessa, the great Russian port on the Black Sea, is increasing and the evacuation of the city by the allied forces is imminent. The Math 833, the allied forces, adds, probably will be withdrawn ultimately to the Dniester in order to protect Bessarabia and Rumania. The Rnhmus of Perogoh, which con- nects Russia with the Crimea, has been fortified by the allies to protect the Russian naval base of Sebastopol.

THE FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

Hamilton B. Wills in this week's market letter calls attention to the fact that April 4 last was the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of his organization.

Record of Saturday's Markets

WASAPIKA SETS UP NEW RECORD

Chicago, April 5.—Notwithstanding that for long distances corn today touched the highest prices yet this season, weakness prevailed in the market as a whole by reason of increased offerings to arrive from the country. Quotations closed heavy 2-4 to 2 cents net lower, with May $1.58 1-8 to $1.58 2-8 and July $1.48 3-4 to $1.47 7-8. Oats, soft, half a cent to one cent. In provisions the outcome ranged from 10 cents decline to 40 cents advance.

Selling pressure on corn seemed to be directed chiefly against May delivery. The later months, too, suffered from liquidation but not until the May-July difference had become three cents narrower than was the case earlier in the week. Cash houses led the selling of May. One of their representatives could not find a man who was sending any bids out to rural holders—that buyers were filled up and did not care to accumulate much of a stock at current premiums. Renewed advice that labor difficulties at Buenos Aires were again threatening to curtail Argentine exports had only a transient bullish effect. Oats followed the changes in corn. For the most part trade was local. Provisions averaged higher with hog prices for live animals overtopped all records since September.

MUCH HIGH-GRADE ORE AT KIRKLAND PORPHYRY

Kirkland Lake, April 5.—Development work on the surface down to the 400-foot level of the Kirkland Porphyry property has opened up a large tonnage of high-grade ore. Visible gold occurred quite freely, and the mineralization is said to be consistent. In the meantime, a cross-cut is being driven south from the main shaft at the 400-foot level for the purpose of exploration work. The chief reason for cross-cutting at this level is an endeavor to locate the western continuation of the No. 2 vein, south or body of the Lake Shore mine. Should success attend the effort, and commercial value be found to occur, the development would be of extreme importance for the Kirkland Porphyry. It might also ultimately prove to be important for the adjoining Kirkland Lake mine.

DEAL FOR CLAIMS IN BOSTON CREEK AREA

Boston Creek, April 5.—Another big deal has been closed for property in the Boston Creek gold area. A group of three claims, owned by Dr. W. Arnold and J. A. Hughes, both of Hallowbury, are situated in Catherine township and adjoin the Cotter property, on the latter of which the eastward extension of the rich Miller vein has been discovered. According to the terms governing the deal, the purchaser, Mr. Savage of Buffalo, is obliged to meet substantial payments at intervals of every 40 days. A substantial sum was advanced on the signing of the option agreement, such to go toward immediate exploration and development work. It is stated a company will be formed for the purpose of completing the purchase and the carrying on the required work.

ISLAND OIL'S OUTLOOK.

Hamilton B. Wills in his weekly market letter says of Island Oil and Transport: A subsidiary, the Island Refining Corporation, has been formed with an authorized capitalization of $10,000,000, all owned by Island Oil and Transport Corporation, and $6,000,000 of 7 per cent. participating year gold bonds, and $4,500,000 of these bonds are offered to Island Oil stockholders on April 7, 1919, at $25.00. A syndicate of all bondholders not subscribed for, Island Refining will construct three refining plants, with a combined annual capacity of about 8,400,000 barrels of oil. The plants are to be located in Mexico, Cuba and in the United States. It is officially estimated that the operations of the Island Refining Corporation should net the parent company about $2,500,000 annually in addition to the profits being derived from the sale of crude oil to other sources.

IRREGULAR TONE AT MARKET'S CLOSE

Created by Profit-Taking on Rails and Renewed Pressure on Steels. New York, April 5.—At the outset of today's short but active session of the stock market indications pointed to a further advance of the general list under the guidance of rails, but profit-taking in that quarter, also among oils, and renewed pressure upon steels created an irregular tone at the close.
