President Roosevelt and Bishop of London Play Tennis

Great Secrecy Surrounded Match on White House Grounds - Editor of the Churchman Was the Only Spectator Present.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A notable athletic event took place at the White House yesterday, when by special invitation of the president, the Right Rev. and Honorable Arthur Puley Winnington-Lagnam, Lord Bishop of London, joined in a game of tennis with Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary Garfield and Assistant Secretary Cookey.

The game was kept a secret for several hours, the contestants approaching the tennis court from the White House proper and no visitors being admitted to Secretary's Loeb's office after four o'clock.

The court is hidden from the view of passersby in the street, by a high screen of painted canvas, and there is no access to the grounds south of the White House. The only spectator was Silas Meese, editor of the Churchman, who with the lord bishop is a guest of the president.

The aim and object of the match was to determine whether the side captained by the president of the United States or the distinguished prelate should win at least two sets out of three, and the play, which began shortly after four o'clock, continued till about six.

The match was a close one, and the result is not known, for all were cautioned by the president to say nothing about it, but it is certain that more than two sets were played, so the presumption is that the third set was necessary to decide the contest.

POLICE COURT

Variety of Cases Disposed of This Morning - Two Little Boys Charged With Truancy.

In a case of furious driving, which came up in the police court this morning, the drivers of the delivery team and other vehicles were given some information relative to the law by which they are governed.

Judge Ritchie pointed out that no person can drive on the public streets at a speed greater than a moderate trot, and cannot go over a crossing or around a corner faster than a walk.

Thomas Furlong, charged with fighting on St. James street this morning, pleaded guilty and was fined $20 or two months in jail.

Patrolman Lucas, who made the arrest, stated that when on St. James street between 8 and 9 o'clock, he saw Furlong and Thomas Ritchie in an encounter. Both fell to the ground and rolled together on the street and he had to part them.

Mr. Ritchie explained that Furlong came into his store this morning, under the influence of liquor, and became troublesome. Mr. Ritchie proceeded to put him out, and the fight followed. Mr. Ritchie added that he did not want the man in his store when he (Furlong) was under the influence of liquor.

Furlong protested that he was not drunk. Cornelius Doyle and John Travers reported for discharging an air gun on Pond street, also in a yard off George street, on the 29th, as a nuisance. A member of a lad named Herman Webber was shot in the arm, were also in court this morning.

Doyle, who is thirteen years of age, said that he purchased the gun in Emerson & Fisher's, but did not tell his mother that he had it. His mother said that under the law, any person selling such goods to a minor (under 16 years of age) was liable to a fine of $50.

Young Doyle accompanied by Patrolman James Rose, who reported the case, went to Emerson & Fisher's to find the clerk who sold him the air gun, but in this the lad was unsuccessful. A member of Emerson & Fisher's staff appeared in court, but the case was set aside for further hearing.

The air gun is in the possession of Doyle's mother. Because Thomas Latham, a lad of eleven years, did not know the use of a fly, he played truant from school for a week, for which he was obliged to appear in court this morning. Constable Terry, aged ten, was also in court on a similar charge having been absent from his desk in the Aberdeen school for two weeks.

The lads promised to attend school in future. Henry White charged with selling bananas from door to door on Sheffield street was fined $2 but the fine was allowed to stand. Albert Collins and William Campbell were fined $4 or ten days each for drunkenness and Felix Holland and Peter Mansson were fined $8 or thirty days each on similar charges. Chas. Kennedy forfeited a deposit of $3, also for drunkenness.

Rev. Mr. Anthony, the new pastor of the Congregational church is not expected here until next week. Rev. Gideon Swin will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church at both services tomorrow, and on Sunday, Oct. 6, Rev. Mr. Swin will assume the pastorate of Waterloo street Baptist church, to which he was recently called.

"THE LATE TENANT"

By GORDON HOLMES

"The check! I told you the things were rummaged." "And nothing was stolen?" "Ghosts are not thieves. They only come back to pretend to themselves that they are still living in the old scene, and that their bit of a fling is not all over forever. I can well imagine how the poor things feel, can't you? Of course, nothing was stolen, though I did miss something out of the trunk a day or two afterward."

THIS STYLE HAS A GOOD

This illustration depicts one of the most attractive models among the fall arrivals. It has some extremely unique and attractive ideas. It is made in a combination of two shades of one color and also two cloth fabrics of about equal weight. Two tones of blue just a shade apart, each of them quite dark and containing a good deal of black are the chosen colors; the fabrics are a broadcloth for the lighter tone and a silk sateen for the darker. The skirt, which is demitrimmed in the silhouette with a deep hem out in a pattern at the top, of the lighter blue

With their noses tingling over on the sidewalk, and private motors knocking down lamp posts and impaling on the sidewalk, the unfortunate citizen knows not whither to wend his trembling steps.

Furness steamer St. John City, which arrived at Halifax last Thursday, has a very large cargo on board for this port. She is due here the first of next week.

BOARD GRANTS C. P. R. REQUEST
 Board of Works Gives Them Berths 1, 2 and 3, with Allans at 5-Other Business at Last Night's Meeting.

After hearing the representatives of the steamship companies, the board of works last evening allocated berths 1, 2 and 3 to the C. P. R., with the proviso that the company should use their best efforts to supply grain to the Allan line should the latter take No. 5. The Donalson line were given No. 4, and the Allans No. 5. In the event of their not using it, the latter berth was to be occupied at the discretion of the harbor master. The need of a grain conveyor to No. 5 was discussed, but no action taken. It was decided to call for tenders for wiring the new warehouse.

Consideration of the plans for a new wharf for the D. A. R. at Reed's Point was deferred until the regular meeting next Tuesday.

Ald. McGoldrick occupied the chair, and Ald. Bullock, Baxter, Christie, Pickett, Willie Ham, Lewis, Backache, Sprout, Holder, Baslin, Frink, Kelley and McGowan were present with the city engineer, harbor master, street superintendent and common council members.

The question of the annual rental of the warehouses was held over until the meeting of the treasury board.

The director reported that he had appointed Thomas Morrison a clerk in the director's office at a salary of $80 a month, subject to the approval of the board.

On motion of Ald. Baxter the salary was fixed at $90 a month from Oct. 1.

On motion of Ald. Baxter it was decided to remove the offices of the director on the board to the city engineer's rooms in city hall.

Ald. Bullock and Ham, with the director, were appointed to report on the application from the N. B. Telephone Company to open up Canterbury street from King to Church street to place underground wires.

There was some discussion on the recent sale of an old house which had been owned by the city for many years. The chairman said he gave instructions for the house to be sold by auction under an order passed by the council. The sale was subsequently stopped as the house did not consider the house in fit condition. He was willing to do as the board required. If they wanted the order passed by the council changed he was agreeable.

Ald. Frink said he stopped the sale because it was in his opinion a very undesirable one. He would suggest that a veterinary surgeon should be asked to report once a year on the animals owned by the city and at the same time recommend what horses should be disposed of.

Ald. Baxter said as the horse had since been sold he would not know where the horse was. After nearly twenty years service for the city he felt inclined to recommend that he should be brought back. A motion on the lines suggested by Ald. Frink was carried unanimously.

The question of replacing an asphalt sidewalk on the north side of Queen square was discussed. It was decided to have the work done and charged to the water and sewerage board.

On motion of Ald. Pickett a statement as to the progress of the asphalt work will be prepared for the next meeting.

Fall Styles--Ready--Tailored Clothing

Excuse the impertinence, but who's your tailor? Does he suit you exactly? Are you satisfied with the style, fit and finish of your clothes? Has your Coat that stylish, smart, shoulder effect? Are the Trousers just the right fullness and shape? Does your Vest at the back strike the right spot on your collar? If these things are all correct--then don't look at our 20th Century Clothes, and don't read any more of this.

Of course a few dollars don't count on a suit if it suits, but YOU might as well have those few dollars.

20th Century is right--Fit, Finish, Style and Price. It commences on the rung of the ladder of popularity just where the other fellow's "best" stops. It is the same of style for good dressers. No sloping shoulders, no creasing fronts on the Coat, no creases or wrinkles in front of the shoulder of the Vest trying to get under your braces. Properly pressed, neat finish, prudently priced. Where do you find better dressed men than commercial travellers? Open up the Coat of many of them and see the brand on it.

20th Century Most Certain.

Yes, there's the same goodness about 20th Century Overcoats, too, and Shower-proof Coats.

We can also have a suit, or any garment, specially made for you by the 20th Century concern. We guarantee our goods with our many years' reputation, and if that doesn't cut any figure then money back will do it.

PRICES:
 (20th Century Clothing)
$15.00 to $28.00.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Mix This Simple, Helpful Recipe at Home and Try It.

Get from any prescription pharmacy the following:
 Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the sensitive tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the affections may not feel inclined to place much confidence in a simple remedy. Yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

THE LATE FATHER CULLEN

The funeral services of Rev. Bernard Cullen, CSSR., were held in the Mission church, Roxbury (Mass.), Thursday morning in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, including more than 100 priests from all parts of the archdiocese, who were seated within the sanctuary or in pews close to the altar.

The requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Hamel, CSSR., of Saratoga, a friend of Father Cullen, assisted by Rev. Father Duke, CSSR., of St. John (N. B.), as deacon, and Rev. Father Crosby, CSSR., of New York, as sub-deacon. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. Father Sheehan, CSSR., who extolled the lofty Christian character and self-sacrifice of Father Cullen.

Among those who attended the services were Bishop John Brady, of South Boston, who was attended by Father Fitzpatrick, of Milton, and Father Chapon, of St. John's Seminary; Bishop O'Reilly, of Baker City (Or.), who was attended by Father Supple, of Charlestown, and Father O'Farrell, of Roxbury; and Mayor John P. Fitzgerald. The interment was in Calvary cemetery.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 671, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write to her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Investing Your Savings. Don'ts for Investors.

Though only five short years have passed, the promoters who hoaxed the public so very thoroughly in the speculative days of 1901-2—that estimate set of bubble blown—are now merely pulling in the shrouds at the same game. They realize and prove conclusively that there is a fool born every minute, and that five years is long enough for him to accumulate money from which to be parted.

Honest promoters of legitimate enterprises are having success in raising money through appeals to investors, because they are old-fashioned enough to tell the truth and tell it conservatively. The wild promises and glittering generalities of the faking fraternity suffer no such handicap.

There is a sort of Bertillon system by which one can measure up those criminal corporations. Like all hard-and-fast rules, the "don'ts" are susceptible to important exceptions, but their general application is indisputable.

Shun as the plague the stock-selling corporation, which—

Boasts blatantly the virtues of its president, etc.

Compares its stocks to bank securities. Makes extraordinary dividend promises. Asks haste before "next advance." Pays dividends while selling stock to "Roast" banks and saving institutions.

Promises a "life compensation."

Compares future to Hecla, Bell Telephone, etc.

Then again, investors should not be misled by the statement, often made, that subscriptions for stock will be received through certain banks and trust companies—concerns that are famous and of great financial strength. Such a statement has a tendency to inspire confidence, but it is really without any direct bearing on the company's reliability, so long as a company is selling stock direct to patrons, the average bank, with which it has a large deposit, feels justified in giving this accommodation. It is an endorsement whatever.

Then again, looking up the companies in Dan's, Bradstreet's or other commercial agencies, is not an absolute criterion even if the company is well rated,—though it is a great point in the company's favor. These reports concern themselves mainly whether or not firms pay their bills promptly, and unfortunately, sick promoters keep the need and value of a good reputation. The wisest make a specialty of paying their commercial bills with promptness.

In the manner, the known probity and the national fame of men in the company's directorate should not be accepted as everything, though during the present "era of conscience," reputable men are becoming chary of lending their names to enterprises of which they know nothing at the request of friends. Unlike England, we have not many "guinea pigs"—that is, famous men who lend their names for a cash or stock consideration—but we have more than a need for the lack of "dummy" directors.

It is a peculiar belief among financial men—so well grounded as to be an axiom, a joke or a superstition—to fight shy of companies that exploit the financial virtues of some official who used to be treasurer of the United States or high state official. This standpoint is probably unjust and not of general application, but is chronicled here at its face value.

Trade Talks

Plumbing

The humorists have long been busy firing shafts of wit at the opulent plumber, rich and haughty because of well paid work, and as often happens, it has been no exception. The trade of the plumber continues to offer a good future to the young man who casts his eyes over the various trades—for in a growing country, such as this, any work however remotely connected with the building trades, is a good one.

Naturally the scale varies a great deal throughout the country, but the highest average for the union plumber is 20c. per hour or $4 for an eight hour day. In many places, wages run as high as $4.00 a day—and after October there will be an endeavor to extend this scale. Whether prices paid to non-union men are slightly below this, the average is kept up because of the increasing demand for this class of labor.

Any boy of from 15 years upward can start as an apprentice, and the period prescribed by the union laws for this apprenticeship is five years—the last few years of which a fair pay is granted. Under the open shop, there is no fixed time for apprentices, the criterion being ability to learn, get a job and make good with it.

There are many schools of plumbing throughout the country in which the rough path of the beginner is smoothed and scientific plumbing hastened. In many of the technical schools that are springing up in the large cities plumbing is featured in the curriculum.

It used to be that winter, with its attendant repair work, was the plumber's harvest—and the rest of the season a very hard time to get work. Under modern building conditions, there is no long-plumbers' season, there is no long-plumbers' season, there is no long-plumbers' season, there is no long-plumbers' season.

In the fair seasons of the year, the erecting of new houses furnishes steady work in the installation of new plumbing, in gas-fitting and in sewerage connections. In the winter Jack Frost takes care that burst pipes cause him to be in demand.

For the ambitious, the comparative ease with which one can become an employing plumber and the large profits in a small shop.

A RURAL HOME

Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect, Minneapolis

Adaptation to locality in home building is a matter that is often lost sight of. It is worthy of consideration when the home and type as well as suited to its locality and surroundings. It is not always true that a city house will not look well in the country or that the country home would necessarily be out of place on a city lot. There are houses that seem to adapt themselves equally well to rural or city surroundings. There is, however, something in the looks of a low house with spreading roof that seems especially adapted to the country.

The design illustrated is appropriate, both in plan and exterior for the village lot or for the farm. This house is not an expensive one, although it may be called a good sized house. The estimated cost, exclusive of heating and plumbing is $3800. The size is 30x50 feet inclusive of projections. It sets up well from the ground but is low posted being 8 ft. 6 in. high pitched gambrel roof and the kitchen portion one story in height.

The broad piazza extending around the corner makes the house suitable for a portion one story in height.

The large living room across the front is in itself a beautiful feature of the plan. The front alcove makes for a den, separated from the living room by a columned archway is an attractive feature in connection with this room. The fireplace at the end of the room is very advantageously located, both as to looks and actual use in the living room as it is in plain view from the library and den. A platform stairway leads up at the opposite end of the living room and the dining room opens in connection with the living room, having sliding doors that cut it off from the living and dining rooms. In many cases, particularly in the country, it is very desirable to have a sleeping room on the first floor. Back of this sleeping room is located a commodious bathroom and two convenient closets. The pantry, kitchen, sideboard, etc., are well arranged for convenience. The rear entrance to the kitchen, is through a small vestibule with space for a refrigerator. There is a side and rear entrance with porch that is conveniently reached from the dining room as well as the kitchen, making a very attractive feature of the house. There is a good basement under the entire house for heating apparatus, vegetable cellar and laundry with outside entrance in the rear.

There are four chambers in the second story, each with a wardrobe. Each room is provided with ample clothes closets. The floors throughout should be of some good hardwood, either yellow pine or Washington fir.

The exterior of the house is covered with narrow siding in the first story and the gables and roof shingled. This house should have green window blinds, green shutters on the roof, light green shingles on the gables and all the rest of the exterior woodwork painted white, including the sash to the windows.

Methods of Making Millions

When will come the great fortunes of the next generation? Without the slightest doubt, the millions of tomorrow will be derived from the utilization of waste.

We are aware from what source the up-to-date millionaire has sprung—real estate, the mill and mart and transportation— together with other sources that are being revealed by trust builders; but all this gold has come from conventional industries of gigantic scope, manufacturers so profitable that their promoters have scorned to "monkey with" their waste products or have neither time or knowledge to utilize them.

Now, to come down to facts: sawdust, which usually went to stuff dolls, is now made to yield alcohol; or to form, when mixed with the blood from the abattoir, imitation ivory, buttons and a thousand useful articles. Coal smokes will eventually be made to yield alcohol, and one firm is already making it return ten per cent. of lead that had previously been lost in the atmosphere. There is undreamed of wealth in the refuse-heaps of coal mines and blast furnaces.

In parenthesis, the moral of this homily is for the ambitious young man to prowl around in his town, look over its factories and not carelessly what they call "waste"—or, however insignificant this refuse may be—it may elicit wealth. What its commercial form may be and the method of economically converting and marketing it, is a problem that must then be solved.

Nor are the big corporations despising these byproducts. Just a few months ago, the steel trust noted that a city reservoir in Chicago was constantly seeking to purchase a certain acid formed in the process of steel making. Investigating, the offi-

President of the Western Union

Robert C. Clowry, president of the Western Union, went up from the bottom of the ladder.

At the age of fifteen his ambitions outgrew that of being chore-boy on the Illinois farm, and he trudged into Joliet. He called at a small telegraph office and stated that he wanted to learn telegraphing, but you would get no pay for the first six months," came the answer. "However, you could pick up operating."

Young Clowry had no money, but in his few hours of odd jobs he snatched from sleep, he milked some cows, for which he was paid in milk. He cared for a stable and drove a team in order to keep body and soul together.

Three weeks—and he knew the telegraph code and could tick off messages. Then he went out to learn how to spell. Soon he became operator at Lockport, his princely remuneration being $6 per week. At seventeen, he was an important operator at $10.00 weekly and soon became superintendent of the St. Louis and Missouri Telegraph Company. At the outbreak of the Civil War he served in the field in charge of a western division of the army telegraph.

Back in commercial work again, he rose to be southwestern superintendent of the Western Union.

In 1902, after fifty years continuous service in which he personally built thousands of miles of line, Robert C. Clowry was made president of the Western Union.

Peter Pry's Philosophy

Better push your work than be pushed by it.

Many men open wide the mouth, but close tight the purse.

Some persons never pay anything they owe.

The thrifty are not the thrifty, for a cool head seldom goes with a hot stomach.

Men love goodness, but marry beauty—and about accounts for the present economical state.

The chap that does his work badly because he thinks he is above it, thereby proves that his job is far above him.

House Furnishing Notes

New and very attractive are the silver serving platters, with adjustable bottoms for planned shad or meats, grooved for the gravy just as are those made entirely of silver. A Colonial pieced design is shown on the silver rim, and the wooden trays lift out with silver handles.

The best way to clean white paint is to dip a piece of soft flannel cloth in warm water, wring it out, then dip it in a saucer of clean bran, using this to rub the paint. The friction of the bran will remove any stain without injuring the paint.

To remove stains on white flannel or blankets apply a little pure glycerine mixed with the yolk of an egg. Allow this to remain for an hour, then wash in a lather made of boiled soap. All soap used to wash woollen things be dissolved by boiling. Soften the water with borax.

If one's dresses are well aired they will never seem stuffy. Clothes should never be hung up in a wardrobe immediately after they have been worn. Allow the bodies of a dress to hang over the back of a chair for at least half an hour before putting it away. If treated in this way, the oldest clothes can be kept fresh.

Children should be taught to hang stockings and all linen apparel over the back of a chair on going to bed at night so that they may be a free circulation of fresh air through them. The neat little packs of clothes piled one on top of another, which used to be the rule, are not at all hygienic.

Leather articles should never be kept in a place that is extremely dry, as the best will cause the leather to crack. To freshen leather book covers or travelling bags that have become shabby or spotted rub them with the well-beaten white of an egg.

The best dustier for polished wood is a good chamois skin, not too big. Dip it in

Frocks and Blouses for the In-Between Season

The light-weight serges especially in white or white with a hairline stripe, are considered very smart for late summer wear, and although a great many costumes in these materials are on the severe tailored order, that is the ordinary cut and skirt costume, very smart frocks and blouses now being shown which are suitable for street wear though a little more elaborate than the plain coats and skirts.

Such a frock is shown in one of the sketches, this model being in plain cream-while serge with a trimming of black and white striped silk—the stripes being half an inch in width—and white serge buttons. The long lines given by the rows of buttons down the entire front of the Late Summer Frocks.

Outfits for the School Boy

No fewer than four full suits of each weight must be provided. Some of the linen mesh goods will wear far better than either flannel or wool, for these latter will, in the hands of the school laundress, shrink to a fit size for the boy's pajamas before Christmas.

Besides these, three sets of pajamas will be needed, six pairs of stout stockings—these are usually a provision by which these are damaged—dozen hank kerchiefs, not too fine, and a dozen collars. Six soft-bottom, negligee shirts will be required.

Every article of clothing must be marked clearly with the full name. It is a good plan to buy the worn name-trips that can be ordered from a department store for two dollars a gross, and sew one on every article of wearing apparel or school clothes.

What the boy wants in the way of outer garments is a thing to be learned from him. In most schools the indestructible corduroy is taboos, but if permitted a pair of corduroys is a good investment. When they become too heavy, as warm weather draws on, flannel trousers may be substituted. For between-season wear a coat of dark serge is excellent, and in colder weather a Norfolk jacket or corduroy sack coat will serve. Besides this, the stout school suit will be needed for a change, and a Sunday suit, either in black or dark blue, preferably the latter, will be necessary.

A Jersey and a heavy-weight sweater are, of course, essential, though not in the school colors. The tendency of the "green" boy to assume these at once often gets him into trouble, for new boys are usually not allowed to wear these until after Christmas. The sweaters would better be dark, plain dark blue is the most serviceable color. Two or three pairs of heavy soled shoes and a pair of house slippers will be needed.

Late Summer Bargains

This is the time for women to obtain short lengths of silks for petticoats, shirt waists, kimono or maconees, for every dry goods shop in town has counters full of odds and ends. While it is ordinarily not economy for a woman to buy material for which she has no immediate use, it is different with silks, as they always come into use for one thing or another.

Most women dearly love bags as Christmas presents, and for this purpose a yard or so of silk can be picked up for next to nothing, which will make most charming gifts for the holiday season.

Bureau drawer sachets, too, are always desirable, and made of some dainty silk are invariably welcomed by the recipient. If an entire silk petticoat cannot be afforded, the top or foundation can always be made of some other material and enough silk to make a ruffle can be picked up at a bargain counter for a small sum.

Indeed, by having several ruffles for the

Decoration for Dining-room Wall

A charming color scheme for a dining room is suggested by the sketch the walls of the room having the upper part hung with a new imported paper, which has a gilt background, on which is disposed a wood-topped lattice in a wide, heavy sunburst, which supports large bunches of blue, green, and purplish-black grapes. The lower part of the wall is divided into panels by stripes of wood, matching the woodwork of the room, and is papered in a soft, leaf green in Japanese grass cloth.

Success with Homemade Pickles

Pickled Peaches, Pears, or Melon Rinds.—The proportions are: Seven pounds of fruit, five pounds of sugar, one pint of vinegar, a cupful of water, two-thirds a cupful of stick cinnamon and half as much whole cloves. Remove the blossom ends and skins of peaches (retain the skins of melon rinds), retaining the stems. Soak peaches and remove the stems. Watermelon rind may not be too thick cut away all pink pulp and the thin green skin on the outside. Keep peaches and peaches whole, but cut the melon rind into pieces (squares, diamonds, circles, etc.). Make a syrup of the vinegar, water and sugar; skim and add the spices. Cook peaches in the syrup until tender, then place in jars and pour the boiled-down syrup over them. Soak peaches in the syrup on three consecutive mornings, on the third put the peaches in jars, boil the syrup to the consistency of molasses, and pour it over them. Put the slices into the jars with the fruit. Watermelon rind should be first cooked in water until tender then

PROHIBITION ISSUE IN LOCAL ELECTIONS As the quarterly session of the Victoria County District Lodge, I. O. G. T., held at Plaster Rock, on Wednesday, September 24, the committee on resolutions reported the following, which were unanimously adopted: "Resolved, that we heartily endorse the actions of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation in requesting from the government of the province the introduction into the legislature and passage of a prohibitory law along the lines of the act now in force in P. E. Island, and believe that this should be made a test question at the next general election in this province, and we believe it to be the duty of the temperance voters of this county to support only candidates pledged to this policy."

THE MOCK TRIAL The mock court trial of a breach of promise case which is to be held in the Opera House on Monday evening, October 7, promises to be one of the most interesting and laughable entertainments given in St. John for some time. The large number of local people who will participate lends additional interest to the affair, and it is altogether probable that the Opera House will be crowded to the limit of its capacity when His Honor Judge Ritchie opens the court at 8 p. m. There is a promise of an abundance of humorous incidents throughout the course of the trial, and many local hits are introduced that will keep up the interest. There has been a great demand for tickets from members of the K. of P. Boston '08 club under whose auspices the trial is being held.

Mrs. Lyons. Mrs. Lyons, widow of Capt. Lyons, a former resident of Fredericton, died in her home in Boston last Thursday. Mrs. Lyons spent most of the summer with Mrs. H. G. C. Her husband was a tug owner and millman. Mrs. Lyons moved to Boston about ten years ago.

OPENING OF THE EVERY DAY CLUB

Rooms Will Be Re-opened on Oct. 7--Programme of Activity Planned for Winter.

At a meeting of the active members of the Every Day Club last evening, it was decided to carry on the work of the club this winter on lines beneficial to the members and all who avail themselves of its privileges. Educational features will be introduced to some extent, in addition to the games and reading tables.

The president and others told of assurances of sympathy and practical aid given by leading clergymen and others who recognize the excellent opportunity to do good work for men.

Dr. Bayard, who introduced the Sunday afternoon temperance meeting as soon as the club opens, and make it a feature all winter with almost equal interest to the people. The Sunday evening concerts will be continued.

With last year's experience the members have a grip of the situation and a practical knowledge that will make the institution of much greater value. The club will be reopened a week from next Monday evening. Only those who are approved by a membership committee will be made active members of the club.

PERSONALS Miss Margaret M. Mitchell, of Waterloo street, left for Fredericton this morning to enter the U. N. B. Master Willard Robb left this morning on the steamer Prince Rupert for Halifax to visit the exhibition.

Wright, of Moncton; Mr. Justice Gregory, of Fredericton, and Lt.-Colonel P. Gregory, of Victoria, and Mayor and Mrs. Foster, of Halifax, were registered at the Canadian office in London the week ended Sept. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams will leave this evening on the steamer Calvia Austin for a trip to Boston, Bridgeport (Conn.), and Buzzard's Bay. They expect to be gone several weeks.

Miss Alberta M. Brown, who has charge of the school at Soreby Cove this term, is attending the teachers' institute in St. Stephen.

WHO WILL PAY FOR LAUNSBERRY'S MEALS An interesting case arising from the Lounsberry theft case, in connection with which Mamie Ferrish and Jack Francis were sent to the penitentiary for a term of five years each, will probably come up in the city court before Judge Ritchie in a few days. Louis Green is after his pay for meals sent to Lounsberry while the latter was detained as a crown witness at the central police station.

As many as twenty-three meals were sent to the penitentiary carried them up each time. When Lounsberry was released on the case being disposed of, Mr. Green began looking for his pay. Lounsberry, it is said, refused to pay the bill and advised the hotel man to look to the city for pay. The city, however, though it is easy money, would not stand for this, so police officers told Mr. Green, and he was a much worried man. He said, however, that he held Lounsberry responsible, and unless payment was forthcoming in a short time an action would be brought to recover.

THE W. H. WHITE WILL CASE In the matter of Julia E. Irvine et al. vs. Dr. Wilsley H. White, Laura E. Spooner and Lillian A. White et al. Mr. Justice Barker yesterday afternoon heard argument of counsel and took the case en delibere.

Hon. A. S. White, K. C., for the plaintiffs, contended that the late W. H. White, concerning the construction of whose will the present suit is brought, intended that the property which Dr. White alleges is personal, should pass as real estate.

Geo. V. McInerney, K. C., for Dr. White, argued that the property in question was personal property, it having, he contended, been bequeathed to the household property. In 1899 the railway commission expropriated the land and Mr. White got a lease from the crown. In 1899 he erected buildings on the land of which he had obtained the lease, and Mr. McInerney claimed that the buildings are therefore personal property.

His honor reserved judgment. A SYRIAN COLONY ROW The Syrian colony was the scene of another row and an alleged stabbing affray last night. The trouble, occurred in the house of Edward Hallegar in a yard off Erin street opposite Lawton's factory. Policemen Ross and Ward went to the house and found a pane of glass in the front door broken. All was quiet within. Hallegar and his wife claimed that two short stout men knocked the door and on being admitted proceeded to make trouble. When Hallegar attempted to put them out they drew knives, and he showed a cut in his head in proof of his statements. The police are not inclined to take much stock in the story.

Sale of Ladies' Raincoats Monday!

ODD LINES IN THREE-QUARTER AND FULL LENGTH STYLES --- SIZES, 34 TO 40. --- In Attractive Fawn, Olive and Dark Gray. ---

THE first thing to be attended to in our costume section on Monday will be the disposal of several dozens of Raincoats for Ladies. This will be a bargain event for which we have no better excuse than that the Raincoats are the remains of a large stock.

There are not more than one, two or three of a pattern, but every garment in the lot has a merit of Stylisness and the exceptional merit of quality. We most confidently assure our lady friends that in buying these Raincoats they are securing values far out of the ordinary bargain run.

The Three-Quarter Length Coats are of Cravenette and other equally reliable shower-proof materials. The Full Length Coats, made of the same goods, are particularly suited for Driving, Travelling or as an outer garment in all kinds of disagreeable weather.

We could further explain the quality of the Raincoats to be placed on sale Monday, but the rather general remarks already made cover the description sufficiently to convey an idea of what we have to offer. It is doubtful if we will hold another such sale in months to come.

Therefore, with the snowstorms of winter in prospect and the disagreeable features of Spring weather still further ahead, a visit to our Costume Section while this sale is in progress will without doubt result satisfactorily to the visitor.

Bargain Prices: $4.00, 5.00, 5.50, 6.00, 6.50 and $7.00 Each. MONDAY, 8.30, IN COSTUME SECTION. MANCHESTER ROBERTSON ALLISON, Ltd.
