Terrible Holocaust In a Cleveland Public School

When the Children Dashed from their Rooms to the Hallway They Rushed Into a Fiery Furnace, and the Main Exit Becoming Jammed with Humanity, Between 160 and 170 of the Little Ones Went to Their Deaths

Cleveland, Ohio, March 4.—Pinned in narrow hallways, jammed against doors that only opened inward, between one hundred and sixty and one hundred and seventy school children in the suburbs of North Collingwood, were killed today by fire and smoke, or beneath the grinding heels of their panic-stricken playmates.

Notes From Abroad

In 1907 New Zealand exported 171,884-880 pounds of wool, valued at $38,315,000. Immigration into Canada last year numbered 277,376 persons, an increase of 61,434 over the previous year.

Prince of Wales Coming to Canada

Ottawa, March 3.—In the House of Commons today, Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, will visit Canada this summer. He will attend the Tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec city.

According to official returns the vintage of France in 1907 amounted to 66,000,000 hectoliters in France and 8,500,000 hectoliters in Algeria. The French vintage shows an increase of 13,000,000 hectoliters.

An Australian corporation has secured a concession from the Russian government to take out 30,000,000 feet of timber a year from a forest in Siberia, 900 miles from Vladivostok, to be delivered in Melbourne, Australia, approximately 8,000 miles away.

Great Britain's military forces as reported to the British house of commons consisted (October 1, 1905) of 273,133 regular soldiers, 88,209 militia, 7,657 a total of 618,118 men.

An English firm is to light the Medina, Arabia, sanctuary of Mahomed with electricity.

At Second Falls on Feb. 26th the church in this place held a Roll Call the first observed in many years. The house was well filled. Even the non-Christians seemed to enjoy the service.

Mr. E. Stuart on Wednesday evening last, kindly opened his home to the Y. P. U. of St. George. About 43 enjoyed the drive from the village and had a delightful time in the home for which the Union tapers hearty thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Stuart.

When the bill was before the house, Mr. Nickerson forewarned and recommended this use of it. In his remarks, during the debate, he said schools could be established on the sea-board, where the population would warrant it, and certain branches introduced under competent teachers, such as navigation, including the use of charts, and nautical instruments, the taking of observations, and a course in marine engineering, he thought it would be a highly useful thing.

Preserving Your Looks

Don't torture your eyes, but humor them, for if ill-treated they revenge themselves by making wrinkles and rows' feet in abundance. Outdoors, if the sunshine is so blinding that you feel you want to half-close your eyes in order to protect them, don't go about winking and blinking, but wear smoked glasses to soften the light, and be comfortable. The lasses may hide your eyes a little, and for the moment render you less harming looking, but, as nothing is more disfiguring to even the most beautiful of eyes than a setting of rows' feet, you should do anything rather than allow yourself to screw up your eyes in such a way as to cultivate them.

Then, about the mouth. Many a mouth is made to look old before its time by carelessness about the teeth. These should always be kept in the best possible condition with dentifrice and brush and by periodical visits to a good dentist. Any sort of tricks of biting or twitching of the lips should be avoided, and the ugly drawing-down at the corners, which one sees about the lips of the person who is angry or depressed and morbid, has a damaging effect on the beauty of the mouth. Some people who wish to preserve beauty, but have small knowledge of the limited powers of control of our sex, advise angry women to press their lips small, as they might do to the lips of an infant which they were about to kiss. Just imagine being angry and stopping to press your mouth up into pretty rose-bud form. This would be excellent in the interests of peace, as well as of beauty if only women could be persuaded to do this, and so gain time to think before speaking; but, alas! it is a counsel of perfection, which is never likely to be remembered till the need for it is over and the mischief done.

People Coming to Canada

Ottawa, Ont., March 3.—Mackenzie King, deputy minister of labor, leaves Thursday for England to interview the colonial office in regard to emigration to Canada from India. It is desired that Canada should be relieved of the arrivals of these people who are unsuited to Canada.

Liquor's Evil Wreaks Havoc in Maine Woods

Serious disturbances have been caused this winter in Maine lumber camps by wholesale drunkenness, and in some instances it has been found necessary to suspend operations. In former times it was the practice of those woodsmen who wanted liquor to leave the camp in twos and threes for some resort near camp, and indulge in a spree lasting a few days but lately these resorts have for the most part gone out of business and the loggers get their liquor by express from Boston. The practice is for such of the men as want liquor to club together and buy a case or more of whiskey, which comes by express to the nearest railway station and following its arrival there ensues a general debauch. Sometimes the liquor is brought directly to the camp.

The Great Northern Paper Company recently was obliged to close one of its camps at Northeast Carry because the whole crew, numbering thirty men, went on a prolonged debauch and at another of the company's camps near Madison, eight of the twenty-two men in the crew were discharged for drunkenness, when men were badly needed. News was received at Bangor last week from the Great Northern Company's camp at Wood Stream near Jackman that three of the crew left Saturday to get liquor that had come by express. Their names were Souiman, Wirin and Nieman. At 9 o'clock Sunday morning Wirin returned to camp in a dazed condition, while Nieman after wandering all day and night in the woods appeared some hours later at Henry McKenney's farm house, three miles from Wood Lake. He said that he had seen Souiman on the ice in Wood Lake, wandering aimlessly. Searching parties have been unable to find the missing man and it is supposed that he has perished in the bitter cold.

There is no legal means of preventing the men getting as much liquor from Boston as they are able to pay for and the situation is regarded by the lumber operators as serious. About one-third of the woodsmen use liquor, but up to this winter they have generally remained sober through the season.

Over Seven Thousand Committed Suicide

Berlin, Mar. 3.—Statistics relative to suicides in Prussia during 1906 are just available and present some very significant figures. In the twelve months no fewer than 7,298 persons, 5,584 men and 1,714 women ended their own lives.

Reasons leading to self destruction are declared by the statistical department as very difficult to establish in many cases, but it was proved that of each 100 persons who had tired of life, 6.6 men killed themselves from disappointment with their condition and 3.6 percent of women from the same cause, owing to physical suffering, 10.3 men, 8.8 women; nervous disorders 21.1 men, 33.9 women; weakness of intellect 1.0 men, 2.2 women; Alcoholism 11.6 men, 10.3 women; Attacks of passion, 2.8 men, 6.3 women; Consequences of immorality 0.5 men, 7.4 women; shame at own actions or guilty conscience 7.3 men, 6.0 women; Anger and quarrels 6.1 men, 1.8 women; while 24.5 percent of the wofiest took their lives for unknown reasons.

To Clean Window Shades

We have all heard the story of the woman who told the new maid to wash the curtains, meaning the lace ones, and came into the kitchen just in time to discover the newest window shades melting in the boiler. But we do not all know that when shades are merely dust soiled the surface can be freshened by the application of hot cornmeal. The shades should first be spread out flat on a large table and the meal rubbed in by a circular motion of the palm. Then if rubbed gently with a soft, dry cloth, the meal and the dust it has absorbed will be removed without leaving any trace of either.

Remember that when the Stomach nerves fail or weaken, Dyspepsia or indigestion must always follow. But, strengthen these same weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and then see how quickly health will again return. Weak Heart and Kidney nerves can also be strengthened with the Restorative, where Heart pains, palpitation, or Kidney weakness is found. Don't drug the Stomach nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Go to the cause of these ailments. Strengthen these weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and get well. A simple, single test will surely tell. All Dealers.

Pain can be quickly stopped. A 25 cent box of Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets will kill any pain, everywhere, in 20 minutes! Besides they are thoroughly safe. Painful periods with women, neuralgia, etc., quickly cease after one tablet. All Dealers.

Attempts on the Lives of World's Rulers

In the last century many attempts have been made—some successful, many unsuccessful—on the lives of the rulers of the world, monarchical and republican, and of the powerful statement of the day. Even the life of Queen Victoria was five times sought. The record for the last thirty years alone speaks for itself: Alexander II., of Russia, attempted by Karakozow, at St. Petersburg, October 16, 1866; by Berezowski, at Paris, June 6th 1867; by Alexander Solovieff, April 14th 1879; by undermining a railway train, December 1, 1879; by explosion of winter palace, St. Petersburg, February 17, 1880; killed by explosion of a bomb thrown by a man who was himself killed, St. Petersburg, 2 p. m., March 13, 1881.

James A. Garfield, President of the United States, shot by Charles Jules Guiteau, Washington, July 2, 1881.

Marie Francois Carnot, President of France, stabbed mortally at Lyons by Cesare Santo, an anarchist, June 24, 1894.

Stanislav Stambouloff, ex-premier of Bulgaria, killed by four persons, armed with revolvers and knives, July 25, 1895.

Nast-ed Din, Shah of Persia, May 1, 1896; shot as he was entering a shrine near his palace.

Antonio Canovan del Castille, prime minister of Spain, shot to death by Michael Angollilo, at Santa Agueda Spain, while going to the baths, August 8, 1897.

Juan rdiarte Borda, President of Uruguay, August 25, 1897; at Montevideo, by Axelino Arrecondo, officer in Uruguayan army.

Jose Maria Reyna Barrios, President of Guatemala, Guatemala City, February 7, 1898, by Oscar Solinger.

Empress Elizabeth of Austria, stabbed in the heart by Lacchini, a French Italian anarchist, at Geneva, Switzerland, while going from her hotel to a boat, September 10, 1898.

Heureaux, President of Dominion, assassinated in 1899.

Humbert, King of Italy, shot to death July 29, 1890, at Monza, Italy, by Angelo Braser.

Wm. McKinley, President of the United States, killed at Buffalo in 1901.

King Alexander of Serbia and Jueff-Drage, assassinated in 1903.

Awful Disaster in School House
 Cleveland, O., March 4.—In a fire which completely destroyed the common school building in Collinwood, a suburb today, seventy-five children lost their lives.
 The fire was started by an overheated furnace. The flames quickly spread, but a panic ensued when the building filled with smoke and the 400 children attempted to escape.
 There were but two exits in the building that were available. One soon became choked with the children, who madly dashed for the open air. Those who fell in the doorway were trampled upon by those behind and soon the doorway was impassable.
 The frightened and panic-stricken children turned to get out through the windows and any other means that could be found. Escape was cut off by the flames, which by this time, had spread throughout the rooms. The building was of brick, yet this did not retard the progress of the fire. In a few minutes the lower floor fell, precipitating scores of children to the basement, among the burning embers.

Rheumatism
Bats Up Strength Racks the Joints Prevents Sleep
UNCHECKED,—It Finally Strikes the Heart and Kills its Victim.
 It originates in the blood and develops most quickly in the system of persons who are run-down and lacking in vitality. The only specific of ALL forms of Rheumatism is Ferruzone, which is perfect solvent for uric acid and a splendid stimulant for the kidneys and liver.
 No remedy is so successful as Ferruzone. It has never failed to cure, because it attacks the cause of the disease in the blood. It neutralizes the uric acid poison, quickens the sluggish circulation and relieves the system of all irritating matter.
 Every distressing symptom is cured, swollen muscles and aching joints are relieved of their pain. The disease will not return if once cured by Ferruzone, which does its work thoroughly. Its cures are lasting.
 Unlike other treatments, Ferruzone does not depress the heart or deaden the nerves. It rebuilds the system, promotes better health, establishes good appetite, sound sleep and freedom from weakening pains and aches.
 The perfection of all rheumatic remedies is found in Ferruzone. It is in tablet form easy to take, convenient to carry, guaranteed to cure, and costs only 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50 at all druggists; don't fail to test Ferruzone.

Smallpox in Westmorland
 The small-pox epidemic in Westmorland Co. seems to be on the increase. If this is so, it behooves our town authorities to use every effort to prevent the disease gaining a foothold in Amherst.
 The Moncton Transcript of yesterday has the following:—
 Ten more cases of smallpox developed yesterday near the village of Fox Creek, making a total of eleven in all, and seven houses are quarantined.
 The cases so far as can be ascertained all came from one source. There has been but one case of small pox at Fox Creek for some time past and just previous to its breaking out a card party was held at the residence where the first case occurred. All the other cases have developed in families of those who attended the party.
 The outbreak is not in Fox Creek proper, but on a back road known as the Bourque's Hill Road some distance away from the village.

New York Tunnel Opened
 New York, Saturday.—Bearing eight hundred distinguished guests, including Governor Chas. E. Hughes and Governor John F. Fort and their staffs, an official train of eight cars, marking the formal opening of the $60,000,000 tunnel and submarine system linking New York and New Jersey, rolled out of the Manhattan terminal at twenty minutes to four o'clock this afternoon, and two minutes after President Roosevelt at the White House had flashed the starting signal.
 About ten thousand persons witnessed the start. As the train passed under the red, white and blue lighted signal marking the dividing line between New York and New Jersey the two governors arose and clasped hands, while the railway officials, who, with State Executives, occupied the first car, shouted mutual congratulations. On the crowded train was but one woman, Miss Grace Bigelow, who accompanied her father, John Bigelow; the publicist and former Ambassador to Great Britain. In spite of his 89th year, Mr. Bigelow appeared to hugely enjoy the occasion. He had a seat, as did Miss Bigelow, but many others were less fortunate. Men of millions and traction promoters themselves, swung from straps as the train dipped down at the centre of the river. Among the number was E. H. Harriman, who clung to a strap, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, who kept a firm grip on a door jamb.

New Brunswick Pupillist Loses
 Montreal, Feb. 27.—Bob Wilson of Utica, N. Y., who fights under the name of Young Humphries, knocked out Beth McLeod of St. John, N. B., at Maison-neuve Opera House tonight in the second round of what was to have been a fifteen round bout.
 A straight left that broke McLeod's nose followed by a hard right chop on the jaw dropped the New Brunswick boy to the canvas like a log.
 There was not a move in him from the moment he hit the floor until the referee counted him out and his seconds stepped into the ring and carried him to his corner. It was as clean a knockout as has ever been seen in a local ring. There was nothing of a fake about it for up to the moment McLeod received the punch that put him out he had more than held his own. In fact he had a slide the best of it in the opening round once just missing a right uppercut, as Humphries slipped to the floor, that would have ended the fight there and then had it landed.

Have You Bronchial Catarrh?
 It is easily recognized by the dry cough and hoarseness. Not difficult to cure with Catarrhoxone as Mr. Xavier Babin, of River Caplain, Que., proved. "No one could suffer from Bronchitis more than I did. I had a hard hacking cough that caused me great pain. My throat was hoarse, and I had great distress in my chest. Catarrhoxone reached the sore spots and gave immediate relief. Since using it I have not had a single attack." Every physician who is asked about Catarrhoxone says it is a sure cure.—so will you if you try it. Sold everywhere, 25c. and 1.00.

POLITICAL PREACHING.

In view of recent events, we would hold that the time has come when the pulpit should take its stand, not only for purity in elections, as in the recent contest, but also on the political questions of the day and, where there are such widely divergent statements concerning certain issues, present the truth irrespective of party. Had this been done from every pulpit in the Province during the recent campaign, then voters would have gone to the polls and deposited their ballot more intelligently.

Such a stand would be helpful both to preacher and hearer as it effects the conscience of each, as there are few topics connected with political action in these days that have not a direct relation to the conscience of the citizen. Never has there been a time when the moral element in public life is so prominent as in these days, never a time when public men were brought more searchingly to the test of our own profession or the public demand. The time has gone by when "it is politics," can be a sufficient excuse for immoral political action. The pulpit is the leader in politics as well as in religion. It may, therefore, utter its voice in clear tones on all subjects of morals, and no man can say it may.

The preacher from pulpit or altar must study the questions and then present the truth not partisan politics. He must make it clear, so clear that not even the weakest mind before him cannot fail to understand his position, that this motive is right. If he can so preach politics that every man who goes from his church door to cast his vote shall go with the consciousness of right, and that the vote he casts is the expression not merely of his political but of his religious principles then he has done well.

This is both lawful and expedient. We would that from every pulpit in our land such preaching might reach those whose eyes are dimmed by the glamour of political gain, whose ears are dulled by the clang of political strife.

As a nation never have we had a keener sense of what was right, never have the foes of right been more insidious or more powerful. Yes, we ask the pulpit to speak, not with a voice that thunders of personal ambition, but the truth as it understands it, as an arbiter between extremists urging men to do what they know to be right.

Of the result of March 3rd we would not say, "Vox populi, vox dei!" but we would say, "Vox populi, vox illi." The people have spoken, we would bow to their decision. For twenty-five years the Liberal party in this province, has held the reins of government. The people have voted for a change. Let the party bow itself out as gracefully as possible and "give the other fellow a chance."

Mr. Hazen has made certain promises, we will claim the privilege of watching to see how these promises are fulfilled. If he can, during his four years of office, reduce the debt $1,000,000 and at the same time keep up necessary public works, if he can give us free school books or at half price and, straighten and practically macadamize our highways at small cost to the people, he will do well, and we will congratulate him on the completion of such work. We will put nothing in his way-but give him credit for all.

For our fellow townsman, Dr. Taylor, we have nothing to say but good. As we have before said, he honors any party to which he may belong. His moral stamens, business acumen and striking personality will count for much.

We congratulate Hon. Mr. Emmerson in being able to lead his party on to victory in his own county. He must feel lonely, but he has shown his strength.

A county that has once more deliberately put itself out of harmony with the Federal Government, is at a great disadvantage.

A four year's rest in the cool shades of Opposition may be refreshing to the Liberal party, and make them doubly strong for service when called again to office.

COMPLETE TIE-UP OF GRANITE WORK; 4,500 MEN IDLE

Because of the failure of negotiations for a new labor agreement, to take the place of the old one which expired Saturday night at midnight, the entire granite industry of Barre and Washington counties was tied up today; 4,500 workmen began a "vacation" and two hundred plants are idle. How long the conditions will last is problematical.

Heretofore, with the single exception of the disastrous suspension of the summer of 1892, the parties to the labor agreement have been able to patch up their differences in short order when the real crisis came. The '92 trouble lasted from the first of May to early fall, and the blighting effects were felt for a long time. Since then, no suspension has continued longer than a week, and there have been very few occasions when it became necessary to resort to suspension.

This present situation effects both the quarrying and the manufacturing ends of the industry, as the agreements in both branches expired at the same time. Three months ago Barre, branch, G. C. I. A. and the allied unions presented formal notice of their desire of a change of terms for settlement, and the manufacturers did the same, while at the quarries, the owners put in their notice of a desire for a change. Since that time negotiations have been conducted at weekly intervals, until last week when more frequent efforts were made to reach a statement on March 1. The culmination came Saturday night, when the unions refused the propositions advanced and they voted a suspension of work.

The say-so of the granite cutters' union in Barre, numbering 1,770 members, "goes" with the other unions, and when that union voted unanimously Saturday evening against agreement on the basis proposed, the others followed suit. The granite cutters meeting was held in the opera house, and the tool sharpeners and the polishers met with them. There never was a larger meeting than that. The capacity of the house was not nearly capable of holding the crowd. Every seat was full, the aisles were jammed, in religion. It may, therefore, utter its voice in clear tones on all subjects of morals, and no man can say it may.

The work was of short order, however, consisting in a refusal to consider the offer made by the manufacturers and followed by the suspension of work vote. At the same time the quarry workers were in session at Miles' hall, Graniteville, and the lumpers, boxers and derrickmen, in Nichols' hall, this city. They also refused to accept the proposition, and with the steam engineers make the movement unanimous among all the unions.

The granite cutters who had been getting 37-1 cent an hour average, bi-weekly pay, and Saturday half-holidays during June, July, August and September, originally asked for 40 cents an hour minimum, weekly pay and Saturday half-holidays the year around, while the manufacturers made a proposition for practically the old agreement. The difference in the quarry propositions was mainly over length of agreement, the men wanting a yearly agreement while the owners asked for one to run three years. There was, however, one other contention as to over-time pay, and it now constitutes the chief point at issue.

THE MEN AFFECTED

Representatives were present at Saturday night's meetings from other communities and telephonic communication with those unrepresented was held, so that not a union hammer is being lifted today in Montpelier, Northfield, Williamstown, Waterbury, East Barre, and Barre; while the suspension order also takes in Morrisville and South Ryegate.

The last official roster of granite cutters in the unions affected showed a total of 2,724, divided as follows:

Barre	1,770
Montpelier	543
Northfield (also polishers)	173
Williamstown	63
South Ryegate	63

Then there are the allied unions. Barre tool sharpeners numbered 156, polishers 127, lumpers, boxers and derrickmen approximately the same, steam engineers 50, quarry workers 1000. In the other communities there is about the same proportion of workers in these allied branches (except quarrying) as in the granite cutters' unions. As will be noted, by far the greater majority are in the Barre unions, and Barre will be much more affected, the more so since granite is the principal industry here.

MANUFACTURERS VOTE TO REFER IT

Because of general business depression throughout the country, there is not quite so much work on hand at the present time as would ordinarily be the case at this period of the year. Then, too, orders received by manufacturers during the past few months have been taken with the possibility of a disagreement in mind and the contracts have been rushed during the last few weeks, so that work under process of construction has been cleaned up sooner than usual and shipment made. When the plants in Barre were closed Saturday afternoon, the manufacturers evidently anticipated a suspension of work, for they put their places in shape for it, while in one of the quarries much of the machinery was stored.

At the manufacturers' meeting Saturday night, the association voted to refer its disagreements to the national executives for adjustment, as per the peace agreement adopted by both bodies last year. In some of the granite plants the apprentices were at work today, and the whistles were blown to denote that the plants were open to those who cared to work. The association took no vote on the question of a lockout, but received the reports of the failure of the negotiations and they voted to refer the matter higher as noted.

The authorized statement of the various unions by the manufacturers is as follows: "Having failed to reach a satisfactory agreement in Barre we have decided to refer the matter to our national association for adjustment as per the so-called peace agreement. We do this because you have turned down all the propositions we made you, and we have nothing new to offer. We trust you will also refer this to your national body, and that we resume work pending such settlement."

GOOD FEELING PREVAILS

There has been no display of bitterness in the negotiations thus far conducted. On the contrary, the conferences have been dominated by remarkably good feeling when the gravity of the affair is taken into consideration.

STRIKE-PAY SO CALLED

There seems to be a public misunderstanding of the so-called strike-pay. The international unions have large funds in their treasuries to meet the need of the men when strikes are called. But there has been no strike called in Barre yet, paradoxical as it may seem to the uninitiated in union affairs. A suspension of work has been voted because there is no working agreement. Strike-pay does not begin until a week after work is suspended, and formal ratification of the branch's action has to be taken by the international officers. Strike-pay is one dollar per day for each union man in good standing.

The tool sharpeners met this forenoon at the hall in Nichols' block and received reports of the situation, ratifying the suspension vote and electing a "dispute" committee, as follows: W. H. Murphy, Milo E. Bassett, John P. Saldier, D. V. Stone and George Gauthier. Another meeting of this union will be held tomorrow forenoon.

GRANITE CUTTERS VOTE NOT TO REFER MATTER

The granite cutters' union met at this opera house at 10 o'clock this morning, and the first business of the meeting was the choice of a dispute committee. The term of office of the conference committee expired March 1. The choice of this new committee took up nearly all the time of the meeting from 10 o'clock to 1.30 this afternoon, when the following had been selected: Richard Grigg, Angel Traba, James Cruickshank, Alex. Ironsides and James McLean.

Four of the members of the old committee, Alex. Cruickshank, A. M. Smith, D. J. Sullivan and John Giovannelli, being officers of the union, were not eligible to election to this new committee. The proposition of the manufacturers to refer the matter up to the International executive committee for settlement was rejected by a unanimous vote. The new dispute committee will meet to-night at 6 o'clock to organize.

QUARRY CONFERENCE ARRANGED.

The conference committees from the quarry workers and the quarry owners had arranged for another conference at 9 this morning, but on the request of the quarrymen it was put over to allow the quarries to hold a mass meeting at Graniteville this afternoon.

MONTPELIER DISPUTE COMMITTEE.

Two hundred cutters met at Montpelier to-day and appointed their dispute committee as follows: Joe Maroni, Patrick McBride, James Sim, Alexander Jay and Richard Fountain.

BEAVER HARBOUR

Mr. Boudreau has organized a joint stock company for the purpose of building a cold storage for the fishermen, which no doubt will be of great convenience, during the winter month when no fish can be had.

A very welcome but unexpected sound broke the stillness of the morning on Tuesday 6th when the Beaver Harbor Trading Co. pealed forth its joyful whistle calling men, women and children to work.

Capt. Daniel Thompson of Schr. Happy Home with a crew of five men, have been searching for new scallop grounds, they report good success. Messrs. Russell Hooper, Theodore Hickey, and Miss Blanche Hickey of Back Bay and Miss Carris Austin of St. George, called on Mr. James McGee Sunday March 8th.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Robert Parks who has lived in town for the past year moved to Calthness last week.

Henry Keating of Red Beach is in town, he is employed by H. McGrattan & Sons.

The granite workers employed in the Bay of Fundy granite works went on nine hours on Wednesday last.

You can get St. Patrick day postals at Arthur Brown's. Also a lot of tinselled note and date $c. postals to clear out at 2 for 5c.

Services were held in the Catholic Church on Sunday last, owing to indisposition Rev. Father Carson did not go to Musquash.

Every house needs a little papering when the spring time comes. The cost has been reduced to a minimum. See L. B. Young's special offer in this issue.

The Viking is again on her route after being in the dry dock at Calais for repairs. The steam tug Victoria carried the mails and freight during the time the Viking was laid up.

The click of the granite cutter at Tayte & Meatings may be heard these days in the lower part of the town during working hours, it indicates warm weather and the approach of the Spring time.

The granite workers in many of the granite centers of Vermont are out on strike. The principal demand of the men is an increase of wages. Quarrymen, lumpers, polishers and cutters are in the fight.

The funeral of James Hickey was held on Thursday afternoon. Members of the Granite Cutters Union, wearing white gloves attended in a body. Rev. Mr. Lyons conducted the burial services at the house and grave.

Barcelona, March 3.—Placards posted throughout Barcelona announcing that an attempt would be made upon the life of King Alfonso on his approaching visit to this city March 12, were torn down and destroyed today by the police.

On several mornings last week the mercury ran below zero and the air was quite frosty. As the day grew older the sun warmed the atmosphere and we enjoyed good winter weather. The open water in many places on the river occasioned much comment.

The funeral of the late John McGrattan took place on Friday morning. Solemn services for the dead were held in the Catholic church at nine o'clock. A large number of friends, acquaintances and relatives attended. Mr. McGrattan was seventy five years of age the day of his burial.

The store of H. McGrattan & Sons, under the skillful brush of our artistic painter Mr. Ghirardine now presents a cheerful interior to the patrons. Counter, shelves and ceiling are bright and show up fine—the light paint has added very much to the appearance of the store and added nothing to the price of the goods which are of the best.

Wednesday evening of last week was a big night in St. Stephen. The Charlotte county members elect and their friends celebrated the victory won the day before in royal style. Among the participants were the following from St. George: Dr. Taylor, James O'Neill, Nicholas Meating, Alfred Mealy, George E. Frauley and Hazen McGee. Dr. Taylor came in for a large share of the praise for the victory.

The horse racing at Sullivan's Bonny River, on Wednesday last, drew quite a number of admirers of the "Sport of Kings." Four horses were entered and four tracks had been ploughed on the ice so that there could be no interference. Jay Wilkes, the speedy filer, owned by Frauley Bros. and driven by George R. Frauley was an easy winner of the several heats. Arthur Williamson driving his own horse was second and Irvine Gilmor handling Maud S. second and Arthur Frauley holding the reins over Samuel Hatt's Trotter came in the order named. Lon Gilmor was starter and C. Hazen McGee and Chas. McLanaghan officiated as timers.

Do You Get Bilious?
This trouble arises from torpidity of the liver. Nothing acts so nicely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They stir up the liver, rid the system of bile, tone the stomach, give appetite and sound digestion, you feel drowsy and had tempered. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will help you at once—taken at night you're well by morning. Don't be afraid of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they are mild—don't grip or nauseate. They just "cure"—that's all.

PERSONAL

Harry Cook returned from Red Beach on Saturday.

John Conley of Eatonville, N. S., is home on a visit.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

WORKING IN A "TUBE"

Remarkable Experience in a Lock in Compressed Air.

AT FORTY POUNDS PRESSURE

The Way It Feels When the Valve is First Opened and the Chamber Fills With the Rushing Air and Fog. Why You Don't Collapse or Explode.

As the lockkeeper turns the valve, writes A. W. Ricker in Appleton's Magazine, there is a scaly raising screech as if your ear were next the safety valve of a locomotive blowing steam, and as the rushing air expands it fills the tiny chamber with fog so dense that you cannot see your hand before your eyes. Wider and wider the valve is opened, the fog becoming even denser and the racket increasing until the air fairly drives and your eyes and eardrums and your very scalp tremble with the air that is vibrating about you. For the first time in your life you realize that there is a possibility that it may kill.

No sooner is the big valve opened than you feel the pressure against your eardrums. A big wad of cotton seems thrust into each ear, and two big fingers seem to push the wads more and more firmly until each time when you swallow or blow into your nose the sensation disappears only to begin anew. Should you purposely delay swallowing, within twenty seconds the pain becomes intense and finally excruciating, as if a pair of knitting needles were being pushed deep into your ears.

Nothing short of the faith that others successfully withstand these sensations prevents you from becoming unduly excited, for actually you are in the throes of about as disagreeable a situation as you care to meet. For the eternity of half a minute the racket and fog and ear pain continue. Then the noise ceases as suddenly as it began. Out of the fog comes the voice of your guide.

"Feeling all right? Ears all right? No trouble to breathe? Oh, you'll be all right!" Again the valve screeches and the air drives, the top of your head throbs, and you are shaken within and without.

Gradually, after the lapse of ten minutes when the pressure in the heading and the lock become more equalized, the din begins to slacken; then it falls more and more and fades to nothing, after which the lockman opens the heading door and you gaze upon another length of "tube" like that you left behind.

How does it feel to be under forty pounds pressure? There is no sensation to it—none whatever—which is the trouble, for in case your heart is going to give out there is no warning symptom until too late. Against every square foot of the surface of your body is a pressure of 4700 pounds, and the only thing that prevents you from being squashed is the 5,760 pounds per square foot pressure inside of you, yet you do not feel this.

The pressure from without is so great that were it not for the pressure within you would be smashed flat as a lead run over by a steam roller, and the pressure within you is so great that were it not counterbalanced by the pressure from without you would explode to atom like the shell of a dynamite cartridge.

Yet you have no means of realizing this. You feel perfectly natural. You breathe normally and without effort. You move about without being conscious of exertion. Only a feeling as of water left in the ears after bathing remains.

The noise of rumbling cars and scraping shovels from ahead sounds natural. So does the voice of your guide. Only your own voice seems strange in your own ears—far deeper in pitch than you ever have heard it and far off, not as if it came from your own mouth, but as if from ten feet behind; also, and this strikes you queerly until you have found the cause, all sounds are chopped off short, for in this heavy atmosphere there is little echo and carrying power. Even the explosion of a dynamite cartridge makes no more noise than a shotgun fired above in daylight.

In this dense atmosphere were you to try to whistle with your lips or to blow a cornet or a fife you might blow your lungs out without producing a sound, for the pressure would resist any sound waves of which your lungs were capable. Owing to the excessive supply of oxygen, were you to light a match it would burn with the rapidity of tinder, amid volumes of smoke.

For the same reason an oil lamp or a lantern would burn itself out within a few minutes, emitting volumes of soot that would completely hide the flames. And for the same reason a lighted pipe or cigar will burn of itself without suction, and a single mouthful of smoke is all you would be able to get out of a cigarette. Were you to bring an empty corked bottle into this pressure from the outside, the pressure against the cork, unbalanced by pressure from within, would be so great that you would be unable to pull the stopper. These are a few instances of what you find when under forty pounds of pressure.

Coburn J. Vaca explored the Gila river country in 1838 and reported that the natives were dressed in cotton garments.

DINING IN WALL STREET.

What Lunch Hour Means to New York's Financial District.

When one descends upon Wall street, either from the Broadway slope of Trinity church or from the Nassau street hill, at noon-time any week-day the air is fraught with many conflicting odors of the kitchen. From over the corners of the "plumbers" cars fall way down in the valley of Broad street there arises from a score of cookeries and "handouts" a decided smell of the steamed breaded with the ever glorious onion. From the eaves of the New York Stock Exchange come the more pronounced fragrance of spiced meats and strong coffee. From the basement and attic alike, from cloud tickler and antiquated frame house as well, come all sorts of fuming evidences that the men of affairs are eating. To realize what this lunch-hour means to Wall street one must stop to think of the thousands of persons who are in that small district of the city at this particular part of the day. Hundreds of restaurants meet the rush with their doors flung wide and their keepers have grown rich upon nickels and dimes that fall into their tills like a mighty stupor during those brief hours of midday. Men have grown rich and retired to palatial mansions in the suburbs selling cup custards and "squares" to millionaires, photographers, clerks and bankers alike during the busy hour or two at noon. Thousands of pounds of meat, countless oysters and chums, barrels of gravy, unaccountable gallons of coffee and tea and tons of bread are consumed every day in a very brief period of time, and here, of all other places, the foreigner has found justification for his criticism of Americans for fast eating.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

TALES OF CITIES.

Atlanta is planning to issue bonds for a new courthouse and a city hall to cost $200,000.

Fifty per cent of Missouri's total revenue and 33 per cent of the taxes on property of various kinds are paid by the city of St. Louis.

Many persons in New York city evidently think that business done in their proper names is not so well, for there are in Broadway and Sixth avenue forty-seven signs that give fictitious names of proprietors of stores.

Electric clocks, regulated from a central station, are being installed in various prominent positions throughout Vienna. In most instances they are fixed on the tall electric light masts at the intersections of the principal streets. Each clock has four dials, which have no figures for the hours, but instead black squares for the III, VI, IX and XII and black strokes for the intermediate hours.

In 300 balloon ascents there is on an average one fatal accident.

In some London hotels the waiters receive as much as $2,500 a year in tips.

A Muncie (Ind.) farmer, arrested on a charge of intoxication, was allowed by the magistrate to be his own judge. He fined himself $10 and paid it without taking an appeal.

In accordance with an ancient custom dating from the time of Frederick the Great an officer in the German army who falls from his horse at a review is bound to offer a banquet to his brother officers in the regiment.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

The value of the world's railways is put at $27,776,000,000.

Many railway cars in Canada have entrances in the middle of the car only.

Of 403 accidents last year on the Washington traction lines 217 were the result of getting off moving cars backward, and 216 of the people thus injured were women.

A short stretch of railroad belonging to the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company is being laid in southern Wisconsin on which various methods of preserving ties by chemical treatment will be put to the test of practical use, with the co-operation of the United States forest service.

CROP NOTES.

This year's peanut crop is valued at $15,000,000.

Noble county, Ind., has raised over half a million bushels of onions this year.

Adams county stands at the head of the counties of Pennsylvania in the growing of apples and has become famous all over the country for its product.

E. H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record, estimates that the cotton crop this year will bring $900,000,000 into the south, or about 12 1/2 per cent more than any previous cotton crop has netted that section.

Political Pointers.

Some day perhaps all the voters will take the interest they should in primary elections.—Exchange.

Between now and November, 1908, the good-freedomers will have a lot of speeches to read.—New York Mail.

Drawing the Line.
"Have you got a good cook?"
"Oh, yes, she's good enough, but her cooking isn't."—New York Life.

A General Wall.
Or all said words that men can jar.
The saddest are these: "I've missed my star."

SHORN LAMBS.

Wags of the Men Who Lose Their All in Wall Street.

What becomes of the men who lose in Wall street. They are seldom heard of. The victim to New York gets the notion that the gay crowd of men at the Waldorf—the "uptown street"—comprises them all. But this crowd is altogether unrepresentative and has no true sign value, says a writer on Wall street in the New Broadway Magazine.

You can retain your equilibrium easily in watching them by remembering that Bruner of New Britain is hiding somewhere, a fugitive from justice; that Jumper of Milwaukee is in prison; that there are many other men who went down hard with big crashes and that for every one of the big men there are 10,000 little men whose losses are smaller, but not a whit less fatal.

You would find some of them tonight in New York, if you knew in what window to look, figuring anxiously and endlessly, looking over insurance papers to see if further losses are admissible.

Their wives are sewing; their daughters are studying stenography. You will find others hanging about hotel lobbies, and the moment you catch their eye or grip their hands you know that they are nervous, distraught, broken, restless—typical Wall street victims.

The others, professionals, parasites, satellites, winners, you will find in the cafes and hotel restaurants, making up a large part of the crowds at Sherry's and Delmonico's, Martin's and Rector's, the Waldorf, Manhattan, Astor, St. Regis and Holland House. Wall street by day demands the Great White Way at night. From the moment the market opens till it closes the game is a fast and furious one of sharp trickery, clever dodging, rallery, bluffing, hypocrisy, lying.

Nerves are constantly tense; the brain must be clear and quick at every move. Successful lying uses up gray matter, and the flash and festivity of the Tenderloin at night are just unnatural enough to fit in and offer the kind of recreation desired.

SAW HIS OPPORTUNITY.

The Reporter Seized It and Got His Real Start in Life.

All the city traveling public loves a strap hanger because it has a fellow feeling for him. This is why the story of how Frank Vanderlip, the banker, got his start has an almost universal appeal. It happened when Vanderlip was a reporter on a Chicago newspaper and writing financial news. The traction situation then, as now, was most impossible. Charles T. Yerkes was traction dictator, and the stockholders and the public never had a word to say in a conduct of the roads. Nor could they get any definite idea of the financial condition of the properties.

The time for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the principal road came along. At all the meetings Mr. Yerkes and his staff of reporters in the usual unapproachable corporation way, and no one knew what was doing. So Vanderlip planned a coup. He bought a share of stock, was admitted to the meeting. He had been a stenographer before he became a newspaperman. When Mr. Yerkes called to his lengthy explanation of finances the young reporter took down everything he said. Mr. Yerkes used one striking phrase, and it was this:

"The passengers who have seats pay the operating expenses, but the strap hangers pay your dividends."

The next day the sentence topped Vanderlip's account of the meeting. It caused a storm of discussion, for it laid bare some of the traction methods; also it got Vanderlip a raise in salary and a promotion.

Nothing Like That in America.
"This was told me the other day," said a man, "by a friend who has just made the tour of Ireland. He was at the lakes of Killarney, and a lady driving one of those 'side seated cars' was telling him of a visitor who was attempting to masquerade as an American, but had all the outward signs of being an Englishman."

"You say, sorr," said the Jarvey, "that you live in the United States. Were yer irer in Dubuque, Ia.?"
"I was," said the traveler. "I was there for a fortnight."
"Oh, wid yer," said the carman. "Ye were niver there. Divil a fortnight do they have in America."

Getting It Right.
It was on a street car in the city of Washington. Two colored women in cheaply gorgeous splendor were talking, and one chanced to mention a Mr. Jinks in her conversation.
"Excuse me," said the other woman, "but his name is not Jinks. It is Mr. Jenks."
"Oh, I sees," said the other woman complacently. "I sees that you puts de access on de pronoun."

A Golden Eagle

Postoffice Inspector Kieth was leisurely looking through his mail one morning in January last year when a certain postmark caught his eye, and he paused to glance at the writing.

Had one been looking at him at the time one would have seen a look of disappointment cross his face, but it would have to be a keen observer, for the look died as soon as it was born--Inspector Kieth did not wear his heart on his sleeve.

He tore open the envelope and ran his eye over the half-filled single sheet it contained. Twice he read it, then shook his head, frowned at the page and read it again. A little frown showed itself on his forehead, and he raised his eyes to a picture that stood on his desk, a picture of a young girl.

"Never," he murmured; "never in all the world--yet--the evidence. Still I don't believe it--yet it's my duty."

But the man who came in at the moment, interrupting his soliloquy, only saw him arranging a photograph on his desk--he did not see him kiss the smiling, pictured face.

The following morning Inspector Kieth dropped off the train at Winton. He did not go directly to the postoffice, but first made two calls, one on the writer of the letter, the other on the constable, and when at last he did enter the office there was a very troubled look on his face that he could not hide, and which he saw reflected on the features of the pretty post-mistress--Elsie Davis.

Mrs. Davis, he began, "have you any enemies in this town?"

Elsie hesitated, and the tinge of pink in her cheek deepened.

"I don't--think so," she murmured; "unless, perhaps--well, not more than one, anyway."

The pink was now a vivid red. The inspector thought a moment.

"Is that one Robert Ames?"

"Why, yes--how did you know?"

The inspector smiled, his expression changing as if a heavy load had suddenly been lifted from his mind.

"May I ask you a question?" Elsie ventured.

"Certainly."

"Has this anything to do with a golden eagle that disappeared from the office at Christmas?"

Instead of answering the inspector asked: "What do you know about that?"

"Nothing--except what I put in my report on the 1st, but I've heard in a round-about way that I am suspected of knowing how it disappeared."

"And on what grounds?"

"Well, you see, I received a golden eagle on the same day. It was inclosed in a tiny box with a card of Christmas greeting but there was nothing to show who or where it came from, so you see it does put me in rather a bad light."

"Have you no idea who thinks enough of you to send you such a present?"

The inspector's voice had taken a lower pitch, and the look in his eyes had grown tender--but Elsie saw it not.

"Why, yes, she laughed; "but he denies all knowledge of it--besides (and again the color deepened) he is saving all his money so we will be able to start housekeeping at once."

The light that had gradually brightened died; that delicate bubble that we call Hope suddenly burst; the airy structure to which each day he had added a little here and there until he saw before his mental eye by day and in his dreams at night a beautiful vision, suddenly came tumbling down about him a crumpled ruin--and he aroised himself from his reverie to find Elsie gazing curiously at him.

"I'll attend to this matter at once, he said; "and--I wish--you happiness."

He tried to talk and appear natural, but he seemed to feel like an old man, and his voice was husky and far away.

Ten minutes later he was talking to Robert Ames.

"What have you against Elsie Davis?" he asked, and again his eyes had that steel glitter and his voice was cold and menacing.

"She threw me over for that dude of a perkings, Ames burst out, his eyes blazing with anger at the name.

The inspector's teeth came together with a click, his eyelids narrowed to mere lines and his hand fell on the other's shoulder.

"And a wise girl! he saw, he thundered. "A fellow who would seek to ruin a

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness--nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Win out that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sleepless nights, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative--Tablets or Liquid--and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

girl's reputation by stealing something in her care to revenge himself in such a case is not worth a thought to a girl like her. Give me that $10!

"I--I don't know anything about it."

"The $10 or--these!"

Ames shrank from the steely bracelets and hesitated.

Quick--which is it?"

"I'll get it."

The following day the golden eagle was given to the person to whom it was addressed, and the same day Robert Ames left Winton never to return.

Later Elsie was married, and among the wedding presents was a tiny box, identical with the one she had received on Christmas, and containing another golden eagle, and, like the first--no name.

Inspector Kieth never married, nor did he ever forget the one pleasant dream of his life, and when sitting alone before the spacious fireplace in his room he often thought he saw in the heart of the dancing flames the vision of a smiling face gazing at him, and he would close his eyes and dream of what might have been.

$100.00 paid by Dr. Shoop for any recent case of Croup or acute Cold that a 25 cent box of Preventives will not break. How is this for an offer? The Doctor's supreme confidence in these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets--Preventives--is certainly complete. It's a $1.00. against 25 cents--pretty big odds. And, Preventives contain no quinine, no laxative nothing harsh nor sickening. Pneumonia--will never appear if early colds were always broken. Safe and sure for feverish children. 48 Preventives 25c. Astigmatism, from Reading in Bed

Astigmatism, which is a condition where the refractive powers differ in the different meridians of the eye, is in most cases hereditary, but it is often acquired. The error of acquired astigmatism often takes place during and after a severe illness, and can be avoided by proper precautions. The whole system is in a weakened condition, and the person so afflicted, being confined to the house, will resort to reading to pass away the time, and this is often practised while in a reclining position. There can be nothing more injurious than this practice. Reading under these conditions overburdens the muscles, and the action of these muscles upon the form of the eye causes an irregularity in the curvature of the cornea which is known as astigmatism. This is detrimental to distant vision and makes reading and near work difficult.

Bryce on Laurier

There are a few Canadians who are not ready to acknowledge the great personal charm and the outstanding ability of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but it is peculiarly gratifying to have a competent and distinguished critic and observer of men and nations so warmly eulogistic of the Prime Minister as Ambassador Bryce was in his inspiring address at the Canadian Club banquet in Montreal. "It is always a pleasure," said Mr. Bryce, "to get in direct touch with those who occupy power in this country. It has been my great good fortune to have been for thirty years a personal friend of your Governor General, whom I knew you regard with so much affection, and, I may venture to say, speaking without the slightest reference to party feeling, that this a pleasure to be brought into personal contact with a mind so active, so powerful, so flexible, with an intelligence which is capable of so quickly taking a point and covering the whole horizon which it is necessary to survey, as that of your Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier." This tribute to Canada's great statesman, as one report of the Ambassador's address put it, had all the effect of a new and brilliant portrait sketch, done by the hand of a great artist and bringing out traits which had never been so saliently put on canvas.

Some Other Time.

"Some other time, I'm busy now," I said, and saw him go, with sad, uncertain tread. His broken trinkets dangling by his side; "Some other time!" His little plea denied, His little lingering figure in the door, And then a shadow, and the world once more, And strife and conflict and the sea of care That hid me from my whispering baby there.

"Some other time, I'm busy now!" He went, With child-like pucker and his fair head bent, A crystal teardrop trembling from his eye, And in his throat a sob, his breast a sigh, The broken engine trailing after him Into the shadows that his grief made dim; I could not stop, I thought, so let him go, He'll soon forget and soon put off his woe!

Some other time--and now he never comes, No broken trinkets and no battered drums, No unkept promise and no chance to say, "I'm busy now, run out a while and play!"

Some other time--and I am waiting, dear, For little footsteps that I'll never hear, And little lips that never more will be In childhood's love held up like blooms to me!

Some other time--and here I sit and dream Of golden childhood with its eyes a gleam, Rushing for help and comfort, as he came To me that day with all his heart aflame--

While care-bowed fathers cry, as I cried then: "Don't bother me, I'm busy, came again!"

And watch them fading in the enfolding gloom Where faltered footsteps lead them from the room!

Ah bring them now, dear son, those toys of thine, Unto these idle, trembling hands of mine--

The little barrow, with its broken wheel, The scattered engine (and the battered reel, The burst spring, the top that will not run, I shall find time to mend them as I said, For all my need of hurrying now hath fled.

Some other time--and now 'tis I that go With head averted and sad tread and slow, Calling the little shadow here and there, Through empty hallway up the hollow stair, Down the long path that follows through the bloom Unto the hillside with its marble tomb; Some other time--O darling, all the years My idle heart now waits amid the tears! --Benttown Bard in Baltimore Sun.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The two Great Factors in The World's Peace

Boston, March 3.--British Ambassador James Bryce, Governor Curtis Guild Jr., and Bishop Wm. Lawrence were the principal speakers at the 13th annual dinner of the Society of Colonial Wars of Massachusetts here last night. Mr. Bryce said that the differences and the hard feelings of the war of 1812 between Great Britain and the United States have entirely passed away, and the time has come when England and the United States, acting together, are powerful factors in the peace and progress of the world.

"United," he said, "we are the two nations of the world to promote the great message of peace."

Mr. Bryce said the industries in both countries should be distributed and not confined to thickly populated districts. The people he thought should also be distributed.

A Frontier War

London, Feb. 27.--Lord Kitchener's little frontier war in the Bazar Valley against the Zakkakheh tribesmen is making rapid and successful progress. The purpose of the expedition is to punish the tribesmen for numerous raids into Indian territory, and in a remarkably short campaign they have been scattered and broken, their forts have been destroyed and many of them have been killed. None of the neighboring tribes have joined the Zakkakheh and the headmen of Zakkakheh are trying to come to terms of peace. It will doubtless be necessary, however, to repeat this punishment occasionally in the future, for such has been the experience of the past.

The expedition is thought here to reflect credit upon the re-organization of the Indian Army as carried out by Lord Kitchener. General Sir James Wilcox, the commander of the expedition, with 6,000 men and a few mounted police have done more in a few days by its activity and employment of other tribes than a larger expedition could accomplish in months.

Tommy Atkins is profiting by the lessons learned from the Russo-Japanese war and he is being taught to follow the tactics used by the American Army in its Indian campaigns and in fighting in the Philippines.

The British troops advanced into the enemy's country in open order with wide intervals between them. The men took advantage of all available cover. When they came in contact with the enemy they won their ground by short rushes. This method of procedure surprised and disheartened the natives, who were accustomed to their sniping tactics to the targets made by the more or less compact column formation employed by previous expeditions. The British made use of snipers who worked at night. Only two newspaper correspondents went with the columns, and the Indian newspapers complain of the censorship.

St. George, December 27th, 1907
To the Municipal Council of Charlotte County, Gentlemen:

I beg to submit my report for the Board of Health District Number 28, for the year 1906.

In January and February there were a few cases of Diphtheria in Letete. All recovered. Again in March and April the disease broke out, but as the schools and churches were closed and proper precautions taken, it was confined to a few cases, all of which recovered. In March, Black's Harbor had a case of suspected Small Pox. I took every precaution until I was convinced the disease was chicken pox only. During the past year the district has been affected with an epidemic of measles chiefly in the Town of St. George and through the Parish of Penfield--there were two deaths from the disease.

The health conditions of the District are at present in a satisfactory state. I might add in conclusion that the Town Council of St. George have planned to extend the sewerage system next year, which will add greatly to the cleanliness of the Town.

Respectfully submitted,
C. C. Alexander, M. D.
Chairman Board of Health District No. 28.

Sunday evening last the Y. P. U. of the Baptist congregation conducted a service in the Baptist church. The services were interesting and instructive and consisted of singing and addresses on the different young people's societies. Rev. Mr. Buchanan in the absence of Mr. Howard Bailey--who was ill--led the singing. A chorus of all the members was followed by a trio. Rev. Mr. Buchanan, Messrs. Williamson and Dow, Solos by Miss Bessie O'Brien, Miss Carrie Gillmor and a duet by Miss Jennie Dodds and Helen Taylor. Roll call followed, each member answering with a verse of scripture. Mr. Abram Goss, Frank Gamble and Miss Bessie O'Brien read interesting addresses on the work of the Unions. A large congregation were present.

Tickling or dry Coughs will quickly loosen when using Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else, even for very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub given the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sensitive bronchial membrane. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. All Dealers.

Saturday was Declaration Day in Charlotte. The proceedings at St. Andrews were quiet, owing to the stormy weather only a few electors were present. The official count was as follows:

Taylor	2508
Clark	2482
Hart	2476
Grimmer	2458
Byron	2096
Armstrong	2083
McCoe	2044
Hill	1974

The members elect were all present and made brief speeches thanking the electors for the support given them and promising their aid in carrying out the proposed reforms. R. H. Armstrong spoke for the defeated candidates, he said they cheerfully submitted to the will of the people as expressed at the polls and trusted the successful candidates would work for the interests of Charlotte.
